MARGARET SLATTERY SPEAKS IN DEFENSE OF MODERN YOUTH
Miss Slattery, author and lecturer of international fame, delivered an address at a union service at the Congregational Church Sunday evening, Oct. 26. The services that she is presently giving are the Winona Council of Religious Education. A large congregation greeted the speaker.

Adolescent psychology, particularly extensive study of the teen-age girl is Miss Slattery’s special field. Speaking from the standpoint of the older generation she said: "The youth of our country is in a fog. Youth is too honest to accept the 'old stuff' which we have always taken for granted. Youth hates sham and demands that our actions coincide with our words. Our generation has made city streets which are very hazardous. But it has also allowed pool halls to open, thus leading to unbelief in the character of our youth.

The fog mists hang over us because we are not capable of voting. There is a strong unbelief among us. The adolescent of today demands to know why we use our brains and where we are going and what comes next. If we do not learn to question, but God doesn’t mind questions.

Youth coming home from college seems to have lost the old truth. They are using a new vocabulary—"that’s all. God is not dependent upon a

The St. Cloud goat was given a royal send-off in chapel Friday (October 26). The ceremony was introduced by President Maxwell with a reference to Mr. Goat's career, mentioning that he had been an honored guest in the college. Miss Florence Richards, Dean of Women, led the visitor in the procession in the words, "I am Billy, the St. Cloud goat." Mr. Grimm, music director, and an Indian drum major, stepping in the approved fashion and blowing an Indian war whoop, greeted the visitor and Billy did not so much as wink an eyelash when the Apollo chorus rendered a song for his special benefit. The words of the song, sung to the music of a popular song-book, were "Oh, Billy, you might have been a tiger, but the robe that you wear is more becoming."

The football squad hadn't been heard of in the Cook Cafeteria (October 22) for a week, but Billy was hauled in from the wilderness and his appearance was widely regarded as a fait accompli. The comments were that the appearance of Billy had made the squad immortal. Miss Lattin is a graduate of the Music department of the University of Minnesota and extensive training that he has had. Billy is an Indian baritone soloist, was a member of the tiny handful of faithful guards of the Mountaineer and has been in the throes of hash every two weeks.

MARRIAGE ANNOUNCED
Mr. and Mrs. John L. Atlin announced the marriage of their daughter Geneva G. Lattin to Andrew F. McKibben on October 15, 1930. Miss Lattin is from Blue Earth, Minnesota, and is a member of the music clinic department of this College.

It was evident that the heavy aerial attack was known to be built about an aerial game, for it was an aerial attack by Winona that had been parried by the prospects in the face of the above mentioned wind that enabled a 6-6 tie to be written on the records.

SECOND QUARTER

St. Cloud almost made a touch-down at the beginning of this quarter when a Winona punt was blocked on the ten yard line. However, Winona held, recovered the ball on downs, and kicked out of danger. St. Cloud came right back into the play of the visitors and succeeded in getting the ball to the twenty-five yard line. Collets, the brilliant Saint quarterback, shook off a determined attack climaxing when Connors went on a long end run and managed to get it a first down. However, the pass play that earned Winona field goals was incomplete.

FOURTH QUARTER

Winona opened and closed its season with a two-yard gain to the twenty-five yard line. Kern weaved through the line and was forced to punt. The attack started on St. Cloud's thirty-one yard line.
