Day With Senator Ferguson

By STEWART ALSOP

JACKSON, Mich. —Here in Michigan—as almost everywhere else—a principal complaint of Republicans is that the Republican party has now become the minority party. A majority of the voters, in other words, consider themselves Democrats rather than Republicans. A long day of campaigning with Sen. Homer Ferguson, Republican incumbent here, has suggested one reason why this is so. Sen. Ferguson, a likeable, elderly man with a great shock of white hair, is an incredibly energetic campaigner. His day started shortly after dawn, with Mrs. Ferguson sewing buttons on his campaigning suit over hasty breakfast. It ended, after many miles, many speeches, and innumerable hearty handshakes, here in the town of Jackson, not too long before midnight.

Two High Points

The two high points of the day were luncheon and dinner—two very different affairs. The luncheon was held in a small hotel in a middle sized town in heavily Republican Hillsdale County. The meal was hardly a culinary triumph. But the occasion was a great success all the same.

Sen. Ferguson's speech was perhaps a trifle long. Otherwise it was highly effective—a partisan speech of course, but partisan within the accepted rules of the American political game. What is more, everyone had a good time. The 60 or so people gathered to hear the senator seemed to know each other well, and they obviously enjoyed each other's company.

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—The Jordan Cabinet handed its resignation to King Hussein yesterday immediately after the opening of the new Parliament.

The move had been expected. Authoritative sources had reported that Premier Tewfik Abdul Huda plans to form a new cabinet, taking most of his ministers from the newly elected House of Deputies.

Saar Question Only Barrier To New Treaty

Germany Would Become One of Western Allies

PARIS (AP)—West Germany moves toward a front-line position in the Western defense line today—if only the Germans and French can settle their long squabble over the industrial Saar valley.

There was guarded optimism that the two countries would reach a last-minute agreement on the small territory sandwiched between them. Time was growing short, however, if accords on re-arming Germany and granting her near-sovereignty are to be signed on schedule tomorrow afternoon.

Neither French Premier Pierre Mendes-France nor West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer wanted to be blamed for failure of this week's series of conferences on the projected Western European Union (WEU). But Mendes-France has said he will not submit the accords to the French National Assembly without a Saar settlement.

Foreign ministers from nine Western nations got over their worst difficulties yesterday by agreeing to set up a WEU defense pact which would link a re-armed West Germany with Britain, France, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

The ministers also nearly finished a treaty designed to free West Germany from its 10-year status as an occupied country.

The parliament of each country involved must ratify the agreements before they become effective.

Informants said the foreign ministers of the United States, Canada and seven WEU nations settled yesterday on strict controls for the new German army until 1958. Without unanimous consent of the WEU, the Germans cannot have more than six motorized divisions, four tank divisions and two mechanized infantry divisions, plus special corps troops. The air force will be limited to 1,325 fighters and medium bombers. The naval force will be allowed coastal patrol boats. Manufacture of atomic weapons will be prohibited.

The ceiling on France's army was raised from 14 to 18 divisions.

Britain Ready To End Dock Strike Monday

LONDON (AP)—The government today warned Britain's 44,000 striking dock workers to return to work by Monday morning or troops will move into the waterfront.

The ultimatum was announced in the House of Commons by Labor Minister Sir Walter Monckton. He said the strikers would not prejudice their position in any way by getting back on the job.

There was a growing feeling that a truce might be reached this weekend. An "undefined but brighter atmosphere" was reported Thursday at a government board of inquiry into the situation. There were rumors the board might present some approach for settlement. A private session with employer and union heads was scheduled today.

A demand by dock workers for the right to reject overtime work touched off the strike.

3 Americans Share Nobel Prize

BOSTON (AP)—Three American doctors today shared the Nobel Prize for medicine in recognition for research which may make possible mass vaccination against polio.

Dr. John F. Enders, 57, of the Harvard Medical School was leader of the three-man research team which included Dr. Thomas H. Weller, 39, of the Harvard School of Public Health and Dr. Frederick C. Robbins, 38, now a professor at Western Reserve Medical School and chief of pediatrics and contagious diseases department of City Hospital, Cleveland, Ohio.

Austin Man Injured as Truck Hits Rail, Tips

NEVADA, Iowa (AP)—Leonard Rosenau, 28, of Austin, Minn., was seriously injured early today when the semi-trailer truck he was driving hit a guard rail and overturned on Highway 30 east of here. Rosenau, who was trapped in the cab of the truck, was taken to a Nevada hospital where doctors amputated his leg. The truck took about 75 feet of guard railing alongside a highway overpass. The overturned truck blocked traffic on the highway for more than two hours.

A United Air Lines plane, bound from Seattle to New York, burns on the apron at Midway Airport, Chicago, after catching fire during refueling operations. Nine passengers and a crew of three escaped the plane and four groundcrewmembers and a fireman were injured fighting the fire.

Woman Sought in La Crosse Stabbing Caught at Elroy

A 21-year-old La Crosse woman was being held in jail at Mauston, Wis., today after admittedly stabbing Mrs. Elvera Dinger, 21, La Crosse, in the latter's apartment Wednesday night.

La Crosse sources erroneously reported that the woman was from Winona. She has relatives here, but is a La Crosse resident. Her family and husband reside in La Crosse and she had never been employed in Winona, as was also reported.

Mrs. Corinne Michael Quain was arrested in a railroad station restaurant at Elroy, (Juneau County) Wis. Thursday night where Police Chief J. J. Weger said that although she admitted stabbing Mrs. Dinger, she would give no reason for the act.

Motivation was also a mystery to Mrs. Dinger, who is convalescing in a La Crosse hospital. She told police Thursday morning she was stabbed three times with a 5-inch butcher knife blade after being struck with a flat iron and tied to a chair. Mrs. Quain then took some of her friend's clothes, luggage, money and a purse and fled.

Mrs. Dinger managed to free herself and went to central police headquarters, a block from her La Crosse apartment, at 10:48 p.m. Thursday. She identified her assailant before being taken to the hospital where she was reported in "critical" condition today. She suffered stab wounds in the back and chest and has a punctured lung.

Meanwhile, law enforcement officers began the search that led to Mrs. Quain's apprehension at Elroy. Local investigation revealed that she had spent some time with relatives here, but that La Crosse and a Milwaukee hotel were her established residences.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Phil Arneson issued a warrant charging Mrs. Quain with assault to commit murder on the basis of Mrs. Dinger's statement. Mrs. Quain will be returned to La Crosse from Mauston pending action by La Crosse authorities.

Second Riot at Missouri Prison

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)—A second riot within a month broke out in Missouri penitentiary at noon today.

Deputy Warden William Steinhilber said between 500 and 600 convicts upset their plates in one dining room and walked out. They clustered in the lobby of B and C hall—center of most of the activity during the earlier riot just a month ago today.

The convicts, Steinhilber said, demanded "to see somebody about the food we're getting."

Italy May Permit Mussolini Rites

ROME (AP)—Newspaper dispatches here today indicated the Italian government may finally have decided to permit public burial of Benito Mussolini.

These reports said the former dictator's widow, Donna Rachele, and his youngest son, Romano Mussolini, have hurried to his birthplace to examine a tomb prepared for a final resting place.

Their trip suggested that the secrecy may soon be lifted from the 9-year-old mystery of what became of Mussolini's body after he and his mistress, Claretta Petacci, were shot by Partisans and hanged by their heels at a firing station outside Milan in 1945.

Wilson's Talk Draws 2,100 Letters, Wires

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson is still answering letters from people who agree or disagree with his recent controversy-stirring comment on unemployment, bird dogs and kennel dogs.

He has received more than 2,100 letters and telegrams since Oct. 11, when in a Detroit news conference he touched off an uproar which brought demands from politicians for his resignation and, a few days later, an apology from Wilson for "inept" remarks.

His friends say that of the approximately 2,100 letters and telegrams received so far, over 1,750 have been favorable, slightly over 300 unfavorable.

Wilson is replying, with somewhat different forms, but with a transcript of the pertinent part of his news conference sent to all. The transcript is a reproduction of one published by newspapers.

In replying to letter writers who express disapproval of his Detroit remarks, Wilson says:

"Certainly it is a sound religious and social objective to protect men and women to the greatest degree possible against the hazards of life, but this cannot be done by destroying individual responsibility or depriving millions of their freedom."

"The driving force in our free society is that industry and thrift have their reward and laziness and dissipation their penalty. At the same time we have developed a social consciousness for the unfortunate. Thus, the American people have worked out a better solution for their economic and social problems than have the people of any other nation anywhere else in the world."

Searchers Dwindle As Hope Fades for Missing N. D. Boy

POWERS LAKE, N. D. (AP)—A dwindling band of searchers today continued hunting for a 4-year-old boy who wandered away Sunday from his farm home in the vast, rough prairies of northwestern North Dakota.

As the hours dragged on, hope that La Vern Engst is still alive gradually faded. The child hadn't been seen since he left the farm of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Obert Engst. Apparently the boy tagged after his father when Engst went after the cows in a pasture.

Thirty National Guardsmen who had been helping volunteer searchers left Thursday night for their homes in Williston. Forty others, from Minot, may leave the search area today.

Airplane and helicopter pilots were convinced the boy must have halted somewhere. They felt certain they would have spotted the lad if he were still walking.

Also active in the big search were bloodhounds and riding horses. Special squads of volunteers using boats probed sloughs without finding a trace of the youngster.

The country around the Engst farm is sparsely settled.

President Eisenhower met with Clifford P. Case, GOP candidate for the Senate from New Jersey, in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel Thursday after the Chief Executive's whirlwind three-hour motorcade tour of New York City. The President gave Case his full blessing in the senatorial campaign. Case recently charged his opponents with "smear" tactics. (Up Telephoto)

74,879,146 Eligible To Vote on Nov. 2

WASHINGTON (AP)—Official and unofficial estimates today placed the nation's eligible voters for the Nov. 2 elections at the record mid-term figure of 74,879,146.

The same sources estimated the prospective total vote in the 48 states at 45,115,443, including the figure of 241,443 already officially recorded for House candidates in Maine Sept. 13. This also would be the highest for any nonpresidential year.

An Associated Press tabulation of the estimates—gathered from state officials, party chairmen and in a few instances from veteran political writers—showed a gain in qualified voters of 4,924,688 over the last mid-term election in 1950. The total that year, a record at the time, was 69,954,478.

The estimated vote represents an increase of 2,791,211 over the previous mid-term highest figure of 42,324,232 in 1950, the latter being the highest vote in each state whether for senator, governor or combined House vote. The 1950 official vote for representatives was 40,351,922, divided almost equally between Democrats and Republicans. The largest presidential vote was 61½ million in 1952.

The gain in estimated eligibles and estimated vote is more or less normal, for the country gained an estimated 3,200,000 in "potential" voters (persons 21 years of age and over) since 1950, according to the Census Bureau. The latter says there now are 100,225,000 potential voters compared with 97,025,000 four years ago and 93,135,000 in 1952.

Thirty-four states show gains over 1950 in the number of persons who have registered, paid poll taxes, or otherwise have met state voting requirements, for the congressional elections 10 days off.

Ten states, led by New York with a drop of 222,000, showed declines in eligible voter population. Four states—Iowa, Maine, Missouri, Wyoming—remained about the same.

Biggest increases were shown in these states: California, 640,000; Ohio, 598,000; New Jersey, 580,000; Florida, 430,000; Tennessee, 400,000; Wisconsin, 300,000; Michigan, 300,000; Pennsylvania, 290,000.

States showing declines along with New York were Connecticut, Delaware, Georgia, Indiana, Kansas, Louisiana, Minnesota, Mississippi and North Dakota.

Blooming Prairie Filling Station Operator Shot

BLOOMING PRAIRIE, Minn. (AP)—Ed Paulson, filling station operator, was reported in good condition at a Rochester hospital today after being shot in the back by one of two teen-agers whose car he serviced Thursday night.

Two youths about 16 came into the station about 9 p.m. and asked for directions to Minneapolis. Darrell Rasmussen, a friend of Paulson's who was at the station, gave them the information.

After noting that the pair drove south instead of north toward the Twin Cities, Rasmussen left for home. Shortly afterward, the youths returned.

They asked Paulson to fill up the tank of their car. When a dispute arose over payment, one of the youths drew a pistol, shot Paulson and the two sped away in their car.

Client 'Found' In Billboard Ad

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An agent who lost track of a client eight years ago saw her picture on a billboard and promptly brought suit for $120,000 damages.

Agent Walter Thornton's complaint, filed yesterday, said Patricia Van Iver, who later took the professional name of Dolores Donlon, signed a contract with him in 1945 in which he agreed to pay her $200 a month and was to receive in return 20 per cent of her earnings as an actress and model. Thornton said she disappeared in 1946 and not until he saw her picture on the billboard advertising a recent film did he locate her. She is now the wife of Victor Orsatti, Hollywood actors' agent.

Thornton asks $20,000 which he says he spent promoting his client and $100,000 "lost benefits" under the contract.

Chicago Bachelor New 'Grandmother'

SEATTLE (AP)—A bachelor became a grandmother last night. The new "grandmother" is Willard Rutzen, general manager of the Morrison Hotel in Chicago. He got the title when the National Federation of Grandmothers' Clubs of America voted him honorary membership, for services to the organization since it was founded in 1938.

Rutzen said he helped found the Chicago club.

The federation named Mrs. Frances Long of Atlanta, Ga., president.

Urges Election Of Another GOP Congress

Addresses Annual Alfred E. Smith Memorial Dinner

NEW YORK (AP)—President Eisenhower, winding up a two-day visit to New York, has sounded new appeals for enactment of his health reinsurance program and for election of another Republican Congress.

In his final address of his New York visit, the chief executive declared last night his program for expansion of the nation's voluntary health insurance plans, pigeonholed by the Republican-controlled Congress last July 13, is "the logical alternative to socialized medicine."

Speaking to 2,000 persons, who paid $100 each to charity at the annual Alfred E. Smith Memorial Foundation Dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, Eisenhower said the program will be resubmitted to a new Congress convening in January.

"We know that the American people will not long be denied access to adequate medical facilities," he said. "The program for voluntary health insurance is one further step in achieving this objective in the American way."

Under the program the government would underwrite up to 75 per cent of the losses suffered by private and nonprofit insurance firms as a result of voluntary expansion of their health and medical programs.

The President will pick up the political trail again tomorrow at an outdoor luncheon at his Gettysburg, Pa., farm to promote the candidacies of Pennsylvania Republicans seeking congressional seats and state office.

Yesterday Eisenhower spent much of the day plugging in behalf of a GOP victory at the polls.

Moving to help out in a hard-fought New Jersey contest, he authorized a statement that "has not changed one iota" in his earlier endorsements of former Rep. Clifford P. Case, Republican candidate for the U.S. Senate. This amounted to a rebuff to Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.), who has lined up against Case.

Case, also the target of intra-party opposition in New Jersey, has announced that if elected he would favor ousting McCarthy as chairman of the Government Operations Committee and its investigations subcommittee.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty recalled that Eisenhower endorsed Case on two previous occasions, and added:

"He (the President) has been for him for a long time, is for him now, and is looking forward to welcoming him to Washington as the junior senator from New Jersey."

At the Smith dinner last night, Eisenhower, speaking to the nation by television and radio, touched obliquely on a hot campaign issue, handing off the subversive problem, in a talk tabbed "nonpolitical" by the White House.

The President devoted much of his address to praise of the late Al Smith, who was a New York governor and 1928 Democratic presidential nominee.

Girl Killed as Car Sideswipes Truck

DONALDSON, Minn. (AP)—Vivian Lindblad, 19, Red Lake Falls, Minn., died in the Karlstad hospital Thursday night of injuries suffered shortly before when the car in which she was riding sideswiped a truck on Highway 211 near here.

Miss Lindblad's death was the 502nd of the year on Minnesota highways, compared with 514 during the same period last year.

20 Killed in Huk Attack on Patrol

MANILA (AP)—Sixteen Huk rebels and four soldiers were killed yesterday in a flareup of the Philippines' subsiding Communist-led rebellion.

The Philippine army reported a patrol was ambushed near Sampaloc, in Quezon province southeast of Manila. It was the bloodiest incident in the resistance fighting since mid-1953.

The sudden attack punctured earlier government claims that the rebellion had ended.

Jack Carson Starts New Career Tonight

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Jack Carson starts a new career in TV tonight and he'll be presenting a new Jack Carson.

No more the loutish blowhard who is the butt of all the jokes. He'll be playing more or less the real Carson—a big, lusty fellow with a clever, almost ironic sense of humor.

