Goodfellows Have 500 Tots To Clothe

THREE hundred needy children have been clothed by the Goodfellows thus far, but 500 remain to be clothed. These children will be given warm clothing during the next ten days if contributions continue to come in to the Goodfellows.

Two Goodfellows workers who have been fitting needy children for 13 years handle about 30 children a day. Each child's needs must be determined carefully because Goodfellows funds are only sufficient to give each child one or two items of clothing. Many, for example, need overalls, shoes and a coat. If the coat is in tatters but still warm and the shoes will hang together for a while, then the child is given overalls to keep his feet dry when he walks to school or plays out doors.

The more money the Goodfellows receive, the more they can buy for each child. Last year's contributions when divided by $200 needy, meant only an average of $3 could be spent on each child. This isn't much when you consider how much a warm coat or snow-suit costs.

Contributions still are lagging behind those of last year, which means that it may be necessary to spend less on the children at the end of the lists this year. Those who plan to contribute but have not done so yet are urged to do so soon.

Goodfellows workers wish to remind everyone that only warm, winter clothing is purchased for the needy children. No toys or other such items are purchased.

Be a Goodfellow. Send or bring your contribution to The Goodfellows in care of The Winona Daily News.

Doctors Fear Pope Threatened With Anemia

VATICAN CITY (AP)—A source close to Pope Pius XII reported today that the gravely ailing head of the Roman Catholic Church has weakened perceptibly in the past 48 hours and his physicians fear he is threatened by anemia.

Two medical consultations were scheduled today on the condition of the 78-year-old pontiff, who suffered a serious collapse 12 days ago with a gastric ailment.

The source said the Pope, who had showed a marked improvement after rallying from the collapse, had been able to take only small spoonfuls of food by mouth during the past two days. More nutrition has been given by tube.

The Pope was said to have spent a somewhat less restful night last night.

The first indication of the Pope's increasing weakness was reported yesterday. It followed Sunday's consecration in St. Peter's Basilica of Mgr. Giovanni Battista Montini as archbishop of Milan.

The new archbishop was a close collaborator of Pius for many years and the pontiff listened to the ceremony by radio from his sick bed. A Vatican source said he was profoundly moved.

A four-minute radio address recorded the day before, in which the Pope described Archbishop Montini as his "gift to the archdiocese of Milan," was a highlight of the ceremony. Some sources said his efforts in recording the speech—his longest since his collapse—may have contributed to his increased fatigue.

John Madison, 11, comforts shivering John Lasofsky, six, soaking in a bathtub after two were released from a large tool chest where they were trapped for 26 hours, most of it in sub-freezing weather at Cambridge, Mass. The boys were trapped in the large wooden box when the lid fell after they entered, and became secured on a metal loop. Cries for help throughout the night went unheard. The boys finally were released after two other youngsters heard thumps coming from the chest. (AP Wirephoto)

Benson Drops Controls on 'Surplus' Acres

Only Restrictions
Remaining Imposed
By Congress, Farmers

By OVID A. MARTIN
WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson has relieved farmers of all controls next year except those imposed by Congress and voted by farmers themselves.

Benson announced at a news conference Monday that a measure he set up last summer to control use of "surplus" acres in 1955 is being tossed into the discard.

Under this measure, a farmer would have been required to comply with all acreage planting allotments assigned his farm to be eligible for price support aid on any crop. Allotments will be made for cotton, wheat, corn, peanuts, major types of tobacco and rice.

This control was designed, for example, to prevent farmers from using land diverted from wheat to production of corn in excess of their corn allotments. But now a farmer may plant as much corn as he likes and still be eligible for wheat supports.

Another control measure Benson dropped would have prevented diversion of "surplus" land from allotment crops to potatoes and commercial vegetables.

The only controls remaining for 1955 include marketing quotas, which farmers themselves must approve, for cotton, wheat, tobacco, and peanuts, and acreage allotments for all these crops and corn. Allotments are required by law except in times of emergency. Benson said it may be necessary to propose marketing quotas for rice.

Also still in effect next year is a congressional edict that farmers must comply with all acreage allotments to be eligible for subsidies paid under soil conservation programs. These subsidies are small in relation to total farm income.

But in a step to discourage "excessive" use of land diverted from allotment crops, Benson reduced price support rates for next year's output of oats, rye, barley and grain sorghums. These grains—used mainly for livestock feed—will be supported at 75 per cent of parity compared with 85 per cent this year.

White's comments came in reply to questions about a Peiping radio broadcast which carried a broad hint that Red China was trying to coax the United States into a deal.

The Red broadcast alluded to the 11 U. S. airmen held as "spies" and said the United States would be flouting international law if it held the 35 Chinese students in retaliation for the jailing of the airmen.

The way the two matters were linked was interpreted by some diplomats at the United Nations as meaning the Chinese Communists were seeking to play a hostage game while trying to save face and put the onus on the United States.

White said the airmen and the Chinese students were in entirely different categories. The airmen, shot down and captured two years ago during the Korean War, are legally prisoners of war and entitled to full international rights as such, he said. The students are civilians whose cases are still under study, he added.

U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld was reported still hopeful the Chinese would accept his bid to go to Peiping to plead for the fliers.

U. N. officials said Hammarskjöld had derived encouragement from the fact that Peiping radio's two blasts against the airmen in the past two days had made no mention of his proposed visit or to the Assembly resolution denouncing their jailing by the Chinese.

Persons close to Hammarskjöld said he had not expected an immediate answer, believing instead that the Reds would take some time to map their strategy on such a major issue.

Hammarskjöld was believed working through neutral Sweden and India—both have diplomatic missions in Peiping. Reports also persisted that, if these avenues produced nothing, the secretary general call on Soviet Russia to use her influence.

Thereafter he played an important role in some of the nation's most sensational trials—the Scopes evolution trial in Tennessee, the Scottsboro Negroes' trial in Alabama, the famous Sacco-Vanzetti murder trial and many others.

Russell Opposes New Aid for Asia

Congressional Leaders Confer With President

Second Day of Conferences on
Program for 1955

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Russell (D-Ga.) said today he will oppose any Eisenhower administration program of dollar economic aid for Asia "or anywhere else."

Russell voiced this opposition in an interview in advance of a White House briefing by President Eisenhower for Democratic and Republican congressional leaders on foreign and defense policies.

Administration officials have been suggesting increased economic aid for Asia, similar in some respects to the Marshall Plan assistance to Europe.

Speaking as the prospective chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee and carrying the unofficial proxy of Sen. George (D-Ga.), who expects to become chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, Russell said that as far as he is concerned he is "through with purely economic aid." George was absent from the conference because his wife is ill.

"I don't propose to vote for economic aid anywhere," Russell said. "I would support some substantial increases in the technical assistance program which I feel is particularly fitted to the problems of the Asian economy."

"But any effort to push up Asia's standard of living purely by pumping American dollars into the economy of those countries is simply beyond the capacity of this country to attempt."

Started Monday
The White House briefing on next year's legislative program started Monday. That session, limited to administration officials and GOP congressional leaders, brought forecasts of two administration requests aimed at strengthening the government's financial position:

1. A GOP congressional leader, who asked not to be named, said the President and his lieutenants made it clear they will ask for a postponement of corporation and excise tax cuts now scheduled to go into effect April 1.

Unless Congress acts, the corporation income tax would drop from 52 to 47 per cent, costing the Treasury an estimated two billion dollars of revenue annually. Excise taxes on such things as gasoline, automobiles, trucks, cigarettes, liquor, wine and beer also would go down about a billion dollars yearly.

2. Postmaster General Summerfield said there will be renewal of the twice-rejected request for higher postal rates, including a 4-cent letter, to provide for about 234 million dollars more yearly.

Russell's stand against dollar aid to foreign nations won the backing of Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.), a Foreign Relations Committee member.

U. S. Won't Swap Students for Airmen

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States today ruled out any deal with Red China to swap 35 Chinese students in America for the 11 U. S. airmen imprisoned inside China.

State Department Press Officer Lincoln White told newsmen, "There will be no deal."

White's comments came in reply to questions about a Peiping radio broadcast which carried a broad hint that Red China was trying to coax the United States into a deal.

The Red broadcast alluded to the 11 U. S. airmen held as "spies" and said the United States would be flouting international law if it held the 35 Chinese students in retaliation for the jailing of the airmen.

State Closes Cross-Quiz of Dr. Sheppard

CLEVELAND (AP)—The cross-examination of Dr. Samuel Sheppard ended today with an assertion by the state's attorney that he killed his wife and inflicted his injuries on himself.

"That is absolutely untrue—and unfair," Sheppard replied.

This was the only time in the long cross-examination that the accused man raised his voice.

The state's attorney, John J. Mahon, had asked Sheppard:

"Now, those injuries you received, doctor, didn't you receive those from jumping off that platform onto the beach?"

"No, sir," Sheppard answered. "I think that would be impossible."

As a brain surgeon he gave his reasons for that answer. He said there would have to be an injury on the top of the head as well. The top of his head was not injured, although he claimed to have a damage to the vertebra in his neck.

"Isn't it a fact that you beat your wife that morning," Mahon thundered, "and after you killed her you rushed down those steps toward the beach and fell or jumped and injured yourself?"

Sheppard delivered his emphatic denial.

With that, Mahon said he was finished.

Youngdahl to Rule on Second Lattimore Count

WASHINGTON (AP)—An attack on the second of two perjury indictments against Owen Lattimore Monday by U. S. District Judge Luther W. Youngdahl, who indicated he does not plan to rule hastily.

Youngdahl, who touched off a controversy when he dismissed some counts of a previous indictment against the Far Eastern affairs specialist, gave attorneys 10 days in which to file additional written arguments on the new charges.

Thus his ruling seemed certain to be delayed at least until Christmas.

Youngdahl took the case under advisement after listening to day-long legal arguments in which the new indictment was assailed as an attack on freedom of speech and defended as legally sufficient to bring Lattimore to trial on charges of lying under oath to the Senate Internal Security subcommittee early in 1952.

State Judges Ask 2 Amendments to Retirement Law

ST. PAUL (AP)—Minnesota judges want two amendments to their present retirement law. Ramsey County Judge Gustavus Loevinger, president of the state group, announced today.

One would deny retirement pay to judges seeking re-election after becoming eligible to retire at the age of 70. The other would allow judges retiring after Jan. 1 to receive their half pay based on the present salary of $14,700 rather than the former state salary of $10,200.

Noted N.Y. Lawyer Arthur Hays Dies

NEW YORK (AP)—Arthur Garfield Hays, 73, noted New York lawyer, died today.

He died at the New York Hospital, where he was admitted Nov. 8.

Hays as an attorney made millions as a corporate lawyer on Wall Street, but he perhaps was best known publicly for his work in civil liberties cases.

He joined the American Civil Liberties Union as counsel in the early 1920's.

Ike Pays Tribute To U. S. Newsmen

NEW YORK (AP)—President Eisenhower paid tribute to the American newspaperman last night, calling him a "valiant warrior for the truth that makes men free."

"In the unending struggle to maintain our freedom, the American reporter is ever on the front line," Eisenhower said. "For as long as faith and knowledge endure, freedom is certain to survive."

The President appeared on a filmed, 90-minute television program, climaxing day-long dedication ceremonies of a new memorial press center of the Overseas Press Club. The center honors newspapermen who died abroad in line of duty.

"Through many years, I have had good reason to count the press corps as a vital arm of the forces of freedom," the President said. "In war, I saw its members strive tirelessly, endure hardship, dare battlefield peril that our people might be fully and quickly informed, on every front, they were worthy comrades of our fighting men."

"Now, as President, I find that each day emphasizes anew the fairness, the discernment, the dedication of the American reporter. In peace, he is still a valiant warrior for the truth that makes men free."

A cast of entertainers, who appeared on the television show, "The Dateline," included Bob Hope, Sid Caesar, Martha Raye and John Daly.

White-haired poet Carl Sandburg delivered the dedication, in which he said:

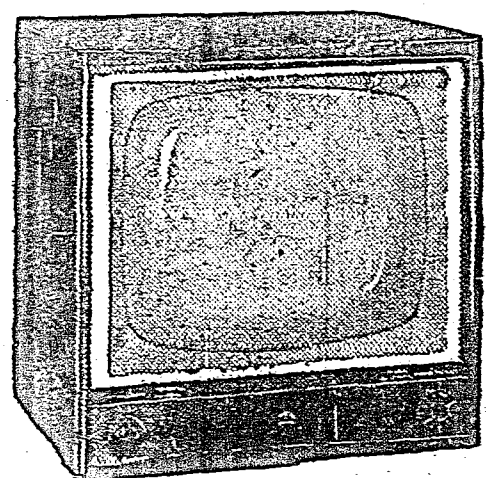

"In all weathers and on all continents and seas, the overseas correspondents sought the controlling factors, scented and hunted the dark unknown."

"From winding and tortuous paths where the known faded into fogs of the unknown they did their best at sending home to press and radio the story of what was happening from day to day."

During the ceremonies, former presidents of the organization unveiled four plaques with names of 82 newsmen who have died abroad while searching for news.

Austin Opposing Highway Postal Service in Area

Post Office Plans To Discuss Project With Its Opponents

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14. — The Post Office department is trying to satisfy opposition to its planned highway postal service from La Crosse, Wis., to Worthington, Minn., before putting it in effect.

A spokesman for the department told a reporter the only opposition it knows about comes from the Hormel Packing Co. and the Chamber of Commerce at Austin, Minn.

He said the superintendent from the St. Paul office is going to Austin this week to discuss the contemplated change.

The department is holding up its plan to advertise for a contract for highway post office service until those opposed to it are satisfied, the spokesman said.

Earlier, E. George Siedle, assistant postmaster general, had said this service would be in line with the President's directive to improve postal service and reduce the cost.

Siedle said the new service would provide better mail service and reduce costs by about $50,000 a year.

The department said the contemplated route for the new service would run from La Crosse on Minnesota State Highway 44 to Prosper, on U.S. 52 north to a junction with State Highway 16 about three miles east of Preston and then on 16 to Worthington.

The office of Sen. Thye (R-Minn.) said it had been informed that cities and towns now being served by rail but not on the new route will be served by star route mail service. These include such centers as Houston, Rushford, Peterson, Whalan and Lanesboro.

Houston Man Testifies in Own Defense

LA CROSSE, Wis. — Dr. L. G. Van Hecke, Wauwatosa, Milwaukee County medical examiner, took the stand this morning in Circuit Court as the trial of a Houston, Minn., man charged with negligent homicide went into its second day.

Defendant in the action is Frank Freese, Houston, who was the driver of a car involved in a collision with a semi-trailer on the Shelby overhead, on Highway 14 four miles southeast of here, Feb. 10.

A passenger in the car, Donald Hegland, Houston, was killed. Freese and two other passengers in the car, John Grover, son of Mr. and Mrs. Phil M. Grover, 407 1/2 W. Sanborn St., Winona, and Knute Kittleson, Houston, were injured.

Coroner's Verdict
Driver of the truck, J. C. Fraley, Charleston, S. C., escaped injury. He was exonerated by a coroner's jury called to investigate the mishap that also returned a ruling that Hegland's death was due to injuries sustained in an accident involving a car driven by Freese, who, the jury decided, was under the influence of intoxicating beverages at the time. Freese entered a plea of not guilty to the negligent homicide charge when arraigned Feb. 19. He is represented by Thomas Skemp of La Crosse.

