Broadway star being featured in "Wenonah Players" production

Winona State and its Wenonah Players are extremely fortunate in having the known and talented actress, Judith Evelyn, take part in the production of Ibsen’s “Ghosts” both here and at the Guthrie Theatre in Minneapolis. Miss Evelyn will play the demanding role of Mrs. Alving.

With a reputation as an actress of great talent and variety, Judith Evelyn made one of the most memorable Broadway debuts of modern times as the leading lady in “Angel Street” in 1941, a play which ran for two years and catapulted Miss Evelyn into stardom.

During the 1958-59 season she played off Broadway in Sophocles’ “Elektra” at the Seven Arts Theatre.

Miss Evelyn’s film roles have been in such pictures as “Basic Windso,” “Hello and Goodbye,” “The Egyptian.” Her television roles have been highlights of such major dramatic programs as “Playhouse 90,” “Camera Three,” “Alfred Hitchcock Presents,” “Pillbury Queen,” and “Rodgers and Hammerstein.”

The University theatres are favorites of the star who has three times been at the University of Utah, and who recently did a new play at the University of Kansas.

A native of Seneca, South Dakota, Judith Evelyn, who was the daughter of a Professor of Education, is a student of the University of Utah, and a freshman at Winona State College.

Kryzka, Winona State student director and member of the state college board since 1961.

The dormitory, scheduled for construction on King Street between Hull and Winona streets, is to be a fourteen-lot home, recognizing gifts to the college by the Lucas and Thiriet families.

Names for the buildings were proposed to the college board by a committee of five. Dr. M. B. Raymo, Dr. H. R. Jackson, Mr. Glen Schubel, and Dr. M. L. Hampton.

Dr. Minne has announced that adoption of the Bant wing of the new dorm building has been completed and footings and foundations will soon be poured. The education building (dentistry) is progressing rapidly as is the new education building.

The new movable bleachers which were used at last football game are in place at Maxwell Field and will be moved to Lowry Field for the baseball season.

New Buildings Named

The new buildings being constructed on the campus were given their names last week.

The education classroom building being constructed on King Street between Hull and Washington streets, will be known as Gildemeister Hall. The late Mrs. Theda Gildemeister was director of the Scholastic Teach-
Wheat to Russia: a meaningful act
by Molei Jansen

President Kennedy (I hope you know who he is) decided to aid that beastly wheat to Russia! It is a major act of national importance for Kennedy to try. Yes, for the world it was a point of reference. It probably (and yet again) has convinced many people that the U.S. doesn't only talk; they want to live up to their promise of personal commitments.

Kennedy's chance is rather shaky for '64 election; it's even shakier than his rocking chair. But the world regards him more than many other American presidents, including Eisenhower, as a good person. He won the woman's vote for Uncle Sam and his children, but he was a buses president. We'll never forget what happened when he was on his way to Japan on what they called a "victory tour." We also don't want to forget what happened to Nixon in South America. Of course it wasn't their fault. It was the result of World War II and after, including all those billions of the unemployment pressures. However, what is going to happen to the Peace Corps accomplishing?

I'm neither a Democrat nor a Republican; I mean, I have no right to praise or reprimand Kennedy remains a respected man and a better president for far more than any of his predecessors.

What we wear gives us away
by Tom Boss

In our modern society it is not acceptable to have mobs of naked people walking the streets. Therefore, to condemn an individual to society and also to protect ourselves from the weather, we must wear clothes.

Reasons for wearing clothes are not important so long as we wear, how we wear it and when it should be worn. It is very unlikely that we will all wear a beach at a beach or a formal dress in a shop.

Students of Winona State College fall into one of three groups: the fashionably elite or fashionable people who always wear the right clothes at the right time, the middle group who (usually dress in an acceptable manner), and the slobs or those who never seem to wear anything that is fashionable.

What we wear is about the problem of "wheats" on our campus. We can set good examples for them and show them what is the correct form of proper dress! We should also try to compliment our physical features and our personalities!

Peace Corps slogan - volunteer to see the world
by Jennifer Floyd

"Climb the Navy and see the world" was the slogan for getting people to enlist in the armed services. We now can have a new slogan "Join the Peace Corps and see the world."

It seems that a national image is running through America. In that as many people and Particularly college graduates are joining the Peace Corps. The Peace Corps has been criticized by a professor from the Chicago University as a "paid tourist" of the world in which college graduates are able to have their last big fling at federal expense before settling down to the humdrum activities of office work or teaching.

Needless to say, the operations of the Peace Corps are costing millions of dollars each year. It is the most costly "volunteer" association ever to be had; inaugurated by President Kennedy with the idea of doing something about the manpower pressures. However, what should we think of the Peace Corps accomplishing?

Actually, I believe, the Peace Corps has limited possibilities of doing anything. For one thing the people involved in these various countries do not have the right approach to their minds. They go out trusting that everywhere in the U.S. is good and so other people ought to have that same good too. They close their eyes to see a new culture but would rather than still the American culture over the so-called "primitive" cultures they may come in contact with. Everything they see and everything they do has to be done the American way, otherwise it is no good.

Also, I have heard the Peace Corps sharply criticized because it spends a doctrine contrary to American beliefs In the Peace Corps, group projects are advanced; group farming, group dish digging, group this and group that. What happened to that wonderful American individual initiative spirit? I believe it is going down the drain as we have progressed. The U.S. government, of course, feels that it is impossible for backward countries to advance rapidly under the individual initiative principle, thus we have the collectivistic action.
Improvement shown but Mankato drops WSC 46-16

Exciting an occasional punt in the Mankato State offense, and the Warriors would have won their homecoming game at Max- well Field last Saturday afternoon. As a result of the "occasion- al" spark, Mankato handed Winona its sixth straight defeat 14-6.

This score, along with the success of a few other Warrior losses; this season, is deceiving. Defensively, the Warriors were at their best, perhaps more so than at any other time this year; of- fensively, they had their moments.

The Warrior spirit was also ele- vated to a new high in this game. There was an abundance of gang tackling, good blocking and gener- al team play displayed to the standing room only crowd of 3,000. The Warriors had a 7-6 Mankato lead facing them the first time they had the ball for a series of plays. Mankato took the open- ing kickoff and immediately marched 61 yards for the initial score. The drive was capped by a 14-yard pass from quarterback Don Woodman to Gary Schroeder. A kick by Mankato, Mankato lead facing them the first time they had the ball for a series of plays.

The second period was featured by brilliant running by Mike Hen- ry. Lanesboro (con't on p. 4)

Speaking of Gale, his younger brother Pat is also an athlete. Chance is about the same size and weight as his brother, but lacks Gale's skills and quickness. Both Gale and Pat finished second in their weight class in the state meet two years ago.
