Millikin Wants Ike to Run Again in 1956

Discounts Talk
Of Split Over
McCarthy Attack

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Millikin (R-Colo.) said today there already is an "irresistible demand" among Republicans for President Eisenhower to become a candidate again in 1956.

Millikin, who heads the Conference of All GOP Senators, discounted in an interview any major split in the party because of the attack by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) on the President—a view generally shared by other Republicans and by some Democrats.

"I don't expect any split in the Republican party and neither do I expect any third party movement," Millikin said. "There already is an irresistible demand that the President be a candidate for another term and I don't think he can be beaten if he runs."

McCarthy accused Eisenhower Tuesday of a "shrinking show of weakness" against Red China and blasted at the President for congratulating Chairman Watkins (R-Utah) of the committee which recommended McCarthy be censured. McCarthy said afterwards he plans to remain in the Republican party "at the present time."

GOP National Chairman Leonard W. Hall said yesterday a personal survey of Republican sentiment has convinced him that, as a result of the McCarthy criticism, "the President will find even greater unity and support among Republican members of both the Senate and House during the next two years."

Big 3 to Consult On Russ Warning

Soviets Threaten To Build Up Arms

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States, Britain and France will consult soon on a reply to Russia's latest note warning of a buildup in Communist military power to counter the proposed rearmament of West Germany.

Washington officials feel the note does not really foreshadow a new Red military buildup, but that it has some propaganda purposes. The note, given to the three Western Powers in Moscow last night, said, "The Soviet Union and other peace-loving countries will carry out all necessary measures to step up their armaments and to safeguard their security."

It also said that making West Germany a partner in the Western European defense system and a member of the North Atlantic Alliance would render the unification of Germany impossible.

Both statements reflect the standard Soviet policy line which was developed almost a year ago at the Berlin Big Four conference and in a subsequent series of notes to Washington, London and Paris.

For propaganda purposes, the new Soviet warning is assumed here to be aimed at creating popular uneasiness and political division over the German rearmament issue in both France and West Germany.

As to an increase in the strength of Eastern European forces, it has always been assumed here that the forces in being were about as large as the Communists could maintain and far greater than they needed for purely defensive purposes.

The belief of officials here is that Soviet government leaders are resigned to the rearmament of West Germany and that they will not in fact take any radical new measures either to oppose it or to try to offset its effect once it is actually achieved.

These officials believe that what is happening in the broad picture is the hardening of a kind of military stalemate between East and West. They think this may result in a power balance that will last for years with each side exercising reasonable restraint on the use of its forces to avoid the devastations of an atomic war.

The newspaper comment was pinned to the 10th anniversary today of the signing of the French-Soviet pact.

Moscow Papers Warn France on German Treaty

MOSCOW (AP)—Moscow's three big morning newspapers warned the West—and especially France—again today against putting into effect plans to rearm West Germany.

Following up last night's Soviet notes to the Western Big Three powers, Pravda, Izvestia and Trud claimed that if France allied itself with a rearmament West Germany it would be scorning the French-Soviet mutual aid pact of 1944.

All three newspapers said the French would take that step at their own peril.

A similar warning was contained in the Soviet note to Paris. Like those sent Britain and the United States, the note to France also declared the rearmament of West Germany would force the Soviet Union and its allies to increase their own military strength and would bring any new Big Four talks on German reunification.

The newspaper comment was pinned to the 10th anniversary today of the signing of the French-Soviet pact.

Proposal From Out Of the Blue Fails

BOYNE CITY, Mich. (AP)—Aviator Carl Demler, 40, proposed Wednesday to Mrs. Evelyn Brandt, a divorcee, by flying across the city towing a banner that read: "Evelyn, I love you. Marry me. Carl." Yesterday Mrs. Brandt gave her answer: "No."

"Everyone was thrilled but me," she said.

Goodfellows Originated in Bitter Cold

ANY years ago, before the age of automobiles, a noted editor of a great newspaper was walking along Madison street in Chicago. It was a cold, blustery evening. The wind swept in from Lake Michigan. It was Christmas Eve and the editor had the feeling of the day in his blood.

Suddenly, kneeling in the snow on the sidewalk, peering into a store window below the frost line, he observed a ragged tot. The editor got down beside him and looked in, too.

It was a fuzzy, white, toy dog in the window—dirty from being there all the Christmas season.

"Do you want that toy?" the editor asked.

The boy looked up but said nothing. The editor took him inside the store and purchased the little woolly dog, and as an editor usually does, asked some questions.

The result was a handsome load of toys and food for a sick grandpa and grandma, a ride atop the cab with the caddy for the boy and a climb up several flights of stairs for the editor.

It was really said, the editor later wrote. The grandfather could not walk. The grandmother was weak and tired. The boy was their sole support. He sold newspapers on the street.

"I felt like a noble knight that Christmas Eve, carrying a message of great joy."

The next year, the editor established the Goodfellows in Chicago. Business leaders of the community sold newspapers on the streets to raise the funds.

You can be a noble knight right here in Winona where similar conditions exist today.

Knighthood can be attained very simply. Just mail or bring your contribution for the Goodfellows to The Daily News. There are a lot of children in this community who will not have a Christmas this year if you do not become a Goodfellow—now.

New Red Air Base Threatens Okinawa

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Over 30,000 men are working night and day building a big new Communist air base near the coast on the Red Chinese mainland which will threaten not only Formosa but also Okinawa, the Nationalist Defense Ministry said today.

It located the new base, big enough to handle heavy bombers, as 20 miles west of the Tachen Islands, 200 miles north of here and 430 miles west of Okinawa.

Dr. Sheppard Thrice Denies Killing Wife

By RELMAN MORIN

CLEVELAND (AP)—Dr. Samuel Sheppard thrice denied in court today that he killed his pregnant wife Marilyn last Independence Day.

He said he was holding her in his arms, as they sat in the same chair, only a few hours before she died.

He spoke in a firm, emphatic voice. His chin jutted forward. It was a dramatic point in the long murder trial. The jurors, seven men and five women, had their eyes riveted upon him when he spoke.

It was Sheppard's second day on the witness stand. He said he was "shocked" when a detective first accused him of murdering his wife. "Was there any basis of truth in the accusation made?" asked defense attorney William J. Corrigan.

"No, sir," replied the defendant firmly.

Q. "After the accusation was made against you that you killed Marilyn, did you do anything about hiring a lawyer?" A. "No, sir, I didn't."

Q. "You knew the truth would come out?" A. "Yes."

Q. "And the accusation was false?" A. "Yes, sir."

Q. "And it is false?" A. "That's right."

Sheppard described the events on the night of the murder. He said that after having dinner with two neighbors, he sat in a chair with his wife on his lap. He said he was holding her in his arms.

The defendant's denial followed his dramatic account of how an intruder struck him down from behind outside his wife's bedroom when he awoke on a downstairs couch and went to help her. He told how he regained consciousness on the floor, and entered the murder bedroom to see the beaten and bloody body of Marilyn.

Then he told of pursuing a shadowy figure from the house to the

Stassen Seeks Solid Answers On Europe Aid

By WARREN ROGERS JR.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Foreign aid chief Harold E. Stassen has served notice he wants some solid answers when he goes to Paris next week for talks about European help in diplomatic terms, in discussing the aid plan at a news conference late yesterday.

He said the program has not reached the stage of decision on "dimensions and methods" but would be far less ambitious than the 15-billion-dollar Marshall Plan, which helped to restore economic health to Europe in seven years.

The Asia aid proposal, Stassen said, depends in great measure upon government appropriations from West Europe. He termed European help "essential."

While there has been no public rush in European capitals to comply with Stassen's previous suggestions along this line, the U.S. aid administrator said he is encouraged by reaction on the Continent and expects to continue informal talks next week at Paris with officials of the Office of European Economic Cooperation.

Stassen said the Asia aid program is a key part of U.S. foreign economic policy.

Why should Peiping, after too-long the coexistence born at Moscow's elbow, commit an act making coexistence less likely?

There are probably several answers, but an important one lies in the Chinese political character and habit of thought.

China's most persistent political concept is summed up in "Yung yang ta yang," which translates roughly:

"Use barbarians to smite barbarians."

It dates from ancient times when all non-Chinese were barbarians. The cultured rulers of China quickly learned these barbarians could be used to fight China's battles for her, against one another. The idea is found in countless Chinese novels, dramas, operas and folktales, the kind Red China's boss Mao Tse-tung was brought up on.

It underlies the Chinese attitude toward all foreign affairs—to let others do the fighting or quarreling while you sit back and wait for them to weaken each other. After that you step in and run things.

The idea naturally involves more than exploiting antagonisms. It means keeping antagonisms going so they can be exploited—the old trick of divide and rule.

U.N. May Vote On Airmen Today

Soviets Endorse Chinese Stand On U. S. Airmen

By JAMES D. WHITE

AP Staff Writer

It took the Soviet press 12 days to endorse Red China's sentencing of 13 Americans on spy charges.

Seldom has Moscow waited so long to back up an action by its Asian partner.

Moscow could scarcely have done less without appearing to disapprove, thus shaking the concept of Communist unity around the world. But there is no assurance it hasn't been badly shaken, in view of Russia's theme of promoting "peaceful coexistence" with the non-Communist world. The Chinese action could not have been much better designed to make Americans shy away from the whole idea.

U. S. Chief Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. accused Malik of making hollow, misleading statements in charging the airmen were spies. He declared the plans were on a legitimate mission and that the men, as uniformed military personnel, should be handed over at once under the terms of the Korean armistice.

Both British Minister of State Anthony Nutting and France's Henri Hoppenot firmly backed Lodge's stand.

45 of 60 in Assembly Will Support U.S.

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The U. N. Assembly pushed for a vote today on demands by the United States and its 15 Korean War Allies that Red China yield up 11 American airmen held as spies. Western diplomats predicted at least 45 of the 60 member states would rally behind the call.

Wary delegates prepared to resume debate on the resolution after two meetings yesterday, the second lasting until nearly midnight. Hopful of clearing up the item before the Assembly goes into its final scheduled week, they planned to remain in session until they reach a ballot on the 16-power resolution condemning imprisonment of the men and calling on Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld to work for their release.

Delegates anticipated the resolution would encounter opposition only from the five-nation Soviet bloc, which has fought it bitterly. A scattering of Arab-Asian states were expected to abstain.

Observers believed the resolution could have mustered 55 favorable votes if it had not included condemnation of Red China. This caused apprehension among Arab-Asian nations with little desire to go on record denouncing Peiping.

Syria reflected this feeling in yesterday's debate. Her chief delegate, Ahmed Shukairi, said that he favored the speedy release of the airmen but saw little point in denouncing the Chinese if the Assembly sincerely wanted to win the Americans freedom.

Russia's Jacob Malik spearheaded the bitter Soviet bloc attack, angrily denouncing the complaint as "shameful." He declared the Assembly had no right to try to intervene in Chinese justice. He hinted the Communists would ignore any action the United Nations might take.

Rushford Woman Says Merry Christmas With 135 'New' Dolls

By EARL GILBERT
Daily News Area Editor

RUSHFORD, Minn. (Special)—Christmas spirit comes early to Rushford and stays late.

In fact it came in July this year to Mrs. Lynda Noyes and if her doll repair hobby gets bigger it may take her every spare hour the year 'round.

Since the end of World War II she has been repairing and re-fitting broken dolls to give to needy girls of all races, colors and creeds at Christmas. This year the project includes 135 dolls of all descriptions which have been clothed by Mrs. Noyes and many of her friends in Rushford and surrounding towns, Winona and the Twin Cities.

After being displayed in the Tri-County Electric Cooperative lobby today through the middle of next week, they will be shipped to the slum area of Chicago, the Winona Salvation Army and the Hebrew Fellowship, Minneapolis, so little girls who otherwise wouldn't have a Christmas doll will have all the Yuletide joy of more privileged children.

First Ones to Norway

In 1947, when Mrs. Noyes was working on the hobby all by herself in spare hours from the dress shop which she runs here, she shipped 35 old dolls made new to a tuberculosis sanatorium just outside Oslo, Norway. She says that because of a scarcity of toys, the tots were allowed to have one of the dolls for only an hour at a time.

"I just love dolls," she beams. "I'd rather remake and clothe them than sell dresses." Over the last 10 years she has repaired and given as gifts nearly 500 dolls. This year her output has been the greatest ever.

"I'm running out of broken dolls and spare parts," Mrs. Noyes says regretfully. "Tell people to bring me dolls and parts of all kinds. It used to be that heads were the most plentiful. Now it is bodies." Proof of her talent was brought to light this winter when a small Rushford lass, Merrie Sue Dubbs, gave her a bashed and battered creature named "Baldy" which was once the apple of Merrie's eye. The sun and heat had discolored it. Mrs. Noyes repaired it, reset the eyes and tinted it brown. It is now a cute Negro baby doll all decked out in well-made, colorful clothing.

A Message to Child

The doll-surgeon put the finished product in her dress shop window with this note attached: "This is Baldy! Your beloved, white Baldy! When you gave her to me her head was bashed in. You had carried her for months all patched up. I mended her head and reset her eyes. But the heat and the sun had discolored her body. So I tinted her face and now she's a Negro baby! Just as dear, I am sure, as when she was white. Which just goes to show how silly we are."

"God used just one mold for all his children on earth but in finishing, used many colors."

Her dolls have gone to the Salvation Army many times and once were published in the War Cry, corps magazine. A former Winona, La. L. Corey, S.A., is pictured in the February, 1951 edition at a Christmas tree party in Crookston, Minn., together with several children holding Lynda dolls.

This year, the Ladies Aid of the Rushford Lutheran Church will pay the cost of shipping the dolls to Chicago, Minneapolis and Winona. "There are no strings attached to receiving one of my dolls," Mrs. Noyes stressed. "No religious or color line is drawn. No church sponsors the giving. The only requirement is need."

Many Contributors

After Mrs. Noyes has reconstructed a doll and painted new features, including hair, it is clothed in truly distinctive fashion. She has received dolls from most of the towns of Fillmore County, Winona and La Crosse. This winter, as the project took on a commu-

broken when she gave it to Mrs. Lynda Noyes, a Rushford dress shop proprietor. Now it is as good as new, made into a Negro baby doll and attractively clothed. (Daily News photos)

The Ingenuity and Generosity of many women from this area, headed by the "doll doctor," Mrs. Lynda Noyes, Rushford, have rejuvenated broken and forgotten dolls into this sparkling array which will be given to needy girls at Christmas. More than 130 dolls were repaired and refitted by Mrs. Noyes since July. She and friends made clothing and dressed them. The dolls are on display at the Tri-County Co-op, Rushford, until next week when they will be sent to Chicago, Minneapolis and Winona as Christmas gifts.

State Traffic Deaths For 11 Months Down

ST. PAUL (AP)—Although 16 pedestrians were killed in November, more than in any other month of 1954, the traffic fatality toll for the year's first 11 months has been less severe than in 1953. This year 582 traffic deaths have been reported compared with 604 during the first 11 months of last year. November traffic accidents killed 50 motorists and pedestrians, 14 fewer than in November a year ago.

TC Winter Quarter Enrollment 583

The first week of the winter quarter at Winona State Teachers College ended today with a total on-campus enrollment of 583, it was announced at the college. "Our figures show a slight, but expected, drop over the fall quarter because of the fewer number of part-time students registering for evening classes," Miss Helen Pritchard registrar, said. "For the full-time undergraduate enrollment, we have approximately the same number as in September." Despite a few withdrawals during the fall months, 28 veterans, registering for the first time, helped to hold the undergraduate enrollment up to the high mark set in September.

New Brighton Arsenal To Cut Work Force

NEW BRIGHTON, Minn. (AP)—An upcoming cut in small arms ammunition production will reduce the force at the arsenal here by about 1,500 by next September, officials said Thursday night. R. B. Lynn, plant manager for the Federal Cartridge Co., and Lt. Col. E. H. Hilsman, arsenal commander, said in a joint statement that most of the cuts will be made by not replacing workers who resign during the next eight months.

Balance of the necessary reduction will be accomplished in easy stages, the statement said. The arsenal now employs about 4,500.

St. Paul Police Hunt Oslo Holdup Suspect

ST. PAUL (AP)—Police here are looking for a North Dakota man wanted for a stick-up in Oslo, Minn., and by the Army for being absent without leave. He is reported in this area.

The suspect, between 23 and 28, is driving a maroon Plymouth convertible identified from its license number as belonging to a Grand Forks, N.D., man. Two men robbed a Farmers Union Oil Co. service station of $400-$500 Tuesday night. They wounded the manager, Donald Souers, with his own .22 caliber pistol. A witness noted the license number.

Freeman Appoints 2 to Fill State Board Vacancies

ST. PAUL (AP)—Gov. Anderson today made two appointments to fill vacancies on state boards. Dr. J. P. Medelman, St. Paul, was named as a member of the board of medical examiners, and Cecil L. Holsing, Zumbrota, as a member of the board of electricity. Dr. Medelman fills the unexpired term of Dr. E. M. Jones, who resigned because of illness. His term expires May 1, 1956. Holsing succeeds George J. Werner, Rushford, who quit because of ill health. His term expires in January, 1957.

$210,000 to Fight State Alcoholism Problem Suggested

ST. PAUL (AP)—An appropriation of $210,000 to meet Minnesota's alcoholism problem today was recommended to the 1955 Legislature. The Minnesota advisory board on problems of alcoholism said the state's present appropriation of $7,500 puts Minnesota behind most of the 30 states which have such programs.

The board recommended that the William State Hospital be granted $82,000 for additional personnel to bring its treatment program "to a minimum standard of efficiency."

St. Charles Merchants Set Christmas Events

ST. CHARLES, Minn. (Special)—Plans for special Christmas events in St. Charles have been completed.

The Commercial Club has announced that stores will be open evenings until 9:30 p. m. beginning next Wednesday, continuing until Dec. 23. Stores will close at 5 p. m. on Christmas Eve.

The Post Office will be open Saturday and Dec. 18.

Free movies for youngsters are scheduled for Dec. 21 at the Rialto Theater beginning at 9:30 a. m. and 2 p. m. Santa Claus will visit the city Wednesday (at the Co-op Oil Station), Dec. 21 (on the street after the movies) and Dec. 23 along Water street, distributing treats.

The home decorating contest awards were set at $10, $5 and $3 by the Commercial Club.

ST. CHARLES OPENING

ST. CHARLES, Minn. (Special)—A grand opening will be held at Schaber's Store Saturday and Dec. 18. The food department, which has become affiliated with Super Valu Stores Inc., has been redecorated and the men's furnishings department has been enlarged. Prizes and gifts will be featured during the opening.

Buena Vista Group Tries For New Use

Commission Aims Possibilities at Wabasha Meeting

Following in the wake of a decision Wednesday by Winona County's Board of Commissioners to terminate the county's contract with Buena Vista TB Sanatorium at Wabasha, the five-member Buena Vista Sanatorium Commission met Thursday evening at Wabasha to consider roads now left open to them.

When it was first reported in October that Winona County might not renew its contract with Buena Vista, Wabasha officials indicated that Buena Vista would have to close because of an insufficient patient load.

Following last night's meeting, it was reported that there is a distinct possibility that state and federal aid may be utilized to maintain Buena Vista as a rest home. Because of that, Buena Vista representatives may ask Winona County commissioners to leave their TB patients at Wabasha until after April 1, 1955. At that time, it was reported, the state would be ready to take over Buena Vista.

In the final day of the December session Wednesday, Winona County commissioners voted unanimously to terminate the Winona-Wabasha county contract as of Dec. 31 of this year; but added that Winona County patients would remain at Buena Vista under a "gentlemen's agreement" until Feb. 1, 1955.

Salvation Army Appeals for Help In Basket Project

Discontinuation of Christmas baskets by one fraternal lodge has increased the responsibility of the Salvation Army, Capt. Charles F. Hall said today.

Instead of distributing about 60 baskets Christmas Eve as last year, the Salvation Army hopes to have the funds and food to load up about 150 baskets.

At the same time, the Army plans to expand a practice begun last year of joining Santa Claus Christmas Eve in bringing toys to homes without Christmas cheer.

In assuming an extra Christmas basket responsibility, the Army is asking the public to increase its contributions to the coin containers along 3rd street—to purchase principally poultry—and gifts of actual food.

Food may be contributed in this way, Capt. Hall said.

Early next week bags will be left at the door of each home in Winona. In it the Salvation Army hopes residents will put canned goods of all types, fruit, potatoes, jellies, puddings, etc. On the afternoon of Dec. 18 Boy Scouts will pick up the bags.

With the food purchased by use of the cash contributions, these gifts of food in the bags will comprise the Christmas baskets to be distributed Christmas Eve afternoon.

Until this year the Elks lodge has been distributing about 90 baskets each Christmas.

Distribution of Christmas baskets will be made after clearing with the Christmas bureau of the Winona Council of Social Agencies. The Salvation Army's deadline for applications is Dec. 21. Application may be made to the Army or to Mrs. Katherine Lambert, secretary of the bureau.

Capt. Hall also asked for contributions of new toys and of used toys which need little or no repair.

He added that the Christmas basket project is financed with funds outside of the Army's regular budget, which is supported in part by the Community Chest.

Rushford Woman Hurt In Collision Here

Carol Colbenson, 24, Rushford, suffered foot bruises when the car she was driving was involved in a collision at East Broadway and Franklin street at 1:15 a. m. today. She was driving east on Broadway when her car and an automobile driven south on Franklin street by Allyn Schneider, Winona Rt. 2, collided.

Damage to the Colbenson car was estimated at $100 and Schneider reported $80 damage to his car. Gerald Curran, 256 E. Howard St., said that $100 damage resulted to his car in a collision at West 3rd and Washington streets at 11:30 p. m. Wednesday.

The driver of the other car has not completed the accident report at police headquarters.

U Professor To Be Freeman Tax Adviser

ST. PAUL (AP)—Prof. Walter Heller of the University of Minnesota, economics department, will be chief adviser on tax matters to Gov.-elect Orville Freeman. Freeman announced the appointment late Thursday. The professor is the author of a new book on state income taxes to be published next year.

Dr. Heller will be aided by two other university staff members, Drs. Arthur Borak of the business administration department, and Francis M. Boddy, professor of economics.

Briesath Files In First Ward

Harold W. Briesath

A West End service station owner today filed for 1st Ward alderman.

He is Harold W. Briesath, 47, 1614 W. 5th St., who filed with City Recorder Roy G. Wildgrube for the City Council post now held by R. K. Ellings, not a candidate for re-election.

Briesath is the first to file for that office. The candidate is married, has five children and operates Briesath's Shell Service Station at 1605 W. 5th St. A native of the city, he has been operating the station for 23 years.

He is vice president of the West End Commercial Club, and a member of the Winona Rod & Gun Club, the Improved Order of Red Men and the Masonic bodies.

