U.S. Offers World 'Atoms for Peace' Plan

Speedy Navy Jet Bursts in Flight

By VERN HAUGLAND
SAN DIEGO, Calif. (U)—The Convair YF2Y-1 Sea-Dart, the world's fastest seaplane, broke apart, burst into flames and plunged into San Diego harbor yesterday.

Its pilot, Charles E. Richbourg, rode the fore part of the delta-wing, needle-nosed jet fighter to his death before the shocked eyes of hundreds of spectators, among them his wife Margaret.

The Navy promptly launched an investigation, and today had divers exploring the bottom of the bay, some 40 feet deep, for bits of wreckage which might help explain the accident.

Capt. F. K. Slason, Navy Bureau of Aeronautics representative at the Convair plant here, said he was at a complete loss as to the cause.

"We just don't know why it happened, but we intend to try to find out," he told reporters.

Richbourg had taken the Sea-Dart off from the bay only a few minutes earlier on a regular test flight which a group of more than a hundred visiting aviation writers had been invited to watch. The Navy was especially proud of its ownership of the world's first jet-powered seaplane fighter because of the way in which it combined the speed of land-based jets with the versatility of water-based aircraft.

Richbourg had flown the YF2Y-1 and its companion fighter, the XF2Y-1, many times without difficulty. Last Aug. 3 the Convair test pilot flew the YF2Y-1, faster than the speed of sound during a shallow dive from an altitude of 34,000 feet.

Sound travels 670 miles an hour at that altitude, and the Sea-Dart has a rated capability of more than 700 miles an hour.

On the fatal run, Richbourg had planned to make a speed dash before watchers assembled at the Convair beaching ramp at Lindbergh Field.

About 20 persons, including this writer, were watching from a pier extending out into the water. Possibly 300 others were standing on the nearby shore.

The Sea-Dart sped toward us in a gradual dive. One observer estimated he was approaching at about 400 miles an hour.

As it neared us, the battlecraft wobbled sharply, turning first its flat base and its equally flat upper side toward us.

"What kind of maneuver is that?" one watcher exclaimed.

Then, incredibly, the machine started coming apart. There was a bright puff of flame, and the craft porpoised upward. "Look out, it's going to explode!" someone shouted.

The plane was only about 300 feet above the water and possibly that far at sea. As the fuselage broke up, fuel lines parted, pouring a petroleum mixture into the hot jet stream. There was a great, brilliant sheet of fire, and black debris showered from it.

Would Share Materials for Peaceful Uses

Plan Put Before U.N. for Chief Delegate Lodge

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (U)—Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. told the U.N. today the United States is ready to start talks with other countries on bilateral agreements to furnish atomic materials for research reactors overseas as part of a program to share atomic know-how for peace.

The chief American delegate to the U.N. announced to the General Assembly's 60-nation Political Committee that this would be a gigantic forward step for 1955 in President Eisenhower's plans for an international pool of atomic energy for peaceful purposes.

Outlining a program of action for the next year—even before a proposed international agency is created to oversee the atoms for peace program—Lodge said the United States is ready to train persons to operate nuclear reactors, to offer courses in nuclear safety, and to invite 150 foreign cancer experts to visit American cancer research facilities and swap views with U.S. doctors.

Will Supply Data
Lodge also announced the United States is ready to give to the principal technical libraries of cooperating nations 10 libraries of data on nuclear energy plus sets of cards abstracting 50,000 scientific and technical books and reports published in all countries.

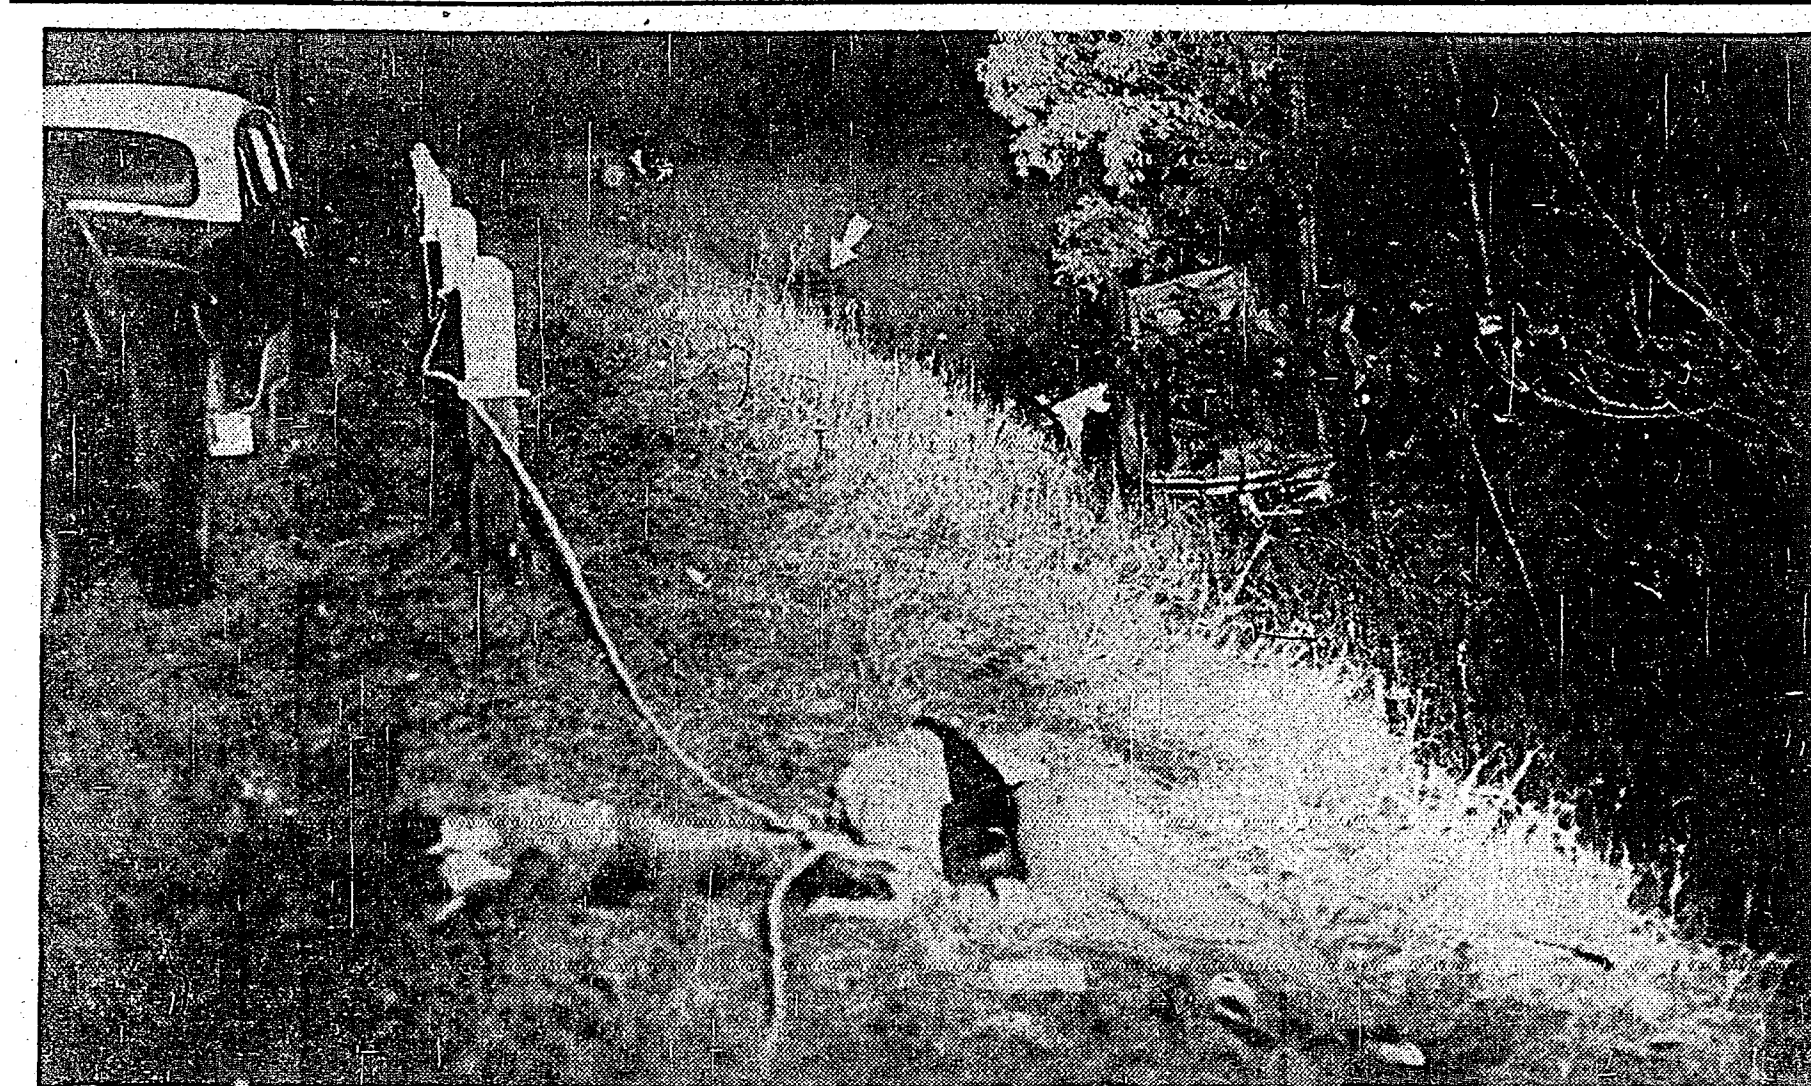

As Lodge spoke there was no word from Moscow whether the Russians had changed their minds and decided to go along with the Eisenhower proposals. With negotiations still under way between Washington and Moscow, Lodge made clear that the door is still open to the Russians to join the President's program.

He said the United States has been talking with Britain, France, Canada, Australia, Belgium, South Africa and Portugal on the program. The United States has said it will go ahead with the program whether the Russians join or not.

Lodge suggested some details of the work to be done by the international atomic agency favored by the United States. He also said the United States and other countries will sponsor a resolution calling for the U.N. to convene an international scientific conference next year to discuss many aspects of the atomic pool plan.

The international agency could be set up, he explained, on a basis similar to the specialized agencies of the U.N. These agencies are related to the U.N. in common.

Minnesotans Get Letters From Sons in China

ST. PAUL, Minn. (U)—Two Minnesota families whose sons have been missing nearly two years since a B29 was shot down in the Korean War received first letters from them yesterday.

T. Sgt. Howard M. Brown, St. Paul, and A2C. Harry Benjamin Jr. of Worthington both reported, in letters postmarked in Peiping in early September, that they were well.

But both also wrote that they were not allowed to smoke, indicating they are being held on a prisoner basis by the Chinese Communists.

Air Force spokesmen said they believed this was the first direct word from any of the 11 believed to have survived the crash near the Yalu River in North Korea. Three of the 14 aboard were reported killed.

Exploding Mine Kills 2 S. Korean Workers

SEOUL (U)—Two South Koreans were killed and a third wounded by an exploding mine while working a safe lane through an old mine field near the Korean demilitarized zone yesterday.

Democrats Take Over Investigation

WASHINGTON (U)—The searchlight of congressional investigations during the next two years, under the guidance of Democrats, is certain to pry inquisitively into the private life of the Eisenhower administration.

Some Democrats said today they want no "political circus"—but, traditionally, opposition-controlled Congresses, with an eye on the next elections, probe more closely into executive branch doings than when their own party holds the White House.

Sen. Gore of Tennessee was one Democrat who told an interviewer he opposes the "political circus of investigations." He said: "We don't want that, but I hope that we will ferret out for all to see the influences that have helped shape the policies of the Eisenhower administration resulting in inordinate favoritism to vested interests."

Conversations with several Democrats indicate a new Democratic Congress will concentrate on these major "studies" of the Eisenhower administration:

1. The civil service job system, and whether a recent administration order really has made a "shambles" of the merit system as charged by Sen. Johnston (D-SC). Johnston is in line for the chairmanship of the Senate Civil Service Committee.
2. The oft-cited Republican claim that the Eisenhower administration "got rid of thousands" of Communists, fellow travelers and other security risks hired by the old Truman administration.
3. Administration policies on power, public lands and natural resources. One target is the Dixon-Yates project to feed private power into a public power system, and Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas said yesterday there would be a "thorough ventilation" of that plan.
4. Post Office Department policies which some Democrats say have fostered the expulsion of postmasters appointed by previous Democratic administrations on flimsy charges of malfeasance in office.
5. Fiscal and monetary decisions taken by the administration, with an accent on what Gore called the "hard money policy."
6. Defense contracts, mobilization plans, and strategy matters such as administration plans for building up the Air Force.

Prison Escapee Hunted in Killing of Minnesota Woman

MAPLE PLAIN, Minn. (U)—Described as "dangerous," an escapee from the Iowa state prison was hunted today for questioning in the death of Mrs. Mary Ferguson, 46, who was beaten to death by bandits.

The fugitive is Walter Henry Menning, 36, formerly of Hartwick, Minn., who escaped from the Iowa Institution at Fort Madison Oct. 23. The state crime bureau broadcast a statewide description of the man and termed him "dangerous."

The description tallied with that given sheriff's officers by Robert Ferguson of Maple Plain, 48, husband of the victim. Like his wife, Ferguson was beaten with a hammer by two holdup men who robbed their gasoline station early Thursday.

Menning has red hair, is 36, weighs 148 and is 5 feet, 9. Ferguson said the smaller of the two robbers who beat him and his wife was red-haired.

The service station operator said he got a good look at the pair that pushed him and his wife into the grease room, slugged Ferguson and beat his wife. For their weapon, the robbers used a hammer they picked up in the station. It was being checked for fingerprints.

A coroner's autopsy showed Mrs. Ferguson was hit at least twice. Officers also were keeping a look out for a maroon Ford, which Ferguson said he saw going east on Highway 12 toward Minneapolis.

Senate Leaders Hope for Quick Vote on Censure

WASHINGTON (U)—Senate leaders were reported today for an early decision on the move to censure Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) in the session opening Monday.

McCarthy, who says he expects the vote to go against him, termed the whole procedure "that Nov. 8 circus." McCarthy said he plans no "obstructive" tactics to delay the vote.

Sen. Knowland of California, the Senate Republican leader, said Thursday he has no intention of permitting any last-minute postponement of the session. He told newsmen he still is thinking in terms of bringing the censure issue to a final vote after about two weeks of debate. Final plans, he added, must await consultations with Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, the Senate Democratic leader.

Members of the special six-man committee which recommended censure planned a meeting Monday morning to perfect the resolutions they will offer calling for official reprimand of McCarthy.

Its three Republican and three Democratic members voted unanimously in September to urge the Senate to censure McCarthy on grounds that he (A) was contemptuous toward a Senate subcommittee which investigated him two years ago; (B) used vulgar language about Sen. Hendrickson (R-NJ), and (C) abused unjustly Brig. Gen. Ralph Zwicker, when Zwicker was a witness before McCarthy's Senate investigations subcommittee.

Mendes-France Makes Progress On Pact Approval

PARIS (U)—In a surprising reversal, the National Assembly's Foreign Affairs Committee today named Pierre Billotte, a supporter of Premier Pierre Mendes-France, to write its report on the recent Allied agreements to rearm West Germany.

The move apparently assured Mendes-France aid in his efforts to obtain Assembly approval of the agreements before the end of the year.

The selection of Billotte came after Socialist Jules Moch turned down the job. Moch, a bitter opponent of German rearmament, wrote the committee's critical report on the defunct European Defense Community plan.

There was no generally accepted explanation of the committee's switch. Chairman Daniel Mayer, a close friend of Moch, passed off the earlier choice as "a student's prank." Moch was selected over Billotte in that vote.

In turning down the bid, Moch said he considered more important his assignment as France's representative at big power disarmament talks authorized yesterday in New York by the U.N. Assembly.

An automobile careened off Highway 14 on Stockton Hill early today, rolled down a steep embankment and spilled out its two occupants, killing one instantly and fatally injuring another.

Dead as a result of the mishap which occurred about two miles west of the city limits sometime between 1 and 1:30 a.m. today are:

W. C. Sparrow, 46, Kasson, Minn., an agent of the State Farm Mutual Insurance Co. He fell out of the rolling car at the edge of the road shoulder, suffered a skull fracture and other injuries and was dead when the first persons arrived at the scene.

Mrs. Viola L. Bray, 49, Eyota, Minn., who was hurled almost 60 feet from the spot where the car came to rest on its top in the ditch. Mrs. Bray, who died of a back fracture, lived for a few minutes after the accident.

Going Down Hill
The car was traveling down Stockton Hill toward Rochester when it went out of control after rounding a curve in the highway.

The westbound car ran off the road on the first curve west of the crest of Stockton Hill. Sheriff George Fort and Minnesota Highway Patrolman Oscar Krenzke, Lewiston, who investigated the crash, were unable to determine definitely who was driving the car but assumed that it was Sparrow after finding that the automobile was registered in his name.

Since Mrs. Bray died before Sheriff Fort arrived at the crash site the circumstances of the accident could be drawn only from skid marks and other bits of evidence in the vicinity of the wrecked car.

Today's accident raised Winona County's 1954 traffic toll to six. The pair were the second and third persons to die during the past week of traffic injuries. Wednesday an elderly Minneapolis man died in the Winona General Hospital of injuries suffered in a car-truck collision on East Sarnia street a month ago today.

Four of the fatalities have been recorded on streets and highways in the rural areas of the county and two in the city.

Passersby Place Time
The approximate time of this morning's accident was set by two Winona area men who were the first persons to arrive at the scene.

Frank Erpelting, Winona Rt. 1, and a passenger in his car, Gordon Henry, Utica, told Sheriff Fort that they drove past the spot where the car went off the road at about 1 a.m. while they were en route to Stockton.

Erpelting said that there was no evidence of an accident at that time but on the return trip to Winona—estimated by the two men to have been about 11 minutes later—they saw the lights of the overturned car in the ditch.

When they stopped to investigate they found Mrs. Bray lying in the ditch near a side road some distance from the wreckage of the car.

"She was groaning," Erpelting recalled, "but was able to speak pretty well. We asked her if there was anybody else in the car and she nodded that there was. We at first thought that there might have been some kids with her in the car, but when we asked her about that she shook her head."

Erpelting and Henry, who

TODAY Ike Way Can Win For GOP

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP
WASHINGTON (U)—In our politics, the great post-election sport is figuring the new prestige-quotations of the leading personalities involved in the contest. It is meaningful sport, too, for the whole political stock market is revolutionized whenever the votes are counted.

In the just concluded electoral hustle, the biggest gainer, if the Republican party is half-way sensible, will be President Dwight D. Eisenhower. And the biggest losers, if you make a hard-headed assessment of the facts, are a strangely assorted pair indeed, Joseph R. McCarthy and Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr.

To be sure, the Republicans have not passed a miracle under Eisenhower's leadership. They have not gained in an off-year election—which the party in power has only done twice in this century.

But the shift in the House was rifting, in the Senate, infinitesimal. The margin was so narrow in the first instance because the Republican party, in 1952, ran far behind Eisenhower. It is very clear that the Republican party has done much better than most people expected in 1954, because the Republicans had the great asset that 6 Eisenhower.

If anyone doubts it, let him consider the number of governorships lost by the Republicans, a good index in itself of the popularity of (Continued on Page 7, Column 4)

Democrats Will Meet Ike More Than Halfway

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrats canvassed the job of taking over the reins in the Senate as well as the House today, with a pledge to meet President Eisenhower "more than halfway" in tackling the nation's problems.

Although several veteran senators expressed some misgivings about taking control with the narrow margin won in Tuesday's elections, Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson said:

"Apparently there will be a majority of the members of the Senate sufficient to organize it. If we can organize it, we will."

The Texas, in a statement issued at Austin, said the Democrats are determined to approach the issues "in a spirit of cooperation."

"We will meet the President more than halfway in any effort to work out a common solution to the difficult problems of national security, of peace and of prosperity," he said.

"Naturally, if we cannot agree with the President, we will vote our convictions. But... there will be no obstruction for the sake of obstruction and no harassing for the sake of partisan advantage."

The Democratic Senate victory apparently was sealed yesterday when a virtually complete Oregon count showed that Richard L. Neuberger had unseated Republican Sen. Guy Cordon by slightly more than 2,000 votes.

Barring any upsets in possible recounts there or elsewhere, this meant a Senate lineup of 48 Democrats, 47 Republicans and independent Sen. Morse of Oregon, who says he will vote with the Democrats on Senate control starting in 1955.

In the House, the Democratic margin was more solid—232 to 203. Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California said he expected the Democrats to take control and added:

"They may find they have some problems in taking on control when it depends on the vote of the independent party (Morse)."

He said the election outcome was not "a repudiation of the Eisenhower administration" but the normal mid-term gain the out can expect.

Johnson listed a bipartisan foreign policy among things he said a Democratic Congress will seek to achieve, along with a strong national defense, "reasonable" farm legislation, antimonopoly safeguards in the atomic energy law and others.

He said also he considers the President's foreign trade program

U.S. Military Cargo Ship Caught in Typhoon

HONG KONG (AP)—Apparently caught in the swirling winds of typhoon Pamela, the 7,450-ton U.S. military cargo ship Muskingum radioed a general SOS today but later reported she was "in no immediate danger."

The freighter, whose position was given as 130 miles southwest of Formosa—60 miles from Pamela's center—messaged that her crewmen had "regained steering control."

British Royal Navy headquarters in Hong Kong said the crew apparently lost control of the ship temporarily while being tossed by the typhoon roaring towards Hong Kong with winds up to 160 miles an hour.

'Butterfly Boys' Causing Problem In Soviet Union

LONDON (AP)—The "butterfly boys" are giving the Soviet Union its greatest juvenile delinquency problem since the early days of the Revolution.

As colorful as their nickname, the young terrorists wear long-maned "Tarzan haircuts" and brilliantly colored clothes.

Krokodil, the Soviet illustrated weekly, describes them thus: "A gang of pimply youths, ne'er do wells and louts are responsible. They start trouble on trams, in crowds of moviegoers, and eating houses. They bother girls and pick fights with men."

Nearly 60 stories have appeared in the Soviet press within the last six months on youthful hooliganism and drinking. Some of them report crimes of serious violence.

A schoolboy in Khabarovsk knifed a teacher to death. He was 11. An Odessa schoolboy was beaten to death by other boys.

Four boys, aged 15 to 17, engaged in a series of armed robberies. The pistol belonged to the father of one of the boys—a policeman.

Moscow radio described a 7-year-old as a "thief and a drunkard."

The Soviet courts are dealing severely with the youthful offenders.

One schoolboy received a sentence of five years imprisonment for helping another steal a pair of football shoes. Another got two years for stealing a shirt.

And added: "We're not going to bottle it up as the 83rd Congress did." Eisenhower originally sought a three-year extension of the Reciprocal Trade Act with new authority to cut tariffs. After important GOP opposition developed, he settled for a simple one-year extension, which Congress passed.

Bees' Chain-React, Put Government in Honey Business

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (AP)—Heard the one about the swarm of bees that chain-reacted into an old locker on an Oak Ridge construction project—and how they put the government in the honey business?

At least, that's the story told today by Knoxville Journal columnist Vic Weals, who says another fellow told him. He doesn't know where the other guy got it, but that doesn't seem to be reason to hold down a good story.

Seems that as the bees began storing up honey for the winter on this atomic construction job, one of the construction workers—who also kept bees—kept his eye on these.

One day, he brought a tub with him, and collected about 50 pounds of honey, then put the bees into a hive and planned to take the whole works with him. He hadn't reckoned with the materials checker, though—something of a practical joker.

"Got a requisition?" asked the checker.

"No. Do I need a requisition?" asked the beekeeper.

"Well, my orders are that no government property can be taken out of here without a requisition," the checker replied.

"But this isn't government property," protested the beekeeper. "These bees just flew in here and settled."

"True. But their nest is attached to government property, and the honey is attached to government property. Therefore, the bees and the honey are obviously government property, and cannot be removed without a requisition," said the checker.

"Well, how do I get a requisition?" asked the beekeeper.

"I'll have to call the top man," said the checker.

The top man ruled that if the bees were to fly out of the yard of their own accord, then a requisition wouldn't be necessary.

"That won't get me any honey, and I'm not going to stand around and wait for the bees to fly out," said the desperate beekeeper.

"In that case," said the top man, "I'll put through a requisition right away." It went through official channels and was approved, and the beekeeper got both the bees and the honey.

At least, that's the story.

10th Fireman Dies As Result of Blast

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A 10th fireman has died as the result of injuries suffered in the explosion of a tank containing a textile solvent.

Bernard Junod, 32, who died Wednesday, had been under treatment for inhalation of fumes released in the explosion Oct. 28. City chemists found that one of several gasses discharged was phosgene, used in gas attacks during World War I.

Three fire department officials died at the scene, the Charles W. Berg Chemical Co. The others died subsequently.

Baer Elected Commissioner By Drawing

Canvassing Board In Charge as Tie Is Broken

Paul A. Baer, 49-year-old Fremont Township farmer, will be Winona County's 4th District county commissioner during the next four years.

In a tense moment at 10 a. m. today, Baer was declared the winner of the 4th District commissioner race over 68-year-old incumbent Walter Schubert. The issue was decided by lot today after Schubert and Baer had finished in a tie for the post in Tuesday's general election. Both men had garnered 665 votes in the seven 4th District precincts.

Arthur J. Walz, 277 E. 3rd St., a member of the official election canvassing board, drew Baer's name from a steel jury box in the county commissioner's chambers at the courthouse this morning.

Others Present

Others present at the ceremonies were Adolph Spitzer, 3rd District commissioner; Arnold Zenke, 5th District commissioner; Joseph C. Page, clerk of court; Richard Schoonover, county auditor; Schubert, and Baer.

No person among the officials and several interested onlookers could remember any similar situation in Winona County history. Schoonover said that he'd checked back "many years" into canvassing board reports and found no record of a tie.

Following Tuesday's election, the canvassing board met Thursday at the courthouse, rechecked figures and announced that the tie between Schubert and Baer was official.

