Tornadoes Lash Georgia, Alabama

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (U)—Tornadoes dipped suddenly out of leaden skies in eastern Alabama and western Georgia yesterday and killed one person, injured at least 48 and wrecked scores of homes. Property losses ran into hundreds of thousands of dollars. Alabama counted 57 homes destroyed and 100 more damaged while Georgia reported 220 badly battered and some demolished.

Pope Has Third Restful Night Since Attack

VATICAN CITY (U)—A Vatican source reported today that Pope Pius XII has passed his third fairly restful night in a row since he began rallying from the illness that has threatened his life.

The source said the 78-year-old pontiff still appeared to be gaining strength in his battle to surmount the recurrence of gastritis and hiccups with which he suffered a severe collapse last Thursday.

As evidence of his improvement, the leader of the world's Roman Catholics swallowed a little broth yesterday—the first food he had taken by mouth in a week—and later broadcast a few words to the people of Rome through a microphone held to his lips as he lay in bed.

A Vatican press spokesman announced last night: "The Pope's gradual improvement continues." The Pope's voice was carried directly by loud-speaker to a throng of 50,000 worshipping in St. Peter's Basilica nearby and was broadcast by the Vatican radio. West European networks picked up the broadcast and a recording was made for American listeners.

At one point the voice of the Pope faded slightly. But mostly he spoke firmly and in cadence, preceding his customary benediction with this brief message:

"To our dear children of beloved Rome, whom we feel as close to us in prayer as we are close to the Divine Master in our suffering and in our fulfillment of His ever-good and benign will, we impart, with our heart turned to the Lord and the Immaculate Virgin, our paternal apostolic benediction."

When he finished, a great cheer rang through the basilica.

Postman Sells Mansion Willing Him for Kindness

PHILADELPHIA (U)—Postman John N. McKelvey has sold the showplace mansion willing him by a woman to whom he showed kindness because he "just couldn't get used to" the 15-room home.

The house, located in suburban Wayne, cost a reported $175,000 when built in 1925, but it brought slightly less than $30,000 at auction Saturday. Still to be sold, however, were the home's many valuable antiques and objets d'art.

McKelvey and his wife were bequeathed the home by Mrs. Lydia Wood Bailey, 80-year-old widow.

120 Children Assisted by Goodfellows

More than 120 Winona children have already been given warm clothing by the Goodfellows, it was reported today.

The children were taken to the stores and fitted with new shoes, overcoats, coats, trousers and other such winter clothes. Three groups of school children are fitted each day after their needs are determined. The two Goodfellows workers who have been doing this fitting for 15 years expect to clothe 800 needy children this month. School children are being taken care of first before Christmas vacation begins. Preschool children will be fitted the week before Christmas.

Many letters have been received by the Goodfellows requesting aid for needy children. One letter was as follows:

Dear Goodfellows:
I would like to report the case of a family whose mother is nearly paralyzed from the dread disease of multiple sclerosis. The father is employed but much of his check goes toward medical expenses, leaving little with which to clothe their two children and nothing for Christmas cheer.

The two children are a boy four years old and a little girl five months old. Please investigate this sad case.

A neighbor
The neighbor listed the family's name and address. Needless to say, this case is being examined by the Goodfellows.

Another letter was written by an expectant mother requesting aid for her children:

Dear Goodfellows:
I'm writing to you because I have to. My husband is unemployed and we have three children, with another one on the way.
My five-year-old needs a warm jacket so he can play outdoors. The three-year-old girl needs a jacket, also. The little nine-month-old needs long sleeve T-shirts. I could also use baby clothes and a blanket for the baby I am expecting soon.

I know I can trust you to help me.

Thanks,
(Signed by the mother)

All contributions are appreciated by the children they help. A warm, happy glow spreads over each child's face as he puts on a new, warm coat or a pair of sturdy shoes. Contribute NOW to the Goodfellows. They need this money early so they can tell how much to spend on each child. Be a Goodfellow. Send or bring your contribution to the Goodfellows in care of The Winona Daily News.

Freeman Hopes To Avoid Raise In State Taxes

Plans Emphasis On Efficiency And Economy

ST. PAUL (U)—Gov.-elect Orville Freeman said today that "A definite objective of the new administration will be not to raise taxes." Freeman agreed with legislators that the "money problem" is the big issue to confront them, but he made it clear there will be "great emphasis on efficiency and economy."

"There are a good many areas where we can save money," the governor-elect said, "and we will squeeze every red penny. By the same token, however, it's the responsibility of the Legislature and the administration to see that necessary needs and services are met."

"The sock has been pretty full around here ever since the war, but they have turned it upside down and let it pour out. There's no money left."

"This is the first administration since the war without a surplus in the general revenue fund and without a surplus in the income tax fund. We don't have the 'fat' to work on that we had before."

Freeman also made it plain today that he wants the fiscal matters of the state faced by the Legislature in the early part of the session, and "not settled in the confusion and heat of the closing minutes."

At a press conference he disclosed he has been concentrating on budget matters and how much additional revenue is needed to finance essential services.

Freeman said he expects to have by Wednesday a breakdown of anticipated revenues and amounts needed to carry on the state's business.

Wants Public Informed
After complimenting members of the Legislature for working hard in setting up an organization and committees to start functioning shortly after the Legislature convenes, Freeman said:

"We want fiscal matters settled early in the session and not hurriedly in the last minutes of the session. That is our objective so that there will be public understanding of state government by the people."

"We want to bring decisions to public attention while the Legislature is in session and not after the session is ended. I believe the public should be informed on these matters so that we may also get their reaction on decisions. Public understanding is basic to good government."

20 Days to Prevent Budget
The governor has 20 days to present his budget message after the Legislature starts but Freeman said he will do everything he can to submit it as early as possible.

The governor-elect said he also expects to announce soon the name of his adviser of juvenile matters.

Roads in Good Shape
MADISON, Wis. (U)—All Wisconsin roads except those in the Hayward and Superior areas are clear and offer good driving conditions, the state motor vehicle department reported today.

Grief-Stricken Parents, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald DeBaggis, horror written on their faces, are restrained from rushing back into their blazing Franklin, Mass., home. Earlier efforts failed to save their five children trapped when flames ripped through an upstairs bedroom. (UP Telephoto)

Five Children Die in Fire In Massachusetts

FRANKLIN, Mass. (U)—Five helpless children, trapped in their bedroom by flames, died a few minutes before midnight in a roaring farmhouse fire.

Their father, Reginald DeBaggis, 30, a polisher at the Attleboro plant of Swank Jewelry Co., rescued his wife Maureen, 29, and their youngest child Diane, 6 months.

The dead were Shirley, 7, Donald, 6, Margaret, 4, Joanne, 3, and Regina, 2.

Dr. Walter Crowley, medical examiner, said they apparently suffocated although some of the bodies were charred.

DeBaggis said a kitchen oil stove exploded as the family was preparing for bed about 11:45.

The five older children were asleep directly above the kitchen. Their parents and the baby were downstairs in a room adjoining the kitchen.

"I grabbed a blanket and ran into the kitchen and tried to smother the fire," the grief-stricken father said. "It didn't do any good. The flames burst all over the place."

"The flames spread so quickly I wasn't able to make it up the stairway off the kitchen. I went out front and went around the building smashing windows, trying to get in so I could go up the rear to the children."

"It didn't do any good. I cut my hand and I've got burns. I tried, Lord knows I tried, but I couldn't get them."

While DeBaggis fought the flames, his wife carried the baby out and put her in an automobile crib.

McCarthy Resumes War Plants Probe

WASHINGTON (U)—A closed hearing on Communist infiltration of defense plants was scheduled today in a resumption of a probe Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) has claimed was held up for months by Senate investigations of him.

Several unidentified witnesses were called for questioning by the Senate investigation subcommittee McCarthy heads.

Acting Staff Director James N. Juliana said he expected McCarthy to be on hand. The senator did not show up in Cincinnati for a scheduled speech Saturday night and his wife explained "the doctor put his foot down" because McCarthy's injured elbow "has not cleared up."

McCarthy had said beforehand that 42 subpoenas were issued and that a considerable number of plants in the Northeast were involved. He said the hearings would run "right up to the first of the year." Juliana said it is "most likely" public hearings will start tomorrow.

First Since Censured
The hearings were to be the first held by McCarthy since the Senate last week voted, 67-22, to condemn his conduct on grounds he obstructed a constitutional process and tended to bring the Senate into "dishonor and disrepute."

John E. Held, chairman of the Cuyler Press Club's dinner in Cincinnati, created something of a stir when he announced Saturday that McCarthy could not be there because he was "gravely ill" in Washington. Mrs. McCarthy said this report was "a little exaggerated."

McCarthy's elbow was injured several weeks ago when a vigorous glassmaker pushed it against a glass table top. He was hospitalized for 11 days.

Last spring McCarthy said more than once that the 36-day public probe of his row with top Army officials was preventing him from digging Communists out of defense plants.

Lists 130 Reds
He said his subcommittee had a list of 130 to 133 Reds "poised at the jugular vein" of the nation. Democrats on the investigating unit urged him to give the names to the Defense Department or to the Senate Internal Security subcommittee but nothing ever came of this.

Juliana said one witness expected to be called at the new hearings is Herman E. Thomas, of Allentown, Pa., a former FBI undercover agent in the Communist party.

Thomas testified Oct. 13 before the Internal Security subcommittee, which also has conducted a hunt for Reds in defense plants. He named 230 persons, mostly in Pennsylvania, whom he said he had known as Communists.

Three other persons suffered minor injuries.

Yukon Warms Up—Just 38 Below
EDMONTON, Alta. (U)—The weather man here got word today that the temperature at Snag, in the Yukon, got up to 38 below zero Sunday after a low the night before of 52 below.

But to the 30 odd residents of Snag, that's not bad; the mercury got down to 82 below in February 1947, the lowest ever registered in North America. The lowest on record is 90 below, recorded in Siberia in 1892.

Sales Tax Expected To Come In for Some Discussion

By JACK B. MACKAY
Associated Press Correspondent
(Editor's Note: This is the first of a series of articles based on a poll of members of the 1955 Legislature on major legislative problems.)

The biggest issue facing the next Legislature will be how to raise enough money to finance state expenditures for the next two years — and, at the same time, satisfy the demands for no increases in taxes.

A survey by The Associated Press revealed today that the law makers overwhelmingly singled out "taxes" or "finances" as the problem requiring top priority by the Legislature, which convenes Jan. 4.

Of the 94 senators and representatives replying to a questionnaire on a number of major issues, 90 per cent tagged the financial situation as the "No. 1 problem." Top issues named by some were highways, reapportionment, constitutional revision, unemployment, welfare needs and the sales tax.

Biggest Headache
All generally agreed that the big headache will be how to get sufficient revenues to pay for essential services, but many insisted there must be "no hike in state taxes and that 'a balanced budget' should be the goal."

Typical of the sentiment was the comment of Rep. Charles L. Halsted, Brainerd, onetime Democratic-Farmer Labor candidate for governor:

"There must be an eagle eye scrutiny of present spending. I am not convinced that we need to make much of an increase in spending."

A veteran senator, Homer M. Carr, Proctor, said "we must meet demands for more funds for education and other major services — without an increase in taxes."

Others pointed out that more money must be raised to maintain the present level of expenditure, but they were equally vehement in demanding that taxes should not be increased.

Sen. Elmer L. Andersen, St. Paul, said the Legislature should adopt a program to finance necessary government services and distribute the burden equitably "with a view of attracting more industry to the state."

Tax Changes Asked
Sharing Andersen's views was Sen. Gordon H. Butler, Duluth, who said there must be legislation to "encourage new industries and payrolls." Butler predicted that a hot issue will be the financing of a school buildings program. He also recommends elimination of personal property taxes.

The personal property tax was labeled as "most inequitable" by Rep. A. F. Oberg, Lindstrom. He also suggested modification of the tax structure.

Sen. Harold W. Schultz, St. Paul, feels that top billing should be given a tax program with the aim of "strengthening Minnesota's economy."

A southern Minnesota lawmaker, who asked that his name be withheld, said that "we now have too high a level of spending, with the surplus exhausted in the general revenue fund and income tax fund."

Oratory will be hottest, in the opinion of Rep. Bill Shovel, St. Paul, when "appropriations and taxes" are considered.

Revamping of the tax structure should be the primary concern of the Legislature, Rep. Roy H. Cummings said. He suggested that "all should help carry the tax load" and contended that property owners now carry an unfair share.

"Hold the line on taxes" was the plea of Rep. Ely R. Schenck, Wolverton. He commented that ways could be found to "get more for the money to be expended."

Rep. Walter E. Day, Bagley, a member of the House since 1919, with the exception of one term, said tax revision is necessary and warned that the mental health program will continually call for more money as it develops.

Finding funds to meet the rising cost of education is the $64 question, Rep. O. L. Johnson, McGregor, said.

Trawler Crew Claims Proof Of Sea Monster

GLASGOW, Scotland (U)—The crew of the trawler Rival claimed today they have proved the existence of the legendary Loch Ness monster—or something about as weird—with their echo-sounding equipment.

Their "monster," they reported, is 50 feet long and has approximately eight legs and the silhouette of a gigantic scorpion.

The echo sounder charts underwater depths and schools of fish by recording the time a sound takes to echo back to the device. Peter Anderson of the Rival's crew reported the mystery object was located at a depth of 540 feet, 180 feet above the bed of the Scottish lake where the monster is reported seen every so often.

Anderson said he was at the ship's wheel, bound for the west coast fishing grounds, when "suddenly out of the corner of my eye, I saw the graph needle of the echo sounder start to draw an astounding shape."

"I shouted to the captain and other seven crew members—they were down below having tea—and they came crowding up to the wheelhouse. At once we turned the boat about and tried to track the monster again, but we must have frightened it away."

The graph showed a small-headed thing with an ungainly body and a tail about 18 feet long.

L. A. Southport, technical expert of the firm which makes the echo-sounding equipment, said the echo graph "was definitely animal matter of some kind" and "certainly was not a whale or like any other kind of fish that has ever been heard of."

Boyle's Column Time for That Office Yule Party

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (U)—"Down with office Christmas parties!"

Each year about now this crusade cry rings out across the land, and lurid pictures are painted of wild orgies indulged in by the white collar peasantry before they board the last bus home on Christmas Eve.

Sin in foreign boudoirs always holds a certain attraction. But to Mrs. Jones, the average housewife, even the thought that a holly wreath has been hung up in the workaday atmosphere of her husband's office conjures up scenes of far wilder abandon.

She has heard all about those revolting office Christmas parties. Here is what she imagines:

Promptly at 5 o'clock the office desks sprout leaves and turn into tall oak trees hung with mistletoe. Champagne begins to bubble up magically from the office water cooler.

