Molotov Cool to Plea He Restrain Chinese Reds

Blames U.S. for Formosan Crisis

MOSCOW (AP)—British Ambassador Sir William Hayter called on Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov in the Kremlin today and urged him to restrain the Chinese Communist government and try to effect a cease-fire in the Formosa Strait, "lest it break out into general hostilities."

Hayter talked to Molotov for half an hour. A British Embassy spokesman later told a news conference Molotov's reaction was "pretty limited."

Molotov told Sir William the Soviet government always desired to diminish international tension, but Molotov claimed the responsibility for affairs in Formosa Strait lay upon the United States government.

Molotov added that because the British government supported the United States, Britain also shared the responsibility.

New Plan Drawn For Formosa Peace

LONDON (AP)—Official British informants said today Britain and the United States have agreed to invite Communist China to a United Nations Security Council meeting for discussion of a cease-fire in the China fighting.

These responsible informants said New Zealand, in agreement with Britain and the United States, will ask the council to meet Monday to consider extending the invitation to the Peiping regime.

The United States and Nationalist China were reported ready to participate in the discussions with the Chinese Reds.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden is expected to ask India's Prime Minister Nehru to use his influence with the Chinese Reds to get them to accept a Security Council invitation.

Premier Chou En-lai of Red China said Monday the United Nations had no jurisdiction in the Formosa clash.

Eden, meanwhile, was said to be backing a plan proposing a U. N.-sponsored cease-fire in the China Strait, plus Nationalist withdrawal from Chinese coastal islands.

The British Foreign Office refused to comment on these reports and the U.S. Embassy spokesman was not available for comment.

If the plan wins U. S. and Chinese Nationalist approval, informants said, Eden will ask Indian Prime Minister Nehru to seek Red Chinese acceptance of it.

According to the reports, Eden's plan calls for:

1. The U. N. Security Council to ask both Peiping and Chiang Kai-shek's Formosa forces to agree to a cease-fire without prejudice to their legal territorial claims.

2. Withdrawal of Chinese Nationalist troops from all China's coastal islands, including the Tachens, Matsuo and Quemoy.

3. A pledge by Red China not to attack Formosa or the neighboring Pescadores pending an eventual peaceful settlement of rival sovereignty claims.

4. Fresh consideration by the Western Powers of Red China's demand for U. N. membership.

Nehru conferred with Red China's charge d'affaires in New Delhi last night, before taking off today for London to attend a Commonwealth prime ministers' conference.

Although no details of the talk were disclosed, informed sources said the meeting was arranged "at (Red Chinese Premier) Chou En-lai's initiative" to give Nehru Peiping's point of view on Formosa.

The sources said Nehru would "take the earliest opportunity" to call on Eden in London.

Lathamore is still, of course, under indictment. Obviously, Matsuo's remarkable decision to tell how he lied, and thus risk going to jail for perjury, is likely to make a lot of extra work for the Justice Department. Matsuo has already signed one sworn affidavit in which he admits false testimony in a case in which he was a chief government witness. No doubt there will be more such affidavits.

Legal lying by such professional ex-Communist informers as Matsuo, which has been tolerated by all three branches of the American government, has done irreparable harm to the individual American citizens. But it has also done irreparable harm to the whole American political process. Consider the following example of the political uses of the legal lie. Matsuo was to testify before the McCarthy Committee at hearings in Salt Lake City—his testimony was of course privileged, or libel-proof.

U.S. Sends More Air Squadrons to Okinawa, S. Korea

TOKYO (AP)—The U.S. Air Force has reinforced South Korea and Okinawa with three air squadrons from Japan, it was learned today.

One squadron of F86 Sabrejets and another of B26 light bombers flew to South Korean bases. A squadron of F84 Thunderjet fighter-bombers flew to Okinawa.

The Air Force called these movements rotational in character, but there was no doubt they were part of a rapid air redeployment in the Far East as a result of the Formosa crisis.

There is no armistice violation in sending the planes to Korea since they were part of forces withdrawn since the armistice and can be legally flown back.

Quick Senate Vote Urged

Committee Votes 10-8 to Cancel Dixon-Yates Deal

Republican Says Decision Meaningless Gesture

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrats today forced through the Senate House Atomic Energy Committee a resolution calling on the Atomic Energy Commission to cancel the Dixon-Yates power contract.

The resolution also rescinds a waiver voted by the commission when it was under Republican control last year designed to speed up action on the contract. The waiver gave up the committee's right to hold the contract for 30 days of committee consideration with Congress in session.

Democrats on the joint committee said today's rescission would throw a legal cloud over the contract which would have to be settled in the courts.

The vote today was 10 to 8, strictly on party lines.

The GOP members strongly resisted the resolution at a lively hour and a half closed session, futilely raising points of order against it.

They told reporters afterward that the resolution has no legal effect whatsoever, and that the committee specifically lacked power to take the rescinding action.

But Democrats disputed this. Chairman Anderson (D-NM) said the matter now is up to the AEC. He said a copy of the resolution will be sent there promptly.

However, Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R-NV), former chairman of the committee and now senior House Republican member, told a reporter in advance of the meeting that adoption of the resolution would "have no legal effect whatsoever."

He said it was "simply an expression of opinion."

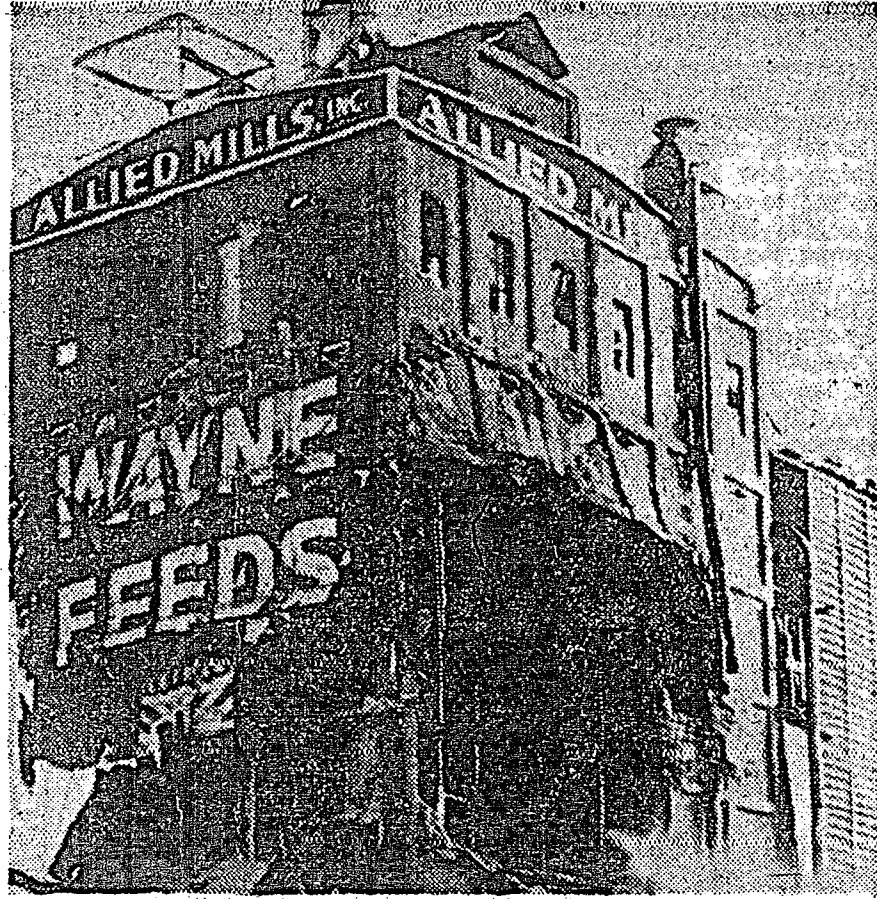

The committee, then under Republican control, voted Nov. 13 to waive a provision of the law which would have required that the contract lie over for 30 days while Congress is in session. In effect, the party line 10-8 vote approved the contract and permitted the AEC to make it effective.

The contract, negotiated by the AEC at President Eisenhower's order, calls for the Dixon-Yates private power group to build a 107-million-dollar plant at West Memphis, Ark. The current generated there would go to the Tennessee Valley Authority to replace TVA power used by AEC.

The deal has been bitterly fought by many Democrats, particularly those from the TVA area. It has been widely supported by Republican lawmakers.

The Democrats' resolution in the joint committee is sponsored by Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.).

Chairman Anderson (D-NM) would not tell newsmen exactly what he thought would be the legal effect of rescinding the waiver, but he said, "We did not do it lightly."

Formosa Bristling With U.S. Might

By SPENCER MOSSA
TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Nationalist warplanes struck new blows at Chinese Red shipping and island outposts near the Tachens Islands today from the Formosa fortress which bristled with growing U.S. military strength.

Decision for a nationalist pullout from the exposed Tachens 200 miles north of Formosa apparently awaited U. S. Senate approval of President Eisenhower's fight-if-we-must Formosa policy.

(Peiping radio trumpeted that Eisenhower "was asking Congress for dictatorial powers to start war which has never been possessed by his predecessors.")

The propaganda broadcast, heard in Tokyo, said the powers would free Eisenhower "from all restrictions on scope and nature of action to be taken."

Reds Lash Ike
(The official Chinese Red radio said the U. S. Congress resolution would grant Eisenhower authority "to use American armed forces in open intervention in the Chinese people's liberation of Taiwan (Formosa), Penghu and the offshore islands and to launch direct armed aggression against China's mainland.")

A Nationalist deputy military spokesman today estimated that the Reds had massed 400,000 troops in the two provinces opposite Formosa and President Chiang Kai-shek's string of island outposts.