This morning, all parties concerned were called to the courthouse and the method for determining the winner was explained by Page. Five slips of paper—three of them blank, one with Schubert's name and the 5th with Baer's name—were placed in a steel jury box. Walz was blindfolded and in the presence of everyone began to draw slips from the box. The first was a blank, as was the second; but on the third try Walz drew Baer's name and it was finished.

Earlier, Baer had said to Schubert, "Well, I guess this isn't as bad as Russian roulette."

To Ask Re-count?

Asked afterward if he would ask for a recount of the ballots, Schubert said, "Well, I don't know for sure—I'll probably think it over some, but shucks, this was the fairest way it could possibly have been done."

The law says that a candidate has 10 days after the canvassing board completes its survey, to file a request for a recount. Schoonover said that the board probably will finish the job Monday.

Speaking of his years as a county commissioner, Schubert said, "I certainly enjoyed serving on the board; I had lots and lots of cooperation from all the other men on the board and I wish my successor the same."

Schubert has been a county commissioner since 1929, when he was appointed to fill the unexpired term of Fred Robertson, who died recently. In 1930, he was re-elected to the post and was running for his 2nd full term Tuesday. Baer has never before run for any public office.

Fresh Attack Expected on Dixon-Yates

WASHINGTON (U)—The Dixon-Yates contract was up for another round before the Senate-Atomic Energy Committee today with advance notice it will come under fresh attack.

Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.), slated as leadoff witness at the committee's second day of hearings on the private power plan, made it plain beforehand that he disagrees with administration testimony that the proposed contract is fair and in the public interest.

Gore, a long-time critic of the project who asked to testify, told an interviewer: "The administration has come to make its case but is not making a very good job of it."

Atomic Energy Commission Chairman Lewis L. Strauss and Budget Director Rowland H. Hughes testified under oath yesterday that the proposal is "in the interest of all the people" despite what they called "misstatements and misrepresentations" made about it.

Strauss cited 16 points on which he said the contract favored the government over previous similar arrangements, and he denied it was negotiated with "personal friends" or under "conditions of secrecy" as has been charged. Hughes termed it "entirely fair as a business proposition for the government" and a "splendid example" of how free enterprise works.

The contract, approved by AEC but not yet signed, calls for a utilities group known as Dixon-Yates to build a 107-million-dollar steam generating plant at West Memphis, Ark. Electricity from the plant would be fed into Tennessee Valley Authority lines to replace power TVA is sending to atomic plants.

This Was The Scene Today at the Winona County Courthouse's commissioner chambers, when Paul A. Baer, Fremont Township, was declared by lot the winner of the 4th District commissioner race over incumbent Walter Schubert, Utica Township farmer, who has been a commissioner for five years. The two finished

Brownsville Men To Face Charges Of Shining Deer

CALEDONIA, Minn. — Three Brownsville hunters are to be arraigned today on charges of shining deer. They were arrested in the Reno Mississippi River bottoms by four Minnesota wardens Thursday night.

Arrested, as reported by Al Breza, Houston County warden, were: Lloyd Lampert, 22, Arthur Augedahl, 29, and Cletus Link, 30, all of Brownsville. Their car and three guns were taken by the wardens.

The four wardens, concealed in a clover field adjoining the marsh, made the arrest when the hunters were driving around to locate feeding deer with the headlights of the car and a spotlight. The three set-up guns, two deer rifles and a shotgun loaded with a slug shell—were found in the car, the wardens said. The hunters had no deer in their possession.

Two radio-equipped squad cars of wardens have been operating in Southeastern Minnesota on shiner cases the last two weeks. They operate at night. Wardens involved in Thursday night's arrest were, in addition to Breza, Ronald Shager, Winona County; Willis Kruger, Wabasha County, and Kenneth La Bonne, Hastings.

Deer shining is a major conservation crime in Minnesota. Hunters may lose their cars and equipment and are subject to fines from $100 to $1,000 or up to a year in jail. It is a District Court offense.

Thus far this fall, Minnesota wardens have seized 12 cars, valued at over $10,000 in 12 arrests, according to Francis W. Johnson, Minnesota's chief warden. Four of the arrests were in St. Louis County, three in Aitkin, two in Koochiching, and one each in Crow Wing, Carlton and Itasca counties.

The Houston County arrest is the first reported from Southern Minnesota although wardens have had numerous reports of night deer hunting. In one case, a head of a large buck which had been butchered was found in a field.

Farmers in some areas, Johnson reports, have been forced to put their cattle in barns at night. "Every fall we have reports of cows, horses, sheep and even farm dogs shot by deer shiners who seem to believe that every pair of eyes seen reflected in the darkness belong to a deer," he added.

Two Youths Get Suspended Terms

Ninety-day jail sentences imposed in the cases of two Rushford area youths charged with Halloween weekend vandalism in Winona County have been suspended on the condition that the two 18-year-olds repair damage they caused.

Arraigned in justice court at Goodview Thursday afternoon were Quentin Walker and Curtis Tudahl, both of rural Rushford, who were charged by Sheriff George Fort with causing damage at rural schoolhouses near Hart on the night of Oct. 29 and tipping over a number of corn shocks in fields in that area.

After the two pleaded guilty each was ordered to serve a 90-day jail sentence and pay costs of $3.50 but the sentences were suspended on the condition that the two boys repair the damage at the schoolhouses and reshock all of the corn they had tipped over.

Three other boys ranging in age from 13 to 16 were arrested by Sheriff Fort on charges stemming from the same round of vandalism.

The three have been referred to juvenile authorities who ordered that they join with the two older youths in repairing the damage.

Sheriff Arrests Man Wanted on Fraud Count

Sheriff George Fort today reported the arrest of a Lincoln, Neb., man wanted on a warrant held by authorities at Fairmont, Minn.

He is Edward Austin, 32, who has been living at Minnesota City. The sheriff said that he arrested Austin at the request of Fairmont authorities who said that the man was wanted on a fraud charge.

Farmer Strangles In Tractor Mishap

ST. JAMES, Minn. (U)—A retired farmer who was helping his son fill a corn crib died of strangulation today when his arm caught in a tractor's power takeoff and pulled him between the tractor and the elevator.

The clothing around his neck strangled Frank Forsythe, 73, as he aided his son Donald on a farm eight miles north of here. Donald was some distance away in a field when the accident happened.

Forsythe is survived by his wife, the son and two daughters.

Madison Approves $4,000,000 Issue For Civic Center

MADISON, Wis. — Voters here Tuesday overwhelmingly approved a $4,000,000 bond issue to finance the construction of an auditorium and civic center.

By a narrow margin, the voters also indicated their preference of Frank Lloyd Wright as architect for the building and advised erection of the building on a Monona Terrace site.

Two Cars Damaged In East 4th Crash

Cars driven by Clarence Guenther, 166 E. 5th St., and Ruth Losinski, 1115 W. Howard St., were damaged in a collision at East 4th and Market streets at 4:10 p. m. Thursday.

Neither driver has filed a damage estimate at police headquarters.

Mrs. Harold Englund, 4325 6th St., Goodview, reported $82 damage to her car in a collision on West Broadway, near the Milwaukee Road tracks, at 8:30 a. m. Thursday.

The driver of the other car has not completed the accident report.

Fountain City, Arcadia Church Services Listed

Servises at St. Michael's, Fountain City, and St. John's Lutheran, Arcadia, were announced today by the Rev. A. L. Mennicke, St. Matthew's, Winona, who will preach at both places Sunday.

At Fountain City, Sunday School will be at 9 a. m. and services at 10 a. m.

At Arcadia, services will be at 8:30 a. m. and Sunday School at 9:30 a. m.

Commercial Travelers To Meet Saturday Night

Winona Council 69, United Commercial Travelers, will meet at 7:30 p. m. Saturday at the Red Men's Wigwam.

Plans for a safety poster contest to be sponsored in the Winona schools will be discussed. The contest will be a part of a national UCT safety project.

Lunch and refreshments will be served.

TC Schedules Public Lectures

Winona State Teachers College has announced its sponsorship of a series of six lectures to be given monthly during the winter and spring by members of the faculty.

Each lecture, which is open to the public, will be followed by an open discussion.

The series begins next Tuesday with a talk by Dr. Luther Gulick Jr., of the department of geography, on "Civilization and Population."

Dr. E. L. Ragar, chairman of the division of education, will lecture on "Some Fundamental Human Needs" Dec. 7; Daniel Hoyt, principal of the Phelps Laboratory Junior High School, Jan. 11, on "Europe Between Two Wars"; David Davis, kindergarten instructor in the Phelps School, Feb. 8, on "Don't Underestimate your Children"; Miss Floretta Murray, head of the art department, March 8, on "How to Look at a Picture"; and Dr. Harold Guthrie, chairman of the division of language and literature, April 5, on "Faet versus Value in Modern Criticism."

The first lecture will be broadcast over Station KWNO in Winona Wednesday at 4:30 p. m., with the discussion broadcast later. A similar procedure will be followed with subsequent lectures.

Other lectures may be scheduled later on topics suggested by the audiences.

The meetings will be held in the social room of Somsen Hall.

Guns and Knives Taken at Whitehall

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—A burglar or burglars broke into the Whitehall Hardware & Furniture Store between 10 and 10:30 p. m. Wednesday and took a $78 12-gauge pump shotgun, a $50 automatic .22 rifle, a $24.50 electric razor, and some hunting knives.

Entry was made through two back doors. The glass of the outer door was broken as was a panel in the inner door.

The store is owned by John and Sidney Gilbertson. John Gilbertson and wife reside in an apartment over the store. Mrs. Gilbertson was at home at the time and heard some one below, but she thought it was one of the store employees.

An investigation is being conducted by local police and Sheriff Ernest Amness.

Paul Losinski Retires As GB Brakeman

Paul Losinski, 156 Mankato Ave., has retired after 46 years service as a brakeman with the Green Bay & Western Railway.

A lifelong resident of Winona, he began his railroad career Sept. 1, 1908, and was employed as a brakeman on freight trains in the Winona area until his retirement.

Losinski is married and the father of three daughters and two sons.

Construction Workers Hurt as Scaffold Falls

Two Minneapolis construction workers were injured when a portion of a scaffold collapsed inside a tank at Northwest Cooperative Mills, Prairie Island road, early Thursday afternoon.

They were Clarence E. Snedeker, 41, who was treated for cuts at Winona General Hospital and released, and Donald Huntley, 22, who was expected to be released today after being treated for a fractured elbow.

Both of Minneapolis, they're employed by the Minneapolis Tank Manufacturing Co. They fell from 12 to 14 feet.

FIRE CALLS

Firemen were called to the Selma Putsch residence, 363 E. 2nd St., at 5:05 p. m. Thursday when smoke escaped from a furnace.

Boy Scouts To Take Over City Monday

Annual Civic Day To Feature Meeting Of 'City Council'

Winona's Boy Scouts will "take over" the city Monday, when the local Lions Club will sponsor its annual Boy Scout Civic Day.

Scouts will be filling all major city posts on that day in the program intended to teach young men more about city government. Mayor for the day will be Eagle Scout James Williams, troop 5, who was elected at a meeting of all prospective scout officials at the Community Room in City Hall Thursday evening.

Designated as aldermen were: Melvin Aves, troop 2, who will serve as council president; Richard Ozmun, troop 1; Roger Santelman, troop 14; Wayne Smith, troop 205; Richard Field, troop 5; Dave Madland, troop 13; John Cunningham, troop 13; Michael Neek, troop 13, and Robert Thal-dorf, troop 2.

Mayor Williams appointed other scouts to serve in the following capacities: Dick Jewell, troop 8, chief of police; Thomas E. Baures, troop 3, policeman; James Cole, troop 6, fire chief; Charles Landman, troop 9, Bill Schultz, troop 3, Mike Streuber, troop 10, and Steve Goldberg, troop 9, firemen; Richard Florenberg, troop 13, city engineer; Walter Tarras, troop 3, city treasurer; Ken McQueen, troop 6, city recreational director and Bob Anderson, troop 14, city recorder.

All the scouts will be guests of city officials and businessmen at the Lions Club luncheon at noon Monday at Hotel Winona, officially opening Boy Scout Civic Day. During the afternoon, the scouts will participate in private business and city government activities.

An evening banquet at 6 p. m. will be held for regular city officials and scouts filling city offices for the day at the Community Room at City Hall. Following the dinner, scout aldermen will hold a "mock" meeting of the City Council.

State's Proposed Warehouse Buy Hits Another Snag

ST. PAUL (U)—Proposed purchase by the state of a warehouse attached to a rutabaga plant at Grand Rapids, Minn., struck another snag today.

Atty. Gen. Burnquist ruled that the Iron Range Resources and Rehabilitation commissioner cannot legally purchase the warehouse, which has an appraised value of $57,575.

However, Burnquist discussed a way in which the building might be purchased by the commissioner of administration as "personal property," but warned that such a transaction might be attacked in the courts as a "subterfuge."

Edward G. Bayuk, resources commissioner, asked Burnquist if the state can legally purchase the warehouse which is used in conjunction with operation of the Arrowhead Cannery Co. The warehouse is owned by Walter Erickson, an officer of the cannery company.

Bayuk recommended that the plant and warehouse be integrated through purchase of the warehouse. The pilot plant and warehouse are separated by a party wall.

Acquisition would be for the best interests of the state, and Bayuk said it would be "another step in the rehabilitation efforts of my department."

An all-year-around processing of rutabagas would assist farmers in the area and provide employment to many now not employed, the commissioner said.

Burnquist said the building could be purchased upon requisition by a department head as "personal property." In such a case, the commissioner would have to call for bids.

Pneumonia Kills Convicted Killer

PHILADELPHIA (U)—Convicted murderer Peter Bozzelli, who went on a hunger strike three weeks ago in Eastern Penitentiary, died Wednesday of broncho-pneumonia.

Dr. Nathan Blumberg, prison physician, set the cause of death, but said also yesterday that there was no doubt Bozzelli "became ill as a result of being weakened by lack of food. He just didn't want to eat anything and wouldn't listen to any argument by the prison staff, the priest or even his own brother."

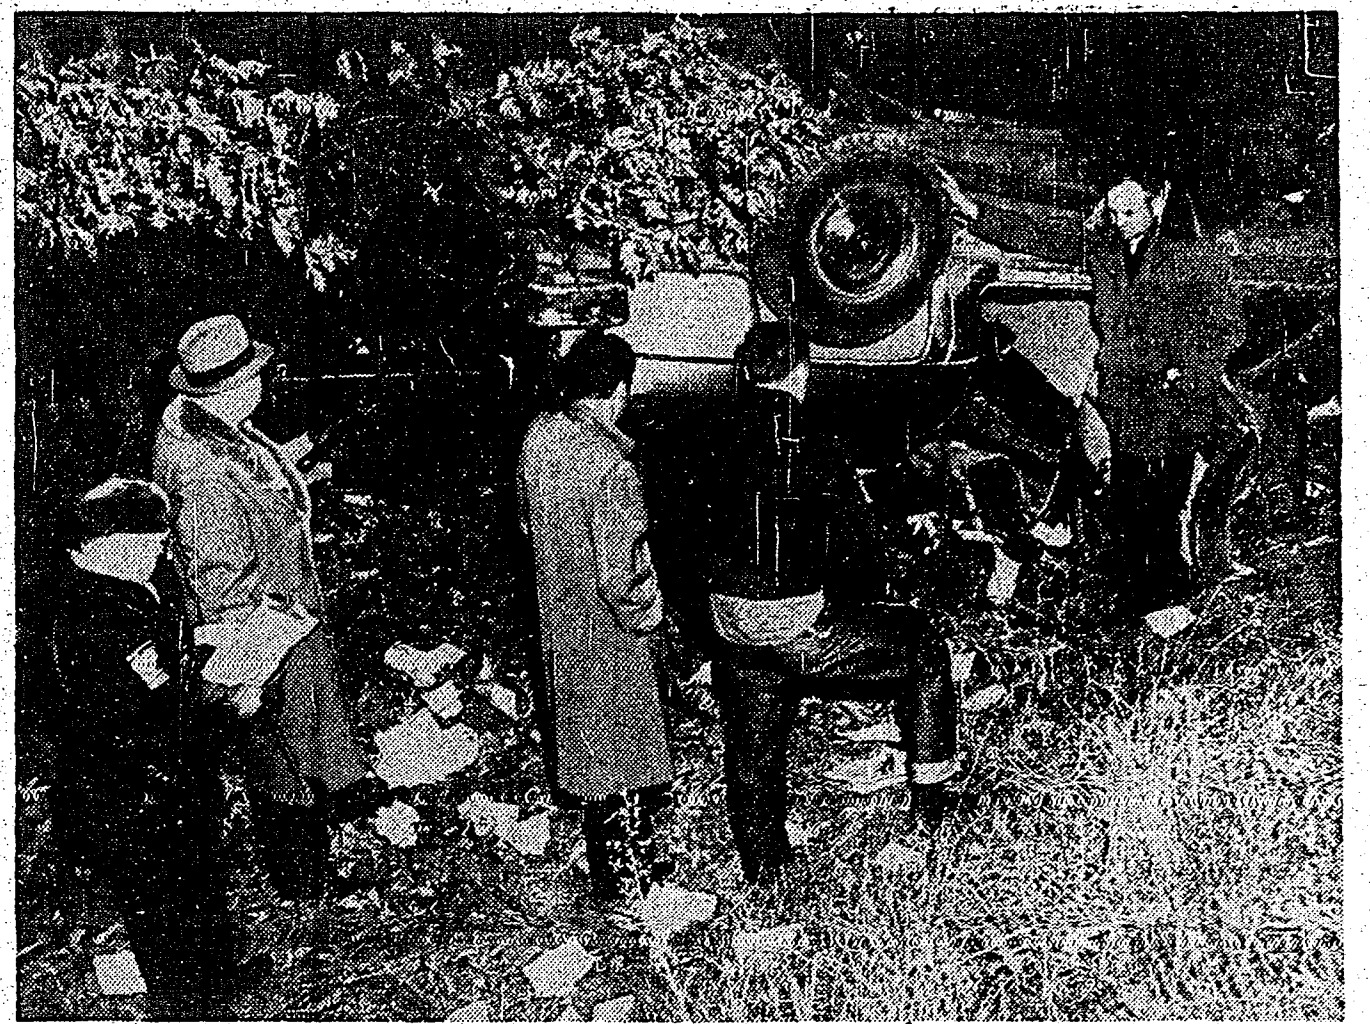

Bozzelli, 44, was convicted of strangling his 24-year-old daughter Gloria, eldest of nine children in a motherless family, in April 1933. He was sentenced to life imprisonment.

4 Volunteers Comprise Buffalo County Quota

ALMA, Wis. (Special)—Four volunteers for induction left for duty with the armed forces Thursday as Buffalo County's November Selective Service quota.

They are Merle Fitzgerald and Sanford Risen, both of Mondovi, and Roger Meier and John Marty both of Alma, R. T.

Six other men made the trip for physical examinations.

Blood Donations Hit 583 Pints

Sixty walk-ins at the Red Cross bloodmobile Thursday afternoon and evening swelled the day's total contributions to 153 and the 4-day total to 583 pints.

James D. Cole, blood chairman, expressed satisfaction over the total contributed.

During the current 12 months, the Winona chapter is pledged to give 1,200 pints, and if slightly more than 600 pints can be secured at the visit of the bloodmobile next spring, the goal will be reached.

He expressed thanks to all donors from the city and vicinity, volunteer workers at the Masonic Temple and St. Stanislaus Catholic Church, to those two groups for use of their buildings and to all those who contributed to the success of the visit, especially those in industries and businesses.

The results for the four days: Monday, 125 pints, 10 rejections; Tuesday, 134 pints, 15 rejections; Wednesday, 171 pints, 15 rejections, and Thursday, 153 pints, 11 rejections.

March of Dimes Director Named

Mrs. Frank Subjeck, 221 W. 5th St., has been appointed campaign director of the 1935 March of Dimes.

Her appointment was announced at a meeting of retiring and newly elected officers of the Winona County Chapter, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, Wednesday evening at Morey Hall.

Presiding was Donald T. Winder, new county chairman, succeeding Mrs. Fae Griffith, who has been chairman three years.

Mrs. Subjeck succeeds Lloyd E. Deike, director for two years. Mrs. Hermon Curtis and Mrs. H. M. Scherer were reappointed co-chairmen of the Mothers' March committee. Mrs. Curtis and Mrs. Scherer have served as co-chairmen of that committee the past two years.

Winder also named Miss Patricia Yenco, a student at Winona State Teachers College, publicity chairman. She succeeds Miss May Murray.

Dr. A. H. Maze, last year's treasurer and an officer of the chapter for 14 years, gave his report. Norman Schellhas succeeds Dr. Maze as treasurer.

'Love-Starved' Elephant Settles For Bag of Apples

AUGSBURG, Germany (U)—U.S. Army reinforcements were called out here last night when Bosco, a love starved, elephant, bolted from a circus after injuring his keeper.

A 19-year-old bull weighing four tons, Bosco crashed through a stone wall, demolished a bicycle, uprooted young trees, crushed a handcart, smashed some garden chairs, and headed for a forest.

Circus men finally lured him back with a bag of apples.

Two U.S. Army jeeps with mounted machine guns were stationed outside Bosco's stockade for the rest of the night, but the big elephant was quiet.

Circus men said Bosco started on his rampage because he has no girl friend.

Chicago's Siamese Twins 'Doing Fine'

CHICAGO (U)—Chicago's Siamese twins, born Oct. 1, weigh more than 14 pounds and are "doing beautifully," a spokesman for St. Anne's Hospital said today.

The Andrews girls, joined at the head, weighed about six pounds when born by Caesarean section. The children, christened Deborah Marie and Christine Mary, are the daughters of Wilfred J. Andrews, 38, a salesman, and his wife Nor-ene, 33.

No date has been set for tests to determine whether it will be feasible to separate them surgically, the hospital spokesman said.

were joined shortly after they arrived by Robert Christopherson, Winona, said that Mrs. Bray pointed in the direction toward where Sparrow's body was lying.

Put Jacket on Her

"We asked her if her husband was in the car and she said that he was," Christopherson said.

"We'd put a jacket over her to try to keep her warm and just a little after that she died," he explained.

The three men hailed a truck driver and asked him to go to Winona and summon authorities and another motorist who passed the accident scene went to police headquarters to report the mishap.

Sheriff Fort received the call at 1:39 a. m. and called Krenzke who drove to Stockton Hill from Lewiston.

Deputy Sheriff Helmer Weinmann arrived a short time later to assist in the accident investigation.

Falls to Make Curve

Sheriff Fort said that measurements taken along the highway showed that the westbound car went off the highway almost immediately after it rounded the curve.

It continued to travel on the road shoulder, near the guard rail posts, for a distance of 237 feet and then returned to the edge of the westbound traffic lane.

Apparently traveling at a fairly high rate of speed when it came around the curve, the car was held on a relatively even course on the edge of the highway for approximately 40 feet before it veered to the right toward the line of guard rails.

When it left the highway the last time it probably was traveling on only two wheels. The shoulder at the edge of the pavement was gouged out for a considerable distance and marks on the lip of the pavement showed where the wheel rim on the left front of the car hit into concrete.

The car traveled sideways until it struck the first guard rail post and then apparently spun around.

Four Posts Broken

Four guard rail posts were snapped off and Sparrow's body was lying on the edge of the ditch near one of these posts, 52 feet from where the car left the highway for the second time.

From the edge of the road the car plunged 51 feet down the embankment where it came to rest on its top facing east.

Mrs. Bray was 60 feet from the car.

Sheriff Fort and Krenzke were joined in the investigation by Corporal R. B. Tweedy.

Sheriff Fort's investigation revealed that a stepson of Mrs. Bray, Robert Bray, has been employed at the Chicago & North Western Railway's switch tower near the west city limits and has been living at the West End Modern Cabins.

The sheriff said that he was informed that Mrs. Bray and Sparrow drove to Winona Thursday and had dinner with Robert and his wife, whose birthday was being observed.

Mrs. Bray's stepson had to leave during the early part of the evening to go to work and the two accident victims remained here for some time after dinner, the sheriff said.

Sparrow was associated with his father, Orrin, in an insurance and real estate firm at Kasson.

Six Children Survive

In addition to his wife he is survived by two sons, James, in the Air Force in New Mexico, and John, Kasson, and four daughters, Martha, Mary, Valeria and a fourth whose name was not immediately available this morning.

Funeral arrangements are being completed at the Dibble Funeral Home in Kasson.

A widow, Mrs. Bray was a former resident of Chester, Iowa, and had lived at Fredmore, near Eyo, where she operated a store, for the past three years.

Survivors include a son, Kenneth Page, Mankato; three daughters, Mrs. Carl Hendrickson, Albert Lea, and Mrs. Joseph Jensen and Mrs. Dean Kenyon, Eyota, and two brothers, Herman Meyer, St. Paul, and Andrew Meyer, Byron.

Funeral arrangements are being made at the Macken Funeral Home, Rochester.

The Navy operates a correspondence school with more than 150,000 Navy and Marine students.

Ernest Knutson To Be Arraigned This Afternoon

PRESTON, Minn. (Special)—Ernest Knutson, 35, Lanesboro, was to be arraigned in justice court here at 2 p. m. today on an assault charge stemming from the shooting of Deputy Sheriff Walter Kruegel, 55, here Monday night.

Knutson, who surrendered to authorities four hours after Kruegel was critically wounded by two bullets from a .22 caliber revolver allegedly fired by the Lanesboro farmer, is to be charged formally with an assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill.

Frank Newhouse, Rochester city attorney, has been retained as counsel for Knutson. George Froger, Harmony, Fillmore County attorney, is prosecuting.

Kruegel, meanwhile, was reported this morning to be in "considerably improved condition."

Confined since the shooting in a Rochester hospital, the deputy was said today to be sitting up in bed and receiving nourishment.

Knutson has been in the custody of Fillmore County Sheriff Donald L. Cook since the shooting. Arraignment was to be before Justice A. H. Langum.

Democrats Have Best Showing in Governorships

WASHINGTON (U)—Democrats were at their vote-getting best in the gubernatorial races Tuesday. They took seven governorships from Republicans and didn't lose any of their own.

Actually, the switchovers totaled eight, including Maine where Edmund Muskie scored a surprising win in September.

