Oil Industry Won't Close In Smog Fight

Proposal of California Governor
Termed Unsound

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Southern California's oil industry, invited by Gov. Goodwin J. Knight to shut down operations temporarily for a smog test, has declined—with some comment unrefined.

"The solution to the smog problem is not to be found in politics," snapped Reese H. Taylor, Union Oil President. Knight and Democrat Richard Graves are locked in the current campaign for governor and smog has suddenly erupted into the hottest issue.

Four other major companies and an independent group followed Union's lead and took dissenting stands. The governor awaited word from other operators of the area's 25 refineries without great optimism.

General Petroleum called Knight's proposal "unsound" and "meaningless." Richfield said the move "would neither prove nor disprove" how the irritating pollutants get into the air on which Angelenos have been gagging for 17 straight days.

Standard Oil of California and Shell were more reserved in their comments, but like the other companies insisted the industry has done all in its power to curb smoke pollutants at their refineries. Shell alone offered to meet with the governor to discuss the proposal.

The Independent Refiners Assn., attacked the request as "completely impractical from the industry standpoint" and urged Knight "to eliminate political considerations" from his views.

Knight dropped the bombshell plan in the companies' laps yesterday. He asked for a voluntary closing of refineries "in the public interest for such a period as will permit an adequate test of the amount of smog coming from the manufacture of gasoline and other petroleum products in this country."

His plea for immediate suspension was supplemented by a request that the 54,900 oil workers in the area be paid during the shutdown. He maintained reserve stocks were adequate to provide for the region's needs. The companies and smog officials would decide how long the shutdown should last.

The proposal took oilmen by surprise. Union was the first to reply. "Your request is most unreasonable, not based on facts and actually is not in the public interest," Taylor wired Knight. Taylor said the amount of hydrocarbons emitted by refineries was small compared with the pollution from automobile and truck exhausts.

Taylor declared the industry has been the leader in the fight against smog and has complied with all control regulations.

"The oil industry is not the prime suspect and should not continually be made the goat," Taylor contended.

Haystack Lead Spurs Hunt for Missing N.D. Boy

POWERS LAKE, N.D. (AP) — A spot where someone had slept in a haystack furnished searchers with a clue today as a widespread search continued over desolate prairie lands for 4-year-old La Vern Engst, missing nearly a week.

Tracking dogs were put on the haystack lead this morning as nearly 200 searchers, several on horseback took up the hunt. Bus and carloads of volunteers were reported en route from Culbertson and Fairview, Mont., and Minot, N.D.

While the search seemed futile, there was no indication of a let up. The boy vanished last Sunday after apparently following his father who had gone to a pasture to round up cattle.

Mrs. Obert Engst, La Vern's distraught mother, said it is her feeling now that someone has found La Vern and that he is alive somewhere.

"Please send me a wire or telegram, or a card if you know of my boy," she pleaded. Mrs. Engst, near state of collapse, is under a doctor's care. Her husband has been with searchers every day.

Cloudy skies and a chill north wind confronted volunteers today. Doctors have expressed doubt that La Vern could survive an extended period in the open. He was dressed in a T-shirt and denim trousers. Freezing weather gripped the area several of the days he has been missing.

European Status Decided on for Saar France, Germany Agree to Plan

By JOSEPH E. DYNAN

PARIS (AP) — The Western Allies took defeated West Germany into the defense fold today moments after France and her traditional enemy wrote a hectic 11th-hour compromise settlement of the long-festering dispute over the Saar.

French Premier Pierre Mendes-France and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer initiated an agreement to give the rich Saar border area, German by language and custom but closely tied to the French economy, a "European" status—at least until the long-awaited peace conference for a reunified Germany.

This accord, which remained in doubt almost to the last minute, removed the final obstacle to the signing of other Allied treaties hammered out here this week and in London last month.

Sign Agreement

Under glaring floodlights in the French foreign ministry's gold and white state dining room, the foreign ministers of the Western Big Three then joined the Chancellor in signing an agreement to end the Allied occupation of West Germany and to restore all but full sovereignty to the West Germans.

A principal factor in winning the new agreements was a promise by the United States and Britain to keep troops on the European continent indefinitely. These guarantees were given to soothe apprehensive Frenchmen—at the London conference late in September at which the basic outlines of today's agreements were drawn.

European foreign ministers followed up the sovereignty agreement with the signing of amendments to the 1948 Brussels Alliance which establish a "Western European Union" linking Britain, France, Belgium, Holland, Luxembourg, West Germany and Italy.

Their action, adding two former enemy states to the original five-power treaty, replaced the ill-fated European army plan as a framework for West German rearmament, less than two months after the death of EDC in the French National Assembly. In today's treaty and with their new sovereignty, the Germans received the right to rearm.

War Renounced

The West Germans simultaneously renounced war as an instrument of national policy, particularly in connection with claims to lost areas in the East, and stepped willingly into an inter-Allied system setting strict controls on the production of arms and the movement of troops in Germany for the rest of this century.

Another agreement fixed a ceiling of 12 divisions on the new German army and placed it tightly under the orders of the supreme allied commander, Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther. The Germans also pledged themselves not to use force to achieve the deeply desired reunification of their country.

The signature ceremony began at 3:25 p.m. and was completed at 3:56 p.m.

The ministers, except Adenauer, then moved to NATO headquarters in the Palais de Chaillot annex, where the 14 member nations were to sign an agreement inviting West Germany "to become their 15th member."

Those achievements, which added German manpower to Allied strength in defense of the West, evoked a quick and more than coincidental response from Moscow. While the treaties were being completed here, the Kremlin sent a new note to the Western Big Three embassies in Moscow on the German unity issue. It was believed to concern proposals for free elections in Germany as a prelude to reunification.

To Study Ruse Move
U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Sir Anthony Eden and Mendes-France scheduled a meeting here later in the day, apparently to study this latest Russian move.

A Cabinet spokesman said Premier Pierre Mendes-France was instructed to attach some reservations concerning ownership of the coal mines in the Saar and their production. A settlement on this issue was complicated by a 50-year lease on the mines which the Saar regime gave to the French some time ago.

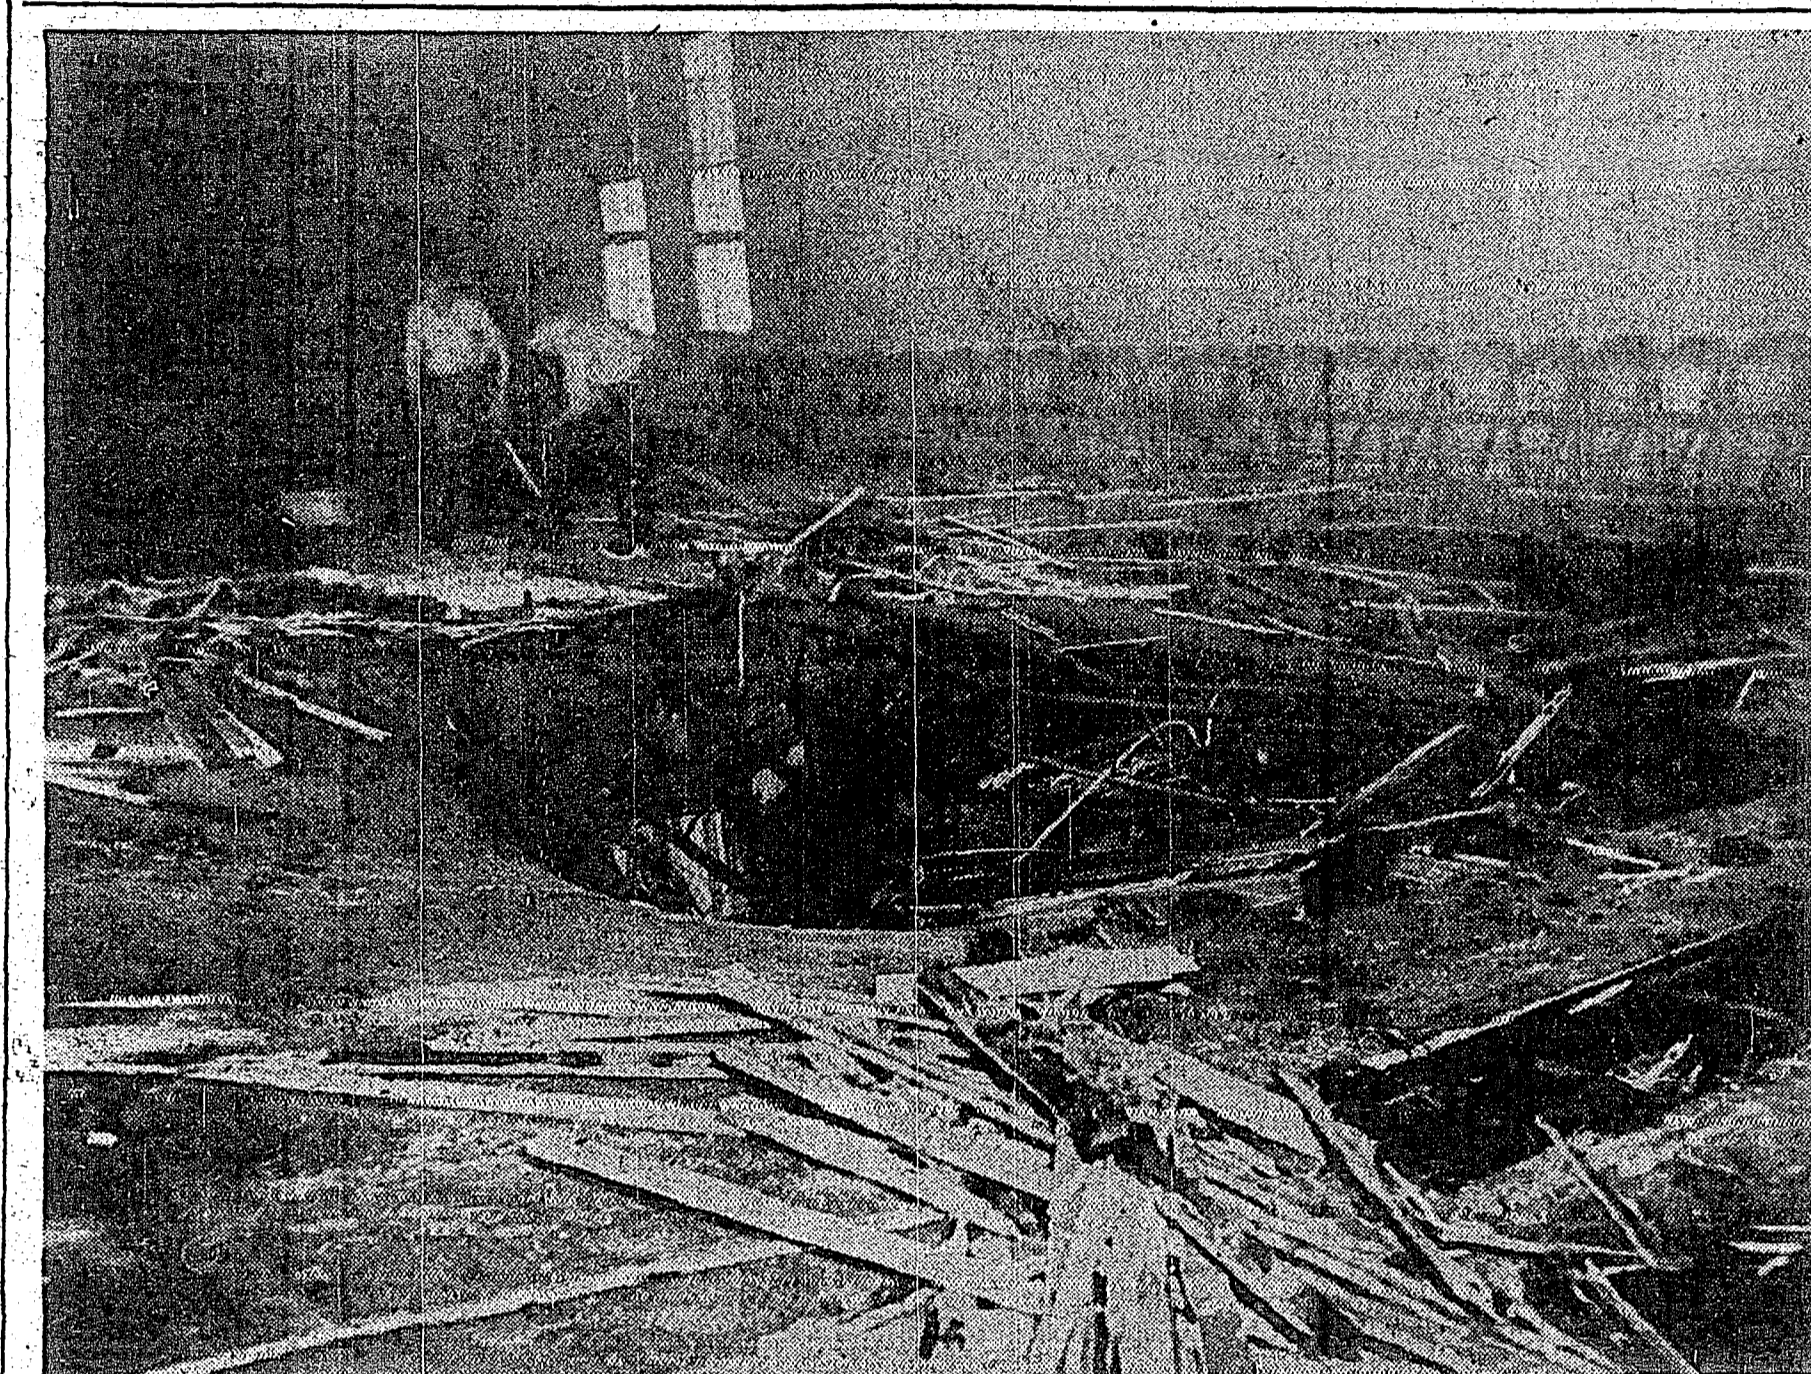

The accord was described as a treaty outline or common declaration which Mendes-France and Adenauer would initial here. The details would be worked out in the next few weeks.

The Saar problem has been holding up the whole Allied defense system worked out here this week. Mendes-France said flatly he would sign none of the accords unless he obtained a satisfactory settlement of the Saar issue.

These accords end the Allied occupation of West Germany, give the Germans virtual sovereignty, frame a seven-power Western European Union including West Germany, and give West Germany an equal place in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

French sources said the Saar agreement was expected to be ready in time for consideration by the French Cabinet at a special session tonight at 5:11; sun rises tomorrow at 6:33.

Firemen Were Busy Today putting out fires in the flooring surrounding this gaping hole in the second story dance floor at the Winona Athletic Club. The fire that originated in a coat room directly below the hole, badly damaged the center of the first two floors. The loss including water damage to one of the six bowling alleys in the basement and extensive smoke and heat damage throughout the 2-story brick building, was estimated in excess of $50,000. Most of the loss was covered by insurance. Two fire stations were called to fight the flames at 4:13 a.m. along with half of the off duty shift. The firemen confined the fire in an hour, but remained on the scene until well into the morning. ### Chief Damage In Coat Room, Dance Hall Area

Only One Bowling
Alley Damaged; 5
To Be Open Monday

By BOB EGGLESON

Daily News Staff Writer

An early morning fire, believed to have originated in a first floor coat room from a cigarette or oily rags, caused damage estimated at $50,000 at the Winona Athletic Club in the East End today.

Athletic Club President Henry Muras said this morning that most of the loss is covered by insurance. In addition to the fire damage to the area surrounding the coat room and the dance floor on the second story, smoke and heat penetrated throughout the entire building.

The first alarm was turned in at 4:13 a.m., by an unidentified duck burner. He noticed a small flame on a window casing in the recreation room on the Mankato avenue side.

When firemen arrived the fire had already swept through the walls and ceiling surrounding the cloak room. A hole about 10-by-20-feet in the dance floor had caused the adjoining floor to the east to sag as supports were twisted by the intense heat. Plaster on the ceiling of the recreation room below fell to the floor exposing the wire and metal supporting structures.

Spreads Rapidly

Fire Chief Frank P. Witt said that a major factor in the rapid spread of the fire was a soundproofing material under the dance floor. The flames spread from the coat room through the ceiling and walls across the width of the building.

He added he was certain that the fire was started by a cigarette or some oily rags in the coat room area of the Central and

East End stations and half of the off-duty shift were called to fight the flames, that were mainly confined to the walls. Some firemen remained on duty long after the flames were controlled about 5:15 a.m., to put out the scattered fires within the walls.

The 2-story brick building facing 5th street, was completed in 1930 at an estimated cost of $55,000.

Bulk of the fire damage was in the center of the building surrounding the coat room area. One alley in the 6-lane basement bowling alley was extensively damaged by water, but the other five lanes are expected to be ready for use Monday. Eight leagues utilize the Athletic Club Lanes.

Plaster Falls

The recreation room, adjoining the coat room, was heavily damaged. Plaster from the entire ceiling fell onto the piano, pool table and floor. Windows were cracked and blackened.

Second story windows on the east (Mankato avenue) wall of the dance hall also evidenced the effect of the heat and smoke, but the bulk of the damage there was to the floor itself. Corridors and the kitchen at the northeast corner of the building were coated with a layer of smoke stain. An electric clock in the kitchen had stopped at 3:50.

Hall Smoke Stained

Directly over the hole in the dance floor, the ceiling showed marks from the heat and the entire ballroom was smoke stained. A smaller hole had been chipped by firemen near the west wall to extinguish flames as they spread through the flooring. Part of the office was visible through this hole and plaster and water had damaged office equipment on the first floor.

Cracks in the plaster walls and sections adjoining doorways were also marked by the seepage of smoke. Firemen had to break their way into most rooms to battle the spread of the fire.

A store room adjacent to the coat room, opposite the recreation room, also was subject to intense heat, as a mop inside the room was burned although flames did not penetrate the walls.