Lanesboro Man, 55, Critically Injured In Fall on Porch

LANESBORO, Minn. (Special)—Nels Teigen, 55, is in critical condition at Johnson's Hospital, Lanesboro, suffering from a fractured skull which he received in a fall at his home here Wednesday about 4:30 p. m.

Teigen, who operates the Shell Gas Station, was home alone at the time and was winterizing his front porch. The ladder on which he was standing apparently slipped on a patch of ice. He managed to crawl into his home and was found about an hour later by his wife and Mr. and Mrs. Ade Halvorson.

Candlelight Service Scheduled Sunday At Tamarack Lutheran

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special)—Tamarack Lutheran Church, eight miles south of here, will sponsor its annual candlelight music service Sunday at 8 p. m. at the church.

Program at the affair will include: Processional by the church choir; a girls' vocal trio, composed of Julieanne Jensen, Burdonna Bockenhauer and Patricia Howell; a duet by Mrs. Norval Swenson and Mrs. Norval Swenson; solos by Carlyle Gilbertson, Mrs. La Verne Dittinger, Rosemary Christanson, Mrs. Gerald Severson and Ronald Johnson.

A ladies' quartet, composed of Mrs. Russell Gilbertson, Mrs. La Verne Dittinger, Mrs. Stanley Howell and Patricia Howell; a men's quartet, composed of Harold and Ronald Johnson, the Rev. Mr. Benning and Carlyle Gilbertson; and a mixed quartet, composed of Mrs. Gerald Severson, Mrs. Roy Christanson, Carlyle Gilbertson and the Rev. Benning.

Lunch will be served in the church parlors following the program.

Santa Claus Visit Slated at Rushford

RUSHFORD, Minn. (Special)—Santa Claus will be in Rushford Dec. 18 with treats for the youngsters.

A free movie is scheduled that day at the Trojan Theater beginning at 2:30 p. m. Arrangements are being completed by the Rushford Commercial Club, the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Stores will remain open until 9 p. m. beginning Dec. 20 and continuing through Dec. 23. Stores will close at 5 p. m. on Christmas Eve. The Boy Scouts are exclusive Christmas tree dealers in Rushford. The lot, near the Trojan Theater, is open Monday through Saturday until 6 p. m.

Higher Income Limits Set at Thurley Homes

$200 Boost Approved In Some Categories, Director Announces

The Public Housing Administration (PHA), through its Chicago field office, has authorized higher admission income limits for Winona's Arthur C. Thurley Homes.

Executive Director Arthur A. Gallien said today that authorization received late Thursday afternoon will permit families to be admitted to the low-rent housing site with higher incomes than before.

For example, a family of two, which previously had an income limit of $2,300 after exemptions, can now earn up to $2,500 and be eligible.

Families of three or four persons, who were limited to an income of $2,500, can now qualify for admission with an income of $2,700.

And families of five or more persons, who had an income limit of $2,800 since the first applications were accepted last Jan. 11, can now qualify as tenants with an income of $2,900.

The changes are the result of an involved process that began early this fall when it was noted that the original limitations were based upon out-dated economic conditions.

Existing conditions, specifically in regard to incomes, were carefully surveyed by local officials and by a representative of the Chicago PHA office who conferred with employment agencies and employers throughout Winona to determine present standards.

The findings and recommendations were then forwarded to the Chicago office for evaluation before the final approval was granted.

Gallien said that many families that were ineligible before may now qualify as tenants and others that hesitated to inquire may find that they are eligible. He may be contacted at the authority's administration building at the Arthur C. Thurley Homes, 1690 Kraemer Dr.

Caledonians Hurt In Highway Crash

CALEDONIA, Minn. (Special)—Two Caledonia men have broken bones today as a result of a head-on collision on Highway 44 four miles north of here at 1:30 p. m. Thursday.

Paul Klug, 29, who was driving north in a Becker Lumber Co. pickup truck, has a broken right arm. He was treated at Caledonia Community Hospital and released.

Howard Lord, 19, driving toward Caledonia in a car, is in the Caledonia Hospital with a fractured pelvic bone.

Both men were alone. Each suffered cuts and bruises in the accident just south of the Philip Snure driveway.

Lord's car is damaged beyond repair. The Minnesota Highway Patrol and Houston County Deputy Sheriff Byron Whitehouse investigated.

Fountain City Choir In Cantata Sunday

FOUNTAIN CITY, Wis. (Special)—St. John's Evangelical and Reformed Church here will present Ira B. Wilson's "The Music of Christmas" in the church choir's annual cantata program Sunday at 8 p. m. at the church.

Director of the program will be Mrs. S. C. Richtman, with Leon Moor as organist.

16 St. Mary's Students Take College Draft Test

Sixteen St. Mary's College students took Selective Service college qualification tests Thursday.

The test, given at 18 centers throughout the state, was designed to provide a test score to be filed at local boards for students whose academic years ended in January. At that time, boards reopen and reconsider the individual cases.

No Winona State Teachers College students took the test.

Roy N. Larson

Winona Man Heads State Beer Group

Minnesota beer wholesalers have elected Roy N. Larson of Winona as their president.

Larson was elevated from the vice presidency at the 11th annual convention of the Minnesota Beer Wholesalers Association in St. Paul Tuesday. He has been a member of the group's board four years.

With approximately 350 distributors in the state, the association numbers about 250 of them among its members.

Larson, owner of the Roy N. Larson Distributing Co., has been the Grain Belt distributor since coming to Winona 11 years ago. Prior to that he was in the beer business in the Fargo-Moorhead area.

He is married, has two children, lives in Sugar Loaf and is immediate past president of the Winona Lions Club. In addition, he is a member of a number of other organizations.

Father Defends Himself Against Nonsupport Count

The trial of John Mueller Jr., 23, Winona Rt. 1, on a nonsupport charge was resumed in municipal court here this afternoon.

During the morning six witnesses were called to testify regarding Mrs. Mueller's complaints that her husband left her Oct. 30 and failed to provide for the support of their three minor children.

Arrested by police here Dec. 1, Mueller the following day pleaded not guilty to the charge.

He testified during direct examination this morning that he went to Chicago Nov. 4 seeking other employment and that before he left he made arrangements for his parents to provide for his wife and children.

Witnesses called by City Prosecutor William A. Lindquist included Mrs. Mueller and three persons employed by Swift & Co., where Mueller worked until he left for Chicago.

They are Arthur Einhorn, 627 W. Bellevue St., Swift personnel manager; Elmer Brugger, 318 Zumbro St., an auditor for the firm, and Sylvester Kosidowski, 627 E. Wabasha St., Mueller's foreman.

S. Sawyer, Mueller's attorney, called as his witness Mueller and his father, John Mueller Sr., Winona Rt. 1.

After the father concluded his testimony a noon recess was taken and the trial was resumed at 1:30 p. m.

Judge E. D. Libera is presiding.

Lanesboro Man Pleads Guilty to Purchasing Liquor for 2 Minors

LANESBORO, Minn. (Special)—Bill Dolle, 21, Lanesboro, pleaded guilty in justice court here Tuesday night to a charge of purchasing intoxicating liquor for minors.

He was fined $100 and court costs by John Russell, justice of the peace. Dolle was charged with buying a fifth of whiskey for two Lanesboro High School students Saturday night at the Lanesboro municipal liquor store.

Polio Vaccine May Be Lasting Protection

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Jonas E. Salk, of Pittsburgh, today reported new evidence that his polio vaccine can create powerful, long-lasting protection against polio.

And he hinted that knowledge being learned in the polio work might show the way someday for vaccines giving long-term protection against the common cold and influenza.

His polio vaccine is made out of killed polio virus. Killed for safety, Salk said he finds no reason to think that a vaccine made out of living virus, altered for safety, would be better.

The Salk vaccine was given to hundreds of thousands of children in a great test last summer. A scientific jury will announce about April 1 whether the vaccine was found actually to have prevented polio in children who got the shots.

Salk said the vaccine can create, in a person's bloodstream, high amounts of antibodies against polio virus. Antibodies are chemical substances which can disarm living viruses.

The key to preventing polio is whether the fact of having antibodies in the blood really does the job of protecting against naturally invading viruses. That is the big question in the vaccine tests.

Salk, in a prepared speech to the Association for Research in Nervous and Mental Diseases, said he couldn't agree with the idea that a vaccine containing live virus would be more potent than a dead virus vaccine.

Properly made and used, the dead virus vaccine can apparently create as many or more antibodies as a person gets from natural exposure to polio virus, said the University of Pittsburgh bacteriologist. The natural exposure brings lifetime protection against the type of virus that invaded the body.

Parents Hope Tree, Gifts Will Aid Boy In Fight for Health

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The parents of little Jimmy Smith were hoping today a Christmas tree and surrounding presents would spur the boy on the way to health.

Six-year-old Jimmy, of Ackworth, Iowa, underwent a five-hour operation on his liver, performed by a surgical team of nine members Thursday at Abbott hospital.

His condition was termed critical. The operation was the third major surgery performed on the boy during a long period of hospitalization.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Smith, the parents, said they believe the Christmas tree and gifts will speed the boy to recovery.

"Jimmy deserves to get those presents, he's so cheerful about going to the hospital," Mrs. Smith said. "When we tell him it's time to go again, he gets busy packing up his little suitcase and a few playthings."

The boy asked for an electric train, a wrist watch and a doctor's kit last week when Santa Claus took his order at Des Moines.

Jimmy was born with cirrhosis of the liver. At the age of 3 months, an exploratory operation was performed to clear an obstructed bile duct. His spleen was removed when the boy was 3 years old.

Jimmy then began bleeding internally after developing varicose veins, but he responded well to transfusions.

Surgery Thursday was intended to relieve the vein condition by diverting blood from its normal route through the liver. This was done by linking a stomach vein with a kidney vein.

Without the operation, the boy could only lead a day-to-day life.

Missing Bird With Wolf-Whistle Sought

NEW YORK (AP)—Ladies, if any of you attract a wolf-whistle from Joe the talking mynah bird, please get in touch with pet shop proprietor Julian Bronson.

Bronson told police yesterday that Joe was bird-napped last Wednesday from his shop.

The owner said he bought Joe in Assam, India, more than nine years ago while stationed in the Far East with the U.S. Army. Joe, who really is a "she," was only a year old then.

Bronson says the bird is worth $1,000, likes to whistle at women, and speaks this piece: "Hello, Joe, where are you going?"

Joe is described as being nine inches long with a metallic purplish-black fuselage and an orange beak.

Miss Vanderbilt and Escort Give Saloon Beat Some Tone

NEW YORK (AP)—Twos so cold along Stripy-Second St. that doormen at some of the girls joints warmed themselves at heaters—then ran out and shouted their spels shivering. One yelled, "Right this way to get warm. Our show's so hot we had to turn off two stripteasers."

When they arrived at El Morocco (after dining at Gilmore's)—till 'twas realized they're acting together in "Time Of Your Life" at City Center Jan. 19. They danced and had a spot of champagne, and Tene said they've now started reading the script of the show. Miss Vanderbilt, who'll be making her New York debut, plays a nurse, who bears the name of "Elsie Mandel-spiegel." She'll receive, as will the rest of the cast, about $85 a week.

I asked Tene how to spell the name of the character she portrays, and he retorted, "Oh, come on now, surely you can spell Mandel-spiegel!"

Lung Cancer Increase Laid To Flu Epidemic

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Milton C. Winternitz advanced the novel theory Thursday that the big recorded increase in lung cancer may stem in part from the famed "flu" epidemic of 1918-19.

Winternitz, a Hoover Commission consultant, said his influenza concept remains to be proved—but, he said, so does the alleged association between cigarette smoking and lung cancer.

Nor is there proof, he said, for the idea that industrial and other chemicals in the atmosphere can cause human lung cancer. While telling an interviewer that influenza may have been "a factor" in the lung cancer increase recorded over the past few decades, Winternitz said other causes might also be involved.

Winternitz, onetime head pathologist at Yale and recently retired from the National Research Council, is a medical task force member of the government reorganization commission headed by former President Hoover.

He said there is "suggestive" evidence — dating back about 35 years — that the flu epidemic may have produced in many of its orig-

You're Not Hep If You Can't Do Mambo

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Whether you live in Manhattan, Mexico City, San Francisco or Sydney, Australia, you're not hep unless you mambo.

That was the word today from 400 dance instructors attending a meeting here.

Mr. and Mrs. Craig Christen reported that in Sydney, Australia, mambo is replacing the "quick step" and "slow fox" that rated tops last year.

In Mexico City, said Bob Covington, a quickened version of the mambo, is pushing the rumba into second place.

Playboy Ordered to Sell Cadillac to Pay Bills

HOUSTON (AP)—Shepherd (Abdullah) King III, former husband of Egyptian dancer Samia Gamal, must sell his Cadillac convertible.

Dist. Judge John Snell yesterday ruled King liable for $3,900 in alteration costs at the Oasis, the oil and cotton heir's unsuccessful cafe venture.

A contractor had an attachment writ on the automobile, a 1953 model, and Judge Snell ordered it sold at sheriff's auction unless it is sold for payment of the debt.

Laughed King: "Know anybody who wants to buy a good Cadillac?"

Portable Radar Sets Predicted for Blind

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Dr. Thomas A. Benham, a blind assistant professor of physics at Haverford, says within two years America's blind may be depending on portable radar sets instead of dogs and canes.

Writing in the publication of the American Institute of Physics, Dr. Benham said he and Dr. Clifford M. Wichter, of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, are working on an improved model of such a set, seeking to eliminate defects of earlier types.

Boy, 11, Stumbles, Falls on Knife, Dies

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Eleven-year-old Donald Morris took a knife and headed for a nearby woods Wednesday to cut pine cones and boughs for a Christmas wreath.

A few minutes later his mother saw him stagger back into the house and collapse on the floor, clutching at a red stain which was spreading over his shirt front. He died in People's Hospital.

Police said the boy apparently stumbled and fell on the knife, driving it into his upper abdomen.

Target in Tights Makes Mission Real Pleasure

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Third Armored Division tankers would like to intercept more enemy planes like this one.

She was a 17-year-old blonde wearing skin-tight leotards, opera hose and a French garter.

Her appearance put a lot of zip into an air defense study given at Ft. Knox by A. I. C. Mike Jennings.

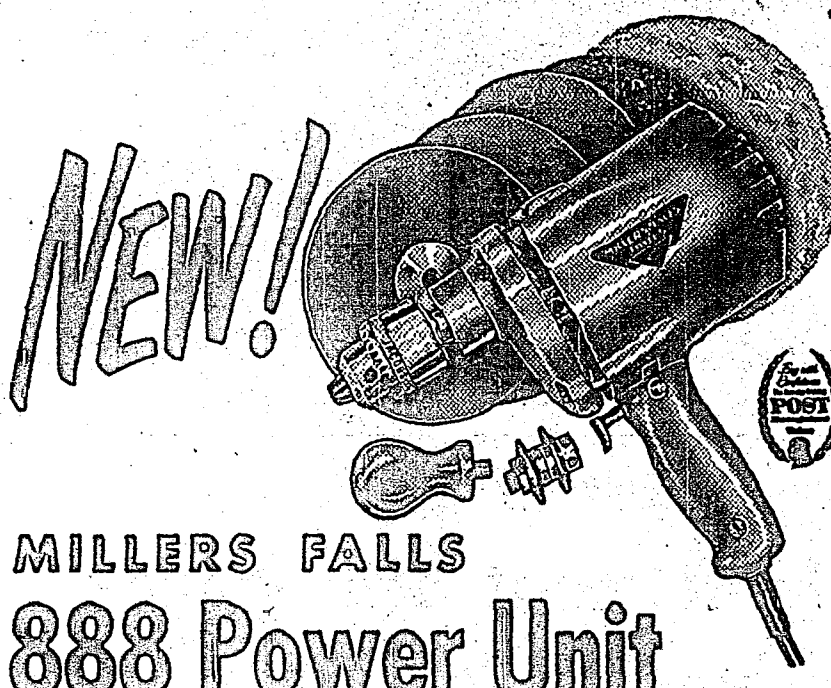

He began by explaining the radar defense system to 300 men, then told his assistant to "wheel in that real slick job." Out came Miss Dotty Lou Bartley, also known as Miss Ft. Knox of 1954.

As she threaded a provocative path through the delighted audience, soldiers playing the parts of observation posts, filter centers and radar stations relayed verbal reports to each other.

Then Dotty was intercepted by a jet fighter — Jennings — who scooped her off her feet and carried her away.

The best part of the lecture was Jennings' introduction of Miss Ft. Knox. It went something like this:

"Observation post to filter center. Have sighted bogey aircraft."

Albert Lea Man Found Negligent in Accident

BLUE EARTH, Minn. (AP)—A District Court jury late Wednesday convicted Donald T. Bartness, 28, Albert Lea, on a charge of criminal negligence growing out of an Aug. 26 traffic accident in which two were killed.

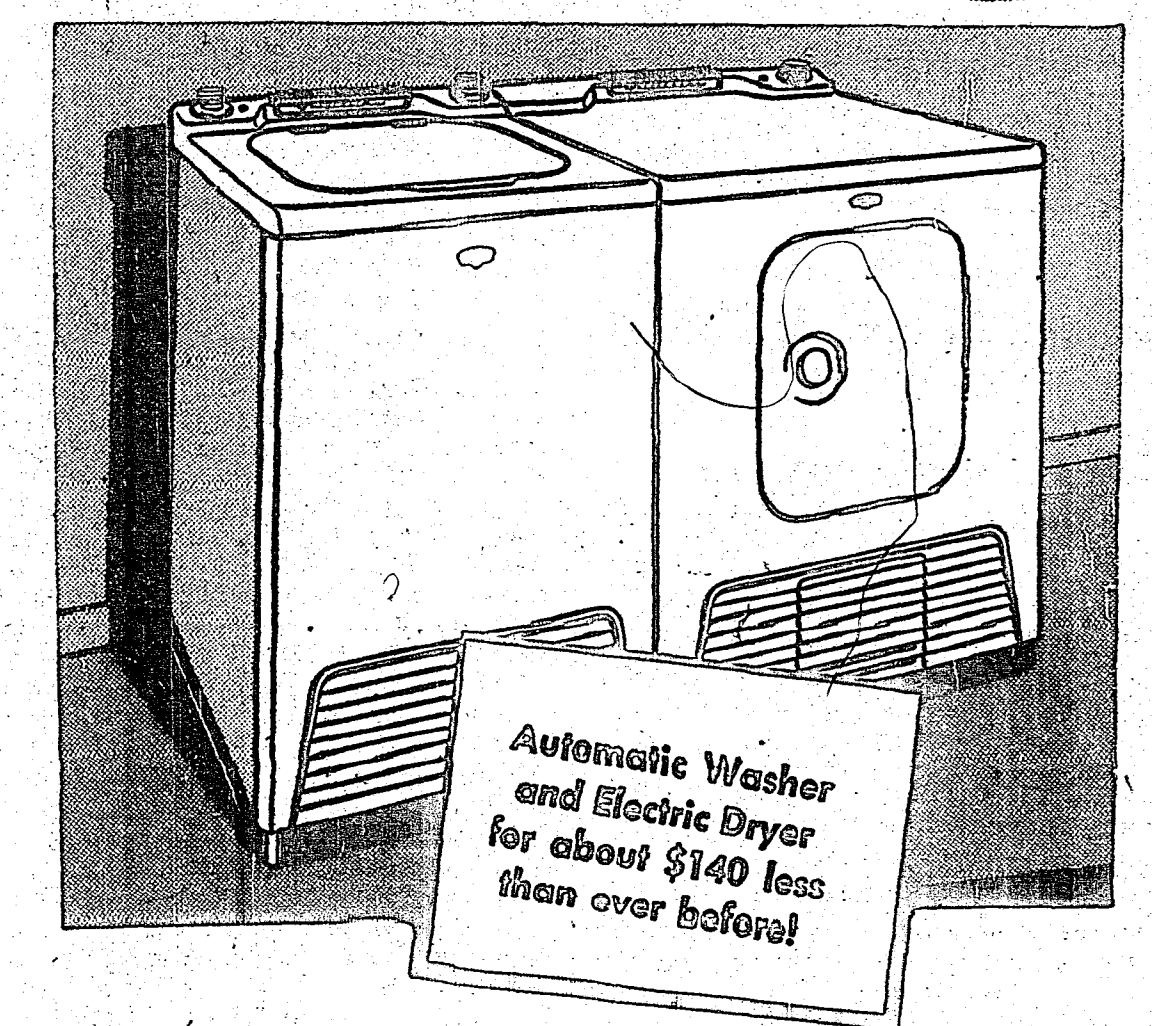

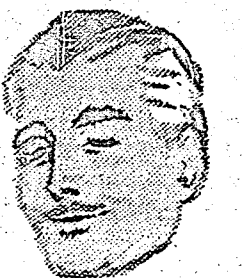

Bartness is at liberty on bond pending sentencing. He was found negligent in a crash which took the lives of John Berglund, Albert Lea, and his sister, Mrs. Lawrence Wayne, Alden, near Wells.

Winona Wagons Long Ago Utilized Outer Bearing Axle

There should be some nostalgia for Winona old-timers in a brief item in the current issue of Farm Implement News, sent to our office this week by a friend in Fountain City, Wis.

It refers to the "good old days" when the Winona Wagon Co. was the city's leading industry and the factory on West 5th street near the Milwaukee railroad crossing was a beehive of activity. Says the Implement News:

We see by the papers that the new Chevies have "new outrigger rear springs." They are attached at the outside of the frame.

That's good construction. The famous Winona wagons long made by the Winona Wagon Co., Winona, Minn., utilized the outer bearing axle, which helped make their high reputation as a mountain wagon. The same principle is employed with freight cars—the bearing or journal outside the car frame.

We revere Winona also as the last wagon manufacturer (as distinguished from custom wagon makers) to produce and list regularly for the trade Winona sheep racks. The sheep and domestic wool industry has never been the same since Winona quit, after the Ford and Chevies and other light trucks killed off the wagon trade.

In fact we don't know how the Basque herders get around and keep house these days without a Winona sheep rack as a traveling base of supply.

Good Relations Depend On 'Give and Take'

Recently a wave of anti-Americanism swept over Japan. It was occasioned by the death of a Japanese radio operator from the effects of radioactive dust encountered when a ship on which he was serving came too near the area where the United States was conducting hydrogen bomb tests.

Recently 1,000 lives were lost, more than 50 Americans among them, in a sea disaster that occurred when a train ferry sank during a storm. A Japanese legislative investigating committee has ruled that the captain of the ferry and the Government Railway Administration were in part responsible because of negligence.

It would now make as much sense for Americans to conduct anti-Japanese demonstrations as it did for the Japanese to demonstrate because of the death of the victim of the hydrogen bomb accident. Neither unfortunate affair can be changed by bitter feelings or accusations.

