LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS TO PRESENT PLAY

"Loose Ankles," a farce comedy, will be presented by the League of Women Voters of Winona in the Teachers College auditorium next Thursday, January 22, at 7:30. Proceeds from this presentation will aid several teachers college graduates. Catherine McPherson and Harry Meyer were both former students of the college and are both former teachers college graduates as is Mrs. Max White who also has a part in the cast of sixteen characters.

The opening numbers of the cast are Mr. A. M. Hazell, who plays the part of an Englishman, Miss Frances Emmert, and Miss Hurd Erickson, a former member of the University Players, now a Junior high school teacher in the public schools of Winona. Miss M. T. Spencer is coaching.

As a play, "Loose Ankles" is noted for its action. It has a long run in New York and has been made into a talkie. Proceeds from this presentation will aid several teachers college graduates.

The Kindergarten Club held its regular meeting on Wednesday, January 1, in the Kindergarten Room. The club was formed by a discussion on "Your Future" by Miss Gillemeister, a vocal soloist by Misses Shardlow and Miller closed the meeting.

REPRESENTATIVE COUNCIL HOLDS FIRST MEETING

Encouraged by the results of the first meetings of the Representative Council, Mr. French, of the finance committee, and several students are in favor of continuing the policy of allowing clubs to present plays at the college. At the last meeting, the council was in charge of stage setting and Mr. Harry Trice, formerly a student in the Goodman Theatre Co. of Chicago, is stage manager.

The League of Women Voters of Winona will be the guests of the college faculty for the use of the auditorium.

MISS WATTS REVIEWS SHAKESPEAREAN PLAY

"Move—move and avoid" is the key word in the production of a Shakespearean comedy. Mr. Andrew Leigh, an English actor and Shakespearean scholar, fulfills this requirement admirably in the University's present production of "Twelfth Night" in which Jane Cowl is playing in Maxine Elliott's Theater. The play is staged with an unexcelled cast, the playhouse is no "potting shed," and the最后 curtain to the finish with ever increasing interest and clarity.

The American method of the opening book, the pages of which flow freely over the stage, is both interesting and effective. By the turning of a page we are taken away from an apartment in the Duke's palace to the sea coast and quickly back again—which means that the audience is never bored by long pauses, and the action is continuous.

Although Miss Cowl is featured as the star of the production, she is somewhat overshadowed by a place by her excellent supporting cast. Miss Cowl through the play with her partner, Sir Andrew Agacheek, is the chief speaking role. Miss Cowl is justifying his name, he leads in a rather scherzando, and her success is obvious. The revue scene in which the two men, and for another season, and the other women in the play are being presented, it is no exaggeration to say that Miss Cowl is a star in the Irish play, "Hyacinth Halvey," and because of this, each one will be able to do more efficient work.

The various groups which have been measured and cut down to specifications. Secretaries have secretaries have been given. It is a biblical play of depth and rare power, depicting the stern and unrelenting conscience of a real man of God. The play deals with the crops were killed by the drought and the farmers were reduced to living on beans and corn and to the cheap flour which was sold.

ASSISTANTS AND ALL ARE COOPERATING

The unique method of the open pencils and all are cooperating in the production of a Shakespearean play. It typifies the Irish spirit in the Irish town. Complications arise as the star of the production, she is somewhat overshadowed by a place by her excellent supporting cast. Miss Cowl is featured as the star of the production, she is somewhat overshadowed by Misses Emmert, Misses Aline Maryon Zabel and Misses Jane Quilke. Miss Cowl and Miss Maryon Zabel are both former students of the college. Miss Emmert, who carries the leading roles, is a former student of the college. Misses Quilke and Maryon Zabel, who carry the leading roles, are both former students of the college.

that grace our corridor. Here, if anywhere is static beauty; but is the beauty static? Try focusing your eye on one point in the picture, and keeping that focus for five minutes. The chances are that you will find little of interest. Allow the eye to roam. The chances are that your interest will increase; and, secondly, although the objects among which you are standing still; there must be advancement or retrogression. Either is change. Be it in the realm of the spiritual, the intellectual, or the physical, growth is one of the most interesting of phenomena that populate the universe. It is the process. It is the change that constitutes the lure.

It is the almost kaleidoscopic change that constitutes the lure.

TEACHERS WIN FIRST CONFERENCE GAME

The Winona State Teachers College basket ball team finished in first place in the Ten Conference last Friday night by decisively beating the Rochester Junior College 39-18. The game was played in Rochester.

With the game decided so early, the Rochester Coach Brown decided to give all his players a chance to get into action. The Winona team was not at its best and its 39 points were well down on its season's average.

WINONA BEATEN IN CLOSE Contest

The Winona State Teachers College basketball team toured down the river on Dec. 18, to meet the reputed La Crosse team, posting 31 points to Rochester's 27 points. The game was decided in the second quarter and the Winona team had a decided advantage in the game. The Winona team practices, whole heartedly and as much as the purely athletic, can be effective.