The bar, immediately south of the recreation room, was damaged by smoke and heat, but was expected to be open later today as cleanup operations got under way at about 9 o'clock this morning. The bar room was completely remodeled within the last five years.

Nixon Claims Communists Using Democratic Party

Ike to Woo GOP Votes in Pennsylvania

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower forays into politically important Pennsylvania today in a stepped up drive to bolster the Republican campaign for the Nov. 2 congressional elections.

About 150 top Republicans in Pennsylvania—officials, party leaders and candidates—were invited to hear the President and eat his beef stew recipe at a luncheon on Eisenhower's 189-acre farm near Gettysburg.

Eisenhower planned to travel by auto to the site near the historic battlefield, about a two-hour drive from the capital.

Pennsylvania Democrats have been whooping a victory cry in advance of the election day show down. They say they have a good chance to ouster five or more House Republicans—enough to give the Democrats control of the now narrowly divided House if the party holds its own elsewhere. And they claim a good chance to get the governorship for the second time in 70 years.

Eisenhower was heading for Pennsylvania after only one day in the White House. He politicked in Connecticut and New York City on Wednesday and Thursday. He returned only one week ago from an eight weeks work-and-play vacation in Denver.

On the way to his farm, Eisenhower planned to stop off at the Pennsylvania monument on the Gettysburg Civil War battlefield and speak briefly to townfolks. This was a late addition to his schedule.

From Gettysburg, Eisenhower will drive 20 miles to his weekend retreat at Camp David, in the Catoctin Mountains at Thurmont, Md.

Reports Truman Staff Was Soft In Handling Reds

BUTTE, Mont. (AP)—Vice President Nixon declared last night he has evidence the Communists are promoting their interests in this country through the Democratic party.

Nixon, a former U. S. senator from California, said he possesses a "secret memorandum" to California Communist party leaders, directing them to "fight out the issues within the ranks of the Democratic party."

He made the declaration before a theater audience of about 1,500 in Butte last night, one of several stops in his area on his campaign tour in support of Republican candidates.

Nixon was scheduled to leave Butte today for Worland and Cheyenne, Wyo. where he promised to make further disclosures in speeches today.

As far as the Republicans are concerned, Nixon asserted, the GOP "never has had the support of the Communist party and it does not have its support now and it will never accept it or have it in the future."

"There is no question," he said, "but that millions of loyal Democrats throughout the United States bitterly resent and will oppose this effort on the part of the Communists to infiltrate the Democratic party and to make its policies the policies of the Democratic party."

But, he added: "The 6,926 security risks which have been weeded out of the government service by the Eisenhower administration in the past 20 months are grim evidence that the American people were justified when they lost confidence in the previous administration's will or ability to deal with the Communist threat at home."

The Democratic administration of former President Truman, he said, "unfortunately adopted policies which were so vacillating and inconsistent in dealing with the Communist threat."

Hunters Warned Northern Pike Season Closed

ST. PAUL (AP)—The conservation department today issued a special warning to hunters that the fishing season for northern pike closed Friday.

Francis Johnson, chief of the department's warden service, noted that many hunters carry fishing equipment for use if hunting slackens.

The season for walleyes, rock bass and large and small mouth bass will remain open through Nov. 30. Fishing is continuous for crappies, sunfish, bullheads and the rest of the panfish family.

Stevenson Lashes Nixon Campaign

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Adlai Stevenson has accused President Eisenhower of "dangerous politics" and said Vice President Nixon is leading a congressional campaign that might be called "McCarthyism in a white collar."

The 1952 Democratic presidential nominee, speaking last night at a party rally of 3,000, said:

"It looks as though the Great Crusade under the leadership of Snow White is going to end up this critical congressional campaign on the elevated note of subversion, perversion and denunciation of former President Truman."

"I suppose that's what they call McCarthyism in a white collar," he said. "The reference to 'Snow White' was not in Stevenson's prepared text, which instead read, 'under the leadership of the vice president of the United States.'"

Stevenson said that in Denver two weeks ago the President called for a Republican Congress to avoid "a cold war of partisan politics between the Congress and the executive branch."

Youths Who Led Police on Chase Draw Sentences

BEMIDJI, Minn. (AP)—Two Cass Lake, Minn., youths who led police on a frenzied auto chase today were sentenced by Judge D. H. Fullerton after pleading guilty to first degree grand larceny.

Clifton Edmund Roy, 22, who was on probation for attempted armed robbery in Hennepin County last year, was sentenced to up to 10 years in the St. Cloud Reformatory.

Victor Boudreau, 20, who admitted serving six months in an Oregon county jail on a bad check charge, was turned over to the Youth Conservation Commission for a period up to 10 years.

Pursued as burglary suspects, the two escaped Cass Lake and Bemidji police early Wednesday, leaving in their trail one damaged police car and another that blew a head gasket. They were arrested in Grand Forks, N.D., on suspicion of passing bogus checks.

Stevenson Lashes Nixon Campaign

"The words at Denver were words not of statesmanship but of politics—and dangerous politics," Stevenson said, "but it denies democracy's central idea of representation when a President sees cold war with Congress if the people elect the men of their choice instead of his."

"Mr. Eisenhower's statement," he said, "reflects very poorly, hardly even honestly, the fact that most of the legislative accomplishments of the administration have been possible only by the support of Democrats who, incidentally, supported the President on such vital matters as tariffs, the Bricker Amendment, housing and many others more loyally than Republicans."

Stevenson declared Vice President Nixon "boasted" last February that the administration had finished "cleaning up the mess in Washington."

Now, said Stevenson, Nixon is "back at the old reliable again—Communists in government."

Paris Population Over 5 Million

PARIS (U) — Paris and its immediate suburbs have passed the five million mark in population, according to final results now in from the census of last spring.

The city itself now has 2,850,159 residents, a slight increase over the 2,725,374 counted in 1926. The 80 communities in the Seine Department bring it to 5,154,834—well over the pre-World War II total of 4,962,957 in 1936. Although suburbs like Neuilly or Le Bourget have separate local governments, they all look like part of Paris to the casual observer.

Homeless Boy Waiting for Dog

FINDLAY, Ohio (U) — A homeless 14-year-old boy hung around the Hancock County Jail today, waiting for word whether the dog he calls the only friend he's got has been found.

No one was sure, but it began to look as though the big, floppy-eared dog found ambling along a street yesterday in Garfield Heights, Ohio, might be "Punky."

If Punky turns up, it'll mean a lot to young Walter Smith Jr. He has no mother and he doesn't want to go to the father he hardly knows.

On Oct. 12, Walter walked into his mother's home in Mansfield, Ohio. There, on the floor, he found her body and that of Joseph Henry Schwartz, 44. Police said Schwartz shot and killed the boy's mother, Mrs. Dolores Cavithorn, 37, then shot himself.

Rather than go to his father, a mechanic in Galesburg, Ill., Walter and Punky ran away. The two traveled the dark roads—walking and hitchhiking—until finally the boy, tired and hungry, got to a telephone. He recalled the authorities who had gathered around his mother's home, and could think only of a sheriff. He got in touch with Sheriff Carson C. Davis here.

"It's dark and I'm hungry," Walter told the sheriff. Davis brought the boy into the city, fed him and put him to bed. Punky was tied outside, but the next day chewed off his rope and disappeared.

The boy's been waiting here—waiting and hoping his dog would return. He declined offers for other dogs.

"I'll wait for Punky," the youngster says. "He's the only friend I've got."

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Every time I touch politics in my column I get howls from my syndicate, various newspaper editors who run it, and from my wife.

"Don't," they say. "There are enough political columns in the papers now. There are the editorials. There are the political speeches. There is politics on television, on radio and through loud-speakers in the streets. Let your readers forget politics for a while. Give them something to think about, to smile about, to cry about. But no politics please."

That is, of course, one reason why I don't write about politics.

After all, my editors are the ones who pay the bills for my column and my wife is the one who uses the money to keep house for me. So both of their opinions are worth a lot.

But there is another reason. I don't know the first thing about politics.

To be perfectly frank, if anybody asked me to give them a definition of the two parties—the Democratic and the Republican one, I couldn't do it.

It seems to me that most people who belong to a party don't know much more—or any more—about why they belong to it or what it represents than I do.

If you are a Southerner you belong to the Democrats, unless you want to be considered an out-law or a rebel or something.

If you are a Vermonter or a New Hampshire, you are a Republican. Why? Don't ask me, please. It must be for the same reason that cabbage is always served with corned beef, ham with eggs, sauerkraut with frankfurters. I asked my wife the other night to give me some asparagus with my corned beef, and I think she was tempted to call the doctor. She seemed to think I had a temperature.

One thing I do know, however. The two national committee chairmen and practically all the candidates for office during pre-election time seem to have lost all their sense of balance, and they seem to think that all American voters are lunatics.

They call each other liars. The Democrats call the President harsh names and accuse the vice president of falsehoods.

The Democrats also say that the Republican administration has been a curse to the country. The Republicans hint at 20 years of treason and inefficiency.

Do these fellows think for a moment that we non-politicians are convinced by those ridiculous statements? Do they believe that all that blasting and screaming and shouting is going to determine our vote?

I have never believed that old claim of the amateur psychologists (and many professional ones, too) that the average American has the mind of a 12-year-old child. That may be true of politicians and political candidates—but only during pre-election time.

Leonard Hall, the Republican chairman, said that there is no such thing as the "common man."

"In our book," he added, "he's an uncommon man who deserves individual opportunity, a chance to grow and expand, a man who must have his independence and his freedom."

You see, even an electioneering politician has lucid moments every now and then.

CHICAGO (U) — A slippery ex-convict who shot and killed a police detective who attempted to arrest him, appeared today to have eluded a dragnet spread over the Chicago area.

A mass manhunt for Gus Amedeo, 26, involving special assignment of 200 policemen, was called off late Friday night, with police reporting they had exhausted all clues.

Did You Ever See a GRAVY TRAIN?

You paid for car. A Gravy-train car. A Farmer Labor car. That was back in 1927 and '28, when your state government was run for the benefit of the state Farmer Labor Party holders, and their friends and relatives.

Every day they throw away money—your money. Then in 1928 you got tired of being robbed. You asked the Republicans to "clean up the Farmer Labor mess" in St. Paul.

The Republicans obeyed your order. "Car by car" they wrecked the gravy train.

They started with the State Purchased "Car". There was a lot of "plunk" in that one. For instance, the difference between the low bid and the actual amount paid for such things as:

Low Bids Amount Paid
Cots for state institutions $ 93.75 $103.63
Coffee Urns $275.00 $275.00

Your 1929 Conservative controlled legislature made that kind of "gravy" impossible. Now the state demands sealed bids, and actually buys from the lowest bidder.

The Republicans took care of the over-loaded State Employees' "Car" with the new Civil Service Law.

The result: 4,025 unnecessary employees dropped, saving $4,976,110 the first year Republicans were in office! Some of these employees never even worked for the state—they just drew their paychecks regularly!

Gravy ran in a steady stream from the Highway Department "Car". Instead of buying equipment, they rented it. For instance:

One crusher would have cost $10,007 to buy but actually cost you $74,633 in rent.
A tractor which would have cost $4,175 if bought, cost you $12,770 in rent for three years.

Did you ever see any highways being built in Minnesota in January and February? You paid rent on equipment during those months in 1928.

Limping along at the end of the train was a battered old car with its engine bulging. That was the "State Debt" car. Why should it be bulging? As citizens of Minnesota, you owed $157,767,000 on January 1, 1929.

Your Republican state government took care of that too. Within ONE YEAR Your Republican government:

Paid off a highway deficit of $1,000,000
Cut state spending by $5,000,000
Saved the state in payroll $4,975,125
Collected in omitted taxes and illegal "kickbacks" $ 425,000

TODAY, 16 years later, your state debt has been cut by $70,753,000

You got rid of the gravy train riders in 1929.

DO YOU WANT THEM RUNNING YOUR STATE AGAIN?
For 16 years you have had good government—government that is honest—government that gives you your money's worth for your tax dollars—government you can trust.

St. Stanislaus Considered for Blood Program

Athletic Club
Fire Prompts
Changes in Plans

Today's fire at the Winona Athletic Club has prompted a rescheduling of the Red Cross blood donor program here next month.

James D. Cole, blood chairman for the Winona County chapter, said this noon that plans have been made tentatively for the mobile blood unit from St. Paul to spend the first two days of the drive at the St. Stanislaus Church rather than the originally-scheduled site at the Athletic Club.

Cole said that arrangements for the St. Stanislaus Church headquarters have not been completed but it is expected that permission will be obtained for use of the facilities.

Until today's fire the mobile unit was to have been at the Athletic Club Nov. 1 and 2 before moving to the Masonic Temple for the final two days of the drive.

Appointments Same

Cole said that if the St. Stanislaus Church is used donors who have already made appointments for the Athletic Club the first two days will report to the church at their regular appointment times.

The Red Cross organization, meanwhile, today intensified their efforts to recruit additional donors for the November drive.

Volunteers today toured the downtown business district leaving blood donor appointment blanks in all parked cars.

Cole asked that all persons who receive one of the blanks fill in a desired appointment time and mail it immediately to the Red Cross office here.

Recruiting Disappointing

The blood chairman said that results in the recruiting drive thus far have been "disappointing."

He remarked that "in many of our industrial firms we are finding that of several hundred employees only a few are volunteering to give blood."

He emphasized the need for a substantial donor turnout to insure a continuance of the Red Cross program for providing free blood in hospitals.

"If we don't furnish enough blood to support this program the only alternative will be to put the blood supply on a cost basis," Cole explained.

Woman Enters Guilty Plea In Stabbing

Mrs. Quain Held Under Bond for Circuit Court

LA CROSSE, Wis.—Mrs. Corinne Michalek Quain, 21, La Crosse, entered a plea of guilty Friday to a charge of assault with intent to murder.

The charge stemmed from the stabbing of Mrs. Elvera Dinger, 21, La Crosse, in Mrs. Dinger's apartment Wednesday night. After the stabbing, Mrs. Quain took some of her victim's clothing, luggage, a purse and some money and fled the apartment. Mrs. Dinger, who had been bound in a chair during the stabbing, freed herself and went to police headquarters a block away. She was taken to a La Crosse hospital where she remained in critical condition Friday.

Angered by Charges

Mrs. Quain was arrested at Elroy (Juneau County) Thursday night. Returned to La Crosse Friday, she told Dist. Atty. John Bossard she stabbed Mrs. Dinger because she was aroused by accusations that she had stolen clothing from Mr. Dinger. Both women are separated from their husbands.

La Crosse County Judge Roy Ahlstrom bound Mrs. Quain over to Circuit Court for trial and ordered her held under $5,000 bond.

Mrs. Quain's record between 1946 and 1951, when she was placed under the control of the probation department, includes investigation for attempting to commit suicide, a larceny investigation and later conviction.

On Jan. 17, 1951, she was convicted of lingering and loitering in a tavern when under 21 years of age and of larceny. In 1952, she was fined $20 and costs of $4.24 in County Court for lingering and loitering. She was convicted of intoxication and disorderly conduct and was ordered off the premises of a tavern licensed to sell liquor because she was not 21.

Mrs. Quain was sentenced to from one to three years at the Wisconsin Home for Women at Taycheedah in 1953, but the sentence was suspended and she was placed on probation for three years.

Mrs. Dinger told police the attack took place after Mrs. Quain asked her to get a book. She said Mrs. Quain tried to stab her in the back, but failed and bent the knife blade. The attack frightened her so, Mrs. Dinger related, that she followed Mrs. Quain's instructions to sit in a chair while her hands were tied behind her. She said Mrs. Quain then struck her with a flat iron and stabbed her twice in the chest and once in the back. Police said Mrs. Dinger suffered a punctured lung.

She said the two had been talking in the apartment for about two hours before the attack and that she and Mrs. Quain had been friends. She added that there had been no disagreement or argument.

Late Friday, Richard climbed into the hopper unnoticed. The combine tumbled in the field to harvest more soybeans.

session this afternoon. Mendes-France will then ask his ministers to authorize him to sign the Saar accord and the other documents.

Mendes-France and Adenauer had conferred until almost 3 a.m. today on the Saar issue. They resumed their talks again at 11:30 a.m. with the foreign ministers of the 13 other nations, including U.S. Secretary of State Dulles sitting anxiously on the sidelines.

It was learned Dulles sent both Mendes-France and Adenauer a message expressing "profound hope" that France and West Germany will agree on the Saar's future. The U.S. secretary then scheduled a meeting with British Foreign Secretary Sir Anthony Eden to review the situation.

The two disputing government chiefs, both of whom act as their own foreign ministers, talked five hours last night and this morning in the book-lined study of British Ambassador Sir Gladwyn Jebb. Each had two top advisers with him.

Both sides agreed considerable progress had been made but some tough points remained to be settled.

It was considered an encouraging sign that progress was reported on political questions, which had been considered most difficult. Authoritative sources said the still undecided matters were largely economic, and it was a need for technical information that finally halted the morning conference.

The French Premier intended to call his Cabinet together as soon as he had results of the Saar talks to put before it. The Cabinet had authorized his announcement yesterday that he would sign none of the agreements unless he also came to satisfactory terms with Germany over the Saar.

The French agreements included: 1. A four-power accord by Britain, France, the United States and West Germany—making West Germany a nearly free ally after 10 years of occupation.

2. A revised Brussels treaty under which Germany and Italy would be joined in a military pact with England, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

The alliance, called the Western European Union, would permit Germany to begin arming 12 divisions to help defend the West against Communist aggression.

3. An invitation to West Germany to join the North Atlantic Treaty Organization on the same basis as the United States and its 13 other members.

Man Tells of Ride on Raft Across Pacific

HONOLULU (U)—An intrepid, 61-year-old craftsman, who drifted 6,500 miles from Peru to American Samoa, attributes his survival of 115 days in the stormy Pacific to "mind over matter."