Democrats upset Republicans in two populous eastern states—New York and Pennsylvania—and Minnesota, Arizona, Colorado, New Mexico and Connecticut.

Governorships were at stake in 34 states, including Maine's early elections. Democrats won 19 of them and Republicans 15. The Republicans took Wyoming, last contest to be decided, where Milward Simpson narrowly outpointed Democrat William (Scotty) Jack.

Perhaps the most important Democratic victory came in New York where Averell Harriman won a narrow decision from Sen. Irving Ives. Ives was selected as the Republican candidate after Gov. Thomas D. Dewey, who is finishing his third straight term, said he would not run.

Harriman's margin over Ives was just a few thousand votes. Democrats also captured the influential Pennsylvania governorship for the first time in 20 years. George M. Leader, a political newcomer, defeated Republican Lloyd M. Wood by about 274,000 votes.

A 16-year Republican grasp on the Minnesota governorship was ended when Orville Freeman, Democrat—Farmer—Labor candidate, whipped incumbent Gov. C. Elmer Anderson.

Democratic governors, including holdovers as well as those just elected, will number 27 to the Republicans' 21.

These are the other statehouse changes:

In Arizona, Ernest W. McFarland defeated incumbent Republican Gov. Howard Pyle.

In Colorado, Sen. Edwin C. Johnson won over Republican Donald G. Brotzman.

In Connecticut, former Rep. Abraham A. Ribicoff upset Republican Gov. John Lodge.

In New Mexico, Democrat John F. Simms Jr. whipped Republican Alvin Stockton for the governorship given up by Republican Gov. Edwin L. Mechem who tried unsuccessfully for the Senate.

Other highlights of the gubernatorial contests included:

Republican Gov. Christian A. Herter's triumph in Massachusetts after a strong challenge by Democrat Robert F. Murphy. Herter won re-election.

Democrat Gov. G. Mennen Williams' successful bid for a fourth term in Michigan, and Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche's election to his fifth consecutive term in Ohio, both unprecedented.

Republican Gov. Goodwin Knight's easy victory over Democrat Richard P. Graves in California. Knight became governor when Earl Warren was named chief justice of the United States.

Republican Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin's successful quest of a second term in Maryland, the first time a Republican had ever won re-election.

Injectons Replacing 'Pink Pill' Medicine

NEW YORK—Do you hate that doctor's needle? Then here's news. The doctor who's giving me cold shots tells me that "injections" have now replaced the "pink pill" which, in the mind of the sick person, meant him well, though the had little in it.

Many people give tablets or capsules today insist that tablets or capsules don't help them—they must have injections.

The doctors don't always bother to tell them that in many cases, they get the same medicine either way. (It's true and I'm not just needing you.)

Fran Warren, the hit singer, has won the Janis Paige role in the road company of "Pajama Game"—beating out some 200 other gals. It's a triumph for motherhood because she's expecting and will be rehearsing while in her delicate condition. She opens in Pittsburgh in the show in February just a short time after she has her baby.

I'm watching my alma mater, Ohio State, get ready to go to the Rose Bowl—60 right now I like football stories.

A couple of tipsy old grads were bragging (as Joe Harrington tells it in the Boston Post) and one said: "Why, when I was in college, I helped Amherst beat Williams three years in succession."

"Is that so?" replied Sot No. 2. "Which team did you play on?"

"WISH I'D WRITTEN THESE!" "Most people now are walking around under fall's colors."

Armed Forces

The families of servicemen from Winona, Southeastern Minnesota and Western Wisconsin are invited to send news about them—assignments, addresses, promotions, transfers, leaves, etc.—for use in this column. Pictures will be returned, if requested. Address: Servicemen's editor, The Winona Daily News.

Cpl. Virgil Laak, 978 W. 3rd St., has returned to the United States after 16 months in Korea and is spending a 30-day furlough at his home here. Cpl. Laak has been in the armed forces for 21 months and in Korea served as a fire direction specialist in the field artillery. He was among the 3,647 troops rotated from the Far East who returned to Seattle Oct. 28 aboard the Navy transport, the U.S.S. "Albatross". Laak Weigel. He is a 1950 graduate of the Winona Senior High School and before entering the service, was employed as a foreman at the Lake Center Switch Co. here. After completing the furlough, he will go to Ft. Sheridan, Ill., for reassignment. The corporal expects to be separated from the Army in about three months.

John M. Swensen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Swensen, 572 E. 5th St., has been promoted to the rank of corporal while serving with the 457th Airborne Field Artillery Battalion, a unit of the 11th Airborne Division, at Ft. Campbell, Ky. Cpl. Swensen is a graduate of the Winona Senior High School and entered the Army last year. He took basic training at Ft. Campbell and is assigned to duty as battalion ordnance parts clerk.

PIGEON FALLS, Wis. (Special)—Richard and Conrad Dahl, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dahl, are serving on the same ship in the Pacific. They recently met

Dayton Lovelien, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Lovelien, WHITEHALL, who is also assigned to Navy duty aboard a ship in the Pacific. Richard Dahl's address is: USS Frontier, AD 25, 4th Division, care of the fleet post office, San Francisco, Calif. His brother's address is: USS Frontier, AD 25, 3rd Division, care of the fleet post office, San Francisco, Calif.

BLAIR, Wis. (Special)—Cpl. Emory G. Johnson Jr. has reported for overseas duty after spending a 30-day furlough in Blair and Sparta. After reporting to Camp Kilmer, N.J., he sailed Oct. 19 for Germany where he will be assigned to duty for 18 months. His wife is residing with his parents here.

Pfc. Marvin Skaugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ingemar Skaugh, left for active Army duty last Thursday. He had been a member of the Blair Army reserve unit since March 1933. Skaugh attended two summer camps with the Norwegian interpreter detachment that also includes Sgt. I. Burton Thompson and Sgt. Roger Norberg. He is now assigned to duty at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.

Can You Tie This? Smog Accused of Changing Colors

LOS ANGELES (U)—If James Sharpless had followed his wife's advice and left that coral-hued tie on the rack yesterday it might be part of his wardrobe.

But now the garish cravat which Mrs. Sharpless thought was too "wild" for classes at the University of Southern California is in a brown bottle in the university's chemical engineering department.

Dr. Joseph Smatko will make an extensive study of it to learn why it turned from coral to a bluish purple while Sharpless was walking from one class to another.

The professor said smog changed the tie's color. He's going to contact the tie manufacturer, learn what chemicals were used in the dye, then dip the tie in various synthetic smog substances and try to isolate the chemical compound that caused the color transformation.

whopping big musical show for around next September 34th birthday of his Music Box Theater. He'll finance it himself (and he can do it)... Liliane Montevicchi makes her movie bow in "The Glass Slipper."

Bing Crosby starts a five-week radio show Nov. 22... Connie (Cotton Club) Immerman's now associated with Blair House, Earl's Pearls.

Johnny (Old Roman) Howard says his Miami haberdashery sells father-son sports clothes: "One washing and it fits your son."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: George Gobel's told of the Hollywood actress who owned four cars: "One for each direction."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: It's easy for a girl to walk the straight and narrow—if she's built straight and narrow.

It's Jean Martin's description of a bore: "He's suffering from a speech impediment—three Martinis." That's earl, brother.

Nobel Prize for Chemistry Goes To Californian

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (U)—Dr. Linus Pauling, controversial California Institute of Technology professor, Wednesday night won the 1934 Nobel Prize for chemistry. It was the third of this year's four Nobel awards to go to America.

The Royal Swedish Academy of Science announced the honor was bestowed on Pauling for his discoveries concerning the forces which hold molecules together, particularly in the body-building protein substances.

Shortly before Pauling was picked, the Academy awarded the 1934 physics prize jointly to two West German scientists who helped lay the foundation of modern nuclear physics.

They are Dr. Max Born, 73, a former professor at the University of Goettingen, Cambridge and Edinburgh, now living in retirement at Bad Pyrmont, Germany, and Prof. Walther Bothe, 63, of the Max Planck Institute at Heidelberg.

The Nobel awards, established by the will of the late Alfred Nobel, Swedish inventor of dynamite, include a gold medal and a cash prize in each category. The money award this year amounts to 131,646 krona, about $35,000.

Steno Holm's Caroline Institute of Medicine awarded the medicine and physiology prize Oct. 21 to three American scientists—Dr. John F. Enders of the Harvard Medical School, Dr. Thomas H. Weller of the Harvard School of Public Health, and Dr. Frederick C. Robbins of Western Reserve Medical School in Cleveland—for discovering new weapons in the fight against polio.

10th Anniversary Noted by Chatfield Lutheran Church

CHATFIELD, Minn. (Special)—More than 200 persons attended ceremonies Sunday marking the 10th anniversary of Chatfield Lutheran Church when 28 charter members were honored guests of the congregation.

The parish was started in October of 1944 with 14 families. During that first winter, they held their services in the basement of the city library and the following year moved to the Town Hall. In 1946, the congregation purchased the Lovell residence on Winona street and remained there until April 5, 1952, when they moved into their new church.

The congregation has grown from its original 28 members to the present 380 total with an 80-voice junior choir.

The Rev. S. T. Severson, Lanesboro, Minn., gave the opening Scripture and prayer at a 3 p.m. anniversary program Sunday. Lloyd Olson gave the welcome address and Dwayne Egge, president of the church, read the parish history.

Speaking on the subject, "Father, We Thank Thee," were Susan Richer, Sandra Narveson, Jerry Spelhaug, Sandra Haagenen, Thomas Tousey, Rose Marie Burger, Wayne Sorenson, Anita Olson and Darlene Thompson. Speaking on "God Is Near," were Marlys Amundson, Barbara Burger, Geroldine Erickson and Wayne Borgen.

At present, the congregation has no regular minister and has been served on alternate Sundays by two students from a Minneapolis seminary.

The church's new minister, the Rev. Gordon Carlis, Lewisburg, Minn., will arrive Jan. 1 to assume his new duties.

Following Sunday's program, charter members of the parish and other guests attended a supper in the church basement.

Stockton Methodist Mission Starting On Sunday Morning

STOCKTON, Minn. (Special)—The week-long program for Stockton Methodist Church's mission to members was released today by the pastor, the Rev. Troy A. Keeling. The program, beginning this Sunday, runs through Nov. 14.

Sunday—9:15 a. m., sermon by the pastor, "The Need for a Closer Walk With God"; 3:30 p. m., visitors calling, and 8 p. m., sermon by the Rev. A. H. Harkness, "Lord, Teach Us to Pray."

Monday—Candlelight Bible service led by the Rev. Mr. Harkness, the pastor and the St. Charles choir at 7:30 p. m. at St. Charles.

Tuesday—Worship service at 8 p. m., with Pastor Harkness preaching, "The Sabbath and Its Place in Modern Living."

Wednesday—Panel discussion at 8 p. m., "Witnessing for Christ."

Thursday—Potluck supper for the church congregation at 7:30 p. m. in the church social room, followed by a movie, "Family Devotions."

Friday—8 to 9 p. m., family prayer service by the pastor.

Sunday—9:15 a. m., service with theme, "Dedication of Forward-Step Cards."

Organ Concert Sunday At Bethlehem Lutheran

LANESBORO, Minn. (Special)—Joseph C. Holstad, Minneapolis, will give an organ concert Sunday evening at re-dedication services at Bethlehem Lutheran Church here. The Rev. R. J. S. Vordale, pastor of Grace Lutheran Church, Preston, will be guest speaker.

Youth Dedication Service Sunday at Central Lutheran

A special invitation has been extended to the youth of Winona area by Dr. L. E. Brynestad, pastor of Central Lutheran Church, to attend the youth dedication vesper services at the Winona church Sunday at 5 p.m.

Guest speaker will be the Rev. Hoover T. Grimby, pastor of the Ascension Lutheran Church, Milwaukee, Wis., a member of the board of directors of Lutheran Leagues of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of America and a frequent speaker at national and international gatherings of youth in America and Canada.

A supper will be served in Fellowship Hall at the church after the program, followed by a tour of the newly built church, under the direction of local Lutheran Leagues. The junior choir, under the direction of Ione Skarstad, will sing the anthems for the vesper service.

Special letters of invitation have been sent to the Lutheran churches of the Fillmore Circuit and the churches of the Winona County Ministerial Association.

700 Pounds Lutefisk, And More Eaten at Beaver Creek Dinner

ETTRICK, Wis. (Special)—Nearly 1,000 persons consumed staggering amounts of food Sunday at the first of the annual fall lutefisk dinners in the area. It was held at First Lutheran Church of Beaver Creek.

The affair, sponsored by the Men's Club and Ladies Aid society of the parish, saw food go the way of all flesh at the following rates: 700 pounds of lutefisk, 250 pounds of meatballs, 125 dozen lefse, 350 pounds of potatoes, 340 pounds of rutabagas and 100 pounds of butter.

Local residents will get another chance to outdo themselves Thursday when the Men's Club of Ettrick Lutheran Church will sponsor a similar affair.

Fillmore County Lutherans To Hold Food Appeal Drive

PRESTON, Minn.—The Rev. S. T. Severson, Lanesboro, has been named chairman of the Fillmore County All-Lutheran Food Appeal drive, scheduled to get under way Nov. 22.

At that time, trucks will visit every Lutheran farm in the county and invite each farmer to throw on as many bushels of corn as he would like to. The corn will then be taken to a central place in each township for a shelling bee.

Assistants in the drive will be the Rev. Alton F. Larsen, Ostrander, and Bessie Hjerdrum, Mabel. Other township chairmen have been named.

Decision to sponsor the drive was reached at a meeting of Fillmore County Lutheran congregations Oct. 29, when most of the county's 35 churches were represented by delegates.

The Rev. Ove R. Nielson, national director of the Lutheran Food Appeal, presided and explained the appeal setup. He cited needs for food in India, the Middle East, Germany and Austria and told of Lutheran charity to date in supplying the people of those countries with wheat and corn.

A second meeting of the drive's steering committee is set for today at 8 p.m. at Grace Lutheran Church here. All township chairmen and interested helpers have been asked to attend.

Chancel Dedication Set for St. Charles

ST. CHARLES, Minn. (Special)—Faith Evangelical Lutheran Church here will dedicate its newly completed chancel at 10:30 a.m. worship services Sunday.

Officiating at the special ceremonies will be Dr. Philip Dybvig, executive director of the home mission department of the Evangelical Lutheran Church. He also will preach.

Dr. Dybvig is a former professor of religion at St. Olaf College, Northfield, Minn., and since assuming his home mission duties has organized and directed planting of several congregations throughout the U.S.

The new chancel was built by the men of the parish, who worked together evenings during the past several months.

French Creek League To See Movies Sunday

ETTRICK, Wis. (Special)—Movies to be presented Sunday at 8 p.m. at French Creek Lutheran Church, under the sponsorship of the Luther League, will be "Voice of the Deep," prepared by the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago, and "Mission in Sudan."

The first film, a scientific-religious work, portrays life under the sea and the second deals with construction of a church in the Sudan mission field of South Africa.

League officers in charge of arrangements are: Donald Ofsdahl, president; Merlin Thompson, vice president; Barbara Tidquist, secretary; and Merlin Lebakken, treasurer.

St. Charles Church Sets Member Mission

ST. CHARLES, Minn. (Special)—St. Charles Methodist Church will begin its week-long Mission to Members Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

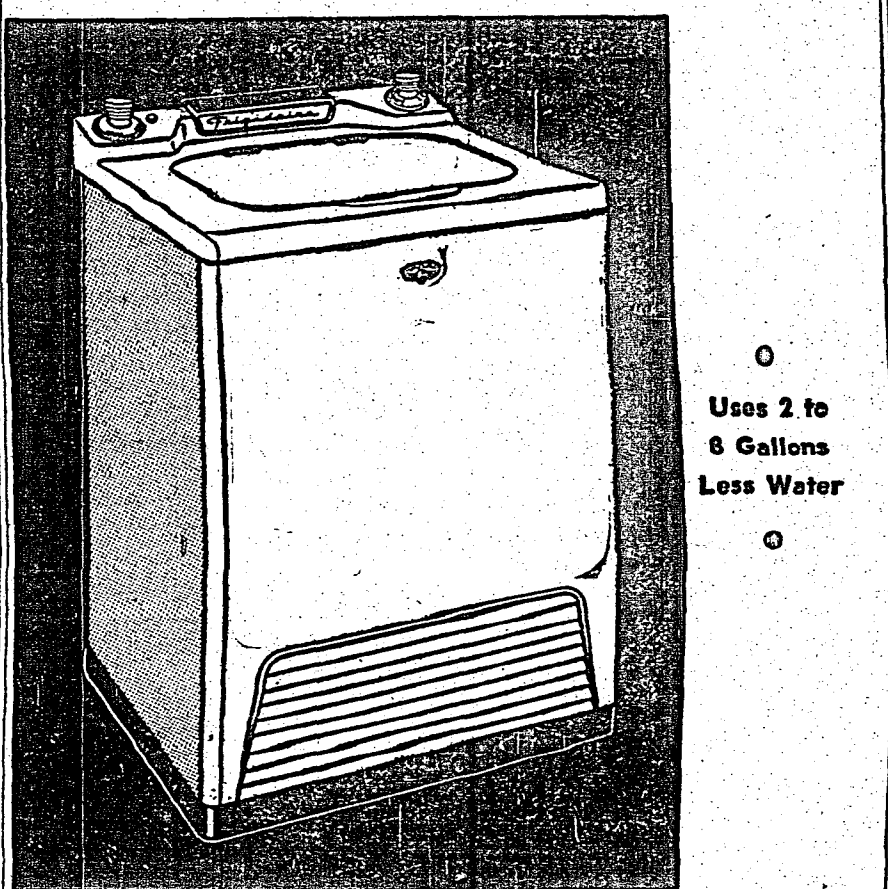

The program, aimed at delinquent churchgoers, attempts to re-emphasize the vows made to uphold the church with "presence, prayers, gifts and service." It is an intensive effort to acquaint each church member with spiritual life habits and encourages church attendance, family devotions, grace at meals, personal prayer and habits, Bible reading, tithing and witnessing for Christ.

Guest pastor during the mission here will be the Rev. A. R. Harkness, Appleton, Minn.

Basic Decisions Up to Highway Study Commission

An editorial in these columns in the spring of 1953 recommended to the Minnesota Highway Study Commission that outside experts be called in to take an objective look at the highway problem in Minnesota. We pointed out that Minnesota citizens were sick and tired of the biennial wrangles over constitutional amendments aimed to divert highway funds from the main roads and that a different approach was necessary.

The Highway Study Commission did go ahead and employ experts to make the engineering and fiscal reports. These reports have now been completed and are in the hands of the commission. Up to this point, the commission is to be commended for approaching its task in an objective manner.

Unfortunately, the matter of a special session of the Legislature to put another constitutional amendment on the ballot this fall apparently interfered to a considerable extent with progressive thinking in the commission. This issue was not fully determined until last August. By law the commission is required to complete its report to the 1955 Legislature by Dec. 15.

The outside experts accumulated a wealth of data on our highway transportation system and made many sound recommendations. These experts, however, cannot determine the fundamental policies for framing a constructive highway program. From here on in it is up to the commission to forget about the many conflicting interests of its individual members and do a job that will benefit the state as a whole.

We are somewhat confused about the thinking of the commission on these fundamental policies. Some time back one of the consultants to the commission recommended a two-cent boost in the state gasoline tax. Now, we understand, there are plans before the commission calling for a redistribution of highway funds cutting down the trunk highway portion to as low as 60 per cent from its present 80 per cent, without increasing revenue. In view of the spirited controversy during the last six years over the distribution of funds, it seems to us that this matter is one of the basic decisions to be made by the commission.

Our interpretation of the results of the vote on the three constitutional amendments presented in past elections affecting distribution was that the people in Minnesota do not want to retard improvement of main roads. Therefore, it would seem that any funds pulled away from the trunk highways by redistribution must be substantially replaced. Also, we are inclined to believe that reducing trunk highways to 60 per cent of user revenue is going too far.

The Highway Study Commission may have some complicated and difficult questions to decide but the solution will not be found through an approach dictated by local interest alone. Counties such as those in Southeastern Minnesota because of their rough terrain, need some additional assistance and it's all right for municipalities to have a reasonable share of road tax money, but our program must be kept up to its present level on the main roads. Minnesota highway transportation must move ahead — not backwards.

Three Soundly Balanced, Well-Run High Schools

Pepin County is fortunate to have three soundly financed and well-run high schools at Pepin, Arkansaw and Durand. Facilities at Pepin have been expanded twice in the last five years. Paying the last portions of a grade school debt, Durand citizens are aware that something will have to be done before long to improve the high school here. Crowding students for several terms, Arkansaw just has taken the stride that will end problems in that community.

Getting ready for an addition, the Arkansaw school board accumulated a building fund in the treasury, which will be used to augment the forthcoming loan. Because of foresight, Arkansaw taxpayers will not suddenly be digging into their jeans for money. The sum set aside for building in the last few years just about equals the amount needed in the future to pay school debts. So, without penny pinching, Arkansaw will be able to offer a physical education program and move its agricultural shop, band and cafeteria into adequate quarters. — Durand, Wis., Courier-Wedge.

Man Who Bit the Hand That Fed Him

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

New York — Charles Chaplin's funny bone may amuse him, but to most Americans he is just an ingrate, a Cockney without a sense of moral responsibility. He now announces that he will do a satire on modern American life. He might do the story of his own life in the United States, from 1910 to 1952, where he was welcomed and made enormously rich, only to bite the hand that fed him, which no self-respecting dog would do. That would be a fitting satire on American life, on the good nature of an easy-going people who take to their hearts such people as Hanns and Gerhart Eisler as well as Chaplin and that other British subject, Klaus Fuchs.

In an interview with the London "Daily Mirror," Chaplin said about his satire: "It will not have any recognizable American characters. I don't think they are important enough."

"I hope to start filming in about four months. If nobody else is amused by it, I shall get lots of fun out of making it."

THIS WILL UNDOUBTEDLY intrigue his Hollywood friends who bask in their own importance and who valiantly came to his defense. They are no longer "important enough" for the clown, because they are Americans, while he is a citizen of the world with a penchant for the Kremlin, devoting his grayed days to hatred of the country that gave him bread when he was a hungry clown.

However as Charlie Chaplin has always been known to love a dollar, he may find it not so funny if his picture cannot be shown in the United States, because Americans will not go to it. Then he will discover that even if Americans are not important enough, they have some pride and dignity left and that if they want to laugh at themselves, they can do it without malice and hatred. Charlie will not find this picture so amusing, if he loses money, particularly as money has been the only God he has worshipped, apart from himself, during the many years that he was permitted to practice what his Russian friends call hooliganism in this country.

Charlie Chaplin has been giving away some of the Communist-supported Vienna Peace Council prize money given to him — or so he advertises — to old people. If it is true, it is probably the first money he ever gave to anything voluntarily. He said:

"It isn't much money, but it may brighten up life for a few people. I don't think they will worry where the money came from."

I SUPPOSE HE IS RIGHT. Many people do not care where any money comes from, but, in saying that, Chaplin gives a stigma to the prize which he accepted. If it were not tainted money, why should there be any doubt about it? Subconsciously, he must wonder if a decent person can really share it with him?

It is impossible to understand why this man who has permitted to enjoy life here for decades has always hated the United States. Is it a kind of Cockney snobism? John Garfield, before he died, told me that Chaplin was responsible for his great success in Hollywood. But Garfield also told me that most of the petitions and proclamations to which he lent his name and that got him into so much trouble were signed under Chaplin's influence. How many other Hollywood artists, in the worship of this man, moved to the left to cater to his political tastes?

If Chaplin's anger against our country were only due to his expulsion from it, that might serve as an explanation. But the real reason for his inability to return to the United States was his conduct prior to the lifting of his visa. He had become so antagonistic to the land that had been host to him that his presence had become intolerable.

Well, Laugh, Clown, Laugh! Laugh at us, if you like. There have been others that have done that. They have laughed until the tears came to their eyes. They have laughed until they became hysterical. But we shall not laugh with you; we cannot even laugh at you. And when the clowning is over and the laughter has died away, the United States will still stand strong and generous—the nation that has always given freely and received so little return for its broad kindness.

Stock Market Safeguards Reported Somewhat Lax

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—New York newspapers last month featured front-page stories calling attention to the fact that it was exactly 25 years since the tragic 1929 stock-market crash that precipitated the Hoover depression. After recalling the billions lost to big and little investors alike over the same high peak of 1929 and speculated whether another crash could happen.

Here in Washington, meanwhile, a Senate subcommittee has been digging out some possible answers to that question.

Given not one cent of funds by Sen. Jenner of Indiana who holds the purse strings on Senate probes, the Langer-Kefauver committee has pieced together an amazing story of how some of the safeguards erected to prevent another stock-market crash have been ignored.

These safeguards included: 1. Creation of the Securities and Exchange Commission to police the stock market and protect the investor.

2. The Public Holding Corporation Act which required big utilities to ditch the rule of Wall Street. Electric light and power companies, under the Holding Corporation Act, were to be bossed by the local people who bought the power and paid the electric light bills.

However, here is what the Langer-Kefauver committee found: Wall Street rule—The Securities and Exchange Commission, supposed to police Wall Street, now appears to be working, in part, with Wall Street. Significantly, the SEC chairman appointed by President Eisenhower is Ralph Demmler, Pittsburgh partner of the Dave Reed law firm.

Just how Eisenhower picked him to head up the vital agency supposed to protect the investing public remains a mystery. For his senior partner, the late Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, fought the SEC, also battled against the holding corporation act which the SEC is supposed to enforce.

The Reed-Demmler law firm has represented the Mellon interests plus various Pittsburgh banks and it's difficult to understand how a man picked from this background could enforce the SEC laws with any great enthusiasm.

At any rate here is how the SEC operated in regard to the Mississippi Power and Light Company, which is part of the Dixon-Yates combine now being awarded a lush government power contract by direct authority of Eisenhower himself, despite the opposition of the TVA authority and a majority of the Atomic Energy Commission.

"Truth" in Securities. On September 22, J. D. Stietenhof, long-time secretary-treasurer of the Mississippi Power and Light Co., telegraphed the SEC that a statement filed with the SEC regarding the Mississippi Power and Light and its parent company, Middle South Utilities, was false.

