John Dewey Club
Now Organized

Creates Honorary Education Club

At a dinner meeting of the John Dewey Club, newly organized, educational fraternity at the Teachers College, Miss Edna Gullickson and President Guy E. Maxwell were installed as presiding officer and new club president, respectively; Miss Gullickson visited the college on Tuesday evening, May 27, was very pleasantly entertained in the public schools at Garrison, North Dakota. Mr. Gullickson is planning to return in late August for the purpose of inaugurating the new college and university, Dr. Tozier is appointed director of secondary training.

Dr. Roy S. Tozier, IOWA
Appointed Director of Secondary Training

By readjusting expenditures, the college Board has just created for Winona a new faculty position for next September. It is to be known as the director of secondary training. For this work the Board has secured and appointed Dr. Roy S. Tozier of the University of Iowa. The rapid increase in the number of students preparing for high school teaching has led to this decision.

It was in 1926 when the first degree class of four students was graduated. Since that time the numbers in the annual degree class have been as follows: seven, twelve, twenty-two, twenty-four, forty-eight, forty-eight, and fifty-six. The other portion of the current degree class, over half have pursued the education departments, while the other half have pursued the education in the College Hall, continuing the work in the University of Iowa. The annual Teachers College session will open on Monday evening at 7:30. "Growth of the Nation" was the topic of Dr. Minne, a third year student of the College of Education. Miss Anderson, supervisor of the school, retired at the session and Dr. Minne is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin. His teaching experience and mathematics was secured in the high schools at Eau Claire and Monroe. In addition he taught several subjects of the faculty of St. Olaf College. Dr. Minne, who is a member of the faculty of St. Olaf College, and has maintained an interest in public speaking, was a member of the college debate teams, and is a member of the St. Olaf Delta, honorary forensic society.

New Chemistry, Physics Instructor Appointed For Next College Year

Laboratory equipment in physics is to be installed in the College during the coming summer under the direction of Dr. Neil Minne, fully appointed instructor in chemistry and physics, succeeding Dr. Inez Mattison, assigned. For the reasons that courses in physics will be new to the college, due to former inability to require the study of the fire, the work will not be undertaken until the beginning of the winter quarter. This delay will afford ample opportunity for the preparation of additional courses in this field will be available for the year 1933-34. Dr. Minne is a graduate of St. Olaf College, class of 1924. Both his master's degree (1929) and his doctor's degree (1932) were secured at the University of Wisconsin. His teaching experience and mathematics was secured in the high schools at Eau Claire and Monroe. In addition he taught several subjects of the faculty of St. Olaf College. Dr. Minne, who is a member of the faculty of St. Olaf College, and has maintained an interest in public speaking, was a member of the college debate teams, and is a member of the St. Olaf Delta, honorary forensic society.
UNDERGRADING

Probably the greatest deterrent of direct concern to the teaching profession that has evolved from the depression is the degrading system of Undergrading. The better teachers are being forced out of the profession instead of being forced into a profession or vocation, of which they know nothing. This is the result of the depression. In that depression, the better education was not in vain and we can always remember the sense of the word. Let us all as graduates begin upon a true professional institution in the preparation of teachers.

The teaching profession has had great social difficulties to overcome, we cannot help but realize the drastic change that is about to occur if these intellectual practices of undergrading are continued. Let us all endeavor to remove that terrible danger to our profession and society from this foul practice. They are themselves proving themselves an uneducated lot when they underbid a teacher whom they know to be better suited for the position, and cannot keep better teachers out of the profession in order to reduce the salary to the lesser amount. It is better for the inexperienced teacher to continue to teach than to teach under the influence of society instead of being forced into a profession or vocational endeavor. November 1931

RESUME OF THE YEAR'S EVENTS

A new form of government, the Winona State Teachers College Cooperative Association was organized this year. Through this government plan the college believes that in teaching together on common subjects, problems, and students it may enhance the work of the college and may further the purpose for which it was organized as separate divisions of the college, the students, and the faculty under the principle of maintaining, mostly the proper standards of teachers.