William Willis of New York arrived by plane from the South Pacific yesterday with "Meekie," the fish-loving cat who made the long voyage with him. Another companion, "Peekie," a parrot, was lamentably eaten by "Meekie" two days before they reached Pago Pago Oct. 15.

Willis stepped down from a Pan American Airways liner, fresh and rested, but reluctant to talk to reporters. He read a prepared statement and said he planned to sell what he called his "almost incredible story" to the highest bidder after talks with his agents in New York.

However, later at a private, informal reception at the Adventurers Club of Hawaii, he told of riding the pitching, 35-foot balsa raft with only short camps at the steering wheel.

"I had to be on deck all the time," he said. "I had to keep the raft on course. It was 24-hour watches all the way. Most of the time I had to hold on for my life."

After his water became contaminated, he said, he drank sea water—"as much as I needed and no more—and suffered no ill effects. It's all in the mind. I wasn't afraid of salt water. I didn't worry about it and it didn't bother me."

"It was mind over matter; nothing else."

He said his kerosene stove broke down early on the voyage and he threw it overboard. The rest of the way it was raw fish, salt water, barley and cold instant coffee made with salt water, he added.

"I was never short of food," he declared. "There were plenty of fish in the ocean."

Landslide Buries 260 Persons in Haitian Village

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (U)—An estimated 260 persons were reported buried in a tremendous landslide that thundered down Tuesday on the remote mountain village of Berly, 20 miles south of here.

Capt. P. Burchett, head of the Inter-American Geodetic Survey, brought back word of the disaster yesterday after landing at the site of the buried village in a helicopter.

He said the estimate of fatalities was based on reports by local police. They said the only survivors were a child who fled ahead of the rumbling earth slide and a woman visiting out of town.

A Red Cross party which hiked to the scene said only six houses still stood on Berly's outskirts. The rescue party had to travel 35 hours through fog-shrouded, trackless mountains to reach the village.

The landslide presumably resulted from floods in the wake of Hurricane Hazel. The fierce storm lashed Haiti last week before cutting a swath through the Eastern United States and Canada.

Incomplete figures early this week indicated the hurricane took at least 74 lives in the island. One report, unconfirmed by any official sources, said 200 children were lost at Peredo, near the southern port of Marigot, when a school-house was swept away.

Dutch Shipping Line Sues in Freighter Sinking

MILWAUKEE (U)—The Oranje Line of Rotterdam has filed a two-million dollar damage suit in U. S. District Court here against the Sinclair Refining Co. as the result of the sinking last week of a Dutch cargo ship.

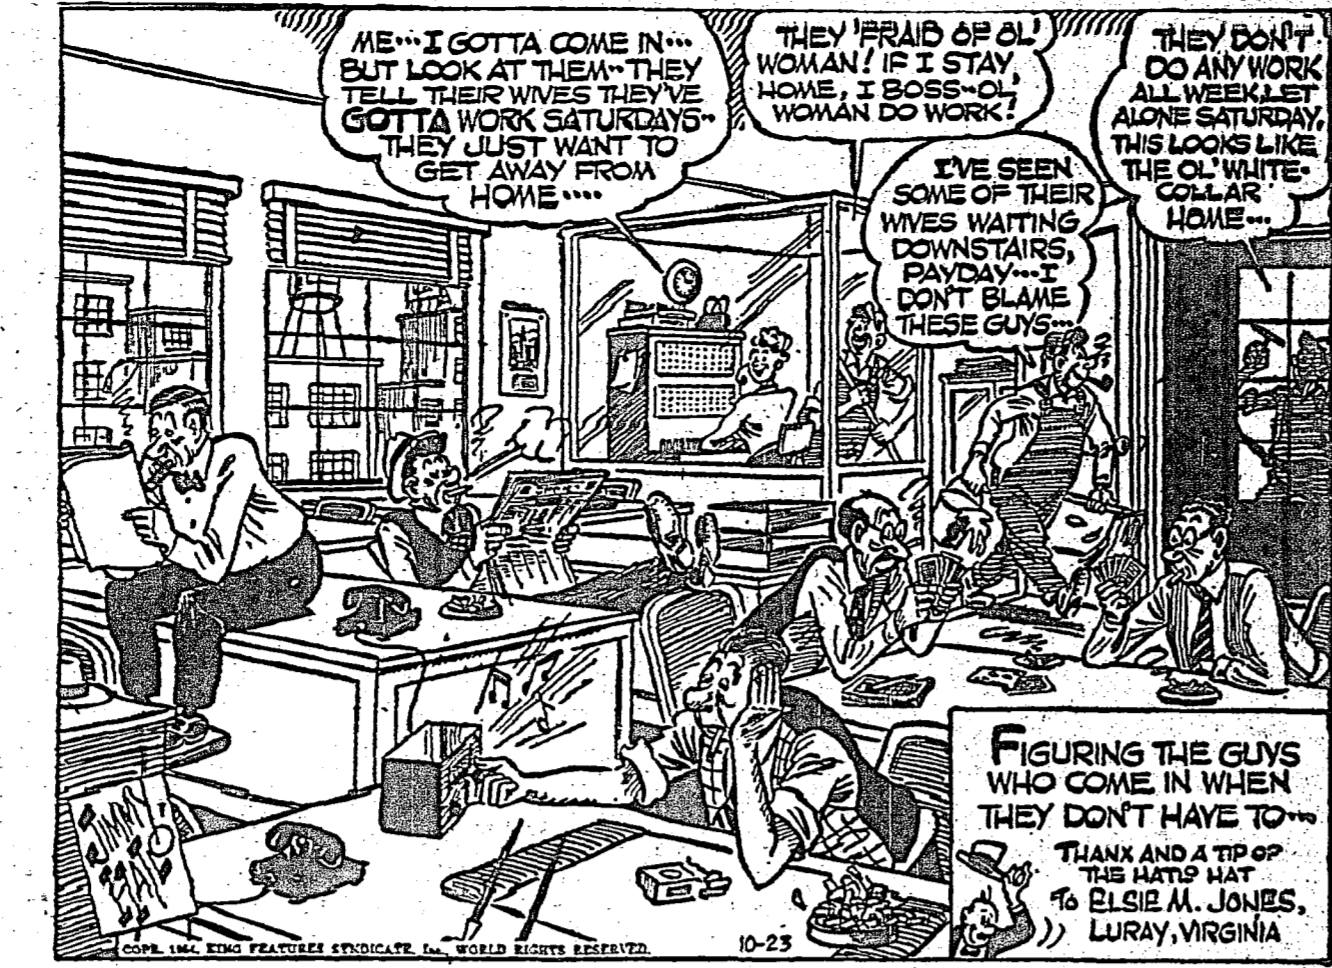

The Prins Willem V went to the bottom of Lake Michigan three miles off the harbor entrance here Oct. 14 after colliding with a barge being towed by the tug Chicago, owned by Sinclair. There were no casualties.

The suit was filed Friday by Stuart Bradley of a Chicago law firm representing the Oranje Line. The oil firm was given 20 days to file an answer.

Bradley said the suit includes allegations that:

The barge was not equipped with red and green running lights at and prior to the collision; the tug was not carrying proper navigation lights; no proper lookout was maintained; and no proper signals were given or no proper steps taken to avoid the collision.

It Happened Last Night

My Dog Cookie and I Interview Rin Tin Tin

NEW YORK—My dog Cookie and I interviewed Rin Tin Tin the other day over at the upper claws Dog Bath Club where the society pooches have their own swanky swimming pool.

"I've always been jes' a plain country dog," Rin Tin Tin said, coughing modestly. "I never had a city dog's kind of bath—I jus' cleaned mahself up by a-swimmin' in my master's lake."

"To what do you attribute your cloistered life?" asked Cookie, a Schnauzer about one-tenth as big as Rin Tin Tin.

"Well, now," drawled the massive German Shepherd, but I guess I'll come as no surprise that Rin Tin Tin's questions were answered by his owner, Leo Duncan, a booted, sombreroed Riverside, Calif., rancher.

And I spoke for Cookie, who was girlishly nervous, as Rin Tin Tin had kissed her a couple of times. Imogene Coca, Rita Chase, many other theatrical people and "one of the richest men in America" bring their dogs to the Dog Bath Club, 144 E. 57th St., to have them pedicured, perfumed and beautified for their places in high Dog Society.

"This dog ain't no social dog," Duncan said, nodding at Rin Tin Tin. "This dog got his first bath outside a lake when we left California to tell you city fellas about him going on television."

Cookie shuddered at the thought. Cookie'd never been in the Dog Bath Club before, but she is a civilized animal.

"Rin here got the works at a vet's in California," Duncan said. "He got the bath first, then he got the dog's 'Sin,' whatever they call it. He had a choice of three scents."

"I chose the pine scent, being an old High Sierra man. I like that pine scent—I even put a little of it on myself."

As he spoke, New York's Park Avenue and Fifth Avenue dogs were walking snootily out after having got an expensive bath, coiffure or other beauty treatment. Not one of them seemed to be aware that the famous Rin Tin Tin was lying in the back room making eyes at Cookie, the girl reporter.

A white-coated vet and white-coated woman nurse were looking proud of the beauty job they'd just done on Imogene Coca's big white French poodle, "April"—short for "Apricot."

"What do you do about bathing Rin Tin Tin now that he's not at home by that lake?" I asked. "I try not to let the hotel people in on it," Duncan replied, "but when I take my shower... well, then I run a little water in the bathtub afterward—just enough to get up to his chin—and then he... but don't let the hotel people know, will you?"

Duncan got into the Rin Tin Tin business after World War I, when he brought an abandoned German Shepherd home from Europe.

That was Rin the First. "Sunset Strip was not paved yet then and Warner's was just an old barn. Darryl F. Zanuck was my writer and Hal Wallis was my publicity man."

And now Rin Tin Tin IV is on ABC TV starring in "The Adventures of Rin Tin Tin."

"Which dog," I asked Duncan, "would you say is the best of all here that just went out of here has the best dog in the world," he said. "Just go ask her!"

THE WEEKEND WIND-UP.

DON'T PRINT THAT! Betty Hutton's friends here will bet that she (1) won't retire and (2) won't get married. Her divorce isn't final for 3 more months.

The fur market's so cold, one of the oldest restaurants here just filed an answer.

Bradley said the suit includes allegations that:

The barge was not equipped with red and green running lights at and prior to the collision; the tug was not carrying proper navigation lights; no proper lookout was maintained; and no proper signals were given or no proper steps taken to avoid the collision.

Close Race Indicated In Montana

HELENA, Mont. (U)—Montana Republicans are beating a "keep peace and prosperity" rhythm on the political tomtoms in an effort to unseat veteran Democratic Sen. James E. Murray.

Although Murray claims the trend definitely is running his way, Republicans contend GOP Rep. Wesley A. D'Ewart is giving the 78-year-old Democrat the race of his political life. D'Ewart is 65.

Republicans have plastered Montana with billboards proclaiming "Keep peace and prosperity, vote Republican" and "Like needs D'Ewart."

Jack Toole, Democratic state chairman, scoffed at what he termed a Republican attempt to cash in on Eisenhower's popularity and on a prosperity he said is illusory.

"They don't say what peace, nor do they say what prosperity," Toole said. "There is turmoil all over the world and no semblance of prosperity at home, and the people are not going to be kidded on that score."

Toole said he thinks the outcome of the Senate race and two contests for House seats Nov. 2 will be settled on the basis of the "pocket-book" vote, a thesis with which Murray agreed.

"It's just a matter of dollars with a lot of people," Toole said. "There aren't as many dollars in the pockets of the farmers and the stockmen, and the merchants are suffering from that fact."

D'Ewart said, on the other hand, that he thinks the basic issue in the campaign is "socialism vs. free enterprise." He said Murray's Senate record as "a leader of the New Deal wing of the Democratic Party" is "rebounding against the senator."

Declaring he stands for about 90 per cent of the Eisenhower program, the Republican nominee said he thinks the President remains highly popular in the state. Eisenhower carried Montana by 51,000 votes in 1952.

Murray has made an issue of Eisenhower's flexible farm price support program, but D'Ewart said he thinks a Montana speech by Secretary of Agriculture Benson has helped the Republican cause greatly.

He said Benson faced a "cool" audience in a section where the farmers union is strong, and won them over before he had finished. The farmers union has been calling for rigid, high-level price supports.

D'Ewart, a rancher himself, contended there is only "professional dissatisfaction in the farm belt, stirred up by the Democrats."

Murray, on the other hand, said he found in traveling to all corners of Montana that the farmers are worked up.

Vishinsky Wisecrack Better in Translation

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (U)—Russia's Andrei V. Vishinsky wisecracked here recently that an excited Latin American speaker was acting like Hazel—the hurricane—on a rampage.

But his wisecrack got changed in translation because of a quirk of pronunciation. The Russian language doesn't have any "H" in it. The Russian use a "G" instead. Thus, Herbert Hoover becomes Gerbert Goover.

So what translators heard was Vishinsky complaining that the delegate was "losing his head, he acts like Hazel on a rampage." He caught the translators by surprise.

The English translator thought Vishinsky said "he acts like a gazelle on a rampage." The Spanish translator, puzzled by the word, finally figured out that Vishinsky was trying to say "he is like gases on a rampage."

All was confusion for a time but this is the true story of what Vishinsky said.

Beef River Goose

Tributary rivers to the Upper Mississippi often provide exciting recreation. In the above picture, Marsh Salway, Modena, is shown with two Canadian honkers he bagged in the Beef River bottomlands in that area. Each bird, as the picture shows, is a full grown adult weighing well over ten pounds.

It is usually luck when a hunter anywhere in this area, where geese hunting is incidental to duck hunting, kills a goose. Thus, getting two out of a flock surprised while feeding, is quite a masterful accomplishment.

Duck hunters recently have found the Trempealeau River bottomlands above Marshland, and in the Dodge area, providing some good duck hunting. It seems that some birds from the Delta and closed areas move into these bottomlands to feed.

Wisconsin has acquired a large section of the Chippewa River bottomlands between Highway 35 and Durand as a public hunting grounds, mainly for waterfowl. It is in this area where many Pepin and Buffalo County hunters get their ducks. Hunting has been more productive there recently than in the Alma-Nelson pool area.

Likewise many fishermen overlook tributary rivers in their fishing. The Chippewa, of course, has been fished for smallmouth for years, and some good smallmouth fishing has been enjoyed along the Zumbro in the Theilman area. The Root River also produces bass as the following item from the Chatfield News states:

"Joe Pavlish had fine luck on the middle branch of the Root. He caught ten bass on Saturday, and six on Sunday. They weighed from one to four pounds." Good bass any place.

Floods carrying heavy silt loads, have cut heavily into fish population in some of the rivers.

Hunting Weekend
Cooler weather and frost during the past week has reduced the foliage on trees throughout this area, although there is still plenty of concealment for squirrels which have become wilder since the opening of the season.

Frosty mornings have also helped the raccoon hunter.

Death of Movie Magnate Saddens Film Colony

LOS ANGELES (U)—The death of Charles P. Skouras, the Greek immigrant boy who made almost a million dollars a year 40 years after his arrival, saddened the movie colony today.

The 65-year-old president of National Theaters, Inc., and Fox West Coast Theaters died yesterday of a heart attack, his third in recent years. Plans are being completed for funeral services in St. Sophia Greek Orthodox Cathedral, which he and his two brothers were largely responsible for building.

Skouras' many philanthropies made him more than just a Hollywood name. The multimillionaire's gifts were recognized by civic awards from Los Angeles, California, and his native Greece.

Skouras landed penniless in New York in 1908 and went to work as a 50-cent-a-day busboy. In 1947 and 1948 he ranked as the nation's highest paid executive. In the latter year his earnings were reported at $775,000.

His younger brothers, Spyros and George, joined him in St. Louis and invested in the Olympia Nickelodeon. This became the cornerstone of a Missouri theater chain which grew to 30 houses in 10 years.

Hard-hit by the crash, the Skouras Brothers climbed back in the '30s and began building the theatrical empire that made them all millionaires. Today it includes 500 movie houses and 20th Century-Fox Studios.

Here is an over-all view of the Bunnell home, which the Winona County Historical Society will restore during the next two years. This view is taken from Highway 61 and is actually the rear of the three-story building. Below the hill level, toward the Mississippi River, is the first level of the home; above the flat front roof can be seen windows of the three upstairs bedrooms. The home was built in the 1850's of hand-hewn logs, by Willard Bunnell, a pioneer fur trader and trapper and is thought to be the oldest house in Winona County. (Daily News photos)

Dr. Lewis I. Younger, president of the Winona County Historical Society, shows where four layers of wall paper have gathered in the 100-year history of the Bunnell home. The staircase, leading up to the three-bedroom third level, is of solid hand-carved walnut and extends all the way to the basement. The wood was brought to Homer by ox team from Wisconsin.

These Two Members of Winona's Portia Club—Mrs. William S. L. Christensen and Mrs. Ted Biesanz—are really heating that bucket of water, as the ancient stove doesn't function any more; but the mop had plenty of elbow grease applied to it as society members clean up the Willard Bunnell home at Homer Friday and today.

PORTIA CLUB PROJECT

Bunnell House Being Cleaned As Home for Historical Society

By TOM BERGHS
Daily News Staff Writer

On a down-sweep of land at Homer—five miles east of Winona—where the main channel of the Mississippi glides near a sandy bank, stands a rough-hewn corner-stone of Minnesota history—the Willard B. Bunnell home, thought to be the oldest house in the county and birthplace of the first white child in Winona County.

The house, which hasn't been used for year-round living since 1918 and has been completely unoccupied since 1946, was purchased from its owner Mrs. Agnes Berum, Winona, by the Winona County Historical Society two weeks ago. Friday and today, the old home, rich in memories of Indian and fur-trading days, is a virtual beehive of activity, as members of Winona's Portia Club apply elbow-grease to the monumental task of cleaning up the dust and dirt—some of it close to 100 years old.