Every four weeks, Carson will occupy the Friday night spot which Red Buttons has three times a month. The king-sized comic will open with a shot of his San Fernando Valley ranch and then appear as himself. Then he'll ease into a sketch. Tomorrow night's will be a takeoff on "Lucy," offering the home life of a gangster. Costars: Claire Trevor, Ricardo Cortez.

"I'm going to try and do satire," Carson explained. "It's the thing I like to do best, and I don't think there's enough good satire on TV. At first we were going to do takeoffs on other shows. But then I realized I would be hurting some friend's feelings if I did. So now we're doing more general things."

"I think we have a funny approach. But of course, I can be wrong. If the show lays a bomb tomorrow night, I may change my way of thinking."

There was nothing satirical about the loud-mouth character Carson used to play in the Warners films with Dennis Morgan. Jack has been trying to cut away from those portrayals for the past few years and has just about managed it.

Driver Finds Curve He Can't Resist

FORT ERIE, Ont. (AP)—Herman Eldridge, 51, of Buffalo, N.Y., wrecked his car Oct. 11 when it went off the road at a curve near here. A woman passenger was injured.

Eldridge was fined Wednesday for careless driving. Yesterday he drove to Welland in a new car to collect bail money he had put up when arrested.

He approached the same curve and Damage was estimated at $500.

Baby Girl Born to Iron Lung Patient

BILLINGS, Mont. (AP)—A baby girl was born yesterday to a 25-year-old Powell, Wyo., woman confined in an iron lung with bulbar polio.

Attendants said Mrs. Donald Singer, also mother of three boys, was in critical condition. She was brought here late Tuesday and placed in an iron lung. Both her legs and one arm are paralyzed.

The birth, about a week premature, was by Caesarean section. The infant was placed in an incubator.

Good Samaritan Needs Friend Herself

DETROIT (AP)—Virginia Thompson testified yesterday she took the car keys away from her companion because he was much too drunk to drive.

"That," said Traffic Judge John P. Watts, "was very commendable, but you should have given the keys to a third person."

Then the judge ordered Miss Thompson to sit all day in his court for seven days—for driving while drunk herself. Police had testified she drove across a street corner sidewalk and hit a parked car.

Age Shouldn't End Employment, Claim

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Undersecretary of Labor Arthur Larson says the United States should forget the depression-born attitude that the older worker should be retired to make way for younger men and women.

Speaking here last night at the third annual Conference on Old Age Employment, sponsored by Temple University, Larson said the principal effort should be aimed at permitting workers to obtain and hold suitable employment without discrimination because of age as long as they want to work and are able to do the job.

Minnesotans Held In S.D. Holdup Try

SIOUX FALLS, S.D. (AP)—The U. S. marshal's office here announced that two young Minnesotans charged with attempted armed robbery of the Parade, S. D. post office and store were being held in the Brown County jail at Aberdeen.

Carol Magney, 26, Minneapolis, and Carl Parkhurst, 16, Redby, waived hearing before U.S. Commissioner Alphius Miles at Moberg. Bail was set at $10,000 for each man.

The two were captured near Isabel in a roadblock thrown up shortly after the robbery attempt.

Stock Exchange Panic Just 25 Years Ago

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Twenty-five years ago the "era of wonderful nonsense" ended in a sickening thud at the corner of Broad and Wall streets.

The bull market, which started hesitantly in 1923 and gathered the speed and force of Hurricane Hazel in 1929, crashed in an October panic on the stock exchange.

Will it happen again? Most unlikely, say the experts, because of far different conditions today.

The quarter-century anniversary of the collapse finds the majority today confident that the present bull market shows few signs of growing into something like the dizzy doings of 25 years ago.

Stock prices have been pointing higher most of the time since 1929 and have taken their steepest climb in the last 12 months, while general business activity was tending in the other direction.

But brokers point to many reasons why they think that stocks won't run away again—and eventually crack up—as they did in the '20s.

The shoeshine boys and song-and-dance men who rode the 1929 frenzy—mostly on paper-thin margins and borrowed money—aren't playing the big board today.

Professionals who formed pools to run up stock prices for unloading on other groups—like chain letters—aren't allowed to operate today.

Most of the big buying this year has been for investment, institutional or industrial pension accounts.

A five-million-share day on the New York Stock Exchange was considered normal in 1929 when everyone was buying—often without knowing just what he was buying. Brokers are content now with a two-million-share day and often get less.

Threatening Letters Sent Negro Chemist

CHICAGO (AP)—A noted Negro chemist says he has received a letter threatening the lives of his children unless his family moves from its home in a suburban white neighborhood by Nov. 1.

Dr. Percy L. Julian said yesterday he had turned the letter over to the FBI and added that he had no intention of moving. Julian, 35-year-old president of a research laboratory and a chemical company, owns a 15-room home in Oak Park. An attempt to burn the home was made in November 1930, before the Julians and their three children moved in, and a bomb was thrown at the home in June 1931.

ADA Unable to Cope With Reds, Nixon Asserts

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (AP)—Vice President Nixon says that the "anti-Eisenhower ADA group, by its silence, pleads guilty and is convicted of inability and unwillingness to deal effectively with the Communist conspiracy."

Nixon told some 1,600 persons in Rock Island last night of his recent "very serious" charges against former President Truman, 1952 Democratic presidential nominee Adlai E. Stevenson, Democratic National Chairman Stephen Mitchell "and other leaders of the ADA left-wing clique of the Democratic party."

"The members of this left-wing clique have questioned a single statement I made," he said. "Therefore, in the eyes of the American people, the anti-Eisenhower ADA group, by its silence, pleads guilty and is convicted of inability and unwillingness to deal effectively with the Communist conspiracy in the United States."

The ADA-Americans for Democratic Action described itself as a "liberal" group dedicated to ideals of the New Deal and "Fair Deal."

Referring to his charges, the vice president said: "I stated that the Truman administration deliberately refused to heed warnings of the FBI and in instance after instance promoted rather than fired individuals whose FBI reports indicated participation in Communist activities."

Cornel Wildes Named Girl's Guardian

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actress Jean Wallace and her husband, actor Cornel Wilde, have been appointed guardians of her 15-year-old sister, Karol Walasek.

The guardianship petition, granted yesterday, said the girl's mother was killed last summer in an auto accident and the whereabouts of her father, John T. Walasek, are unknown. Karol has been living with the Wildes since their marriage three years ago.

Elgin, Lewiston Posts Cited in Membership Drive

EYOTA, Minn. — Elgin and Lewiston American Legion posts were cited for outstanding membership efforts at an area rally of the 1st District American Legion here Thursday evening.

H. C. Littlefield, Austin, district commander, cited the two posts for having reached their goals. Elgin has its goal of 45, 15 over quota, and Lewiston has 120, 10 over its goal and 20 over quota.

Reports from the 14 posts in the three counties at this rally—Olmeda, Wabasha and Winona—revealed that the area has 2,225 1955 members at present, which is 63.4 per cent of quota.

Commander Littlefield said that the entire 9-county district now has 6,782 members, 65.2 per cent of the quota of 10,371.

The rally last night was a joint one. Mrs. Lud Gartner, Preston, district American Legion Auxiliary president, called the roll of the auxiliary units in the three counties assisted by Mrs. Duane Bierbaum, president of the Eyota unit. Of the 14 units, 5 are over quota—Elgin, Kellogg, Mazeppa, Millville and St. Charles—and the 9-county area has 49 per cent of its quota. In the entire district, Mrs. Gartner announced the units have reached 69 per cent of the 1955 quota of 5,808.

The Legion roll call showed that four posts other than Elgin and Lewiston are over quota: Eyota, 63 toward a quota of 55; Kellogg, its quota, 46; Plainville, 125 toward a quota of 125; and Rochester, 1,105 toward a quota of 1,100. Speaker at the rally, held at the American Legion building here, was Adolph Bremer of Winona, who discussed the veterans' hospitalization program. He said that some groups are urging Congress to change the law to prevent or reduce hospitalization of non-service connected cases.

He suggested that many Americans might not want to make this change if they were acquainted with the facts concerning the program.

On a given recent day, he said, about 35 per cent of those hospitalized were service connected. Of the others—the non-service connected—about 38 per cent either had tuberculosis or mental ailments and another 12 per cent were there with illnesses requiring more than 90 days hospitalization. The speaker declared, "Certainly the most hard-headed person opposing veterans' benefits, would be willing to concede that some of those remaining—the 15 per cent—are truly medical indigents and therefore entitled to government care. If they were not in government hospitals, they would be running up uncollectible doctor and hospital bills elsewhere."

Bremer quoted Dr. Charles Mayo of Rochester as saying that the "questionable" group in the veterans' hospital represents about 2 per cent of the total.

Last night's program was opened by Frank Branch, commander of the Eyota post. Lunch was served by the Eyota auxiliary unit.

NEW YORK (AP)—A researcher says there is a way to eliminate a reported cancer-producing substance in smoke from cigarette paper.

Woman Here Knows Worth Of Blood Donor Program

Mrs. Robert L. Sader, Minnetonka City, wanted to give blood during the visit of the Red Cross bloodmobile in Winona Nov. 1 to 4.

She was told by doctors, however, that donating blood at this time probably wouldn't be advisable. Mrs. Sader received seven transfusions of blood collected by the bloodmobile last February.

Her husband, an employee of the Standard Lumber Co., 350 W. 3rd St., said, "We know what the program means." He explained that when the transfusions became necessary, they simply asked for Red Cross blood and got it.

Ordinarily, that number of transfusions would be quite expensive, but through the Red Cross program, blood is collected and distributed free of charge. The program is one of the Red Cross benefits financed through the annual fund raising drive.

Contrary to public opinion, there is no surplus, stock pile or reserve of whole blood.

James Cole, chairman of the Red Cross blood program in Winona, pointed out that hospitals participating in the program (including the Winona General Hospital) depend on the day-to-day collections of mobile units for their supply of whole blood.

The bloodmobile will be in Winona four days—Nov. 1 to 4, with a goal of 300 pints of blood. Cole said more donors are needed to insure the goal. Appointments should be made as soon as possible by persons between the ages of 18 and 59 who are physically fit.

Scheduled stops of the bloodmobile are at the Athletic Club Nov. 1 and 2 from 2 to 8 p.m. and at the Masonic Temple Nov. 3 and 4 from noon to 6 p.m.

The Red Cross serves only as a collection and distribution agency. There is no charge for either function. The blood is given free of charge to anyone who needs it through the hospitals.

Although some participating hospitals ordinarily charge for blood required by patients, if a proper request is made for replacement through the Red Cross program, refunds will be made. Such replacements are also possible in out of state hospitals.

The requirements of Winona County residents total about 1,200 pints of blood a year and failure to achieve that goal could mean that the county would be dropped from the program.

Activities today began with a High Mass in the Cathedral of the Sacred Heart at 9 a.m., with the Rev. Harold J. Dittman, former principal at Cotter, as celebrant. The student body and alumni attended the religious observance.

At 2 p.m., the Cotter student's annual homecoming parade wound its way through downtown Winona and between halves of tonight's football game, Rambler grid captain Ralph Dorsch will crown the school's 1954 homecoming queen. The contest is set for 8 p.m. at Jefferson Field.

Co-chairmen for all homecoming events are Diane Gappa and Rosemary Frederickson. Other committee heads include: Publicity, James Bambenek; Rita Brom, James Karina; Carol Wolfe and Lee Zilli; parade, Leigh Hartert and Margaret Ramsden; decorating and dance, Mary Kay Buscovich and John Tomashek, and bonfire, Ronald Langowski and Norbert Gernes, assisted by members of the senior class.

Total injuries: One skinned nose.

Partridge Crashes Through Window

WEST PRAIRIE, Wis. (Special)—Sunday dinner flew through the dining room window and landed on the living room floor at the William Fredrick home here about 10 a.m. today.

The meal was a misdirected partridge which crashed through a storm window—put on yesterday—on the regular dining room window on the south side of the house, and after flying the length of the room, died against the north wall of the Fredrick living room.

Mrs. Fredrick, who is The Daily News correspondent from her community, is so busy picking up scattered glass she hasn't decided what to do with the bird. She and her husband were in the kitchen when the bird landed in his last home.

La Crescent Boys Admit Breakin, Theft at Garage

CALEDONIA, Minn. — Two teenage brothers from La Crescent are being held in the Houston County jail here for the $450-$500 theft at Luther's Super Service, La Crescent Wednesday night.

The boys are now on parole with the Minnesota Youth Conservation Commission and admitted the robbery to Sheriff Beryl Kerrigan Thursday after being picked up for speeding by Clarence Vetsch, La Crescent policeman. They will be held here until a hearing is convened by Judge of Probate Elmer Anderson.

Justice of the Peace Charles Gittens was preparing to hear a plea from the 17-year-old for speeding when he was apprehended on the burglary charge. His brother, 15, was released and picked up again at 3 p.m., after his brother confessed to Kerrigan. The loot was discovered in the family garage.

When picked up for speeding, the boys told Vetsch they were on their way to La Crosse to pay a taillight violation fine. The robbery was discovered by owner Archie Luther early Thursday.

Motion Denied In Buttermaker Court Matter

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—A motion of F. E. Yates, attorney for Nelson L. Peterson, former Osseo, Wis. buttermaker, who is charged with converting by his own use almost $70,000 worth of butter belonging to an Osseo co-operative creamery, was denied in Trempealeau County court here this morning.

Yates appealed to Judge A. L. Twesme to amend a restraining order placed on Peterson and his wife in May, to allow him to sell $1,000 worth of personal property to finance defense of two suits brought against him and give him money to live on.

Judge Twesme denied the motion this morning on the grounds that he did not have proper jurisdiction in the matter. Attorneys for the Osseo firm, Fugina, Kostner, Quinn and Ward, Arcadia, pointed out that this is a Circuit Court case and that the chairman of the board of civic judges, Judge Bruce Beilfuss, Neillsville, has not appointed a judge for the civil action.

Golf Course Site Will Be Studied By Architect

Robert B. Harris, Chicago, a professional golf course architect, will be hired to survey the site of the proposed golf course at the east end of Lake Winona.

The decision to engage Harris for the survey was made Thursday night during a meeting of the special committee assigned to study the possibilities of erecting a course in the lake area to replace the present Westfield site on the West End.

Charles A. Choate, chairman of the committee, has written to Harris informing him of the group's decision and asked the architect when it would be possible for him to come to Winona to make the survey. The City Council will be asked to pay for the survey.

Whitehall Court Hears Petition

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—A petition to correct a warranty deed was granted John Kulig, Independence, attorney, in county court by Judge A. L. Twesme this week. The correction was in a deed from Peter Kokott, since deceased, to Hubert and Marcella Kokott.

The petition of Mrs. Lucille B. Haralson of Fairfield County, Conn., for support for herself and her two children, six and one, from Robert B. Haralson, Blair, was laid over to allow the defendant to seek medical help from the veterans' administration, which he alleged he needed. Dist. Atty. John C. Quinn, Arcadia, represented the plaintiff.

Hans Harold Skardrud, Blair, represented by A. V. Peterson, was granted permission to change his legal name to Hans Harold Rude.

R. H. Andersen, Galesville attorney, representing himself, was granted a judgment of $320 against Dan Litterski, Trempealeau, for services which the attorney claimed the defendant owed him since August 1953.

In probate court before Judge Twesme Tuesday adjudication of no claims filed was entered in the estates of Richard C. Scharlau and Hilda M. Elde.

Sale of real estate was entered in the estate of Anna Erlanson. Judgment allowing final account and assigning estate, with no tax due, was entered in the estate of Ingvald Myrsten.

Chest Pledges Reported Over $50,000 Mark

$40,753 More Needed to Meet $91,432 Goal

With the final report meeting of the 1954 Community Chest campaign scheduled for Monday, the drive to date has achieved 56 per cent of the $91,432 goal, according to reports at a noon meeting held at the YMCA.

It is hoped that the total of cash contributions and pledges will increase considerably by that time. Campaign Chairman A. C. D. Teasdale noted that persons who have been inadvertently missed by solicitors may make arrangements for contributions through the Community Chest office in the Exchange Building at 4th and Center streets.

He noted that several persons who were not contacted have already done so.

Today's total amounted to $50,679, with the breakdown by sections as follows:

Canada Suggests Russia Resume Armament Talks

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—An uneasy lull settled over the U.N. disarmament debate today as delegates awaited results of secret Canadian-Russian negotiations to resume big power talks on the crucial issue.