He said the Red forces, which include security troops and veterans of the Korean War, were about equally divided between Chekiang and Fukien provinces. Some are within gun range of the Nationalist island outposts.

In Pearl Harbor, Adm. Felix B. Stump declared the Reds would "get the pants licked off them" if they tried to invade Formosa.

Stump, U. S. Navy commander in the Pacific, told newsmen Asia could erupt in a hot war if the Communists want that but added, "I don't think it will get hot."

Concerning possible evacuation of the Tachens, the admiral said, "If we're told to do something anywhere we have the power to do it."

Swelling U. S. air and sea strength in this troubled sector made clear that the United States was preparing to resist any Communist move which might threaten Formosa.

The 45,000-ton carrier Midway and the cruiser Pittsburgh unofficially were reported rushing to join the U. S. 7th Fleet in Formosan waters.

Midway on Way
The Midway would add a 137 plane punch to the four carriers already with the 7th Fleet which can handle about 400 planes. They are the Yorktown, Kearsarge, Wasp and Essex.

The U. S. 18th Sabrejet Wing was newly settled on Formosa from base in the Philippines and Okinawa. Brig. Gen. Harold Grant, deputy commander of the U. S. 5th Air Force, is in command of the Sabres here.

The 5th Air Force commander Lt. Gen. Roger Ramey left Taipei today to inspect Nationalist air bases on Formosa and there were indications the Air Force would fly in still more combat-ready planes.

Nationalist air headquarters claimed their bombers hit a 1,500-ton Communist warship today 35 miles northeast of the Tachens and scored excellent results in waves of strikes against Tachens and Yikiangshan islands near the Tachens.

It said the bombers met heavy antiaircraft fire but all returned.

Freeman Hails 'Quick-Acting' Legislators

Special Tribute Goes to Chairman Of Tax Committee

ST. PAUL (AP)—Gov. Freeman today lauded the Legislature for the "excellent amount of work" it has accomplished thus far and singled out Rep. E. J. Chilgren, Littlefork, chairman of the House Tax Committee for special tribute in his committee's action on tax bills.

Gov. Freeman said at a press conference "the Legislature this time is moving faster and working harder than any I can recall."

He said that "Ed (Chilgren) is a veteran of many years' experience and is giving the committee very fine leadership and direction."

The governor also complimented Rep. D. D. Wozniak, St. Paul, for his authorship on some tax relief bills which have been approved by the Tax Committee.

Freeman cited two bills approved Thursday by the tax committee to encourage business research and to allow deduction to farmers for part of the expenses of soil conservation projects.

"The tax deduction for conservation purposes to farmers is in line with good tax policy," the governor said. "The committee also is doing a good job in passing out bills to close loop holes in the tax laws."

Freeman disclosed that he personally will appear before the Legislature to present his views on reorganization of state government.

He feels that legislation requires top priority and indicated he will make that address in about two weeks.

Freeman said he has been working closely with the House and Senate Civil Administration committees on the problems of reorganization. He complimented Senate majority leader Archie Miller, Hopkins, conservative, for his cooperation. The governor also has had a number of conferences with House majority leader Fred Cina, Aurora, and Speaker A. I. Johnson, Benson.

The governor said he also expects to send a written message to the Legislature on his recommendations for highway safety.

Lawmaker Urges 'Loan' Approach To Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—A "loan" approach to foreign aid was proposed today by Rep. Passman (D-La.), head of the House Appropriations subcommittee, which will handle bills carrying foreign aid funds.

Passman, who has consistently opposed the foreign aid program as a "giveaway," announced today he hopes to bring new approach to foreign aid.

What he will propose, he said, is that nations receiving U. S. aid set up a currency credit against which this country may draw at some future time.

"I would like to see this shifted from a giveaway program to a loan program," he told a reporter.

Cold Snaps Line, 200,000 Gallons Of Gas Leak Out

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—Workers planned to have 200,000 gallons of high octane gasoline back into storage tanks today after Thursday's sub-zero temperatures snapped a fuel line.

Fire Chief John Anderson said he would have firemen stand by until the last of the gasoline was recovered. Anderson said he expected to have the gasoline into storage at about noon.

An employee noticed the leakage but before it was located and stopped, a small lake had formed at the Wadham's Marine Terminal. Several pools were knee deep in fields surrounded by protective dikes.

Passports to Visit POWs Will Be Denied

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There was some division of opinion today among relatives of Americans imprisoned in Red China concerning the State Department's ban on visits to the prisoners.

Secretary of State Dulles yesterday wrote to relatives of the 17 Americans—15 airmen and 2 civilian employees of the Army—that the government had reached the "reluctant conclusion" to forbid travel to Communist China. In identical letters, Dulles termed the trip "imprudent for the time being" considering "the increasingly belligerent attitude" of Red China.

Comment of relatives:
Roland G. Cameron, Lincoln, Neb., father of prisoner Lt. Lyle Cameron—It was the logical thing to do in the first place, regardless of the Formosa situation.

Mrs. W. G. Parks, Omaha, mother of Lt. Roland Parks—that settles it. We won't be going.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Thompson Orange, Va., parents of Airman John Thompson III—Due to the world situation, we don't think it would be wise to go.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fischer, Swea City, Iowa, parents of Capt. Harold Fischer Jr.—It's a terrible letdown.

Philip D. Fecteau, Lynn, Mass., father of civilian Army employee Richard Fecteau—Visits would serve no good purpose. We'll just keep hoping like we've been doing the past few years.

Mrs. Harry Benjamin, Worthington, Minn., mother of A. C. Harry Benjamin, Jr.—now I don't know that to think.

Evelth Man Heads State Airport Group

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Ray Glumach, Evelth, is the new president of the Minnesota Airport Operators Assn., elected Thursday at the annual meeting.

Eldon Sorenson, Worthington, was returned as vice president and John Rice, Willmar, was named secretary-treasurer. Gordon K. Newstrom, Grand Rapids, was chosen to represent the association on the aeronautics advisory council.

Decision Not Delegated
The statement said Eisenhower, at a conference with military officials, had made it clear that U. S. forces in the area of Chiang Kai-shek's Formosa "were designated purely for defensive purposes."

"Any decision to use United States forces other than in immediate self-defense or in direct defense of Formosa and the Pescadores would be a decision which he (Eisenhower) would take and the responsibility for which he has not delegated," the White House said.

sell (D-Ga) of the Armed Services Committee said they thought some of the steam had been taken out of the opposition by a statement issued yesterday by the White House.

Sen. Morse (D-Ore) contended, on the other hand, that the statement is "a tacit admission" that the resolution is broad enough to give advance authorization "to make a preventive war strike" at the China mainland. Morse said he wants to discuss the issues further.

Thomas and his military chiefs, briefing the committee on Navy-Marine strength, all said they would accept proposed manpower cuts but were not enthusiastic about them.

The administration's new "long-haul" program would reduce Navy strength by 62,000 men and the Marines by 31,000 by mid-1956. The program has been supported before the committee by Secretary of Defense Wilson and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Public Hearing On Bow and Arrow, Game Bills Set

By JACK B. MACKAY

ST. PAUL (U)—A public hearing on a dozen bow and arrow and big game bills today was scheduled for 9:30 a.m. Monday, Feb. 14, by Rep. Harry Basford, Wolf Lake, chairman of the Minnesota House Game and Fish Committee.

A spirited meeting is expected, with delegations slated to oppose and favor some of the proposals. Fred Holler of Pine City, secretary of the Minnesota Bowhunters, Inc., and Rep. Paul Eddy, Howard Lake, have informed Chairman Basford they will appear with others.

Chairman Basford said the bow and arrow industry is extremely interested in "polishing its own group" with view of eliminating any public criticisms. Basford took the position that archery enthusiasts have as much right to pursue their sport with bow and arrow as a man with a rifle.

Bills slated for consideration and their chief authors include: Prohibit the hunting of deer by bow and arrow, between Oct. 1 and Oct. 31. By Rep. Reuben Tweten, Fosston.

Compel the encasement of bows, and making it unlawful to take wild animals by "high pressure" air guns. Both bills by Rep. Joe Karas, Pine City.

Permit spring spearing of rough fish by archery. By Rep. Fred Schwanke, Deerwood.

Allow taking of deer between one-half hour before sunrise and one-half hour after sunset. By Rep. E. P. Johnson, Hawley.

Bows would not have to be encased if in the trunk of a car with the trunk door closed. By Rep. George E. Grant, Milaca.

Striking from the deer shining law the words "unless the same is unloaded in both barrels and magazine and properly encased or broken down" and adding a provision relating to bow and arrow. By Rep. Grant.

Extending the date for shooting by bow and arrow from Oct. 31 to Nov. 10. By Rep. Carl W. Eck, Circle Pines.

Include bows and arrows in the confiscation law relating to illegal use of firearms and fishing equipment. By Rep. Marvin C. Schuman, Rice.

Prohibiting the shooting across a highway with a bow and arrow. By Rep. Grant.

Alabama Youth Admits Slaying Sergeant's Wife

PANAMA CITY, Fla. (U)—An Alabama youth will be charged with first-degree murder, Sheriff M. J. Daffin said, for stabbing and strangling a former El Reno, Okla., band queen.

The rape-slaying 10 days ago of Mrs. Lou Ellen Jones, 21, was described in detail in a statement signed yesterday by George Low-ell Everett, 19, the sheriff said. Everett, from Dothan, Ala., later told newsmen, "My conscience has about run me crazy."

The body of Mrs. Jones, mother of a 2½-year-old son, was found by her husband, S. Sgt. Joseph R. Jones when he returned from duty at nearby Tyndall Air Force Base the afternoon of Jan. 18.

