President of Panama Impeached

Farmer Kills Wife, Self; 2 Beaten Children Survive

STEVENS POINT, Wis. (AP)—A young Portage County farmer shot his pregnant wife to death, then killed himself today, Portage County Sheriff Florian Krutza said, after beating his two young sons and stuffing them into a roadside culvert.

Krutza identified the man as Peter Mocaldo, 35, and said Mocaldo shot his 31-year-old wife to death in the living room of their home, then turned his 16 gauge shotgun against his own head.

The murder and suicide came, Krutza said, while authorities were on their way to the farmhouse following discovery of the little boys.

The children, aged five and three, were found in the culvert by two men who stopped to help Mocaldo free his stalled car, then noticed tracks in the snow leading to the culvert.

They took the little boys to a Stevens Point hospital, where they were reported in serious condition.

Krutza said Mocaldo's brother John told him Peter "hadn't been normal since the war." He said Peter complained occasionally that his wife had been "giving him dope."

The sheriff quoted John as saying Peter had served in combat in Europe during World War II. Alvin Berna and Steve Perzewski, who stopped to help Mocaldo when they saw his car stuck in a snowdrift near the culvert, told Krutza that Mocaldo seemed "wild," and aroused their curiosity to check his path to the culvert after he had left them.

The Mocaldo farm home was in the town of Stockton, about nine miles east of Stevens Point. Krutza said he was unable to determine the exact chronology of the tragedy. The little boys were found about 9 a.m., but Krutza said Mrs. Mocaldo may have been dead at that time, with her husband returning later to kill himself. The expectant mother died with a Rosary clenched in one hand, the sheriff said.

Both boys were in serious but apparently not critical condition.

Senate Plans To Continue Hunt for Reds

84-0 Verdict Given in Senate Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic senators said today their party's future activities in ferreting out Communists will answer a bitter challenge flung by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) at their leaders' sincerity.

The Senate by unanimous 84-0 vote yesterday approved a resolution denouncing Communism and endorsing continued investigation of the Communist conspiracy.

House action is not required. The resolution, sponsored by Sen. Daniel (D-Tex.) and 53 other senators, was approved by the votes of 87 Democrats, 46 Republicans and one independent.

But McCarthy questioned some Democrats' sincerity, saying he thinks some voted for the resolution to get "the stench from their skirts" resulting, he said, from prior conduct.

Twice McCarthy was required by Sen. Long (D-La.), the temporary presiding officer, to halt his speech and be seated on grounds he had violated Senate rules against "unworthy or unbecoming" conduct to other senators. Each time he was allowed to resume.

Implicate in Slaying of His Predecessor

Request for Leave Denied By Assembly

By LUIS NOLI

PANAMA (AP)—The National Assembly today impeached President Jose Ramon Guizado and ordered his arrest and trial on a charge of plotting the assassination of his predecessor, Jose Antonio Remon.

Then, after almost four hours of a special session which started at 3:30 a.m., the lawmakers swore in Second Vice President Ricardo Arias Espinosa as the third chief executive of this strategic central American republic in two weeks.

The Assembly was summoned to hear the sensational confession of Ruben Miro, a prominent lawyer, that he carried out the shooting of Remon at a race track here on Jan. 2 with Guizado's full knowledge. Guizado, as first vice president became President immediately after the killing.

Under House Arrest

Under house arrest since Friday, he assailed Miro's story as "senseless."

Guizado had asked the Assembly for a leave of absence pending investigation of the charges against him.

But the lawmakers turned down the request after hearing a chamber clerk read the confession from Miro, who said he was the man who fired into a lighted enclosure at the race track, killing President Remon and two others.

Arias, who also is the foreign minister, was sworn into office at 7:16 a.m.

Miro's confession said the murder plot was carried out at the instigation and with the knowledge of Guizado and the latter's business partner, Rodolfo Saint Malo. It said Guizado's son Jose Ramon Jr. also was in the plot.

The younger Guizado, Saint Malo and Tomas Nieves Perez, another member of the construction firm headed by the president, were arrested yesterday.

Miro said he had been promised the government and justice ministry in the national Cabinet as his reward for the assassination of Remon. He said no money was involved.

According to the confession, made to authorities yesterday, Miro carried out the killing alone. He said he borrowed the machine-gun used in the shooting from a Panamanian who formerly attended a technical school in Guatemala.

Confession Read

Miro's confession was read by the Assembly's clerk to the special session, which began only a few hours after Guizado sent the chamber's president his request for a leave.

Guizado acted after Cabinet ministers called at his police-guarded home to inform him officially of the charges against him. The president reportedly asked to be given until 9 a.m. to decide his next step but authorities apparently were determined to press for his removal from office.

In his message to the Assembly, Guizado said he was asking for the leave "until the acts imputed to me through the senseless declarations made by Ruben Miro are cleared up."

A lawyer in his early 40s, Miro is widely known as an "official defender"—a legal officer whose duty it is to defend persons too poor to afford counsel.

Five steel helmeted policemen, armed with machineguns, stood guard around Guizado's home in the fashionable La Cresta section of this capital city. A source close to the investigation said the guard was set up to "protect the president against any popular reaction and for the purpose of avoiding new tragedies, the consequences of which would be incalculable."

Guizado, a former student at Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn., served as first vice president and foreign minister under Remon. He stepped up automatically to the presidency after Remon's assassination.

The former president was machine-gunned to death 13 days ago as he sat chatting with friends in a brilliantly lighted pavilion at the Juan Franco Race Track, four miles from the city.

Despite an intensive hunt, authorities announced the discovery of few clues, except that the murder weapons were German-made machineguns.

Ike Pledges Full Backing to U.N. In Airmen Talks

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold was assured today of full U.S. support for his further efforts to obtain the release of 11 American airmen imprisoned in Red China.

The assurance came from President Eisenhower who said the "fundamental thing" is the safe return of the airmen, and added in a public statement: "We must support the U.N. in its efforts so long as those efforts hold out any promise of success."