Russia's Andrei Vishinsky and U.S. Delegate James Wadsworth both slated to speak in the Political Committee debate today—reportedly asked to be held over until Monday, when final word is expected on the East-West negotiations.

Informed sources said both Vishinsky and Wadsworth were unwilling to state further their government's positions until it was learned whether agreement could be reached on getting Russia to co-sponsor the resolution for big power talks.

Western diplomats said the main stumbling block was what arms proposals the disarmament subcommittee—the Big Four and Canada—would discuss.

The original Russian amendment to the Canadian plan called only for discussion of the new Soviet arms plan and the British-French proposal on which it is largely based.

U.S. officials quickly let it be known they would not agree to a proposed international control agency.

National Marketing Co-op Urged for Dairy Industry

EAU CLAIRE, Wis. (AP)—Formation of a national marketing cooperative for the dairy industry has been urged by a majority of Wisconsin agricultural economists.

Henry H. Bakken told delegates to the annual convention of the Wisconsin Association of Cooperatives Thursday that such a move would get the producer into the market where his products are priced.

Prices now are sometimes established on the basis of a relatively small percentage of the total sale, Bakken said, pointing to the Plymouth cheese exchange as an example.

He said regional cooperatives now are operating in various segments of the dairy industry and they might be combined into a national marketing medium.

Bakken participated in a panel discussion on marketing along with Harry Peterson, executive secretary of the Minnesota Association of Cooperatives, who discussed progress in the marketing of grain. Floyd Lucia of Eau Claire was moderator.

Winona Expects New Navigational Aids in 15 Days

ST. PAUL (AP)—A telephone signal by Gov. Anderson, sitting in his office at the State Capitol, today simultaneously marked the activation of new radio navigational aids at five northern Minnesota airports.

Leslie L. Schroeder, state aeronautics commissioner, has announced that similar units will be in operation in Austin and Winona within the next 15 days.

Airport officials in each of the five cities went on a "check-out" telephone hookup at 11:55 a.m. and at noon, when the governor gave his signal, the new beams were "on the air."

The installations are at Brainerd, St. Cloud, International Falls, Bemidji and Eveleth.

At noon Schroeder was in an airplane in the area between St. Cloud and Brainerd. At the governor's signal, he "tuned in" and his was the first voice heard.

In the governor's office at the time of the conference hookup was Russell Abbott, assistant aeronautics commissioner.

The aids provide a constant radio beam signal which aircraft may use to locate airports in bad weather. They provide for radio voice communication between the planes and ground forces.

Transient, Once In Winona, Cleared In Hartley Case

Another lead into the disappearance of a La Crosse baby sister a year ago faded Thursday when authorities at Watertown, S. D., announced they were unable to establish any connection between a 31-year-old transient and the Evelyn Hartley case.

The transient was questioned by La Crosse authorities who went to Watertown Thursday. He was reportedly employed in Winona early in 1953.

Miss Hartley disappeared Oct. 24, 1953, from a La Crosse residence where she was baby-sitting. Mention of La Crosse to the transient brought only strong denials that he had ever been in that city. He had been arrested Monday on a minor larceny charge, but came under suspicion when several articles, including a clipping on the disappearance of a 14-year-old Richfield girl, were found in his possession.

Girls Recovering From Injuries

PRESTON, Minn. (Special)—Emily and Dorothy Ristau are recovering from injuries at Lutheran Hospital, La Crosse today. They were involved in an auto accident near here early Thursday. Both are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ristau, rural Preston.

Hospital authorities said today that Emily, 15, has a fractured nose and contusions. Her condition is fair. Dorothy, 21, has a possible fracture of a vertebrae in the lower back. Her condition is listed as satisfactory. They were transferred to La Crosse Thursday afternoon from the Preston hospital.

The girls were injured when their car went off the Greenleaf road about 8:30 a.m. yesterday.

Proxmire Making Race on Dead Issues, Claim

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Attorney General Vernon Thompson says Democratic candidate for governor "is trying to ride into the governor's office behind a team of dying horses, neither of which is going to live long enough to get him there."

Thompson, in a speech at White-water, said William Proxmire, the Democratic candidate, is attempting to win support "by raising false fears about milk prices and unemployment. This looked like a lively team of issues to him last spring when the transition from war to peace was in process, but with milk prices going up and unemployment steadily declining, the team isn't going to live long enough to finish the race."

A Democrat, Oscar Jonas, candidate for state treasurer, told his Kenosha audience that Sen. McCarthy, like Rep. Stringfellow of Utah, should resign from office because "both misrepresented their war records."

"Rep. Stringfellow resigned because he had misrepresented his war record during World War II by falsely claiming to have been a 'cloak and dagger agent' behind enemy lines. Sen. McCarthy's misrepresentation of war record was even more serious," Jonas said.

Rep. Gardner Withrow (R-La. Crosse) Thursday night blamed the dairy surplus problem on the Democrats who he said repealed federal taxes on oleomargarine.

Withrow, seeking re-election in the 3rd District, said at Ferryville that the repeal led to the influx of oleo throughout the United States.

Case of Reasonable Doubt Remembered

By EARL WILSON
NEW YORK—The Dr. Sheppard murder trial in Cleveland has even Hollywood thinking about courtrooms now—and brings up a little story I hope you'll like.

The Cleveland dispatches mention the possibility that Dr. Sheppard's counsel will be able to prove "reasonable doubt" as to his guilt.

"There was another Ohio murder trial," an ex-judge from Cincinnati was telling us the other night.

"The jury was told to acquit the defendant, whom we'll call John Smith, if it had 'reasonable doubt.'"

"At this, the defense counsel hopped up and shouted, 'I'll prove there is reasonable doubt!'

"He said, 'In 15 seconds that door'll open—and the supposedly murdered man will walk into this room!'

One of our little group said, "Hey, wait! The man couldn't have been indicted for murder if they hadn't found the body."

The old judge telling the tale smiled.

"They'd found an arm, leg or something... enough to get the indictment. And the whole jury began to count.

"Every juror's eyes were glued on the door as he counted to 10... then 11... 12... 13... 14... 15!

"And the door did not open! No body walked in!

"But the defense counsel wasn't disappointed. He said to the jury, 'Every one of you looked at the door. You had reasonable doubt! I ask acquittal.'"

"The suspense in the courtroom was almost unbearable, but the jury quickly brought in a verdict: Guilty!"

"But how?" the jury was asked.

"Didn't the jury and everybody in the courtroom look at that door?"

"No, not everybody in the courtroom," replied the jury foreman.

"The defendant, John Smith, didn't look. So he knew the man was dead. He knew because he'd killed him."

We who'd heard the tale congratulated the story-teller.

"They say it really happened," he said. "And like all good stories, it has a moral."

"The moral of this one," he told luncheon would really help re-elect Sen. Ferguson. A charming lady confessed in a stage whisper that she had once thought of voting against Sen. Ferguson, to punish him for not taking a strong enough stand against Sen. McCarthy. But it seems unlikely that there was another person in the room to whom it had occurred to vote anything but the straight Republican ticket.

Open to Anyone

Ostensibly, to be sure, the affair was open to anyone with $1.29 to spend for a meal and a desire to hear what Michigan's senior senator had to say for himself. But in fact, the atmosphere was less that of a political meeting than of an agreeable but rather exclusive social gathering.

Everybody felt very much at home. But one could not escape the feeling that, if someone in working clothes or with a foreign accent had shown up, he would have felt as uncomfortable as a Daughter of the American Revolution caught invading a gathering of the Colonial Dames. At any rate, it was quite obvious at this luncheon that Sen. Ferguson was persuading the already persuaded.

The atmosphere of the evening meal was in sharp contrast. This was a dinner meeting of a Polish-American group here in Jackson.

The meal—especially a mysterious meat mixture wrapped in cabbage—was a brilliant success. But the meeting was not.

Sen. Ferguson made a speech in which he used the word "freedom" 23 times—it is a word he uses often, and which really does seem to mean a lot to him. He was politely applauded by his solemn-faced, shirt-sleeved audience. But despite the mouth-watering meal, almost half the seats in the room were empty.

The chairman explained plaintively that the overcast elements had spread the false rumor that the meeting would not be held until the following evening. A more likely explanation was suggested by a picture occupying a place of honor on the wall, along with Padewski and Pulaski. This was a grinning photograph of G. Mennen Williams, Michigan's young Democratic governor.

No one can argue that Republicans have been unwelcome in the voting power of people like Jackson's Polish-Americans. No one can argue, either, that the Republicans have lacked energy in going after such votes. Indeed, in state after state, the energy of Republican campaigners is so fierce as to seem almost frightening.

And it is just because the Republicans have become a minority party that this enormous effort is required. By all the rules, Sen. Ferguson, an able senator with the support of almost every newspaper in the state, ought to be a shoo-in against his virtually unknown Democratic opponent. But the odds are considered too close for comfort, and Ferguson will draw a long sigh of relief if he wins. Even in the best of circumstances, in short, it is no easy thing to run as the candidate of a minority party.

There are all sorts of reasons, of course, why more people consider themselves Democrats than Republicans. But surely one reason is that the Republican party somehow fails to make people like Jackson's Polish-Americans feel really at home. And this is true because of a tendency among some Republicans to regard their party as a kind of club, to which only "real Republicans"—respected persons with an unblemished Republican voting record—are welcome.

Harriman Calls Off Debate Due To 'Gutter Fight'

By RICHARD P. HUNT
ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Backers of Averell Harriman, campaigning upstate today, say what they termed GOP "gutter fighting" prompted the Democratic-Liberal candidate for governor to withdraw from a planned debate with his Republican rival.

Harriman, making no new direct reply to GOP efforts to link him with a 25-year-old pier lease scandal, Thursday called off his part in an hour-long debate scheduled for a statewide television hookup Oct. 27.

The Democrats said Sen. Irving M. Ives, the Republican candidate for governor, had agreed tentatively to discuss general campaign issues in a program sponsored by the Citizens Union of New York City.

In Washington, Sen. William Langer (R-ND) said Thursday night that in 1935 he personally investigated the pier deal charges and "I found there was nothing to it as far as Harriman was concerned." Langer added that "I did find that such an incident had occurred."

Although Harriman had no comment on the debate issue, John P. McGrath, Democratic state campaign manager, said he was republishing Harriman's views when he told a news conference in New York City.

"Such a debate could serve no constructive purpose because Ives' campaign has deteriorated into a gutter fight rather than a civilized exchange of views."

Langer said in Washington that in 1931—when the Senate was about to vote on the nomination of Harriman as mutual security administrator—he "received a written complaint" about the pier incident of the 1920s which now has been raised by Ives.

Langer said he sought and obtained a delay in consideration of the nomination, and he added: "I looked into the matter. I found there was nothing to it as far as Harriman was concerned."

Teacher Shortage Growing Worse, MEA Speaker Says

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The teacher shortage, already serious over the nation, is due to become worse, the Minnesota Education Assn. was told Thursday at opening sessions of its annual meeting here.

Marjorie Walker, Austin, Texas, president of the National Education Assn., said that, as schools opened this fall, they lacked 124,000 needed instructors. She said the annual need for new teachers is 200,000 while only 85,000 were graduated from colleges last year.

Carl J. Megel, Chicago, president of the AFL American Federation of Teachers, addressed a Minnesota Federation of Teachers parley, held in connection with the MEA session. He said this state has more than 23,000 qualified teachers who are not teaching "because of low, unattractive salaries and other hazards of the profession."

Megel pointed out that Minnesota last year was forced to employ 400 teachers who were only temporarily certified. But he said the qualified instructors could be lured back if salaries and teaching conditions were bettered.

Another speaker at the main meeting, Carlos Rolulo, Philippine representative to the United States, told the some 15,000 delegates that democracy was being imperiled in the Orient. He advised his nation to make the same friendly approach to other Asiatic countries as it had in the case of the Philippines.

2 School Buildings Burn in Alabama

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Two empty buildings on the campus of Alabama State College for Negroes were badly damaged by fire last night after disgruntled students had boycotted classrooms during an earlier demonstration.

Firemen said cause of the blaze was not determined, but a college official called it "the first sign of trouble" since the four-hour classroom walkout and brief outburst of violence yesterday morning.

The fire damaged an old store and small house attached to it in which lumber was stored. The property had been bought by the state for a planned development at the state-owned Negro institution.

The outburst during the morning followed demands by students for better meals and the ouster of # lunchroom supervisor C. A. Johnson.

They also sought after-hour use of a swimming pool now restricted to classroom instruction; publication of a student yearbook; a student lounge and a television set.

The 600 male and female demonstrators returned to class only after President H. Council Trenholm finally got them into the auditorium and appealed for a "rational, orderly" discussion of complaints.

Vote As You Please But Vote American

We liked the piece we read the other day in the publication "Ore Iron and Men," a magazine for employees of the Oliver Iron Mining Company and their families, published at Duluth.

The message from R. T. Elstad, president, had to do with the importance of voting in the November general election and the future of America. Said Mr. Elstad:

Every one of you knows that I would no more think of telling you whom to vote for than I would think of telling you what your religion should be. The free choice of both is the birthright of every American, and when you go to the polls in November, as I expect each of you of voting age will do, I trust you will exercise that right intelligently and even reverently. You should vote with the full realization that your country's future, as well as your own and that of your family, depends upon your thoughtful choice of the men who shall govern you.

In this coming election it is necessary, I believe, to place our country above self. At this time of great world unrest the people of the non-Communist world are looking to America for guidance and leadership so that more than ever America's economic strength must be maintained. By keeping a strong American economy, we may provide that leadership and prevent another world war. If we do not, then we invite Communist aggression.

If we will turn off our radio and television and do some thinking of our own, the choice in the balloting booth will be truly that of the individual. Too many elections are won by the glib and fast talking politician, who carelessly makes statements and promises to voters. It would be well that more attention be given to the candidate who quietly performs the duties of his office efficiently, fairly and in the best interests of all. Let us, therefore, as individuals, view the facts in the light of reason, and having formed our own judgment as to what is best, vote for the candidate of our choice.

We hear much of the duty to vote. That duty is the responsibility which we owe our country and it is upon the exercise of the right to vote that our American democracy rests. Therefore, as good Oliver employees and loyal Americans, I am sure that you and your families will go to the polls and vote on November second.

Let us vote as we please, but vote American.

New Tips on First Aid Approved by Doctors

New instructions on how to control bleeding have been released today by the Minnesota State Medical Association. They are designed especially for people who have not kept up with their first aid training but should be needed by everybody who goes out on the highways these days, say the doctors.

The first is about tourniquets and the advice of the doctors is DON'T — that is, unless you have tried simple pressure first and have failed to stop the bleeding.

In nearly every case, pressure with a cloth will stop the bleeding, the doctors say. The cloth should be clean if possible, but no time should be lost trying to locate a sterile bandage.

If there are lacerated wounds, however, and a steady profuse bleeding that will not be controlled by pressure, then a tourniquet will have to be applied. The new methods for applying tourniquets are:

1. Use only for intractable bleeding of the extremities, that is the arms or legs. Apply just above the wound, leaving some unbroken skin between the wound and the tourniquet.
2. Make the tourniquet tight enough to prevent flow of blood either way by artery or veins. Partial stoppage results in swelling and damage to tissues.
3. Be sure to use bands or folds of material that will not cut the skin.
4. Do not release tourniquet once it is applied. Leave that to the physician.
5. Elevate the injured part a little above the body and do not over-warm or over-occlude it. Body parts that are deprived of normal blood supply survive better if temperature of the part is lower than normal.

Lattimore Ruling by Youngdahl Studied

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

NEW YORK — The Lattimore case will be with us for some time, now that it is to come to trial. It is only fair to treat this as any other matter actually before the courts, without prejudice for or against the defendant or for or against the government. Controversy should end at the threshold of the courtroom where only a jury and judge can render a decision.

The objection of the Department of Justice to Judge Luther W. Youngdahl as the sitting judge in the Lattimore case arises from his decision of May 2, 1953, on a motion to throw out the indictment of that expert on Far Eastern affairs. The unusual step taken by Leo A. Rover, the U. S. attorney in the case, supported by Herbert Brownell Jr., attorney general, can hardly be understood unless one has read the testimony before the Tydings Committee, the testimony before the McCarran Committee investigating the Institute of Pacific Relations, and the decision rendered by Judge Youngdahl which not only threw out four out of seven counts of the indictment but contained unusual language amounting to obiter dicta.

