Strike Ties Up Two Big Liners At Southampton

Workers Walk
Off Elizabeth
And America

LONDON (AP)—Striking dockers walked off the liners Queen Elizabeth and America at Southampton today, spreading the shipping paralysis that now threatens this island nation's food supplies.

Approximately 39,000 men—half Britain's waterfront working force—were out at London, Liverpool, Birkenhead, Hull and Southampton. Some union leaders striving to get the men back to work say the strike is being fomented by Communists.

Prime Minister Churchill's Cabinet may decide later today to use troops to unload ships—particularly those with cargoes of meat, butter, eggs and fruit—if the men don't return to work by Saturday.

These vital cargoes are beginning to rot in the ships.

The strike picture by ports: London—26,000 men out, including 4,500 tug and bargemen. Complete paralysis of the port.

Liverpool—8,000 out and 5,000 working.

Birkenhead—Entire force of 2,000 out.

Hull—2,000 out.

Southampton—Situation still fluid but nearly 1,000 men either refused to report to work this morning or walked off ships being worked.

Fifty-five men loading 100 tons of cargo into the America walked off at once. The liner arrived at Southampton from Bremerhaven, Germany, and was scheduled to sail this afternoon for New York. More than 120 passengers were booked to embark here.

Many, but not all, of the men loading cargo and stores aboard the Queen Elizabeth also downed tools. The 83,000-ton Cunard liner is due to sail early tomorrow with Queen Mother Elizabeth aboard. The Queen Mother is traveling to the United States for a visit.

Shopkeepers predicted severe food shortages, especially of meat, butter and eggs, unless the 17-day-old walkout is ended by Saturday. The stoppage is holding up 200 million dollars worth of exports and imports and poses a serious threat to Britain's whole economy.

Labor Minister Sir Walter Monckton pledged the government yesterday to "any steps which may become necessary to protect the national interest."

Leaders of the Trade Union Congress, the parent body of the unions involved, denounced the strike last night as "useless sacrifice."

Arthur Deakin, boss of the huge Transport and General Workers Union, to which most of the dockers belong, has denounced the walkout as "a Communist conspiracy."

A possible turning point in the mushrooming stoppage came last night at Southampton, where 2,000 dockers voted against strike action.

No Extension Of Deer Hunting In Minnesota

ST. PAUL (AP)—Chester S. Wilson, state conservation commissioner, said today that there will be no extension of deer hunting in central or southern Minnesota this fall.

The commissioner said that he has had some requests from the extreme southeastern part of the state for a three-day shotgun slug season in that area. There has been no considerable demand for opening any other part of the closed zone in the central or southern areas.

"Field reports on deer this year showed that in some sections of central and southern Minnesota there were enough deer to stand a limited hunting season," Wilson explained. "However, the deer population in that territory is not excessive and there have been few reports of damage done by deer."

"The policy of the department in these regions is to protect the deer as long as the public want them and as long as they are not so numerous as to cause serious danger of damage or accidents. Local deer damage cases usually can be handled by issuing permits to take enough deer to prevent further trouble."

First 3 Jurors Chosen for Sheppard Trial

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Sheppard murder trial, already deep in sex and romance, moved on today to more legal fencing over venereal disease.

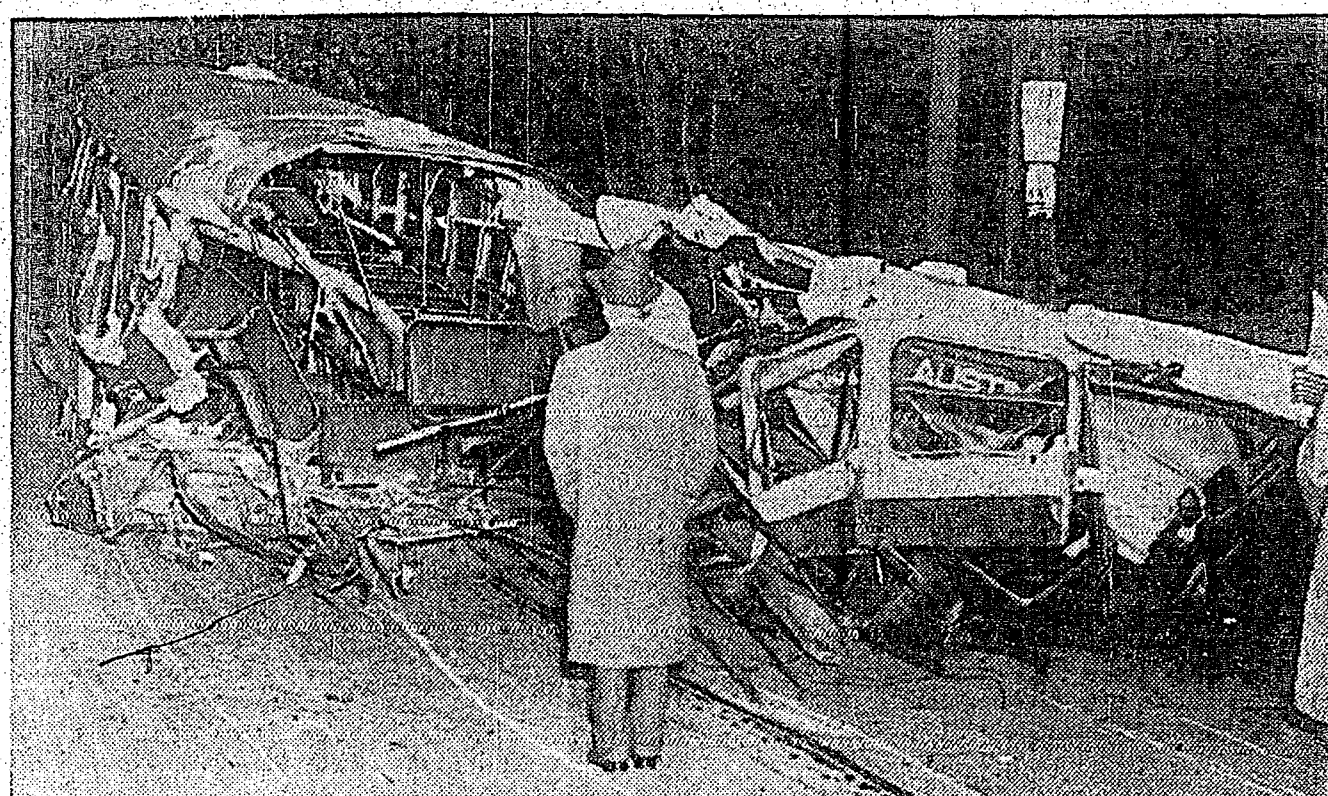

Two men and a woman have been tentatively seated to hear the first degree murder charges against Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, 30-year-old osteopath. Ten other jurors, including an alternate, remain to be chosen.

The name of Miss Susan Hayes, auburn-haired and a star prosecution witness, popped up yesterday as defense attorneys argued unsuccessfully for permission to ask prospective jurors their views on adultery.

The state claims Miss Hayes, a pretty, 24-year-old hospital technician with a cute spray of freckles across her nose, has admitted she was intimate with Sheppard last March while both were in California. Four months later, July 4, Sheppard's blonde and pregnant wife, Marilyn, 31, was found bludgeoned to death in their home along Lake Erie.

Sheppard, who pleaded innocent, maintained his wife was killed by a bushy-haired man who also knocked him unconscious in a battle that raged through the Sheppard home and ended on the lake shore outside.

Defense Counsel William J. Corrigan, told Common Pleas Judge Edward Blythin that "some people consider a sexual crime or sex deviation even worse than murder" and later declared, "I know that in the evidence they (the state) will bring in testimony on extra-marital relations."

No Alternative Of Victory or Defeat, He Says

Addresses Crowd
Of 7,500 at Trinity College

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—President Eisenhower said today the world has arrived at a point where there is no longer an alternative of victory or defeat in war, but only "degree of destruction."

Speaking informally to a police-estimated crowd of 7,500 persons at Trinity College convocation ceremonies, the President called on the youth of America to take the lead in preserving a sense of spiritual values.

He called such values the real salvation from "the threat of destruction."

Eisenhower received an honorary doctor of laws degree at ceremonies marking the college's 132nd year. He flew here from Washington this morning and was going on to New York for two major speeches—one tonight, the other Thursday night.

His addresses here and the two in New York were billed as non-political by the White House, but coming in the midst of the congressional campaign as they do they gave the President—as Vice President Nixon recently said—an opportunity to focus attention on the Republican administration in the campaign home stretch.

The first major address will be delivered in New York City tonight at a celebration of the 300th anniversary of the founding of the Jewish faith in America.

It is scheduled for 9 p. m. (Winona time). The President originally had been scheduled to make only a few remarks, but this was expanded this week into what now is billed as a major "nonpartisan" address. The White House did not announce his subject.

Tomorrow, the President hoped to boost the Republican campaign in New York City by a visit to the Roosevelt Hotel headquarters of Republican Sen. Irving M. Ives, now battling Democrat Averell Harriman for New York's governorship.

Tomorrow afternoon, Eisenhower scheduled a conference at his Waldorf-Astoria Hotel headquarters with former Rep. Clifford P. Case, New Jersey Republican, who is locked in a hot fight with Democratic Rep. Charles R. Howell for a U. S. Senate seat.

The President planned another major "nonpolitical" address tomorrow night at a dinner in honor of the late Alfred E. Smith, former New York governor and Democratic candidate for president in 1928. It is scheduled at 10:30 p. m. EST.

Eisenhower is due back at the White House Friday morning. He plans to go to his farm at Gettysburg, Pa., Saturday for a luncheon with Republican candidates in Pennsylvania.

'Not in Shape,' Says Man After Bridge Fall, Swim

ST. PAUL (AP)—A Minneapolis man accidentally plunged 100 feet into the Mississippi River here Tuesday night and then swam more than 200 yards to shore.

Arvid Peter Midtbo, 33, told authorities he became ill while driving over a bridge between Minneapolis and St. Paul.

Midtbo said that he stopped his car, hurried to the bridge rail and leaned over—too far. He said the next thing he knew the wind was whistling about him. Midtbo said he knew that if he landed on his stomach the force of the blow would kill him, so:

"I wrapped my arms around my knees and went in back first." He swam to shore fully clothed, using all manner of swimming styles he could think of.

"I'm not in the shape I used to be," he said later in Anchor Hospital. "When I climbed up the bank I fell back three or four times." Midtbo said that as a boy he learned to swim in the icy-cold fjords of Norway and that he once swam 15 miles.

6 Pigs Attack, Kill Englishwoman

BRIXHAM, England (AP)—An attack by six pigs was blamed Tuesday for the death of Miss Florence Stackhouse, 59.

Witnesses at an inquest said the animals set upon her as she was walking through a neighbor's field, breaking both her arms and inflicting deep cuts on her body.

Progress Reported In Talks on Saar

PARIS (AP)—With progress reported between France and Germany toward settlement of the troublesome Saar question, the foreign ministers of the United States and Great Britain gathered here today for four-power talks on near-independence for West Germany.

The conference is one of a series here this week looking toward West German rearmament and sovereignty.

French Premier Pierre Mendes-France and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer met almost eight hours yesterday on the Saar and a variety of economic topics. Mendes-France has said an agreement on the industrial-rich Saar must be reached before the French National Assembly will approve the rearmament of West Germany within the Western defense alliance.

The French and German leaders were reported to be nearing agreement on a plan to place the Saar under the authority of the projected West European Union so far as its foreign affairs are concerned. A German spokesman said the talks between Adenauer and Mendes-France "very likely" would continue today.

U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Britain's Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden planned to join the French and German statesmen later today for conferences designed to bring an end to a decade of military occupation in West Germany. Actual signing of a declaration would come Saturday.

Also to be signed then are agreements setting up the seven-nation West European defense union and admitting West Germany into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. An expanded group of ministers will discuss these measures tomorrow and Friday.

The parliaments in the countries concerned must ratify all the agreements before they become effective.

The Western Big Four ministers will examine 180 pages of detailed rights. The detailed pact was prepared by experts who have been meeting since the end of the recent London conference on West German rearmament.

Plans call for these accords to be added to the still unratified Bonn Peace Contract, which was tied to the defunct European Defense Community Treaty. The combined text would serve as a substitute for a peace treaty officially ending the war between Germany and the Allies.

No such peace treaty can be written now because no agreement can be worked out with the Soviet Union. West Germany cannot be completely independent until a final peace treaty is drafted.

Few Talk About McCarthy

By JOSEPH ALSOP

WASHINGTON—The enemies of Joseph R. McCarthy may well be wrong to look forward so eagerly to the Senate vote on censure of Wisconsin's junior senator. The thing has to be gone through with, of course; yet a special Senate session to consider McCarthy's misdeeds will inevitably bring him back to the center of the stage.

As of today, he has ceased to be a leading actor in the national drama. He is already discredited with a large majority of Americans. Using an old high school phrase, it would be almost better "to leave him lay where they flung him."

This is the first conclusion suggested by fairly intensive inquiries in Illinois, Minnesota, and Wisconsin, the three states which ought to be heart of the imaginary McCarthy-country.

One of the real achievements of the Eisenhower administration, apparently, is curing the national neurosis that was produced for so long by McCarthy's demagoguery, the Truman administration's maladroitness, and the foolish wartime misjudgments of the Communist party's character.

Hunt for Security Risks

There may be—in fact there is—much that is abhorrent and downright un-American in the methods of the current governmental hunt for security risks. But at least the country has now stopped looking for Communists under the bed. People have waked up to the fact that an Army dentist, however pinko, is considerably less dangerous to this republic than the armed might of the Soviet Union. That was what the President hoped for, and he seems to have achieved it.

Besides the President's efforts, two other processes have been at work to cut McCarthy down to size. "On the one hand, many rich and influential Republicans used to regard McCarthy in much the same way that the vestry of Trinity Church 75 years ago regarded its vast real estate holdings—as perhaps not very nice but highly profitable." The ideas of these people, who formerly gave McCarthyism a form of false

Deadly Gas Kills 8 in Detroit Rooming House

DETROIT (AP)—Deadly carbon monoxide gas fumes, seeping from a faulty chimney, last night killed eight occupants of a rooming house for men on the edge of Detroit's downtown district.

Nine other roomers were rushed to downtown Receiving Hospital for emergency treatment. Their condition was said to be "temporarily serious."

One of the victims was identified as Murre Emme, 75, of Detroit.

Hospital attendants said most of the victims were clad only in night clothes making positive identification difficult. Most of the victims were between 50 and 70.

Police said 24 persons occupied the three-story rooming house. Quick action by Joseph Filjakowski, 53, owner of the building, was credited with saving additional lives.

Firemen said the fumes spread from a gas furnace which heated the building. They said recent rains apparently loosened mortar in the brick chimney, causing particles to fall over a flue. The gas, unable to enter the blocked chimney, entered the house through a furnace vent.

Witnesses Deny Inmate Beaten At S.D. Prison

SIOUX FALLS, S.D. (AP)—Attorney General Ralph Dunham said today that two eyewitnesses, one of them Assistant Deputy Warden B. H. Plymate, both deny that prisoner George Mitchell was beaten at the penitentiary.

The attorney general's statement said Plymate said it did become necessary to strike another inmate, Clarence Robb, several times with a blackjack to break up a fight. Robb and Mitchell were on a benzadrine drunk, Dunham said.

"This tends to entirely dispute the charges of Nichol (Democratic attorney general candidate Fred Nichol) that Mitchell died as a result of a beating by a penitentiary guard," Dunham said.

Straw Fire Ignites Clothing, Boy Dies

GRAND FORKS, N. D. (AP)—A 5-year-old Niagara, N. D. school boy, burned in a schoolyard fire at Niagara earlier in the day, died Tuesday night in a Grand Forks hospital.

He was Kenneth Hoverson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hoverson. The boy suffered the fatal burns when his clothes were ignited by flames from a straw fire in the yard. It is believed the fire was started by children playing with matches during the noon recess.

Ives Charges, Harriman Denies $250,000 Bribe

By JAMES DEVLIN

NEW YORK (AP)—U. S. Sen. Irving M. Ives, Republican candidate for governor, says a shipping firm once headed by his opponent Averell Harriman paid $250,000 to a crooked judge to obtain pier leases in New York harbor back in the 1920s.

Harriman, Democratic-Liberal party nominee, denies emphatically that he paid or knew of anybody making improper payments in connection with a pier lease or any other matter.

The story about leases for two Tammany-controlled piers was told by Ives in a radio and television speech last night. It originally became public knowledge in 1930.

Republican and Democratic leaders today faced the question—was Ives' speech a bombshell or a dud?

Harriman, former New Deal and "Fair Deal" diplomat and secretary of commerce, accused Ives of a "baseless" attack in a "desperate effort to bolster a faltering campaign," and said he believes the people will resent it.

Ives and Harriman are battling to succeed retiring Gov. Thomas E. Dewey for one of the most influential state posts in American politics.

Ives said United American Line, headed by Harriman as board chairman, paid the quarter-million dollars to Kings County (Brooklyn) Judge W. Bernard Vause in the mid-1920s.

The case was widely reported in the press in 1930.

The senator said the shipping line was losing money and wanted to sell its ships. It found a buyer, but on condition that dock facilities for the vessels be made available.

"I am a many controlled the docks," said Ives.

Tammany is the Manhattan Democratic organization and is reputed to dominate the large Brooklyn and Bronx Democratic organizations in the city.

Tammany backed Harriman for the Democratic nomination for governor against Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., who later was nominated for attorney general.

Ives said the shipping line obtained leases on two city-owned piers through payments to Vause.

For four years, he said, the "secret seemed to be safe" and "everything was happy until the spring of 1930, when the scandal broke loose."

Ives said the judge ran a financial company on the side and was sentenced to six years in prison for swindling hundreds of poor people. There was no implication of Harriman being involved in this.

Ike May Name Young Man to Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower was reported today to be leaning toward selection of a relatively young man to fill a vacancy on the Supreme Court. Such an attitude would weigh against most of the names figuring in public speculation so far.

White House sources said the President feels his choice should be young enough to anticipate serving probably 15 or more years.

The recent death of Justice Robert H. Jackson gives Eisenhower his second opportunity to make a Supreme Court appointment. His first selection was Chief Justice Earl Warren, who is 63.

There has been speculation that Thomas E. Dewey, 52, retiring as governor of New York in January, might have a high priority for the court seat, but White House sources said they doubted if Dewey would want the job. He has announced an intention to retire from public life.

Informants said they didn't know whether the court seat would be filled before the elections. If the decision is delayed, some defeated Republican candidates presumably might be considered for the post.

Treaty Signed to End Occupation of Suez by British

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Organized crowds cheering Prime Minister Gamal Abdel Nasser gathered at Egypt's Parliament Building today to celebrate the signing of the treaty ending British occupation of the Suez Canal zone.

Nasser, the young soldier who led the bloodless coup that de-throned ex-King Farouk two years ago, signed the long-sought evacuation treaty last night. Anthony Nutting, 34-year-old British minister of state, headed the British delegation.

Government-sponsored youth rally groups and delegations of trade unions paraded to the Parliament Building and Nasser's office, while overhead roared jet fighters, bombers and training planes of the Egyptian air force.

The signing ceremony was held in the green-pillared Pharaonic Hall of Parliament. Under terms of the treaty, the 83,000 British troops garrisoning the canal zone will be evacuated within 20 months but British civilian technicians will maintain a few selected installations for seven years after the troops withdraw.

Sen. Mundt Tagged On Speeding Charge

SOUTH SIOUX FALLS, S.C. (AP)—Sen. Mundt (R-SD) was given a speeding tag yesterday by Chief of Police John Blom of South Sioux Falls. He was charged with speeding through a 15-mile-an-hour school zone.

The senator continued on his way to keep an appointment at Canton, S.D., but was scheduled to appear later before a magistrate.

Now Help Your Town Through Your Chest Pledge Now

Hollywood Is Burying One of 'Richest Men'

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Today we're burying one of Hollywood's richest characters, Stanley Rose, who died broke.

Stanley was never rich in terms of material wealth. But his life was rich in legend and few men had more friends. I counted myself lucky to be one of them.

As far as I can judge, he had only one enemy and that was John Barleycorn. His death came last Sunday, because of a throat hemorrhage, at 55.

Rose was a fey character who could be counted on to do the unpredictable. He proved that in World War I. He had enlisted at 18, and his throat was shot away by the Germans. Attendants put curtains around his bed in the hospital because he wasn't expected to live. But his Texas spirit wouldn't give up that easily.

He was born in Matador, Tex., and that was ironic. One of his last deals as a book agent was selling the life story of Pat McCormick, the lady bullfighter.

After the war, he turned up in Wichita Falls, which was enjoying a boom. When his luck ran out, he flipped a coin to determine whether he would go to Chicago or Hollywood, Chicago lost.

