MR. FRENCH RETURNS WITH NAMES OF 70 PROSPECTS

After an extended trip to the twin cities and Stillwater, and a tour of investigation to the St. Cloud Normal school, Mr. A. T. French returned Thursday evening. According to Mr. French, great interest was shown among the high school students in St. Paul and Stillwater, in normal school work. A total of seventy-six names of prospective students for the Winona Normal were secured. Both Mr. French and Mr. Lowry visited the Central Johnson and Humbolt high schools in St. Paul.

In a brief report, Mr. French told the students in chapel Friday morning of his visit to our "brother" normal school at St. Cloud. He mentioned the investigation that was made by President Brown, and its results. It was found in this investigation, which consisted of mental examinations of the students, that fifty per cent of the average normal school students equalled in mental ability the chemical engineers of Purdue University.

The work of recruiting new students is to continue and it is hoped that by next fall the Winona Normal will have approximately five hundred students.

CLUB ENJOYS MENDELSSOHN SUPPER

The Mendelssohn Club gave itself a party in the shape of a dinner, last Saturday evening. The meal, as is always the case at Mendelssohn parties, was delicious and heartily enjoyed. Dinner was served at half past five, so that there might be time for a short program, and yet leave the greater part of the evening for other engagements. About thirty-five girls were present.

SUBSCRIPTIONS FOR THE ANNUAL CONTINUE TO INCREASE IN NUMBER

Subscriptions for the "Wenonah" total nearly $75 according to a recent estimate by the business manager, Allone Georgan. Eight replies to letters that were recently sent out, have come back and all of the Alumni and old students seem anxious to see the new annual.

A request for a few more subscriptions from the present students was made in chapel last Wednesday. As a result, twenty-five L. O. U.'s were turned in. Miss Catherine Hilliard is soliciting the teachers in the Model school.

Y. W. C. A. ENTERTAINS SCHOOL AT PARTY IN LIBRARY GYMNASIUM

At the Y. W. party, hearts of all degrees of size and tenderness, were popular. Everyone was requested to wear his heart in a conspicuous place.

The gymnasium was very beautifully decorated in red and white, with three dome effects, from which hung large red hearts. Other hearts in various colors adorned the pillars also.

A number of favorite games, a Virginia reel, two very funny races, and community singing, formed the program. Refreshments were served.

LOCAL Y. M. C. A. DEFEATED IN FAST BUT ROUGH GAME BY NORMAL QUINT 35-15

For the second time we defeated the local Y. M. C. A. team in a fast but rough game of basketball Friday evening on the Y. M. C. A. floor. The score was 35-15.

During the first half we had the game for the most part our own way. The first score came within the first five minutes of play, and after that the result of the game was never in doubt. The remarkable team work of our team was evidenced in the way in which the score piled up. At the end of the first period the score was 21-4 in our favor.

The "Y" men came back strong and began to show signs of speed. They rang up four baskets in rapid succession but their rally did not last long. Our own team tightened up and suppressed further attempts to score. Except for a few well aimed shots from the center of the floor, the Y. M. C. A. did not score again. The final count was 35-15.

JUNIORS HUMBLE SENIORS IN FIRST INTER-CLASS CONTEST

Through exceptional ability in batting, and by excellent field work, the Junior girls first indoor basketball team completely humbled the Senior girls team, 35-15, Thursday afternoon, in the first interclass indoor game.

The Juniors came to bat first and immediately began to hit the ball into all corners of the gymnasium. It was with some difficulty that they were bailed from this first rush but the Seniors finally tightened up and held them down to only a few scores. This did not continue for more than two or three innings as the Juniors broke loose again and crossed the plate at will.

The fielding on both teams was ragged at times but now and then sign of snappy field work was demonstrated.

The game was interesting most of the time except in the latter part when the Juniors hit the ball continuously. A large number of representatives of both classes witnessed the conflict.

The line-up was as follows:

Juniors

- S. S. M. Goodsell
- A. Haugen
- J. Lundahl
- K. Carbert

Seniors

- M. Sorenson
- E. Bockler
- C. Carrent
- E. Kilid
- G. Carroll
- E. Meaback
- M. Sainsbury

ST. MARY'S NORMAL GAME POSTPONED

Because of a sudden outbreak of colds and gripes, at the St. Mary's College, the basketball game which was to have been played last Saturday evening at the Y. M. C. A. had to be postponed until a later date, probably March 10.

At the present time the amount of sickness is rapidly decreasing. There are now only a few students of the college confined to their beds.
Elizabeth Benton '17 in Eastern Art School Tells of Her Experiences There

A delightfully interesting letter was received from Miss Elizabeth Benton '17, last week by the editors of the Pow-Wow. Miss Benton is now attending the Skidmore School of Arts, and is in the fine arts department. Her letter in part, follows:

"Congratulations! It is jolly, I’ve read every word, advertisements and all, as I happen to be hauled up with a cold just now. "I am back in school this year, a Junior at Skidmore School of Arts in the fine arts department. Besides carrying thirty-six hours a week of recreation and studio work, I am helping on the quarterly and annual boards and just now helping put on Dunham's 'Code of the Mountains.' "We are near the Adirondacks and go to Mt. McGregor quite often, trolleying to the foot and snow shoeing over it to the further side. Here we build a fire which sinks slowly into the snow as we cook our lunch. Below, three hundred feet or so, sweeps the Hudson in a great curve. It is so much like Winona times, and the scenery looks like our own bluffs and river that it makes me homesick. Last week I had the thrill of my existence when, after snow shoeing back three miles to the road we came down two miles over a winding mountain road on sled."

Miss Benton was graduated from an advanced teachers course but specialized in drawing. She was a member of the 1917 "Wesoum" staff.

A very amusing man for their children. They say many in word, but they do so in deed. For to the one he will gladly give a spend of 200 shillings. God that sitteth in heaven laugheth their choice to seem and rewardeth their liberality as it should. For he suffrath him to have tame and well-ordered horses, and therefore in the end they find more pleasure in their horses than comfort in their children."

Teachers Salaries in 1565

The following passages is from Roger Ascham’s “Scholastic” written about 1565:

During a medical convention a distinguished physician touched upon the extremely important matter of the maximum fee.

"The best rewards," he observed, "come, of course, to the established specialist. For instance I charge twenty-five dollars for a call at the residence, ten dollars for a telephone consultation, and five dollars for a telephone consultation. There followed an appreciative and perhaps envious silence; and then from the back of the amphitheater came a voice:

"Doctor, would it be indiscreet to inquire how much you charge a fellow for passing you on the street?" - Harper's Magazine.