JUDGE YOUNGDAHL said in his decision: "Defendant in the first count is charged with lying in denying that he was a sympathizer or promoter of Communist interests. It seems to the court that this charge is so nebulous and indefinite that a jury would have to indulge in speculation in order to arrive at a verdict. Sympathies and beliefs and what they mean to different individuals involve concepts that are highly nebulous and speculative at best."

This language is difficult to understand. The question at issue was, did Owen Lattimore lie or did he tell the truth? If he told the truth, a jury could not convict him; if he lied, a jury might convict him. It is up to the government to prove that he lied; it is up to Lattimore to establish that the government is wrong, that he did, in fact, not lie.

Therefore, what is here said by Judge Youngdahl gives the impression that he regards the question of lying too abstruse, too difficult for an American jury to understand. But our system of jurisprudence is based on the assumption that a man is tried by his peers who determine the issues, the judge only making sure that there is no violation of the law.

WHY THEN IS A CHARGE "nebulous" and "indefinite" when it specifically and clearly states that what is before the court is whether a lie was or was not spoken. In millions of cases, particularly those pertaining to marital relations, "sympathies and beliefs" are always before a jury. Were there no "sympathies and beliefs," how could there be a marriage except by coercion or bargain?

The judge went further in this argument: "I presume a person could sympathize with a belief and yet still not believe. To probe the mind in a situation like this would give rise to nothing more than sheer speculation on the part of the prober. It is fundamental that a jury should not be asked to determine an issue which can be decided only on conjecture."

But the issue is not one of sympathy or belief. It is whether the truth or a falsehood was told under oath. Maybe to the layman all this is too simple, but it appears that the Department of Justice is also surprised at the nature of Judge Youngdahl's opinion.

In our system no man is guilty until proved so in a court of law under the safeguards of the rules of evidence. As it stands at the moment, Owen Lattimore is guilty of nothing under the law. He may never be. But it is not to his advantage that he should be tried by a judge who could say in 1953:

"In our proper concern for the internal and external threat of Communism and in pursuing our efforts to strike down this threat, we should endeavor to be consistent and not attempt to require a conformity in thought and beliefs that has no relevance to a present danger to our security."

This obiter dicta had nothing to do with the indictment in the Lattimore case. It had nothing to do with the facts of American life after the theft of the atom bomb and the failure in Korea.

McKay Appears to Earn Title of 'Generous Doug'

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Douglas McKay, the likable secretary of the interior, has taken exception to my calling him generous with the public domain apropos of his turning over 454 acres of the Rogue River National Forest to a mining company and his consideration of plans to release Alaskan oil lands, now reserved for the Navy and the Interior Departments, to private oil exploitation.

The subjects are important ones and deserve careful consideration. Before considering them, however, I should like to report on another act of generosity which Sec. McKay has in the making. On the desk of his assistant secretary of the interior, Orme Lewis, is an order which would open up the wildlife refuges of the United States to private oil drilling.

The order has not yet been officially promulgated and may be sidetracked following publication of this column. However, it has been approved by Sec. McKay's top advisers, and there is every indication that it is all ready to sign.

Behind the order is the fact that for some years private oil companies have been maneuvering to drill inside certain wildlife refuges, particularly the Okefenokee, Ga., refuge. These game preserves were set aside by Congress for the specific purpose of preserving the natural wildlife of the nation, and the Okefenokee refuge is a big swampland abounding in bear, deer and birds.

Chapman Says No

Some years ago, H. L. Hunt, the Texas oilman who has been such an ardent supporter of Sen. McCarthy, approached Sec. Oscar Chapman, then Secretary of the Interior, to obtain leases to drill on Okefenokee. Chapman refused.

"Congress set that land aside as a wildlife refuge not to be cluttered up with oil derricks," he told Hunt's representative.

Again, ex-Sen. Burton Wheeler of Montana approached Chapman with a proposal to drill for oil on the Medicine Lake refuge in Montana. Again Chapman refused.

However, Wheeler, who is a good friend of Harry Truman, went over his head to the President, and later Truman took it up with his Secretary of the Interior. When Chapman explained the situation, Truman backed him up 100 per cent.

Now, however, the order which the oil companies have so long demanded, opening up our wildlife refuges to oil drilling, is all prepared for signature on assistant secretary Lewis's desk.

This is one reason why I believe the present secretary of the interior should not object to being called "generous" Doug McKay.

Silco of Douglas Fir

Here are some other reasons. When I reported that Doug had sliced 454 acres of beautiful Douglas fir off the Rogue River National Forest and turned it over to the Al Sarena Mining Co. for only $5 an acre when it should have brought a total of $170,000 — if sold at all, his able assistant, Larry Sayre, replied to inquiries that this had happened some time ago, and he released a statement attempting to justify the sale.

Alaskan Oil Lands But Larry carefully glossed over the fact that previous Democratic secretaries of the interior had refused to sell this valuable Douglas tract; also that Doug's GOP cabinet colleague, Ezra Benson, was opposed to the sale; and that all sorts of backstage wire-pulling was resorted to through Oregon congressman Ellsworth, a friend of McKay's, to get the sale okayed.

And it seemed strange indeed that Cong. Ellsworth in Oregon should be using his influence to help out a company in distant Alabama. In fact, it sounded like the old days of Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan.

Now regarding McKay's plans for Alaskan oil lands, the genial, generous secretary of the interior seemed to be under the impression that I reported he had already turned these oil lands over to private oil exploitation. I reported no such thing. I reported that he was considering releasing them, which he admitted; and that thanks to protests from Congress he was at least not going to open up the Navy's oil reserves in Alaska.

But I also reported that he was still seriously considering opening up the other half of Alaska's oil lands, namely the Interior Department's 25,000,000-acre oil reserve, called "public land order No. 82," to private drilling.

This is pretty much what Sec. McKay admitted in the very same breath while calling me names.

I also reported that career officials in both the Interior and Navy Departments were vigorously opposed to this, and that the files of the Interior Department had been stripped of telltale documents regarding the controversy.

I reported, for instance, that the letter of Sen. Stansfield (R-Mass.) opposing opening up of the Navy's oil reserve had been taken out of the Interior Department's files before the files were opened to newsmen. However, I quoted the Stansfield letter.

Sec. McKay didn't admit all of the above in his press statement blasting me. But he did admit the receipt of the Stansfield letter.

Oil Companies Favored It's not entirely the fault of Doug McKay, but it so happens that the oil companies seem to be the parties getting just about all they want out of the Eisenhower administration. The New York Journal of Commerce, not exactly a radical newspaper, noted the other day that the oil industry was the only industry which scored a perfect batting average in Congress. The oil companies introduced three bills at the last session and got all three passed.

They increased their right to drill on government-owned lands. They got the right to develop both minerals and oil and gas simultaneously on government land. And they improved their leasing regulations. On top of this, of course, they got tideland oil.

On top of all this and without an act of Congress, they may get an order from generous Doug McKay to drill on wildlife refuges, plus the opening up of 25,000,000 acres of Interior Department lands in Alaska to private exploitation.

Advice on Health

Hormone Lack Can Cause Nosebleed

By M. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

People who watch boxing matches on television are well aware that the most common cause for nosebleed is a blow on the nose. But, of course, there are other causes.

When the nosebleed results from an injury, such as picking the nose, it usually can be stopped by holding the two sides of the nose together, thus putting pressure on the bleeding vessels. If this does not work, the nose may have to be packed by a physician. Or, if the bleeding comes rapidly from a blood vessel, this may sometimes have to be cauterized to clear the trouble permanently.

There is one kind of nosebleed in women, however, which requires a different treatment.

One of the secretions in the body, known as estrogen, is formed by the ovaries in women. Lack of estrogen, it is believed, results in the formation of a substance which causes the blood vessels to dilate, damaging them so that bleeding occurs. Nosebleed comes from this cause, the bleeding is excessive, the pulse rate becomes rapid and the patient is agitated and fearful.

It is not recommended, of course, that estrogen be used for all nosebleeds. But when there is serious nasal bleeding, the use of this substance is given consideration, since it will cause no trouble and, if some other cause for the bleeding is discovered, the use of the estrogen will do no harm.

In the cases due to this cause, the giving of estrogen usually stops the bleeding within 20 to 30 minutes, the pulse rate slows down and the swollen blood vessels in the nose return to normal size. Of course, if the bleeding is slight, the simple measures explained above will, as a rule, suffice as treatment.

If bleeding continues for ten or fifteen minutes or longer, a physician should be consulted at once.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

M.P.: What is considered low blood pressure for a man 53 years of age? My blood pressure is 120.

Answer: Blood pressure of 120 is normal in a person of your age. There is no need for you to be worried about this matter.

Ike Optimistic If GOP Fights

By ED CREAUGH

(For James Marlow)

WASHINGTON (AP)—Advice to the Democrats: Keep plugging. Advice to the Republicans: Quit groaning. These words of counsel have gone out in the closing days of the congressional election campaign from two men pretty high up in their parties — President Eisenhower for the GOP and National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell for the Democrats.

If the Eisenhower and Mitchell statements told the whole story, there would be no doubt the Republicans are in trouble and the Democrats riding high, with the election only 11 days away.

The President spoke at a GOP rally in New York yesterday—a day that saw him wade much further into the thick of the campaign than he had done before. He even made a face for the pollsters and the photographers, pulling down the corners of his mouth in a grimace of dejection.

And he declared the Republicans are never going to win if their leaders "are going around pulling their faces this way."

What the GOP needs, said Eisenhower, is a "fighting heart"—the kind Jack Dempsey had when, after being belted out of the ring by Louis Firpo in 1923, he came back and knocked Firpo halfway home to his native Argentina in the second round.

The President wasn't saying the Republicans are on the ropes, much less out of the ring entirely.

But his picture of a glum GOP in need of more backbone was in sharp contrast to the picture Steve Mitchell was painting of the Democrats in Washington.

Mitchell said victory is "within our grasp." But the Democrats can still boot the election, he said, by relaxing too soon.

"I am deeply disturbed," he went on, "by reports of voter apathy and Democratic complacency. The two together could spell victory for the Republicans."

This is something new for the Democrats. They haven't been troubled by overconfidence since the first two Franklin D. Roosevelt terms. The Republicans seemed to have established a monopoly in overconfidence in 1948—to their bitter regret, since the Democrats beat them.

It wasn't just happenstance, by the way, that Eisenhower picked New York as the place to start campaigning in earnest. That's a state both parties are determined to capture—not only for its stake in this election, but because of 1958 presidential politics too.

On the face of it, the Democrats have more to gain—a governorship. They'd like to put their candidate, Averell Harriman, in the seat long held by the GOP's Thomas E. Dewey. If they do, Harriman will be a big man—and quite possibly a presidential contender—in the next Democratic National Convention.

On the other hand the GOP candidate for governor, Sen. Irving M. Ives, can keep his Senate seat if he loses. If he wins he can, and undoubtedly would, name another Eisenhower Republican to succeed him in the Senate.

'Z-z-z-z-z' Out But Not 'Phffff'

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Naming a Hollywood movie is sometimes more of an intellectual strain than producing it.

Apptness is less desirable than box office appeal, which explains why you never have seen a picture called "Z-z-z-z-z" or "Son of 'Z-z-z-z-z.'" You don't want a title that tells too much about the film.

Columbia Pictures has come up with the year's oddest title in "Phfff" starring Judy Holliday and Jack Carson. It's a matrimonial farce in which a young couple discover that the only thing worse than being married to each other is to be divorced from each other.

Picking the title was easy. Everybody—well, everybody in Broadway, anyway—knows that "phfff" was coined by Walter Winchell to describe a marital bustup.

Winchell's Word As he recalls it himself, Walter originated the expression while talking with the late Texas Guinan, the night club queen who made "Hello, Sucker" famous. She was giving Winchell a tip that Mr. and Mrs. So-and-So had divorced. But a waiter opened a bottle of champagne just as she reached the word "divorced," and the popping cork drowned out the sound.

Winchell scribbled down "phfff"—and the English language was enriched.

Assured of a good eye-catching title, the executives at Columbia Pictures then had to face a bigger problem: How to pronounce it.

Executive producer Jerry Wald polled several hundred English professors to get their ideas. This really brought on chaos. The profs said that "phfff" should be pronounced so as to sound like (A) an electric light bulb as it burns out, (B) a fizzling firecracker, and (C) a one-lung outboard motor.

Eva Le Gallienne Brings Wilde's Stories to Life

By MAY MURRAY
Woman's Activities Editor

Words became pictures and persons and scenes came to life in the beautifully modulated voice of Miss Eva Le Gallienne when she "read" the dramatically poignant "The Birthday of the Infanta" and the hauntingly lovely "The Happy Prince" by Oscar Wilde at the College of Saint Teresa Thursday evening.

Miss Le Gallienne brought greetings from Margaret Webster with whom she had recently talked, to the college where Margaret Webster and her Players appeared a number of times.

She wryly commented on the state of the legitimate theater, the difficulty in finding a worthwhile play and then of securing the money with which to produce it, the more sensational plays attracting financing more readily than the good plays. "And then the play may open Wednesday and close Saturday or even the day after it opens," she added.

The warmth reaching the actor from his audience—the personal contact has led, she explained, many actors and actresses to appear "in person" in programs of "readings," and then she subtly laughed at the latter term for though Laughton and Williams in their appearances, bring in piles of books, they, like Miss Le Gallienne do not read from the books but give the plays, the excerpts, the poetry from memory.

Though brilliant, pointed wit is found in his plays, Wilde's stories, Miss Le Gallienne asserted, show him as a weaver of fantasy, a master craftsman in the use of English, and possessed of a sympathetic and understanding heart.

The bright sunny day of the Infanta's birthday and her carefree charm not as yet darkened by court intrigue and mature understanding of sorrow, is contrasted by Wilde with the sadness and cruelty found in Philip's court. The mood changes from moment to moment climaxing with the most shocking of contrasts, the discovery by the small dwarf that the Infanta has been mocking him and that he is a misshapen monster to the sight.

Miss Le Gallienne with perfect timing and gesture gave full impetus to Wilde's words and thoughts painting the picture of the court, the anniversary day, the Infanta and the dwarf until the audience lives the bygone day coming back to today with somewhat of a shock at the close of the story.

Wilde's allegorical, satirical criticism of the Spanish court of the period is moderated by his pity for those who are the victims of the cruelty, into a deeper emotion than the superficial mockery found in his plays.

The fantasy of "The Happy Prince" in which a golden statue of gold, is assisted by a tiny sparrow, in his efforts to aid his people was Miss Le Gallienne's second offering, the beauty of mood, word and picture again building up through the "reader's" insight and skilled dramatic technique.

Dairymen Urged To Emphasize Public Relations

65 Attend Meeting Of Fieldmen's Group at Ettrick

ETTRICK, Wis. (Special)—Sixty-six members of the Western Wisconsin Dairy Quality Fieldmen's Association, farmers, county agents, agriculture instructors and plant operators were present Wednesday at a dinner meeting held at Ettrick Lutheran Church.

Public relations, Quinn said, means success in getting along with others. The dairy industry, he said, realizes it must make people understand that it has a product the public can't get along without. The community must be made to realize that the creamery is its most important industry.

The plant operator, he said, must provide an adequate living wage for his employees, as well as a place where the farmer likes to deliver his product. He believes that employer and employee alike must enter into the life of the community, and put into action a program of boosting the community in which it does its business. Each and everyone connected with the creamery, Quinn concluded, must satisfy the public by producing only the best quality products.

Inspector Speaks
John J. Taylor, Frenchville, state dairy inspector, told of the history of the fieldmen's organization. He introduced the first officers of the Western Wisconsin Association: Gilbert Von Haden of Blair, Lyle Stair of Osseo, and Lloyd Kruse of Centerville. He discussed what might be done by a legislative committee in Madison, concerning licensing the fieldmen in their profession.

Lanesboro FFA Begins Project

LANESBORO, Minn. (Special)—The Lanesboro High School FFA Chapter began lamb feeding project Oct. 14 with 105 lambs. Allan Holmen, Jimmy Johnson, David Peterson, Allan Vagen and Robert Engestrom each have 15 feeders and Dennis Simpson received 30 feeder lambs to feed out for approximately three months.

The boys will keep accurate labor, feed and other expense records to be compared after the sale in January. At this time recognition will be given in premium prices.

These lambs will represent to the boys lamb feeding on a larger scale in every way except numbers. The main objective is to develop an understanding of lamb feeding.

From experiences gained this year by all of the FFA members, a similar project may be undertaken next year and then annually. The Lanesboro chapter is young and needs time to develop several definite programs of this type.