How They View It

A door opens and out comes the boss, dressed in goatskins. Over his shoulders are draped two giggling stenographers, wearing nothing but bright red lipstick, leaves in their hair, and a filmy white veil.

"Here, Jones, have one on me," cries the boss, tossing him the prettier girl. Jones, who by now is clad in a goatskin, too, catches her easily.

The other men and girls in the office, all decked out in goatskins and veils, then join hands and circle the water cooler in a game of ring-around-a-rosy, pausing now and then to dip their warm muzzles in the cool bubbling champagne.

Hidden pipes play a mad tune. The laughter and the songs grow louder. Goatskins pursue the veils in a merry chase across the desk tops.

Jones catches and holds the coyly struggling stenographer, and panting hard murmurs, "Miss Smith, you never told me you had freckles on your shoulders. Let me count them."

"Oh, we're right under the mistletoe, Mr. Jones," she whispers, "but aren't you married?"

"What is marriage?" says Jones bending to her upturned face. The music swells. The champagne bubbles higher. Higher. Higher. Higher.

What Actually Happens

The boss calls in the fellows half an hour before quitting time.

"It's been a good year, boys," he says, "and I want you to join me in a little celebration."

He gets out some paper cups and a bottle of Old Grandson. He moistens the bottom of each cup with a few drops from the bottle, then fills the cups to the brim with water and says he's sorry he forgot to get in any ice.

"Cheers!" he says. The boys gulp down their drink, then stand around with their cups in their hands like Oliver Twist waiting for more porridge.

One Drink

"Merry Christmas," says the boss, banging in the cork back in the bottle. "Take the rest of the day off."

So the gang troops out together, goes down to the nearest bar and for a couple of rounds while they feelingly discuss what a grand old something or other the boss is.

"Well, any boss is better than none," says one. They all laugh and start home.

"And where have you been, big shot?" asks the wife as Jones comes through the door.

"Oh, the fellows at the office just had a little party," he replies amiably. The next moment Jones feels a high-heeled shoe beating a tattoo on his skull, and he hears his wife's voice crying:

"Well, don't think you can come reeling home to me, you beast! I know what you've been up to—you and that smirking Miss Smith."

What I say is, fellows, we can't win. Too many wives now believe in the legend of the wild office Christmas party. Even if all us desk jockeys quit our jobs and went to work in factories, you know what would happen? Some blue-nosed dreamer would start yelling a new slogan:

"Down with factory Christmas parties!"

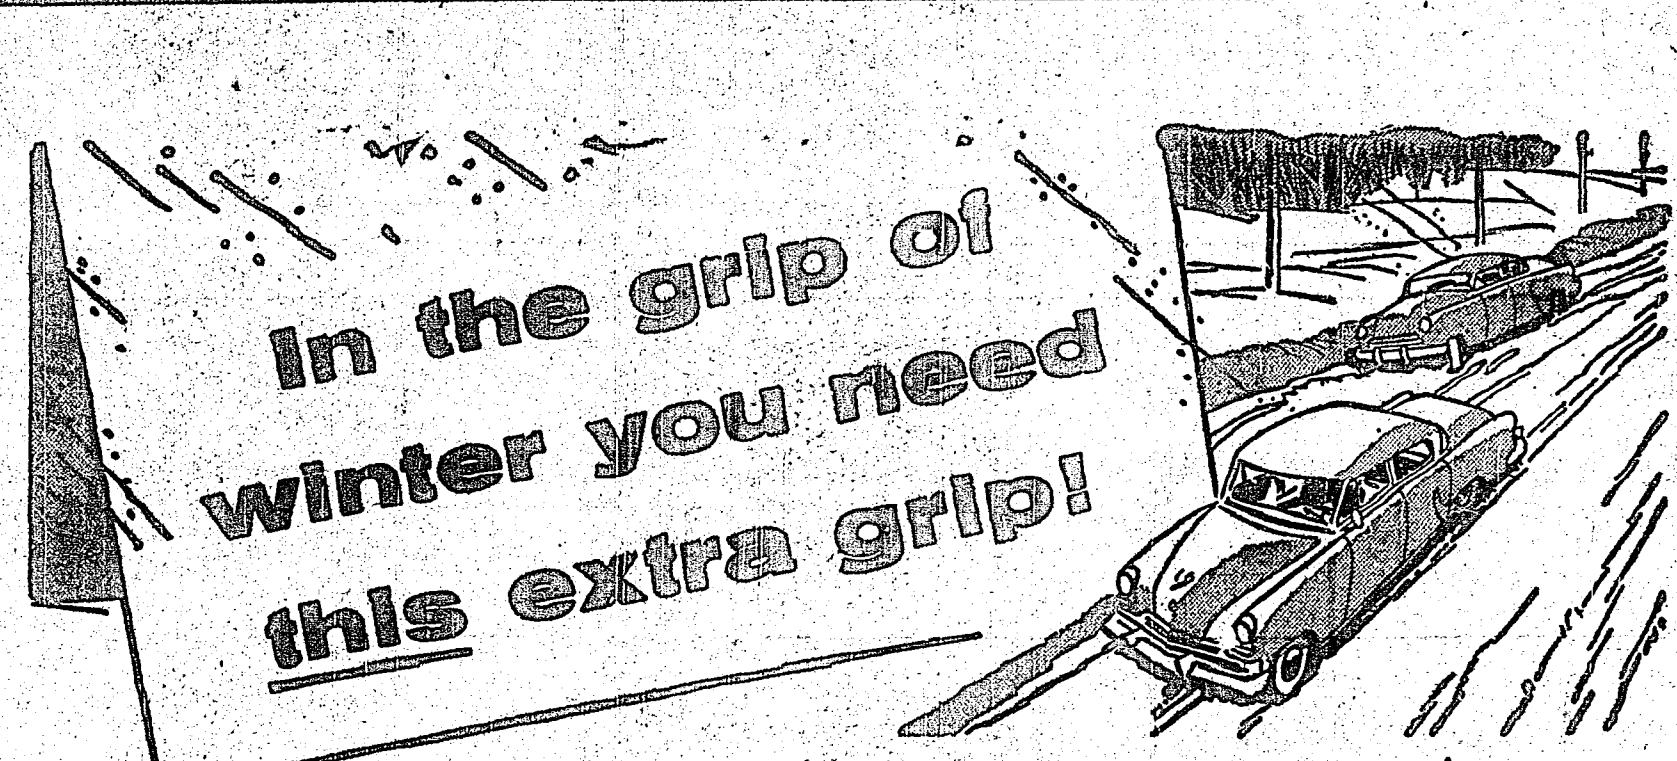

An egg of high quality covers a small area. Its white is very thick and stands high; its yolk is firm, high and well centered.

Village Voting Slated Tuesday; Referendums Up

Voters of Minnesota villages go to the polls Tuesday to elect municipal officers. Most of the communities will name a clerk, trustee, justice of the peace, assessor and constable.

Special referendums will be placed before the voters in several villages. At Caledonia, the volunteer fire department is asking approval of a $15,000 bond issue for new equipment. If tomorrow's vote is favorable, the village council plans to buy a truck with a 500-gallon water storage tank, ladders, extinguishers and hose. Salaries of the mayor and trustees also will be an issue. The electorate will be asked to raise the mayor's wage to $175 annually and trustee wages to $125.

La Crescent will fix salaries of the mayor and trustees and decide whether to hire a fulltime village marshal. If approval of a marshal is given, the council will do the hiring.

The Stockton village budget will be the main item of business at a village meeting following the election there. It will be held in the village hall at 8 p.m. when the polls close.

Lanesboro will name a mayor to replace Harold Lewis who resigned recently. Gerald Olson, a councilman, who has filed for reelection, has been acting mayor. James Austin, Leo Hager and R. O. Benson have filed for the mayor's post. Gloy Bennett is opposing Olson.

Faced with the controversial issue of fluoridating the town water supply, the Spring Valley village council will place the issue before voters Tuesday. Salaries of Canton village officials will be considered at a referendum there. A proposed ordinance change would place the mayor's wage at $60, clerk at $125, treasurer at $35 and trustee at $40. All are on an annual basis.

Elections will be held in most incorporated villages of this area including Goodview, Minnesota City, Rollingstone, Lewistown, Stockton, Utica, Dakota, Altura, Elba, Brownsville, Caledonia, La Crescent, Hokab, Houston, Spring Grove, Canton, Chatfield, Fountain, Harmony, Lanesboro, Preston, Mabel, Peterson, Rushford, Whalan, Wykoff, Elgin, Plainville, Kellogg, Minneka, Eyota and Dover.

At Spring Grove, fate of a liquor license for the American Legion Club will be up to the voters as will increases in salaries of village officials. The mayor's salary would be set at $150 and the trustee's at $120.

Elks Lodge Holds Memorial Service

Elks who have died during the past year were remembered in the annual memorial service of Winona Lodge 327, Benevolent & Protective Order of Elks, Sunday afternoon.

The 1,600 Elks lodges hold the memorial service on the first Sunday of every December.

At the Winona service, the eulogy was given by Dr. F. J. Vollmer, past exalted ruler; the oration by John Bambenek, past district deputy; music was by Mrs. Joseph Orlovski, and "The Lord's Prayer" were sung by Duwayne Malewicki.

Officers in charge were: Leroy J. Peterson, exalted ruler; Henry Epstein, T. Charles Green, S. S. Sadowski, John Carroll, Lloyd Ozmun, Robert Brehmer and Earl Kane.

Other matters to be discussed, according to Chairman L. E. Palm, include: Determining a deadline date for the exchange of gift merchandise; establishing dates for February Dollar Days; a review of the financial status of the bureau and tentative plans for the 1935 promotional program.

Contributions Praised

J. R. Chappell Honored By 400 on 65th Birthday

About 400 Winona business and professional men and civic leaders gathered Saturday to pay tribute to a friend and associate of 33 years who was observing his 65th birthday.

The late-afternoon reception at Hotel Winona honoring J. Rex Chappell was climaxed by the presentation of a suede-leather bound volume containing a testimonial and the signatures of the well-wishers who attended.

It was a busy and happy birthday occasion for the president of the Merchants National Bank. Chappell personally greeted each of the guests to accept their congratulations and he spoke briefly at the conclusion of the recognition program that was broadcast by KWNQ.

Touched by Remarks. Noticeably touched by the remarks of friends who recounted his contributions to the city, Chappell remarked that during most of his life he had studied balance sheets to "find the exaggerated items and reduce them to size. They have listed only my assets this afternoon," he said.

"It is the duty of every man to contribute to his place of residence according to his opportunities. I feel that I have fallen far short of what I could have done."

Chappell's remarks typified the selfless manner with which he has served Winona. Outstanding among his accomplishments that have contributed to the welfare of the city were spearheading the campaign that produced the present YMCA building and the recent drive to raise funds for the new science building at St. Mary's College.

And he made it clear that the recognition program did not signal the end of his civic endeavors. "I am hoping," he continued, "that as my business tasks lessen, I will be able to make up for civic deficiencies in the last 30 odd years."

Sacia Honored For Work in Apple Industry

GALESVILLE, Wis. (Special)—A half-century of work in perfecting an apple orchard in Little Tamarack Valley northwest of here was recently recognized when Fred Sacia, 81, received a citation from the Wisconsin State Horticultural Association.

Presentation of the document was made at the 86th annual meeting of the society at Fond du Lac, when Sacia was one of two men so honored.

Sacia, who has been called "the father of the Wisconsin Delicious," was among the first to plant that variety, and had the initial plant in this area. The citation reads: "In recognition of his successful pioneering of commercial fruit growing in Western Wisconsin, resulting in the establishment of an outstanding family orchard, and in the encouragement of orcharding in his region."

"Family" orchard is a good word to describe the Sacia business, for Fred was a lad of 14 when his grandfather, Frank Sacia, then a man of 80, planted his first apple trees on the Sacia farm. He was called a visionary for undertaking the project, and Fred remembers laboriously carrying water to nourish the young trees. He lived to taste the fruit of that labor, and only a few years ago, the last of his trees ceased to bear and was removed. Six generations have enjoyed the orchard.

At 61, Sacia maintains his interest in the orchard, now managed by his sons, Ethan and Fred. Throughout the spring, summer and fall he is in the orchard helping with the work. Long since, the

Just what those deficiencies are, along with what Chappell termed "mistakes and shortcomings on the debit side of my civic ledger," were not enumerated, but had they been, their number would have been lost in the shadow of his accomplishments.

Payrolls of Winona, for example, have increased by a million dollars since he has headed the Winona Industrial Development Association which he helped organize in 1930.

Master of Ceremonies Charles A. Choate opened the program jokingly noting that the "greatest thing we celebrate today is that Rex can get Social Security." He too, emphasized that the token recognition did not end Chappell's career—"he's not the retiring kind."

Before beginning the review of Chappell's life, Choate read a congratulatory telegram from "Sgt. Ben Knight," long-time golf professional at the Winona Country Club and a close friend of Chappell.

Athletic Activities. It was but one of many mentions of Chappell's athletic prowess that first became evident as a boy in Wibaux, Mont. Born at Dodge City, Kan., Chappell had moved with his family to a ranch near Wibaux. His father considered him the best cowboy he had ever employed, Choate said.

Chappell used his athletic ability as a pitcher with the Wibaux baseball team, and when he "pitched his arm out" he turned to other fields positions and found little difficulty in becoming proficient at each. A year after arriving in Winona, he pitched a city softball team to the league title.

It wasn't until 1932—almost 10 years later—that Chappell took up golf. As with other sports, he soon excelled, as recalled by a former caddy, Romey F. Potratz. "I was a Potratz who noted that Chappell last won the Country Club championship at the age of 61, some 25 years after he won the crown for the first time."

Eyota Farm Home Damaged by Fire; Family Is Away

EYOTA, Minn. (Special)—Damage estimated at $5,000 was caused when fire burned the roof and interior of the Roy Slaght farm home, a mile west of here, Saturday afternoon.

The Eyota fire department, called by the farm by a neighbor about 3:30 p.m., remained on the scene until about 8 p.m. battling the flames and carrying furniture and family belongings from the 2-story frame building.

Water used to fight the flames was carried in cream cans from town as the water supply on the farm was insufficient. The Slaght family was in Austin at the time of the fire.

cause of the fire had not been determined this morning.

Seventh Day Pastor, Wife Honored at Party

The Rev. and Mrs. Vernon Emerson who served the Winona, Weaver and Rochester Seventh Day Adventist churches the last two years, were given a farewell party at the Mrs. Elsie Wolters home, 476 Center St., Saturday night.

They will leave for a new pastorate at Hibbing, Minn. this week. Percy Lamb will replace them at this circuit. Thirty-three persons attended the party. The Emersons were given a purse and framed pictures.

entire Sacia farm has been planted to apples, and in addition to the 60 acres on the homestead, an additional tract has been added. Farm buildings have been converted to apple-packing sheds where scores labor during the harvest season. Modern packing machinery facilitates the work.

