Another Student To Arrive From Quetzaltenango

The number of students at the college will be augmented with the arrival of Jaime Gutierrez from Guatemala. Humberto Rodriguez, a friend of the new student, said that Jaime left Quetzaltenango February 15 and will fly to Winona.

Mr. Gutierrez is from the same town as Humberto and they have known each other most of their lives. He is interested in becoming an industrial engineer and will take preparatory courses for that vocation.

Two weeks ago Alma and Olga Fuentes arrived here to attend school. They also are from Quetzaltenango and were acquainted with Humberto.

Alma Fuentes, the younger graduate, was an industrial engineer and will fly to Winona. Her mother, Olga, was graduated as valedictorian from the same high school. They also are from Quetzaltenango and were acquainted with Humberto.

Editorially Speaking -- On Skipping Class

"I wonder if I should go to class this morning? I know I won't have any trouble, but I haven't a thing prepared. If it weren't for Miss Miller's inquisition... It's pretty hard these days to conjure up a good excuse. On the other hand, I might be called on today, and that would be equally mortifying. Bluffing doesn't work all the time."

Here we have an excellent combination of rationalization and loc onset minoris resistentiae, i.e., the path of least resistance. Is the classroom really a stultifying, repressing place in which attendance, like that of chapel, exists only by virtue of the fact that it is compulsory? That is a strange attitude and signifies that we have no real intention of getting an education. What is college? College is a composite of classrooms.

Dr. A. J. Cronin's Keys of the Kingdom, has been designated the leader of the ten outstanding novels of 1941, and Berlin Diary by William L. Shirer is first in non-fiction, in the second annual nation-wide poll of literary critics.

The runners-up in the poll were: H. L. Mencken: The Levin by J. P. Marquand for fiction and Reckless in Washington by Margaret Leech for non-fiction.

The ten leading novels chosen by the critics, were: Keys of the Kingdom, It's Dark, the Perfect Dark, Noon on This Above All, Wind in the Willows, The World of the Whirlwind, The Silent Don, and The Bill Beyond.

The ten leading non-fiction books, listed according to points, were: Berlin Diary, Revolutions in Washington, Blood, Sweat and Tears, Out of the Night, Black Lamb and Grey Falcon, Inside Latin America, Socialism Today, A Survey of the American Revolution, Packers, Newspaper Days, Mission to Moscow.

ATTITUDE OF OUR ARTISTS

"How do you go about finding soap?" or "How do you go about finding happiness?"

The problem is simply this: How do you go about finding the soap once you lose it in the depths of your pocketbook? (You unctified souls who use floating soap may stop here. You have missed millions of thrills by using the advertisers' definition of soap in my estimation. Woe be to you floating soapers!)

But to get back to the problem. Do you ever really search with your hands, groping along the bottom and sides till your kinesthetic sense tells you the slippery bar lies nearby? Or do you use your "all out" effort; both arms and legs, splashing and churning the water till the soap rises to the top, only to fall back into the depths as you clutch for it?

or are you one of those rare creatures who puts the soap into the dish after each lathering? If so, I humbly bow to you. You have achieved the highest honor in the S.S.S. (Soap Searcher's Society).

But the rest of us have many long baths to take, many bars of soap to search for, much soap water splashed into our eyes, before we achieve the coveted card saying we no longer need to search for the soap. But until then, keep searching. Success will come. It's bound to!

THE WEATHER

Weather or Not?

Dear Editor:

I'm writing in answer to Charles Balcer's letter in last night's "Daisy Season." Mr. Balcer also suggests that we are trying to improve the classroom and that we have not complained. As I have told T. C. all my life, it is hard to have a complaint that I would have to make. There comes an occasion rather than an education. There just aren't enough men here to make this a very good hunting ground.

Last I object to the request that we assume masculine responsibilities along with our rights. That would certainly change our actions little, because if there's one thing the boys are neglecting about it it is opening doors, and no one has carried my books since I graduated from high school.

I have not been wearing my slacks lately because of Mr. Balcer's objections, but because the temperature has not been below zero. Most of the girls who were wearing them are doing the same thing, but the next time the thermometer drops, we'll wear them.

IT'S UP TO THE DAISYS

Dear Editor:

Daisy Mae Week -- yes or no?

That was the issue before the last meeting of the Die-No-Mo Club. I was greatly surprised when a vote was taken. A majority of the faculty and students were for non-fiction. Mr. Balcer also suggests that we are trying to improve the classroom and that we have not complained. As I have told T. C. all my life, it is hard to have a complaint that I would have to make. There comes an occasion rather than an education. There just aren't enough men here to make this a very good hunting ground.