Adult Farmer Group Meets At Arcadia

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special)—The first Farm Adult meeting was held Monday evening, in the North Creek School building, four miles northeast of Arcadia, with fourteen adults present.

The group decided with their teacher, Bernard Hart, vocational agriculture instructor at the Arcadia high school that their topic for discussion will be "More Profit from Dairying," or "Varieties of Grain and Grass Seed." The group may also bring in other subjects that they want to discuss with Mr. Hart and any questions about farming.

The group decided to meet every Monday evening, beginning at 8:15 p.m. for a period of sixteen weeks and perhaps for a longer period. The Adult Farmers will not meet during the summer months and each meeting will be conducted for a period of 1 1/2 hours.

The first meeting of the Junior Farmers was held at the Arcadia High School agriculture rooms with eighteen young farmers present. This young farmers class will also be conducted by Mr. Hart in the agriculture room. This group decided to meet every other Wednesday evening, beginning at 8:15 p.m. during the winter months and once a month during the summer months. They will also hold their classes for a period of 1 1/2 hours and will have 1 1/2 hours following the classes for entertainment.

This group decided on the subject "Feeds and Feeding of Farm Animals," or any other subject relative to this topic. These farmers may also bring in any questions to be answered on farmer problems.

The next meeting of the group will be on Wednesday evening, Oct. 27 with Wayne Doenier and Allan Finner on the lunch committee.

Mr. Hart once again is reminding all exhibitors of the Arcadia Rural and Community Fair, that prize money is now being paid out for their exhibits. Prize money may be collected from 12:30 noon each day. No prize money will be awarded after Nov. 15.

Mules' Grandmothers—Tommy Hise stands with a jennet and a mammoth jennet. Breeders keep them only because they produce jacks which are fathers of mules.

Grandmother for Mules, Jennet Has Career

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—The Biblical beast of burden, the plain old jackass, has invaded Lexington, Blue Grass horse capital long popularized by the glamorous racing thoroughbreds.

The animal, whose name is synonymous with stubbornness and other uncomplimentary traits, figured in the news recently when the Jack and Jennet Registry of America transferred its headquarters from Garden City, Kan., to Lexington. The registry is the national office for recording the name, number and pedigree. The jack is the pappy of the mule.

Jacks and jennets, as such, are unsuited for work stock, because they are slow, sluggish and stubborn.

Right now, jacks and jennets and mules are reported much in demand and short in supply.

Thomas L. Adams, circulation manager of the Lexington Herald Leader, who has about one-fourth of the 200 jacks and jennets registered in the United States, reports a thriving market.

Much of the demand comes from South America. Only registered jacks and jennets are exported.

In America, many farmers find it more practical or economical to use mules than machinery. Specifically, the mule springs from a male ass and a mare. The mule's head, ears, rump and tail distinctly reflect the "prepotency" of the ass, but in bulk and stature the animal is nearer the horse.

The hybrid possesses the sobriety, patience, endurance and sure-footedness of the ass, and the vigor, strength and courage of the horse.

But in the matter of voice, the mule is short changed. The animal emits neither the bray of the ass nor the whinny of the horse. Its voice is a feeble, hoarse noise.

Hinny Is No Mule
The hinny is often confused with the mule, but is the hybrid offspring of the female ass and stallion. The mule is more valuable than the hinny, which is inferior in size and strength. It is not deliberately bred.

Mules generally are sterile, and this has led to the mistake of supposing that sterility is a necessary consequence of hybridization. Actually, however, female mules can be crossed successfully with a horse or an ass. But the more numerous males seem to be constantly sterile. Only one or two exceptions to this rule have been recorded, and they are not regarded as authentic.

As long as there is a demand for mules, jack and jennet herds will be maintained. But good jacks are scarce and expensive ($500 to $3,000), and breeders often have difficulty finding one. They command only a $10 to $20 fee for breeding services. Jennets cost $300 to $500. This cash outlay and the small, uncertain financial return discourage many farmers from keeping them.

Jacks go into service at two years of age, and some are used until they become 20. The best age is three to seven.

Late in the 1800s, American breeders developed a distinctive type of stock—the mammoth jack. An ideal specimen stands 15 to 16 hands high—5 feet to 5 feet 4 inches—and weighs 900 to 1,150 pounds, several hundred pounds lighter than large work horses.

GOOD FEEDING by KARL WERSHOFEN PICKWICK MILLS Pickwick, Minn.

FROM FARROWING to 75 pounds is the most critical time for young pigs... by far! Planning carefully ahead of time can help a lot more little pigs through this period. Use ladino, crimson clover, ryegrass, and winter wheat for a year-round grazing program. Rotate pastures for sanitation and disease control. Use automatic or self-waterers. Be sure they're kept clean so that floats will work properly. Hogs must be protected from hot sun if they are to make rapid gains. Temporary shades will be needed on rotation pasture.

TO GET MORE than the usual 1 out of 3 little pigs to market at a profit, you can't do better than to feed an extremely palatable, nutritious feed like Occident Sweet-Creep from the first week of age on. With each mouthful saturated throughout with sugar, it's packed with "Multivitamin" (Occident's exclusive combination of antibiotics) and all the growth factors necessary to get little pigs eating earlier... eating more... and growing quicker! Place Sweet-Creep in open feeders when pigs are a week old. When they get accustomed to it, use small self-feeders to prevent waste. Continue feeding Sweet-Creep until weaning when the pigs can be gradually changed over to Occident's 30% Hog Supplement or 40% Hog Concentrate. As an alternate method, feed Sweet-Creep for three weeks, then switch to Occident Pig Starter with rolled oats. Keep on this basis until the pigs reach 75 lbs. At that time, shift onto a farmer-proved feed such as Occident's 30% Hog Supplement or 40% Hog Concentrate. Remember! It's a good idea during the first two weeks to supplement sow's milk with Occident Milk Replacer.

COMPLETE FEEDING directions for these feeds are on the back of the sack tags.

COME IN SOON... let us show you all the ways Occident's new Sweet-Creep can build your little pigs right... at the time when they need it most!

ETTRICK, Wis. (Special) — The Trempealeau County Farm Bureau Wednesday adopted 16 resolutions, one from the floor, and 15 at the recommendation of its policy committee, of which Prosper Shank, Arcadia, is the chairman. Action was taken by the county organization at its annual meeting here.

The resolutions:

Recommended that the County Farm Bureau Board activate the county dairy promotion committee.

Recommended more research in the use of butter oil.

ports, providing we have proper distribution carried out to the consumer.

Recommended the state standard for milk be raised to 3.5 butterfat.

Recommended the study of the possibility of watershed districts in Wisconsin. Favored starting one watershed district in Trempealeau County as an example.

Favored a tax supported educational television network.

Favored opposition to daylight saving time in Wisconsin.

In producer co-op, the stockholder should be allowed to vote only as long as he remains a partner in the co-op.

Favored having the necessary laboratory building at the State University and the addition of a branch in the north central part of Wisconsin for testing, post mortem and diagnosis of animal husbandry diseases.

Approved of the acceptance and continued use in all groups of the society the amendment to the pledge of allegiance to the flag of the United States of America, by adding the words "One Nation," according to the joint resolution of Congress signed by President Eisenhower on Flag Day, June 14, 1954.

Favored that the proper authorities be prevailed upon to eliminate crime, immoral and suggestive shows from radio and television.

Resolution Carry

Only the resolutions concerning price supports, and a state tax supported educational television network brought extensive discussion on the floor. Both carried by a considerable majority. The final resolution on the eradication of crime, immoral and suggestive shows from radio and television was presented from the floor by Arthur Schultz and Roman Woychik, both of Arcadia.

Edward Pientok, Town of Burnside, reported on a resolution of the previous year favoring an investigation to determine if a national property and recommending a study be carried out, the results to be presented at the annual meeting, "in an attempt to bring about a more equitable assessment of property."

He recommended that the date of assessment be changed from May 1 to Jan. 1, that the assessor may better apply himself to his job, and at a time when livestock may be seen in the barn. Pientok suggested that members go to the sessions of legislature in Madison to speak in favor of bills they desire to be passed. Broiler raisers, he said, and growers of hybrid seed corn have been criticized for getting away from the personal property tax, as their products either have not been taxed, or have been disposed of, at the time of assessment. Considerable discussion pro and con was held from the floor.

Irwin Hogden, French Creek, suggested that a study be made of taxation of industrial properties in comparison with farm properties. It was decided to continue the study for another year.

Presiding was Gerald Melby, with Edward Pientok as secretary. Reports were presented by Charles Drayna, Arcadia, Farm Bureau organization director for Trempealeau, Buffalo, La Crosse and Jackson counties; Mrs. Harvey Jostad, Town of Gale, district chairman of Farm Bureau Women, and John Spittler, Galesville, insurance agency.

Drayna reported that speakers are available for Farm Bureau meetings to explain social security and its effect on the farmer. He announced that a chartered bus will leave Ettrick Monday morning, Nov. 15, to take members to the annual meeting of the Wisconsin Farm Bureau at Madison, to be held Nov. 14-17. Thirty-five may go on the bus, which will return Tuesday, Nov. 16.

Reporting on membership, Drayna said that the American Farm Bureau has gained 50,000 members during the past year, and that Wisconsin Farm Bureau has gained 1,000 new members. Trempealeau County, he revealed, has lost seven members in the past year. He recommended that the members have a program of participation, keeping members informed, and working together on their problems, in township meetings. He urged the farmers present to study the resolutions presented by the resolutions committee during the year, and to be sure the resolutions are what the farmers desire, lest they become a law that is unwanted by the majority.

Drayna displayed a gift package of Wisconsin cheese made available by the Wisconsin Farm Bureau to be sent as Christmas gifts to servicemen overseas, a project to advertise Wisconsin dairy products. John Spittler will be chairman of the project.

Report Given

Spittler, giving his eighth annual report, said there are 440 paid memberships in Trempealeau County and two insurance agents are at work in the county; He, and Albert Pronschinski, Arcadia, although Wisconsin ranks 20th among Farm Bureau states in membership, it is eighth among the states in the number of casualty policies in force and seventh in the amount of fire premiums and life policies in force, he said.

Mrs. Jostad reported that the Farm Bureau Women had a booth at the Trempealeau County fair, proceeds of which were donated to the Trempealeau County emergency relief fund campaign. They also have promoted the serving of dairy lunches.

Speaker was Kenneth Heideman, director of the commodity depart-

Area Men Attend Tax Short Course

George J. Frisch and Lyle G. Morcomb, Winona; H. H. Matzke and Harold A. Selvig, Lewiston; Mrs. J. Donald Tiffany, Elgin and Paul A. Zenke, Dakota, attended the 12th annual farm income tax short course at St. Paul.

It was sponsored by the Office of Agricultural Short Courses, University of Minnesota; the Minnesota Bankers' Association; the State Department of Taxation; and the director of Internal Revenue, U. S. Treasury Department. Representatives of the federal and state income tax divisions and the University of Minnesota acted as instructors at the course.

200 Attend Fall Meeting of Co-op

More than 200 attended the Rochester Dairy Co-op fall meeting at the Redmen's Hall here Thursday evening.

Charles Stube, new general manager of the RDC was the principal speaker. He outlined purposes and objectives of the co-op. In the field of dairy promotion he said that the U. S. ranks 13th in butter and total dairy products consumption in the world and 11th in cheese consumption. He then stressed "group action" to raise America's dairy product eating habits.

A financial report was made by Owen Owens, RDC field service director. Robert Badger, Rochester, treasurer of the board of directors also spoke briefly. Movies were shown and a dairy lunch was served. Frank Brand, Winona, is RDC fieldman for this area.

ment and assistant legislative director of the Wisconsin Farm Bureau. He discussed what he called the farmer's number one problem: The prices of cheese and butter and what will happen to the future market. He believes that prices which have had a downhill trend will rise again. As the population increases, he said, less milk is being produced per person. He is being trying to get back our foreign trade and discussed a law under development by which we may be able to take foreign currency in exchange for our products. The currency would be placed in an international bank, Heideman said, to be used in purchasing foreign products. Agricultural attaches, he said, are working on a plan by which we may develop foreign trade. Economists and politicians of both parties are thinking in terms of free foreign trade, he said.

He urged the farmers to promote their dairy products. The groups pushing their products the most, he said, are the schools. Heideman urged, and educate the school children to drink milk and eat cheese and butter. He believes that lowering the price of butter will help to get butter substitutes off the market.

Complaints Heard

In the last six to eight months, Heideman said, individuals have complained that the government is controlling prices. That he does not believe, he said, and he does believe that the government should run its own business, and not the farm business.

Home Agent Stresses Protection for Gardens

By MRS. JOYCE RANDALL
Winona County Home Agent

LEWISTON, Minn. — Many of the perennial flowers that have been added color to our Winona County gardens will need special protection if they are to come through the winter and give bloom again next year.

Roses and chrysanthemums are among the perennials that need winter protection. Most perennials will benefit from a coarse mulch, such as marsh hay, weed-free straw, hardwood leaves or evergreen boughs. Hybrid and climbing roses definitely need winter protection. About the end of October or first of November—before the ground freezes—bring in soil from another part of the garden and mound it around the base of each plant to a depth of 6 to 8 inches. Lay climbing rose canes down and cover them with dirt. After the soil has frozen, cover the mound with a 6- to 8-inch layer of a coarse mulch.

Storing Plants

There are several ways of protecting chrysanthemums. After they are through blooming and tops have been killed by frost, dig up the plants and store them in a cold frame over winter. Allow all the soil that adheres to the clump to remain and keep the root ball above the soil level in the frame so there is good drainage during the winter. Many plants die because they cannot tolerate excessive moisture during the dormant period.

If you do not have a cold frame, lifting the plants and planting them on a ridge above the level of soil will help provide the necessary drainage and give better winter survival. Cover these plants with a coarse mulch after the soil has frozen. Another alternative is to take slips or tip cuttings and root them in sand or water indoors. Frequently these plants will bloom and develop into good house plants. Or large plants can be kept in the basement where they can get as much sunlight as possible. Avoid overwatering them or they will die. In spring, divide the old plants, taking a good shoot or sucker for each plant you want to set outside.

Flood Control Discussed at Kellogg Meeting

KELLOGG, Minn. — A special meeting of the Lower Zumbro River Erosion and Flood Control conference was held in the auditorium at Kellogg Oct. 8.

W. C. (Bill) Drysdale, Kellogg, president and Vice President Joe Rossbach, acted as temporary secretary due to the resignation of former secretary, Judge Arnold Hatfield, Pat Blee, Kellogg, was elected as new secretary.

Several interested visitors were present, including George Lamey Jr., Kellogg, president of the local Future Farmers group.

Membership dues were paid and a by-laws committee was voted, comprised of Bert Pinsonneault, Art Graff, Kellogg, and Larry Graner, Kellogg.

Drysdale presided at the round table discussion meeting. He spoke on the basic requirements and procedures necessary to get control relief similar to the Root River Association action, also many other pertinent remarks on the responsibility of the conference.

Commissioner Andrew Binner expressed his desire to help save farm lands caused by flood damage. He also said the government should assist financially.

County Engineer Bert Pinsonneault gave a talk on "suggestions to meet our problems," pointing out on maps the extent of the Zumbro Water Shed farm damages. He also delved into the enormous cost to repair road and bridge damages.

He said he was greatly impressed with the procedure and large attendance; also that he would work with the U.S. Engineers and others because "an organized effort is important to get relief."

Joe Rossbach spoke on his contacts and correspondence during the past seven years with U.S. Engineers at St. Louis and the Twin Cities, including railroad officials, to get something done about the Zumbro River situation.

He recently had conversations with U.S. Sen. Humphrey, U.S. Rep. Andersen and U.S. Sen. Kerr of Oklahoma, who all expressed interest and willingness to assist in getting the petition "in the mill" at Washington.

"Our present farm lands were here many years before we took over. Our responsibility to future generations is to improve it. That obligation is the only rent we pay posterity for its use during our lifetime," he said.

All present agreed to bring in a new member at the next meeting in November when election of new officers will be held.

Price Supports For Corn Listed

WHITEHALL, Wis. — Price support for the 1954 corn crop in Trempealeau County is $1.50 per bushel, Raymond A. Lamberson, chairman of the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee stated today.

The figure is based on national parity of corn on Sept. 15 which was $1.80 per bushel, Lamberson explained. In Trempealeau County, a commercial corn area, farmers may put corn in approved storage and secure a loan at 90 percent of parity. In commercial corn areas farmers must comply with the corn acreage allotment.