The crisp, juicy Delicious remains the main crop in the Sacia family, but thousands of bushels of Northwestern Greenings, Wealthy, Jonathan and McIntosh are grown and marketed.

His athletic endeavors have been only a small portion of Chappell's accomplishments, however, as explained by other program participants.

Industrial Project. Richard Callender, president of the Badger Foundry Co., told of Chappell's intricate part in bringing the foundry to Winona about five years ago.

"We were looking for a new location and had heard from a customer that there was a building available in Winona," Callender began. "On our first trip here, we found a lot of things that discouraged us—and we didn't see Rex. Later he called and urged us to come back and when we did he went to work and the difficulties started to fade away."

Callender said that Chappell worked night and day to help Badger establish the plant here. "The result," he continued, "is that we're here, we're happy to be here and we're going to stay."

Six Words Defined. C. D. Tearse, a friend of Chappell for years, said he had hoped to summarize his feeling toward the honored guest in a few words, but that no small number of words would suffice. Tearse added that he could narrow the number to six words by carefully defining each of them.

"It is said that if a man is sociable, genial, cordial and affable, then he is convivial. And Rex is that." He then defined the attributes of his second word, ingenious, as being frank, honest, above board, lacking in pretense, and possession of simple naturalness.

Tearse said Chappell has insight into problems that mystify others and therefore he is perspicacious and continued that a magnanimous individual must be generous in forgiving a slight or injury; one who does not harbor resentment or store up grudges and who is too big to waste time on thoughts of revenge.

The concluding words that Tearse utilized to sum up the characterization were stoical and urbane, citing the former as describing one who bears troubles bravely and never begs sympathy and identifying an urbane individual as one who is cultivated, tactful, courteous, ever at ease and possesses self assurance and congeniality.

Attorney Speaks. Last to appear on the formal program was J. M. George, who jokingly remarked that "no fellow could have been as good a golfer and hunter except a banker."

George reviewed Chappell's accomplishments which included service with the Winona County Selective Service board during World War II and the Korean conflict; service to the YMCA; Community Chest; Association of Commerce; A. of C. Industrial committee; the Winona Industrial Development Association; St. Mary's College; memberships in Winona Country Club, Masonic bodies, Arlington Club, Elks Club, Red Men, Athletic Club, Kiwanis Club and the First Congregational Church.

He also noted that Chappell has been active in major banking organizations and small business committee of the Federal Reserve System. He was a president of the state banking organization.

Pre-Banking Career. Chappell's banking career began in Montana. He attended business college in Los Angeles and then returned to Wibaux, Mont., to found the Wibaux Implement Co. He later became the first Wibaux County recorder and then entered the banking business. He was president of the bank at Conrad, Mont., before coming to Winona as a vice president of the Merchants National Bank in 1921.

Choate had earlier explained that Chappell had no other name than Rex, but had arbitrarily added the initial "J" to his name.

The formal program concluded as the group, led by Leo C. La France, joined in singing "Happy Birthday." The committee in charge of the reception included: G. R. Clowary, chairman; A. J. Anderson, J. E. Krier, E. M. Allen, J. M. George, M. H. White, J. E. Bambenek, G. E. Kelley, R. G. Boalt, W. F. White, C. A. Choate, D. S. Chappell, C. W. Whittaker, E. H. Finkelnburg and R. T. Patneade.

Mercury Dips To 2 Above, Season's Low

Winona got its first taste of near-zero weather Sunday night as the temperature dipped to a frigid 2 degrees above zero.

Tonight, the temperature is expected to be about 10 degrees in the city and 8 in the surrounding area, with warmer temperatures—about 26—forecast for Tuesday.

Northern Wisconsin and parts of Minnesota experienced the first sub-zero readings of the season Sunday night, International Falls recording 5 below, while Rochester had 4 below and Redwood Falls, 1 below. It was 3 below in Eau Claire but Grantsburg, Wis., was only a degree warmer than Pellston, Mich., the nation's cold spot at 10 below.

Last night's low here of 2 is well above the 7 below which was the coldest temperature of December 1933. A year ago today, the low here was 20 degrees and at noon today it was 19. The lowest December temperature on record is the 43 below of 1872, while 1950 and 1951 had lows of 24 and 17 below respectively.

Judge Denies Watkins Motion In Tax Case

MINNEAPOLIS—Federal Judge Gunnar H. Nordbye has denied a motion which involved an effort by the J. R. Watkins Co. of Winona to suppress part of the government's evidence in the tax evasion case against the firm and a group of its officers and employees.

The firm and the individuals are under indictment for allegedly failing to pay internal revenue taxes in connection with use of alcohol in Watkins Liniment (Red).

In a ruling filed today, Nordbye decided that a voluntary disclosure by the firm in August 1945 of certain manufacturing and labeling procedures was made almost a year before any public announcement by the government of a voluntary disclosure policy which might halt prosecution.

Nordbye ruled it is clear that officers of the firm were not deluded into making a disclosure. He also ruled a compromise effected in an internal revenue offense does not bar later prosecution for conspiracy to commit the offense.

Dec. 13 has been set for argument of remaining motions in the case—a change of trial place from St. Paul to Winona, requested by the Watkins firm, and a government request for consolidation of two indictments for trial at the same time.

The government has made vigorous protests against holding the trial in Winona, both from the standpoint of selecting a jury, if a jury is to hear the case, and accommodations for the more than 500 government witnesses. The Watkins firm has protested that stripping the firm of its top personnel and home office records for a long trial would mean unusual hardships on the firm.

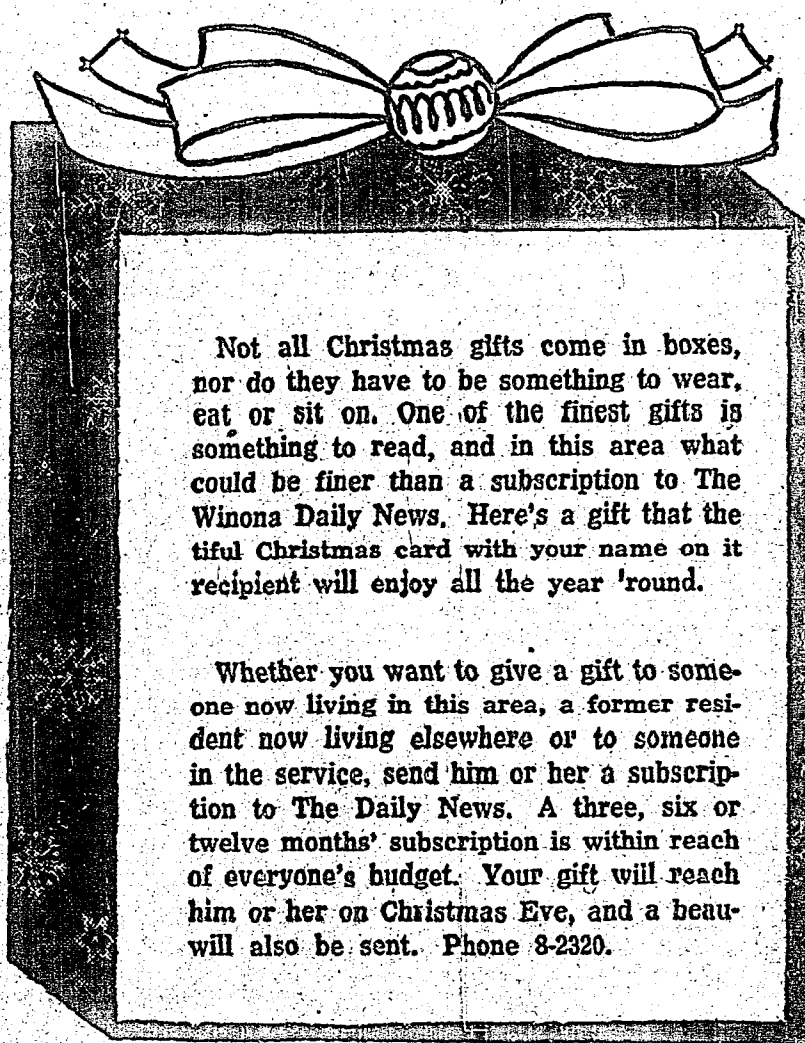

Trial tentatively has been set for February, and is expected to last more than two months.

National Army Needed in South Viet Nam

SAIGON, Viet Nam (U)—Events have strengthened U. S. determination to help form a small but efficient national army which can maintain order in non-Communist South Viet Nam.

Last week's battle between a company of army troops and the police, virtually in the center of this capital, accentuated a worsening situation.

Five months after the end of the eight-year Indochina war these elements are implanted in the country, each a law unto itself:

1. The national army of some 200,000 troops.

2. The national surete, nominally responsible for law and order.

3. The Cao Dai army of about 20,000 men controlling two million Vietnamese in an area west of Saigon.

4. The Hoa Hao religious arm of 15,000 which holds sway over a million persons southwest of Saigon.

5. The Binh Xuyen society, which controls the legal gambling dens and prostitution houses of Saigon and Cap St. Jacques on the coast.

The chief of the national surete is Lai Van Sang, one of the leaders of the Binh Xuyen.

Of these diverse groups the Cao Dai, a religion which claims to embody the best features of all the world's beliefs, is the most important. Excellently organized and well trained, its army rules much of Southern Viet Nam.

Because of the weakness of the national army the government is unable to control any of these groups or the populations under them. Although the Cao Dai and Hoa Hao are participating in the government, clashes in which lives are lost occur between them and the army at intervals.

The American aim, in cooperation with the French and the government of Premier Ngo Dinh Diem, is believed to be the formation of an army smaller than the one now on paper, making it one of quality rather than quantity. The United States is anxious that it be loyal to the Diem government.

Farmers Union Meeting Opens in St. Paul Monday

ST. PAUL (U)—About 5,000 delegates will gather here next Monday for the opening session of the Farmers Union Grain Terminal Association's 17th annual meeting.

General Manager M. W. Thatcher said representatives of some 200,000 FUGTA members in Montana, Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota would concentrate their talks on dwindling farm prices.

Main speaker at a Tuesday night banquet will be Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.). Other speakers during the three-day convention will include Gov.-elect Orville Freeman; James G. Patton, national Farmers Union president; J. Frank Triplett, general manager of the Amarillo, Tex., Producers Grain Assn.; and R. F. Hendrickson, executive secretary of the National Federation of Grain Cooperatives.

High Costs Bringing Socialized Medicine, Walter Judd Predicts

SALT LAKE CITY (U)—Rep. Walter H. Judd (R-Minn.), a physician himself, says the country will turn to socialized medicine because of the high cost of private medical care, unless American medical associations "police" their member physicians better.

"If the doctors of the nation will cooperate by keeping fees down," he said, "socialized medicine will never be necessary. If they do not, the people will demand government-controlled medicine in an effort to gain more care for more people, even though such care would be mediocre."

Star Thinks of New Furniture She'll Buy

NEW YORK—Some actresses think noble thoughts while emoting—so I asked lovely Janis Paige what brainstorms create her red-carpeted brow when she faces audiences at "The Pajama Game."

"I think of all the new furniture I'm going to be able to buy!" this practical-minded doll retorted.

Janis, this year's B'way success story, has a new apartment at a swank address . . . four rooms and two baths. Her escort in "The Pajama Game," Ed Lewis, one of New York's merchant princes, commented:

"Her dog's the only one in town with a private bath."

Jimmy Durante—here for a Max Liebman spectacular—says the most common reaction to his recent TV programs was: "We enjoyed Margaret Truman."

Bishop Sheen said maybe women are called clothes horses 'cause they're always nagging.

Carol didn't meet them once, but I did meet them twice.

Carol—recently back from London where she was a big hit in "Pal Joey"—felt Liz and Phil stayed away because the show was controversial. Margaret saw it in Oxford, and sent a nice note back.

"Don't feel bad," I told Carol. "Twice in London when I was deliciously close to Princess Margaret, her escorts beckoned me. I was to be presented!"

"Waiter, some more champagne!" the escort said . . . each time.

Carol—who has a new hairdo—"short without being messy"—which has been copied by Marlene Dietrich—also brought back a description of three great cities:

"Paris, Tempo . . . London, Tempus . . . New York, Fugitis, or better, Fidgets."

"All righteees" is the only expression needed now on B'way. First guy we remember using it was Sid Gould, then partner of the unforgettable Dagmar.

From Pittsburgh, Seranton, Philadelphia and all over, I'm being informed I should go to Harrisburg January 18 for the inauguration of Governor Leaders—first Democratic governor in Pennsylvania in 20 years. Expecting a boisterous time, they tell me!

Can y'match this? A University of Connecticut prof traveled 90-odd miles to a Boston convention, then—deep in thought—took a train for home.

After getting off near the university, he phoned his wife, "I'm in Williamstown, dear. Drive down and pick me up."

"Are you kidding?" shrieked his wife. "You drove the car to Boston!"

4-Lane Road Planned at Eau Claire

EAU CLAIRE, Wis.—The most heavily-traveled road in Wisconsin outside the Madison and Milwaukee areas is to be modernized.

An estimated four million dollars will be spent in the next two years in converting state highway 53 between this city and Chippewa Falls into a four-lane highway.

The two double-lanes will be separated by an "island" boulevard 32 feet wide. Access to the highway will be limited to street intersections, and as few of these as possible, state highway commission engineers say.

The highway now has three lanes, a design regarded as treacherous by safety experts. Hazards are increased by private driveways.

Route for the new highway will follow the old most of the way, with a major departure at Chippewa Falls where it will skirt the southeastern edge of the city before crossing the present bridge over the Chippewa River.

Aldermen at Chippewa Falls are considering a proposal to convert that city's main business thoroughfare, which will remain on the route of highway 53, into a one-way street.

The 10-mile stretch between the outskirts of Eau Claire and Chippewa Falls is now lined with elm trees planted more than 30 years ago as a memorial to veterans of World War I. Some of them, as well as a number of houses and business establishments along the present route, will be removed.

State-conducted traffic counts show that from 7,000 to 12,000 cars and trucks travel over the highway daily.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . . Irving Berlin just gave the Actors Fund a personal check for $5,000—this donation being separate from and having no connection with the Actors Fund premiere of "There's No Business Like Show Business." Explaining the whopping contribution to a friend, Berlin said: "I like actors."

Joe Di Maggio's lying low here, 'cause of his ulcer diet . . . Jackie Gleason's Trendex last Saturday night was 51.2, said to be the highest in Saturday night history.

Johnny Meyer taking over the Havana race track? . . . Mama Gabor gave Zsa Zsa and Rubi a party Friday . . . Serge Benbeniste is in for a $4,000,000 lawsuit . . . Joan Rice, Liberace's ex-girl, has a new night club act.

Lone White In African Town Reports

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special)—A woman told Arcadians last week how it is to live in an African town of 2,000 when you're the only white person there.