The statement was issued yesterday in what was reported to be a move to forestall tough talk from members of Congress and others, lest this in some manner endanger the safety of the imprisoned men or their chances for freedom.

Administration officials are privately hopeful Hammarskjold's recent mission to Peiping will lead eventually to the release of the airmen and possibly other U. N. personnel held by the Chinese Reds.

Hammarskjold told a news conference in New York yesterday his mission had constituted a successful first step and the way for further negotiation was open. But he gave no details.

Hammarskjold reported, presumably in detail, to Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. at U.N. headquarters and yesterday Lodge reported to Secretary of State Dulles at Omaha, Neb., where both had gone for a briefing on the operations of the Strategic Air Command.

Dulles talked with Eisenhower by telephone and the presidential statement was released after that talk.

The President said first reaction to the failure to obtain immediate release of the airmen "quite naturally . . . is disappointing."

"All of us are rightly aroused," the President added, "that our airmen have not been long since released by their Communist captors in accordance with the clear terms of the Korean armistice."

The men were taken by the Chinese Reds two years ago during the Korean War. Last November the Peiping regime suddenly announced they had been sentenced as spies on charges the United States denounced as baseless.

After the announcement of the sentences, various demands were made, chiefly in Congress, that the United States take strong action—blockading the China coast if necessary—to force the release of the men.

Eisenhower said in his statement yesterday "it will not be easy for us to refrain from giving expression to thoughts of reprisal or retaliation. Yet this (expression) is what we must not now do."

"We will not fall into a Communist trap and through impetuous words or deeds endanger the lives of those imprisoned airmen who wear the uniform of our country."

Game of Toss Fatal To Baby Was Fear Cure, Father Says

MADISON (AP)—A detective told Superior Court Friday that a Truxfield officer, charged with manslaughter in the death of his baby stepson, said he wanted to drop the child "to remove the baby's fear of falling."

Detective Elroy Beckman testified that Lt. David R. Taylor, 24, admitted he tossed the 15-month-old baby, Steven, in the air about 15 times and caught him as he touched the floor.

The child died of a skull fracture last Nov. 13 after its head struck the floor.

St. Lawrence Seaway Contracts Set for September

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress was told Friday that construction contracts for the St. Lawrence Seaway will be awarded by September and the project will be a financial success.

A report on the status of the 105-million-dollar project was sent to Congress by President Eisenhower.

Former Costa Rican President Teodoro Picado, 55, left, whose son Teodoro Jr., right, is chief of the rebels attacking Costa Rica, has been placed under house arrest in Managua, Nicaragua, it was announced Friday. Picado Sr. has been living in Nicaragua in exile, serving as Nicaraguan President Anastasio Somoza's secretary. Picado Jr., a graduate of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point. (UP Telephoto)

Americas Condemn Costa Rica Attack

WASHINGTON (AP)—Without blaming the government of Nicaragua, the Organization of American States has put its finger on that Central American nation as the source of an invasion of neighboring Costa Rica.

Meanwhile, Costa Rican forces were reported closing in rapidly on La Cruz, in the northwest tip of the beleaguered country, where an enemy band has grabbed a small area.

Meeting late into the night, the OAS Council adopted a resolution in which it said its on-scene investigation commission had reported "a substantial part of the war material was introduced over the northern border" of Costa Rica. Nicaragua is Costa Rica's sole neighbor to the north. The commission also reported to OAS headquarters here that a large part of the "military elements" came into Costa Rica from Nicaragua.

The Council—representing the 21 American republics—formally condemned the attack on Costa Rica. It asked the Nicaraguan government to act more decisively to choke off war material going across its southern border.

At the same time, the Council ordered its commission to send observers to "any place which might be utilized for transport of troops or military equipment toward Costa Rica." In this connection, the commission was instructed to have its observers visit all airports "in the region affected." Council President Jose Mora said this "of course includes Nicaragua."

The five-nation commission announced in San Jose it had accepted an invitation from the Nicaraguan government to visit that country today.

Costa Rica has accused the Nicaraguan government of having a hand in the invasion, which has been accompanied by bombing and machine-gunning of Costa Rican towns.

Body of Pilot Who Bailed Out Of Jet Found

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The body of world speed pilot James B. Verdin, 36, who bailed out of his F-86 jet bomber six miles above the earth Thursday, has been found after perhaps the biggest search ever made on the Mojave Desert.

The Douglas Aircraft Corp. test pilot lay 2 1/2 miles from the wreckage of his A-4D Skyhawk when searchers reached the body yesterday. The plane wreckage had been found the night before, 15 miles northwest of Victorville and 100 miles northeast of here.

Verdin's unopened parachute was still strapped to his body. The plane's ejection seat lay nearby, indicating the pilot had cleared the seat as he began his 30,000-foot fall to earth.

Col. Howard Knapp, surgeon general at Edwards Air Force Base near the crash scene, said Verdin apparently died on impact rather than fall.

It could not be determined immediately why Verdin was unable to get the chute open, Douglas officials said. Neither was it learned at once if he was wearing a standard-type parachute, requiring a manual pull to open it, or an automatic type pre-set to open at a given altitude.

More than 2,000 ground searchers and scores of Air Force, Navy, sheriff's and Douglas planes fanned out over a 10,000-square-mile area in the 23-hour search for Verdin after he tersely radioed Edwards AFB, "I'm in trouble. I'm leaving."

He didn't have time to say what the trouble was.

He was testing the Skyhawk in the 30,000 to 35,000-foot altitude range. The plane, called the "Mighty Midget" by Navy fliers, is capable of flying 600 m.p.h.

Legislature Awaits Freeman's Budget

By ADOLPH JOHNSON

ST. PAUL (AP)—Members of the Minnesota Legislature got set this week to receive Gov. Freeman's budget message, passed their first bill, introduced a flood of new proposals and went home for the weekend with a piece of good news.

The good news came from Gov. Freeman. He revealed late Thursday that the amount needed from his proposed budget had been cut from about 27 million dollars to less than 15 million.