He set up the Satyr Book Shop on Hollywood Boulevard, and it was a landmark for movie stars, novelists, con men and producers for 17 years. One of the young kids who haunted the place was Budd Schulberg. Stanley got ample mention in the lad's first novel, "What Makes Sammy Run?"

Stanley knew them all—Chaplin, Pickford, Fairbanks, Griffith, Barrymore. He used to pal around with a sometime bootlegger named Mack Sennett, among others. He hired a young man from Fresno to sweep out the store. His name: William Saroyan.

Reynolds, Fisher Engagement Official

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The romance of actress Debbie Reynolds and singer Eddie Fisher has flowered into an official engagement.

The betrothal was announced last night by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Reynolds of Burbank, through her studio, MGM. It had been rumored for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Cantor will give an engagement party for the couple Saturday at the Beverly Hills Hotel.

Cantor helped discover Fisher. The singer is in New York but plans to fly here Saturday for the party.

The parents said Miss Reynolds, 22, and Fisher, 25, plan to be married next June in Hollywood.

Car-Train Crash Injures Man on Way to Hospital

AUSTIN, Minn. (AP)—A car-train crash near here Tuesday night sent Oren Lecy, 39, into a bed at St. Olaf Hospital, where he had been driving to visit his wife and a daughter born to the couple Saturday.

Two cousins in the machine, Stanley Lecy, 47, and his wife, 45, were critically injured with chest and rib injuries. All the Lecys live at Stewartville, Minn. Oren suffered an injured back.

The car was rolled into a 20-foot gully after colliding with a Chicago Great Western train at a rural crossing of a detour in Highway 58 about 10 miles northeast of here.

Nixon Blames Democrats for Security Risks

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Vice President Richard Nixon says all but one of 164 State Department employees removed as security risks were holdovers from the Truman administration.

That one, he told some 3,000 diners at a $100-a-plate Republican fund-raising dinner last night, "was a 90-day temporary employee who lost his job the moment that his security check was complete."

Nixon said the information came from the Civil Service Commission report which showed that 6,826 security risks "were removed from the federal payroll" during a 13-month period ending June 1954.

The vice president said he cited the figures to prove what he called this "fact":

"That the Truman administration failed miserably to deal effectively with Communism in the United States and that the Eisenhower administration has succeeded magnificently in cleaning up the mess they left."

Nixon's charges have drawn fire from Democrats, including Sen. Clin D. Johnston (D-SC), who last Saturday telegraphed a demand that the government give figures to show by whom the discharged employees were hired. He quoted a Washington newspaper story that reported up to 75 per cent of those removed may have been hired by the Eisenhower administration.

Under the administration program, security risks include those with records of drunkenness, talkativeness, criminal records, sexual perversion and other factors in addition to subversive activities and associations.

Winona Store Completes New Boys' Section

St. Clair and Gunderson, Inc., 65 E. 3rd St., completed remodeling of its store this week with the installation of a boys' wear department on the street floor of the building and are holding the grand opening of that department today.

Started in July, the 20-by-40-foot addition was completed Tuesday and is now ready to "save steps," according to owner Ken Gunderson, for shoppers. The old boys' department was located downstairs in the building.

The firm has installed new fixtures which offer a greater variety of display, added new boy-appeal colors and enlarged the scope of its inventory. Top brand names in the department will be "Tom Sawyer" and "Munsingwear."

A boys' "Thrill Club," through which boys may win prizes—footballs, basketballs and cameras—has been installed in the store.

St. Clair and Gunderson will continue to carry surplus boys' clothing in the downstairs store along with an enlarged luggage and formal wear rental department.

Registration begins today for free prizes and continues through Nov. 1, when awards will be held. Boys must be accompanied by a parent to register.

Thick Waistline Causes Accident

DETROIT (AP)—Mrs. Sarah Reeves, 39, was ordered by Detroit Traffic Court yesterday to pay $2,700 hospital bills and the $600 cost of an artificial leg for a pedestrian.

She was convicted of felonious driving for losing control of her car, running over a curb and striking Henry Mills, 57.

Mrs. Reeves, who weighed 357 pounds at the time of the accident May 2, said her 46-inch waist prevented her from controlling her car.

U.N. Will Continue Opposition to Red China, Mayo Says

ST. PAUL (AP)—The U.N. isn't perfect but it is the only and best world organization we have at the moment, Dr. Charles W. Mayo, Rochester, said here Tuesday night.

Dr. Mayo, alternate delegate to the U.N. and president of the American Assn. for the United Nations, said the latter group would continue to oppose admission of Red China.

"That opposition will continue until such time as unequivocal proof comes that, as a nation, Red China will abide by the dictates of the U.N.," Dr. Mayo told the delegates of the Minnesota Nurses Assn., closing their annual meeting here.

Blair Students Elect Officers

BLAIR, Wis. (Special)—The piano students of the Allegro Club met recently at the home of their teacher, Mrs. Harold Houge for the election of officers.

The club chose Ellen Hoganson, president. Other officers are Janet Swiggum, vice president; Gloria Tenneson, secretary; Rosalie Molstad, treasurer and Lana Bluske, program chairman.

The group decided to hold their meetings the first Thursday of the month.

The first meeting of the club was held at the home of Sally Sims.

Phenix City Police Think They Know Patterson's Slayer

PHENIX CITY, Ala. (AP)—The gun-ran whose bullets cut short the crime-fighting career of A. L. Patterson four months ago is still a hunted killer, but investigators may have the goods on him.

Despite the cautious secrecy of Acting Atty. Gen. Bernard Sykes, who is directing the murder inquiry, homicide detectives say privately they think they know the assassin's name.

"We feel sure we have a good, sound case against the man who did it," said one homicide detective, "but there are a few loose ends to be tied up."

And, he added, "There may be others involved, and we want to get them too."

Other sources close to the investigation corroborated the story, but none of the officers would divulge details.

Sykes commented merely that "We think we're making progress."

Dixon-Yates Deal Flayed By Kefauver

Tennessee Senator Main Speaker at Whitehall Dinner

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—The Dixon-Yates deal "smells worse than Teapot Dome," Sen. Estes Kefauver, (D-Tenn.) told an audience of 250 at Our Saviour's Lutheran Church here Tuesday evening.

"In worthwhile measures, we, the Democrats in Congress have stood firmly by Pres. Eisenhower," he said. "While the President has had many noble ambitions, the old guard Republican leadership in Congress has not been good for the country. Our country will be set back 20-30 years if the old guard has its way," he continued.

In behalf of Rep. Lester Johnson, Black River Falls, who is running for re-election, the Tennessee legislator stated, "He did remarkably well during his first year in Congress. He is known and respected and has the interests of the people. He fought for legislation for the welfare of farmers, REA and veterans and is laboring as promised in the tradition of the late Merlin Hull whom he succeeded."

Johnson spoke briefly as did Keith Hardie, Disco, candidate for the state legislature and Bert Gipple, former editor of the Galesville Republican who classified himself as an "independent voter."

The Democrat leaders were late for the dinner which started at 5 p.m., arriving from La Crosse by car about 7 p.m. Kefauver spoke at Beaver Dam in the afternoon and flew to La Crosse. After leaving the church the party went to Eau Claire. The senator was to leave Minneapolis today for Tennessee. He will take part in the Dixon-Yates hearings in the capital later this week.

Roman Feltes, Arcadia, candidate for county district attorney, was master of ceremonies and introduced the speakers. Arnold Borgwardt, Arcadia, Trempealeau County Electric Co-op, showed the film "More Power To You" while the crowd awaited the candidates.

Electricians Study Membership Matter

Proposals that journeyman and apprentice electricians be accepted as associate members of the Southern Minnesota Electrical Contractors Association are expected to be considered by the association at its meeting in Harmony Nov. 9.

The last association meeting was held at Lanesboro Oct. 12 and was highlighted by a discussion of the electrical code.

George Wemer, president of the state board of electricians spoke on state regulations governing the installation of electrical wiring.

Roy Remeke, a field representative for the state board, asked all electrical contractors to urge their employees to attend the association meetings so that they might benefit from instruction presented at the sessions.

Thirty-eight persons attended the Lanesboro meeting.

Garden-Planting Begins Today

Planting of the public garden area east of Franklin street, along Sarmia street, started today. The entire area to Mankato avenue will be planted.

When this area is completed the garden area west of Huff street along Lake street will be planted. All gardeners are instructed to remove all produce as soon as possible.

Reception Planned For Rev. Hoffmann

A reception honoring the Rev. and Mrs. W. G. Hoffmann of St. Martin's Lutheran Church will be held Thursday at the school auditorium beginning at 8 p.m.

An entertainment program has been arranged and lunch will be served. Guests attending the reception will be asked to contribute to a purse which will be presented to Rev. and Mrs. Hoffmann.

ATTEND FUNERAL

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Engen attended funeral services at La Crosse Monday for Mrs. Engen's aunt, Mrs. Carrie Riegger.

Youthful Driver Of Accident Car Fined on Charge

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special)—Albert Tamke Jr., 18, pleaded guilty to a reckless driving charge before A. C. Foster, justice of the peace here, Tuesday night and was fined $15 and court costs.

The charge was made by Maurice Scow, Arcadia, Trempealeau County traffic officer, following an accident late Friday near Three-Mile Bridge on Highway 93, in which six local high school students escaped serious injury. The vehicle, which left the road and rolled over several times, belongs to Albert Tamke Sr. and is a total wreck according to Scow.

All the youths were treated for minor injuries at St. Joseph's Hospital. A boy and girl were hospitalized overnight—the boy with cuts on the head and the girl with bruises. Tamke Jr. was driving, according to Trempealeau County authorities who refused to reveal names of the other occupants.

The mishap occurred between 11:15 and 11:30 p.m. on a curve north of town. Marks at the scene indicate the youths were coming from the direction of Independence at high speed. After the car rolled it came to rest in a cornfield owned by Tony Frie. Its occupants were 13 and 15 years old. Scow investigated.

Winonans to Leave For Hi-Y Meeting

Four Winona youths and an adviser will leave at 5:30 a.m. Friday for Hudson, Wis., where they will attend sessions of an annual Hi-Y convention, representing the Southern Minnesota District of the organization.

Attending the camp on the St. Croix River Thursday, Friday and Saturday will be: Jean-Jacques Rey, American Field Service exchange student, now living with Dr. and Mrs. Judd L. Frederiksen, 420 Main St.; William Wasmack, son of Mrs. Helen Wasmack, 427 Wilson St.; Warren Hull, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Hull, 377 W. Sanborn St.; Clarence Crum, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Crum, Rt. 2, Winona; and the group's adviser, George Yamamoto, Hawaii, a student at Winona State Teachers College.

Theme for the convention is "Living Together," which will also be the theme of the World Conference of Older Boys at the World Alliance of the YMCA in Paris, France next summer.

Observer Corps Host at Supper

COCHRANE, Wis.—A pancake supper will be served by Ground Observer Corps of Cochrane and Buffalo City at Cochrane High School Saturday, serving to start at 5 p.m.

Concessions, entertainment, a rummage sale and guessing weight of a pig donated by Joe Greshik, Fountain City, will be part of the event. An observation tower will be constructed with funds from this and other events sponsored by the corps.

Schools Close For MEA Parley

Nine Winona schools will be closed Thursday and Friday of this week while teachers are attending sessions of a two-day convention of the Minnesota Education Association to be held in the Minneapolis Auditorium. Two other local schools will not be in session Friday only and nine will not close at all.

Those closed both days include: Central Elementary, Central Junior High School, Jefferson, Lincoln, Madison, Washington, Kosciusko, Phelps, Winona Senior High School and Winona State Teachers College.

Cathedral grade school and Cotter Junior High School will be closed Friday only. Those remaining in session here both days are: College of Saint Teresa, St. Mary's College, Winona Business College, Cotter High School, St. Casimir's, St. Martin's, St. John's, St. Mary's and St. Stanislaus grade schools.

Farm Census Count Begins Here Monday

Field work in the 1954 Census of Agriculture gets underway in Winona County Monday when a force of enumerators will start visiting every farm in the area, according to Field Supervisor Carl A. Dahlstrom, Owatonna.

Farm census questionnaires have been mailed to all farm operators. The enumerators will visit all local farms to collect the questionnaires and, if necessary, assist the farmer in filling out the report form.

The 1954 census of agriculture is the 16th in a series of nationwide farm enumerations, the first of which was conducted in 1940. The census of agriculture is taken at five-year intervals to provide up-to-date statistical information about more than five million farms which supply food and raw materials for manufacture of goods used by the people of the United States, now numbering about 162.5 million. The current census will yield information on the number and size of farms, acreage and harvest of crops, livestock production and inventories, selected farm facilities and equipment and selected farm expenditures.

Dahlstrom emphasized that all information about individuals and their farm operations furnished to the Census Bureau is held in absolute confidence under federal law. It is used only to provide summary figures such as totals, averages, and percentages. The information on an individual report cannot be furnished to any one other than sworn census employees and thus cannot be used for investigation, taxation or regulation.

Farm Boy Killed As Gun Discharges

UPSALA, Minn.—A 9-year-old farm boy, Alois Ripplinger, was fatally wounded today when a loaded .22 caliber rifle he picked up in his home accidentally discharged. The bullet struck Alois in the forehead. He died en route to a St. Cloud hospital. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Ripplinger.

Texas Crash Kills Minnesota Airman

BRYAN, Tex.—A Minnesotan was one of two airmen killed Tuesday when a Bryan Air Base training plane crashed on a nearby wooded hillside. He was 1st Lt. Ralph H. Iverson, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward U. Iverson of Pipestone, Minn. He was an instructor at the base. The second victim was an air cadet from Massachusetts. The two were returning from a practice flight when the ship came down.

Winona Teachers Selected for MEA Panel Groups

Language teachers from Winona will be among the participants in the language program at this week's meeting of the Minnesota Education Association in Minneapolis.

Dr. Leo Ochrymowicz, instructor in Greek and German at St. Mary's College, will be one of the principal speakers at Friday morning's Latin section and will discuss "The Old and the New in Latin Teaching."

Dr. Lillian McCarthy, a member of the modern language department at the College of Saint Teresa, will be the moderator for a panel on "Correlating Culture with Modern Languages." Dr. McCarthy holds a degree from the University of Toronto and currently is translating the works of a French author for the Cross and Crown series.

Sister M. Edith, Cotter High School, will be a member of a panel on in-service training for Latin teachers. Miss Margaret Schummers, a Winona Senior High School Latin instructor, is a member of the state Latin Gobelst committee. Other language teachers who will attend the meeting are the Rev. William Magee, Immaculate Heart of Mary Seminary; Bro. Patrick, St. Mary's College, and Sister Bede and Sister Chiara, College of Saint Teresa.

Arcadia Society Hears Reports

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special)—The Holy Name Society of the St. Stanislaus Parish met immediately after the Rosary Devotion Sunday evening in the church recreational rooms and held their regular monthly and annual meeting. Annual reports were discussed and distributed to those members present. The meeting was conducted by President Ernest Sossalla. The treasurer's report was read by Treasurer Benedict Ressel and the secretary's report was read by Secretary Stanley J. Sossalla.

The president asked those present, that when ever possible members should go to the St. Stanislaus Catholic School grounds and erect playground equipment that was recently purchased by the organization. The building of the playground equipment will be done by volunteers.

Following the meeting slides of Arcadia area scenery was shown by Roman Woychik and the Rev. Anton Lechler. Fr. Lechler is assistant pastor of the St. Stanislaus parish and chaplain at the St. Joseph's Hospital here.

State Physicians Meet at Rochester

ROCHESTER, Minn.—Some 500 Minnesota physicians are meeting here today at the fourth annual fall refresher course of the Minnesota Academy of General Practice.

The program includes 13 scientific lectures by Mayo Clinic staff doctors and 35 exhibits. Guest speaker at today's luncheon was Dr. Albert M. Snell, formerly head of an internal medicine section at the Mayo Clinic, and now practicing at a Palo Alto, Calif. clinic.

Drives 110 Miles To Return Shaker

BARDSTOWN, Ky.—Talbot Tavern features novel salt shakers—so novel a little boy with a family of tourists stuck one in his pocket. The father didn't discover the boy had the shaker until he had driven 110 miles from Bardstown. But he turned right around and came back. "I wanted to make an example of it," he told the tavern manager, "so he'll learn never to take something that doesn't belong to him."

Driver Called As Witness in Accident Cases

Defendant Testifies Regarding Details Of Fatal Mishap

A defendant in four personal injury cases being tried before a Winona County District Court jury was on the stand for an hour and 15 minutes as the trial entered its third day this morning. Judge Karl Finkelburg is presiding.

E. Frederick Bailey, Big Fork, Minn., told of incidents preceding the accident near Whitman Dam Dec. 24, 1953 and of the medical treatment he received at the Winona General Hospital and later in Rockford, Ill.

Five claims, involving damages totaling more than $100,000, are being heard simultaneously. All are related to the 3-car accident in which Joseph Homola, Farmington, Minn., was killed. His wife is the plaintiff in two of the actions, while two others are brought by two Homola children.

Bailey and Mrs. Frank Fivecoat, Prairie du Chien, Wis., are defendants in these actions. Fivecoat was driving the third car involved in the mishap. Mrs. Fivecoat is the plaintiff in the fifth case, against Mrs. Homola and Bailey, while Bailey has entered a counterclaim for damages. Fivecoat had been listed as a party in the five actions, but he has since died of causes not related to the accident.

Presiding Bailey on the stand this morning were Oscar Krenke, a Minnesota Highway Patrolman, who investigated at the scene of the accident. He took the stand at the close of Tuesday's session and continued today describing the investigation he conducted with other law enforcement officials after arriving at the scene about 6:35 p.m.

Mrs. Homola was interrogated briefly by H. M. Lambertson Jr., Winona, who with Joseph Moonan and Joseph Friedel, Waseca, represent Bailey, concerning events preceding the time they left Winona en route to Farmington, Minn.

Also called as a witness for the defendant was Vincent Tipperly, 17, Prairie du Chien, a passenger in the Fivecoat car, who testified that although he had no direct conversation with Mrs. Homola after the accident, he heard her say that the accident occurred when she reached over to wake her husband, Clark McGregor, Minneapolis, who with William F. Hull, Winona, is representing the Homolas, then asked Tipperly if Mrs. Homola was spattered with blood, hysterical and crying for her husband at the time, and he said she was. Mrs. Fivecoat is represented by Francis G. Thompson, Winona.

When Bailey took the stand, he was questioned concerning his alleged testimony by Lambertson. He also stated that the station wagon he was driving at the time of the accident was "practically new" having been purchased five months earlier for $2,560.15.

En route to Winona at the time of the accident, Bailey said he had left Big Fork about 9:30 or 10 a.m. and said the accident occurred about 5:45 p.m. He added that he first noticed the spotty ice on the highway near Hastings.

He said that due to the condition of the road he reduced his speed, and upon nearing the eventual scene of the accident, he noticed cars parked on either side of the highway. He dimmed the lights, then returned them to high beam, and decreased the speed, to warn the two parked cars of his presence on the highway.

Bailey said the first time he noticed another car traveling on the highway was after rounding a bend and driving down a decline in the road and observing the parked vehicles. His speed was then about 20 miles per hour, Bailey said.

"I had the impression the lights were in the center of the road," he continued, "and that the back end was swerving. I recall seeing a red tail light and then losing sight of it briefly."

He called the apparent swerving "did not get better in fact it increased" and that he thought an accident might result. Bailey said he pulled further to the edge of the road, but could not drive onto the shoulder. He said he had dimmed the lights as soon as he saw the approaching vehicle and decreased his speed using the brakes and also used the motor as a brake.

Immediately before the impact, Bailey said it seemed as though the other car went all the way across the road and "then all of a sudden it came toward me."

He then described the collision of the Homola car and the north-bound Fivecoat vehicle, which he saw and heard from a position with his left leg under the dashboard of his vehicle, his right foot on the seat and his head and shoulders on the ground.

Bailey said he recalled seeing the car that collided with his vehicle (the Homola car) north of him along the highway, and said that he could not tell which direction it was facing.

He said there appeared to be someone partly out of the car on the side facing the bluff, before the second collision.

He then described the incidents that followed the second impact and gave at length details of his treatment at the Winona General Hospital that included two operations on his left leg. After his discharge from the hospital April 27, 1954, Bailey said he went to the home of his parents in Rockford, Ill., and after experi-

Agent to Address Farm Bureau Unit

FOUNTAIN CITY, Wis.—E. O. Baker, Eau Claire, erosion control agent, will be the main speaker at the annual meeting of the Buffalo County Farm Bureau at the auditorium here at 8:15 p.m. Thursday.

Reports will be given by the fieldman of the Farm Bureau and the FB insurance agent. Resolutions for consideration at the state convention will be discussed. A dairy lunch will be served. Wilmer J. Rosenow, president will preside.