Historical society representatives, wishing to raise funds for establishment of some sort of county historical museum, appeared before the County Board in September and asked commissioners for a grant of money to aid them in their project. Commissioners gave the society $2,500 in October, officials added the sum to several private philanthropic gifts and purchased the Bunnell home for $3,500.

Assured Parking Space
Dr. Lewis I. Younger, president of the society, said Friday that "when the new highway (U. S. 14 from Winona to La Crosse) goes through here next year, the state is going to put up a historical site marker and build us a cut-off and parking space out in front—then we'll have a real interesting tourist stop here."

Friday, members of the Portia group were busy scrubbing walls, floors and windows which hadn't been touched for certain since 1946, when the owner abandoned the place as a summer residence, with much of it undisturbed since 1918 or even earlier. Today, another dozen task-devoted women will invade the home in order to complete the clean-up before Wednesday, when the Historical Society's board of directors will tour the site and decide on the next moves.

The home itself is a fascinating place. Built on a sharply-rising grade about 100 yards away from the southwest bank of Old Man River, it presents a three-story view to riverside onlookers and an abbreviated two-story vista to Highway 61 travelers.

The present building is the successor to the two-story log house built by Willard Bradley Bunnell, a pioneer fur-trader and trapper, who settled in Homer in 1849. That building had to be moved back when the Milwaukee Road layed track through the property in 1872. It burned down when struck by lightning in 1901.

Begun in 1849

A second home—the one now standing—was begun in the Spring of 1849 out of lumber brought to Winona County by ox team from Prairie du Chien, Wis. It was not quite finished in 1861 when Willard Bunnell died.

Previously, Bunnell's wife Matilda gave birth to the couple's fourth child—Frances Matilda—February 22, 1850. Frances was the first white child born in Winona County. Later, residents of Homer, named for Mr. Bunnell's birthplace in New York state, named a street down by the river in honor of Frances' mother. Matilda St. is still used by persons traversing the lower level between the river and the highway.

When you walk into the place from Highway 61, it looks like you're going in the front door—actually you're on the second level. The first level—the house's front—faces the Mississippi. Logic for that arrangement is grounded in pioneer Indian-protection measures.

On this floor are a living-dining room combination, a sweeping parapet porch and a room that probably was once Willard Bunnell's study.

Most interesting part of the home is down on the first level. Here is a huge kitchen, where all food preparation was done; one can almost sense steaming platters of hearty food being carried up a winding set of walnut-girded stairs to the dining room on the second floor.

'Bed-Sink' Room

And too, down here is the home's most history-crusted room. It was called in other days the "Bed-Sink" room. Actually, it was the dying room. Just large enough for a bed, it was a death room for family members suffering past-hope illnesses. Here Willard Bunnell died in 1861, his wife Matilda in 1867 and descendant children through later years. It's rather eerie-thinking of the dread that family members must have felt as they were carried down to the bed-sink room—knowing that they were abbed for death, at least by their contemporaries.

On the first-floor level there's also a sort of all-purpose root cellar and storage room, whose hand-hewn ceiling beams carry right back into the earthen bank and a huge screen-in porch overlooking the Mississippi.

In by-gone days, according to Dr. Younger, the entire house was heated by contrivances called Franklin stoves (named after lightning-and Ben) whose swinging iron screens channeled heat in the desired direction.

Outside, the home has never been painted, its oak planking surviving over 100 years of wind and rain off the turbulent river. All joints were hand-mitered in and secured with square-headed iron nails which show today along the seams of its construction.

Younger said Friday that it would take an estimated two years to restore the home to a replica of the day it was completed in 1849, but then, he said, "after we get some of our prized historical items in here, the society will have restored a landmark the entire county can be proud of."

Arabian Prince Wed In 3 Ceremonies

BEIRUT, Lebanon (U)—The third and final elaborate Moslem ceremony last night affirmed the marriage of Saudi Arabian Prince Talal, brother of King Saud, and Mouna Solh, daughter of the assassinated Lebanese Premier Riad Solh. She is a cousin of the current Premier, Sami Solh.

Two of Beirut's leading hotels provided the setting for the culminating ceremony. Nearly 2,000 guests swarmed in the separate receptions for men and women guests. The men mingled at the Hotel Bristol and the women at the Normandy.

The engagement, the first ceremony, was in the spring. The marriage contract was legalizing the union was in August. After last night's ceremony Talal claimed his 19-year-old bride and the honeymoon began.

Langer Calls Suit By Power Firm 'Major Blunder'

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (U)—Sen. Langer (R-Ind) said today the Arkansas Power & Light Co. "made a major blunder" in filing a two million dollar slander suit against a witness in a Senate investigation of the controversial Dixon-Yates power contract.

Langer, chairman of a Senate antimonopoly subcommittee carrying on the probe, told a newsman a "Wall Street crowd" prompted the filing of the suit in Little Rock "with the clear intent of intimidation" of witnesses critical of the proposed contract, which has become an issue in the current political campaign. Langer did not spell out who he meant by the term "Wall Street crowd."

The North Dakota Republican predicted that public reaction to the suit will be swift and negative. Defendant in the slander suit is Arthur E. McLean, a Little Rock banker who told the Langer subcommittee Thursday that Arkansas Power was "the most corrupt and ruthless corporation that ever operated within the bounds of the state."

Arkansas Power officials indicated the suit—which accuses the banker of making "malicious, false and slanderous statements" about AP&L—is not based on McLean's Senate testimony, which is privileged, but on his past statements in a years long feud with the company.

Informed here of the legal action against him, McLean said "I welcome the suit. . . . They are asking for the works—they're going to get it."

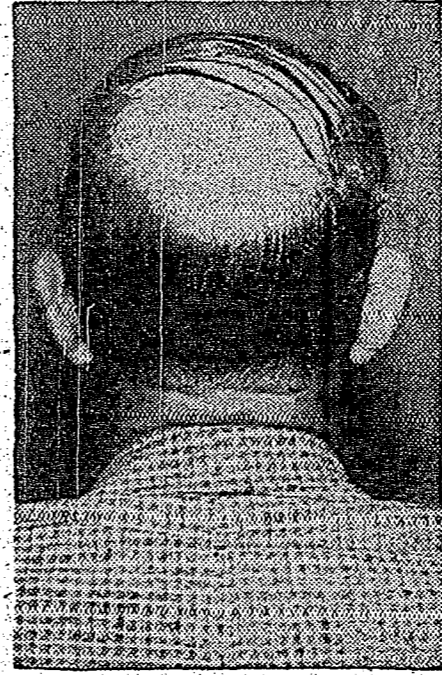

Langer reacted explosively when he heard of the suit. Pounding the table, the senator shouted "We are not going to allow Dixon-Yates or anyone else to bluff, scare or intimidate witnesses." The North Dakota senator said his subcommittee would assign its chief counsel, Sidney Davis, and hire former Gov. Sid McMath of Arkansas to help with McLean's defense, if this can be done legally. He ordered his staff to prepare an opinion on this point.

McMath testified yesterday that AP&L used money and influence in 1952 to defeat his try for a third term in the Arkansas State House. This happened, McMath said, because he favored the building of a steam power generating plant by a group of cooperatives.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (U)—Roscoe C. Patterson, author of the Lindbergh kidnap law when he served as U. S. senator from Missouri, died last night at his home. He was 78.

Patterson was elected to the Senate in 1928, serving one term. He also served a term in the House of Representatives, in 1920. He entered public life as prosecuting attorney for Greene County in 1902, and was U. S. district attorney for western Missouri from 1924 to 1928.

Ad Alley Pickups

Saturday, October 23, 1954

A brief mention of interesting items about people, business places and campaigns as compiled by The Winona Daily News ad department.

C. E. Linden, right, Daily News advertising manager, draws one of the lucky winners in Furs by Francis' 5th Anniversary drawing as Francis Losinski, owner of the store, looks on. Winners were Mrs. David Tushner, 507 E. 3rd St., and Miss Daisy Palubicki, 610 1/2 W. 5th St. Each won a fine four-skin fur scarf. Furs by Francis is located at 161 Center Street.

Willard Webb of the Webb Oil Company announced this week a new wonder compound, Poly-Propyl-Phosphate, has been added to Webb gasolines. This latest advance in gasoline science prevents deposits from causing either pre-ignition or spark plug fouling so that the engine can deliver full power at all times. Poly-Propyl-Phosphate is available in both "Ethyl" and "Regular" at no additional cost. Webb service stations are located in Winona at 210 West Second Street, 766 East Fifth Street and at the junction of Highways 14 and 61.

Dining out is real fun and a treat for the whole family. It's a well-coming change for mother and something extra-special for the kids. And it doesn't really cost any more than dining at home. This is National Restaurant Month and next week is National Restaurant Hospitality Week. The theme this year is "Everyone likes to dine out." Take the family out to dinner next week, men. If you're not sure where to go for fine service and a fine meal, look at the large advertisement in today's Daily News which lists the best places to dine in this area. A delicious dinner in a good atmosphere and a nice drive in the country or a movie afterwards is something you'll remember for a long time. Make it a habit to dine out frequently.

Folger's Coffee and Frank's Kraut both now are being heavily advertised in The Daily News. Ads will run through the rest of October and in November and December. Advertised products are always the best buy whether it's food, clothing, or what have you. An established company wouldn't risk its reputation by associating its name with a bad product.

There are about 2,500,000 young men and women enrolled in the colleges and universities of this country. It is estimated that these students will spend over $900 million during the school year. According to the Student Marketing Institute, the average college student spends $375 for goods and services during the school year. Here's how he spends it:

Scheid Comes to Winona As Manager of the Chiefs

Holders of important offices and baseball managers are alike in one respect. They are both expected to perform miracles, and if they fail, they lose their jobs. The reason for these frequent discharges is that it is easy to blame the manager for the team's shortcomings, and much easier to fire him than to get new players.

In Hugh Orphan Winona had one of the finest persons we have ever had the pleasure of meeting but unfortunately, with the exception of 1952 when the Chiefs ended in second place and reached the playoff finals, he failed to produce. Result: He was released during a midseason losing streak this year.

Over at Austin, Manager Emil Scheid had a remarkable record. In the eight years of his regime, the Packers finished in the first division seven times. They finished first three times, second three times and fourth once. This season they crowded Winona slightly for last place honors but at that ended up seventh, only six games out of first place. Result: Scheid had a bad year and was removed, as Austin manager.

Now Emil Scheid is manager of the Winona Chiefs and we are happy to welcome him to a great baseball town and a town that boasts the grandest array of loyal fans of any city in the vigorous Southern Minny League.

Not only are we happy to get a 1955 manager with a record such as his in S-M baseball, but Emil comes to Winona as no stranger. His Austin teams have been the one team Winona fans enjoyed beating most and probably did least over the years.

Managing a baseball team is a hobby with Emil. He is a successful businessman. Instead of playing golf, fishing or hunting, his hobby is baseball. He told the Chiefs board of directors that already this fall he has had correspondence with 200 prospective ball players. He has a "baseball stenographer" in his office.

Austin's excellent baseball park is a monument to Emil in that city. It was mainly through his efforts and his planning and the support he rallied that the park was financed.

In bringing Emil Scheid to Winona, the Chiefs board is bringing us a man with a record, the contacts, the knowledge and the love of the game. We've got the fans. Now we have the manager.

The manner in which we supported the Chiefs in 1954—win or lose—plus the intense interest of Scheid in wanting to give us a winning team, indicates that new baseball history may be made here next season.

Emil and the local set-up should mesh well.

Red Wing Swimming Pool's Popularity Increasing

When the City Council decided to spend $12,600 to install modern filtering equipment at the municipal swimming pool at Colville Park in 1950, it was a constructive move. That investment is paying off handsomely as a look at the attendance records for 1954 shows. This past summer more people used the pool than ever before. And they paid $3,552 for their fun. This amounted to about half again as much revenue as the pool took in in 1953. And 1953 was a banner year, too.

Before the filtering equipment was installed, the big revenue year was 1947 when receipts were $1,454. But the pool popularity took a dip for the three ensuing years largely, we guess, because people grew increasingly disturbed about the condition of the water. Warm weather brought the growth of algae and other small aquatic plants and their presence in the water made the swimming far from enjoyable.

The lowest revenue year in the last decade was 1950, the year the equipment was installed. That year there were 10,960 paid admissions, and the income so derived totaled $879. But every year since 1950, the attendance at the pool has grown—from 16,551 in 1951; to 19,732 in 1952; to 21,254 in 1953. This past year more than 24,000 admissions were rung up. That seems to prove rather conclusively that people respond handsomely with their patronage when they find out that something extra good is being offered.—Red Wing Daily Republican Eagle.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A group of old, old friends of a big-shot Hollywood writer were invited to a Broadway prelude of his latest epic. It was a disaster from beginning to end—dull, incoherent, and tasteless. The big question was: What to write their friend on the Coast, who, they know, would be awaiting their verdict with bated breath? One bright soul finally solved their dilemma. The telegram he composed, and which they all duly signed, read: "It's certainly an expensive picture."

A happy birthday, darling, from... The children and from me... And may this be the brightest day... For all our family... And may your years of life on earth... Be many, many more... ## Candidates Getting Nasty and Desperate

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

NEW YORK—The theory that a congressional election could be won by photographs of Republican candidates for Congress together with President Eisenhower has produced no practical results. Nobody cares about these particular photographs as long as they can get some of Marilyn Monroe and similar ladies. The photographs, so avidly sought and so widely advertised, are playing no part in this campaign. It is an axiom in politics that no man can transfer his personal popularity to any other man.

So the theory that a congressional campaign could be fought without issues, without debate, without attacks and counter-attacks has also dissipated itself into nothing. A tepid campaign can produce only tepid reactions. Those who conceived the idea of a light discussion about nothing by gentlemen with the amenities of a gentleman's club bar did not understand the temper of the American people.

THE CAMPAIGN is getting nasty. It will be very nasty in its last week because candidates are getting desperate. Irving Ives's accusations against Averell Harriman, candidates for governor of New York, are a response to the insistence for a fighting campaign. They all want to be elected but too many Americans do not want to vote.

Why bother if the candidates do not bother to fight it out, as the fashion has always been in this country? If the nice gentlemen who wish to keep the campaign gentle and refined are distressed by the developments in New Jersey, they have not yet seen the worst in New York or Connecticut or California. If a gubernatorial contest in Arkansas becomes a series of accusations, it is nothing compared to the raising of the Dixon-Yates issue as a basic campaign argument.

The president finally made an appeal for a Republican Congress and in that he was right. But the surprising fact was that Harry Truman should have opposed that concept of what is good for America. It was Harry Truman who conducted a campaign all over the country about the 80th Congress, the do-nothing Congress. The 80th Congress was a Republican Congress during the Truman administration. It was under the leadership of Robert A. Taft. It was an embarrassment and a harassment for President Truman.

HE KNOWS THAT IT is tough on a president to have a Congress of the opposite party. President Eisenhower should have known that, too. He should have known it because he is the leader of a political party. It is his business to know how American politics operate. He should have recalled the unfortunate experience of President Herbert Hoover whose career as president was wrecked by an antagonistic Congress.

Those who advised President Eisenhower not to fight for a Republican Congress, not fight hard, misled him. If the Republicans lose either house or both of them, his next two years will be very tough. The Congressional committees will be chaired by Democrats and they will use the next two years to build campaign material for 1956. Sen. John McClellan will head the McCarthy Committee and his counsel will be Robert Kennedy whose ambition it is not to be overshadowed by a famous father and a distinguished brother. The Judiciary Committee, which should have gone to Pat McCarran, will now go to Sen. Harley Kilgore of West Virginia, a so-called liberal and a Republican hater. He may also head the present Jenner Committee, although that should go to Sen. James O. Eastland of Mississippi. Sen. Estes Kefauver will be back, reinforced by a large vote in Tennessee, and now a candidate for the Democratic nomination for president. He could use the next two years to advantage.

If President Eisenhower thinks he has troubles with Joe McCarthy, he has seen nothing yet. The Democrats are out to win in 1956 and their slogan is that the Republicans do not know how to run a government. If they gain control of Congress, they will try to prove that and they will go into the past two years with a fine comb. It could be very unpleasant.

To blame: The fine gentlemen in President Eisenhower's entourage who believe that politics in the United States are nasty and unfit for gentlemen. If the voters agree with them, they will have ample opportunity to stay away from what is nasty and dirty.

But this is also true: It is best for the country when a president and Congress are of one party.

GOP Cashes in on Visit By Liberian President

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—A significant backstage hassle has developed over the right to entertain—and be photographed with—William V. S. Tubman, Negro president of the Republic of Liberia.

Climax of the hassle is an invitation to President Tubman from Gov. Dewey calculated to keep him away from Hyde Park and the laying of a wreath on Roosevelt's tomb. As of this writing, pleased but harried President Tubman doesn't quite know what to do.

A Republican president brought him to the U. S. A., so he feels he has to bow to the wishes of his hosts. On the other hand, the late President Roosevelt is a great hero in Liberia—in fact, the only president of the United States to visit Liberia. So President Tubman's advisers are suggesting that he had best go to Roosevelt's tomb at Hyde Park even if it does lose some Negro votes to the Republican party on November 2.

Meanwhile, the rush to welcome and be photographed with the coal-black president of Liberia has been such that the entourage of Mohammed Ali, prime minister of Pakistan, are not at all happy.

Mohammed Ali, arriving in Washington a few days ahead of President Tubman, was not greeted by Eisenhower and got nowhere near the same enthusiastic attention. This does not go down particularly well with our strongest ally in the Middle East. The U. S. A. is spending up to about $100,000,000 on arms, food and other aid to Pakistan in order to insure the Russian-Indian-Pakistan border against Communist penetration. A strong Pakistan, we hope, will offset the neutral Nehru and the uncertain policies of Burma, Ceylon and Indonesia.

