The lottery number sequence is "comprehensive in its examination of the Higher Education Coordinating Commission (HECC) and Minnesota State Colleges and Universities Technology Commission (MSTC) educational needs of the state." However, he expressed a number of concerns about the direction and development of a new state college that might take. It is subject to revision and may have to call higher numbers later, there may be a change in the system's rules. Draft boards will go back to get him. The advice from the lottery officials is that a student with a deferment should not drop it. Low deferred numbers as well as high "safe" numbers are vulnerable.

The new system allows for a more equitable requirement for the lottery. This is because when a man has been served his induction notice prior to the drawing and has had his induction postponed is not included in the lottery system. He will be processed under the old system. A student who receives an induction notice while actually attending college can be deferred for a USA deferment which will allow him to finish an academic school year. If his notice arrives between school years or before or after summer sessions, he will be deferred even though he may be enrolled for the next quarter or session. Factors determining draft exemption in individual cases have not changed.

by The Black Student Union

The BSU would like to wish everyone a Happy New Year. We hope that this year 1970 (Allah) grants you wisdom and understanding. We hope that this year also brings an end to the murder, destruction, and self-destruction among the brothers in the Black Panther Party. We hope that the increased education and information in our education system and establishment of relevant curriculums will start to take effect.

We see that Winona is improving and working for a brighter future, so we would like to welcome a new Black student, David Hines, from the Deep South, and welcome back brother Tony Bowden.

If you missed the BSU forum held in the Smog on December 17, we would like to say that the BSU enjoyed presenting it and hope that all those who attended found it to be informative. Those who did not hear it missed a unique opportunity to learn about the black folks on campus. The forum was one of an informative nature.

The new year is upon us! Nostalgic tears have been shed for the year and the decade past. The media is busy recounting our accomplishments in the last ten years, but who has recouned our failures? It is not a difficult task as the sixties are packed with them.

Perhaps, our greatest failure is centered around the great space race which cost billions to put footprints on the barren moon while the barren areas of our society are swept under the rug. What did the Moon landing mean to the poor black kids? Did they lessen world conflict? Did they reduce earthly starvation? Did they suppress Communism? Did they cleanse our polluted water or air? Yes, we did learn that lunar rock is much like earth cool and a lot of other "scientific" information which would prove invaluable in a time of war and want. Perhaps, the most important of all, we beat the Russians. Yeah, America! Yes, red, white, and blue! But can you imagine how de- jected and discriminated the Russians must feel? Could it be that we should reassess our national priorities?

The sixties brought a tarnish to America's glorious past.

THE INCOMPARABLE

by Mark Nelson and Slave Burren

This year's fist Bolling Film is one of an informative nature. The Fall quarter of college at Winona State was quite successful in many ways. Perhaps one of the most to many students was the functions of the Food Service for the resident hall occupants.

This quarter will probably for the first time offer those students a chance to express their views on the above said service. Some colleagues might not be content to sit by and watch as the Food Service Committee which has the purpose of expressing the wishes of the residents in the areas of food service.

The Food Service Committee will hold open meetings to give those interested an opportunity to be heard. We hope that this is indeed a service that could be quite beneficial. We believe that the committee formulates the results of its open meetings.

For the college, a college involves more than just preparing meals three times a day for college students. The college managers and food service, become important. It is one thing to be the students of this campus, who pay financially for its existence. Either the dormitories and the food service have moved toward expansion of our college, or we, as students, have moved toward a more influential status.

The resident hall students have paid personally a fee which has brought about expansion of food facilities and Winona College.

The food service has contributed financially to this institution by re-investing much of the money it received from the students and from its student patrons.

The 1970's at Winona State may move a little easier if hoppier days of resident hall occupancy are removed through cooperation of the resident hall students, the food service committee and the resident hall food service.

Academic Dean attempts to make scene serene

ED. NOTE: Fourth in a series of articles on various school officers.

The office of the Academic Dean, as the title implies, is concerned with the academic environment at Winona State College. Naturally, this job involves a major contact with the faculty and the head of the Speech Department, Dr. Markus, Dean of Education. It is then reviewed by Dr. War- ner, Vice President for Academic Affairs. Finally, the President decides if the course will be offered. If the new course is in one of the arts and science departments, it will be reviewed by Dr. William, Dean of Arts and Sciences, before being passed on to Dr. Warner.

The Academic Dean must also supervise the design of the class schedule each quarter. Along with the class schedule, the final exam schedule is published by the Academic Dean.

Departmental budgets are set up by the office of the Academic Dean. Faculty appointments must also be approved by this office. Recommendations made by the Academic Dean are not final, because they must be passed first to the President, and then to the State College Board for final approval.

 Occasionally, circumstances may arise which require personal contact with individual students. Any time a student wishes to drop a course for any reason, the Academic Dean must be consulted.