The governor has already made public a good many details of the budget message he will deliver Wednesday, including the total, but he has carefully withheld his proposed tax program. He has said he will recommend expenditures totaling 167 million dollars for the next two years, compared with 155 million budgeted for the current two-year period.

Delivery of the budget message will signal the start of real work for the Senate Finance Committee and the House Appropriations Committee. Using the governor's budget as a basis, they will hear and request from all state departments before making allowances.

The Senate Finance Committee adopted a new procedure. Instead of meeting in full committee for hearings, the group will be divided into seven subcommittees to listen to requests in several fields. Subcommittees will submit recommendations for action to the full committee.

The first bill to be passed indicated that this Legislature will scrutinize all money requests carefully. As sent to the governor for his signature, the measure provides $18,000 to pay a staff of bill drafters. The Legislature cut the original request by $2,000 after learning some money was already available.

Monster Winter Storm Plowing Through Atlantic

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A monster of a winter storm was plowing along through the North Atlantic today, heading away from the American mainland.

Ships reported steady winds of 65 m.p.h. and gusts were even higher. The entire disturbance was moving about 12 to 15 m.p.h. in a northeasterly direction.

The storm, about 1,600 miles across, was discovered yesterday. It was affecting weather along almost the entire west side of the North Atlantic.

Relatively light winds were reported Friday night in Nova Scotia, Brunswick and Newfoundland.

The high winds sent rescue vessels out to aid three ships.

The Honduran freighter Myrto reported she was out of fuel 40 miles east of Bermuda and was being belted by winds ranging up to 68 miles an hour. The Coast Guard sent a cutter from Bermuda.

An American freighter, the Steel, sent an SOS signal yesterday and reported the heavy seas had broken a ballast tank vent pipe and the tank had taken water, causing a 15-degree list. Later the captain, Victor E. Raymond, of Baltimore, Md., radioed he had the vessel back on an even keel.

5 Die, 3 Hurt In Two State Auto Crashes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The second multiple death auto accident in less than 12 hours killed three persons near Lake Crystal early today when two cars collided head-on.

Friday evening two high school students were killed near Mountain Lake. Their car missed a dead end turn as they drove to a basketball game. Three other teen-agers were injured, two critically.

The five deaths raised Minnesota's traffic toll to 38 for the year, two more than on this date a year ago.

Dead in the Lake Crystal crash were Willard Laird Sr., 39, Rt. 1, Markato, sole occupant of one car, and Arthur Dale Lewis, 24, and Bernard J. Kopischke, 22, both of Lake Crystal, riding in the second machine.

The crash was believed to have occurred about 3:45 a.m. It was discovered by a passing motorist about 20 minutes later. The wrist watch of one of the victims had stopped at 3:45.

Highway patrolmen said the two cars apparently met head-on on Highway 60, two miles east of Lake Crystal.

Dead in the Mountain Lake accident were Douglas Goertzen, 17, Bingham Lake and Gwyneth Wenberg, 17, Mountain Lake.

Critically hurt were Vera Harder, 18, Butterfield and Marlys Harder, 17, Bingham Lake.

Less seriously injured was the car's driver, Norman Friesen, 16, of Bingham Lake.

The five Mountain Lake high school basketball fans were on their way to a game at Jackson when the car missed a right angle turn and crashed into a ditch.

TODAY Ike Keeps Politicians Guessing

By STEWART ALSOP

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower bids fair to do at least as good a job as President Franklin Roosevelt, when it comes to baffling and bemusing the country about his intentions. Asked whether he would run again, Roosevelt used to resort to a mixture of humor and cynicism, as a sort of conditioned reflex. Eisenhower's conditioned reflex is earnestness, which turns out to be even more difficult to interpret than coy humor.

The President gave a good demonstration of how to baffle people by being earnest a few days ago, at the most recent of the newly inaugurated series of White House political dinners. Former New York Gov. Thomas E. Dewey was the leading dinner guest, and in a period of relaxation over coffee and cigars, Dewey boldly introduced the question of the President's running again.

According to several of those present, Dewey was decidedly emphatic, clearly implying that it was the President's duty to accept the Republican nomination. This sentiment was heartily applauded by the twenty or so Republicans present, who then waited with bated breath to hear the President's response.

Great Force

The President talked with great force, immense earnestness, and the abrupt hand-chopping gestures which are typical of him. He left his guests impressed—but wholly unlightened. He talked about the need to attract young people into the party—"young in spirit, if not in years." He talked of the need to identify the party with a "moderate, progressive, middle-of-the-road philosophy."

He said that this was the kind of party the voters wanted, and he wanted, But, he added, he just did not believe in the theory of "the indispensable man." There were many men in the Republican party capable of handling the presidency—"some right here in this room"—and it was his party's job to bring these men forward, to build them up, and develop their abilities.

The obvious question was whether the President had 1956 or 1960 principally in mind, when he was holding forth on the necessity for building up presidential hopefuls. But no one thought—or perhaps no one dared—to ask this question.

Father of Jailed Pilot Talks With Dulles and Lodge

OMAHA, Mo.—The Omaha World Herald today said the father of one of the American pilots imprisoned in Red China was given a personal report yesterday by Secretary of States Dulles and Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., U.S. delegate to the U.N.

The newspaper, in a copyrighted story, told how G. G. Parks of Omaha had dinner with the diplomats at Strategic Air Command Headquarters last night.

The story quoted Parks as saying he left Dulles and Lodge with the feeling his son will be released soon "unless something turns up here like a blockade or bombing that might make the Reds change their mind."

The son is 1st Lt. Roland Parks, one of four American jet pilots held.

Parks said he was told U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld had received word from Red China "the fighter boys will not be sentenced and will be well taken care of."

Science Academy Backs 10 Students

Scholarship funds administered by the Minnesota Academy of Science are sending 10 promising students to college, according to L. A. Ford, Mankato State Teachers College, president of the academy.

Awards are made to high school graduates who have outstanding records in scholarship and extracurricular interests but need financial help during the freshman year.

