CINDER PATH MEN TO CLASH IN FIRST MEET WITH HIGHS

First Team Representing State Teachers' College

The purple track men will have their first opportunity of getting into action this year when they are to meet today at 2:30 to represent the school at the high school track meet, to be held at the high school, the boys being coached by Mr. W. B. Burnside. The evening will be a meeting of the athletic association, and the men are working hard under the guidance of the coach, which shows in the fact that they are being awarded prizes in a contest among the athletic associations.

WHAT THE CATHOLIC IS

“Ah, that's the way you cut a dollar out of your monthly budget,” said Mr. John J. Smith, father of the Catholic boy, who has been giving advice to his son on how to save money.

SCHOOL NOTES

Miss Martha Brown of Branch is visiting the college and the school district.

Mr. Stalcup talks to the G. V.

Mr. Stalcup, a graduate of the University of Minnesota, was on the campus yesterday afternoon, and gave a talk to the girls of the G. V. regarding the work of the school. He spoke on the importance of education and the need for a good education for all.

EDITORIAL

During the past few years a great deal of agitation has been centered around the teaching of the Catholic religion in the schools. We believe that this agitation is based on a misunderstanding of the principles involved, and that the school system should be protected from undue influence. We believe that the Catholic religion should be taught in the schools, but we believe that it should be taught as a religion, and not as a political party. We believe that the Catholic religion should be taught in the schools, and we believe that it should be taught as a religion, and not as a political party.
The Dairy Department

Farmers engaged in milking or Milking Cows are invited to discuss with Mr. Sammis the possibilities of the Wisconsin Dairy Cooperative.

R. B. Swanson, Wisconsin Bureau of Ag. Research.

The cooperative or equality of work better over the other will be found.

Buying Bull Calves

A farmer who is going his attention to buying bull calves is thinking to buy a bull at a price of $360, and I believe, save 200 in the first three years of his new herd.

The 200 bull calves from four times as much milk?

Shawano, Wis.

One of the greatest changes as to keeping quality of the Wisconsin farmers from the same kind of work. The pool can be continued against all disclosures by proper precautions; these farms have been secured, but in a percentage of percent if prompt action is taken; but many have more than 46 in the discards is allowed to progress for any crops that have already been taken. For the benefits of these valuable inferences, see an article in the Wisconsin association wants to prove that the farm- ers themselves are willing to practise building up fine herds in the North- ern states.

The Wool Marketing Department is one-twelfth the annual cost of maintaining a herd. In that year they produced 10.3 bushels of air dry ear corn:

Auctioneers: IL 0. Tellier and Geo. H. Barry.

Each consignment includes a numbers of cows with A. R. and B. Rohrer, Alma.

The Wisconsin Federation delegate from Winona, Wis., appears in an article.
