New library addition due for 1966

by Karen Mortensen

Plans are being made to add to the present Maxwell Library. The bids for the construction should be in by the end of June, so the contractors should be able to start building in July. Therefore, the new addition should be ready by December of 1966.

The addition will be approximately twice the present size of Maxwell Library so that there will be 20,000 square feet, or approximately 15,000 volumes when it is all completed.

The ground floor will contain reception areas, the north side and periodicals on the north side. Conference rooms will be on the south side. The conference rooms will be on the north side.

The second floor will be a large conference room and also an office for the director of libraries. When the addition is needed, the third story will be another large reading room.

Library service shall be maintained as needed and will be regular as possible during the construction period.

All of the figures are subject to change depending upon unforeseeable alterations.

As a result, the future addition of Maxwell Library should provide a much better place for research and service to the students and faculty of WSC.

Thomas N. Bayer, assistant professor of geology at WSC, will receive his M.A. degree from MacMurray College in 1961, and was appointed graduate assistant in geology the same year.

In 1969 he received his M.S degree from the University of Minnesota and became an instructor in geology the same year.

Mr. Bayer came to WSC last year and has been teaching Earth Science classes. During the year he has organized and developed an Earth Science program.

The Earth Science major will be offered for the first time in the fall of 1965.

The Conference was highlighted by a luncheon and guest speaker, John Riede of Sterum Point who was a member of the Minnesota Insurance Co., who spoke on "Fraud Public Relations." A Mayer Policy-Relations was given by the national president Jim Whitfield of the State of Minnesota, and Research, National Executive Officer and Gaye Foust, Regional Director.

Two students direct plays

Two WSC students will be directing two one-act plays for college production on Tuesday, May 12.

Marvin Metz will direct "The Mermaid and the Apple" and Gary Mayer will direct "The Alchemist's Horseman." The plays are written by Paul Green, an American playwright, and deal with the theme of "Going and Returning." The production will be held in Somers auditorium at 8 p.m.

Winona State College's annual conference was the theme of a foreign policy conference April 27.

Three State Department officials spoke at the conference presenting a series of briefings on foreign affairs. The basic topic concerned how our old programs operate.

The first State Department speaker was Wesley C. Haraldson, Under Secretary of State for Economic and Technical Affairs, who spoke on "How Foreign Policy Is Made." He differentiated between foreign policy - the set of guidelines - and foreign relations - "the daily contact of our diplomats" within their guidelines. He said, "The one object of all foreign relations is the national interest."

Haraldson served with the State Department as an economic advisor in Berlin after World War II, and during the 1959's spent several years with our embassies in Japan and Pakistan.

The second speaker, Chestertown Squire, the State Department's officer in charge of international student affairs discussed "The U.S. and the Changing Communist World." He said that his purpose was to explain "why we treat different Communist Governments differently."

There are now two centers of power -- Moscow and Peking. Both are trying to dominate the world. They are becoming "more or less" independent of their own national policies.

Their attitude toward Communism is "not very weak," because Communist nations consider the world a fair market over which they have a control. Their attitude toward world, they said, its ability to do the job is being committed to the new addition should be ready by December of 1966. It will extend along

Jazz concert here

A new jazz septet, The Statu- nero, will present a program for- en Tuesday, May 4, to an enthousi- astic audience of approximately 50 people. The band is made up of in- termately talented Winona music students was organized last fall.

Members of The Statunero are: Orrin Hager; Denise Murphy; Mike Van Aslen, Ted Thoie, Ar- nold Fishbeck, Bill Brock, and Jay Eptein.

The band for the first concert was styeld after the Dave Full Apolio, a popular recording group of jazz and blues. Several years ago. Highlights of the concert were two arrangements of George Wein- er, and two songs performed by her titled "Under a Blanket of Blue."

Those who will not work. If only students care and want to make a go of it. So let's get on the stick, kids, and keep this campus looking neat!

Editorial
Let's keep things neat

Mr. President—To the President of the Personnel and Guidance Committee, a suggestion was made that the Student Senate have a part in the disciplining of campus organizations. Mike moved that the SS approve the suggestion. Article VII, Section 2, by striking the words, "request the approval by the Student Senate and the Dean's office." This will not affect any of the organizations already approved but will affect those groups planning on applying.

The second highlight of the even- ning was the unanimous ap- proval to continue the plan of the Senate of Mr. Bremer's plan for a weekly Winon- ona. Next year, the plan can be for the inclusion of advertising in the newspaper to help defray the in- creased cost of the publication. A weekly paper. If this plan meets the approval of the members of this committee, the Winona will be published each week school term.

Michael Williams reported to the senate that at the last meeting of the Personnel and Guidance Committee, a suggestion was made that the Student Senate have a part in the disciplining of campus organizations. Mike moved that the SS approve the suggestion. Article VII, Section 2, by striking the words, "request the approval by the Student Senate and the Dean's office." Voice students present concert

Students of Walter Bode, Winona State College vocal music instructor, presented a program at 8 p.m. Monday in the college's Samson Hall auditorium.

The program was devoted to works of Antonin Dvorak. It was as follows:

"IT WAS A LONG TIME AGO...
By the Waters of Babylon." Op. 32.

"I Will Lift Mine Eyes Up to the Mountains."

"Let the Fields Laugh and Ring." Op. 32.

"Strains from Moravia," No. 9.

"Strains from Moravia," No. 6.

Players attend convention

Wenonah Players, Winona State College, were represented in two categories of the theatre exhibit of the North Central Theatre Association convention at Macalester College last weekend.

Players exhibited a scale model of Calypso in formal classic style with an accompanying program. The play was presented during the Tri-College Drama concourse at WSC last spring. The model was designed by William Bender, a graduate student in Speech at WSC last year.

In a second category, two photographs of make-up used in the fall production of Othello, directed by Dorothy B. Magnus, were also exhibited. They included the make-up of Bruce McLean as Othello and of Steve Anderson as Iago.

While in St. Paul, Magnus was the guest of Theatre St. Paul at a production of Julius Caesar. She was also given a private tour of the new Theatre St. Paul, in the recently opened Civic Art Center, with regional representative Jerry Bonds of American National Theatre and Academy as guide.

The speaker for the convention was Theodore Hoffmann of Carnegie Institute of Technology.

Mr. Reidelberger, faculty president

New president of the WSC Faculty Association is Jacob Reidelberger, assistant professor of speech. Other officers:

Vice president, John Knos, Peppers Junior High School supervisor; secretary, Susan Day, instructor of physical education, and treasurer, Paul Hodge, professor of government and director of political science.

Mr. Reidelberger is a specialist on the directional properties of rocks and palcomagnetism. His visit to WBC is sponsored by the American Geophysical Union.

Dr. Martinez discusses science department

Dr. Joseph D. Martinez of the Department of Geology, University of Wisconsin will address WBC students on the topic of the relationship of geophysics and geology on Wednesday, May 13 in Pasour Auditorium at 2:15 p.m.

Dr. Martinez received his Ph.D. degree from Louisiana State University in 1963. He was previously employed as senior research geologist for the Moundville Oil Corporation. He is now on leave from New Mexico University where he is associate professor of geology.