Few Mohammedan Votes That's why the prime minister of Pakistan can't quite understand the attention showered on a relatively obscure president from a relatively obscure country in Africa. What he doesn't realize, of course, is that the big White House glad-hand extended to President Tubman right now means votes. There are not many Mohammedans voting in this country, and there are a lot of colored folks.

Mohammed Ali, of course, is too polite to say anything about this, but his aides have complained privately. They note that whereas Ike did not come back from Denver in time to see their prime minister, both Vice President Nixon and Sec. Dulles rushed to the Washington airport to greet Tubman while Eisenhower stood by in the White House as the dusky dignitary from Liberia got the full 21-gun salute.

Moreover, the date of Tubman's arrival in the U. S. was changed three times so that Ike could be present to welcome him—from the original Oct. 20, to Oct. 19, to the final Oct. 18—changes caused by Ike's last-minute plans for political speeches in Denver and Indianapolis.

Note 1—What the Pakistanis don't realize is that things have changed in the U. S. A. The last time a Republican president—Calvin Coolidge—received a Negro president, Louis Borno of Haiti, the U. S. Marine Corps band in Port-au-Prince played "Bye-Bye Black Bird" as he departed; while L. L. William O'Connor, son of a New York policeman and with a certain aversion to gentlemen of color, deliberately failed to fire the required 21-gun salute from Governors Island as President Borno steamed proudly up the bay.

Note 2—Things have also changed regarding Liberia. The last Republican Secretary of State, Henry L. Stimson, sent the most scorching note of his entire career to Pres. King of Liberia, castigating him for selling his fellow blacks into slave labor to the Firestone Rubber Co., this in a republic founded by ex-slaves to pioneer Negro freedom! Official reason for President Tubman's visit to the U. S. is to

Wanted: One Tired Businessman

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK—Many wives of tired businessmen think their lives would be more exciting if they were married to a glamorous stage or screen star.

But pretty, blonde Louise Hoff, a small town Indiana dancer who is now in the big time as a singing comedienne, wouldn't marry a glamor boy if she won him in a bingo game.

"I've never gone for them—they don't appeal to me," said Louise, who is currently starred in the musical revue, "Bon Voyage," at the plush Versailles supper club. "I'm too much of a farm girl."

Louise intends to stay a bachelor girl until her dream man comes along, and her dream man is the guy some wives complain is a boring nightmare—a substantial, level-headed businessman.

"I've met all kinds of men," she said, "and I don't think you can beat a businessman for a husband—a good solid citizen."

Shocked Natives Louise shocked the strict Quakers of her native metropolis (Spiceland, Ind.—population, 600) when she started her dancing career at the age of 13. But her home town is proud of her now.

Recently her Aunt Ernie Risk and her grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Hoff, who reared Louise after her mother died in childbirth, came to visit her here. Mrs. Hoff, a redoubtable lady of 82, immediately plugged in the hearing aid she refuses to wear back home, and announced:

"After all, there's something to hear here. I've already heard everything in Spiceland."

Louise became a vocalist by accident during wartime. Touring battle areas in Europe as a USO entertainer, she sometimes found the improvised stages too muddy for acrobatic dancing.

"I tried singing, and GI's seemed to like it," she recalled.

She spends her spare hours golfing (her score is about the same as President Eisenhower's) and knitting.

"Actually, I detest knitting," she said. But it helps pass the time—until the right tired businessman comes along.

Fishbein Predicts Complete Success For Salk Vaccine

BALTIMORE—Dr. Morris Fishbein, former editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association, predicts success of the Salk vaccine will all but eliminate polio within 10 years.

In a talk to the women's auxiliary of Sinai Hospital Friday Dr. Fishbein said he was willing to "go out on a limb" to forecast success for vaccine discovered by Dr. Jonas E. Salk of Pittsburgh. "I am convinced the vaccine is going to be a success. In another ten years we should see polio almost at end in this country," he said.

One Nerve Ill Hard To Treat

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

People who constantly complain of being sick usually get to the point when anything they complain about is ignored.

One common complaint, particularly in women after 50, is of a burning sensation of the tongue or cheek. Sometimes, they complain of a metallic or just a plain bad taste in the mouth. Often such complaints have been passed off as those of a chronic complainer.

Most of these persons have consulted many physicians, and have taken all kinds of vitamins and medicines, without any benefit. Some even have had the lining membrane of the tongue treated with a local anesthetic. But even such treatment has not produced any relief from the disturbance.

Since the use of the local anesthetic does not relieve the condition, it is evident that the solution of the trouble goes further back in the nervous system.

Now it has been suggested that the real solution of this disturbance is possibly the blocking up of a small blood vessel in one of the centers in the brain from which nerves pass to the tongue and cheek, or there might even be a small hemorrhage into one of these brain centers.

If the disturbance is limited to only one side of the tongue or cheek, it is much more likely that just a tiny hemorrhage or blood clot is responsible for the difficulty. Again, the fact that it occurs most often in older people, would indicate that such a disturbance in the brain may be responsible. The condition often goes on unchanged for years.

Sedatives or nerve-quieting drugs do not seem to have any effect on the trouble. Careful examination of the mouth and throat, also, as a rule, does not reveal any local condition responsible. Unfortunately, we have not yet devised any treatment which is of great help.

Sometimes after a period of years, the condition disappears. However, since it may indicate some trouble with the circulation, there is need for these persons to have a careful study made by the physician so that their routine of living may be controlled to prevent any progressive disorder.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

D. J.: Could headaches, pain in the knees and ankles, and swelling of the fingers be signs of rheumatic fever?

Answer: These symptoms could come from rheumatic fever, but might be due to other causes, such as some form of chronic arthritis or perhaps some disturbance of the circulation.

Careful study by the physician is necessary to find the correct cause and to determine what treatment should be carried out.

Conflict Cancels All Celebration

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Gov. Goodwin J. Knight has declined to proclaim United Nations or United States Day in California, his office reports, because groups sponsoring both celebrations wanted the same date.

A spokesman said as it is Knight's policy to turn down both parties when opposing factions want the same day.

U. N. Day has not been proclaimed in California since 1948, the spokesman added.

WASHINGTON, (AP)—All Navy officers now on active duty commissioned before July 1, 1950, must sign a new certificate of loyalty under instructions announced yesterday.

Tentative Jury Decided on for Sheppard Trial

CLEVELAND (AP)—After five days of heated arguments over subjects ranging from sex and Susan Hayes to the effects of publicity on a jury, the Sheppard murder trial was in a weekend recess today with 12 jurors tentatively picked, and challenging likely to start Monday.

Dr. Samuel Sheppard, a slender, handsome osteopath, is accused of bludgeoning his pregnant wife to death July 4 after an affair some weeks earlier with Miss Hayes, a cute 24-year-old hospital technician.

Court resumes Monday when state and defense attorneys can begin using their six peremptory challenges each to dismiss jurors they feel are not qualified. There are seven women and five men now in the jury box.

Neither the prosecution nor the defense would say how many challenges they plan to use, but Judge Edward Blythin said he doubted that more than four jurors would be excused.

After the challenges have been used and the excused jurors are replaced, an alternate must be chosen.

Then with the final jury seated, one more legal step remains before the state can start its case. That is a motion for a change of venue, introduced by the chief defense attorney, William J. Corrigan, starting a theme he repeated constantly in the first five days of the trial, contended publicly given the case by newspapers, radio and television had made it impossible for Sheppard to get a fair trial in Cuyahoga County.

Judge Blythin refused them to decide upon the motion until after an attempt had been made to pick a fair and impartial jury. That, he said, would be the real test of whether the trial should be moved to another county.

One of the panel members excused yesterday was a pretty brunette who admitted she discussed the case all week with friends and relatives, despite Judge Blythin's order last Monday not to talk about it at all.

For disobeying his order, Mrs. Betty Marie Parker was liable to a contempt citation. But the judge never mentioned this, although he sternly reprimanded her.

During the five days needed to pick a tentative jury the 30-year-old defendant sat in the courtroom with few outward signs of emotion.

He had warm smiles for his father and two brothers, who also are osteopaths.

Most of the time he sat quietly watching his lawyers and the three assistant prosecutors while they quizzed prospective jurors.

Indicted on a first degree murder charge last Aug. 17, Dr. Sheppard has maintained steadfastly that his 31-year-old wife was killed by a bushy-haired intruder who knocked him out when he tried to aid her.

Two persons who had been close to the osteopath's murdered wife gave reporters a verbal picture of the young woman's earlier life that portrayed her as somewhat introverted, tense but neat, fond of games and dancing.

The U. S. electric power plants count 1954 as their 75th anniversary.

Order Sustained On Burial Costs

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—Judge A. L. Twesme in county court here Friday sustained an order issued by him Aug. 31, setting aside $350 for the burial of a patient in the state mental hospital at Mendota who has become insolvent.

Floyd Simon, assistant attorney with the Collection and Deportation Council of the State Department of Public Welfare, requested that the burial allotment be reduced to $200, basing his argument on the statute which provides that the court may order a suitable amount reserved in a guardianship to issue a ward a decent burial. In case of an insolvent guardian the court may order an amount not exceeding $200 reserved for the ward's burial.

La Vern Kostner, Arcadia, appearing for the guardian, Emil Koenig, Arcadia, stated that approximately $5,000 had been paid to the state for the care and maintenance of the patient for a period of several years, and contended that the order issued Aug. 31, before the ward became insolvent, should stand.

Judge Twesme in his decision held that the $350 was not unreasonable in the size of estate in question, all of which had been used in the patient's care and that subsequent facts, which later made this person insolvent, did not alter the original order. This was the first case of its kind in Trempealeau County, and the attorneys found no supreme court case of a similar nature.

French, U.S. Talks to Cover All Interests

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Officials say French Premier Pierre Mendes-France and top American leaders, including President Eisenhower, likely will discuss the whole range of Franco-American world interests in Washington talks next month.

The White House announced Friday that Mendes-France will visit Washington, probably for two days, in mid-November. He will be Eisenhower's guest at a formal luncheon Nov. 18.

Mendes-France will come here from Canada, which he will visit Nov. 14-17. The U.S. trip, long planned, was put off because of fast-paced negotiations aimed at forming a Western European defense system to include West Germany.

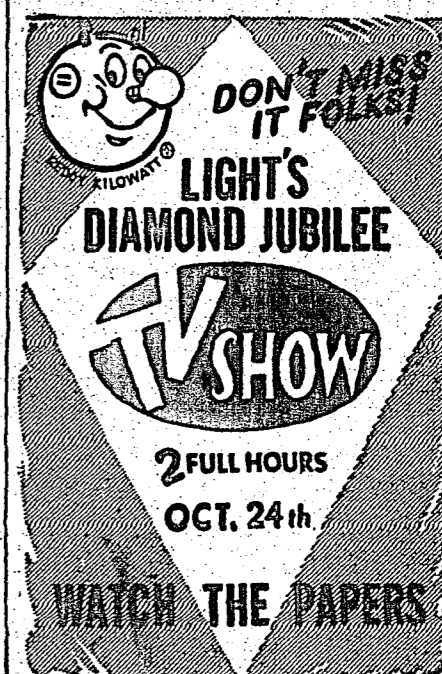

There was speculation in diplomatic circles that Mendes-France, in talks with Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles, will want to discuss over-all relations between the West and Soviet Russia.

U.S. financial aid supporting French military forces in Indochina is another issue of direct concern to the two countries. The aid, running at the rate of 400 million dollars a year, is being continued on a temporary basis.

What policy to follow when French troops are pulled back to France is presumably yet to be decided.

Before assuming his present position, Miller was consultant in education and high school accrediting at the University of Michigan for four years.

Thursday's program will begin at the group assemblies at the Junior High School auditorium at 1 p.m. After brief remarks on the purpose of B-E Day and the program schedule by Dr. Nels Minne, president of Winona State Teachers College, the teachers will be divided into groups for the afternoon tours.

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special)—Enumerators for the 1934 census of agriculture began an intensive training course Oct. 19. The census will start Monday.

Sessions are being held in the city hall here, Lyle H. Pavlek, leader. He recently attended a five day training conference on census methods.

The enumerator training course covers forms and reports to be used, methods and practice interviews. Enumerators are: Oscar Maier, and Mrs. Dorothea Rose-nov, Cochrane; Mrs. Fred Theisen, Arcadia; Mrs. Mary Runne-strand and Harvey Twesme, Et-trick; Mrs. Myrtle Larson, Alma; Leslie Winand and Clarence Smieja, Independence; Herbert Lyon and Mrs. Robert Bell, Gales-ville; Lawrence Houkon, Blair; Franklin Duncanson, Eleva and Irvin Schultz, Mondovi.

Walter Ebling, state agriculture statistician, points out that decisions in farming for the next half dozen years are going to be influenced by census figures. The farmer may draw directly or indirectly on census totals for deciding what to do on his farm. Agricultural industries too will make many of their plans on the strength of census totals.

London Dock Workers to Vote On Ending Strike

By COLIN FROST
LONDON (AP)—With the first sign of a break in the waterfront strike now crippling most of Britain's major ports, London dock workers scheduled a mass meeting today that could signal an end to the walkout and its stranglehold on the nation's trade.

As the stoppage stretched into its 20th day, indications were the leaders of the 44,000 striking stevedores might be ready to give a green light for a return to work. More than 300 million dollars worth of exports and imports are piled on quays and in idle ships. Foodstuffs cargoes are rotting.

Principal hopes for early peace lay with the London meeting. A return to work by the capital's 26,500 dockers probably would end the walkouts in other ports.

The first sign of a break came Friday night when delegates of the 2,000 permanent employees of the Port of London Authority recommended they return to work Monday.

The government warned the dockers Friday they must go back to their jobs by Monday morning or troops will be called out to move vital materials. The strike has the enthusiastic backing of the Communists.

The 2,000 Authority employees are scheduled to vote on the recommendation at today's mass meeting. They are the least militant of the strikers because they hold full-time jobs. A back-to-work vote by them could have a big effect on the rest of the men, who have been without pay for three weeks.

The strike began in London to enforce demands that overtime on the docks be on an optional, not compulsory, basis. It completely paralyzed the giant port operations here and spread to Liverpool, Birkenhead, Southampton, Hull, Garston and Rochester.

Missouri Prison Outbreak Stifled, Officials Watchful

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)—Authorities kept a sharp eye on unruly convicts in Missouri's State Penitentiary today after the second disturbance in a month erupted in the prison mess hall Friday. Unlike the Sept. 22 outbreak, Friday's demonstration was quickly stifled. It started during the noon meal when convicts, disgruntled over prison fare, tossed plates and utensils around and yelled for better food.

Thomas E. Whitecotton, director of corrections, said no damage was caused and the several hundred convicts were quickly herded back to their cellblocks.

State police re-enforcements, however, were rushed to the prison where four convicts were killed, 30 others injured, and seven buildings burned down in the September riot.

Whitecotton blamed a "hotheaded, smart-aleck" inmate for Friday's trouble. The evening meal—consisting of cheese, crackers, bread, cookies, chili and coffee—went off without a hitch. Some 15 to 20 convicts refused to eat and stayed in their cells.

Officials were taking no chances and 35 heavily armed state troopers were posted just beyond the prison walls during the prisoners' supper.

Both Gov. Phil M. Donnelly, who had hurried to the prison at the first word of a fresh disturbance, and Whitecotton were critical of a radio interview Thursday night which dealt with prison food.

"There has been entirely too much irresponsible talk on the radio," the governor snapped. Whitecotton said the broadcast, heard by many prisoners, probably was a factor in the outbreak.

Station KWOS, Jefferson City, broadcast an interview with a former kitchen employee at the prison who criticized the institution's food.

Phone Call Costs
Dubliner $25,200

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP)—Donald Angus McKay phoned another man's wife—and the final bill came to $25,200.

The husband, bank official Geoffrey O'Reilly, was accidentally cut in on the call when he phoned home from his office. He heard McKay calling Mrs. O'Reilly "darling" and joined the conversation.

When he got home that night Mrs. O'Reilly had gone away with McKay.

The story came out yesterday in Dublin's high court. O'Reilly sued McKay for "criminal conversation," an old-fashioned form of action dating from the time when wives were regarded as chattels.

A 12-man jury ordered McKay to pay O'Reilly the $25,200 as damages.

BEDTIME STORIES

By HOWARD GARIS

Priscilla, the runaway doll of Bunty the orphan rabbit, was in a mysterious room of the hollow, stone fence wall. With her was Doodle Bug, who was also mysterious. He was teaching Priscilla how to make funny marks with a pencil on a piece of paper.

Suddenly there was a noise in the stone wall fence room and in came jumping Jennie the chipmunk. It was Jennie who had invited Priscilla to run away from beneath the apple tree where Bunty had left her. It was Jennie who had invited Priscilla to go through a hole in the stone wall to have an adventure.

"Where in the world have you been, Priscilla?" asked Jennie as she popped into the mysterious room. "Why did you leave me?"

"I didn't leave you. It was the other way around," answered the walking, talking doll. "You ran away from me! You went in a little hole of the hollow stone wall fence. You told me to go in a larger hole which I did. And here I am now."

"So I see," spoke the chipmunk girl. "I am glad to meet you again. What are you doing, sitting in that chair with a pencil and paper?"

"She is learning to doodle," said the big bug in his sandpaper voice. "Please do not disturb her. Doodling is very hard work. One must not be interrupted while doing it."

"Excuse me," chattered Jennie. "But what is doodling?"

"As nearly as I can tell," answered Priscilla, "it is only making funny marks on paper. Like this!" She held up her paper for Jennie to see.

"Oh, how cute!" chattered the little chipmunk girl. "I didn't know you lived here," she said to the bug.