"I desire," he warned the SEC, "to withdraw each and every financial figure and any and all data which are included in both registration statements."

This should have been a red light to the SEC to hold up the sale of stock proposed by Middle South Utilities and Mississippi Power and Light. The name of the law establishing the Securities and Exchange Commission is "the Truth-in-Securities Act" which requires registration of bond and stock sales to the public to be truthful.

Yet here was a telegram from the secretary-treasurer of Mississippi Power and Light that the registration statements were not truthful. Despite this, the SEC did absolutely nothing. The stock flotation was OK'd next day. Quizzed about this by the Langer-Kefauver committee, SEC officials admitted that they sent no one to Mississippi to probe the charges made by Stietenhof. They ignored his telegram and let the allegedly "false" stock flotation be issued.

Advice on Health

Diet Needs Vitamins, Minerals

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Americans are pretty vitamin-conscious these days. It has become almost as common for friends to discuss vitamins in their daily diets as it is to talk about the weather.

Almost every day, someone asks me whether additional vitamins in capsule or liquid form can help renew some of the energy which seems to be slipping away from us as we grow older.

Vitamins will help, of course. But they won't help enough unless you supplement them with certain essential minerals. Vitamins don't do the job alone!

Many people erroneously believe that vitamins and minerals are medicine. They're not. They're parts of foods. Fresh fruits and vegetables abound in them. I'll have more to say about the value of eating fruits and vegetables in season tomorrow.

As a rule, just about everyone nowadays will benefit from adding vitamins and minerals to his daily diet.

The number of vitamins you need depends upon your age, weight, activities and other factors. If you're overweight, for example, you probably should not eat foods containing more than 2,000 calories each day.

Yet your body might require double that number to operate efficiently. You can build up a daily reserve on which your body can draw by taking prescribed vitamins and minerals. They should not be taken promiscuously. It is always essential to have proper professional advice.

And, right here, let me caution anyone who is overweight not to try to lose that excess poundage too quickly. Do not try any 1,000-calorie-a-day meals on your own. It took a long time to put on all that weight. Take it off slowly. Adding vitamins and minerals to your diet each day is like putting money in the bank. If you fail to bank many of these valuable vitamins and minerals regularly, your daily supply of reserve energy is not being replenished. You may be drawing heavily on the principal. Some day your body might demand that extra reserve. If it is not there, the result might be ill health. That is just nature's way of saying "not sufficient funds."

Quick Rundown on Dixon-Yates Deal

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—This is a quick rundown on why the Dixon-Yates contract is in such bitter dispute.

The TVA, the Tennessee Valley Authority, which was created early in President Roosevelt's New Deal, among other things pumps power to consumers in a huge southern area.

Roosevelt called it a "yardstick" to show what electric power costs should be. Private utility companies protested it was unfair to compare their costs with those of a government-backed agency.

The argument over public vs. private power has never died: Should the government get deeper into the power field through a bigger TVA or should TVA be eliminated, or at least limited, in favor of private power companies?

TVA now has an added drain on it because of the power it supplies to atomic energy plants. And TVA officials wanted new power plants started in 1955 to meet needs in 1957.

TVA could build and own them or a private company could do that and sell power to TVA. In either case, the taxpayers would foot the bill since Congress would have to vote the money.

President Eisenhower let his feelings about TVA be known in June 1953, when he publicly cited it as an example of "creeping socialism" although he said he wasn't out to destroy it.

TVA officials urged that Eisenhower, in his budget message to Congress in January 1954, ask for money to build a new TVA power plant at Fulton, Tenn. Eisenhower didn't.

Instead, his administration, with his approval later in 1954 negotiated a contract with a private utility group known as Dixon-Yates to build its own steam power plant at West Memphis, Ark. It would supply TVA with power to make up for TVA power given to the atomic plants. The government would have to pay for this private power, of course.

The administration has approved the contract but not yet signed it. It is waiting for a go-ahead from the Senate House Atomic Energy Committee, which started hearings yesterday.

Under the contract Dixon-Yates would invest 5 1/2 million dollars of its own funds in the West Memphis plant—its cost would be 107 million dollars—and obtain the rest through long-term bonds.

The basic charges to the government, figured at $20,746,000 a year, would include all taxes, interest of 3 1/2 per cent on the bonds, and a specified yearly return of 9 per cent on the original Dixon-Yates investment of 5 1/2 million.

The Atomic Energy Commission said the Budget Bureau, starting last December, carried the ball in finally working out the contract with Dixon-Yates. Gordon R. Clapp, former TVA chairman whom Eisenhower did not reappoint when his term expired last May, said neither Eisenhower nor AEC Chairman Lewis L. Strauss ever consulted him.

Colorado Politicians In Post-Election Daze

DENVER (AP)—It isn't hard to understand why Colorado politicians are shaking their heads in a post-election daze. Voters in Tuesday's general election:

Elected a Republican senator.

Elected a Democratic governor.

Elected two Republican House members and two Democratic House members.

Elected four Democrats to minor state offices. Elected two Republicans to the other two jobs in the Statehouse.

Elected enough Republicans to keep them in control of the State Legislature.

"If anyone can explain why the voters approved four-year terms for county officials and voted down four-year terms for state officials in the same election, maybe we can explain the rest of the voting," observed Charles Armstrong, Denver County GOP chairman.

Rehabilitation Of Veterans Interests 'AI'

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—For 20 years Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, owner of one of America's greatest racing stables, has spent most of his time amiably improving the breed of thoroughbred horses.

But at 42 Vanderbilt, who inherited 20 million dollars by the time he was 35, is deeply committed to a more serious interest—the rehabilitation of war veterans in the free world.

Vanderbilt served as a naval lieutenant in World War II, and won a silver star for gallantry as a PT boat commander in the Pacific. Two years ago he became interested in the young World Veterans Federation, an organization which works closely with the United Nations in trying to alleviate the conditions which lead to war.

The toughest job collecting money—fell to Vanderbilt as president of the World Veterans Fund, the finance-raising arm of the federation in this country.

His friends have been amazed at the vigor with which "AI" plunged into the work. In two years he has traveled more than 50,000 miles on the job.

"Last year we met our goal — half a million dollars," he said. "But we could have used five times that amount."

The WVF now has 118 member organizations representing 18 million veterans in 25 countries.

"To give you an idea of the size of the problem," said Vanderbilt, "there are some seven million war disabled in these countries, and more than half have had to go without adequate medical treatment or vocational training."

U. S. Benefits Unique

"You can imagine how bitter they sometimes get . . . so many years after the war is over . . . and so little done to help them. The benefits the American veteran gets are unique. You don't find them in other lands."

He and other WVF leaders feel it is vital that veterans of free world countries work together democratically to solve postwar problems.

"In the past the Communists were able to exploit the disabled in a lot of these countries because they weren't getting a fair break," said Vanderbilt.

'Heart Balm' Verdict Upheld By High Court

ST. PAUL, Minn. — A $10,000 heart balm verdict in favor of Mrs. Mathilda Meemken, 34, of Waite Park was upheld today by the Minnesota Supreme Court.

A Stearns County District Court jury returned the verdict against Cecil O'Hara, 31, St. Cloud, who was sued for $100,000 by Mrs. Meemken on grounds he broke a 1932 promise to marry her.

Chief Justice Roger Dell said in a unanimous decision that the verdict was sufficiently supported by the evidence and not excessive.

"There is no fixed standard for the jury to follow in assessing damages in these cases," Judge Dell wrote. "It had competent evidence of defendant's net worth and annual income."

Considering Mrs. Meemken's reasonable expectations and the obvious losses she suffered the size of the verdict does not indicate any abuse of the jury's exercise of sound judgment, or of the trial court's wide discretion in determining if the verdict was excessive."

Mrs. Meemken first met O'Hara in August 1945 when she was married and living with her husband in St. Cloud. O'Hara began taking her out regularly that fall. In 1949, she left her husband and moved into an apartment with her two children.

O'Hara paid the rent, furnished the groceries and gave her $50 a month. In April 1950, Mrs. Meemken was divorced from her husband. She testified that O'Hara asked her to marry him and that she accepted. She said the wedding was to have taken place in California during the Christmas holidays in 1952. O'Hara denied such a promise.

In 1953, after an argument, O'Hara asked the woman to leave the home in which they lived but she refused. Later she was forced to leave by a March 1953 court order. O'Hara since has married another woman.

O'Hara's net worth was approximately $20,000 and his income about $7,000 a year, testimony showed. He contended that District Judge E. J. Ruegemer erred in permitting introduction of certain evidence about their relationship, but Judge Dell said:

"Oral contracts of marriage are seldom made in the presence of witnesses, and the aggrieved party must, of necessity, frequently rely on the circumstances surrounding the relationship to assist in proving the existence of the contract."

Conservatives Dispute Liberal House Claims

MINNEAPOLIS — Liberals laid claim today — and conservatives promptly disputed it — to control of the Minnesota House of Representatives.

Liberals said 24 of the nearly 50 new House members would line up with them and give them more than the 67 votes necessary to elect a speaker and organize the House. While admitting the loss of about

One-Way Street Plan Opposed by La Crosse Voters

LA CROSSE, Wis. — Voters in all 21 La Crosse wards voted against one-way traffic on city streets in a referendum question Tuesday, the result being 5,317 for the 7,944 against.

The one-way traffic referendum failed to carry a single ward. An advisory referendum for the Common Council, the aldermen still have the option of ordering one-way traffic on streets it may designate.

Friends of Schools In Wabasha County Pick Gerald Grieve

PLAINVIEW, Minn. (Special)—At the annual meeting of the Friends of Minnesota Schools of Wabasha County at the Millville Legion Hall last Thursday, Gerald Grieve was elected chairman. About 145 attended.

Other officers are: Mrs. Francis McNallan, vice chairman; Andrew Holmstadt, treasurer, and Mrs. Leonard Rollins, secretary. Directors elected were: Elmer Radel, Plainview; Mrs. Elmer Liebenow, Edin; Mrs. George O'Brien, Hyde Park; Mrs. Leo Deering, Minneapolis; Norman Nibbe, Mt. Pleasant; Mrs. Steve Appel, Millville; William McDonough, Kellogg; Eleanor Johnson, Weaver; Norman Schwartz, Zumbro Falls; Mrs. Walter Peters, Zumbro Township; Mrs. Norton Beyers, Hammond; Matt Taubel, Highland; John Ahlers, Glasgow; Albert Hampe, West Albany, and Walter Ransom, Reds.

Speakers were Mrs. Henry Kowalek, treasurer of the state organization, and Mark McAlpin, Buffalo, a state director from the 6th Congressional District.

County Court Term Ends at Whitehall

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special) — Sheriff Ernest Axness officially opened the fall term of Trempealeau County Court Wednesday with Judge A. L. Twesme presiding. The session was adjourned, several matters having previously been handled that had been scheduled for the calendar.

Jury was waived in a collision case and it was heard last week by the court. Judge Twesme finding negligence on both the plaintiff and defendant. The May 17 accident occurred at the intersection of U. S. Highway 10 and State Highway 93 at Eleva involving a truck owned by Kenneth Parker and driven by Tom Hurlley, and the D. A. Marsolek car. Damages to the truck amounted to $41.05 and $282.89 to the car. There were no injuries.

The case was carried into county court from justice court of Ben Bergerson, Eleva, Sept. 10, Marsolek filing an affidavit of prejudice. Whelan & Morey, Mondovi, were attorneys for the plaintiff's insurance company and Karl Peplau, Augusta, and William Adler, Eau Claire, represented the defendant and his insurance company.

Judge Twesme overruled a demurrer in an action brought by Paul L. Isaacson and Marcella M. Isaacson against James F. and Ethel M. Hughes, Whitehall, and award judgment to the plaintiff, with permission granted to the defendants to file an answer within 20 days on payment of $10 costs. John A. Markham, Independence, represented the Isaacsons and Kulig & Kulig, Independence, were attorneys for the defendants. The matter involved the sale of a farm in the Town of Pigeon by Mr. and Mrs. Hughes in which the Isaacsons allegedly paid $800 as down payment on a $7,500 purchase, with the understanding that the farm would be purchased if the plaintiffs could secure a veterans administration loan. The loan was not secured.

a score of their membership, conservatives insisted they had enough left to retain control.

"We've got the votes," said Rep. D. D. Wozniak, St. Paul, who headed direct the liberal campaign.

We plan to issue a call for a caucus and it will be a majority caucus."

"We will be able to organize the house if our men stand pat," said Rep. Roy Dunn, Pelican Rapids, long majority leader with conservatives in control, "but it will be close."

May Pick Wozniak
Wozniak would be a likely choice for a majority leader if the liberals win control. Mentioned as candidates for speaker were Reps. Ed Chligran, Deerwood veteran, Fred Cina, Aurora, and Alfred I. Johnson, Benson.

Twenty House members, most of them conservatives, were unseated in Tuesday's election. Three others went down to defeat in the primary. Other new members replaced representatives who did not seek re-election.

If conservatives retain control, Rep. John Hartle, Owatonna, will probably again be their choice for speaker, with Dunn again in the saddle as majority leader.

The Senate will have 27 new faces, but conservatives are regarded as certain to continue to run the show. However, the fact that so many of the 14 senators defeated Tuesday, and those who did not seek re-election, held key posts will pose a considerable organizational problem.

Senate liberals say they have upped their strength enough so they can make themselves felt on motions for special orders and in other instances where a two-thirds vote is required.

If the liberals should control the House and conservatives the Senate, the situation would duplicate the one which prevailed during the Farmer Labor administration of the late Gov. Floyd B. Olson in the 30s. This could result in a stalemate on controversial legislation.

Miller Re-elected
Sen. Archie Miller, Hopkins, who won re-election Tuesday, is again expected to be a candidate for Senate majority leader.

Among Senate committee chairmen who, on the basis of unofficial reports, lost Tuesday were Sens. Claude Baughman, Waseca, civil administration; William Dahlquist, Thief River Falls, towns and counties; Milton Lightner, St. Paul, workmen's compensation; Emmett Duemke, Minneapolis, motor vehicles; Raymond Julkowski, Minneapolis, insurance; Leo Lauerma, Olivia, aviation; D. M. Carey, Wells, dairy products and live stock; A.O. Sletvold, Detroit Lakes, judiciary; and Henry Wagener, Waconia, markets and marketing.

Not seeking re-election were Sens. Henry Sullivan, St. Cloud, chairman of the important finance committee; A. L. Almen, Balaton, education; A. R. Johanson, Wheaton, agriculture; Wendell Ledin, Bethel, game and fish; Hans Pedersen, Rutherford, public welfare, and E. P. Anderson, Wadena, railroads.

Among House members who failed to win re-election were Reps. George P. Daley, Lewistown; Frank Furst, Lake City—who gave way to Joyce Lund, Wabasha, first woman from that area to serve in the Legislature; Walter Crosswell, Lake Crystal; Gordon Forbes, Worthington; Verne C. Johnson, Minneapolis; Edwin Odegard, Milaca, and George Murk, Minneapolis. Murk was one of the few liberals to lose.

the party as a party. Or let him consider what is probably the biggest upset of all, the defeat of John Carroll by Lieutenant Governor Gordon Allott in Colorado, the state most continuously exposed in campaign-time to the Eisenhower personality. Or let him analyze what happened in this election, to the more or less overtly anti-Eisenhower type of Republican.

While a convincing Eisenhower convert, George Bender, carried Ohio in a close race, Joe Meek was roundly beaten in Illinois. Other Senate races show much the same pattern, with the remarkable showing made by Clifford Case in New Jersey conspicuous among them.

On the House side, meanwhile, an even more remarkable clean-out occurred among the President's bitterest Republican enemies, the all-out adherents of Sen. McCarthy, McCarthy and McCarthyism were not active issues in any Senate fight, but McCarthy and McCarthyism were the main issues in three widely distributed House races of great importance, and figured significantly in a fourth race.

In New Jersey, a local Joe Jr., Fred Shepard, ignominiously failed to recapture the usually Republican seat now held by Harrison Williams. In Wisconsin, another Joe Jr., Charles Kersten, went down before the awkward but determined onslaught of Henry Reuss. In Michigan, still another Joe Jr., the loud-mouthed Kit Clardy, was handily licked by a local professor, Don Hayward, who was also the founder of one of the Michigan chapters of the horrendous A.D.A.

In each of these cases, the Democrats charged his Republican opponent with McCarthyism and asked the voters to choose between them on that clearly defined ground. A fourth Joe Jr., Fred Busbey in Illinois, was not so directly challenged, by James C. Murray, but Busbey's defeat nonetheless completes the pattern.

Red Issue Falls
Even the famous Communist issue did not pay off as expected. Vice President Nixon, who has a far better right to use this issue than McCarthy ever had, used it to a fair-thee-well in a desperate last minute drive that was supposed to save the Rocky Mountain states. The Nixon drive did not succeed, despite the vice president's effectiveness as a campaigner. Colorado was the one exception, and it must certainly be credited to the President.

Among the Democrats, young Roosevelt is the biggest loser because of his defeat in New York. And the biggest gainers are Averell Harriman, because of his hair's breadth success, and the Dixiecrat, J. Strom Thurmond, because of his unprecedented write-in victory in South Carolina. Other Democrats whose stock has risen greatly are young Gov. "Soapy" Williams in Michigan, and the magical vote-getter, Gov. Frank Lausche in Ohio.

But for the future, the Republican response to this election is really more interesting than the Democratic response. Although they all know the off-year rules, although they all are pleased and surprised that the party did so well, the Republicans are easily expected to their setback by adopting counsels of despair. But if they are venomous and desperate and destructive because of this far from decisive setback, they will be misreading the signs.

The signs say that the Republicans can still win in 1956, if they only try to do it the Eisenhower way. Therein lies the big choice they have ahead of them.

Mrs. Elmer Porter Elected Wenonah Rebekah Head

Mrs. Elmer Porter was elected noble grand succeeding Mrs. Harry O'Brien at the meeting of Wenonah Rebekah Lodge at the Odd Fellows Temple Wednesday evening.

Other officers named were Mrs. Minnie Schellhaas, vice grand succeeding Mrs. Porter, Mrs. E. B. Wandsnider, secretary, succeeding Mrs. Paul Griesel Jr. and Mrs. Zikes Panek, treasurer succeeding Mrs. Laura Phillips.

An invitation was read from the Odd Fellows to attend the Humboldt Lodge annual homecoming and dinner at the temple at 6:30 p.m. Saturday. A birthday dinner for members will be held at Wally's, Fountain City, Wis., Nov. 29 at 6:30 p.m.

Ellen Rotvold, Rev. Harold Ward Exchange Vows

MABEL, Minn. (Special) — Wedding vows were solemnized before an altar banked with chrysanthemums and lighted candles at Hesper Lutheran Church Oct. 24 at 3:30 p.m. when Miss Ellen Rotvold became the bride of the Rev. Harold Ward. The Rev. Ode Neishelm performed the double-ring ceremony. The Rev. Percy Larson, Mabel, gave the sermonette.

The bride given in marriage by her father wore a gown fashioned with a fitted bodice and long sleeves of white velvet. The skirt was of nylon tulle over satin extended in a full train. Seed pearls formed a tracery around the scoop neckline and on the skirt and also formed the tiara for the veil. She wore a pearl necklace and earrings, gifts of the bridegroom. Her bouquet was of white roses and ivy.

Mrs. Truman Dahl attended her cousin as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Doris Heland, cousin of the bride, and Miss Jean Sanden. All wore rust velvet gowns fashioned with cowl collars ending in a bow in the back at the base of the scoop neckline. They carried giant bronze chrysanthemums with painted autumn leaves.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Richard Ward, as best man. Claude Ward, a brother, and David Rotvold, brother of the bride, were groomsmen. Charles Dahling Jr. and Milan Davis acted as ushers.

Mrs. Arthur Anderson played the nuptial music, and accompanied Reginald Torrisson who sang "O Lord Most Holy."

A buffet supper was served at the Hesper Lutheran hall for 175. Mrs. Willard Darrington and Mrs. Irvin Fawcett were hostesses. Mrs. Gordon Johnson, aunt of the bride and Mrs. Myron Hermann, aunt of the bridegroom, poured. Miss Eleanor Thorson, cousin of the bride, cut the wedding cake, assisted by Miss Romona Wheaton. Miss Elaine Hanson had charge of the guest book. Miss Dorothy Beardshe and Miss Christine Totto had charge of the gifts. Serving were the Misses Evelyn Aasum, Sybil Burreson and Renee Welper and the Misses James Mickey and Richard Rasmussen.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ole Rotvold, Mabel. She is a graduate of Luther College, and for the past year has been employed as parish worker at First Lutheran Church, Seattle, Wash. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. J. L. Amdahl, Mabel. He is a graduate of Luther College and Luther Theological Seminary. St. Paul. He is currently serving as pastor of Christine Lutheran Parish, Christine, N. D.

The wedding will take place Nov. 20 at St. Ambrose Church, Hollywood. A reception following the ceremony will be held at the Catholic Woman's Club, Los Angeles.

Hawaiian Trip Described for Whitehall WSCS

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special) — Hawaiian music formed the background when the afternoon and evening circles of the Methodist WSCS and guests met in the church parlors Tuesday evening to hear a talk by Mrs. Belle Sutton on her past summer's trip to Hawaii.

Mrs. Leonard Ellison sang "My God and I" accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Tracy Rice. The Rev. Fletcher Bennett led the devotional lesson.

Mrs. Sutton told of her impressions of Hawaii, the lack of class distinctions there, the deep patriotism of the islanders for America, the food, surf board riding, and many other features. She showed slides of Hawaii. Mrs. Sutton stated that the Hawaiians were so certain of becoming the 49th state, and so anxious to become a state that they gave a 49th State Fair this summer.

A large number of Japanese, Chinese and Hawaiian articles were on display. Mrs. Sutton brought back jewelry, kimonos, chopsticks, tea sets, Chinese soup spoons, stones from the volcanic area, dishes made from coconut wood, pictures, coral and other interesting souvenirs.

On the committee in charge of the arrangements were the Misses L. D. Anderson, Fletcher Bennett and Glen C. Olson.

Funds are to be contributed to the cancer research project at the University of Minnesota. On the lunch committee were Mrs. Matthew Thimmesch, Mrs. Maurice McCauley and Mrs. Cyril Becker.

Keep in Trim

Exercise Has Special Role in Figure Fixing

By IDA JEAN KAIN

The role exercise plays in figure fixing appears to have Eve's daughters in a quandary. Many readers are honestly puzzled as to whether they should go on a diet or take a fling at exercise. The cue is to regard exercise as trimming and slimming, rather than reducing.

For example, many women who need to trim down are not actually overweight and should not go on a diet. Try this on for size. You like the feeling of being slim and svelte, waist willowy, hips trim. But you know you feel your best and have more zip at your present weight. Then you need exercise. With a daily stretching-swinging routine, you can look five to seven pounds slimmer than you actually weigh. And you'll feel young and willowy. Viewing calisthenics in this light makes them seem well worth the doing. So turn on the music and stretch.

On the other hand, if your weight is considerably above normal, it is folly to try to reduce poundage with exercise alone. It is far easier to lose weight by leaving 700 calories a day out of the daily menu than it is to try to burn up the fat with exercise.

Then too, exercise can help you to keep streamlined, since well-toned muscles rebuff fat. However, exercise is no match for overeating. After reading your letters for many years, I've concluded that too many women diet and not enough take streamlining measures. Let a girl view herself in a fashionable long-stemmed frock and dislike what she sees in the mirror, and she will scream that she has to lose weight. Like as not, her weight is normal, but her figure is soft around the edges. Exercise will help her figure far more than diet.

One lassie of 5 ft. 2 1/2 in. who has slimmed down from 135 to 115 pounds, writes that she wants to weigh 110 pounds so her stomach will be flat. No, no! She should keep her weight at 115 pounds, which is perfect, and exercise to restore aching tone to the stomach muscles.

Spanish Language Meeting Planned — A meeting for any Winonan or persons living nearby interested in the Spanish language, particularly conversational Spanish, will be held at the Winona Free Public Library at 7 p.m. Wednesday.

The meeting is open to those persons who would like to meet at regular intervals to spend an evening speaking Spanish and thus acquire conversational skill in the language, and also for those who would like to begin a study of the language. If there are sufficient persons attending who wish to learn Spanish, a beginners' class will be formed.

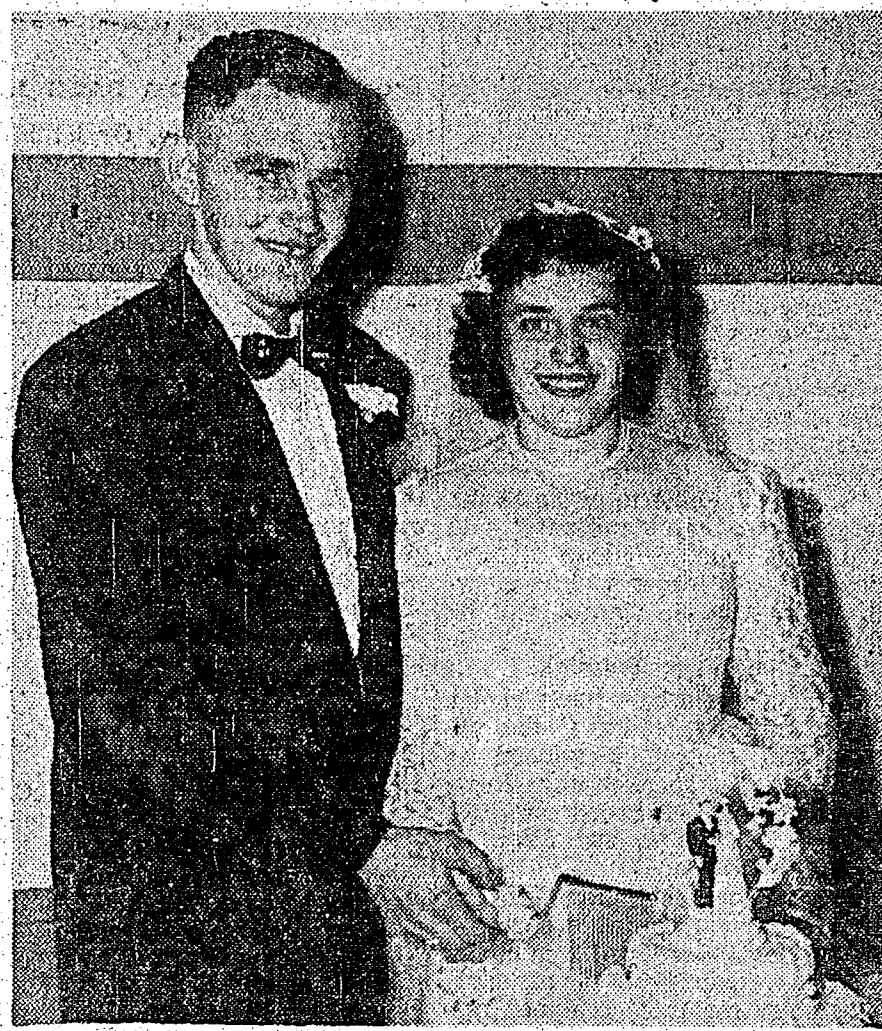

Two groups are planned if there are enough persons present or interested, the one for those wishing to learn Spanish and the other for those who know Spanish, and wish to meet to acquire skill in speaking the language. Persons interested in either group who cannot attend the meeting Wednesday evening, are to call the library by Wednesday and give their name and telephone number so that they may be contacted concerning future plans.