It's just fine for the natives are friendly and cooperative, said Miss Lois Olsen, who is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Clifford E. Olsen, Richfield, Wis.

A nurse missionary for the Evangelical United Brethren, Miss Olsen is in charge of the EUB dispensary at Tlama, Sierra Leone, West Africa. She and her assistants saw up wounds, pulled teeth and do minor surgery.

And those assistants are two African workers trained by former missionaries and an African girl she has trained.

Best of all Miss Olsen likes delivery of babies. In three years she has helped 147 into the world.

Arcadian's Granddaughter Miss Olsen is the granddaughter of Albert Hess of Arcadia, and her mother is the former Lavie Miller of Arcadia. The missionary is back on a year's furlough to attend the EUB world conference after three years in West Africa.

In January she will enroll at the Lutheran Hospital, La Crosse, where she will specialize in laboratory work. The remainder of the year will be taken up with lectures before church and women's groups.

A 1949 graduate of the University of Wisconsin School of Nursing, she holds a bachelor of science degree in public health work. In 1951 she went to England where she studied mid-wifery. Later that year she was assigned to Sierra Leone.

Tlama is like the county seat of one of our counties. It is the chief city of the Kori chiefdom. Sierra Leone is divided into about 50 such chiefdoms.

No Doctor There There is no doctor in Tlama. Miss Olsen and her assistants sew up wounds, pull teeth and do minor surgery. Major surgery and the difficult cases are taken to the nearest hospital 50 miles away. A truck serves as transportation although she has a bicycle. Estimating that Sierra Leone is about half the size of Wisconsin, Miss Olsen believes there are three dentists and about 25 doctors there.

Schools are supported by the British government and missions. About 400 students attend the Evangelical United Brethren supported school in Tlama. There are two large high schools in the area, attended mostly by boys. However, more and more girls are going to school each year.

The country is a British colony and according to Miss Olsen they are preparing for self government. The majority of the African office holders are products of the United Brethren schools.

Wild horses were very common in Europe during the Old Stone Age and formed important part of the diet of the people.

By GRETCHEN L. LAMBERTON

RURAL ROUTE 3, PERU, Ind.—It's piercingly cold and raw here with mud underfoot from last week's icy rains. So when I went out with my son late yesterday afternoon to bring the cattle in from a pasture I bundled up in heavy mackinaw, wool cap and scarf, mittens and huge four-buckle overshoes. There are 20 Angus, seven of them shaggy calves, and 14 other beef cattle, and they were foraging in a recently picked corn field. These cold nights my son drives them the half mile to the barnyard where they have a shelter shed and hay racks. In the morning they go back to one of the pastures and forage.

As we walked down the muddy lane with a bitter wind blowing in our faces he told me a few of the recent escapades of No. 9 and No. 87 (their identification numbers—they all wear heavy neck chains and metal tags).

"Those two old girls are the meanest cows ever dropped. They love to charge people, but they usually give notice by pawing and snorting. Old 87 charged Mr. X the other day and if the dogs and I hadn't put on a diversionary action I don't know what would have happened."

"Do they ever charge you?" I asked.

"Oh sure. But they know me. It's mostly unfamiliar people they go for." I, who hadn't even been introduced to No. 9 and No. 87, looked dubiously at the chunky black beasts in the field we were approaching. "Well—uh—do you think I could outrun one if it chased me?" I asked.

"Oh, they're fast as heck, but they're clumsy. They can't turn short. It's easy to sidestep them. All you have to do is to make a quick dodging sidestep when they're almost upon you and they pass right by you. You know—like a bullfighter."

He walked off without a backward look calling, "Hoo-hoo-hoo! Come on, girls." Most of the blocky black animals lumbered to the entrance of the lane. Then they all stopped and stared at me. My son called, "Gee, they certainly know a stranger," and went on rounding up more cows.

I looked around wildly for a stick or branch. There weren't any. A big shaggy black cow started boldly into my pasture. She looked like a black boxer bearing down on me. Was it old No. 9? Or No. 87? Frantically I snatched up a cornstalk and brandished it. "You get out of here!" I quavered. "Get out or I'll WHACK you good!" and waved the cornstalk at her.

The cornstalk bent in the middle and drooped ignominiously. Was this the moment to do that bullfighter sidestep? The cow gave a loud snort—then turned and walked down the lane. I breathed again.

My son shut the gate and followed at the heels of the last cow. "Yeah," he said, "they're a wild breed compared to some others. But they haven't got horns. And it's easy to sidestep 'em."

"Yeah," I said, and fell two paces behind him.

Neighbors Rescue Man in Burning House

CHICAGO (U)—Two neighbors ran into a burning house last night and rescued Oswald Kohn, 52, after he had beaten out flames which caught his wife's hair and clothing.

Mrs. Kohn, 48, ran out of the house but Kohn remained inside, apparently too stunned to move. Hearing Mrs. Kohn's screams, Daniel Potuck, 35, and Howard Lester, 35, kicked down the door of the burning house and led Kohn to safety.

The fire, which started when a gas stove exploded, completely engulfed the house. The Kohns were hospitalized with severe burns.

Dr. Sheppard's Story Attacked By Prosecution

CLEVELAND (AP)—A hard-hitting prosecution attorney came to court today prepared to launch fresh attacks on the story that Dr. Samuel Sheppard was a dazed and badly injured man on the morning of his wife's murder.

The injuries were superficial, the state contends.

And the prosecution says somebody "stage-set" the handsome osteopath's home to make it appear ransacked by a burglar or a madman.

Today's hearing opened the eighth week of Sheppard's trial on a charge of killing his wife Marilyn.

His brother Dr. Stephen Sheppard was scheduled to go back on the stand for further cross-examination by assistant prosecutor Thomas Parrino. Dr. Steven, as the family calls him, was one of the first persons to see his brother and the badly battered body of Marilyn Sheppard early the morning of last July 4.

Parrino, in a tense word duel with the witness, led him carefully over the many details of the story he has told.

Sheppard says he found his brother beaten, bleeding from the mouth, with a possible spinal injury and in a state of shock.

The burly marauder who killed Marilyn Sheppard inflicted these injuries when Dr. Sam struggled with him, the defense claims.

Early in the cross-examination, Parrino brought out two points of conflict in the story Dr. Steve is telling. A lapse of memory may have accounted for one of the discrepancies, the witness said. Of the other, he said, "there are elements of truth" in both versions of a part of his story.

Montgomery Irks Navy With Attack On Big Carriers

By ELTON C. FAY
AP Military Reporter

WASHINGTON (AP)—Not since the War of 1812 has a British visit to American shores nettled the United States Navy as much as that of Field Marshal Montgomery.

For nearly a week the Navy has contemplated, with chill and austere silence, the latest public observations by Briton's famous warrior on the future of sea power—particularly aircraft carriers.

Today the Navy apparently decided it could maintain aloofness no longer. It announced that today Asst. Secretary of the Navy James Smith would hold a news conference to answer questions about the role of carrier aviation in the modern Navy.

Montgomery, in a recent West Coast address on modern military power and North Atlantic Treaty Organization strategy, mentioned briefly that:

1. The day of the aircraft carrier is drawing to an end.
2. The time will come when control of the sea will be from the air.

These were harsh words for the Navy to hear.

Next Saturday at Newport News, Va., the Navy realizes an ambition for which it fought bitterly, the launching of the first super-carrier, the 60,000-ton USS Forrestal.

The start of the supercarrier program began only after several years of sharp argument with the Air Force over the advantages and disadvantages of big carriers vs. long-range heavy bombers like the B36.

When Montgomery came to the United States last month, the scuttlebutt in the Navy was that he had come under auspices of the Air Force—a point never denied formally.

Delicate Heart Operation on TV

NEW YORK (AP)—A film of a delicate medical operation was shown to a nationwide television audience last night, with a group of skilled surgeons performing an arterial transplant through a new surgical technique.

The patient, George Chisum, 43-year-old worker of Orange, Tex., was placed in a "deep freeze."

Then, a section of his aorta (heart artery) was cut out and replaced by a nondiseased artery taken from a donor who had died a few hours before the operation took place.

The actual operation took place some days ago in Methodist Hospital in Houston, Tex.

J. Wayne Green, eminent Trichologist, demonstrates causes of baldness and how it can be prevented.

How To Have Hair For A Lifetime To Be Demonstrated Here By Famous Trichologist Offers Written Guarantee

An exclusive interview by Allen Century

WICHITA (Special)—J. Wayne Green, Director of Rogers, Inc., Hair and Scalp Specialists, exploded the "myth of baldness" today in an exclusive interview.

"Baldness is unnecessary, costly and a plague to mankind," says Green. "No man need be bald. No man need suffer the stigma of premature old age that is forced upon him because he is losing his hair. The Rogers method of hair and scalp treatment can prevent baldness—can turn colorless fuzz into healthy, growing hair—can make you look youthful again."

Demonstration To Be Held In Winona, Minn.

This revolutionary method of home treatment for the hair and scalp will be demonstrated in Winona, Minn., Wednesday ONLY, Dec. 8th, at the Winona Hotel. Trichologist R. D. Black will conduct the private, individual interviews from 12 noon until 9:00 P. M. on Wednesday ONLY. There is no cost or obligation, and you need no appointment.

Reason For Baldness

"There is always a reason for baldness," continued this nationally known authority. "Hair cannot grow through a scalp that is infected with dandruff, excessive oiliness, or extreme dryness. A scalp that has never been exercised cannot be expected to produce healthy hair." Men, and yes, women too, walk the streets today, completely devoid of nature's greatest ornament—hair. Simply because they were not taught the basic rules of hair and scalp hygiene while they were growing up. "The simple answer," emphasized this expert, "is that children should be taught the same simple basic rules of hair and scalp hygiene that they are taught for the proper care of their teeth. If this were the case, baldness would be a rarity today!"

Heredity Not Involved

Trichologist Green dodged no issues. He quickly took up the most widely spread theory of baldness—heredity. "Baldness is hereditary," he said, "is a misinterpretation of the theory of genetics. Theory does not state that any person must be bald because baldness exists in the family. What it does say, is that in some families, a tendency exists toward an undernourished scalp." The purpose of the Rogers Hair and Scalp Clinic is to teach the methods of strengthening the weak scalp and nourishing it to a healthy, vigorous condition. "A healthy scalp will grow hair if it is not already completely bald," assures Green.

Is There Hope For The Completely Bald

In his travels throughout the United States and Canada, Green has collected hundreds of testimonials of his ability to develop weak fuzz into healthy, mature hair. All of his clients have started with a private examination, hair and scalp analysis, and a diagnosis of the disorder. Green is quick, however, to tell a hopeless case that he cannot be helped. "We strongly advise," says Green, "that no person who is completely bald hold any hope whatsoever of regrowing hair. If there is any fuzz at all, we can restore a healthy scalp condition and the hair will grow normally again as nature intended."

Offers A Guarantee

"Rogers, Inc., America's Foremost Hair and Scalp Specialists, offer a guarantee to any client who enrolls for treatment. If he or she is not completely delighted with results at the end of 30 days, the money invested will be graciously refunded," pledged Green. "We must have satisfied clients. We must regrow hair. After all, it is our best advertisement."

Is Your Hair Healthy?

If you have a scalp disorder, or if you are worried about your hair, call Trichologist R. D. Black at the Winona Hotel in Winona, Minn., Wednesday ONLY from 12 noon to 9:00 P. M. The public is invited. The examinations are private and open to men and women. You do not need an appointment, and you will not be embarrassed or obligated in any way.

Committees Bar Door At 4 in 10 Meetings

Committees of Congress barred the public at more than four meetings of every ten they held during 1954.

Forty-one per cent of 3,002 committee and subcommittee sessions in Washington were held behind doors closed to press and public alike. This was an increase over 1953, when 34 per cent of the 2,640 meetings were held in secret.

For the 83rd Congress, spanning both years, 38 per cent of the meetings were closed. Other closed, or "executive," sessions which could not be tallied would have boosted these percentages. For example, in two years the House Appropriations Committee and its subcommittees probably held 800 to 1,000 sessions, virtually all closed. Since these meetings are not announced and no records are made available, they cannot be counted.

Much of what goes on in executive sessions may never reach the public but it is generally conceded that the bulk of the important work of many committees is done in such meetings. Most of the Eisenhower Administration's legislative program was introduced in the second session, which may explain why there were more executive sessions in 1954.

An increase in the percentage of closed sessions conducted by House committees directly accounted for the higher 1954 percentage, even though Senate committees generally were more secretive over the two-year period. Joint committees held more secret meetings, on the average, than did either Senate or House units. Breakdown on closed meetings as revealed by Congressional Quarterly:

	1953	1954	1953-54
Senate	39%	39%	39%
House	28%	43%	35%
Joint	66%	58%	61%
Average	34%	41%	38%

Most secretive of the major committees in terms of percentage of closed sessions held in 1954 was the House Education and Labor Committee. It held 54 of its 59 meetings, or 92 per cent, behind closed doors.

In the Senate, most secret was the Foreign Relations Committee, with 77 per cent of its meetings closed. Among joint committees, the Atomic Energy Committee led with 71 per cent.

Other committees which held 10 or more meetings and went into executive session for more than half: House Ways and Means, 70 per cent; House Foreign Affairs, 63 per cent; House Administration, 62 per cent; House Judiciary, 62 per cent; Senate Finance, 58 per cent; Senate Armed Services, 55 per cent, and House Government Operations, 54 per cent.

These committees were not necessarily the busiest, however. The Senate Appropriations Committee held 210 meetings in 1954 and only 67, or 32 per cent, were closed. The Senate Judiciary Committee closed its doors on only 24 per cent of its 167 sessions.

In the House, the Judiciary Committee led with 156 sessions, 98, or 62 per cent, of them closed. The Interior and Insular Affairs Committee was second with 151, of which 18 meetings or 12 per cent were closed. House Interior thus was one of the busiest yet least secretive of the major committees in 1954. And only 44, or 33 per cent, of the 133 meetings the House Armed Services Committee held were closed.

CQ said that several hundred other committee sessions on which it was unable to keep tabs probably would have boosted the proportion of closed meetings. In addition to the meetings of the House Appropriations Committee and subcommittees, these included sessions by the House Rules Committee to grant rules for floor consideration of bills, by conferees to compromise differences in House and Senate versions of bills, and meetings held in cities other than Washington. In addition, the tabulation did not include scattered meetings held while Congress was not in regular session.

Committees enjoy a comparatively free hand in opening or closing their meetings. According to law, "all hearings . . . shall be open to the public, except executive sessions for marking up bills or for voting or where the committee by a majority vote orders an executive session."

Who Knows What About Communism?