Alcoholic Content
The examiner said that tests revealed that Freese's blood had a .210 per cent alcoholic content. Wisconsin law states that a .150 per cent alcohol-blood content is considered too intoxicated to drive. First witnesses called by Dist. Atty. John Bosshard Monday were Grover and Kittleson. Grover, who sustained a broken leg in the mishap, was using a cane. The men related incidents that preceded the accident that occurred at 4:55 a.m., Feb. 10.

Other village officials are Louis Hager, mayor; Louis Kennebeck, clerk; Eugene Deming and Odell Arens, trustees; Mrs. Warren Graner, assessor; F. J. Pavelka, justice of the peace, and Jess Schouweiler, constable.

Three Candidates For City Posts, Two for School

Three officeholders filed for re-election Monday and today with City Recorder Roy G. Wildgrube and two more filed for re-election to the Board of Education with Clerk and Business Manager Oscar S. Glover.

Filing were:

o Loren W. Torgerson, running for a third 4-year term as special municipal judge.

o Howard A. Baumann, who filed for a third 4-year term as 3rd Ward alderman.

o Joseph Karsina, candidate for a second 4-year term as 4th Ward alderman.

o William A. Lindquist, asking for election to a 4-year term as 3rd Ward director on the Board of Education.

o Carrol Syverson, who filed for a second 4-year term as 1st Ward director on the Board of Education.

Meanwhile, George W. Richman, 224 1/2 W. Sanborn St., has told fellow Board of Education members that he will not seek re-election from the 2nd Ward. Richman at the present time is the senior member of the school board, having served since April 1926.

Torgerson, a partner in the law firm of Goldberg & Torgerson, was first appointed special municipal judge to fill a vacancy in July 1926. He was elected to full terms in 1927 and 1931.

He is married, lives at 709 Washington St., and is a veteran of World War II service in the Marine Corps, having been returned to inactive duty as a captain.

Torgerson, 40, is a member of the state, district and county bar associations. Arlington Club, American Legion, Winona Country Club, Athletic Club and Elks.

Baumann, the 3rd Ward candidate, is serving his sixth year as chairman of the City Council finance committee and also is chairman of its health and welfare committee.

A lifelong resident of the ward he represents, Baumann is married, has a son and a daughter and lives at 263 Kansas St. He's 50 years old and is raw materials control manager at the J. E. Watkins Co. He is a member of St. Martin's Lutheran Church.

Karsina, 57, is chairman of the Council's band and public safety committee. He lives at 883 E. Mark St., has four children and is employed by the East End Coal & Cement Products Co.

A graduate of Cotter High School, he is a member of Local 799, Teamsters Union, Building & Construction Trades Council, Athletic Club, Winona Civic Association, the Left Handers Club and St. Stanislaus Catholic Church.

The two most recent Board of Education filings bring to three the number of announced candidates in the spring school election.

Previously Clarence P. Hartner, 202 E. Howard St., had announced that he will run for re-election as director-at-large.

As yet there have been no filings from either the second or fourth wards. Glenn E. Morgan is completing his first 4-year term as 4th Ward director.

Married and the father of four daughters, Lindquist lived in Winona from 1933 to 1937 and attended the Central Elementary and Central Junior High Schools here.

The family later moved to St. Louis Park where he was graduated from the St. Louis Park High School and the University of Minnesota School of Law where he was a member of Gamma Epsilon Gamma, professional legal fraternity.

Following his admittance to the Minnesota bar he returned to Winona and has been a practicing attorney here since January 1927, during most of this time he has

Legal Question Snarls Action In Baby's Death

Authorities Ask Whether Husband Can Take Stand

JACKSON, Minn. — Investigation into the death of a 15-day-old baby was befuddled today by the condition of the infant's mother and a legal question as to whether the father could be compelled to testify.

Under medical observation in Jackson County jail was Mrs. Lyle Pfingsten, 18, Red Wing. Her son, Rex, died in a Jackson hospital Sunday of skull injuries. The young mother has not been charged.

Pfingsten, also 18, was quoted by Coroner Walter B. Wells as saying his wife became hysterical as they stayed at a Jackson motel Saturday night. Pfingsten said he tried to restrain his wife but the baby's head apparently struck some object as the infant was swung around.

Dr. B. N. Karlsen, local physician who was called by the motel operator, said Monday night that Mrs. Pfingsten is suffering a psychosis that sometimes follows childbirth.

The young mother is unaware of the whole situation, Dr. Karlsen said. He added that she will not volunteer any information and her mind appears to be "blank" concerning the baby's death. Aside from a few words she has spoken she has been incoherent, the doctor said.

Coroner Wells planned an inquest for today, if a legal opinion is received in time from Atty. Gen. Burnquist. County Attorney Harvey Holtan had asked Burnquist whether the county could compel Pfingsten, an airman third class, to testify against his wife at the inquest.

Wells said Pfingsten told Sheriff Harry Torsden that his wife became extremely nervous after the baby's birth at Wichita Falls, Tex., where Pfingsten was stationed. They were on their way home to Red Wing, where they were to seek medical treatment for the woman, when they stopped overnight at the motel here.

Counsel to State Jobs Dept. Quits

ST. PAUL, Minn. — Knute D. Stall and today resigned as chief counsel to the Minnesota Department of Employment Security, effective Dec. 15.

In a letter to Atty. Gen. Burnquist, Stall said he desired to devote his full time for some months to research in the philosophy of government, a subject in which he has been interested, as a hobby, for many years.

Archer-Daniels-Midland Co. for 14 years and at the present time is plant manager for A-D-M in Winona.

He is married, the father of two sons and has been active in Boy Scout activities in the Winona area. He lives at 470 Junction Ave. He currently is serving as council chairman of the Gamehaven Area Boy Scout Council.

Syverson in 1950 received the Winona Junior Chamber of Commerce distinguished service award as Winona's "Young Man of the Year."

He is a member of the Rotary Club, Central Lutheran Church and the Jefferson School PTA.

Winona General Hospital set a precedent Monday evening when it held its first "family" party. For the first time members of the medical staff, the board of directors and the Woman's Auxiliary were represented at what has been an employees' party. And for the first time, too, it was a dinner affair. Leo C. La France, a hospital director, was master of ceremonies at the Oaks. Mrs. Harry Young, chairman of volunteer services for the auxiliary, represented the auxiliary; Dr. R. W. Wilson, the medical staff, and Administrator Earl

W. Hagberg, the employees. Twenty-five attendance prizes were awarded. About 135 attended. A full shift of workers was on duty at the hospital during the party.

A Tree Grows; So Does Idea

BLAIR, Wis. — Miss Alice Stumpf lights up a tree in her yard every Yuletide.

That's not as easy as it sounds. It was 25 years ago, when her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Stumpf, began the practice. Seventy-five lights did a nice job then.

But now it takes 225 bulbs to illuminate the 30-foot tree.

Continuing the quarter-century tradition begun by her parents, who have now died, Miss Stumpf lights the tree on the eve of Thanksgiving Day and every night thereafter until mid-January.

She operates a grocery and dry goods store here, but is discontinuing the grocery line.

Body in Cornfield Tentatively Identified

BELOIT, Wis. — The body of a man found in a cornfield here Saturday was tentatively identified Monday by Rock County Coroner E. J. Overton as Kermit Louis Toneray, 36, whose last known address was at Portage. The identification was made through a Madison woman whose name was in a notebook in the man's pocket.

Overton said two bullet wounds found in the man's head were apparently self-inflicted. A .32 caliber pistol was found about four feet from the body.

SUGAR LOAF CRASH

Cars driven by Merritt Stark, Sugar Loaf, and Mrs. D. T. Burt, Glen Mary, were damaged in a collision at 12:30 p.m. Saturday on the Sugar Loaf road near Highway 61. Damage to the Burt car amounted to $70 and Stark reported $40 damage.

Council Meets With Legislators On '55 Program

A modest legislative program was mapped out by the City Council to Winona County state legislators Monday evening at City Hall.

Hearing and participating in the discussion were Sen. J. R. Keller, Winona; City Rep. John D. McGill, and County Rep.-elect Donald McLeod, Lewiston.

Council President William P. Theurer, City Attorney Harold Streeter, and others noted these legislative objectives:

o To permit the Council to increase more than 15 on-sale liquor licenses. A law affecting second-class cities sets the 15 maximum.

o To secure funds other than additional property taxes for cities. President Theurer said that at the present time the Council has no particular interest in applying taxes locally which would be authorized by the omnibus tax bill proposed by the first and second-class cities revenue committee — with the possible exception of the Hill board tax — but it does not want to stand in the way of other cities who want the bill passed. Minneapolis would like to have a payroll tax, Rochester a hotel room tax, for example, and these and other taxes would be authorized by the proposed legislation.

However, President Theurer said that the city is vitally interested in the report of an interim highway study commission which is proposing a redistribution of gasoline taxes and vehicle registration fees. The commission recommends giving municipalities over 5,000 some of these funds for the year. Estimates of the per capita distribution have ranged from about $9 down to about $3. He told Rep.-elect McLeod that the city realizes that the county has road problems, but that the city has street maintenance problems also, noting that city taxpayers contribute toward the maintenance and construction of county roads through the county road and bridge levy.

The president said that he believes the Council would not be adverse to an increase in the gasoline tax in order to secure funds for municipalities. First Ward Ald. R. K. Ellings said that he is opposed to a proposal that vehicle registration fees be equalized. He said that this would be a major handicap to the sale of older model used cars.

o To permit the city to condemn land, if necessary, for the Corps of Engineers' flood protection plan for the city and to cooperate with the Corps in this project and the Crooked Slough commercial harbor project. Attorney Streeter said that the city charter is not clear on this authorization. Rep. McGill said that the flood matter might very well be general legislation for the state rather than special legislation for the city.

o To permit the Board of Municipal Works, according to Attorney Streeter, to make purchases of less than $500 without advertising. The present special law sets the limit at $300. The general law for municipalities is $500; the Winona city charter sets no limit.

o To permit the use of certain lands given the city in years past for purposes other than recreation. (A coal company, for example, is interested in purchasing a marshy area on the Wisconsin side of the river.)

Two persons called at the committee of the whole meeting believing that state legislation to prohibit the distribution of licentious literature would be discussed. President Theurer told them that this was a state matter. One older man said that the Council already is on record in opposition to the distribution of such literature.

Sen. Keller said that the Library Board has asked for repeal of legislation limiting the annual levy for library purposes. He explained that the 1933 Legislature meant the legislation to apply to Duluth only but was passed to apply to other cities. An attorney general's ruling permits cities such as Winona to levy more than the minimum set, and Sen. Keller said that he expects the law will be repealed.

Ald. Ellings asked legislation making the office of city assessor, now appointive, an elective office again. He received support from 1st Ward Ald. William F. Holden and 4th Ward Ald. Daniel Bamnaker. President Theurer said that this matter should be discussed by the Council alone first before making a presentation to the legislators.

Men's Night Set For Wednesday By 5 Stores Here

Puzzled about what to get the little woman for Christmas?

Well, five Winona merchants have planned special men's night showings to help Winona and area males select suitable gifts for the women on their gift lists.

The Bon Ton, Cichanowski's Jewelry Store, Cortland Jewelers, H. Choate & Co. and Nash's will be open from 7 to 9 p.m. Wednesday for the "stag" shopping night.

City Sanding All Streets For S-D Day

Police Using New Device to Guide Downtown Walkers

Winona police and the city street department today completed final preparations for the local observance of Safe Driving Day here Wednesday.

Street department crews have been working throughout the day sanding all streets in the city to provide safe driving conditions during the 24-hour period beginning at midnight tonight when Winona will join communities throughout the nation in an effort to eliminate all traffic accidents for one day.

The sanding operations have been in progress in all areas of the city, including Sugar Loaf and streets in the Arthur C. Thurley Homes housing development.

Now Device Used
Chief of Police A. J. Bingold, meanwhile, announced today that a loud-speaker device is being used in the downtown business district to remind all pedestrians of traffic safety practices.

The portable, battery-powered loud speaker was used Monday night to request pedestrians to cross streets only at intersections and to observe pedestrian traffic signals.

Police Sgt. Donald Berg, who operated the device Monday night, said that he had received a number of favorable comments from pedestrians praising the use of the loud-speaker as a measure to stimulate safe walking habits on downtown streets.

Ch. Bingold said that the device will be used throughout the Christmas shopping season to remind pedestrians of safety rules.

Pedestrians Distributed
The chief said that police also have completed the distribution of posters and motor vehicle stickers promoting the Safe Driving Day arranged under the direction of Pres. Eisenhower's committee on traffic safety.

Endorsed by safety organizations and civic groups throughout the nation, the Wednesday program will be directed toward a goal of eliminating all traffic accidents for a 24-hour period.

Another local endorsement of the day has been made. Mrs. D. B. McLaughlin is state safety and health chairman for the Minnesota Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs and is working locally as well as with the clubs throughout the state.

Another endorsement came from Humboldt Lodge 24, Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

City director for the day is Roy K. Carpenter.

Frazee Sailor Indicted for Wife's Murder

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — A Frazee, Minn., sailor whose wife's severed head was found in a field, was indicted for first degree murder Monday.

Petty Officer 1st Class Eugene D. Haas, 26, stationed at the Memphis Naval Air Station, reported his wife, Myrtle, 30, missing about a month before her head was found by two hunters in a field about a mile from the station last Nov. 28.

Haas has denied any connection with his wife's death.

The woman, a daughter of Mrs. Francis H. Chase of Newport, R.I., was an out-patient of the Navy hospital when she disappeared.

No probable trial date was set. Haas has been held without bail since his arrest Nov. 29.

Winona Pilot Tells of Longest Jump

The amazing story of a 15,000-foot parachute jump which took 25 minutes was recounted by Air Force Capt. William J. Garry of Winona at a meeting of Flight "B," 9657th Air Reserve Squadron, at a meeting at the American Legion Club Monday night.

The drop, which may have been the longest in recorded history from that altitude, was made during a terrific electrical and wind storm after Garry had baled out of his F94C all-weather jet interceptor at 11 o'clock at night near Caledonia, Alberta, Canada, last July 8.

Newsman Fights Conviction on Sedition Charge

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A 40-year-old newsman, convicted of advocating sedition was held without bond today while his counsel prepared its motion for a new trial.

A Criminal Court jury returned its verdict against Carl Braden last night and fixed his punishment at 15 years imprisonment and a fine of $5,000.

Braden also was discharged as a copywriter by the Louisville Courier-Journal, where he had been on leave with pay since his indictment.

After the trial, Barry Bingham, president of the Courier-Journal and the Louisville Times, issued this statement:

"This newspaper has gone on the time-honored principles, rooted in our American Constitution, that a man is innocent until proved guilty. His conviction now provides a permanent end to his connection with the Courier-Journal."

Braden's counsel said the motion for a new trial and another for arrest of judgment would be filed Thursday with Judge L. R. Curtis. He must rule on them before bond can be fixed.

If all appeals fail, and Braden is unable to pay all or part of the $5,000 fine, he must serve it out at the rate of $2 a day. His 15-year term would not begin until the full amount of the fine is satisfied.

Under Kentucky law, a person convicted of a felony for the first time becomes eligible for parole after serving a third of his sentence.

In summing up his case, Asst. Commonwealth's Atty. Laurence E. Higgins told the jury it had a simple issue to decide, that "sedition is Communism and Communism is sedition—there is no distinction."

Defense Atty. Robert Zollinger declared the issue was whether "a man has the right to an opinion different from those in his community."

Braden was charged with advocating sedition together with his wife and four other persons, after a Negro's new home in a white subdivision was dynamited last June. The Bradens had purchased the home and transferred the deed to the Negro, Andrew Wade IV.

