The Future of the Hog Business

There has been during the past several months considerable apprehension among the producers for hog-breeding. Two factors have contributed to this state of affairs. The first is the strike in the iron industry; the second is the fall in the price of corn. The former has caused a considerable reduction in the price of feed, while the latter has had a marked effect on the price of hogs. The result is that many farmers are now thinking of selling their hogs early in the fall, before the price of corn rises too high.

First and Last Call for the Duroc Sales

With this week's issue of the Leader in your hands, we are at liberty to announce that we will hold a Duroc Sale on Friday, October 14, 1921, in the new building on the north side of the depot in Winona.

EXPERIENCE WITH HOG DWELLING DOWNS

At the Ohio station they have found that the hogs do not do well. When the pigs are turned out to feed, they are hungry and will eat all they can find. Some of the pigs have been kept in pens and have died from lack of fresh air. The men in charge of the station have found that the pigs need plenty of fresh air and should be allowed to run about freely.

INSURE YOUR SALE

You believe in fire insurance and life insurance, then why not insure the success of your farm sale. Know before the sale the least possible cost, so that you can sell to the best advantage. How can you have a good sale and lose money?