Legion Sets Plans For Annual Lunch

Members of Leon J. Wetzel Post 9, Winona American Legion, set final plans for the annual Veterans Day lunch November 11, at a meeting of the group Tuesday evening at the clubrooms.

Serving of free sauerkraut and hot dogs will begin at 11 a.m. November 11 and continue until 3:30 p.m.

Dr. E. G. Callahan asked members to volunteer for a color guard detail on Veterans Day and again this week at Cotter Senior High School's homecoming festivities Friday.

Post Commander Jack Curtis explained the need of shell donations from individuals. The shells are to be sent to posts in western Minnesota for use by hunters who are hunting pheasants for the Vets Pheasant Dinner day November 11.

A proposal for a change in by-laws was brought before the group and tabled for action until the next meeting, November 16.

The resolution seeks to change the date of election for Legion officers from July to June, in order that new officers may be installed before the state Legion convention in July.

It was revealed at the meeting that membership in the organization now stands at 181. Winner of the commander's door prize was Richard Wessen.

UN FILM SHOWING

The third in a series of films on the United Nations will be shown at Winona Public Library, Thursday at 7:30 p.m. when Russell Smith will be moderator for "The Land and the People," the UNESCO story of life in Patzcuaro, Mexico.

Bailey as saying that when she looked back to the highway her car was skidding on the ice and crashed into Bailey's station wagon.

McGregor in cross-examination asked Mrs. Bailey if Mrs. Homola appeared to be upset at the time of the conversation and Mrs. Bailey replied that she was.

"And you had no idea what or how much drugs had been administered to Mrs. Homola just before your conversation?" McGregor asked and Mrs. Bailey said that she had not.

Mrs. Bailey further testified that there was no one else in the room when the conversation was held in Mrs. Homola's room.

Krenke was the last witness called before adjournment Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Lokensgard Queen of 1954 WSH Homecoming

A 17-year-old brunette, Solveig Lokensgard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Lokensgard, 212 W. Sanborn St., was crowned queen of Winona Senior High School's 1954 homecoming in ceremonies at Jefferson Field Tuesday evening.

The symbol of 1954 royalty, a scepter, was given Miss Lokensgard by Art Sagen and Roger Benson, co-captains of the Senior High football team, who spoke briefly to the almost 1,000 rosters gathered for a bonfire and pep rally.

Solveig, a senior, is a cheerleader and president of Winona Senior High's student council.

Named as attendants to the queen were Beth Girod, Charlotte Svenningson, Janet Tuttle and Faith Ann Schmidt, all seniors.

On the docket for today were a parade with floats and the high school band through downtown Winona at 3 p.m., the 8 p.m. grid clash with Red Wing and the annual homecoming ball at Jefferson School auditorium immediately following.

Twenty-five floats and marching units competed for three prizes in today's parade, with each home room at the high school providing an entry. Marching music was by the Senior High School band. The parade started at the high school, moved north on Johnson street, east on 3rd to Liberty and west on 4th to the high school building.

Louis Schuth's orchestra will play for the homecoming dance following tonight's football game.

Woman Arrested On Traffic Count

Mrs. Lillian Ziegenfuss, 79, 528 W. Howard St., forfeited a $25 deposit in municipal court this morning on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident without stopping to identify herself.

Mrs. Ziegenfuss was involved in an accident with a car driven by Dorothy B. Whetstone, Minnesota City, on West Broadway about 100 feet east of Johnson street at 10:20 a.m. Tuesday.

Called to investigate the accident, Assistant Chief of Police Everett Laak and Detective George R. Meyers found the plastic shield from the turn signal of the car that collided with Mrs. Whetstone's vehicle. In 35 minutes they had found the other car involved in the mishap.

The left side of the Whetstone car was damaged an estimated $200 while damage to the right front fender of the Ziegenfuss car was estimated at $35. Both cars were traveling west on Broadway when the accident occurred as the Whetstone car left the curb.

WOMAN HURT

A Winona woman sustained right hand, knee and side injuries in a car-bicycle accident on 4th street Tuesday. Lucille Schmidt, 253 1/2 E. 3rd St., told police she was riding past a parked car when the car door was opened and knocked her off the bicycle.

She did not obtain the name of the person who opened the door and police said this morning that the other person involved in the accident had not made a report at the police station.

Val Bjornson, Humphrey on Ballot Drives

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) and Val Bjornson, the Republican seeking to unseat him in the Nov. 2 election, today continued verbal swings at each other in one of the state's most vigorous ballot drives.

Humphrey, in a text prepared for an audience at Warren, said GOP cries about "government handouts" suddenly become stifled when such handouts go to the Republicans' special privilege friends.

"But when the same government provides fortunes in favoritism to a powerful, privileged few—millions to bankers in the form of higher interest rates, more millions to power companies through rapid tax writeoffs and millions to gas companies through broadening of rate bases—that somehow achieves a cloak of Republican respectability."

Bjornson said in a talk readied for a Clouet meeting that GOP tax cuts would enable Minnesota's forest industry to expand a research program that already has produced millions in taxes and increased employment. He said that discovery of new products had assured continuance of the industry.

"As a result of the Republican state administration's evidence of faith in our forests, excellent reforestation and fire protection programs have been entered into with private industry for the benefit of all," Bjornson said.

"Senator Humphrey's lack of faith in America and American institutions has been made clearly apparent. He attacks American business institutions through his principles of government, favor government acting as a rule maker and enforcer of decisions, a servant to all interests."

"Unfortunately for the wage earner and industry, Humphrey believes in government that exalts the role of master above the proper function of servant. This leads only to higher taxes to determine of both wage earner and industry."

Speaking at Wadena Tuesday night, Duane Lund, GOP candidate for state treasurer, said that the GOP administration in the past 15 years has reduced the state debt by more than 73 million dollars. Lund said the current tax rate was 9.94 mills compared with 13.7 mills, an all-time high when the DFL party was in power in 1935.

Orville Freeman, DFL gubernatorial aspirant, said he found morale uniformly low among employees of every state department and terminated a national tour of the shockingly bad administration by the Republicans.

"Few businesses could long exist if they permitted the carelessness, inefficiency and resulting corruption which has become apparent in our state government," Freeman said during a series of appearances at Red Lake Falls, Warren, Thief River Falls and Crookston.

The "Republican Flyer" party helicopter was touring the second and seventh congressional districts today with stops slated at Marshall, Pipestone, Slayton, St. James, Mankato and St. Paul. Rep. H. Carl Andersen was riding as far as Slayton where Rep. Joseph O'Hara was to succeed him. P. Kenneth Peterson, GOP candidate for lieutenant governor, was making the entire trip.

'Free Cambodians' Threaten Thailand

BANGKOK (U)—The Bangkok Post, an American-edited daily, said today that Thailand's internal security is threatened by the presence in Cambodia of a 4,000-man Vietnamese-led group and an uncertain element among 300,000 Chinese there.

The newspaper quoted Brig. Gen. Chamras Manthukonond, Thai minister to Cambodia, as saying the 4,000 operate as "free Cambodians" from a base south of Battambang province near the Thai border. They reportedly get their orders direct from the Communist Vietnamese, who now occupy the northern half of Viet Nam.

The Dominican Republic is somewhat larger than the combined area of Vermont and New Hampshire.

It Happened Last Night
Dior Double-Crossed By Cugat's Wife Abbe

NEW YORK—Miss Abbe Lane—the shapely singer who became Mrs. Xavier Cugat—in fact, she becomes him very much—just played a dirty trick on Christian Dior.

"I bought a jersey dress from him," confessed Abbe, now of Hollywood, "but made friends with one of his fitters. When the dress was finished, it wasn't flat and I wasn't either!"

It happened when Abbe, originally a Latin from Manhattan, filmed "Americano" abroad.

Google wanted to stiletto a few wolves over there. When Abbe sang in Rome, Farouk was on the front row—with binoculars.

"On the first row you need binoculars yet?" asked Abbe.

"After looking at you every night, the only thing to do is kill your husband," telegraphed an admirer from Milan. The Spanish bull-fighters gave her bulls' ears. Marion, the bull-slinger who wrote poems to Ava Gardner, gave Abbe poems, too — "the same ones," she suspects.

"I looked at Dior's dress for me," said Abbe. "It was flat. I said, 'Fine, but where are you going to put Abbe Lane?'"

"I want the boys at whistle," I said.

"He said it wasn't chic. When he walked out, I got it fitted tight, Brooklyn style, and ran like crazy for the airport. I'd like to send him a picture of it. But he'd flip his lid."

"See, here's the Dior label?"

The dress was a complete success, because it wasn't the label that everybody was looking at. They're saying the next big Congressional probell dig into the music business...

Free Cambodians Threaten Thailand

BANGKOK (U)—The Bangkok Post, an American-edited daily, said today that Thailand's internal security is threatened by the presence in Cambodia of a 4,000-man Vietnamese-led group and an uncertain element among 300,000 Chinese there.

The newspaper quoted Brig. Gen. Chamras Manthukonond, Thai minister to Cambodia, as saying the 4,000 operate as "free Cambodians" from a base south of Battambang province near the Thai border. They reportedly get their orders direct from the Communist Vietnamese, who now occupy the northern half of Viet Nam.

It Happened Last Night
Dior Double-Crossed By Cugat's Wife Abbe

NEW YORK—Miss Abbe Lane—the shapely singer who became Mrs. Xavier Cugat—in fact, she becomes him very much—just played a dirty trick on Christian Dior.

"I bought a jersey dress from him," confessed Abbe, now of Hollywood, "but made friends with one of his fitters. When the dress was finished, it wasn't flat and I wasn't either!"

It happened when Abbe, originally a Latin from Manhattan, filmed "Americano" abroad.

Google wanted to stiletto a few wolves over there. When Abbe sang in Rome, Farouk was on the front row—with binoculars.

"On the first row you need binoculars yet?" asked Abbe.

"After looking at you every night, the only thing to do is kill your husband," telegraphed an admirer from Milan. The Spanish bull-fighters gave her bulls' ears. Marion, the bull-slinger who wrote poems to Ava Gardner, gave Abbe poems, too — "the same ones," she suspects.

"I looked at Dior's dress for me," said Abbe. "It was flat. I said, 'Fine, but where are you going to put Abbe Lane?'"

"I want the boys at whistle," I said.

"He said it wasn't chic. When he walked out, I got it fitted tight, Brooklyn style, and ran like crazy for the airport. I'd like to send him a picture of it. But he'd flip his lid."

"See, here's the Dior label?"

The dress was a complete success, because it wasn't the label that everybody was looking at. They're saying the next big Congressional probell dig into the music business...

Advice on Health
Facts About Gallstones Are Revised

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

When I went to medical school, and we were studying gallstones, we were taught that persons most likely to develop this condition were fat, fat, fertile females of forty. This meant that women who were overweight and who had a number of children were the ones most likely to develop this disease.

However, now comes new evidence that this is by no means correct. It is true that most women who develop gallstones have had children, but so also have most other women.

Gallstones, like many other diseases, are more common in the later years of life, but they also occur in young adults and have even been found in children.

In many investigations of gall-bladder disease, it is found that more than one-third of the cases occurred in persons under forty years of age. Also, the disease is more common in women than in men, a fact which has perhaps hidden the diagnosis in men who have had such symptoms as excessive acid in the stomach and indigestion.

It is interesting to note that in certain countries several years after the war there was a rapid increase in the number of cases of gallstones discovered. It is believed that this may have followed removal of the restrictions of certain foods, particularly fatty foods. An excess of fatty foods is definitely harmful. Not only does it cause a general gain in weight, but the fat may also be deposited in the liver, which interferes with the action of this organ and may eventually lead to serious liver disease.

The symptoms of gallstones are pain in the upper right part of the abdomen, together with sickness of the stomach, sometimes vomiting and jaundice, due to an accumulation of bile coloring matter in the blood. Of course, whenever such symptoms are present, the doctor should be consulted at once.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

J. C.: How would a normal person taking insulin for ten months react to it?

Answer: Insulin given to a normal person will, of course, cause a reduction in the blood sugar. If too much is taken, it may cause attacks of weakness or even unconsciousness. Insulin, however, has been used, under the direction of the physician, for aiding persons to gain weight, but is only required in exceptional cases.

YOU MAY HAVE PIN-WORMS AND NOT KNOW IT!

Fidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often tell-tale signs of Pin-Worms... tiny parasites that medical experts say infect one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, these pests must not only be killed, but killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P.W. tablets do... and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with this dangerous, highly contagious condition. At the first sign of Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for genuine Jayne's P.W. Vermifuge... the small, easy-to-take tablets perfected by famous Dr. D. Jayne & Son, specialists in worm remedies for over 100 years.

Massed Orchestra, Chorus to Entertain State School Meet

MINNEAPOLIS (U)—The cream of the state's school music talent will perform here Friday night in a massed all-state orchestra and chorus appearing before the annual meeting of the Minnesota Education Assn.

The instrumentalists and chorists were drawn from 76 schools, ranging from International Falls to Austin, and Duluth to Pipestone. Guest director for the orchestra will be Gerald Samuel, associate director of the Minneapolis symphony, with Weston Noble of Luther College, Decorah, Iowa, leading the massed singers.

The concert will precede an address by Trygve Lie, former U.N. secretary general on "How to Meet the Challenge of Our Times."

Youngsters generally will have a two-day holiday as the approximately 15,000 teacher-delegates gather Thursday at 9 a.m. in the Minneapolis Auditorium. Section sessions will be widely scattered at locations in Minneapolis and St. Paul on both days.

Dr. Joseph Kise, Moorhead, the president, will preside at the main business sessions. Leading candidates to succeed him in the election to be held Friday are Florence Dunn of St. Cloud Teachers College staff, and Eleanor C. Biehl, mathematics instructor at Mankato High School.

Detroit Lakes Man 500th Traffic Victim

DETROIT LAKES, Minn. (U)—Severely injured, 70, Detroit Lakes, died in a local hospital Tuesday night and became Minnesota's 500th traffic victim of the year compared with the 513 killed by this day of 1933.

Barnes died of injuries suffered Thursday, when his car collided with a train at a grade crossing here. His widow, two sons and two daughters survive. Services will be held Thursday.

Voices Convict 2 Masked Gunmen

DETROIT (U)—Identified as bank robbers only by the sound of their voices, Simon H. Thompson, 37, and Leslie W. Reamer, 39, of Detroit were convicted by a federal court jury yesterday in the $11,500 hold-up June 28 of the Trenton State Bank.

Judge Ralph M. Freeman set no date for sentence.

Three bank employees who had been tied up by two masked gunmen said they recognized the voices of the defendants.

Nationalist Planes Drop Leaflets

TAIPEI, Formosa (U)—Nationalist planes carried the propaganda war against Red China to the mainland again yesterday, dropping leaflets in the Foch and Changpu areas of southern Fukien province, the Defense Ministry announced today.

Nationalists and Reds exchanged sporadic artillery fire between Amoy and Quoy and in the Tachen Island area yesterday, the ministry also announced.

Werner to Attend Welfare Course

Henrietta L. Gordon, information and publications secretary of the Child Welfare League of America, New York City, will be one of the speakers at a University of Minnesota three-day course for executive secretaries of county welfare boards, beginning Thursday at the university's center for continuation study.

Attending sessions from this area will be William P. Werner, executive secretary of the Winona City Welfare Board and secretary of the Winona County Dependency Project; Leo M. Miller, Caledonia; Wallace J. Walker, Wabasha, and Fritz R. Behm, Preston.

Miss Gordon will speak on the subjects "Responsibilities of Voluntary Agencies for Care and Protection of Children" and "Case-work With Parents in Neglect Situations."

Cooperating with the university to present the in-service training program are the Minnesota Association of Executive Secretaries and the Minnesota Department of Public Welfare.

Citizen's Right to Abuse Cop Upheld

CHICAGO (U)—The Illinois Appellate Court has ruled that abusive language and threatening gestures to policemen aren't sufficient reasons for arrest.

"An officer of the law must not conceive that every threatening or insulting word, gesture or motion amounts to disorderly conduct," said Judge Edwin A. Robson.

The court reversed a lower court's ruling and upheld the Chicago Civil Service Commission's dismissal of policemen Gus Oratowski and Tod Porterfield.

They are accused of beating Casimer Koprowski, 30, a partially crippled veteran, after he protested being given a pair of parking tickets.

Blair FHA Unit Plans Program

BLAIR, Wis. (Special)—The first regular meeting of the Blair Chapter of the FHA was held Tuesday evening. The new members were initiated and a short business meeting was conducted. Marilyn Knutson and Elaine Gunderson gave reports on the state convention at Glen Lake, Wis.

The activity program for the year was worked out, with the following projects set for November: Bake sale, speaker on degrees, completion of national project and world Christmas festival.

The newly initiated girls participated in the dramatization of the "Three Little Pigs." Plans were also made to attend the rally at Galesville on Oct. 23. The next regular meeting will be held the second Tuesday in November.

Minister Acquitted On Security Charge

PUSAN, Korea (U)—Dr. An Ho Sang, former South Korean education minister, was acquitted in District Court today of a charge of violating the state security law.

The former minister was arrested in June when he made speeches against the Syngman Rhee government. He was accused of violating election laws while campaigning for independent candidates.

ALSOPS

respectability, have been abruptly changed by the naked disclosure of McCarthy's enmity to Eisenhower.

Sick and Tired
On the other hand—and most important of all—life events of the last six months have taught rich and poor alike what kind of man McCarthy really is. After the McCarthy-Army hearings, the Watkins committee finished the job. A very wise farmer in what had once been a strongly pro-McCarthy district of Wisconsin summed the result up rather neatly:

"You couldn't see those six men's pictures in the paper and think they were secretly soft on Communism. You just had to listen to them. Hereabouts, the great majority used to be for Joe. Now most people are sick and tired of him, and the minority that stick by him are kind of ashamed of it."

One might distrust the evidence of a large but casually gathered sample of many hundreds of Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota voters. But no one can argue away the evidence of the behavior of the Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota politicians. If any politician could any longer believe that McCarthy was a political asset, then some politician somewhere in this alleged McCarthy-country would be trying to work the asset for what it might be worth. Nobody is doing so.

Why Bring That Up

On the contrary, the Republican Senate candidate in Illinois, Joe Mack, who ran in the primary as an overt McCarthyite, now shuffles and coughs and asks "why bring that up?" if any one wants to know where he stands on the Wisconsin senator. Still more strikingly, Wisconsin's junior McCarthy, Rep. Charles Kersten, is highly aggrieved because his opponent, Henry Reuss, has insisted on making McCarthy a major issue in the campaign. And Kersten's Milwaukee district is the only district in all three Midwestern states where McCarthy is an issue. All the Democratic candidates except Reuss have preferred to avoid offending the remaining McCarthyite minority, just as all Republican candidates conspicuously including Kersten, have wanted to avoid offending the anti-McCarthyite majority.

In Kersten's district, the issue would be hard to avoid. Kersten's character as a junior McCarthy goes so far that he even imitates the peculiar tone of voice, half way between Dr. Goebbels and a soap opera, which McCarthy reserves for moments of drama. Two years ago, Kersten's campaign was McCarthy, McCarthy, McCarthy all the way.

But now Kersten nobly insists that "the issue isn't Joe McCarthy, it's Charlie Kersten." He suggests, in effect, that none but plotters or subversives would be so impolite as to bring up the McCarthy matter. If you insist on asking whether or no he regards McCarthy as an asset, he will try to avoid the question and he will finally say with great reluctance,

"Well, many people seem to have a kind of intuitive support for Joe; but remember, I'm standing on my own record, right on my own record."

The odds, reportedly, are against Kersten-Reuss campaign.

Churchill at 80 Still Retains Old Fire

All signs point to Sir Winston Churchill's desire to stay as British premier. Though he is almost 80 years old and deafener than he was, he still retains his old fire. Doubtless he stays on not to indulge in the luxury of exercising power, but because he really feels that in such parlous times his hand is needed at the helm.

He is not the first British premier to rule at such advanced age. Lord Palmerston, the jaunty Irishman who was not particularly sympathetic to the North during the War Between the States, entered the premiership at 71, and with a short interval held it till his death ten years later. This record was surpassed by William E. Gladstone, the great reformer and advocate of Irish Home Rule, who resigned from his fourth premiership at 85. The old fire was still there, but his sight and hearing were failing.

Churchill may or may not retire at 80. He has about six weeks to go before that day. Till he does retire, he will continue to be at the center of the British and the international stage.

Sound, Intelligent Attitude Taken by the CIO

The CIO has set up a standing watch-dog committee to seek evidence of mishandling of union welfare funds and to oust any racketeers who infiltrate the union movement. The CIO pledged cooperation with federal and state investigators and promised to support any additional legislation necessary to deal with abuses.