One of the highlights of the two-week trial came with the last-minute appearance of Mrs. Albert Ahearn, a 44-year-old Louisville seamstress who said she had been working for the FBI as a plant in the Communist cell of which the Bradens were members.

She said she was invited into the Communist party by Braden, paid her dues and contributions to him, and attended meetings in his home.

Braden had testified that he was not and never had been a Communist.

The Bradens and three other persons were indicted separately on charges of attempting to create ill feeling between Negroes and white persons to promote Communism.

Awaiting trial are Mrs. Braden, Vernon Brown, a truck driver accused also of causing the Wade explosion; I. O. Ford, an admitted Communist; and Larus Spiker and Louise Gilbert, former social workers.

The Bradens, Brown, Ford and Lewis Lubka were named in the second indictment charging the Communist plot.

It Happened Last Night Famous Paris Nude Hopes For Successful U.S. Tour

NEW YORK—The famous Paris nude, Yvonne Menard, of the Folies Bergere, hopes that Miami, Las Vegas, Texas, Hollywood and New York will allow her to appear in her usual costume—her skin.

"In Paris, were you completely nude?" I asked during a fully clothed interview.

"I have on ze minimum!" She held up thumb and forefinger to demonstrate the size of her costume.

"And the first time you worked nude, how did you feel?" "Naked!" Madame Menard replied.

Lou Walters of the Latin Quarter, who brought her to the U. S., imagines that in Miami she may be required to wear something—say a head or two. But she will not do a striptease, so she insists.

"I prefer not to bring out the pig in the man," she said.

As star of the Folies Bergere for three years, more of Yvonne was seen by more Americans than any other Paris star. Few Yankees got to meet her. I asked whether Orson Welles came to see her showing her wares.

"Naturalmente!" she laughed. "His big eyes were almost out of their sockets."

"I preferred not to meet them. I wanted to leave them with their dream."

"When I work, I do wear something," she said.

"What?" I asked anxiously. "Bodice! Makeup!" she laughed. Yvonne bundles up in turtle-necks and high-top shoes at home. Posing for pictures here, she became so nervous when she accidentally dropped a shoulder strap, that she wept.

It reminded me of the time I asked Miss Margie Hart, then one of our greatest stripteasers, if she'd accompany me to a nudist camp.

Margie was so insulted, she wouldn't speak to me for days.

CAR TIPS By Al Speltz

(Editor's note: This is another in the series of articles to be published every Tuesday as a service to readers of The Winona Daily News who are interested in automotive maintenance. The author is a certified engine mechanic and contributor to technical magazines.)

FUEL ECONOMY AND OVER-ALL ECONOMY

The second of my two articles on gasoline mileage emphasized the fact that manufacturers have improved automobile performance tremendously without sacrificing fuel economy.

Increased thermal and mechanical efficiency has made possible this improvement.

Keeping fuel consumption down has not, however, been the most important effect of increased efficiency. Durability is often a more important factor when OVER-ALL economy of operation is considered.

Thus, an engine capable of propelling your car 22 miles on a gallon of gasoline, but which requires an overhaul every 25,000 miles, is less economical than one which propels you only 18, but requires an overhaul only every 60,000 miles.

The following data on car life span may surprise you. In 1925, an automobile was about six years old and had traveled about 25,000 miles when it reached the junk yard.

Today's automobile is about 14 years old and has traveled about 125,000 miles when it is scrapped.

The one scrapped in 1925 had been overhauled once. So has the one scrapped today.

No one, of course, would give all the credit for this increased longevity to increased engine efficiency. Nevertheless, increased efficiency has helped in at least two ways.

Increased efficiency, thermal in particular, has reduced tremendously the principal need for engine overhaul—exhaust valve failure.

Because today's more efficient engine can do more work on a gallon of gasoline, it doesn't need to work as hard to propel your automobile 60 miles per hour as did the 1940 engine.

Today's engine makes it easy, in fact, to follow a rule suggested years ago by some automotive engineers: For maximum engine life, "cruising speed should not exceed 60 per cent of maximum speed."

Some of the winds generated by A-bombs move faster than sound.

Legislators Split On Move to Abolish Rail Commission

By JACK B. MACKAY
ST. PAUL (AP)—Members of the new Legislature are split widely over the question of whether to abolish the State Railroad and Warehouse Commission as an elective office.

The "Little Hoover" (Minnesota Efficiency in Government) Commission has recommended transfer of the commission's functions to other agencies, and appointment by the governor of a three-member group to hear appeals and handle rule-making matters.

An Associated Press survey shows that 39 oppose abolition as compared with 55 in favor. It's not likely that such a radical change will succeed when considering the following factors:

(1) The heavy opposition; (2) continued Democratic - Farmer-Labor domination of the commission by a two to one vote; (3) expected control of the House of Representatives by liberals; (4) a new Democratic - Farmer - Labor governor to replace a Republican governor.

No Authority
The Legislature has no authority to abolish any other state elective offices without first amending the state Constitution. The commission is the only state elective officials controlled by the Legislature and not bound by the Constitution.

The new year will find Hjalmar Petersen of Askov (DFL) replacing another DFL'er, Clifford C. Peterson of Minneapolis. Peterson served once before as a commission member and, as lieutenant governor, filled out the term of Gov. Floyd B. Olson upon the death of Olson in 1933.

The other two commission members are E. W. Lund, Duluth, Republican, and Chatfield, DFL. Since Lund spoke out against abolition weeks before his election in 1932, it is expected that all three commissioners will oppose any abolition move.

The "Little Hoover" Commission says there would be more efficiency and economy if the Legislature followed its recommendation to: (1) Transfer weights and measures activities from the commission to the Agriculture Department; (2) transfer bus and truck inspections to the highway patrol; (3) establish a quasi-judicial board within the Department of Commerce to handle the appeals and rate-making matters.

A bill to convert the commission into an appointive body was recommended for passage by the House Civil Administration Committee in the closing weeks of the 1933 Legislature but it failed to progress.

Yes or No Answer
A number of legislators said they felt the matter needed consideration before they would volunteer a "yes" or "no" answer. Rep. Leo D. Mosier of Minneapolis, expected to be chairman of the House appropriations committee if the liberal bloc wins control, said he was undecided but added "the present setup could be reformed in several ways."

Members of the commission, in the past, have taken the position that the present system is necessary for the protection of the public "against unscrupulous persons and utilities who would take advantage of the innocent public." They further contended that the mere shifting of various divisions to other departments or subjecting the commission to control of a Commerce Department head would be far removed from direct responsibility to the public.

Some legislators expressed viewpoints similar to that of Rep. Bill Shovel, St. Paul, who said he'd like to see any substitute proposal before making a decision.

Only Two Per Cent of Mishaps Are Accidents

Less than 2 per cent of the 50,000 mishaps on Minnesota's streets and highways last year were actually accidents, says Earl M. Larimer, state S-D Day director.

"I bring up this important point," he said, "just before S-D Day — Wednesday, Dec. 15 — because too many people, in trying to explain away their involvement in a traffic accident, say that they were blameless and that the accident couldn't be avoided."

He asserts the records show that the vast majority of traffic accidents last year were totally unnecessary and could have been avoided.

"Let me repeat again the eight chief causes of traffic accidents during 1953," he said, "so that everyone will know what was behind more than 80 per cent of last year's mishaps."

He listed the following as prime causes of 42,100 of the total 50,800 traffic accidents last year:

1. Failure to grant right of way at intersections—12,100 accidents.
2. Driving on wrong side of road—4,000.
3. Following too closely behind vehicle ahead—4,100.
4. Disregarding signs and signals—5,800.
5. Improper passing—5,000.
6. Improper turning—8,100.
7. Excessive speed including driving too fast for conditions—6,700.
8. Driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor—2,600.

"If every Minnesotan — motorist and pedestrian alike — will remember one elementary rule," he concluded, "we will not only achieve outstanding results on S-D Day, but every day from now on. That rule is: It isn't what someone else does that matters, it's what you do that counts. One of the first and basic things we can do is to acquire some of the true spirit of Christmas and be considerate of our fellowmen. Give the other motorist or pedestrian a 'break' and you'll not only feel better but you may help prevent an accident. Be a better driver on S-D Day and then continue being one for the rest of your life."

State GOP Failed To Bring Out Vote

Minnesota Republicans would do well to study the official election returns that sent Orville Freeman into the governor's chair and ended the Republican regime that began with Harold E. Stassen's victory in 1938. They would find that Mr. Freeman became governor with a total vote that was 17,000 less than he polled while finishing a poor second two years ago.

The complete 1954 returns give the new governor 697,099 votes, as compared with 624,480 he received in 1952. Yet he won by a margin of more than 68,000.

If they will take a glance at the total recorded for Gov. C. Elmer Anderson, they will find it was 538,865 this year. Two years ago the same candidate polled 785,649.

There is more to these returns than the mere fact it was a so-called "off-year" election. The truth of the matter is that the Democratic-Farmer Labor party put on the kind of campaign that brought its supporters out in strength.

The Republicans didn't.

This was not an "off-year" in Minnesota, despite the fact there was no presidential election. There were nearly 300,000 less votes this year than in 1952, and the Freeman margin indicates more than 200,000 of them were Republican votes. It was an "on year" for the DFL because it saw the opportunity and went out to make the most of it.

It has been said the DFL may be able to retain control of the state government for four, six or even more years, now that victory has been won. But that is largely up to the Republicans. If they put on the kind of campaign they waged this year, there is no telling how long it will be before they see victory again.

Russian Foreign Policy Is Clear

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

NEW YORK — Nothing has been more clear in this troubled world than the Soviet foreign policy. Stalin in his "Leninism" wrote:

"The victory of socialism in one country is not an end in itself; it must be looked upon as a support, as a means for hastening the proletarian victory in every other land. For the victory of the revolution in one country (in Russia, for the nonce) is not only the result of the unusual development and the progressive decay of imperialism; it is likewise the beginning and the continuation of the world revolution."

A most interesting guide to the foreign policy of Soviet Russia and for that matter to the foreign policies of every Soviet state appears in the "Conditions of Admission to the Communist International" (usually called the Third International or Comintern). There are some 21 conditions. I shall quote two:

"3. The class struggle in almost every country of Europe and America is entering the phase of civil war. Under such conditions the Communists can have no confidence in bourgeois laws. They should create everywhere a parallel illegal apparatus, which at the decisive moment should be of assistance to the party to do its duty toward the revolution."

"6. Every party desirous of affiliating to the Third International should renounce not only avowed social patriotism, but also the falsehood and the hypocrisy of social pacifism: It should systematically demonstrate to the workers that without a revolutionary overthrow of capitalism no international arbitration, no talk of disarmament, no democratic reorganization of the League of Nations will be capable of saving mankind from new imperialist wars."

In a document published in 1928, by the Sixth World Congress, the Communists adopted the thesis:

"THE ULTIMATE AIM of the Communist International is to replace world capitalist economy by a world system of Communism. Communist society, the basis for which has been prepared by the whole course of historical development, is mankind's only way out, for it alone can abolish the contradictions of the capitalist system which threaten to degrade and destroy the human race."

Lenin wrote: "The dictatorship of the proletariat is the fiercest, most acute and most merciless war of the new class against the more powerful enemy, against the bourgeoisie, whose resistance is increased tenfold by its overthrow" that "the dictatorship of the proletariat is a persistent struggle—sanguinary and bloodless, violent and peaceful, military and economic, educational and administrative, against the forces and traditions of the old society."

On this thesis Stalin commented: "It need hardly be emphasized that there is not the slightest possibility of accomplishing these tasks in a short period of time, within a few years. We must, therefore, regard the dictatorship of the proletariat, the transition from capitalism to Communism, not as a fleeting period replete with 'super-revolutionary' deeds and decrees, but as an entire historical epoch full of civil wars and external conflicts, of persistent organizational work and economic construction, of attacks and defeats."

IF ONE READS THE paragraphs quoted above, he has a clear picture of a program of world revolution and world conquest not only by a country but by an idea. From this program, neither Soviet Russia nor any Marxist country within the Soviet, Universal State has ever deviated. Every segment of policy has to and does fit into this blueprint.

Edwin O. Reischauer, reviewing a book in the New York Herald Tribune, makes the point that is so generally held in this country:

"However terrible the results of Soviet foreign policy may be, the policy itself can be discerned only vaguely in the dim mirror of the strange double talk of Communist pronouncements and the disjointed record of the Communists' overt acts."

What is so vague? Everything has been clearly set forth for anyone who takes the trouble to read. Their foreign policy is based on this general thesis: The next historic stage is Marxism (the dictatorship of the proletariat, the abolition of class, race, religion, nationality, etc.); the next stage will be accomplished by revolution in every country supported by those nations which have already achieved the destruction of capitalism and the adoption of socialism.

Stassen Urges Ike to Call McCarthy's Bluff

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower got a lot of private advice as to how to handle Joe McCarthy's bitter attack, but he, himself, made up his own mind what to do.

Those who saw Eisenhower in his press conference after McCarthy's barrage never would have guessed how sore Ike was when McCarthy blistered him. White House friends say the President was purple with anger, though he did not say a word.

One of the advisers, foreign aid director Harold Stassen, urged that Ike speak out, name names, and call the score on McCarthy's various phony pronouncements regarding Communism.

Stassen reminded Ike that Dean Acheson, when Secretary of State, had first ignored McCarthy's charges of Communism in the State Department, figuring that the American public would not be taken in by them. But McCarthy's Hitlerian tactic of repeating the same charge over and over again eventually sank home and few people realize today that McCarthy has not named one Communist in the State Department.

Stassen reminded Eisenhower that his administration should not make the same mistake.

The President listened carefully, but decided otherwise.

The President also listened carefully when Republican chairman Leonard Hall discussed the "McCarthy crisis" before Ike met with newsmen last week. Hall, who has leaned toward McCarthy in times past, felt Joe should be appeased and not be permitted to bolt the administration.

But Eisenhower did not appear overly impressed with chairman Hall's discussion. He listened, but did not even tell Len what he intended to do.

Sec. of the Treasury Humphrey, returning from the Inter-American Conference in Rio de Janeiro, told friends:

"If I were only 25 years old, I would go to Brazil by the next boat, working my way if necessary, and I guarantee you by the time I was 40, I would be a millionaire."

Humphrey's brief trip to South America convinced him that Latin America is on the threshold of phenomenal industrial development. He suggests that, if American businessmen are wise, they will put more investment dollars south of the border than in other parts of the world.

The economic progress of some of these nations, Humphrey says privately, will amaze the world in the next 20 years.

The House Committee on Un-American Activities will soon publish a sensational, but tragic, report on "Neo-Fascist and Hate Groups," a subject the committee has ignored for almost 10 years.

Communism, during that period, offered better headlines.

The report singles out the National Renaissance party for possible prosecution under the Smith Act, and also blasts the hate-mongering paper "Common Sense." This is the first official suggestion for applying the anti-subversion statute to a Fascist group during the act's 15-year history.

The committee found that "the program and propaganda of the National Renaissance party is virtually borrowed wholesale from the Fascist and Nazi dictators."

The Little Hitler in charge is a "young fanatic," James H. Madole, of 10 W. 90th St., New York City, whose sneering boast is that "what Hitler accomplished in Europe, the National Renaissance party shall yet accomplish in America."

The party is replete with a "uniformed elite guard in the 'Nazi style' the report goes on, though a bolt of lightning has replaced the swastika as the party symbol.

Advice on Health

Diagnosing Peptic Ulcer Easy Matter

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Diagnosing a peptic ulcer is a simple matter for a physician. Moreover, most people can usually tell, themselves, when they have developed an ulcer. The symptoms are typical.

