DR. SUZZALLO OUTLINES PLAN FOR WISE EMPLOYMENT OF THE EXTRA HOURS

"Every American who is not yet a social rebel is afraid to be a man of leisure. It sounds too much like being an idler. It is associated with laziness and economic paralysis," says Henry S. Suzzallo in the April Journal of the National Education Association as he characterizes the modern man's fear of being criticized for paly as an enemy to the cause of some dear ancestor. "We need a code of our own for a life of our own." says Dr. Suzzallo, speaking sharply of the new leisure. "This leisure which has trickled down to the present day through many generations. The Middle Age ascetic looked disdainfully on his body as though it were not worthy of any serious consideration as the mind, and the Puritan convention placed the pleasures of the parlor above those of the woods. The Puritan undervalued the recreational side of life and disdained it. Many merely playful activities were thought to be harmful. Later, they were considered harmless. Now, they are known to be positively helpful.

The Pioneer, by the unconscious pressure of frontier necessity overthrown, is the problem of modern leisure! With normal, harmless and even helpful expression repressed; without interest, capacity or training in the finer, stabler, joyous activities of life, man plays with the only feelings he has to play with — with instincts, appetites, passions.

"For society to grant a man leisure is not to confer a personal favor on the individual; it is to give society, hopefulness, and progressive power to society," says Dr. Suzzallo. He urges that leisure be given and as such a philosophy of life has as a given value. Let's have a big turnout when the time comes.

Congratulations to the successful and sympathy to the unsuccessful who may lose some of their friends. Let everybody try to elect the best students in the college. And then of course all couldn't be elected as we have not so many students.

STUDENT TOURS ARRANGED

A series of unusual tours, designed for students with an interest in the dramatic arts, have been arranged for this summer by the Church and Drama League of America in cooperation with outstanding exponents of the arts in Europe. The tours offer an interesting combination of walking, dancing, and is known here and abroad both as an artist and as a writer. He is an exceptionally well-educated man and has a genuine significance. game of tennis has aroused widespread interest since warm weather. Spring sports at La Crosse Technical Institute have been transformed into golf links. Cloth balls, however, are still the rule. The girls are asked however to bring their own equipment.

Several of the faculty who intend to tour Europe next year have taken up various popular sports, bicycling. Their success will not be known to us until they venture to ride in the daylight.

MINNESOTA RELAYS

By Arthur Taliaferro

Two cars of W.S.T.C. track representatives went to Minneapolis for the Minnesota Relays at Minneapolis in an endeavor to retain Winona's superiority over the Twin Cities and Milwaukee relays. The relays were held on Saturday April 30, 1930 in the immense Minnesota Field House where complete protection from the rain and cold could be secured. The University Band was on hand to create a 'heavenly atmosphere' and the competing athletes with a number of so-called "hot shots," their efforts were well-enjoyed by the spectators and more than one person who was in most cases decidedly "on edge" for their first competition of the track season.

The relays were opened for the second time in their existence with a special ceremony consisting of the raising of a huge American flag in the center of the court and a bang accompanied by the Minnesota Band playing the national anthem. The flags were not scheduled to run until an hour and a half after the band had completed its vigil for the lack of time in which to enjoy the things that they were to do. The real fun, of course, was from the special bleachers placed in full view of the entire audience for the sake of the sentimentalists of competing schools. The whole spectacle supplied quite a little get-together for opponents of long standing.

A preliminary warming up, much wishing of luck, and a final word from Coach Galligan, our sort of man, Arthur Taliaferro, Roger, Allan Niber, Vernon Risty, and a number of other marks with a determination to put up a good battle. They just did that and among the scores that have been turned out, though they came third, they knew they were leaving the other teams behind them.

The girls are asked however to bring their own equipment.

WINONA TRACKMEMBERS

The Winona State Teachers College took third place at the Minnesota Relays on Saturday April 30, 1930. Eveleth Junior College placed first and Hibbing Junior College placed second.

These relays were most thrilling and caused considerable excitement for all the spectators and contestants as well. Only nine of the twenty-two records established last year withstood the flash of the two rush meetings of the competition, which scored more than 80 points, with only one person in third place.

