This performance is the second free on the Tri-College Series following the overwhelming success of the Roger Wagner Chorale in November.

The Tri-College Concerts and Lecture Series was established in 1969 primarily to provide audiences in the area who are interested in the arts with a chance to see artists, speakers, and ensembles of high caliber at a price which is possible, through a cooperative effort, to bring attractions beyond the reach of a single college's budget and to offer performers of the highest caliber larger and more appreciative audiences.

According to Dr. Nelson, Chairman of the Tri-College Concerts and Lecture Committee, the planning committee felt that the 1969-1970 season might well be the year to bring a major ballet company to Washington to win in view of the tremendous audiences ballet has been attracting nationally, and that it was the best time for such a major undertaking.

The Planning Committee had also been encouraged by the large audiences, often over house capacity, and the fine support the series has been receiving from the colleges and the Winona community.

The National Ballet, "America's Classical Ballet," presents a phenomenon in the dance world. Most companies in the dance world. Most companies have a complicated romantic plot which centers around a doll which comes to life. It has much color and variety.

Q. I paid my fees for the Winter Quarter, but not my fees for the Spring Quarter, and I paid my insurance fees for the Winter Quarter but not for the Spring Quarter. When I returned from Florida over vacation, I found a hold on my statement because I did not pay my insurance last quarter. I have my own policy and do not plan to pre-register. Am I paying for something I did not receive?

A. NO. With the help of Roy Wiley from the Financial Office we researched your records and found that it was not an insurance payment, but rather your health fee that you did not pay. You pre-registered for Spring Quarter and at that time the school was unaware of the $5.00 fee you were charged. Consequently, letters or a verbal communication was sent to students who pre-registered and were not aware of the additional charge. A letter was sent to you in February 1970, asking you to pay for insurance, that would make it $135.00. The Student Union is asking for $105.00

Q. My tuition was $105.00 for the Winter Quarter, why don't they take my fees from my account or charge me the $105.00 for Insurance that you said you would make it $135.00?

A. I broke down your statement into segments and you paid $105.00 for tuition and $15.00 for the Student Activity fund, $30.00 for the Student Union fund and $5.00 for the health fee. The total of these fees is $155.00. If you also paid $105.00 for Insurance, that would make it $135.00. The Student Union is asking for $105.00.

Steven Rumble, chairman of the planning committee relates how the Playmate candidates will be chosen.

On the Saturday before the dance the candidates will be judged on ten-point scale by five male faculty members. The scale includes one point for posture, two points for personality, seven points for general appearance, and nine points to be given in the category the judges feel to be especially noteworthy. The girls will be wearing mini skirts when judged and also when they are introduced at the dance.

The TEKEs will announce their new TEKE sweetheart tonight also. Any club or organization wishing to sponsor a candidate may still do so by contacting Steven Rumble or calling the TEKE house at 452-5803.

There are five candidates up for election this year. "On the Thursday before the dance the candidates will be judged and also introduced at the dance. Man Advances inability to kill economically Incredible as it may seem, the common man is always insisting that the human race is constantly advancing in every field. However, he has apparently forgotten to draw in which direction we are actually going; and he has failed to notice that recent advancement is lagging far behind technological advancement. The average American will singly point to a new missile or automobile as proof positive of the wonders which a modern society can achieve. Then, after offering these noble sentiments, this same man might go out to join the 50,000 Americans who slaughter each other every year by careless driving; or he might misuse his money to fabricate new excuses for his income tax evasion.

Amusingly, in spite of the continuous call for progress, almost all Americans complain most about high taxes and high defense spending; but it is in the field of defense that mankind has made his greatest advance. According to the current philosophy, paying for anything that can be called progress, Americans should be happy to spend their income for defense because nuclear weapons actually give them more for their money. The billions which are squandered on armaments may seem like a high price, but in reality the cost of killing men (not to mention women and children) has become cheaper than ever before — it is almost a bargain!

It has been estimated that it costs about $11,000,000 to fabricate a single man during the period of absence of technological advances and probably even inflation, this cost rose to about $8,000,000 during the Civil War. In WWI, the price per man rose to $30,000, for WWII an estimated $500,000, and for Vietnam at $2,500,000. However, thanks to the brilliance of modern technology, war has become much more efficient. Why, in a word war, could we not be "incorruptible" men for the low price of only $60. The cost of living may have doubled, but the cost of dying is decreasing at a rate that is a joy to behold.

Encouraged by these ideas, Americans should go on not worrying about where their tax dollars are going. Everyone knows Americans is so generous that is why, the average American will calmly brush off the potential danger of having every country armed to the teeth. After all, everyone knows that men are too civilized to actually use these bombs. Everyone can be dead sure this wonderful phase of man's advancement is also completely democratic, richest, poorest nation can soon afford to stockpile enough bombs to annihilate their neighbors.

Incredible as it may seem, the common man in spite of the continuous call for progress, almost all Americans who slaughter each other every year by careless driving; or he might misuse his money to fabricate new excuses for his income tax evasion.

Choose a pacesetter. Just as you settle down, study hard, and get good grades, so must you take some time off. We must learn to appreciate the value of leisure. By doing this we can make up for the hours that we have not been using. We must also do this because we are now living in an age of excess.

The title of our column, "Why Is Black Beautiful?" was chosen for two reasons. The first was to dispose of the notion that Black people are ugly and sad. The phrase "Black is beautiful" has been adopted to describe the Black man as he is, and not as he is painted by the cartoons. The second reason was to explain the introduction of the Black美 movement. Today the Black man has played an important role in the history of the institution we are all attending. However, it was introduced to these shores, it was introduced to the world, that it is not dark.

Reviewing the history of the United States, we find that it was introduced to these shoresij, it was introduced to the world, that it is not dark.

The BSU was pleased to see some people show interest in our column by writing letters to the editor. We would like to commend these remarks made in those letters.

Four grapplers go undefeated

by Dan Nyseth

Winona State's wrestlers went undefeated in dual meets last week and it took them only two days to do it. That's explained by the fact that one of those days was occupied by a triple dual meet in which the Warriors came out with two wins and a draw.

Four Warrior grapplers went undefeated in that day of activity. Captain Jim Tannenhill at 118 pounds, 142-pounder Mike Doody, 158-pounder Bill Hitesman and John Bedtke at 177 pounds.

Tannenhill racketed up the most impressive of State's performances. He pinned Dan Swartz of North Dakota in 5:37 and whitewashed both Frank Cox of Eastern Michigan and Northern Iowa's Clint Young by 10-0.

Bedtke was occupied by a triple dual meet the next day and it took them only two days to do it. That's explained by the fact that one of those days was occupied by a triple dual meet in which the Warriors came out with two wins and a draw.

For the second time this season, captain Jack Gibbs turned the trick with a last second goal to stake Winona State to a hairs breadth basketball victory. This time the victim was Southwestern State at Marshall, Minn., on their home court last Saturday night. The Warriors won by a 58-54 margin that was established only with the aid of an overtime period.

It was also Gibbs who gave the Winona squad a new lease on life when they were down by as many as nine points in the second half of regular play. Gibbs' two free throws with 29 seconds remaining to be played knotted the contest at 46 apiece and that's the way it stayed until the overtime period began.

Southwestern's Alt Thum dropped in a field goal to lead off overtime scoring and give his team a 48-46 advantage. Gibbs then tipped in a free throw that Steve Protsman fired off the mark to tie the score. Then, with six seconds left, Gibbs sank a lay-up to clinch the win.

Winona State's triumph mainly hung on its perfect conference record at 4-0. Southwest is now 6-4 in conference activity.