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

NEW YORK — Mrs. Louise S. Frisch of Baltimore has sent me a copy of a letter which she addressed to Sen. Arthur V. Watkins who has sprung to recent fame as the hard and strong man in the McCarthy controversy. The first paragraph of this letter amused me and it may you: "When you (Sen. Watkins) told me yesterday that you have 'forgotten more about Communism than Sen. Jenner ever knew,' I thought perhaps you were responding to my inquiry self-defensively in a moment of irritation."

Perhaps the lady misquotes the senator but it is amusing to accept her statement and go on from there.

I HAVE NO IDEA what either Sen. Watkins or Sen. Jenner knows about the canon of the Marxist church which is the foundation of all Communist thought and action in all the world. I do know that Sen. Jenner employs one of the truly significant authorities on this subject in this country, Benjamin Mandel, whose knowledge is so profound that many who regard themselves as experts consult him constantly. So, even if Sen. Jenner is not a great expert, he has sense enough to employ one.

Granted that Sen. Watkins has "forgotten more about Communism" than Sen. Jenner or anyone else ever knew, we shall have to take his word for it that he has forgotten the subject and let it go at that. No one can be blamed for forgetting.

It would be an interesting escapade to have a debate on the floor of the Senate between Sen. Watkins and Sen. Jenner or any other senators who rattle the word "Communism" in their throats as though it came out of their brains. It would be of advantage to the country to see exactly what they mean by this word. Encountering many senators in the course of my business, I have discovered very few who can really define Marxism in terms which a Marxist can understand. Mostly they just don't like it, which may be as good as any definition. Few of them, for instance, can explain why a materialistic, pragmatic, atheistic concept of the cosmos should make converts so easily among the intellectuals of Europe and Asia.

A NICE DEBATE on the theory of Communism would perhaps clarify the atmosphere. Maybe they would come out of it with some definitions. I recommend Earl Browder as the moderator, as he was for so many years the principal exponent of the doctrine in the United States. In fact, Browder was the most successful operator of the Marxist system until he was dismissed by Stalin as no longer of any value.

Perhaps it might be done in questionnaire form. The senator might then answer a question or two of this order:

1. Why does a Hindu regard American materialism (high standard of living and all that) as not essentially different from the materialism of Marxism except in the apparatus of achievement?
2. Why is it that a Confucian does not find Marxism repugnant to his central doctrine?
3. What effect has the vast accumulation of data in the natural sciences, particularly in the fields of biology, astrophysics and nuclear physics, had upon the receptivity of Marxism by youth?
4. What is the fundamental difference between the "natural law" and "dialectical materialism" and why is it therefore impossible for one to be a Christian and a Communist at the same time?
5. Why is it essential for Communists, whenever they take over a country, to organize to combat all forms of mysticism, particularly when belief in mystical phenomena is organized in the form of a universal church?

PERHAPS SEN. WATKINS, who says he has forgotten so much, could be diverted from a critique of Joe McCarthy to a critique of Karl Marx. It would be an interesting exercise in foresight and should be particularly appetizing to one who was once a Christian missionary.

On the problem of the strategy and tactics of the Soviet universal state, it would be exciting to have a debate between Sen. Watkins and Rep. Walter Judd who is expert on this subject. Perhaps Sen. Watkins has forgotten more than Walter Judd ever knew and that would require a whole of a forgetter, for Judd is not only a scholar but a man of wide personal experience. Judd might deliver his speech in Chinese which would save Watkins the necessity of trying to understand what was being said.

Pentagon Pressure Pushes Ike Toward Preventive War

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—The preventive war group in the Pentagon and on Capitol Hill has now focused presidential attention on two possible opportunities for a showdown with Red China—either of which could lead to war.

No. 1 is over the Nationalist-held island of Quemoy, three miles off the Red China coast, which a majority of the Joint Chiefs of Staff wanted to make the dividing line between peace and war. Ike said no.

No. 2 is over tough measures to obtain the release of American fliers held as spies by Red China. Again Ike vetoed tough measures.

The secret Cabinet debates over these questions highlight the most important decision President Eisenhower has had to make in his entire career. His decision so far has been for so-called "coexistence." But the pressure from some of his old comrades in the Pentagon is getting stronger. More and more there is talk of those old American mottoes that used to mean something: "Don't tread on me" and "Millions for defense but not one cent for tribute."

More and more, also, there is talk among Senate Republicans that Eisenhower and Dulles are following the Truman-Acheson line.

Finally, the question of a showdown with Red China and possible through the McCarthy debate, where many of the Republicans voting for McCarthy were strong China-lobby senators and had received campaign contributions from it.

Thus the split within the Republican party widens in somewhat the same proportion as the split within the Pentagon — over the most important issue facing Eisenhower and the nation. In fact, the split on Capitol Hill is fed in part by leaks to senators from military leaders.

To understand the full dramatic import of the debate it's necessary to report the play-by-play story of what happened.

Actually, the State Department has known about the 15 American pilots for about a year. But it did not know that two American civilians were also being held. Eleven of the pilots, plus the two civilians, have now been jailed on a charge of espionage. The remaining four pilots — Lt. Col. Edwin Heller, Capt. Harold Fischer, Lt. Lyle Cameron and Lt. Roland Parks — are still held but haven't been sentenced as spies.

Originally the State Department negotiated through the British for the release of the 15 airmen. However, the Chinese hinted that the United States might get further by dealing direct with Red China — an obvious move to embarrass the State Department, however, figured that American lives were more important than protocol and held eight secret meetings with the Chinese in Geneva. At these conferences, the Reds kept harping on the charge that we were holding 5,000 Chinese students against their will in the United States. Real fact is that all the 5,000 students were offered a chance to return to China. Only 64 went back. But the Chinese Reds ignored this.

Finally, after much haggling, an agreement was reached to let the imprisoned Americans write their relatives. Significantly, letters came from only four — the four not yet condemned.

This, however, was considered encouraging. Imagine the State Department's surprise, therefore, when following this the Reds announced that 13 of the Americans had been convicted. But if the State Department was

Advice on Health

Accidental Poisonings Numerous

By H. N. BUNDENSEN, M.D.

Your home may be loaded with booby traps for your youngsters. If it's like many American homes, even a mildly inquisitive child can find bottled death in the bathroom, kitchen, basement and probably the garage, too.

Last year about 1,250 Americans were killed by accidental poisoning. Four-fifths of those fatalities occurred in the home. And almost half of the victims were four years old or less.

Now, what causes these household poisonings? What can you do to keep your child off this or next year's fatality list?

The Chicago Poisoning Control Committee, of which I am a member, gives us a pretty good picture of the source of most home accidental poisonings in Chicago. And I think the statistics will hold up throughout the rest of the country.

In a study of 150 cases of accidental poisonings (only one of which was fatal) the committee found that medicines carelessly left where children could find them caused the great majority of illnesses.

They accounted for 67 of the 150 poisonings. Cleaning agents accounted for 34; fuel oils, 20; pesticides, 14; disinfectants and antiseptics, 10; and the remaining five were caused by miscellaneous items.

Breaking down the report even further, we find that aspirin, a medication found in virtually every home, caused 20 accidental poisonings — more than any other single item.

Half of these poisonings were traced to the young victim's fondness for the candy-coated variety of aspirin. The youngster simply liked the candy coating.

Other internal medicines most often found to have caused poisonings when they got into the hands of youngsters were laxatives and sedatives. External medications also caused a number of illnesses. Liniment and potassium permanganate, a disinfectant, were most often at fault.

Of course, lye bleaches, turpentine, furniture wax and cleaning fluids, took their toll, too. Sleeping pills are especially dangerous when swallowed by a child, because they tend to depress the circulation and the nervous system. Such an accidental poisoning might result in pneumonia.

The committee's study turned up a couple of other interesting facts. Most of the young victims got hold of the poisonous substances because the bottles or jars were left on the floor within easy reach.

And most of the accidents occurred between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m., hours when papa is at work and mama is usually tending the children alone.

These, then, are the everyday household ingredients most likely to be swallowed by your youngster. What should you do if he does swallow some of them? I'll tell you tomorrow.

Difference Between McCarthy and Long

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—There is a fundamental difference between Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and the late Sen. Huey P. Long (D-La.). Long was always for something. McCarthy has been steadily against something.

Both men, emerging into national prominence at a time when the people of the country were deeply troubled, made careers for themselves by latching onto the cause of the trouble.

Republicans Not the 'Money' or 'Wall Street' Party

To the Editor:

I want to thank Carol Syverson for his letter in your Oct. 14 edition. According to election reports following the Nov. 2 election in Wisconsin, it looks to me like a great victory for our Governor Kohler. After the way the farmers and labor unions ganged up on him and spent more than $10,000 while doing it, no wonder the defeat hurt so much they began to cry for a recount.

Ten thousand dollars to less than $1,000 makes it look like the Republicans are really not the "money" or "Wall Street" party.

If those Proxmire farmers would stop eating oleo and begin to eat butter, the price of butter would not fall so low. There would be less surplus if they would feed their calves milk instead of substitutes too. Then we would have not only 90 per cent of parity, but 100 per cent parity.

I wonder if our New Dealers are going to give us a 90 per cent parity on tomatoes and melons when they get to Washington, D.C.? I'll talk about that too, if it's done without inflation.

A worthless dollar is no good no matter what it goes for—whether that be for dairy products, melons or vegetables.

If our Proxmire farmers would feed their soybeans to "bossy" instead of the machine, oleo would soon be as high as butter. A Wisconsin farmer—

Build Baseball Park on Westfield Golf Course

To the Editor:

After watching the surveyors lay out the Westfield golf course for a housing development it seems a shame that the city of Winona does not reconsider their plans and use part of this property to build a new baseball park there instead.

If two blocks of this property were to be used for a ball park and parking facilities, and the swamp next to Westfield filled in, it would provide a place for a ball park big enough for any city and provide parking space for patrons. At the same time it would be concentrating Winona's athletic plants in close proximity to each other—namely Jefferson school. The parking lot for the baseball park would provide parking space for football fans.

If Athletic Park and Gabrych Park were dismantled and the property sold, along with the balance of land at Westfield golf course the city could realize enough money to almost build a new ball park.

Consider this—Gabrych Park is not big enough for a good ball park and everyone admits this. Traffic gets snarled up after a ball game, and houses nearby are bombarded by baseballs. There is no room for expansion without buying land. The Lake Park development area is not suitable for building a grandstand because it would be necessary to drive pilings in order to secure good footings, and that's expensive.

The Westfield course is a natural. Highways 61 and 14 and 5th street siphon off the traffic fast. The ground is solid, partly landscaped and in a good location. The ball diamond could be located properly instead of squeezed into a given area, and if the grandstand and diamond were located right one or possibly two small diamonds for pee-wee ball could be built. This cuts maintenance costs for the park board.

Finally, if the swamp was filled in west of the golf course, Winona would still have a housing development location.

If you agree with this call or write your alderman.

Democrats May Waive Tradition For 'Old-Timers'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Political comebacks by two veteran former senators—Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky and Joseph C. O'Mahoney of Wyoming—may cause Democrats to waive a bit of tradition when they organize the Senate in January.

Normally senators who are defeated and then returned to office must stand in line with other freshmen for places on the most-sought committees.

But Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas has said Barkley can "have the best row to have to offer," and Sen. Murray (D-Mont.), an old-timer in Senate ranks, said today he expects both Barkley and O'Mahoney can have their old committee assignments for the asking.

Thief Takes $800 From Hiding Places

BALTIMORE (U)—A burglar who knew what he wanted—and where to find it—took more than $800 from hiding places all over Edward Karst's home yesterday.

Karst and his wife were out of the house between 4 a.m. and 7 a.m., delivering newspapers. Their 37-year-old daughter said she was asleep on the second floor and heard nothing. The thief took money from:

A basement chair, a basement desk, a first-floor china closet, a second-floor dressing table and a picture frame.

Police said the house was not ransacked. Karst said $700 in cash and $40 in checks taken from one hiding place represented the bulk of his Saturday collections from his newspaper route.

Civil Defense Satisfied With Colorado Test

DENVER (U)—Civil defense officials in the northern Colorado farm belt were satisfied today that their area could provide food and shelter for 300,000 Denver residents for 30 days in case an enemy air attack smashed the city.

They based their appraisal on yesterday's mock evacuation of Denver by hundreds of volunteers in a test of how well a rural area could receive a large number of refugees from a major city.

Denver residents who took part assembled at Brighton, about 15 miles north of the Colorado capital. Then, in convoys of 15 to 25 family cars, they traveled to reception centers in country schools.

Water No Help to Christmas Tree

CHICAGO (U)—A man who sells 80,000 of them every year says it's just silly to put the butt of your Christmas tree in water on the theory that it will keep it fresher.

"And water with sugar added—that's even sillier," says Gust Relias, who wholesales trees.

Relias said today the supply will be ample this year, but was wary of predicting retail prices. He said this is approximately what the retailer "should" charge: 8-foot tree, $9.25; 5 to 6-foot $2.75; 4-foot $1.50.

There were 1,083 junior exhibitors, of whom 467 were 4-H and FFA members, the remainder being school exhibitors. They showed a total of 3,783 exhibits. The educational premiums amounted to $224.90 and the 4-H and FFA premiums totaled $1,974.75. The balance, $377.25, went for the adult exhibitors, of whom there were 38 showing 737 exhibits.

About 40 attended the annual meeting.

Married Whitehall Girl
In 1899 he married Miss Lily C. Anderson, eldest daughter of the late Judge H. A. Anderson, Whitehall.

In the 1903, 1905 and 1907 state Legislatures he served as assemblyman from Trempealeau County, and was speaker of the lower house during the last session.

From 1909 to 1914 Ekern was in partnership with O. J. Eggum of Whitehall in the practice of law. He and his wife moved to Madison in 1909.

Ekern was named assistant insurance commissioner and later, as an elective official, served as insurance commissioner from 1911 to 1915. In 1915, he formed a partnership with his law school classmate, Erwin A. Meyers, Evansville, to establish an office in Chicago where they specialized in insurance law. The firm was dissolved about three years ago.

Ekern drafted the soldiers' and sailors' war risk insurance act which Congress adopted shortly after the outbreak of World War I. He also co-authored the Wisconsin state teachers' retirement act and the federal railroad retirement act and participated in Charles Evans Hughes' investigation of New York insurance companies.

In Madison Firm
For the past four years he had been associated with the Madison law firm of Ekern, Naujoks & Ekern. He also was one of the organizers and for many years the general counsel of the State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Co., Bloomington, Ill.

He had a major part in creation of the present National Fraternal Congress through a 1913 merger of two fraternal groups.

It was at the personal request of Robert M. LaFollette Sr., that Ekern ran for Wisconsin attorney general, an office he held from 1923 to 1927. In 1924, he was a delegate to the Republican national convention at Cleveland.

Ekern served as a member of the Wisconsin deep waterways commission.

Candidate for Senate
Gov. Philip F. LaFollette named him lieutenant governor in May 1933 to fill out a term, and in 1933 he was the Progressive party nominee for U. S. Senate.

