Die-No-Mo Club To Give “Three Cornered Moon”
Frank Wachowiak Directs
Play; Casting Almost Completed

For its annual production this year the Die-No-Mo Club held Saturday, Jan. 18 proved to be very enjoyable to all those present.

The outstanding feature of the evening was the presentation of the Dionne Quintuplets and their nurses and doctors by members of the faculty. The Quintuplets were played by Margaret Futrell, Howard Murray, Garner, and Dorothy Clark. Miss Talbot was the very efficient doctor and the two nurses were Miss Procibr and Miss McDowell.

PICTURE TAKING FUN DESCRIBED BY VICTIM

Taking pictures is such fun! Where?

This year they took pitchers on the stage in our school. Our stage is a funny one you bet. Our school is pretty good too and our basketball team isn’t bad neither.

When you go to have your pitcher take, you first stop at the little room that has a little sign that tells you what you are, and comb your hair. When you are all spiffy, you go and have your picture taken.

On the stage they had two big lights, and we stood up on the stands. It was just like you was at a football game at night and was standing up and yelling only there was nothing to yell for. That was kinda silly.

There was some guys called elliott running around looking mad all the time. They was funny to have your exaggerated impressions of already ridiculous characters.

The audience was at its win’s end trying to determine which player was impersonating the different roles, one actor playing as many as three parts. Miss Jeanne Welty played the part of Lydia Languish, a headstrong girl in love with Mr. Jess Coffer, Mr. Jess Coffer, Bob Aven and also the father of Jack Absolute; Nell Smith, Jack Absolute.

Ralph Dobbs, American pianist, presented his recital at the Winona State Teacher’s College, Monday, evening, January 27, by the Coffe-Miller Players. The Wesnahan Players sponsored the program.

Dr. Rynearson Gives
Ductless Glands Talk

“What about those ductless glands?” was the topic about which Dr. Rynearson of the Mayo Hospital at Rochester gave a very interesting talk on, Monday, Jan. 23.

He said that the parathyroid glands, located in the center of the brain, are the master glands which control all the others. The thyroid gland, surrounding the windpipe, is very important in connection with metabolism, and it is the improper functioning of this gland that causes goiter.

The thymus gland, located in the pancreas, secretes insulin, which, from animals is used in the treatment of diabetes.

Glaucomous diseases are not hereditary, but a tendency toward them may be inherited.

“The Rivals” Much Enjoyed

“The Rivals”, a riotous comedy of the eighteenth century, was presented at chapel on Monday, Jack, 27, by the Coffe-Miller Players. The Wesnahan Players sponsored the program.

The scene of the play was the courtyard of an old English inn about 1775. The actors kept the audience in a tumult of laughter by their exaggerated impersonations of already ridiculous characters.

The audience was at its wit’s end trying to determine which player was impersonating the different roles, one actor playing as many as three parts. Miss Jeanne Welty played the part of Lydia Languish, a headstrong girl in love with Mr. Jess Coffer, Mr. Jess Coffer, Bob Aven and also the father of Jack Absolute; Nell Smith, Jack Absolute.

Music Ensembles Present Concerts

On Monday, January 13, a concert was presented in chapel by the National Music Ensemble. This Ensemble was started three years ago by W. B. Parkinson, and is composed of winners in National Music contests. The four members of the ensemble featured the flutes, clarinet, French horn, bassoon and piano. In addition to playing several selections, each member gave a demonstration on his particular instrument. The program consisted of “Day in Switzerland” from William Tell, the Schubert “Overture, Playful Berks” by C. W. Grene, and “The Elevator” a descriptive number in which each musician represented a floor of a department store.

On Friday, January 24, another National Music Ensemble gave a concert. The program included “Good Night Sweetheart,” “Farewell to Thee,” “Listen to the Mocking Bird,” a Negro spiritual, and other numbers. The program consisted of nine characters and members of the group gave the history of reel and string instruments.

J. R. C. Addressed by Dr. Sauer

“Germans have an inborn inclination either to command or obey”, said Dr. Alfred Sauer January 17 as he spoke to the International Relations Club members and their guests; the St. Teresa members, the faculty and the League of Women Voters.