It would be well, however, if those Japanese who were so quick to indict all Americans for the hydrogen bomb misfortune could see that a parallel exists in the case of the American lives lost due to Japanese negligence. Good relations between countries depend on give and take, on understanding and forgiving mistakes even when those mistakes have painful consequences.

His Name Will Long Be Remembered

The bitterness that rises out of any hard-fought political movement dies hard with most adversaries.

But Herman L. Ekern, formerly of Whitehall, a leading figure of the La Follette Progressive era in Wisconsin, lived many years before his death to enjoy the respect and affection of the men who had fought him the hardest in the political arena.

The grudges and resentments were forgotten by most people. They remembered this two-fisted, hard-spined follower of Old Bob for the fine things he accomplished. They remembered his toughness, but remembered even more the man of the essentially kindly heart that he was.

As lawmaker, lieutenant governor, attorney general, insurance commissioner, and university regent, he gave years of service to his state and its people.

He was instrumental in designing and achieving a Wisconsin life insurance code that became a model for the rest of the states. But it is said that he was proudest of his work on the soldiers' and sailors' relief act and the railroad retirement and teachers' retirement acts.

For these things and for his vast store of friendships and well-won admiration his name always will be remembered as a large one in the history of Wisconsin.—Wisconsin State Journal, Madison.

These Days

Split May Hurt Republican Party

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

NEW YORK — The McCarthy censure being over, it is possible to see some of the effects of it in perspective. The Republican party again is split between the traditionalists and the compromisers. The latter prefer to call themselves the middle-of-the-roads. The traditionalists are Republicans who believe that a two-party system is beneficial to the country and that each party must have a clear-cut and distinctive program, so that by debates in Congress, the people can be kept informed on public issues. With variations, this struggle has been continuous since the split between Theodore Roosevelt and William Howard Taft which culminated in Taft's defeat in 1912.

In the McCarthy censure, the traditionalists showed a strength of 22 votes, excluding McCarthy who did not vote; the compromisers had 22 votes excluding Sen. Wiley who went to Rio for the occasion. On appearances, this vote had to do with Joe McCarthy; basically, it was a question of the control of the Republican party and on that issue, the party split right down the middle, evenly balanced. An identical split exists in the Republican National Committee. It exists in many states.

FOR INSTANCE in New York state, the Dewey element is seeking to recover from its defeat at the last election. In terms of party organization, it is not possible to say that the Dewey control is already vitiated but new leadership is forming and it is traditionalist leadership.

On a local level, the great White House statesman, Paul Hoffman and John J. McCloy, mean nothing. What does count is that an election has been lost and that appointments and jobs go to the Democrats. The White House is far away from a state capital. The same is undoubtedly true in every state where the Republicans have been defeated. The White House cannot help in any of these situations, unless it stepped in to rebuild state organizations, poured patronage on heavily, and built a new organization which would be resisted by most Republicans. This has been tried by the various Eisenhower clubs, which consist mostly of former New Dealers who now prefer Eisenhower to the Democrats.

During the first half of the Eisenhower administration, professional Republicans who were dissatisfied blamed the White House staff, particularly Sherman Adams who acts as a chief of staff, as though the White House was an Army general staff. They blamed C. D. Jackson who was an administrative assistant dealing with psychological warfare. Then they blamed Max Rabb, an administrative assistant who has risen rapidly to a newly-created position, secretary to the Cabinet. Then they blamed numerous "old friends" of the President, Paul Hoffman, John J. McCloy, Gen. Lucius Clay, and even Dr. Milton Eisenhower.

BLAME WHOMSOEVER they may, the issue could not be dodged that important Republicans have grown increasingly irked by their relations with the President. Never before in our history have the leaders of a political party found their access to a president—a members of their own party—so blocked that it practically always lacks privacy. This one factor is the most discussed by Republicans. They cannot reach the President's mind. To it, they attribute their defeat in the 1954 campaign.

The present split will not heal readily. It is too fundamental. It involves too many strong personalities. Whether any of those Republican leaders will join in a new party will depend upon whether Pres. Eisenhower will be a candidate in 1956. The new party movement is spreading but has not jelled. At present, it lacks leadership. Its amateurish character was displayed at the Madison Square Garden rally for Sen. McCarthy, the arrangements for which were inadequate for the occasion. It is not likely that a new party can find political professionals to join it before 1956.

As long as the traditionalists believe that in state and local politics they can hold their own, they will remain in the Republican party but they will oppose Pres. Eisenhower as though he were of the opposite party. While this condition exists, the Senate, in particular, will be in turmoil. The traditionalists have as their leader, Sen. William Knowland. The compromisers have no leadership in the Senate of equal stature. Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, who is often mentioned as Senate leader, will not be able to effect a union between the two groups. The only man who might have been able to do that is dead.

SOFT WORDS AND BIG STICK

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Indictment Still Hangs Over Kansas City Star

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—When the Kansas City Star and its publisher, Roy Roberts, were indicted criminally during the closing days of the Truman administration, almost everyone in politics figured this was one indictment which wouldn't last long when the Eisenhower administration took over.

For it was big, burly Roy Roberts who was among the first to urge Ike for president, and who advised with him during the pre-convention draft-like campaign. Furthermore, Roberts, though under indictment, has been a frequent caller at the White House, has been frequently invited to the intimate stag dinners the President gives to a chosen few.

However, two years have now passed and not only has the indictment against the publisher of the Kansas City Star not been dropped, but the Justice Department plans to begin prosecution early next year.

Thereby hangs a significant story. The man now in charge of the Justice Department's antitrust division, Stanley Barnes, a California Republican of the Chief Justice Earl Warren school of political thinking, has turned out to be one of the most forthright members of the Eisenhower administration. He has also turned out to be just as tough on big business and on monopoly as any member of the Roosevelt-Truman administration, even perhaps including famed trust-buster Thurman Arnold.

It's significant that Judge Barnes, a former California state judge, is not playing any political favorites. A close study of the case has convinced him that it was by no means a political indictment brought as a result of rivalry between Harry Truman and Roy Roberts; but rather a bona fide case involving freedom of the press and the right of people in Kansas City to advertise where they please, not where Roy Roberts wanted them to advertise.

So he's proceeding with the prosecution. Revising the Numbers Game

White House advisers aren't publishing it, but they have been busy on a new security program which will head off the Democratic probe of the so-called "numbers game."

This is the game in which Vice President Nixon, Atty. Gen. Brownell, and other GOP campaign speakers have claimed Republicans can prove that one-half the security risks were hired by Republicans.

To head off this probe, Eisenhower has referred the whole problem to the National Security Council which has already prepared top secret report No. 5437/1 which will not be made public for some time. However, it can be revealed that the report recommends giving a far better break to security risks, plus a standardized procedure for all government agencies, instead of the hit-and-miss divergent systems of firing personnel.

White House advisers are even considering a plan to help the accused pay the cost of defending himself, or else making the cost of defense cheaper. In the past, men like Val Orwin, one of the State Department officials charged by McCarthy with being a Communist, had to raise money from friends to carry on his fight. Though indicted, the Justice Department finally went into court after four long years and asked that the indictment be dismissed on the ground that it had no case.

Similarly, Abraham Chasnov, the Navy clerk suspended for one year as a security risk with no charge placed against him, finally was given an official apology by the Assistant Secretary of the Navy and restored to his job. Chasnov had no funds, but his attorney, Joe Fanelli, defended him as a public service.

White House advisers also propose separating bona fide security risks from heavy drinkers, loose talkers, and misfits, hitherto all linked with loyalty cases as security risks.

Advice on Health

Certain Types Of Paint Can Poison Child

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Young children will put almost anything in their mouths. And, as they begin teething, they will chew on almost anything.

These natural tendencies make it imperative that you do everything possible to protect your youngster from lead poisoning.

Most manufacturers of cribs, infants' beds and toys now use paints which do not contain any lead pigments. There is no law requiring this as yet, but these manufacturers realize the harm lead paint might cause to young children.

I wish more of you parents would realize this, too. You can never tell when your child might take a fancy to that window sill, chair or table leg you just painted. Youngsters have pretty odd appetites sometimes.

If you use paint containing lead pigments in your home, and you have a child, you might be inviting trouble. It's just as easy to buy interior paints without lead pigments. These paints are just as serviceable, too.

Now, what does lead poisoning do? It severely affects a child's brain, liver, blood, bones and other vital organs. Sometimes it is fatal.

In 14 cases studied by the Chicago Poisoning Control Committee this year, 12 of the young victims showed marked mental deterioration when they were examined six to nine months after the accidental poisonings.

If you suspect your youngster has been poisoned by lead paint or in some other manner, give him plenty of epsom salts and milk, and make him vomit in the method I described yesterday.

Sometimes children get into trouble no matter what you do. But this is one instance where you parents can really protect your youngsters.

Insist that all toys, cribs and furniture bought for them are painted with lead-free paint or enamel. And use only paint which does not contain lead pigments when you decorate the interior of your home. It may save your child's life.

Suspect Questioned In Maple Plain Slaying

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—A 41-year-old man was held for questioning today as a possible suspect in the Maple Plain slaying of Mrs. Robert Ferguson Nov. 4.

The man was arrested Thursday for Ohio authorities on a charge of armed robbery in that state. Police said he resembles one of the men described by Robert Ferguson as the robbers who held up the Ferguson service station and beat Mrs. Ferguson to death with a hammer.

Ike's Honeymoon With Democrats Now Over

By DON WHITEHEAD

(For James Marlow)

WASHINGTON (AP)—The honeymoon between President Eisenhower and the Democrats is over. For two years, the President was exempted from personal attacks by the Democratic leaders. Their broadsides were aimed at that faceless Republican group known as "the administration." And it wasn't considered politically profitable to assault the citadel of Eisenhower popularity.

Story on Pearl Harbor Day

To the Editor:

We just read a feature story in The Winona Daily News that seems typical of America, haven and work to a former enemy.

At 20 years of age a boy knows what he's fighting for and wants to be. If an American GI knows he wants to remain with the Communists, then too the young Nazi realized and understood Hitler's purpose.

It does seem a bitter mockery because the Nazi intended to dominate the world many young Americans are dead and others must patrol foreign countries to keep this haven safe for us and others who, in defeat, decide the United States is a place for happiness.

Honesty prompts us to ask in complaining of American treatment of Nazi enemy prisoners, what living American the dead cannot speak, held in any concentration camp can boast he looks younger than his years?

Surely we are Christian enough to forgive and should be familiar with the master race arrogance but did we deserve to have this story printed on Dec. 7, 1954, the anniversary of the bombing of Pearl Harbor?

It seems in being "big brothers" we have forgotten those innocents murdered on that day by a Nazi ally!

Ruth and James Foster.

Ratify 3 Paris

Pacts, Assembly

Committee Urges

PARIS (AP)—The National Assembly's foreign affairs committee today recommended ratification of the three Paris agreements for freeing and rearming West Germany, and providing for a settlement of the French-German dispute over the strategic Saar.

The advisory recommendation does not bind the Assembly, which is to begin ratification debate Dec. 20. Premier Pierre Mendes-France has urged prompt approval to permit an early start on Western defense plans.

The 45-member committee voted separately on each of the treaties. The ballot on West German rearmament, feared by many Frenchmen, was 16-15, with 11 abstentions.

The committee approved the accord restoring sovereignty to the Bonn government 24-15, with 3 abstentions, and the Saar settlement, 24-6, with 12 abstaining.

Three members were listed absent on each ballot. In the key rearmament vote, the committee approved a favorable report on the pact prepared by Gen. Pierre Billotte, eight Socialists, six independents and two members of the Republican and Social Action group provided the slim majority.

Among the 11 abstainers were six members of the Popular Republican Movement, which favored the defunct European Defense Community plan and blamed Mendes-France for its failure. Five followers of Gen. Charles de Gaulle voted against rearmament.

B36s Whipping Way To Philippine Fete

GUAM (AP)—The first flight of 10-engine B36 intercontinental bombers from Guam to Manila will be sent to the Philippine capital to take part in opening day activities of the Philippines' Aviation Week Dec. 12. Brig. Gen. Joseph D. Caldera, 3rd Air Division commander, announced here today.

Caldera said three B36s will fly over Manila. Two others will land at Clark Field. The flight is one of a series of training missions to the Philippines.

Want Ad Telling Of Appreciation Best Birthday Gift

ST. LOUIS (AP)—"I loved it—I've never enjoyed anything as much in my life," said Mrs. Charlotte Lucido about her birthday present. It wasn't a diamond, a fur coat or an expensive automobile.

It was a want ad in the Post-Dispatch last Sunday, placed among a list of special notices telling of broken homes and shattered dreams.

"I told, instead, a story of love. I am responsible for all debts and obligations of my wife," the want ad read, "both present and future, and am more than happy to be the provider for a woman who has borne me six lovely children and, with an overabundance of love and care, has made the past 21 years of loving kindness the nicest years of my life."

"On this, the eve of our 21st wedding anniversary, I wish to publicly express my gratitude. (Signed) Philip C. Lucido."

Lucido, 40, showed her the paper at her birthday dinner. "I just cried right there," Mrs. Lucido, 39, said.

Case of 'Escapee' Judge Set Free Gets Complicated

By JOHN V. HURST

SALT LAKE CITY, U.—The case of the Utah State Prison escapee who didn't escape is on its way to Nebraska.

Gov. Robert R. Crosby shortly will receive extradition papers naming the "escapee" as 23-year-old Leroy Chapman, of Ogden, Utah, now a prisoner in Nebraska's Lincoln County Jail.

But the papers may not tell the full story of the prisoner with a sore hand, of his plea for a writ of habeas corpus, and of the judge who set him free but didn't say anything about when or whether he should return.

It's as complicated a legal wrangle as Utah has seen in many a year. And it all started last January when Dist. Judge Joseph G. Jeppson began hearing Chapman's plea for freedom from his 1 to 20-year burglary term.

Chapman's attorneys argued their client was being subjected to "cruel and unusual punishment"—a key phrase in habeas corpus law—because he wasn't getting "proper" medical treatment for an old hand injury. They asked for Chapman's freedom so he could take treatment at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., at his uncle's expense.

Jeppson let the prisoner go. The Utah Supreme Court almost immediately set the writ aside, in an opinion that contained sentences like "We cannot understand why he was discharged at all." The court ordered Chapman back to the prison, but by then he was apparently too far away to hear.

While Utah officialdom was trying to figure out how to get him back, he completed his treatments in Rochester and dropped from sight.

Last October, he was picked up in North Platte, Neb., for carrying a concealed weapon. Sentenced to 90 days in jail on the charge, his term will be up next month. Utah is trying to arrange for his time after that.

But his attorneys at any extradition hearing are almost certain to point out that when their client left Utah, nobody said he had to come back.

University Trying To Sell Helicopters

SANTA FE, N.M. (U)—Highlands University of Las Vegas, N.M., has been trying to sell two helicopters for six months. Only trouble is the government won't let it sell.

The school formerly had use for them under Air Force contracts. But those days are gone and President Thomas C. Donnelly told the State Board of Educational Finance.

"The government won't let us do it. They think it will fall in the hands of the enemy."

"When we tried to sell those things, all the security agents in the country were sent up from Dallas. It must have cost the federal government $2,000 to send them up there. They were really suspicious of us."

The government wants them sold for junk—a total of about $2,000, said Comptroller James E. Connor.

In their present shape, Connor said, the school probably could get about $10,000.

Bull Easier To Slay Than Cafe Society

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (U)—It is a difficult thing for a man in a ring to sword a maddened bull to death.

But, senior, it is even more difficult on the nerves for this same man to slay an American night club audience with no weapon but his baritone voice.

Manuel Capetillo swears this is so. Manuel, who is one of Mexico's top matadors, now has a new career. When the bulls are out of season, he belts out Mexican ditties on the night club circuit.

Though he has been a big hit in his first New York appearance in the Hotel Pierre, Manuel says he still finds it easier work to face a bull than a cafe society audience.

"The nerves I get fighting the bulls, they are different from the nerves I get when I am singing," he explained.

May Feel Sick

"When I fight a bull I am not singing. I may feel sick three days before a bull fight—and three days after—but I don't have the nerves when I am actually facing the bull."

Manuel is an extraordinarily talented man. He is a charro (Mexican blue-blooded cowboy), a bull-fighter, a movie actor, and a vocalist. In his own land he is a kind of combined Joe DiMaggio, Roy Rogers and Perry Como.

Yet Capetillo, who has killed 400 bulls and been badly gored five times in the ring, is still only 28. He is slender, 6 feet 2—an unusual height for a bullfighter—dark-eyed and handsome.

He makes up to $10,000 a bull-fight. It is an industry in which the upkeep is greater than the initial expense. His costumes cost him up to $15,000 a season. The heavy, gold-braided matador's outfit he wears in his night club routine weighs about 20 pounds and cost him more than $7,000.

Capetillo says he has been fighting bulls and singing as long as he can remember. He is largely a self-taught matador and started learning the tricks of the trade as a boy of 5 waving capes at calves on his father's ranch.

"I never took a professional bull-fighting lesson—or singing lesson—in my life," he said. He became a matador at 22, hopes to stay in the field until he is 35, or even 40, if his nerves hold out.

"I want to sing and fight the bulls as long as I can," he said simply. "It is my life."

Nerves Go First

"It is not the legs that go first, as it is with a baseball player. A matador begins to go to pieces when he no longer can control his nervous system. Somehow the bull seems able to sense this."

Despite the terrible thigh scars left on his body by the five bulls who outpointed him, Manuel says he has no particular fear once he enters the ring.

"For a moment, when you first see the bull, you have a feeling like a martyr—and wonder why you are there," he explained. "Then the action starts, and there is no time for feelings."

"I do not eat the day of a fight, and it is very good to have a quick glass of cognac to settle the stomach before entering the ring," Manuel added.

No Cognac for Bull

The bull doesn't get any cognac. He is not supposed to be nervous. After the fight, Manuel is voraciously hungry. He and his retinue like big steaks, sometimes provided by his late opponent in the ring. It is the same way with Manuel just before he goes out to the spot-

The exciting new idea behind the motoramic Chevrolet

The Bel Air 4-Door Sedan—one of 14 new Fiber Body beauties in three new colors

Maybe once in a car-buying lifetime, you come across something that breaks all the old patterns and establishes new ones. This is that kind of car. This is the true story of how Chevrolet and General Motors shaped a new idea in steel.

Like most good ideas, this one is pretty simple. Chevrolet and General Motors set out to build the first low-priced car that would:

- bring you the very freshest and finest styling to be had.
- bring you the most advanced engine design and engineering features.
- bring you the kind of performance and the kind of ride that have never been available before in a low-priced car.
- bring you the highest quality of manufacture and materials.

All this in Chevrolet's price field? That did take some doing! And isn't it logical that only Chevrolet and General Motors have the people, skills, resources and facilities, to carry out this exciting new idea? Here is how this new Chevrolet changes all your ideas about cars!

Real Show-Car Styling!

Your eye tells you the Motoramic Chevrolet is no styling "patch-up" job. A rakish, low profile . . . soft sweepiness from its sleek rear fenders to its wide-eyed Sweep-Sight windshield . . . a new outlook for motoring. And that outlook doesn't change when you slip inside . . . exciting fabrics and trim are harmonized with the whole car.

A Sensational Ride!

You live the new idea instantly . . . you glide . . . actually glide because spherical joints "roll with the punch" of the road in Chevrolet's new Glide-Ride front suspension. And outrigger rear springs mean new balance in turns . . . turns made so effortless by new ball-race steering. And when you stop suddenly, new Anti-Dive braking control checks that nosing down in front . . . you get "heads up" stopping. Tubeless tires mean much greater protection against blowouts. And with new high-level ventilation there's fresher air.

Drive with care . . . EVERYWHERE! Make December 15 and every day SAFE-DRIVING DAY!

Power Beyond Compare!

You also feel the new idea quickly . . . quick power like a panther's paw with the new "Turbo-Fire V8" (162 h.p.) and two new "Blue-Flame" 6's. And sparking this performance is a 12-volt electrical system giving you better ignition, faster starting, greater electrical reserve for any of the power assists you might desire. You have a transmission choice of economical Overdrive and improved, automatic Powerglide (optional at extra cost) or standard shift.

Even Air Conditioning!

And if you desire the convenience of power assists (optional at extra cost) . . . you'll find new power-steering and improved power brakes on all models. Power-controlled windows and powershift seat are available on the Bel Air and "Two-Ten" models, while air conditioning may be added on V8 models.

Won't You Try It?

Here, we can only tell you how successfully the Motoramic Chevrolet expresses the new idea behind it. But the car itself can quickly show you! Come in for a demonstration drive, won't you, first chance you get.

light on a supper club floor. "A couple of small glasses of wine are very good to settle the stomach," he said.

The only other thing that makes Manuel nervous is girls. He is a bachelor.

"And I intend to stay this way all my life," he said frankly. "I am afraid that if I married, I might some day look across a table into the eyes of another girl I liked better—and get up and follow her. This would not do. I will stay as I am."

Of course, that's only one man's opinion.

'Misfit' Judge Finds Niche for Loud Citizen

VAN NUYS, Calif. (U)—A citizen got a three-day jail sentence for contempt after getting a load off his chest in court yesterday.

Philip Harvey Banks, of Sepulveda, didn't wait for his case to be called. Slamming a rolled-up newspaper on the counsel table, he said he was tired of being sandbagged and wouldn't be pushed around by anyone.

"Were you appointed or were you a misfit?" he demanded of Municipal Judge Walter Allen.

The judge ordered the bailiff to take Banks into custody. A jury trial on his plea of innocent to the traffic charge was set for Dec. 28.

Plane Overturns While Landing, Burns, 10 Hurt

HATBORO, Pa. (U)—A Navy Super Constellation overturned and caught fire while landing at the Johnsville Naval Air Station yesterday, injuring 10 men, none seriously.

Ten others escaped unhurt. The 10-million-dollar craft, described by the Navy as a WV2 type on a radar test flight, was reported a total loss.

The Navy said the plane struck a rough spot, skidded and flipped over on its back but the occupants climbed out before the fire had a chance to spread.

Waitress Heiress To $100,000 Fortune

GLENDAL, Calif. (U)—Only a week ago Mrs. Geraldine Helde was a waitress.

Today she says she has inherited $100,000. She has bought a new automobile and made reservations for a visit to Honolulu.

Mrs. Helde said she had known for some time that she would receive part of the estate of her grandfather William Kopes, a New York manufacturer, who died two years ago.

"But I had no idea it would amount to so much," she said when informed yesterday that the estate had been settled. She came here from Cleveland after moving there from Allentown, Pa., where her husband Wyn and their two children were killed in a traffic accident earlier this year.

She's going to take her landlord C.C. Cooper and his wife and son on the trip to Honolulu Jan. 2.

Legislature to Be Asked for More School Aid

By JACK B. MACKAY

ST. PAUL (U)—There's going to be strong pressure in the next Legislature to increase basic school aids—but even some of the most avid supporters of a hike wonder where the money is coming from.