The Purple colors were worn by George Owings, Arthur Taliaferro, and Vernon Risty. These boys deserve great credit for their successful try.

GOLF

For the benefit of the women students of the college who receive a thrill in being out-of-doors and following a small white ball down the fairways and through the sand bunkers, the W.A.A. has purchased two ladies' season members of the Winona Public Golf Club. These tickets and golf sets may be purchased at an early date by the students. The golfers are asked not to use the tickets on Saturday afternoon or Sunday. Each person who purchases a membership ticket will have a practice round on the course once a week.

"MOMENTS MUSICAL"

"Can you play that scale that never?"

"Naw! I can't play "do" unless "me" and "so" keep piping up. It's my tongue. I just can't manipulate it correctly."

"But Mr. Hartley said that women students should have the learning of the instruments for the sake of economic advantage."

"Mr. Hartley said more than that. He not only told us to try to play, but he demonstrated his own ability by playing on the harmonica alone, and a combination of the other instruments."

Mr. Hartley proved that with persistence and motivation, an individual might at least approach his personal aim of playing.

Every student in the college entered the harmonica class. There were students playing and received valuable information concerning organization and classes of bands.

ROGGE AND KRAMER CAPTAINS

Harold George was elected as captain of the Winona State Teachers College track team for the coming season. He is an American and a former member of the Winona High School track and promises to be a satisfactory leader of the winning team.

Bernard Kramer has been chosen captain of the 1930-31 basketball squad. Bernard served in this capacity for a number of games and was considered the best center and a cool, level-headed pilot.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION INSTRUCTORS ATTEND CONVENTION

Inter-class and Novice Track Meets will be held at the Winona State Teachers College very soon according to Coach Galligan.

The inter-class meet is open to all students of the college who care to enter into the competition.

The latter contest gives the men of the college who are not athletically inclined a chance to get some real enjoyment out of the first four days and not be compelled to enter into competition with the star athletes of the college.

WINNERS OF CONTEST

In the 10-16 race, all men students of the college entered into competition with the entrance of the college.
CHARACTER TRAITS TAUGHT BY ENTHUSIASTIC TEACHERS IN REAL LIFE SITUATIONS

The character traits are not to be taught by the didactic method, according to J. Mace Andress. Professor Andress quotes research studies that show that honesty is not necessarily the result of the companionship of biblical knowledge.

Psychologists have found that children who regularly attend Sunday School are generally more honest than children who rarely or never attend. Professor Andress does not conclude from this that the Church Schools are not valuable for character education. He does point out, however, the disappointing results of mere verbal instruction.

"To get good character one must practice it under conditions that are satisfactory." Perhaps day schools and Sunday Schools need to recognize the situations in which traits of character may be encouraged. While devices may help to inculcate traits, the character and personality of the teacher are contagious.

The training of mental health requires an activity program, according to Professor Andress. To get the full measure of the best teachers, in the classes of such teachers the pupils and girls learn to be more honest and self-reliant. The individual teacher and the institution are having an influence. If a school is guided by mental health aims, it will encourage self-reliance, self-control, initiative, courage in facing the disagreeable attention in the present situation, orderly thinking and wholesome interests.

LET THE SCHOOLS TEACH NEEDS OF THE SCHOOLS SAYS PROFESSOR FINNEY

"Children do not realize that they are attending, were undreamed of in Washington's day. They have no notion of the struggle and effort it took to establish our American public schools. They would be amazed to learn of the legislator of Horace Mann's time who orated in the General Assembly of his state that when he died he wanted it engraved upon his tombstone: 'Here lies an enemy of the free public school.' A study of the life and times of Horace Mann could readily be made a vehicle for imparting this kind of information. And young people brought up on such a diet should be taught by the didactic method, according to J. Mace Andress. It is as if the Democratic party kept its young ignorant of him. It is as if the teachers in the school as a whole are having no attempt to make education public. "It strives always to maintain a proper balance between individual freedom and the welfare of the group."

Good Customer — "Here, look what you did!"

Laundromat - "I can't see anything wrong with that lace."

Good Customer — "Lace! That was a shirt."