LANESBORO MAN HURT

LANESBORO, Minn. (Special)—Oliver Blekre suffered a broken forearm last Friday evening when he fell on the ice while walking home from town. He was hospitalized overnight at the Johnson Hospital.

By GRETCHEN L. LAMBERTON

THIS winter every time I've stepped out of my car in the garage I've resolutely ignored the heaped-up shambles that constitutes my garage in the winter time. As a matter of fact usually when I get out, my arms are piled so high with sacks of dog food, bird seed, groceries, garments from the cleaner, and library books that I can't see over them to take in the depressing sight of my garage in winter, and that's perhaps just as well.

Once one of my children snorted, "For Pete's sake, mother, why don't you clean out the garage and throw out most of this junk!"

I explained patiently that most of this junk is absolutely necessary for living in the country, and besides, last time I cleaned the garage and threw out a heavy old curved gadget with hole in it, it turned out to be a vital part of the bowels of my stove and it cost me six dollars to replace it. And just as soon as I throw out a bundle of bent wires the very next day I need them for fastening up vines. When I throw away all the old coffee cans I immediately need them for mixing paints or storing a new batch of bug-pudding.

And besides, now it's been this way so long that I know just exactly where everything is.

Even though I don't know the names of any of my tools and forget them right after some kind handy man informs me, still I know where in the general confusion they repose. Thus when the bathroom shower sprinkle-gadget plugs up and I want to take it off and clean it I can say to any child or a strange handy man, "Bring me that thungumajig that looks like a fish mouth with teeth in it."

It's in the garage on the top shelf nearest the door and it sits between one of those curved gadgets you hang onto screws with and that big curlicue what-is-it-name you drill holes with."

But the other day I drove into my garage with nothing to carry except a new magazine, and I did look around. Snow shovels, brooms, garden tools by the dozen; the large screens for the kitchen porch; three canvas porch chairs. A power mower under canvas, a large rocking horse also under wraps; a can of gas, one of kerosene and one of oil—for the mower, I presume. A whole table full of garden tools, flower pots, a wooden box of garden manure and one of charcoal, a sack of lime. Bug poison, rat poison, ant poison—how depressing to be such a killer!

Then two shelves full of odds and ends of paints, putty and stuff you smear on roofs. Paint brushes, turpentine and old rags. Then three shelves of my mystery tools, nails and bolts and stuff like that. And, near the door, a large wooden box of sand and salt (haven't had to use it yet this winter on my steep driveway—knock on wood!). A bushel of gravel for my road-mending activities.

Well, it's a real conglomeration all right, I thought. Then in one of those uncomfortable little spurts of honesty I amended it—it's a real mess all right. One heck of a mess. And still—all stuff that one needs in order to live in the country. I looked around. Ah well, as soon as spring comes I'll give it a good housecleaning and throw out most of this junk. Well, some of it.

Then I went upstairs and read my new magazine. And as luck would have it the second article I read was about the New Garage. And more about THAT in Monday's column.

Winona was extremely lucky to catch the world-famous St. Olaf choir for one of the very few concerts they will give in America before they go off on a European tour in the spring. They are tops in America or they wouldn't be giving concerts all over Europe. They will give their Winona concert Saturday night at 8:15 at the Senior High School Auditorium, their first performance in Winona in 25 years. You can still get reserved seat tickets at the Buck Camera Shop or Edstrom's Music Store. Or you can get tickets at the auditorium door—if there are any seats left.

Insurance Payoff May Be Heavy Load

SEATTLE (U)—If the West Coast Life Insurance Co. pays off Boris A. Krenov with 23,000 heavy silver dollars he won't have a kick in the world coming.

He asked for it. And a judge ruled, in effect, he should have it. Krenov was agent for the company in Shanghai in 1933 when he took out a 20-year $80,000 endowment policy.

In 1941, he changed it to a paid-up policy, worth $36,000 at maturity in 1953. After World War II ended he showed up in San Francisco and paid up his back premiums, using several thousand paper Chinese dollars which it was said in court cost him $15.

When his policy matured he demanded payment in silver because a clause in the policy said, "Benefits shall be paid in Shanghai currency of the present (1953) weight and fineness."

The company demurred. The clause, it contended, was nullified when the Chinese Nationalist government made possession of silver dollars punishable by "permanent deprivation."

Judge Henry Clay Agnew held with Krenov, now a Boeing Airplane Co. engineer, and said Krenov could collect on the value of the silver content of 36,000 Chinese silver dollars, vintage 1933. That's about $23,000, Krenov's attorney said.

Navy to Unveil New Destroyer

By C. YATES MCDANIEL

WASHINGTON (U)—The lead ship of the Navy's first new line of all-purpose destroyers since World War II will be unveiled next week with the launching of the USS Forrest P. Sherman.

The widow of Adm. Sherman, who was chief of naval operations at the time of his death in 1951, will christen the ship Feb. 5 at the yards of the Bath, Maine, iron works. The vessel has been designed as a prototype that can be reproduced rapidly by the hundreds if war comes.

Ten other destroyers of the new class are building, five at Bath and five at the Quincy, Mass., yards of the Bethlehem Steel Corp. The Navy has described the new ships as "fast, flexible and potent."

Their speed, still a secret, will be more than the 35 knots of existing ships of this type. They will also be somewhat larger than the World War II 2,425-tonners, but little heavier, because aluminum alloys are being used for most of the superstructure.

Experts, including interior decorators and color scheme artists, worked to make the destroyers as habitable and comfortable as a 390-foot vessel can be while housing some 350 people.

They will be air conditioned throughout. The galleys have been arranged so that the crews can get hot food and eat it on tables near the source of preparation. Recreational areas in the mess-rooms will be fitted out with chairs and writing desks.

Sleeping quarters have been moved around so that they are relatively free from noise, heat and vibration.

There will be perforated metal partitions between bunks, each of which will have individually controlled reading lights. In the wash-rooms, each man will have a private drawer.

2 Army Helicopters
Crash, 6 Men Killed

STUTTGART, Germany (U)—Two U. S. Army helicopters on a training exercise crashed and burned last night within 25 minutes of each other, killing both three-man crews.

The helicopters crashed about 500 yards apart while trying to land on the side of a small hill six miles north of Stuttgart.

Nebraskans Top Buyers of U.S. Savings Bonds

WASHINGTON (U)—Nebraskans were the champion savings bond buyers of 1954, overshooting their quota by a fifth, the Treasury said Wednesday.

The announcement from Earl Shreve, national director of the Treasury's savings bonds division, said Iowa was next and that seven other states also topped their sales quotas for series "E" and "H" savings bonds, the most popularly purchased issues.

State quotas are based on population, income and other factors. For the nation as a whole, Shreve said, sales were about 92 per cent of the goal of $5,300,000,000. A new goal of 5½ billion has been set for 1955.

New York led in dollar sales with 512 millions, followed by Illinois and Pennsylvania.

The nine quota-breaking states, and their dollar sales included Nebraska, 120 per cent of quota and sales of $112,685,000; Iowa, 110.8 per cent and $154,960,000; Illinois, 100.6 per cent and $469,000,000; Michigan 100.1 per cent and $302,793,000.

States which broke the 100 million dollar sales mark but did not top their quotas included Wisconsin 91.9 per cent and 124 million.

A Century in Lumber Relived

Among This Group Of Men And Women are the officers and directors of the Laird, Norton Co., a Winona firm which observed its centennial Thursday. They're the third and fourth generations, and, in observance of the historic occasion, they're wearing costumes—and beards and mustaches—typical of a century ago.

Left to right, standing — James H. Clapp, Medina, Wash., director and son of Norton Clapp, president of Laird, Norton; Arthur W. Colby, Pasadena, Calif., a director; Langdon S. Simons Jr., Darien, Conn., elected a director Thursday to succeed his father-in-law, the late Euclid W. McBride; Ward Lucas, Winona, executive vice president, director and member of the executive committee; Norton Clapp, Medina, president of the company, director and member of the executive committee; Dr. Hermon C. Bumpus Jr., Duxbury, Mass., treasurer and director; Laird Bell, Winnetka, Ill., chairman of the board and director; A. Carl Helmholz, Lafayette, Calif., director; Carleton Blunt, Winnetka, Ill., vice president, and Thomas C. Taylor, Rochester, N. Y., vice president; Seated — Mrs. George R. Little, Winona, assistant treasurer, and Mrs. Ward Lucas, Winona, assistant secretary.

Seated (second row from front) — Frank T. Bumpus, Rochester, Minn., assistant treasurer; Arnulf Ueland Jr., Mankato, Minn., assistant treasurer, and Laird Lucas, assistant secretary.

Seated (front) — Ralph S. Schmitt, Cleveland, Ohio, director of Potlatch Forests, Inc., in Idaho, and of Northwest Paper Co., Cloquet, Minn., both associated companies; Theodore H. Smyth, Santa Barbara, Calif., secretary of Potlatch Yards, Inc.; Matthew Clapp, Medina, Wash., son of Norton Clapp, and Gilbert H. Osgood, Winnetka, Ill., secretary, director and member of the executive committee.

The background is a reproduction of the end of a log with the Laird, Norton log mark: LnCo. This reproduction was used in "Timber Roots," a historical presentation of the two families and the pioneer lumber firm. (Daily News photo)

Teen-age Gang Uncovered in Wabasha County

State Agent Set To Make Report On Investigation

LAKE CITY, Minn. (Special)—Knowledge of a teen-age "gang" activity, possibly involving sale of liquor to minors by Wabasha County taverns, was uncovered by police here this week following the questioning of several girls on shoplifting charges two weeks ago.