An Associated Press survey of members of the next Legislature reveals that, of those replying to a questionnaire, 54 favor an increase in the present level of $80 per pupil unit, while only 17 voiced opposition.

But, a number of legislators gave a qualified "yes" answer to a question of whether they favor an increase. Summed up, many of the answers were "yes—provided the money can be found."

If basic school aids remain unchanged, the state income tax school fund will show a deficit of more than 22 million dollars at the end of the next biennium, on June 30, 1957. Income tax revenues are used to pay school aids.

Pupil Unit

A pupil unit is a factor used to determine how much aid is to be paid to school districts. A kindergarten pupil is counted as one-half unit, a grade school student as one unit, junior high and high school pupils as 1½ units.

The Legislature in 1949 raised basic school aids from $50 to $55 per pupil unit; in 1951, they were upped to $70, and in 1953 to $80. Since 1944 there has been a sizeable surplus in the income tax school fund. The peak was reached in 1952 when the figure was $58,442,642, but today it stands around $9 million.

A committee of top-ranking education leaders, representatives of statewide education groups, and officials of the state department of education several months ago recommended that the basic aid be raised to $92 a pupil unit—a 15 per cent increase. The committee said it should be done even if it meant a higher income tax.

Study Financial Picture
Rep. Clifton Parks, St. Paul, said he favors an increase if at all possible, but added: "How much the aids should be increased must depend upon the whole financial picture as we see it at the time we vote on state aids."

Sen. Raphael Salmore, Stillwater, says basic aids should be higher "if we can get the money properly."

Rep. Leo D. Mosier, Minneapolis, said he did not favor any hike in state income tax rates, but he nevertheless had a suggestion as to how it should be done.

"If the present income tax rates will not meet basic aid increases," Rep. Mosier recommended, "then any such increases should be met from other state funds, or by allocating back to the districts

The Casual Observer

By GRETCHEN L. LAMBERTON

RURAL ROUTE 3, PERU, Ind.—It's always an exciting time when a young mother comes home from the hospital with a new baby. And it's quite different from the good old days when we stayed flat in the hospital for two weeks, came home, and stayed inactive, if not flat, for another couple of weeks. Today young mothers sit up the first day, walk around the hospital the second day and come home about the fourth or fifth day with the new baby.

To me the wee human being is always an incredible miracle, with its tiny round head covered with silken hair, its blind seeking movements, and most of all its exquisite little fingers with the perfect manicure. Though I've been on hand when four of my children's babies came home from the hospital, I was as thrilled as ever at the homecoming of tiny Sara and her mother. And as impressed as ever with the way today's young mothers handle the complexity of several babies, feeding schedules, washings and what not.

In addition to the farm animals there are four pets who spend considerable time in the kitchen. There is wise old Shep, the collie who went with the farm, and Trampas, the handsome 2½-year-old Golden who is quiet and dignified. Then there is my beloved Kim, the 1½-year-old Golden, son of my old Squire, whom I gave to my daughter-in-law several months ago when the aging Squire got so miserably jealous of his exuberant son that it made an unhappy and impossible situation around my house. Kim is still a crazy, raffish clown beloved by everyone. It killed me to part with him, but he's deliriously happy on this farm with children, dogs and a river to play with.

And then there's Sheba, the big fluffy orange cat. I don't much like cats but Sheba is a real character and fun to watch. She loves to sit atop the big white enamel gas stove with its pilot lights warming the surface, or on the warm washer-dryer when it's running. Nights she and Kim play a crazy game of tag, Sheba patting him delicately with sheathed claws and spitting fiercely, and Kim grinning from ear to ear, wagging his tail and growling ferociously as he chases her. Sometimes she turns and chases him. Occasionally it gets a little hectic but it's always good for a big laugh.

In the days when this farm was a dairy farm Shep was a wise and fine cattle dog. My son was very pleased to have inherited him with the farm and planned to use him to help bring in his beef cattle. But the first time he tried to use old Shep to fetch his Angus there was a real performance. For Angus was a wild breed and will have no part of any dog.

When old Shep tried to round them up as he used to do with the milk cows the Angus turned on him en masse, lowered their heads and charged him into a corner. Though he was snarling fiercely he was really terrified when the wall of black heads began butting him. My son made his way through the packed herd, lifted the old dog and threw him over the fence. He hasn't been near the black beasts since.

My son sold all his pigs except a big rangy white boar named George, and six Hampshire gilts. The six gilts are very fond of my son, and whenever he comes near they crowd around to have their ears scratched—their inane blissful expression is something to see. When my son feeds them he climbs the fence with the feed pails, scratches their ears, and then makes a run for the pig feeder calling, "Come on, girls!" They gallop after him and almost knock him down while he's filling their bins.

One rainy day when he ran through the mud with "the girls" streaming after him he slipped in the mire and fell flat. The six girls thundered right over him to the feeder.

"What did you do?" I asked.

"I just lay in the mud and cursed," he said.

where collected a portion of the property tax levied for state purposes."

Sen. Gordon H. Butler, Duluth, said he is for an increase "within limits of funds available."

Gov. elect Orville L. Freeman has called attention to the constantly increasing school enrollments, which will require additional funds even on the basis of current levels of aid.

Children's Jury Would Try Man Who Shot Santa

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (U)—You can't shoot Santa Claus in Springfield.

If anyone dared, he would be tried before a jury consisting entirely of children. That's the official ruling of Acting Municipal Judge Orville Wear following an advertisement in the Springfield Daily News and Sun.

The ad in the help wanted classified section said:

"I will shoot Santa Claus if I don't find something to do." Reporters here called the number listed in the ad and talked to Ruce E. Wilson, 40-year-old book-binder. Wilson said he had been laid off work through the Christmas holidays. He wants to earn some money to brighten his family's Christmas.

Since inserting his ad, Wilson said, he has received two calls pleading for Santa's life. Both begged, "Please don't do it." One of the unidentified callers suggested he go to the North Pole "and I'm sure Santa will give you a job."

Legion Director Charges Attack On Vets Benefits

BALTIMORE (U)—Nicholas Lynch Jr., American Legion national field service director, charged here yesterday that a "subtle flank attack" is being made on the "entire structure of veterans benefits." Speaking at the Legion Auxiliary Rehabilitation Conference, Lynch said that the flank attack has been carried out through a reduction of budget allowances for veterans benefits. He said the cuts have forced personnel layoffs and a reduction in available beds in Veterans Administration hospitals, through the fog and mess of red tape, he charged, many veterans "forego treatment rather than go through the fog and mess of red tape" under present conditions.

Jean M. Rose Becomes Bride At Cathedral

White chrysanthemums decorated the Cathedral of the Sacred Heart for the wedding of Miss Jean M. Rose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl F. Rose, Winona Rt. 3, and Allen D. Jonsgaard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jonsgaard, Rushford Rt. 1, Nov. 20 at 11 a.m. The Rev. Joseph LaPlante performed the ceremony.

The bride given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin gown designed with fitted bodice, lace yoke, Peter Pan collar, long sleeves and skirt ending in a train. Her veil was held in place by a satin crown, and she carried a white orchid on a white prayer-book.

Her sister, Mrs. Arthur Orlikowski, as matron of honor wore a pink satin gown in empire style with matching lace bolero, and the bridesmaids, Mrs. Everett Rose, sister-in-law of the bride, and Miss Darlene Jenkinson, wore like satin dresses, the former in antique gold and the latter in Nile green.

They carried roses and chrysanthemums in colonial bouquets, and wore pearl necklaces, gifts of the bride, and lace-covered satin headbands to match their dresses.

A white frock was worn by the flower girl, Grace Rose, sister of the bride. She carried roses. Michael Rose, the bride's brother, was ringbearer.

A brother-in-law of the bride, Arthur Orlikowski, was best man and the bride's brother, Irvin Rose, and Arnold Bartelson, Rushford, cousin of the bridegroom, were groomsmen. Everett Rose and Harold Jonsgaard ushered.

A dinner for the immediate families was served in the American Legion Memorial Club at 2 p.m. and a reception followed at 2 p.m. White chrysanthemums were decorations.

The couple is now at home at 553 E. Bellevue St. The bride attended Winona Senior High School and the bridegroom, Rushford High School. He is employed at the Armour Fertilizer Works.

Prenuptial parties were given by Mrs. Earl Rose and Mrs. Arthur Orlikowski at the former's home and by Mrs. Harry Jonsgaard, Mrs. Vance Bartelson and Miss Delores Bartelson at the American Legion Hall in Rushford.

Records indicate that the first apple tree was planted in what is now the United States in 1629.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen D. Jonsgaard are now at home at 553 E. Bellevue St. The bride is the former Jean M. Rose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl F. Rose, Winona Rt. 3, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jonsgaard, Rushford Rt. 1. (Daily News photo)

ETTRICK, Wis. (Special) — Prenuptial showers were given Sunday in honor of Miss Margaret Tranberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Tranberg, North Beaver Creek. At North Beaver Creek Lutheran Church in the afternoon 250 were present, with arrangements in charge of the Mmes. Oscar Tranberg, Orrin Bue and Mildred Tranberg.

A program was presented with vocal selections by David, Leland and James, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Tranberg; Doris and Vivian Anderson and Anita Anderson, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Norval Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Anderson of the French Creek community, and a solo by Ronald Olson, Blair. A reading was by Eleanor Rudi, Holmen.

In the evening 200 were present at a party given at South Beaver Creek Lutheran Church with the Mmes. Elias Swenson, Arthur Affeldt and Robert Larson as hostesses.

Miss Tranberg's marriage to Orvis M. Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ludvig Anderson, South Beaver Creek, will be solemnized in a candlelight ceremony at North Beaver Creek Church, Dec. 29. The Rev. Edmund E. Olson will receive the vows. Attendants will be Miss Eleanor Rudi and Miss Janice Hanke, Whitehall, and Mrs. Maurice Wangen, Lone Star District.

Mr. Anderson will be attended by his brother Harold, South Beaver Creek; John Tranberg, A.I.C. Great Falls, Mont., and Maurice Wangen. Linda Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Smith, Onalaska, will be flower girl, and Leland Tranberg will carry the rings.

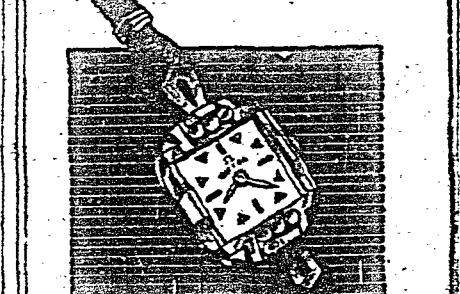

Miss Tranberg is a teletype operator for the La Crosse Tribune. Anderson is employed as a truck driver for the Town of Ettrick. Following their marriage the bride-elect plans to continue her position in La Crosse and the couple will reside in South Beaver Creek.

Legion Auxiliary to Help Fill Baskets For Needy Families

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special) — The Legion Auxiliary Monday evening voted to cooperate in filling Christmas baskets again for needy families in the area. About ten are distributed each year.

The group also voted to send Christmas gifts to Miss Arleen Finstad, Oklahoma City, Okla., and Terry Rice, a patient at Wisconsin General Hospital, Madison.

The Misses Mayme Hallingstad and Helen Field reported on their trip to Wood Hospital near Milwaukee Saturday in company with 24 other auxiliary members from Trempealeau County. They made the trip by bus, and went for the purpose of seeing the auxiliary gift shop there.

Each year auxiliary members and others contribute articles which the 1,700 veterans in Wood Hospital may send to their families for Christmas.

The Legion rooms were decorated for the holiday season and the hostesses, the Mmes. O. G. Birkehead, J. L. Johnson, Ella Iverson, A. E. Nehring and Ben C. Nelson and Miss Pearl Brennon served refreshments in keeping with the season.

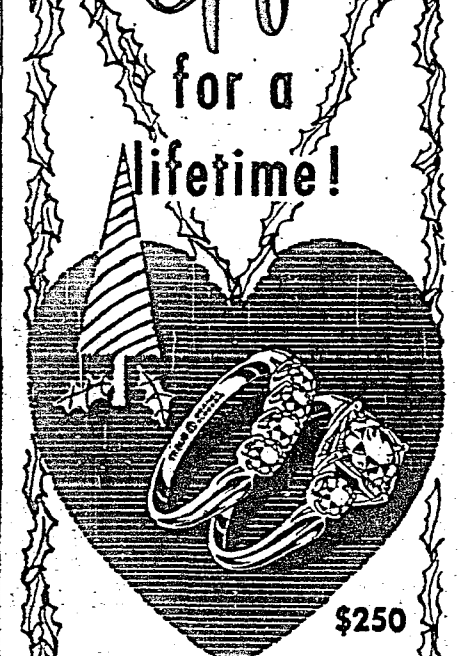

The Troubadours from Whitehall High School directed by William Dahl, sang "Deck the Hall," "Sleigh Bells," "Carol of the Bells" and "We Wish you a Merry Christmas." Audrey Mueller of the group sang "Birthday of a King" as a solo. Dorothy Birkeland was accompanist.

The Gavel Corner

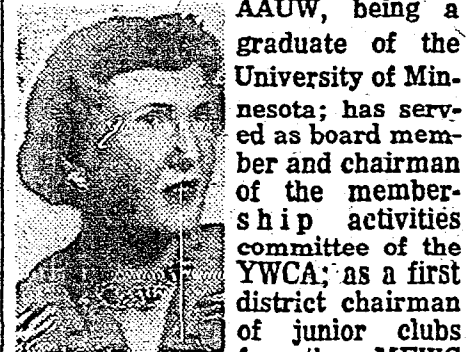

(Introducing presiding officers of Winona women's groups.)

Re-Elected President of the Winona Council of Church Women recently was Mrs. H. R. Kalbrener who came to Winona from Miller, S. D., seven years ago. Mrs. Kalbrener has been active in her church, St. Paul's Episcopal Church, and in Girl Scout work.

She is a past president of the Woman's Auxiliary of St. Paul's Church; a past president of Chapter AP, PEO; is treasurer of the Winona Council of Girl Scouts and second vice president of the Russian Study Club. Mrs. Kalbrener is also a member of the OES, but not of the local chapter. Her husband, vice president and assistant treasurer of the Hayes Lumber Co., and she and their four children, Nancy and Karen who are in high school; Richard, in grade school; and Jay, 3, reside at 410 W. Broadway.

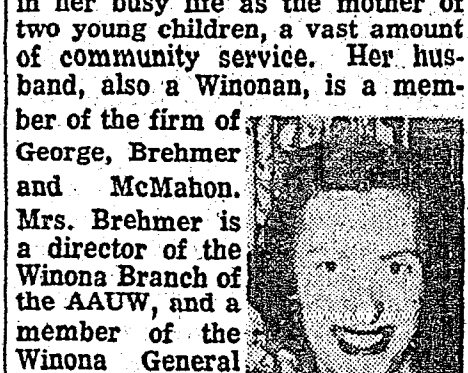

Many Activities Occupy Mrs. C. R. Kollofski, president of the Chautauque Club, who came to Winona as a bride from Minneapolis 14 years ago. She previously served as program chairman, hospitality chairman and vice president of the Chautauque Club, has been a historian for two years and also chairman of the creative arts group of the club.

A.A.U.W., being a graduate of the University of Minnesota; has served as board member and chairman of the membership activities committee of the YWCA; as a first district chairman of junior clubs for the MFWC and as PTA magazine chairman, PTA mothersing and chairman for a PTA Fun Frolic decorations committee. In St. Paul's Episcopal Church, she has been secretary of the Woman's Auxiliary and sings in the church choir.

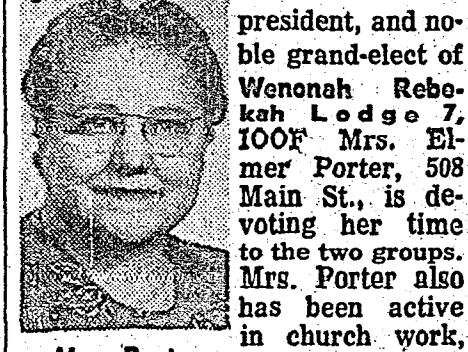

Her singing has made her a member of a trio composed of optometrists' wives, all with Jean as a first name, called the Tri-Vocals. With this busy schedule, Mrs. Kollofski still finds time to enjoy a good game of bridge, attend the Formal Dance group parties and work on the writing of a family history. She has added civic responsibilities, serving as block solicitor for the cancer drive and for the Mother's March on Radio. She serves as third vice president of the Women's Auxiliary to the Minnesota Optometric Association, her husband being an optometrist in Winona. Dr. and Mrs. Kollofski, who live at 408 W. Sanborn St., have two children, Gary, 10, and Carole, 6, both pupils at Madison School.

President of the Chautauque Club's "child," the Perle Club, Mrs. R. W. Brehmer, 253 Winona St., the former Marian Oskamp, is a Winona girl who sandwiches in her busy life as the mother of two young children, a vast amount of community service. Her husband, also a Winonan, is a member of the firm of George, Brehmer and McMahon. Mrs. Brehmer is a director of the Winona Branch of the A.A.U.W. and is a member of the Winona General Hospital Women's Auxiliary. She is not content with one job in the auxiliary but Mrs. Brehmer works in the gift shop maintained in the hospital library, and with the tour committee, conducting guided tours through the hospital. She also is active in St. Paul's Episcopal Church and this week helped its auxiliary with the annual Christmas sale and bazaar. She is a graduate of Winona Senior High School and Northwestern University, and lives with her husband and children, Chris, 2½, and Billy, 1½, at 253 Winona St.

Head of one organization, Winona's Loyol Star, Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, of which she is president, and noble grand-elect of Winona's Rebekah Lodge 7, 1000 Main St., is devoted to the two groups Mrs. Porter has been active in church work and has served as publicity chairman for several groups. She is now treasurer of Circle Six of Central Methodist Church and publicity chairman for the Eagles Auxiliary. Her husband, a train baggageman on the C&NW Rd., and she have one son, David, who is serving in the U. S. Navy, the destroyer Hancock now at Newport, R. I.

Yuletide Spirit Marks McKinley WSCS Meeting

The Yuletide spirit pervaded the Christmas meeting of the WSCS of McKinley Methodist Church Wednesday evening at the church. Mrs. Earl Lauterbach, president, opened the meeting and presided at a brief business session. Carols were sung by the group with Mrs. L. M. Ferdinandsen presenting the devotions. Mrs. Ferdinandsen decorated a Christmas tree with Bible verses and pointed out that "the Bible is the most complete library we possess. The Bible brings comfort to us whatever our need may be."

Mrs. Sherman Mitchell sang "Holy Night" and Mrs. Harvey Gordon accompanied her. Mrs. Lloyd Schneider read the Christmas stories, "The Tree that Didn't Get Trimmed" and "The Little Shepherd Named Joel."

Circle Eight of which Mrs. Ernest Qualset is chairman, presented the devotions and Circle Six of which Mrs. Walter Karnath is chairman, served the refreshments.

Twenty-five cent gifts will be exchanged, and a Christmas lunch will be served.

HOSPITAL AUXILIARY
WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—The annual Christmas party of the Hospital Auxiliary will be held Tuesday afternoon. All members will serve and visitors are to attend to learn of the work accomplished the past year. Funds collected for the lunch will be used to purchase magazines for the hospital. The auxiliary vacationed during July and August. Members sold 11,800 surgical dressings during the past year and did some sewing for the hospital. The organization was also hostess at an open house at the hospital to give people of the area an opportunity to see improvements made to the building and new equipment added.

Holiday Gift Bonds To Provide Camp For Girl Scouts

"Camping for Christmas" will be the slogan in many Girl Scout homes during this holiday season when the Girl Scout camp gift bond will be presented for the first time to girls throughout Winona. Gift bonds may be purchased at the Girl Scout office in the Exchange Building now for Girl Scout day camp or established camp.

The bond designed by a senior scout, has a green trefoil, the Girl Scout emblem on a white ground. It names the donor, the amount deposited and the girl for whom the gift is intended. Each bond is enclosed in an individual envelope and may be mailed from the Girl Scout office.

Gift bonds will be "on sale" every Tuesday and Wednesday from 1 to 5 p.m. If a girl is unable to go to camp during the summer of 1935, the money will be refunded.

Mrs. McDougall, established camp chairman, and Mrs. William Lauer, day camp chairman, stated today, "The camp program for next summer is already in the planning stage, and we feel certain that every Girl Scout in Winona will want to attend camp."

"When you purchase a camp gift bond you are investing in your scout's future fun and progress in camping. The camp gift bond is a perfect 'stocking' gift for Christmas from mother, dad, uncles, aunts and grandparents."

FHA Plans Point System, Party

The first evening meeting of Winona's FHA Chapter was held Tuesday at 7 p.m. in Central Junior High School auditorium. Committee reports were given and two new committees were assigned, a pin committee and a Goodfellows committee to have charge of the FHA Goodfellows project.

A Valentine's Day party was discussed and it was agreed to have an FHA queen and FFA king. A committee to take care of arrangements for the dance was chosen.

It was voted to adopt a point system by which each member would earn a specified number of points for each activity in which she participated. Awards will be presented at the end of the year to girls holding the highest number of points.

The meeting closed with games. TO NEW LONDON

Carl Dettingers Celebrate 50th Anniversary

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—Whitehall friends were among those calling at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. Dettinger, Galesville, Sunday to congratulate them on their golden wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Dettinger lived in Whitehall from 1943 to 1953. Mr. Dettinger being employed as linotype operator on the Whitehall Times.

At 71, Mr. Dettinger has now retired, but most of his life has been devoted to the newspaper trade. As a youngster he served an apprenticeship in the office of the Galesville Republican, working after school and Saturdays and during the summers.

Following graduation from Galesville High School which both he and his wife attended, he continued on the Republican until 1942, learning to operate the linotype when the typesetting machine was installed to replace setting of the newspaper by hand.

In 1942, the Dettingers moved to Illinois but remained there only briefly. Mr. Dettinger returned to the printing shop, being employed for a short time as linotype operator at Spring Valley, Wis., before he was called to Whitehall by the former Times editor, Scott B. Nichols, to replace Henry Kioety who retired temporarily in 1943 from this work, only to return to it in Chetek to where he and his wife moved.

Mr. Dettinger was born in the Town of Gale, Trempealeau County, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Dettinger, pioneer settlers. The youngest in a family of eight children, he is the only one still living. His wife is the former Emily Dale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Dale, and is also a native of the Town of Gale where she was born March 20, 1888.

The couple was married Dec. 8, 1904. They have one daughter, Mrs. Katherine Amundrud, who lives at Whitehall but teaches eighth grade at Blair. Another daughter, Edna, died in 1935, at the age of 20.

