U.S. Stumped by Defiant Red Stand on 13 Airmen

Knowland Demands More Direct Action

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.), Republican leader in the Senate, has indicated he hopes to nudge the Eisenhower administration into more direct action against Communism, particularly in Asia.

Knowland on Saturday urged a naval blockade of Communist China if the Reds rebuffed United States demands for the release of 13 Americans sentenced to prison as spies.

Red China did just that yesterday, rejecting as "unacceptable" a U. S. protest relayed to the Peiping government by the British.

It seemed that in making his blockade proposal, Knowland anticipated he would be criticized for going beyond the position President Eisenhower or Secretary of State Dulles appear willing to take at this time.

At Augusta, Ga., where he spent the Thanksgiving weekend, Eisenhower had no comment on Knowland's suggestion, but there were hints the President might have something to say after he returns to Washington.

Eisenhower has said the U. S. government is doing everything "humanly possible within peaceful means to get our boys back."

In the wake of the Red Chinese rejection of the U. S. demands, diplomatic officials said "all appropriate measures" are being considered by those pondering the next move in this tense situation. There were indications a naval blockade was among possible moves being studied.

However, these officials said they saw little evidence of sentiment for a blockade which might involve new U. S. military commitments in the Far East.

Nation Looks to Dulles Talk Tonight For Next Move

By FRED S. HOFMAN
WASHINGTON (AP)—Communist China's defiant refusal to free 13 Americans jailed as spies confronted the United States government today with the perplexing problem of how to make the Reds change their minds.

With the British serving as intermediaries, the Chinese Communists yesterday rejected an American note protesting the imprisonment of 11 captured airmen and 2 U. S. Army civilian employees on spy charges. The State Department called the charges "baseless."

But the British government, reporting the Chinese turned down the U. S. note as "unacceptable," said the Reds insisted the evidence against the 13 Americans was incontestable.

The British acted as go-betweens because this country does not recognize the Red Chinese regime and maintains no direct diplomatic contact with Peiping.

The U. S. government's next move remained an open question as state department officials reported "all appropriate measures are being considered."

Secretary of State Dulles was scheduled for a major foreign policy speech tonight in Chicago and it seemed likely he would touch on the potentially explosive Far Eastern situation.

President Eisenhower may have marked out the bounds for American action in this case when he used the phrase "within peaceful means" last week in assuring the mother of the imprisoned men that the United States is doing everything possible to win their freedom.

Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader in the Senate, sounded a call Saturday for direct action against the Chinese Reds—a naval blockade. One of the possible countermeasures reported under study at the State Department was said to involve such a blockade, but diplomatic informants said they found little evidence of support for the idea.

Ultimately, this country's policy in this situation probably will be determined by the President and the National Security Council.

Eisenhower, at Augusta, Ga., for the Thanksgiving holiday weekend, made no comment on Knowland's blockade suggestion. But there were indications the President might have something to say on the matter of the jailed Americans after he returns to Washington. He was back here late today.

At the United Nations, the U. S. delegation stood by for instructions from Washington.

Some delegates said they looked for the issue of the 13 imprisoned Americans to come up this week during debate in the U. N. Political Committee on the Korean peace settlement deadlock.

Last Friday, the State Department said treatment of the captured Americans by the Red Chinese broke the Korean armistice agreement for return of all prisoners of war. The 11 airmen were aboard a B29 shot down in North Korea and the 2 civilians were in a transport plane downed over international waters according to the U. S. position in the matter.

The Red Chinese claim the B29 was shot down "after intruding into China's territorial air space" in Manchuria and that the American civilians were caught dropping supplies to "American espionage agents in northeast China."

Meanwhile, American and Chinese Nationalist diplomats were reported to have reached substantial agreement on a new treaty—a pact under which the United States would guarantee to shield Formosa, the neighboring Pescadores and perhaps some coastal islands held by the forces of Chiang Kai-shek.

It was understood U. S. diplomats believe a formal pact of this sort would discourage Red attempts to conquer Chiang's Formosa stronghold.

Among other things, the new treaty would: (A) pledge both countries to use peaceful means in settlement of disputes and to refrain from use of force except in defense; (B) pledge the United States to regard an armed attack on the Formosa area as a threat to its own safety; (C) outline the area to be protected by the United States, including Formosa itself, the Pescadores and whatever other Nationalist-held territories are deemed by the United States to be essential to Formosa's defense; and (D) provide for an indefinite period of effectiveness.

No Sun in Sky—Stormy Weather

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Rain, snow and blustery winds covered much of the country today.

Temperatures were down 5 to 22 degrees since Sunday over a wide area from the Ohio Valley southward.

At Las Vegas, Nev., early today it was 43, compared with 65 at the same time Sunday. Rawlins, Wyo., reported two below, and Laramie, Wyo., three above.

Stormy weather covered most eastern and northern sections of the country. Heavy rain mixed with snow spread across the Northeast and the lower Great Lakes region.

Blustery winds and light snow were reported from the upper Great Lakes across the Plains area to the Rockies.

Scattered showers fell over the Southeast. In the Far West Washington had light rain and Nevada reported showers and snow flurries.

Brownsville, Tex., with 71, was the warmest spot in the country.

Enrico Fermi

Fermi, Famed Physicist, Dies In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—Fellow scientists today mourned the death of Enrico Fermi, self-exiled Italian physicist who became the architect of the atomic age.

Fermi died of cancer yesterday at the age of 53. If he had been spared a few more years, Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission said, "he might have been saved by medical techniques derived from his own discoveries."

The Nobel Prize winner's controlled release of nuclear energy made atomic power a reality. He first suggested the possibility of an atomic bomb to the U. S. government in 1939. Three years later the atomic pile he built at the University of Chicago provided the key to the manufacture of the A-bomb.

Private burial services are to be held today in Oakwood Cemetery, Chicago.

Fermi's associates will attend a memorial service Friday at the University of Chicago's Rockefeller Memorial Chapel. Fermi was professor of physics in the university's Institute for Nuclear Studies.

Fermi showed the first symptoms of illness in September after returning from a visit to Italy. He said he had difficulty swallowing. An exploratory operation disclosed cancer of the stomach which doctors called "too extensive for treatment."

The scientist was told late in October that he had cancer but not that he was dying.

Just 12 days before his death the Atomic Energy Commission named him the winner of its first $25,000 special award for nuclear work.

14 Jap Students Feared Dead in Fuji Avalanche

TOKYO (AP)—Rescue teams poked in vain today through a mass of snow, rock and splintered trees for a trace of at least 14 college students engulfed by a mammoth avalanche that roared down the slopes of world famous Mt. Fuji.

The body of one student was found Sunday night.

The 14 are feared dead.

Twenty-four in another group escaped.

The two-pronged torrent of snow ripped a 1,000-yard path down the icy slopes of the cone-shaped mountain, 60 miles southwest of Tokyo.

Search also was under way for eight other students reported to have been on Fuji Sunday. The newspaper Asahi said the group's tent camp had been swept away, but apparently was empty at the time.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Dr. Karl B. Pace, 58, of Greenville, N.C., today was named "family doctor of the year" by the American Medical Association (AMA).

A practicing physician in Greenville for 40 years and active in many community activities, Dr. Pace was chosen from candidates nominated by each state medical society.

5 Die as B25 Crashes in Woods Near Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP)—Five persons were killed and the sixth critically injured in the crash of an Air Force B25 in a woods about three miles west of Friendship International Airport Sunday night.

Rescue parties which reached the scene about 12 hours after the crash, found five bodies. A sixth man, still alive, was flown to Bolling Air Force Base near Washington in a helicopter. His condition was reported grave.

The plane was trying to make an emergency landing at Friendship when it went down.

The Air Force identified one of the dead as the pilot, Maj. Wayne G. Shearer, 30, of Cornelius, Ore., whose wife lives at Annandale, Va.

The plane's home base at Andrews Air Force Base, near Washington, reported Maj. Shearer only as "missing," pending fuller identification of all those aboard. Also listed there as "missing" was the chief engineer, Airman I.C. Robert H. Brown, 22, of Youngstown, Ohio. Identities of one other crewman and three Army personnel aboard were not disclosed immediately.

3 Iowans Killed In Traffic Mishaps

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Three more Iowans were killed in traffic accidents over the weekend, boosting the state's highway toll for the year to 579.

Dead were Mrs. Eugene R. Zerba, 64, of Aurora; Joseph Barton, 27, of Cedar Rapids; and Wesley Allen Smith, 22, of Davenport.

Hiss Secludes Self in Privacy

NEW YORK (AP)—Alger Hiss spent his first full day of freedom in the privacy of his Greenwich Village home.

The former State Department official declined to talk to reporters or pose for photographers yesterday.

The only person to leave the apartment all day was his 13-year-old son, Anthony, who said his father did not want to violate the privacy of his family.

Mrs. Hiss told a reporter at the door that her husband did not want to see or talk with anyone.

Hiss, convicted of lying in denying that he had given state secrets to Communist agents, was released from the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., on Saturday after serving 3 1/2 years of a five-year term.

Goodfellows Set Up Own Office

GOODFELLOWS workers today moved into office space donated by the Stirmann-Selover Co. and plan to take the first group of Winona's needy children to the stores Tuesday.

The Goodfellows will outfit 800 children in warm clothing before Christmas, and an important source of Goodfellows money is Winona business firms and their employees. Since their work starts Tuesday and they must have an indication of how much money they can spend on each child, Goodfellows workers urge firms and their employees who plan to contribute again this year to do so now.

Most children who need Goodfellows aid, need it badly. They must have shoes, overcoats, coats, sweaters and many other things. But the Goodfellows must divide their money so that each child will receive something. So far, not enough money has been received to determine whether it will be possible to buy each child all the essential items of clothing he is lacking or whether only a small item can be bought for each.

If contributions do not come in until the last minute, Goodfellows will not know how to plan their purchasing, and it may be impossible to treat the children at the end of the lists fairly.

Goodfellows money is not used to buy toys and items which other organizations furnish. The Goodfellows work DOES NOT duplicate the work of other agencies. Neither does a lot of the money go for administrative costs. All Goodfellows donate their time free.

Be a Goodfellow NOW. Bring or send your contributions to the Goodfellows, in care of The Daily News.

McCarthy Wants Vote Wednesday

Top Reds Swap Toasts to Peace With Yugoslavs

By RICHARD R. KASISCHKE
MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union's top command swapped toasts to peace and East-West friendship last night with the once-blacklisted Yugoslavs and Western newspaper correspondents.

The occasion was a Yugoslav Embassy reception honoring the former Cominform member's national day. High spot of the occasion was a toast to President Tito's health, proposed by Soviet Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev and joined in by Premier Georgi Malenkov and Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov.

Meets U. S. Priest
Other events of the evening included the introduction to Malenkov and Khrushchev of Roman Catholic Father George L. Bissonette, of Central Falls, R.I., who ministers to foreigners of his faith here; newsmen's conversations with Malenkov and other Soviet leaders, and a laughing denial by war hero Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov of recent speculation in some Western papers that he was missing.

The top Kremlin leadership's attendance at the reception marked another step in the Soviet campaign to heal the breach with Tito, who split with the Cominform in 1948. Last year only Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko went to the party.

Before proposing his toast to the Yugoslav President, Khrushchev commented to the ambassador host Dobrovic Vidic: "I want Yugoslavia to be friends with all countries—the United States, Britain and France—as well as with the Soviet Union."

Toast to Friendship
In his salute, the Soviet party chief said he also wanted to drink to the health of the Yugoslav Communist party and the Yugoslav people.

In their informal conversations with newsmen, the Russian leaders raised toasts to peace and friendship. Malenkov told newsmen they should "write the truth." Refusing a cigarette from one Western correspondent, he smilingly said, "Now, don't go and write that the Soviet constitution forbids smoking."

Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.), sits with his feet propped up on a hassock as he reads a newspaper at his home Sunday, following his discharge from Bethesda Naval Hospital. McCarthy's right arm is bandaged and in a sling. He said he was feeling "very well" although his injured right elbow was still painful. (AP Wire-photo)

Fall or Jump From Auto Kills Woman

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ramsey County officers today are investigating the death of a woman who apparently either jumped or fell from a moving car in which her divorced husband also was a passenger.

Mrs. Irene Benzer, 31, New Brighton, died of head injuries in a St. Paul hospital early Sunday.

Mrs. Benzer had been riding in the back seat of a car with her ex-husband, Arthur Benzer. The Raymond Monio, 41, New Brighton. Mrs. Monio, 37, also was in the front seat.

The Monios told Earl Smith, Ramsey County deputy sheriff, that Mrs. Benzer and her former husband had been arguing during the drive, but added that they didn't know what the argument was about.

Mrs. Benzer threatened to jump, Monio said. He added that Benzer made no effort to stop her because she had threatened to jump on other occasions and apparently he thought it was just another threat.

Monio said the car was going about 30 miles an hour when Mrs. Benzer hit the pavement. Benzer and the Monios were to appear in the sheriff's office today to make a formal statement.

According to Monio, Mrs. Benzer and her former husband had been divorced about eight months but had planned to be remarried.

In another weekend accident, Myron Carl Smith, 16, Mora, was killed. He walked into the path of a car on Highway 65 near Mora Saturday night. The driver, William A. Schiek of St. Paul, was not held.

Burt Jackson, 72, a farmer in the Ledgeswood, N. D., area, died in a Fargo, N. D., hospital Saturday of injuries suffered in an auto accident near Breckenridge, Minn. Tuesday.

Dennis Novy, 16, Hopkins, succumbed Friday night of injuries suffered earlier in the day when a truck went over the motor scooter he was driving.

The deaths raised Minnesota's 1954 traffic toll to 575, compared with 597 during the same period last year.

Two Minneapolis people, Mr. and Mrs. William I. Nightingale, were killed Sunday when their car skidded on an icy highway near Hudson, Wis., and collided head-on with another auto. The accident happened on Highway 12.

Accidents in Wisconsin during the weekend took seven lives, including that of a child who died of burns received in a fire in her home.

Widow Tells How She Liquidated Four Husbands

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Affable Grandmother Nannie Doss signed additional statements last night that she used liquid rat poisoning to snuff out the lives of four of her five husbands.

She calmly smoked a cigarette as she described in detail how she administered the poison into the food and drink of spouses from four states.

County Atty. J. Howard Edmondson said a murder charge will be filed today against the 48-year-old plumpish, jovial widow for the Oct. 6 death of Samuel Doss, 58, of Tulsa.

Edmondson said the other poisoned husbands and the dates they died are:

Frank Harrelson, Jacksonville, Ala., 1945.

Harley Lanning, Lexington, N.C., 1952.