Let me caution you, however, never to diagnose your own illness, no matter what it may be. Always consult your doctor.

I don't have to tell any of you who have had an ulcer that the outstanding symptom is pain, usually located over the pit of the stomach. It may be only mild discomfort, or it may be sharp and severe. Patients usually say that it feels like a steady hunger pain.

Seldom is the pain felt before breakfast. Instead, it develops during the day, from one to four hours after eating. Sometimes it is so severe at night that it wakes you.

Operates on Cysto This painful attack seems to work in cycles. The symptoms may last for several days or even several months. Then there may be a period of complete relief ranging up to several months.

Don't let this absence of pain fool you into believing that you have conquered your ulcer. You can't do it without a proper diet and proper medical advice.

Constipation, heart burn, belching and bloating are also symptoms of peptic ulcers. Occasionally, you may be sick to your stomach, vomit, or have excessive saliva. Loss of appetite, loss of weight and anemia can also mean you have a peptic ulcer.

Unfortunately, an ulcer can stick with you for a long time. Symptoms may be present for six or seven years, or even longer, before the ulcer is diagnosed. You needn't suffer pain that long, however, if you eat and rest properly and get competent medical advice.

If you have an ulcer, chances are that I could find nothing wrong with you in a physical examination except a localized area of pain when I pressed on the sore spot. This pain usually is so sharply circumscribed that the sensitive spot can be located with a single finger tip.

Use of X-Ray In 95 per cent of the cases, an ulcer can be detected by a X-ray examination. If the ulcer cannot be seen by the X-ray equipment, other indications such as spasm of the first part of the intestine, or duodenal, are usually disclosed.

When the acute symptoms of the ulcer have subsided, a second X-ray examination will usually show the ulcer itself. After the patient drinks a mixture containing barium, the X-rays show the ulcer as a little niche in the stomach or bowel.

Given proper treatment and care, that little niche won't bother you much.

QUESTION AND ANSWER P.E.D.: My son, five and one-half years old, yawns all day long. Could it be due to his enlarged tonsils, or is it just a habit?

Answer: Continued yawning in a child is a condition which requires thorough investigation. It may be due to some disorder of the nervous system. It is also possible that it may be due to habit. It is not caused by large tonsils.

Thorough careful study is needed to find the cause before proper treatment could be advised by the physician.

reasons the committee gave for the trip: That the base is 55 miles from the nearest settlement. "They must think we're a bunch of cowboys and Indians," said Hass, who lives about 11 miles from the base, along with about 5,000 other residents.

Ike Charting Course For Nation in 1955

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—These are the days, fairly quiet for Washington after the storms of 1954, when President Eisenhower charts the course for the ship of state in the troubled waters of 1955.

His success in steering the ship next year and the year after will probably influence his own decision on running again and the Republican party's chances in the 1956 elections.

Yet, since the Democrats control Congress next year, Eisenhower is in the ironic political position of having to depend on them in large part for keeping on the course he wants to follow.

Eisenhower set aside yesterday and today for conferences with the congressional leaders of both parties on the program he will lay down in his State of the Union message to Congress when it returns in January.

In these two days he explains his ideas on both domestic and foreign policy — such as taxes, statehood for Hawaii, lowering the voting age to 18, money for defense, foreign aid — and then writes his message.

Troubles Begin

It is after he reads the message that his troubles begin anew.

Keeping the Communists abroad from grabbing another piece of real estate will be his biggest worry. And trying to get along with some of America's allies may, at times, not add to his peace of mind.

In the meantime he'll have plenty to do handling American politicians at home.

It's a rare day in Congress when Democrats and Republicans vote solidly along strict party lines for or against anything. On almost every issue there is a shifting of at least a few votes.

For that reason — and because the Democrats' majority is extremely thin — the shift of a few votes either way may mean the difference for Eisenhower's program, piece by piece.

So he will need the help of Democrats and Republicans alike to get any of his program through. But the Democrats, because of their control of the committees, can be a major help or hindrance.

The committees not only examine the pieces of his program but can pigeonhole, reject, approve or change them before putting them in the form of bills sent up to the full House and Senate for final vote.

The Democrats talk of going along with Eisenhower on what is good for the country. But their ideas and his on what is good may not always be the same.

The fate of Eisenhower's party may depend more on what happens within Republican ranks. Even though his program went through, intraparty fights could wreck the party's next election hopes.

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), one of the Eisenhower administration's most constant critics the past two years, is in temporary eclipse of his own choosing. He's away resting, after openly criticizing Eisenhower.

He'll be back, minus some of the support he had before the break. Being McCarthy, and having made the break, he will hardly return like a sheep to the fold.

Before the 1956 Republican convention and the election that year McCarthy may be in total eclipse. But if he retains a following he may make double trouble for the Republicans.

1. By filling the voters with discontent with the whole Republican setup.

2. By having, or trying to have, a voice or veto on what the Republicans do at their next party convention in adopting a platform and picking a presidential candidate.

McCarthy may be only a minor annoyance to Eisenhower. Sen. Knowland, almost surely the party's minority leader next year, could split the Republicans down the middle if he continues to go off in an opposite direction from Eisenhower on foreign policy in Asia.

Time Nibbles At Greenwich Village Lore

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Sidewalk reflections of a pavement Plato: "Save Greenwich Village!"

This anguished cry has arisen again, as it does at least once a year.

Progress just won't let Greenwich Village alone. Nobody ever suggests moving the Statue of Liberty to the Bronx or tearing down Brooklyn Bridge.

But time and change are always nibbling away at old Greenwich Village, which is in some ways a real civic landmark and in other ways is just an attitude of mind.

The acres of the moment are the members of the City Planning Commission. The site they have selected for a new junior high school playground in the village may require the razing of three of the most picturesque old dwellings in the Bedford Street area.

Residents have rushed to the ramparts anew with the old cry, "Save Greenwich Village!"

Whether they win or lose this particular battle, the partisans appear to be fighting for a lost cause in their long campaign to keep Greenwich Village intact from the inroads of the Philistines.

It seems a real shame, too. What the cable car is to San Francisco, what the French Quarter is to New Orleans, Greenwich Village is to New York City—a symbol of the past amid the bustle of today.

Throughout the nation Greenwich Village has a legendary reputation as the Palm Beach of Bohemianism and the Coney Island of the long-haired intelligentsia.

It really hasn't lived up to that flamboyant reputation for some time now, not since the end of prohibition spelled the death of the speakeasy.

Greenwich Village is no longer the home of so many fabulous transients in Arcady. The people who dwell there work harder than they play. But there are few communities in the world more pleasant to live in, few that can match its easygoing atmosphere of warmth and friendliness.

Merely to stroll through the crazy-quilt pattern of Greenwich Village's old streets is a silent encouragement. There are few places in America more interesting to walk in.

Year by year, nibble by nibble, the old Greenwich Village is being eaten away. Down with the old buildings, up with the new. And as it crumbles before the hammer of progress, something is being lost that is worth saving—a distinctive patch of the American past that can never be replaced.

Housing Scandal Charges Toned Down in Report

By ROWLAND EVANS JR.
WASHINGTON (U)—Charges that irregularities in government housing programs constituted the "worst" scandal in United States history and yielded builders a billion dollars in "windfall" profits reportedly have been stripped from a Senate Banking Committee report now awaiting publication.

Sources close to the committee said this was done after banking group Democrats balked at signing the report as originally written.

But these informants also said that, despite agreement by committee Republicans to tone down certain portions of the long report, at least some Democrats probably will insist on filing a separate statement spelling out their disagreement with other majority findings.

Democrats have been given until tomorrow to offer additional proposals for altering the report, which now is scheduled for public distribution next Monday. It was understood the Democrats have had a draft of the report for a month.

As originally written, the report on the committee's eight-month investigation of certain Federal Housing Administration operations reportedly opened with a flat charge that "windfall" profits reaped by builders in a postwar apartment program totaled one billion dollars.

The opening paragraph also was said to have claimed no previous scandal, including that of the Teapot Dome in the Harding administration and the Reconstruction Finance Corp. scandals during the Truman administration approached the housing irregularities in scope. The Banking Committee's housing probe—paralleled by similar investigations by the Justice Department and by FHA's parent, the Housing and Home Finance Agency—began last April.

The alleged irregularities involved both the apartment construction program and a home improvement program, both of which used federal insurance of private loans.

The home improvement program still is in operation, but the apartment building program ended during the Truman administration. The Banking Committee probe centered for the most part on the apartment program.

The latest version of the report, it was understood, does not attempt to estimate the full extent of windfall profits, but simply lists more than 100 specific cases, out of a total of 7,000 in the apartment program, in which sponsors or builders got insured loans 149 million dollars greater in all than construction costs.

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—Town of Pigeon electors voted 80 to 17 Saturday against an order of the town board of Nov. 1, laying out a highway to the James Hagen farm in Daggett Coulee.

Published notice of the hearing stated "this highway requires the construction of a bridge. The cost of such bridge has been estimated by the state highway commission to cost $5,000. Because of this estimated cost it is necessary that the order laying the highway be submitted to the voters of the town for their approval or disapproval."

Hagen and others petitioned the board last fall to lay out and maintain the highway to his farm land. Failing to get immediate results, Hagen, by his attorney, Floren Hegge, Whitehall, issued a writ of mandamus against the board, arguing that according to law, any land that had been dedicated to public highway use for more than 20 years is under the law a public highway, and that this particular road had been open to the public for more than 20 years.

The board issued an order to lay out the road as a public highway but because of the estimated cost, the order was not final. In county court before Judge A. L. Twesme late in November Hegge contended that Hagen was entitled to an immediate determination whether the road in question is a public highway.

La Vern Kostner of Fugina, Kostner, Quinn & Ward, Arcadia, appearing for the town board, argued that because of the town order, the court should continue the matter until the electors had an opportunity to vote. In granting continuance of the mandamus action Judge Twesme ordered an early special meeting.

Henry Paulson, chairman of the town board, presided at the meeting Saturday. Kostner explained the bridge construction. Hegge pointed out that under the statutes, the town would have to pay only 50 per cent of the cost of the bridge, the county paying the other half of construction; that another meeting would have to be held to appropriate the money if the special meeting approved it, and took the position that a bridge so expensive was not necessary.

Excessive rains have made the maintenance of this highway more difficult and costly this year, prompting the mandamus action, which is still before the court. If the electors had voted approval of the order the court action would automatically have been canceled.

Draft Ike in '56, Hagerty Tells GOP

WASHINGTON (U)—James C. Hagerty says the Republicans should draft his boss President Eisenhower to run for re-election in 1956 as "the best man suited and needed at this time... to guide the affairs of our nation."

Any other course for the GOP "would be foolhardy," said Hagerty, the White House press secretary, on a radio program last night.

In response to a question, he said he assumes "there are quite a few people" in the Republican party capable of leading the GOP on the "progressive moderate" line to which Eisenhower has said his program is keyed, but he said he thinks "there is no one as qualified" as Eisenhower.

Hawk Has More Lives Than Cat

LOS ANGELES (U)—A taxidermist has the toughest hawk that Mrs. Helen Moxley has ever come across.

It swooped against a window of her mountaintop home yesterday, trying to attack a pair of her parakeets. Stunned by the blow, the big bird fell 50 feet below. Mrs. Moxley went after it, noticed it was still alive and shot it with an air rifle. She picked it up and the hawk sank its talons into her arm. She choked it, placed it in her aviary and called the taxidermist.

When she looked again the bird was very much alive. She recanted and fed it. When the taxidermist came, she turned the live bird over to him.

Producer's Child Saved as Home Burns

WEST LOS ANGELES, Calif. (U)—The 3-year-old daughter of film producer William Wellman was rescued yesterday when fire roared through the second floor of his $200,000 mansion.

Other members of the family, including the Wellmans' six other children, were away at the time. The nurse, Hilda Gremmel, smelled smoke, ran to the room of little Margaret and carried her down the back stairs.

The flames apparently originated in the master bedroom, firemen said, and destroyed Christmas presents and clothes of Mr. and Mrs. Wellman.

Cpl. Dickenson Carries Case to Court of Appeals

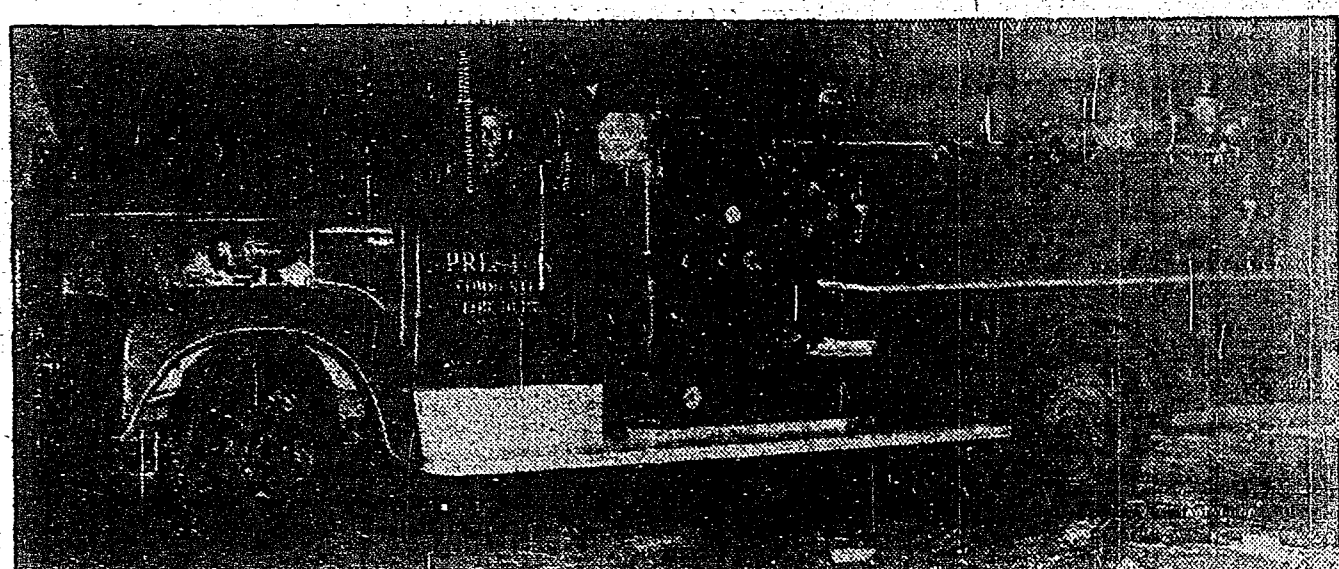

WASHINGTON (AP)—Army. Cpl. Edward S. Dickenson, facing 10 years in prison for collaborating with the Communist enemy in Korea, today pinned his hopes for freedom on a lesser sentence on the Court of Military Appeals.

Dickenson's lawyer Guy Emery announced yesterday that a three-man Army board of review had upheld the 23-year-old soldier's court-martial conviction and the prison sentence. The Army later confirmed the review board's action.

Emery said the case would be carried to the U.S. Court of Military Appeals, a civilian body.

Dickenson of Cracker's Neck, Va., was court-martialed last spring after he had changed his mind about staying with the Communists in Korea and had returned to U.S. control. He is now held in an Army stockade at New Cumberland, Pa.

Emery said the Army review board unanimously affirmed five of six charges grouped under a general count alleging that Dickenson collaborated with his Red captors to win favored treatment for himself. The lawyer said the board dropped one charge that Dickenson signed and circulated petitions criticizing the United States for

New Congress Will Take Up Rule Changes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Republican Leader Knowland said Monday proposed changes in rules for Senate investigating committees "undoubtedly will be taken up" early in the next session of Congress.