Mrs. Dettinger has one sister, Mrs. Clarence DeBoer, South Milwaukee, and two brothers, Lawrence Dale, Milwaukee, and Leslie, Minneapolis. A sister Hazel died in 1908. The Dettingers have three grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

The dining room table, arranged by Mrs. Herman Dopp, Ettick, and Mrs. Amundrud, was decorated with a centerpiece of gold-colored chrysanthemums and lighted candles. Mrs. Donald Schoenfeld, La Crosse, the Dettinger's granddaughter, poured.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Glen C. Olson, Mr. and Mrs. Ole Hallingstad, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Emerton, Willie A. Johnson and John T. Johnson, Whitehall; Mrs. Clarence DeBoer and Mrs. Gertrude Francis, South Milwaukee; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Schoenfeld and sons, Eric, Peder and Kay; Mrs. Charles Bull and daughter Mary, Mrs. Annie Johnson, Miss Margaret Johnson and Mrs. Helen Mite and daughter, La Crosse; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Dettinger and Ernest Dettinger, Hixton; Miss Lillian Dettinger, Mrs. and Mrs. George Dettinger, Mrs. Anna Lesman and Mrs. Gile Ruff and daughter Sue, Black River Falls; Mr. and Mrs. Herman Dopp, Ettick; Mr. and Mrs. John Dettinger and daughter, Holmen, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Dettinger, Onalaska.

The ancient drink, mead, was made from honey.

Keep in Trim

Young and Supple Or Old and Stiff, Choice Is Yours

By IDA JEAN KAIN

There are words which pair off together, such as "young and supple" and, conversely, "old and stiff." Which do you want to apply? Be what you want! If you will use your body in freeing movements, you'll never lose the ability to move easily, gracefully and joyously.

In every day movements, certain muscles are used over and over, and others scarcely at all. For example, what movements do you make which bend the body sideways? If you are unbending, then the muscles which bound the sides of the silhouette, the lateral muscles, lose tone, and the area from arm pits to hipbones becomes muscularly "dead."

These lateral muscles which span diagonally from the abdominal girdle are used in such movements as twisting, turning and bending sideways. Keep supple and all these movements will be forever easy to make.

This trio of movements combines stretching with side-bending and side-stretching. They are ever so easy to do, even for those who are rusty on exercise. Come on . . . get into the act and come alive . . .

Position: Standing with feet together, arms overhead, elbows slightly bent.

Movement: Reach upwards with right arm and stretch clear to the finger tips, then center the stretch along the lateral muscles at the sides of the body. Then reach high with the left arm. Reach and climb. Climb Jacob's ladder, rhythmically . . . every rung goes higher . . . higher. Repeat six, eight or twelve times . . . just until the body feels pleasantly stretched.

Flop over at waist and let arms dangle toward the floor . . .

knees sagging, bob up and down, loose and limber. Then follow with a sideward stretch . . .

Position: Standing with feet well apart, arms outstretched at sides, shoulder level.

Movement: Stretch sideways, to the right, moving the upper trunk as far to the side as comfortable, bending head sideways, too. Then stretch to the left side, clear to the fingertips.

About six times will be sufficient. Now move with a slow, easy side-bend to the slow rhythm of "Lazy Bones" . . .

Position: Standing with feet together, arms overhead.

Movement: Bend sideways to the right, back to position and bend to the left. Let the stretch-bend be all through the lateral muscles. Bend six to twelve times, alternating sides. Again flop over at the waist, knees sagging, and bob up and down, arms dangling toward the floor. Shrug your shoulders to loosen all kinks.

These freeing movements help movement and feel young!

For illustrated stretch-bends, send long, self-addressed, stamped envelope for leaflet "For a Slimmer Midriff." Address request to: Ida Jean Kain, care of The Winona Daily News. Post card requests cannot be answered.

Christmas Meaning Stressed for Lutheran Women

Christmas has a seven-fold meaning, Mrs. Carrol Syverson told the Ladies Aid at its meeting at Central Lutheran Church Thursday.

"It is a bright spot for tired travelers. There is a touch of magic in every scene. It is a reminder of deeds left undone. It gives an opportunity to share and do good deeds to others. It is a homecoming for families. It is a celebration for God's love and a celebration for the birthday of Jesus. Christmas is a fact and a promise."

Mrs. Donald Burt, secretary of literature, talked on the Women's Missionary Messenger. She said it will contain the new study course for the next year, the study of Luke.

She urged the women to give books as gifts to shut-ins and hospital patients. "Good books give much joy. Read and you will grow wise and rich in thoughts. We must prepare our lives for the Advent season."

"Which may be found," she continued, "in the singing of the beautiful Christmas carols." She played a selection of records of Christmas carols sung in Norway.

Miss Evelyn Ebert played two piano solos and Dr. L. E. Brynstad led the devotion and prayer saying "This is the season of Advent. We must prepare ourselves spiritually for that great event. Eight hundred years before the birth of Christ scriptures prepared the way. In the book of Isaiah, the prophecy was found."

Mrs. Syverson reported eight large boxes had been packed for box work. Members were reminded of the cookie sale Dec. 18. Hostesses for the day were the Meses. C. S. Knatterud, Neville Sebo, Dora Byboth, Elroy Sebo, Helmer Hanson, Roy Plattman, John Schmidt and Milton Knutson.

St. Stanislaus Home-School Unit Plans Club

The December meeting of St. Stanislaus Home-School Organization was held Wednesday evening at Pachelski Hall, the Rev. William Kuisle opening the meeting with prayer, and the president, Mrs. Duane Gallas, presiding. The Rev. Vincent Gils also attended.

Mrs. Joseph Loshek reported on the recent bake sale. Persons knowing of St. Stanislaus' school children who are ill, are to contact Mrs. Jerry Rozek who is chairman of the welfare committee.

The Home-School Organization will sponsor a party Jan. 30 with Mrs. John Czaplewski as chairman. Fr. Kuisle discussed the organization of a discussion club and it was decided to have the club meet after the regular Home-School sessions.

St. M. Joseph's and St. M. Janice's first grades received the class attendance prize. Mrs. James Soltman, Mrs. Edward Kluzik and Mrs. John Gladowski received the parents' attendance prizes. Mothers of sixth grade pupils will entertain at the next meeting.

A Christmas party followed and gifts were exchanged. All members joined in singing Christmas carols accompanied by Mrs. Robert Meyers at the piano.

Lunch was served by mothers of seventh and eighth grade pupils. Mrs. John Czaplewski, Mrs. Chester Lukaszewski and Mrs. Kluzik were chairmen. The next meeting will be Jan. 12.

FLY CREEK AID

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—The Fly Creek Ladies Aid will have its Christmas meeting at the Arnold Olson home next Wednesday afternoon. Members are to bring food for the lunch and 50-cent gifts to exchange. Preschool children will exchange 25-cent gifts. Election of officers will be held.

WESLEYAN GUILD

The December supper meeting of the Wesleyan Service Guild of Central Methodist Church was held in the church Thursday evening. Hostesses were the Meses Marion Griesbach, Geneva Longcor and Helen Roycroft. A Christmas program was presented with Miss Bernice Seidlich in charge of devotion. A story, "Paddy's Christmas," was read by Miss Marjorie Ferman. Miss Lois Galer reported on a missionary friend who is now in Pakistan.

Wabasha County Sends Seven to Armed Forces

Approved Seeds For '55 Listed By University

Shelby Oats Taken Off Because of Rust Susceptibility

By MATT METZ
Webasha County Agent

WABASHA, Minn. —Each year the university agricultural and seed specialist issues a list of approved varieties of grain for a guide to farmers in purchasing next year's seed.

The following is a list of approved varieties coming from the University of Minnesota this year:

Oats — Ajax, Andrew, Bonda, Branch, Clintaf, Clinton, James, Mindo, Missouri 9-205, Andrew, Branch, Ajax and Missouri 9-205 are resistant to race 7 stem rust. Bonda, Clinton, Mindo and Clintaf are resistant to race 8. Branch and Ajax have moderate resistance to race 45 of crown rust, prevalent the last few years. A hullless oat, James, is on the recommended list.

Shelby, a variety extremely susceptible to race 7 of stem rust, was removed from the recommended list. In 1953 and 1954, it gave a much lower yield than other recommended oats.

Spring wheat — Lee, Rushmore and Selkirk, a moderately resistant spring wheat developed at the Dominion Cereal Laboratory, Winnipeg, Canada was added to the recommended list. It resists race 15-B better than any other recommended variety. About 80,000 bushels of Selkirk will be available for spring planting. Willet was not included on the recommended list because of unsatisfactory dough making qualities. Mida was removed because of high susceptibility to race 15-B.

Durum wheat — Carleton, Minard and Stewart.

Winter wheat — Minturki and Minter.

Barley — Kindred and Montcalm. Most Minnesota barley is planted for malting. Kindred is recommended for all sections. Montcalm has good malting qualities and yields well, but it has weak straw and is susceptible to scab, loose smut, spot blotch and stem rust. It is recommended only for northern Minnesota. For feed, the agronomists suggest Vantage and Pealand.

Flax — B-5128, Redwood and Marine. All are immune to rust. B-5128 is moderately susceptible to wilt and pasmo. Redwood and B-5128 must be planted early for high yields.

Soybeans — Blackhawk, Renville, Capital, Ottawa, Mandarin, Flambeau and two new varieties, Chipewap and Norchief. Chipewap has shown high yield, oil content and excellent lodging resistance. It is adapted to the southern half of Minnesota. Norchief is a very early maturing variety recommended for Minnesota's central, north central and the southern half of the northern corn maturity zones. It has out-yielded Flambeau and has better standing ability and higher oil content.

Rye — Adams and Caribou. A new variety. Adams resembles Imperial but has yielded more in tests. Imperial and Emerald were removed from the list as inferior to Adams and Caribou.

Top Herds Cited By DHIA Tester in Trempealeau Co.

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special) — Arthur Ofsdahl, Ettrick; R. E. Christophersen, Pigeon Falls; James Call, Osseo; Donald Hardie, Blair, and Miles McKeeth, Galesville, had the five high herds for November among the herds tested last month by Maynard L. Sexe for the Trempealeau County Dairy Herd Improvement Cooperative.

Ofsdahl, who is a new standard test member added in November, has a herd of 30 registered Holsteins which gave an average of 1,138 pounds of milk and 41.8 pounds of butterfat with an average test of 3.52.

Christophersen's 11 head of registered Holsteins produced an average of 1,051 pounds of milk and 37.2 pounds of fat with an average test of 3.54.

The 17 grade and registered Holsteins belonging to Call produced an average of 714 pounds of milk and 23 pounds of butterfat with an average test of 4.05.

Hardie's 17 registered Guernseys produced an average of 693 pounds of milk and 27 pounds of fat with an average test of 4.55. McKeeth's 48 registered Guernseys produced an average of 576 pounds of milk and 25.9 pounds of fat with an average test of 4.50.

High cow among those tested by Sexe was Ollie D. belonging to Christophersen, which produced 2,236 pounds of milk and 71.6 pounds of butterfat with an average test of 3.2, in 26 days of testing. Second high was Verna, a registered Holstein belonging to John C. Lamberson, Whitehall, which in 43 days of testing gave 2,305 pounds of milk and 103.7 pounds of fat with an average test of 4.5.

Ofsdahl had the third and fourth high cows. Swift II in 52 days produced 3,292 pounds of milk and 118.5 pounds of fat with an average test of 3.6. White Wildie in 36 days of testing produced 2,394 pounds of milk and 76.6 pounds of butterfat with an average test of 3.2. Le La, belonging to McKeeth, was fifth. In 45 days of testing she gave 1,944 pounds of milk and 55.3 pounds of fat with an average test of 4.9.

Bright Candles Can Be Fashioned For Yuletide Scene

By MRS. JOYCE RANDALL
Winona County Home Agent

LEWISTON, Minn. — With odds and ends found around the home—tin cans, string, color crayons and old candles—you can make brightly colored candles for the holiday season.

By using different-sized tin cans you can have short, stubby candles or tall, thin ones. And by using dye materials with an oil base, such as pieces of color crayon, old lipstick or oil paints, you can make your candles any color.

Melt old candles over hot water; add the coloring materials while the wax is melting. Before pouring the wax into the can, punch a hole in the center of the bottom of the can. Insert the wick through the hole, and tie a large knot at the bottom. You can make the wick by braiding three strands of cord together. Wind the free end of the wick around a stick or pencil laid across the top of the can to keep the wick centered.

Pour the melted wax into the cans and let it settle. As the wax cools, a depression may form in the center of the candle. Lay this wax on another bar and press them together firmly. Repeat with the other two bars. Braid three strands of string to make a wick and lay the wick which has been dipped in paraffin on the center of one of the stacks. Dip the other stack in melted paraffin and then press the two stacks together so the wick is between with an inch extending at one end.

When the melted paraffin is cool and starting to congeal, whip it with a froth and frost the candle with it, using a fork.

22.7-Pound Average Set in Houston Co.

CALEDONIA, Minn. — Cows on test with the Houston County Dairy Herd Improvement Association during November, averaged 22.7 pounds of butterfat, according to Donald Borch, supervisor. There are 463 cows being tested, 169 of them were dry.

High cow for the month was a registered Brown Swiss owned by George Hendel & Sons that produced 92 pounds of butterfat.

The 10 high herds were: Julius Ernster, 18 grade Holsteins, 2 dry, 41.2 pounds; Ruben Anderson, 14 registered Holsteins, 3 dry, 35.7 pounds; Orson Hempstead & Sons, 40 registered and grade Holsteins, 5 dry, 35.5 pounds; Lester Beckman, 22 registered and grade Holsteins, 2 dry, 33.9 pounds; Martin Schneider & Son, 22 grade Holsteins, 5 dry, 31.8 pounds; Cletus Schleich, 17 registered Brown Swiss, 2 dry, 27.8 pounds; Frank McNally, 26 grade Holsteins, 3 dry, 27.3 pounds; Ted DeWitt, 19 grade Holsteins, 3 dry, 27.2 pounds; Rainer Klug, 15 registered and grade Brown Swiss, 4 dry, 27.1 pounds; and Jerome Frank, 14 registered Brown Swiss, 2 dry, 26.6 pounds.

SILO FARM BUREAU

SILO, Minn. — The Silo Farm Bureau unit will hold its Christmas party at the Silo School Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. — A summary of the state FB convention will be given and Gordon Anderson, county agent, will talk on soils testing. Everett Rupprecht and Leonard Marxhausen are in charge.

Buffalo Co. Conducts Brucellosis Signup

ALMA, Wis. —The brucellosis petition signup in Buffalo County is now in full swing in every township.

Reports from petition carriers indicate that the cattle owners will reach their goal of having 75 per cent of cattle owners in Buffalo County signed up on a petition before this weekend. These ask the state department of agriculture to declare Buffalo County a plan "A" brucellosis free county.

Cookbook Planned By Homemakers Of Buffalo County

By MISS PAULINE POEHLER
Buffalo County Home Agent

ALMA, Wis. — There is no better time than right now to begin filling your cookie jar for the coming holiday season. Homemakers in Buffalo County will be getting a few new recipes to try this year when they receive their annual Homemakers Christmas newsletter. Recipes for cookies, bars and squares sent in as favorites by various homemakers in Buffalo County were used in this first installment of what will eventually be the "Buffalo County Home-maker Cookbook."

Members of the Buffalo County Home-maker executive committee spent a day assembling and addressing the envelopes in the county extension office this past week. These members include: Mrs. Werner Stettler, president; Mrs. LaVerne Scoguish, vice president; Mrs. Ed Senty, secretary; Mrs. Alger Steiner, treasurer; and five center chairmen — Mrs. John Hanck, Alma; Mrs. Elmer Steiner, Cochrane; Mrs. Arthur Scheidegger, Waumandee; Mrs. Henry Muthaupt, Fountain City; and Mrs. George Plett, Mondovi.

You may wish to try one of Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower's favorites. Her recipe for Swedish Spritzbaaken Cookies is as follows:

1 pound butter
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
1 1/2 cups flour
4 1/2 cups sifted flour
Vanilla
Cream sugar and butter. Add beaten eggs, then flour gradually, vanilla to taste. Use cookie press and form your own designs. Bake in moderate oven (350 or 375 degrees) 20 minutes or until done. Should be light in color. These bake very quickly and need to be watched constantly. Makes 100 cookies.

Anyone wishing to secure a copy of this first portion of the cookbook may do so free of charge by writing or calling the county extension office at Alma, Wis.

Removal of Cloth Stains Discussed

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special) — "Don't let the hazards of holiday entertaining include stained table linens," says Mrs. Sylvia Shiras, Trempealeau County home demonstration agent. "Prompt action and the right solvent for the cloth and the stain can ease your laundry problem," she says.

"If you can, work on table linen stains while they're fresh. For non-greasy stains sponge the area with cold water. Hot water will set the stain, so don't expect laundering with hot suds to cut it.

"When a stain is set grease (and that includes coffee with cream), carbon tetrachloride will remove the oil film. "For a candle wax stain scrape off what you can before using solvent. Use a dull knife carefully on the top surface, place the stain between two white blotters and press with a hot iron. Then sponge with a solvent. If color is left from the candles, you can remove by rubbing lightly with a mixture of one part denatured alcohol to two parts water.

"For coffee and tea stains, hot water can be used. Pour it from a height of 2 or 3 feet until the stains disappear, then wash in warm soapy water."

Aberdeen-Angus Group Names National Head

CHICAGO —The new president of the American Aberdeen-Angus Breeders' Association is A. H. "Tex" Spitzer Jr., Pleasant Plains, Ill., elected at the 71st annual meeting here last week.

The new president will serve as leader of the largest membership of any beef-breed registry organization. In 1954, the association's membership passed the 28,700 mark with the addition of 2,663 new breed members.

A proposal to move association headquarters from Chicago to St. Joseph, Mo., was approved.

Frank Richards, executive secretary of the association, presented awards to the winners of grand champion interbreed honors at the 1954 International Livestock Exposition.

The use of holly for decoration on Christmas is believed by students to be a survival of a custom which originated in the Saturnalia of ancient Rome.

State Farmers Increase Use Of Fertilizer

Supplies Next Year To Be Greater, Short Course Told

By HARRY PEIRCE
Winona Adult "Vo-ag" Instructor

Fertilizer supplies for 1955 will be slightly above those available this year, according to M. H. McVicker, chief agronomist of the National Fertilizer Association, at the recent soils and fertilizer short course held in St. Paul.

Local farmers who attended the short course with me were Vic Pappatus, Roy Haake, Albert Schloegel, Roger Roling and Everett Rupprecht.

Minnesota farmers are increasing their applications of fertilizer faster than the average American farmer. In 1940, the average application of fertilizer per acre in Minnesota amounted to 16 pounds compared with 29 pounds, the national average. In 1950, Minnesota farmers stepped up their average application to 19.4 pounds per acre whereas the national average for the same year stood at 17 pounds.

In other words, between 1940 and 1950, Minnesota farmers increased their rate of fertilization by more than 12-fold while the rate of increase for the country went up approximately 2 1/2 times. It is easily noted, however, that we (Minnesota) are still far behind the national average.

Among many other important facts related at the short course results of the longtime alfalfa fertilization experiment at Rosemount were given.

These include the first three years of forage production in which three cuttings were made annually. Spring fertilization showed no significant increase in yield over the fall application of fertilizer, when eight different fertilizer treatments were compared. It appears that annual application of fertilizer, especially potash, gives a higher yield over a period of years than applying the same amount in one application.

The second cutting alfalfas were generally highest in crude protein, phosphorus and potassium. Third cut alfalfa was lower with the first cut hay being lowest. Crude protein varied from 19.1 per cent to 24.8 per cent. The crude protein content increased with fertilization, being increased most by phosphorus alone and not as large an increase when phosphorus and potash were applied.

There is a new bulletin available to Minnesota farmers, called "Guide for Fertilizer Use," that is excellent. Farmers can receive this by contacting their county agent, agriculture teacher or by writing to the bulletin room, Institute of Agriculture, St. Paul.

2 Farmers Classes To Hear Discussion Of Social Security

Phillip A. Beardsley, district manager of the Social Security Administration, will be the guest speaker at two adult farmer evening classes next week.

He will address the farmers at the Winona farm management class Monday at 8:15 p.m. in the high school "tag" room and the Ridgeway adult farmer evening class Thursday at 8:15 p.m. at the Ridgeway school.

Beardsley will explain the new farm social security legislation. As most farmers realize, this program goes into effect Jan. 1, a date not too far distant. He will bring out points in regard to the benefits that will be made available to farmers under social security and he also will explain how payments are to be made.

Harry Peirce, the instructor of these meetings, explained that as social security is compulsory to all farmers with net incomes of $400 or more or gross income of $1,800 or more it would be wise for all farmers to have a complete understanding of the program. He urges members of these classes to bring their wives and also mentions that these meetings are open to the public. Everyone interested is invited.

Due to scheduling difficulties, Beardsley will not speak at the Stockton adult farmer evening class until Jan. 5. The Stockton class will meet, however, at the Stockton Town Hall Wednesday at 8:15 p.m. Harry Peirce will tell of the local test plot results of 1954 and also discuss the recent soils and fertilizer short course that he attended at St. Paul.

TAYLOR FFA BUSY

TAYLOR, Wis. (Special) — The Taylor High School Future Farmers of America chapter has completed a Christmas card sale which netted them a profit of $125. The chapter was divided into two teams, with a captain Gary Kinney and Larry Bue. Gary's team won the contest for highest sales. Eleven boys are training for the FFA quartet which the chapter hopes to have this year. Some boys are also planning on "going out" for public speaking.

Mrs. Duxbury Resigns Post

PRESTON, Minn. — Mrs. Marilyn Duxbury, Fillmore County home agent for the last two years, resigned Dec. 1.

She started here in September 1952. Mrs. Duxbury said she has "enjoyed her work in the county and appreciates the fine cooperation received here."

She now plans to become a full time homemaker in Preston where Mrs. Duxbury and her husband reside. No one has been selected to fill the vacancy.

Wisconsin Wins Dairy Citation

MADISON — Wisconsin has been cited by the American Farm Bureau Federation as the outstanding state in the Midwest in dairy promotion.

Recognition will be conferred at the 36th annual meeting of AFBF in New York Dec. 12-16. Basis of the state's success was the widespread effort of Wisconsin Farm Bureau to enlist scores of people in every county in the dairy promotion effort.

Under the "sales, not subsidies" slogan Wisconsin people erected "fountain of youth" signs; passed a butter labeling law; determined to clean up brucellosis; published booklets and periodicals; promoted use of vending machines; offered gift cheese packages to servicemen; stepped up restaurant interest in milk; put more emphasis on milk at fairs and farm meetings; staged television shows; made surveys and studies.

Green County was one of four counties in 12 Midwest states also nominated by the AFBF to receive a special citation for outstanding work in dairy promotion. WFBF Sec. James C. Green credited the cooperation of the extension service of the College of Agriculture for Wisconsin's outstanding record in the Midwest division.