Richard L. Morton, 64, Emporia, Kan., May 19, 1953.

The prosecutor, with city officers and Kansas and Oklahoma agents, has questioned the woman since her arrest Friday night and said investigations into the deaths of four of her relatives probably will be undertaken.

He identified the relatives, whom he said succumbed under strange circumstances, as Mrs. Doss' mother, two sisters and a step-grandson.

Mrs. Nannie Doss, 49-year-old five-times married grandmother, of Tulsa, Okla., is shown with police Captain Harry Stege, after admitting poisoning four husbands. Investigations are under way to find the cause of death of six other persons closely associated with the cheerful widow. (AP Wire-photo)

Says No Good Achieved by Continuing Talk

Chamber Has Been In Recess For 11 Days

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy proposed today that the Senate end its censure debate at 3 p.m., Wednesday. He said he was prepared for whatever the Senate might do.

"In the interest of the over-all national welfare, I suggest that no good can be achieved by continuing this debate," McCarthy told his colleagues.

He said he had decided on the speech while he was in the Naval Hospital at Bethesda, Md., for treatment of an injured elbow.

For 11 days, the Senate's special session had been in recess while McCarthy was in the hospital.

Soon after the Senate reconvened today McCarthy, his arm in a sling, took the floor for his dramatic proposal that the whole matter be wound up quickly.

"I am prepared for whatever action the Senate may take on this resolution of censure," he said. "My colleagues, I hope, realize the tremendous implications and recognize their responsibility to the future. For my part, my efforts to expose Communist infiltration in government will continue regardless of the outcome of the censure vote."

Quick Approval
McCarthy's proposal to start voting Wednesday won quick expressions of approval from Sen. Knowland, Calif., the Republican leader. Sen. Lyndon Johnson (Tex.), the Democratic leader, and Sen. Jenner (R-Ind.), a leader of the pro-McCarthy forces.

However, there was no immediate decision. Knowland suggested that the question be put off until after a luncheon recess.

Unanimous consent of all senators would be required to halt the debate and vote as McCarthy suggested.

McCarthy told the Senate that what he was saying was not to be taken as a compromise on his part, and he said he was making no apologies for the viewpoints he has held.

But he said the charges against him "boil down simply to the accusation that I have used discourteous and offensive words—words that have injured the sensibilities of some of my colleagues."

Blunt at Times
"I admit that at times I have been extremely blunt in expressing my opinions," he continued. "I do not claim to be a master of words. This being true, I say to those who feel they have been offended, that I had no intention in the words that were used of hurting the feelings of anyone—but in the facts and opinions that I held, I am unchanged."

"Like my colleagues, I am not without weaknesses. I, like they, make mistakes, and however I may strive otherwise, I suppose I shall make others in the future."

"I yield to none of my colleagues, however, in my ideals, my principles, my integrity, or my prayerful devotion to this great nation I am privileged to try to serve. I am distressed that for ten months the attention of the Senate has been so greatly monopolized by the clamor and controversy over one senator—Joe McCarthy."

"It has been stated that the dignity of the Senate is involved. My greatest wish is to help increase the dignity of the Senate, for the dignity of the Senate is of great importance."

Safety of Nation
"Of even greater importance, however, is the honor, the safety, and the welfare of the nation, and the security of its citizens, wherever they may be."

Galleries were about three-fourths filled when McCarthy made his speech. They had filled a little earlier during the swearing-in of a new North Carolina senator, W. Kerr Scott. But many North Carolinians left the galleries to attend a reception for Scott.

McCarthy had a stand set up on the desk in front of him and put his prepared statement on it.

Dramatically, McCarthy told his colleagues the "painful days" he spent in the hospital had given him time to review the charges against him and brought him to the decision to make his statement.

McCarthy was treated at the

Hoover Lauds Berlin Resistance To Red Atheism

BERLIN (AP)—Herbert Hoover declared Friday surrounded Berlin has done its duty well in resisting the advance of "Red atheism."

It behooves other areas of the world to profit by the example, the former president of the United States declared.

Hoover, winding up a five-day tour as a guest of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, addressed the West Berlin City Senate after signing the "Golden Book" and joining with German and Allied officials in a banquet.

In a prepared speech, the 80-year-old ex-president told the Berliners:

"I do not need to discuss the value of freedom with you. You live cheek by jowl on the boundary behind which you daily witness the naked poverty, the inhuman toll, the terror, the oppressions of the mind and spirit which the Communists inflict upon your own compatriots.

"You face an enemy that lives just across the street. You have seen your duty and you have performed it well. You can, like the men of ancient Athens, hold your heads high and say, 'I am a Berliner.'"

Hoover called the German leaders of West Berlin and West Germany "front line soldiers" in the cold war and commented that they may well share in the world's current feeling that East-West tensions have been somewhat lessened of late.

He said this is the first time in 6,000 years of human history that a group has arisen which seeks to set aside Divine faith and replace it with "Red atheism."

Such infiltration can be met "only by moral and spiritual resistance," Hoover asserted and the first bastion is religious faith, be it Christian, Jewish or Moslem.

"Freedom does not come like manna from Heaven," he said. "It must be cultivated from rocky soil with infinite patience." To bolster resistance to Communism "our governments must find solution to many social ills which prepare the soil for its evil growth."

Peaceful use of atomic energy may make a "mighty" contribution in this respect, he added.

He left Friday night for the United States along with U. S. High Commissioner James B. Conant.

Across From Post Office in Winona

Winona and Area youngsters had their first opportunity of the season to tell Santa Claus what they hope he'll bring them Christmas Eve when St. Nick officially arrived in Winona Saturday afternoon for the annual religious float-Santa Claus parade. These youngsters talked to Santa after the parade when his sleigh was parked on Center street between 2nd and 3rd streets. Most of the youngsters had no trouble recalling the things they wanted, but the little girl at Santa's left seemed to have forgotten a few of her important requests.

Children Give Welcome to Santa Claus

Santa Claus was put in his place Saturday afternoon in Winona.

While thousands of cheering youngsters provided the city's official welcome for the jolly old gent from the North Pole, his sleigh was at the end of a parade that brought out the true significance of Christmas — the birth of Christ.

Half a dozen Winona churches sponsored floats in the parade depicting various scenes symbolic of the birth of the Savior. Five of them, by Catholic churches and organizations, depicted the five joyous mysteries including the Annunciation by St. John's Catholic Church; the Visitation by St. Stanislaus Catholic Church; the birth of Our Lord by the Cathedral of the Sacred Heart; the Presentation by the Newman Club of Winona State Teachers College and the finding of Our Lord in the temple by St. Mary's Catholic Church. The other religious float was prepared by the Grace Presbyterian Church, showing a large open Bible surrounded by several youngsters in Biblical costumes.

Leading the religious float section of the parade was the Cotter High School band, while Santa's float was preceded by the Winona Senior High School band playing appropriate Christmas music. After the parade, Santa's sleigh was parked on Center street between 2nd and 3rd streets to give the youngsters an opportunity to tell St. Nick of their Christmas wishes. The Merchants Bureau provided him with about 3,000 bags of candy to distribute. Some had already written letters which he took with him as he returned to the North Pole workshop.

Santa will be back in the city afternoons and evenings on the days when stores are open at night. First special night is next Monday.

Over $800 Taken at Alma Center Tavern

ALMA CENTER, Wis. (Special) — Over $800 in cash, 50 cartons of cigarettes and 15 cases of whisky were taken from the Esser Tavern here sometime Saturday night, according to Dale Neal, Jackson County undersheriff.

The break-in was discovered by James and Ray Esser, operators of the tavern, when they went to clean up about 8 a.m. Sunday. They found that a rear window in the women's washroom had been opened, a lock opened and a side door left open. Neal said that a safe in the back room with about $1,000 in it was overlooked. The "juke" box and cash register were both robbed of cash. Footprints at the scene are being studied.

There was also a break-in at Gene Nortman's Sunset Tavern near Black River Falls last week but only about $8 was taken.

St. Charles Farm Laborer Missing

Sought is Ted Mitley who has not been seen for the past three weeks.

Sheriff Fort was told that Mitley was employed on a farm three miles east of St. Charles and on Nov. 6 went to Stockton. He was seen leaving Stockton, the sheriff said, but has not returned to the farm since that time.

Mitley was described as 6 feet, weighs 165 pounds, has a thin face and was wearing a plaid coat and blue pants.

Youngsters and Adults Alike stood in silence along 3rd street Saturday afternoon viewing floats depicting incidents relating to the birth of Christ, but the silence was broken moments later as Santa Claus rode down the street in a sleigh mounted on a float. The float pictured here, entitled "Hail to the New Born King," was sponsored by the Cathedral of the Sacred Heart. (Daily News photos)

New Post Office Manual Scheduled

The Post Office Department Wednesday will issue a new "Post Office Manual," whose 300 pages contain a number of important changes and simplifications in the use of the mails.

Acting Postmaster C. B. Erwin announced today that the publication may be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, 25, D.C., for 65 cents.

The old manual, some 4,000 pages of dense print, has been improved both in style and content. Regulations are issued in a new simplified form with black and white illustrations on how to prepare material for mailing. Authorities said a great deal of obsolete and conflicting material has been eliminated.

On Oct. 21, the Post Office Department issued the first preliminary edition, inviting the public, large mailers and postal employees to suggest constructive revisions for incorporation into the final edition. At that time, publication of the final edition was set for Nov. 20, but due to the volume of worthwhile suggestions received, the publication date was moved up to Dec. 1.

Mail users anxious to keep informed on changes in regulations may get both the pamphlet in loose-leaf format and a year's subscription to all sheets making changes for $2.

Eight Injured In Lewiston Hill Collision

Six Hospitalized By Sunday Crash; Charge to Be Made

Eight persons were injured in the head-on collision of two cars on Lewiston Hill Sunday afternoon — the most serious of more than a half dozen traffic accidents reported on icy streets and highways in the county during the weekend.

Involved in the Highway 14 collision at 4:45 p. m. during snow flurries, were cars driven by parents returning students to colleges in Winona after the Thanksgiving vacation.

The driver of one of the cars, Stanley Speltz, 46, Albert Lea, was en route to Winona with his daughter who is a student at the College of Saint Teresa while the other car was driven by John Best, 47, Chatfield, who just left his daughter at the Winona State Teachers College.

Five of seven occupants of the eastbound Speltz car were injured and the three persons riding in the Best car were hospitalized.

Injured List

The injured are:
• John Best, receiving treatment at the Winona General Hospital for a fractured right leg, jaw injuries, facial cuts and bruises.

• Norman Best, 14, Marsha's brother, who sustained multiple cuts and bruises.

To Bring Charge
Minnesota Highway Patrolman Oscar Krenzke, Lewiston, said this afternoon that he will charge Best was passing illegally in a no-passing zone.

The filing of the charge will await Best's recovery from his injuries, Krenzke said.

Investigating the accident were Krenzke, Sheriff George Fort and Deputy Sheriff Helmer Weinmann and the accident victims were given emergency treatment at the scene by a Lewiston physician.

The accident occurred near the crest of the Lewiston Hill one mile east of Lewiston when Best, driving west on the highway, turned out to pass another westbound car driven by Walter Ingalls, Rochester, and drove into the path of the oncoming Speltz automobile.

Krenzke said that the accident site is a designated no-passing zone.

Speltz told Krenzke and Sheriff Fort that when he noticed the Best car move into his lane of traffic to pass he turned to the right but was unable to avoid the collision.

Three of the most seriously injured were taken by ambulance to Winona and the others received rides in other cars.

Krenzke said that he was driving on Highway 14 earlier in the afternoon and noticed that icing conditions were beginning to develop.

Savings Increase May Up Holiday Buying, Bank Says

MINNEAPOLIS (Special) — People in the 9th federal reserve district have more money saved up than ever before and probably will spend freely during the holiday business season, it was reported today by the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis in its monthly review of business conditions.

As indications of good business ahead, the bank's economists list large farm marketings, a smaller seasonal decline in employment, a record high in bank deposits, increased spending and store sales.

They also report indications of a more confident and optimistic attitude on the part of both businessmen and consumers now as compared with earlier in the year.

The merchants' trend of reducing stock on hand is thought to be at its low point. On this basis, it will take more new orders just to maintain present inventories, the bank points out. Any increase in inventories would cause an increase in production.

A further strengthening factor in district economy is the continued large volume of farm production and marketings. The bank's economists note that large marketings not only support the level of farm income but they also insure a large amount of marketing, processing, and distribution activity in this area.

St. and Robert Dzwonkowski, 917 E. Wabasha St., and Edgar Bunke, 684 E. Sarnia St., were drivers of cars that collided at 11 a.m. Saturday at East Howard street and Mankato avenue.

Briesath and Bunke estimated their damage at $125 and $100, respectively, and Dzwonkowski, $30. At 3:52 p.m. Saturday cars driven by Otto Haake, Winona Rt. 2, and Barbara Borzyskowski, 300 Mankato Ave., collided at East 5th and Market streets.

Damage to the Borzyskowski car amounted to $200 and Haake estimated his damage at $100.

Walnut Street Crash
Oscar Westlie, Minneapolis, was driving away from the curb on East 2nd street near Walnut street at 3 p.m. Saturday when his car and an automobile driven by Patrick Ciemiński, 113 W. King St., collided.

Ciemiński estimated his damage at $90 and damage to the Westlie car amounted to $80.

Two parked cars were damaged when they were struck by a hit-run vehicle on East Broadway near Mankato avenue at 11:40 p.m. Sunday.

Mrs. Viola Kortsch, 317 E. Wabasha St., reported $100 damage to her car and damage to the second automobile, owned by Vern Mehl, 209 E. Broadway, was estimated at $25.

The driver of the other vehicle did not identify himself at the accident scene, police said.

Stanley Kohner, Minneapolis City, was driving west on West Broadway at 6:45 p.m. Sunday when his car struck a parked car owned by James Burke, 724½ W. Broadway, in front of the Burke residence.

Kohner said that the accident occurred when he was blinded by the headlights of an oncoming car.

He estimated his damage at $50 while Burke has not filed a damage estimate at police headquarters.

Shortly afterward, reports spread

Criminal Charge Planned in Death Of Two at Utica

Minnesota Highway Patrolman Oscar Krenzke said today preparations are being made to file a criminal charge against the only survivor of a two-car collision near Utica Thanksgiving Day.

Krenzke said that he has conferred with County Attorney W. Kenneth Nissen and a complaint, probably charging criminal negligence in connection with the accident, will be lodged against Raymond Gittens, 43, Minneapolis, whose car collided head-on with an automobile driven by Keith Fix, Eyota.

