Homecoming Dominates Week

Parents’ Day Attracts Visitors

The third annual Parents’ Day was observed at Winona State College on Saturday, Sept. 28, to familiarize the parents of all the undergraduate students with the college. The Public Relations Committee, the Joint Social Committee, and the W Club sponsored the several events which make up Parents’ Day. The all school open house from 3 to 5 p.m., highlighted by a tea in Morey Hall, was attended by approximately 300 parents.

As a special attraction, Winona State downed Belmidea State, 19-6, in a football game at Jefferson Field at 8 p.m.

The day closed with an All-College Dance in the Smog for parents, alumni, and students. Curt Peterson’s orchestra provided the music.

Physical Plant Additions Now in Full Operation

The completion of Richards Hall has added 77 rooms to the dormitory capacity of Winona State College. This new brick and glass residence for 132 male students, located at the south end of the campus, helped teachers give Freshman tests, and assisted at mixers, to help make students feel at home.

New Students and Faculty Welcomed by Winona State

WELCOME FROSH! WELCOME ONE AND ALL! This exclamation was cried out to all new students as they made preparations for the coming year at WSC.

Don Darling, chairman of the orientation team, with the aid of students, helped to make the first week of school a comparatively easy and happy one. Orientation team members were: Susan Schwager, Marie Engrav, Nancy Tubb, Neal Lang, Roman Claussen, Ernie Buhler, Pat Severson, Bev Krieger, Nancy Sperbeck, and Rose Marie Warner. These people guided tours about the campus, helped teachers give Freshman tests, and assisted at mixers, to help make students feel at home.

New students were not alone, for there are many new teachers this year. They include: Mrs. Phyllis Bock, first grade instructor at Phelps; Dr. Daniel N. Bowman, audio-visual aids and science; Miss Susan Day, phy. ed.; Richard Hopkins, business education; Richard Larsen, sixth grade at Phelps; Earl T. Miller, political science; Marjorie Moravec, phy. ed.; James Opas, biology; Jacque Reidelberger, speech; Lois Simons, registrar; Zoe Swecker, history; Milton Underkoffler, phy. science; James Voorhees, phy. ed.; Dr. James B. Wilcox, art.

Climax to the new week ended in convocation with Dr. M. R. Raymond, Academic Dean, presiding. Miss Agnes Bagd provid ed organ music, and Miss Gail Darrah sang Grieg’s “Soloveig’s Lied,” and Duns. President Nels Minne questioned, “What Can You Get Out of College?” in his address to the convocation.

Newman Club Sends Four to Convention

Four Winona State students were among the 1200 delegates at the National Newman Club Convention in New York. Those who attended the convention were John May, president of the WSC club, Eill Kehl, vice-president; Dorothy Kiefer and Roman Claussen, members of the organization. The convention began Tuesday, Aug. 27, and ran through Saturday, Aug. 31, and was held at the Waldorf-Astoria.

It opened with a Solemn Pontifical Mass at St. Patricks Cathedral. Institutes, workshops, and business meetings were held throughout the week. Convention delegates went on a sight-seeing boat ride around Manhattan and up the Hudson. Box lunches were served aboard the sight-seeing boat, and there was a talent show and dancing for entertainment.

National elections were held Friday night, and Inaugural Banquet and Ball were held the following night in the grand ballroom of the hotel. His Eminence Francis Cardinal Spellman and James A. Farley, who was last year recipient of the John Henry Newman Award, were among the honored guests at the banquet. Dr. Carlson J. H. Hayes, who received the Newman Award this year, was the main speaker.

Total WSC enrollment has failed to reach last year’s high of 931. This is attributed to a slight decrease in the number of freshmen students beginning training. Registration so far this year totals 923.

Library Grant Received

Books and personal papers from the estate of Miss Louise Sutherland were received by Maxwell Library in June. The materials have undergone a preliminary sorting and are now cataloged in the library. Miss Sutherland, who retired from the Winona State Faculty in 1940, had taught kindergarten in the Lab oratory School since 1915. Another of Miss Sutherland’s contributions to the college was the establishment of the Louise Sutherland Kindergarten Scholarship in 1928.

Religious Commissioner Election on Thursday

A special election has been called for Thursday, Oct. 10, to fill the post of Religious Commissioner on the Student Commission. Rose Marie Warner, Marylyn Nyberg and Gilbert Bergstrand have announced their candidacy for the job. The vacancy was created by the resignation of Willa Christianson to Hamline University.