To be eligible for price support, ear shelled corn must grade 3 or better, except that corn grading 4 because of test weight is also eligible. Corn must be in adequate storage and must meet certain moisture requirements.

Supports are carried through Commodity Credit Corporation loans and purchase agreements. These will be available to eligible growers through May 31, 1955 and will mature July 31, 1955.

State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee Chairman William R. Merriam advised that the average price support loan levels for 1954 crop tobacco for which acreage allotments and marketing quotas are in effect are substantially the same as 1953. Loan rates for the type of tobacco grown in Trempealeau County are Northern Wisconsin, type 55, 31.9 cents per pound as compared to 32 cents per pound in 1953.

North Central Sets New Mark

New records in passenger traffic were disclosed today by North Central Airlines, with the year's total by mid-October already eclipsing the entire year 1953 total.

H. M. Carr, airline president, revealed that 233,925 revenue passengers have flown North Central by Oct. 16, as compared with 217,663 in all of 1953. He estimated the 285,000 figure would be reached by the end of this year. This would be nearly 100,000 more passengers than the company carried in its first four years of operation.

The airline's passenger total for last month was 28,599, a 22 percent increase over September a year ago.

Carr also reported that for the second consecutive month, North Central Airlines in September set new records in air express by carrying 19,447 ton-miles of express on its 2,659-mile system during the month.

(A ton-mile is one ton of air express carried one mile.)

In August, 17,122 ton-miles were flown.

September tonnage sets an all-time high not only for North Central but also for the entire local service airline industry which embraces 14 carriers throughout the nation, Carr said. For the past year, North Central has led the local service industry in air express traffic.

The Airline operated four flights out of Winona daily.

In ceremonies at 2:30 p. m., Msgr. Hammes was assisted by the Rev. Fr. Charles Brady, Galeville, Wis., and the Rev. Leonard Stieber, Plum City, Wis., both former pastors of the parish.

The new church is being built across the street from the present church, constructed in 1896 at a cost of $5,000, on the west side of the city, on west Hudson St.

It will be a colonial-type structure of red brick and asphalt shingles and will seat, when completed, approximately 450, exclusive of the choir loft. Entrance to a small wing accommodating the sacristy will be by a white-trimmed porch. The basement level will provide a spacious dining room, kitchen, cloak room and rest rooms.

Over-all dimensions of the building will be 123 by 42 feet and is scheduled for completion about May 1, 1955.

Bank's $45,000 Spent on Wine, Women, Song

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A man described by the Girard Trust and Corn Exchange Bank as "a trusted employee for 26 years" has been charged with approving fake loans totaling a quarter-million dollars and spending $45,000 of it on "wine, women and song."

Officials of the bank yesterday preferred fraudulent conversion charges against Edward B. McCall, about 45. They said the money was taken through a series of fake loans approved by McCall over a period of 18 months.

The bank said the loss was covered by insurance. At his arraignment before Judge Curtis Bok, McCall was held in $10,000 bail for action by the grand jury.

It was testified at the arraignment yesterday that a routine audit of McCall's accounts in the bank's loan department brought the shortages to light last May. McCall was dismissed at that time.

The Casual Observer

By GRETCHEN L. LAMBERTON
THE other day I lunched with two unusually interesting women from Detroit, Mrs. Lella Wilkins and Mrs. Blanche de Wolfe, both visiting Mrs. Wilkins' sister, Miss Gwen Miller, who lives half a mile up this valley. For many years Mrs. Wilkins has been occupied with mental hospitals in Michigan. Mrs. de Wolfe is proud of the fact that she helped her husband build up a vast and unusual business in Detroit—that of factory catering.

Her husband was one of thousands of workers in the vast automobile industry when suddenly in 1924 came an unexpected change to help a friend figure out the problem of more efficient feeding of the great armies of automobile workers. The automotive industry was growing at an incredible pace and was becoming intensely high-geared. There were three shifts of workers: 7 a.m. to 3 p.m.; 3 p.m. to 11 p.m.; 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. and the men were allowed only 30 minutes for the mid-session meal.

Lunches from home proved generally unsatisfactory, and of course there was an impossible bottleneck when the factory tried to operate its lunchroom for thousands in that short space of time. It was this problem that young Charlie de Wolfe tackled. He quit his excellent job and with a friend rashly went into the business of "factory catering." The Dodge Company let them take a crack at solving this bottleneck.

Their first headquarters were a ramshackle old abandoned Army barracks, and here they cooked the food. They worked out a system of rolling carts about 10 feet long with shelves holding food. Each table was a complete restaurant and took care of a given number of men. These tables were rushed into the Dodge plant on split-second timing. As the workers filed by, trained men dispensed food, checked it out, handled the money.

The partners worked night and day to establish their business on an efficient footing. They found that in order to handle the crowds they had to have more food tables and that they had to have them in place, their men fed and the tables removed in exactly seven minutes. They learned the hard way the best things to feed workers and evolved a menu consisting of a different kind of hearty soup each day of the week, favorite sandwiches, meat or fish pies, and a dessert of cake or pie. Milk and coffee were the beverages. The partners worked around the clock to make their meals extra good, and their food wagon idea was a success mainly because the food was wonderful. Charlie de Wolfe supervised each shift, snatching an occasional nap on heaped-up tarpaulins. As a starter they fed 12 to 15 thousand workers.

The idea succeeded the Dodge Company built them a modern food factory which the partners rented from the company. They installed electric machinery for everything from washing vegetables to counting the final money. They built more food tables. Then the Plymouth Motor Company asked them to feed their workers, and then the DeSoto Company. Later the Chrysler truck and tank plant and, during World War II, the Warren bomber plant asked them to take care of meals.

The factory catering business grew as incredibly as the motor companies themselves. They were feeding 65,000 men a day all through the war. They built special vacuum trucks to rush their food wagons from plant to plant, built their own special food receiving depot in the railroad yards, built their own bakery, bought coffee by the carload. On an average day they served 9,600 bottles of milk, 500 gallons of coffee and 375 gallons of soup.

Any food left over after the third shift was given away to the Salvation Army or other charitable organizations or to needy persons. There were many headaches too. Said Mrs. de Wolfe with a smile, "Once we had 100 food tables all loaded with food and ready to rush to factories and a sudden strike notice was posted and all the workers went out on strike. We took an awful loss. But that was part of it. We had to take risks and it paid off."

Charlie de Wolfe died while deer hunting three years ago, and the partners bought out his widow. Their son never went into the huge factory catering business nor into the vast automotive industry, but following his natural mechanical bent installed himself in a small machine shop — perhaps a reaction against all the colossalness in Detroit.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

One of these days scientists will discover what makes human beings want to be what they ain't.

There is hardly a one among us who has not, at one time or other, or perhaps all the time, wanted to be somebody else than himself. Self-deception is probably one of the outstanding characteristics of the human race.

Else, why do you think the cosmetic manufacturers are showing such enormous profits? Or what, in your opinion, sells bras and corsets that almost make their wearers scream with pain? How about all the different hair dyes? Or the elevator shoes? Or wigs and toupees? How about all the lies that are told about a person's age?

At the recent convention of Police Chiefs, held in New Orleans, Dr. D. M. Kelley, police psychiatrist, told his hearers that these crazy drivers are really psychopaths. He said they are afflicted with a disease, just the same as drunks or dope fiends, and that their disease is so dangerous that they verge on "the homicidal or the suicidal."

Drivers like that are "out of contact with reality," he said, and to let them go on driving is simply catering to their hallucinations and delusions.

I don't think that these so-called hallucinations and delusions are peculiar only to drivers of automobiles. They are shared by a good many of us even while we are not behind the wheel.

Take that little clerk who stole $82,000 from the Staten Island, N. Y., bank in which he worked. A fellow doesn't usually get away with a theft like that, particularly if he takes his wife and three small kids along on the lam.

A couple of days after he disappeared, the police found $5,500 of the loot in a vegetable tray in the refrigerator, covered by some lettuce and tomatoes.

Don't think that I excuse the fellow for having committed the theft. But I wonder what delusions and hallucinations this 22-year-old bank teller, living in a $55 a month flat, had when he grabbed all that money and ran away.

I wonder what illusions any of us have when we try to make ourselves look younger, more beautiful, richer and more important than we are.

The bank teller will probably spend a number of years in prison. His life will be ruined, his family will suffer for many years for his dreams, which by now have probably turned into a nightmare.

And how about the rest of us, who have hallucinations and delusions about ourselves? I wonder whether we ever living in fear that our sham will be discovered, and don't we know that when it is we will be older, poorer, less attractive and much less important to ourselves than we were before we put on the disguise? There may be all sorts of cosmetics to make you seem what you are not, but no one has as yet invented a happiness cream.

Although tarantulas are poisonous, they are not usually dangerous and have sometimes been made pets.

Angry Farmers Chase, Catch Burglary Suspects

BEHOLD, Minn. (AP)—A posse of angry farmers, shutting cars in the heat of the chase, Thursday ran down five young burglary suspects who used their battered car like a tank and finally capitulated to rifle fire.

Lugging 22 rifles and switching cars three times the five farmers pursued the fleeing youngsters for 19 miles on a country road before puncturing the rear tires of their 1934 Ford with gunfire.

Members of the posse said the youths drove their car like a tank and rammed us whenever we got close enough to try to force them off the road.

The youths, ranging in age from 13 to 17, flung loot and fired sling shots at the relentless farmers in an attempt to ward them off.

The early morning pursuit, starting from the village of Nebish, about 20 miles north of here, was the second wild auto chase in this area within 24 hours.

Two burglars got away early Wednesday after Cass Lake and Bemidji police chased them after they sped up to 100 miles an hour.

The second chase was conducted at low speed and with wily maneuvering that would do justice to a sea battle.

Tom Mystic, a Nebish tavern proprietor, heard a noise at the adjacent Geste Service Station at 2 a.m. and investigated. He saw five youths loading loot into their car.

Mystic got a .22 from the house and gave chase in his car. Mystic ran out of gas in a few minutes and aroused Carl Falk, another farmer. The two continued the pursuit in Falk's car which also ran low on fuel in a few minutes.

Mystic and Falk drove into Art Schwegle's farm and continued on in Schwegle's auto. They were joined by Chester Martin and Ray Poxleitner in Martin's car.

The weird chase wound from Nebish north in the direction of Blackduck.

The youths' car swerved to the side of the road after the rear tires were shot up and the car stopped upright.

Dale Russell, Beltrami County deputy sheriff, said when he arrived "I found the farmers standing around the car with guns pointed at it. They hadn't let the boys out."

He said he recognized three of the fugitives as parolees from the Red Wing training school. All five are from Red Lake Village.

The service station was looted of candy bars, tobacco and other articles and was badly vandalized.

The five are being held by Sheriff John Cahill here for juvenile authorities.

Dinner Closes Scottish Rite Reunion Here

Scottish Rite Masons of Winona and southern Minnesota closed their 99th reunion at the Masonic Temple Thursday evening with a banquet and program for 300.

The dinner followed four days of ceremonies, degrees at the temple at which 27 Masons from the Winona district received the fourth through 32nd degrees of Scottish Rite Masonry.

In organizing their class the newly admitted members chose the name of George A. Polley in tribute to the former secretary of the Winona Scottish Rite Bodies.

They elected A. K. Reed, Mankato, president; Edward Cook, Lambert, Minn., and Anchorage, Alaska, vice president and Ralph Munson, Rochester, secretary-treasurer. At the closing dinner Reed gave his impressions of the four days' program and the class presented tokens of appreciation to Roy Carpenter and Charles Riser, who had charge of the candidates.

Bringing a message on Scottish Rite Masonry was E. R. Christensen, secretary of the Scottish Rite bodies in St. Paul.

William B. Roberts, 33rd degree, Minneapolis, sovereign grand inspector general for Minnesota for the Scottish Rite, attended the afternoon work in the lodge room and was present at the dinner. He spoke briefly at both occasions.

George W. Engstrom, master of Kadosh of the Winona Consistory, presided at the dinner and paid special tribute to three men who have been members of the Winona Scottish Rite bodies for more than 50 years.

The three 50-year men attending were Harry D. Smith, Plainview, who became a member in March of 1904; B. F. Gerlicher of Winona, who joined in November of 1900 and William C. Hille also of Winona who came in in April of 1900.

Music after the dinner was furnished by the Scottish Rite choir under the direction of Horace Segton. The dinner was served by Winona Chapter 141, Order of Eastern Star.

State High Court Upholds Decision On Duluth Repair

ST. PAUL (AP)—The Minnesota Supreme Court today upheld the legality of a State Railroad and Warehouse Commission order requiring the city of Duluth to contribute $9,772.25 toward the cost of repairing and maintaining a viaduct in that city.

(In Minneapolis Thursday, District Judge D. E. LeBelle ruled illegal a commission order decreeing that the city of Minneapolis pay one-third the cost of a new bridge.)

The Northern Pacific Railway petitioned the commission Aug. 18, 1930, for an order to force the city of Duluth to pay part of the costs of $22,644 for repairs to the Lake avenue viaduct. The commission fixed the costs at $10,544.40 and ordered they be equally divided.

The city appealed to the St. Louis County district court, where Judge Victor H. Johnson refused to upset the commission order. An appeal was taken again to the high court.

Associate Justice Frank T. Gallagher, who wrote the unanimous decision, said it is apparent from the record and the commission's findings that both the city and the railroad "received very substantial benefits" from existence of the viaduct.

Wisconsin Road Budget $57 Million

FOND DU LAC, Wis. (AP)—Wisconsin will spend a record $57 million on highway construction next year.

Gov. Kohler announced the spending figure Wednesday night in a speech dedicating a new leg of U. S. Highway 41. He said the amount is one-third more than spending during the present year.

Without giving details of the proposed construction, Kohler said it would add 622 miles to the state's planned 2,200 mile arterial system. The state had already built 447 miles of the network.

Kohler is chairman of the Governor's Conference Committee on highways, which is advising the President on highway problems.

Condon Security Clearance To Be Decided

By C. YATES McDANIEL
WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Edward U. Condon, former Bureau of Standards director now working in private industry, was promised today a prompt decision on whether his right to see government secrets shall be restored.

Secretary of the Navy Charles S. Thomas announced yesterday he had suspended the limited clearance given Condon three months ago after an earlier temporary suspension.

Condon, 52-year-old scientist who is research director for the Corning Glass Works, commented at Corning, N.Y.:

"I have been fully cleared four times by four different boards. I shall be pleased to be cleared a fifth time, and I know that a review of my record will end in such clearance."

Thomas told newsmen he would see to it that the review is carried out promptly "in fairness to Dr. Condon and because of the unusual importance of the case."

Senate Choice Difficult for Kentucky Voters

By DON WHITEHEAD

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The people of this mint julep and blue grass country are approaching the difficult political choice of having to send only one of two favorite sons to the U.S. Senate.

The decision must be made Nov. 2 between Democratic former Vice President Alben W. Barkley, 76, and Republican Sen. John Sherman Cooper, 53. No matter which one wins, there's going to be considerable sadness that the other had to lose.

Barkley and Cooper are the Kentucky strong men of their parties with big personal followings. Their collision dramatizes the full force of the struggle for control of Congress.

Democratic chiefs called Barkley out of political retirement as the only man who might recapture the Senate seat which Cooper won two years ago after the death of Democratic Sen. Virgil Chapman.

They are counting on Barkley's enormous personal popularity plus a voter swingback to the Democrats. At this point there is general agreement the odds are in favor of Barkley winning.

But Cooper is making a strong race and there are some—even a few Democrats—who say he may pull the biggest surprise of the entire national campaign.

Barkley has centered his attacks on the Republican administration and its record during the past two years, comparing it with what he calls more prosperous years under Democratic leadership. He accuses the administration as representing the privileged few and not the masses in position to do more for the state than Barkley.

Cooper has hit hard on the theme that the nation is at peace because of Eisenhower's leadership and that the Democratic prosperity was a war prosperity. He pictures himself as being in position to do more for the state than Barkley.

In interviews, both men claimed with a good deal of confidence they will win—although Barkley's optimism was greater than Cooper's. "It looks so good it scares me," Barkley said. He added that in his travels around the state he had found a feeling "this administration is inadequate to deal with the problems that face us."

He predicted he would win by a "substantial majority." Cooper conceded that Barkley's popularity was the major obstacle he had to overcome—but he said he was getting more expressions of support from Democrats in this race than he ever had before.