A. T. Schwartz, Bride at Home

MINNESOTA CITY, Minn. — Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose T. Schwartz who were married by the Rt. Rev. N. F. Grukowski at St. Stanislaus Church Oct. 2 at 10 a.m. before an altar decorated with white pompons, gladioli in color and lighted candles, are now at home on a farm near Arcadia, Wis.

The bride is the former Lois Rose Gross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Gross, Minnesota City, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Schwartz, Galesville, Wis.

The bride wore a gown of white net and lace over satin made with a veil held by a crown of forget-me-nots and a pearl necklace, the gift of the bridegroom. She carried a cascade bouquet of red and white roses. She was given in marriage by her father.

The maid of honor, Miss Eileen Gross, Minnesota City, sister of the bride, and the bridesmaids, Miss Elaine Schwartz, Galesville, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Joan Gross, Minnesota City, sister of the bride; Miss Betty Adleman, Trempealeau, Wis., and Miss Janice Rosewood, Arcadia, Wis., were bridesmaids. The bridegroom, dressed alike in ballroom-length frocks of net over satin.

The maid of honor was in dusty pink with satin jacket and the bridesmaids in aqua, pink, blue and deep rose. The bridesmaids' dresses were designed with strapless bodices and matching jackets. The attendants' necklaces and earrings were gifts of the bride.

The flower girl, Nancy Stelter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Stelter, Eau Claire, Wis., and the ring bearer, William Stelter, were in the bridegroom, wore a white frock, and carried yellow and white pompons. Junior bridesmaids were Darleen Schwartz, Galesville, sister of the bridegroom, and Virginia Kamrowski, Arcadia, his cousin, in identical yellow and white strapless frocks with matching jackets. They were given pearl necklaces by the bride.

The junior bride and bridegroom were Susan and Richard Stelter, children of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Slaby, Whitehall, Wis. Susan wore a white net over satin frock and she and the flower girl were given gold hearts on chains by the bride. Susan also wore a veil like the bride's.

Theodore Konkel, Trempealeau, was his brother-in-law's best man and Sylvester Kamrowski, Arcadia; Bernard Miech, Trempealeau, and Donald Steplugh, Trempealeau, cousins of the bridegroom, were groomsmen. Ushers were Roland Waldera, Taylor, and Vernon Gibbons, Dodge, cousin of the bridegroom.

A wedding dinner was served at the New Oaks at 1 p.m. and a reception held at 2 p.m. Gladioli were decorations. The bride's mother wore a blue dress with white accessories, and the bridegroom's mother a blue dress with red accessories. Their flowers were red and white pompons.

The bride attended Alma High School, and has been employed at the Alma Rex Turkey Plant and the bridegroom who attended Trempealeau High School, is employed at the Brom Foundry. A bridal dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents to 60 guests. Garden flowers were decorations. Mrs. Thomas Schwartz entertained for the bride-elect.

BRIDAL SHOWER — KELLOGG, Minn. (Special) — Seventy-five relatives and friends honored Miss Audrey Yarolime, Kellogg, at a bridal shower Sunday evening at the St. Agnes Church Hall. Games were played. Lunch was served. Miss Yarolime's marriage to Gerard Lydon will be Nov. 20 at St. Agnes Catholic Church, Kellogg.

Humboldt Lodge To Observe Homecoming

Humboldt Lodge, IOOF, will observe its 23rd annual Homecoming Saturday evening at the Odd Fellows Temple. All members are to attend with their wives or women guests. As has been the custom for several years past, all members of Weonah Rebekah Lodge 7 have been invited.

The festivities start at 6:30 p. m. with a turkey dinner prepared by the Rebekahs under the direction of Mrs. Paul Griesel Sr. After singing and a program of entertainment arranged by Lloyd Deilke, chairman of that committee.

One of the highlights of the evening will be the presence of a number of the grand officers of the Grand Lodge, IOOF, of Minnesota who have accepted the invitation to attend, including: C. Arthur Anderson, grand master, and Mrs. Anderson; Clarence W. Brandt, grand representative, and Mrs. Brandt; Clellie A. Brown, grand marshal, and Mrs. Brown, and James A. Millar, grand secretary.

The evening will be concluded with dancing to the music of Olga Zimdars' orchestra. Bruce Reed is general chairman of the homecoming committee, assisted by Mr. Deilke, Donald Clark, Charles Flanagan, Lee Ayres and Mrs. Griesel.

Alma Music Club Plans Card Party

ALMA, Wis. (Special) — The Alma Music Club met Monday evening at the grade school with Mrs. Edward Gunning, president, in charge. Lynn Pritchard, music instructor, reported that steps have been taken to purchase a bass horn. The gift furnished by Mrs. Sherman Ludwigson went to Mrs. Henry Thomsen.

It was decided that the Dec. 6 meeting will be the annual public card party at the grade school with Mrs. Ray Iberg as chairman. Each member is to bring sandwiches and cookies as was done last year. A short program and musical numbers will be given.

Serving Monday night were Mrs. Thomas Thering, Mrs. Elmer Schaefer and Mrs. Wesley Stiel. Several musical numbers by the grade school band were given. Mrs. Iberg, Mrs. Alvin Vollmer and Mrs. Ludwigson are on the membership committee.

No Cake Big Enough For All 114 Candles

CHICAGO, Ill. — There was a big birthday cake at the party last night for Mrs. Matilda Abraham but there wasn't room on it for 114 candles. Mrs. Abraham's age was noted on a special icing inscription on the cake: "Happy birthday, Mother—114 years old."

The party was held in the home of Mrs. Abraham's son Luther and his wife Flora, with whom she lives. Mrs. Abraham came to Chicago two years ago from Summit, Miss., her birthplace.

Companion Trips, Shotgun Blast Kills Boy, 16

BELOIT, Wis. (AP) — A 16-year-old boy—rabbitt hunting while school was closed for the teachers' convention—was killed Thursday when he was shot accidentally by his companion.

The victim was Bruce Orth, a student at Beloit High School. Tom Enking, 17, told police that he and Bruce were walking along railroad tracks three miles north of here, each carrying a loaded shotgun. Tom said that as Bruce called to him, he looked up and tripped over the tracks, accidentally pulling the trigger of his 12-gauge shotgun.

The shot struck Orth in the back between the shoulder blades. The youth was pronounced dead on arrival at Beloit Hospital.

Enking was questioned by police headquarters and released after making a statement to officers and Deputy Coroner Dick McCall.

La Crescent Host To 40 & 8 Voiture

LA CRESCENT, Minn. — About 50 attended the monthly meeting of the Winona County Voiture, 40 & 8, at the new American Legion Club here Thursday evening.

Members of the voiture from Winona, Houston, Fillmore and Wabasha counties were present and a delegation from the La Crosse County voiture attended.

Presiding was Chester McCready, chef de gare. Howard W. Clark is correspondent. Both are of Winona. Next meeting will be at St. Charles Dec. 2. Dinner was served by the La Crescent auxiliary.

4-State Meeting On March of Dimes

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — March of Dimes workers from four states gather here Saturday to map plans for the fund drive next year of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

E. Burr Gibson, New York, assistant foundation director, will address the group, coming from Minnesota, Wisconsin, North and South Dakota.

Vote Recheck Boosts Humphrey's Total

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — A recheck showed today that 3,002 votes in Norman County had, through a mechanical error, been credited to Vincent Dunne, the Socialist Workers candidate, instead of Sen. Hubert Humphrey.

This would make Humphrey's unofficial total, from 3,449 precincts, 566,537, and reduce Dunne's vote to 4,870. At that point State Treasurer Val Bjornson, the Republican candidate, had 433,318.

LANESBORO OES — LANESBORO, Minn. (Special) — Lanesboro Chapter, OES, will meet Monday evening. Mrs. Estere Mertes and Mrs. Halvor Habberstad are serving and Mrs. Otto Moe and Miss Marjorie Evenson are in charge of entertainment.

Mill City Youths Charged With Theft, Assault

MINNEAPOLIS (U) — Warrants Thursday were sworn out by the Steele County sheriff against two Minneapolis teenagers, already held here in connection with the theft of an auto.

One of the youths is 18-year-old Charles Van Deusen. The other, age 16, is a cousin. Police said they admitted they took part in the attempted robbery Oct. 21 of a Blooming Prairie, Minn., filling station, during which the proprietor, Edward J. Paulson, was wounded in the back.

The Steele County warrants charge the pair with assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit a felony.

It. G. J. Aitchison of the Minneapolis police department said the case of the younger youth was turned over to juvenile court for disposition. That case was continued until Friday, pending the arrival of Steele County authorities, who were unable to appear today.

Van Deusen was bound over to district court here Wednesday on an auto theft charge.

Police said the boys admitted stealing a car here, abandoning it in Owatonna and stealing a second car there, which was later abandoned at Garner, Iowa.

Van Deusen was accidentally wounded Sunday while being arrested here. A patrolman's revolver discharged as he tried to prevent Van Deusen from escaping over a fence. The younger boy was picked up Monday, Aitchison said.

$3 Car Fee Plan To Finance State Roads Ruled Out

ST. PAUL (U) — A proposal to impose a flat fee of $3 for each registered motor vehicle to finance Minnesota's highways was ruled unconstitutional today by Atty. Gen. Burnquist.

The Minnesota Highway Study Commission has been considering various recommendations proposed by a consulting firm, Public Administration Service of Chicago, for financing an improved highway program.

A $3 fee for each registered vehicle was suggested to cover the basic costs of administration of the tax program. In addition, a weight tax would be charged against each vehicle, which would be based upon maximum declared gross weight.

The study commission, headed by state Sen. A. O. Sletvold of Detroit Lakes, inquired if bills drafted to carry out the intent of such a proposal would be in conflict with the Constitution.

Burnquist's opinion, drafted by Deputy Atty. Gen. George B. Sjoselius, held there can be only one motor vehicle tax.

Stillwater Prison Inmate Found Guilty of Robbery

ST. PAUL (U) — A district court jury Thursday night found convict Donald Matthews, 31, guilty of second degree robbery in a case of masterminding a job while serving behind the bars of Stillwater prison.

The jury gave its verdict here after deliberating two hours. Matthews, already serving 10 to 20 years for robbery and escape, will be sentenced Monday.

He was charged with instructing prison guard John Nick, 23, of St. Paul, in the robbery of two east side St. Paul brothers, Merle Wolfe, 49, and Arthur 56. The crime netted $5.70 last Aug. 3. Nick pleaded guilty to second degree robbery and is awaiting sentence.

Matthews was arrested last winter as a member of a Mutt and Jeff robber team and he later escaped from the Ramsey County jail.

Police Station Makes Nice Stop of Auto

LOS ANGELES (U) — Mrs. Phoebe Londelius' brakes went out coming down 1st Street hill, but she stopped her car by aiming it at the handiest object. It happened to be the Central Police Station.

Mrs. Londelius bonked her horn and pedestrians scattered like geese—all except Mrs. Louise Alarcon, who suffered an arm injury in the mishap yesterday. The driver was unhurt.

Mrs. John Felton
CALEDONIA, Minn. (Special)—Funeral services will be held Saturday at 8:30 a.m. at the Blaschke Funeral Home and at 9 a.m. at St. Peter's Catholic Church, the Rt. Rev. A. E. Wermerskirchen officiating for Mrs. John Felton, 67, who died Wednesday at 11 p.m. at Caledonia Community Hospital after a long illness.

She was born here May 9, 1887, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Schultz. She was married to John Felton at St. Peter's Church Nov. 8, 1909, and lived on a farm south-east of here until 1951.

Survivors include: Her husband; one daughter, Mrs. Heron Esch, Caledonia; two sons, Dominic and Norman, both of Caledonia; one sister, Mrs. Fred Seybert, Elkader, Iowa, and 10 grandchildren.

The Rosary will be said today at 8 p.m. at the funeral home. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery.

Miss Inga Jensen
SPRING GROVE, Minn. (Special)—Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Trinity Lutheran Church for Miss Inga Jensen, 71, who was organist and music director at the church for 46 years.

Miss Jensen died Wednesday morning at the Spring Grove Hospital, where she had been a patient for a day. She had been in failing health for two years but continued her work at the church until a week ago.

The Rev. Oscar E. Engebretson will conduct the service Saturday afternoon and burial will be in the church cemetery. Friends may call at the Engell Funeral Home Saturday morning or at the church from 12:30 to 2 p.m.

A member of the church and an honorary member of the Dorcas Society, she resided here all her life. Miss Jensen is survived by a sister, Mrs. Mathilda Kjomme, Spring Grove; four nephews, two nieces and 10 grandchildren and nephews.

Mrs. Hartwig Pederson
BLAIR, Wis. (Special)—Funeral services will be held Sunday at 2:30 p.m. at the Zion Lutheran Church, the Rev. Edmund E. Olson officiating, for Mrs. Hartwig Pederson, 88, who died Thursday afternoon at her Lakes Collee home.

She was born Dec. 30, 1870, in Preston Township, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson and was married to Hartwig Pederson Dec. 24, 1885. They lived in the Blair area all their lives.

Survivors include: Two sons, Giles, at home, and Roy, Prairie du Sac, Wis.; two daughters, Esther, at home, and Mrs. Ernest Johnson, Blair; four brothers, one sister and two grandchildren.

Burial will be in Zion Cemetery.

She was born here in 1885 and in 1906 was married to C. C. Plummer. They moved to Coggon in 1942.

Survivors include: Her husband, three children, 13 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Department Head Sends Resignation To New Governor

ST. PAUL (U) — The first resignation of a department head to follow the election of Orville L. Freeman as governor came today from James W. Clark, head of the department of business development.

Clark said that he had sent his resignation to Gov.-elect Freeman and advising him that his commission expires next Jan. 1, and added:

"Even if it did not, I would want to give the new governor complete freedom of action in setting up his own program.

"Until a decision is made, my office will continue to function adequately."

Clark was first appointed executive secretary of the Minnesota Resources Commission in 1943 and was named to his present post July 1, 1947.

Long Arm of Law Wins Out in Stretch

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (U)—Two long arms reached out in the dark stillness.

The first was extended through a window into a baking company here. It withdrew with a handful of rolls and doughnuts.

The second was the long arm of the law.

The arm grabbed Ray Douglas, 28, and Charles Kent, 28, as they walked away from the window yesterday. They were charged with storehouse breaking.

Patrolmen Roy Myers and Norman Kiper said they drove past the bakery just as Douglas withdrew his hand.

Wisconsin CIO Challenges Vote For Governor

MILWAUKEE (U) — A formal challenge of the results of Tuesday's vote for governor is being made by Wisconsin CIO officials.

Charles Schultz of Milwaukee, president of the state CIO, said he expected some of the necessary petitions for recount, being prepared by Atty. Max Raskin and Leonard Zubrensky, would be filed with county clerks today.

Unofficial tabulations from 3,280 of the state's 3,289 precincts gave incumbent Republican Walter Kohler 593,441 votes to 559,742 for Proxmire—a margin of about 34,000 votes.

Proxmire declared at Madison Thursday that he had not instigated the demand for a recount and would take no active part in it.

Kohler said he had no objection to a recount and was confident it would show Wisconsin has the most honest election officials in the country.

Schultz said, "We have reason to believe there were mistakes and irregularities throughout the state."

He said he and Ross Baum of Milwaukee, state CIO secretary-treasurer, would petition as voters for the recount.

Schultz said the decision was made by the three-man coordinating committee of the CIO Political Action Committee, consisting of himself, Baum and Wilbert Walters. He said they first got approval from a majority of the whole committee.

The state CIO president said county clerks in each of Wisconsin's 71 counties would be asked for a recount, but he said rural areas would be petitioned first. He said the state CIO would ask local unions to furnish observers in each county recount.

Under state law, a fee of 2 dollars per precinct must be posted with a recount petition. A recount of all of Wisconsin's precinct would require fees totaling $6,578.

Schultz said union locals affiliated with the state CIO council will be asked to make up the cost of the recount. He said some locals already have indicated willingness to contribute.

Mrs. Ida Burbach
Funeral services for Mrs. Ida Burbach, 452 Center St., will be held Saturday at 10 a.m. at the Cathedral of the Sacred Heart. Rev. Edgar Schaefer officiating. Preliminary services will be at the Kelly Funeral Home at 9:15 a.m. Burial will be in Holy Trinity Cemetery, Rollingstone. Friends may call at the funeral home this afternoon and evening. The Rosary will be said there at 8 p.m. today.

Court Sustains Commission for Rochester Lawyer

ST. PAUL (U) — The Minnesota Supreme Court today sustained a $8,975 broker's commission allowed by a jury to Oscar C. Ronken, Rochester attorney for his part in arranging a $154,000 property sale.

A Hennepin County jury in Judge D. A. LeBel's court decided that a $13,950 payment should be split between Ronken and C. M. Redman, Minneapolis and Chicago real estate dealers.

The dispute arose out of sale of 50 per cent of the interest owned by Mrs. Madge Knowlton and two sons in the E. A. Knowlton Building in Rochester. The purchase was made by Clarence Knowlton who owned the other half interest.

Ronken was attorney for Mrs. Knowlton. Redman refused to pay Ronken one-half of the commission as agreed and Ronken instituted action to recover.

Redman claimed the contract was illegal because Ronken breached his "fiduciary duties" to Madge Knowlton in failing to disclose to her the arrangement for the commission and also contended the words "divide my commission" do not mean to divide equally.

Associate Justice Oscar Knutson in the unanimous decision rejecting the Redman contention asserted:

"That Ronken had been a trusted legal adviser for Mrs. Knowlton for many years is apparent. As apparent also is the fact that Ronken brought Mrs. Knowlton and defendant Redman together and it was through his efforts and as a result of his advice that she consented to sell the stock. It also must be admitted that all parties knew Ronken was to be paid his fees and expenses by defendant."

Justice Knutson also emphasized that an agreement for a division of a broker's fee is "deemed to contemplate an equal division."

Gl's Who Joined Reds Being Treated Like Heroes, Claim

OKLAHOMA CITY (U)—American servicemen who joined the Communists at the end of the Korean War are living the lives of exalted heroes, or so one of the 21 Gl's wrote home.

Mrs. Carley Jones, Holiness preacher and mother of former Pfc. Samuel David Hawkins, 21, said her son writes frequently and praises his adopted land.

She said they cite the court-martials of two servicemen who changed their minds and returned as evidence they were wise in refusing repatriation in POW exchange following the war.

Mrs. Jones said she is glad her son did not come home, since "he probably would have been tried and sent to prison." She says he's well and attending Peiping University studying world politics.

Brazil Quells Riot At Antiquated Prison

SAO PAULO, Brazil (U)—Three hundred prisoners at Sao Paulo's antiquated Hippodrome Prison rioted early today, setting fire to one of the buildings before police and soldiers quelled the uprising with tear gas and machine-gun fire. At least eight prisoners were wounded.

Berg, Freeman To Confer on State Budget

ST. PAUL (U) — Earl Berg, Minnesota commissioner of administration and one of several state officials expected to be replaced by Democrats, today said he and governor-elect Orville Freeman will confer shortly on the state budget.

Upon learning that Freeman, the Democratic-Farmer-Labor candidate, had defeated Gov. C. Elmer Anderson in Tuesday's election, Berg wrote Freeman and offered to discuss the budget with him.

Berg said Freeman called Thursday evening and said he would get together with him on the budget as soon as Freeman returns from a brief vacation.

Badger Educators Elect New Officers

MILWAUKEE (U) — A consultant to the Wisconsin Education Association is the newly-elected executive secretary of the WEA.

Henry Weinkick of Madison was elected to the post Thursday at the association's annual convention here. He succeeds O. H. Plenzke, who is retiring after 21 years.

Angus Rothwell, superintendent of schools at Manitowoc, was chosen WEA president.

Other officers chosen Thursday were: Clarice Kline, Waukesha teacher, president-elect; Clifford S. Larson, Waushara County superintendent of schools, first vice president; Margaret Diehl, Kenosha County superintendent, second vice president, and Donald Hoeft, Jefferson, third vice president.

Hospital Expenses, Compensation Go To Injured Worker

ST. PAUL (U) — The Minnesota Industrial Commission today refused to permit an employer to benefit from hospital expenses paid by an insurance company to an injured worker.

In a two to one decision, the commission upheld a referee's award to Roman I. Golla, hoist operator at the Ford Motor Co. St. Paul plant. He was allowed workmen's compensation for eight weeks disability, payment of a doctor bill and reimbursement of $223 hospital expenses paid by the Minnesota Hospital Assn.

Rejecting the employer's argument that Golla would be enriched or would be "doubly compensated" by allowing hospital expenses, the commission ruled:

"He is entitled to the fruits of his investment. By taking out a policy providing hospital benefits, Golla was providing insurance for himself against just such an emergency."

"The record does not indicate how long he had paid premiums for this protection, but any benefits accruing from the policy should inure to the benefit of the insured and not to the employer."

"Had Golla taken out accident insurance to cover lost time and wages, it could not be said that the amount recoverable would be held and offset against compensation payments under the act."

Commissioner A. E. Ramberg dissented from the majority decision of Commissioners Robert E. Farley and Ralph Distad.

Body of Drowned Hunter Recovered

WALKER, Minn. (U) — Druggers were searching Leech Lake today for a second drowned hunter's body after recovering that of Jack W. Jacoby, Two Harbors, late Thursday.

The boat occupied by Jacoby and Roland Larson, Duluth, apparently was overturned by high winds while the two were duck hunting Wednesday. Jacoby's body was found 100 feet from shore, near where the capsized boat floated in.

Wool Support Plan Mapped For Next Year

Government Hopes To Stimulate Gain In Sheep Population

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—The U. S. Department of Agriculture has announced a shorn wool incentive price of 62 cents per pound on a basis, and a mohair support price of 70 cents per pound. Both are for the 1955 marketing year. If average prices received by producers for wool and mohair fall below these levels, payments will be made to producers.

In establishing this objective, Congress recognized wool as an essential and strategic commodity which is not produced in the United States in sufficient quantity to meet domestic needs.

In announcing the new wool incentive program, department officials expressed the hope that the new method would start an increase in wool production toward the legislative goal. They pointed out that the present method of supporting wool through loans and purchases which has been followed for several years has not been effective in bringing about the increase in production. The increase has been deemed necessary because of the essential and strategic importance of wool.

The program will apply to wool and mohair sheared after Jan. 1, 1955, and marketed during the year beginning April 1, 1955, and ending March 31, 1956. The program will also apply to sheep and lambs marketed during the same period. Because shorn wool incentive payments will be based on the difference between the incentive price and the national average price received by producers during the year, the rate of payment on the 1955 clip, if needed, will probably be determined in the summer of 1956. Required payments to producers will begin at that time.

Payments will be made on a percentage of cash return from wool sales rather than a flat cents per pound rate. Department officials pointed out that each producer should try to get the best possible price for his wool in the market as the size of his incentive payment will depend on the net amount he obtains in selling his wool. Also, this will be an incentive to produce high quality wool and to shear and market it in the way that will best meet market demand.

Producers are asked to save sales receipts when marketing their 1955 clips, lambs and sheep. Applications for payment are to be made at the county ASC office.

BADGER STATE TREES
ALMA, Wis.—Wisconsin conservation tree order blanks will be available in November at the county extension office, according to information received from the state forestry service. Some species are available in limited quantities and should be ordered early if you wish to be sure of getting desired varieties. Please notify the extension office if you wish an early order blank, and it will be forwarded to you as soon as they are made available.

Fountain City Girl Named State Winner

FOUNTAIN CITY, Wis.—Karen Kammueler, Fountain City, has been named Wisconsin 4-H'er in clothing projects by state club leader Robert Clark.

She is one of 38 honored for top achievement and may be selected as one of a group to represent Wisconsin at the national congress in Chicago later this year. Miss Kammueler, 14, won the clothing award at the Buffalo County Fair this summer and competed at the state fair.

Brucellosis Meeting Series Scheduled In Buffalo County

ALMA, Wis.—A series of meetings on brucellosis control including plan A program for Buffalo County are being planned for November.

Under the present brucellosis law, to qualify as a plan A county, 75 per cent of the cattle herd owners in the county must sign a petition requesting that the county adopt the plan A regulations. State statistics reveal that this county has few infected animals.

The program consists of testing all cattle in the county which have positive ring test reaction, and all herds now under the plan B program. All brucellosis reactors disclosed by the tests will have to be disposed of. A federal indemnity payment of $25 for grade cattle and $50 for purebreds has been added to state indemnity payments. The former federal rate was $20-$18.

Seed Dealers to Meet At Rochester Nov. 19

An educational "get-acquainted" meeting for retail seed and fertilizer dealers will be held at Rochester Nov. 19, at 10 a. m.