'Businessman' Farmer Gets Free Assistance

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special) — As someone pointed out, there are not many businessmen who have a specialist at their service free of charge to guide them along the road to making a better living, a higher net income, and do these things at the same time as they are saving time and labor.

But the farmers of Trempealeau County have such a specialist in the person of Edward Ausderau, recently engaged as assistant county agent to give farmers personal assistance in making their business click.

It is an entirely voluntary program. Farmers who wish to enroll in the program should contact Ausderau at the county agent's office in Whitehall.

PIGEON FALLS 4-H

PIGEON FALLS, Wis. — A group of 75 4-H club members and their families attended a party at the United Lutheran Church parlors Saturday to close the year's activities. A film, "The New Paul Bunyan," was shown by Trempealeau County Agent Peter Bieri. A drama certificate was presented to the club and achievement pins were given to members. Lunch was served and games were played.

Adequate Ration Of Roughage Urged in Winter

Fillmore Co. Agent Discusses Ratio For Dairy Feeding

By MILTON HOBERG
Fillmore County Agent

PRESTON, Minn. — With winter winds whistling around the buildings, it's time to think about nutritious rations for the cows.

"First big item to consider is 'how good is your roughage?' Other parts of the ration will depend on the kind and quality of the roughage. Many folks overrate their roughage and end up feeding less than cows must have to keep healthy and produce profitable amounts of milk and butterfat.

With legume hay and legume silage only home-grown grain need be fed as concentrate. With good legume hay and corn silage, home-grown grain will give enough nutrients for average production. Put higher-producing cows should get a daily bonus of an extra pound of high protein concentrate.

For mixed hay and corn silage the grain mixture should be: Five parts of grain to 1 of high protein concentrate. With a ration of grass hays, corn silage and fodder, the grain mixture can be 3 to 1. The high protein concentrate may be linseed meal, soybean meal or a commercial high protein concentrate. Here, you have to choose the one that gives you the lowest cost protein.

According to Ralph Wayne, extension dairy specialist at the University of Minnesota, the quickest way to find out if your ration is short of protein is to feed a pound or two more of such high protein feed as linseed meal to a couple of cows fresh a month or two. If they give more milk in the following few days, then your ordinary ration may be a little low in protein. If they don't show any increase, then your ration probably contains enough protein.

Because the Barn Owl eats many rodents it is considered one of the most valuable birds of prey.

Winona County Agent Writes On Brucellosis

Anderson Brings Control Program Events Up to Date

By GORDON ANDERSON
Winona County Agent

LEWISTON, Minn.—Enough varied pieces of information concerning the state brucellosis problem have come through this office in the past few weeks to make it worthwhile to bring the situation up to date.

First of all, 83 counties have petitioned for area control programs, while four have not. Two of the four counties, other than Winona County, have now reconsidered and are in the process of recirculating petitions, while the third is now in the pre-meeting stage.

Secondly, changes in the regulations pertaining to the establishment of modified certified brucellosis-free areas have become effective (Sept. 1, 1954). The principal change is to eliminate the testing of cattle under six months of age when counties are tested under the area plan, and also to eliminate the testing of vaccinates within one year following the date of vaccination, provided the vaccinates can be identified as such.

Considering the fact that 85 per cent of Minnesota dairy products are sold outside the state, and that outside markets are becoming increasingly conscious of quality, it is a fair supposition that increased pressure by Minnesota dairymen will be used to gain the coveted "accredited state" rating.

One doesn't have to carry that idea very much farther to see the possibility of Winona County gaining the dubious distinction of having a state law passed in its honor.

Eyota Girl Wins 4-H Award for Community Work

EYOTA, Minn.—Claryce Kuhlmann, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kuhlmann, rural Eyota, has been awarded a certificate of honor by Gene Antrim and the William Wrigley Co. for outstanding work in the 4-H community relations program.

She is one of two Minnesotans who will compete for national honors. The other is James Baer, Hamlet, Minn. Claryce has been a club member nine years and has made poultry and Jersey cattle her main projects.

She exhibited several blue ribbon dairy winners; has been a junior leader two years and will represent Olmsted County at 4-H Camp Miniwauke in 1955.

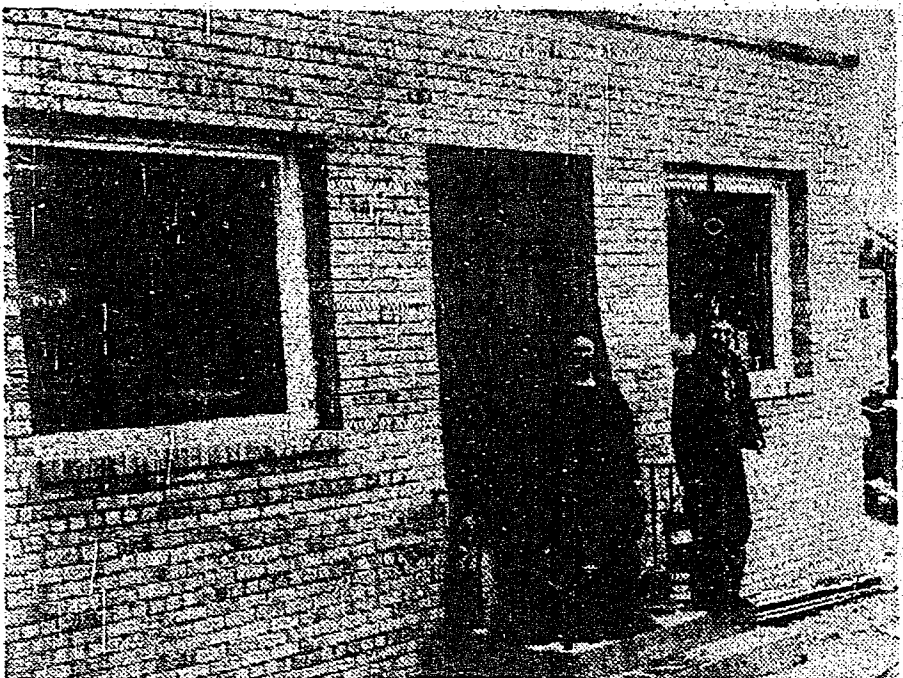

Claryce has increased membership and directed recreational activities for her club. She likes public speaking and has appeared on numerous radio programs and in speaking contests. Her mother is her local leader.

2 Area Girls Cited For 4-H Records

MINNEAPOLIS—Leone Wilhelmson, 21, Spring Grove, and Janette Asleson, 17, Lake City, have been awarded $100 scholarships for outstanding 4-H food preparation records.

They and 10 other state youths won the honors. Miss Wilhelmson was one of six who received the award for baking. Miss Asleson was in the other group of six picked for emphasizing use of cereals in their food projects. The awards were given by General Foods Corp.

Together the 12 girls have records of having prepared thousands of meals and separate dishes. Many of them do all of the family baking in the summer. All of the girls have won many blue ribbons on their food exhibits and demonstrations.

Finishing Touches Were Applied to the new National Farm Loan Association building, Whitehall, Wis., last week by Clarence Swendby, Eleve, left, and Joseph L. Koholt, right, Whitehall. The 4-room brick building which was opened late last week, is located across from the Pix Theater. C. J. Woychik Construction Co., Whitehall, had the general contract.

The Frances Ellen Dress Shop moved into the office vacated on Main street by the association. Distinctive feature of the new building is excellent lighting topped by four picture windows, two of which can be seen. (Daily News photo)

Forester Says Put Woods to Work on Farm

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—The most profitable use for your woodland is to put all firewood, posts and lumber you may get from it to work around the farm, according to Eric P. Jensen, district forester.

A supply is always needed to replace rotted posts or perhaps build or repair a corn crib. The cost of producing home-grown lumber is about $30 per 1,000 board feet. This figure includes the cost of cutting, skidding and milling when these operations are hired. Planed lumber can be obtained for about $2 per 1,000 board feet more. Oak, which is the most abundant tree in this area, can be used in about any construction.

If you grow more timber each year than is required to supply your farm needs, then you may be interested in timber harvesting and marketing. It's wise to make sure of your market before you start to cut. The best thing is a written agreement that states what size, diameter, and length of logs the buyer wants.

Before harvesting the woodlot you should attempt to classify trees in four groups:

1. Good growing trees make up the first group. These are the tall, straight, thrifty trees that are putting on a good growth of wood each year. There's more money in letting these trees stand until they reach maturity.

2. Reserve trees are those that are defective in some way but still making enough yearly growth to offset the loss due to defect. These trees can be cut as needed.

3. Harvest trees, ones you want to cut now, are mature, over mature, diseased or poorly formed trees. They should be cut to save the sound wood and to make room for growing trees.

4. Cull trees make up the last group. These won't make logs good enough to be sold, but can be used around the farm for repair work or for fuel.

Markets you can look for include veneer, railroad ties, posts and lumber. For more information on forestry and marketing, contact your district forester at Whitehall.

The supply of 3- and 4-year-old Norway pines and balsam fir, which were available from the state conservation department, has been exhausted. For the remaining available trees, get your orders in at once to insure delivery.

GLENCOE HUSTLERS

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special)—When the Glencoe Hustlers 4-H Club met at the Wilmer Ziegewald home, elected were: President, Mary Lou Ziegewald; vice president, Darlene Servalis; secretary, Marlene Putz; treasurer, Joyce Boberg; and reporter, Norma Ziegewald. The Christmas party was set for Dec. 12 at the Cowie School. Each member is to bring a friend and donate something for the lunch.

Bulk Handling Costs Analyzed By University

Probable Savings To Farmer, Plant Compared by Study

MADISON, Wis.—Bulk handling of milk won't bring lower costs to many Wisconsin dairy farms. But it can save enough in plant costs to make it profitable for many plants to change over from can handling to bulk handling.

That's the conclusion of Arthur Miller, agricultural economist at the University of Wisconsin, after making a detailed study of the costs of bulk handling in the plant, on the road and at the farm. He says bulk handling may be cheaper than can handling for herds with a daily milk production of more than 500 pounds.

For smaller herds, Miller says an every-other-day pick-up may be the answer. Every-other-day pick-up for bulk loading is just as fast as every day pick-up for can loading if you produce at least 30 gallons daily, the state average.

But other than this, it's the smaller milk or cheese plants that have the most to gain, that is, if they completely close down their can receiving rooms and concentrate entirely on bulk handling. Such a complete change-over by a small plant can permit substantial savings in plant-operating costs, Miller says, and these savings could be passed on to farmers.

The best way to make this complete change-over, Miller thinks, is for plants to help finance equipment of all patrons can go into bulk handling at the same time. Large milk handling plants with many small patrons may find savings from bulk handling used up in added hauling, field service and quality test expenses, Miller says.

The problem of finding and training drivers to sample and weigh milk, test it for quality, and explain reasons for milk rejection to farmers may also complicate any change-over to bulk milk handling.

Martin Herd Tops Buffalo Co. DHIA

ALMA, Wis.—Jay Martin's dairy herd won top honors for November in tests made by the Buffalo County Dairy Herd Improvement Association.

Twenty-three standard members had 634 cows on test averaging 20.5 pounds of butterfat and 516 pounds of milk for an average test of 3.97.

High herds for the month were Jay Martin's 41 grade and registered Holsteins averaging 38.4 pounds of butterfat; Ralph Moy and Sons, 32.4 pounds of butterfat; Ralph Moy and Sons, 30 grade and registered Holsteins, 27 pounds of butterfat.

High cows for the month: Martin's grade Holstein (No. 12) 89 pounds of butterfat; Ralph Moy and Sons, grade Holstein (No. 9), 83 pounds of butterfat; Martin's registered Holstein (Fobes Canary Burke Grace), 79 pounds of butterfat.

There were 93 cows giving 40 or more pounds of butterfat owned by the following members: Martin, Harry Marks, Moy and Sons, J. J. Rosenow, Albert Johnson, George Waste, Delbert Nelson, Hauser & Kammuehler, Lloyd Haigh, F. F. Seyforth, Ben Moy and Son, Leslie Ness, Keith Robinson, Wayne Litscher and James Heike.

New members or old members starting another testing year this month: Owner-sampler, Rudy Christ, Hilmer Myren, Gene Jonas, John Loesel, Clifford Odegard, Leo R. Brantner, Andrew Jost, Raymond and Gene Farmer, Marshall Grass, Hilbert Passow and Albert Herold.

Honor roll of registered cows giving 500 or more pounds of butterfat and grade cows giving 400 or more pounds of butterfat in one lactation of 365 days or less finished lactation this month: J. J. Rosenow, registered Holsteins (Elmoka Topsey Dictator) 604 pounds of butterfat in 340 days, age 5 years, 7 months; (Rosenholm Imperial Skylark) 574 pounds of butterfat in 295 days, age 6 years, 2 months; Martin's registered Holstein (Ormsby Inka Creamline Segis) 542 pounds of butterfat in 365 days, age 6 years, 1 month; George Waste's grade Jersey (Lady) 475 pounds of butterfat in 317 days, age 3 years, 11 months; Albert Johnson, grade Jersey (Lottie) 403 pounds of butterfat in 297 days, age 9 years, 3 months; Waste's grade Jersey (Rosa) 403 pounds of butterfat in 365 days, age 3 years, 4 months.

Independence Herd Averages 11,388 Pounds for Year

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—The 16 registered Holsteins on the Emil P. Schroch farm at Independence recently completed a year of testing with an average production of 11,388 pounds of milk per cow with an average test of 3.54 and 403 pounds of butterfat, according to Thomas Torason, tester with the Trempealeau County Dairy Herd Improvement Association Cooperative.

Schroch has been testing with the co-op for several years and so has been able to cull his herd, increase its efficiency and keep production on a paying basis. In the year 1951-52, for instance, his herd averaged 11,600 pounds of milk, 3.48 test and 515 pounds of fat. By the year 1952-53 he had improved to an average of 11,388 pounds of milk with an average test of 3.51 and an average butterfat production of 407 pounds.

His highest producing cow the past year was 7-year-old Mina which in 285 days of milking gave 13,111 pounds of milk and 485 pounds of fat with an average test of 3.70. June, who was 5 years old, produced 13,912 pounds of milk and 493 pounds of butterfat with an average test of 3.54 in 305 days. Queen, also 5 years old, produced 17,606 pounds of milk and 585 pounds of fat with an average test of 3.32 in 354 days of milking.

Six-year-old Lolly produced 15,281 pounds of milk and 477 pounds of butterfat with an average test of 2.98 in 313 days of milking.

Butter Citation To Winona FFA

A $40 National Butter Co. award for production efficiency will be presented to the Winona Future Farmers of America Chapter next Thursday night at the annual Christmas party in the Central Junior High School auditorium.

John Burger, Minneapolis, will make the presentation which will include a bronze plaque. Twelve members will be named chapter farmers and one will receive the star farmer award. Twenty will get corn production prizes from the Pioneer Seed Corn Co.

An exchange of gifts, four short moving, lunch and recreation will conclude the program.

FFA Basketball Team Organized at Lanesboro

LANESBORO, Minn. (Special)—A basketball team was organized by the FFA Monday, Daniel Garry, agriculture instructor at Lanesboro High School, has announced. The officers will form a committee to work out larger projects of longer duration. Jan. 4 was set as the date for the FFA speech contest. Winners will be awarded prize money from the local funds and may compete in the district contest.

The Pioneer Seed Corn Co. awarded jackknives for completing corn yield tests to Paul Soukup, Ray Johnson, Ardet Johnson, Arlyn Johnson, Darrell Erickson, Gerald Franzen, Robert Franzen, Cletus Ehler and Virgil McCallsion.

Farmers Union Plans Party at Whitehall

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—A meeting of the Whitehall Farmers Union at the city hall Tuesday at 8:15 p.m., will take the form of a Christmas party.

A door prize will be given away. It will be a year's subscription to Washington New Letter, edited by Robert Lewis, native of Trempealeau County. The subscription price is $1.50 a year. There will be a speaker from the state office at Chippewa Falls.

Instead of bringing a gift for exchange, it has been suggested that members might wish to give 50 cents to $1 for CARE packages of surplus food. $1 will deliver two packages of 28 pounds of surplus food. This surplus package program gives individual Americans an opportunity to help feed hungry peoples abroad and at the same time, relieve the surplus in this country, says James G. Patton, president of the National Farmers Union.

3 Winona County DHIA Groups Report Records

LEWISTON, Minn.—The November Dairy Herd Improvement Association 1 report includes testing on 37 herds. These herds contained a total of 1,200 cows of which 954 were milking. The average milk per cow was 688 pounds and average butterfat was 25.9 pounds. Roland Olmstead, supervisor, turned in the report.

In association 2, Gene Schumacher, supervisor, 30 herds were tested containing 877 cows. Of these, 625 were milking. The average production per cow was 693 pounds of milk and 23.8 pounds of butterfat.

Ray Jewell, who works with the members from association 3, tested 611 cows in 25 herds. Of these, 449 were milking. The average per cow was 517 pounds of milk and 20.4 pounds of butterfat.

High herds in each association were as follows (pounds are averages):

Association 1
Eldon E. Gremelsbach, Lewiston, 38 registered Holsteins, 1,241 pounds milk, 44.0 pounds butterfat; Wesley Randall & Son, Lewiston, 17 registered and grade Holsteins, 1,143 pounds milk, 43.7 pounds; E. E. Gremelsbach, Lewiston, 38 registered and grade Holsteins, 1,193 pounds milk, 40.5 pounds; Elmer J. Wirt & Son, Lewiston, 28 registered Guernseys, 753 pounds milk, 35.7 pounds; George Beech, La Crescent, 10 registered Brown Swisses, 759 pounds milk, 34.7 pounds, and Donald Randall, Lewiston, 13 registered and grade Holsteins, 1,053 pounds milk, 34.7 pounds.

Association 2
Loftus & McNulty, Lewiston, 27 grade Holsteins, 1,163 pounds milk, 41.3 pounds butterfat; B. J. Rupprecht & Son, Lewiston, 22 grade Holsteins, 1,035 pounds milk, 37.1 pounds; Lawrence Schneider, St. Charles, 33 grade Holsteins, 1,009 pounds milk, 33.3 pounds; Cletus Walch, Altura, 45 grade Holsteins, 888 pounds milk, 33.0 pounds, and Kronebusch & Fluegel, Rollingstone, 29 grade Holsteins, 836 pounds milk, 30.8 pounds.

Association 3
Verne Pierce, Minnesota City, 19 grade Holsteins, 865 pounds milk, 32.3 pounds butterfat; Guy Smith, Weston, 14 registered Brown Swisses, 604 pounds milk, 32.3 pounds; R. T. Church, Minnesota City, 32 registered and grade Holsteins, 800 pounds milk, 30.6 pounds; Clint Stinson & Son, Houston, 25 grade Guernseys, 635 pounds milk, 29.3 pounds, and Floyd Waldo, Winona Rt. 3, 42 grade Guernseys, 591 pounds milk, 28.0 pounds.

Pierce County Joins Brucellosis Plan A

ELLSWORTH, Wis.—Pierce County will become the 16th Wisconsin county to begin compulsory plan A operations under the state's brucellosis control program Dec. 20.

This was announced by the state-federal veterinarian's office, Madison.

The program includes every dairy herd in the county and makes it mandatory that any brucella-infected animals be sent to slaughter. Over 75 per cent of the cattle owners in the county petitioned for the program. Pierce County has a cattle population of 69,800 with 84.5 per cent of the herds already operating on plan A.

Wisconsin dairymen are working against a March 1 deadline in their drive to sign up at least 35 plan A counties in the brucellosis control program. If that goal is reached, Wisconsin will be able to use the $1,119,000 in additional federal funds which have been allocated for disease control work in the state. If not, the money will revert to the federal treasury. The federal government has made available these increased funds to encourage states to speed eradication of brucellosis.

Ronald Colman Gambling on Gentle Comedy

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Can a gentle, literate comedy succeed on television?

Ronald Colman is gambling a year of his time and talents that he can. He and his lovely wife Benita Hume are starring in a filmed series based on their radio show The Halls of Ivy. It will be on Tuesdays.

Of course, the Colmans are getting paid for their efforts, but the profit on the first run of a TV series is minor compared to what can be made if the films are good enough to be reshown.

The Halls of Ivy goes against the trend in TV comedy. There are no hurried plots, splashing scenes, zany antics or baggy pants. The Colmans behave like educated human beings, still managing to get into humorous situations. The show has to fight for its audience with three of the broadest of comedies—Milton Berle, Martha Raye and Bob Hope.

"But our sponsors seem to feel that there are a number of viewers who would like less raucous entertainment," said Colman during a brief rest between scenes. "They are the ones we are aiming at." The English-born actor, as handsome as ever with graying hair, admitted he had been contending to make the show even gentler than it had been. The show, which concerns the academic life of a college president and his actress wife, first used canned laughter. These phony laughs on filmed shows have nettled many a viewer. Colman sympathizes with them.

"I didn't feel it was necessary, but the advertising agency insisted on the laugh track," he said. "Finally I got them to try it without the laughs, and I feel the show was better that way." "I think you can get a better scene if you don't have to play for the laughs. You can be more intimate. Otherwise it's like acting in a room with three walls. You're always conscious of the audience looking in. You have to play the scene much broader."

Tucson Claims Residents As Early as 900 A.D.

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—An anthropologist said evidence uncovered yesterday indicates a "possibility" Tucson is the oldest continuously occupied community in the nation. Dr. Emil Haury, director of the Arizona State Museum, based his statement on preliminary examination of pottery found on the floor of a pit but struck by excavators in downtown Tucson. It indicated Tucson may have been occupied as early as 900 A. D., he said. Other material found hereabouts appears to date right up to the historical period, he added.

School Board Man Asks State Tax Withholding

The institution of a payroll withholding method of collecting state income taxes and an increase in state aids to education were recommended here Thursday as measures necessary to keep educational facilities abreast of increasing school enrollments.

The principal speaker at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis Club at the Hotel Winona, William A. Wettergren, executive secretary of the Minnesota School Board Association, said that with constantly increasing school enrollments and rising operational costs "no school board can say that it can cut school expenditures without harming its educational program."

Wettergren, who is also the chairman of the legislative coordinating group of the Citizens Committee on Public Education, said that one of the most pressing problems facing the Legislature at its next session will be that of helping communities provide adequate educational facilities for all children.

Wants More Money
One of the major sources of school revenue at the present time is the state income tax fund and Wettergren held that a withholding tax procedure would provide additional revenues not now realized.

He said that his committee had studied four states where the method is now being used and found that Oregon could best be compared with the experiences Minnesota might anticipate.

"In Oregon during the first year they used the withholding tax," he said, "they obtained $11 million more in revenue than receipts had been estimated. Moreover, they put 28 per cent more taxes on the rolls paying income tax."

"One example that might be cited is at LeSueur where they have a population of about 3,000," he continued, "During the summer months this population increases to almost 6,000, most of the additional persons being transient workers during canning time. Each of them picks up checks of from $1,000 to $1,800 for their work and then they move on to some other state and we have no way of collecting any income tax on their earnings here."