Funds for the scholarship program are received from Minnesota industries and from individuals who are seriously concerned with the growing shortage of technically trained man-power in a scientific age. Grants of $225 each were awarded.

Five students with interests in an engineering program are enrolled in the Institute of Technology at the University of Minnesota. Others are at St. Cloud Teachers College, St. Olaf College, St. Thomas, Harvard and the University (a nursing student).

Among the scholarship winners is William H. Offen, Harmony, specializing in physics at St. Olaf College.

The critical shortage of trained scientists has made the industry-scholarship program a permanent and continuing part of the academy's activities. To further an interest in science, regional science fairs are coordinated by the academy on a statewide basis. One of them is scheduled at Winona State Teachers College.

Coroner's Jury Rules in Death At Independence

Driver Negligent, But Not Wantonly, In Highway Crash

INDEPENDENCE, Wis. (Special) — A coroner's jury deliberated only 20 minutes Friday afternoon before finding that Lemoine Nelson, Independence, was negligent in the operation of his truck in a fatal accident three miles north of Independence Dec. 24.

But the jury, probing the death of Albert D. Marsolek, 65, Independence, driver of a car involved in a head-on collision with Nelson's truck on Highway 92, found that Marsolek's death was not the result of wanton negligence or willful intent on the part of anyone involved. Continuation of the justice court case was set for 2 p.m. Tuesday before P. M. Paulson. Nelson was charged Dec. 28 with failing to operate his vehicle in the right half of the roadway and with driving at a speed greater than reasonable under existing conditions.

Earlier testimony. The inquest opened Dec. 30 with Trempealeau County Coroner Martin A. Wiemer presiding and was adjourned to Friday after hearing the testimony of Traffic Officer Maurice Scow, Melvin Bloom, Elk Creek buttermaker; Wiemer; Sheriff Ernest Axness; Nelson and his brother, Lloyd, and Colonel Larson, a Whitehall photographer who took pictures at the scene of the accident.

Sheriff Axness said Friday he sent samples of blood, taken from the Nelsons about an hour and 15 minutes after the accident, to clinical pathologists at Milwaukee for tests.

It was revealed Friday that the tests showed that both Nelsons had an alcoholic blood content less than 50 per cent of the minimum considered intoxicating by Wisconsin statute.

Dr. R. L. MacCormack said the men submitted to the tests willingly. Lemoine Nelson lost parts of his front teeth in the crash and suffered gum injuries. His brother was not injured.

Ernest Sobotta was foreman of the jury, which included Ed Wolfe, Roman Giemza, Philip Steiner, Chris Dascher and Ben Wozney.

Speed Estimated. At the earlier session of the inquest, Lemoine Nelson had testified that he had turned on the headlights of the truck when he and his brother left Elk Creek about 4:30 p.m. but that he did not see Marsolek's car and did not know there was a vehicle ahead until he felt the impact. He estimated his speed at 45 miles per hour.

Nelson admitted having a can of beer, a shot of whisky and a junior bottle of beer after 1 p.m. Dec. 24 when he arrived at the creamery. He said he had no noon meal. The accident occurred about 5 p.m.

Scow said that the testimony was the same as that given during questioning at the sheriff's office the night of the accident. He also said he had been told that the car had no lights and found the light switch on the Marsolek car was turned off when he arrived about 10 minutes after the accident, but added that this could have been a result of the impact.

Sheriff Axness corroborated the traffic officer's testimony.

Careless Driving, Gasoline Refund Charges Brought

A Winona County farmer, Robert F. Norton, was fined $25 at a special session of court Friday on a charge of making a false statement Dec. 9 in claiming tax refunds for gasoline which was used in a motor vehicle driven on a public highway. The complaint charging Norton with the violation was signed by E. W. Bringsgaard, St. Paul, of the office of the state commissioner of taxation.

Do Welfare Work At 'Grass Roots,' Says Leirfallom

ST. PAUL (AP) — Welfare work should be carried out to a larger extent at "grass roots" levels with the state exercising supervisory control, says Jarle Leirfallom, stepping down as state welfare director.

Talking to a dinner audience gathered in his honor Friday night, Leirfallom said the welfare problem called for social improvements and betterment of living in a broad sense rather than through working with individuals and families requiring such services.

"Social work needs to develop a convincing bedside manner of its own, consisting of real concern for people which overshadows any financial or material considerations," Leirfallom said.

Citing his own case, Leirfallom, who resigned to make way for an appointee of the new Democratic Farmer Labor administration, said he doubted whether modern government could be set up on such a career basis that it can attract and hold attention of young men and women who wish to make careers of public service.

"I am dropping this career and will try to sell my knowledge and experience to someone just at the point in life when I should be at my best," Leirfallom said.

After adding that this would not be a major problem if it involved only an occasional individual, he concluded:

"The major tragedy is in its implications for others who observe this process and conclude that government is not the place for energetic persons to build careers."

Historical Society to Honor Old Settlers

Winona County's Historical Society will hold an open meeting honoring the county's Old Settlers Association Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the assembly room on the second floor of the YMCA.

Dr. Lewis I. Younger, president of the society, will preside at a membership meeting, with an entertainment program slated to get under way at 8 p.m.

Special guests for the evening's entertainment will be the boards of directors of the Old Settlers Association, the Winona County Farm Bureau and the Margaret Simpson Home.

Top item on the evening's program will be a tribute to Mrs. Thomas (Isabella Margaret Holstein) Simpson, wife of an early president of the Old Settlers Association. In conjunction with the ceremony, Mrs. M. L. Spencer, vice president of the historical society, will narrate a history of Margaret Simpson's life, "History in Miniature."

Mrs. Simpson, who died at her Winona home Dec. 21, 1888, was renowned here for her work among the poor and unfortunate. In recognition of her life of charity, there has been established in Winona since her death a charitable organization known as the Margaret Simpson Home.

Sometime after her death, the Winona Republican said, in part: "The greatest power of the Christian church and the best evidence of its divine origin is in the Christ-like characters it produces. One of these 'living epistles known and read of all men' passed from the church militant to the church triumphant when Mrs. Isabella Margaret Simpson died."