This is a sound and intelligent attitude. Racketeers and those who manage to use union welfare funds for their own benefit do a great disservice to the cause of unionism. They make members of unions suspicious of all their leaders and cynical about the ideals of the union movement. Abuses make management less willing to make concessions when disputes arise.

In announcing its decision the CIO said that it will not delay acting to remedy or prevent abuses until a case has been established in the courts. In short the CIO intends to police its own organization.

It is never too soon to act against those who enrich themselves at the expense of others. Most members and leaders of the union movement are sincere and honest. The few who are not cannot be allowed to spoil the hard work and good reputation of the majority.

Trieste Agreement Result Of Persistent Diplomatic Efforts

The fuse on one of the international powder kegs appears to have gone out. The long-standing dispute between Italy and Yugoslavia over Trieste has been settled, apparently to the satisfaction of everyone except members of the "lunatic fringe" in both countries.

For a time it seemed that there was no solution to the Trieste question. The mere mention of the subject in either Italy or Yugoslavia was enough to touch off violent demonstrations. Yet when the settlement came it occurred in an orderly, uneventful manner that scarcely attracted attention.

There are still details to be worked out and formalities to comply with before the agreement becomes operative. But for all practical purposes the troublesome question is out of the way and the amity that has resulted has strengthened the Western world in a very important area.

The agreement on Trieste is an example of what can be accomplished by patient, persistent diplomatic efforts. Had it been handled badly the Trieste problem could have resulted in a war. The fact that a just and satisfactory solution was found is reason for hope that other troubled spots of the world can be quieted by similar efforts at peaceful settlement of existing problems.

Spies Suspected Of Double-Crossing

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

NEW YORK — Nations during war and peace have always employed spies of one kind or another. Generally, while the espionage is welcome, the spies are not always unsavory persons. They are often suspected of selling whatever information they collect to both sides. The most modern practice is to organize espionage professionally because so many technical phases are involved, including the stealing and breaking of codes. All espionage work of the American government is centered in the CIA. The Russians not only employ the MVD (formerly NKVD) and the GPU for this purpose, but also the Fourth Bureau of the Army and the International Communist Organization. Theirs is an extremely complicated enterprise.

Espionage is an ordinary operation of statecraft and each spy is an expendable person. Noel and Hermann Field, Americans, were believed by the Russians to have been double or triple agents. They are now probably dead. Whitaker Chambers and Elizabeth Bentley have told their story and several Americans are in prison because of them, including Alger Hiss. However, espionage organizations are built on the assumption that here and there a spy will betray his employers or will disappear off the face of the earth. Such persons are immediately replaced and the work goes on.

IT IS STUPID to believe that because some have been uncovered in this country or in Great Britain or France that others have not gone to work in their stead. Both espionage and counter-espionage must be continuing jobs. For instance, it must be assumed that someone took the place of Dr. Otto John in West Germany before John exposed himself by going over to East Germany. He may even have trained his successor.

The current explosion over espionage in France is more serious than usual because such important figures are involved, but those in France are not in more important posts than Harry Dexter White held or than some of the 39 Americans in the United Nations, who were brought before the federal grand jury in New York or before the McCarran Committee, held.

It is very difficult to prove espionage in a country such as ours because spies naturally do not arrange to be caught. Abraham Brothman, for instance, who was engaged in "industrial espionage," was convicted, not for espionage, but for obstructing justice in the Harry Gold case. Julius and Ethel Rosenberg were condemned to death for their espionage activities, but Dr. Klaus Fuchs only got a sentence of 14 years in England for doing the same thing. True Fuchs confessed and the Rosenbergs did not, but without Fuchs's confession the Gold-Greenglass-Rosenberg outfit in this country might never have been convicted. As a matter of fact, the FBI and the United States attorney in New York came close to them several years before they were actually indicted and always failed to make the connection.

THE CASE OF JOSEPH PETERSEN, research analyst of the National Security Agency, which has to do with secret codes, is still in the hush-hush stage because a friendly power is involved, according to the best information available at the moment. We do not even know what he is actually arrested for. What seems to be involved is that agents placed in the right spots with friendly powers can receive data for the use of an unfriendly power. By this system of indirectness, a cover is provided both for the spy in this country and the spies in some other country because contact with the enemy is never provable. It means that there can be no security in such an international body as NATO. If information and data that must be passed among allies can be diverted to the enemy, the danger to successful united action is very great, indeed.

For instance, if what we told our allies during the Korean War was repeated to the Kremlin, it is sound to assume that such a Red Chinese commander as Lin Piao knew what was to happen before MacArthur did. Gen. MacArthur was puzzled by this condition which he recognized, but he was not aware of the mechanism for the leak. The disappearance of Guy Burgess and Donald Maclean, British Foreign Office men of importance, behind the Iron Curtain may never be correctly explained, but the accepted inference is that they were engaged in espionage and if so, their knowledge was sufficiently important to have them removed from detention and imprisonment in their own country.

State-by-State Survey Shows Democratic Gains

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Here is a quick run-down on how the election is shaping up in the most bitterly fought congressional race in 20 years—a race into which Republicans are throwing almost as much money as if the presidency were at stake.

New York—Whoever carries this largest electoral state has a leg up in nominating the presidential ticket. New York's Republican, is slightly ahead in the run for governor. However, contributions began to flow in to Averell Harriman, Democrat, in increased quantities the day Charles Wilson barked his dog remark. In the end he could win.

Pennsylvania—For the first time in 20 years it looks as if the Democrats would elect a governor. When young George Leader, relatively unknown Democratic chicken farmer was nominated, he was tabbed a throw-away candidate. Now, thanks to GOP bumbling, the scandals of Gov. Fine's organization, and unemployment, he's likely to win. Democrats will also pick up about five House seats.

California—Gov. "Goody" Knight, Republican, holds the lead for reelection, but Democrat Richard Graves is pushing him more than expected. Con. Sam Yorty, Democrat, an early odds-off candidate, now looks like an even bet with GOP Sen. Tom Kuchel. Some polls place him slightly ahead.

Iowa—Sen. Guy Gillette, Democrat, will be almost unbeatable despite Iowa's rock-ribbed Republicanism. This time, young Clyde Herring, son of the late Democratic senator by that name, is making quite a race for the governorship.

Wyoming—Ex-Sen. Joe O'Mahoney, long a fixture in the Senate, is a sure-shot to come back. This will reduce the Republican margin by one seat.

Colorado—John Carroll, live-wire ex-congressman and former member of Truman's White House staff, is ahead in the race for senator. Carroll and retiring Sen. Ed Johnson, once political enemies, have patched up their feud and are pulling together—a combination hard to beat. Johnson is running for governor.

Idaho—A few years ago, Glen Taylor, Democratic senator and vice presidential candidate on the Henry Wallace Progressive ticket, was considered all washed up politically. Now he's giving GOP Sen. Dworshak such a race that he's likely to win. Taylor has cut out the cowboy crooning and is campaigning on a straight anti-Republican ticket. The electric power lobby and Hells Canyon are his biggest issue.

Oregon—Hasn't elected a Democratic senator in 40 years, but it looks as if young Dick Neuberger, author and newspaperman, might make it. GOP Sen. Guy Cordon has lots of money behind him, but Neuberger has two great assets—in addition to his own ability—his wife, an Oregon legislator, and the indefatigable Sen. Wayne Morse who is talking in every nook and corner of the state.

South Dakota—Normally, a Democrat hasn't a chance in this state. However, a secret Republican poll shows GOP Sen. Karl Mundt, who reaped both fame and criticism in the Army-McCarthy hearings, to be only slightly ahead of Kenneth Holm, the farmer-Democrat. In other words, South Dakota is a doubtful state.

Kansas—Sen. Andy Schoeppel, incumbent Republican, told Vice President Nixon when he went through Kansas recently that "the election was held today, I'd lose." He urged Nixon to stay and make an extra speech, which Nixon did. Despite this, George McGill, the ex-senator who wrote the first farm price support bill under FDR, is running like a house afire, may

U.S. Women To Be Cut By 25 Tons?

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (U)—It all goes well, Claire Mann will reduce the supply of American womanhood by 125 tons by the end of this year.

"It isn't very much, is it?" sighed Miss Mann, founder of "Overweights Anonymous," who pointed out there are some 18 million women in this country who have eaten themselves out of shape.

Her goal is to get all these plump ladies to lose an average of six pounds each, or a total of 54,000 tons of female fat.

West Virginia—Sen. Matt Neely, Democrat, is unbeatable.

Ohio—Cong. George Bender, Republican, is running neck-and-neck with Sen. Tom Burke, Democrat, the long-time and able former mayor of Cleveland. Sec. of the Treasury George Humphrey, the biggest businessman in Ohio, is putting big money and heavy pressure behind Bender, while Burke is running with a bare campaign cupboard. It's anybody's race.

New Jersey—Republican squabbling plus the serious GOP scandals in New Jersey seem certain to defeat Clifford Case, Republican, in the Senate race. Election of Cong. Charles Howell, Democrat, would take one seat away from the Republican margin.

Kentucky—The Veep is having a tougher time defeating Sen. John Sherman Cooper re-election, than previous Republican, but it looks as if he would win. Barkley is one of the most revered figures in Kentucky. His election would take another cut out of the Republican Senate margin.

Illinois—If all the Republican money poured into Illinois is officially tabulated, it should prove larger than that of any other state. The McCarthyites, the Chicago Tribune crowd, and various other Republican factions would like nothing better than to defeat Sen. Paul Douglas, ex-Marine hero Democrat, who has stood up against Eisenhower on economic policies, while supporting him on foreign policies. However, they are going to have a tough time. It looks as if Douglas would win.

Massachusetts—As a result of Sen. Jack Kennedy's desertion of ex-Cong. Foster Furcolo, Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, Republican, will be re-elected.

Montana—Republicans are throwing a lot of money into Montana to try to defeat elder statesman Jim Murray, who would head the Senate labor committee if the Democrats control the Senate. Despite this, Murray will win.

Nevada—Allan Bible, understudy and friend of the late Pat McCarran and a Democrat, will be elected to fill his friend's seat.

Michigan—After Sen. Blair Moody died, everyone figured that Sen. Homer Ferguson, Republican, was certain re-election. However, an unexpected, tenacious Democrat named Pat McNamara has been creeping up on him. When Charlie Wilson let loose his dog remark in Detroit the other day, Ferguson almost wept. In hard-to-get-work Detroit it could cost Homer the election.

Note—Diagnosis of the more interesting national state elections will follow in later columns.

An appeal was taken to the court yesterday from Vice Chancellor William Marvel's order granting a temporary injunction to permit attendance by the Negro pupils with the 1,562 white students in the southern Delaware combined elementary-high school.

Howard E. Lynch, counsel for the Milford School Board, said the State Supreme Court would conduct a hearing Friday morning. If it upholds the injunction, the Negro pupils could return to the Milford school Monday.

However, if the court grants a delay, the issue will then hinge on arguments for a permanent injunction now pending before the Court of Chancery.

The pupils were integrated at the beginning of the present school term, but segregationists began a boycott of the school. The Milford board then ousted the Negro pupils.

Writer Wins Free Trip to Europe

By ED CREACH

(For James Marlow)

WASHINGTON (U)—Suppose you were offered a free trip to Europe—to any place this side of the Iron Curtain you wanted to go. Which country or countries would you pick?

Nine out of 10 people will give you an answer to that question as quick as a wink. I know because I've already asked nine. You're the 10th. It's fun to dream about foreign travel, and everybody has a favorite dream. Maybe it's of drifting down the Grand Canal in a gondola. Or of assassinating grouse on a Scottish moor. Or of making an on-the-spot check to see if Paris night life is as wicked as it's painted.

But let that dream become reality and you've got a problem on your hands.

I know because I've just been offered a free trip to Europe, and I can't for the life of me decide where in Europe to go.

How can I get a free trip? Well, I took some pictures of my little boy, dropped the roll at the corner drugstore and then, out of a clear sky, a man called up and said:

"Congratulations. You have won the grand prize in our contest. When do you want to leave for Europe?"

(Tip to other amateur photographers: To win a prize you must have three things—a camera, a little boy who will make faces in front of it, and a lot of luck.)

Anyhow, as soon as the numbness wore off, I started planning the trip I would take. And, while I won't pretend I'm not enjoying myself, the problem of where to go is driving me nuts.

The trouble is, of course, you can't go everywhere on a 15-day trip. And every time you scratch out a name on your list of happy possibilities, it hurts.

England, for instance. Haven't been there since 1947, and it would be fine to go back. Same with France. But wouldn't it be better to strike out for some new place? Or would it?

There are all sorts of places a Washington reporter, who often has to write about foreign affairs, could visit with profit. I once learned more about French Communism by arguing for half an hour—pocket dictionary in hand—with a rag-picker in Paris than in months of reading about it in the papers.

So Berlin might be a good place to go. Or Austria. The problems of that neck of the woods are going to be with us a long time.

But golly, a man doesn't want to work all the time. He wants to do some sightseeing. So how could you leave out Rome? Or Venice? Or Athens?

What about Scandinavia? The Low Countries? Too cold and rainy with winter coming on. So is Washington cold and rainy.

Of course the sun would be glorious in Seville. Or in Sicily. And from Sicily maybe you could manage a quick trip to North Africa. But if you go that far you'd hate to miss Egypt, and there you're only a stone's throw from Jerusalem and Istanbul.

You see the problem? It's enough to give a man an anxiety neurosis.

My friends are not sympathetic. They tell me I am looking a gift horse in the mouth and complaining because it isn't an elephant. Maybe they're right.

All I know is that I wish I could make up my mind. My wife does too. She's tired of having the living room cluttered up with travel folders.

Knights of the Crusade Have Tornishd Armor

To the Editor:

Very interesting to read about the political hurricane that swept through Winona Friday, having left in its wake many promises for better government.

Val Bjornson, the Republican candidate for U. S. Senate in his statement said, "The Eisenhower administration was called in to do a clean-up job and has made a lot of progress toward that end. We started the job in 1952 and now we want to finish it."

During the 1952 campaign much was made of the so-called "corruption issue" and how the GOP was going to bring to Washington a simple Simon-pure crusading administration full of morality. But nearly two years under the Republicans have shown that the knights of the crusade have tarnished armor.

Contrary to campaign oratory, the facts about the GOP record 1952-54 speak for themselves. Former GOP National Chairman Wes Roberts was charged with "10 percentism" fee for selling to the State of Kansas a building which apparently already belonged to the state.

GOP Congressman Ernest K. Bramblett was convicted of taking salary "kickbacks" from his office employees, the GOP congressman convicted of this offense.

Warren L. Stephenson, a staff member of the Eisenhower campaign and executive secretary of the Eisenhower inaugural committee was indicted for perjury in connection with "four percentism" on a Navy contract.

Agriculture Secretary Benson had used $1,610 of government money to fix up a government-owned cottage in Virginia for his weekend use.

Senator Bricker of Ohio, chairman of Senate committee handling railroad legislation, draws $1,500 a year from an Ohio law firm which has the Pennsylvania Railroad as a $200,000 a year client. Bricker hasn't practiced law since 1947.

Senator Jenner of Indiana, illegally collected $12,000 in disability "pensions" from the Veterans Administration.

Guy Holliday, and the nation's "No. 1 housing scandal," a real "stinking disgraceful mess."

Mr. Carrol Syverston in his political oration of Oct. 15 quibbles over how "The New Deal-Fair Deal slithered on spending," is just to distort the facts about the spending of the 33rd Congress.

The Treasury Bulletin recently announced this administration in its first full year spent $2.2 billion more than Truman's worst year, and the out-go for this current fiscal year will total $5.6 billion, still higher than Truman's Administration and expects to go another $4 billion in the red this year.

Winonan Named Superintendent Of St. Paul Firm

Fred A. Schulz, former Winonan, has been appointed superintendent of the graphic arts division of the Buckbee Mears Co., at St. Paul. He was employed by the Winona Engraving Co., from 1940 until 1943 when he joined the metal department, a unit of the defense department, of the Buckbee Mears firm as foreman. In August, 1943, in January, 1944, he was named production superintendent for the Charles Norman Co., a defense branch of the Buckbee Mears Co., in New Rochelle, N.Y., and in 1945 returned to St. Paul to complete his apprenticeship in the photoengraving trade with Buckbee Mears.

When the Korean war broke out he returned to the industrial department as a foreman and in 1953 was appointed production foreman in the color television department. The division of which he is now superintendent includes the photoengraving, lithographic, art and commercial photo departments. Buckbee Mears, a pioneer of graphic arts in the Northwest, was founded 47 years ago by Charles Buckbee and Norman T. Mears. In 1942 Norman B. Mears founded what today is known as the industrial department and organized a metal and glass reticle (a component of a precision fire control instrument) department which since has been expanded to include a precision electroforming department and a rapidly expanding color television department which fabricates the aperture mask for the nation's largest TV manufacturers.

Schulz, who recently attended the American Photoengravers Association convention at St. Louis, is married and has three children. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur O. Schulz, 107 1/2 E. Howard St.

Tentative plans are being made for a special flight to basic training at the Parks (Calif.) Air Force base to include Winona and area men.

S. Sgt. Al J. Schwalier, Winona Air Force recruiter, said the men will leave Winona and La Crosse by bus Nov. 10 and fly to the San Francisco area base after processing in Minneapolis the following day. The flight will go through basic as a buddy team.

Air Force enlistees have previously taken basic training at the Lackland Air Force Base near San Antonio, Tex.

Further information may be obtained from Sgt. Schwalier, Room 208, Winona Post Office.

Eden Knighted by Queen Elizabeth

LONDON (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II knighted Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden today in the Order of the Garter, England's oldest order of chivalry.

The ceremony investing Eden with the insignia of a Knight Companion was conducted at Buckingham Palace.

The foreign secretary was scheduled to leave later in the day for talks in Paris on the London agreement to rearm Western Germany.

The honor came after years in the British diplomatic service, climaxed by the successful conclusion of the recent nine-nation talks here on German rearmament and European defense.

Prime Minister Churchill was made a knight of the Garter on April 24, 1953.

For both Eden and Churchill this is the highest honor they could receive and still remain in the House of Commons. A peerage would automatically put them into the House of Lords.

Gray is hospitalized with tuberculosis contracted in a North Korean prison camp. Since he can't visit his daughter in person, he'll see televised pictures of her each afternoon the rest of this week.

Saga of Famous Nurse Started 100 Years Ago

LONDON (AP)—One hundred years ago tomorrow a determined and dedicated English nurse set sail for the Crimea, where Britain and France were at war with Russia.

Reports of suffering among the sick and wounded soldiers had aroused Britain's secretary of war, Sidney Herbert. He sent the nurse—Florence Nightingale—on a historic mission of mercy.

In the utter confusion of battlefield casualty stations, the 34-year-old nurse fought through snarls of military red tape to organize effective care for the sick and maimed. The death rate in her hospitals dropped from 42 per cent to 2 per cent.

Among her staff of nurses were five nuns from Our Lady of Mercy Convent in Bermondsey, the first Roman Catholic convent established in England after the reformation. Bernard Cardinal Griffin, archbishop of Westminster, Britain's leading Catholic churchman, has scheduled a high Mass in their memory.

After the Crimean War, Miss Nightingale returned to England and turned her battle-tested talents to reform of civilian hospital care.

In 1907, when she was 87, she was awarded the Order of Merit, one of Britain's highest honors. Three years later the nurse whose name became a legend in her lifetime died in her London home.

Governor's Race Tight in Connecticut

By RHELAN MORIN
HARTFORD, Conn. (U)—The governor's race in Connecticut looks like a tight race right down to Nov. 2.

Contestants are Gov. John Davis Lodge, Republican, and former Rep. Abraham A. Ribicoff, Democrat.

Both express confidence, but their campaign lieutenants are running scared. Some neutral observers see Lodge leading at this point. Others, noting that Maine elected a Democratic governor for the first time in 20 years, believe New England is experiencing a "Democratic trend" which could carry Ribicoff to office.

In neighboring Rhode Island, the Democrats hold the governor's office, both Senate seats and both in the House of Representatives. Political observers expect them to win all major contests next month. In Connecticut, the campaign so far is almost Chesterfieldian, high-level, devoid of personalities, name calling or rough stuff.

Appearing together in New Haven recently—but not in the format of a debate—it was "My good friend, Abe" and "Our respected governor with whom I had the honor of serving in Washington," and so on.

Nor have they produced any red-hot issues.

Lodge is campaigning primarily on his four-year record.

Ribicoff's emphasis is not an attack on this record. It is a program based on "economic growth, moral vision, administrative efficiency."

Unemployment, loss of overtime and economic conditions are factors in Connecticut as they are in other New England states. Ribicoff says there are 52,000 jobless. If true, this would be more than 8 per cent of the maximum working force—higher than the national average.