"That's because you were never in this part of the stone wall fence before," said the big bug, dignified and calm. "I have lived here many years. Before that I lived in a book store. Inside a book."

"I thought only book worms lived in books and book stores," said Jennie.

"I have a cousin who is a book worm," answered Doodle Bug. "We are both very fond of reading."

"I wish I could doodle," chattered Jennie.

"There is nothing to stop you," said the bug. "You will find paper and a pencil on the table near Priscilla. Help yourself and start doodling, Jennie."

"You mean make funny marks on the paper?" asked the chipmunk.

"That is doodling," replied the bug. He was also making funny marks on his paper. Priscilla kept on with her doodling.

"How did you learn to doodle?" asked Jennie of the bug.

"As I told you," was the Doodle's answer. "I used to live in a book store. In the store was a telephone booth with glass doors. I was peeking out of a book one day. There was a man in the telephone booth. He had to wait—he couldn't get his party, or something like that. So he began making funny marks on a piece of paper."

He drew circles, squares, straight lines, faces without any eyes, faces with two mouths, curls and floppy wopsies. When he came out of the telephone booth he met another man who asked: "What do you call those funny marks?" And the other man said: "I have been doodling." So that's how I learned to doodle."

"Very interesting!" exclaimed Jennie. "Come on, Priscilla! Let's see who can make the funniest doodles!"

While the bug, the doll and the chipmunk were doodling, Uncle Wiggly, Bunty and Detective Pat Butler, with Jackie Bow Wow were hurrying to the stone wall fence. There, on the bone trail, Jackie had seen Priscilla, the runaway,

Bumper Torn Off In Car Collision

ETTRICK, Wis. (Special)—The rear bumper of a car driven by John Skundberg, French Creek farmer, was torn off Friday morning in a collision with a car driven by a Richland Center man.

Skundberg had crossed Federal Highway 53 on County Trunk D, at the west approach to Ettrick when the accident occurred. The Richland Center car had a front fender, headlight and tire damaged. A La Crosse man was also in the Richland Center vehicle.

lost doll, disappear into the stone wall fence.

"Do you think I may find my doll here?" asked Bunty.

"I think so," bleated Detective Butler.

Bunty was very, very happy as she stood near the stone wall fence.

Suddenly, from inside the fence, voices began shouting. I can tell you more about that on Monday, if the bottle of mustard doesn't spread strawberry jam on the ham sandwich instead of on the dill pickles.

Added Probation OKed for GI in La Crosse Killing

LA CROSSE, Wis. (AP)—Harold Miller, 26, one of six persons found guilty two years ago of third degree murder in the street fight death of a Nebraska National guardsman, has been given five more years of probation.

Miller, a state's witness, was in the Army at the time of his conviction. He was placed on probation for two years to his Army unit and got out of service in June, 1953. He has been employed at Janesville under supervision of the probation department.

Circuit Judge Lincoln Neprud, after receiving a favorable report on Miller from probation officers, approved an additional five-year probationary period to meet the minimum legal requirement of seven years.

Four soldiers and two girls were found guilty in connection with the death Aug. 13, 1952, of Frank Wells of Seward, Neb.

Iowa Guard Jets Collide, Pilot Killed

DES MOINES (AP)—Two F80 jet fighters of the Iowa Air National Guard collided in the air south of here Friday night, killing Lt. James E. Maddy, 25, pilot of one of the planes.

The other pilot, Lt. Russell C. Larson, 26, of Ames, escaped serious injury. Larson said he blacked out after the collision at 20,000 feet and recovered consciousness to find himself floating toward the ground by parachute. He credited his survival to the plane's ejection seat.

Maddy's body was found in the burned wreckage of his plane. Larson's plane also crashed and burned. The aircraft were on a night training mission of the Des Moines-based 124th Fighter Bomber Squadron.

3 Killed in South Dakota as Cars Hit Head-on

PIERRE, S.D. (AP)—Three persons were killed in a head-on automobile collision near Belle Fourche Friday night, the state motor patrol reported.

The dead: Eugene Adams, 38, Belle Fourche; William Gonzales, 17, Nisland; and Edward Barker, 15, Nisland.

Emil Gonzales, 21, also of Nisland, was reported seriously injured in the crash.

The motor patrol said Adams was traveling alone and headed west on U.S. 212 about 12 miles east of Belle Fourche. He swung out to pass a car and met the Gonzales car head-on.

The mishap occurred about 11:45 p.m.

Meantime, a delayed report of a traffic death raised the total for this year in South Dakota to 144. That compares with 152 dead at this time a year ago. Authorities at the Hot Springs Veterans hospital reported the death of Robert Wilcox, 32, Oelrichs. He was injured Aug. 8 when a car ran off the highway three miles west of Oelrichs.

Proposed Amendments to the Constitution of Minnesota

J. A. A. Burnquist, Attorney General
State Capitol, St. Paul, Minn.

March 11, 1954

Honorable Mrs. Mike Holm
Secretary of State
State Capitol
Dear Mrs. Holm:

Pursuant to Minnesota Statutes 1953, § 3.21, you are hereby furnished a statement of the purpose and effect of each of the following proposed amendments to the Constitution of the State of Minnesota. They are to be submitted to the voters for their approval or rejection at the November 2, 1954, general election as directed by Laws 1953, Chapters 759, 760, 761, and 762.

L. 1953, c. 760 PROPOSED AMENDMENT RELATING TO PROBATE COURT JURISDICTION AND QUALIFICATIONS OF JUDGE

The only two existing sentences involved in the proposed amendment are those of art. 6, § 7 of the State Constitution, the first of which relates to the office of probate judge and the second to the jurisdiction of the probate court, which read as follows:

"It shall be held by one judge, who shall be elected by the voters of the county for the term of four years. . . . A probate court shall have jurisdiction over the estates of deceased persons and persons under guardianship, but no other jurisdiction, except as prescribed by this Constitution."

If the proposed amendment is adopted, the first provision above quoted will read as follows:

"It shall be held by one judge, whose qualifications may be established by law. The judge shall be elected by the voters of the county for a term of four years."

The second provision above quoted, if the amendment is adopted, will read as follows:

"A probate court shall have jurisdiction over the person and estate, either or both, of persons under guardianship; over estates of deceased persons; and such further jurisdiction as the legislature may from time to time establish by a two-thirds vote."

The purpose of the amendment is to empower the legislature to prescribe by law the qualifications of a probate judge and, by a two-thirds vote, to extend the jurisdiction from time to time of the probate court. The effect of the adoption of the proposed amendment would be a change in the probate court section of the Constitution to enable the legislature to prescribe the qualifications of the probate judge and, by a two-thirds vote, to extend the jurisdiction of the probate court.

L. 1953, c. 760 PROPOSED AMENDMENT RELATING TO LIABILITY OF STOCKHOLDERS IN CERTAIN CORPORATIONS

This proposed amendment involves art. 10, § 3 of the State Constitution, which in its existing form reads as follows:

"Sec. 3. The legislature shall have power from time to time to provide for, limit and otherwise regulate the liability of stockholders or members of corporations and cooperative corporations or associations, however organized. Provided every stockholder in a banking or trust corporation or association shall be individually liable in an amount equal to the amount of stock owned by him for all debts of such corporation or association contracted prior to any transfer of such stock and such individual liability shall continue for one year after any transfer of such stock and the entry thereof on the books of the corporation or association."

If amended as proposed, said section will read as follows:

"Sec. 3. The legislature shall have power from time to time to provide for, limit and otherwise regulate the liability of stockholders or members of corporations and cooperative corporations or associations, however organized."

The purpose of the amendment is to delete from the section as it now exists the provision that "every stockholder in a banking or trust corporation or association shall be individually liable in an amount equal to the amount of stock owned by him for all debts of such corporation contracted prior to any transfer of such stock and such individual liability shall continue for one year after any transfer of such stock and the entry thereof on the books of the corporation or association." The effect of the adoption of the proposed amendment would be the termination of the specific individual liability of every stockholder in a banking or trust corporation or association in so far as the same exists by virtue of the above quoted § 3 of art. 10 of the State Constitution. However, the proposed amendment does not deprive the legislature of the power of enacting laws to provide for, limit, or otherwise regulate the liability of stockholders or members of a corporation or association, however organized.

L. 1953, c. 761 PROPOSED AMENDMENT RELATING TO REVISION AND ADOPTION OF NEW STATE CONSTITUTION

This proposed amendment would add to art. 14 of the State Constitution, which would read as follows:

"Sec. 3. Any convention called to revise this constitution shall submit any revision thereof by said convention to the people of the State of Minnesota for their approval or rejection at the next general election held not less than 90 days after the adoption of such revision, and, if it shall appear in the manner provided by law that three-fifths of all the electors voting on the question shall have voted for and ratified such revision, the same shall constitute a new constitution of the State of Minnesota. Without submission and ratification, said revision shall be of no force or effect. Section 9 of Article IV of the Constitution shall not apply to election of the convention."

The present Constitution does not provide that a revision by a convention shall be submitted to the people for approval or, if submitted, by what vote it shall be ratified. The purpose of the proposed amendment is to provide that a revision of the State Constitution by such convention shall be submitted to the people for their approval or rejection at the general election held not less than 90 days after the revision by the convention and that the affirmative vote of three fifths of all electors voting on the question shall be required for its adoption. The further purpose of the amendment is to provide that § 9 of art. 4 of the Constitution, which, among other provisions, forbids a member of the legislature from holding any other office during the time for which he is elected, shall not apply to the election of members of a constitutional convention.

The effect of the amendment, if adopted, will be the adding to art. 14 of the Constitution of a third section, which will provide that, before a convention revision of the Constitution shall go into effect, it shall be submitted to the people in manner above stated and be approved by three fifths of all electors voting thereon at the general election and further provide that a member of the legislature may serve as a member of the constitutional convention.

L. 1953, c. 762 PROPOSED AMENDMENT RELATING TO FILLING VACANCIES IN ELECTIVE OFFICES BY GOVERNOR

The provision in art. 5, § 4 of the Constitution relating to the filling of such vacancies by the governor reads as follows:

"He shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed, fill any vacancy that may occur in the office of secretary of state, treasurer, auditor, attorney general, and such other state and district offices as may be hereafter created by law, until the next annual election, and until their successors are chosen and qualified."

If the proposed amendment is adopted, the provision in question will read as follows:

"He shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed, fill any vacancy that may occur in the office of secretary of state, treasurer, auditor, attorney general, and such other state and district offices as may be hereafter created by law, until the end of the term for which the person who had vacated the office was elected, or the first Monday in January following the next general election whichever is sooner, and until their successors are chosen and qualified."

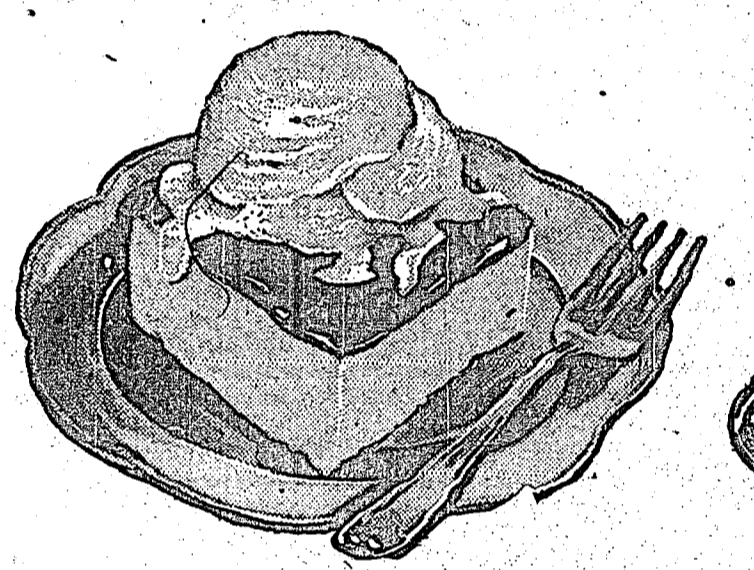

The purpose of the amendment is to eliminate the so-called "short term" which prevails under the present Constitutional provision, as thereunder the appointment by the governor continues only until the next general election and until a successor is chosen and qualifies. As, under the present provision, the person elected for the long term does not assume the office in question until the first Monday of January following the election, there is a short term between the general election and the first Monday in January following. The effect of the adoption of the proposed amendment will be to enable the person appointed by the governor to fill the vacancy to continue in office until the first Monday in January following the next general election.

Very truly yours,
J. A. A. BURNQUIST,
Attorney General

U.N. Vital to World Peace, Lie Tells MEA

MINNEAPOLIS (U)—Trygve Lie, former United Nations secretary general, said Friday night that the more than ever convinced that that agency is vital to world peace.

But, Lie told the closing session of the Minnesota Education Assn. convention, the free world never can kill Communism as an ideal through the U.N.

"The free world must take forceful action toward solving the human problems of the world's sick, hungry and poor people," Lie said.

"The challenge of our times is to keep military strength up while using all available resources for keeping world peace."

His talk came after a program by a massed orchestra and chorus from 76 schools in the state. Earlier Friday, the some 15,000 delegates split up for a series of professional seminars.

Classroom control and discipline are as important today as they ever were, B. L. Pehrson, Crosby-Horton school principal, told one sectional session.

Pehrson said teachers should not seek to help pupils by establishing chummy relationships but rather by learning the individual's background and providing guidance. He added that teachers should be able to stand on their own feet in making decisions and be efficient in the handling of routine chores.

Raymond J. Bradley of Macalester College's education department, urged that more facts concerning religion be made available in public schools.

"Teachers should teach only the general facts concerning religion, leaving the children free, in fact encouraging them to cling to their own beliefs," Dr. Bradley said. He added that such a course had been shown necessary by the fact that many junior high school students had been found to be ignorant of religious matters.

New Method Used To Hold Up Bank

CINCINNATI (U)—A tall, thin man used a new method in holding up the bank of nearby Silverton yesterday and making away with $1,000.

He handed Mrs. Jack Sonneman, the teller, a counter check made out for $1,000, but instead of being honored, it read:

"Cash this check normally. Be quiet. I got a gun and I'll shoot." Mrs. Sonneman turned over the money and the man left.

Illinois Man Tries Where Lincoln Failed

CHICAGO (U)—Mark Melhado, 30, filed a complaint in Superior Court yesterday long unheard in Illinois.

'Stand on Record' ADA's Answer to Nixon Charge

WASHINGTON (U)—The Americans for Democratic Action says it "stands proudly on its record of vigorous anti-Communist liberalism."

ADA cochairman Arthur Schlesinger Jr. wired Vice President Nixon Friday saying that "ADA" has repeatedly answered your silly charges, and on Oct. 6 issued a point-by-point rejoinder to your absurd allegations that there is anything obscure or fuzzy about ADA's anti-Communist stand.

Schlesinger's wire was in reply to a speech by Nixon Thursday at Rock Island, Ill., where the vice president recalled he had said previously that he had brought serious charges on the communism issue against various leaders of the "ADA left wing clique." Nixon said members of this "clique have not questioned a single statement I made."

Schlesinger said: "Of course ADA has opposed McCarthyism and all political quacks who have tried as you are trying to make a phony political issue of the serious business of fighting Communism here and abroad."

World's Youngest Lady Paratrooper Through Jumping

CHICAGO (U)—Rocky, the world's youngest lady paratrooper, was locked up today in Lincoln Park Zoo—and there she'll stay.

The 18th Regimental Combat Team decided the zoo was the best place for Rocky, a 16-month-old, 120-pound Hokkaido bear, even though she served with distinction in Korea.

Rocky won fame as the regiment's parachuting mascot. On her first jump, however, three soldiers were bitten before the jumpmaster could get her out of the plane.

Later a mortar shell fragment nicked Rocky's chin and she was awarded the purple heart.

Rocky, who gets her name from Rakusan, the Japanese word for paratrooper, was accompanied from Oakland, Calif., by 1st Sgt. Gene Castle, 30, of Paintsville, Ky. He raised her from a cub.

Castle said he was donating Rocky to the zoo because most of the men in the 18th are Midwesterners and would be able to drop by the zoo and see her occasionally.

Of course, Rocky is growing, too.

The complaint for "protection of the rights of infants" asked the court to allow him to see his two children. It was filed against his estranged wife, Joan, 26.

The last case on these grounds filed in Illinois was in 1846. It reached the Illinois Supreme Court before the petition was denied.

The losing lawyer: Abraham Lincoln.

George McManus, Comic Strip Artist, Dead

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (U)—Comic strip artist George McManus, whose "Bringing Up Father" became an international favorite and was published in 27 languages, is dead at the age of 70.

In failing health several years, he was admitted to St. John's Hospital last Thursday, suffering from hepatitis, an infection of the liver. He succumbed last night.

McManus started his career as a floor sweeper in the art department of the old St. Louis Republic. Eventually he did some drawing for that paper but one day in 1904 he took a bookbinder's tip on a horse and invested $100 on a 100-1 shot that won. With his winnings he set out for New York and fame.

McManus signed on with the old New York American in 1912, worked over 40 ideas for a new strip and finally came up with the one that put him over—"Jiggs," of the corned beef and cabbage crowd.

"Bringing Up Father," with its boisterous and battling characters and the dogged "Maggie," the wife of Jiggs, with her rampant rolling pin, caught on immediately in New York and throughout the country as it was syndicated.

McManus had lived in nearby Beverly Hills the last 25 years. Surviving McManus are his widow, Florence, and a brother, Leo H. McManus, an executive of King Features Syndicate.

Dewey Claims Harriman Made Millions

NEW YORK (U)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey says Averell Harriman made millions "as an insider on a pre-war Silesian mine deal while what he called 'deliberately misinformed' investors lost five million dollars."

Harriman, the Democratic-Liberal candidate to succeed Dewey, immediately replied: "Smear and distortion."

