Store Westrum of Mankato, coordinator of the state-wide project, said that the main purpose of organisation is "to increase the students knowledge of how their political decisions can be trans- formed into political action."

This past weekend, the Minne- sota State College Student Asso- ciation (M.S.C.S.A.) passed a resolu- tion which "endorses the crea- tion of a committee to coordinate Project 72 in cooperation with Westrum. Students will be encouraged and aided as they seek to run for city, county, district, and state convention delegates in both political parties throughout the state.

To implement these goals, all students will be requested to fill in a registration card. Included on this card will be a question- ariu to measure a student's po- litical interest. After this is com- pleted the cards will be fed into a computer containing a diction- ary in the locale. The computer will sort the cards according to the precinct the students live in. All of the students in that pre- cinct will then be notified of a meeting for all students in that precinct. At this meeting they will discuss candidates and select students to run for delegates once they go to the caucuses.

Westrum stated that "Project 72 is modeled from a similar project at the University of Utah, Sull Lake City.

With the enactment of this pro- gram in Utah about 29 per cent of all delegates to the state Demo- cratic convention were students. Westrum, through the cooper- ations of the M.S.C.S.A., will present the plan to University of Minne- sota, College, Jr. College, and Vocational School Student Body Presidents October 30th for im- plementation on a statewide ba- sis.

Capitol Views

WASHINGTON: Sept. 30—Congressional committees, those educate, are the phase of legislative procedure where the issue is decided. Committee work is time-consuming, orderly and fair, while it is true that effective legislators are not made on the floor of the House but in committees, not all Congressmen are perfectly acquainted. This can be traced to the fact that the Constitution gives any Congressmen a right to be in any place where Congress is in session and a bill may be originated in either House or in either House. The opportunity is thus there for any Congressmen to sit in on committee hearings and be engaged in the discussions. The chairman of a committee and the rest of the committee can also influence legislation. But the process of debating amendments is a complicated one and can take a long time. Amendments are often rejected because they are considered to be unnecessary or because the bill is already in a form that many members agree with. Amendments can also be used to delay the passage of a bill. The chairman of a committee has the ability to control the pace of the debate and the order in which amendments are considered. This can be used to slow down the process and make it more difficult for legislation to pass.

New Concerts and Lectures yearly schedule is released

With the beginning of every quarter, the students of Winona State College are sent on their quarterly pilgrimage to the school bookstore. The general feeling among students is that someone must definitely be making a profit at the expense of the students.

Certain facts about the bookstore may clarify why such a condition exists. The bookstore is owned and operated by the College Stores, of which the students are a member, and all operating expenses must be met through bookstore profits. For this reason, a 20% profit is made on the average textbook sale. Mr. Richard Schaber, bookstore manager, states that they are required to sell their books at publishers suggested retail price. Both the National Association of College Stores, of which the bookstore is a member, and the State College Board, in its Policy Procedures Manual, require these guidelines to be followed.

This movie should be of special interest to local residents as well as WSC students since one of the film's segments was filmed near Winona with the aid of WSC faculty member, Mr. Calvin Fremling. The sequence shows the bountiful flight of the monarch butterflies. Over two years in production, eight camera teams journeyed to eleven countries on four continents to photograph the biosphere, and was filmed in an after-noon and all-night effort on the set of the new Student Union addition as the Administration suspects that state aid funds will be insufficient for the type of building desired.

A frequent statement heard is that WSC needs a strongly competitive bookstore on or near the campus to force the bookstore to lower prices. For this to be a reality, faculty members will have to cooperate with Winona bookstores in providing them copies of course reading requirements so that they can arrange to undersell the campus store in order to generate student business.

The Book Nook stated that they would be willing to deal with the college if they have permission to reduce book prices is to come about, it is only through the cooperation of faculty and students, working with the local bookstores, that this will be possible.

Gridmen grounded again, four down and six to go

After battling to a scoreless tie for nearly two quarters, the Warriors of Winona State proved unsuccessful in a bid for their first Northern Intercollegiate Conference victory. The University of Minnesota, Morris, blanked WSC 17 to 0.

With 2:33 remaining in the first half, Morris running back Doug Patterson took the ball across from two yards out and gave the Cougars a 7-0 halftime lead. Winona State came very close to breaking the ice in the first half when they reached the 17 yard line on a Macon comeback hit. But Morris' defense refused to yield an inch.