Since 1917, Ekern had been identified with the Lutheran Brotherhood, an insurance company which he helped organize with J. A. O. Preus, at that time state auditor and a former Minnesota governor. He was president of the insurance company from 1929 until his resignation in 1933.

Boom in Stocks Feared

By STEWART ALSOP

WASHINGTON — Ways and means of damping down the current stock market boom are being seriously discussed in high administration circles. For the boom in stock prices is, today enough, a major administration worry in what otherwise looks like a reasonably rosy economic situation.

Two methods of slowing down the boom are being talked about. One is to raise margin requirements—the proportion of his own money the purchaser of a stock must put up—from the current 50 per cent to 60 or 70 per cent. This measure would have, and would be meant to have, a largely psychological effect. It would be the government's way of raising a discreet warning sign.

The other method is to raise interest rates and to return—at least part way—to the "hard money" policy which Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey adopted early in the administration, and then rather hastily abandoned. The danger here is that, instead of merely slowing down the boom, this kind of action itself might start really bad trouble. The once-burned Treasury is, apparently, nervously aware of this danger.

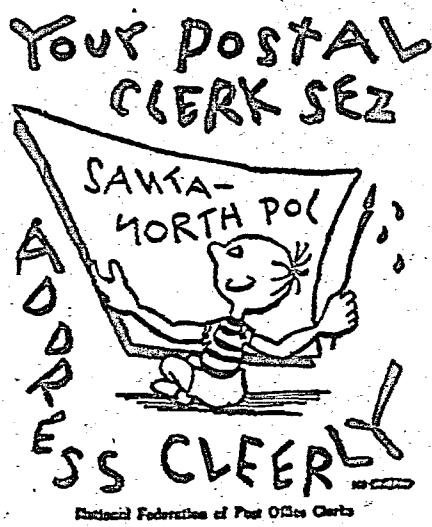

Aware of Danger

The President's Council of Economic Advisers, on the other hand, is nervously aware of the danger that the stock boom might really get out of hand, with unnecessary disastrous consequences. There is an obvious parallel here with the argument which went on in the spring and summer of 1929, between Andrew Mellon's Treasury Department, which favored a hands-off policy toward the stock boom, and the Federal Reserve Board, which favored damping-down action. But this sinister parallel, it must be said, is misleading in almost every way.

There are, according to the government's economic experts, all sorts of differences between the current stock boom and the 1929 boom of evil memory. But the biggest difference is this. In 1929, stock prices were zooming up while all sorts of signs more and more clearly indicated that the economy was reaching a dangerous corner. This time, all sorts of signs indicate that the economy has passed the dangerous corner. Unemployment is well down, the number of unemployed should be reduced by at least a half million by Christmas. The indications are that production, which has been steadily rising, will reach a point just a shade below the all-time high of 1953 by the end of this year. Inventories are down, and in general the nation is beginning again to consume more than it produces—it is seeking to live off its accumulated fat. Perhaps most important, investment contracts are way up, in sharp contrast to 1929.

No Emergency Action

The forecasts of the chief presidential economists—notably Arthur Burns, chairman of the economic advisers, and Gabriel Hauge, special presidential assistant—have thus been triumphantly vindicated. Early last spring some viewers-with-alarm were predicting really serious trouble and proposing drastic measures to head it off. Burns and Hauge both took the position that drastic measures should be used if necessary—but that the economy was likely to right itself by autumn, without emergency action. This is just what has happened. No one claims, of course, that there is nothing to worry about any more. There are soft spots in the economy. The President's economists will breathe a lot easier if the new automobile models sell as well as the manufacturers hope. The prospect of real labor trouble next spring—this administration's first serious labor trouble—is disquieting.

But the stock market boom is the biggest worry. The boom reflects a confidence in the economic future which, the President's advisers believe, is basically justified. The danger is that confidence might turn into overconfidence and stock prices might then begin to get really out of hand. Then, at some point, a collapse of the market would become inevitable. And this alone could quite probably reverse the hopeful trend which has now set in. Hence, the anxious discussions about some way of damping down the market.

Like Interested

The President himself is taking an active part in these discussions. He reviews the economic scene at least twice weekly—once when Dr. Burns briefs the Cabinet on the economic picture, and once in a regular weekly conference with Burns.

The President, according to those who have sat in on such discussions, is surprisingly knowledgeable on economic matters. He has, moreover, none of the instinctive aversion to the word "planning" which some of the business men in his administration share. And the President is determined to use the whole power of the government, come what may, to prevent or reverse any really serious downturn. This presidential determination is, surely, as good a reason for confidence in the economic future as any other.

Reuther Attacks Ike Policy as 'Do Nothing'

By NORMAN WALKER

LOS ANGELES (AP)—CIO President Walter Reuther said today a "legacy" of New Deal and "Fair Deal" legislation inherited by President Eisenhower's administration has helped save the nation from "a full-blown depression."

Reuther said in a report prepared for opening sessions of the CIO's annual convention that the economic future looks none too bright unless there is a big increase in consumer buying power through higher wages and increased government spending.

"It is better," he said, "to have an unbalanced budget than to have an unbalanced economy in which a few are prosperous and the many are in need."

Accusing the Eisenhower administration of "a do-nothing, care-noting unemployment policy," the CIO chief maintained that union collective bargaining and social measures enacted under prior Democratic administrations have prevented economic collapse.

During the past year, he said, unions "succeeded in raising the general wage level and in preventing any large-scale wave of mass wage cuts as had occurred during most previous economic declines." "As the economy moved downward there was a natural rise in unemployment compensation payments to the jobless. Together with an increase in other social security payments, they partially offset the decline in personal income. The government's farm price support program kept farm income from greater collapse."

"The stabilizing forces that were built into the economy during the Roosevelt and Truman administrations helped to prevent a precipitous decline."

Reuther urged further wage boosts, government-aided housing and public works plans, reduced taxes on lower incomes, and higher minimum wage and unemployment compensation levels to bolster consumer purchasing power.

"A resumption of economic growth," he said, "can result only from an increase in spending."

Canadian Says Chinese Holding More Americans

HONG KONG (AP)—Squadron Leader Andrew R. (Andy) MacKenzie, a Canadian flier shot down in the Korean War and just freed from imprisonment in Red China, says the Chinese are still holding some American war prisoners in his prison camp.

The 34-year-old air ace reported upon reaching Hong Kong yesterday that the Americans he knows about—all Air Force fliers—had been allowed to write home and it was known in the United States that they were prisoners.

He said they do not include any of the 13 Americans recently sentenced by Peiping on spy charges. Canadian and U. S. officials did not permit disclosure here of the number or names of the captured men. The location of the camp also was withheld.

In Washington, an Air Force casualty officer said three Americans were known to have been in the camp with MacKenzie. They were Capt. Harold E. Fischer, Swea City, Iowa; Lt. Lyle W. Cameron, Lincoln, Neb.; and Lt. Roland W. Parks, Omaha, Neb.

MacKenzie reached freedom two years to the day after he was shot down near the Yalu River in North Korea while flying as an exchange officer with the U. S. Air Force. Canadian diplomats had asked about him when they met the Chinese Communist delegation at the Geneva conference last June on Korea and Indochina. The Reds promised at that time to release him.

Appearing thin but otherwise healthy, he arrived in the custody of three Red Chinese guards. He wore a blue, padded Chinese uniform.

Posing briefly for photographers in Hong Kong, MacKenzie said only: "I am glad to be here and am looking forward to spending Christmas with my family."

Mrs. MacKenzie and their four young children live in Montreal. The RCAF announced in Ottawa that it would fly her to Vancouver to meet her husband.

McKinley WSCS Christmas Sale to Be Gala Event

"The Christmas sale and bazaar at McKinley Methodist Church Tuesday is going to be such a gala event that everyone wants to have a part in it," Mrs. C. D. Conzett and Mrs. Frank Tuttle, general chairmen stated today. "It has almost become an all-church project sparked and fired by the WSCS. We're glad to have so many eager volunteers."

"Flying fingers have been working overtime in order to finish dish towels, pillow cases and other beautiful things you'll find at 'The Stitches'." Mrs. Ray Beck, chairman of that booth announced.

Anything can happen at Mitchell's Market, it is said. Last year it was one of the most popular places with its cracker barrel and cheddar cheese. It promises to be even better this year, the committee states. Besides its specialty of cheese there will be delicacies from McKinley members' kitchens and produce from McKinley members' gardens.

"All is not gold in 'Christmas Glitters,'" Mrs. Robert Ambuhl, chairman of that booth says. "We have a large assortment of gifts for men, women and children. Sparkling jewel boxes, gun racks, mail racks, knick knack shelves, decorations that will become a tradition in the home are just a part of our assortment."

"Green Thumb" enthusiasts will enjoy the variety of flowering and foliage plants at this booth.

The "trees" at "Apron Park" will be fluttering with aprons of every size and description. Here too the visitor may seek a fortune in "Attic Treasures." A package from "Christmas Surprises" is "always fun." More surprises await those who stop at the "Parcel Post" for a package from near or far.

The thirsty shopper will appreciate the soft drink corner sponsored by the Youth Fellowship. Children usually spend most of their time at the fish pond where fishing is "always good."

One of the gayest places will be "Kiddie Korner" with its stuffed toys, unique hobby horses, unusual wall hangings, dolls, and doll clothes, things that will not be discarded but will some day become attic treasures.

The "Candy Carousel" with its large assortment of sweets and background of tinkling music will tempt everyone. Holiday preparations can be simplified by filling the deep freeze with homemade bread, rolls, cakes, pies, or cookies fresh from "McKinley Ovens" to "Our Daily Bread" booth.

"We think everyone will enjoy our attractive 'Bazaar Dinette' where we are serving a workers' lunch from 12 m. to 1:30 p.m., afternoon snacks from 1:30 to 5 p.m., and supper from 5 to 7 p.m."

Dependency Study Discussed at AAUW Luncheon

"The Winona Dependency Study is arousing a tremendous amount of national interest," Edward J. Power, head of the Family Center of the study told Winona AAUW members at a luncheon Saturday in the Hotel Winona.

Describing the study as a research effort in the field of prevention, reduction, and control of dependency, Mr. Power said the Winona project is one of the few now being carried on in the United States.

"The focus of the present study," he continued, "is upon prevention and control, as well as on treatment of dependency, the one phase which through the ages has held the spotlight. The Winona study is unique in that it combines treatment with research."

He explained this by saying that "heretofore those who were concerned with the treatment of dependency were not concerned too much with why the treatment was needed, and those who wanted to know why people needed help were not concerned with giving that help."

He compared the present trend in diagnosis of family dependency for the purpose of preventing, reducing, and controlling the efforts made some years back in the field of public health. Public health, up to that time, he pointed out "had been concerned chiefly with treatment; the research efforts showed how to help prevent disease before it occurred and how to control it. The gain in public health control has justified the research."

The Winona study is divided into three sections, Mr. Power told the group. One is devoted to the rehabilitation of families with children under 18, another to the rehabilitation of the able aged, and a third to the rehabilitation of the disabled person. He described briefly the staff setup for handling the work, community support, financial aid, and pointed up the carefully planned and executed integration efforts between the various social agencies of the community and the project.

The Family Center, of which Mr. Power is head, is concerned with the families who have children under 18. An over-all view of the work of this division was given the members, along with illustrations, and an opportunity to ask questions.

Mr. Power was introduced to the members by the program chairman, Mrs. Fred Leighton.

A brief review of the children's film series campaign was given prior to the afternoon's program, with Mrs. W. B. Spetch, president, presiding.

About 60 women attended the meeting. Mrs. G. L. Loomis was in charge of arrangements.

The concert starts at 8 p.m. This is the first formal appearance of both organizations in concert for this school year, and the students have been working hard to prepare a fine program for public appearance. Their directors stated today. The program will be varied, and will include serious music, music of a lighter nature, and Christmas music. Each organization numbers 85 members this year. The orchestra is directed by Milton Davenport, and the band, by Stuart Andrus.

Complimentary tickets for the concert are being distributed by the band and orchestra members to their friends and parents. Tickets are not necessary for admittance to the concert, however, but are distributed by the members as a courtesy to their friends and parents, all of whom are invited by those in charge "to attend the concert and hear what the students at Winona Senior High School are doing in a music way."

Clair Leonard to Give Concert At St. Mary's

Clair Leonard, American composer and pianist, noted for his improvisations in piano, will visit St. Mary's College Jan. 10, 1955.

Mr. Leonard, professor of music at Bard College, Annandale-on-Hudson, N.Y., received his musical education at Harvard University where he later taught for six years.

While on the faculty there, he was awarded two Paine Fellowships for study of counterpoint and composition under Nadia Boulanger in France. During this period he also continued his study of piano with Hans Ebel in Boston.

From 1934 to 1947, he was a member of the faculty at Vassar College. In 1947, he became associated with Bard College where, as organist, he directs the choir in addition to his teaching duties. His outstanding work in composition has been in the field of sacred choral music including a Christmas cantata which was successfully performed and recorded last December at the college.

Winner of four prizes for choral composition, notably a Te Deum, Mr. Leonard has had works published by companies recognized for high standards in sacred choral writing.

Mr. Leonard's facility at the keyboard and his extensive knowledge of musical styles has lent itself well to his talent for improvisation.

BEDTIME STORIES

By HOWARD GARIS

Uncle Wiggly and Mr. Whitewash, the white bear from the North Pole workshop of Santa Claus, were outside Hollow Tree School. Mr. Whitewash, having finished helping Santa Claus make Christmas presents, had flown down from the North Pole in his helicopter to visit Uncle Wiggly. The jolly bear had left his flying machine near the school.

When, after Uncle Wiggly's adventures with the bad chaps, the rabbit gentleman and Mr. Whitewash had gone back to the school to get the helicopter, they saw Mr. Coke the rat gentleman janitor jumping up in the air and coming down with a bounce ounce.

The reason Mr. Coke was jumping up and dropping down, was because the Lady Mouse Teacher of Hollow Tree School had asked him to make a Polar bear igloo so that Miss Mouse could teach her pupils a lesson about the North Pole.

But there was no snow which Mr. Coke could use to make an igloo. He was so disappointed and worried that he jumped up and dropped down.

"But you shall have snow soon," promised Mr. Whitewash. "Then I can help you build an igloo and Miss Mouse can give her pupils the North Pole lesson."

That made Mr. Coke happy and he stopped jumping. But, all of a sudden, Uncle Wiggly, Mr. Whitewash and the rat gentleman janitor heard a loud noise inside the school.

"Whatever is that?" asked Uncle Wiggly, twinkling his pink nose.

"It sounds like a noise," said the rat gentleman janitor.

"But what sort of a noise?" asked Mr. Longears. "What do you think it is, Whiteie?"