A quartet of Mazeppa boys, calling themselves Slim, Pecos, Tex and Skipper, are reported to be ring leaders of the group which includes some Lake City High School students. The existence of the gang was revealed by the girls arrested for shoplifting.

Wabasha County Sheriff John Jacobs and William Bennyhoff, Rochester, state Bureau of Criminal Apprehension agent, made a detailed investigation.

Bennyhoff is preparing a report for Wabasha County Attorney Martin Healy and if it involves county tavernkeepers, they will be "cracked down on" according to the attorney. No knowledge of dope or of youths from Wabasha and Plainview being involved has been uncovered, according to Healy.

The Lake City group called themselves the Blackhaws, after a comic book character. Members are said to have been initiated by burning initials on skin and in some cases by intimacies.

The First Of Winona's Official delegation to the St. Paul Winter Carnival left for the capital city this morning to participate in kickoff activities of the St. Paul carnival later today. For Miss Snow Flake (Miss Pat Passel), seated in the car, it will be the beginning of a busy six days of Winter Carnival activities while Jack

Airliner Helps Conrad Make Paris Landing

PARIS (AP)—Max Conrad, 50-year-old Winona flier, arrived here Thursday night on the short last leg of a solo transatlantic flight. He touched down at Aldergrove Airfield in Northern Ireland Wednesday night after battling bad weather since leaving Gander, Newfoundland.

Conrad flew the same type light craft direct to Paris last year, but was aiming for Shannon, Ireland, as his first stop this trip. Unable to locate Shannon, he put down at Aldergrove after getting a navigation assist from a Pan American Airline pilot early Thursday. Conrad said his plane developed radio trouble.

Conrad was delivering the plane to a buyer here.

Mothers March Yields $2,394 For Polio Fund

The mothers' march on polio Wednesday night enriched the March of Dimes campaign by $2,394.63, it was reported today.

Said the co-chairmen, Mrs. Hermon Curtis and Mrs. Herbert Scherer, "This wonderful response to the March of Dimes appeal demonstrates the hard work of 265 volunteers ready to go out in exceptionally cold weather to call on the homes assigned to them. The generous response of homes visited is evidenced in the large amount of money given."

The amount collected in the four wards of the city, Goodview School District 82, Sugar Loaf and Glen View Addition are:

First Ward	$ 618.41
Second Ward	671.76
Third Ward	626.44
Fourth Ward	335.67

Total $2,394.63
Goodview School District 82 $ 118.35
Glen View $ 9.00
Sugar Loaf $ 15.00

"Appreciation for help and work given to make the mothers' march so successful is extended to each block worker, precinct and ward leader, the Merchants National Bank where the money was counted and deposited and to the YMCA for the use of one of their rooms," the co-chairmen said.

Sub-Zero Cold To Continue; -12 Tonight

Thermometers in Winona and the surrounding area are expected to take the long dip to 12 below again tonight after a predicted fall to 12 last night stopped at 5 below.

The noon temperature here was 1 above while Thursday afternoon's peak was 5 degrees.

The Weather Bureau said it will remain fair and quite cold tonight with increasing cloudiness and light snow by Saturday afternoon or night with warmer temperatures. A high of 10 above is expected Saturday afternoon.

Snowfall Near 1954

The additional snow Saturday may bring the season's total to date near the total for last winter. Including Thursday night's half-inch fall, the total this season amounted to 10 1/2 inches compared with 12 inches through Jan. 31, 1954.

Last year's season total was 19 inches, with a seven-inch fall in March after snowless February.

Temperatures in Wisconsin and Minnesota were 20 to 25 degrees below seasonal normals today. Thursday night's low in the nation was 26 below at International Falls while Grantsburg, Wis., had 17 below. It was 15 below at Eau Claire while La Crosse matched Winona's 5 below reading.

Some consolation may be gained, however, by the fact that Winona is past the halfway mark in the 1954-55 winter season by comparison with previous heating seasons. Degree days, based on calculations of average daily temperatures below 65 degrees, reveal that total degree days through Thursday totaled 3,865. Normal for the year is 7,421.

Cold to Continue
The weatherman said there is no sign of a let-up in the cold spell before Tuesday. Weather forecasts beyond that are available only from traditional prognosticators such as the groundhog and the Old Farmer's Almanac.

The almanac, which said the January cold spell would come between Jan. 15 and 20 and looked for storms the last 11 days of the month, expects heavy snows through Feb. 10, followed by "clear and fair" the rest of February.

Wednesday, the groundhog will peep from his hole looking for a shadow. If he sees it, according to legend, six weeks of winter will follow.

Last year, the groundhog must have just guessed, because after a bright, sunny Feb. 2, Winona experienced the warmest, driest February on record with an average temperature of 33.74 degrees.

Thief Gets Away With All But Kitchen Sink

CINCINNATI (AP)—Ossie Wright, 35, got away with everything but the kitchen sink—and was caught when he came back for that. Wright had entered the home of Willie Turner and removed every bit of furniture and personal property except the sink, testimony in Criminal Court showed yesterday. Then he came back for the sink, and Turner discovered him there kneeling down with pipe wrench in hand.

A jury convicted Wright of housebreaking.

Carnival Royalty Off for St. Paul

Winona's Miss Snow Flake of 1955, Miss Pat Passel, was among the 33 snow queens from Minnesota, Wisconsin and South Dakota arriving in St. Paul today to participate in St. Paul Winter Carnival festivities.

Miss Snow Flake, Jack Frost V (George Graham) and Frosty and Mrs. Lloyd Ozmum left for St. Paul this morning. Leaving later today will be Frosty and Mrs. Roger Schneider and Miss Snow Flake's two attendants, Miss Florence Sebo and Miss Diane Davis.

The royalty will ride the Winona Winter Carnival float in the parade at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Twirlers Going
The Winona Twirlers (Betty Ersig, Susan Lord, Edna Bundy, Nancy Cizak, Joyce Peplinski and Phyllis Kowalczyk) will serve as an honor guard for the Winona float entry while the St. Stanislaus School band also is scheduled to march in the parade.

Chairmen of Winona Winter Carnival committees will witness the parade as members of the official delegation.

Miss Ersig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Ersig, 1210 W. 4th St., has entered the national majorette contest with preliminaries scheduled at the St. Paul Armory all day Saturday and finals set for the auditorium Sunday at 8 p.m.

Miss Snow Flake's whirl of activities began this noon, with a luncheon followed by an afternoon photographic session with the 32 other queens at the Hotel St. Paul.

Later this afternoon, the queens attended a coronation rehearsal at the St. Paul Auditorium. Tonight they're guests of the St. Paul Chamber of Commerce dinner at the Athletic Club.

At 7:45 p.m., all 34 will participate in the coronation of King Boreas XIX and view the Northwest square dance festival in the auditorium arena.

Colleges Asking Restoration of Freeman Cuts

ST. PAUL, Minn.—Dr. Nels Minne, president of Winona State Teachers College, was one of five state college heads appearing before the Senate finance committee Thursday afternoon, asking that their appropriation requests for the next two years — slashed in half by Gov. Orville Freeman — be restored.

The five, along with the chairman of the Teachers College Board, Howard Williams, Mankato, were in day-long session, explaining requests totaling $14,548,078 for colleges at Winona, Bemidji, Moorhead, St. Cloud and Mankato.

Gov. Freeman, in an earlier budget message, recommended a 49.3 per cent cut from the request, dropping the figure down to $7,288,240, a sum to be used for operating budgets and building programs.

Building Slashed
Biggest cut in levies was in building requests, where the governor rejected all major building projects. He recommended that requests totaling $6,209,000 be chopped down to $770,000.

The colleges had asked for $8,339,078 for two-year operating expenses; but Gov. Freeman slashed off $1,817,829.

Increased enrollments were cited by the educators as main reasons for requested higher appropriations. Williams said Thursday that "enrollments have increased more in state teachers colleges than any other branch of education."

Dr. Minne said that the governor's budget upped the income figure of the schools about 8 or 9 per cent, but that "it actually results in another appropriation cut."

He said that the Winona college is understaffed and estimated that enrollment would jump from its present 623 to about 800 in the next four years. He asked that his $1,400,000 request for building be restored by the Legislature, saying that the major portion of the money is earmarked for a new dormitory.

