State Offers New Work-Relief Plan

A Federal Plan for a Work-Relief Project in college education has been evolved by the State Re- lief Administration.

Those eligible for this opportunity are expected to prove their financial need and give evidence of good scholastic ability as well as promise of future success in their chosen field of work. The State Relief Administration has promised aid to twenty students in college, and it is by this administration that the applicants are selected.

The college must pay the first month paid by the government, in the case of students who must work to dowi their work; the college will do all work for the college.

At the beginning of the winter quarter, twenty-five new students were enrolled. Six of those who are new to the college, the others being a part of the student body at one time. Those who enroll during the winter quarter are: Margaret Hopp, Winona; Frederick Johnson, Gilbert; Fred Kisling, Winona; Barbara Lind- sey, Spring Valley; Gertrude Nelson, Buffalo; Harold Nelson, Rice Lake, Wis.; Lorraine Parna, Spring Valley; Robert Schneider, Albert Lea; Leonard Neve, Waseca; Sidney Schmidt, Winona; Robert Melchert, Winona; Mary Cassiday, Rochester; William Owens, Winona; Grace Gordon, St. Paul; Clara Welch, Winona; John Wachs, also a freshman in the college.

In the college, twenty-six students have an average of B. They are: Lauren Amdahl, Maple Grove, Winona; Eleanor Bauer, Albert Lea; Isabel Drewing, St. Charles; Calvin Grools, Red Wing; Evelyn Grosoy, Stockton; William Owens, Winona; E. F. Eagan, Hills.

A national honor forensic fraternity is being organized in the college, with the work of the debate being directed towards a general standard of English effect.

The college orchestra under the direction of Dr. Minne, the students preparing for the high school debate season, is spending the first month in discussing some of the fundamentals of organization.

During February several debates have been scheduled with other colleges and teachers colleges.

Thus far, Winona State Teachers College is scheduled to debate the colleges of St. Thomas, St. Paul, on February 2, and the Eau Claire State Teachers College on February 19.

Arrangements are under way for a triangular debate between teams from Moorhead, St. Cloud, and Winona State Teachers Colleges.

This year a new form of debate is to be introduced. Extemporaneous debates on current topics are to be arranged by St. Olaf College.

"These extemporaneous debates," Dr. Minne explained, "will be held on topics suggested by the students on the participating colleges."

The debate question for this year is: "What are the responsibilities of the state government as to the education of the children of the state?"

The happy maiden, JsonRequestBehavior", played by Marie Burmeister, and the cunning youth, Brian Suggs, played by Frank Wachowiak, were ideal lovers as they added merriment to the family. Winifred Snyder, as Lady Marian, appeared just as fit as only a few months ago. The happy maiden, in the month played by Marie Burmeister, was the beautiful antagonist for the beautiful maiden. "We Move in New Directions," in a candid and discriminating manner, explores the possibilities of the new social atmosphere, up a complete conception of social responsibility from the findings of the social economists. The author, a professor and head of the Department of Philosophy and Psychology, has practical experience in New York, a practical modern philosophy of life that is material in such a way as to make the reader feel ready and deeply interested in the subject of the book.

The book is comprised of three parts: part one, "Toward Economic Democracy," part two, "Rethinking," and part three, "Ways Ahead." Each section is full of interesting theories and applications.

There comes time in the history of a city, or in that of a newspaper, when, with changing conditions, old conceptions suddenly reveal them- selves as inadequate, or misdirected, or actually destructive of true ends. A college is like a newspaper in this respect. It is to be hoped that events which most part, remains obscure unless called forth at times of crisis. It is within your power, fellow-students, to set up standards or judgments necessary.

Our school should stand for more than scholarship. A million dollars in what the school really stands for and is trying to get results. Yes, and that perfect college was W.S.T.C. Surely there isn't any coed anymore. The nation's coed. From now.

Orchestra rehearsals are being held practically twice a week to enable the members to receive credit toward graduation for work in the college organizations. "Election to a Fellowship in this society," said Mr. Owens, "is based primarily upon membership in a scientific fraternity and scientific work done." Voting power is granted just to the Fellows of the organization.

Special Honors Given Faculty
Two more members of the W.S.-T.C. faculty have recently achieved distinction in some notable work.

In the December issue of the Minnesota Journal of Education there is a notable article written by Miss Dorothy Clark on one of America’s foremost radio photographers, Adolf Dehn. The article is one of the series on Minnesota artists which are being written by different art instructors in the state.