Sup’t. Way Speaks at WSC

Mr. Russell Way, Superintendent of Winona Public Schools, addressed the Teaching of English class on the subject, “What Is a Good English Teacher.” Personal qualities were discussed and, fortunately for students at WSC, the speaker gave a good sense of humor as very important.

Dance to Feature Eddie Howard

Eddie Howard and his Orchestra have been engaged for W.S.C.’s annual Homecoming Dance Oct. 12. Mr. Howard skyrocketed to popularity in 1947 with his record “To Each His Own.” The dance which is semi-formal will be held in the Smog with music from 9 p.m.

Homecoming festivities officially opened this morning during assembly when the girls competing for the honor of Homecoming Queen were introduced to the student body.

Active campaigns were begun Friday and will continue until the elections are over Thursday.

The Queen crowning will take place preceding the talent show Friday evening. The theme for the show is “Out of this World” and will take the audience through time, via a “space machine,” from the Stone Age to the future of the moon.

Approximately eleven area bands and twenty college orchestras are expected to be in the 1 o’clock parade through Winona Saturday afternoon.

Ticket sales will be in three divisions: bands, floats, and baton twirlers.

Immediately following the parade the Homecoming football game with the Northland Lumberjacks will be held at Jefferson Field.

The slogan for the weeks festivities, “Let’s Bog the Loggers,” was carried by Kathy Byr raker. Kathy’s entry was selected by the judges after an all-school competition for two dinners at the New Oaks.

Players to Present Obey’s ‘Noah’

The Wesonok Players, under the direction of Miss Dorothy Magnus, and the technical direction of Mr. Jacque Reidelberger, will present the play “Noah,” written by Andre Obey as its fall production.

The play is a comic fantasy of the story of the Deluge. The play will be presented on stage in Somsen Auditorium; and the tentative dates are November 12 and 13.

Freshmen Are Important; They Have Their Place

It really did our hearts good to see and hear the enthusiasm mustered by the Freshmen at their "capping" ceremony on September 16. In organizations too, the Frosh are eager and willing to show their upper classmen the respect due their positions of lowly Freshmen and to show the respect due their upper classmen.

The lack of such enthusiasm and respect will be punished in Kanga Rock by such methods as were demonstrated in assembly on September 30. This year the policy of Freshman hazing has changed from the watch-setting would be eliminated. (Or do like the editor - don't swing through a soft, subtle set throughout the day. This shouldn't be necessary because there is an allowance to shut it off and to pretend that it never even rang, but at the same time it is necessary to pay heed to that monster that stands on the bedside table or on the dresser across the room.

Perhaps the most frustrating thing is to get up, rush around getting ready to go to class only to find that your clock is wrong. Which finally brings us to the subject at hand.

Just out of curiosity one day we checked several of the clocks around campus to purposely to find that some of them differed in time by one, two, or even three minutes. As most of us well know, this makes a great deal of difference when it comes to making classes on time - especially when a tardy counts as a cut. Although it is not the fault of anyone in particular, the student pays for it.

We have often observed students setting their watches by the clock in their first class, then re-setting them in the second, and so on throughout the day. This shouldn't be necessary because there is an IBM regulator in the office which is supposed to keep them all at the same time. Maybe all of the buildings should be put on such one device, then the time would be universal over the whole campus and the watch-setting would be eliminated. (Or do like the editor -- don't wear a watch. Then the instructors can't tell you to set your watch so you'll make class on time.)

Clocks--Boon or Curse?

Clocks--man's greatest help and at the same time the greatest pest imaginable. When the alarm rings in the morning, it is such a temptation to shut it off and to pretend that it never even rang. At the same time it is necessary to pay heed to that monster that stands on the bedside table or on the dresser across the room.

Money Is Well-Spent on Books

If you are an average student at Winona State College, you spent $14.71 at the Bookstore this fall. Of this, $8.10 was spent on used books, $2.36 on supplies, and $9.19 on new books. You layed out larger or smaller sums depending upon the courses you are taking. If engineering is your main course, you put out the greatest number of dollars, if your major is physical education, you got off the most cheaply. Going from the most expensive courses to the least expensive, the line-up is as follows: engineering, English, business, art, science, music, social science, math, languages, industrial arts, and physical education.

However, whether you spent a lot or a little money on your books this fall, you should keep in mind that your money is wisely invested.