Fix and a passenger in the Gittens car were killed in the crash.

Gittens is recovering at the Winona General Hospital from chest and leg injuries suffered in the mishap.

Krenzke said that the complaint probably will be filed when Gittens makes additional progress toward recovery from his injuries.

Salem Woman's Trial for Murder Of Husband Begins

SALEM, Mass. (Special) —Trial of pretty Mrs. Lorraine Eaton Clark, 28, for the murder of her husband begins today in Essex County Superior Court with selection of a jury upon whom her life may depend.

The state charges the shapely brunette mother of three children killed her 23-year-old husband Melvin W. Clark Jr. with two pistol shots in the head and dumped his body into the Merrimack River last April 10, Palm Sunday eve.

The state says the crime was committed in the lakeside home of the Clarks in Amesbury, a town of 16,000 some 40 miles north of Boston. Then, the state charges, Clark's body was weighted with two 15-pound anchors, carried four miles in the trunk of a car and tossed over a bridge railing into the river.

The crime didn't come to light until June 2, when a woman bird watcher, whose name has not been disclosed, spotted the decomposed body bobbing on a salt marsh.

Dist. Atty. Hugh A. Cregg had Mrs. Clark booked on June 25 after she signed a 3½-page statement in which she admitted that she "and she alone" killed her husband.

Cregg never made public the contents of the statement, saying the details were "so horrible and lurid" he would not release them until the trial.

Shortly afterward, reports spread

U.S. Engineers Approve Flood Plan for Winona

The Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors today approved a flood protection project for the city of Winona.

Announcement of the board action in Washington, D. C., was made this morning by 1st Dist. Cong. August H. Anderson, who appeared before the Corps of Engineers board and urged approval of the project and high priority for the work.

The board's favorable report and the plans, prepared by the St. Paul district, will be submitted to Congress in January for authorization and eventual appropriation.

It is the second recent favorable report by the board involving a Winona project. The other, which already has been authorized by Congress prior to the appropriation, involves the Crooked Slough commercial harbor project.

Details of the board's action on the flood protection plan were not available immediately. Prior to the board's meeting today, construction was estimated to cost $1,421,000, with the city contributing $37,000.

The plan would provide a continuous levee along the south bank of the Mississippi River for about 6.5 miles, from Minnesota City to a point near Huff and 2nd streets, improve the existing levee between the lower end of Lake Winona and the river and build two pumping plants.

Engineers estimate that the improvement would provide protection from floods up to those occurring about once in 500 years, or about 130 per cent of the 1952 flood.

If eventually approved for construction, it is believed that the project would be the largest of its kind ever built.

U.S. Sen. Edward J. Thye today also advised of the board's approval.

November Tax Settlement Hits $1,403,987

Winona County's November tax settlement is $1,403,987.96, according to Richard Schoonover, county auditor, and Arthur Dorn, county treasurer. Included in the total are two settlements mailed to the state of Minnesota.

That is almost $274,000 more than was distributed to state, county, school and local funds for the same period during 1953. It represents taxes on real estate and personal property collected between June 1 and Nov. 1 of this year.

Four separate classifications are recipients of the tax monies. They include state funds, county funds, schools within the county and the towns, cities and villages in Winona County.

School districts, which in 1953 ranked third in the amount of money received, this year will receive the greatest share of the tax settlement money. School districts this year will receive $496,916.74 of the November tax settlement, almost $180,000 more than last year.

Political subdivisions are second among the four in amounts to be received, while county funds and state funds rank third and fourth respectively.

What to Call Your Wife In Case You Need Names

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—What do you call your wife or girl friend? You don't have to answer under the Fifth Amendment. Checking up on current Broadway Bop Talk at Birdland, I found that a square is now "a crate," a liquor store is a "stupor market," and a minute "a tick." For example, "I'll see you in a couple of ticks."

But your wife or best girl is "The Noise," and you would say "I'm going out with The Noise tonight." You would say that unless "The Noise" were in hearing distance.

When news of Andrei Vishinsky's death reached Toots Shor's at lunch time, Toots ordered free drinks for everybody—and all three floors were well-filled. Besides, many sports writers were present—and they mostly drink twice as much as people when rebuked by somebody who thought his action disrespectful. Toots then declared, "Why shouldn't I? He was a Communist and an enemy of our country, wasn't he?"

Eddie Fisher's sore—about a rumor he's parting from his longtime manager, Milton Blackstone. "He's more than my manager, he's my friend," Eddie told me. "He can have anything I've got... except Debbie."

Beautiful Julie Wilson, the Omaha gal who got famous as a singer in New York and London, has secretly married her manager, Barron Polan, the boy from Huntington, W. Va., who became a world-traveled sophisticate. At least that's what one close friend here has figured out from a telegram signed by them saying: "Just want you to know about our new life-time contact which we entered into in Arlington, Va., on Oct. 19."

A good criminal lawyer's a guy who gets away with murder. In Atlantic City, Vic Earlson alleges he heard an elderly wolf tell a doll, "Honey, be nice, and I'll give you this town on a plate."

Replied the doll: "Upper or lower?"

At the Savoy in London, Sam Steinman saw an American tourist walk away with a whole stack of the London Sunday Times (12 pages each) thinking they were one NY Sunday Times.

The most ardent football fan I've ever heard about is Le Roy Burnett, a young fellow from Ohio, printer who propels himself by wheelchair more than 20 blocks every Saturday to see the local high school games.

Creme paper disposable socks may be the new thing. Olive G. France, a New Englander now living at 509 Lake St., Kent, Ohio, offers to send me some. Makes them herself. "This is not a publicity stunt," she says, "for the socks are not being manufactured or sold."

It finally happened—I've been "invited for polo." From La Coquette at Palm Beach, which is having best festivities next month, comes a letter saying, "On Sunday afternoon, Mrs. Stephen Sanford has invited you to be her guest for polo." Eleanor Holm will give a swim afterward and then, says the invitation, "there will also be ample time for sunning, tennis

Brooklyn Latin Briefs Americans On Sex Appeal

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (U)—Americans have the wrong slant on male sex appeal, says Abbe Lane, a debatable Latin from Brooklyn.

Abbe is actually no more Latin than Ebbets Field, but she gives that impression as she sings with husband Xavier Cugat's marimba pounders and maracas shakers.

The Cugats are busy at work, acting in Chicago Syndicate by day and entertaining at the Hotel Statler at night. They just returned from a tour of Europe, and that's where Abbe drew her conclusions about the mistaken notions of this country on male attractiveness.

From Rudolph Valentino to Liberace, the heartbeats of the American females have largely been over handsome fellows. Abbe says this is all wrong.

"The Europeans have the right idea," she declared. "They realize that a man's attractiveness is not in his face, but in his manner, his style and his grace. The most attractive males over there are not the pretty boys. Many of them are not even good looking. But they exude a charm that is unmistakable."

Abbe spent much time in her husband's native Spain and was impressed with the bullfighters. She said:

"The man who really impressed me was a novillero—not a full-fledged bullfighter—named Chamaco. He is not good looking. In fact, he has a very plain face. But such grace, such appeal!"

The same applies to some figures in this country who are not considered handsome, she said.

"Edward R. Murrow is one. You wouldn't call him handsome, yet he has a tremendous appeal. Frank Sinatra can make a song sound more romantic than any of the pretty boy crooners. Joe DiMaggio is plain looking, but he has the air of a champion. I can certainly see what Marilyn saw in him."

"Sid Caesar came across in a very appealing way, even when he's doing a comedy routine. Ernest Hemingway, Salvador Dali and Ezio Pinza send me more than any of the young matinee idols."

"Cogie is another one," she added, speaking of her husband. "He makes a caricature of himself in public—not just his drawings, but the way he talks and acts. Actually he is a very appealing man, tender and understanding."

Giraffes, because of their poorly developed voices, communicate with each other mainly by switching their tails.

U.S. Again Denies Part in Seizure Of Russian Tanker

MOSCOW (U)—The United States again today denied Soviet charges that American planes and ships had a hand in seizing the Russian tanker Tuapse last summer off China.

A brief note delivered by a U. S. Embassy messenger answered a Russian note of last Aug. 4. The U. S. reply stated that "careful investigation has shown that no American military aircraft operating over the high seas of the Pacific in this area engaged in any hostile acts toward Soviet commercial vessels."

It added: "The United States denies any violation of international law as alleged by the Soviet note."

Testimony on Dr. Sam's Injuries To Begin Today

CLEVELAND (U)—How badly was Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard injured in the dark hours when his wife Marilyn was savagely beaten to death?

A physician who examined him some hours after the crime was called to testify today on this point, possibly of vital importance in Sheppard's trial on a charge of murder.

Dr. Richard E. Hexter, the examining physician, was scheduled as the first witness as the trial went into its seventh week.

The state charges that Sheppard killed his wife after arguments over relations with other women. Sheppard, however, says a marauder bludgeoned her while she lay in bed some time after 12:30 the morning of July 4.

He says her cries awakened him, and that he grappled with a "bushy-haired" man, who quickly struck him down. Regaining his senses, he said, he caught up with the killer outside the house, and was knocked unconscious a second time.

One of his brothers, also an osteopath, told police Sheppard's neck and face were injured in the struggle. During the early stages of the case, Sheppard wore a felt collar to support his neck.

Dr. Hexter examined him, at the request of the coroner, on the afternoon of July 4.

Inner U.S.
Conflict
On China

By STEWART ALSOP

WASHINGTON.—Two schools of thought, diametrically opposed on the most basic issues of national policy, are now clearly developing within the Eisenhower administration. In the past, as in the dismissal of Gen. MacArthur, this kind of inner conflict has always led in the end to some sort of public and violent explosion. Whether or not this happens again, it is important to understand what the conflict is all about.

The acknowledged leader of one school of thought is Adm. Arthur Radford, the able and extremely forceful chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Adm. Robert Carney, Chief of Naval Operations, is firmly in Radford's corner. So, most of the time, is Gen. Nathan Twining, Air Force Chief of Staff. Radford also has important allies outside the Pentagon. One of these is Walter Robertson, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs. Another, of course, is Sen. William Knowland, the administration Senate leader.

In Key Post Robertson particularly is in a key position. He feels passionately about Asia. If he were to resign in protest against any aspect of the administration's Asia policy, this would mean terrible trouble for the administration among the very powerful group of Knowland-minded Republicans on Capitol Hill. It is not possible to reproduce in a short space all the shades of the opinions held by a number of men on an exceedingly complex subject. But in general, the position of the Radford-Robertson-Knowland school of thought is about as follows.

First, the United States should not passively accept an "atomic stalemate," to use Knowland's phrase. Second, while this country still enjoys atomic superiority, the Chinese Communist regime should be prevented, even at great risk, from consolidating its power. For if Communist China is permitted to become a genuine great power, fully industrialized and militarized, while an atomic stalemate has neutralized American offensive power, certain consequences are wholly predictable.

Fears Isolation China will dominate Asia, and all Asia will go Communist. The American position in the Pacific will be hopelessly compromised. The Western alliance, deprived of markets and resources, and confronted by overwhelming force, will begin to crumble. And in the end, the United States will be left nakedly isolated in a Communist world.

It is difficult, it must be said, to fault the logic which leads to these gloomy conclusions. But these conclusions also have a surprisingly optimistic, and much less convincing, corollary. This is that it will be by no means impossible—it will not even be very difficult—to prevent the Chinese Communists from consolidating their position. According to this theory, a combination of American sea and air power with local anti-Communist forces, by properly applied pressure, can insure the disintegration of the Chinese Communist regime.

Robertson is perhaps the leading exponent of the view that Chinese Communism will collapse, like the walls of Jericho, if only the American trumpet is blown hard enough. But all members of this school share the conviction that limited American action will bring almost unlimited rewards. This conviction, indeed, underlay two immensely significant major-

By GRETCHEN L. LAMBERTON

MOST people haven't yet gotten their winter clothes, and here the fashion magazines and big city papers are already advertising spring clothes. It's a bit confusing and makes one feel stuffy to be thinking about heavy winter woollens when the glamor gals are buying bathing suits and floaty chiffons. But anyway, in order to take your mind off the long cold winter ahead let's have a peek at next spring's fashions.

The colors, it seems, will be brilliant fruit and flower colors like banana, wild lime, persimmon and citron, geranium, carnation and periwinkle. Very popular will be a long-waisted "trumpet silhouette." This will be poisonous news for those of us who after the Thanksgiving-through-New Year's orgy of holiday food are more inclined to the "bass drum silhouette."

More poisonous news: Very popular will be dropped waistlines or tight midgy-blouse silhouettes. Those of us who went through that ghastly fashion period of about 1923-30 still shudder at the long waistline-knee length skirt silhouette and wonder what on earth ever possessed us to wear such a repulsive style. But we all did. All but lovely Irene Castle who announced publicly that she would stick to the normal waistline and full, floaty skirt, and did. And she was probably the only woman in America who kept her glamor during that period. As for next spring's long-waisted styles so unbecoming to most of us, many will vow that they'll never be caught dead in them. But who knows? When spring comes a sort of lunacy grips most women in regard to clothes. We shall see.

At the quarter horse show in Onalaska recently there were several hundred people there from Minnesota and Wisconsin, most of them farmers who owned western-type horses. Most of them wore cowboy boots and wildly colorful western shirts. Many families own a number of riding horses, and father, mother and all the kids ride, evenings and Sundays. Neighborhood families ride together and put on impromptu rodeos in pastures. For the most part they wear colorful western costume.

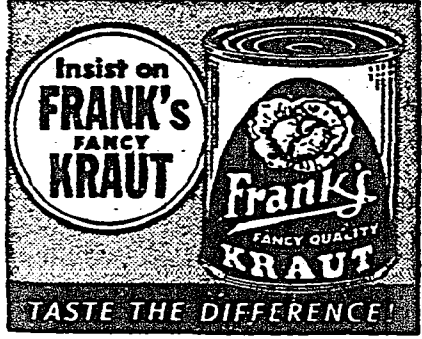

This rise of western riding among farm families seems to me to be a healthy protest against the fact that farm work is becoming ever more mechanized. Easier, yes indeed; but also more monotonous and impersonal than the old days of horses. This may very well be a grasping after some of the vanishing romance and fun of old-time farm life. And it may also be a way of keeping the kids on the farm.

ity proposals which the Joint Chiefs of Staff made to President Eisenhower in the last few months. The first was the proposal last spring that American sea and air power should be used to save Indochina. The second was the proposal in September that American air power, if necessary, should be used to hit targets inland on the Chinese mainland to support the defense of the Chinese Nationalist offshore islands.