But Lodge says the figure is 32,000, contrasted with 100,000 in 1929. And he adds that in nine years, 67 industries left the state while more than 1,300 came in to locate.

Ribicoff is 44, slim, dark, quiet-spoken. He was born in New Britain, started life as a newsboy. He is married and has two teen-age children. He has an easy, casual approach with the voters, impresses them with an air of quiet sincerity.

Lodge gives no indication of undue anxiety. He is big, wiry, a man of imposing presence. His 51st birthday falls today and President Eisenhower is scheduled to cut the cake at a Hartford party—an event Republicans hope will contribute to the governor's drive.

Republicans now hold five of the state's six congressional seats. Democrats say that, if they elect Ribicoff, they also will win at least four seats. The Republicans say they expect to hold all five, but do not predict they can carry the Democratic 1st District, which consists of Hartford County, largely industrial.

In Rhode Island, Gov. Dennis Roberts, a genial, witty man, is opposed by Dean J. Lewis, mayor of Newport. Lewis is 38, has had wide experience in state government.

At 87, Sen. Theodore Francis Green is running for re-election—and campaigning with the best of them. His opponent is a Providence lawyer, Walter Sundum.

Here, too, unemployment is a top issue. The official figure, 40,000, equals about 11 per cent of

Bullet-Riddled Body Found in Lover's Lane

MIDDLESBORO, Ky. (U)—The identity of a bullet-riddled body found in a lover's lane rested today on two clues apparently overlooked by the killer.

One was an affectionate note; the other a laundry mark in the slain man's shirt and trousers. They were stamped "Fox."

The victim, in his late 20's or early 30's, had been shot six times in the head, three times in the chest, and twice in the back.

Police said the man had been dead about 13 hours before two men searching for firewood stumbled across the body yesterday.

The note crammed into a watch pocket started out "Hi, Honey, I love you," and was signed Harriett and Ronnie Jr. Since the contents indicated the note was from the man's wife, police theorized his name also may have been Ronnie.

They are sons of Storekeeper W. C. Robert R. Richardson of Rockford.

Proxmire and Kohler Air Views

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Gov. Kohler and his Democratic opponent, William Proxmire, ground political axes in television speeches at Milwaukee Tuesday night.

Kohler said the state must maintain a Republican administration if it wants to avoid tax increases, deficits and wasteful spending.

Proxmire attacked state and national Republican administrations as having done little to solve the unemployment situation.

The state under Republicans,

Kohler said, "has had no debt, sales taxes have been avoided, income tax reductions have saved individual taxpayers $250 million since 1942, and the state has always balanced its budget and met every need of the people."

He contrasted this picture with Michigan, where he said a Democratic administration was voted into office after Republicans had built up a substantial cash surplus.

"The result was financial disaster. When the Democrats took over in Michigan in 1949 the state had a cash surplus of $24 million. After a year of Democratic administration the state had a deficit of $21 million," Kohler said by 1953 the deficit grew to an estimated $90 million.

Proxmire declared factory jobs in Wisconsin have continued to decline in the last 18 months but the only answer the state administration has made is to ask, "what unemployment?"

He declared the Democrats have a program designed to do something about it. Thousands could be put to work, Proxmire said, building needed schools, roads and institutional buildings.

Commenting on the national administration, Proxmire said the "Republican policy of high interest rates, tax cuts principally for large corporations and the very wealthy, the concentration of government contracts in the hands of a few large corporations, do not indicate a national administration doing anything to help solve the unemployment problem."

Atty. General Thomson spoke at Eau Claire Monday night and said Wisconsin dairy farmers should not destroy their own industry by "failing to recognize that Democrats are responsible for lower milk prices," Thomson, a Republican seeking re-election, said prices under the Democrats in 1949 and 1950 were lower than they are now.

Police Tower Above This Daring Texan

PHILADELPHIA (U)—A daring Texan attempted unsuccessfully last night to scale 30-inch cables leading to the top of the Delaware River Bridge.

Identified as William W. Wells, 30-year-old Air Force veteran from Fort Worth, he was shooed back down after climbing almost three fourths of the way to the top of the bridge's main tower, 380 feet above the water. An electrician and policeman beat him to the top by using the tower elevator. Safely back on the ground, he fainted.

Wells was hooked on charges of drunk and disorderly conduct.

Ex-FBI Agent Says Reds Used Wallace, Taylor

WASHINGTON (AP)—A former FBI undercover agent has testified that Henry A. Wallace and Glen E. Taylor were chosen to head the Progressive party ticket in 1948 "because they were two men who were willing to work with the Communist party."

Matthew Cvetic, who masqueraded as a Communist while feeding information to the FBI, said this under oath Oct. 7 at a closed door hearing of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee. Similar testimony was given by John Lautner, a former Communist now on the Justice Department payroll. The subcommittee made their testimony public last night.

Wallace could not be reached for comment.

At Idaho Falls, Idaho, Taylor said, "If there were any Communists in the progressive party, I never recognized them as such."

Referring to Sen. Welker (R-Idaho), who sat as a one-man subcommittee to hear the testimony of Cvetic and Lautner, Taylor said:

"I challenge Welker to subpoena me to his little Joe McCarthy hearings. I'm tired of being slandered. I wish Welker would put up or shut up. He hasn't the courage to subpoena me, and I don't think he has the decency to subpoena me."

Wallace, formerly a Democratic vice president, was the Progressive party's presidential candidate in 1948. Taylor, now running in Idaho as the Democratic candidate for the Senate seat held by Republican Sen. Dworshak, was the Progressive party's vice presidential nominee. He was then in the Senate.

'Lost and Found' Locates Daddy

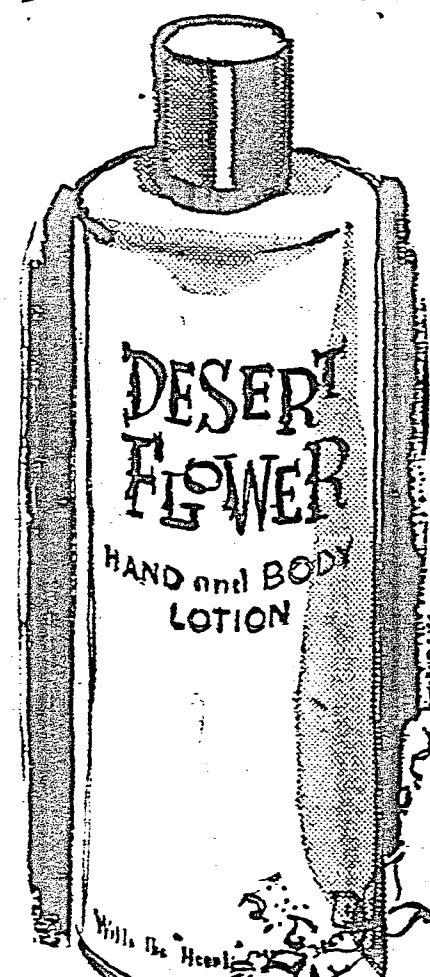

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Police Department's "lost and found" department found Mary Ann Perkins' daddy for her.

Mary Ann, 12, of St. Louis, wrote in a letter received Monday asking police to help locate her father. She said his name is Lee Perkins and that he is from Vicksburg, Miss. Her letter was addressed to "Police Headquarters, Lost and Found Department, Chicago."

Sam Perkins, a construction worker, told the missing persons bureau yesterday he is Mary Ann's father and that he would telephone her that everything's okay.

Democratic Mayor Accused of Bribes Stripped of Powers

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—Democratic Mayor Thomas W. Flatley, charged with accepting bribes from a gambling syndicate that netted 20 million dollars a year, has been stripped of his powers.

The City Council, made up of Democrats, acted yesterday.

Pending final disposition of the charges, Flatley will continue on the city payroll, however. City Finance Director George Brabender was named acting mayor.

The mayor was arrested Saturday along with 43 other men, including two policemen. The two officers, Chief Inspector Jack Martin and Edward Camilli, a member of the police vice squad, are charged with accepting bribes and conspiracy.

Council also moved to fire the two police officers.

Dist. Atty. Damian McLaughlin said all were involved in a numbers and pinball machine racket.

Silent Holdup Man Makes $50 Haul

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—An armed robber used the silent treatment to obtain about $50 from a grocery store here last night.

Police said the robber accosted store owner Frank Elske, 63, and gave him a note which read:

"This is a holdup. I need money badly. Put greenbacks in sack. Gun is in my pocket. Don't make a move. Act naturally. Don't want to hurt no one. If needed I'll kill you."

'No Lights on Barge That Hit Us,' Crew Says

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The skipper and second mate of the ill-fated Prins Willem V testified Tuesday that they saw no lights on an oil company barge prior to the collision that sent the Dutch freighter to the bottom of Lake Michigan.

A Coast Guard board of inquiry ended its investigation after two days of hearing testimony into the collision last Thursday night that resulted in the sinking of the merchant ship three miles off the harbor entrance here. All hands aboard the Dutch ship were saved and the tug, pulling the barge, made it to port under her own power.

On Monday the captain and crew of the tug had testified they showed the proper running lights on both the tug and barge. John C. Basetich, the tug captain, told the board there were two white lights on the mast denoting a tow.

James T. Murrin, relief captain on the tug, supported this testimony. On the stand Tuesday was Capt. Pierre J. H. Huilmand, 55, and Pieter G. van den Bergh, 25, second mate of the Prins Willem.

Capt. Huilmand said he used binoculars and still saw no lights. He said he never saw anything in the water behind the tug until the instant of collision. Earlier, he said, he ordered the Willem changed "from a collision course" to pass behind the stern of the tug. The tug and barge were separated by 800 feet of cable.

When he believed he was clear of the tug, Huilmand said, he ordered the ship back to a course which would send her across the tug's stern.

"I saw only water," Huilmand related. "I was very sure there were no lights on the barge on my starboard side."

Eva Le Gallienne At College of St. Teresa

Eva Le Gallienne, actress director, author, founder of the famed Civic Repertory Theater and co-founder of the American Repertory Theater, will be in Winona Thursday when she will present two great stories by Oscar Wilde, "The Birthday of the Infanta" and "The Happy Prince" at the College of Saint Teresa.

The program will be given at 8 p. m. in the college auditorium.

Miss Le Gallienne was born in England. Her father, Richard Le Gallienne, was distinguished as poet, essayist and novelist among the great literary figures of the 90's and 1900's. From her Danish mother, Julie Norregaard Le Gallienne, she inherits a multiplicity of gifts, as well as the knowledge of Danish and Norwegian which has enabled her to make her own translation of many of her plays which she has produced over the years.

Miss Le Gallienne was educated in Paris, and returned to England to study acting at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art. Her first appearance, at the age of 15 was with Constance Collier in "Monna Vanna," and shortly after this she scored her first success as a cockney "slavay" in "The Laughter of Fools" at the Prince of Wales Theater, London. She and her mother then left for the United States, which has been her home ever since, and whose citizenship she adopted a few years later.

Her first New York assignment was the somewhat improbable one of a colored maid in a play called "Mrs. Boltay's Daughters." There followed a variety of experiences in successes and failures in stock and on Broadway, and appearances under the distinguished banners of William Faversham and Ethel Barrymore. Success came early to Miss Le Gallienne in Arthur Richmond's "Not So Long Ago," and culminated in resounding triumphs as Julie in the original American production of "Liliom," and as Princess Alexandra in Molnar's, "The Swan," which ran for two seasons in New York and on the road.

In 1926 she founded the famous Civic Repertory Theater, and during the following eight years her theater performed a repertoire of some 35 plays while she herself fulfilled the functions of leading actress, director and producer. The Civic did the first professional productions in the United States of Tchekov's "Three Sisters," "The Seagull," and "The Cherry Orchard"; the first Giraudoux play to be performed in this country, and American "firsts" such as "Gipsy's House" and "The Master Builder," played a number of distinguished parts in the summer theaters, among them the role of Hamlet in her own production of that

Some of Miss Le Gallienne's favorite roles at the Civic Repertory were Sister Joanne of the Cross in "The Cradle Song," Marguerite Gautier in Dumas' immortal "Camille," Juliet in "Romeo and Juliet," Peter Pan, Hedda Gabler, Masha in Tchekov's "Three Sisters," and Mirandolina in the famous Goldoni comedy "The Mistress of the Inn."

In 1933-34 the Civic made a country-wide tour before it was finally forced to close by the increasing pressure of the depression years.

She next appeared in New York and on the road in Rostand's "L'Aiglon"; did a country-wide tour of "Hedda Gabler" and "The Master Builder"; played a number of distinguished parts in the summer theaters, among them the role of Hamlet in her own production of that play, and appeared on several lecture and recital tours. For the Theater Guild she directed productions of "The Rivals" and "Ah, Wilderness."

Eva Le Gallienne will present two Oscar Wilde stories, "The Birthday of the Infanta" and "The Happy Prince" in a program at the College of Saint Teresa Thursday at 8 p. m.

In 1946 she made yet another attempt to carry out the ideals of a repertory and founded, together with Margaret Webster and Cheryl Crawford, the American Repertory Theater, which produced "Henry VIII," "What Every Woman Knows," "John Gabriel Borkman," "Androcles and the Lion" as well as a distinguished revival of "Alice in Wonderland."

Since the closing of the theater, she has been occupied with radio, TV, fresh productions of "Hedda," "Ghosts" and "The Three Sisters," and appearances at the New York City Center, and many other theaters, in "The Corn Is Green." In 1950 Miss Le Gallienne's performance of Juliet was recorded in an L.F. album of Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet," and in 1952 she joined with Charles E. Green and Margaret Webster in starting their own recording company to present full-length versions of classical plays.

In 1932 Miss Le Gallienne wrote an autobiography, "At 33," recently wrote the story of her last 20 years under the title of "With a Quiet Heart." Miss Le Gallienne's animal-fable "Flossie and Bossie," was published in New York in 1950 and in London in 1951.

Miss Le Gallienne has been the recipient of many honors, including honorary degrees from Tufts, M.A.; Russell Sage, Litt.D.; Smith, D.H.L.; Mount Holyoke, Litt.D.; Brown University, Litt.D., and Ohio Wesleyan University, D.H.L.; the Pictorial Review prize for the most outstanding accomplishment by an American woman, and the gold

Miss Erpelding Wed in Ceremony At St. Mary's

Two bouquets of fall flowers decorated the altar of St. Mary's Catholic Church for the double wedding ceremony in which Miss Helen Margaret Erpelding, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Erpelding, Winona Rt. 1, became the bride of Jerome A. Narog, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Narog, Minneapolis, Oct. 9 at 9 a. m.

The Rev. Harry Jewison performed the ceremony and Mrs. John J. Hoffman played the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of Alencon lace and nylon tulle. The bodice was of lace and the bouffant skirt of tulle was trimmed with tiers of nylon tulle edged with lace.

Her veil was held by a crown of rhinestones and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of red roses and white carnations with streamers of red rosebuds.

Mrs. Edward Kammerer, sister of the bride, as matron of honor wore a strapless blue gown of taffeta and nylon net with a blue taffeta jacket, and carried a colonial bouquet of blue carnations.

The Misses Elizabeth and Margaret Narog, Minneapolis, sisters of the bridegroom, wore identical gowns of yellow and rose and taffeta and nylon net and matching jackets of taffeta, and carried colonial bouquets of deep pink and yellow carnations.

Edward Kammerer, brother-in-law of the bride, was best man and Sylvester and Bernard Erpelding, brothers of the bride, were groomsmen.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mrs. Erpelding, mother of the bride, wore a navy dress and a corsage of deep pink carnations. The bride's table covered with a lace cloth, held a wedding cake.

The couple left later on a trip to Canada, the bride wearing a black wool dress with red accessories. The couple will reside at 1706

At Home In Preston, Minn., following their wedding trip are Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Dean Parker. Mrs. Parker is the former Marjorie Ann Hanson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hanson, Lanesboro, Minn., and Mr. Parker is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Parker, Preston.

Gerald Parker, Bride at Home In Preston

LANESBORO, Minn. (Special)—Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Dean Parker are now at home in Preston, Minn., following their wedding trip to Wisconsin and Illinois. They were married Sept. 12 at Bethlehem Lutheran Church, Lanesboro.

The Rev. A. M. Jothen performed the ceremony at 8 p.m. Zimmas and gladioli decorated the church. Miss Gladys Elden sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer" with Miss Barbara Johnson at the organ.

Mrs. Parker, formerly Miss Marjorie Ann Hanson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hanson, Lanesboro, was given in marriage by her father. Mr. Parker is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Parker, Preston.

The bride wore a turquoise suit with red accessories, a corsage of red roses and a rhinestone necklace, earrings and bracelet, gifts from the bridegroom. She was attended by Mrs. Robert Hanson, matron of honor, who wore a beige suit and Miss Yvonne Hanson, sister of the bride, as bridesmaid in a mauve suit. They wore corsages of yellow roses and rhinestone necklaces, gifts from the bride.

The bridegroom was attended by Francis Hanson and Perlmutter Austin. Ushers were Kenneth Austin and Duane Hanson.

The bride's mother wore a black silk dress with black accessories and a corsage of pink carnations and the bridegroom's mother was attired in a light brown satin dress with a corsage of pink roses.

A reception for 200 was held in Bethlehem Church hall. Mr. Parker is employed by the Preston Creamery and Mrs. Parker is employed by the Bagel Produce Co.

ATTENDS CONFERENCE

ASIDES - By the Society Editor

The sale of the E. L. King mansion in Daytona Beach, Fla., this summer is reviewed in a page of pictures and an article from Florida which has reached my desk. The home built in 1931 at a cost, said by the article, to be more than a half million dollars, has been purchased by W. Scott Peirce who plans to turn it into a hotel. The home, considered one of the area's most palatial private homes, is finished in a pastel yellow stucco. The house, studio and swimming pool and cabana, and its grounds were modeled after similar estates in the northern Mediterranean area of Italy.

Interior walls are rough white plaster and the main floor is laid in blocks of pink Georgia marble. The main floor, one story above street level, is reached through a wide, low ceilinged entrance hall which opens into a 30 by 45-foot living room, rising two stories through the center, of the house and facing the ocean on the east.

The massive fireplace in the living room was bought in Europe by the Kings, and brought to this country in sections. It is made of carved limestone and the heavy horizontal piece below the mantel bears the coats of arms of the original owners. A niche at one side was once used for warming food. Mrs. King, when she was unable to find andirons of the right proportions, had a pair cast in Italy in bronze. The bases are in the form of two mermaids. A large dumbwaiter was installed in the wall near the fireplace, the dumbwaiter dropping to the basement where it was loaded with logs for the fireplace.

A rectangular chest between the living room and entrance hall is typical of the hand carved Italian furniture found throughout the main house. The chest weighs more than 100 pounds, and was probably used originally for clothes or linen storage. An Italian screen back of the chest is made of four, separate wooden flats with paintings of the Virgin Mary on three and a patriarch of the church on the fourth. A Roman copper kettle and a small figure at each end, each holding a single candle, are on the chest.

Wrought iron, gilded gates open from the living room into the 18 by 30-foot main dining room with its Italian chairs and table and hand carved china cabinet. Windows in the dining room and in a smaller breakfast room look out onto the ocean. The dining room is to the north of the living room and the master bedroom in a wing to the south. A marble stairway leads to the second floor and its five spacious bedrooms each with a private bath. Each of the bedrooms is tiled from floor to ceiling and each has an inlaid design over the tub, and a glass front shower stall. The water system is set up so that hot water will flow almost instantly from the taps, and the temperature is individually controlled in each bathroom.

The master bedroom is in the center of the south wing with both east and west exposures. It measures 20 by 30 feet and has a marble floor. The twin beds and other furnishings are imported Italian. French doors open on a large porch. There is a completely tiled bath with partly sunken tub and glassed shower stall. Scales are built into a wall of the bathroom which has a vaulted ceiling and a flower design inlaid in orange tile over the bathtub. A ten by 15-foot cedar-lined room connects with the bedroom, and contains built-in clothes closets. Next to it is a large dressing room with several built-in, full-length mirrors.

Twelve pairs of Italian style pillars support the low roof of the vaulted portecochere and open porch above, marble steps lead to the main entrance which is one story above street level. A pair of large urns, weighing several hundred pounds each, were imported by the Kings for the pillared area. Huge wrought bronze entrance gates lead into the grounds. It took nine men to lift each section into place when the gateway was built. Attached to the north end of the house is the servants' wing with garages at street level below. Farther north is a swimming pool 75 by 30 feet, and 11 feet deep below the diving board. Curved cement steps lead down into the pool at its shallow end, but three feet deep. At the pool's edge is a cabana and dressing rooms.

Between the pool and the beach is a 30 by 60-foot studio containing a large room with fireplace, kitchen and bath. The lighting in the main room comes from a ten by 15-foot north window. A cedar-lined key closet in the main entrance hall is indicative of the size and the many rooms. The top section contains more than 100 keys for rooms, closets and chests on the first and second floors and in the basement of the main house. The bottom section holds 50 keys to servants' quarters, the studio and other buildings. There are duplicate keys for nearly every lock and a master list of the keys is kept on the door of the closet.