At the morning session, Edwin H. Jensen, Minnesota extension agronomist, will speak on how seed and fertilizer dealers can help in an effective weed control program. Rodney A. Briggs will discuss preservatives for grass silage; Charles A. Simkins, extension soils specialist, will speak on effective use of fertilizer. The afternoon program includes talks on recommended crop varieties and forage mixtures for 1955 and the university's recommendations for proper fertilizer use in Minnesota.

4-H Achievement Day Planned at Caledonia

CALEDONIA, Minn. (Special)—The annual Houston County 4-H achievement party has been tentatively set for Nov. 24 at the Caledonia auditorium, according to Arnold Renslo, chairman of the Caledonia Commercial Club 4-H committee.

Professionals will entertain. Hundreds of dollars worth of special prizes will be awarded to outstanding 4-H members. A lunch, including milk, will be provided by the Caledonia Commercial Club, according to Renslo. All 4-H members, parents and leaders are invited.

Butter Grading Plan Reported Doing Very Well

Buttermakers Meet At Fountain City; Program Presented

FOUNTAIN CITY, Wis.—Wisconsin's new butter grading and labeling program "is doing very well," the district butter grader declared here Wednesday evening. J. H. Hoesley, Neillsville, told District I members of the Wisconsin Buttermakers and Managers Association, that the progress made is "unbelievable."

He said that this is due to the cooperation of the creameries, each of which has a licensed grader under the state program that went into effect July 1.

Attending the dinner meeting at the Eagle Hotel were 53 members and wives from the four counties of Buffalo, Jackson, Trempealeau and La Crosse, Presiding was Francis Zepp, Fountain City.

Others on the program were: Speaker was Adolph Bremer, city editor, Winona Daily News. Martin Wiemer, Independence, gave an illustrated travelogue of the 3-month trip that he and his wife took through eight European countries last summer.

Wiemer said that "Germany is coming out on top." Despite her low industrial status at the end of World War II, she is already out-selling many other European countries in the export market, he said.

Wiemer discounted any reports that Germany is swinging away from the West.

Bremer briefly reviewed the function of The Associated Press and its vital role in election coverage. He quoted a political analyst as segregating the reasons why people vote the way they do into "head," "heart" and "pocket-book."

"Since only about half of the eligible people vote — and sometimes fewer than that — it is perhaps more important to examine why people don't vote, he suggested. He mentioned how some European countries stimulate voting, whereas in America certain obstacles are set up to make voting difficult.

Bremer concluded that with only about half of the people voting, the "don't care" citizens — those who don't vote — tend to run the country by their very apathy.

Butter Grading
As for the butter grading and labeling program, Hoesley commented that it is being watched by other states for possible adoption. The grades are: Wisconsin Grade AA (93 score), grade A (92 score), grade B (90 score) and under-grade.

The grading must be on every carton of butter that is sold in Wisconsin.

Hoesley said that the purpose of the program is to give the consumer specific information as to the quality of the butter she is purchasing. In addition, it is acknowledged that upgrading of manufacturing standards will result.

The licensed grader in each manufacturing unit is in charge of grading and labeling. Periodic inspections are made by Hoesley, who is in charge of 25 counties. There are about 120 butter processors in that area.

Also present last night was the district dairy inspector, John Taylor, Ettrick. Officers of the buttermakers and managers association are: Roy Webster, York, president, and Palmer Nelson, Melrose, secretary-treasurer. Next meeting will be at Galesville, early next year.

All Fillmore County Cattle to Be Tested

PRESTON, Minn. — A test of all cattle in Fillmore County for brucellosis will be held from Jan. 30 to Feb. 26, 1955, County Agent Milton Hoberg announced today.

Thirty-five veterinarians are being assigned to the county and will operate out of Lanesboro and Wykoff. Dr. L. B. Hines will be in charge. A petition signed by over two-thirds of the county cattle owners asking for an area test was submitted in January 1953.

Milk Production Reported in Trempealeau Co.

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—Results of tests conducted for the Trempealeau County Dairy Herd Improvement Association have been announced by Tom Torason and Maynard L. Saxe.

Torason tested 600 cows in 22 herds with an average of 536.6 pounds of milk and 21.6 pounds of butterfat.

Sex's tests included 298 cows in 13 herds. High production cow among those tested by Torason was a registered Holstein owned by Emil P. Skroch, Independence, that produced 1,306 pounds of milk and 62.7 pounds of butterfat for an average test of 4.8 in 20 days of testing.

Second through fifth rated were the following cows, listing the owner, breed, pounds of milk and butterfat, average test and length: Bensil Haines, Dodge, registered Brown Swiss, 2,250 pounds and 99 pounds, 4.4 in 38 days; Trempealeau County Hospital farm, registered Holstein, 1,720 pounds and 72.2 pounds, 4.2 in 31 days; Julius Nelsstuen, Arcadia, grade Holstein, 1,958 pounds, and 78.3 pounds, 4. in 38 days, and Julius Nelsstuen, Arcadia, registered Brown Swiss, 1,232 pounds and 55.8 pounds, 4.4 in 27 days.

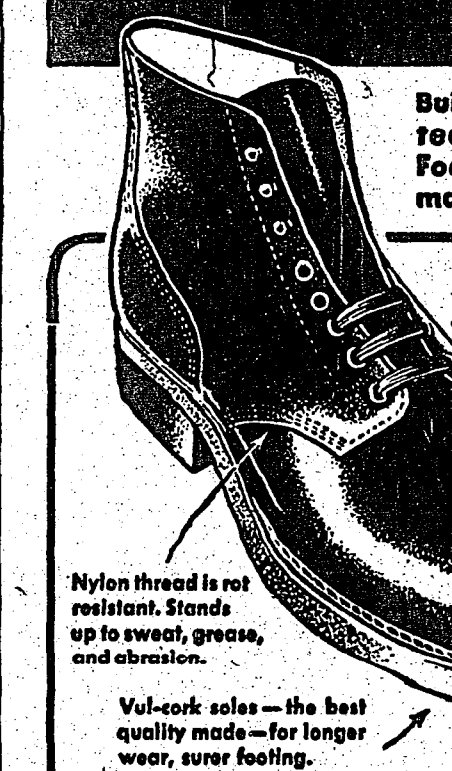

Top producing cows among those checked by Sex, listed in the same manner, were: Clifford Dahl, registered Holstein, 1,189 pounds, and 65.3 pounds, 5.5 in 19 days; Dahl, another registered Holstein, 1,277 pounds and 57.5 pounds, 4.5 in 24 days and a third registered Holstein from the same herd, 1,515 pounds and 53 pounds, 3.5 in 27 days; Donald Hardie, Blair, registered Guernsey, 1,298 pounds and 56.8 pounds, 4.4 in 31 days and Palmer Holmen, Osseo, grade Holstein, 1,042 pounds and 40.6 pounds, 3.9 in 24 days.

High herd tests conducted by Torason, listing the owner, breed, average pounds of milk, pounds of butterfat and average test, were: Alfred Szczepanski, Independence, registered and grade Jerseys, 696 pounds and 35.4 pounds for a 5.15 average; Floyd Back, Ettrick, grade Holsteins, 856 pounds and 31.3 pounds, for a 3.7 average; Edward Pientok, Independence, registered and grade Holsteins, 841 pounds and 31.3 pounds, for an average of 3.72; Trempealeau County Hospital, registered Holsteins, 700 pounds and 27.6 lbs. for an average test of 3.93 and George Lund, grade Holsteins, 763 pounds and 26.3 pounds for a 3.44 average.

High herds tested by Sex, listed in the same manner, included: Ralph Christensen, Pigeon Falls, registered Holsteins, 763 pounds and 26.5 pounds for a 3.47 average test; Donald Hardie, Blair, registered Guernseys, 558 pounds and 26.1 pounds, for an average of 4.69; Clifford Dahl, 581 lbs. and 21.9 pounds, for an average test of 3.78; Miles McKeeth, Galesville, registered Guernseys, 399 pounds and 19.3 pounds for a 4.97 average, and Henrik Hernes, Whiteside, registered Holsteins, 464 pounds and 17.8 pounds for a 3.84 average.

What a Will Means To Your Survivors

By GORDON ANDERSON
Winona County Agent
LEWISTON, Minn. — We would like to leave a little thought today on the subject of farm family business relationships. You know, wills, partnerships and so forth.

Probably a good way to start out would be to tell you of the cheap education our office girl, Mary, got on the subject of election bets. She was willing to wager 10 to 1 that a sure shot office applicant would bring home the ham, and ended up Wednesday morning sadder but wiser. The point is that nothing is sure but death and taxes. What do we as farmers do about arranging for the smooth continuation of our family farm set-up after we are gone?

In every county in which I have lived, there has always been a close neighbor who farmed with you. For those of you who figure that your kids will always be models of altruism in their dealings with each other, don't forget that even Mary might come out all right on a 10 to 1 wager against that proposition.

by CARL WERSHOFER
PICKWICK MILLS

A HEALTHY, bright and perky hen will produce the eggs you expect from her, if she gets what she needs from you! For most profitable egg production pullets should be culled and housed when they begin to lay. Be sure the laying house has been cleaned and disinfected just before bringing in the pullets. Allow three square feet of floor space for heavy breeds. For every 100 hens provide a 4-8 inch layer of dry litter along with the equivalent of two 8-foot feeders, one 8-gallon waterer and 20 nests.

EGG PRODUCTION MAY be increased by using artificial lighting to provide a 14-hour feeding day. Forty to sixty watts per 200 square feet of floor space is usually recommended. Feed intake may also be increased by feeding wet mash or noon feeding of pullets. Provide the birds with limestone grit or oyster shells and insoluble grit. Keep plenty of fresh water in clean fountains before the birds at all times.

GOOD FEEDING IS NO ACCIDENT... IT'S OCCIDENT

SEE YOUR FRIENDLY OCCIDENT FEED DEALER SOON!

TO KEEP CHICKENS thrifty and help layers produce as nature intended, start feeding Occident Layer Feed before egg production time rolls around. With its liberal supplies of egg-making nutrients, it keeps layers at top production.

FEED IT 50-50 with farm grains, putting it in self-feeders if you want, but hand-feeding the grain to prevent overeating. About three-fourths of the scratch grains should be fed in the evening. This assures plenty of available feed when the birds start looking for it the following morning. Remainder of the grain can be fed in the morning. Feed only what the birds clean up... reduce the grain fed if the birds become too fat. Increase it if birds are thin.

$25,761 Dam Job Started In East Willow

Retention Structures Started on 2 Farms In Fillmore County

PRESTON, Minn.—A $25,761.17 contract has been awarded the Freeman Construction Co., Inc., Spring Valley, for the building of two retention dams in the East Willow Creek Watershed.

This is the second contract for watershed protection measures in the area, according to Arnold Aakre, U. S. Soil Conservation Service, Preston. Construction started last week.

This contract is for two water detention dams, located on the farms of Arthur Mensink and Lydia Severson. Detention dams hold back water temporarily to reduce flood and silt damage.

The structure on the Severson farm will have a temporary maximum storage capacity of approximately 4,180,000 gallons of water. That on the Mensink farm will hold approximately 89,500,000 gallons. Eventually this will be reduced to about 73,500,000 gallons of storage if and when it is filled with silt to the drawdown tube.

Rate of filling will depend on how well soil conservation practices on the drainage area above keep silt from washing into the storage area. Proper rotations, contour operations, pasture and woodland improvement will keep silt to a minimum. These are practices farmers do themselves in regular operations when following a soil conservation plan.

Practically all practices planned by farmers in the watershed this year, have been established or are in the process of being established this fall, according to Robert Schaefer, farm planner in the Willow Creek Watershed. Terracing in particular has made the biggest gain.

Eyota Farm Bureau Picks Henry Pickett

EYOTA, Minn. (Special)—Henry Pickett was elected president of the Eyota Farm Bureau Monday night.

Others named to office were: Arthur Allen, vice president; Mrs. Walter Peck, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Arthur Moehne, home and community chairman.

Mrs. Wilbur Moehne was elected to report FB events; Walter Peck, Arthur Moehne and Robert Hains named to the resolutions committee. Roy Lovejoy was named delegate to the state convention, with Clarence Seymour alternate.

Carl Bries, a member of the juvenile division of the Rochester police department, was the main speaker. Entertainment was provided by Nancy Pries, who played the piano, and Mrs. Bryce Tottingham and Mrs. Lawrence Vrieze, a vocal duet. Mrs. Vrieze led community singing.

Resolutions drawn up by the committee will be presented to the Olmsted County Farm Bureau convention at Rochester Nov. 19. Those in charge of the program and refreshments were Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Moehne, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hammel, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Pries and Mr. and Mrs. Truman Matteson.

Darrell Erickson Tops Cow Clipping Contest

LANESBORO, Minn. (Special)—Darrell Erickson won first place in the Lanesboro FFA cow clipping contest at the George Taylor farm Tuesday.

Hans Torgerson placed second and Dennis Simpson third. The local chapter has awarded prize money to them. David Peterson placed fourth and Leonard Hanson fifth. Milton Hoberg, county agent, judged the event.

Ray Johnson and Darrell assisted Taylor in clipping the rest of the herd. Darrell will represent Lanesboro in the district FFA contest at Rochester Saturday. The dairy products team will compete also.

4-H Achievement Day Program on Nov. 13

By MRS. JOYCE RANDALL
Winona County Home Agent

Lewiston, Minn.—Nov. 13 will be observed throughout the country this year as National 4-H Achievement Day.

Winona County will observe the day by having its annual 4-H rally in the evening. The event will be held in the Lewiston High School auditorium at 8 o'clock, when 10 top clubs, secretaries and reporters will be announced and prizes will be awarded. Four-H members who have reached or will be reaching their 21st birthday this year will be remembered with a graduation gift.

A representative from the Cities Service Oil Co. will be present to give key awards to six Winona County 4-H'ers. They are Norbert Gernes, James Morcomb, Jane Harguth, Betty Reisdorf, Joanne Nagle and Maxine Melbo. Other awards will be presented by the county extension agents. Closing the program will be a movie and a treat for the 4-H'ers, their parents, leaders and friends. This event is sponsored by the extension service (both county and state) and the Winona County businessmen.

Purpose of setting aside a day each year as National 4-H Achievement Day is to recognize more than 2 million 4-H members for an important year of accomplishment. Sharing the honors with the boys and girls will be more than 312,000 men, women and young people who serve as volunteer local leaders in communities throughout the nation. Such an observance would not be complete without special recognition of local club leaders, parents and many businessmen in Winona County who are making an important investment in today's youth and the future through their support of 4-H work. This year more than 6,000 adults in Minnesota—105 in Winona County—are volunteering their services to 4-H clubs, giving in time alone what amounts to a total of 16 days a year or more to their club activities. Besides spending some time in training for their work, the volunteer leaders help members plan their programs, attend regular club meetings, visit homes of members to assist with demonstrations and accompany members to club events outside the community.

Many of the local leaders are parents of 4-H boys and girls. However, scores of parents who are not local leaders also play a vital part in the success of 4-H clubs through encouragement and advice given their sons and daughters. A special word of praise should go to many local businessmen who are giving invaluable support to 4-H work and many of its activities. Along with parents and 4-H leaders, they are making an important contribution to their communities by helping boys and girls become better farmers, homemakers and citizens.

Forest Revenue Reported at BRF

BLACK RIVER FALLS, Wis. (Special)—The forestry committee of the Jackson County Board of Supervisors reported to the board Wednesday that the total net revenue from timber sales this year amounts to $30,054.72.

This was the largest harvest of timber since the start of the forestry program in the county, according to committee member Bert Jones. Black River Falls, Minn., Olson, Town of Melrose, and Ben Potter, Knapp. Sales consisted of jack pine, aspen, tamarack and some windthrown white pine. Total bulk was 6,332.17 cords. During the last year several oak sales were set up on an experimental basis. The state Department of Conservation thought this would be a good operation for the forestry program as most of the oak areas had been underplanted to pine in prior years and cutting of oak would also be a timber release operation.

They reported that 140,000 trees had been planted on county forest land of which 75,000 were Norway pine and 65,000 white pine. They added that the Boy and Girl Scouts planted 2,000 Norway pine. Jones said that revenue from moss stumpage was $2,143.90. The market for moss during the year was not as good as in prior years, he claimed. S. J. Groves and Sons Co. paid the county $1,447.95 for sand taken from county land for the construction of new highway 54 during the year. Total income from county land was $33,646.57.

There were 600 acres of timber land improved in the Saddle Mound area this year, this being a pine release operation. A total of 480 acres of land was purchased in the forestry area to block the county forest.

The committee's budget shows a balance on hand of $42,344.18; state aid of $11,221.65 and interest on bonds of $325.00. Expenditures were $4,000 for planting; $400 for surveying; items for administrative planning, truck trails, equipment, material and supplies, timber stand improvement, land acquisition, hazard reduction, fire protection and an unallotted balance for a total of $53,890.83.

FFA at Lanesboro Sets Contest Prizes

LANESBORO, Minn. (Special)—The Lanesboro FFA chapter will offer cash prizes for a cow clipping contest this week, a livestock judging contest next week and dairy judging later this term.

Winners in a corn show Oct. 25 were Merin Thoen first, Jim Johnson second, Allan Holmen third, Phillip Abrahamson fourth, Cletus Ehler fifth, and Merle Sorum sixth. Arlyn Johnson won the corn judging with a perfect score, followed by Gerald Franzén, Cletus Ehler and Richard McCallison. Duane Hanson and Darrell Erickson tied for fifth place with Orrin Gilbertson, sixth, and Virgil McCallison, seventh. The top five members went to a corn judging contest at Owatonna Oct. 25, accompanied by Sam Olson, who Arlyn won sixth place and Darrell ninth. Results of corn judging have not been received.

Following a meeting Monday night the FFA went on a hayride, Paul Soukup furnishing the tractor and Harold Randall the wagon.

The Navy wages war on the terebo and linna, marine operations that eat up millions of dollars worth of dock pilings each year.

Assisting Deming in receiving the large number of guests from Trempealeau, Jackson and Buffalo counties were Mrs. Eva John Kuhn and Norman Friske, assistant secretary-treasurers; Mrs. Reuben Magnuson, who works part time as bookkeeper in the office, and Paul Sylla, who is a fieldman with the Production Credit Association.

Frequent Haircut For Cows Urged; Advantages Cited

By GLENN ANDERSON
Winona Vocational Agriculture Instructor

It's time to give your dairy cows a hair cut!

Taking the long hair off the rear quarters of every cow milked is easy and practical, too. Those who sell milk and especially grade A milk have to meet strict requirements set up by health departments and other branches of the dairy industry. These regulations are set up to insure, to a large extent, the delivery of quality, whole-sale milk.

There are six reasons why clipping cows will help improve the quality of milk you sell and at the same time put more money in your pocket:

- It reduces sediment.
- It lowers bacteria count.
- It makes it easier to keep cows clean.
- It helps avoid contamination.
- It saves time in preparing cows for milking.
- Clipping the back controls lice.

All of these have been checked by experiment and are proven true. It does not matter whether cows are milked with a machine or by hand, it is still necessary that the area next to the udder be kept clean and free of dirt. If this is not done some of the filth clinging to the cow will find its way into the milk. U. S. Public Health Service lists in its milk ordinance and code the following requirement: "The flanks, bellies and tails of all milking cows shall be free of visible dirt at the time of milking." I believe we can all agree that bedding, manure and other dirt will cling to long hair more readily than to short hair.

Sure, long haired cows can be cleaned but it takes longer and is harder work. We are all interested in saving time and making the job as easy as possible; so clip your cows regularly and keep the hair on the udder, belly, flanks, and tail short. Clipping should be repeated as soon as the hair gets long enough to hold foreign material. By the way, this will not harm cows during cold weather. The University of Wisconsin reported to the American Dairy Science Association in 1949 that clipping did not adversely effect cows in cold weather.

Clipping is a "must" on commercial dairy farms as well as farms where milk is used in the home only. Why not clip your herd this year and sell and drink better milk?

How to Haul Pastures To Cows to Be Subject Of Spring Grove Meeting

SPRING GROVE, Minn.—Hauling pastures to the cows rather than allowing cows to go to the pasture will be discussed at the adult evening meeting at Spring Grove High School Monday at 8 p.m.

Rotation grazing, the practice of dividing pastures into small plots and grazing these plots one at a time, also will be discussed.

Orson Hempstead, Houston dairyman, and Harold Karli, assistant county agent in soils, Fillmore County, will relate experiences with these methods of forage utilization. Karli has done extensive experimenting with rotation grazing and Hempstead has used both soilage method and rotation grazing during the last grazing season.

Films of his operations will be shown.

Testing of Soil Now Urged by Houston Co. Agent

By HARLIE LARSON
Houston County Soils Agent

CALEDONIA, Minn.—Fifteen million dollars are spent annually by Minnesota farmers for lime and fertilizer, according to Paul M. Burson, division of soils, University of Minnesota. Soil testing will enable you to spend our money more wisely.

According to an old saying, "Time and tide wait for no man," time is the time to plan next year's need for lime and fertilizer.

Setting up a system of record keeping such as charts or maps of fields which are to be sampled would be very valuable. The following is a long-time program, it is well to have a recording system to eliminate the guess work in checking on soil fertility.

Submitting samples in the fall will avoid the spring rush in the testing laboratory. Each sample should include soil from about 10 locations in each plot of 10 acres or less. Wherever the soil type changes, a different sampling is required. Use either an auger or spade to a depth of six inches, gathering about a pint from the different locations.

Dry the soil of excessive moisture so that it may be thoroughly mixed before submitting it to either a fertilizer dealer or the extension office at Caledonia. Fertilizer dealers may get bags and soil, sample information sheets from the extension service office. A past history of crops raised on each field to be tested is necessary. Also the amount, if any, of lime and fertilizer previously applied.

(A building is no better than the foundation on which it is built. And so it is with the soil. Knowing what is needed to increase soil productivity makes for better farming practices. Good conservation practices are essential in saving the extra dollars spent for lime and fertilizer.)

Miss Mattila Arrives As 4-H Club Agent For Wabasha County

Lewiston Girl Wins 4-H Congress Trip

LEWISTON, Minn.—Lorraine Sackreiter, 19, member of the Lewiston Wonder Workers 4-H Club, has won a trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago Nov. 28 to Dec. 3.

Lorraine, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Sackreiter, has won her trip as state winner in the national 4-H canning achievement program. She has done outstanding work in this project for many years. Although food preservation has perhaps been her specialty, Lorraine has also excelled in food preparation. She and her twin sister, Elaine, have given many demonstrations in both projects. Lorraine also has been enrolled in the junior leadership projects.

Two Speakers Named for Dairy Institute Here

Two of the speakers for the Minnesota-Wisconsin Dairy Institute Nov. 17 at the Central Junior High School vocational agriculture department were announced today by Harry Peirce, chairman.

Brother Baldwin, superintendent of the St. Mary's College farm here, and Orville E. Hays, project administrator of agricultural research, La Crosse, will be among the top dairy experts of Minnesota and Wisconsin who will participate.

Brother Baldwin will talk on "Healthy Calves Make Top Producers." He is a graduate of St. Mary's and was assistant superintendent of St. Mary's College farm from 1937-1947. Upon completion of his graduate work at Loyola University, Chicago, in 1950 he was named instructor in sociology and superintendent of the St. Mary's farms.

The purebred Holstein herd there is one of the outstanding dairy herds in the Northwest.

Hays was born on a farm in central Kansas, graduated from Kansas State College of Agriculture and Applied Sciences and was employed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Agriculture in 1934 he was transferred to La Crosse where he is now in charge of the Soil Conservation Service research station.

His topic will be "From Green Pastures to Green Money," explaining why good succulent forages are the best feed for dairy cows and what farmers should do to produce them. He will show a series of slides.

River Falls Production Credit Group to Meet

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—The annual meeting of the River Falls Production Credit Association will be held here Monday, R. R. Mortimer, Maiden Rock, president announced today. The meeting will begin with a dinner at St. John's Catholic Church at 11:30 a.m. for members and their wives. A program at the Piz Theater will start at 1 p.m. Highlights will be the election of two directors to fill the offices now held by Gaylord Carlson, Pepin, and Wilbert Griffey, River Falls, and reports by Harry Van Neuren, for the board of directors and of Secretary-Treasurer Leonard M. Johnson.

Arkansas FFA Elects Longsdorf as President

ARKANSAS, Wis. (Special)—Calvin Longsdorf was elected president of the Arkansas Future Farmers of America last week. Donald Richardson was named vice president, John Bauer, secretary, Gordon Bauer, treasurer, Gary Byington, reporter, and Robert Drier, sentinel.

Longsdorf named James Luther chairman, Robert Drier and Daniel Anibas members of a safety committee. The group will promote safety on the farm, help teach safety in the farm shop at school and cooperate with farm machinery dealers in safe use of farm implements. Safety films will be shown and a safety essay contest will be sponsored.

General chairman of the rat and mouse drive is Orrin Keys. He is being assisted by James Black, Larry Steller and Stanley Kern. Warfarin is used. Community participation in the drive will be encouraged through demonstrations, displays and publicity.

The word "ballot" derives from the Latin "ballotta," meaning "little ball," referring to the black and white balls used in Roman elections.

Farm Wives Told How to Treat Furs

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—Wherever you have fur—in a coat of neckpiece, or as trim for a collar, pocket or sleeve—it deserves the best of care, points out Mrs. Sylvia Shiras, Trempealeau County home demonstration agent. Only with daily care at home and an occasional thorough cleaning can you keep fur attractive and in good condition, she says.

"Even the smallest piece of fur is very fragile, so it needs to be treated with care," she said. "Hang fur coats or fur-trimmed garments carefully on wide hangers that fit the neck and shoulders of the garment. This keeps the fur in shape and doesn't cut or strain the top pelts."

"Choose the coolest closet in your home for storage and don't jam them against other clothing. Such treatment may mat or break fur. For over-the-summer storage it's safest to keep furs in cold storage vaults made for the purpose."

"Rather than brush or comb fur to keep it fluffy, shake it before and after each wearing," Mrs. Shiras suggested. This is especially true if the fur is wet. "Shake wet fur gently before you put it in a cool dry room to dry, then shake again before wearing," she said.

"Furs are especially popular with moths and carpet beetles, so a good cleaning each year is important. You'll want to check fur garments every week if they aren't in regular use."