In both cases Adm. Radford was supported by Adm. Carney and Gen. Twining. In both cases the underlying thesis was that the job could be done without using American ground forces and without any large degree of national mobilization. And in both cases President Eisenhower supported the lone dissenter, Gen. Matthew Ridgway, Chief of Staff of the Army, and vetoed the proposal.

The meaning of these two vetoes by the President far transcends the specific issues in dispute. For the presidential vetoes are only symbols of the central fact—that a conflict of opinion so deep that it goes right to the roots of national policy has developed within the administration.

This conflict amounts to an inner crisis of the first magnitude in the American government. The crisis may be concealed for a long time, depending largely on the course of events in Asia. But sooner or later, it must be resolved, simply because no government can go on indefinitely facing two ways on the basic issues of policy. Meanwhile it is also worth trying to understand why the President acted as he did.

Christmas Seals A Gift of Hope

In recent years amazing progress has been made in the battle of tuberculosis. In large measure it has been made possible by funds raised through the sale of Christmas seals. The fact that progress has been made does not mean that the job is done. Far from it. Money is still needed and it is as important to buy Christmas seals this year as it ever was.

With many of us the use of Christmas seals has become a tradition. The time is approaching for the mailing of gifts and cards. The Christmas season is a time of unselfish giving and the few extra cents invested in the use of Christmas seals give our packages and cards a double value.

Each Christmas seal used is a gift of hope to the unfortunate person afflicted with tuberculosis. Each seal sold is a step nearer eventual final victory over this dread disease.

New Form of Graft Uncovered in New York

A new form of graft has been exposed in New York City. The rather complicated swindle works this way:

A motorist anxious to get away with breaking the law buys or gets a card with the name of a motorcycle policeman on it. If he is stopped for violating a traffic law he surrenders the card and is waved on without getting a ticket. Later the cop whose name is on the card turns up to be paid. His fee is usually less than the standard fine. He splits the bribe with other cooperating police.

The scheme points up one thing. Government graft is seldom if ever possible without the participation of private citizens. It is wrong for policemen to take bribes. Most cops would scorn any dishonest money. But what of civilians who tempt them, who make dishonesty profitable?

The principle applies to other forms of graft in government as well. Government officials who grant special favors are despicable but the givers of bribes are equally guilty and equally deserving of contempt.

For some reason there are people who take pride in being able to "fix" a ticket. Most of them would never stoop to a bribe to do so but they do call on politicians to get out of paying their fines. What they are really doing is offering good will and a sense of obligation in exchange for a favor and they are helping to corrupt office-holders.

The New York policemen who took part in the swindle are a disgrace to their uniforms and their honest brother officers. The motorists who participated are a disgrace to their citizenship.

Defeat of Glen Taylor Has a Montana Parallel

Glen Taylor's defeat for senator in Idaho interrupted abruptly a career paralleling that of a well-known figure in an adjoining state.

Burton K. Wheeler of Montana 30 years ago had, like Taylor, a radical reputation. Like Taylor, he was elected a senator on the Democratic ticket. Just as Taylor in 1948 bolted his party to run for vice president on the Progressive ticket headed by Henry A. Wallace, so Wheeler left the Democrats to run with Robert M. La Follette in 1924 on another Progressive ticket. For most this breach of regularity would end the political career, but after La Follette's defeat Wheeler returned to the Democrats, and was renominated and re-elected senator in 1928. He continued as senator till 1948, when his growing conservatism caused his party to reject him. Such political activity as has been reported of him since then has been in opposition to the senatorial candidates named by the Montana Democrats.

Like Wheeler, Taylor returned to the Democrats after his independent candidacy failed. He won the Democratic senatorial nomination, but has just lost to the Republican Senator Henry Dworshak. This defeat may end his political career, as it would have ended Wheeler's if on his 1928 return he had lost in the election.

Perhaps, like Wheeler, Taylor may yet become a conservative. That often happens with young radicals.

By BENNETT CERF

John O'ren tells about a noted author who has become more and more crotchety in his old age—also more and more temperate thereby constituting himself a major problem to the staff at the exclusive club he frequents. Very much in his cups the other day, he hollered for an attendant, and when nobody came running on the double, flew into a rage. When a waiter finally arrived, he demanded, "Have you the faintest idea who I am?" "No,"

Asiatic Neutrality Difficult to Solve

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

NEW YORK — Perhaps the most difficult problem to solve is the neutrality of the Asiatic countries. In 1945, all the Asiatic countries were pro-American; in 1954 no Asiatic country can be defined as pro-American except possibly the Philippines. Japan would like to be pro-American but geographic necessities cannot be ignored by a country that can, at any time, be conquered. The mistakes of Teheran and Yalta plague us now.

The decisive factor in the loss of American prestige in Asia was the Korean war which we could have won but lost. There are those, including Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who believe that it was deliberately lost. Gen. George E. Stratemeier has testified:

"Gen. Stratemeier: It is contrary to everything that every military commander that I have been associated with or from all of our history—he (MacArthur) has never been in a position where he could not win the war he started to win. That is not American . . . and who did it—I don't know. I know that Gen. MacArthur's hands were tied. I am sure, not by the Joint Chiefs of Staff, but by the then State Department. I make that as my opinion, and I still believe it."

"Mr. Carpenter: (Jenner Committee counsel). Did members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff visit Tokyo quite frequently?"

"Gen. Stratemeier: Yes, sir."

"Mr. Carpenter: Did they ever clarify the policy that was expected?"

"Gen. Stratemeier: They did their best to; yes, sir. I do not think Gen. MacArthur was ever satisfied that he had a constructive mission where he could go ahead and win. When I make that statement, I am not criticizing the Joint Chiefs of Staff. They had instructions, I am sure, from higher authority and those conferences were always pleasant."

Further, this colloquy took place:

"Mr. Carpenter: What was the effect of the relief of Gen. MacArthur on the command?"

"Gen. Stratemeier: Well, I cried. I think the whole command, the morale dropped, it went way down, people could not believe it, a soldier could not believe it, an airman could not believe it, a sailor could not believe it. Everybody loved Gen. MacArthur out there and I had never run into a man that served under him that didn't love him, and right out of a clear sky, he gets summarily dismissed. I know the reaction was great with the Japanese, too."

"Mr. Carpenter: There is no question but what MacArthur wanted to win the war; is that not right?"

"Gen. Stratemeier: That is correct, sir."

He continued: ". . . this was losing our commander who was the most courageous, bravest, senior commander that ever existed, and they fired him summarily without even giving him a chance to say goodbye to his command."

In Asia, "face," which can be translated as abiding prestige, counts for much more than it does in the United States. When Gen. MacArthur was summarily dismissed, not only did he lose face, but the United States lost face. The reason is that it was then believed that the United States shamed its great senior commander to please the British. Gen. Stratemeier now has testified that this view is correct. He said:

"As I recall, the reply (to MacArthur's request for permission to bomb north of the Yalu) stated that they had some agreement with the British not to violate Manchuria without consulting the British. I am sure such a signal came in."

In all Asiatic countries the British were disliked because of colonialism and their attitude of racial superiority. Asiatics turned to the United States as a country that did not engage in colonialism, that represented the concept of national independence. When Asiatics were forced to believe by the course of events that the American policy toward them was determined by Great Britain, they lost faith in the United States. This has been true in Korea, Indonesia, India and to a degree in Indochina.

If the United States is to regain its influence in Asia, it must overcome the effects of the Korean war.

Course of History Rests On Ike Estimate of Reds

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower is now wrestling with one of the most difficult foreign-policy decisions of his career. It's a decision even more important than that which he had to make on the early morning of June 6, 1944—whether to proceed with the Normandy invasion. For it could mean war fairly soon. Or it could mean possible long-term war.

The decision is: Whether to accept the olive branches dangled from the Kremlin for coexistence with Russia—olive branches that are urged upon Ike by Churchill and Mendes-France; or to accept the advice of his Pentagon advisers and force a flat showdown with Communism in the Far East—a showdown which could lead to a preventive war.

This difficult decision is what is behind the speeches of Senate majority leader Knowland, who disagrees vigorously with Ike's so-called appeasement policy. This is also the reason for the return of ambassador Bohlen from Russia—to report on the extent and sincerity of the Kremlin's bid for peaceful coexistence.

This is also why the Pentagon, which does not agree with its old military comrade—now the command-in-chief—has been leaking stories to friendly senators on Capitol Hill.

So far, President Eisenhower has taken a definite course toward coexistence and against his military advisers. More than on any other matter of late, he is inclined to play this policy with a lone hand. He personally overruled the Joint Chiefs of Staff when they proposed that the U. S. stand and fight at Quemoy, the small Nationalist Chinese island just off the Communist Chinese mainland.

He has also been in personal contact with Winston Churchill and has given a tentative go-ahead to Churchill's long-cherished dream of a Big Four conference with Malenkov to try to end the cold war.

Hitherto Eisenhower had shied away from such a meeting as a publicity sounding board for Malenkov. Now he is reported willing to cooperate provided the Kremlin shows good faith in advance.

Reason for Eisenhower's opposition to the advice of his old military friends is, first, a dread of war by a man who has seen war; second, a series of reports from the American embassy in Moscow, culminating in the personal visit this week of ambassador Charles Bohlen.

Bohlen's Optimism

For some time, Bohlen has been reporting optimistically regarding a new and friendly attitude in the Kremlin. He has felt that the old, fire-eating anti-American Bolsheviks like Foreign Minister Molotov were losing out. At the recent October revolution reception, where Malenkov, after a few vodka, talked encouragingly of American-Soviet cooperation, Molotov stood by glowering at every word Malenkov said.

Since his return to the U. S. A., Bohlen has gone further, reports that Malenkov wants to divert Soviet war production to peacetime goods, that without consumer goods the Russian people would get increasingly restless.

U. S. military men, on the other hand, were irate and indignant when he glossed over the recent shooting down of an Air Force B-29 over northern Japan. They called it cold-blooded murder, resented the fact that the U. S. ambassador was toasting Malenkov at the time of the shooting.

The Russians, they warn, are sparring for time.

And, when the time is ripe—from their point of view—diplomatic promises to American am-

How Can You Make Child Mind?

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Just about any normal child, yours included, will try to get away with as much as he can. It's human nature.

Many parents, however, not only fail to curb this tendency, but actually encourage it. You may be one of these without even realizing it.

There is no such thing as a problem child. Usually, it's problem parents who are at fault for a misbehaving youngster.

There is no one simple method of making a child behave. I'm not going to advise you to use spanking as a cure-all. It just won't work. But if you use your head, instead of a strap, you'll get pretty good results. Just remember, a child obeys only when you tell him "No!"

Problem Parents

Now, how can you make your child behave?

The ideal time to begin teaching him, of course, is when he is an infant. And that is often when many parents make their first mistakes.

First of all, you must set an example for your child. You can best teach him what is proper or improper by what you do in his presence. Good habits are more easily caught than taught.

For instance, never tell your youngster to "Go brush your teeth." Instead, say, "Come, let's brush our teeth."

Don't tell him to "Go pick up your toys." Tell him to "Come pick up your toys."

If he sees you doing these things with him, he'll soon learn that this is the correct way of doing them, and before long, he'll do them without being told.

Better Be Careful

You must, however, be careful not to give your child the idea that he does things just to please you. If you do, he'll only use this power to get more attention.

Don't coax him, either. He should learn that he must do certain things simply because it's the right thing to do. Usually, you can explain why you want something done if the child thinks an explanation is necessary. Most of the time he won't.

It's not wise to force a child to do anything as many of you have probably found out. The more you try to force him, the more he will resist, and the more contrary he is likely to become. All children have a contrary streak anyway, some more than others.

You should be calm and thoughtful, and your home should be pleasant and peaceful. If you get excited and angry and shout, it's likely your child will become noisy and easily angered.

Nervous Parent, Nervous Child

When his parents are nervous, a child is nervous. A youngster needs a feeling of security. A mother and father give him this if they are calm and self-confident.

Many times, aggressive behavior is merely a mask for insecurity. The braggart or bully in your neighborhood—I hope he's not your child—in all probability is a youngster who is insecure and unhappy.

His bluster is only an attempt to conceal his fears, not only from others, but from himself as well.

Father helped found General Motors. Arvilla is Sen. McCarthy's wealthy friend whose $7,000 check to McCarthy to fight Communism was used by him to speculate in soybeans instead. Mrs. Bentley's mansion, costing the taxpayers $300,000—rather a steep price—will be given to West Germany for a new embassy. The Germans deserve the embassy because we took theirs away during the war, but some people wonder whether Mrs. Bentley deserves the price.

School Segregation Problem Tough One

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (U)—It probably will be years before there is an end to segregation in American public schools. The Supreme Court, ruling last May that public school segregation is unconstitutional and must end, left unanswered for the time being the two key questions: How and when?

Housewives Defend Their 'Soft Life'

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (U)—How does the average American housewife spend her time?

These golden hours of the busiest if not the highest century of civilization—how does she use them? At last I am able to give a positive, burning feminine answer.

During my recent visit to Belgium my friend, Relman (Pat) Morin, a Pulitzer prize winner and one of the ablest reporters of our time, did me a great personal favor by filling the space it is my duty to occupy.

He made the mistake—darned if I didn't forget to warn him against it—of praising women. Nothing gets a man in more trouble than complimenting the ladies. They are so suspicious!

While boasting of the feminine sex's greater longevity and durability, Pat made the offhand observation that, after all, "the average housewife doesn't have to over exert herself in the pursuance of her daily chores."

Zillion Letters

This has resulted so far in 18 zillion letters denouncing Pat—and not a single one to thank him for all the kind things he said about women.

So be it. Such is the fate of any man who praises woman yet tries to point out the perils in her proud flesh.

Purely on the grounds of eloquence we yield the rostrum of reply to Mrs. Vera Jungert, of Clarkston, Wash., who says she is an average housewife, "mother of three children, and keeper of a husband, all of whom are average, too."

Take the platform, Mrs. Jungert:

"Here is this man who tells us what a soft life we lead washing clothes . . . scrubbing floors . . . waxing furniture . . . taking care of pets the children bring home and then forget to feed . . . ironing clothes . . . pressing father's pants . . . doing papa's book work (as the average husband isn't flush enough to hire a secretary) . . . having babies every year or two . . ."

'Nursing the Sick'

"Nursing the sick family . . . writing hubby's letters for him . . . caring for the flowers and the lawn . . . defrosting or cleaning refrigerators, stoves, cupboards, drawers, closets . . . bathing and training babies . . . helping Junior with his schoolwork so he won't flunk this year . . ."