To avoid the inconvenience of a short circuit in any room or part of the house each room has two complete wired circuits to every electrical outlet. If one fails, a switch is thrown in the fuse box control panel in a ground floor room near the garages and the power returns through an alternate circuit until the damaged circuit can be repaired. There are several special high voltage circuits, one to power an elevator. Though the elevator shaft was put in when the house was built, the elevator was never installed and now the shaft has been floored in at each floor, and provides closet space. There are outside telephone jacks in each room plus a complete inter-communications system by means of smaller telephones and station selector boxes. — May S. Murray.

Gerald Bathen Takes California Girl as Bride

White chrysanthemums decorated the altar of the Lutheran Church for the wedding of Miss Dillie V. Diller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neal V. Diller, San Mateo, Calif., and Gerald Allen Bathen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bathen, 1418 W. 5th St., at 7 p.m. Oct. 13. The Rev. Webster Clement performed the double-ring ceremony.

Mrs. Paul Bathen sang "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. A. A. Johnson.

The bride given in marriage by her father, was attended by her sister, Miss Christine Diller, San Mateo, as maid of honor. Paul Bathen was his brother's best man and Charles Stienke and Frank Stever ushered.

A blush pink sheath of lace over tulle with matching jacket, was worn by the bride. She carried a white orchid and a testament. Her maid of honor wore a powder blue suit and carried a hand bouquet of white chrysanthemums and pink roses.

A reception was held in the Flamingo Room at the Hotel Winona where white chrysanthemums were decorations. The bride's mother wore purple with shocking pink accessories, and the bridegroom's mother, electric blue with navy accessories. The bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Marjorie Bathen, Woodlawn, Ill., wore purple with lavender accessories.

The bride is a senior student nurse in the Hamline-Asbury School of Nursing, St. Paul and the bridegroom who attended Winona State Teachers College, is in the U. S. Army at Ft. Sill, Okla.

Gerald A. Bathen and his bride are pictured above following their wedding Oct. 13 at Faith Lutheran Church. She is the former Dillie V. Diller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neal V. Diller, San Mateo, Calif., and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bathen, 1418 W. 5th St. (Harriet Kelley photo)

Dublin Players Win Audiences In Two Plays

By MAY MURRAY
Woman's Activity Editor

In several periods of Winona's history, the Irish have invaded the city, in its pioneer days as new settlers, at the turn of the century in the person of Chauncey Olcott, but never more auspiciously than they did Tuesday when the Dublin Players presented plays by two famed Irish playwrights, George Bernard Shaw and Sean O'Casey, at the Winona State Teachers College auditorium.

Shaw's scintillating unit puncturing over-inflated egos was given full measure in the presentation of "Pygmalion" at the evening performance attended by practically a full house.

Built up with unobtrusive skill to its climaxing third act which left the audience exhausted from emotional intensity not realized during the actual presentation, only later, was "Juno and the Paycock" given in the afternoon.

The Covent Garden flower girl, Eliza Doolittle, played by Julia Worth, and Professor Higgins whose experiment in building Eliza from gutter to duchess status, forgets the human element involved, with Ronald Idles in the role, dominated the play although the character of the Shaw must have taken particular pride, Alfred Doolittle, scored in many scenes with lasting impression.

The latter role was played by Ken Huxham, English member of the cast, who has adopted Dublin as his home. Alfred expounded Shaw's principles, theories, philosophies as you may term them, in most convincing and logical fashion, tempting not only Higgins but the audience to adopt them.

Mr. Idles, director of the Players, charmed the audience in general, infuriated the women at times and thoroughly expressed many of the views of the masculine portion of the audience although they may not be able to admit that they agree with Higgins.

From lead roles to bit characters, delineations were molded to reality. Supporting roles included those of Colonel Pickering played by Geoffrey A. Murphy with the courtesy which charmed Eliza; Mrs. Pearce, the housekeeper, whose practical common sense spills over in lecturing Higgins, enacted by Miss Maureen Halligan; Mrs. Eynestford-Hill with Miss Lela May in the role; Miss Eynestford-Hill played by Miss Aileen Harte and Freddy Eynestford-Hill enacted by Brian Vincent.

In Rich Role
The encompassing wisdom and kindness of Professor Higgins' mother was richly played by Nora O'Mahony. Other characterizations were by John Kelly, Charles Blair and Mr. Kelly as bystanders.

Costumes of the turn of the century with brocaded waistcoats reiterating the richness and beauty of the feminine trumpet, flounced skirts and huge sleeves were a contrast to the drab shawls and utilitarian garments of the afternoon play. Mr. Idles directed the Shaw play and his wife, Miss Halligan, and he were directors of the O'Casey play.

Juno Boyle whose inward worries and hopes are masked by alternating periods of smoothly comforting her family and of near-nagging exasperation, was deftly portrayed by Nora O'Mahony who gave to the role a satisfying motherliness. Foll to her practical matter-of-factness was "Captain" Jack Boyle with John Kelly as the "paycock" who finally he comes too great a burden for Juno.

The wild imagination, the play-acting, the picturing of heroic situations always with "himself" as hero threaded through Boyle during the first two acts only to be replaced in the third act with an unbelievably narrowed vindictiveness which mellowed to rot in the closing moments.

James Kelly as "Joker" Daly abetted Boyle, double-crossed him and proved a sorrow to Mrs. Boyle at all times except when he was a party guest. "Joker's" love of words reiterated the Irish traits found with abundance in the O'Casey play.

Mrs. Louis Hartung was appointed by the president to conduct the November meeting. The serving committee will be Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Peterson of Stockholm, chairman; Mr. and Mrs. Edw. Bowman and Mr. and Mrs. Waldemar Rundquist of Stockholm, Mr. and Mrs. Cleon Peters and Mr. and Mrs. Winfred Thompson.

Over 70 members were present for the meeting.

PTA PROGRAM
INDEPENDENCE, Wis. (Special)—The Dover consolidated school Parent-Teacher Association will have a slide show and travelogue presented by Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Brye, Ettrick, Oct. 29, at 8 p.m. Mr. and Mrs. Brye had a summer trip to Norway and other European countries. Music recorded in Norway will be used to background the dialogue. The public is invited to attend. Arrangements are in charge of Mrs. Frank Krumholz Jr.

Casey play, and made mock of trite sayings.

Supporting roles carried with strength were those of Mary Boyle played by Miss Harte, Johnny Boyle by Brian Vincent, "Needle" Nugent, the tailor, by Ken Huxham, and Mrs. Tancred, a sorrowing mother, by Miss May.

Mrs. Maisie Madigan, a jovial widow with a never-ending conversation, was portrayed by Miss Halligan with added dance and song. Jerry Devine was enacted by Charles Blair; his rival, Charlie Benthon, by Geoffrey A. Murphy, and a furniture mover by David Clarke.

Cast members were guests at a supper given at the college following the evening performance. Arrangements were in charge of a faculty committee.

Arrangements for the appearance here of the Dublin Players were made by Miss Dorothy Magnus, head of the college speech and theater department, and adviser to the Winona Players, sponsors of the Dublin Players in Winona.

Miss Halligan in an afternoon interview expressed the thought that Winona may have more legitimate theater as "road companies" are on the increase. "This is her third visit to this country, the first being but a five-week tour. Her husband's company this time will continue its tour to Vancouver, then down the coast to California, back to Texas and to Florida in February. They appeared in Appleton, Wis., before coming to Winona, and are today in Milwaukee for a four-day engagement."

The personnel of the Dublin Players is made up of players from the Abbey and Gates Theaters of Dublin, the former once a theater seating about 400 and located in what was at one time the Dublin mortuary. It now plays in the Varieties theater which seats about 1,000, the original Abbey having burned down in 1951. The Gates theater also is a condemned building, a former hotel, she explained, seating about 700.

The Players the past season in Dublin tried a number of new plays including "The Other Eden" in which an Englishman going to Ireland to live becomes more Irish than the Irish, Miss Halligan said. These were considered for American consumption but judged not what they wished to offer here. One of the most recently written productions in which the players appear is "Shadow and Substance" which "has had very good reception," Miss Halligan reported.

A vibrant person with seemingly endless energy and enthusiasm, the co-director sparkles with enjoyment of her work and of the reception the company is receiving in this country, and expressed a hope to return to Winona.

At the close of the evening performance, Mr. Idles expressed his appreciation to Miss Magnus, the Winona Players and the audience and thanked the community for giving the company its American manager, Clark Getts, formerly of Whitehall.

Announce New Way to Relieve Pain of Arthritis and Rheumatism Without Pills!

Greaseless, odorless cream penetrates deep—speeds up flow of fresh, rich blood into core areas—actually helps drive away pain-causing congestion and pressure.

New York, N. Y. (Special)—Science has now developed an odorless, greaseless cream that acts in a new way to bring a new kind of relief from pains of arthritis, rheumatism, and muscular aches and pains. This new cream relieves these pains without the need of taking pills and other internal medicines that may only upset the system.

Gently rubbed into painful areas, this cream penetrates so deep and completely that it actually vanishes. Quickly a comforting feeling of warmth develops and the whole painful area takes on a pleasing glow. This is striking evidence of the power of this cream to penetrate quickly and stimulate the circulation of the blood. This glow illustrates how it speeds up the flow of fresh, rich blood into the core areas and actually helps drive away the pain-causing congestion and pressure.

146 British and French doctors are so satisfied with this new help for patients suffering from arthritis and rheumatism that they have prepared written reports of success based on hundreds of cases. Further, one of the leading arthritis and rheumatism clinicians in the United States has now confirmed the findings of these doctors.

Now for the first time this remarkable cream can be obtained without a prescription at drug stores throughout America—under the name Infrarub. The price of Infrarub is only 99¢ for a large tube. Infrarub is backed by the amazing guarantee that sufferers from the pains of arthritis, rheumatism, lumbago, neuritis, neuralgia or muscle injuries or sprains will get hours and hours of comforting relief or their money will be refunded in full.

Report Filed On Lutherhaven

DAKOTA, Minn.—Lutherhaven Bible Camp on the Mississippi near here, operated by the Fillmore and La Crosse circuits of the Evangelical Lutheran Church, was a self sustaining operation this summer according to a financial report made at the annual meeting of the camp association this week.

The report, made by John Schilling, Galesville, Wis., listed 2,300 campers and operating expenses of $2,879. There is a balance of $1,341. There were 355 weekly campers; 260 overnight and the remainder visited during the day. Groups of pastors and college faculties from other denominations also used the site.

Fillmore directors re-elected were Dr. L. E. Byrnestad, Central Lutheran Church, Winona; Donald Voxland, Rushford and Orrin Agrimsson, Peterson, La Crosse directors re-elected were the Revs. Maynard Midthun and Laverne Hanson, La Crosse and E. T. Anderson, Holmen. The Rev. Carl Grottnum, La Crosse, was named for his first term.

Leo Bohrnstedt, La Crosse; the Rev. O. G. Birkeland, Whitehall; Vernon Erickson, Mabel, and the Rev. Oscar Engerstrom, Spring Grove, were named to the nominating committee for 1935. Elvin Humble, Rushford; Mrs. C. I. Anderson, La Crosse; and A. N. Spande, Mabel, were selected as auditors.

The board of directors will elect officers at the Nov. 12 meeting at the camp. The Rev. M. A. Braaten, Houston, president of the Bible camp association, presided.

Recreation Centers Announce Programs

The Park-Recreation Board's recreation center program includes a craft shop for both children and youth. Aluminum and copper is the medium used through October and November.

Grim Volunteers Step Up Search For N.D. Tot

POWERS LAKE, N.D. (AP)—Grim, determined volunteers today stepped up their round-the-clock search for 4-year-old LaVern Enget, after the missing child's distraught mother spent Tuesday night in the hospital.

"There may be only 2,000 men in the field today," said Editor A. M. Brudvik, "but the search will be more widespread, with more boats and wading equipment in use."

Powers Lake is in extreme northwestern North Dakota, some 50 miles south of the Canadian border.

The search, the biggest in western North Dakota history according to Brudvik, has been focused on the sloughs which dot the area. A dog guided by a Canadian Mountie Tuesday picked up the boy's scent near a slough north of the Obert Enget farm but it faded.

Emergency radio broadcasts from Williston sent a stream of new volunteers and national guardsmen on their way to the rugged Burke County area today. Five National Guard units, two from Minot and one each from Williston, Watford City and Rugby, have been called to duty.

Two helicopters, one from Denver and another from Bismarck, have been added to the search, spearheaded by hundreds of foot and many horsemen who are combing the region where the boy wandered from his home Sunday night.

Although refusing to be quoted, doctors at the scene said they were "very skeptical" LaVern still is alive.

Reds Seize 4 Members of Smith Party

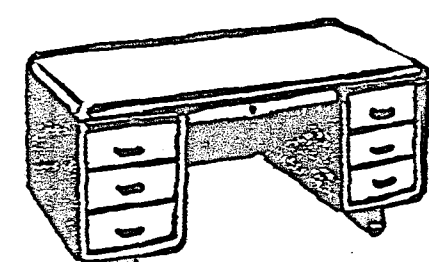

BERLIN (AP)—Communist police took four members of Sen. Margaret Chase Smith's party into custody during a tour of East Berlin today, then turned them loose after an hour's detention.

The police stepped in as Columbia Broadcasting System cameramen were filming the touring Maine Republican as she looked into a state-owned department store.

Mrs. Smith was whisked away from the scene as soon as her party was approached by an East German plain clothesman. She learned details of the incident only after she returned to Allied West Berlin.

Germany is one stop on Mrs. Smith's European tour, which will include a visit in the Soviet Union.

Milwaukee Is Wartime Target, Wiley Claims

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.) said Tuesday that Milwaukee was chosen as a launching site for Nike, the guided missile which intercepts hostile aircraft, because the city is a prime target.

The Wisconsin senator, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said Milwaukee probably is closer to attack than New York.

Wiley, in a speech before the Milwaukee Board of Realtors, called for continuation of foreign military aid, support of the United Nations and full collaboration with the free nations against the threat of Communist attack.

He said he was confident that the free nations, if they stand together, can keep the Kremlin from attacking.

Guidance Topic For Class Series In Area Schools

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—A three-meeting special class in counseling and guidance techniques for teachers will be conducted by the University of Wisconsin Extension Division at Whitehall High School, Nov. 11; Blair High School, Nov. 18, and Galesville High School, Dec. 2. All meetings will begin at 7 p.m.

Richard Sigglekow, associate director of the UW teacher placement bureau, will instruct the class.

The meetings will touch upon policies and practices for organized guidance services in both elementary and secondary schools. Case studies and illustrations will be used for demonstration purposes.

Class topics will include the nature of guidance problems, the teacher's home as a guidance center, counseling techniques, learning to know pupils, individual counseling, group guidance, interviews, clinical services, and methods of developing and evaluating basic guidance and personnel activities.

Enrollment in the class may be made by contacting the schools in which the meetings are to be held.

10 Puerto Rican Reds Arrested For Conspiracy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department announced today that FBI agents in New York City and Puerto Rico have arrested 10 leaders of the Puerto Rican Communist party on charges of seeking the violent overthrow of the government.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said the arrests would cripple the Communist apparatus in Puerto Rico. He said the group, which is not directly connected with the American Communist party, has agitated, along with the Puerto Rican Nationalist group, for independence of the island commonwealth.

The arrests brought to 128 the number of Communist leaders seized since July 1948 on charges of conspiracy to teach and advocate the overthrow of the government by violence.

FBI agents filed complaints against the 10 Puerto Ricans against as soon as possible before the nearest U.S. commissioners.

Among those arrested were Juan Santos-Rivera, described by the FBI as a Moscow-trained Communist, and Juan Emmanuelli, who was named as liaison man between Communist parties of the United States and Puerto Rico. The FBI indicated both men were seized in Puerto Rico.

Terence McConnell

Funeral services were held Monday at Superior for Terence McConnell, 89, who died there Saturday, Oct. 16.

He married the former Margaret Sheehy, Ettrick, sister of Mrs. Katherine Mack, South Beaver Creek. Mrs. McConnell died Jan. 18, 1950. Before her death, the couple visited Ettrick each summer.

McConnell is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Eino Dixon, Mrs. Timothy Sullivan and Mrs. Cameron Pearson, all of Superior. Attending the funeral from here were Mr. and Mrs. La Verne Cantlon, Gerald Sheehy and Leo Mack. Mrs. Cantlon, Sheehy and Mack are nieces and nephews of the late Mrs. McConnell.

Mrs. Laura Petersen

Funeral services will be held Friday at 2:30 p.m. for Mrs. Laura Petersen, 78, who died Monday evening at Superior. She was the mother of Mrs. John B. Wild and was in Alma when the Rev. Mr. Wild was minister at St. Paul's Reformed Church.

A number of years ago the Wilds moved from Alma to Cornell and since then have been at Superior where the Rev. Mr. Wild is pastor of a church. Mr. Petersen died during their residence in Alma.

A. T. Blom officiating. The rites were delayed to allow Mrs. Anderson's son, Leo, who is with the armed forces in Alaska, to come home.

Mrs. Anderson was born Jan. 2, 1900, at Strum, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hogue. She spent her entire life in the Strum vicinity. She is survived by her husband; six daughters, Mrs. Lyle Mahlum, Strum; Mrs. Alton Rongholt and Mrs. Donald Larson, Eau Claire; Mrs. Richard Deinhammer

West Suspicious Of Russia, U.N.: Told by Delegate

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The U.N. disarmament debate neared the decisive stage today as British Delegate Selwyn Lloyd prepared to outline his government's position on the critical East-West issue.

Lloyd, co-author of a British-French proposal used as a basis for the discussions, speaks before the 60-nation Political Committee. He was expected to echo the skeptical tone voiced yesterday by U.S. Delegate James Wadsworth, who said Americans "suspect the Soviet Union of planning world conquest behind their facade of disarmament statements."

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky has held the recent spotlight in the debate with speeches which the Soviet bloc termed conciliatory.

The disarmament debate resumed in the wake of a double setback for dogged Russian attempts to air aggression charges against the United States. After haggling for nearly three hours, the U.N. Steering Committee voted 12-2 last night to postpone for two weeks a debate on whether Soviet accusations of U.S. air and sea activity around Formosa and the China Sea should be put on the agenda.

It also voted 7-5, with two abstentions, to hold off debate for a similar period on Soviet charges that Nationalist China—abetted by the United States—was waging piratical attacks on shipping bound for the Communist Chinese mainland.

VOICE of the OUTDOORS

Wetland Buttons
The North Shore Game and Fish Club of Long Lake has started a movement which its hopes will spread to the 600 sportsmen clubs in Minnesota. It is a lapel button sale for Minnesota's wetland fund—a fund which the federal government, through Pittman-Robertson money, will match to restore Minnesota waterfowl potholes.

In the above picture Ed Moen, president of the North Shore Club, is explaining the promotion program to Gov. C. Elmer Anderson with Chester S. Wilson, right, Minnesota's conservation commissioner, looking on. In the center is an enlargement of one of the buttons and one of the sale signs.

Bud Saffranek, president of the Winona Rod and Gun Club, said his organization has not taken up the program but it will probably come up at an early meeting. Other clubs in the county and area will unquestionably discuss this program.

The North Shore Club will furnish buttons at cost.

Trempealeau Lakes
A check for $400 from the Winona Rod and Gun Clubs, a contribution to the Associated Rod and Gun Clubs of Trempealeau County, to acquire the Trempealeau lakes assures the success of this project, Nick Jensen, Arcadia, announced Tuesday. It brought the total raised to date to $3,200.

It will be recalled that the purchase consists of First, Second, and Third Lakes and an area of adjoining farm land. The state is purchasing the lake area while the sportsmen are acquiring the upland which can be used for raising grain or reforested. The project will become a public hunting and fishing grounds, open to all. The lakes are in the river zone. Minnesota fishermen can fish there without a non-resident Wisconsin license.

Trapper Permits
Starting Monday, the office of the Wildlife Refuge here in the Post Office, and rangers in the field, will issue permits to trap on refuge land in Minnesota and Wisconsin. The permit, which is free, will cover all legalized trapping on refuge land during the 1954-55 trapping season. The Wisconsin season for muskrat and mink opens Oct. 28, and the Minnesota mink season Nov. 6.

Trap tags will sell the same as a year ago, ten cents each. A trapper may purchase any number up to 50 tags for his trapline. Refuge trapping regulations have been unchanged for several years.

Closed areas of the refuge, where waterfowl hunting is not allowed, will remain closed to trapping until the end of the waterfowl season. No trespassing is permitted in these areas set-up for the protection of migratory waterfowl.

