In a few days, the WSC student body will receive a most important and considerable amount of their money. Most of the money will go for the payment of tuition and room and board.

It is the extra $10 set aside for the activity fund that usually causes the most comment among the students. This is because not very many students really know what this money is used for.

The table at the end of this article shows the total amount of money set aside for the various organizations plus the amount of money each student pays for these activities. These figures are based on an average enrollment of 1170 students per quarter. Each student pays $2 to the health service from the $10; the remaining $8 is put into the activity fund, for a total of $28,072.

Some of the activities during the year will return money to the fund. These activities and the estimated amount of the money returned are: Advertising, $5,600; Winonaian, $350; Spring Musical, $250; Student Commission, $200; Wenonah Players, $150, for a total of $6,575. The student part of the $28,072 gives a total of $34,648. This amount plus the remaining $8 is put into the reserve fund of $100.

Athletics receive a budget allocation of $17,070 or $14.68 per student. During the year 45 events will be staged for the enjoyment of the WSC students. This comes down to an estimated cost of $28,072 per student for each athletic event.

The Winonian, the WSC student newspaper, receives $4,600 to publish 14 issues at a cost of $326 per issue and 17 cents per student per issue.

The Social Committee receives $1,000 to run the social program at WSC. The committee presents eight dances for a total of $1,100, and funds for the Christmas decorations for $60 and 10 films for $50. Parent's Day for Wenonah Players, $250; Student Commission, $250; Orientation Committee, $225; Assembly Committee, $50; WRA, $400; Radio Guild, $100; Wenonan, $3,400; Winonah Players, $2,000; Orientation Committee, $320; Homecoming Committee, $550; Religious Commission, $55; Warriorettes, $50; Cheerleaders, $70; and $2,300 to run the social program as estimated.

This gives a total of $2,550. Each student pays $2 to the health service from the $10; the remaining $8 is put into the activity fund, for a total of $28,072.

Other social activities during the year will cost about $900. Five concerts will be presented at a cost of $200 per concert. Twenty-two Winona State College students were nominated by the freshmen, sophomores, and juniors of the student body to become chairman of the committee.

In making their selections, the committee considered the student's scholarship, participation and a record of leadership in extra-curricular activities, citizenship and service to the school and promise of future usefulness.

The organization publishes a handbook of each nominee. It also provides a placement or reference service to assist members seeking employment, scholarships, or fellowships.

Old college experiences new growing pains at registration period

The administration of WSC, we think, will have to admit that by using the present methods, it is not possible to pre-register the entire student body in one morning.

Quite a few students came away from the registrar's office Monday completely disgusted with the whole situation.

The office staff did their usual excellent job of handling the students in the office. Our point is that the situation outside the office was chaotic. There were too many people jostling around, either in line or trying to get in line to gain admittance to the inner sanctum.

With the expected increase in enrollment, the situation at pre-registration, also at registration and fee-palayment, will have to be improved.

We don't claim to know all the answers, but we do have a suggestion or two, and for what it is worth.

First, have the registration period extend over a whole week. Under one plan, the first two days are reserved for students in the upper division only. On the remaining three days anyone could pre-register.

Another plan is to have the first day set aside for seniors only, the second for juniors and juniors, the third for seniors, juniors, and sophomores, and the remaining two days for everyone.

Anyone could make an appointment with his advisor for any time during the week that is convenient for the advisor.

We feel that either of these two systems would help break down the long lines that have become a daily occurrence outside the registrar's office. Also, it would allow the seniors and juniors to get in the required courses they want to take before they are closed. The first idea would also be an incentive for the upper classmen to apply for upper division. Our ideas may not be the answer to the situation at WSC, but we feel that they are worth a try.

Understanding that the administration is studying the registration procedures of other colleges. We have also been informed that the registration was experimental and just that.

The "mix-up" must be appropriately attributed to "growing-pains."

Fall play provides 'escape'

While the Wenonah Players' presentation of Jean Anouilh's "Thyestes" was not their most successful production, it provided a few hours escape for the audience.

Sparkling performances by Donald McNeice, as the often-hum- bling, yet strangely intense, Lord Allister, as the intensely bored memorable roles were played by John Davis and Richard Heath. The situation which occurred when Lady Hurf decided to play along with the thieves gave the audience moments of enjoyable moments.

Genevieve Gobineau and Kathy Berg's performances as the two sisters of Lady Hurf, Iris and Juliette, were more than adequate.

The DuPont-Duforts, played by Richard Zimm and John Perry, portrayed outstanding roles in the play.

Supporting roles and their players were: Town Crier, John Saeck; Nursemaid, Genene Gordish and Kathy Berg; Old Thieves, John Saekker, John Zimmer, Calvin Ellestad, Steve Radelke and Ted Bohrka.

FALL PRODUCTION . . . "Thyestes"! A laugh-provoking scene from the first act of Wenonah Players production in the Arena Theatre, directed by Miss Dorothy B. Magnus. Here the three thieves disguised as Spaniards meet Lady Hurf for the first time.

Dr. Juul explains Oslo sports challenge offered Winona State

By ANITA PETERSON

Monday, Nov. 12.

Dr. P. M. Juul, exchange professor from Oslo, Norway, explained to the Student Commission a challenge received by Winona State College from Oslo Larerskole for competition in earning headquarters in track and field events, such as the shot put, 60-yard dash, and hurdles. This competition was on a participation basis, not on a team basis, and would be set so that everyone who participated could earn a badge in at least one event. Oslo Larerskole would provide with the European concepts formed when people were brought to the Norweigian schools. He and his family returned during the period 1959-60 on a Fulbright research grant.

MEANS OF ORGANIZING such an event were discussed, and it was suggested that it be looked into through the channels. While Dr. Juul emphasized that this should be an all-school project, it was thought that it could perhaps provide some inter-club competition.

The Commission took no definite action, but suggested that the students get together and form teams of students.

GULLICK'S SPEECH...

The Winona State football team ended the 1961 season on a winning note by blasting River Falls State St. on Nov. 5.

WINONA STATE'S first TD came when quarterback Tom Kepners took a sneak to pick up the first down on the Falcon 41-yard line. Before River Falls realied what was happening, Kepners had moved across the Falcon goal line for the touchdown.

In the second period Ding Kongong intercepted a wayward Falmom pass and returned it to the Falcons' 41-yard line. Those plays later the Warrior's were forced to kick and Gary Pahl kicked the three-yard line.