The noise was heard again. "I am not very good at guessing noises," answered the white bear. "Up at the North Pole, where I live, there are not many noises. Sometimes the ice cracks and that makes a big cracking noise. Sometimes an iceberg breaks and falls into the open ocean and that makes a splashing noise. Sometimes the seals bark and yelp, and sometimes my white bear friends try to sing. But their singing is more like howling. Those are all the noises I know about."

"If you ask me," said Mr. Coke, "this noise in Hollow Tree School sounds like one of the noises that Mr. Whitewash just spoke about."

"Do you mean," asked Uncle Wiggly, "like the noise in the school is like cracking ice, or the falling of an iceberg, or the barking of a seal or the singing of Polar bears which, as Whiteie says, sometimes sounds like howling?"

"That's right," answered the rat gentleman janitor.

"Well, which is right?" Uncle Wiggly wanted to know. "Do you mean an ice crack, an iceberg, a seal howl, or a singing howl of a white bear? Which noise is it, Mr. Coke?"

"The last one," answered the rat gentleman janitor. "It sounds to me like a howling noise."

"Listen!" whispered Mr. Whitewash.

They all listened. They heard a loud howling, crying noise.

"One of the pupils has been hurt!" exclaimed Mr. Coke. "I have heard a noise like that before. Once a blackboard eraser fell on the toes of Priscilla, who is Bunty's doll. And you should have heard Priscilla cry!"

"This noise sounds to me," said Uncle Wiggly, "louder than the cry of Bunty's doll."

"If this is the cry of a doll," growled Mr. Whitewash in his jolly voice, "it must be a very big doll."

"Oh, no," said Mr. Coke. "Priscilla is a very small doll. She is so small that she can be shut up in Bunty's desk."

"Then this howling is not from Priscilla," said Uncle Wiggly.

"And it isn't from a seal or a white bear," said Mr. Whitewash. Suddenly, from inside the school a voice howled and cried:

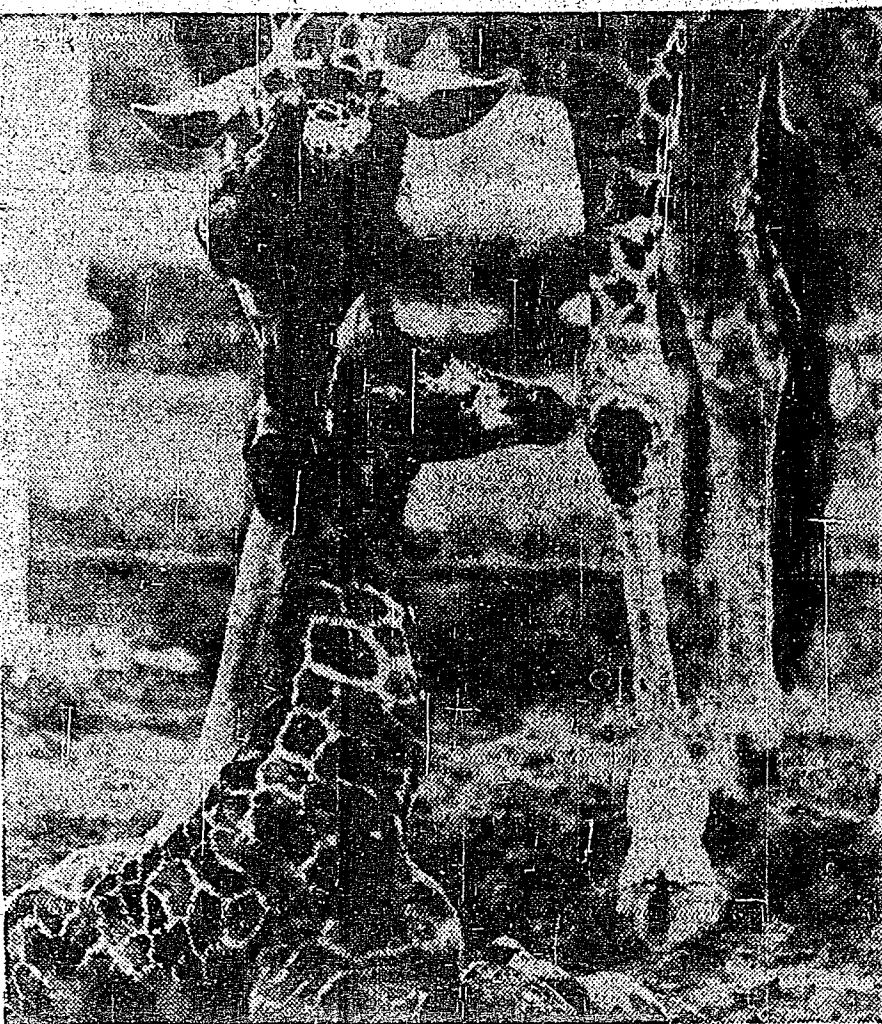

"Oh, my paw! My paw! The point is stuck in my paw and it hurts like anything!"

"That is Jackie Bow Wow!" shouted Uncle Wiggly. "I know his bark!"

"Come on in the school!" shouted Mr. Whitewash. "I am a doctor. I can take care of Jackie." The three friends ran into the school.

I will tell you more tomorrow if the canary bird doesn't fall into the rice pudding and be picked out like a raisin for pussy cat to play with.

Zoo Giraffe Baby

Mother giraffe in the above picture made in the San Diego, Calif., Zoo is licking the long neck of her half-hour-old calf. It was born Saturday—the first giraffe calf born in the daytime at this great zoological park where most animals including the giraffe family live in large paddocks resembling natural habitat.

Baby giraffes, mostly neck and legs, are wobbly at first. It takes it nearly an hour to get to its feet and get ready for its first meal. While nursing during the early stages, the calf braces itself between mother's forelegs. The San Diego birth attracted a crowd of 200 persons and was probably photographed for a future Walt Disney feature.

Wisconsin Deer

Two hundred and twenty-five deer were legally harvested in Buffalo County during the recent forked horn buck season, data gathered from checking stations over the county revealed. The kill in Trempealeau County was 193 and in Pepin County 65.

The total kill for the 17 counties composing the Western Wisconsin area with headquarters at Black River Falls was 4,597 compared with 4,013 a year ago. The state kill was around 40,000 or probably about one deer for every 50 hunters.

The kill this year in river counties exceeded that of a year ago, despite unfavorable weather. Wardens estimate it was nearly 50 per cent greater in Buffalo County. Another check showed that nearly 50 per cent of the deer were harvested during the first day of the week-long season.

For example, Elmer Goetz, Buffalo County warden, tagged 62 deer during the season. The day by day tagging was as follows: First day 19; second 12; third 3; fourth 5; fifth none; sixth 9, and seventh 7.

A hint as to where the successful hunter lives is contained in the number of deer tagged at various stations. The Mondovi police department tagged 53 deer, while the Fountain City station tagged 42. There were 29 tagged the first day at Mondovi.

Each hunter was asked at the time of tagging where he got his deer, and the county of origination was thus established. So in the final tabulation, the state department will know definitely from what county the animal was harvested.

The forked horn buck season, Wisconsin authorities will readily admit, results in a few deer being killed by mistake. In the Buffalo-Trempealeau County area, the war-

Sawdust From O'BRIEN'S

YOU remember the other day I was talking about this new product just introduced on the market, Wood Tape. It's a veneer used to cover the edges of plywood. Remember? The response has been terrific. Seems like everybody and his brother has been looking or waiting for this product to be developed. The reaction of everyone when they first see it is why didn't they have this years ago. Of course it's the same with any new product that is a milestone in its field and Wood Tape certainly is a milestone in the development of plywood finishes. We now stock Wood Tape in Fir and Pine, but it is available on special order in Birch, Mahogany, Oak, etc. It comes 3/4" wide, 1/2" thick and is an actual piece of plywood veneer. The back side of it is coated with a cement and covered with a protective paper. Tear off the paper, press to the edge of your plywood, sand lightly and you're all finished. Won't peel off once the cement has set and if you use a moderately hot iron to press the tape into place the glue will set quicker, however, the heat from sanding will set the cement, too. Actually this is something to see so I would suggest that the next time you are downtown, stop in at O'Brien's and see the newest of the new—Wood Tape.

Don't forget these new plans for making Christmas toys and Christmas decorations. They are available at our office, FREE of charge through the courtesy of the Douglas Fir Plywood Association. Get yours tomorrow. We have also replenished our stock of East-Bild Patterns. These are the full sized patterns that you merely trace on the stock and cut out. Full material lists and instructions are included. There are over 300 different plans to choose from and they range in price from 25¢ on up depending on what it is.

I was reading the other day in one of our trade magazines, that this Do-It-Yourself trend is still climbing. Evidently, according to this article, the peak won't be reached for some time yet. This is all well and good, but there's some things that just don't apply to the Do-It-Yourself market. When you run into a situation like this it means money in your pocket to hire a good competent contractor. Someone that knows what he is doing and can plan the job and make you as satisfied with it as if you had done it yourself. When you have a job that you would like to have done as you would do it, call O'Brien's. We are in contact every day with good, reliable carpenters and contractors that we would recommend for any job. Rather than you calling these different contractors the next time you need one for a job you want done or even for just a job estimate call O'Brien's and let us do the contractor contacting for you.

You will probably have a grand Christmas, but there are some that won't. Do what you can for the Goodfellows and other charitable organizations. The knowledge that you have helped someone not as fortunate as you makes Christmas mean a whole lot more.

Yuletide Tree Can Be Fire Hazard in Home

The essence of Christmas, for many of us, is centered in the Christmas tree, with its shining lights and ornaments.

But beware of those decorations! A young couple and their 7-week-old baby were severely burned when a spark, apparently from a defective lighting set, ignited their tree last year in New York City.

A mother was burned rescuing her children from a fire in Brooklyn, N. Y., which started when their tree caught fire. A faulty tree light plug seemed to be to blame. Flames destroyed all the family's Christmas gifts.

In South River, N. J., a fire routing 40 people began when sparks from a toy electric train beneath it ignited a Christmas tree. These are just a few examples of last year's tragic holiday fires. Despite repeated warnings, there probably will be similar tragedies this year.

Key to the trouble is the tree itself—filled with pitch and resin and extremely combustible. It ignites easily and burns so furiously that it is virtually impossible to put out the fire quickly.

Protect your family by following these precautions recommended by the National Board of Fire Underwriters:

1. Choose a small tree rather than a large one.

2. Store it outdoors until a day or two before Christmas.

3. When you bring it in, stand it in water and set it in a cool part of the house, away from radiators, heaters and fireplaces. Don't let it block an exit.

When you decorate your tree, remember these things:

1. Be sure every lighting set and electric cord you use is in good condition — no worn or frayed wires, no loose sockets. (Naturally, you never use candles!)

2. When you buy new sets or cords, look for the UL label. The ones that bear it have passed Underwriters' Laboratories tests for fire and shock hazards.

3. Provide a switch some distance from the tree for turning tree lights on and off.

4. Ornaments should all be made of fireproof materials like metal or glass. Never decorate with cotton or paper unless they are labeled "fireproof" or "flameproof."

5. Never set up electric trains under the tree! Even when your tree is safe as you can make it, take these added precautions as long as it is in your home:

1. Don't let gift wrappings pile up under or near the tree.

2. Don't leave the tree lights burning when no one is home.

3. From time to time, see whether needles near the lights have started to turn brown. If so, change the position of the lights.

4. When needles start to fall, take the tree down and discard it—outdoors! Have a Merry Christmas this year!

Tomorrow's Refrigerator Will Have Rays, Not Cold

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER

AP Real Estate Editor

The house of the future is taking on more reality than dream talk.

Within 25 years new homes may be equipped with gas burners the size of a nickel, refrigerators that won't get cold, wireless electric lamps and heat supplied by atomic furnaces. These wonders have been worked out experimentally, although they are not ready for mass production.

H. F. Koepfer of the University of Minnesota School of Architecture, described them for home builders recently in the American Builder, trade publication of the light construction industry. He observed that the house of the future will be more a matter of "what the public will ask for, rather than what science will provide, although the latter would be more startling."

The reason for that conclusion, he said, is that we always are conservative about housing.

West Takes Lead

Evidence indicates that when radical changes do occur in American homes, they'll probably come first in the West.

This has been demonstrated by features of what is now called "contemporary" architecture.

Many of these features were on the drawing boards of Frank Lloyd Wright and a few other bold pioneers around the turn of the century. Although it took about 50 years for them to be widely accepted in the West, they still are outlived by code in many Eastern communities.

The contrast between the East and the West was especially noticeable in this year's National Home Week competition conducted by the American Builder. Edward G. Gavin, veteran editor of that magazine, was the man who started that annual week. So Gavin's office makes awards each year to the cities which make the most impressive observance of that week.

One of the points considered by the judges was "general overall design of houses displayed." The West won hands down. Seattle was first among the big cities. Dallas was a close runner-up. Wichita took first prize in the next group of cities, with Salt Lake City second.

There were other considerations, but this writer, examining all of the contest entries in Chicago, was especially struck by the regional difference in design. There was very little "old hat" in any town, but obviously it is not enough to blame mortgage lenders entirely for conservatism in house architecture.

What about those previously mentioned wonders for the house of the future? You can't see them in the West, yet, but here's how they work:

The nickel-size gas burner can control heat from a low simmer to speed cooking as effectively as a plate-size burner.

The refrigerator that isn't cold will be a food box filled with gamma radiations instead of cold air, killing all bacteria and thus preserving the food.

Wireless electric lamps will be lit by high-frequency waves. A built-in radio wave generator would fill your house with unseen, unfelt, high-frequency radiations that would light the phosphors in fluorescent tubes.

And with atomic power plants now under way, heat will be as much of a by-product as the steam from electric plants that heat hundreds of New York skyscrapers today.

Maybe you're not ready for sterile food or a room charged with radiations? Then it's no wonder we're conservative and cling to good old days!

made of fireproof materials like metal or glass. Never decorate with cotton or paper unless they are labeled "fireproof" or "flameproof."

5. Never set up electric trains under the tree! Even when your tree is safe as you can make it, take these added precautions as long as it is in your home:

1. Don't let gift wrappings pile up under or near the tree.

2. Don't leave the tree lights burning when no one is home.

3. From time to time, see whether needles near the lights have started to turn brown. If so, change the position of the lights.

4. When needles start to fall, take the tree down and discard it—outdoors! Have a Merry Christmas this year!

Stevenson Has Plan to Upset GOP in 1956

By JACK BELL

NEW ORLEANS (U) — Adlai E. Stevenson today was reported advising party leaders he believes President Eisenhower can be defeated in any 1956 re-election bid if Democrats pound away at what he regards as the unpopularity of the Republican party.

Stevenson's views, as interpreted to those who talked to him during a Democratic rally which ended here Saturday, was that Eisenhower himself is likely to retain for the next two years a measure of the personal popularity which gave the general his sweeping presidential victory over Stevenson in 1952.