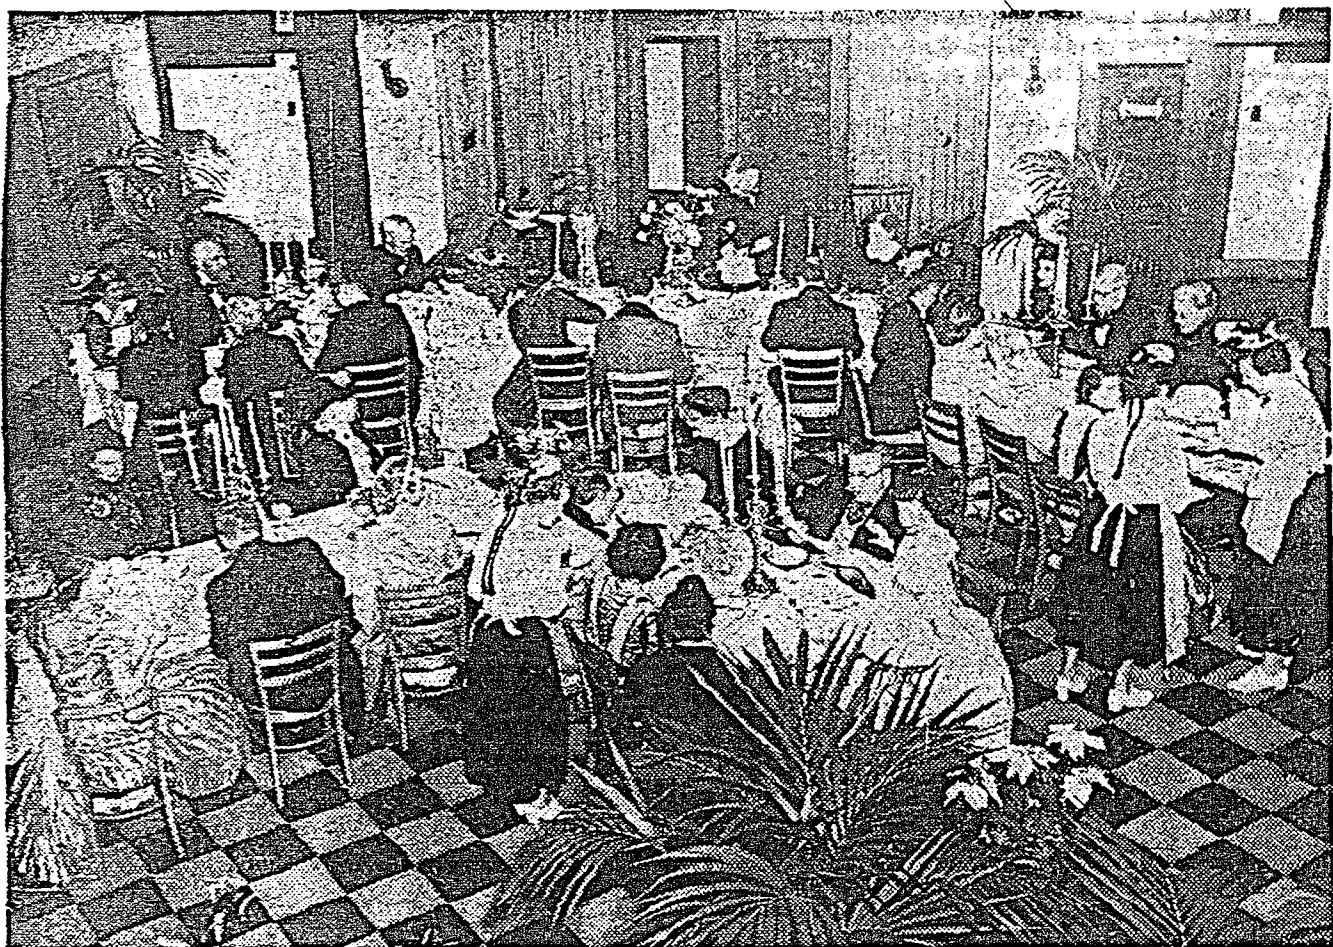

Calls It "Fire-Trap"
Dr. George F. Budd, president of the St. Cloud Teachers College, asked restoration of a $2,270,000 building request. He described the present laboratory building as a "fire trap" and asked funds for a new structure.

Dr. C. R. Sattgast, Bemidji, president, said a new cafeteria and student center is "critically needed" at a cost of $459,000.

Moorhead President Dr. O. W. Snarr said more money is needed for general maintenance and equipment. He anticipated an increase in the present 718 students to 850 in the next two years.

WEST 3RD ACCIDENT

Edward Kleinschmidt, 743 W. 4th St., and Leo Eichman, 207 Mechanic St., were drivers of cars that collided at West 3rd and Grand streets at 3:47 p.m. Thursday. Each driver estimated his damage at $100.

This Was The Scene as 38 enjoyed a "Huff House" dinner Thursday evening in commemoration of Founders Day, Laird, Norton Co. The officers and directors of the company and their wives, as well as the staff of the Oaks, were in costume for the dinner in the Lumber Exchange lobby. The menu (from the 1855-1880 period of the historic Winona hotel) featured such dishes as escargots (snails), steak ala old settlers, spiced apples, onions with butter, lumberman's log-roll (ice cream) and raisins.

The centennial committee reconstructed the dinner, and its setting, from old newspaper accounts. Smilax, a preferred greenery of long ago, decorated the room, as did red cyclamen plants and a poinsettia. On the table were five favorite ornamental cakes of the time (sponge, jelly, sugar, citron and lady), epergne (a pyramid of fruits with flowers) and old candelabra.

A century of progress for a pioneer Midwest lumber firm was relived here Thursday evening.

Thirty-eight persons—almost all of them the third and fourth generation of the families that began the Laird, Norton Co. 100 years ago—sat down in a brick and marble building that accommodates not only this first Winona centennial firm but also two associated firms, Hayes-Lucas Lumber Co. and Botsford Lumber Co.

Appropriately enough, a fourth occupant of the Lumber Exchange at 5th and Johnson streets is the Winona County Historical Society.

The 38, in the spirit of Founders Day, wore costumes of the founders' day, and some of them came from their own wardrobes, too.

They dined in a setting familiar to their three founders, William Harris Laird and James Laird and Matthew George Norton: Such as palms, epergne and old candelabra. And the menu was after the period of 1815 to 1880 when the Huff House was the favorite hostelry of visitors here, and of Winonans, too.

Historical Play
Later in the evening some watched and others participated in a historical play, "Timber Roots," which recounted the history of the families and the company, until about 1905, about the time when its Winona lumbering operations ceased.

A typical scene of the seven presented: "September, 1892. The exterior of the William Laird home is reproduced on the backdrop."

"The first and second generations of the Laird and Norton families have met for dinner in the William Laird home. The ladies have retired to the parlor and the gentlemen to the library. William, Matthew and James are followed into the room by Fred Bell, Frank Thatcher and Rodolph McBurnie."

The evening was ended with

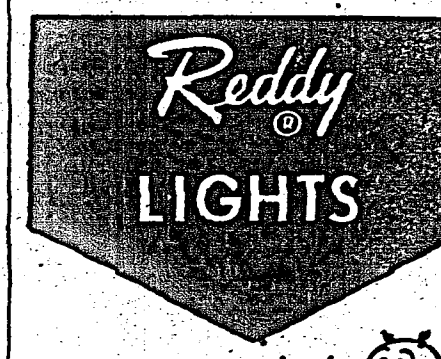

Mr. and Mrs. Laird Bell, Winnetka, Ill., present chairman of the board, is the second to hold that position. The late Mr. Little was chairman from 1950 to 1953.

All present officers and directors are third and fourth generation members of the families.

Today two associated companies were meeting — Hayes-Lucas and Botsford.

What's Behind Greatest 'Bull Market' Story?

By RELMAN MORIN

NEW YORK (U)—When you read about "the greatest bull market in history," you are looking at a story that goes beyond Wall Street.

The high averages and zooming prices reflect many factors.

Sure, some people are simply gambling. "Institutional buying" of stocks by big organizations has increased.

And there is the argument that the market today is only now catching up with the true values of many stocks and bonds.

But the figures reflect more than that.

They represent a massive chunk of confidence in at least the immediate future—and to some, the long-term outlook—for the whole American economy.

Since nobody can read the future, the only thing you can do is look at some present bases, the trends, and make your own projections.

For example, the population today is an estimated 163 million.

Population Climbs

By 1975, the U.S. Census Bureau estimates, it will climb to 200 million. How many more pairs of shoes will the factories have to turn out then? How many more miles of textiles? How many more radios, refrigerators, automobiles? How much more food?

Take the question of housing. "Since the current rate of family formation is about 700,000 a year, it is apparent that about 700,000 new units must be added annually."

And about 300,000 houses "wear out" and are demolished annually, bringing the total basic need to about one million units per year."

The gross national product for 1954 is estimated at 350 billion dollars. (GNP means the total value of all goods and services produced.) In his economic message, President Eisenhower called for a GNP of 500 billion by 1965. The National Assn. of Manufacturers estimates 700 billion by 1975.

Sound like overreaching? Here's a sober statement from the U.S. Chamber of Commerce: "There has been a more or less continuous upward trend in the output of American industry. Various esti-

They'll Do It Every Time

By Jimmy Hatlo

mates of the rate of increase in production have put it at 3 or 4 per cent more per annum."

A powerful factor in the whole staggering picture is this:

The average American is a "waster." Call it keeping up with the Joneses if you like, but he is forever wanting something new or better than what he has, whether it's a house, an automobile, a can opener, or a wider TV screen.

He will put himself in hock to get it too. And then work like fury to keep up the installment payments. His wants are limited only by his buying power and credit. And he has the buying power.

Then there's "research." A New York Stock Exchange estimate puts the figure for industrial research and development in 1954 at about four billion dollars—adding that that is 345 per cent greater than the sum spent in 1941.

A steady stream of new or improved products are coming out of the laboratories every year. They create new jobs and new wealth.

Singing Malaya Terrorist Shot

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (U)—Lung Chee, a singing terrorist who urged his Red cohorts on with an American popular song, has been silenced.

Authorities said the Chinese Communist guerrilla, who made the American ditty "South of the Border, Down Mexico Way" the party anthem in his district, was shot dead recently by British troops.

Rated as one of the three top Reds in north Pahang state, Lung Chee frequently sang "South of the Border" at local Communist rallies. When troops searched his body, they found an automatic pistol—and copies of the song in English.

Pick Lovely Valentine For Wife This Year

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—I don't want to rush you—but have you noticed that Valentine's Day is coming?

I mention this for the benefit of forgetful husbands. Every year I scoop Pegler, Pearson and Walter they can ignore Valentine's Day, have their "heart" in their work.

This year I'm a little early because of the love that's flowering all over.

"I was at the Palace the other night," a fellow said, "and guess who was sitting right beside me."

"No, Eddie and Debbie," he said. "Eddie was in a sports shirt, and Debbie in a turtle-neck sweater. They were smooching and having a good time. Nobody was paying a bit of attention to them."

"You must have been," I pointed out.