He said in an interview there appears to be a general feeling among senators that "some rules changes are necessary and desirable."

Various proposals to establish "a code of fair procedures" for investigating committees were offered during the past session of Congress, but no action was taken on them.

In part they grew out of the McCarthy-Army row and other controversies revolving around Sen. McCarthy's handling of the Senate Investigations Subcommittee.

Democrats will control the new Congress, and Knowland said it will take "a high degree of cooperation" between the parties to effect any rules changes.

But he said that if this is achieved and if the subject is taken up early enough, he believed rules changes could be adopted. He did not commit himself to any specific changes.

The special bipartisan committee which recommended censure of McCarthy also urged four rules changes which it said would have prevented "much of the criticism against investigative committee hearings."

A Senate Rules Subcommittee under the chairmanship of Sen. Jenner (R-Ind.) held extensive hearings earlier in the year on proposals for fair investigating procedures. Jenner said several weeks ago a report would be ready by the time the new Congress convenes.

Warrant Charging Murder Upcoming On Alabama Official

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—Alabama officers here awaited a certified copy of a grand jury indictment they need to serve a fugitive warrant on their state's attorney general.

The official, Silas Garrett III, is a central figure in the Phenix City, Ala., cleanup. He is in a Galveston hospital, where doctors say he is "too ill to be moved."

The Galveston News quoted an attorney, who declined to permit use of his name, as saying the warrant charged first-degree murder.

Asst. Galveston County Atty. Jack Callahan said Sheriff Lamar Murphy of Russell County, Ala., was refused a fugitive warrant Saturday because he lacked a certified copy of the indictment. Callahan said he understood the copy is coming by plane.

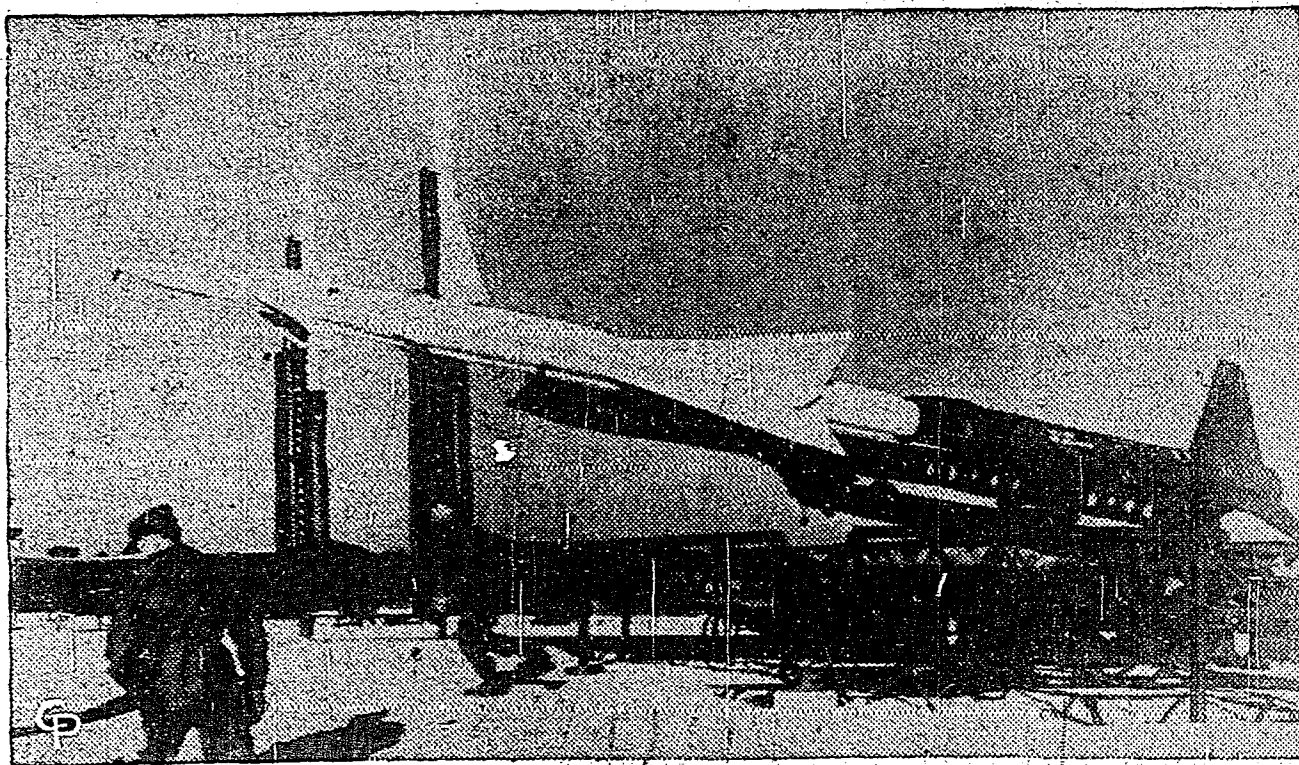

Two persons are under arrest in the murder last June 18 of the nominee for Alabama attorney general, Albert L. Patterson, who crusaded against vice. They are a former chief deputy sheriff, Albert Fuller, and a suspended prosecuting attorney, Arch Ferrell.

A third indictment was returned in the case, but the name of the accused person won't be disclosed until he is arrested.

Callahan refused to say what the Alabama indictment charges. He said that Alabama state law forbids making public the name of an indicted man before he is arrested and "it is up to the Alabama officers to say."

The Alabama officers were close-mouthed.

Sheriff Murphy said he merely was in Galveston on a "pleasure trip." The men who were with him declined to give their names.

Mental Health Program Popular With Legislators

By JACK B. MACKAY

ST. PAUL (AP)—The next Legislature is almost certain to appropriate funds to build a new hospital for mentally retarded children, if a poll of the lawmakers means anything.

By a ratio of seven to one, members of the 1955 Legislature, replying to an Associated Press questionnaire, said they favor constructing a hospital. Sixty-two legislators favor prompt construction as compared with only nine against.

The survey also shows that, by a margin of three to one, the legislators favor appropriation of more funds for Minnesota's overall mental health program. The vote was 54 to 17.

The long-standing controversy over a new hospital for mentally deficient children, one that has plagued legislatures over a period of years, often brought accusations by mental health groups that the solons were "playing politics with human misery."

Chief argument for the new building has been that it will care for more than 700 mentally deficient children now on the waiting list for admission to state institutions, and that a hospital large enough will relieve overcrowding at other state institutions.

Cost of a new hospital is estimated at $15,382,000, on the basis of plans already approved by the State Executive Council a month ago. Stumbling block in past sessions, even though the legislators went on record in favor of a new building, has been failure to approve funds to finance construction.

The Department of Administration has purchased a site southeast of Brainerd under authority of the last Legislature, which appropriated $125,000 for purchase of land and for preparation of plans for a new hospital. When the financing problem is raised in the new Legislature, it is likely that moves will be made to locate the hospital at a site other than Brainerd.

A wide variety of reasons were given for favoring additional funds to care for the mentally ill.

Rep. A. F. Oberg, Lindstrom, a leader in the conservative faction, said that more funds are needed to "take care of additional patients properly by furnishing increased services."

Sen. H. M. Carr, Proctor, a power in the minority bloc, said that an increase in salaries of employees would tend to secure steady and well qualified people in the mental hospitals. He also believes more research is necessary.

In the opinion of Sen. Raphael Salmore, Stillwater, the key to mental health recovery is the availability of more competent help. Agreeing with him was Rep. Bill Shovel, St. Paul, who also suggested better physical facilities. Some additional funds for outpatient clinics was suggested by Rep. Howard Ottinger, Chaska, who has served several times as chairman of the House Welfare Committee.

Rep. H. P. (Pat) Goodin, Minneapolis, said he favors appropriating additional funds if existing conditions can be improved so that mental patients will have a better opportunity to recover.

Rep. O. L. Johnson, McGregor, said he favors more medical care and treatment for new patients.

Sen. Harold W. Schultz, St. Paul, selected as the leader of the minority group in the upper House, went on record for more funds "particularly for research, treatment, social services, etc."

Rep.-elect Willard M. Munger, Duluth, recommended establishment of a more comprehensive rehabilitation followup program for mental patients. Another newcomer, Rep.-elect Floyd R. Anderson of Duluth, said additional money is needed for research and clinics.

275 Hunters Fail To Locate Wolf

PLANO, Tex. (AP)—Mr. Wolf outfoxed the hunters Sunday.

They went after him 275 strong in a search plotted and staged with military precision. They shot up the countryside.

The bag: Two foxes, two owls, a squirrel and around a dozen rabbits. No wolves.

Timber wolves have been killing sheep around Plano, 18 miles northeast of Dallas. A half dozen farmers have lost 10 to 25 head the past year and a half. The hunters, mostly from Dallas, heard about it and organized an assault.

The day broke chill and cloudy, and they assembled at the Miller & Son feed store here. Many crossed the street to Murrell's Hardware to buy shotgun shells. Roy Murrell came down to open up for the event.

In the feed store, farmers John Merriman and Dexter Prince studied a penciled map of the area and plotted strategy. "We'll cross Albritton's Bottom, then go up here," Prince suggested. Outside, he told the milling hunters, "One last statement—you are going at your own risk."

A couple of miles north of town, the hunters lined up in a large open field and, at a rifle shot signal, started off through oaks, elms and hackberries in a long, straggling file. The hunt took up most of the morning.

They saw lots of critters. A cottontail leaped into view and, as guns blasted, zig-zagged off in terror. This one escaped. Moments later, however, the only woman along—Mrs. Joseph App, of Dallas—shot a rabbit. Reed Hoover shot both owls.

Several said they got shots at

Kohler Supports Ike in Dispute With McCarthy

BARCELONA, Spain (AP)—Gov. Kohler of Wisconsin has given his support to Pres. Eisenhower in the chief executive's dispute with Sen. McCarthy, Wisconsin's junior Republican senator.

Kohler, here for a private visit and vacation, said Saturday, "as for McCarthy's accusation against Pres. Eisenhower... I think it was plain senseless." He continued:

"I often have disagreed with the senator over many of his political points of view."

"I back his fight against Communism but it does not mean I agree with him in all details of a fight."

Kohler, also a Republican, asked what his position would have been had he been in Washington when the Senate condemned McCarthy's actions on two counts, said:

"I would have studied everything carefully, but I think I would have joined those who opposed McCarthy." He said that in his opinion McCarthy's attitude means only "a little and unimportant division within the Republican party."

Kohler arrived here from France and expects to visit Valencia, Andalusia and Madrid before returning to Wisconsin. He said he plans to be back home Dec. 23.

School Board Makes Change In Classification

The designation of the director of vocational education as a member of the public schools administrative staff rather than as an instructor was approved Monday night by the Board of Education.

With only one member dissenting, the board voted the change in the classification of Vocational Director John Fuhlbrugge on grounds that his duties—he does not instruct any classes at the present time—belonged more in an administrative category than instructional.

Third Ward Director William A. Lindquist was the lone dissenter. He said that he believed that the action was too general and that there was no specific problem to be dealt with at the present time.

"You do not know all of the implications that might arise from an action like this," Lindquist explained, "and I like to take actions, rather, on particular problems."

There was some discussion as to whether the change in classification would mean that Fuhlbrugge would automatically be removed from the teachers salary schedule and his salary determined by individual board consideration.

Board President Carol Svensson acknowledged that "salary of course is implied," but supporters of the motion held that the vocational director would not be taken off the schedule automatically with the action.

Shop Ventilation
Several matters regarding the construction of the new addition to the Senior High School building were discussed during the session.

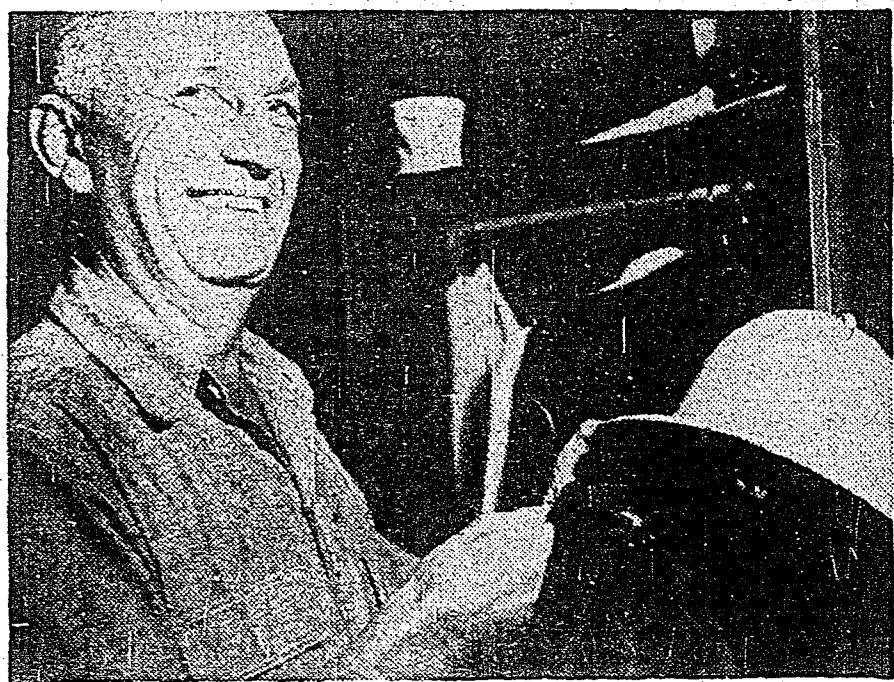

Long considered has been the ventilation of the welding shop in the new addition where complaints had been received that gasses from welding operations were not being removed as efficiently as possible and that some members of the adult night class in welding had dropped the course because of that reason.

Last week Edwin Eckert, a representative of the architectural firm of Schubert, Sorensen & Associates drafted a suggested plan for the addition of another fan in the area to increase the efficiency of the ventilating system.

Monday night, however, Eckert discovered another approach to the problem.

During a visit to the shop areas, Eckert said, he found that persons using the adjacent auto mechanics shop were in the habit of turning off the ventilating unit during the evening hours.

He said that in turning off this unit the ventilating process in the

Capt. Frank Breza stows away his equipment as he begins his retirement after nearly 24 years service in the Winona fire department. During the past two years he has been assigned as a captain at the West End Station. (Daily News photo)

West End Fire Station Captain Begins Retirement

Capt. Frank Breza, who has served under three fire chiefs during his tour of duty, retires this week from the Winona fire department after nearly 24 years service, almost 14 of them at the West End station.

Now 50, Breza joined the department May 19, 1931, shortly before the death of Chief Wise C. Norton.

He was stationed at the Central firehouse for six years before his transfer to the West End station where he served for 12 years. He was assigned as a driver during his last two years of the first stint at West End.

Back to Central
He returned early in 1948 as a captain at the Central station under former Chief Herbert Putnam and began duty in his present post May 1, 1952.

Capt. Breza, who ranks ninth in seniority in the department, is married, has one daughter and lives at 177 No. Baker St.

Although his retirement officially becomes effective Thursday morning, Capt. Breza actually worked his last shift Monday since today and Wednesday are his regular off-days.

One of the area's foremost trappers, he will devote much of his spare time to trapping, hunting and fishing during his retirement and expects to accept employment in another position in the near future.

welding shop was reduced sharply in efficiency and that by turning on the ventilating system in the auto mechanics area the welding shop ventilation was increased substantially.

Eckert suggested that steps be taken to make sure that the ventilating unit is placed in operation and observe whether this improves conditions in the welding shop.

If the auto mechanics people feel that the ventilating unit causes drafts in their shop, he added, adjustments probably can be made to improve the situation.