"Paying the bills . . . shopping for clothes . . . cleaning up the trail of trash the entire family leaves behind . . . getting up nights with children who don't wish to sleep . . . changing beds . . . washing windows . . . answering Junior's questions . . . refereeing and settling the arguments between the children . . . watching them so they don't inscribe hieroglyphics on the walls with crayons, trim each other's eyelashes with scissors, or crack skulls with the frying pan . . ."

"Getting the family dressed, especially father, who would be forced to amble around naked if his clothes were not neatly laid out on the bed when he emerges from the bathtub . . . running children around to dental appointments, shots at the doctor's office, scout meetings, birthday parties . . . making costumes for school plays . . . polishing shoes . . . digging gum out the rug . . ."

"Cleaning the car . . . washing the clothes over when the clothesline that papa never gets time to fix collapses again . . . cleaning out the messes when Junior leaves the door of the automatic washer open or Suzie drops a jar of strawberry jam and splatters it on floor and walls . . ."

"Raking the leaves . . . recovering kitchen plastic chairs . . . painting when it needs to be done . . . cleaning the rings from the bathtub . . . trying to work in time to read books on 'how to let Junior save the legs off the dining room table and smile so as not to destroy his initiative' . . . talking to assorted traveling salesmen, representatives of charitable institutions, and bill collectors . . . keeping your hands soft and white like papa loves to touch . . . and your complexion like a schoolgirl's so papa won't think the grass looks greener on the other side of the fence . . . worrying about the weeds growing taller than the flowers in the flower bed . . . and all the things that desperately need to be done, but there's no time to do them."

In a stern peroration, Mrs. Jungert asks:

"So how many babies have you given birth to, Mr. Morin? How

The court now can't attempt to give the answer before far into next year. Even then, judging from the court's careful slowness in handling the segregation problem, it is unlikely to call for overnight action.

The court doesn't have to follow the views of President Eisenhower and Atty. Gen. Brownell but no doubt will consider them. Both last week came out for a careful and gradual solution as against a sudden one.

And those Southern states which have given their opinions to the court have called for a gradual approach as a minimum, although Negroes have told the court they want segregation ended no later than September 1956.

A few Southern states in extreme opposition to the court's ruling, particularly Georgia, may try the following kind of device for thwarting any final effort of the federal government to end segregation at all:

End their present public school system and substitute another kind—for instance, private associations—to keep white and Negro children separate. The Georgia voters approved such a plan in the Nov. 2 elections. And Georgia's Gov. Talmadge has said:

"Segregation in Georgia will not be ended at any time."

The Supreme Court ruled against segregation in public schools. An arrangement like Georgia's, supported by public tax money, would be in effect a public school system under another name. Or would it?

Some lawyers here foresee, before there could be an answer to that question, a fight all the way up through the federal courts again to the Supreme Court, a fight which would take more years.

Although the court was first asked in December 1952 to outlaw segregation, it didn't give its opinion until May 17, 1954. This by itself was clear evidence it understood the magnitude of the problem and the need for care in solving it.

The problem is not one but many. The intense and ancient racial prejudices that must be softened or compromised; the planning required in combining schools and school districts; financing; redistributing white and Negro teachers.

The court could have laid down the rules on how and when segregation had to end when it said in May public school segregation is unlawful. But it wanted the benefit of the views of those most closely connected with the issue.

It asked the states involved and attorneys for the Negro groups fighting segregation to explain, in briefs filed with the court this fall, what they thought should be done. The briefs were filed.

The states proposed the take-it-easy course and the Negroes wanted desegregation accomplished by the fall of 1956. The last brief, from Brownell's Justice Department, was given the court last Wednesday.

That was one day after Eisenhower had talked to a news conference of the need for a solution carefully arrived at. No doubt he knew what Brownell was going to tell the court the following day.

Like Eisenhower, Brownell set no deadline for ending public school segregation. It should be done as "quickly as feasible," he said.

many husbands and children and pets have you looked after, and given the loving care they seem to require? How many miles of linoleum have you scrubbed? How many panes of glass have you polished? And how many pounds of clothes have you washed and folded away in your lifetime?"

But there is no real argument or lack of appreciation here. Despite Mrs. Jungert's picturesque catalog of wifehood and motherhood, I am sure that she and I and Pat Morin and Mr. Jungert and all us other millions of fellow prisoners of marriage will agree on one point:

No harried woman who ever bossed a happy family would trade her career for any other job on this green footstool we call the earth.

Social Pattern Changes Called Threat to Churches

By GEORGE CORNELL
BOSTON (U)—American churches were pictured today as standing at a peak of "tremendous strength"—but at the same time groping uncertainly for ways to make that power felt in a topsy-turvy age.

Enormous, swift changes in social patterns and "dangerous moral conditions" challenge the effectiveness of the churches, said a key report to the biennial assembly of the National Council of Churches.

Despite Christianity's gains "in institutional strength," the report said, there is a disturbing question whether churches are "more or less influential in American life" than they used to be.

The report was for presentation to 2,500 representatives of 30 Protestant and Orthodox denominations assembled here to seek new methods for reinforcing their fraternity of faith.

"When we consider how little it costs to be counted among the church members in our country, we are troubled," the report said.

"The average church member is not conspicuously different from the average nonmember. The average church is so much conformed to the world that people are surprised if it sharply challenges the prevailing behavior of the community."

The major, 6,500-word document on "the state of the church" was prepared by the council's general secretary, Dr. Roy G. Ross, and its associate general secretary, Dr. Roswell P. Barnes.

It generally set forth the new problems confronting Christianity in a modern era described as one of "unprecedented change" in the living habits of people.

The council, representing 35,500,000 Christians of varied traditions, headed into its first working sessions today after hearing a call to tighten its ranks, to strengthen common convictions.

"A closer degree of cooperation is the demand of the hour," the

TCP puts lost engine power back to work

First introduced exclusively in Shell Premium Gasoline, TCP* is now in regular grade Shell Gasoline, too. Gives performance never before possible with a regular grade fuel

TCP*, Shell-developed additive that overcomes the greatest cause of power loss in the majority of the cars on the road today, has now been blended into regular grade Shell Gasoline.

As a result, engines designed to operate on regular gasoline can benefit two ways. First, TCP additive "fireproofs" combustion chamber deposits, effectively controlling pre-ignition. Second, by changing the deposits on the spark plugs to non-conductors of electricity, TCP additive stops misfiring. Each plug fires as it should, preventing fuel waste.

If your engine customarily runs on regular fuel and is being robbed of power by deposits—you'll now get performance never before possible with a regular grade gasoline. Shell Gasoline with TCP gives these engines an increase in power and engine smoothness, an increase in spark plug life, an increase in mileage. And you'll get these benefits before you've finished the second tankful.

Since engine deposits form constantly, continued use of Shell Gasoline, regular grade, with TCP additive is essential to retain its benefits. Now at all Shell Dealers.

Russians and 7 Satellites Meet To O.K. Treaty

By STANLEY JOHNSON
MOSCOW (AP)—Delegations from the Soviet Union and seven Communist nations of Eastern Europe gathered here today to take "immediate measures" to assure their security. The United States and West European countries declined invitations to attend.

The conference is expected to pave the way for formal inclusion of East Germany in the Communist military system as a counter to the Western agreements to rearm West Germany within the North Atlantic Alliance. Delegations from East Germany and Poland arrived in Moscow Saturday, and those from Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Romania and Albania arrived yesterday. Communist China sent observers. Heading the Soviet delegation is Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, assisted by Deputy Foreign Ministers Andrei Gromyko and Valerian Zorin.

In originally inviting 24 countries to the parley and proposing that it be held in either Paris or Moscow, the Soviets frankly aimed at preventing ratifications of the Paris pacts to rearm West Germany within the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Molotov first suggested on Nov. 13 that the 24-nation conference be held Nov. 29. A week later he offered to set a later date and warned that rejection of his proposition would force Soviet Union and her allies to take countermeasures for their own security.

The United States, Britain and France quickly made it clear they would not sit down with the Soviets until the Paris accords were ratified by the parliaments of the signatory nations.

The Moscow conference was immediately set up without the West, but it was not until today that formal notes from the Big Three were ready for delivery to the Moscow government. Western sources described the notes as polite refusals. Similar notes already were in from some of the smaller European nations.

Science Finds 'Barrier' to Long Life

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—You have a good chance of living to be 100—if you first hurdle a curious invisible barrier at ages 60 to 75, a medical team reported today.

This barrier is a period in which certain chemical and physical processes of the body begin to reverse themselves, in a kind of reverse aging. You begin growing younger in certain ways.

This new finding on growing old is described by Doctors A. A. Goldbloom, Otto Deutschberger, Irving Chapman and H. B. Eiber, of New York Medical College, in an exhibit at the clinical session of the American Medical Assn. opening here today. It is based upon a survey of more than 1,000 persons aged 80 to 100.

They find evidence that some biochemical and physical processes which increase with age begin to go into reverse between 60 and 75. Just why they do so is not yet clear. But it looks as though the changes amount to "some invisible, not clearly understood barrier."

"Most of us die before reaching that barrier, or while going through it. But, once we get through, our chances of living to be 100 years are good," Dr. Eiber said.

Two processes which seem to change are hardening or calcification of the aorta—the main artery from the heart—and dilatation of the aorta.

The amounts of certain fatty substances in the blood—which are blamed as having a part in hardening arteries—actually begin to drop after age 75, the study finds.

The medical team finds that increased blood pressure at older ages is not something which is normal or inevitable, but rather something which can and should be controlled, to help people reach the century mark.

Many flowers which have strong odors do not have nectar from which bees can make honey.

Fireman, Save Those Coconut Pies

DALLAS (AP)—Fireman C. W. Brock, who doubles as cook at Station 36, left in a hurry after an alarm yesterday.

En route he remembered three coconut pies in the oven, baking for supper.

He advised the fire dispatcher, who called the police dispatcher, who flashed word to a patrol car cruising in the area to "turn out the fire in the oven at Fire Station 36."

The house was heavily damaged. Police saved the pies.

Store Elevator Falls Faster Than Prices

TOKYO (AP)—Two dozen bargain hunters in the Isetan department store rushed past the guards and crowded into the elevator.

The elevator slipped its brakes and plunged eight stories to the basement, nonstop. Nobody was hurt, but Isetan store officials rushed the passengers into a parlor, apologized profusely and gave them each 500 yen (about $1.50) merchandise certificates.

Shabby Recluse Leaves Fortune to Minnesota Kin

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP)—A 75-year-old recluse who died Nov. 16 left a secret fortune of at least $175,000, county officials have reported.

Edward J. Johnson lived a quiet and secluded life in a tiny two-room apartment. Friends said he rode a bicycle because he believed that automobiles were too expensive. People who knew him also said that he once went on a hunger strike for a while when the price of bread went up 2 cents.

Earl Abbey, Orange County public administrator, said yesterday it was learned Johnson was a wealthy man after his will, scribbled on notebook paper, was filed for probate. Abbey said the recluse accumulated his wealth through shrewd stock market investments. The public administrator said $175,000 already has been accounted for and further investigation may show that Johnson was worth $500,000.

Johnson left his estate to two relatives he had not seen in 40 years. They are a sister, Mrs. A. M. Wyman, believed to be in Minneapolis. The will also listed a "nephew" as a beneficiary but his name is not known here. It was reported that the nephew may live in Duluth, Minn.

Editor's Killer Makes Second Prison Escape

COLUMBIA, Ohio (AP)—The man who assassinated Don R. Mellett, crusading editor of the Canton (Ohio) Daily News, in 1925 made his second escape from the Ohio Penitentiary yesterday by calmly walking past two guards.

Patrick Eugene McDermott, 55, joined a party of departing visitors and walked out of a penitentiary honor dormitory in what prison officials indicated was a well-planned escape.

An automobile which pulled up to the pen just as McDermott walked out with an attractive woman visitor whisked the fugitive away.

McDermott was convicted of murdering Mellett the night of July 16, 1926. The Canton editor was shot down as he put his automobile in a garage at his home. Trial testimony developed that McDermott was sent to Canton by a Massillon man to "beat up an editor."

The shooting climaxed a Daily News editorial campaign against police protection allegedly given to vice operations.

Turned over to authorities by his brothers in Nanty Glo, Pa., McDermott was found guilty of first-degree murder, with a recommendation of mercy. That gave him an automatic life sentence.

He escaped in 1929 by sliding to the ground on a rope made of clothing. He was recaptured the next day.

McDermott, like other honorary dormitory inmates, normally wears civilian clothes.

Tax Returns Now Affect Stock Market

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—In the jargon of the astrologer the stock market is now in the sign of the Internal Revenue Service.

This is the time of year that stock traders sell — and buy — with income tax returns in mind.

The new factor will color the market picture, already complicated by the entry of the public as an important buying element — an entry which traditionally stimulates buying, and worries some professionals.

Profit taking also is an obvious factor of weight in the stock market. Those who prefer a bird in the hand have been selling to cash in on the gains of the exuberant post-election market. Their selling has slowed down markedly, but not halted, the upward surge of prices.

To this and to the newly emphasized interest of the public — as always, on the bullish side — must now be added the selling of those who want to establish losses for tax purposes, or those who for reasons of their own want to make their profits a matter of record, also for tax purposes.

A third group who may be active, both as sellers and buyers, will be some managers of portfolios of stocks — their own or those they control — who may be switching from stocks which have had notable price gains into others which haven't joined the upward surge as yet and therefore may promise better yields.

All of these cross-purpose factors should make the daily performance of the stock market in the next four weeks particularly interesting.

The amount of stock trading for tax purposes, this year end has the brokers perplexed. At first glance, there wouldn't seem to be many losses to be established, so steadily upward has been the main course of stock market this year. Since September, 1953, for example, the industrials as a group have added 50 per cent to their collective market value.

But look at any recent day when the stock averages made a new high for the year and you'll find that a few individual stocks were making new lows for the year. Traders who guessed wrong on them would have a loss to report for tax purposes.

To do this the traders could make a simple sale and the loss is a matter of record — for matters of tax reporting they can't buy this same stock back for 30 days. If they still have faith in the stock, as often is the case, and want to retain their holdings, they have another course. They can buy an equal number of shares of the stock. They must wait 30 days and then sell their original holdings for loss-establishing, while retaining the new block for whatever purpose they have in mind. Of course, if the price has gone down in the period they had to hold both blocks, they'll be sorry.

Selling to establish a profit could be for two reasons. Either the owner prefers to pay the tax on the capital gain this year rather than next, or he has losses on other capital holdings which offset the profit. Result—no tax.

Farm Fire Loss Over $35,000 at Black River Falls

BLACK RIVER FALLS, Wis. (Special)—A fire of undetermined origin Saturday night caused damage estimated at between $35,000 and $50,000 on the farm operated by Guenther Gally, 10 miles west of here.