Arthur Godfrey's Dan Cupid led Dorothy Maguire to take her husband Sgt. John Henry Brown along to St. Louis where the Maguires flew out there the other day.

But it was probably Marilyn Monroe's "long weekend" with Joe Di Maggio that started me on this Valentine kick.

Joe borrows a car and away they go. Their close friends zipper up their lips.

"I'm praying for them to get back together," one person goes so far as to admit unequivocally but off the record and not for attribution.

"Could there be a second honeymoon coming?" I ask—and am answered with a knowing grin that says "Well, yes and no."

Anyway, love's very popular just now, and with Eddie, Joe and John Henry Brown in there pitching, and buying gifts, every husband should start out right now to pick a lovely Valentine for his wife.

Officials Differ On Danger to U. S. in Formosa

WASHINGTON (U)—Government officials who try to puzzle out enemy intentions, differ over how great is the risk that Chinese Communist warplanes will attack U.S. ships in any evacuation of Nationalist-held islands off China.

The question has arisen in connection with the drafting of plans to provide American air and sea protection and transportation for a Nationalist withdrawal from the Tachen group, 200 miles north of Formosa and about 12 miles off the Red coast.

Most authorities concerned with the problem believe the Chinese Reds are not likely to interfere on a major scale. These officials reason that the Reds will be satisfied to take over the Tachens.

They incline to the view that Red Chinese leaders, no matter how violently they may dislike seeing the Nationalists escape capture with U.S. help, realize they do not have sufficient airpower to prevent it.

Further, they say the Reds know they might be risking American bombing of Chinese mainland targets if they dared attack any part of the Tachens.

A minority believes the Red Chinese might well launch some kind of air attacks for two reasons:

1. To demonstrate to the world that the Chinese Reds will not tolerate interference in what they regard as a civil war against Chiang Kai-shek's forces.

2. To try to frighten American leaders away from giving similar air and naval protection to Nationalist forces in the future.

how I would place in the record a statement of the number of communists working for the New York Times and Time magazine. I had previously discussed this with Sen. McCarthy and had his approval. Once the 'facts' were in the record, McCarthy knew that he could accuse the Times and Time Magazine, Inc. of being pro-Communist."

Sent to Montana

Or consider this example, when McCarthy sent Matusow into Montana in 1952 to attack the Democratic senatorial candidate, Mike Mansfield:

"As I talked I reached in my brief case, using the same gestures I had seen Sen. McCarthy so frequently use. 'Now I have here in my brief case documented proof...' I pulled out a photograph of an old copy of the Communist party publication 'New Masses.' The impression was that it contained a bylined story by Mansfield; that he had written it to the day before Valentine's Day, too. Yes, and also the morning of Valentine's Day."

There is no space here to convey the full, glib flavor of Matusow's revelations. But the examples quoted suggest how incredible it is that Matusow should have continued to receive taxpayer's money for his services as an "expert witness."

It may be said, of course, that Matusow, having lied before, is lying now when he admits his lies. It may also be said that Matusow, having swung from Communism to McCarthyism, has completed the circle—and the fact that his publishers have a decidedly leftwing coloration will be cited in support of this charge.

Amazing Story

Certainly, on the record cited by Matusow himself, no one would be likely to claim for him exceptional trustworthiness or political wisdom. Yet he has documentation for much of his amazing story. And the story is also inherently credible, simply because Matusow himself is the chief object of his own accusations.

At any rate, Matusow's revelation simply cannot be ignored, either by Congress or by the justice department. In this sense, in writing his astonishing confession, Matusow may more than compensate for the harm he has done.

Obviously, some ex-Communist informers have performed a useful service. But in the years since the trial of Alger Hiss, the cult of the ex-Communist, as the undisputed arbiter of the loyalty of other citizens, has grown like a cancer. Matusow's confession is likely to initiate a serious investigation of this new post-war profession of the informer, and this could have good results for the political health of the United States.

Resolution Prepares Americans for War

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (U)—There may be some psychological effect—on the American people if not on the Red Chinese—from President Eisenhower's dramatic efforts to get congressional approval for defending Formosa.

But as far as Eisenhower's precise intentions go, they are no clearer—either to the Communists or the American people—than before he sent a message to Congress Monday asking for a blessing on anything he did to save Formosa.

His message, and Congress' approval, may make the Communists feel he means business. And no doubt the American people will be a little better prepared mentally for a war with Red China if it comes.

But possibly the Reds look on it all as a bluff, an attempt by Eisenhower to save face by talking boldly at the very moment he apparently was getting ready to let them capture the Tachen Islands from Chiang Kai-shek.

If the Red Chinese consider it a bluff, and call it by hanging away at some more islands, the United States will finally have to put up or shut up.

There is a missing link which when someday revealed in full will tell a little more about Eisenhower's thinking and intentions right now.

This was the secret testimony this week by Secretary of State Dulles and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, before the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations committees.

Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore) spoke of this testimony in the Senate yesterday without disclosing its word for word.

"On my word of honor . . . the secret testimony . . . would prove it was contemplated by the administration . . . that the resolution would authorize in advance the right of the President to order a strike against the mainland before any act of war had been committed against the United States."

Morse meant that, as he saw it, the President was asking Congress beforehand for approval to bomb Red Chinese troop concentrations on the China mainland if he thought they were getting ready to attack Formosa and that was the way to stop them.

The Chinese Communists may be skeptical about Eisenhower's earnestness in asking congressional approval for defending Formosa since he had previously, and emphatically, said Formosa would be defended.

He didn't say what other islands, besides Formosa and the nearby Pescadores, would be defended. Chiang's Nationalists hold a number of smaller islands near the China coast.

The fact that Eisenhower has had three opportunities this week to be clearer, but wasn't, certainly he deliberately chose not to. The idea, obviously, is to keep the Reds guessing. He left vague in his message to Congress what other islands would be defended.

Dulles and Radford urged Congress not to be more specific in the resolution. And in a special White House statement yesterday there was no specific mention of islands to be defended.

The 32-year-old unemployed father from Houston, Tex., made the statement after visiting the youngster's bedside. Physicians said the child, Lloyd George, was so badly beaten that they have doubts he will recover.

Mrs. Virginia Frances Thompson and her husband, Lawrence, 32, were jailed in Paul Valley Tuesday night. They were arrested at their farm home by officers who were tipped that the 5-year-old youngster was in serious condition.

They found his brother James Edward, 3, also had suffered mistreatment.

Stanley described his sister as a religious fanatic.

County Atty. Raymond Burger said he intended to prosecute Mrs. Thompson.

New Atomic Clocks

Keep Perfect Time

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (U)—The perfection of two "atomic clocks," so precise they may yield invaluable aids to the fields of navigation, astronomy, geophysics and communication, was announced separately Wednesday by Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Columbia University.

Had the clock developed by MIT's Dr. Herold R. Zacharias been ticking away since the time of Christ, it would now be only one-half second "wrong," the MIT announcement said.

Prof. Charles H. Townes, professor of the Columbia clock, said his instrument has a possible variation of only one second in 300 years.

They are not the first atomic clocks, but they differ from their predecessors in that they are not limited by the shortcomings of electronic circuits.

Too good to miss!

It's not often that a theatre manager will personally recommend a picture to his patrons. But it's not often either, that we see a picture like "GENEVIEVE." Wherever it's been shown, "GENEVIEVE" has charmed audiences and evoked a type of laughter too seldom heard these days.

For "GENEVIEVE" is a "sleeper" that was produced without fanfare and without benefit of big name stars, is an adult picture about real people in real, believable, but nonetheless hilarious situations.

I know how much I enjoyed seeing this fine film. And I know that thousands have been delighted with the freshness and pure joy in "GENEVIEVE."

Therefore, I have complete confidence in enthusiastically recommending this picture to you. "GENEVIEVE" will not let me—or you—down.

I sincerely believe you'll thoroughly enjoy seeing it!

Sincerely,
The Manager

Atomic-Powered Plane Forecast In Five Years

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Durham (D-NC) predicted today that a practical atom-powered airplane will be developed "within five years." Such a plane, he said, could fly indefinitely without landing.

Durham made the statement in commenting on Gen. Nathan F. Twining's statement yesterday that advances thus far have convinced the Air Force a practical nuclear powered military plane is possible.

Twining, Air Force chief of staff, told the House Armed Services Committee, "We have hopes this will be a truly intercontinental weapon freeing us from the dependence" on overseas bases and supply lines.

Durham, a member of that committee and top Democrat on the Senate House Atomic Energy Committee, said the successful development of the atom-powered submarine Nautilus had spurred progress of the A-plane. The Nautilus is now making test runs.

The congressman said in an interview that a major remaining problem for an A-plane is how to control the terrific heat generated by atomic energy, and that others include reducing the weight and size of the craft.

State Bank Assets Near $1½ Billion

ST. PAUL (AP)—Assets in Minnesota's 502 state banks and trust companies have increased to a new all-time high, Banking Commissioner Charles M. Wenzel disclosed in a report released today.

Assets now total $1,378,798,055, which is an increase of approximately 61 million dollars over the December 31, 1953, figure.

Loans and discounts also jumped 31 million dollars to a total of $547,515,840 and United States government bonds increased about 18½ million to a total of $474,415,211, according to Wenzel.

"All types of deposits increased during the year, with the greatest increase shown in time deposits," Wenzel reported. "These deposits went up $37,350,054 to a total of $692,326,001. This is 54.4 per cent of the total deposits of these state-chartered institutions."

Total deposits increased $54,469,986 to $1,272,498,735. The capital accounts also showed a hike of $8,621,383 to a new high of $102,202,431.