The board agreed to study the problem further before taking any action.

Also discussed was noise complained of from water coolers lo-

Reviewing almost a quarter of a century of duty in the department, Capt. Breza said that one of his greatest thrills was the expression of thanks offered by the parents of two boys who he helped save from possible drowning during the 1952 spring flood here.

The two teen-agers were marooned for several hours when flood waters broke through the Prairie Island dike and swept away the car in which they had been riding.

Arrow Tried
A rescue party hit upon the plan of shooting an arrow, to which a light string was attached, across the break in the dike to the area on which the boys were standing.

It was hoped that the boys might grasp the string, then a heavy rope would be attached to the string and this could be pulled across the gap by the boys.

Capt. Breza was known to have a bow and arrow outfit and was called out at 2 a.m. to participate in the rescue attempt which failed when heavy winds whipped the arrow into the flood waters.

Capt. Breza and another former fire captain, Ralph Sexton, then directed the stringing of a telephone wire across the open water and in a short time the youths were rescued.

"The next day their parents came over to the house and I think their words and actions thrilled me more than anything that has ever happened to me while I've been in the department," he said.

cated in the Senior High School cafeteria.

Board members were told that the cafeteria supply firm which made the installation is making plans to change the compressors in the unit and the matter was referred to the architect with no action by the board.

The board authorized Business Manager Oscar Glover to request an annual cash audit of board finances by the state public examiner's office for the 1954-55 fiscal year.

Mailing Begins Christmas Spurt

Christmas mailing moved into high gear here Monday with a total of 44,641 cancellations recorded on all types of mail processed through the Winona Post Office.

Total to date, since Dec. 7, is 147,998 cancellations, compared with 125,118 for the same period a year ago. (Dec. 13 was a Sunday last year.) The day-by-day tabulation for the same period, a Monday through Monday total, shows 1955 with a higher total at 173,100 than 1954, mainly due to an unusually light Sunday this year. There were only 7,705 cancellations.

In 1952, the figure for the Dec. 7-13 period was 121,365.

Acting Postmaster C. B. Erwin said that cancellations were heavy again this morning.

Sheriff Recount Report Not Filed

CALEDONIA, Minn. — Official word was awaited here today on the outcome of a recount of general election ballots for Houston County sheriff.

Three tabulators, one for each principal and a neutral, completed the recount Friday night. Attorneys for the two men must compile the figures and submit reports to District Court Judge Karl Finkelnburg, Winona. He will make the final ruling.

Incumbent Sheriff Beryl Kerrigan, who has served two 4-year terms, asked for the recount following his defeat by Clarence Vetsch, La Crescent constable. It is understood that reports are being made by attorneys, Milton Kludt, La Crescent, who represented Vetsch and Thomas Flynn, Houston, who represented Kerrigan.

Flynn is currently at the Frank Freese negligent homicide trial in La Crosse. This may take most of the week. Judge Finkelnburg is presiding over Wabasha County District Court, Wabasha. Secretaries for the two attorneys are typing the reports and when completed they will be signed by the tabulators, Lyle Briggs, Houston, O. J. Strand and William Daley, Caledonia, and given to the judge for study. His conclusion will settle the matter.

Vetsch defeated Kerrigan by 77 votes Nov. 2, 3,371 to 3,294.

Is Winona Left-Handed?

This may interest a few baseball managers around the country: Winona, proportionately, has more left-handed children than most communities in the United States.

The information was passed on to members of the Board of Education by Superintendent of Schools Harvey D. Jensen at Monday night's board meeting.

Jensen said that a survey has revealed that 322 left-handers are enrolled in the public schools here at the present time.

The figure runs as high as 12.8 per cent of the enrollment at the Central Junior High School. Jensen said, adding that the national average is only 4 per cent.

The superintendent said that efforts are being directed toward perfecting instruction of left-handed writers rather than changing them to right-handed writing.

Belated Party Honors Birthday Of Harry Truman

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The slender, little man watched the movie through his silver-framed glasses, seemingly unaware that hundreds of eyes in the room were glued on his face rather than the screen.

It was a belated birthday party for former President Harry S. Truman—a dinner also arranged to raise money for his favorite project, the erection of a library at Independence, Mo., to house the records of his eight years in the White House.

The birthday celebration yesterday was months late because an operation had forced a postponement. But the guest of honor showed few, if any, signs of ill health.

A motion picture of the highlights of his presidential career was shown the dinner guests. It showed Truman being sworn in as President after the death of Franklin D. Roosevelt. Then the scene shifted to a closeup of Truman announcing that a terrible new weapon had been used on the Japanese—the atom bomb. The man at the head table seemed to watch this scene with greater intensity than ever.

The screen next showed Truman Winston Churchill and Josef Stalin at Yalta—one of the historic conferences of the Truman administration.

Finally, there was a shot of Truman with some of his military leaders, including Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

There was a ripple of applause, but those who started it seemed to realize quickly they were there to honor another President. The clapping faded and died.

The movie ended, the ballroom lights were turned back on and, after an introduction, the former President arose to speak briefly of his library project, what it would mean to students, historians and the public.

But it was an anticlimax. A man making a speech is a practiced spectacle.

The man who had sat there in the partially darkened ballroom watching his day of glory unfold on the screen had been going through a scene unheeded and unaware it was being witnessed.

Reds Push Indochina Conquest

By JOSEPH ALSOP

SAIGON, Viet Nam—For once in a way, there is some truth in Communist propaganda.

The Viet Minh radio constantly denounces the South Vietnamese government here in Saigon as a mere shadow of a shadow, and that, for the time being at least, is exactly what it is. If South Viet Nam can be said to have a government at all at present, it is the underground government of the Viet Minh.

In this rich, fantastically corrupt city, where the same gangsters who run the gambling, the prostitution and the opium dens also wear the uniforms of the police, you do not get many echoes of the real state of affairs in the Vietnamese countryside. Life goes on in Saigon as though the fate of Hanoi were something that had happened on another planet.

Reds Taking Over

Yet the really important political process in Southern Indochina is not the dreary round of intrigue among the Communist Viet Nam political leaders in Saigon. It is, rather, the progressive take over of the rest of South Viet Nam by the Communists.

Under the terms of the Geneva agreement, of course, the Viet Minh forces were to evacuate South Viet Nam, just as the French forces were to evacuate the North. The Communists regulars, which formerly held four large areas here in the South, are indeed being moved out as promised. But Communist cadres are being left behind.

More important still, the Geneva agreement and the subsequent transfer of authority to the Vietnamese left an almost total power vacuum in huge areas which the Communists did not formerly hold. Because of its quarrel with the army, and because of its own inherent weakness too, the government of President Ngo Dinh Diem has hardly attempted to govern.

Viet Minh Established

Hence it has been only too easy for the Viet Minh to send their cadres out into the provinces and to establish themselves in village after village. "Committees to defend the peace" are organized and become the real village governments. After these come "committees to defend the interests of the peasants and workers," which are the Viet Minh disguised courts, and innumerable women's organizations, youth organizations and the like which are instruments of propaganda.

The villagers see no other real authority that reaches down to them. Both villagers and townspeople have been deeply impressed by the Viet Minh victory at Dienbienphu and all its volcanic sieges. They would tend in any case to regard the Viet Minh as the wave of the future. And since there is no counter effort to balance the work of the Viet Minh cadres, village after village passes into Viet Minh control.

The estimates vary as to how far this process has gone already. But the examples cited plainly suggest that it has gone very far indeed. For instance at Ben Tri Col. Leroy, a French officer who is a high-ranking Vietnamese, formerly ruled a province that was celebrated for its immunity to Communist penetration. By imaginative reform and by organizing at the village level, Col. Leroy achieved positive, solid anti-Communist unity among his people. Then Col. Leroy was transferred. Geneva left a vacuum at Ben Tri as elsewhere. And today, among Ben Tri's hundreds of villages there are reported to be less than a score which still have the "Council of Notables" which is the Saigon government's instrument of village administration. In most of the rest, "Peace Committees" rule.

Visits Rubber Plantations

A few days ago, this reporter visited the rubber planting region near the Cambodian border. Here the big plantations had fortified themselves, created small armies, and carried on rubber production right through the civil war. Immediately after Geneva, however, Viet Minh guerrillas entered the villages of the rubber workers.

Today, one of the biggest plantations is already under effective Viet Minh control, with the French manager running the plantation through the Viet Minh leader—with excellent production results, incidentally. The other planters were not prepared to submit in this manner, but they frankly said it was only "a matter of weeks" before the Viet Minh would be deeply entrenched as the real government of their region.

There is no violence on the surface. Life goes on as usual, or rather better than usual, for the rubber planters and their families no longer wear revolvers and carry submachine guns to their swimming pool on Sundays. But every day there is a new sign, such as the recent arrest of the father-in-law of the present foreign minister of South Viet Nam for joining in founding a peace committee here in Saigon.

The signs all point the same way, towards the creation of an effective though underground government of South Viet Nam by the Communists. The end is not yet. A strong and efficient non-Communist government, working closely with the Vietnamese army, re-establishing authority in the countryside, carrying out the needed reforms could still halt and roll back the process of Communist penetration. But there is very little time and as these words are written no such non-Communist government is in sight.

Uranium-Powered Engine Project In Denver Denied

DENVER (AP)—Wilson McCarthy, president of the Denver & Rio Grande Western Railroad, denied yesterday the D&RGW is building a uranium-powered locomotive in its Denver shops.

The Grand Junction Daily Sentinel said in a story "the entire project, being done under Army and Atomic Energy Commission contract, is locked up in secrecy tighter than Ft. Knox. But now and then a hint or two leaks out of the security doors."

McCarthy, asked for comment, also said:

"Ray McBrien, chief of the Rio Grande research department, for the past two years has been working on the possibility of utilizing atomic energy in running diesel electric locomotives but to date he and his associates have not launched any project."

Hotel Is Favorite Spot for Firemen

BOULDER, Colo. (AP)—If it weren't for the Boulderado Hotel, life would be pretty dull for Boulder firemen.

On Nov. 12 the department answered its second call in four days to put out a minor blaze at the hotel in this city of 25,000. It didn't receive another alarm until Sunday.

That was to quench a small fire in a coal pile, wood boxes and rubbish at the Boulderado Hotel.

Hoover Says FBI Would Not Curb Debates

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—John Edgar Hoover, Federal Bureau of Investigation director, says the FBI "would never engage in any activity which might result in stifling academic freedom."

Hoover so declared in a letter to Bob Lawrence, editor of the University of New Mexico Lobo, school newspaper.

The subject of this year's national collegiate debate is whether the United States should extend diplomatic recognition to the Communist government of China. The Lobo had quoted Dr. Wayne C. Eubank, president of Tau Kappa Alpha, honorary debating fraternity, as saying college debaters had been warned they may have their names included in FBI "raw files" for upholding the question in debates.

"I can assure you that the FBI has no interest whatsoever in college debates as such," Hoover wrote in the letter to be published today in the Lobo. "We would never engage in any activity which might result in stifling academic freedom."

Hoover said "I was indeed surprised to see this story. I do wish you would have communicated with me first because it leaves the false impression that the FBI is desirous of obtaining the names of persons debating this question."

"This certainly is not true," Eubank told the Associated Press a North Carolina congressman, whom he identified as Rep. Robeson (D-NC) had written a letter to a Duke University debater on the subject.

"Robeson made no mention of the FBI," Eubank said, "but he asked for the names of those on the National Debating Council and the member of the Duke University faculty responsible for the debating team."

Eubank said Robeson wrote a Duke debater:

"I certainly hope you will not undertake to debate the positive position of this subject as quotations from your statements may embarrass you for the rest of your life."

Eubank termed Robeson's letter "an abridgement of free speech by a man sworn to defend the Constitution, a document guaranteeing our freedoms."

Eubank read Hoover's letter to Lawrence, said:

"Mr. Hoover's declaration indicates that he has a very clear conception of the functions of debates and discussions in our colleges and universities. It is the type of statement that any thinking citizen would expect from his high office."

"I trust that Mr. Hoover's statement will allay any fears students may have regarding debating the affirmative side of the proposition."

Foreman, 23, Philadelphia, the radar observer, leaped when the plane caught fire at an altitude of about 14,000 feet. Neither was injured.

VOICE of the OUTDOORS

"I Got a Bito"

Jane, six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Meier, 409 W. Broadway, was one of the successful youthful fishermen on the ice over the past weekend. In the above picture, her full attention is centered on the small cork that is jumping up and down in the hole in the foreground. The other youthful fisherman is Ronnie, four, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Meier, 480 Collegeview.

Probably because it is so simple, fishing through the ice has an appeal to both young and old. Fishermen are just as successful with tackle like Jane is using as with elaborate reels and poles. The tackle people have not provided the seasoned ice fisherman with too attractive equipment.

Many of the real sunfish fishermen use homemade tackle, consisting of a short wooden pole—usually a discarded broomstick—a homemade line holder that can be operated while wearing a soft mitten, and a few yards of line left over from summer fishing. A grocer's box, such as Jane is using for a seat, is also standard equipment. It is used to carry the equipment and fish in to and from fishing spots. Also essential is something to cut the hole and dip the ice from the hole.

Thousands of fish were caught over the weekend in the sector of the river from Red Wing southward to the Iowa line. Hot spot for local fishermen was the Stoddard area along Highway 35—the new road has recently been opened to traffic. Here the sunnies ran large and hit often. Many local fishermen came home with limits.

Locally the fishing was scattered over the sloughs. Fishermen were cautious about venturing out backwaters with a strong current, but generally the backwaters were pretty well covered over the weekend. A few hot spots were found but for the average fisherman it was slow. Most of them got a few fish.

Christmas Pup

At this time of year many parents are thinking seriously of seeing that Santa Claus delivers a pup to their home. The following article from the National Dog Welfare Guild gives quite a few tips that will prove valuable:

"If you are one of the lucky ones who finds a wonderfully soft, lovable and huggable puppy under his tree on Christmas morning, you will no doubt be one of the proudest dog-owners in the block. And you should be because you have not only the cutest pup in the world but you are beginning to know a love and devotion and loyalty which you have never experienced before in quite this way. And what better morning for that marvelous companionship of a dog and his master to begin than on Christmas."

"But will you treasure your dog's affection by being a good master to him? Because it takes more than just loving him, feeding him and housing him to make your dog a happy and well adjusted citizen and to make you a good dog-owner."

FAIRLY SPOKEN

By MARGARET LATROBE

The perfect 35 might have been considered perfect by Lillian Russell, but in modern fashion circles is considered to be over-doing a good thing. Cover girls have to walk in pairs just to make one life-sized shadow. And this annoys certain ones of us whose shadows require no help.

Well, a young artist named Arthur Moore, who turns the "Go West, young man" around backwards and comes East from California to paint his fame and fortune, has also turned Size 36 into a reasonable facsimile of approval.

Most movie actresses, says the brush artist, are much too slender to earn their living as artists' models. He thinks the female form was meant to be visible without magnifying glasses. And what better tidings for the starving millions of lady dieters?

"Janet Leigh's waistline is too small and her pretty legs too slender for an artist's appreciation," quoth Mr. Moore. Audrey Hepburn? A scarecrow, he says. "But a very sweet scarecrow," he adds, thoughtfully.

Even Junoesque Jane Russell should forget the cameras and eat a little more, if she has any aspiration to pose. "With a figure like hers there can be no in-between. It should be Junoesque all the way!" in Moore's opinion.

Licia Albanese, the Metropolitan Opera star, has as good a form as she has good voice. "Her beauty deserves the sculptor's talent to do it justice!" according to the young artist's critical eye.