There has been a recent instance of 1A registrants in the state, a lottery system continued from page 1

One hundred years ago, people read the average number of words read aloud or read silently was about 300 to 400 words per minute. People could read 300 words a minute quickly. A book that was 300 pages thick, would take a good reader a day to read. That kind of reading didn't tax the eye or the brain. The mental processes could handle it. But today, our knowledge is expanding so fast that people who want to keep ahead are actually falling behind. There's simply too much to read, too much homework, too many magazines—too many books—too many reports and papers. What's the solution? Learn how to read faster and better. You can do it, too. So far over 400,000 other people have done it, including over 2,500 businessmen, teachers and students in this area.

People who have different jobs, different IQ's, different interests, different educational backgrounds have completed the course. Our graduates are people from all walks of life—people who have all taken a course developed by Evelyn Wood, a prominent educator. Practically all of them have at least tripled their reading speed with equal or better comprehension. Most have increased it even more. Some have increased it 10, 15, even 20 times.

Think for a moment what that means. All of them—even the slowest—now read an average novel in less than three hours. They read this in 10 minutes. They read an entire issue of TIME in 15 minutes. They don't skip words, they don't rush through the reading. They use no machines. Instead, they sit down and read, read, read, read. They read fast, and they read better.

And more than this: they actually understand more, remember more, and enjoy more. They read more. They understand more. They remember more. They enjoy more.

You can do the same thing—even if you're a relatively slow reader now. We guarantee it. In fact, if you don't at least triple your reading efficiency with equal or better comprehension, the course won't cost you a thing.

This is the same course President Kennedy had for his Joint Chiefs of Staff take. The same course Senators and Congressmen have taken.

Classes meet once a week, 1½ hours per session, with just 30 seats available for each session.

Shouldn't you find out more about it? You can. Come to one of the following free 1-hour Mini-Lessons.

We'll show you a film, explain the course more fully, and answer any questions you might have.

You'll be under no obligation. Do come. It could change your life!
Team gives Ekker Xmas present in Oelwein

by Dan Nyseith

Winona State's basketball squad added the Oelwein Invitational basketball tournament championship to its list of accomplishments over its four-day vacation by trimming Upper Iowa University 73-68 in three overtimes Dec. 29. The Winona cagers battered their record to 84 over the holiday.

That contest was preceded by a Warrior drubbing of Sioux Falls College by a 94-68 count in the game of the previous night. The Sioux Falls clash saw the terriers receive the valuable player, Warrior Steve Protsman, drill 26 points through the backcourt. His effort was supported by 10 points from captain Jack Gibble and 10 from forward Don Beeson.

In the title match, the Warriors were outscored 39-33 in the first half of play but came back to turn the tables on the cocky cockies in the second. Winona State canned 29 points in the second session while mauling Upper Iowa to 21, thus ending the regulation period of play to a 52-52 deadlock.

After the first five minutes of overtime had ticked away, another tie had developed. Each team could muster only three points in that time span and the scorer accounted for the score reading 55-55.

A total of 14 points were scored in the second overtime period, seven for each team. Finally, in the third and final overtime, Steve Roy, Protsman and Gibble combined for 16 points while the Peacocks were held to six, putting the Warriors topside of the Peacocks by a 61-55 count.

In the championship, however, Winona State dropped St. Thomas 59-47 as the Tommies' invitational championship. Winona State's sixth place finish came from a field of 25 teams.

Winona grapples in Illinois, Iowa Holiday tourneys

Winona State's wrestlers came through with a pair of individual championships in the Dec. 13 Iowa University Invitational tournament in Iowa City. Junior Dave Oland, a 156-pounder, and senior captain Jim Tannihill, who wrestles at 167, brought home the bacon or the Warriors. Tannihill decisioned John Irvine of the University of Iowa 12-4 in the championship match while teammate Oland wrecked Chris Gosling of Illinois State 10-8.

Sophomore Larry Cottrill lost 2-6 in the 113-pound championship match to take second place. His opponent was Doug Trees of Northern Iowa Area Community College at Mason City, Iowa.

In the consolation finals, Bill Heilman decisioned the University of Northern Iowa's Bruce Wickham 4-0, giving Heilman third place in the 190-pound class. Pete Sandberg lost via the fall route to Todd Rhodes of the University of Iowa and, in the tournament consolation, Ron Ronn decisioned the University of Northern Iowa's Scott Shower 7-3.

The Warrior grapplers also competed in the Midlands tournament at La Grange, Ill., on Dec. 26 and 27. In that affair, Winona State scored 29-7-9 victory over the Warriors. That marked Wartburg's 33rd consecutive basketball championship. Winona State was victorious in eight games, losing four.

Monday, the Warriors were granted a rematch with St. Thomas after dropping the Tommies' invitational championship to them in St. Paul. Winona was the location of the two teams' meeting in three days. The Tommies were victorious 5-11.

Tomorrow, Tannihill State will be the opponent in a contest scheduled for Memorial Hall.