Tot Falls 11 Stories, Gets Minor Head Cuts

Memorial Services Held for Marine Hero of Iwo Jima

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—The Marine Corps and 10 other organizations conducted memorial services for Marine hero Ira Hayes today in the Arizona Capitol.

The 32-year-old Pima Indian who helped raise the Stars and Stripes atop Mt. Suribachi on Iwo Jima in 1945 was found near his Sacton reservation home Monday.

His own people said farewell to Hayes at funeral services in the First Presbyterian Church at Sacton, Ariz., yesterday. Nearly 2,000 Indians and white friends packed the church and stood in the churchyard.

Hayes died of exposure and excessive alcohol. Misfortune and unhappiness had been his lot since he came out of the Marines. Those who knew him said he drank too much because horrors of the island battles of Tarawa, Bougainville and Iwo Jima never left him.

Burial will be in the Arlington National Cemetery, Washington, D.C.

House Passes GI Schooling Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Unanimous House approval boosted today the chances for quick Senate passage of a bill to continue GI schooling rights for men in the armed services by Jan. 31.

The House passed the measure 368-0 yesterday and sent it to the Senate. Chairman Hill (D-Ala.) of the Senate Labor Committee said he plans hearings on the bill for next week.

The measure would assure up to 36 months of government-financed education for those in service by Jan. 31. After discharge, they will be entitled to 1½ days of educational benefits for each day of service up to the maximum. It is expected to add about 350 million dollars to the cost of veterans' care.

'Nothing to Hide,' Nudists Tell Governor

Williams' office said he would not accept the invitation.

Housewives Fight Back, Attack Expert

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

I have just learned that it is not wise to irritate a tired housewife.

Being a housewife myself, I can understand that a lot of over-worked wives thought it was all too much when a household efficiency expert recently stated that working wives are more efficient than stay-at-homes. But I didn't expect the flood of angry mail that came in.

Here is a typical example, from a Detroit housewife:

"My dear Mrs. Fish Eggs: 'You must have flipped your lid to write such a stupid column. As for Miss Nitwit, what does she know about housework when she's a complete miss. (Editor's note: The efficiency expert quoted was Madge Lewyt, of New York, who is not a miss but a Mrs., and makes a career of household surveys and housekeeping shortcuts.)"

"I don't have to ask my husband to help with the household chores because he has brains enough and loves me enough to help without being nagged at. 'What about the children? Does the miss or you have three healthy children to look after? Wash to do every day? Ironing as well? Nourishing meals to prepare? Or do you live on coffee and cigarettes?'"

"... I slave all day and get no pay—then an ignorant dame like you has to make things worse."

"Old Ironsides," the famous, still preserved U.S.S. Constitution, had a sister ship launched in 1797 christened the U.S.S. United States. She was nicknamed "Old Wagon" because she was so slow and heavy.

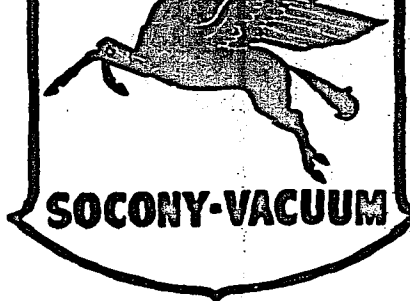

Reds Say 2 Killed, 12 Hurt in Bomb Attack on Steamer

HONG KONG (AP)—The Peiping government's official New China News Agency says two crewmen were killed and 12 wounded Jan. 19 when Nationalist bombers hit the Red Chinese steamer Namhai in Swatow harbor. The vessel apparently was moored near the British ship Edendale, which Chiang Kai-shek's planes sank the same day. Crewmen from the Edendale who reached Hong Kong Wednesday said they saw a Chinese ship nearby get direct bomb hits and burst into flames.

The Red news agency dispatch said survivors from the Namhai appeared at a mass rally in Swatow Jan. 21 and "expressed anger at the wanton attack on their ship." It said a similar rally was held the same day in Foochow, where workers of three bombed factories "were hard at work to resume production on improvised premises."

States Share Highway Melon of $875 Million

Minnesota can get $20,688,000 and Wisconsin $19,992,000 of federal money to spend on roads in fiscal 1956 — and probably a lot more if Congress enacts a multi-billion-dollar highway program scheduled for consideration soon.

One new proposal would boost spending for highway construction from $47 billion to $101 billion over a ten-year period. The federal government, committed under a 1954 law to pay about 19 per cent of highway costs, would raise its share to about 30 per cent.

Minnesota's and Wisconsin's share of funds already voted will come from the $875 million earmarked by Congress for highway aid. New York will be allotted the biggest cut, $58,075,000, and Vermont the smallest, $3,923,036, among the 48 states. To get this federal aid, states must spend specified amounts of their own funds.

Little extra mileage would be added under the proposed $101 billion program. Most of the money would be spent on replacing and improving highways considered inadequate to carry today's traffic. Minnesota had 122,523 miles of roads — including federal-aid highways — in 1953 and Wisconsin 95,930. The national total was 3,386,190 miles. Texas, with 224,937 miles, had the biggest share, while Rhode Island had the least, 4,069 miles.

Of Minnesota's total mileage, 7,426 is part of the federal-aid primary system. This includes the interstate system, on which $27 billion would be spent under the $101 billion proposal. Minnesota has 17,306 miles of federal-aid secondary roads, which would get federal aid at about the same rate as provided by the 1954 law, and Wisconsin 18,433.

Nationally, there are 234,407 miles of federal-aid primary roads and 482,972 miles of federal-aid secondary roads. About 37,600 miles of the primary system consist of the key interstate network.

Real Beauty in Winter's Landscape

There is a simplicity about the winter landscape that is neither bleak nor displeasing once the eye gets used to it. It is elemental and direct and has its own clean and uncluttered beauty. This is the foundation—the skeleton—on which spring, summer and fall are built and if it had no beauty, the rest of the seasons could have none in themselves.

Now we see a tree as simply a tree. It is bare. You can see every branch and every twig and the nest left by last summer's robins. It stands firmly rooted, dormant and yet full of strength, waiting only for the spring and the sun to bring forth its colors.

The same is true of the hills. Now the marks of the centuries are there to be seen. There is no covering of green to blur their outlines. Every little valley, chiseled by time, glacial movements and the flow of water stands out sharply. Nothing is covered or hidden. This is the earth in elemental form.

And in snow, there is no intrinsic beauty, since white is really no color. But cloak a fir in a snowdrift. Who can deny this is winter's art in its purest form?

We refer to winter as the colorless season and speak of it as the drab season as if it is a time to be endured because it is followed by spring. But there is beauty in winter's landscape — elemental and simple—but none the less appealing.

Try and Stop Me

Latest comic to hit the top rung of television is deadpan, unfrenzied George Gobel, who says he got his name because he was the only one of sixteen children who wasn't allergic to the sound of "George." "I really wanted to be Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.," he adds, "but somebody beat me to that one."

A typical introduction to a Gobel monologue goes something like, "This program is being carried as a public service to our armed forces at Helsing's Bar and Grill. And here's a special word to our fighting men: Stop fighting!"

If you haven't seen Gobel trying to find a place for his private bowling ball, or explaining an electronics machine, or befuddling an old pro like Boris Karloff, you've missed one of the most refreshing personalities on TV.

P. G. Wodehouse and Guy Bolton call their book of theatrical reminiscences, "Bring on the Girls." The title stems from this:

"When one of those Pharaohs died," the great Bert Williams used to explain, "They'd lay that old boy out, and then, just to make sure, they'd put some of the finest wine in the country on one side of him and some of the richest food on the other. Then they'd bring on the girls, and those girls would do a veil dance. And if that old Pharaoh didn't sit up and take notice then — Brother, he sure was dead!"

These Days

Upheaval in Asia Ignored by U.S.

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

NEW YORK — When a typhoon appears, there is plenty of wind and rain and high waves everywhere in the region, but the core, the hard-hitting, destroying core is a churning mass of power in the center. That today is Asia. And that is far back as the early 1920's was Asia.

Between World War I, which destroyed the concept of European imperialism, and World War II, which reduced Western Europe to dependence on the United States and elevated the Soviet Universal State to its present primary position, Asia has held the center of the historic stage. It was in Asia and not in Europe that events were occurring which would determine the facade of the remaining decades of the 20th century.

THE GREAT STUDENTS movement in China of 1919, the rise of Sun Yat-sen and Chiang Kai-shek, the training of Asiatic revolutionists in Canton under Michael Borodin and the establishment of the Sun Yat-sen University in Moscow; the emergence of Gandhi and then of Nehru, the independence of India and Indonesia and the Communist revolutions in China, Indochina, and Korea; the resubordination of Tibet to Peking and the uprisings in Malaya and Burma — these are clinical symptoms of the boiling over of anger and even revenge among the pigmented peoples of Asia and Africa against the so-called white man — the Westerner, the Western Christian who for centuries had asserted a superiority over the Asiatic which the Asiatic never acknowledged.

No matter how much we devoted ourselves to Europe, Asia kept asserting itself. Japan and Soviet Russia understood the Asiatic situation better than any Western power. It was a race between them for control, at any rate, of East Asia. Japan began in 1915, when the twenty-one demands were made on China. From then until the surrender on the "Missouri," Japan's aim was to hold and possess Manchuria as a bulwark against Soviet Russia. The Japanese war against China, which commenced on Sept. 18, 1931, was really a war against the development of the Soviet Universal State in Asia. Russia, czarist and Soviet, devoted itself to the conquest of China.