Now those of a mercenary turn of mind may deduce that all these ladies are drawing larger checks from movies and opera (thin) than they might as artists' models (not so thin). But this is beside the point.

The point is that there exists in the world a man who isn't intent on shrinking the female population. Fact is, he is right generous about the question of generous proportions. Mr. Moore is more than an artist—he's a diplomat!

Arkansas Killer Knew Husband Would Be Away

BRINKLEY, Ark. (U)—The slayer of Mrs. Sue Fuller, young mother of two children, may have been someone familiar with the habits of her husband.

Police Chief Frank Henderson said today he is working on a theory that the man who killed the prominent 25-year-old brunette would be away from home during the pre-dawn hours Sunday.

Mrs. Fuller was beaten to death with a stick of stove wood at her home early Sunday morning.

Henderson said her husband Milton, 31, long had made a custom of arising early and driving to a downtown hotel coffee shop for coffee and the morning newspapers.

Fuller, an auto dealer, told police he made his usual trip to the coffee shop about 4:30 a.m. Sunday. He said he returned home after driving by his place of business and then stopping by the police station for a chat with officers on night duty.

After reading the newspapers, he said he fell asleep on a couch in the living room. He said he was awakened by a noise in his wife's bedroom and ran in to find her dying on the floor.

Meanwhile, officers pushed their search for a former convict, now free on parole from a federal penitentiary, who has served time in Illinois for the murder of a woman.

When police went to the man's home in nearby Devalls Bluff yesterday afternoon, he had disappeared.

Five men and two women are being held for questioning in the case.

Police believe Mrs. Fuller was killed by a barefooted prowler surprised in the act of stealing her purse.

Russia to Help Write UNESCO Cultural Essay

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (U)—Soviet Russia has agreed to help write a monumental history of the scientific and cultural development of mankind, sponsored by UNESCO.

The project, started in 1950 by the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, is being carried forward by a semi-independent international commission with headquarters in Paris. It has recruited some of the world's best known historians as editors, corresponding members and consultants.

Plans call for publication of the six-volume giant history, in 1953. Each 800-page volume will cover a period of mankind's development.

An abridged two-volume version will also be published.

Russia and its Eastern European allies for the first time since UNESCO was created in 1945 have been attending a general conference of UNESCO here. They have requested to participate in writing and editing the history.

Pentagon Closing Books on Condon

WASHINGTON (U)—The Pentagon says it is closing its books on Dr. Edward U. Condon now that the scientist has quit as research director for the Corning (N.Y.) Glass Works and has halted his attempt to gain security clearance from the Navy.

Condon, former head of the Bureau of Standards, announced through the Corning firm that he was doing so because "I do not feel there is any possibility of my securing a fair and independent judgment" in a review of his security status. His security clearance was suspended by the Navy last October. Corning Glass does classified work for the Navy.

After Condon's resignation was announced yesterday, General Counsel Wilbur M. Brucker of the Defense Department said, "The matter will be closed."

Condon—once described by the House Un-American Activities Committee as one of the "weakest links" in the nation's atomic security chain—said yesterday his loyalty has been "clearly and formally established" in previous investigations and that the current proceeding raised "no question on that score."

Condon's resignation was effective immediately and he left over the weekend for California, where he plans to live and work.

Air Safety Team To Probe Cause Of Muffed Landing

MILWAUKEE (U)—An Air Force inspection team comes here today to determine why a giant bomber muffed a landing at Mitchell Field and wound up in a swampy field across the street from the airport.

Maj. Paul Dowd, base operations officer of the Wisconsin Air National Guard, said the inspection was scheduled by a flying safety team from the Air Force Base at San Bernardino, Calif.

The bomber, a B-45, plowed across the highway Saturday night when it ran out of runway, was pulled out of the mud Monday. The plane, officials said, was making a refueling stop when it failed to stop on the runway, crashed through a fence, knocked down several poles, bumped a car, and rolled into the soggy field.

Heavy lifting equipment borrowed from a trucking company assisted in freeing the four-engined jet bomber.

The plane's three man crew was instructed to remain at the field until the investigation was completed. The crewmen said they had been on a routine training flight.

Electric Power Prices Cut for Western Wisconsin

EAU CLAIRE, Wis. (U)—Electric power will be cheaper after Dec. 23 for 52,600 residential customers of Northern States Power Co. (NSP) in Western Wisconsin.

The state public service commission Monday announced approval of rate reductions sought by the firm totaling about $354,000 annually.

A company spokesman said the new rates will bring those of the firm into line with rates charged elsewhere in Wisconsin. He said the reduction will not apply to rural customers whose rates he said already are low.

The reduction is the first made by the company since 1948. However, that one was followed by increases in 1948 and 1951.

The spokesman said it would be difficult to measure the reduction in terms of average savings per customer. It will affect different customers differently, according to the amount of electricity used and the classification of the community in which they live.

Among cities of west central Wisconsin served by the company are Eau Claire, La Crosse, Chippewa Falls, Menomonie, Sparta and Viroqua.

20-Mile-Per-Hour Speed Can Be Just As Dangerous as 80

MINNEAPOLIS (U)—Traveling at 20 miles an hour can be as dangerous as "doing 80 on the open highway," the family economics bureau of Northwestern National Life Insurance Co. said here today.

The insurance people noted that a 20-mile-per-hour speed can be very dangerous in situations where a driver should creep at five miles an hour.

"Too few drivers realize that two-thirds of the fatal traffic accidents occur at legal or slower speeds," the bureau said in announcing results of its survey on traffic accidents.

Exceeding the speed limit was involved in one out of every six fatal accidents last year," the bureau said. "But driving too fast for the circumstances without exceeding the posted limit accounted for another one-sixth of all fatal accidents in 1953."

Fillmore Co-op Reports Profits

LANESBORO, Minn. (Special)—Over 200 members and patrons attended the annual meeting of the Fillmore Co-op Services Saturday at the Lanesboro Community Hall. Guest speaker, A. J. Smaby, addressed the audience on "Cooperatives in Western Europe." The general manager of Midland Co-operatives, Inc., he was one of 12 representatives of the Cooperative League of the U.S.A. who traveled throughout Western Europe last summer discussing common problems with cooperative groups and leaders in 10 different countries from Italy to Finland.

Smaby commented on the exceptionally warm welcome his delegation received in all the countries he visited. Other representatives have not always found this so. He and his group returned convinced of the important role co-operatives can play in promoting lasting world peace. Smaby showed several colored slides taken on his visit.

Reports on operations and finances, given by operating manager, Roy Schaal, indicated all-time high sales for the organization, $229,254, for the year ending Sept. 30. Net earnings were $8,578, the highest in over 8 years. Member ownership ratio also reached the highest level in many years.

After providing for a 2 per cent stock dividend, 10 per cent of earnings to permanent reserve and $850 for federal and state income taxes, there remained $4,463 which is being returned in share credits to the patrons on the basis of their purchases during the year just ended.

A resolution to amend the articles of incorporation to provide for issuing preferred stock was unanimously approved. Directors plan to issue preferred stock to replace all present purchased stock. Preferred stock will receive a 4 per cent dividend and dividends will no longer be paid on common stock which will now consist only of earned stock.

Cashier Embezzles $23,000 to Buy Daughters Homes

MILWAUKEE (U)—A middle-aged woman who bought homes for her two married daughters while working as a cashier for 40 dollars a week has been accused of embezzling $23,000 from the hotel coffee shop where she worked.

Mrs. Ethel Ray, 54, was arraigned Monday before District Judge Robert Hansen who ordered her bound over to Municipal Court for trial.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Joseph Tierney, who told the court "I am frankly sorry for her," said Mrs. Ray actually "had embezzled approximately $20,000." He said she had admitted taking only $23,000. Tierney recommended bond of $1,000 and Judge Hansen, who noted bond usually is based on the gravity of the offense, fixed her bond in that amount.

Tierney quoted Mrs. Ray as saying "everybody was dependent on me." He related she said unhappiness and worry over her daughters and grandchildren led her to begin taking the money after she started to work for the Pfister Hotel in 1949.

In unfolding Mrs. Ray's story Tierney told that she had spent $19,000 to purchase homes for her daughters and had saved another $23,000. She said she paid $10,900 for the home of a daughter living in Milwaukee and $7,500 for the home occupied by a daughter at Kansas City.

Tierney explained Mrs. Ray admitted accomplishing the embezzlement by reducing the amount of meal checks turned in to her by customers. He related that she would erase the amount on the check and write in "coffee 10 cents." He said she pocketed the difference.

Mrs. Ray said she was caught changing a restaurant check in October and promised to make restitution. In November she withdrew $14,000 from a building and loan association and turned it over to the hotel. She added that she still had $9,000 in savings, "some of which is mine."

Mrs. Ray, divorced from her husband 14 years ago, was described by a hotel spokesman as "the last person we expected to do such a thing."

Mrs. Ray told him, Tierney said, "As I took more and more it developed into a habit. I know I was wrong. I'm very sorry."

'Sex Hysteria' Under Attack

By ROBERT GOLDENSTEIN
CHICAGO (U)—A doctor said today a wave of "sex hysteria" has caused a sharp increase in illegitimate teen-age births and a sometimes highly dangerous bosom consciousness among young girls.

Dr. Goodrich C. Schautler, Portland, Ore., obstetrician and gynecologist, told a convention of doctors that illegitimate births in the teen-age bracket have doubled in the last 15 years.

He said some girls scarcely into adolescence suffer from a bosom inferiority complex and wear miniature "bras."

In his own practice, he said, "I have had one attempted suicide and several serious and total derangements contingent upon real or fancied breast irregularities."

"These call for more attention from the physician in the present age because of accelerated sex trends contingent upon Hollywood influences."

Hoosiers Bow To S. Methodist

CHICAGO (U)—Missouri's Tigers continued to scourge Big Ten basketball teams Monday night by defeating Wisconsin, and Indiana's unpredictable Hoosiers went tumbling before Southern Methodist.

Missouri belted Wisconsin, 67-56, for its third straight victory over Big Ten foes. The Tigers last week defeated both Indiana and Iowa. Only Illinois from the Big Ten has been able to beat Missouri this season.

Indiana bounced back from its defeat by Missouri to upset Notre Dame at South Bend before bowing to the Mustangs at Bloomington, 63-78 Monday night.

Despite a 41-point outburst by center Don Schlundt, the Hoosiers never could muster a lead although they tied the count three times in the first half.

Iowa had little trouble drubbing outclassed St. Mary's of California, 68-49. Coach Bucky O'Connor used 19 players with 15 getting into the scoring column.

Bob Logan, Iowa's leading scorer was high with 9 points.

In games outside the conference, Notre Dame defeated Loyola of Chicago, 80-76, and Bradley edged Oklahoma City, 63-62.

Stoneham Sees Giant Win Again in 1955

NEW YORK (U)—Horace Stoneham, president of the New York Giants, calmly predicted today that his club would win the National League pennant again.

And, to the sorrow of all Brooklyn, he couldn't see the Dodgers as a major threat.

Stoneham made his observations before embarking for a five-week vacation at his Scottsdale, Ariz., home, just a stone's throw from the Giants' training base at Phoenix.

While there are no official plans, he probably will meet with Manager Leo Durocher, who is in California.

"Barring bad breaks through injuries, I think we can make it two in a row," said Stoneham. "The rest of the league has to catch us. We are the champions."

So confident is he that he has no deals in mind.

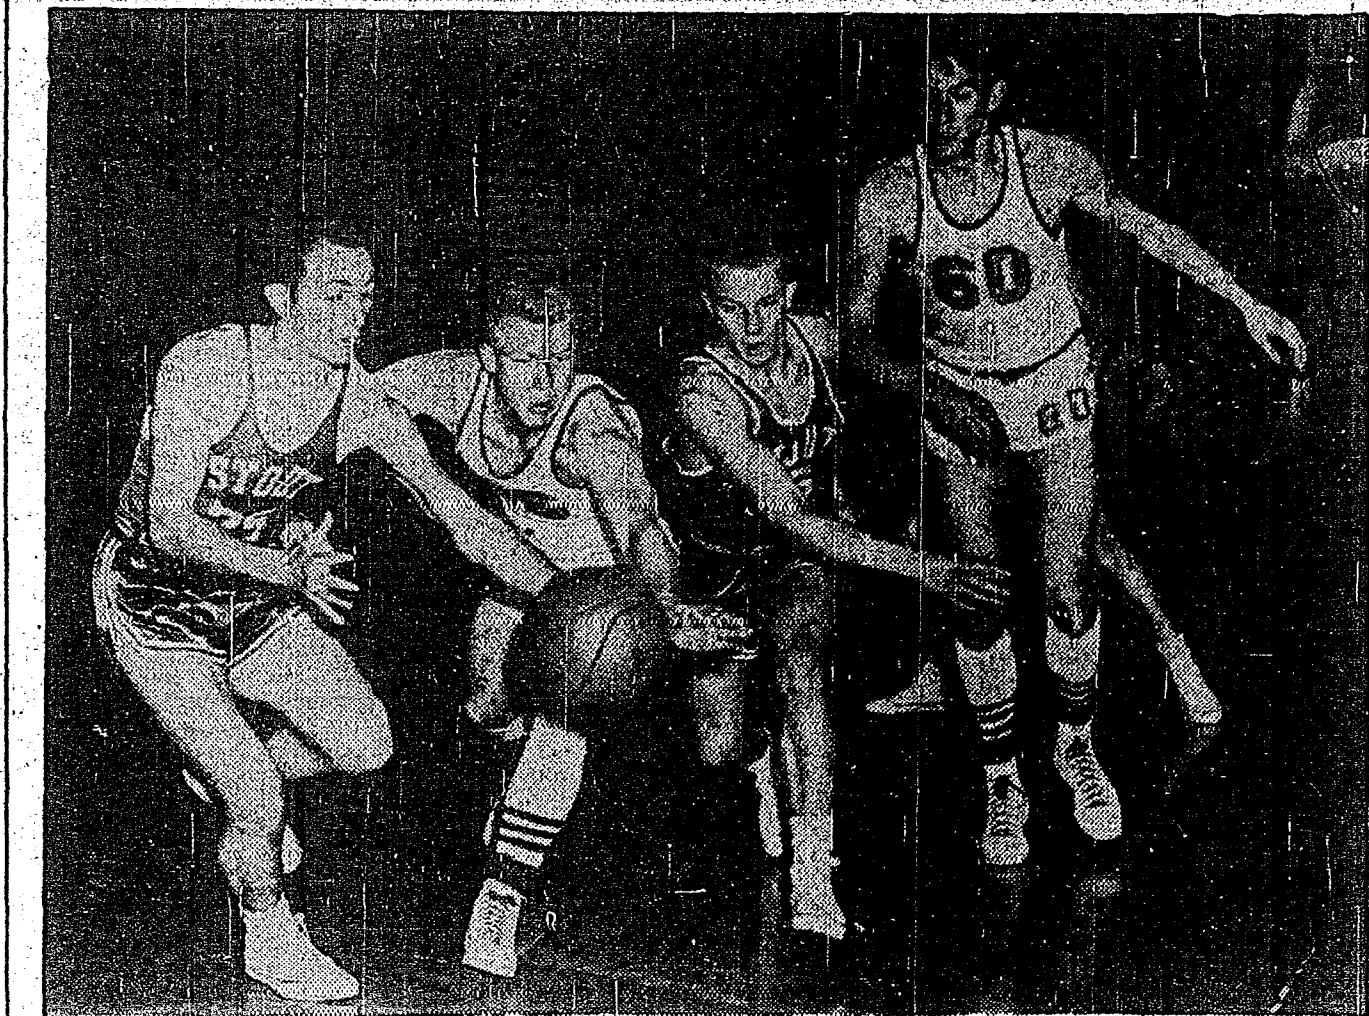

"We are not going to do any Christmas shopping for a deal just for the sake of a deal," he said. "We're not shutting the door on anybody who cares to suggest a trade, of course."