But Stevenson evidently believes that Republicans will continue to demonstrate in the next two years what Paul M. Butler, Democratic national chairman-elect, yesterday called the GOP's "incapacity to govern."

Finger on Ike
Butler put the finger directly on Eisenhower at a news conference, asserting:

"We intend to call to the attention of the American people President Eisenhower's lack of capacity to govern and to unite the people. The responsibility is with the President to see that the nation is united and there is ever-increasing evidence of his lack of capacity to do it."

That language was perhaps a little stronger than Stevenson himself was prepared to use. But the former Illinois governor made it clear he thinks the November elections which gave Democrats control of Congress proved the people don't have nearly as much faith in the GOP as they demonstrated in the past for Eisenhower.

On this basis, Stevenson has told friends he believes that other Republicans in time will drag Eisenhower down to their much lower level of popularity and that the President will be vulnerable if he runs again.

Silent on Own Plans
Stevenson has kept publicly silent on his own plans. He has indicated he is not in an eager-beaver mood for the nomination. Neither has he shut any doors against the possibility.

In his own mind, Stevenson was represented as believing that despite any present intentions, Eisenhower will be forced by his party to take the GOP nomination in 1956.

Stevenson's announcement at a $100-a-plate dinner here Saturday night that he "cannot participate in party affairs as rigorously as in the past" was accepted generally as indicating only an intention to get off the political speechmaking circuit for a while.

Tin Cup Replacing Cap, Gown on Campus?
BOSTON (U) — President Abram L. Sachar of Brandeis University says today's college president must devote so much energy to finding financial support that "the tin cup is replacing the cap and gown."

"Increasingly," he told friends of Brandeis at a dinner last night, "the impression of him which is evoked in the public mind is . . . the high-class mendicant, the public relations impresario."

"Because our education institutions are insecure, we divert the magnificent potentialities of our ablest men into the task of promoting and salesmanship."

Gilda Gray Running College On Sex Appeal

HOLLYWOOD (U) — Look who's running a college of sex appeal knowledge—Gilda Gray.

The shimmy queen of the Roaring '20s has been hired by producer Robert Aldrich to school four sultry sirens in how to act sexy in the new Mickey Spillane opus "Kiss Me Deadly." This may sound like a publicity stunt, and it could be one. But it offers intriguing possibilities.

Gilda, whose own career is perking again after her long battle to regain her health, is taking her new duties seriously. Well, pretty seriously.

"I wasn't the 'It' girl," she told me, "but they did call me the 'S.A.' (sex appeal) girl. Folks said I was the epitome of the abandon in the flaming youth era. So maybe I can teach these girls a thing or two."

"Sex isn't something that you can phony up either. These women who get themselves all dolled up with fake eyelashes and fake bosoms and everything are making a mistake. That's not sex."

"Why, I know a woman who isn't beautiful at all. She doesn't wear any makeup. Yet she's more attractive than the women who spend hours over a makeup table. It's that inner warmth that counts. A woman should be herself. If she's got sex appeal, it will shine through."

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—discovery of a world-famous research institute.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form under the name of Preparation H. Ask for it at all drug stores—money back guarantee. "Reg. U. S. Pat. Off."

3 Die in Crash Of Private Plane
MASON, Mich. (U) — Three persons were killed in the crash of a single-engine private plane near Stockbridge last night. The dead were identified as Ed Gilmore, the pilot, about 37, of Gregory, and Royce Porath, about 22, and Thomas Whittaker, 24, both of Munnich.

Millionaires Have Plans for Colorado City
GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. (U) — Two Texas millionaires say they plan to make this oil and uranium-rich western Colorado city the "energy capital" of the nation.

Lucien Cullen and Welborn Foreman, of Houston, have announced plans for a 640-acre business development which they estimate will cost $7,225,000.

Included in the center, they said, are:

A six-story, $2,225,000 office building to be mounted on a circular base which will pivot 90 degrees with the movement of the sun.

A building for offices of mine and oil equipment manufacturers and related mining ventures.

An area to be set aside for use of research foundations engaged in atomic or oil studies.

A swank hotel and apartment building.

A housing development with homes ranging in price from $10,000 up.

A restaurant and cocktail lounge, a community shopping center, a park and swimming pool, and a nine-hole golf course and country club.

Foreman said financing is being provided by "a syndicate of Texas oilmen."

More people ought to hurry up and learn how to wait.

Gophers Score 93 Points But Bow to DePaul

MINNEAPOLIS (U)—The highest single game scoring spree in Minnesota history wasn't good enough to win. But it revealed a richness in young talent that should make the Gophers hard to handle in the Big Ten basketball fight.

The Gophers' 94-93 loss to DePaul in overtime Saturday night made a shrieking mob of even caloused Chicago Stadium viewers. It found Minnesota counterattacking and almost winning with virtually its entire arsenal disarmed by personal fouls.

The youngsters who stepped into the gap were Gerald (Buck) Lindley of West DePaul, Wis., Dave Tucker of Superior, Wis., and Jerry Kindall of St. Paul.

So satisfying was their performance that Coach Ozzie Cowles could say today "now we have at least an eight-man team. They showed real competitive fire, and all are important in our plans from here on."

Conceivably one or more could break into the starting lineup soon, but Cowles will await practice results this week before making any definite changes.

His veterans did well while they lasted. Trailing by as much as 11 points at one time in the first half, Minnesota whipped back to grab a half-time lead. Dick Garmaker, like Chuck Mencil en route to 25 points, kept the Gophers in front most of the second half until Ken Jacksey and Bill Robinson overtook them.

Lindley dumped in three baskets in the last half minute to earn Minnesota a 94-93 tie in regulation play. The Gophers were within 17 seconds of winning in overtime when Ron Sobieschewski stole the ball from Lindley and scored.

The 93 points represented a Minnesota scoring peak. But the 94 also is the heaviest total a Minnesota opponent ever has accumulated and of course the two-team total also is a record for a game involving Minnesota.

The teams do it all over Saturday night at Williams Arena. Garmaker fouled out with five minutes left in the second half and subsequently was joined by Doug Bolstorff, Mencil and Bill Simonovich.

Simonovich, the 6-11 goliath whose success is the apparent hope of Minnesota this year, played almost the full game and scored 15 points.

Cowles thought he played well in spots and delivered on defense in the first half. He did make mechanical mistakes, however, as did most of the newcomers.

Kentucky and La Salle Pace Cage Favorites

By ED CORRIAN
The Associated Press

A couple of familiar faces—Kentucky and La Salle—stood out today as the college basketball season entered the first full week of action around the country.

The Wildcats, in fact, have an opportunity to set a school record Saturday when they play Xavier of Ohio on the enemy court. They've already equalled their all-time winning streak of 26 games, and if they beat Xavier, Coach Adolph Rupp can point to another record.

The reconstructed Wildcats have played only one game, but it was an impressive 74-53 victory over Louisiana State Saturday night. The big gun was Phil (Cookie) Grawemeyer, a 6-7 veteran from last year's unbeaten outfit.

The Wildcat triumph, combined with Alabama's 50-45 defeat by St. Louis, left many a wet eye in the Southeastern Conference. Alabama was figured as the one team with a chance to edge Kentucky out of the league title. The St. Louis game wasn't a league encounter, but it proved Alabama a disappointment.

La Salle, the NCAA champion last year, now shows a 2-0 mark and should emerge the class of the East. The Explorers got past their first major test last night when they thumped Loyola of New Orleans 85-71 with All-America Tom Gola dropping 23 points.

They have another dangerous foe on tap Saturday in Niagara. In fact, since Niagara dropped Fordham 75-61, it could emerge La Salle's main contender for Eastern honors.

On the subject of streaks, Notre Dame has a 17-game regular-season skid going. The Irish opened operations with a 72-61 triumph over Wisconsin. They play North-western, which should prove early pickin's Wednesday, but must entertain Indiana Saturday.

Westfield Out of 'Red;' Kowalczyk Part-Time Pro

Westfield Golf Club is financially "in the black," it was announced Saturday night at the annual meeting of members following a dinner at the Athletic Club.

Considerable significance is attached to the statement since Westfield had an indebtedness amounting to $2,100 before the past season started.

Over $900 was received in donations. Westfield finance officers reported a cash balance of $195 and also announced money is being put into funds for machinery replacement and clubhouse repair.

"We're proud of our financial success," Charles Choate, president of the Westfield board of directors, said.

It was the result of a lot of people doing a lot of work.

Some 100 persons attended the dinner and annual meeting. With the announcement that the club was out of the red, it was revealed that Harry Kowalczyk has been secured to give professional golf services on a part-time basis next summer, pending arrangements at the Merchants National Bank, with which he has been affiliated 27 years.

Kowalczyk, a past city golf champion several times over, was part-time pro at Westfield during the war years.

His most famous protege is Winona's Marlene Gosell, winner of the Minnesota Women's Golf Association match play championship last summer.

Kermil Halverson, Westfield manager, reported that over 30,000 rounds of golf were played at the municipal course last summer by local and area golfers and also persons from nearly every state in the U. S. and foreign countries.

Re-elected as directors were L. M. Ferdinandsen and Choate. New directors elected were Len DuBois and Morgan Seagriff. Election of officers will be held at the next monthly meeting of directors.

Trophies were awarded to winners of club championships. Permanent Westfield trophies are the Penntiss Trophy and Millar Trophy.

Reports were given by committee chairmen and also by M. J. Bambenek, of the Park-Recreation department.

Bambenek said a need existed for golf clubs for junior members on a rental basis. He said five sets were rented 86 times and that over 100 youths took golf instruction at Westfield last summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Kermil Halverson were rehired as manager and assistant manager of Westfield for next season.

Mention was also made of the fact that Westfield is one of three sites in Winona considered for location of new and additional city wells. Choate said the wells could be located in the rough and wasn't of the opinion that water wells at Westfield would affect the golf-playing area.

Westfield members were told by Choate, "Westfield has created a $50,000 asset for the city, and the only money put into the course was $400 in labor the past summer from Park Recreation employees."

Honorary memberships to Westfield were voted to Marlene Gosell, Paul Giel and Joanne Reineke.

Special guests at the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Loyce E. Pfeiffer, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ewert; Joanne Wunderlich and Mrs. Sam Millar.

Top Attractions Drawing Crowds At Boston Fights

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Offer the fans a good attraction and they'll make the turnstiles whirr. Boston promoter Sam Silverman offers the proof again Saturday night with an outstanding fight card topped by a 10-rounder between Tony DeMarco, Boston's hard-hitting welterweight contender, and Jolting Joe Miceli of New York.

That match by itself would have assured Silverman of a profitable gate at the Boston Garden. But he threw in three more good bouts featuring local and national fighters and what'll he have? — a sellout crowd of around 13,000 and a gate of $70,000.

Underneath the top bout, Silverman has matched featherweights Tommy Collins, once the idol of Boston, and Lulu Perez, of Brooklyn; lightweights George Araujo, former No. 1 lightweight contender from Providence, and Jackie Blair, of Dallas; and sailor Ed Sanders, Olympic heavyweight champion, and Boston's Willie James in a 12-rounder for the New England title.

Once-beaten Carmelo Costa, seventh-ranking featherweight contender from Brooklyn, is a 12-5 favorite to whip Bobby Bell, ex-GI from Youngstown, Ohio, in a 10-rounder at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena tonight.

Italy's Italo Scorticchini and Cuba's Chico Varona are rated even in the betting for their welterweight 10-rounder tonight at New York's St. Nicholas Arena. Scorticchini, a busy little fellow, has a 25-14 record. Varona's record is 57-16.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D.Sc.

Answer to Question No. 1. Psychologist Edward Podolsky, in his "Encyclopedia of Aberrations," points out that fairy princes and princesses and the ancient mythical gods always had long hair, usually golden. The story of Samson shows how hair was believed to signify strength. Knights of chivalry wore long hair because they thought it indicated strength and virility.

Answer to Question No. 2. Psychologists Barney Katz and George Lehner say in their "Mental Hygiene and Modern Living" that it is usually due to frustration caused by unhappy homes and a wish to get even. It's often an attempt at bravado—to be "heroic" in the eyes of their gang. Some steal to give presents and gain popularity. They're confused, frustrated kids.

Answer to Question No. 3. Psychologist E. L. Thorndike pointed out some do better in music with 100 hours of training—due mostly to heredity—than others with 1,000 hours. He collected much evidence that the case with business talents is largely the same. Another study by Tausig and Jocelyn of 7,000 business leaders reached the same conclusion. Fairly reliable tests of business talents are now available to psychologists.

Woman Saves 3 Children, Dies in Fire

RIVER FALLS, Wis. (AP)—A 35-year-old woman died in her burning home Saturday after saving her three small children by dropping them from windows into the arms of neighbors.

After her heroic efforts, Mrs. Marie McKahn, collapsed just inside the second floor window from which she had dropped Betty 13½, Jane 6, and Rene 8. Betty and Rene suffered minor burns.

Mrs. McKahn, a native of Luxemburg, Germany and a World War II bride, was the wife of Henry McKahn, an employee at Wisconsin State College here.

The frame house caught fire about 7 a.m. with her exit blocked by smoke and flame, Mrs. McKahn opened a window and screamed to neighbors. She dropped her children to them one by one, then fell back into the burning house. Her body was recovered.

McKahn was at his work at the time. Cause of the fire was being investigated.

FAIRLY SPOKEN

By MARGARET LATROBE

(Editor's Note: Because of the sudden death of Erich Brandeis who has been writing "Looking at Life" for Daily News readers, this spot will be filled hereafter by Margaret Latrobe who will write under the heading "Fairly Spoken.")

Fred Snite Jr., and Lionel Barrymore, both now deceased, might have been astonished to find their names in the same sentence. Or maybe they wouldn't, for doubtless they each had read a great deal about the other. They must have felt an inner kinship, the kinship of suffering.

Surely no one who has read the newspapers for the last 18 years has failed to marvel at the almost unrelenting course of polio victim Fred Snite, who spent those years in an iron lung. He called himself "The Boiler Kid." He could joke about the machine which encased him, which breathed for him. But it didn't live for him.

He found life very full, a lot of fun and very worth living. With what must have been a God-given flexibility of mind, he turned cheerfully from the world of activity toward those few things still left—his family, travel, the game of bridge. And he played bridge gaily and well, just as he played the game of life. For what Fred Snite called life was a great deal fuller than that of many whimpering folk who have what he lacked—the ability to stand and to walk.

There are many hundreds of polio victims, invalids of all kinds, who probably think keenly about Fred Snite. Many of these have been given strength enough to go on smiling, just by remembering his acceptance of what life brought.

Lionel Barrymore, an almost complete invalid since 1936, must have understood the parable of the talents. Like the Biblical character, he too was given five. But he used his five—actor, composer, musician, artist, writer—even though from a wheelchair, on