"You can't set up a tax for transient workers because they don't become transients until they leave the state," Wettergren said. "Then added to these are the many persons who live year-round in the state and pay federal income taxes but don't file a state return."

Demands More Aids
Studies completed by his committee, Wettergren said, have indicated that increases must be effected in the basic state aids paid to school districts on the basis of average daily school enrollments.

In consideration of the increasing costs of education, he said, the Legislature will be asked at this session to increase these basic state aids from the present $80 a pupil unit to $92.
"We're behind the times in tackling these school problems," Wettergren remarked, "and we're considering action now that should have been taken 10 years ago."
"You frequently hear it said that a group like the Minnesota School Board Association is a high-powered lobby and I think that's unfair. If we're a powerful lobby, you are, too, because you are the persons who elect your school board members. They serve for no pay — only the satisfaction of seeing that the educational needs of the community are met. Most school board members pay as much as $1,000 out of their own pockets every year while they're serving on the board so you can hardly say that they're professional lobbyists."

Bandit Armed With Knife, Lie Succeeds

BALTIMORE (AP) — A bandit wielding a butcher knife confronted Mrs. Virginia O'Dell when she opened the door of her apartment last night.

"I have your little daughter down in my car," the thug said, "Give me your money and neither of you will be hurt."

Mrs. O'Dell told police she turned over her $15 wristwatch and a purse containing 40 cents. After the man fled, she discovered that her daughter had been downstairs playing all the time.

75,000 Clinic Cases Helped Develop Hospital's PILE-SHRINKING OINTMENT

Thousands of pile sufferers now can truly report they have found wonderful relief, and put off the need for surgery, through the ointment formula approved by the Minnesota Clinic's medical staff. This pile-shrinking ointment is not a mere modified skin salve. It does not depend for its effect on just one ingredient. Experience with more than 75,000 clinic and hospital cases has shown how an ointment must deal with the various problems of itching, bleeding, swelling and pain. For non-surgical shrinking of your piles, get "Thrombin Mince Ointment"—the prescription approved by a specialized clinic. At

Court Awards Disability Pay to St. Cloud Man

ST. PAUL (AP) — The Minnesota Supreme Court today awarded workmen's compensation to Edmund C. Hartman, St. Cloud, and ordered his employer to pay the expenses of a specialist of his own choice to treat him.

The Cold Spring Granite Co., where Hartman was employed as a granite polisher, appealed from a decision of the State Industrial Commission, which upset findings of a referee. The referee had held that Hartman's disability bears no casual relation to mishaps on three occasions.

The award was based on an alleged "traumatic neurosis" arising from the cumulative effect of several injuries. Prior to his employment by the granite company, Hartman had enjoyed good health.

Hartman, who was 30, began work in 1947. His first injury was Nov. 18, 1947, when a bar with which he was lifting a large stone slipped, causing him to lose his footing. He fell and his right side was ruptured.

On May 26, 1948, Hartman was injured a second time. He sought no compensation for this. A metal bucket weighing about 10 pounds fell from an overhead crane, apparently striking Hartman on the head. On Aug. 16, 1949, he sustained a third injury. One end of a 500-pound stone struck him and pinned him momentarily against another stone.

Associate Justice Oscar Knutson, who wrote the unanimous decision, said that traumatic neurosis is compensable under the state's Workmen's Compensation Act if it is the result of an employee's injuries and results in disability.

The company contended the commission was bound by the finding of the referee. Justice Knutson said the commission is not bound by the referee's findings even though the review is based solely on the evidence presented to the referee and involves principally a question of credibility of witnesses.

Bald Eagles Here
One of the grand sights along this sector of the Mississippi River in winter is that of a bald eagle or American eagle, the national emblem of this nation. The above reproduction of a painting of a bald eagle is from the Weyerhaeuser Timber Co. Galleries.

Three of these adult eagles were observed Thursday forenoon feeding on fish along the Wisconsin side of the river opposite Homer by Austin F. Shira. He described them as full grown with their white heads standing out in bold relief against the newly-fallen snow.

Golden Eagles are probably more common in the Lake Pepin area, although the bald is often seen here in winter on the edge of the ice near open water. Two years ago, Bill Green, refuge biologist, reported that there were about 50 eagles in the Alma area part of the winter. He estimated about 100 eagles are winter residents of the 300-mile long refuge.

Channel dams help these birds with their winter feeding problems. Fish are injured by the gates, get away from fishermen in open water below the dams or otherwise become crippled. These floating fish on or near the surface become ready victims of the eagles.

Bill has no record of any eagles nesting in the bluff area of the refuge but we have had reports of eagles in the past in the wild bluff tops among the crags and lowering rocks.

Anyway, there is a migration of these great birds into the valley in winter and it is one of the grand sights awaiting the bird student. He or she may see a giant bald or golden eagle soaring gracefully against the winter sky, a demonstration of beautiful flying that will be long remembered.

Where Rabbits Go
Two Iowa biologists, Paul Kline and Dr. George Hendrickson, of Ames undertook to answer for the 15 million rabbit hunters of this nation the question, Where do rabbits go? Each summer every one of a half million rabbits is shot and probably remarks that rabbit hunting will be good next winter.

Kline picked out a 186-acre chunk of farmland in Iowa's Decatur County and started work in August. He put out his box traps in areas most frequented by the rabbits—travel lanes, brushy cover and such. As he caught the bunnies, he tagged their ears for individual checks, and dyed their tails yellow so he could spot tagged rabbits on the fly.

The result of his field work, when worked through the formulas evolved by game management technicians for population studies, looked like this:

On Sept. 1, the rabbit population was 284 — certainly enough to convince the fore-sighted hunter that here was a happy hunting ground. On Oct. 1, the number was 238. On Nov. 1, the non-human hunters were getting in their tasty first licks, and rabbits had declined to 184.

On Dec. 1, when the human hunters were reminded by frost and the first snowfall that rabbit stew was in order, the stewees had declined to 102—less than half the Sept. 1 figure.

And the month of December would, under normal circumstances, see the rabbit population cut in half again—to the 50 or fewer animals who could find food, shelter and protection from predators on the area's available range. This number—the carrying capacity of the range—could of course be increased by providing more food and cover.

Now just who gets in the best hunting while human hunters dally?

Of 65 rabbits whose careers Kline was able to follow, red fox killed 5, horned owls 6, miscellaneous predators 11, unknown predators 11, disease and mechanical injury 5. Human hunters managed to take 10 of the 284 original rabbit residents, and 17 more were lost by predators who found them in Kline's traps before he did.

Since that leaves 150 or so rabbits whose means of departure were unrecorded, the observers thought it fair to conclude that all the hunters had much better luck than the sample showed — except the humans. They were the only ones to report 100 per cent.

'Censure Bureau' Asked For Birth Certificate

WASHINGTON (AP) — What happens to a letter addressed to "the Department of Censure" in Washington?

The office of Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.) said the post office routed one such epistle with an Arkansas postmark to Sen. Watkins (R-Utah), chairman of the special committee that recommended censure of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.). Watkins' office sent it to Fulbright, an author of censure charges against McCarthy.

The letter said: "I need a birth certificate. I was born in 1888 or 1889. I don't know which." Fulbright's office is contacting the Census Bureau.

CONQUERERS OF WEST TEXAS

Warriors Face Tough Eau Claire

Out of the frying pan and into the fire is the dilemma of the Winona State basketball Warriors who Saturday night play an exceptionally strong team of Blugolds at Eau Claire State.

The strength of the Eau Claire squad is easy to thumbnail. The Blugolds handed highly-touted West Texas an 85-73 defeat. The Texans followed that loss by beating powerful Gustavus Adolphus by 18 points and Hamline by three.

Eau Claire also holds a 112-99 victory over Michigan Tech. Coach Lyle Arns of Winona State says, "Eau Claire and Mankato are probably the toughest teams we'll face all year."

"I saw Eau Claire beat West Texas and they really handed them quite easily, led by 15 points most of the time in the second half. And Eau Claire's 6-9 center, Roger Hanson, scored 28 points although sitting out most of the last quarter."

"If they play like that against us we'll have a rough time Saturday night," Arns added, however, that his Warriors "could give them a good game if we're hitting."

The awesome Eau Claire club won't provide the Warriors with weather opposition. Winona opened with a record-breaking 98-78 victory over Stephens Point and then lost a pair of five-pointers to La Crosse and Plattville.

Arns pointed out Eau Claire's center, Hanson, is greatly improved over last season.

A junior now, Winona fans recall his freshman days when Ron Richter hit 39 points against him in a game two years ago at Eau Claire.

Richter's surge that night is a Winona State individual scoring record. Hanson showed up much better a year ago, and evidently is better than ever this season. Against West Texas he made 11 of 13 field goal attempts and six of eight free throws. In the Michigan Tech game Hanson scored 32 on nine field goals in 21 attempts and 14 of 18 gift shots.

A distressing note is that Hanson isn't the only offensive gun on the Eau Claire squad. Freshman guard Bobby Morgan also got 32 against Michigan Tech on 11 of 21 field goal attempts and 10-for-12 from the gift line.

Forward Jet Johnson scored 22 points the second half against Michigan Tech and had 23 points in all. Against West Texas, Johnson had 19 on eight-for-18 in field goals and three-for-three in free throws.

Guard Jim Bollinger hooped five of six field goal attempts and made

15 points in that game, while Morgan with 12 points was five-for-nine on field goals.

A squad member rated a good prospect on Eau Claire's squad is 6-1 freshman Roland Moy, a stand-out prep performer four years at Gilmanston.

In view of the impressive Eau Claire statistics, what's the outlook for Winona State Saturday night?

Arns has four players on the injured list, but all of them are expected to be ready to see action. John Anderson, who sprained his ankle in pre-season practice, will be ready although the foot isn't yet in top shape.

Lee Paul, forward who sprained his ankle against La Crosse, is in the same fix as Anderson, while Jess Waldron sprained an ankle Wednesday night in practice.

Rounding out the turning squad is Pete Polus, but his injury is regarded the less serious of the four.

Arns plans to start Gil Regnier at center, Anderson and Paul at forwards and Polus and Dave Smith at guards. The starting front-line will give Winona more height on the boards than in the three previous games. Capt. George O'Reilly at guard is slated for plenty of service also.

A pair of newcomers are on the team. One is Lad Turner, a regular guard two years ago. The other is Gil Regnier's older brother, Harold. Neither Turner nor Regnier are ready for extensive duty yet, but Arns plans to take Turner to Eau Claire and use him in spot situations.

Harold Regnier is about 6-4 and is expected to help Winona's front line in future games.

Going Tough for Bradley, Penn St.

By JOHN CHANDLER
The Associated Press

Bradley and Penn State, a couple of powers in the NCAA Basketball Tournament last spring, are finding the sledding pretty rough as the young 1954-55 college basketball season progresses. Their backers hope it's just a bit of early jitters.

In a slim program on the college courts last night, North Carolina State belted Penn State 69-77, while Texas Christian outlasted Bradley 85-83. It was the third defeat in three games for Bradley, NCAA finalist last spring.

Penn State, which went to the Eastern Division NCAA final and defeated Southern California for third place in the national finals, was outclassed by N.C. State in their game at Raleigh.

The Wolfpack, led by two towering centers Cliff Dwyer and Ronnie Shavlik, rolled up a 53-36 halftime lead and was never in trouble. Shavlik plunked in 35 points and Dwyer contributed 21. Jess Arnette, the Penn State star and captain, scored 20.

At Peoria, Ill., Texas Christian made it 3-for-4, but almost blew a big lead in the final 17 points. At that point TCU led 83-88, but Bradley put on a terrific rally as Lee Ut, Fred Dickman and Harry Hansen combined for 12 points while TCU was limited to a free throw.

TCU's J. Bryan Kilpatrick, who led all scorers with 22 points, made two free throws with 43 seconds remaining to make it 85-81, before Dickman scored for Bradley from the field with nine seconds left.

Washington State and Gonzaga chalked up victories in the first double-header played in the new 24-million-dollar Spokane (Wash.) Coliseum.

Gonzaga took Whitworth 70-60.

Hawk Tankers Set for Gustie Relays Saturday

Four Teams in Prep Division Of Swim Meet

Winona High's swimmers make their second splash of the season Saturday afternoon at St. Peter in the annual Gustie Invitational Relays.

Coach Lloyd Luke's tankers are paired in the prep division of the meet with Rochester, St. Paul Wilson and Minneapolis Roosevelt. Swimming in the college division are Gustavus, Carleton, Macalester and Hamline.

Last year Winona High captured two events in the meet. No team champions are declared, but teams winning individual relays are awarded plaques.

Luke is planning to take a squad of 16 swimmers to the meet. "We're going to concentrate our strength in the freestyle relay," he said. "We'll also try to show well in the 180-yard medley relay since the medley is Wilton Berger's specialty."

Berger, defending state medley champion, continues to improve and draw high praise from Luke. The junior waiter has been impressive in time trials recently. Luke says, "he's a great swimmer. He'd be good in any event; he can really move. But give some of the other younger kids a year or two and they'll be right in there, too."

Luke plans to "use as many boys in the meet as I can and see what we've got." The meet will also provide the Hawk tank mentor with a chance to size up Rochester's expectedly strong state champions.

The Rocket swimmers boat Austin 54-21 in a dual meet last week while Winona High was losing a 41-34 decision to Shattuck.

Six relay events and diving comprise the program on Saturday's meet. The relays include the 180-yard medley; 500-yard freestyle with four swimmers going 40, 60, 100 and 200 yards; 180-yard individual medley; 160-yard backstroke relay; 160-yard breast stroke relay and 160-yard freestyle relay.

The Hawks will leave Winona at 7:30 a.m. Saturday. The meet starts at 2 p.m. Luke hasn't determined the individual entries in each event, but he released a list of boys who will make the trip. They are as follows:

Berger, Boudwin, Gilbertson, Goodred, Hauser, Hervey, Hull, Beeman, Kause, Kratz, Lingenfelter, Miller, Moore, Morgan, Warmack and Ziebell.

Berra Surprised At Being Named 'Most Valuable'

NEW YORK (U-P) Yogi Berra, still expressing surprise at being named the American League's Most Valuable Player, said today he's willing to play the outfield for the New York Yankees in 1955. "I'll play anywhere they want me," said Yogi, "third base, catcher, outfield. Just say the word. But I wouldn't mind the outfield a bit if this boy Howard comes along."

"This boy Howard" is Elston Howard, regarded as one of the hottest Yankee rookie prospects in years. Normally an outfielder, the young Negro spent the past year at Toronto learning to be a catcher.

Heavyweight boxer Nino Valdes of Cuba refuses to wear black trunks in the ring. He says they are bad luck.

JOE SHRAKE

JACK McGRATH

INK INTENTIONS

Shrake, McGrath Set With Chiefs

Joe Shrake and Jack McGrath will pitch for the 1955 Winona Chiefs. It was announced today by officials of the Winona Baseball Association.

Since both are college students and won't join the Chiefs until after their college seasons end, they signed papers stating their intention to play for the Chiefs, making them the property of the local Southern Minny entry and at the same time not affecting their eligibility as college players.

Shrake, a junior at St. Mary's College where he had a vital part in hurling the Redmen to a pair of Minnesota College Conference championships, is a product of the Winona junior baseball program and Winona schools.

McGrath pitched for the Chiefs last summer and is currently a student at Winona State where he is finishing work necessary for a degree in physical education.

Shrake started in the Park Recreation Department's baseball program when he was 10 years old and progressed through the Bantam, Pee Wee and Midget Leagues.

He was a member of the Winona American Legion junior baseball team that finished runner-up in the state when he was 14.

Paul Giel, now a member of the New York Giants, got his start the same way Shrake did and the two were members of the same Legion team.

Shrake was graduated from Cotter High School and in addition to his baseball performances, was a member of a Cotter basketball team that won the State Catholic championship, receiving honors as an All-State guard in the process.

Shrake lost only one game the past two years as a member of St. Mary's baseball team—that coming this past season against St. John's when an outbatter error on a fly ball with the bases loaded in the eighth inning.

He plays outfield for the Redmen when not pitching and batted .300 last season, although he's regarded a better hitter than that.

Last summer Shrake pitched for Belle Plaine in the Class A Minnesota River League. He compiled a .150 earned run average, averaged 10 strikeouts per game and walked an average of only 1.8 batters per nine innings. He batted .285 with Belle Plaine.

Shrake is a lefthander with excellent control, a good fast ball, good change of pace and wide variety of speeds. Not the overpowering type of pitcher, he stands 5-9 and weighs 165.

McGrath was Winona's winningest pitcher on last year's Southern Minny last place team, compiling a 5-9 won-loss record.

Also a lefthander, he came to Word from Austin is that Campau won't do anything regarding the contract Winona offered him until after a board meeting of Packer officials next week. At that time decision on releasing the five players may be made.

Clearing the Spindle

Hmm! Russ Voight of Albert Lea said in his Sunday sports column on the Big Nine cage race: "Winona, Northfield and Faribault will be about the same as last year . . ."

Wo disagree, Russ . . . We think the Winhawks will do better than their 3-7 conference record of last season, but of course, only time will tell . . .

When the Colorado cage team beat Brigham Young 88-66 it was a new single game scoring record for the Buifs, two points better than the previous high of 86 against Nebraska last season . . .

Helping Colorado to the victory was former Austin prep star Burdette Halderson, who tallied 21 points . . .

Mankato Howie Rice hit 14 of 16 free throws in Friday night's 57-46 triumph over Faribault . . . It was the first opening game conference victory for the Scarlets since 1950 . . .

Quarterback Don Kaplan and tackle Wayne Davis have been elected Owatonna prep grid co-captains for the 1955 season . . .

Daily Newser Bob Eggleston quoted after his team was edged out by Standard Oil Wednesday night in the Men's City League, 71-20: "When the great scorekeeper comes around, we oughta be the first in line . . ."

It's not the final score that counts, yuh know, but how yuh played the game . . .

Leo Durocher and a former Winonan who were roommates with the 1929 Yankees will cross paths again . . . Durocher roomed with Julio Wora on road trips that season . . .

Wera, who had broken his knee July 28, 1927, never could regain the peak he knew then and was optioned to Jersey City after the 1929 season . . . Durocher went on to play in three World Series with the Yanks and later became manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers . . . Now pilot of the world champion New York Giants, Durocher will headline a "Baseball Night" program Saturday night at Mayo Civic Auditorium, Rochester, arranged with proceeds going to the March of Dimes . . .

Wera, now a Rochester butcher, will have a chance to reminisce with Durocher . . . A host of other baseball notables, including Winona's Paul Giel, will be on the program . . .

On the Mark

Owatonna, which recently defeated Albert Lea 24-19 and claimed a state record with 24 consecutive dual meet victories over a four-year stretch "is getting carried away by the whole thing," according to Coach Gordon Paschka, who tutors the Winona High wrestlers.

Paschka says, "I coached at Anoka when Robbinsdale had a streak going that was at least in the 40's . . ."

We wrote to Robbinsdale athletic authorities and received the following reply from Mark Woodward, former Robbinsdale mat coach:

"Records are not available on such short notice to verify whether Robbinsdale had more or less consecutive victories than Owatonna."

"Robbinsdale did win or shared in seven consecutive state titles from 1940 through 1946 . . . Vern Gagne (today a national TV wrestling idol) won a state title with the 1943 team and was on the two previous squads."

"Marshall High School of Minneapolis had a very outstanding record and was undefeated in 1936-37-38 and lost one to Robbinsdale in 1939. Whether they had more than 24 consecutive victories I don't know . . ."

The discussion of consecutive victories leads an interesting angle to tonight's wrestling meet at Owatonna. The Winhawks and Indians are scheduled for a Big Nine mat disturbance . . . There's nothing Paschka and his charges would rather do than prevent Owatonna from adding Winona to its victory list . . .

TANDEM ANGLES

Play Them with "Silco" — Tandem spares, such as the 1-5, 2-8 and the 3-9, offer the option of a head-on, drive shot or a widely angled combination slice shot. With a slice you cover the spare from the side, as the sketch shows. On the 3-9, for instance, your angle is from the extreme left hand side of the alley, so that the ball contacts the 3 pin on the inside and goes on to topple the 9. That holds true also of the 2-8 and the 1-5, rolled from the right. Quite obviously the wider angle is the one to practice, since it invites less chance of chopping off the front pin. The matter of how much speed to use, or how little, is up to the individual. Tandems are difficult shots any time they're up, whatever the type of delivery. It's the angle that counts, and it pays to learn the pay-off angle in practice.

Al Lopez, manager of the Cleveland Indians, played in two All-Star games, 1934 and 1941, but failed to get a hit.

Bannister to Retire From Running Career

LONDON, Minn.—Roger Bannister, one of the two men who have run the mile under four minutes, has stepped off the cinder track at the peak of his great athletic career. The London physician announced his retirement last night at the annual banquet of the sports writers of Great Britain.

At the same time, in Australia, his friend and nearest rival, John Landy, talked glumly of quitting competitive running.

So 1954 nears an end with a vast void looming in the track and field world.

It was a year that saw Bannister, then Landy, crack the four-minute mile barrier. Then in a memorable race at Vancouver, Canada, Bannister vanquished his Australian rival in a race in which both were clocked under four minutes.

Bannister first lowered the mile mark to 3:59.4 at Oxford, England, May 6. A little over a month later, in Finland Landy dropped the record to 3:58. At Vancouver, in the British Empire Games, Bannister won in 3:53.3 with Landy second in 3:59.6.

Hamernik Hits 623, Hengel 255

The highest scores in Winona bowling Thursday night were recorded in the Eagles League at Hal-Rod where Joe Hamernik of the First National Bank bowled the only men's honor count of the evening, 623.

His team is tied for first in league standings on a 22-17 record with Oasis Bar. Fran Hengel of Orphan's Upholstery rolled a 255 single.

Tops in women's bowling was in the Powder-Puff League at Hal-Rod where Ruth Baran of Winona Insurance had 205-513. Ruth Hoff of the same team 525 and Irene Trimmer 500 even.

Other high scores, league by league:

St. Matthews, St. Martin's—Von Mueller, Hunkins Standard, 226-547; Class A, Red Men's—Roy Lord, 211, and Ralph O'Brien, 564, both of Iron Firemen; St. Stan's, Athletic Club—Audrey Trzebiatowski, Hamernik's, 177, and Lorraine Malewicz, Watkowski, 467. Athletic Club Ladies—Nellie Danielson, Fountain Brew, 178, and Norma Zywicki, Nash's, 469; Keglers, Keglers Club—Joan Winchester, Badger Machines, 179, and Irene Shultz, Walley's Fine Foods, 479; Ladies, Red Men's Club, Ethel Knapp, Swede's Bar, 205-458.