N. E. A. Reports Educational Standards Undermined By Teacher Shortage

Increased enrollment in teachers' colleges and normal schools is aggravating a serious shortage of qualified teachers, it is announced by the National Commission for the Defense of Democracy through Education. The Commission, which is created by the National Education Association at its Boston Convention last July, points out that this teacher shortage is undermining educational standards. Qualified teachers are forced to leave the classroom for defense industries to obtain income in keeping with the rising costs of living, Alan P. Myers, Commission chairman, states. Since the war the number of living teachers have gone up 11 percent, with food prices up 10 percent. During these two years, 12 million factory workers have received an increase of 30 percent in average weekly earnings. Earnings from farm products has gone up 46 percent. Teachers' salaries, for the most part, have remained static.

Defence Routs Mister Cupid

"It was all out for defense," Saturday evening, February 14, at 8:00. The party sponsored by the Die-No-Mo Club was stationed at Soman Hall. Because of government priorities, no Valen decorations were available. The baskets were the proud bearers of the "V" for victory sign, and large banners bearing take-offs on various war slogans also helped emphasize the spirit of the evening. A mess stand was erected in one corner where punch was issued to all selectees. The selectees elected an air raid warden and an air raid siren to precede over the maneuvers of the evening and to lead the grand march.

The committee for the party consisted of protagonists led by Clements, chairman, Marthe Haloran, Charolllie Lehman, Margaret Edlin, Joe Lawson, Gordon Hansen; program chairman, Mary Margaret Martin; refreshments, Florence Deters; clean-up, Robert Anderson, Stella Harris, and Doris Johnson. The swing for the "stomp" was supplied by Bobby Roberts' Orchestra.

Winsome is cooperating in a survey being made throughout Minnesota in the university, the liberal arts colleges, and the state teachers colleges to determine the relative rating of English major in the various types of institutions. The first of the three examinations will be given from four to six on February 25. The others will occur during the spring quarter.

To these institutions of higher learning are responses to this call by initiating new activities, for boys and girls alike, designed to test and strengthen their capacities. Dr. G. E. Galligan, University president, for the student body that each individual is responsible for his personal health and should see to it that he enters into the programs. Come out for the intra-murals. The boys who have joined the various branches of the service are doing their part, they are actively engaged in preparation, and physical fitness is only one phase of this training. It is for us at home to do our part to build our buildings so that whatever may come we will be better able to meet it. Redskins Triumphant For Intramural Title

Chuck Balcer and his Redskins rolled to a 22-20 victory with a thrilling second half comeback for the Intramural championship. The Bears took an early advantage when Jim Cory, scoring three baskets seemed to have the game well in hand and built the lead to 13-3 at half time with a lead of 11-8. The second half was a different story, however, when superior size and coolness of character began to exact its toll. Big Tiger Novotney supplied the spark to this attack as he connected with 12 points in the final half. With Balcer, Bill Fox, Novotney, and Brands, the Redskins were supreme on the backboards. Bruce Montgomery, captain of the Giants, exhibited his ability as an able leader but the general play of Fox and Balcer constituted the margin of victory for the Redskins. The scrappy ball hawking of Homola for the Redskins and Campbell for the Giants stood out as a feature of the game. My congratulations to the Redskins for their victory and to the rest of the field for the fine spirit in which the games were conducted.

Captains Honor Intramural Stars

The All-Star Intramural Team, chosen by the team captains, is composed of Charles Balcer, Sylvester Fritz, Bruce Montgomery, Gordon Schelbes, and Roger Pederson. Alternates chosen are Bob Novotney, Jim Cory, Elron Benson, Bob Evans, and Joe Clawson. Balcer, who counted 54 points during the season, captained the Redskins. Barnese appointed him by virtue of a 22-20 triumph over Montgomery’s Giants. “Chuck” has been an outstanding ball player all through his intramural career.

Montgomery, captain of the runners-up Giants, displayed great bursts of speed to score 51 points. Sylvester Fritz of the Packers holds the single game scoring record with 59 points. His tall towering height was a great asset to his team.