With this psychological explanation of the Hitler following, Dr. Sauer based his comments on events in the Germany of today where he has studied for the past two years, previous to his work as assistant pastor to his father at St. Martin’s Lutheran Church of Winona.

The Germans have cherished the hope that their fatherland will have a respected place among the nations, and now that she has achieved this, no more is wanted, he believes.

Dr. Sauer explained that the campaign against the Jews is one of propaganda, not of physical torture, and that the Hitler regime has no doctrinal difference with either the Catholic or the Protestant faith.

Dorothy Westfall Speaks
On Campus and National Affairs

The eleventh annual congress of the National Student Federation of America met in Kansas City from Dec. 26 through the 31 under the auspices of the University of Kansas, to discuss campus and national issues. Delegates representing students at the League colleges and universities attended.

Dr. John W. Studholter, U. S. Commissioner of Education, in addressing the Congress, emphasized the importance of student leadership in education to preserve threatened democracy. Fuller education of the student body was urged to supplement the current inadequate provisions for adults.

Dr. Gustav Gallmann, member of the Secretariat of the League of Nations, described some of the League’s activities in the non-political field of collective security, and the need for a stronger world morale before entire success can be looked for in the field of collective security, he called on student leaders to aid in building an anxious societies which would make the function of such an organization as the League a real force for peace and progress.

The Hon. Angus MacPhail, of the Canadian Parliament urged the delegates to profit from the experience of current world political and social changes. She described her own feeling of trepidation concerning world affairs and, at the same time, her need for a stronger world morale before entire success can be looked for in the field of collective security, he called on student leaders to aid in building an anxious societies which would make the function of such an organization as the League a real force for peace and progress.

Students Enjoy Train Travelling

"Goth West," said the conductor, and Teachers College, thirty strong, replied, "Yes.

Then began the usual pushing and justling that always accompanies the rush for the P.K.'s morning vacation. In walked Pretzel drugging Mary's big black trunk. Next came Pretzel Nelson with a suit case in one hand and a bag of pop corn balls cuddled fondly in his arm. Orlando Thomas and Arden Burtleigh trotted along, his briefcase already sorted; Freddie, who had caught the true Christ spirit, passed the bag of popcorn balls around. The crowd promptly sang "Happy Birthday" to him to show its appreciation of this act of kindness. Then they sang "Camping on the Railroad."

Then came the big event of the evening. Mildred Amley diabolically declared to Pretzel Nelson, "Oh, don't go, it's not to tell, but your friends—hope!" It seems that she folded fifty extra copies of the Winonan in the bag, so that she might look at Mae's picture that many more times.

Pretzel and Mary got off the train at Rochester and after they had noticed someone had almost hit the seat in which Pretzel had been sitting. The crowd immediately decided that he had left his hat and was contemplating a rescue when a CCC boy walked in and said he was lost, and very much not happily put it on. There was a good laugh and the little episode seemed closed for all time, but upon the arrival back to Winona, it was found to be Pretzel's lost hat after all. No way on earth, say the trainmen,

And climb,

I'll put aside my dog-eared books

And wept over them.

Sould, the Persian poet of Skiran, once said, "I had two leaves of bread, I would sell one and buy white hyacinths to feed my soul." In the nineteenth century this philosopher realized that man has need of food to satisfy his physical needs and of art to satisfy a mental want. He knew that the mere eating of bread to appease one's physical needs is not sufficient to assure a full life. To get the most from life one must take advantage of every opportunity to enjoy the best that life has to offer. The chance for students in this college to gather "white hyacinths" is especially opportune so that one more person will not die for their lack. Among the most trying problems that we face in America today is that of creating an efficient government personnel. What is there to be done about it, and after action is taken how will it affect us as college students?

The only way an efficient personnel can be created is by making possible careers in government service. This career system should be set up in various governmental units through the enactment and enforcement of appropriate laws. In each of the larger units an appropriate personnel department should be set up to handle these matters. Each personnel department should have charge of all positions in the various levels of government personnel. If one classifies all positions in-

FATHER AND I By Lafcadio Hearn

For those who consider Lafcadio Hearn to be responsible to the dull routine of a thoroughly commonplace existence, figures such as Byron have an Uncle. Such a man does exactly what they wish in any situation, conversation or adventure. He turns a rusty brown as I watched it. I've been 'Wickin' on de Railroad.'