Iowa Results
Tabulation of ranger reports from the Iowa sections of the Wildlife Refuge along the Mississippi, which were opened to duck hunting last Friday, shows that the average Iowa hunter got half a duck on the opening day. Minnesota and Wisconsin average on the opening day was one bird.

Locally, so far this week, duck hunting has been slow. The fog Tuesday morning helped a bit but most hunters came in with less than the limit. Apparently from bag checks, there has been an additional flight of large birds into the area.

The crest of the present rise in the river passed Winona Tuesday afternoon and the river again will settle back toward normal. The gates of the various dams will be slowly lowered again, building up a head, and eventually restore "duck hunting" levels in the headwaters of the pools. The flow at the Winona Dam Tuesday morning was 42,500 cubic feet per second. The water here is not too dirty for fishing.

Corporations Report Earnings Higher Than '53

NEW YORK (AP)—Some big boys are sweetening the profits pudding today. Their gains in net income—after paying lower taxes—offset the sourer reports of many smaller businesses for the summer quarter.

The first 50 corporations to report their net profit after taxes for the three summer months—exclusive of financial institutions and railroads—showed combined earnings 12 per cent higher than for the same three months of 1953.

But weighing heavily in that scale are the increased profits of such big companies as American Telephone & Telegraph, Du Pont, and General Electric. Other companies whose earnings were sharply up this summer over last include Continental Can, Kaiser Aluminum, Marquette Cement and Rohm & Haas.

Of the 50 to report, 27 had increased earnings this summer. In many cases this was due to a sharp drop in income taxes, which more than offset the decline in sales which many report.

Fifty is too small a number to more than indicate a trend. And it must be remembered that corporations with sorry earnings comparisons are less likely to rush to announce them. Some of the 50 offered estimates with final figures to follow. The great flood of earnings statements will crest around the end of this month, and may change the final figures considerably.

But the first indications point to a continuation of this year's earlier trend—big gains by some large corporations offsetting decreased profits by a mass of smaller companies. In the first quarter of this year combined profits of industrial corporations averaged 7 per cent ahead of the 1953 period. In the second quarter it had dropped to a gain of 6 per cent.

Netherlands Scene Of Mysterious Espionage Case

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP)—Some of the mystery surrounding the Petersen espionage case has evaporated with the naming of the Netherlands as the foreign country involved.

This had been a well-kept secret since Oct. 9, when FBI agents seized Joseph G. Petersen Jr.

Official confirmation late yesterday followed disclosure by a non-government source that the Netherlands is the nation which figures in the charges against the long-time employee of the hush-hush National Security Agency.

Official statements in Washington and the Hague said the Netherlands acted in good faith.

A federal grand jury, meanwhile, was called into session here for the third day to try to decide whether to indict Petersen on charges of "improperly taking" secret defense documents.

The jurors gave every indication of being in no hurry to wind up their deliberations.

Hawks Ready for Red Wing; Warriors, Ramblers Face Tough Foes

By RALPH REEVE
Daily News Sports Editor

There's no rest in sight for Winona football teams, according to three men in the know—the head coaches of the Cotter High, Winona High and Winona State grid squads.

Speaking at the YMCA Quarterback Club Tuesday night, Johnny Nett, Gordie Paschka and Gene Brodthagen were unanimous in their respect for the foes their teams face.

Paschka, whose Winona High Winhawks host Red Wing tonight at Jefferson Field in a homecoming and "Parents Night" game, was one with a trace of optimism showing.

"As far as we're concerned," Paschka said, "we're about due to play a ball game. We went from mediocre to lousy, but our first team came back strong in practice this week and the attitude seems to be good."

Although Paschka showed plenty of respect for Red Wing's once-beaten Winhawks who are sparked by 200-pound fullback Willie Rjerstad and 6-6 end Dick Deden, the Winhawk mentor wasn't over-awed.

"I think we're going to be rougher in the line than they are. But if we let them get a couple of easy touchdowns it will be rough."

Concerning Winona High's

14-13 victory over Faribault, Paschka said that numerous penalties in the second half prevented Winona from developing a good point spread, although the Hawks were moving the ball and driving hard.

Indicating that he didn't see eye to eye on all matters with the officials, Paschka reviewed Art Sagen's 75-yard return of the second half opening kickoff for a touchdown by quipping, "It happened so fast I don't think they had a chance to get the red flag out."

Paschka added an interesting sidelight about Bill Hostettler's dropkick of the extra point after Winona's second touchdown in the Faribault game.

"He worked on drop-kicking in practice and got pretty good so I made a deal with him. I said any time he scored a touchdown (Hostettler plays center) he could drop-kick the extra point."

"Someone reminded me of that at halftime so when Sagen scored in the second half, I sent Dave Stover in at center and had Hostettler drop-kick it. It just shows how things work out—he made the extra point and we won the game 14-13."

Johnny Nett, Cotter coach, expressed disappointment that his team didn't beat McDonnell last Sunday at Chippewa Falls. Explaining the scoreless tie, Nett said, "We weren't up and they outplayed us. We should have won handily."

He said his "line wasn't moving and there was a lack of blocking. We were waiting for the other line to charge." In addition, Nett said, the Ramblers received a couple of breaks they didn't take advantage of, such as recovery of the ball inside the McDonnell 10-yard line on a blocked punt.

Cotter's homecoming game will be Friday night at Jefferson Field against Wabasha St. Felix and Nett expects a rough game.

Speaking of Ken Kalbrenner, the St. Felix coach, Nett said, "He gets more out of his kids, year in and year out, than any coach I've seen. Regardless who they play, they always show up well."

"If we're not up for the game we'll be in for a tough night. That's how much I respect Kalbrenner's coaching ability."

Brodthagen, reviewing Winona State's come-from-behind victory over Northland last Saturday night, said, "I talked it over with the boys after the game and we agreed that the only good thing about us was that we won."

"They were up for us and we were down for them," Brodthagen said. Winona was assessed 120 yards in penalties and that prevented them from widening their early lead.

But Brodthagen was happy about the squad's attitude in face of the all-important game with St. Cloud Saturday for the State Teachers Conference championship.

"I'm predicting a tough ball game," he said. "They are defending champs and will have the size on us. If our spirit stays up we'll give them a battle in there."

Brodthagen was concerned, however, over the injuries of co-captain Arnold Boese and fullback Don Segermark. Boese will have a hand cast put on his injured arm and should be able to play against St. Cloud.

Segermark has a knee injury and is more of a doubtful quantity.

St. Mary's Coach Chet Bulger was absent. His team plays Duluth Branch Saturday night at Duluth.

A question-and-answer period followed the reports by the coaches. It was announced that a 30-minute color, sound movie will be shown at next week's meeting. It is of the 1953 pro game between the Cleveland Browns and Los Angeles Rams.

Southern Minny Schedule To Be 49 Games in 1955

OWATONNA, Minn.—The Southern Minny League board of directors, by a 5-3 vote, approved enactment of a 49-game schedule for the 1955 season.

A 56-game slate had originally been proposed, but that was voted down and a compromise reached on 49 games, compared to the 44-game schedule the league had last season.

Attending the meeting as co-representatives from Winona were Bob Krick and Stan Wiczorek. Winona voted against the 56-game season and in favor of a 49-game slate. Cold weather in the spring and fall, making for poor playing conditions, was one reason the 56-game season wasn't adopted.

The 1955 season will start and end in the same space of time that last season did. Also approved was the Shaughnessy playoff plan among the first four league teams at the end of the regular playing season.

The directors voted to continue the seven-game post-season "Little World Series" with the Western Minny League playoff champion.

Under the 49-game plan, each team will have 24 home dates. The proceeds of one game will go into the league treasury and be prorated back to the teams on an equal basis. Final arrangements for that haven't been made, however.

Each team will again have a 15-man roster including the manager. In addition, it was voted to allow each team to have two "inactive" players on their rosters. The inactive players probably would be youths who would help warm up pitchers, etc. Their salary is not to exceed a dollar a year and they would not be included in the split of playoff proceeds.

The league stipulated that contracts for managers must be sent out by Nov. 15 and deadline on managers returning them is Dec. 1. That is to enable holdover managers a chance to get an early start in lining up their prospects for the coming season.

The rule on bottom teams in the previous season's standings having first chance to sign released players, which was passed at the league's first annual meeting session 10 days ago, still prevails.

General admission for next season was set at 75 cents, plus tax. If the admission tax is removed, general admission tickets will sell for 75 cents next season, compared with 80 cents this year.

A rule was passed that all home teams must provide practice balls for pre-game warmup drills. This is expected to prevent loss of baseballs sustained by visiting teams in many communities.

To insure the league treasury of operating expenses, it was proposed to take $10 from the proceeds of each game for league expenses.

An innovation for next season will be the advertising of bids on baseballs by the league. Previously, individual teams purchased their own baseballs and the price varied from town to town.

The league directors hope to secure a good price on baseballs by advertising bids among sporting goods companies manufacturing baseballs.

The directors concluded their session here Tuesday night by presenting L. R. (Lefty) Ringhofer of Owatonna a new briefcase. He has been secretary-treasurer of the league since 1942.

BACK OF WEEK. . . Jon Arnett, University of California, Los Angeles, football player, has been chosen "Back of the Week" in The Associated Press poll. He was selected on the basis of his outstanding play against Oregon last Saturday. (AP Wirephoto)

Yackel Won Football Chance Playing Hockey

By JIM KLOBUCHAR

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Murray Warmath's first glimpse of Minnesota athletic talent this year came during a hockey game when a dark-haired defenseman was gallily trying to plant rival forwards into the third row.

This man, reasoned Warmath, must be a football player. It took Ken Yackel just one game to prove it.

Running at fullback, Yackel covered 107 yards in 12 plays against Illinois and produced an almost unanimous reaction from the Illini bench: "Where did this bird come from?"

Yackel is so much a natural athlete that he made the varsity at end last year after reporting in mid-season, something almost unheard of in modern football.

Before that he already had built a reputation as one of the finest college hockey players in the land and was a star on the Minnesota baseball team.

Warmath converted him into a fullback last spring, but had to catch him between baseball games and outside jobs which the St. Paul bruiser had to perform to support his wife and baby.

Yackel is supposed to have the perfect disposition for athletic stardom. He's aggressive almost to the point of being mean in the heat of action. He has all the necessary instincts plus a drive to make good in anything he tries.

A bruised hip kept him out of action during the early weeks of the season and it wasn't until last week that Warmath gave him the ball and told him to run.

Warmath prefers that his backs run past a tackler if there's any alternative. Yackel doesn't go much for the niceties of open field running. If someone happens to be in the way, there's bound to be a collision.

One of them cost him a sprained ankle in the fourth quarter against Illinois, but he should be in shape by Saturday.

'GATOR STAR SMALL. . . Even though he weighs only 174, in uniform and holding football, Dick Allen, University of Florida quarterback, has helped win three Southeastern Conference football games, running, passing, and kicking. (AP Wirephoto)

Two Wisconsin Sophs May Start Against Ohio

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Don't be surprised if two Wisconsin sophomores, Billy Lowe and Pat Levenhagen, are surprise starters in the big game at Ohio State Saturday.

Both have performed effectively to date, and may be at the half-back posts when the Badgers and Buckeyes tangle.

Lowe, of Eau Claire, ran back an intercepted pass 93 yards for a touchdown in the victory over Purdue, while Levenhagen, whose home is in West Allis, has performed steadily in every one of the team's four conquests this fall.

Backfield coach Boh Odell alternated two quarterbacks, Jimmy Miller and Jim Haluska; three fullbacks, Alan Ameche, Glenn Bestor and Charles Thomas; two left halves, Levenhagen and Boh Gingrass and two right halves, Clary Bratt and Lowe in Tuesday's drill.

Dark Signs for 2 More Years With Giants

NEW YORK (AP) — Alvin Dark, the quiet, take-charge guy who kept the New York Giants on the hustle to the National League pennant and their smashing World Series victory, today signed another year contract. He is the first player to sign with the world champions for 1955.

There was no indication how much money was provided in the contract, mailed in by Dark from his Lake Charles, La., home, but Eddie Brannick, club secretary, said the shabby shortstop was "very satisfied."

It was the second two-year agreement signed by Dark since joining the Giants in 1950. The first accepted by Dark in 1953, called for a reported $31,500 a year. He signed then only after holding out until March 3.

Dark, a 5-foot-11 scrapper at his best in the clutch, wound up a superb year with an individual performance that matched the team sweep of the Cleveland Indians in the World Series. A .293 hitter during the regular season, the 31-year-old veteran batted .412—the best series average of any of the New York regulars.

Ameche and Bobo Candidates for All-American Role

CHICAGO (AP) — The first roll call of potential Midwest All-American football candidates today strongly hints that Wisconsin's heralded Alan (The Horse) Ameche, will get real competition Saturday from Ohio State's Hubert Bobo as fullback rivals.

Ameche and Bobo clash head-on as the Badgers and Buckeyes meet at Columbus in a pivotal Big Ten game of unbeaten contenders.

This area's five-man selection board for The Associated Press 1954 national honor team has given surprising support to Bobo, 6-foot, 192-pound sophomore from Chauncey, Ohio.

The regional board is composed of Brad Wilson, sports editor of the Columbus, Ohio, Dispatch; Joe Doyle, sports editor of the South Bend, Ind., Tribune; Oliver Kuechle of the Milwaukee Journal; Hal Middlesworth of the Detroit Free Press; and Joe Wilson of Chicago radio station WMAQ.

Ameche and Bobo had plenty of company in the initial rundown of standout performers in the Big Ten area.

Such other players were cited as quarterback Ralph Guglielmi and center Dick Szymanski of Notre Dame; halfback Howie Cassidy and guard Jim Parker of Ohio State; end John (Thunder) Lewis of Michigan State; halfback Earl Smith and guard Cal Jones of Iowa; end Ron Locklin of Wisconsin; and guard Tom Bettis of Purdue.

The University of North Carolina's only undefeated, untied football team played in 1953 when the Tar Heels won nine straight games.

Stars Playing Lakers Tonight

CHICAGO (AP) — Some of the brightest stars in collegiate basketball circles last season will get together tonight in an attempt to defeat the Minneapolis Lakers, champions of the National Basketball Assn.

Coaches Ray Meyer of DePaul and George Ireland of Loyola are high on this year's all-stars.

"This figured to be the greatest all-star squad in history on paper," Meyer said. "But now I'm convinced it is going to prove that in person."

Among the all-stars will be fabulous Bevo Francis of Rio Grande whose scoring feats for the past several seasons were sometimes unbelievable.

Francis will be surrounded by such stars as Joe Bertrand and Dick Rosenthal, Notre Dame; Frank Ramsey and Cliff Hagen, Kentucky; Johnny Kerr, Illinois; Bob Leonard, Indiana; Bob Pettit, Louisiana State; Frank Selvy, Furman; Eugene Shue, Maryland; Togo Palazzi, Holy Cross, and Tom Marshall, Western Kentucky.

The game is sponsored by the Chicago American with benefits going to charity.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

Rich Men Tire of Sports Ventures

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP) — If there is one thing a person learns over a long period of close association with the sports scene it is that rich men get tired remarkably quick of throwing their money into a losing athletic venture.

They don't think they will when they go into it. They are overstimulated at the time with the thought of doing something for their home community and, at the same time, being intimately associated with a glamorous new world which they have known all their lives only from a distance.

A few fortunate ones, such as

Del Webb and Dan Topping, who bought the rich Yankee empire at a distress sale for perhaps a quarter of its real value, never have cause to regret their action. They only make more money. But they are the rare exception, and the trail is strewn with wealthy enthusiasts who were stricken by a deficit.

All of which might help explain why a shocked silence has reigned over the American League the past two days, since it was announced eight wealthy Philadelphia had purchased the Athletics and saved them from being transported bodily out to Kansas City.

A sort of numbness seems to have set in on the other club presidents and spokesmen. They, along with League President Will Harridge, say they want to get all the facts before they comment.

Their reaction, roughly, is that of a group of men who have seen a colleague apparently saved from drowning and then kicked back into the water. A club executive, who declined to be quoted, said this:

"I have no doubt they are all fine fellows. Not one of them, though, knows a thing in the world about running a big league club. Even with the best of luck, I don't see how the Athletics can help losing money for another three or four years. If the deal is approved, will these men be willing to plow in more money for that length of time? I'm afraid that I doubt it."

Gavilan Hopes For K.O. Tonight Against Saxton

By MURRAY ROSE

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Welterweight champion Kid Gavilan predicted he'll knock out Johnny Saxton tonight "if I hit him solid" and Saxton says, "I'm going to be the new champion."

A crowd of around 11,000 may pay around $80,000 for the twice-postponed 15-round title bout in Convention Hall.

It will be telecast coast to coast by CBS, Philadelphia and a 100-mile radius around the city, with the exception of New York, will be blacked out of the TV. Local stay-at-homes will get a radio broadcast.

Starting time is 10 p.m. EST.

The 28-year-old Cuban, making his eighth title defense, radiated extreme confidence, as usual, as he moved into town from his Summit, N.J., training camp.

"Saxton is a pretty good fighter," said the Kid from Camaguey. "He's strong and likes to crowd. I throw plenty of punches at him and we see what happens. If I hit him solid, he go."

"Gavilan is a great fighter," said the 24-year-old challenger from New York. "I'm not underestimating him. But I'm confident I've got the strength and style to beat him."

The odds, however, favor the champion at 19-10.

Saxton said he wasn't worried over going 15 rounds for the first time.

The crowding, bullying style has enabled Saxton to post a 42-2-2 record. His two defeats were by split decisions to Gil Turner and Del Flanagan. He has 19 kayos to his credit. Gavilan's record is 38-14-4 with 27 knockouts. Neither ever has been stopped.

This is Gavilan's first fight in six months and his first title defense since he drubbed Johnny Bratton in Chicago 11 months ago. A half year ago he dropped a 15-round decision to middleweight champion Carl (Ebo) Olson. He claimed he fought that one with an injured right hand.

Winhawk Bees Win by 33-14

The Winona High B squad rolled up its sixth victory of the season Tuesday afternoon at Lake City, winning a 33-14 decision over the LC junior varsity.

The Winhawk Bees scored twice in the first and second periods and once in the third quarter.

In the initial frame, Chuck Wally went 15 yards around end to score but his try for extra point failed. In the same period he passed to Don Klage and the extra point was made on a pass to Keith Smelser.

Allen Burt rambled 40 yards in the second quarter and fullback George Hanthorne drove 15 yards around end. Lance Carroll plunged for the extra point after Hanthorne's TD for a 26-0 halftime lead.

Burt wrapped up Winona scoring with a touchdown in the third period on a quick-o-pener that started from midfield. Lake City scored twice in the final period for the 33-14 end result.

Final game of the season for the Hawk Jaycees will be Oct. 23 at La Crosse Central.

Victories Seen For Minnesota And Wisconsin

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
CHICAGO (AP) — The ol' swami, thrown for only one loss last week (by Missouri over Indiana), tries to clear all the fog from his crystal ball this time:

Wisconsin 20, Ohio State 14 — Brother, this is going to be something. . . Both unbeaten in four starts, Wisconsin retaining its No. 2 national rating and the Buckeyes ranked fourth. . . Pivotal game in the Big Ten title struggle. . . The scent of roses, and all that kind of stuff. . . Ohio may have too much speed with Bobby Watkins and Hopalong Cassidy, but it hasn't a blockbuster like well-tested Alan Ameche or the passing stirred up by the Jim Miller-Jim Haluska combination. . . The decision could be reached up front by those unheralded linemen, and the Badgers look better stocked with reserves there.

Wisconsin, a prime Big Ten favorite from the start, has followed the form sheet so far. . . Ohio State has been somewhat of a surprise. . . The Buckeyes have a chance to prove how good they are in this one.

Michigan State 14, Purdue 13 — Those nimble Spartan backs will be too hard to catch. . . And Purdue had better find a good pocket to protect passer Len Dawson from oncoming tacklers. . .

Minnesota 21, Michigan 7 — The undefeated Gophers find themselves in a new role for the Little Brown Jug series. . . Favorites in a game that is played at Michigan. . . That hasn't happened since the golden days of the Bernie Bierman era. . .

Iowa 20, Indiana 13 — The Hawkeyes may have been looking to Iowa when they lost last week to Missouri and could prove to be rough hosts. . . The Hawkeyes were picking up steam at the end in their 20-14 loss to Ohio State and should have enough left to do the job.

Illinois 27, Syracuse 13 — those Illini have to win sometime. . . Northwestern 14, Pitt 7 — Fumble prevention week may pay off for the Wildcats, who have been winning statistical honors but losing ball games.

Marquette 20, Fordham 12 — The Warriors broke the ice against Holy Cross and are wearing their war paint for homecoming. . .