Warrior 11 Tough Says WSC Captain

by Jack McCarl

I was late as I pulled my Ambassador up in front of the Mertes residence. Dave's mother met me at their door and I was welcomed in the house. Dave had just finished enjoying one of his mother's fine suppers when he came to meet me.

I started the pow-wow by asking where the Warriors were going to finish in the conference standings. He answered that it was a difficult question and went on to say this year's squad is as good an outfit as any since he has been at WSC.

"The potential is there and how we use this potential will determine our season's fate. If we use it right we can go all the way," Dave felt.

The mental and physical condition of the team to beat is his answer. All-around spirit is good, injuries are low, but what injuries we do have are with key positions.

The injuries hurt, but they should be compensated for by the reserves," he went on.

"The fan spirit and support that WSC offers is the best in the conference. A new, enlarged and modern beautified Maxwell Field is needed. This adds to the color of the sport and has considerable influence on the team's ability to play their best game," Dave felt.

Having had quite a career in high school and college athletics, Dave is a swell guy. Being named to All-Conference twice and mentioned to Little All-American, the modern faciliated Maxwell Field is needed by good blocking and short running shots over the middle, the Bemidji pass from Second String Quarterback, Jim Emfield, to his gang can have quite a bit of glory in the final period after Winona's next TD which came late in the third quarter.

Failing to duplicate their fast start of the week before, Winona finally captured its third win in as many games for the Beavers.

Peds Host Northland In Homecoming Game

Winona State College evened its nonconference record at 1-1 by defeating the Dahawks of Loras 30-7 at Dubuque, Iowa, on Sept. 21.

The Warriors dropped their opener, a 20-13 heartbreaker, to Stout Institute of Menomonie, Wis., at Jefferson Field Sept. 14.

General feeling among players, coach, and fans was that Winona State had the better personnel, but seven opponent recoveries of seven WSC fumbles greatly hampered State's attack and caused its downfall.

Of these fumbles, five of them came in the second half in which Stout overcame a 13-0 halftime deficit to win. An analysis of the game totals reveals Winona's over-all superiority, WSC ground out 191 yards rushing and 42 on three completed passes by Bill Morse for a total of 233. The Warriors' defensive held the Bluedevils to 150 yards, including 40 through the air.

Winona State matched 57 yards to pay dirt the first time they got their hands on the ball. Bill Morse sneaked over from the two, but Bob Welsh's kick went wide and it was 6-0.

With seven minutes left to play in the first half, Winona again broke through for a TD. This time Don Segermark, Warrior fullback, plowed five yards through the Beaver defense led by Pieper and Miller on the Winona 28 into the end zone. Quarterback, Jim Emfield, to his gang can have quite a bit of glory in the final period after Winona's next TD which came late in the third quarter.

Score 19-8 Victory At Jefferson Field

The Winona Warriors won their opening MSCC game by downing the Beavers of Bemidji 19-8 at Jefferson Field Sept. 28. This was also their second consecutive win in three games. It was the third loss in as many games for the Beavers.

The first touchdown was set up as Lavern Peiper recovered a Bemidji fumble on the 27 yard line. A few plays later, Bemidji lost Yard 10 to a punished Bob Welsh pass. Winona's Jim Emfield picked up the loose ball and ran it down to the Bemidji 12.

At this point another Bemidji fumble was recovered by Winona's Johnny Pieterse.

About eight plays later the ped's had a first down on the Beaver four yard line. Halfback Dick Brown dove over and Winona posed a 12-0 lead in the second period. WSCs missed the extra point. In the same quarter Bemidji had a touchdown nullified by a hold.

In the third quarter Winona's Dave never thought about going to a bigger university or college and glamour.

"The job of being captain is not so much a technical one as it is a 'holster-guy' position in football," asserts Mertes. Wrapping the victory margin. The final score — Winona 13 m ild Stout 20.

The ensuing series of Beaver plays to a 25 yard line. A pass from Quarterback Neil Hendrickson to Halfback Gerry Gempl penetrated the WSC line covering 52 yards.

Winona took over down close to their own goal line. A play later, Bob Welsh bobbled a Morse pass moment, picked 17 up and then Duane Martin of Bemidji nailed him in the end zone for a safety. Score, WSC 12, BSC 2.

The series of plays resulted in a move to the 26 yard line. A walk in Homecoming Game