Through the courtesy of Miss Doreen Yost and the fine arts department a series of moving pictures on the subject, "Demonstrating the Arts" is being shown at the college. This unique series was produced for the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston.

I've been a typist.

Without a competent government service personnel there will continue to be extravagance and inefficiency in government service.
HUMOURETTES

This week’s prize for plain speaking goes to Professor Ernest Lauer of Northwestern University who got up on his feet before assembled students and castigated college intellectuals for flinching and action.

Said he, “We need light. Students should be willing to go to any extreme — even to getting kicked out of school—if they actually believe in something.”

So I say the only difference between a rut and a grave is in their dimensions.

What The Clubs Are Doing

Facts On Placement

The Placement Bureau at Winona State Teachers College is organizing its files to bring up to date information concerning its graduates. This reorganization is for the purpose of securing more effective attention of those who are graduates of Winona.

There are several teachers who have been students at Winona and who are deserving pus-son. The Placement Bureau is very anxious to assist such persons. If you are educated and can give useful information and wish to take advantage of the new service which is being offered by your Alma Mater you should get in touch with M. E. MacDonald, Director of Placements.

Teachers may take encouragement from the fact that a list of surplus teachers has been reduced until it is becoming very difficult to secure proper number of applicants for vacancies that are arising in the larger places. Recently a call was received for nine (9) teachers (one of the largest in the six months). Two years of experience was required. If you were willing to avail yourself of this special service the following conditions must be met:

1. Secure five new forms for credit-able.
2. Submit eight (8) copies of a recently taken photograph, size approximately 1 x 2 1/2.
3. Send a self-addressed large envelope with six cents postage.
4. Submit a reference from the ex-superintendent under whom you have been teaching.
5. Designate very specifically the type of job for which you are best qualified.

Graduates of Winona can do much to make the work of your class much easier here.

You can keep us well informed of all vacancies that occur whether you may be an applicant or not. You can also inform us quickly of any change in your plans that would make you not available for a position that might arise. Your co-operation and support will be greatly appreciated.

Winona Outplays Mankato in Hard-Fought Battle

Winona won its second conference victory Friday, Jan. 17, defeating Mankato 38-29 at the T.C. gym in a rugged game.

Mankato, without a victory this season, resorted to long shots but could not match the accuracy of the Purple shooters and trailed throughout the game. The game was won in the first quarter which ended 6-4 and Mankato still kept on the heels of the Purple until the closing minutes of the half when backraker by Parker, McCown, and Arms gave Winona a 16-8 lead.

The Purple stepped out the third quarter to build 29-22-4-6 and were ahead 39-16 at the close of the period. This safe margin was maintained throughout the final quarter although reduced to nine points by two closing baskets by Hard of the visitors. The game was rough, Mankato having 21 fouls called on them and losing four players on personal fouls. After a well-played first half the game became tougher and more ragged as the period progressed, with the Knights shooting at every opportunity.

Luther McCown again led the Winona scoring with 13 points while Parker scored eight and Rothwell six.

Winona Girls Attend Play Day

Macalester College was hostess Jan. 19, at a State Play Day event in Minneapolis. A home team of the Minneapolis Athletic Association of College Women was pitted against the various colleges of the north State.

Winona sent delegates which were Lois Simon, Ruth Richards and Esther Stoffel, representing the Winona team. The game was an exciting one which Winona had led through most of the play and was something of an upset after the last minute gave the Purple a 40-38 victory.

Three Teams Tie For Leadership in Intramurals

After the former second-place Cubs and Braves had won in the intramural basketball race on Saturday the lowly Cardinals came up with a 39-36 victory over the Pirates that sent the losers into a three-way tie for the league leadership. Shay opened the game scoring for the home team while the Tigers tied at 38 with 30 seconds to go. Then McCown arches in the winning basket from mid-floor.

McCown again led the Winona scoring with eleven points each while Kunze was outstanding for the home team and scored 14 points.

In the ten games played so far this season, Luther McCown has established a wide lead over his mates in the matter of individual scoring. McCown has scored 134 points on 56 field goals and 22 free throws—an average of more than eleven points per game. No other player has been well divided with Ted Rothwell having 77 points and Kyle Arns 60 for second and third ranking.