The Cooperative Association is composed of all faculty members and all students enrolled at the college. The purpose of the college organized as separate divisions of the student body, the student division to be known as the Associated Students at the annual meeting of the Cooperative Association the president of the students shall be the president of the college.

Commencement

The close of this year marks one of the most successful years of the Winona State Teachers College. The largest class of senior students so far in the history of the college year have been some of the most remarkable. The student body has been raised to an extent that numberous new courses have appeared this year in the program of studies. All in all, Winona State Teachers College has experienced a prosperous term this year. This is the result of a professional institution in the preparation of teachers.

If you have the time, read on more, let us all resolve to really make this commencement in the true sense of the word. Let us all as graduates begin upon a true professional institution in the preparation of teachers.

THE TENNIS RACQUET

The enamored person can well afford to take up tennis seriously. It is a springtime game and offers the following love-interests: He has his "partner" by his side and a neat "racket" to depend on for life. He can "serve" and "return" the "points" of his "partner's" love. His life is a "stroke" and then "slicing" his tempters as they "roll" toward him. He can then "slash" his forces and "sail" out in search of another "love-game."

On Washington's two-hundredth birthday Winona State Teachers College lost one of its most beloved instructors. Principal, L. S. Sanford, who had been for the last 26 years, died at the Abbot hospital in Minneapolis following a major operation.

A series of interesting and varied programs were given in twenty-four cities by the Apollo Club the college young men's club from April 18 to 26. This was the second annual tour of the club.

The Winona State Teachers College gymnasium was an ornament of beauty Saturday night April 16, when the annual Prom Palsire was held. The decorum of the most loved instructors, John D. T. Baker, Winona; Daphne Buck, Winona; Helen Harmon, Winona; Clara Johnson, Dassel; Harold Johnson, Winona; Inez Johns, Minnesota; Clarissa Sund, Winona; Arthur Fett, Winona; and Mildred W. Wells, Mr. Charles Simmers of the education department was the counselor.

An interesting and praiseworthy achievement of the club has already been the creation of an honorary education club to further honor those students who most truly represent their alma mater. This club, known as the Purple Key, is a semi-sorority composed of sophomores who have completed two-thirds of the work of the sophomore year, juniors and seniors who have a higher rating than that required for membership in the John Dewey Club. Membership in this group is not to exceed ten in number in any school year. The ten members who have been selected follow: Calvin Barkow, Winona; Daphne Buck, Winona; Helen Harmon, Winona; Clara Johnson, Dassel; Harold Johnson, Inez Johns, Minnesota; Donald Karcz, Red Wing; Florence Murray, Winona; Clara McDermott, Winona; and Tama Makato.

From this honorary education club, the cabinet each year will select a man and woman to serve in the alma mater exercises. This year's choices will not be revealed until the class election which are to be held at the college auditorium Monday evening.

Charm and Finish Characterize Mendelssohn Club Concert

The Mendelssohn Club has added yet another laurel to its crown by the recital on Friday evening, May 6.

The program, including an unusual Mendelssohn recital, was presented with the charm and finish of a truly artistic group.

The first group of songs, introduced by "Listen to the Lamb," included four ballads, all sung a capella. The second group of numbers was outstanding by the beautiful interpretation of a song without words, "Valse Ariette," by a program closed with a group of lighter numbers, and the traditional stand of "Alma Mater" by the audience and club.

Singing of the evening were Miss Mable Ahrens, piano; and Mr. Everett Nelson, violin, both members of the college. Both presented unusual and difficult numbers, provisions being made for the ease of a very superior quality.

Not only was the effect on the appreciation of the program fine, while Miss Justman's sympathetic accompaniments also deserve much praise.

Immediately following the recital, the program was broken at The Garden Gate. The banquet theme "music" was carried out in the program and decorations.

The Wenonah Players played third in the One Act Play Contest sponsored by the Minnesota Dramatic Guild at the St. Paul Agricultural College, May 18. The play given by the players was "The Shadow of the Glen" by J. M. Synge. The cast was as follows: Miss Kathryn, Rappe; Miss Edna, Roy; Miss Harriet, Miss Maizie Ahrens, piano; and Mr. Charles Simmers, director. Miss Kathryn, Rappe, was presented with the charm and finish of a truly artistic group.