A Tribute To Our Foe

By ROMAINE FOSS

Near the end of a basketball season the question that always arises is, have you had a successful season? A successful season is not judged by wins and losses alone, but by counting the number of things you have learned, and the number of worthy opponents you have come in contact with. This season has been literally studded with great sportsmen of the first water, and in selecting an All Opponent team I found very much controversy of thought. The players I submit here are derived from a tabulated vote of the Winona Warriors. The five boys who received first team honors are as follows: L.F. Louis Filippi — St. Cloud. Filippi is a fast, elusive forward with a tricky one-handed shot that is extremely hard to guard. I think you can call him the most all-around foe of the Warriors in that he received great praise from the boys as a half back last fall. R.F. Dale Knoll — Mankato. Knoll is probably the most consistent player we have encountered. This is his fourth year of sparkling offensive basketball. He is an aggressive defensive man, stealing and intercepting the ball many times. C. Clint Wagner — St. Marys. The 6’9” Territorial Heights is undoubtedly the best center we have seen. He is always a threat near the basket and plays a brilliant defensive game. His ability to rob his opponents of apparent baskets by his great leaps has repeatedly brought “ohs” from the crowd.

Peds Trip Beavers

The league-leading Bemidji team finally broke up the Winona club and a 45 to 35 defeat, their first in conference play, Friday the 13th. The scoring duel between Jerome and Duncan ended with “Dunc” one point in front with a total of 15. Duncan’s scoring run came in the fourth quarter on feeds. Johnson in eight games has 113 points to Dunc’s 101 in seven conference games.

The Warrior’s led 12-7 at first quarter, 24-19 at the half, and 30-20 at the third quarter. The win boosts the Packers into fifth place in the conference.

Winona Warriors Win First League Contest

The Ped’s won-loss record stands at 5-12. On the last road trip to Bemidji and Duluth the Warriors broke even, beating Duluth 30-26 and losing to Bemidji 34-31.

Phy. Ed. Girls PlanActivities

Miss Daisy Dean Urfi, Director of Nursing Education at the College of St. Teresa, spoke to the Women’s Physical Education Club on Monday evening, February 9. Miss Urfi told of her experiences as a Red Cross nurse in France during the first World War.

Plans are being made by the W.A.A. Board and Women’s Phy. Ed. Club for their annual all-Women’s party on March 19. Turnouts for the Friday afternoon recreational games period have been good. Volleyball has been added to the program.

The second round of the W.A.A. basketball tournament was completed Tuesday evening. The Bemidji and Moorhead afternoon games proved so exciting.

Other players receiving votes are: Forwards: Brown, Mankato; Markert, St. Cloud; St. Marys; and Seaton, St. Cloud. Centers: Lehman, Eau Claire; Dahlan, Bemidji; Epp, Mankato.; Guards: Brandele, Augustana; Peck, Bemidji; Malloy, St. Mary’s; Rush, Bemidji; and Conley, St. Cloud.

Three of the players, Love, Wagner, and Filippi, were unanimous choices. Coach Fisher and the Warriors wish to express congratulations to these and every foe for the fine spirit of sportsmanship displayed during this season. We only hope that we have displayed as admirable character on the floor as we have seen.

Winona Tigers Take Second in Western Conference

The Bemidji game proved a tough one for the league leading Warriors who found themselves on the short end of a 13-3 first quarter. After tying the score several times the Bemidji team finally ground out a 34-31 win. Duncanson and Johnson of Bemidji shared scoring honors for the game, each bucketing 11 points.

At Duluth the Warriors got their first taste of a blackout but found the dimly-lit basket often enough for a 30-29 triumph for their first win in 6 attempts.

In a rather poorly played game with Duluth here January 24 the Warriors dropped a 47-11 decision. Duncanson with 12, Kanel with 9, and Foss with 8 accounted for the Fossman’s points.

The Moorhead-Winona game was a high scoring affair which gave Moorhead a 69-56 win. Duncanson counted 20 points before going out on-personals midway in the fourth quarter. Romanie Fouz got hot in the last quarter and had the biggest scoring night of his career. scoring 22 points. Dinkle piled up 20 points for Moorhead.

Boxers To Hold Annual Tournay

This year’s boxing class will hold the annual tournament Thursday night, February 25 under the direction of their instructor Gordon Hansen. This meet will be held before the Southside public school’s organization.

During the meet a little diversion will be provided when three blindfolded boys will enter the ring and attempt to deflect punch- 1ntment on their “mole-like” adversaries.

On the night of February 19th the boys will put on a three fight exhibition show for the American legion at the legion hall.

The reason for this class is not to turn out top notch pupils, but simply to equip an ed. teachers with a basic knowledge of the techniques of the game and blocks. This training will enable them to handle a high school boxing squad efficiently.