In the Knights of Commerce League at the Keglers Klub, Stan Stolpa of first-half winning Winona Milk had 213-564.

Owatonna Boosts Merger Proposal

OWATONNA, Minn.—Favorable reaction to the proposed merger of the Owatonna Aces and Waseca Braves was noted here Thursday night in a meeting of Owatonna officials and fans.

Although the turnout for the meeting was small, it was revealed that a positive reaction for the merger was expressed.

It is understood that the baseball boards in both communities are for the merger. The next step is a meeting at Waseca next week where Braves fans will get a chance to voice opinions.

Roy Tyrholm of the Waseca board is calling the meeting. Several Waseca delegates attended the meeting Thursday night in Owatonna.

Should both communities agree to the merger, it would leave an opening for Fairmont without extensive scheduling changes.

Fairmont, champions of the Western Minny League which folded in November and also winners in the Class AA "Little World Series" against Rochester in September, has placed a bid for admittance to the Southern Minny.

Cochrane 55, Plum City 45.

Cochrane's Firehouse Five made Plum City its 39th consecutive Bi-County Conference victim in a string that started four seasons ago. The Indians mauled Plum City 55-45 Thursday night in a regular league game. It was Cochrane's sixth straight victory this season.

Cochrane's 55 runs, 11 hits and 11 errors, including 115 shots at the basket, sinking 43 field goals for 38 per cent. Plum City fashioned 12 field goals in 49 attempts for 22 per cent.

Cochrane, however, was cold in free throws, making only nine of 25 while Plum City got 21 in 30 attempts for 70 per cent.

Bob Rogneby, followed by Jim Bado with 22, Dave Schreiber 14 and Duke Loretz 12. Plum City's Oberling led his team with 19.

Cochrane: 23 25 22 18-75
Plum City: 9 13 8 15-45

Andrews Scoffs At 2-1 Odds for Martinez Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—Al Andrews scoffed at the 2-1 odds favoring Vince Martinez and predicted he would break the welterweight contender's victory streak in Madison Square Garden tonight.

The fight will be broadcast and telecast at 10 p.m. (EST).

"His style is made for me," said Andrews, 23. "The way to beat Martinez is to keep the pressure on him and throw punches. He likes to lay back and call his shots."

Martinez's long-range style of fighting has carried him to 12 straight victories, a 39-3 record, and a No. 5 ranking among the welterweight contenders. The Paterson, N. J., picture puncher has won seven this year, four by knockouts.

But in Andrews he meets the most formidable opponent of his career. The ex-Gi from the West will have about a six-pound weight edge—155 to 148—and he expects to throw the weight around if he forces Vince to a close-quarter battle.

Carleton Hands Augustana 25th Straight Defeat

NORTHFIELD, Minn. (AP)—Carleton and Augustana, S. D., made entries on opposite sides of the basketball ledger today following the Carls' 99-86 landslide.

For Carleton, it represented a new school scoring record, surpassing the 95-point output last year against Morrisville.

Augustana, meanwhile, was taking a routine loss, its 25th in a row over a three-year span.

Laure Slocum hit 25 points for Carleton. Don Voss had 19 and Frank Bracken 16. Center Bob Minick collected 27 for Augustana.

The South Dakotans stayed with in halting distance in the first half on the shooting of Minick and Maynard Hollard, who got all of his 12 points over that stretch.

But Carleton expanded its 48-38 halftime lead quickly and rolled by 51 points to only 22 for Augustana in the second half.

In state action tonight, St. Olaf plays at Ripon, Mayville, N. D., is at Moorhead and Huron plays at Mankato TC.

Hutton, Young Bemoan Rule On Cage Fouls

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Basketball's new bonus free throw rule is turning the game into a foul shooting merry-go-round and forcing a return of the unbalanced zone defense plays, two leading Minnesota coaches agreed today.

"It's thrown the game all out of proportion," Coach Gus Young of Gustavus Adolphus commented. "A team having a bad day at the free throw line is just out of luck."

There was a firm second from Coach Joe Hutton of Hamline, co-favorite with Gustavus Adolphus for the Minnesota College Conference championship.

"This rule just isn't the solution. It will reach the point where teams will be playing to draw fouls instead of going for field goals."

Under the rule, a player awarded one free throw on a common foul is given a second shot if he makes the first one. Last year, a player missing his first shot got a second opportunity.

Hutton and Young agreed that the new system would cut down spectator interest by bringing a return to some form of zone defense.

"A team on defense will give you that shot from out on the floor rather than risk fouling under the basket," Young said. "I think this is producing a tremendous change in strategy and has the effect of leveling the difference between two teams, thus possibly penalizing the stronger team."

OLD THOMPSON

WED - IN - THE - WOOD WHISKEY

When our mature whiskies are blended together with the finest of grain neutral spirits, the blend is not bottled immediately as is customary in the industry. Our blend is put back into barrels to marry. We call this the "WED-IN-THE-WOOD" method. Thus the whiskies and the spirits acquire an extra smoothness and character that this method assures. We know of no other company that goes to this extreme and extra expense to assure you the finest quality possible. That's why when the honeymoon is over, Old Thompson is the finest tasting blended whiskey in America.

New Well Site To Be Discussed By Water Board

After buying a new three-quarter ton truck, deciding to purchase a new plating machine for mailings and disposing of several matters relating to maintenance and improvements at the Johnson street pumping station, the Board of Municipal Works yesterday decided to hold a special meeting next Thursday night to consider the location of a new city water supply.

The establishment of new well sites involves not only the problem of financing, but of location. City Engineer W. O. Cribbs has studied several areas of public land and had earlier reported to the board that well locations seemed most feasible near Lake Winona or at the present site of Westfield Golf Course.

However, the golf course area has been considered as a residential development, if the course can be moved to a site near the end of Lake Winona, owned by the Park-Recreation Board, as a residential area, the site would be eliminated as a well location.

Elevated Reservoir
Areas along Lake Winona are owned by the Park-Recreation Board. The water board would need the approval of either the city or the P-R board to establish well sites on those properties, but the board must first find out from the City Council what is planned for the Westfield site.

The board must determine which site will be used in order that it may then estimate the cost which will be the basis of a request to the next legislative session for authority to issue bonds to finance this project and another that will cost in the neighborhood of $398,000.

The latter is the construction of an elevated reservoir on the south side of Lake Winona with necessary connections to the existing distribution system.

Opened during Thursday night's meeting were six bids for the 1955 three-quarter ton truck, with the low bid of $990.47, submitted by the Winona Truck & Equipment Co., accepted by the board. It's for an International truck and its price includes a trade-in allowance for the board's 1948 model truck.

Other bid prices were: $1,100 by the Winona Motor Co.; $1,127.55, Owl Motor Co.; $1,151.13, Seifert-Baldwin Motor Co.; $1,197, Vatter Motor Co.; $1,399, Western Motor Sales.

Buying Used Machine
The board also considered an offer by the Winona National & Savings Bank to sell a used hand-operated plating machine to the board. The bank will sell the 3-year-old machine for $325. A representative of the Addressograph-Multigraph Corp., manufacturers of the machine, described the bank's "Graphotype" as being in perfect condition and said that a new machine would cost about $550. The bank is buying an electric machine.

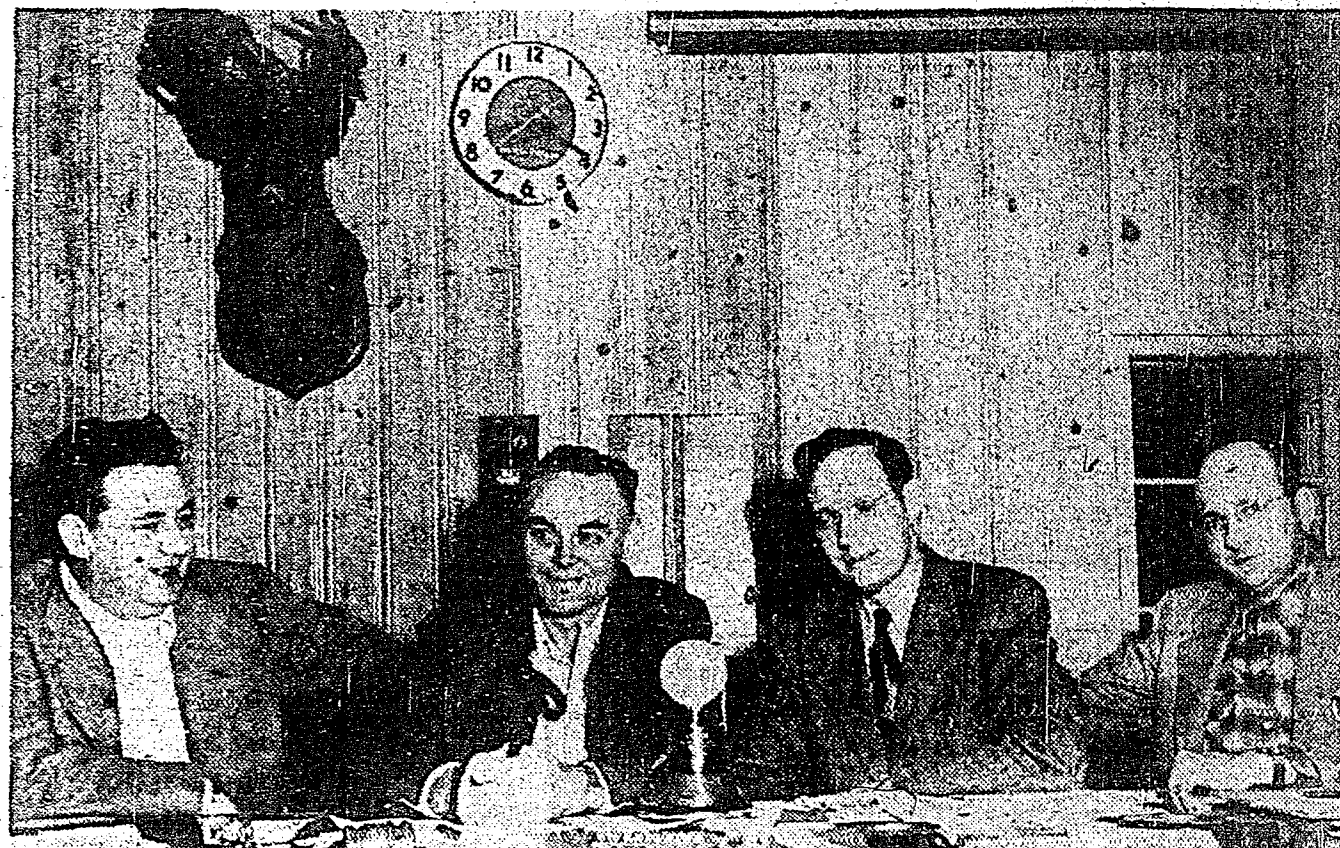

The board owned a machine until 1949, and for a period after that, new plates were made and others corrected by the St. Paul branch of the firm. In recent months, the water department has utilized an electric machine owned by Winona County at the courthouse for this purpose. The necessitated transporting the accumulated plates requiring correction and new plates to the courthouse periodically.

Members of the board questioned whether they would be required to advertise for bids — even on a used machine — since the price was pointed out, however, that there is no competitive machine. When the county purchased the electric machine, Addressograph-Multigraph submitted the only bid and it was accepted on the basis that it is the only one that can be used with the Addressograph-Multigraph plate system.

The board decided to consult the city attorney relative to the purchase without advertising for bids and if approved, instructed Secretary G. O. Harvey to inform the bank of the board's acceptance of the offer.

Change in Inspection
The board did approve a request by George Jensen, city plumbing inspector, for a change in the rules concerning check valves on domestic water heater services. The inspector noted that the Minnesota Plumbing Code does not demand the installation of check valves on the domestic systems. He stated that low pressure and high pressure boiler services should be checked to eliminate the possibility of contamination and back pressure, adding, "The installation of check valves on domestic water heater services can be very dangerous because the relief valve does not operate often enough." After a brief discussion, the board approved Jensen's suggested change of the rule involved. No City Council action is required.

In other business, the board authorized the Water & Sewage Equipment Co. to deliver a 24-foot valve with a cast iron stem and a brass seat originally requested by the board. City Engineer Cribbs observed that he noted a wide price

Izaak Walton League Given Two Awards

Two achievement awards were presented to the Will Dill Chapter, Izaak Walton League of America, at its meeting here Thursday night.

The meeting also was highlighted by the election of officers for 1955. Marvin R. Shaw was named to succeed Lloyd Ozmun as president of the chapter and Irvin A. Teasdale will succeed Shaw as 1st vice president.

Other officers elected upon the recommendation of the nominating committee are Leroy Backus, 2nd vice president; Roy K. Carpenter, treasurer; Lloyd E. Deike, secretary; Stanley S. Hammer, membership secretary, and Ozmun, immediate past president.

Directors for 3-year terms are Walter A. Alm, Kenneth W. Junghe, David Morrissey and Edward S. Larson.

Membership Citation
D. T. Palmer, Rochester, a national director of the league, presented the Winona chapter with an award for outstanding membership activities during the past year.

The chapter was cited for having exceeded the quota of 254 members set by the national organization.

Alton E. Bergh, St. Charles, southern Minnesota district vice president of the state organization, also presented the chapter with a gong and gavel awarded by national headquarters for the sponsorship of a new chapter during 1954.

Bergh said that Winona, which sponsored the organization of the Winona chapter for women, was the only unit in the state to sponsor a new chapter during the year.

State President George Laing, Excelsior, and Tom Grouse, Minneapolis, state TWLA secretary, were unable to attend Thursday night's meeting but said that they would be here in January to present the Dr. Shouse Memorial Award to Winona for enrolling the most new members in the state during 1954.

Bear Trophy
An account of how he bagged a bear on a recent hunting trip was given by Louis Sheekoff who also furnished bear roasts that were prepared and served by Ernest Mahle and Reuben Stephan after the meeting.

The chapter set a voluntary membership quota of 300 for 1955. A film on fishing in South America was shown and March 19-20 were set for the chapter's 1955 Sportsman's Show. Officers will be installed at the January meeting.

difference in the bid compared with the other bid submitted for the fitting last August, but that at that time he was assured by the firm that the brass part was included. The other bid was almost $500 higher.

Cost Reduced
Later, it was found that the firm that supplies parts for the Water & Sewage Equipment Co. does not manufacture the brass seat valve. A letter from the firm indicated the feasibility of cast iron and said that a reduction in the price of the cast iron fitting would be allowed due to the error on the part of the firm and its supplier.

This lowered the price of the valve from $1,125 to $1,012.50, which the board accepted. It is among the pieces of equipment required for the program to increase pumping capacity of the Johnson street pumping station and must be delivered and installed if the program is to be completed before warm weather water demands begin.

Bills for the month of November totaling $12,617.75 were approved by the board. Attending Thursday's meeting were President C. J. Boryskowski, Vice President George A. DesRosier, William M. Hardt, C. S. Lukasevski, R. Burr Mann, Harry S. Horton, Harvey Cribbs and Mayor Loyde E. Pfeiffer.

SHEPPARD

beach and getting knocked out again in a fight.

The state has contended during the eight-week trial that Dr. Sheppard killed his wife because of a quarrel over his affairs with other women, and that there was no intruder involved in the crime.

Sheppard today gave a dramatic account of an encounter with the man he said was his wife's murderer. He was unable to say whether he struggled in the dark, or whether there was a light on in the lake front house.

"Now repeat in your own words what you saw and what you did," Corrigan said to the defendant, leading him into the account.

Sheppard paused for a long moment. He looked straight ahead toward the far wall of the hushed courtroom.

Then, in a slow, halting voice Sheppard said, "I realized I had been hurt and as I came to some sort of consciousness I looked at my wife."

Corrigan asked him what he saw. Apparently reaching for words, Sheppard said:

"She was in very bad condition. She had been badly beaten. I felt that she was dead."

"I was immediately fearful for Chips (his young son), I went into Chips' room and in some way evaluated that he was all right."

Sheppard said he then heard a noise downstairs and Corrigan asked him to describe his emotions.

"I can't explain my emotions but I was stimulated to chase or hit whoever or whatever was responsible for what had happened."

He said he went downstairs. "There I visualized a form," he said. The lawyer asked him where.

"Between the front door of the house and the yard somewhere," Corrigan again asked him to describe his mental condition when he regained consciousness "from this attack."

"I was very confused—punchy in the language we use as slang. I was stimulated or drawn to try to chase this person which I did."

He said he went down the steps toward the beach, losing sight of "this person" on the way.

"Was it dark," Corrigan asked. "Yes, sir," Sheppard replied. "But there was enough light so I could visualize this form."

Down to Beach
He said he went down the stairway to the boat landing and then to the beach.

"It was at this time," he said, "that I had the feeling I could visualize a silhouette that was describable."

"I descended as rapidly as I could and I lunged at or grasped at this individual. Whether I caught up with him or he waited for me, I couldn't say."

"I felt I grasped an immovable object of some kind. Then I felt a choking sensation or a twisting sensation."

"That's all I can remember until I came to in the water," Corrigan asked him if he could describe the person with whom he struggled, Sheppard replied:

"I felt it was a relatively large form in dark clothing. There was evidence of a good-sized head with a bushy appearance on the top of the head."

The defense attorney asked him where he was when he again regained consciousness and Sheppard said:

"I don't know exactly, but I was on the beach with my head toward the seawall. The waves were breaking over me, moving the lower part of my body."

In a significant, meaningful voice, Corrigan asked: "Was it light now?"

"It was light enough to see the breakwater," Sheppard responded. "The day was breaking, is that right?" Corrigan asked, "Yes, sir."

2 in Phenix City Indicted for Killing

PHENIX CITY, Ala. (AP)—A prosecuting attorney and a former sheriff's deputy who rose to power during the racketeering heyday in Phenix City have been indicted as the killers of the man whose crusade against vice had won the approval of Alabama voters.

Circuit Solicitor Arch Ferrell and former Chief Deputy Sheriff Albert Fuller were held without bond on the first-degree murder charges for the slaying June 18 of Atty. Gen.-nominee A. L. Patterson.

Neither indictment said which of the two men the state contends fired three .38-caliber shots into Patterson's body. Under Alabama law a murderer and an accomplice are equally guilty and can be put to death in the electric chair.

A third unidentified defendant was indicted with Ferrell and Fuller yesterday by the same grand jury which had smashed the vice empire that reigned here for many years.

Ferrell, 37, was described by Patterson as "a big, powerful man, a brainiac" of the Phenix City political organization, and Fuller, 35, was denounced by vice prosecutors as the "master." Acting Atty. Gen. Bernard Sykes said he hopes to start the trials early in January.

Patterson's crime-fighting career ended the night of June 18 when a gunman waylaid him in an alley outside his law office here. He had won the democratic nomination for attorney general in a bitterly contested runoff primary June 1. Gamblers had spent untold thousands trying to defeat him.

In Birmingham, a grand jury found evidence of vote manipulation in an effort to count Patterson out of the race.

Patterson had announced only a few hours before his death that he would testify before the Birmingham jury.

Both Ferrell and Fuller pleaded guilty four days ago to vote fraud charges here and Fuller was fined $250, Ferrell $200.

of coming to, right next to Marilyn's back, facing south. I recall vaguely recognizing my wallet on the floor beside me."

"Was there any way to determine the length of time between the time you were knocked out and the time you came to?" asked Corrigan.

"No, sir," replied Dr. Sheppard. "No way I know of."

Then he identified the wallet when it was presented to him and a recess interrupted his recital at that point.

In previous questioning, Corrigan went over the period of time after Dr. Sheppard fell asleep on the downstairs couch while watching television, to a moment when he was awakened by Marilyn's death cry.

"I have a very vague recollection of being aroused between the time I went to sleep and the time I heard my wife cry out," testified the defendant.

"My only definite recollection is that I was aroused when my wife notified me she was going to bed," he said.

TV Good
He said he did not recall that an attempt was made to awaken him previously because the moving picture on television was "getting good."

The importance of this testimony in connection with the brown corduroy jacket Dr. Sheppard was wearing when he fell asleep. The state contends it was found in a neatly folded condition on the couch the next morning, hardly the way it would be found if a man had slept in it or on it. The defense has replied that he could have taken the jacket off during a brief interval of semi-consciousness, draped it along the couch and then fallen back asleep.

"From the time that you heard your wife cry out, have you told the events of that night to anyone before today," Corrigan asked.

"I certainly have," Dr. Sheppard replied. Corrigan then had him recite the same times he repeated the story on the scene that morning, to investigating officers later, in a statement to the prosecutor, and at the request of July 22.

Dr. Sheppard said he recalled talking to Mayor Spencer Houk whom he summoned to the murder scene and who was the first one to arrive that morning.

"I don't remember when that was or what I said to him," the osteopath added. "I remember talking to my brothers but I don't remember what I said."

"Do you remember talking to your father and mother," Corrigan asked.

"I remember seeing them," Dr. Sheppard said.

The state has contended that Dr. Sheppard's story of the murder might vary from time to time, especially in the early stages of the investigation.

"He always gets lost when we come to a highway!"

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D.S.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. Yes. Sociologists found in one marriage in eight in Philadelphia, and in one in 16 in New Haven, the couples had lived at the same address. One half in both cities lived within twenty blocks, and a high proportion within five blocks. If marriages are made in heaven, heaven is only a few blocks away. Our booklet, "How To Pick a Mate," will help you to make a good choice, near or far. Sent at cost, 15c (coin only) plus self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dr. Albert Wiggam, care of The Winona Daily News.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. Yes, says psychiatrist Frank J. Curran. Two boys steal a cat. One, son of a prominent man, is let off for "a boyish prank." The other, son of a drunken father or a destitute mother, is sent to jail as an "example to others." Researches show many teachers judge children by their social standing instead of by their marks and conduct.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. No, says Better Vision Institute.

because they can't focus their eyes on objects as small as print, and they also lack the "yellow spot" on the retina which enables human beings to see tiny objects. Some high school and college students seem to lack the necessary yellow spot—or something.

THE GRAB BAG

THE ANSWER, QUICK!

1. What was the "Field of the Cloth of Gold" in European history?
2. What is the modern name of the famed Hellespont?
3. What story is told of the prophet Elisha and two bears?
4. What is a legal injunction?

HOW'D YOU MAKE OUT?
1. A plain near Calais, France, where Henry VIII of England met Francis I of France, in 1520. The courts of both kings vied in magnificent display.
2. The Dardanelles.
3. Some children, mocking Elisha's bald head, were devoured by two bears.
4. A judicial process restraining a person from a wrongful act, or compelling restitution to an injured party.

CHICKEN-CHEESE RECIPE

If you like chicken, try this. Make a chicken fricassee. Season with salt and pepper and a little oregano, and add cream to make it taste just right. And then, add something more to the boiling pot. At the very end, add 1/2 cup of grated Parmesan cheese. Serve very hot with either dumplings or baking powder biscuits. Currant jelly goes well with this.