RIPON, Wis. (AP) — The surprising Carleton Carls can just about cinch the Midwest Conference football championship Saturday with a triumph over Grinnell, still looking for its first win of the season.

The Carls, unbeaten in five games, have outscored Grinnell nearly two to one and have allowed an average of only eight points to their five foes. The Rams, losing two and tying one, have been ripped for 119 points in their four outtings. The game will be played at Grinnell.

Second-place Lawrence, needing a win to stay in contention, entertains traditional rival Ripon at Appleton in the No. 2 game of the day. The Vikings have a 3-1 record, the Redmen 2-2-1. A victory for favored Lawrence would set the stage for a championship battle with Carleton at Northfield, Minn., next week.

Other games completing the full schedule have Knox (1-3) facing St. Olaf (3-1) at Northfield and Cornell (1-3) opposing Coe (1-3) at Cedar Rapids, Iowa. Monmouth has the open date on the nine-team schedule.

Mrs. Holm to Attend Civil Defense Meet

ST. PAUL (AP) — Mrs. Mike Holm, secretary of state, will represent Minnesota at a Civil Defense meeting in Washington next Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mrs. Holm will participate in a round table discussion on "Family Plans for Dispersal," at a meeting of the National Women's Advisory Committee of the Federal Civil Defense Administration.

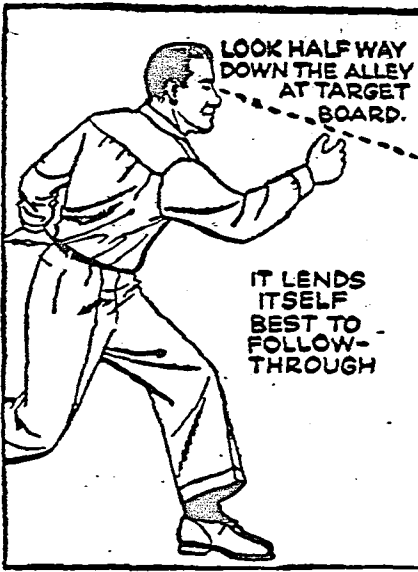

She will report back to Col. E. B. Miller, Minnesota director of Civil Defense, President Eisenhower will participate in the meeting.

NATURAL REACH

Once proper footwork has been mastered, with a smooth finishing slide to the foul line, above all, the eyes take over an important part in achieving natural reach in delivering the ball. Beginners frequently are confused by conflicting advice as to whether to look at the spot where the ball is released, halfway down the alley, or at the pins. I strongly recommend looking halfway down the alley as the best means of developing follow-through. This encourages you to reach out, which improves control. The head should be held high and the eyes fixed on the alleys. Allow nine to 13 inches for the slide. Give the ball a chance to fall smoothly into the arc (see sketch). Timing is important; do not hurry the downsling. Let the ball fall, like a pendulum, into the arc by its own weight. The function of the hand and arm on the downsling is to control and guide the ball—never to force it!

Bambenek Hits 247-600 Set

Ted Bambenek of the Keweenaw Litch recorded an even 600 series, sparked by a 247 single, Tuesday night in Winona league bowling in Class A competition at the Athletic Club.

Three bowlers in that league had errorless series. They included John Cierzan with 590, Joe Loshek, 577, and Andy Lipinski, 575.

Four women rolled honors in the Ladies City League at Hal-Rod Lanes. They were Irene Gostomski of Springdale Dairy with 521, Jessie Slagge, 513; Marge Davies, 508, and Esther Holubar, 502.

The high single game in that league was 197 by Lillian Thurler of Winona Surplus.

John Polischak of the New Oaks missed an honor count by four pins in the 4-City League at Hal-Rod Lanes. He fired a 225 for the top single game in that league.

In the Tuesday League at St. Martin's, Howard Bradley of the Out-Dor Store paced the way with 222-537, while in the Commercial League at the Keglers Klub Art Mueller of Rite Way hit 202 and John Erickson of Merchants Bank had a 537 series.

Back of Week Not Starter

LOS ANGELES (AP) — One of the unusual facts about young Jon Arnett of Southern California is that while he was named Back of the Week by The Associated Press, he has yet to win a place on the Trojans' starting team.

Even today his coach, Jess Hill, reiterated that he has not decided whether the 19-year-old sophomore or Aramis Dandoy, a senior and All-Pacific Coast Conference back last year, will lead off at left half-back against California here Saturday.

Hill did name Jon to start in the Oregon game last week, the nationally televised contest which proved a wonderful stage for Arnett's running ability.

But this was the only game thus far in which he got the opening role.

Does this disturb him? "Not a bit," he promptly replied. "I'm glad to see Dandoy get the assignment."

An extremely modest young man, he seemed a little abashed by "Back of the Week" designation.

Business Group Attends Meeting In Rochester

Representatives of business associations from Winona and seven other Southeastern Minnesota communities attended a meeting in Rochester Tuesday to form the Chamber of Commerce Minnesota Legislative Conference.

The group is being organized to establish regional conferences of Minnesota businessmen to study and informally discuss business interests in state legislative matters. It hopes to assist business, labor, farmers and the general public in keeping informed as to the effect legislation will have on the future economic development of the state.

Attending from Winona were Philip A. Baumann, chairman of the Association of Commerce governmental affairs committee, J. M. George, who will become a permanent member of the Winona group, and A. J. Anderson, secretary-manager of the A. of C.

The organizational meeting determined that monthly meetings during legislative sessions will be held at Rochester, due to the central location. Each city chamber of commerce will select five or six business leaders to serve as members. The next meeting is scheduled for Nov. 23.

Similar regional groups are being organized in southwestern, west central and northern parts of the state. Five Minneapolis business executives have offered to work with the staff of the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce in preparation of materials to assist in the studies by the regional groups.

During Tuesday's session, the representatives discussed some of the prime problems they will amplify in later meetings. Among these was the matter of financing the operation of the state, which has swelled from $101 million in 1944 to $312 million during 1953. It was pointed out that surplus funds that have helped make up the difference between revenues and the need in the past have now been depleted.

Methods of raising funds for this purpose brought out a comparison of taxes in Minnesota and methods of taxation used by other states to acquire the needed funds.

It was mentioned that many other states have taxes that Minnesota has not adopted, including unincorporated business taxes, partnership taxes, corporation franchise taxes and the sales tax.

Through discussion of these and other matters, the legislative study conferences hope to assist in finding solutions to problems that are faced in future development of the state.

Boxers Seek More Sponsors

Chuck Puterbaugh, Winona amateur boxing coach, said after Tuesday night's mitt drills Winona may have one of its "best boxing teams in years."

Puterbaugh was highly encouraged over the showing of some of the candidates out for the squad. He intends to hold practice three times a week.

The boxers will drill Thursday night at 7 o'clock and Saturday afternoon from 2 to 4 p.m. On the squad are about 15 youths with St. Mary's students and candidates from the Winona area represented.

Puterbaugh said the team needs more sponsors. At present, the Winona Rubber Supply and Sugar Leaf Feed Store are co-sponsors. If any businesses are interested, Puterbaugh added, they may call him at 9124 from 8:30 to 9 a.m. or from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Friday night.

They're All Wet But Law-Abiding Yet
PONCA CITY, Okla. (AP) — To assure water rationed citizens that they have their own well, Mr. and Mrs. Don Mitchell posted the following sign on their lawn where sprinklers often are operating:

"Let you tell us where to dwell 'This water comes from a private well.'"

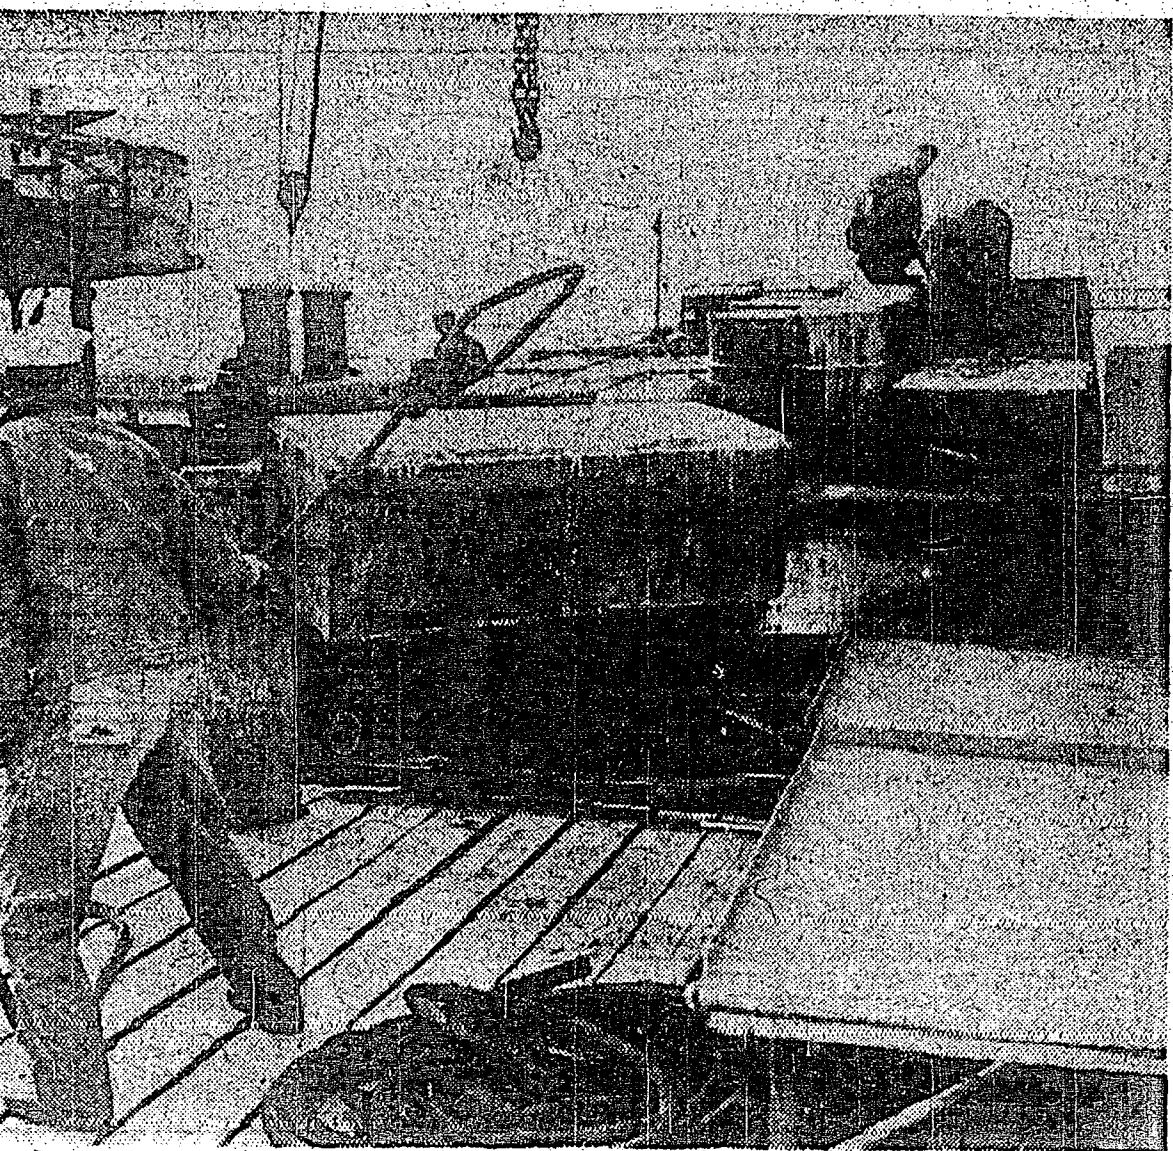

This Fellow Grows Just Dandy Peaches
AURORA, Ill. (AP) — Peaches are growing larger than usual this year on Edward Tesch's backyard tree and measure about 11 inches in circumference.

Asked under which variety the peaches are classified, he said, "I call them dandies."

Water-Borne Trolley
MOSCOW (AP) — They're working on something new at the Moscow shipbuilding yards — a "trolley boat" to operate on the same principle as the trolleybus.

This is reported in the newspaper Evening Moscow, which says the craft will be the first of its kind. It is planned to operate on the Moscow canal and they are going to erect an experimental cable for its route.

Size and other specifications of the boat are, not made public, but it is assumed it would be built chiefly to transport freight.

New Angle Worms Money Out of Bank?

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Police are looking for an angler with a new angle.

Officials of the suburban Northwest National Bank reported they found a fishing line with two three-pronged fish hooks and four regular hooks in the chute of the night depository.

The would-be angler had lowered the hooks down the chute but they became snarled and lodged inside the depository.

Lions Clubs Donate Complete Rice Mill

MANILA (AP) — Lions clubs of the United States have donated some $500,000 worth of trucks, tools, plows and a complete rice mill to the Philippines.

Most of the equipment has been sent to the southern island of Mindanao, where the Philippine army is resettling those former Communist Hukos who agreed to cease their rebellion and turn in their arms.

Kane is appealing the dismissal of the commission, considering the weighty problem. Meanwhile it has suggested he try to reduce.

Scientific Scarecrow
EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Two Michigan State College faculty members think they've found a way to do away with scarecrows and costly tree covers in Michigan orchards.

Horticulturist G. M. Kessler and Zoologist G. J. Wallace are installing in orchards phonograph records of bird distress calls which they believe will keep robins and starlings from invading orchards and eating up the profits.

Michigan Bears Hungry This Year

DETROIT, Mich. (AP) — A shortage of natural food has made bold invaders of bears in Michigan's Upper Peninsula. It's not unusual for bears to forage through garbage dumps in the area, but recently they attacked and killed a yearling calf. Conservation officers now are warning all persons to keep their distance from all wild animals.

Truck Driver Saves Bird

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Rush hour traffic was tied up for several blocks because a baby bluejay noisily hovering over it, the center of the street, two adult bluejays noisily hovering over it. Finally the driver of the big truck which had stopped in front of the jays got out and carried the young bird safely off the street. Then the long lines of cars began to move again.

355-Pound Tenor Sax Player Fired

HONOLULU (AP) — The Royal Hawaiian band has fired its 5 foot 7 tenor saxophone player, Peter M. Kane Jr. because he weighs 355 pounds and has trouble walking up stairs.

Dr. Thomas M. Mossman, city physician, says Kane (rhymes with Barney) can blow his horn all right but he shouldn't have to walk up stairs in his condition. Bandmaster Domenico Moro says that's part of his job.

As it is, Moro told a civil service commission hearing recently, Kane has been excused from marching with the band the last four years. He has been with the band 14 years.

Kane is appealing the dismissal of the commission, considering the weighty problem. Meanwhile it has suggested he try to reduce.

Provable Fish Story
MASON CITY, Iowa (AP) — The "big one" got away from H. W. Swanson of Mason City but he has a receipt to prove just how big it was.

Swanson had a good strike while fishing in Clear Lake but the fish broke away. On his line, remained a small metal jaw tag. It had been placed on a spawning walleye in April, 1953, by Iowa State College biologists, who say the fish is now a little over 20 inches long and weighs about three pounds.

DENNIS THE MENACE

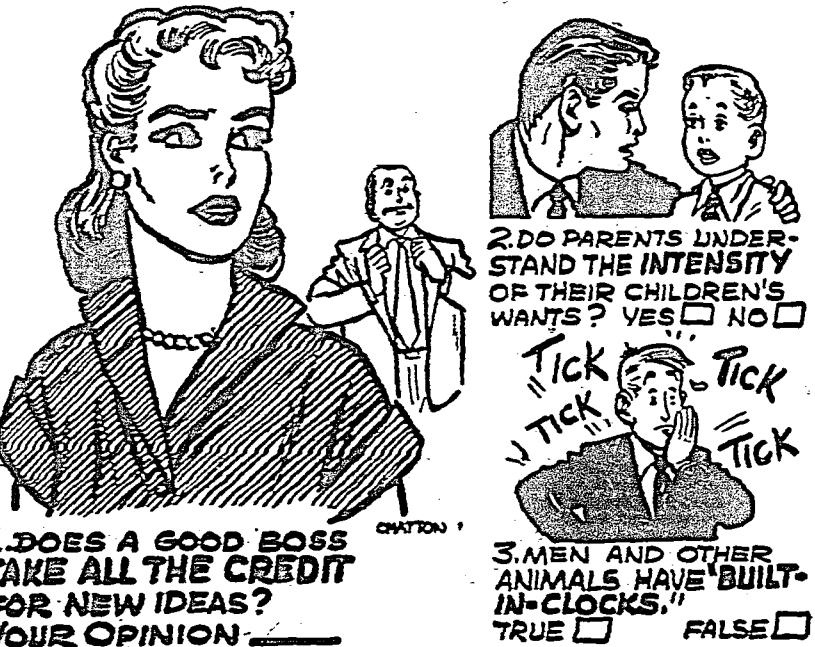

LAFF-A-DAY

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGUM, D. Sc.

Answer to Question No. 1
1. Not all the credit, but he makes workers think they can rely on "the old man" in all emergencies, yet that they also help him with many ideas. This gives both a feeling of partnership, raises the morale of workers, and develops a loyalty scarcely anything can break. The incompetent boss takes credit to himself because he feels insecure.

Answer to Question No. 2
2. I doubt that adults can feel how terribly a child wants a doll like playmate Mabel's, or a boy wants a bicycle like those of other boys, or feel the broken heart of the teen-ager not hidden to a sorority. I want a million dollars, but I can't want them as a necessity of life like I wanted copper-toed shoes as a boy.

Answer to Question No. 3
3. Probably, Biologist F. A. Brown Jr. finds not only do many people wake up at the same time, each morning, but that seashore animals have behavior patterns that coincide with the tides. There is a tidal crab that changes color every day at the same time. Brown thinks that every living thing probably has a "built-in biological clock."

3 Wabasha Men Going in Service

WABASHA, Minn. — Three Wabasha County men have been inducted into the armed forces as the county's October Selective Service call.

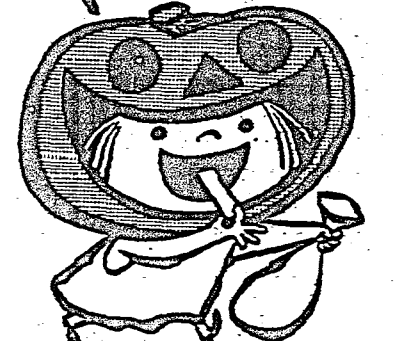

They are Richard P. Gengler and Laverne S. Steffen, both of Plainview and Warren S. Peterson, Lake City.

THE GRAB BAG

THE ANSWER, QUICK!

1. Where would you find the picture, "The Blue Boy" by Gainsborough?
 2. Who said, "Who's afraid of the big, bad wolf?"
 3. What famous composer had to sue his musical sweetheart's musical father in court for permission to marry the daughter?
 4. Where was the giant Goliath born?
 5. Can you name four famous motion picture stars who died in airplane crashes?
- HOW'D YOU MAKE OUT?
1. In the Huntington art gallery, San Marino, Calif.
 2. The Three Little Pigs.
 3. Robert Schumann.
 4. Geth.
 5. Will Rogers, Carole Lombard, Leslie Howard, Grace Moore.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

It had been my full intention to write no more about juvenile delinquency. I figured that there has been enough about it in the papers and that, perhaps, the problem would eventually take care of itself.

After all, I thought, maybe juvenile delinquency is one of those diseases that break out violently from time to time, then abate and finally disappear entirely as national or public problems.

However, it seems that my readers are very much concerned with this question, and I receive so much mail on it, that I want to give you some of their ideas, at least as far as they seem to be new.

One of my readers objects violently to the idea of withholding the names of juveniles on the ground of age.

"As long as juvenile delinquency is really parental delinquency," he writes, "why spare the child's parents? Nothing is as effective as publicity. If parents let a child of theirs go wrong, make their neglect known to the world. Let everyone in their community know what kind of parents they are. That is the way to do away with juvenile delinquency, not by coddling and protecting them."

This reader requests — and she underlines the request three times — that I make no mention of her name or residence. Thus she wants to take advantage of the very protection she wants to deny to the delinquents.

However, I would like to know how you folks feel about what she says. Should the names of juvenile delinquents be published, or should they be withheld?

Another idea comes from Mrs. Helen Hiza of Fairfield, Conn. She says "OK to publish name and letter."

"It seems to me," she writes, "that too many times when Pop has a chore to do, he wants his youngsters miles away, and of course a parent showing that attitude to his toddler will still feel that way when the boy is in his teens. Most of the mischief these children get into is caused by boredom."

And there are a couple of more sentences which are interesting: "If you notice, girls haven't been doing these brutal things, and that is because most mothers show more patience in having a child do the same things Mom is doing."

"It takes patience, but it's amazing how quickly even a three-year-old will try to cooperate with you just to be with you."

World production of paper is about 50 million metric tons a year, about four times what it was 40 years ago.