"In October of 1860, she was married to Thomas Simpson and removed to Winona, where she entered upon a life of active beneficence in which every good cause and every human interest had a place. During the war for the Union, thousands of soldiers passed through Winona on their way to and from the seat of war, and as secretary of the Soldiers' Aid Society, she engaged in arduous labors in their behalf. She ministered to the sick and the wounded and enshrined herself forever in the gratitude of the men who saved the nation."

"In the Women's Foreign Missionary Society, the Women's Home Missionary Society, the Women's Christian Temperance Union, in city mission work and every church and local charity, she was a foremost worker and leader . . . seeking out the lowly and lost . . . a friend in need, who seemed to always know how to do the right thing at the right time in the right way."

"Mrs. Simpson had a vigorous intellect, a sound judgment, a firm will, a warm heart and a controlling conscience . . . giving her wisdom, insight, skill, tact, sympathy, gentleness and force . . . a character of rare strength and symmetry."

Other items on Tuesday's program are: The YMCA "Whirlers," with dances of the pioneers, and Miss Caryl Werner, songs of the pioneers.

Hostesses for a social hour following the program are Mrs. Harry Busdicker, Mrs. Frank Sheehan, Miss Leona McGill and Miss Edna Nelson.

This amount, which is approximately $106,076 more than on the tax rolls last year, represents state, county, local and local school district taxes of the 15 towns, four villages and six cities in the county whose equalized valuation was fixed by the county board last November at $53,642,555.

Last year the total property taxes in the county were approximately $50,000 more than the previous year.

In the village of Ettrick they are about the same as last year and in Independence they are the same.

Local school taxes are higher in all districts except the towns of Albion, Dodge, Preston, Sumner and Trempealeau and remain about the same as last year in the town of Caledonia and Elba. Local school taxes are also lower this year in the city of Blair.

Ad Alley Pickups

Saturday, January 15, 1955

A brief mention of interesting items about people, business places and campaigns as compiled by The Winona Daily News ad department.

Paul Gregg, above, is the new assistant manager of Sallet's Department Store, according to an announcement by Manager B. R. Shumski. Gregg is a native of Tracy, Minn., and recently was in the clothing business at Bemidji. He is a genial fellow and has had many years of experience in the department store business. He is rooming in Winona until he finds a house for his wife and two children who are still in Bemidji. Anyone have a modern, two-bedroom house for Paul?

Tire prices, up 5% in the last few months, are headed still higher. Both U.S. Rubber and Goodyear have just announced 2 1/2% to 5% price boosts because of continuing high crude-rubber prices. The rest of the industry will probably follow suit. Predictions are for an overall 8% boost by June.

Chevrolet won the 1954 auto-production race by a hair, but Ford claims the sales lead for the first time since 1935, though final sales figures will not be in until February. Though Chevy made 1,414,286 cars to Ford's 1,394,657, Ford claims that it sold more. In 1953 Chevy outproduced Ford by nearly 20%, yet sold only 17% more cars.

H. V. McNamara, president of National Tea Co., has announced

Bruce E. Miller is the new director of advertising and merchandising for the Plymouth Division of Chrysler Corporation. Miller previously was national advertising manager. He has had wide experience in the automobile business, serving both as a publication editor and field representative.

Stillwater A. of C. Writes Freeman On Swenson 'Firing'

STILLWATER, Minn. (AP) — The Stillwater Assn. of Commerce Friday released a letter it sent to Gov. Orville L. Freeman objecting to the "dismissal" of Edwin T. Swenson, Stillwater Prison warden. Swenson resigned Saturday, saying he was leaving his job because of ill health. He later said "politics" entered into his resignation.

"The entire community is aroused and indignantly disturbed over this incident," the letter said, "and any advantage gained by paying a political debt has been more than offset by the decline in the confidence of this community in the new administration."

The letter was signed by M. R. Smart, association secretary.

Goodby to Junk Mail March 31

Postmaster-General Arthur E. Summerfield has acknowledged defeat. Last year he turned the mail over to the advertisers. They could send bales of their literature to the post office, addressed merely "Occupant" or some such phrase. Each carrier had to take one piece for every house on his route, regardless of whether he had anything else to deliver there. Often recipients had to throw out half the day's delivery before they found the letters really addressed to them.

This junk mail was detested by the carriers, loathed by the recipients and costly to the taxpayers. An ever-rising tide of criticism caused the leaders of the new Democratic Congress to promise investigation into the administration policy. Now Postmaster-General Summerfield has announced that this advertisers' privilege will cease on March 31.

Why was it ever granted? The theory that it would save the cost of handling mail was soon abandoned, when the direct mail advertisers jumped at their chance and printed extra leaflets, beyond the post office's wildest estimate.

The real reason for the scheme must have been the hope of promoting sales and bettering business, considerations which weigh heavily with the cabinet. That this meant a subsidy by taxpayers was not thought an objection, although many of its advocates oppose on principle subsidies to agriculture.

The tacit confession of departmental error should guarantee that this experiment will not soon be repeated.

Larger Cities Not Doomed to Oblivion

Despite their traffic problems and the flight of industry to the suburbs, large cities in America are not doomed to oblivion. Not only are they involved in huge public redevelopment projects, but private parties are investing considerable sums in large municipal building projects.

Private capital is financing a $41,000,000 office building in Chicago, first in 20 years. Private developers also have leased air rights over existing railroad tracks west of Chicago's Loop, where a $100,000,000 project is planned.

Similar projects are under way in Cleveland, Denver, Kansas City, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Baltimore, Boston and New Haven. None of these projects have come about automatically. All have required advanced and extensive planning, often lasting over a period of years.

But they do show that no problem is insurmountable. Any municipality with the proper leadership and imagination can take similar steps to overcome its problems. Moreover, it is becoming obvious that no municipality, large or small, can afford to sit back and neglect its growing troubles. Competition of the true American variety is developing among cities and towns for existing business. Those willing to invest in their own future will be able to meet this competition.