"Simply not true," added John P. McGrath, Democratic state campaign manager.

Dewey's charges in a radio-television address last night were the second major Republican attack in a week on Harriman's financial past. This now appears to be a main target of the Republican campaign to hold New York in the Nov. 2 elections.

Dewey, who is retiring from office this year, spoke in behalf of Sen. Irving M. Ives, the Republican gubernatorial candidate.

Harriman, describing the Dewey speech as a smear, said it was designed to divert attention from what the Democrats consider the issues of the campaign.

Although he and his aides insisted they will stick to these issues, it was reported at Democratic headquarters that Harriman was becoming increasingly angered by the Republican attacks.

There were indications he was planning a television talk to deal with the situation, possibly sometime next week.

Dewey's charge was one of what Ives calls "haymaker" punches at Harriman, who presently is leading in the race on the basis of newspaper polls.

Ives opened the series of financial shots by saying in a TV-radio address earlier in the week that a shipping company headed by Harriman paid $250,000 to a corrupt judge in return for leases in two piers controlled by Tammany Hall.

Ives is scheduled to deliver the third in the series tonight.

Dewey said that, though the mine transactions began in 1925, the case is presently in federal court in the form of a lawsuit to recover millions of dollars for the benefit of investors who lost money.

The governor quoted the federal securities and exchange commission as reporting in 1950 that Harriman and fellow promoters, "with substantially no investment, received stock in large quantities as a result of transactions made possible through funds obtained from deliberately misinformed investors."

Although the Tennessee, which with the Ohio forms part of the 25-vessel fleet of the Mississippi Valley Barge Lines, is capable of moving these immense loads of cargo, she and the Ohio are being readied for the mothball fleet on a stand-by basis. These two tow boats are expected to be laid up when the Valley Line receives two new boats due for completion in July 1955. These new boats are being built by Dravo Corp., Pittsburgh, Pa., at an estimated cost of one and a half million dollars each.

The most modern equipment available from Holland and England plus engineering "know-how" of the U. S. will make these vessels "tops" in towboats. One deck with a 28-foot pilot house atop the 250- by 45- by 12-foot deep hull will give an entirely new appearance to the fleet. A ten-inch wheel (propeller), automatic pilot similar to that in aircraft, radar, depth recorder and gyro compass are all to be part of these boats. Steering of the vessels will be done by a very sensitive two inch in diameter knob much like an ordinary door knob which eliminates the conventional wheels or arms we are accustomed to seeing as steering devices.

Two 2,100-h.p. engines with V-12 cylinders, Nordberg diesel engines, reductions gears and airlock-clutch will provide power for these most modern air-conditioned and sound-proofed boats.

Shuttling activity brought the Floyd Blaskie of the Blaskie Line past Winona three times in less than a 24-hour period. Tuesday evening the Blaskie went downstream with three empties and one load of oats which she tied off near Genoa, Wis., where she picked up a barge of coal brought upriver by the Frank Blaskie and took it back upstream to Alma before returning downriver to gather her first cargo and proceed southward.

A Newly Arrived Monkey solved Manhattan's traffic jams and sidewalk congestion in no time at all. He simply took to the air, giving downtown noon-hour crowds an amusing time and contributing somewhat to the traffic congestion. One of 300 rhesus monkeys delivered Monday, he escaped Tuesday night. He led would-be captors a merry chase among fire escapes and building ledges. He was finally captured in the conference room of the New York County Lawyers Association. (AP Wirephoto)

Lyndon Johnson Joins DFL in Campaign Push

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Senate minority leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas joined Minnesota DFL stumpers today in the opening round of the party's final campaign push for the Nov. 2 elections.

The ranking Senate Democrat brought a message that he and touring leaders of his party have been repeating for weeks—a prediction of important Democratic gains all down the line.

Johnson, who Friday forecast Democratic control of 14 of 17 important Senate committees by senators from the west and south, will speak tonight at a Seventh District DFL rally at Madison, Wis.

His appearance will be followed Wednesday by a speech by Sen. Russell Long (D-La.) at Crookston, Minn., Wednesday, John J. Sparkman (D-Ala.) is scheduled to speak next week at Huron, S.D.

Sen. Thye (R-Minn.), one of the men whom Johnson says will be supplanted as chairman of the small business committee, Friday night defended the record of the Eisenhower administration against what he called "attacks of demagogues."

Thye and Rep. Harold C. Hagen spoke at the same theme at Moorhead, Minn.

Both declared the American people got "clean and constructive" government from the administration. Thye said the 83rd Congress made great strides toward bringing the agricultural economy of the country into balance with the remainder of the economy.

Hagen warned of the "cost" to the Midwest if the people vote a Democratic Congress into office. He put it in terms of committee chairmanships the Midwest would lose if the GOP lost.

Speaking at Clarissa, Orville L. Freeman, DFL candidate for governor, raked the Republican leadership for being "so split and divided that it either can not or will not get the cooperation within its own ranks necessary to benefit Minnesota."

"Prices for Minnesota farm products average 77 per cent of parity, much lower than in more favored parts of the nation," Freeman said, adding: "The national Republican administration favors eastern milk producers and western wool growers."

Miles Lord, DFL candidate for attorney general charged that Gov. Anderson and "clever Republican leadership in the Legislature hid the $300,000 appropriation to buy the state office building annex in a six million dollar omnibus bill for building appropriations in 1953."

Lord earlier this week hinted at irregularities in the state's purchase of the building.

Robert Hess, state CIO president said the governor had refused offers by the state CIO to aid in a program of highway safety. He said the union had yet to receive answers to many written inquiries, including offers to contribute funds.

Rep. Walter H. Judd, 5th District Republican, said Friday night the record of the 83rd Congress was the greatest accomplishment for the people in decades.

GOP Groundwork For Prosperity Set, Wiley Says

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sen. Wiley says the Republican administration has "established the basis for the greatest period of prosperity in the entire annals of American history."

The senior Wisconsin senator, in a speech at Sheboygan, said that at stake in the Nov. 2 elections will be: "The entire Republican philosophy of a free society and of a free government as the servant of society; the entire historical record of American progress under Republicanism; and the solid record of the first Republican administration in 20 years of Democratic bureaucracy."

Attorney Gen. Vernon Thomson told Dane County farmers at Westport Friday night that "the oleomargarine farmers of the South are showing a remarkable interest in electing Democrats to the office of dairy farmers of Wisconsin."

"First, it was the man responsible for the repeal of the oleo tax, former Secretary of Agriculture Brannan; then Kefauver, from Tennessee; then Rayburn, from Texas; and now we are told that Sparkman, from Alabama, also wants Wisconsin dairy farmers to put in Congress for the benefit of the peanut and cotton farmers of the South."

At that time plans will be made for a Korean War Day, which the Korean veterans of Arcadia will be invited to be guests of the post.

This event is being planned for Nov. 2 in the Legion clubrooms. Movies of the Korean War will be shown at that time.

Bandit Bares Bosom Secret

NEW ORLEANS (U)—This city's "bandit queen" whose specialty is robbing bus drivers on the late night runs, proved to her latest victim that she is not a man in disguise as some would have it. Bus driver Eugene Puig, 41, said the attractive woman bandit wanted for three other bus hold-ups, held a pistol on him with one hand early Friday and bared her bosom with the other.

"Take a look at this," she said, "I'm not a man—I'm a woman."

Puig said he handed over $20.35 and drove on until the woman told him to stop. She left after telling him someone was waiting for her.

Selznick Back After Repaying $12 Million

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (U)—Tomorrow night's diamond jubilee of light telecast will signal the comeback of David O. Selznick, who has accomplished the amazing feat of paying back 12 million dollars of debts.

The two-hour, all-star TV show marks his first return to production in Hollywood since he quit the film business here five years ago. The Selznick saga is one of the town's most remarkable stories.

The son of film pioneer Lewis Selznick, David grew up in the movie business and became production head at RKO when he was 23. There he helped develop stars like Katharine Hepburn, Bette Davis (he cast her in "Of Human Bondage") and Fred Astaire. He went on to MGM and then independent production, making quality films like "Dinner at Eight," "David Copperfield," "Viva Villa," "A Star Is Born," "Nothing Sacred," "Rebecca" and "Gone With the Wind."

Five years ago, his lavish methods caught up with him. He made a series of costly films at a time when the theater market was plummeting. He owed 12 million dollars to the banks.

Some men would have tossed in the towel and gone bankrupt. Selznick didn't. He closed up his studio and devoted his time to nursing his assets and managing the career of his wife, Jennifer Jones.

Now he is in the black and is ready to go back into film production. I asked him how he managed his feat.

"By five years of concentration," he declared. "It was a matter of liquidating stories and other properties here and milking the releases of the films I had made. I know the market well, both here and abroad, and my pictures are the kind that can be released again and again. In Zurich, Switzerland, for example, 'Rebecca' has been released 12 times."

His biggest money-maker, "Gone With the Wind," didn't help in his drive for solvency. He sold his share in the epic a few years ago. "It was a tax deal," he explained. "The government allowed a capital gains settlement when I sold out, and it brought me a lot of money. Perhaps I could have made more if I retained my share. But I'd have to be paying taxes on those receipts anyway."

"You can only keep so much money. That reminds me of when I asked Bing Crosby why he worked so hard when he could only keep a small part. 'That's all right,' he said. 'I still like the jingle of those 10-cent dollars.'"

Know Your Public Library

By CATHERINE CAVANAGH, REFERENCE LIBRARIAN
(This is the second of a series of articles about services in the Winona Public Library.)

The Winona Public Library has recently joined hands with 14,000 other citizens of the United States and Canada in becoming a subscriber to the air edition of the Manchester Guardian Weekly. It is published in England on Thursday and arrives in New York on Saturday; thus its views and comments deal with the week just gone.

It generally runs to 16 tabloid size pages, and is, in the opinion of many, the most literate and entertaining newspaper in the English language. Apart from enjoying its reviews of books, movies and music, readers find themselves waiting around for its editorial comment on various phases of American life and American policy.

"It is like," some have remarked, "standing off and taking a long dispassionate look at yourself through the eyes of an extremely polite and informed cousin, who is given neither to scolding nor flattery. Sometimes reassuring, sometimes deflating, it's a salutary experience, and clearly worth the cost."

Included in the many features of the Guardian are its global reports, special political articles, editorials on world affairs, dispatches by Alistair Cooke (known to millions of Americans through "On the Border" on TV), the London Letter, music, art and drama sections, special literary articles, weekly crossword puzzles and famous cartoons on current events by Low.

Another newspaper the public library has been able to add to its subscription list is the Washington Post from the Nation's Capital. At present the public library subscribes to the Chicago Daily Tribune, the Wall Street Journal, the Christian Science Monitor, Milwaukee Journal, Minneapolis Tribune, St. Paul Pioneer-Press, the New York Times and The Winona Daily News.

Conrad Thibault Joins Church Choirs on Tour

Concertgoers familiar with the face and voice of the noted American baritone, Conrad Thibault, on the stage, sometimes receive a surprise when the singer who is to appear here in concert Tuesday, is found in the choir loft of their local church. His concert here will be at 8:15 p.m. in the Winona Senior High School auditorium.

Thibault often joins a local choir during a weekend stopover on his concert tours. There is a story behind this custom. As a child, the singer was in great demand as soloist in several churches in his native Northampton, Mass.

His voice was first heard in his own Catholic parish choir. Later, he asked to join the Methodist and Episcopal choirs. To these appearances, he owes his rudimentary training, and also his first earnings—50 cents. All through high school years and as a student at Curtis Institute, Philadelphia, he continued his church singing, and on concert programs, he includes a group of sacred songs.

Before starting on concert tour, he writes the ministers and priests in towns where he gives concerts, and in big cities, seeks out parishes in nearby small towns to see what he can do to help.

Once, in Lynchburg, Va., he asked the Methodist minister if it would be all right for him to sing in the choir. Delighted, the minister accepted his offer, but explained they had no church and that the services were only in a small chapel. Thibault sang, and helped raise about $3,000 toward the new church.

One season alone he covered 60 churches, often providing his own accompaniment when the church had no organist. Reading of a minister in Corona, Long Island, who was rebuilding his own church, doing the actual carpentry, concrete work and plastering, he determined to help. Organizing a choir and training them, he also sang with them for the first service and still drops in when his schedule permits.

During the war he toured with the USO and now visits veterans hospitals as often as possible.

On another side, he has served the past ten years as a judge for the annual "Miss America" pageant at Atlantic City, and managed to spare some hours of teaching for two of the contestants a season ago, boasting that though his "class was small, it certainly was the most glamorous 'singing academy' in the world."

Ramblers Nip St. Felix in Homecoming Tilt

Cotter Wins 4th Contest by 7-6

By RALPH REEVE
Daily News Sports Editor

The Winona Cotter Ramblers made their 1954 homecoming a success by scoring a 7-6 victory over a tough Wabasha St. Felix squad Friday night at Jefferson Field.

It was Cotter's fourth victory of the season against one loss and a pair of ties and sets the Ramblers up for their all-important Southern Minnesota Catholic Conference championship game at Rochester against Lourdes next week.

Although the Ramblers won, they were given a stiff battle by the scrappy St. Felix Yellowjackets.

Cotter punched over its only touchdown in the second quarter after a march of 70 yards, while the Yellowjackets countered with a pay dirt sortie in the third quarter.

Cotter was knocking at the door when the game ended with the ball inside the St. Felix 10-yard line. That threat, which failed to materialize, was similar to a bid by St. Felix earlier in the fourth quarter.

The Yellowjackets got as far as Cotter's eight-yard line, but they too were turned back in their quest for touchdown No. 2. The game was highlighted by hard running on the part of Cotter halfback Rich Brown, making his first start of the season in place of injured Jack Tomashek, and St. Felix fullback George Lamey.

Lamey, in addition, put on one of the finest punting exhibitions seen at Jefferson Field this year. His first punt was blocked by Cotter's Jim Schmecker in the first quarter, but he made up for that with a quick-kick that measured 62 yards from scrimmage, another punt that went 43 yards, and finally in the fourth period a 35-yard coffin-corner punt that rolled out of bounds on the Cotter five-yard line.

It wasn't until shortly before the end of the first half that either team was able to put on a sustained drive. Cotter turned the trick by marching 70 yards after guard Jack Starzecki recovered a St. Felix fumble on the 30-yard line.

Brown and fullback Ralph Dorseth sparked Cotter's ground attack in the drive to the St. Felix 25-yard line. Then quarterback Dave Skemp pitched a 25-yard pass to lanky end Jim Plein who was tackled on the one-yard line.

Dorseth scored on the second play and speedy Bill Hubel scored the extra point on a pitch-out.

The Yellowjackets kicked off to Cotter to open the second half and the St. Felix quarterback Dick Harano stole the ball on the Cotter 38-yard line to set up the Yellowjackets' touchdown march in the third period.

Harano pitched to John Giesler, good for 29 yards and a first down on the Cotter nine. Lamey made it over on two plays, but Bob Strook's attempted conversion was blocked by Schmecker.

With 3 minutes, 31 seconds left in the game, Cotter took the ball on downs on their own 28 and marched as far as the two-yard line, 70 yards, but the TD bid was halted on the last play of the game.

The Ramblers had 218 total yards, including 142 on the ground, while St. Felix made 74 by rushing and 87 by passing.

Steelers Meet Eagles Tonight

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Walt Kiesling's Pittsburgh Steelers, thirsting for revenge, come to grips tonight with the unbeaten Philadelphia Eagles in a National Football League game that could have an important bearing on the outcome of the Eastern division tie.

In their first contest at Philadelphia, the Eagles squeezed by the Steelers 24-22 on an 81-yard touchdown drive in the closing minutes, spurred by the passing of quarterback back Adrian Burk.

Steelers fans are still squawking about that one and to show their enthusiasm they've bought out Forbes Field.

President Art Rooney of the Steelers has placed an additional 7,000 standing room and 3,000 bleacher seats for this one. The crowd will be close to 40,000—the largest in years.

The Eagles-Steelers is the only Saturday night game. The big game Sunday is the Detroit Lions-San Francisco 49ers clash on the West Coast. This one is for the Western division lead.

In other Sunday games, the Browns play the Cardinals in Chicago, the Chicago Bears travel to Los Angeles and the Green Bay Packers visit the Colts at Baltimore.

Blair Cagers Seek Opponents

BLAIR, Wis.—Blair will have a city basketball team again this year and all players interested in competing are asked to attend a meeting Wednesday night, 7:30, in the Legion room of the City Hall. All area teams seeking games at home or away may contact Rock Stone as soon as possible.

Johnny Saxton Plans to Be Fighting Champ

NEW YORK (AP)—Johnny Saxton, the new welterweight champion of the world is going to be a fighting titleholder, his manager said today—but just his first opponent will be still in not certain.

"Maybe we will go to the coast to box Ramon Fuentes over the weight," said Saxton's pilot, Frank Palmero. "After that, maybe Carmen Basilio. First, let us get used to having the title. My boy wants to be a fighting champion. You will see a better fighter next time."

The fact that Saxton promises to be a fighting champion was greeted with something less than enthusiastic response in boxing circles after his performance last Wednesday when he won the title from Kid Gavilan.

Philadelphia, scene of the fight, wants no part of it. Robert K. Christenberry, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission said he would not recognize a rematch as a championship fight. Saxton has one title defense lined up. That would take place in Syracuse, N. Y., against Carmen Basilio, the home-grown fighter, who rated the first crack at Gavilan's title anyway.

There is no golf course in the business section of Logansport, Ind., but County Auditor Richard Goh found a golf ball inside a broken window in his courthouse office.

Joe Gannon Loses To Patterson

NEW YORK (AP)—"That Patterson is a jet, Marciano is a bomber. Maybe they'll match me next time with just a plain fighter."