"But we're not going to make one with anybody unless we are certain of strengthening the club a great deal. If a favorable deal comes through, we'll make it. But we are in a position good enough to make dealing unnecessary."

Came the bombshell on the Dodgers.

"I look for the strongest opposition to come from Milwaukee. I figure the Braves to finish ahead of the Dodgers. There has been a lot of talk about the Dodgers making a deal, but nothing has happened so far. Unless they come up with a big deal, I can't see them as a big threat."

Warriors Clobber Stout In Basketball Contest

By RALPH REEVE
Daily News Sports Editor

The Winona State Warriors clobbered Stout 93-50 in the basketball game Monday night at Memorial Hall.

But the local Peds could do no more than gain a draw in the first half, according to sentiment by impartial observers.

The Warriors pulled away from a 31-29 advantage in the first half to a 47-32 lead before the half ended. The basketball edition of the double main event was never in doubt after that.

After players on both sides demonstrated the many art of self-defense, however, the final analysis was that neither team gained a clearcut advantage.

Players traded punches for approximately 30 seconds after the gun sounded ending the game. A crowd of fans and players were milling around on the floor so it was hard to determine whether or not any knockdowns were registered.

Ringsiders who voiced opinions when the melee ended said they failed to see any real boxing talent. Consensus was that none of the players who got into the act was very talented. In other words, Bobo Olson's middleweight crown is still safe.

What started the row is a moot point. The game became rather rough and tumble in the final period. A slender Stout substitute, fair-complexioned Dave Wingert, came on the scene in the last period and aimed a haymaker at Bill Christopherson.

Christopherson, questioned after the game, didn't even know that Wingert swung at him. It made no difference since Wingert's aim was a mile off the mark.

Stout Coach Ray Johnson then installed burly Jack Corey at the pivot spot. Corey took a football stance with elbows upraised in front of Lee Paul, rushing down the floor.

Paul brushed Corey and the two advanced upon each other. Referee Borman asked Corey to leave and Corey, pleading innocence, walked over to the Stout bench.

Stout's coach, Johnson, sauntered out on the floor and insisted that Borman make a hasty decision. Johnson tugged at Borman's shirt for emphasis and the little arbitrator summarily dismissed Johnson, assessing him a technical foul for bad oratory.

The game ended shortly thereafter but the exhibition of athletic endeavor continued.

According to witnesses, Wingert allowed as how he wouldn't mind popping Paul on the chin and he carried out his intent. Paul grabbed Wingert and Jess Waldron sauntered by, attempting to come between the two in a peacemaker role.

Wingert transferred his animosity to Waldron and the two put on the most sustained effort of the night. Then the amateurs joined the fray and the level of skill deteriorated considerably.

Cooler heads prevailed and the tussle was brought to a halt. Like we said before, yuh gotta call it a draw.

As far as the basketball game was concerned, Stout offered little. The Blue Devils managed to keep close for a while, but the Warriors outscored their guests 16-3 in one stretch before halftime and held a 47-35 halftime advantage.

Dave Smith, sparkling Winona guard, led the Warriors with 18 points, all in the first half on jump shots and drives. Paul and Pete Polus scored a dozen points.

Coach Lyle Arns used 16 players and 15 hit the scoring column. Top point-getter for Stout was midweight guard Roger Lowmyer with 19 followed by forward Dave Challen with 12.

The game concluded action for the Warriors until Dec. 23 when they host colorful Lincoln University of Jefferson City, Mo., at Memorial Hall.

Again, Use Back Pins — As explained in the preceding article, the back pins (7, 8, 9, and 10) can be used to good advantage in spare shooting.

That goes also for split converting, perhaps more so than for spares. Negotiating splits, such as the 5-7, the 5-10, the 4-10, or the 6-7, calls for pinpoint accuracy. Hence the back pins, as sketched, work as helpful "target" pins in slipping the splits over. Over the 5-7, for example, you shoot to hit the No. 9 ball. On the 5-10, you shoot for the No. 8. To get the 4-10, your target is the No. 7, and on the opposite side, you fire at the No. 10 to send the No. 6 over for the No. 7. Send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to this newspaper for my free pamphlet, "You've Got To Know Angles." In shooting for splits, let me remind you that the secret is reaching out with the arm to produce regulated speed and ball turn.

REDMEN OFFER CHALLENGE

Will Gustavus Cagers Be Whistling in the Dark?

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Minnesota College Conference basketball powers roll into hit-and-run tests of strength on three fronts tonight before winding up nonconference business in the pre-Christmas rush.

Defending champion Gustavus Adolphus whistles through the grave-yard at St. Mary's, where visiting teams usually get summary and tough treatment. Hamline, likewise 1-0 in the MCC, plays on the road against St. John's and St. Thomas is at Duluth Branch.

Gustavus coach Gus Young sobriety calls the St. Mary's game to-night one of the most critical of the season for his conference favorites.

Should it get past St. Mary's tonight, Gustavus will have won two straight on the road and imbedded itself even more firmly as No. 1 in the league.

Beaten only by Hamline in eight home conference games a year ago, St. Mary's was breezing undefeated until stopped by Macalester last Saturday night.

Gustavus will have its usual height advantage with Jim Springer, Dick Kumlun, Cliff Straka, et al., but the home floor and St. Mary's marksmanship could repeat the Redmen's victory over the Gusties last year.

Hamline runs into another 4-1 record at St. John's, but the Johnnies are weakened by the loss of injured Bill McMahon and center Fred Etkan, who has abandoned basketball to concentrate on studies.

St. John's has lost to St. Thomas, a team narrowly beaten by Hamline Saturday night. The Pipers will counter Bill Sexton, top scorer in the MCC last year, and Dick Matichinsky with team balance and efficient Dave Tschimperle.

Duluth Branch, back in its habitual role as a possible contender, confronts St. Thomas with a 1-0 MCC record and a tendency to run up hefty scores. The Bulldogs hit the 100-mark Saturday night against Concordia.

St. Thomas itself is in precarious straits. The Tommies, having lost one, can scarcely afford to lose many more and still stay in the race.

In tonight's only other game, Augsburg plays at St. Olaf.

NEW YORK (U)—The National Boxing Assn. withdrew recognition of Sandy Saddler as world featherweight champion today but the boxer's manager defiantly said he'll defend "when he's ready and that will be February."

Bob Christenberry, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, sat in the middle and said:

"I'll watch this with a great deal of interest. I certainly will take no action before our commission meets (Friday). I have found the NBA hasn't always been a solid front. I also recall something about titles being won and lost in the ring."

There was no if, whereas or maybe about the NBA's position, announced at its Cleveland convention Sept. 14 and restated by Henry Lamar, its executive secretary.

The brief text said:

"At the National Boxing Assn. convention in Cleveland Sept. 14 it was unanimously voted that title recognition would be withdrawn if Sandy Saddler failed to defend his world featherweight title against either of two logical contenders (Percy Perry or Red Top Davis) within 60 days."

Saddler has failed to defend his title within the prescribed period. As of today, Dec. 14, 1934, the National Boxing Assn. withdraws title recognition from boxer Sandy Saddler."

NBA Withdraws Recognition of Sandy Saddler

NEW YORK (U)—The National Boxing Assn. withdrew recognition of Sandy Saddler as world featherweight champion today but the boxer's manager defiantly said he'll defend "when he's ready and that will be February."

Saddler has failed to defend his title within the prescribed period. As of today, Dec. 14, 1934, the National Boxing Assn. withdraws title recognition from boxer Sandy Saddler."

Lamar also commented:

"We gave Saddler every chance to make a bout. He was discharged from the Army and has made no move to defend his title although he has had seven bouts since leaving the Army."

In Providence, R.I., Tony Petronella, NBA president, said this was the beginning of a new get-tough policy with all champions.

Petronella said the NBA had planned to declare the winner of a Davis-Bassett fight as the champion but the elimination bout was held "ahead of time." Davis outpointed Bassett at New York Nov. 26.

"Now there is a technicality," said Petronella. "I am taking a lot of the Executive Committee to see if we can recognize Davis at a special meeting Jan. 14 in New York."

Charlie Johnston, Saddler's manager, was bitter about the NBA announcement. He had just returned from Spokane, where Saddler won an over-the-weight match from Bobby Woods last week.

"Saddler will defend his title when he's ready," said Johnston. "And that will be February. Petronella should concern himself with safety measures in the NBA."

Saddler, 28, was discharged from the Army early this year. He won the title from Feb. 23, 1934, lost it to Pep Feb. 11, 1934, and won it back Sept. 8, 1930. His last defense also was against Pep Sept. 28, 1931. He went into the Army early in 1932.

The Badgers return to their home court Dec. 18 with a game with Louisiana State. They will entertain Tulane Dec. 20 and Princeton Dec. 29 before opening their Big Ten schedule Jan. 1 at Illinois.

Ameche this year was Howard (Hopalong) Cassidy of Ohio State and Bob McNamara of Minnesota. In smashing the national record, Ameche carried the ball 61 times and scored 25 touchdowns. His biggest year was in 1932 when he ran 946 yards in 205 rushes.

4,000 Greek Students Stone U.S. Aid Offices

ATHENS, Greece (U)—A band of 4,000 students stoned American aid offices here today in protest against U. S. refusal to support Greek claims to the British island of Cyprus. Windows were smashed. Police clubs and fire hoses finally dispersed the youths.

"Americans, we prefer obvious enemies to friends like you!" declared one sign held aloft by the shouting demonstrators. Britain and the United States alike were targets of other slogans.

Police charges backed by jets of water eventually broke up the throng after traffic in the heart of Athens had been stalled nearly two hours.

A last stand was made by several hundred diehards around Athens University, several blocks from the aid building, which houses the U. S. military missions, the U. S. consulate and other agencies.

Sixty-five persons, including some policemen, were injured sufficiently to require first aid. A first aid station spokesman said seven were hospitalized in a serious condition.

Several hundred onlookers were soaked by water during the fire hoses onslaughts against the demonstrators.

U. S. Ambassador Cavendish Cannon previously informed the Greek government that the United States would not back Athens' request that the U. N. Assembly in New York endorse the right of self-determination for the Cypriots.

Greek Ambassador Alexi Kyrou was today before the Assembly's main political committee. Although Cyprus' population is largely of Greek descent, the island is a British colony. Britain recently shifted her Middle East military headquarters there.

Police estimated the demonstration mob at between 4,000 and 5,000. The building they attacked houses the American Army, Air and Navy missions, the U. S. consulate and information service, several British offices and the office of the Food and Agriculture Organization. The crowd also marched on the U. S. and British embassies but police lines kept them from approaching the buildings.

DENNIS THE MENACE

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WISSGAM, D.Sc.

1. WILL THERE BE ADEQUATE HOUSING FOR MARRIED COUPLES OF THE FUTURE?
YES ☐ NO ☐ 12-14

2. IS THE NUMBER OF NONREADERS INCREASING FASTER THAN THE POPULATION?
YES ☐ NO ☐ 12-14

3. DO MOST PEOPLE HAVE FETTERED ALIBIS FOR THEIR FAILURES AND MISTAKES?
YES ☐ NO ☐ 12-14

Answer to Question No. 1
1. Decidedly so. A study described in "Better Homes and Gardens" shows that 3,000,000 homes have been built since 1950, while the population has increased 9,000,000—promising an increase of about 4,000,000 married couples by 1957. But, by the time they marry, the building boom probably will have pretty well caught up, and the couples will have homes waiting for them. Anyhow, kids, it looks hopeful now.

Answer to Question No. 2
2. Alarmingly so, according to a leading university reading clinic. Such children—about 60 boys and 2 girls—cannot be taught by ordinary methods, to read their own names. The late Dr. Grace Fernald never failed in 34 years to make them all good readers. She used methods described in her book, "Remedial Methods in Basic School Subjects" (McGraw-Hill Book Co.). Your public library probably has a copy.

Answer to Question No. 3
3. Yes. I know a woman who had six rest cures for her "headaches," "nerves," "stomach trouble," etc. She never received any relief from any of them. But under the care of a good psychologist, she became a strong, going concern in five months. He convinced her it was all due to her hiding behind her alibi of imagined weakness and inadequacy. What's your pet alibi?

BEDTIME STORIES

By HOWARD GARIS

When Uncle Wiggly heard the noise, which I told you about at the end of yesterday's story, the rabbit gentleman twinkled his pink nose. Then he started to scramble down off the back of Mr. Whitewash, the jolly Polar bear gentleman.

"What are you going to do, Uncle Wiggly?" asked Bunty the orphan rabbit. Bunty was also on the back of Mr. Whitewash. The three friends had come out in the snow to look for the night be of the bear's helicopter the night before. "Why are you trying to jump off the back of Mr. Whitewash?" Bunty inquired.

"I heard a noise," answered the rabbit gentleman. "But it is nothing to worry about, Wiggy."

"What made the noise?" the rabbit gentleman asked. "It sounded like snow squeaking on a cold morning. On cold mornings snow squeaks when you walk on it. But you didn't squeak the snow; did you, Whittie?"

"No, I didn't," growled the Polar bear. "I know better than to make the snow squeak when I walk. I must move very carefully when I am catching fish for my meals at the North Pole. If I squeaked the snow I'd frighten away the fish. So I have learned to put my paws down in snow, even on the coldest morning, without making squeaks."

"But somebody made squeaks," said Uncle Wiggly. "And it could not have been Bunty, her doll or me, who made the snow squeaks?"

"That man," answered Mr. Whitewash, pointing with one paw. "What man?" asked Uncle Wiggly.

"That man with the net," replied the Polar bear. "See, he is standing near the clump of trees." Again the bear pointed with one paw.

Uncle Wiggly and Bunty looked on. So did Priscilla the doll who had fallen out of the helicopter and who had stayed all night in a snow drift.

"Why is that man walking in the snow?" asked Uncle Wiggly.

"I don't know," answered Mr. Whitewash.

"And why is he carrying a big net on a long pole?" asked Bunty.

"I don't know that, either," the Human Artificial Insemination Ruled Illegal in Illinois

CHICAGO (AP)—A Chicago judge ruled Monday that human artificial insemination is illegal except when donor and recipient are married to each other.

The ruling by Superior Judge Gibson E. Gorman also held that children conceived of sperm other than that of the mother's legal mate are illegitimate.

The ruling was made in a divorce action brought by Mrs. Mary Doornbos, 37, of suburban Riverside, against George Doornbos, 48, of Park Forest, another suburb.

The ruling was made on Mrs. Doornbos' petition that she be given sole custody of her son, David, 5, and that her husband be denied visits to the child.

The ruling raised grave questions as to the legitimacy and the hereditary rights of many Illinois children born through artificial insemination in which the father was not a participant.

There is no legislation on Illinois statute books on the legality of artificial insemination.

Scheduled Wedding Has Hospital Locale

RESBURG, Idaho (AP)—Ned D. McMinn and Merla May Williams were married in Madison Memorial Hospital, where the bride was being treated for a broken collar bone received in an auto accident.

The wedding took place on schedule. Only the locale was changed. And, on schedule, a reception was held after the ceremony in the bride's home. The groom attended.

Yes, Uncle Wiggly was caught in a net!

There will be more to this story tomorrow if the bottle of milk doesn't try to make tea in the coffee pot and have it turn into chocolate pudding.