Jewish Soldiers in Friendly Gesture

An old soldier advising a recruit once laid down this simple rule for getting along in the service:

"Keep your eyes and ears open, your mouth shut and never volunteer."

This advice is usually pretty sound as any serviceman or veteran can tell you. Yet at Ft. Dix at Christmas some 400 soldiers volunteered. The reason they did deserves comment.

The volunteers were Jewish. They asked that they be assigned to all kitchen and guard details over the Christmas holiday so that their Christian fellow-soldiers might enjoy the holiday undisturbed.

It was a fine gesture and a fine Christmas present. It was a splendid example of how Americans of all faiths can live together in mutual respect and cooperation. The volunteers rate a special salute for their unselfish and thoughtful gesture.

We note that while Austin's nonhomestead tax rate next year will be 218.7 mills, as compared to 176.32 at Albert Lea and 176.38 at Winona, we don't suppose there is a single one of our approximately 25,000 citizens who would want to live in any other Minnesota city. They will kick about the tax rate but many, privately, will concede that it's well worth it.—Austin Daily Herald.

Safe Driving Day is officially over, but that's no reason for forgetting the policies it represents. The government cannot reduce the traffic accident rate. Only the individual driver can do that.

Inside, Outside Trade Explained

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

NEW YORK —The British are setting up a tougher policy to control the export of strategic goods to the countries of the Soviet Universal State, including Red China. The announcement of this new policy makes an interesting distinction between "inside" and "outside" their country. "Inside" Great Britain, they can control the movement of their exports; "outside" the country, it is another matter. And that applies to the United States as well.

Let us say, a cargo is purchased in the United States or Great Britain by a Belgian or Dutch or Mexican citizen (the nationality does not matter and is used here only as an example). The cargo is placed on a ship to be delivered to a friendly port. On arrival there, the cargo disappears in the market place; in due course, if traceable at all, it shows up in an Iron Curtain country. Or, the cargo may disappear altogether, sort of internationally hi-jacked. Perhaps the ship received orders while on the ocean, changing the port of delivery, or it may have all been pre-arranged. The countries of the Soviet Universal State are receiving more goods than any official reports indicate.

THERE IS APPARENTLY a new understanding among the United States, Great Britain and other countries for the improvement of the methods of enforcing the existing controls. The British announcement says:

"In particular, it was agreed by these countries that those of them which had not hitherto controlled the transit of embargoed goods through their territory would take steps to introduce controls similar to those being operated by Britain. Since November 1951, Britain had made the transshipment of specified strategic goods through the U. K. subject to license — and these licenses are not granted for goods subject to international embargo.

"This latest regulation governing trading in strategic goods outside Britain, together with such action as is taken by other countries to control transshipment through their territories, should go far to plug any remaining loopholes on controls over embargoed goods."

According to the British, the control over the shipment of goods to Red China has been tightened and they cite the fact that five men have been sentenced to prison and fined because of their violation of the embargo on goods shipped to the Soviet countries. Actually, most British traders would like to do business with Red China and every embargo policy is unpopular. The same is true of most European, Latin American and Asiatic traders who feel that a foe's dollar is as good as a friend's.

EVER IN THE UNITED STATES where there is little sympathy for Red China, groups of businessmen exist who are anxious to get into the Red China trade, particularly for capital and durable goods. The theory on which these men base their thinking is that when there is a market, goods will move to that market. According to them, the movement of goods is an economic not a moral proposition. Therefore their attitude is that if the United States excludes a market, some other countries, less scrupulous about international markets, will get the business. They can see no reason why Americans should not get their share, even if the goods will be used to kill Americans. Suppose we do not sell, some other country will sell the goods that might kill Americans, they say.

The argument does not gain in popularity because it is too cynical for most Americans to accept. Apparently the British are reaching the conclusion that trade with Red China does not pay in the long run; that too much is at stake to permit trade to be the sole consideration. Although Hongkong has been booming since the war, the total of British trade has not been enormous, Red China being principally supplied by the countries within the Soviet Universal State. The same is true of North Korea which is entering upon a program of industrialization. It is actually an advantage to these countries to sell their own goods to Soviet countries because the means of transport, overland, are more advantageous, since they do not cross oceans.

Threat of Costa Rican War Brings Quick Action

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Seldom has an international organization acted with such decision to prevent war as the Pan American Union did to head off a Nicaraguan invasion of Costa Rica. Its forthright action illustrates what the American nations can do—in contrast to Asia—to keep the peace.

When news first broke that Nicaraguan-inspired rebels were inside Costa Rica, the Council of American States, informally known as the Pan American Union, sat down in special session at 4 p.m. They remained in session until 7 p.m., when by unanimous vote it was agreed to send a special commission to Costa Rica.

Then, after a one-hour adjournment for dinner, the council sat until midnight ironing out detailed plans of how to stop the fighting. At 12 midnight the plans were finished. At 4 a.m. the five commission members were en route to the airport to board a special U.S. MATS plane to Costa Rica. Eleven hours later, at 3 p.m., the commission held its first session—inside Costa Rica.

Henry Hesitated

This dramatic action was the result of the increased cooperation developed among the Americas, plus the brilliant leadership of Uruguayan Ambassador Jose Mora, plus 100 per cent support from the State Department.

Sec. of State Henry Holland was careful not to get the USA involved, was anxious to make this intervention unlike that in Guatemala — one by all the Americas.

Had he been more alert, however, Henry might have avoided the entire unpleasant mess. Because several months ago, sagacious Hector Castro, ambassador of El Salvador, warned the State Department that trouble was brewing between Costa Rica and Nicaragua. He also urged that the State Department, by maneuvering backstage, might induce the Central American republics to clean out their own kettle of fish.

Henry, however, hesitated. Meanwhile in heavily armed Nicaragua, Pres. Somoza, the dictator general the U.S. Marines built up three decades ago, had developed a vitriolic hatred for Pres. Jose Figueres, the Massachusetts Tech graduate who governs one of the few nations with no army and a true democracy.