"Each year as you have your furs cleaned it's a good idea to have them glazed, too. This gives luster and adds protection."

Corn Test Plot Results Reported

Several interesting results were determined at the corn fertilizer test plot on the Fred Schroeder farm, Nodine, made public at a field day held at the plot Wednesday.

Harry Peirce, adult agriculture instructor in charge of the test plot, said that the outcome of the test plot ran true to form with one exception: It showed that commercial fertilizer, when applied to corn, will boost yields up to a certain point and when too much fertilizer is added, production will fall. Where no fertilizer was applied, the corn yielded 60 bushels per acre at a value of $30 (at $1.50 a bushel). When 140 pounds of 6-24-12 was added at planting time, the corn yielded 85 bushels valued at $128. Net profit after fertilizer cost was $122.84.

The third plot, which incidentally showed the best results, had 150 pounds of ammonium nitrate side-dressed as well as the starter fertilizer applied. It produced 123 bushels valued at $184.50 with a net value of $171.92.

Up to this point each increase in fertilizer has brought on increase in yield. However, in the fourth plot even more fertilizer was added, 300 pounds of 6-24-12 broadcast. The yield on this plot dropped to 102.5 bushels valued at $153.75 and a net cost of $127.97. Peirce stated further that it appears that this soil needed only starter fertilizer and a side dressing application for top production. This bears out the fact that all corn ground should be tested previously to determine the amount of plant food to be applied. A field with lower fertility would undoubtedly benefit from the 300 pounds of broadcast fertilizer, he said.

BUFFALO CITY GROUP
BUFFALO CITY, Wis. — The Buffalo City Homemakers will meet at the city hall Wednesday. The project "Buying, Care and Use of Small Electrical Equipment," will be led by Mrs. Merton Maier and Mrs. Clarence Smith. Hostesses will be Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Harry Weber.

FFA CONTEST TEAMS
Glenn Anderson, vocational agriculture instructor at Winona Senior High School, has named local contestants for the district FFA dairy products and cow clipping events at the district meeting at Rochester Saturday. Weston Papenfuss, Roger Erickson and Marvin Neimeyer are the dairy products team. David Meyer will compete in the cow clipping contest.

Twelve U.S. states and the District of Columbia requires the reading of the Bible in public schools.

"What We Don't Know About Farming" will be Dr. R. E. Hodgson's topic at the annual Lions Club farmers night at the Oaks Nov. 15.

Hodgson, director of the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture Southern School and Experiment Station, Waseca, is a familiar figure to rural citizens of Southern Minnesota and is recognized as an authority on most phases of farming.

C. L. Totman is chairman of the farmers night for the Lions.

Political Work Falls To Feed His Family

DETROIT (AP)—Ringing doorbells for a political party don't excuse a man from earning a living for his family. Circuit Judge Thomas B. Maher ruled yesterday.

Then he granted a divorce to Mrs. Jane Baltic, 50. She had complained that her husband Nicholas, now of Gary, Ind., spent so much time working for the party (Democratic) that he had no time to work or support his family.

PEPIN CO. COMMITTEE

DURAND, Wis. (Special)—The Pepin County Agriculture Committee will meet at the office of County Agent T. A. Parker this evening. Members are Roland Johnson, chairman; M. H. Carroll, vice chairman; Wilbur M. Gibson, secretary; Edwin Achenbach and W. Weiss.

Area Orchardmen Honored at Banquet

By EARL GILBERT
Daily News Area Editor

Orchardmen from this area were among pioneer fruit growers who were honored at the 8th annual banquet of the Minnesota Fruit Growers Association and the Wisconsin State Horticultural Society at the Hotel Winona Thursday night.

A highlight of the 2-day convention of the groups Thursday and today, the banquet was attended by the largest crowd in the history of the meetings. There were 103 who met to hear Prof. W. H. Alderman, retired chief of the division of horticulture of the University of Minnesota, tell of a year in Greece under a Fulbright scholarship, and honor seven pioneer fruit growers of the two states.

Among those honored were Fred Sack, Galesville; H. W. Leidel, La Crosse; Ben Dunn, Rochester; Felix Isacoff, White Bear, Minn.; J. D. Winter, University of Minnesota; Fred Ulrich, Rochester, and D. C. Webster, La Crosse. Webster was acclaimed by Alderman as a man to whom all Minnesota fruit growers should be grateful. The professor stated that Webster won 22 sweepstakes at the Midwest Horticultural Exposition years ago, the only person ever to achieve such a record. Orchard-

Claim Denied Against Gas Firm In Blast Death

ST. PAUL (AP)—The Minnesota Supreme Court today approved the action of Judge C. A. Roloff of Kandiyohi County District Court in throwing out a $9,800 jury verdict against the Willmar Gas Co., Inc.

A jury awarded the damages to Gladys D. Bellefleur, whose husband, Albert, was fatally injured in 1948 in an explosion of an automatic gas water heater in his home. Judge Roloff set the verdict aside and Mrs. Bellefleur appealed.

The gas firm supplied the fuel for the heater, but did not own or install it. On May 18, 1948, Bellefleur went to the cellar to see why there was no hot water. Shortly after he descended the stairway, his wife was thrown out of bed by the force of a blast which damaged the house and fatally injured her mate.

The Bellefleurs earlier had gone to the gas company offices, in April 1948, and notified an employee to send someone to look at the heater because the pilot light would not stay lighted.

In denying the appeal, Associate Justice Leroy E. Matson held that the gas company could not be found negligent. He said such a firm has no duty to make periodic inspections to ascertain the safety of gas appliances which are not installed, owned or controlled by the company.

Mill City Restaurant Workers May Strike

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Some 2,000 waiters, waitresses, bartenders and cooks will be free to strike against 157 bars and eating places that sell liquor on Nov. 14 after filing a notice of the walkout late Thursday.

Raymond R. Wright, president of the AFL Hotel and Restaurant Employees joint board, said the workers are asking a 10 per cent pay boost, a seventh paid holiday every year and three weeks vacation with pay after 10 years employment.

Wright said the strike notice was filed after lengthy negotiations had failed to produce any results.

Governorship Vote Tops Senate Contest

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The governorship race drew more votes than Senate contests in nearly every county in the state, late returns from Tuesday's Minnesota election showed today.

Normally the top race on the ballot draws the greatest number of votes. In 3,449 of 3,851 state precincts the race for governor drew 1,023,919 votes against 986,853 for U.S. senator.

Diamond-Throwing Melee Witnesses Take Lie Tests

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The first of seven persons who witnessed a diamond-throwing melee at a Halloween party took a lie detector test yesterday and the others will go through the same routine today and tomorrow.

Detective Barney Kaplan said Duncan McMartin of Bermuda threw about $100,000 worth of jewelry at his wife as a climax to the party and that a $25,000 diamond clip was missing.

All seven spectators agreed to take the test voluntarily, Kaplan said. They had stayed behind after most of the other 40 guests had departed the Brice Pinder home, where the McMartins were guests.

Detective Jack D. Taylor said those who took the test were Robert (Bunny) Bacon, socialite son of a shipping firm; Esther Clair and Marilyn Hallett, two models; Mrs. Wilbur Cooke; Bernard MacDonald; Pinder, a Negro maid who cleaned up the apartment next day.

Lutheran Pastor Installed at Blair

BLAIR, Wis. (Special)—The Rev. Edmund E. Olson was installed as pastor of Zion Lutheran Church Sunday, with Dr. F. J. Schmidt, Chicago, president of the Eastern District of the Evangelical Lutheran Church, presiding.

The senior choir, under the direction of Mrs. Jerry Nelson, sang "Beside Still Waters." A potluck dinner followed morning services.

The Rev. Mr. Olson was installed as pastor of North Beaver Creek Lutheran Church at 2:30 p.m. the same day.

Born at Pelican Rapids, Minn., Pastor Olson was graduated from Luther Theological Seminary, St. Paul, in 1944. Since ordination he has served parishes at Nevis and Westbrook, Minn., and Yakima, Wash.

Members of the board of trustees at Zion Lutheran Church are Carl Sexe, Roger Halverson, Raymond Johnson, Paul Andregg and Edwin Nansstad.

Luther League Meets Sunday at North Prairie

LANESBORO, Minn. (Special)—Luther League of North, Prairie Lutheran Church will meet Sunday at 8 p.m., with Deaf Henry and Bruce Ostrom directing a program. Hosts will be the Arvid Kjos, Martin Johnson, Glen Eide and Fredrick Eide families.

The parish ladies aid will meet Thursday evening for its annual circle display. Hostesses for the affair will be the Mmes. Victor Vogen, Robert J. Brown, Hans Gudmundson, Betsey Olson, Otis Tolstad, Marvin Hallevig, Nels Hallevig, Gorman Highum and Harry Gudmundson. Guest speaker will be Mrs. W. Strangeland, Decorah, Iowa.

Davis, Career Diplomat, Called Home for Quiz

WASHINGTON (U)—John Paton Davies, a controversial career diplomat for a decade, has been called home to be on hand for Secretary of State Dulles' decision on whether he is a security risk.

The 45-year-old Davies was recalled from his post as counselor at the U.S. Embassy in Lima, Peru, Technically, State Department officials called it "routine orders for reassignment."

However, there would be no reassignment if Dulles should decide against him. On the other hand, should the decision be in his favor—as have eight other loyalty-security investigations of Davies—he probably would be in line for a more important job than the one he had held at Lima for the past year and a half.

Davies arrived in Washington Tuesday. He was not available for comment.

There was some indication that he would get a post within the State Department here pending a decision.

Davies has lived amid conflict and controversy for the last 10 of his 22 years in the U.S. foreign service. From 1919 through 1932 during the Truman administration, he was cleared seven times by State Department loyalty-security boards and once by the government's top loyalty review board.

Soon after becoming secretary, Dulles ordered a re-examination. That was in May 1933, when President Eisenhower's new loyalty-security program went into effect. Davies was shifted to Lima from Germany, where he had been a political officer. Dulles has publicly volunteered nothing on the progress of the re-examination since then. At news conferences, however, he told questioners a special hearing board was interrogating Davies.

Davies' views have brought him into conflict with a number of people. Patrick J. Hurley, ambassador to China in 1944-45, has said Davies and others were responsible for "sabotaging" U.S. policy toward Chiang Kai-shek. And Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) has said the Eisenhower administration "struck out" in not firing Davies.

Rotary Club Visits New Lutheran Church

The new Central Lutheran Church edifice was built of Winona materials. Dr. L. E. Brynstad, pastor, told the Rotary Club when it met at the edifice Wednesday noon.

It was built of Winona stone by a Winona contractor and by Winona workmen, he said.

And the stained glass windows, now being placed in the church, are the product of Winona workmen.

Vanishing Game Birds

A quarter of a century ago the American woodcock was rated as the vanishing game bird. Writers devoted considerable space to "save the woodcock" campaigns. It was put under the migratory bird treaty act of 1918 and given full protection for a number of years.

Today, this fastest of game birds and challenger of the skill of the best upland hunters with their dogs, has come back in limited numbers, but the woodcock hunter has vanished. There probably are not half a dozen of them left along the river area. We know two—Emil E. Liers, Homer, and Don Graham, local sporting goods store man and top local shot.

In the above picture of a woodcock, stress is being centered on the head. Notice the long bill and eyes placed high in the head. Slightly larger than a robin, this bird is seldom seen in the outdoors, although it nests in this area. It is nocturnal in habits, and feeds mainly on earthworms. It apparently can hear worms deep in the mud or soft earth.

Its long bill will dart down in the mud and seize the worm far below the surface. However, it is not vulnerable when it is buried, since its eyes are high in its head, enabling it to see an approaching enemy or hunter.

Minnesota's open season closes Nov. 10 and Emil tells us he has enjoyed some good woodcock hunting this fall. He uses a southern trained Spanish pointer. The picture is one from a limit he got the other morning. Recently he was the subject of a series of woodcock hunting pictures made by Dr. C. John Albrecht, noted outdoor photographer, against the colorful background of autumn in Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Years back, Emil was one of the market hunters of woodcock along the river. These birds in those days sold for about one dollar each in the Chicago loop hotel market. Hunters came each fall from quite an area for woodcock.

Ex-Slave Now Handles Arab Oil Revenues

BEIRUT, Lebanon (U)—The rise of a slave to a position of power is an age-old theme of Arab story-tellers. The saga was repeated when Arabia's King Saud appointed a new minister of finance to handle his country's oil revenues. The new minister is Mohamed Surour el Sabban, a Negro born slave.

Mohamed Surour was called to the ministry after the resignation of aging Sheikh Abdullah Suleiman. Under the old administration, Saudi Arabia's government had slipped deeply into debt, even though it had an oil income of 230 million dollars yearly. A series of scandals in the ministry added to the fiscal confusion. Sheikh Abdullah Suleiman had to go, and King Saud sought a man both capable and honest to put his house in order.

His choice, Mohamed Surour, had worked for Abdullah Suleiman as secretary for many years and had demonstrated his ability. Not the slightest tinge of corruption was attached to his name.

With some foreign technical help, the new finance minister hopes to put Saudi Arabia's finances in working order and to keep the free-spending royal family solvent.

Since most of the other key portfolios are held by brothers of King Saud, the former slave has become the strongest nonroyal person in the country.

His family were Negroes brought to Mecca from northeast Africa in the slave trade that still flourishes in the Arabian peninsula. Mohamed's father, owned by the Sabban family of Mecca, was freed as an old man. The Sabbans took the child Mohamed Surour into their household and brought him up with their children. Arabian traditions allow a slave to adopt the family name of his masters if he is brought up in the household, so Mohamed Surour officially became a Sabban.

U.S. OFFERS

purposes but operate under their own budgets and constitution. The Americans so far have shown a determination to keep the President's program clear of close entangling ties with the U.N.

Lodge said small research reactors, which can be built in a year's time for well under $500,000, would help in the practical application of atomic research to medicine, farming and industry.

Looking to the immediate future, he declared:

"We are prepared to start discussion with other countries for the conclusion of bilateral agreements which will make it possible for us, under our laws, to furnish technical information, technical assistance, and necessary amounts of fissionable materials for the construction and operation of research reactors to be located abroad."

He said that, pending the creation of the proposed international agency, the United States is prepared in 1955 to:

1. Establish a reactor training school early in the year and invite 30 to 50 scientists and engineers from overseas to study practical reactor engineering so they may become competent operators of such installations.

2. Offer under the sponsorship of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission courses in industrial medicine, industrial hygiene and radiological physics and the theory and use of radiation instruments.

3. Open the Argonne Cancer Hospital at the University of Chicago, the Brookhaven National Laboratory and the cancer research hospital at the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies for one to two-year courses on the use of atomic energy in medicine and biology, for approximately 5 to 10 foreign students per course.

4. Invite 150 "competent and distinguished visitors" in the field of cancer research from overseas to visit American cancer research facilities.

5. Offer special four-week courses in radio-isotope tracer techniques.

The proposed atomic agency, Lodge continued, would be created by negotiations among interested governments. He said it would consult and cooperate with U.N. bodies dealing with related work as well as with atomic energy organizations of U.N. members.

He explained that the United States originally envisioned the international agency would hold fissionable materials itself, "but after the Soviet rejection of the United States proposals, all the negotiating states conclude that it might be preferable that the agency act as a clearing house for requests made to the agency by the various beneficiaries."

"The donor state would earmark fissionable materials for the agency's operations and would transfer those fissionable materials directly to the projects approved by the agency," he said.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

During the hurricanes which have been sweeping the country since August, a number of persons were killed by falling electric wires.

The survivors of several of these people have engaged lawyers who will bring suits against the power companies for damages, saying that had the wires been put up properly, the accidents would not have occurred.

On the other hand, the attorneys for the power companies will claim that storms are "an act of God," and that their clients cannot be held responsible for such acts.

The Consolidated Edison Company of New York, when questioned, said through one of its spokesmen that they considered the falling of wires a fault of their own, and that they are inclined to be liberal when it comes to settling claims.

If you have ever read the fine print in your insurance policies or on other forms of contracts, you may have seen that quite a few human errors may well be construed as "acts of God" and thus exonerate the company of the first hand from meeting their moral and legal obligations.

What is an "act of God?"

To answer that question we must enter the field of religion, a field which always, when discussed, brings about the most violent controversies, and on which few people can agree, no matter how much they argue about it.

Thus, I must ask you to take my opinions on the matter merely as my opinions and not as code or law. If you don't agree with me, you are, of course, entitled to disagree completely.

BEDTIME STORIES

By HOWARD GARIS

Uncle Wiggly, in the kitchen of his hollow stump bungalow, watched Detective Pat Butter listening at many things. The goat gentleman had brought with him a stethoscope, which he borrowed from Dr. Possum. The stethoscope is what your doctor uses when he puts two rubber tubes in his ears and the other end of the stethoscope on your chest. Through the stethoscope your doctor listens to your breathing and in that way he can tell how much of a cold or cough you have.

Detective Butter held the stethoscope to the dish closet door in the bungalow kitchen. He listened.

"Your paw watch isn't there, Wiggly," he called the goat.

"I could have told you that, and I am no detective," said the rabbit uncle. "My watch popped off my paw in the dining room."

"If it did, your watch isn't there now," he called the detective goat. He held the stethoscope against the upstairs cellar door. "Your watch isn't down in the cellar, Wiggly," said Mr. Butter as he let the stethoscope dangle from his ears.

"I could have told you that, and I am no detective," said Uncle Wiggly again.

"Give me time! Give me time!" he called Detective Butter.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the rabbit gentleman. "If I had my paw watch I could give you time, Pat! But my watch is lost."

"That was a funny joke—your paw watch and time. Ha! Ha! Ha!" laughed Detective Butter. "Just give me another chance." He pranced over to the dish in which was first proposed by President Eisenhower in an address to the Assembly last Dec. 8. It was amplified in a speech by the Secretary of State Dulles in September.

Hopes that the Eisenhower plan might win Soviet support were sparked by the rare East-West harmony prevailing yesterday, when the Assembly unanimously approved private big power talks on disarmament aimed at eventual prohibition of nuclear weapons.

The call for talks was made by Russia and the Western Powers in their first concerted action on disarmament in eight years.

Adding to the prospect of Soviet cooperation was Eisenhower's announcement Wednesday that the United States is engaged in what it hopes is a "new phase of negotiations with Russia on creation of the proposed international atomic pool."

Informed sources said the resolution would ask the conference to report back to the U.N. on progress made towards peaceful utilization of atomic materials by nations who have developed nuclear energy or have uranium resources.

Observers speculated whether Russia would be willing to take part in the proposed agency, or whether she would insist on prohibition of all nuclear weapons as a prelude to any international move towards peaceful development.

The Russians recently reversed their previous stand on this when they agreed to negotiate for a step-by-step reduction of conventional armaments, with the ban on atom and hydrogen bombs coming midway in the process.

GOP Leaders To Confer on N. J. Recount

NEWARK, N.J. (U)—Republican leaders were expected to confer today on a bid by Democrats for bipartisan action to impound all ballots "preparatory to possible recounts" in the tight New Jersey senatorial election.

Meanwhile, Republican Clifford P. Case held a 3,308-vote lead—which widened slowly through late revisions and recounts—over Democrat Charles R. Howell.

Case was the probable victor on the basis of the complete unofficial vote tally, with all but three of the state's 21 county clerks having double-checked and revised their final figures.

But the possibility of a recount loomed. Paper ballots and voting machines have been under police guard on orders from State Atty. Gen. Grover C. Richmond Jr.

State Democratic Chairman George E. Brunner made the suggestion in Trenton last night for the bipartisan move to impound the ballots to insure a "fair and honest election."

He proposed that all ballots be placed in a bonded warehouse by court order, and that State Republican Chairman Samuel L. Bodine join him in the action. Brunner said he had contacted Bodine on the proposal.

Bodine declined comment.

The latest unofficial vote count gave Case 861,151 and Howell 857,873—showing a gain of almost 1,000 for the Republican after yesterday's revisions and recounts.

Democrat leaders were making their own recount of returns. Howell refused to concede defeat.

'Watchdog' Plant, High Above Earth Predicted

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (U)—An aircraft industry executive predicts the government next year will start planning an artificial, camera-equipped plant which will circulate 500 miles or more above the earth, providing military intelligence to the U. S. armed forces.

William P. Lear, of Los Angeles, board chairman of Lear, Inc., told a news conference construction of the plant would be a project on the scale of that which resulted in the first atom bomb.

Badgers Expect 52,918 for Tilt With Wildcats

MADISON (AP)—Two of the Big 10's favorite whipping boys this fall, Northwestern and Wisconsin, meet head-on before 52,918 Badger homecoming celebrants Saturday. The Wildcats have been cuffed around by Minnesota, Michigan and Ohio State in conference starts, and also have dropped games to Southern California and Pitt. They have licked Iowa State. Not since the final game of the 1952 campaign has Northwestern taken a Big 10 decision, losing nine straight during the interim.

After clipping Michigan State and Purdue, the Badgers fell before unbeaten Ohio State and Iowa, thus shattering their sky-high hopes for a Big 10 title and a Rose Bowl bid.

Wisconsin Coach Ivy Williamson shows nothing but the highest regard for the Wildcats. He said: "Northwestern will be real rough. The Wildcats haven't won a conference game, but have come close just about every time. They have outplayed many of their opponents, and could explode—because the power is there—anytime."

"Whether we can snap out of the doldrums remains to be seen. I think the boys will come back this time. But if they play like they did against Iowa last week, we're heading into trouble."

"This game should be a close one. It will be Alan (The Horse) Ameche, the Badgers' four-year veteran at fullback, who will carry most of his team's load on both offense and defense. Supporting dependables on attack are quarterbacks Jimmy Miller and Jim Haluska, who have hit on 42 passes in 79 attempts for 628 yards to date.

In the offing for Ameche is a NCAA four-year rushing yardage record. Forty more yards would surpass the 3,158 high set by Ollie Matson, of San Francisco U., several years ago. Ameche's rushing attempts gave the Badgers' battering force one record, and this mark should increase against the Wildcats, the Illinois a week later and Minnesota in the season wind-up Nov. 20.

Ameche has rushed for 359 yards in conference starts this fall, second only to Ohio State's Bobby Watkins who has accounted for 367.

Bob Baker Meets Jim Slade Tonight

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Pittsburgh's Bob Baker tangles with New York State champion Jimmy Slade in a 10-round nationally televised heavyweight bout with a chance that the division rankings may need reshuffling after it's all over.

Baker, expected to weigh a bulky 212 pounds, is favored to beat the 180-pounder from the Bronx despite the fact that late ring rankings list Slade No. 5 in the division, just ahead of Baker.

Slade has a record of 33 wins, 20 losses and 9 draws. His most outstanding bout this year was a knockout of Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson.

Baker has won 35, lost 5, drawn 1. He has won four out of five this year, his one loss to light heavyweight champion Archie Moore in March.

Warmath Hopes to Secure Victory Early Saturday

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Minnesota's regulars won't hurt Murray Warmath's feelings nor their own brittle bones by rushing over two or three early touchdowns against Oregon State here Saturday.

Warmath's big ambition is to tuck away the victory early in order to save wear and tear on his front ranks for the Big Ten windup against Iowa and Wisconsin. At the same time, Warmath isn't assuming any rout for Minnesota. Oregon State on the record is one of the weaker major football teams in the country, yet a reputation of the Gopher sluggishness against Michigan could produce some Minnesota anxiety.

If the opposition weren't a five-times beaten team, Warmath might have grounds for brooding. The Gophers haven't been very slick in workouts this week.

Their four-touchdown edge, however, seems solidly warranted. Minnesota has won five games in six tries, ranks 14th in the nation, still has a misty chance for a Big Ten title and heads the Western Conference in rushing average, 222.2 per game.

Beyond that, the Gophers are in good condition—for the moment. Fullbacks John Baumgartner and Ken Yackel both should be ready to play and center Dean Maas, guard Harold Drescher, end Ron Smith and guard Dick Kubie also have recovered from varied ailments.

Despite the recovery of the fullbacks, Warmath will retain Bob McNamara as the starter there with Shorty Cochrane, Dick McNamara and Gene Cappelletti rounding out the backfield.

What Warmath is trying to avoid is fresh injuries or recurring ones to key men in an Oregon State game which could be run out by reserves if the regulars build a secure lead in the first half.

Oregon State, victor only over Idaho, is manned predominantly by sophomores. Coach Kip Taylor refused to concede the Gophers a landslide victory.

Nearly Unanimous

This week's football predictions by The Daily News panel of experts (?) comes about as close to unanimous agreement as we have been all season.

Contrary to the usual trend, this week there are only two games causing difference of opinions. Bob Eggleston picks Pitt to the Ohio State, while Gilbert and I favor the Buckeyes.

The other game in which we differ is the Purdue-Iowa game. Eggleston and Gilbert forecast a victory for the Boilermakers while I stick with the Hawkeyes to win at home.

Otherwise there is no difference in our choices except in how high the score will mount in some games. Perhaps a reason for the agreement is that many teams are big favorites to win. Notre Dame over Penn, Mississippi over Memphis State, Indiana over Miami of Ohio and Minnesota over Oregon State are choices that today look pretty good.

We all agreed upon the outcome of the Arkansas-Rice game, forecasting victories for host Rice, despite Arkansas' higher national ratings.

Eggleston notes:

"My luck may run out completely, but I'm still inclined to stick with Pitt to at least tie the OSU Buckeyes."

"The Bucks had to squeak past Northwestern last Saturday, while Pitt edged previously-unbeaten West Virginia. I think the Panthers are going to keep up their clawing tactics."

"I further think the Boilermakers are going to boil the Hawkeyes, although the game should produce a fine aerial battle between Lenny Dawson and Jerry Reichow..."

Gilbert sez:

"There are several possible upsets in the making this week and I pick Rice to edge unbeaten Arkansas on the basis of a tougher schedule and Dick Moegle."

"Auburn could dump Miami as they did last year and both UCLA and Ohio State play toughies. The reason for picking Purdue over Iowa is a pass defense that gave Wisconsin over 100 yards, and neither Badger hurler is equal to Dawson..."

Our choices are as follows:

GAME	EGGLESTON (71-32)	GILBERT (73-30)	REEVE (75-28)
Winona High-Mankato	21-6	20-14	20-7

Gusties Bid for Undisputed Title

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Minnesota college football plays into its final big round of the season this weekend with Gustavus Adolphus' bid for an undisputed title the banner game.