Principal structure destroyed was the 158-by 34-foot barn. The farm, formerly owned by the Wyes brothers, is one of several in that area owned by Fred McKee, Milwaukee industrialist, who has 2,600 acres in this region and operates them as "McKee Acres."

Assistant Fire Chief Al Young said the local company was called to the scene about 9 p.m. He called it the worst fire in the county this year. Damages, he said, probably will exceed total damages of any farm fire on record in this area.

Fire apparently started in the hay loft as the farmhands who are displaced persons from Germany first noticed the fire when it was shooting from the hay loft. Before calling for help they were able to get the entire dairy herd of 30 cows and 22 calves out of the barn. The Taylor fire department under the direction of Chief Don Smart assisted. The cooler was removed

The bride was presented by her stepfather, Edwin Hovre. White chrysanthemums and pompons were used in the church. Kay Jorgensen was organist, and Austin Underdahl, Beach, sang "O Perfect Love" and an arrangement of "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride's attendants, Mrs. La Verne Elland, La Crosse, her sister-in-law, and Miss Alda Rindahl, sister of the bridegroom, were in nylon with floor-length skirts of mesh and lace bodices and jackets. Mrs. Elland was in aqua while Miss Rindahl's gown was flamingo. They carried yellow pompons.

The bridegroom was attended by La Verne Elland, the bride's brother, and his cousin, Richard Byom.

The bride wore white nylon net over satin. The skirt worn over a hoop was of tiers of net, and ended in a chapel train. Her veil of nylon tulle fell from a crown of Chantilly lace. She carried a white Bible, gift of the bridegroom, and a sash of the bridegroom, and a sash of the bridegroom, and a sash of the bridegroom.

A reception was held for 800 in the church parlors. Tables were laid in white with aqua. Assisting in serving were the Misses Ardyce Lien, Bernice Hovre, Janice Engelen and Leona Thompson. ## WHITEHALL GUESTS

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—Three students from Whitehall at the North Central Bible Institute, Minneapolis, spent the Thanksgiving weekend in Whitehall. Miss Marie Phillipson was a guest at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Phillipson. A freshman there this year, she is editor of the school annual and works as secretary in the office where the annual is printed. Miss Mary Jane Waniorek, senior at the institute, also was a holiday guest at the Phillipson home and with other local friends. Roger Dissmore, a freshman tendering the school on a music scholarship, was a holiday guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Dissmore.

Christmas Gift Packages From The Kitchen. Six unusual ways of packaging holiday foods you prepare yourself are pictured above. A plastic refrigerator storage box holding homemade candies, is topped by four red and green gum drops, at the lower left. Pipe cleaners are stuck through the center of the gum drops and held to the box with red and green tape. A dime store glass goblet, upper left, banded with holly design tape and red tape holds petit fours—or it may be filled with jam or jellies.

In the center above, a round pie tin, covered with a gold lace doily and edged with green cellophane wreathing held by bands of red tape, may be filled with little cakes, cookies or doughnuts. Two green plastic strawberry baskets, above at the right, are taped together after filling, with a large poinsettia of red sashen ribbon, and lower right, another small plastic box is trimmed with a silver lace doily, sequins and sashen ribbon all taped in position. The large center plastic box has swirls of red tape over the top with strips of "Merry Christmas" gift wrap tape crisscrossing the red.

For children's boxes of cookies or candy, tape-outlined windows and doors make a house of an oblong plastic container. A cardboard roof is attached with tape. Another oblong plastic container may have a cow-catcher of strips of green at one end, a red cardboard smokestack with absorbent cotton taped in for smoke, and wheels and headlights made from bright red buttons fastened on with more green tape.

Cotter Students Give Earnest Performance

In a serious and powerful drama, "Deep Are The Roots," Cotter High School students blasted one of the blemishes on American Democracy, race prejudice, Sunday night at the Catholic Recreation Center. This moving play by Arnaud D'Usseau and James Gow was capably presented by an earnest group of seniors under the direction of Sister M. Carlan.

With a difficult part to handle, James Danielson as the Negro soldier, turned in an outstanding performance. Sharing honors with him was Kay Joswick, as Alice the Southern woman who changes from a strong-willed quasi-benefactor of the dark race to a rational lover of all men as her equal.

William Baechler, a Junior, was completely and powerfully the rabid old senator and Mary Dugan handled her role as the innocent white girl who loves a Negro with delicacy and rare understanding. John Sheridan as the Northern novelist who untangles the roots of prejudice.

A moving performance of the part of the Negro mother, Bella, was given by Dorothy Hubot while the only humor in the play was well handled by Barbara Fisk as a flirty negro maid and Norbert Gernes as the effeminate Cousin Roy. The sheriff and his two henchmen were skillfully portrayed by Paul Breza, Dale Welch and Chester Wiczek.

Rosemary Frederickson was assistant director and Patricia Schleich, Jean Witt and Diane Gappa took charge of the properties. Allen Gappa was stage manager, assisted by James Ives, Jerome Gies, John Starzcki and Robert Eberhart. Lights were skillfully manipulated by Chester Wiczek. Sharon Vatter and Margaret Ramsden took care of make-up and sound effects.

Letters Telling Of Successful Dieting Help

By IDA JEAN KAIN
Time and again, your letters reveal that it is the happy success of over a year that lifts your spirits when you read it now. Today's letters will leave no doubt in your mind that reducing can make you feel like a new person.

"I read with interest about the dieter who weighed 172 pounds. I am 5 ft. 5 inches, medium frame, and weighed 172 pounds. I love to cook and take pride in my baking. But 8 years ago I became disgusted with my weight and reduced to 148 pounds."

"Please continue to encourage overweighters to cut down on foods. It makes a person feel wonderful to be told they look 10 years younger. I have more pep with less weight. Your diets encourage saner eating habits and help people to live longer. I would like to weigh 135 pounds which would be ideal for me."

Add a routine of stretching exercises plus a daily walk of a couple of miles. The combination of perfect food habits with moderate daily exercises will bring strength with streamlines—you'll look even younger."

Another 172 pound overweight has triumphed. "Three months ago when I stepped on the scales I found to my dismay I weighed 172½ pounds—out of reason for 5 ft. 3 inches. You might know what I looked like, even though only 29 years old. This morning I again stepped on that scale and it registered 148 pounds. I feel like a teenager."

"My doctor advised me to cut calories to 1,000 a day. That was hard to do until I found your diets, and well—you know the results. With my new food habits I know I can get down to 130 pounds. You have made a happy girl of me."

With such a spirit that young lady will reach her perfect goal. The last letter will help the overweight whose family disapproves of dieting. "On January 25 I started dieting on doctor's orders to reduce my blood pressure which was 220. I was shocked when I found I weighed 214 pounds. My family did not approve of my dieting, but was the one carrying all the extra weight. Size 44 was too tight, so I had started on size 48."

"Today I weigh 15 pounds and I feel better than I have for years. My blood pressure is 130, and my foot and leg troubles have gone with the extra weight. I wear size 18. My neighbors remark about my pep and ask all about my reducing. I am eating different foods, but eating well. Your 'Take Your Choice Diet' helped change my food habits."

It is always harder to carry on a reducing program when the family objects. How wonderfully proud her family must now be of this triumphant, healthy dieter. If you find it difficult to reduce alone, a new leaflet, Slimming Clubs, is available. Send long, stamped, self-addressed envelope. You may also obtain Take Your Choice Diet. Address request to Ida Jean Kain, care of The Winona Daily News. Post card requests cannot be answered.

Chicago Lighting Expert Works on Teresan Set

This past weekend James V. Brennan, Chicago television and stage lighting director, worked out special lighting effects on the stage of the College of Saint Teresa for the coming production of "Magdalene and Judas" at the college. Mr. Brennan assisted the director, Frank Dolan, and John Marzocco, executive producer, with the lighting effects for the play written by the Rev. Raymond-Leopold Bruckberger, O.P.

Working together is not a new experience for these three men. They toured the country with Play-ers Inc., the famed repertory company of Washington, D. C., during the first years of the group's organization.

Since then Mr. Dolan has worked as a director, actor and technician, done television and movie work in New York City, and toured the Midwest with his own marionette show. He has spent six seasons in summer stock and two winter seasons in musical stock companies. Last year he directed Jean Giroudoux' "The Madwoman of Chailloot" at Saint Teresa's.

Mr. Marzocco was stage manager for the Ruth St. Denis Studio in New York. He also acted in one of the first telecasts of a complete play on a nation-wide network, the first two-hour network show on television. He has directed a number of plays including "B. Shaw's 'Arms and the Man'" and Thornton Wilder's "The Skin of Our Teeth."

Mr. Brennan acted as stage manager for Play-ers Inc. during the first two years it was organized. He toured the country again as technical and lighting director for an automobile show. During the past few years, Brennan has alternated between stage manager in the legitimate theater and television lighting director work.

In addition to his present position in Chicago, he owns and operates the Theatrical and Display Lighting Service, Chicago. "Magdalene and Judas" offers not only an original approach to the Magdalene theme, but also presents a new and very modern staging set-up. Moments of high dramatic intensity occurring throughout the play call for intricate technical planning.

The highly specialized lighting that the production will require for its full effect was worked out this weekend by Dolan, Marzocco and Brennan. Mr. Brennan brought some of his own equipment to achieve these effects.

Costumes, set and props are being designed upon by the author, Fr. Bruckberger, with the director and executive producer. The play will be presented at the college auditorium the evenings of Dec. 8 through 11 at 8 p.m. Tickets can be obtained starting Tuesday at Maier's Drug Store all during business hours or at Edstrom's and Choate's from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. and from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. Tickets will also be sold until 9 p.m. on Friday and Saturday from 9:30 a.m. through 5 p.m.

Gore Planning 2nd Recall Drive 'If Joe's Noisy'

MADISON (AP)—Leroy Gore, originator of one drive to recall Sen. Joseph McCarthy, says a second campaign will be launched against him "when he gets noisy and when his actions warrant."

Gore, who was leader of the "Joe Must Go Club," which fell short because it lacked sufficient signatures to recall petitions, made his announcement Saturday after a meeting with representatives of farm, political and labor organizations. Gore is a weekly newspaper publisher from Sauk City.

In announcing his plans Gore said "I am as sick of McCarthy and McCarthyism as you are. We hold in our hands the only weapon which can destroy the bigotries of McCarthyism for this generation. When we start petitions circulating will depend on McCarthy himself—when he gets noisy and when his actions warrant, and that should not take long."

Gore's drive against the state's junior Republican senator last spring required 404,000 votes to force a recall election. He reported collecting 335,000. Gore said his effort this time would require a minimum of 289,000 signatures, on the gubernatorial vote in the general election Nov. 2.

Gore continued: "The 'Joe Must Go Club' of Wisconsin will continue its organization activities for a second recall effort against Sen. McCarthy on assumption he will make a second effort advisable by his own actions."

"We first will attempt to solve a number of constitutional questions involved with the recall, and I'm sure these can be ironed out satisfactorily. Then we plan to meet a goal of 18,000 to 20,000 pledged circulators all over Wisconsin."

Car Hits Bridge On Arcadia Street

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special)—Harlan Peterson, 28, was released from St. Joseph's Hospital this morning after being confined there with minor injuries suffered early Sunday morning when his car hit the Trempealeau River bridge on Main street.

He told Maurice Scow, county traffic officer, that he fell asleep while rounding a slight curve in Main street near the Riverview bowling alleys at 4:15 a.m. Sunday. His car hit the bridge and was completely wrecked. He was alone.

Peterson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Peterson, Arcadia, and was visiting here over the weekend. He works in La Crosse. His injuries included two loosened front teeth.

Employment Service In Caledonia Friday

Itinerant services to Houston County residents will be resumed in December by the Minnesota Department of Employment Security. Stanley S. Hammer, manager of the Winona office of the Minnesota State Employment Service, announced today.

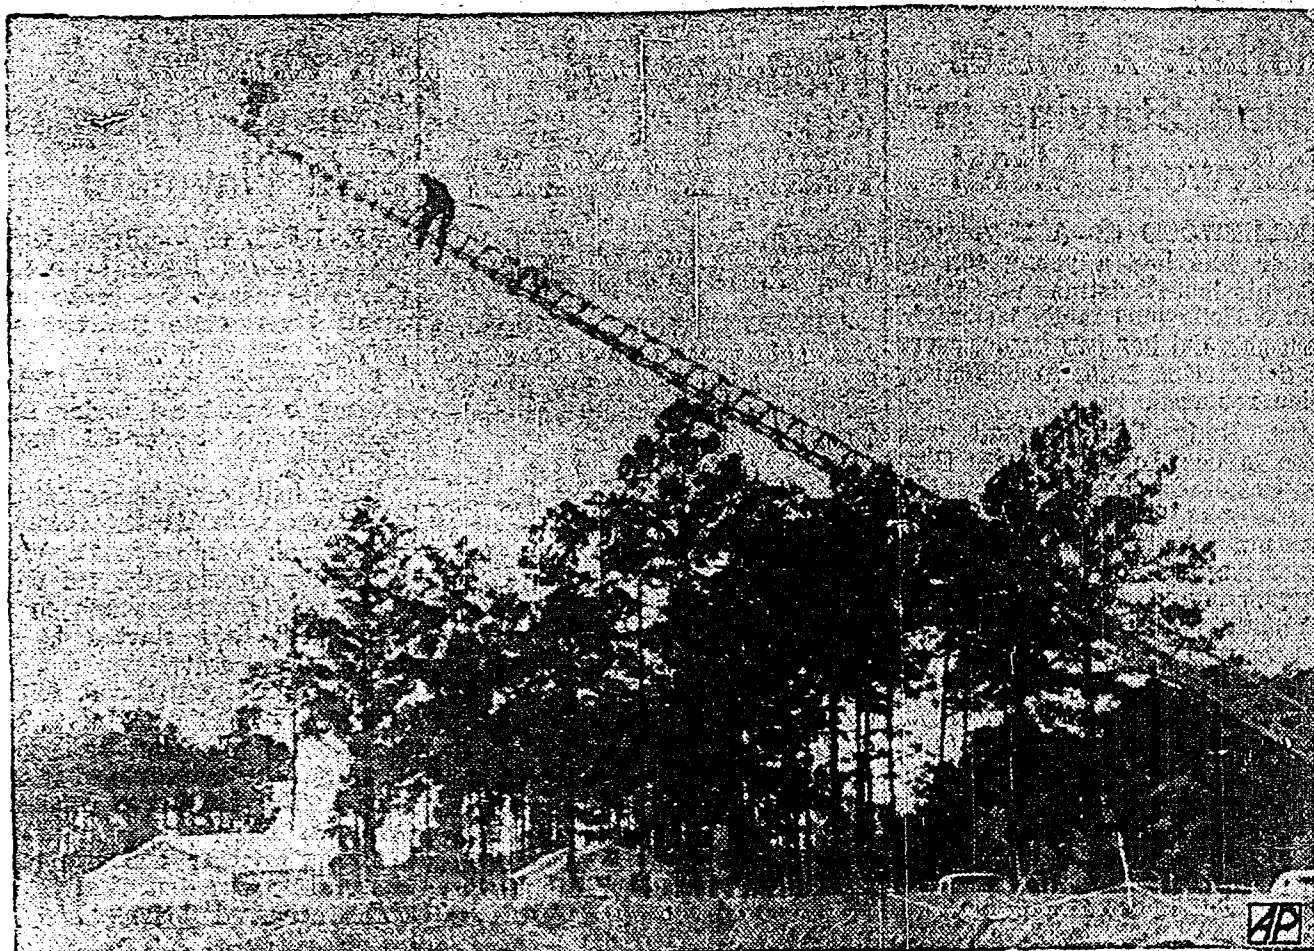

He said that a representative of his office will be in the community room at the Caledonia City Hall at 10 a.m. Dec. 3 and alternate Friday mornings thereafter.