Figueres, a liberal who has tried to improve living standards without confiscating foreign property, has been a pain in the neck to certain neighbors. He has also been a pain in the neck to at least one Alabama girl, his first wife, Henrietta Boggs. Following a divorce, he is now married to a naturalized American, Rita Karen Olsen, born in Denmark.

Pres. Figueres has not loved Pres. Trujillo of the Dominican Republic, nor Pres. Perez Jimenez of Venezuela. In fact, he refused to let Costa Rica attend the Pan American Conference in Venezuela because he claimed it was held in a dictatorship. But he has especially disliked Pres. Somoza of Nicaragua, and Somoza has considered it more than mutual.

The trouble was more personal than political. That's one reason it's so bitter. However, the Pan American Union has picked some of its best ambassadors to mediate in Costa Rica. They are Lobo of Brazil, Chiriboga of Ecuador, Enciso of Paraguay, Quintanilla of Mexico, and U.S. ambassador John Dreier.

Note—these five have the power to order Pan American troops into battle immediately to stop the war. So it will be an extremely important test of American efforts to keep the peace.

John Roosevelt's Uranium Co. Handsome John Roosevelt, son of the late president, apparently doesn't want his name too closely connected with a uranium stock deal. For he has changed his ad-

If You Don't Believe It, Count Them

By SAUL PETT

NEW YORK — About 500 words. . .

Home with a cold, wondering what to write about. So are the kids, home with colds. But they're not wondering. They're very relaxed, almost smug. Is there ever again anything so delicious in life as a cold which keeps a kid home from school and no questions asked?

Now, they've got a soap opera on. A woman who sounds like Lady Esther — says in rich, pear-shaped tones, "You'll have to tell John sooner or later. In another room upstairs, the vacuum cleaner is humming. That's the Lady Esther of this house."

Outside, it's been snowing since last night. The preschool kids on the block are out sleigh riding. Wonder if they saw the snow last night? Wonder if they slept? When I was a kid, I could never sleep when it started snowing. . .

The vacuum cleaner has stopped and the local Lady Esther drops in to ask, "What are you writing about?" "About 500 words," you say, and oh, you ought to be ashamed. That's such an old, old joke.

But still true. Well, just what is 500 words? It is an expensive telegram or a short sermon or a two-minute commercial or a letter with poster which usually hangs on the inside of hotel room doors detailing rates and management's responsibilities and what to do in case of fire. Still, that's somebody else's 500 words. Get your own, now. . .

Uh, uh, now it starts. Here comes the local pressure group. One of our little Camilles has just looked out the window and grumbled, "Heck, it's not snowing so hard now." The implication of her tone is obvious: Her parents have entered into a gigantic conspiracy with all the earth's natural forces to end the snowfall before her cold gets better. . .

But about that 500 words. Well, here's an item from Managua. The President of Nicaragua challenges the President of Costa Rica to a personal duel with revolvers at the frontier to settle the fuss between their two countries.

Reminds me of when we were in college. Remember the late nights arguing how the next war should be avoided or fought? One theory: Let the chiefs of state fight it out in an Indian wrestling match. Another: Put a huge French army of occupation in Germany and a huge German army in France and make the French troops marry German girls and the Germans, French girls. . . I don't know; it seemed kind of clever then. All quiet on the Western Front?

Another news item. In Germany, it says, "lonely hearts" can meet other lonely hearts through a coin machine. Just insert two deutschmarks and you get all the necessary data on a card. A fellow ought to be able to get real cute with an item like that. He ought to, but the heck with it. . .

Here comes the pressure bloc again, even better organized than before. The two Camilles have a prepared statement to make. Yes, what is it? "Well, we're feeling much better and it was only a little cold and it's still snowing and we haven't had a chance to go sledding and we thought, especially since the winters are getting milder all the time, we thought . . ."

No. And that's final. I'm telling you for the last time you can't go out. But if you do, you'd better wear. . .

Now, about that 500 words. Well, that's about 500 words. Count 'em.

PAUL HARVEY NEWS

Rocking Chair Just Mirage, Americans

By PAUL HARVEY

NEW YORK — United States of Americans have always looked to horizons. Once a physical horizon. Then the wilderness faced by explorers was tamed by settlers.

Then we had a horizon of achievement. Each of us, seeking to outdistance the other, set the pace for the world. And we were richly blessed. Today we have a new horizon. A rocking chair.

You and I have been sold an imaginary rocking chair. We've been told it's out there on the horizon and that it is our goal. For fat people . . . for slothful and frightened people . . . a politician or an ambitious union boss has learned he can promise nothing more tempting . . . than a rocking chair.

Free insurance. Sick benefits. Hospitalization. Pensions. Not for old folks.

Not just for the aged or ailing. Youngsters, graduating from college, head straight for the rocking chair horizon.

I'm employing young graduates these days, only rarely does one ask, "What is the opportunity for advancement?"

Instead they ask, "How big is the benefit package?" What are your sick benefits? What about hospitalization? What about pensions? Paid holidays? And when is the coffee break?

And I had a giddy young girl with a new degree ask me, "Are there any single men in the office?"

She wanted a padded rocking chair. I wish we could just blame the youngsters. I wish we could just blame it all on "this younger generation." But the rocking chair on the horizon is something we put there, you and I.

We inherited a solvent republic where an honorable man was willing to provide for his own . . . and for his own future. Working hard, we, seven per cent of the earth's people, came to possess more than half of all the world's good things.

But the politicians and the union bosses, to perpetuate themselves, promised us more time to go fishing.

The 40-hour week was a good idea. But as with most good ideas, somebody has to overdo it. Until finally the Republican President of the United States is offering more pie in the sky than any Democrat predecessor ever did.

Tom Dewey has convinced him he'll get slapped down if he doesn't. And maybe he's right. But if he isn't . . .

If Americans are no longer willing to fertilize their fields with their sweat. If they prefer guaranteed mediocrity to limitless opportunity . . .