"In the past two weeks," he said, "the feeling has grown that I'm going to win. If this keeps building up, I will win. And I think I will win."

Hunting Hazard

Your chance of getting killed while hunting in Minnesota is one in 15,000. This encouraging fact is revealed in a $20,000 survey of Minnesota hunting accidents for 1953 just released by the Minnesota Conservation Federation.

The study covered 132 hunting gun casualties reported to the Conservation Department in 1953. Of this total 33 were fatal and 99 were nonfatal. Eighty-nine were inflicted by another person and 43 were self-inflicted. Carelessness, of course, was the major cause of all the accidents.

No record, of course, exists of close calls like the one pictured above which is not too uncommon. In this case, Elwood Jensen of Shafer, Minn., escaped injury when his shotgun barrel exploded. A plugged barrel in this case was the cause. In the picture examining the gun are F. W. "Franny" Johnson, Minnesota's chief warden, in uniform, and Frank D. Blair, game and fish director.

The survey is to be published and distributed by a St. Paul brewery and contains a great deal of vital data that probably will be basic in the enacting of new safety regulations by the coming Legislature. One of the recommendations is that all youths, 16 or under, must present a certificate at the time he obtains a license signed by a competent trainer, that he has been taught how to handle a gun. The state will be required to approve the teacher. Sixty-seven per cent of the 132 persons involved in accidents were under 19 years of age.

Top Officials Here

Bill Ackemaech, assistant director, and Richard Griffith, chief biologist, of the Fish and Wildlife Service, Washington, with F. C. Gillett, regional supervisor, Minneapolis, are spending the week touring the Upper Mississippi River Wild Life and Fish Refuge.

Arriving here in a plane piloted by Don Smith, widely known service pilot, the group flew over the upper end of the 500-mile refuge Wednesday with Bill Green, refuge biologist. Thursday, using cars and accompanied by Ray C. Steele, superintendent of the refuge, the party started south. They will view and inspect refuge areas and equipment southward to St. Louis.

Washington officials are especially interested in lands and areas added to the refuge during the year by transfer from the War Department. The engineers gave to the refuge vast tracts of land and water areas in the Rock Island and St. Louis engineering districts. The tour will require the remainder of the week.

Waterfowl Movement

Aerial survey of waterfowl population made the first two days of this week by refuge pilot and Bill Green, refuge biologist, showed that there was approximately the same number of ducks in the refuge between Wabasha and Rock Island as there was a year ago. There was a slight shift southward in the population.

The total number of birds in the refuge was estimated at 60,000 and these were mostly in the closed area. There has been a slight drift of northern mallards into the upper pool areas. Water was low in the marshes at the headwater of the pools.

Railroad Warning

A "no hunting" warning has been posted covering the right-of-way of the Burlington Railroad through this area by W. G. Fetzner, chief special agent. Hunters on railroad property are trespassers, he contends.

Reasoning back of the order is that each fall a number of hunters are killed by trains while walking on the tracks and that shooting at birds on wires put telegraph, telephone and signal wires out of service which can be the cause of serious accidents.

Hosiery Firm Moving Back To Pennsylvania

READING, Pa. (AP)—A hosiery mill executive says he's found "economic conditions in the North and the South are about equal" and has announced that his firm is moving back to Pennsylvania.

Nicholas Malesky, president of the Bolls Co., a hosiery dyeing and finishing firm, said yesterday "the labor situation in the North is more favorable than it has been for many years. More prospective employees are again available."

In bucking a long-time trend in the textile industry, Malesky declared that "the advantages obtained by the move to the South are gradually disappearing." He added that, by moving North, "the company is closer to the markets."

Malesky, of Stowe, Pa., moved his company to Mount Pleasant, Tenn., several years ago from its original site in this area. He will relocate in the former Gold Seal hosiery mills here.

Runaway Steed Tangles With Auto

AURORA, Minn. (AP)—Aurora moved the clock back to horse and buggy days late Thursday when a pony ran away with its rider down the main street.

Lois Boese, 16, was in the saddle when her steed started its headlong and uncontrolled dash, ended when the pony smashed into a car driven by an unidentified salesman from Duluth.

Lois was thrown through the air onto the top of the car, which was badly dented. But she was released from the nearby Biwabik hospital after examination showed no injuries. The pony was killed.

State Gas Tax Collections Up

ST. PAUL (AP)—Gasoline tax collections for the year to date went up almost $1,700,000 over the total for the corresponding period in 1953, G. Howard Spaeth, commissioner of taxation, reported today.

Collections went up from $36,653,807 to $38,326,120, or 4.55 per cent. After refunds for nonhighway use of gasoline, the net collections for the first nine months of 1954 totaled $32,647,552. This is a hike of 5.63 per cent over the same period in 1953, when net collections totaled $30,908,943.

Population of State Institutions On Increase

ST. PAUL (AP)—The population of Minnesota's 20 public institutions is increasing, Jarle Leirfallom, state public welfare commissioner, reported today.

There were 18,930 persons in the institutions on Sept. 30, 1954. This is an increase of 544 from the preceding month and 444 above a year ago. Most of the increase resulted from reopening of the Braille and Sight-Saving School for the Deaf after summer vacation.

However, Leirfallom said, almost every institution showed a slight increase in resident population during September.

In the past year there has been a 25 per cent hike in the inebriate population, an 11 per cent increase in the number of students at the Braille School, and an increase of 1 1/4 per cent in the number of patients in hospitals for the mentally ill.

During September, the mentally ill resident population went up by 78, with all hospitals, except Anoka, showing increases. The waiting list dropped from 25 to 15 during the month, with 13 women and two men awaiting suitable space on Sept. 30, 1954. There were 1,148 patients—5,727 men and 5,621 women—in the eight mental hospitals. In addition, the section for inebriates at Wilmar had 214 patients on Sept. 30.

The population for all institutions for the mentally deficient and epileptic totaled 4,808, including 2,445 males and 2,364 women patients. These figures do not include 125 patients temporarily absent at the end of September.

The penitentiary population of 2,000 included 1,110 at the Stillwater Prison, 843 at the St. Cloud Men's Reformatory, and 56 at the Women's Reformatory at Shakopee.

Mayo Memorial Hospital on U Campus Dedicated

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Visitors were sightseeing today on conducted tours through the new University of Minnesota Mayo Memorial Hospital after dedication ceremonies attended by a group of noted doctors Thursday night. The 14-story building, built at a cost of about 12 million dollars, is the tallest at the Minneapolis campus. In addition to general hospital facilities, it holds classrooms, medical offices, laboratories and a 550-seat auditorium. It was constructed in honor of the famed Mayo brothers—Dr. William and Charles—who founded the Mayo Clinic at Rochester. Paying tribute to them at a dinner Thursday night, Dr. Alan Gregg called the brothers "exponents of true learning."

"Not erudition, but learning as a habit and an adventure," said Dr. Gregg, vice president of the Rockefeller Foundation. Other speakers at the ceremonies included Gov. Anderson, President Morrill of the university, Dr. Harold S. Diehl of the university's medical school, and Dr. Charles Mayo, son of one of the clinic founders.

'Intruder' Gets Caught in Ceiling

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Tulsa police, searching an apartment house attic for a reported intruder, failed to find him until an occupant shouted—"Here he is!"

There he was all right—his foot and leg protruding through an apartment ceiling. Collared by officers, the man explained he fled to the attic after a woman whom he was visiting advised him her returning husband might not approve of his presence.

In his apparent haste, his foot and leg crashed through the ceiling. Officers turned the suitor loose.

What's Ike Mean By 'Little Time'?

NEW YORK (AP)—President Eisenhower visited briefly Wednesday with the West Point Society of New York state and came up with a teaser on whether he might be planning to pass up a bid for a second term.

He told the society members: "I regret I am not free these days to attend a kind of luncheon like this."

Then he paused, grinned broadly and added: "But just give me a little time and I'll be back in the crowd cheering for some other poor sucker who's up there."

The big question among the members was—What did he mean by a "little time?" Two more years? Or six?

William F. (Billy) Williams, St. Paul, who served as executive aide to 14 Minnesota governors, gets a preview of his picture on how it will look in the 1955 Legislative Manual, which will be dedicated to him. Mrs. Mike Holm, secretary of state, pleasantly surprised "Billy" with her plans to honor him. Here, she is displaying a photograph of her late husband, Mike Holm, who served before her for 30 years as secretary of state and to whom the last "Blue Book" in 1953 was dedicated. (AP photo)

'Blue Book' to Be Dedicated to State Executive Aide

By JACK B. MACKAY

ST. PAUL (AP)—"I believe in giving flowers to the living—not to the dead."

Mrs. Mike Holm, Secretary of State, looked up at strapping William F. (Billy) Williams, and made this comment as she informed him that she is planning to dedicate the 1955 Legislative Manual—or "Blue Book"—to him.

"That's just wonderful," Mrs. Holm, remarked Billy. "I'm certainly grateful."

Mrs. Holm then explained to "Billy," as he is affectionately known to many thousands of residents in Minnesota, that she believes his "faithful service" the last 50 years as executive aide to 14 governors of Minnesota, entitles him to that honor. She said it always has been her philosophy to present "bouquets" to people while they are alive.

There's just one "catch" to her plans, Mrs. Holm admitted. She said it is her plan to dedicate the book, if she is re-elected, but then she added that she was quite confident her successor, if she is not returned to office Nov. 2, would "follow through" with the project.

Billy recalled that he took his desk in the governor's reception room in 1904 at the request of Gov. John A. Johnson.

Billy, 72, is still trim and erect. He has greeted, shaken hands with, turned aside, talked with, advised or aided more than 350,000 persons, he estimates, since serving as guardian of the governor's inner office.

Billy, who was born in St. Paul took an active interest in athletics—basketball, football and track—from an early age. He won letters in all three sports but never lost his deep interest in baseball. As a player, he fielded right-handed but batted left-handed.

He played baseball throughout Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa and the Dakotas.

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP)—If you happen to live near an atomic power plant, there's no need to feel uneasy, a scientist said today. They can't blow up like an atomic bomb. In fact, said Harold W. Huntley, an engineer with General Electric Co.'s Atomic Products Division, nuclear reactors for production of peacetime power can be designed so they are as safe as conventional power plants.

He spoke at a meeting of the American Society of Engineers.

Cotter, Warriors, Redmen in Weekend Tilts

NEW WELTER KING . . . In the arms of his jubilant manager, Blinky Palermo, Johnny Saxton of New York waves to the crowd at Philadelphia's Convention Hall after being awarded a unanimous 15-round decision over Kid Gavilan which gave him the welterweight championship.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

Saxton Doesn't Aim To Please Fight Fans

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK (U)—Johnny Saxton, the new welterweight champion of the world and a very boring customer, indeed, is quoted as having said this about the fighting style which caused untold millions to pass out quietly in their arm chairs on Wednesday evening: "I don't aim to please the crowd, I just want to win fights the best way I can. I fought the fight like I planned to win. I had him puzzled."
Johnny's remarks probably will not endure among the great orations, but we submit that he really laid it on the line right down to the final syllable. The only thing we might have added was that he had a lot of folks puzzled besides Kid Gavilan, who was his opponent, speaking loosely.
So far as there is any evidence, about the only ones who were attracted by the new champ's novel method of winning fights were the

Ramblers Host St. Felix Tonight

The Cotter High Ramblers, Winona State Warriors and St. Mary's Redmen occupy the football program for the weekend involving local teams.
Only the Ramblers, who play host to Wabasha St. Felix tonight at Jefferson Field in homecoming, will be at home. The Warriors play at St. Cloud in an all-important State Teachers Conference clash Saturday night and the Redmen journey to Duluth for a Saturday night game against Duluth Branch, still undefeated in MIAC action.
All three teams will be below full strength for the games. The Ramblers will be minus the services of star center Dale Welch, due to the death of his father. In addition, quarterback Dave Skemp has a bruised leg and halfback Jack Tomasek a broken nose.
Both Skemp and Tomasek will play tonight against St. Felix. Coach Gene Brodhagen's crew has a record of two victories and one tie.
St. Cloud has won three straight games and would win the title even if the game ended in a tie.
The Warriors will go against a heavier St. Cloud team, but it will be nothing new to them since they've been giving away weight in every game so far.
Grebin Threat
Once again, Brodhagen hopes the speed of his squad and desire to win pull out a victory. Main threat St. Cloud must stop will be Jerry Grebin, Winona's swift ball carrier who leads state college backs in scoring.
Gren, who averages close to 100 yards a game by rushing and another 100 yards on punt returns and pass interceptions, has sparked the Warriors thus far.
Although Winona State's starting lineup is intact, several players may be hampered slightly in injuries. Co-captain and tackle Arnold Borge will see action with a protective cast and sponge rubber encasing a broken hand, while freshman fullback Don Segermark will go with a banged-up knee braced and padded.
Starting ends for Winona will be Bill Christopherson and Tony Burkard, Boese and Ken Hakek at tackles, Merle Peterson, Russ Schmidt or Bill Ziebell at guards and center Dave Morten at quarterback.
Backfield starters will probably be Grebin, Dick Larson, Jerry Seem and Segermark.
St. Cloud's top players include All-conference halfback Don Cash, quarterback Bob Kessel and Virg Deering and Dave Westlund in the line.
The Warriors will be attempting to end St. Cloud's three-year dominance as conference champion.
Redmen at Duluth
St. Mary's playing at Duluth Branch Saturday night, will be slowed down by the absence of several key players who were sidelined in injuries.
Included on the disabled list are guards Jerry Schutz, John Billings and Larry Rice; center Bob Motke and reserve fullback Ed Holten.

New Owners of A's Anxious for League Approval

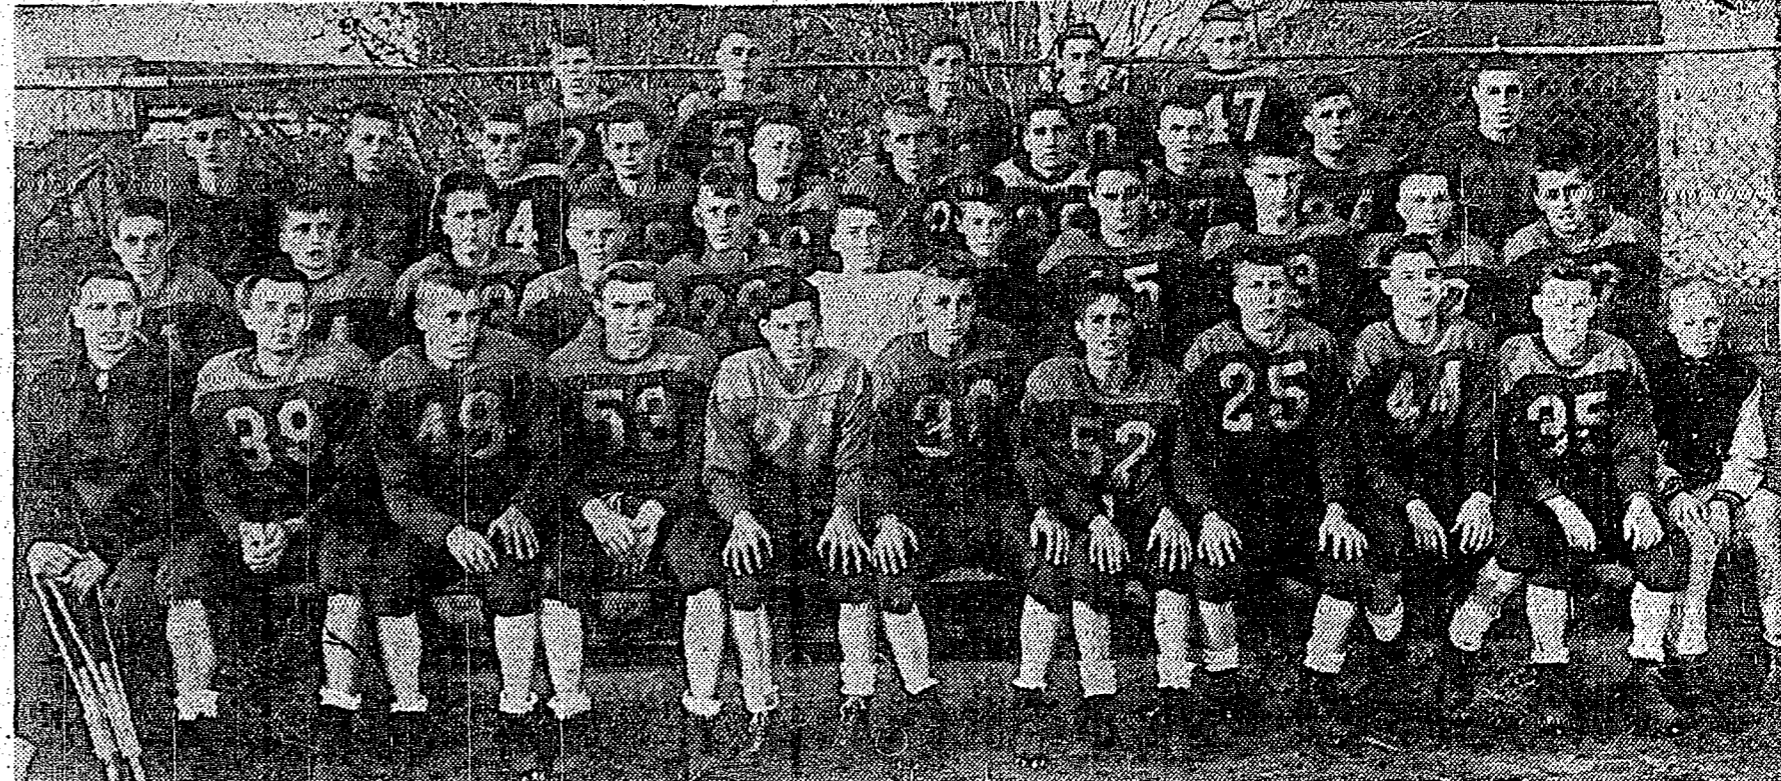

PHILADELPHIA (U)—The new owners of the Philadelphia Athletics—not officially owners at all—are chafing at the bit.
Arthur Rosenberg, spokesman for the nine-man syndicate which purchased the A's, said he can't understand what's holding up American League approval of the deal.
"If favorable or unfavorable news isn't received" from League President William Harridge today, Rosenberg said, "two men will be sent to Chicago to talk with him."
But Rosenberg added his group wants to be deliberate about everything. Antagonizing Harridge or other American League officials would do the new owners cause no good, he said.
"We have sent Harridge a list of the new owners with their financial and social background," he said. "Roy Maek has informed the league president that he and his brother Earle and father Connie have sold us the club. If there is any other information Harridge wants, we are not aware of what it is."
Some Massachusetts cranberry bogs have many owners because in the early days they were expensive to develop and shares were sold in 64ths.