That was Joe Gannon's reaction to last night's losing effort against Floyd Patterson, the 19-year-old former Olympic champion in the Madison Square Garden debut of both fighters. Gannon usually is one of Rocky Marciano's sparring partners.

"I didn't know he could hit that hard," said Gannon, a former Washington, D. C. cop. "I couldn't catch my breath from the third round on."

Patterson set a terrific pace, trying to make a hit in the Garden. He moved so fast that he often found himself throwing punches from off balance positions, missing and walking into punches that never should have hit him.

Gathering all his fury into one burst in the last round of the eight-round bout, Patterson broke Gannon's nose and finally dropped him on his back, draped over the bottom rope, at the final bell.

Referee Al Berl had it 6-1 and both judges, Bert Grant and Artie Adala, scored it 6-2, all for Patterson. The AP card agreed with the judges.

Gustavus Adolphus, Concordia, and Duluth Branch, tied for the Minnesota College Conference lead with 3-0 records, go into action tonight labeled as favorites. But only Duluth Branch seems a comfortable winner.

The Bulldogs play host to hapless St. Mary's. Gustavus visits St. Thomas, 3-1, in a game rated as the Gusties' last stumbling block to a fourth straight league crown. Concordia hosts St. John's, co-champion last year and loser of two straight. The Johnnies are expected to give Concordia all it wants in the way of a fight.

A goodly crowd is expected to see Gustavus match a strong running game against the passing of St. Thomas' Bernie Ratzel, who has 21 completions in 44 attempts for 400 yards.

In State Teachers Conference action tonight, Winona, 2-0-1, invades St. Cloud, 3-0, with the winner taking the crown. Bemidji visits Mankato, with last place going to the loser.

Carleton went after its sixth straight Midwest Conference victory this afternoon at Grinnell. St. Olaf hosted Knox in its homecoming at Northfield.

In a Friday night game, Hamline defeated Macalester 18-14 behind the Jerry Omholt-Dick Donlin pass combination. Omholt flipped 10 and 64 yards to Donlin for the two third period touchdowns that proved decisive.

Hamline opened the scoring in the second period on a 2-yard plunge by Don Rasmussen. Macalester retaliated with a 90-yard drive, climaxed by Denny Tetu's 1-yard buck. Tetu's extra point gave Macalester a 7-6 halftime edge.

Macalester's other touchdown came in the third period when, with Hamline leading, 18-7, Bob Berquist dived over from the 1. Tetu converted. Macalester lost the ball four times on fumbles and a Hamline interception in the fourth period stopped a final threat.

In a non-league game Friday night, Augsburg crushed Bethel of St. Paul, 81-0, scoring 12 touchdowns.

River Falls Tips Superior, 33-0
SUPERIOR, Wis. (AP)—River Falls unleashed its running attack Friday night to defeat Superior, 33-0, in the Wisconsin State College Conference football finale for both teams.

The Falcons' victory gave them a final conference record of three victories and two defeats. Superior's loss was its fifth in five bowl contests.

Michigan broke all previous records in 1953-54 for the sale of hunting and fishing licenses with a total of 2,370,000, an increase of about 57,000 over the previous season.

U. of Maryland Defeated by Miami, 9 to 7
Whatever chances the University of Maryland had of returning to the Orange Bowl this New Year's Day appeared doomed today in the wake of their 9-7 defeat by Miami (Fla.).

Last night's game was an important one for Jim Tatum and his Terps. The national champions last year, they have taken a bad nose-dive this season and now are out of the national picture. They dropped an early season game to UCLA and were tied by Wake Forest in addition to the Miami defeat.

For the undefeated Hurricanes, the victory will do much to enhance their national ranking. They are ineligible for a bowl bid, however, because of difficulties with the NCAA.

The teams fought on even terms until 10 seconds before the half when Bob Nolan made a fine leap catch of a 21-yard pass by Mario Bonafiglio for the first score. The Hurricanes made it 9-0 when Ronnie Waller was knocked down behind his goal line for a safety. The Terps couldn't score until their hopes were all but dead with four minutes left.

Houston turned back Villanova 28 to 7 before a "grocery" crowd of 57,817 in Philadelphia. A grocery chain distributed tickets to customers who purchased $10 worth of goods. Jack Patterson scored three touchdowns and pitched for the other Houston score.

Halfback Bob Burmeister performed almost as well as Patterson when he bulled over for three touchdowns in Detroit's 28-18 Missouri Valley Conference victory over Tulsa. The Golden Hurricanes, who haven't won a game, never were in it and scored 12 of their points in the final period after Detroit had run up a 28-6 margin.

In other major games last night George Washington and William Mary played a 13-13 tie; Furman scored an expected triumph over Davidson 19-7; Chattanooga won its fourth straight at-home game, 41-6, from East Texas State and Denver knocked Wichita out of the unbeaten ranks 27-14.

The big boys got into action today and at Columbus, Ohio, Wisconsin ranked No. 2 in The Associated Press weekly poll met Ohio State No. 4 with a possible Rose Bowl bid in the balance. This was the big test in the Badgers' bid for the Big Ten title.

Mississippi, No. 5 got its first severe test when it met Arkansas, No. 7, the surprise of the Southwest Conference. Ole Miss, which has a rather easy schedule, is the co-leader of the Southeastern Conference. Both clubs have bowl bids in mind.

Southern California may not win the Pacific Coast Conference title, but the Trojans could make the Rose Bowl if they whip California, UCLA, the favorite, is ineligible.

Oklahoma, the No. 1 team in the country in the weekly Associated Press poll, entertained Kansas State, Minnesota, No. 8, faced a rough assignment in Michigan. The Gophers are unbeaten and they, too, have a chance to win the Western Conference title.

U.S. Employees in Korea May Be Pay Plan Losers

SEOUL (AP)—The ultimate loss in the U. S.-ROK dispute over the exchange rate of the Korean hwan may be the 100,000 employees and contractors working for the U. S. 8th Army in Korea.

Gen. John E. Hull, U. N. Far East commander, announced Friday the Army will start paying them in treasury checks and greenbacks at the rate of 500 hwan to $1.

Such steps, the newspaper declared, probably would include a regulation requiring laborers and contractors paid in dollars to turn the dollars over to the government—the official rate of 180 hwan to $1.

If this happens, the Koreans paid in dollars would, in effect, have to turn in each 500 hwan of wages for 180 hwan.

South Korean officials charged that payment in greenbacks and treasury checks was tantamount to dealing on the black market. The black market rate ranges up to 800 hwan to $1.

American sources here described the charge as inaccurate. They pointed to recent auction by the Bank of Korea of five million American dollars, in which the successful bids ranged from 461 to 693 hwan for $1. Thus, they said, the Army's proposed payment of 500 hwan to $1 is at a rate set by Korean merchants themselves.

Hull announced the new payment plan after two days of conferences with President Syngman Rhee and other ROK officials ended "in complete failure" Friday.

Russians Urge Meeting to Reunite Germany
By STANLEY JOHNSON
MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union today proposed a meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers next month to take up the problem of reunifying Germany.

The proposal, which coincided with the conclusion of meetings in Paris today bringing West Germany into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), was contained in a note handed to the Soviet Union by the United States ambassador here by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov.

Insistence on holding such a conference in effect rejected a Sept. 10 demand by the Western Powers that the Soviet Union agree to sign an Austrian independence treaty and to hold genuinely free all-German elections before any such conference takes place.

Today's Soviet note proposed that the conference discuss the creation of a system of collective security for all Europe.

As for Austria, the Soviet Union said it has already agreed to authorize its ambassador in Vienna to take part in parleys there with representatives of the Western Big Three and of the Austrian government on the question of an independence treaty.

The note said the Soviet Union "would like to know if the governments of the three powers agree that their ambassadors take part."

Sen. Johnson Outlines Plans For Congress

Submits 7-Point
Program; Believes
Democrats Will Win

By LEIF ERICKSON
ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (U)—Senate minority leader Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.) disclosed here a seven-planned program for the next Congress, which he confidently claimed would be Democratic controlled.

Johnson, predicting a five-seat Senate margin and wider in the House, listed first in his program for the 84th Congress a pledge of complete cooperation with President Eisenhower on a united foreign policy.

It will be, he told a press conference yesterday, a foreign policy "with a single voice for all America—the President's."

Johnson, who flew last night to Minnesota, said the 17 Democratic Senate committee chairmen would be a "cabinet" to organize and carry through the program's objectives. Fourteen of these chairmen, he said, will be from the South and West. Democratic victory, he declared, will be a "revolt against the industrial East."

A "most thorough ventilation of the 'Nixon-Dixon-Yates' deal" will be made, he said, under direction of Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-Minn.), who would head the Atomic Energy Committee in a Democratic Congress. Nixon's name, as a symbol of the "Dixon-Yates" deal, he said, was the defense of the TVA-atomic power contract, Johnson said.

Other Projects
The five other program objectives, on which Johnson proposed the Democrats should get a running start in the special McCarthy session starting Nov. 8, were:

Launching of a "gigantic development program of our natural resources including huge reclamation and conservation projects in the West" to provide water for expansion of Western industry and population.

Full support for President Eisenhower and the Joint Chiefs of Staff to provide an adequate defense against all would-be aggressors.

A revised and improved farm program insuring the farmer and rather a greater share in the total national income.

Modification and improvement of labor standards giving "both employee and employer the dignity to which they are entitled."

Permit the "fullest utilization of all the great facilities of free and private enterprise without permitting a payoff to a shirt-tail full of campaign contributors."

House Democratic Leader Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) fully concurs in the program and a plan to start work on it in the special session one week after election on Nov. 8.

McCarthy (R-Wis.) concurs report, if approved by the Democratic Policy Committee and the 17 committee chairmen, task forces will be assigned to work and draft the program's bills before the 84th Congress opens in January, he said.

Can Get Along With Ike
Johnson said he believed President Eisenhower would get along with a Democratic Congress because "he got along very well with Democrats, from second lieutenant to GOP general."

Investigation of the Dixon-Yates power contract "conceived in the dark of the moon" by certain "backers" of the bright January "slight" by a Democratic Congress—will make Anderson "one of the most important men in the Senate," he said.

"I would not be surprised if Senator Anderson has a place on the ticket in '56," Newsman asked which place he meant for Anderson on a national ticket, Johnson replied, "He would suit me for either."

Johnson said the Dixon-Yates inquiry may "make Teapot Dome look like a kindergarten class."

Johnson said his analysis for the Nov. 2 voting shows the Democrats will win four new Senate seats and hold all others. He will give up a majority of five, plus Wayne Morse," he said.

He predicted the new seat winners would be Barkley in Kentucky, O'Mahoney in Wyoming, Bible in Nevada, and Howell in New Jersey.

Reps Leftist Issue
"The Republicans have only one issue to talk about—left wingers—and it's a cinch they can't sell it," Johnson said.

"Look who will be committee chairmen in a Democratic Senate—that great socialist, Harry Byrd of Virginia, will be chairman of

Nerve Research May Aid High Blood Pressure

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

Associated Press Science Reporter
CLEVELAND (U)—Better drugs to control high blood pressure may come from research digging into secrets of how nerves and muscles work.

The nerve and muscle studies were described to a two-day annual meeting, ending today, of the Council for High Blood Pressure Research, American Heart Association.

High blood pressure is a main killer of Americans. It is caused partly by nerve impulses and body chemicals which make the muscles in arteries contract and narrow, so the heart has to work harder.

Experiments offering a method to test and "tailor-make" effective drugs against high pressure were described by Dr. Amedeo Marrazzi, medical laboratories, Army Chemical Center, Edgewood, Md.

He and associates are measuring the strength and speed of nerve impulses passing through the switchboards, or synapses, of nerves which affect blood vessels.

They find that some body chemicals speed up the switchboards, and this speed-up could be inducing high blood pressure. Other body chemicals slow down the switchboard.

A number of different drugs can counteract either the speed-up or the slow-down.

Their method permits testing drugs to see how effective they might be in keeping the nerve switchboards operating at normal speed to help maintain normal pressure.

Ex-Queen Narriman Undergoes Operation
LAUSANNE, Switzerland (U)—Ex-Queen Narriman of Egypt was reported out of danger today after an operation performed at a clinic here by one of Switzerland's foremost gynecologists.

The former Queen, now married to Dr. Adham el Nakib of Cairo, entered the Montchou clinic earlier this week. She arrived from Cairo Oct. 13 with her mother, Mrs. Assila Sadek.

A source at the clinic said the operation was for an ovaries graft and a thyroid condition. "She spent a comfortable night and her condition is as satisfactory as possible under the circumstances," the source said.

finance. He'll replace Millikin of Colorado.

"Carl Hayden of Arizona will be chairman of appropriations, Dick Russell of Georgia chairman of the Armed Services Committee and Walter George of Georgia chairman of foreign relations.

"Listen to those names and figure out how the Republicans think they can sell 'left wing,'" Johnson said.

"And McClellan of Arkansas," he said, "will send Joe McCarthy of Wisconsin to the back room in the Government Operations Committee."

Other chairmen in a Democratic Senate, he said, would be: Ellender of Louisiana, agriculture; Anderson of New Mexico, atomic energy; Fulbright of Arkansas, banking and currency; Neely of West Virginia, District of Columbia; Murray of Montana, interior and insular affairs; Magnuson of Washington, interstate commerce; Kilgore of West Virginia, judiciary; Hill of Alabama, labor; Johnston of South Carolina, post office and civil service; Chavez of New Mexico, public works; Green of Rhode Island, small business; and Sparkman of Alabama, railroads.

Weekly Financial Review
NEW YORK (U)—The stock market surprised many of the experts this week by staging a strong advance and holding to a good bit of the gains.

The rally followed a new high for the year before profit taking intervened to chop off the top of the advance.

Traders and investors appeared to pay little heed to the outcome of the forthcoming elections. Some market observers suggested that the possibility of a Democratic victory already had been discounted by the market.

And for the bullish inclined there was a host of favorable news during the week. Numerous companies declared extra dividends; the market moved up a time when many analysts were advising caution. Many felt that some kind of a major correction in line over the past few days was being climbed for more than a year.

At the week ended, these analysts continued to view the market with some skepticism. They pointed out that the railroad shares encountered selling just as soon as they reached new highs for the year. Similar selling was noted in steel shares and aluminum.

Good taking came into play quickly among the industrials, cutting down on many gains. The Associated Press average index showed a gain for the week. It rose $2.50, whereas it was down $2.70 the week before.

On Monday, steel was firm and motors and oils showed some promise. Ralls and the market moved ahead a time with advances up to three points.

Wednesday saw a broad rally, with the steel rally and aluminum in the lead. That was the day the rail average hit a new high for the year at $122.20. The market was climbing for more than a year.

Thursday's market was higher nearly all day. Then, toward the close, profit taking moved in and sent numerous issues into the loss column.

Friday's market was cautious. Good gains by selected issues were offset by numerous small losses in nearly every section of the market.

Glenn Martin, aircraft manufacturer, was at the top of the list of most active stocks at the close. It advanced 1/4 to 34 3/4 on 14,800 shares. Schering Corp. gained 2 1/2 on 150,000 shares; U. S. Steel was up 1/2 on 106,000 shares; Ruston & Ohio advanced 1/4 on 105,500 shares, and American Airlines gained 3/4 on 100,400 shares.

DENNIS THE MENACE

"MAKE A CEE GING YOU?"

LAFF-A-DAY

"YOU MUST BE CRAZY."

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGUM, D. Sc.

Answer to Question No. 1
1. Yes. One firm is manufacturing a band for laundered shirts which asks, "Have you kissed your wife this morning?" Many laundries are using this coming mending question shot at him every morning is bound to cause any husband to reflect upon his osculatory conduct. In many cases it may cause reform.

Answer to Question No. 2
2. By improving their reading ability. Psychologist Jack Holmes gave 12 big executives 12 ninety-minute sessions on reading improvement. Reading speed increased an average of 160 words per minute. Our booklet, "How To Read Faster and Better," will give executives—and others—extra time for golf, fishing, spanking junior, beating their wives, and other recreations. Sent at cost, 15c (coin only) plus self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Answer to Question No. 3
3. Never, says Dr. Norman Brill, U.C.L.A. psychiatrist, until we do these things: (1) Change the public attitude that mental diseases are more disgraceful than bodily ills, and (2) train parents, teachers, and physicians to recognize emotional problems in children and cure them before they become genuine mental illnesses. Applause here.

ALSOPS

ily connections with two soap dynasties, he is universally known as "Soapy," and he has done nothing to discourage this boyish sobriquet. Yet there is nothing juvenile about his politics. He is one of the hardest working politicians in the country. He is living proof of the value of personal contacts, even in the television era. Williams' alliance with labor, which automatically places him in the left-liberal wing of the Democratic party, is the greatest brake on whatever presidential ambitions he may harbor. In the present climate, any stop-Stevenson movement is likely to center on a middle-of-the-road candidate acceptable to both wings of the Democratic party.

Another brake on his ambitions is suggested by the question often asked here: "Whoever heard of a president called Soapy?" But the present climate will certainly change if there is really serious economic trouble. Then Williams' position on the left might be transformed into his greatest asset. And if he actively seeks the nomination—as most observers here expect him to do—he will certainly be shrewd enough to realize that boyishness is no asset on the presidential level. In any case, if the youthful governor of Michigan does romp home on Nov. 2, he will be a man to reckon with in American politics.

vote in the industrial areas is, he believes, the key to the election. Getting out the Democratic vote in Michigan is largely the job of Williams' labor allies, especially Walter Reuther's United Automobile Workers. The fact that registration in Detroit and other industrial cities is very high for an off-year election is a tribute to the usefulness to Williams of his alliance with labor.

As of today, however, Williams' alliance with labor, which automatically places him in the left-liberal wing of the Democratic party, is the greatest brake on whatever presidential ambitions he may harbor. In the present climate, any stop-Stevenson movement is likely to center on a middle-of-the-road candidate acceptable to both wings of the Democratic party.