Then the American character has eroded away and we're going to get exactly what we deserve.

That rocking chair is a mirage, Americans. Nothing more. By 1975 more than half our population will be over 45.

Already industry can't hire them at that age because they're ripe for the retirement which the union contract demands. So they're eligible for unemployment compensation.

With all of our living off the efforts of half of us, the hill is too steep. We'll be out-produced, even by slave labor.

And the men who worshipped the rocking chair . . . may end up in leg irons.

LOS ANGELES — George E. Muehlebach, Kansas City brewer and hotel operator who died Jan. 11, left most of his California and Missouri fortune to his widow, Chloe. His will was filed for probate yesterday.

The petition was to dispose of California property worth $45,000 but lawyers said other property in the Midwest would enhance the estate considerably.

Union Wants Control of Automotive Techniques

LOS ANGELES — To prevent workers from being scrapped as expendable, government and labor must control the advance of automatic production techniques, the United Auto Workers International Union contends.

The AFL union's executive board adopted a resolution to that effect yesterday, saying that technological advances must be tempered with planning for the welfare of everyone.

Farm Outlook Better, Banker Group Advised

ETTRICK, Wis. (Special)—Karl Shoemaker, Madison, with the agricultural economics department of the College of Agriculture, University of Wisconsin, told a dinner meeting of the Jackson-Trempealeau County Bankers Association at Ettrick Lutheran Church Thursday evening that agricultural prospects are brighter for the future.

In spite of the droughts over a large part of the U.S., Shoemaker said, production is only 2 per cent less than record production. Agricultural exports of fats, oils, cotton and tobacco are expected to increase. Since there are fewer farmers now than formerly, the farmers' income is not squeezed quite as much as is generally believed by the lower price levels.

Urges Better Buying

Farmers, by the use of fertilizer, Shoemaker believes, can produce more feed than is now being done. Also, the farmers could buy more wisely by not buying on a hand to mouth basis. By buying feed in October, from 10 to 15 per cent of the usual expenditure for feed could be saved, he contends.

Sec. of Agriculture Ezra Benson, Shoemaker continued, is getting rid of surplus dairy products to foreign countries and for home relief. He is making available 10 million pounds of butter to exporters at a biddable price in order that the exporters may sell the product at world prices. Also fluid milk sales have been protected, the speaker said, by the government's 50 million dollar school health program, which has succeeded in getting school pupils to build good health habits and to drink milk.

Dairy promotion programs and more aggressive merchandising is having its effect, he said. The 75 per cent of parity has put the spur to the dairy industry, Shoemaker believes, and more milk is being sold by the use of vending machines and dispensers placed in schools, factories, filling stations, courthouses and theaters.

The speaker was introduced by Tony Chuska, Black River Falls, Jackson County agricultural agent.

Awards Presented

Cash awards were presented the 4-H and FFA youths by Homer Richards, Black River Falls, president of the Bi-County Bankers Association, who presided. Jackson County youths receiving awards were David Mickelson, Hixton; Darrel Severson, Taylor; David Witte, Melrose; Gary Jacobson, Alma Center, and Andrew Anderson, Black River Falls, FFA members, and Harold Holman and David Watson, Fairchild, Lawrence Bue, Taylor, and Melodie Duerkop, Alma Center, 4-H club members.

Ray Shanklin, Whitehall, Trempealeau County 4-H club leader, introduced the Trempealeau County boys and told of their work in dairying. Jackson County youths were introduced by Edward Grosskreutz, Black River Falls, agricultural instructor. The invocation was by the Rev. Luther B. Keay.

Music was by Mrs. Theodore Dusseau, violinist, and Mrs. Robert Johnson, pianist, Holmen. The two also gave vocal selections. Organ music in the church auditorium was by Clayton Olsen. ## Austrian Pianist Next Community Concert Artist

Paul Badura-Skoda, distinguished, young Austrian pianist, will play here Jan. 24 at 8:15 p.m. at the Winona Senior High School as the next artist on the Winona Community Concert Association course. Although only in his twenties, Paul Badura-Skoda, had his first North American tour in 1952-1953, has already achieved an enviable position in the ranks of internationally famous pianists.

Born in Vienna in 1927, he took his first piano lesson at the age of six. Although he originally had intended to become an engineer, since he had shown definite talent for mathematics and allied sciences, he finally decided at the age of 16 that his career should be that of a pianist.

Badura-Skoda became a student of Professor Viola Thurns in Vienna in 1939, with whom he still continues his studies. In 1945, he studied at the Vienna College of Music, and within two years, won the first prize at the Austrian Music Competition in 1947. In 1948, he passed his finals for piano and choir conducting with special mention from the college.

After Badura-Skoda had won the important first prize at the Austrian Music Festival, other coveted prizes at the International Music competition in Budapest in 1948, and in Paris in 1949, followed. At the same time, he enlarged his studies in 1948, 1950 and again in 1951 by attending Edwin Fischer's "Master Classes" in Lucerne.

In 1948 his concert activities began drawing the attention of such prominent conductors as Furtwaengler and von Karajan, under whose direction he played the following seasons.

In 1950, he played at the Bach Festival in Vienna and also at the Salzburg Festival, after which he concertized extensively in Europe, during a recent summer he had his first extensive Australian tour, having been engaged for a record number of 45 performances under the auspices of the Australian Broadcasting Commission.

His North American debut took place in Toronto, Canada, and his United States debut as soloist with the Cincinnati Symphony when he played the Mozart B flat major concerto.

Badura-Skoda's first North American tour took him to Ft. Worth and Houston, Texas; Boston, Pittsburgh, Pensacola, Akron, Montreal and Ottawa. His first New York recital was in Town Hall. Besides his Cincinnati Symphony debut, he also appeared as soloist with many orchestras including the Detroit Symphony, the Erie Philharmonic, the National Symphony in Washington, D. C., and the New York Philharmonic-Symphony in Carnegie Hall.

After his North American tour, he returned to Europe where he appeared in Italy and Scandinavia.