Fjerstad Takes Lead in Scoring

Willie Fjerstad, hard-hitting Red Wing fullback, zoomed into the lead in the race for the Big Nine Conference scoring championship.
The 200-pound conference sprint champion scored a pair of touchdowns against Winona Wednesday night, his eighth and ninth TDs of the season, to vault him past Rochester's Tom Robbins and into first place.
Fjerstad's nine touchdowns and 54 total points gives him an eight-point edge over runner-up Robbins in second with 45 points on seven touchdowns and four extra points. Robbins' teammate, George (Punk) Schleff, is third with 43 points.

Fourth, fifth and sixth places are occupied by three Winona High ball carriers—Jim Blake with 34 points, Art Sagen with 26 and Fred Williams with 25. Mankato's Bill Miller and Rochester's Lowell Glynn round out the list of players with more than 20 points. Both have 24 on four touchdowns apiece.
A total of 50 players have been involved in conference scoring. Nine of them are Winhawks. In addition to Blake, Sagen and Naas, other Winona players who have scored touchdowns are:
Jon Bitt, 14 points; Bob Kosidowski, 13; Bill Hostettler, 7; Dick Wiczek, 6; Bill Morse, 1; and Bill Heise, 1.

LOFT ON RUN ALLEYS

Free running alleys — on which the ball breaks or curves unusually wide from right to left — can be solved by proper use of the loft, or pitch-out. Alley proprietors are not in favor of this delivery, as a lofted ball is hardly calculated to improve the alley surface. But it is, nevertheless, an important part of the game and one that should be mastered for better scoring. This is, however, an undertaking for advanced bowlers. It requires timing, finesse, to send the ball over the foul line a foot or more without any jerk. The loft comes with lift — easy lift. The stars apply loft more often than not in shooting spares on the right side of the alley, and you will get helpful advice in my monogram, Know Your Spare Angles. Send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to your newspaper to obtain it. In using loft, concentrate on completing your swing — a free, reaching pendulum swing. Keep the arm straight, firm, with no wrist turn, so that the thumb finishes straight ahead at ball release.

Ohio State Game Can Make or Break Badger Chances

By ED CORRIGAN
The Associated Press

The time has come for Wisconsin to start thinking seriously in terms of winning the Big Ten championship and making the jump to the Rose Bowl next Jan. 1.
The Badgers, who weren't considered any great shakes in pre-season estimates of the Western Conference, meet a tough Ohio State tomorrow in a game that could make or break their hopes. The Buckeyes, too, are very much in the race for league honors.
Ivy Williamson's lads still would have to get past Iowa, Northwestern, Illinois and Minnesota even if they do beat Ohio State. But there's no denying that this is the big one.
For Ohio State, the game represents another big stumbling block in its bid for the title. Even if the Buckeyes do win, they'll still have to whip Purdue and Michigan.
In the South, the big interest will be the battle between Mississippi and Arkansas. Ole Miss is co-leader of the Southwest Conference and Arkansas is the surprise of the Southwest Conference.
Both teams are looking ahead to New Year's Day and a bowl game. But even more important at this stage, the game should provide a good insight on Mississippi's strength. The school has been tabbed as one with a weak schedule and this accusation has hurt its national standing.
Meanwhile, there's a game with national implications on tap for to-

Football Natural In Ohio State, Wisconsin Game

CHICAGO (U)—In one of football's "naturals," Wisconsin invades Ohio State Saturday for a key game in the Big Ten championship campaign.
The battle of these undefeated opponents—Ohio State the conference's top-ranked team on offense, and Wisconsin the No. 1 defensive club—easily heads the week's Big Ten program.
Another important test in the title chase will send the conference's only other unbeaten eleven, Minnesota, to Michigan to continue the Little Brown Jug series.
Minnesota, for the first time in years, is favored at Michigan. The odds makers give the Gophers a seven point edge.
The Wisconsin-Ohio State game is rated a toss-up. Wisconsin holds triumphs over Marquette, Michigan State, Rice and Purdue. The Buckeyes have turned back Indiana, California, Illinois and Iowa.

Saxton Facing Return Bout With Gavilan

NEW YORK (U)—It was December in October for Johnny Saxton today.

Santa Claus paid another visit to the freshly crowned welterweight champion and dropped another present down his chimney—a suspension of his 15-day jail sentence for 12 traffic violations.

But just how long Santa will continue to bestow favors on the 24-year-old Negro champ remains to be seen.

There was talk of a possible title bout between the New Yorker and Carmen Basilio, the No. 1 contender from Canastota, N. Y., but that was clouded by the shouts of ex-champion Kid Gavilan's handlers that the Cuban has "an ironclad return bout contract."

Naim Rothschild, the Syracuse, N. Y., promoter, has offered Saxton $40,000 to put his title on the line against Basilio in Syracuse. But there's the big question of whether Saxton would draw a gate with anybody, including a hot local attraction.

The reluctant champion, about as cautious and boring a fighter to come on the scene in modern days, has been a party to four prize "stinkers" in the last three years. He reached the apex of his career of etherizing the customers in Philadelphia's Convention Hall Wednesday night when he decided Gavilan.

Gavilan, Manager Angel Lopez and trainer Mundito Medina had cooled down somewhat yesterday from their high fever at post-fight time. Then, in the heat of the announcement that the Kid had lost his crown, they had shouted the old refrain of boxing: "We wuz robbed."

The dapper manager and night club owner insisted, "We have an ironclad return bout contract for New York City. Saxton can fight nobody else until he fights the Kid first."

Record Entry in Women's Bowling

ST. CLOUD, Minn. —A large contingent of Winona bowlers are among the record list of entries for the Minnesota State Women's Bowling tournament which opens here Nov. 6.

A total of 268 teams, an all-time record, have made reservations to compete in the tournament. Some 55 doubles combinations and 1,110 competitors in singles will bowl. The meet will run five weekends with the state convention set Nov. 14 at the St. Cloud Hotel.

Wallace Moon, St. Louis Cardinals centerfielder, speaks mildly for a Texan. The first time he walked to the plate as a major leaguer he hit a home run. "Best ball I ever hit," he said, then shut up.

Gophers Touchdown Pick To Beat Michigan Saturday

BY JIM KLOBUCHAR
MINNEAPOLIS (U)—Minnesota carried a reverend hunk of crockery and a seven-point edge into Michigan today for a game loaded with title importance, tradition and jitters.

On the basis of statistics and despite Michigan's three victories, the unbeaten Gophers almost deserved more than the one touchdown margin.

But Michigan has on its side the long history for maximum effort at the huge Ann Arbor stadium, plus talent which probably is superior to anything Minnesota has seen this year.

A Star Is Born

The Winona Daily News football panel is blessed with a newcomer this weekend. Our intrepid photographer, Merritt Kelley, who was bumped on the sidelines during the St. Mary's-Macalester game last Saturday, is recovering from some pulled knee muscles.

In recognition of Kelley's performance at the St. Mary's game, which was above and beyond the call of duty, we've invited him to join our football prognostication panel and he has sportingly consented.

Kelley would have one believe he knows little about back-lateral, quick-openers and 6-2-1 defenses. Be that as it may, don't be surprised if he gets this weekend's "Hero" badge.

Here and There

From most of what we've heard, the reaction to the naming of Emil Scheid as Winona Chiefs manager for next season has been a good one. You'll never find complete agreement on anything pertaining to baseball in Winona, but the great majority of the fans we have talked to welcome Emil as manager.

We think Scheid has two big reasons for wanting to produce a winner here. One is that he's always liked and admired the spirit of the Winona fans, who he calls the most loyal in the league. Emil would like to be able to reward that loyalty with a contending team, a winner.

We think Emil would like to produce a good team here for another reason. It must have been a blow to his pride to be fired at Austin after producing seven first division teams in eight years. It is our hunch that Emil would like to prove that Austin made a mistake in letting him go.

Patterson After 17th Fight Win

NEW YORK (U)—Floyd Patterson, 19-year-old light heavyweight contender who has been nurtured as carefully as a hothouse plant, is favored to make ex-cop Joe Gannon of Washington his 17th pro victim tonight at Madison Square Garden.

There's no betting. The wagering gentry consider the Brooklyn belter a cinch.

It is his Garden debut as a main eventer even though the bout is limited to eight rounds. Patterson can't fight more than eight rounds in New York until he reaches his 20th birthday.

In Gannon, he meets a 27-year-old, 173-pound boxer whose chief claim to fame is that he is one of Rocky Marciano's sparring partners. Gannon, national AAU welterweight champion in 1944, fought as a pro until 1948 when he hung up his gloves to become a Washington policeman. He had won 10 straight when he quit.

After serving a year in the Army, he returned to the ring in 1953 and has scored seven straight victories. He is a standup fighter, a type Patterson likes to meet. Patterson, beaten for the first time by ex-light heavyweight King Joey Maxim in a tight fight June 7, has a 16-1 record. He is ranked fifth among the 175-pounders.

The North America sailing championship, the second time, is held by 19-year-old Loyola University freshman, Gene Walet, of New Orleans. He has a Lightning Class sloop.

erior to anything Minnesota has seen this year.

Beyond that, this Little Brown Jug battle, before an expected 7,000 spectators, should eliminate the loser from the Big Ten championship race. Both have won two straight in the conference but the loser hardly figures to recover and re-enter the fight.

Minnesota approached the Michigan game in almost identical circumstances in 1949, unbeaten and favored to win handily. The Gophers dropped that one 14-7 and missed the Rose Bowl chance.

In winning three games against a loss to Army, Michigan has made almost miserly use of its resources. The Wolverines have been out-gained by about 300 yards by their combined opponents and have been out-first-downed 52-50.

Moreover, they have been limping along without star right half-back Tony Brandt and a few other key players. Brandt is not expected to see much service Saturday.

His No. 1 replacement, Ed Hickey, also is bothered by injuries and the starting right half will be sophomore Ed Shannon. Left half-back Dan Cline and fullback Lou Baldacci are veterans, and quarterback Jim Maddock is another yearling.

Ranking seventh in the nation in pass defense, the Gophers still have a first rate problem in Michigan sophomore end Ron Kraemer, who is being wheeled. The abdoce went off the track, bounced along the ties for about 150 feet, then tore loose and ran into the ditch where it spun around and turned on its side.

Michigan has yet to play against the split T, usually a fatal handicap in a game pitting evenly matched teams.

Minnesota is in good physical condition, the chief exception being Elden Dahl, sophomore guard who was left off the traveling squad.

Michigan has won 27 games in this series, Minnesota 14. Three games have ended in ties. Minnesota's last victory at Ann Arbor was in 1941.

Laura Zywicki Hits 540 Set

Honor counts were bowled in four Winona women's leagues Thursday night. The top series was Laura Zywicki's 540 for Winona Milk in the Ladies League at the Red Men's Club. Helen Nelson bowled a 183 single game in that league for Happy Dan's Skelly Girls.

Elaine Thode of Wally's fired 519 in the Keglerette Ladies League and Marie Weglach of Shorty's Liquors had a 208 single in the same circuit.

Topper in the Athletic Club Ladies League was Irene Janikowski of the Hot Fish Shop with 191-508, while in the Powder-Puff League at Hal-Rod Lanes Oriane Kittle of National Bar had a 502 series and Maxine Jones of Winona Insurance a 192 single.

Leo Kemp's 236 for Winona Milk in the Knights of Columbus League at the Kegler's Klub was the highest single reported for the night. Bob Heer of Hamm's Beer fired a 576 series in that league. Ervin Schewe of Grain Belt led the Eagles League at Hal-Rod Lanes with a 213 single and 378 series.

In the St. Stan's League at the Athletic Club, Lorraine Malewicki of Watkowski hit an errorless 192 single and 470 series.

Caboose Derailed Near Sheboygan

SHEBOYGAN, Wis. (U)—A conductor and a brakeman escaped with minor injuries when a caboose on a North Western Road freight train derailed, broke loose and overturned in a ditch.

The cause of the derailment was not determined but railroad men at the scene said a piece of metal probably had fallen off one of the cars and dropped in front of the caboose wheels. The abdoce went off the track, bounced along the ties for about 150 feet, then tore loose and ran into the ditch where it spun around and turned on its side.

Husband Divorces Silent Film Star

LOS ANGELES (U)—The husband of silent film star Leatrice Joy obtained a divorce yesterday. Arthur K. Westermarck, aircraft engineer, testified she left for New York in 1950 for a television role and never came back.

Westermarck, 60, obtained the decree on desertion grounds set forth in his cross complaint. She had filed a divorce suit but left for New York before the trial came up.

The couple married in Las Vegas, Nev., in 1946. She formerly was married to the late actor John Gilbert.

Galuska Receives Award at Wyoming

LARAMIE, Wyo. — Cowboy fullback George Galuska, today received the second annual Admiral Emory S. Land Award as Wyoming's outstanding athlete for the 1953-54 school year. The presentation, in form of a bronze and mahogany plaque, was made by Laramie physician, Dr. E. W. DeKay, nephew of Adm. Land, and featured the university's homecoming game halftime ceremony.

The outstanding athlete award, established and perpetuated by Wyoming's most distinguished alumnus, is made each year at homecoming and is based on the following:

o Outstanding achievement in intercollegiate athletic competition.

o Personal conduct both on and off the field and influence on team morale.

o Academic standing with completely satisfactory progress toward a degree a prerequisite.

Galuska, a senior geology major from Arcadia, Wis., is finishing up his third year as regular varsity fullback for the Cowboys and was a parttime performer in 1951, the year freshmen were eligible.

He was selected from eight nominees by the university athletic committee which found to his credit in addition to his athletic prowess, that he is commanding officer of the university's Army ROTC cadet regiment with the highest leadership rating in the senior class; that he is president of the "W" Club, university letterman organization, and that he has a better than C average in the university's tough geology course.

Galuska set an all time ground gaining record for Wyoming fullbacks as a junior last season, averaging 4.65 yards per carry for a total of 558 yards. He was a unanimous second-team choice for All-Skyline fullback honors in 1953 and has been the most consistent Poke performer over the past three campaigns, both offensively and defensively.

Last year's initial winner was All-American track star, Paul Carlin, Cowboy middle distance champion. Adm. Land, wartime head of the U.