Service to Houston County was discontinued last spring, when traffic reached a level at which it was impractical to continue.

Persons wishing information about the several services offered by the office, including work applications, unemployment claims and employer services, should contact the employment service representative, said Hammer.

Adenauer Retains W. German Control

By BRACK CURRY

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer pressed forward today in his fight to rivet West Germany to the Atlantic Alliance after parrying a determined challenge to German rearmament in two state elections.

The Chancellor's Christian Democratic Union lost ground in yesterday's voting in Bavaria and Hesse but held control of the Bavarian state government. This insured the Adenauer regime's retention of its two-thirds majority in the upper house of the federal Parliament (Bundesrat), whose members are named by the state governments.

The voting outcome also raised the possibility that a coalition dominated by the Christian Democrats could supplant the Socialist government in Hesse. This would give the federal regime 30 of the 38 Bundesrat seats, instead of the 28 they now hold.

To ward off any Socialist challenge in the courts, Adenauer wants a two-thirds endorsement in both houses of the federal Parliament for the Paris agreements to raise half a million German troops under the banner of the North Atlantic Alliance.

The election outcome reinforced the Chancellor's determination to push through the ratification vote early next year. But the declines in Christian Democratic strength from its high mark in the 1953 national election were a warning to Adenauer that many Germans actively resent his demand that they turn soldier again.

Adenauer's controversial agreement with France to "Europeanize" the Saar Valley rated much less attention from the voters than the rearmament problem.

The Christian Democrats' biggest setback came in Hesse, traditionally a Socialist and Protestant area. The CDU blamed its losses on Socialist charges that rearmament ahead of negotiations with Russia would lead to a new war.

The CDU's percentage of the total vote in Hesse dropped to 24.1, from 33.2 last year. The Socialist percentage soared from 33.7 to 42.6.

The Christian Democrats also slumped in Bavaria—largest of West German states in area and second in population—from 47.9 per cent in 1953 to 38 per cent yesterday.

The Communists and right-wing extremists failed to elect a single deputy in either state.

In Hesse, where a total 2,500,529 valid ballots were cast, this lineup was elected for the 96-member Parliament: Socialists, 44; Christian Democrats, 24; Free Democrats, 21; Refugee party, 7.

With no single party winning a majority, pro-Adenauer leaders announced they would try to form a coalition state regime of Christian Democrats, Free Democrats and Refugees.

Fog Plus Smog Expected to Lift In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A heavy siege of fog in southern California, with strong doses of smog added in the Los Angeles area, appears to be lifting.

Visibility improved last night after the fog had slowed highway, sea and air traffic for five days. The Weather Bureau reported that clearing weather could be expected today, although low clouds were predicted for the morning hours.

Yesterday morning motorists on Los Angeles streets kept headlights burning as the fog cut visibility to less than a block. But in the afternoon the fog began to thin out and in many sections visibility was not impaired.

Los Angeles International Airport resumed operations early yesterday after being closed down during the night hours.

Farmer Cuts Off 5 Fingers to Free Self From Picker

AUSTIN, Minn. (AP)—A farmer cut off all five fingers of his left hand with a jackknife to free himself when he became caught in a corn picker near here.

Irving Brown, 47, Rose Creek area farmer, said "I pulled and pulled, but I couldn't get my hand out. I got my knife out and cut them off. I don't know how I got the knife open. I guess I did it with my teeth."

Brown, reported in good condition in an Austin Hospital, was working on the William Thoson farm, 3½ miles north of Rose Creek Saturday when the accident happened.

Gus Wendorf, another farmer working in the field, carried Brown about 100 yards to a road where an automobile was hailed.

Attendants don't know just how much weight he has gained because they don't like to move him. His unconscious body was found last February in his cab after a holdup.

State Election Laws a Mess, Freeman States

ST. PAUL (AP)—A complete overhauling of Minnesota's election laws, including the corrupt practices act, is essential "because they are now a first class mess," Gov.-elect Freeman said today.

Freeman announced he has picked a committee of three to study the laws with a view of revising and recodifying them so that "they will be made intelligible."

Named to the committee were Rep. Karl Gritter, St. Paul, a leader of the liberal faction; Barney Allen, Detroit Lakes, Democratic national committeeman for Minnesota, and Joseph Robbie, Minneapolis lawyer.

"The election laws are such a first class mess that no candidate can make any sense out of them," Freeman said. "The definitions of political committees are nebulous and vague."

"Several candidates amended their financial reports because they were not sure what they had to do. There ought to be some relationship to financial contributions and expenditures in the reports of candidates. There is virtually no reporting because the volunteer political committees do not mean anything in the sense of responsibility."

Freeman said he is surrounding himself with selected persons who can advise him on various problems.

He said George Selke, St. Cloud, former president of the St. Cloud Teachers College, will advise him

McCarthy 'Political Demise Imminent,' Sen. Morse Believes

MONTREAL (AP)—Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon predicts Sen. McCarthy's "political demise is imminent."

The Oregon independent said in an interview here Sunday he believes Wisconsin's junior Republican senator will be censured "by a two to one vote" in the Senate. "I think that McCarthy sincerely believed that he was representing the majority view of the American people," he said. "Now, even he must realize that he is not. His political demise is imminent."

Morse forecast a Democratic victory in the 1956 U.S. elections, but said his present plans are to run again in Oregon as an independent.

He said he bolted the Republican party in 1952 because he no longer believed in its policies and "no political party is going to tell me how to vote."

on education matters; Frank Rarig, secretary of the Wilder Charities, St. Paul, on public welfare; Harry Peterson, executive secretary of the Minnesota Association of Cooperatives, on agriculture; and Hubert Schon, Minneapolis, executive secretary of the United Labor Committee for Human Rights, on highway safety matters.

Freeman said he had not offered the state highway commission's post to Frank Marzittelli, St. Paul commissioner of public reports. He commented on a published report Freeman said he talked to Marzittelli about certain matters but that the highway commissioner post was not even discussed. Highway Commissioner M. J. Hoffman's term runs until 1957.

County Shipping Group Re-elects

Other officers and directors re-elected were: Robert Gallagher, vice president; Arthur Aldinger, secretary-treasurer; Clark Goss, trucker-manager and Robert Newland, John Anderson, Dan Sperbeck and Leo Heiden, directors. A report of operations since formation of the association in March revealed that 315 cattle, 378 hogs, 82 calves and 65 sheep were shipped from as far west as Utica, south to Caledonia and east into Wisconsin. Lyle Lamphere, director of public relations, Central Livestock Association, South St. Paul; Homer Cadman, Kasson, district field representative of the CLA; and Gordon Anderson, Winona County agent, spoke. The film, "This Little Pig Went to Market," was shown.

Members of the board will attend a district meeting at Claremont next Saturday.

Whitehall Council Proposes $3,753 Tax Boost Increase

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—An increase of $3,753.07 in the property tax levy for the city of Whitehall is included in the proposed 1955 budget. Last year's levy was $10,000.

The annual budget hearing will be held by the City Council next Monday night.

Proposed expenditures include $7,500 for general government, $325 less than the budgeted amount for the current year and includes expenses for the first nine months of the year and an estimate for the last three.

Other budget proposals with the present figure following: Protection of persons and property, $6,500; health and sanitation, $4,500; highways, $14,100, $18,525; library, $2,500; recreation and education, $4,000, $4,040; unclassified, $500, $100; temporary loan retirement, $25,000, $26,000, and outlay, $40,000, $23,500.

Total expenditures would be $121,109 compared with $106,150 in actual expenditures for nine months and estimates of three months for the current year.

The proposed 1955 expenditures, less $73,575 in revenues other than estimated property tax receipts and $33,831.93 in unencumbered 1954 estimated surplus, leave the $13,753.07 general property tax proposed for city purposes.

Teen-age Girl Riding in Car Shot As Gun Goes Off

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A teen-age girl riding in a car was shot through both legs when a pistol discharged accidentally in the auto Sunday.

Janet Gerard, 19, Port Washington, was described in fair condition at a Milwaukee hospital. Police said the bullet pierced her left leg above and below the knee and then entered the right leg below the knee.

Police said Hugo Brinkman Jr., Milwaukee, told them the gun went off as he handed it to Miss Gerard after withdrawing it from his belt. Brinkman, Miss Gerard and Richard Schwegler, also of Milwaukee, told police they were returning home after an afternoon of target shooting with other guns in a gravel pit on a farm near Racine.

Brinkman was quoted as saying he was handing the pistol to the girl because it had not been used in the target shooting and she had not seen it.

The youth told police that he was frightened after the shooting and hurried the gun from the car.

St. Paul Boy, 8, Drowns Trying to Save Playmate

ST. PAUL (AP)—Brian Geisenheyner moved forward to aid a playmate when ice broke on a small pond while the two were playing with their sleds.

But seconds later the thin ice coating cracked under Brian, plunging the 8-year-old boy to his death.

Brian had been playing Saturday afternoon with Wesley Olson, 11, and Frank Vento Jr., 11. Wesley said they decided the ice on the pond was strong enough to hold them and they started to walk toward the center.

Wesley, walking ahead, fell into the water when the ice broke. Brian offered his hand but he also fell through. Wesley managed to make shore. The third boy rushed to summon aid.

Frank's father and two others, Harold Nyquist and Charles Fluegel, recovered Brian's body.

St. Mary's Tips St. Ambrose in Home Debut

Skemp, Jansen Pace 88-74 Redmen Win

By RALPH REEVE
Daily News Sports Editor

Coach Ken Wiltgen's St. Mary's Redmen showed considerable promise in their 1954-55 basketball season debut before the home folks Sunday night at Terrace Heights.

The Redmen handed the Bees from St. Ambrose at Davenport, Iowa, an 88-74 setback, turning the tide with a well-balanced scoring that saw five players hit double figures.

It was St. Mary's second straight win. They opened with an 83-59 verdict over Bethel.

Junior forward Bill Skemp led the way with 25, with freshman guard Ken Jansen, who captained Wiltgen's prep squad at Chicago Loyola last year, parlayed four field goals and 13 free throws into a 21-point total.

Jansen missed only three gift shots and sparked St. Mary's 20-point surge in the final ten minutes with 16 points.

The Redmen were never headed after Gene Biewen netted a pair of free throws for a 2-0 lead. The victory boosted St. Mary's stock in the Minnesota College Conference. St. Ambrose won a 65-62 decision over St. Thomas Saturday night in St. Paul.

The Bees, winners over St. Mary's last year, had a 1953-54 season record of 20-3 and were semifinalists in the NAIA tournament at Kansas City. Three regulars and six lettermen returned from that squad.

The visitors, however, played a ragged game and helped make St. Mary's job easier by losing possession of the ball 27 times on bad passes, fumbles and traveling violations.

In addition, the St. Ambrose scoring gun, 6-6 center Bob Canady, saw action despite a touch of the flu and although he hit 17 points, was below form.

Saturday night against St. Thomas he hit 10 points for a new St. Ambrose career scoring mark of 1,145 points. He holds every St. Ambrose scoring record possible.

After Skemp and Jansen in St. Mary's scoring were Captain Marty (Pepper) Coughlin with 14, including eight in the first 10 minutes to help the Redmen to a 19-14 lead; 6-4 guard Gene Biewen with 10 and 6-5 forward Fred Sheridan with 12, all in the first half.

St. Ambrose's 6-5 forward, Bill Fay, notched 18, followed by 6-5 front-liner Willie Malatesinic with 13 and guard Bill Dart with 14 from the outside.

St. Ambrose frequently went into a double-teaming press down court and deployed a 1-3-1 zone in the offensive court. The Redmen didn't have much trouble breaking through the press, however, and several times scored buckets when men up floor were left unguarded.

A good shooting club, the Redmen offensively were versatile with driving from the side by Skemp and outside shooting from Sheridan, Coughlin, Jansen and Biewen.

St. Mary's held a 42-34 intermission lead, but the Bees narrowed that to three points after halftime at 56-53.

Malatesinic went to work and poured in nine points on three fielders and as many free throws. Reserve center Mike Surby and Skemp made 60-53, however, on a short and pair of gifts, going into the final 10 minutes. Jansen and Skemp then spread the gap to a 71-58 lead with six minutes left.

When Malatesinic and Dart fouled out in succession the Redmen took a 75-60 lead. In the final three minutes Jansen's ball control dribbling tactics resulted in four more St. Ambrose fouls and seven more points by Jansen via the free throw line.

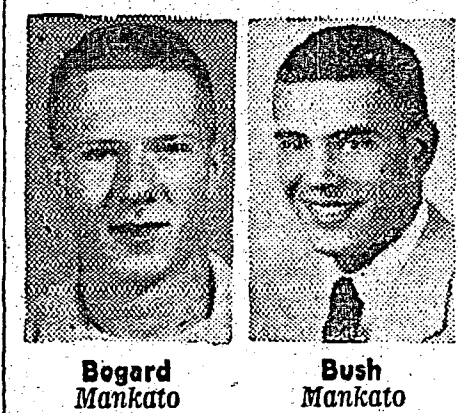

St. Ambrose committed 28 fouls. St. Mary's 25. The Redmen hit 38 of 50 free throw attempts for an accuracy percentage of .760. The visitors netted 32 of 45 for .711 per cent.

Bill Hostettler and Art Sagen were two Winona High football players selected on the 1954 All-Big Nine Conference squad announced today.