The Gusties, already assured at least a share in their fifth straight championship in the Minnesota College Conference, face second place Duluth at St. Peter Saturday night.

There still remains a remote chance of a three-way split for first place in the MCC. That would result if Duluth surprises Gustavus and Concordia, tied for second place, gets its expected victory over Macalester Saturday afternoon.

Rivaling the Gustavus-Duluth battle is Carleton's attempt to wind up a perfect season at Ripon, where a victory would give the newly-enthroned Midwest Conference champions their eighth in a row.

St. John's plays Augustana Saturday and St. Thomas is at Loras Sunday. St. Olaf, 1953 Midwest Conference king, hosts Coe in its season closer.

State Teachers conference teams all play non-league rivals. Bemidji is at Northland, Mankato meets Northern Michigan, Moorhead plays Westmar, St. Cloud hosts

Michigan Tech. and Winona journey to Eau Claire.

Gustavus is a handsome favorite to beat Duluth but scarcely can afford its lapses of a week ago when Macalester carried the champs into the final quarter before losing 7-0.

Duluth has lost only once, a 6-0 decision to Concordia last week when it showed impressive staying power against its first major opponent of the season.

Only remaining games involving state college teams after the weekend are Gustavus' trip to Abilene, Texas to meet McMurray and Mankato's duel with MacCrosie. Both are Nov. 13.

Abuse of Franking Privilege Claimed

BALTIMORE (AP)—Joseph B. Mooney, 41-year-old Treasury Department employee in Baltimore, has been indicted on a charge of illegal use of government mail franking privileges.

The 28-count indictment returned yesterday by a federal grand jury accused Mooney of using a total of 137 postage-free envelopes to mail in Baltimore Orioles baseball contest forms to two Baltimore breweries which sponsored the contests.

WATCH BALL ACTION

To get your angle—it's a worthwhile lesson to see a big-time team operate. The bigger the team, the more its members concentrate on every ball delivered. They all watch the action; whether the ball "takes" hook turn quickly, indicating a slow alley surface, or whether the ball has a delayed break, far down the alley, the sign of surface slickness. Top bowlers can tell after one or two deliveries what to do to "hit" an alley. They know exactly where to set themselves; whether to roll the ball or loft it a little to hold the desired 1-3 strike pocket (see sketch). And they move their stance (starting position) as little as possible. Instead, they try to deliver the ball on the same spot, either increasing their speed or applying a wider hook break allowance to hit the pocket. You can obtain the free leaflet, Know Your Angles, by writing this newspaper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope for mailing. From the leaflet I'm sure you will get much help. Just this tip again: Watch ball action at all times. Being attentive will pay dividends. It always has.

In the advance guard are Tony Trabert of Cincinnati, 1953 U.S. champion; Hamilton Richardson Jr., of Baton Rouge, La., making his third trip Down Under; and two teen-age hopefuls, Mike Green, 17, of Miami, and Jerry Moss, 18, of Modesto, Calif.

Vic Seixas, the present national titleholder, will delay his departure until Nov. 18, arriving in time for the Victorian Championships at Melbourne.

Willie Shoemaker appears headed for another riding title. He entered October with 279 winners, 33 more than Willie Hartack.

Winter Sports Start Next Week At Winona High

Winter sports candidates at Winona High will start practice next week in accordance with State High School League rules. It was announced today by Athletic Director Vic Gislason.

Don Snyder, basketball coach, will hold a clinic Monday in the Senior High auditorium for both junior high and senior high candidates. Junior high coaches will attend. Offensive and defensive patterns will be demonstrated.

Gordie Paschka, wrestling coach, will issue a call for candidates and returning lettermen in that sport Tuesday. Sanford Tyler, hockey mentor, will meet next week with hockey aspirants and plan the start of practice when weather permits.

Lloyd Luke, new swimming coach, plans to hold his first meeting with Winhawk swimmers Monday. Luke, a teacher at Washington-Kosciusko, formerly taught and coached at Villar, Minn. He was graduated from Cloquet High School and Gustavus Adolphus, competing on swimming teams in both high school and college.

Badger Cagers Not Too Big Or Too Strong

By JACK BURKE

MADISON (AP)—Not tall enough, too inexperienced and not strong enough physically to bump off the big ones.

That's Coach Bud Foster said today, in a quick appraisal of the 1954-55 Wisconsin basketball team.

"There are some encouraging things about the material on hand," he said, "but the Badgers represent one of the thinnest squads here since I took charge in 1935. I have six lettermen but five of them were reserves last year."

"There appears no depth of consequence, as of now, but I'm hopeful this will come along. The candidates seem to shoot well enough, are fast enough and show good drive. The boys would work into a winning unit, but the long-range outlook isn't a rosy one."

Dick Cable, three-year veteran from Stevens Point, is a certainty at one of the forwards, and is the player Foster calls his key performer. The other front-line spot probably will go to either Jim Clinton, Milwaukee, a veteran, or Dick Zeiger, Milwaukee, a 6-5 sophomore.

Dan Folz, a reserve center a year ago when Wisconsin won 22 and lost 10 games for a fifth place Big 10 finish, probably will take over the varsity assignment this season. He is being pressed by John Parker, Madison junior, who is not as tall or as proficient on rebounds but is faster, a better shot and a good feeder.

Foster said the guard positions are his biggest worries. Dick Miller, Bowling, W. Va., won a letter in 1953-54, and may be paired with either Dick Jorgensen, of Neenah, or Bob Badura, a husky from Kohler.

Talbert Thinks U. S. Has Chance

NEW YORK (AP)—Bill Talbert, bed-ridden captain of the U.S. Davis Cup team, said today America should recapture the tennis trophy from the Australians this year "if we can hit the right frame of mind at the right time."

"That is the big thing," he said. "We have proved we can beat the Australians in big tournaments. We have to gauge ourselves so as to be at our best in the Davis Cup matches."

Leahy Named to WIAA Sports Unit

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Two proposed changes in rules governing practice for high school football and basketball players were rejected Thursday by the Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic Assn. convention.

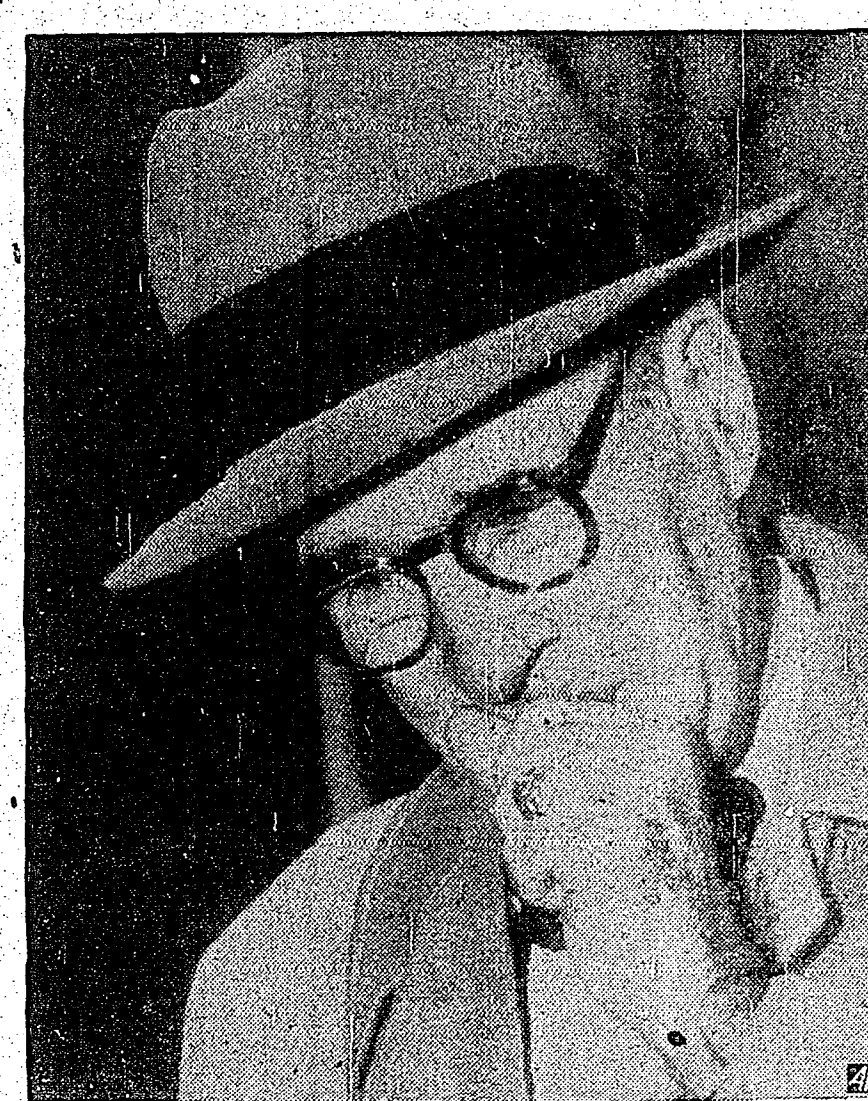

The rules, approved in a mail referendum of high school athletic officials, would have required each grid player to take part in at least 14 days of practice prior to the opening game and each basketball player to participate in 10 separate drills prior to the first game.

Present rules only govern team practice and not individuals. The rule changes will be voted upon again in a mail referendum and passage the second time would put them into effect despite the convention rejection.

Cliff Fagin, executive secretary of the WIAA, reported that a proposal to hold state high school basketball tournament games—from the district to the sectional level—"neutral" floors had been defeated, 202-44, in a mail vote.

It was announced that C. E. Wetmore of Sun Prairie, WIAA president, and Earl Knutson of Westby were re-elected to the board of control by mail and the following men were named to the Advisory Council:

C. A. Mundt of Taylor; R. E. Leahy of Cochrane; Paul Alfonsi, Minocqua; Paul Looftboro, New London; F. J. Moser, Cumberland; Eric Becker, Beaver Dam, and E. H. Boettcher of Wausau.

TEARS MARK SALE... (AP Wirephoto)

Sale of A's to Kansas City Seems Sure This Time

By TOM BRADSHAW

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Bustling big league baseball and aging, ailing Connie Mack were all but separated today after an up-and-down "marriage" that lasted more than half a century.

Mack was abed in his suburban apartment with a million memories and a check for $604,000 received yesterday from Chicago businessman Arnold Johnson for Mack's share of the stock in the A's franchise.

There remained to formalize the sale of the A's some paper work involving Mack's sons Roy and Earle, and the granting of approval by the league owners.

A league meeting was scheduled by President Will Harridge Monday morning at New York's Commodore Hotel. At that session the owners of the seven other clubs in the loop will be asked by the Mack family to okay the sale to Johnson, 47-year-old former naval lieutenant commander and present coin-machine tycoon.

Johnson plans to pay Roy and Earle Mack each $450,000 for their stock and shift the Athletics to Kansas City, where plans were being pushed to remodel the ball park now occupied by the American Assn. Blues.

Harridge said in Chicago yesterday that Johnson's ownership of New York's Yankee Stadium "will be thoroughly explained" at Monday's meeting.

There have been reports of opposition to Johnson because of this tie-in.

Prior to the Oct. 12 meeting in Chicago at which the American League had approved the transfer of the A's to Kansas City, Johnson had given assurance he would take any steps the league wished in regard to Yankee Stadium.

Only one league owner, W. O. (Spike) Briggs of Detroit, has expressed opposition to the Johnson deal and he would have to be joined by two others to block the transaction.

Tommy Richardson, president of the Eastern League, who had made an unsuccessful bid for the A's last month, said last night he still is interested in a deal. He said he and a group of associates would be willing to pick up the Athletics losses through 1955 up to a maximum of $250,000 and then buy out the Macks. The club would be moved out of Philadelphia if it then appeared a hopelessly losing proposition here.

There was no immediate indication as to whether an "outrushed" Philadelphia syndicate was still in the picture.

The Johnson deal involves a total of about 3 1/2 million dollars. In addition to the payments to Connie and his two sons, Johnson and his associates would take over the $1,200,000 mortgage on the A's property plus the $800,000 in outstanding club debts.

Johnson said yesterday he would have a million-dollar fund set aside to rebuild the A's from a player standpoint — aiming at a first division spot within a couple of years.

Both Roy and Earle, as well as their sons, may be retained in the club's front office organization. And Connie Sr. would be given the honorary title of chairman of the Board of Directors.

Whacky Football Season Into Deciding Month

By RIP WATSON

The Associated Press
College football turns the corner tomorrow into November, the traditional month for determining the bowl game teams, and in this whacky season the teams who can't go to the bowls will be stealing the headlines from those who can.

UCLA, for example, finds itself in a painful position. The nation's top-ranked team can add to its prestige by whacking Oregon, but if it does, it will go a long way toward boosting Southern California, UCLA's bitter cross-town rival into the Rose Bowl. UCLA is ineligible this year, but the No. 10 team, Southern Cal., will be almost certain of the spot if the Trojans belt Stanford tomorrow.

Similarly, Oklahoma, the No. 3 team, is barred from another trip to Miami for the Orange Bowl this year, but the Sooners are the de facto terminating factor in the Big Seven Conference. Oklahoma meets Iowa State, which doesn't figure to bother the Sooners, tomorrow, but Nebraska and Missouri, leading contenders at the moment, follow on the Oklahoma schedule.

And the University of Miami, barred from bowl activity by an NCAA ruling, can add to its No. 4 ranking by whacking off-beaten Auburn tomorrow and following that up with victories over Alabama and Florida. Both of the latter are in the running for the Southeastern Conference title, with designs on the Sugar or Cotton bowls.

Arkansas, the surprise team of 1954, will be going after its seventh consecutive victory against Rice, and another win by the fourth-ranked Pikers would just about wrap up the Southwest Conference and an automatic berth in the Cotton Bowl. They'll be in the bowl for sure if Texas A&M should end its victory famine with an upset of Southern Methodist.

It's almost unheard of, however, for the Southwest Conference race to be decided so early and nobody would be surprised if Rice upended Arkansas, thereby throwing the race into the usual mad scramble.

Purdue, No. 8, is the only other team in the top 10 with a game that has bowl significance. The Boilermakers have only an outside chance of overheating high-flying Ohio State in the Big Ten race. They won't have any chance at all if passer Len Dawson and runner Bill Murrells don't subdue Iowa, which is currently ranked 12th and anxious to get back in the select group.

Ohio State, ranked just behind UCLA in the poll, can't afford to let down against Pittsburgh, which already has bounced two teams (Navy and West Virginia) right out of the top 10.

Chiefs Manager Tells of Plans For '55 Season

An optimistic appraisal of the future of organized baseball in Winona was made Thursday by Emil Scheid, recently signed as manager of the Winona Chiefs for the 1955 season.

The former Austin manager, speaking at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis Club at the Hotel Winona, "I'm not coming here to make a lot of money or win a lot of glory; I'm coming here to win baseball games."

And the new manager added that he believed that Winona would be a winner during the next season. Explaining that it was his opinion that lack of pitching strength had handicapped Winona in its previous league schedules, Scheid said that he had "three pitchers lined up" and that there were at least four more who wished to play for Winona.

He declined to name any of the players he is counting on for next season but in answer to a question by a club member as to whether there would be any local players on the team Scheid replied that three or four of the players he is considering live in Winona at the present time and that the others probably would move to Winona.

Asked if it was true that about four players from Austin are figuring in his plans, Scheid smiled and said, "I'm not in a position to say now."

Scheid told his audience that he believed "Winona has the right setup for baseball" and, pointing out that the Milwaukee Braves have emerged as the greatest drawing power in major league baseball, the new manager said that he believed that "Winona is in a position to gain the same kind of rating in its own class."

The new manager was asked whether a grass infield at Gabrych park would be desirable and he replied, "It would improve the park but you haven't a bad park here. I remember the time years ago when Winona had the best park in the league. I just hope that I stay around long enough to get you a good park and get it paid for."

MOON MULLINS

Warriors, Redmen End Grid Seasons

Final games of the season for three Winona football teams are scheduled tonight and Saturday.

The Winona High Hawks conclude a nine-game season tonight at Jefferson Field against Mankato, and with good weather promised, a large crowd of fans is expected to attend.

Cotter closed its season a week ago, but the two Winona college teams—Winona State and St. Mary's—wait until Saturday to bring down the curtain on 1934 grid activities.

The Winona State Warriors, heading for one of their finest seasons in recent years, journey to Eau Claire for a game against Eau Claire Teachers Saturday afternoon.

The game was originally scheduled to be Winona State's first of the season but Eau Claire officials postponed it until Saturday. The Warriors go into the game with a fine record that includes victories over Stout, Mankato, Moorhead, Northland and St. Mary's.

The only marks against

Coach Gene Brodhaugen's Warriors this season were a tie with Bemidji and a 6-0 loss to the title-winning St. Cloud Huskies.

The game will be homecoming for Eau Claire fans and is the fifth road game in which the Warriors have been the visiting team in a homecoming game. Eau Claire, with a good first team but a little shy on reserves, rates at least an even bet against Winona.

A big factor in Winona State's favor has been the late-season surge of its second team to the point where it can spell off the first eleven and play creditable football.

St. Mary's, winless in seven previous starts this season, rates the underdog role in its final game against Lewis College at Lockport, Ill.

Although a little known about Lewis, enough is known to stamp that team as a heavy favorite. St. Ambrose, which defeated strong La Crosse Teachers, suffered an overwhelming 40-0 loss to Lewis.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

San Francisco Proud Of Sports Heritage

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—The citizens of San Francisco are extremely proud of their sports heritage, especially of the dominant role their city played in the early days of prize fighting in this country. It was to be expected that they would vote overwhelmingly for a five-million-dollar bond issue to build themselves a big league ball park.

Everything points to the probability that the coast city will within a period of not too many years strongly rival New York City and Chicago for recognition as the nation's sports capital. Indeed, it is a virtual cinch to do so once it has a 50,000 capacity stadium and can bid for the heavyweight championships.

The next two title bouts are scheduled there. Paddy DeMarco defends his lightweight crown against Jimmy Carter there Nov. 17, and Bobo Olson gives Joey Giardello a shot at his middleweight bauble Dec. 15.

The national audience which saw Olson annihilate Garth Panther in a tuneup fight two nights ago can realize without being told that the latter bout figures to be a terrific attraction—one which only a short time ago would have been held nowhere except in the populous East. While the DeMarco-Carter return is not quite the same promoter's dream, it is sufficient to bolster San Francisco's ego.

Nothing of the kind is going on around here, at least. The closest this city has come to seeing a championship lately was Rocky Marciano passing through hurriedly on his way to a banquet engagement. Since the Saxon-Gavilan welterweight showpiece in Philadelphia recently, about the only ones even discussing the fight game are district attorneys.

Getting back to San Francisco, there may be those who do not know that Jim Corbett, the first great heavyweight champion of the modern school, was born there and did his early fighting there in the 1880's. Or that Bob Fitzsimmons fought and won his first bout in this country there in 1890.

542 for Schultz, Hamernik Hits 235

Jackie Hamernik of the National Bar provided headlines for today's bowling roundup. Thursday night in the Powder Puff League at Hal-Rod Lanes, he trundled a 538 series that included a 235 single game.

Despite Jackie Hamernik's high single game, her series wasn't the highest in women's league action.

Irene Schultz of Walley's Fine Food bowled a 542 set in the Keglerette Ladies League. Ceil Moore of Walley's had a 203 single and Leona Lubinski of Shorty's Liquors added a 510 honor count.

Bill Bailey of Grain Belt Beer had a 215 single and Mike Lester of Superior Heaters hit a 590 series in the Eagles League at Hal-Rod, while in the Class A League at the Red Men's Club, Bernie Kalmes Tires bowled a 233 single game and Bruce Rand of the Firemen fired a 572 series.

Rand was errorless in his three games as was Harold Cada with a 540 set.

Top scores in the Ladies League at the Red Men's Club included Ethel Knapiak's 497 series for Swede's Bar and a 184 single by teammate Adeline Hajicek.

Hugh Duffy and Lloyd Nelson of Winona Tool both fired 536 series to lead the way in the St. Matthews League at St. Martin's and Duffy had the top single, a 203.

Price Supports Issue Standoff, Sen. Young Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—One of the top pleaders for high, rigid farm price supports today interpreted Tuesday's election results as "pretty much of a standoff" on the support question.

But Sen. Milton Young, North Dakota Republican, added there will be another fight in the new Congress convening in January to restore 90 per cent price supports for the basic crops.

Young was in the thick of this year's unsuccessful battle against the flexible system of supports sponsored by Secretary of Agriculture Benson. He suggested several times that Benson ought to resign.

Referring to the election results, Young said today:

"Although the senatorial elections in Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas and Colorado would have to be interpreted as a victory for Secretary Benson and his program."

"However, in the election for House seats in the same four states, every Republican member who voted for 90 per cent supports was re-elected."

Young said he believed the farm issue was an important factor in the outcome in Minnesota, where Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) easily won re-election. A Democratic governor was elected and the Republicans lost a House seat.

"In Minnesota, Sen. Humphrey carried on a relentless fight against Secretary Benson, his policies and his program," Young said. "Sen. Humphrey not only won re-election by a huge majority, but he carried most of the state ticket with him."

"In the northeastern section of the country the farm sentiment appears to be for the flexible system of supports."

"But in the entire South, with few exceptions, as well as in the Southwest, the Pacific Northwest and in some Midwest areas, the sentiment appears to be strongly in favor of 90 per cent supports."

Young said that if both houses of the new Congress are controlled by Democrats "I suspect that sometime before the 1935 presidential election there will be an all out effort to get a 90 per cent support bill through, for approval or disapproval by the President."

He added that he felt such legislation would have no better than a 50-50 chance, however.

Young said the election results showed the Republicans took some sizable losses in urban areas and that, as a result, the Republicans will be more dependent upon the farm and small city vote than before.

He said there is bound to be an adverse reaction on the part of the farmer when the provisions of the flexible support program go into effect next year.

2 Children Die, As Home Burns

RICHMOND, Ky. (AP)—Two small children died as flames swept their home yesterday while their parents were away.

Killed were 4-months-old Sarietta Kemp and her sister Martha, 19 months.

Two other children of Mr. and Mrs. Troy Kemp — Ronald, 6, and Jacquelyn, 3 — escaped. Coroner Jack Turpin said Ronald told him burning paper fell from a stove and ignited other papers.

Kemp said he had gone to a grocery, where he was told his house was burning. He said he returned but neither he nor neighbors could save the children. Mrs. Kemp was at work.

The discovery came only a short time after she had been reported missing.

Norwood police said they learned Geraldine had been out with a high school girl friend Thursday night, and that she last was seen about 10 p.m. at a street corner near here.

Suicide Clears Up Series of State Robberies

REMER, Minn. — Officers said today robberies that netted an estimated $50,000 had been cleared up with the suicide of a man who mistakenly thought he had slain his wife after she informed on him.

Robert Pond, 43, an ex-convict on parole, put a bullet through his head on a Cass County road near here as a highway patrol car approached him late Thursday.

Earlier, Sheriff Buck Simpson said Pond had fired a bullet into his wife's neck, dragged her into the woods and left her for dead near the couple's remote Thunder Lake cabin, 10 miles south of Remer.

After her husband left, Mrs. Pond shoved aside the pile of leaves her mate had covered her with and walked a half mile to the nearest neighbors for help. She was taken to a Grand Rapids hospital and is expected to recover. Simpson said earlier Thursday Mrs. Pond had told him and Minnesota Crime Bureau she and her husband had staged a series of robberies in the state and had been planning to hold up the Sears and Roebuck store at Fairbault.

Max Wilkes, a highway patrolman, was driving to arrest Pond when he saw the suspect's car coming toward him. He said Pond stopped the car, got out and killed himself before the officer could intervene.

The sheriff said Pond, a former Hibbing iron miner, and his wife were responsible for robberies at Duluth, Chisholm, Grand Rapids, Milaca, Isle and Albert Lea. He added that the search of the Pond cabin yielded nitroglycerine, wires to set it off, saw-cracking tools, rubber face masks and gloves.

Simpson identified Pond as a parolee from a life term in an Illinois prison. He said the cabin turned up none of the $50,000 loot Mrs. Pond said the raids had produced. She was to be questioned further when she recovers, he added. Mrs. Pond had been treated at Grand Rapids earlier this week for excessive drinking, the sheriff said.

State Publishing Firms Associated In Owning WCCO

MINNEAPOLIS — Minnesota's two biggest publishing firms Thursday became associated in ownership of WCCO and WCCO-TV. The Minneapolis Star and Tribune Co. purchased the Columbia Broadcasting System's 47 per cent minority interest in the stations remains held by Mid-Continent Radio & Television, Inc., which is half owned by Northwest Publications, Inc., publisher of the St. Paul Dispatch and Pioneer Press. The other half of Mid-Continent is owned by the Minnesota Tribune Co., a holding company of which William J. McNally is president.

Mid-Continent retains majority control.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D.S.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. No. After locating 75,000 run-away husbands, my friend Daniel Eisenberg of the Bureau of Missing Persons says in a leading magazine that "the other woman" causes only one husband in ten to run away. He says the chief causes are plain nagging or money troubles—children wanting things Dad can't afford. Nearly all vanishing husbands are past 40.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. It's the noblest passion for the common soldier. However, in wars of aggression the selfish leaders have bamboozled the soldiers and people into thinking they are defending their homes and country or marching in a grand parade to find the Holy Grail or its counterpart. In defensive wars the leaders are animated by love of country.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. Yes. Psychologist Edward K. Strong had numerous boys up to 15 years and men 25 to 55 check themselves on 39 traits: Approachability, calmness in emergencies, ease in winning friends, etc. A greater number of the men 25 and still more of those 35 believed they possessed them. Some traits such as winning loyalty were checked nearly twice as often by oldsters as by youngsters.

Producer Planning To Film Gandhi's Life

HOLLYWOOD — Producer-director Otto Preminger plans a movie of the life of Mohandas Gandhi.

Preminger said yesterday he will leave for New Delhi Nov. 13 to submit plans to Prime Minister Nehru in the hope of getting full cooperation of the Indian government.