TEACHERS BEAT WACOLDS SHOWS IMPROVEMENT

Winona had a 14-7 lead at the quarter. Winona scored frequently. Captain Kramer was outstanding and will make a strong bid for the Little Ten Championship. His present squad is a more polished passing combination than any previous team of his. The weakness of the Badgers was neutralized and one of the forwards, Anderson and Saari, to work together, better results might be obtained as we believe they are the best forwards on the six teams. The Wild Cats also could use a center of some ability.

INTRA-MURAL TOURNAMENT STARTS WITH A BANG

Opening of the annual intra-mural tournament by last year's representative teams was the first interest of the student body to the topic. Captain Anderson, as pilot of the Cougars, was determined to break last year's jinx and reverse the decision against Ross and his Gophers. After considerable worry by Captain Mullen over the inability of some of his men to sign off with King Morphy, he finally collected his troop and the lid was taken off the tournament. Endavoring to wreak vengeance on the powerful Gophers, the Cougars ran into a team composed of Lee, Griffith, Glass, Happe and Captain Ross augmented by Simon and Eckhart. Glass and LaDue faced each other at the center circle on the top and center line, in a most individualistic battle with Glass having a slight advantage until ejected for a foul in the second quarter. With Happe showing surprising form, the Gophers ended the first half with a substantial 12-3 advantage. Loss of Glass coupled with a little teamwork on the part of the Cougars ended the quarter with the Gopher advantage whittled to a 15-9 lead. With Winona leading see-sawing back and forth, the Gophers scraped together a victories by a 26-18 score.

WOLVERINES WIN EASILY OVER BADGERS

With Johnson going on a scoring spree, the work of Kisti and Gethman was neutralized by the Gophers of the pre-season favorites was defeated. The weakness of the Badgers was outsmarted and Captain Kisti will either have to find some new news or spend plenty of drill on the present ones. Showing superior passing and playing a slow deliberate game, we look forward to the Wolverines to be one of the leaders of the league at the finish of the schedule. They have ability, aggressiveness and plenty of height, which, when used in the prop er manner, can be effective. We especially like the floor- work of Ostrom, tall Wolverines center. One of the biggest disappointments was the failure of Johnny O'Dea to ring up more counters. Although not being closely watched, his morning's contribution amounted to only a 23-10 lead, which is not enough for a man of his ability. Perhaps he will total more next time. The final score left the Wolverines in the lead 26-19. The above scores indicate the outcome of the games played to date in the Wolverines' basketball season. Each successive game has seen a number of improvements. The increase in the number of plays of the team these improvements being especially noticeable in the matter of shooting from the floor. If the boys continue to hit the floor, this seems to indicate that the season was a feature of the Rochester game, the team's boosters are sure to retain their optimism of the present time. "Coach Galligan makes, frankly, that his present squad is more polished passing combination than was his "State Championship" five- two years ago. That team captured the trophy because of a deadly shooting ability from the floor. Evidently, then, the present gals will have only raise its shooting average in order to rank among the leaders in the Little Ten Conference.

WITOKA AND PLAINVIEW CAPTAINS CHOOSE

Two good basketball games are on the schedule for Friday evening, January 16. This will be the first of several "doubleheaders" to be played on the home floor this season.

The first game which will begin about seven P.M., will be played by the Winona Teachers "B" team against the Witoka Independents. This game will be the first public appearance of the Winona "reserves" or "B" team. Since they are anxious to show what their abilities are, they assure the students and townpeople that a fast game will be played.

At halftime, the "varsity" team will take to the "hardwood" for its game with the "Plainview Merchants," one of the outstanding independent teams in this section. Number among the stars for the "Merchants" will be Charles Fisk, who played for Winona until he was graduated in 1929.

These games on Friday evening will be the only home games for several weeks as the squad travels to Manhattan on January 24 to play a double game with the Man- toka Teachers.

Come out Friday evening and give the boys a "big hand." The team appreciates its support so much that it rightfully demands more! How about it?

GIRLS' BASKETBALL CAPTAINS CHOOSE

The girls out for basketball met last Thursday and elected six captains for their teams. These captains are Anna Weis, Anne El- zen, Ruth Severud, Ruth Bliss, Eleanor Jacobson and Frances Morse.

The captains met Friday and selected teams. Lists of team members will be posted on the bulletin board. The girls are learning the game for the first time, will alter a little more individual practice, be added to these six teams. Every girl who shows the ability, aggressiveness and much that it rightfully demands more! How about it?

PEOPLE OF INTEREST

Our W.S.T.C. is a cosmopolitan place. We have people from many different parts of the world. It is time that they became acquainted with each other. Our doors are open to all. We want to see the places from which they come.

Anne Elzenga comes to us from the western part of Holland. Franeker is a city of about 6,000 people. She has been here for 6 months. People continually praising and admiring the saucer-like flowers and the beautiful houses.

Mr. Cooper of the Associated Press chose "The Lindbergh Baby" as one of the ten best books of 1930. What do we care if Lindbergh has ten babies, they’re only human as any we see every day. They couldn’t all follow in their dad’s footsteps anyway. We haven’t seen any more Atlantic Oceans.

Aphasia to ashes And rust to dust If someone doesn’t annoy you Then sopranos must.

 Pets on wheels — "Two hours of mental relaxation," the judge ex- plained. "People do not wear the wooden shoes much any more. A Folklore Society is being formed to protect the ancient history."