Selection of the 1954 squad was based on voting of sports writers in Big Nine communities. The 22-man unit is the 28th annual all-conference team selected under the direction of Russ Voight, Albert Lea.

Each sports writer was allowed to vote for 22 players, two at every position, and was limited to two choices from the team in his city.

Only four players polled more votes than Hostettler, by acclaim the outstanding center in the conference. He received seven votes and every vote listed him at the center position.

Albert Lea's fullback, Roger Nelson, and Rochester's brilliant backfield artist, George (Punk) Schlieff were unanimous choices. Red Wing's Willis Fjerstad received eight votes for a backfield position, the same number given to Fjerstad's teammate, 6-6 end Dick Deden.

The selection of Sagen is noteworthy, since as a fullback, he competed at a position that had a host of outstanding performers. Three Winona High players were named honorable mention. They were tackle Allen Lingenfelter and Don Beaman and second-team halfback Jon Bitu.

An all-opponents' team picked by members of the Rochester prep team listed Bitu as a halfback for his 85-yard touchdown run in that game. The Rochester all-opponents' team served as a basis of voting by Dave Pennington, Rochester sports editor.

Rochester and Mankato placed four men on the first team, while Red Wing's co-championship team with Rochester was represented by three players.

Hostettler was a thorn in the side of opposing teams all season. Typical of his alertness was the Winona-Faribault game. He scored a touchdown by recovering a free ball in the end zone, intercepted several passes, blocked a Faribault try for extra point and drop-kicked what proved to be the winning point in a 14-13 Winona High victory. His dropkick in that game was the only one he attempted in his Winona grid career.

Hostettler is 5-11 and weighs 165 pounds. Sagen, a 185-pound power-runner, scored 32 points for No. 6 position in conference scoring. His outstanding performance of the season demoralized Albert Lea and paced the Hawks to a 47-13 victory.

He rolled up 143 yards in 14 carries for a 10.3 average, scored two touchdowns and a pair of extra points, one of his touchdowns on a 59-yard gallop. Deceptively fast with explosive power, an example of Sagen's hard-hitting ability was in the Rochester game. Two Rochester players hemmed Sagen in by the sidelines so he put his shoulder down and kept charging.

The impact knocked both Rochester tacklers cold. The game was held up five minutes while they were being revived.

Two Big Nine all-stars were named on an all-state team published Sunday by a Minneapolis newspaper. One was Fjerstad and the other Mankato's versatile performer, John Bush. A 6-3, 200-pound tackle, he also played end, center and fullback for the Scarlets and was named all-state center.

Another example of versatility in Big Nine players was Bob Haigh, outstanding Owatonna player. A guard during the first half of the season, he switched to fullback in the Winona High game. He was named all-conference guard.

After the Army had gone ahead on Pete Vann's 42-yard pass to Bob Kynasky, the Cadets came up with one of their questionable kickoffs. This one was an onside kick that went only to the Navy 47. Army thought it could fool the alert Middles and get another quick TD.

But short kickoffs were common for the Cadets, even though Head Coach Earl Blaik said it wasn't planned that way. In addition to the onside kick, kickoffs by Army's Ralph Chesnauskas were so short that Navy was able to put the ball in play on its 38, 41, 38 and 42. The Middles marched to touchdowns after two of the kicks, including the one that gave them a 21-20 halftime lead.

In the fourth quarter came Vann's questionable call of a pass play after an intercepted pass had stopped the Middles three yards short of a touchdown. Pat Uebel and Tommy Bell tore the Navy line apart as they tried the ball down field, where Uebel took over and moved it to the 7. Then Vann tried to pass, and the Navy line, hearing down on him like a ferocious bear, knocked the ball from his cocked hand. That was Army's last throw.

More than 100,000 saw the game in Municipal Stadium.

Yanks Seek to Place Kansas City Franchise

HOUSTON (AP) — The New York Yankees' efforts to place their homeless Kansas City American League franchise in Denver and the St. Louis Cardinals' plan to shift their Columbus club to Omaha reached the "showdown" stage today as the minor leagues prepared to open their annual convention.

With the Dec. 1 deadline for any franchise shift only 48 hours away, officials of the clubs and leagues involved were knee-deep in special sessions and private caucuses hoping to bring baseball's newest and biggest headache to some sort of solution.

The American Assn. and the Western League scheduled separate meetings before tangle in a joint session later in the day. In the meantime, officials of the Yankees, Cardinals, Denver and Omaha clubs were engaged in private conferences.

Realizing that the ultimate decision reached at these meetings and conferences could lead to baseball's greatest realignment of teams, other leagues held off their meetings until the picture cleared.

This much was known. The Yankees want to move their Kansas City AA franchise to Denver, currently in the Class A Western League. The Cardinals are ready to vacate Columbus and switch that AA franchise to Omaha, also in the Western. The Cardinals, incidentally, also own the Omaha franchise. The independently owned Denver club is operated by Bob Howsam.

The Yankees reportedly have offered $50,000 for the Denver franchise. This has been refused. Western League directors have refused to set any price and have challenged the American Assn. to initiate draft for its territory procedures as permitted under the rules.

The Yankees prefer negotiation to draft for two reasons. First, they would like to settle the matter peacefully. Second, a draft victory would still leave them without a ball park, which they would be forced to either rent or purchase from Howsam. The Yankees don't want to buy the Denver park and Howsam doesn't want to lease it.

The Cardinals-Omaha situation is not so involved. Draft is out of the question there since Omaha is Cardinal owned. Besides, only one city from a league can be drafted, according to baseball law.

Perez to Meet Lopes Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Brooklyn's Lulu Perez and Sacramento's Joey Lopes, two fast young lightweights, meet tonight in a television 10-rounder at New York's St. Nicholas Arena.

Lopes makes his Eastern debut and if he can get by the flashy Brooklynite, he'll be in line for plenty of action on network shows. He has a 23-0-2 record compared to Perez' 30-3-1.

The other Monday night network bout, from Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena, will feature a pair of punching middleweights, veteran Gil Turner of Philadelphia and young Ray Drake of New York. Drake beat Floyd Patterson twice in the amateurs but hasn't developed as fast as Patterson in the pros.

The bout of the week will be beamed out of Cleveland's arena Wednesday night. Heavyweights Roland La Starza of New York and Charlie Norkus of Port Washington, N. Y., meet in a 10-round.

SPORTS Sidelights BY RALPH REEVE

To Bee or Not to Bee

St. Ambrose basketball coach, Bob Duax, has a timely hobby. He runs an aviary, and that means he's a bee-keeper. By coincidence, St. Ambrose sports teams are nicknamed the "Bees," and as their sports publicity man said Sunday night, "Duax coaches a million bees."

Whether thou goest, Bronko Junior? A lot of colleges are after you after the great football year you had as a tackle on International Falls' powerhouse this fall. Your pappy, old Bronko Nagurski Sr., would like to have you attend Minnesota like he did. . . . And your mother would like to see you attend Notre Dame. . . . But Notre Dame doesn't have hockey, your favorite sport and most folks figure you'll wind up at Gopherville.

But our Marquette University man tells us, "Nobody knows it, but Bronko Nagurski Jr. is practically set to come and play for us."

What gives, Bronko Junior? Is the Marquette story a rumor? Whether thou goest? My, we get tired of mentioning Austin all of the time, but sometimes Ove Berven's prep cagers just can't be overlooked. . . . For instance, the display of Jerry Olson, 6-6 forward, who scored 39 points in Austin's 69-53 victory over Minneapolis South Wednesday night. . . .

It established an Austin prep record, the previous mark of 33 held by Dave Weiss who later went on to play some good basketball at the University of Minnesota. . . . It was 25-21 Austin at one point in the second quarter and the Packers held a 10-point margin at halftime. . . .

Then Olson went to work and scored 20 points in the third period to give Austin a 60-38 lead. . . . It'll be reunion time when Winona High's cagers play the Faribault Falcons this season. Hawk Coach Don Snyder and Falcon mentor Walt Olsen were college cage teammates at Morningside in Iowa. . . .

Danny Seymour and Bob Nybo, a pair of linemen, were named Red Wing football co-captains for 1955 at a recent dinner in which Paul Giel was the main speaker. . . .

Saufl Going Strong

Former St. Mary's College star Paul Saufl captains the Allen-Bradley team of Milwaukee in the National AAU cage circuit, the same league that includes the famous Phillips Oilers and Peoria Caterpillars teams. . . .

He led the team in scoring three years ago. . . . Also on the team is Grant Wittburger, former Marquette star who played against Saufl when Wittburger was a freshman at Macalester. . . .

To Badger cage fans, we'd like to know if you're interested in other Wisconsin prep scores in addition to the ones in this area. . . . Let us know the teams you're interested in and we'll run the scores if we get them. . . .

Jerry Eckstein, Plainview football and basketball coach, is looking for a football opponent away from home Sept. 16 next season. . . . Lt. (jg) Maynard L. Johnson, of Plainview has been assigned to Navy reserve training duty in Chicago. . . . A former University of Minnesota cage star, he holds the individual scoring record for Gopher basketball for a single game, 38 points, against Kansas. . . .

Schedules, Etcetera

Look Magazine bosses are still blushing over the big splash given Maryland's football team early this season. . . . especially after the defending "national champions" took it in the chops a couple of times this year. . . .

A Notre Dame student wrote to Look's "Letters to the Editor" column: "There is no need to waste a great deal of space on the University of Maryland's rise to grid power when two words will suffice—Soft Schedule. . . . Amen." . . .

A year ago, after announcing the score of Oklahoma's 7-0 victory over Maryland in the Orange Bowl, La Crosse sportscaster Charley Kerns cracked, "It just goes to show you can't play in the minor leagues all year and expect to win the World Series. . . ."

We hail the selection of Bob McNamara on Look's 22-man All-American team. . . . Not only was it doing a great ball player justice, but it proves it's still possible to make All-America without a two or three-year buildup. . . .

Edmonton Wins Canadian Title

TORONTO (AP) — The bizarre ending of Saturday's Grey Cup game still had Canadian football fans buzzing today as they argued over the "lateral pass to nowhere" that enabled the Edmonton Eskimos to win the championship tilt, 23-25.

The winning touchdown came when Jackie Parker, former Mississippi State star, grabbed a wild pass thrown into the air by Montreal's Chuck Hunsinger and dashed 85 yards to score. That tied it at 25-all and Bob Dean kicked the winning conversion to bring about one of the greatest upsets in the history of cup competition.

Army Has No Alibis for Loss to Navy

By ORLO ROBERTSON

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Army offered no alibis for its 27-0 defeat by a fired-up Navy football team Saturday but there are many who questioned the Cadets' kickoff strategy and the calling for a pass for what could have been the tying touchdown when they had been ripping the Middles' line asunder.

Fired with the knowledge that a Sugar Bowl assignment awaited them should they win or even tie, the Middles lacked only a few yards of matching the Cadets in yards gained on the ground and made three of their five completed passes good for touchdowns.

Army gained 265 yards rushing to Navy's 259 and picked up 98 in the air to the Midshipmen's 75. Each completed five passes.

In the second period Army recovered a fumble on the 3-yard line. The recovery led to the first of two touchdowns that Army scored within a minute of each other late in that period, giving them the only lead, 20-14, they enjoyed all day.

After the Army had gone ahead on Pete Vann's 42-yard pass to Bob Kynasky, the Cadets came up with one of their questionable kickoffs. This one was an onside kick that went only to the Navy 47. Army thought it could fool the alert Middles and get another quick TD.

But short kickoffs were common for the Cadets, even though Head Coach Earl Blaik said it wasn't planned that way. In addition to the onside kick, kickoffs by Army's Ralph Chesnauskas were so short that Navy was able to put the ball in play on its 38, 41, 38 and 42. The Middles marched to touchdowns after two of the kicks, including the one that gave them a 21-20 halftime lead.

In the fourth quarter came Vann's questionable call of a pass play after an intercepted pass had stopped the Middles three yards short of a touchdown. Pat Uebel and Tommy Bell tore the Navy line apart as they tried the ball down field, where Uebel took over and moved it to the 7. Then Vann tried to pass, and the Navy line, hearing down on him like a ferocious bear, knocked the ball from his cocked hand. That was Army's last throw.

More than 100,000 saw the game in Municipal Stadium.

ter game. Two Rochester players hemmed Sagen in by the sidelines so he put his shoulder down and kept charging.

The impact knocked both Rochester tacklers cold. The game was held up five minutes while they were being revived.

Two Big Nine all-stars were named on an all-state team published Sunday by a Minneapolis newspaper. One was Fjerstad and the other Mankato's versatile performer, John Bush. A 6-3, 200-pound tackle, he also played end, center and fullback for the Scarlets and was named all-state center.

Another example of versatility in Big Nine players was Bob Haigh, outstanding Owatonna player. A guard during the first half of the season, he switched to fullback in the Winona High game. He was named all-conference guard.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D.S.C.

Answer to Question No. 1
1. Probably slightly. I gave intelligence tests to 56 Powers models and all 36 girls in the New York Music Hall Ballet troupe. They averaged same as college freshmen. Billy Rose's show girls tested one point above freshmen; his dancers, slightly below. School records were amazing. Other students agree. There are hosts of exceptions. Just look at me.

Answer to Question No. 2
2. A government report states that only 17,861 juvenile delinquents are in reform schools, indicating large numbers are in prison with adult criminals—the worst possible place for them. Only 7 of 104 reform schools have a full-time psychiatrist; 37, part-time psychiatrists. The rest: None. True? "Shocking."

Answer to Question No. 3
3. Professor L. M. Terman expressed the belief that fewer schools than formerly are approving "skipping of grades." However, he added, "Practically everyone who has investigated it is in favor of extra promotions." Children with IQs of 140 are two to four years ahead and all their grades in knowledge and usually above average in physique, sociability, and moral character. He believes they should enter college at 16—17 at the latest. So do I.

Polish Child Rejoins Mother After 10 Years

PULLMAN, Wash. (AP)—Little Andy Prazik was well into a new chapter of his 11-year-old life today, far from his native Poland, where he parted from his mother 10 years ago.

The handsome youngster, who can't speak a word of English, hopped from an American airliner at Spokane yesterday into the arms of his mother.

Andy and his mother were separated in Warsaw in 1944. Andy went to live with his grandmother when his mother was taken to a Nazi concentration camp in Germany. His father was killed in street fighting then rocking Warsaw.

After the war, Andy's mother made her way to America, met and married an American, Matthew Garcia, now an engineering student at Washington State College.

Five years ago she applied for her son's release, but it was only several weeks ago that Andy's visa was granted and he was permitted to leave the country.