JAPAN MIGHT HAVE BEEN successful were it not for the intervention of the United States, this country standing between Japan and China. The result has been that what we prevented Japan from doing, we made it possible for Soviet Russia to do. It was the conquest of China that made the Soviet Universal State the strong group of powers whose direction is in the Kremlin. The United States was busy with the Berlin Airlift which Soviet Russia, recognizing the American preoccupation with Europe, provoked as a screen. For this conquest, Tokyo, errors made between 1946 and 1949 have reached to the Indian Ocean and the United States is forced to accept responsibility for the island of Formosa.

If Formosa goes, how shall we hold the line which begins at Japan and ends in Australia and New Zealand? If that line is worth holding, it is necessary to fight for every island in it, as MacArthur did when he returned from Australia to the Philippines then on to Japan. If that line falls, the United States will be diplomatically as isolated as no America Firster dreamed possible in 1940.

AMERICANS ARE RELATED by language, tradition and personal history to European countries. Great Britain, Ireland, France and Germany, in particular, hold memories of origin, remote or near, for many Americans. More recent comers to this country are related to the peoples of Southern and Eastern Europe, Italy and Greece, Poland, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, etc. The pull of sentiment is across the Atlantic. Asiatic peoples have contributed only a small fragment of our population and little to our history.

Therefore, it was understandable if not logical that during the years of World War II and immediately following, the tendency of policy has been Europe first. If Gen. Douglas MacArthur was forgotten during his heroic war in the Pacific, it was because the preservation of Great Britain seemed infinitely more important to large numbers of Americans. The appeal of Winston Churchill was more moving than the appeal of Melling Soong. If Chiang Kai-shek was deprived of weapons, it was because the defeat of Hitler seemed more pressing at the time. And while some Americans realized the peril of the Communist conquest of China and the adjacent countries, a sense of outrage cemented the opposition to the Nazi.

Ike Wary of Dictating Policy Without Congress

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Only a few intimates knew it, but a secondary reason why President Eisenhower submitted his Formosa policy to Congress was to get his impetuous advisers out of his thinning hair. They have been rowing like cats and dogs during White House conferences.

Specifically, he hoped to head off Adm. Arthur Radford's constant nagging and clamoring for action in the Far East. The fiery chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff has been pressing for military measures against Red China to the point that it is beginning to wear on the President's nerves.

Now, when Radford raises the issue, Ike can pass the buck to Congress and point out that he is morally obligated to consult fully with congressional leaders before taking important action. Privately, he even commented that veteran politicians like House Speaker Sam Rayburn would be in no hurry to put the nation's sons under arms again.

This column can report that the President's decision to share with Congress his authority to direct foreign policy originated strictly with him. When he brought up the idea of going to Congress with the Formosa issue, his advisers agreed it would be good politics to stick the Democrats with partial responsibility for our Far Eastern policy.

However, this was not Ike's motive, and he dismissed it impatiently. Rather, he spoke of his conception of the presidency, which, he thought, had taken on too much power under the Democrats. He criticized ex-President Truman for arbitrarily taking over the coal mines, also for sending U. S. forces into Korea without consulting Congress.

He also confided that he intended to use Congress as an excuse for shushing up his advisers who have been trying to push him into war with Red China.

Quemoy Quandary. Meanwhile, his diplomatic and military advisers were battling behind the scenes—even on the day the message was sent—over whether to defend the Nationalist-held offshore islands. Sec. of State Dulles is flatly against defending any island outposts, except Formosa itself and the adjacent Pescadores. He recognizes, however, that it would be political folly to say so. As a result, he has tempered his statements in his talks with senators on Capitol Hill.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff, however, have long favored defending key offshore islands, including beleaguered Tachen Island, 200 miles north of Formosa. This is a vital radar warning post, they say, to watch for planes from China's big jet bases around Shanghai.

Quemoy Island, on the other hand, is located directly opposite Formosa and is necessary to guard against any invasion attempt, the joint chiefs declare. Low fogs also hang over the Formosan Straits, and Quemoy and other near-by islands are needed as observation in case a Red invasion force tries to move on Formosa under cover of fog.

Postmaster General Summerfield is now telling the Treasury Department how to run its business.

Ex-Congressman Harlan Hagen of Minnesota was all set to become director of the Bureau of Printing and Engraving. But Hagen had made the mistake last year of defying Mr. Summerfield and voting to increase postal workers' pay.

Like the elephant, Mr. Summerfield doesn't forget. When he heard Hagen was to head up the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, he rushed to the White House and stopped the appointment. It doesn't pay to oppose the Postmaster General.

Two of Eisenhower's Cabinet members are arguing inside the cabinet committee on transportation for a revolutionary step to free the railroads from all rate regulation. Opposing them is Arthur Flemming, head of the Defense Mobilization Board.

The two Cabinet members are Sec. of Commerce Sinclair Weeks and Sec. of Defense Charles Wilson, both big businessmen. They propose:

1. Permitting the rail lines to acquire trolley lines, steamship and trucking lines, thus making for much greater monopoly of transportation. Such acquisition is now barred.

2. Permitting the rails to hike or lower rates at will, with no supervision from the Interstate Commerce Commission. This would mean that the railroads could lower rates in one area until a smaller rail line or trucking line was put out of business, then increase the rates later.

Flemming so far has bucked the two Cabinet members. His advisers warn that the above proposals would mean the end of small rail lines; also that 59 per cent of the trucking lines would be taken over by the rails or put out of business; also that the big air lines would gobble up smaller lines until about five lines ran the business of the U.S.A.

Because of the backstage argument, Eisenhower deferred to Flemming and included no recommendation on transportation in his message to Congress.

Note 1. — The Langer monopoly committee has just warned that a rash of mergers led to the depressions of 1890 and 1931; that the nation is now experiencing another merger rash that could lead to another depression.

Note 2. — Unquestionably the railroads are getting the hairy end of the economic lollipop these days — as a result of Ike's tremendous highway bonanza to truckers and of helpful subsidies to the big air lines. Meanwhile the railroads, unlike the truckers, maintain their own roadbeds; and, unlike the air lines, build their own stations and get no subsidies.

Capitol News Capsules. McCarthy's Spies — Gen. Mark Clark has discovered that the so-called evidence Sen. McCarthy had about Communists in the Central Intelligence Agency is completely worthless. . . . McCarthy turned over his much-ballyhooed material to Clark last week and Clark's investigators now have had a chance to look it over. They have found it to be a collection of gossip, half-truths, complaints by disgruntled former CIA employees which add up to precisely nothing.

Dirksen Digs In — Sen. Dirksen of Illinois tried to hang on to his chairmanship of the Republican senatorial campaign committee. This is the key committee that dishes out money to the Senate candidates. . . . But GOP Senate leaders Knowland and California and Millikin of Colorado insisted on sticking to the rule that no senator who will be a candidate himself can head the senatorial campaign committee. (Dirksen runs for reelection in 1956. If he had kept his chairmanship, he would have been in charge of allotting money for his own campaign.)

Head of U.S. Household Is Getting Fatter

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Why is the American husband fatter than his wife?

The U. S. Public Health Service has found the body shapes of Mr. and Mrs. America have undergone a significant change since 1912. Men of the same height are five pounds heavier, women five pounds lighter, than a generation ago.

There are now roughly twice as many fat men as there are fat women.

Why? Science may attribute this change to anything from hormones to heredity. But a poll I made of a number of husbands and wives themselves showed them in sharp disagreement.

High Intelligence? Some husbands felt their excess weight merely proved them naturally more intelligent than women. "Intelligent people worry," said one, "and they often show this worry by eating too much. The reason fewer women get fat is that every year they are becoming less intelligent, and no longer have enough brains to worry."

Told of his remark, this man's wife replied: "How silly can one human being get? The reason husbands are fat is the same as why most babies are fat. When they start complaining, the easiest way for a woman to get peace in the house is to stuff some food in them to keep them quiet."

Some husbands thought their wives kept thin because they got too much exercise gadding about on shopping sprees and going from gin rummy parties to club meetings.

Here is a wife's view. "Men now have become too lazy to do anything except breathe and drive an automobile. Women have to do everything else for them. 'Who put the new wallpaper in my house? Me! Who fixes the vacuum cleaner? Me! When we are watching television and my husband wants a can of beer from the refrigerator, who runs and gets it? Me!'"

One middle-aged husband had the oddest explanation for the weight differences between the sexes. "It's all because women wear girdles and men don't," he said flatly. "If every man had a girdle to struggle in and out of a girdle two sizes too small for him, he'd get so much exercise he could eat a roasted ox for luncheon and never gain a pound. It's exercising his vanity that keeps a woman in shape."

The traditional games of children throw light on the habits and customs of yesterday because in both savage and civilized societies, youngsters imitate the activities of their elders.

Comments on Prices

To the Editor: A friend told me that he enjoyed my last letter to your paper, but that he was still a Democrat. I told him that there's nothing wrong in being a Democrat, but that these Communists who call themselves Democrats are the ones that are dangerous.

They are worse than those who belong to the Communist party. For the Russians to call themselves Democrats is hypocritical and a hypocrite is the same whitewashed devil wherever he is—no matter what he calls himself.

Farmers are talking of hiring someone to go to Washington and examine heads. The government said they believed in 90 per cent parity and they do—for legislators. But not for the farmers, who pay all the taxes. You are the only class who can't get a better deal and buy at retail or take what you get and give the other fellow what he wants.

You farmers sold out so cheap in 1932 and after. Before that, if anybody took anything from you they would be arrested. But after that, they took our paper dollar away from us, gave us back about 57 cents, and said "now see how much more money you can get."

"With all those silver and copper coins," they continued, "they weigh more than what I took from you. And you liked it." Then they called it the New Deal.

They forced you to build milk houses which cost several hundred dollars, so you could get more for your milk; but they tell me you get less for butterfat now than in 1929. We got 28 cents per dozen for eggs. Now they are all the way from 26 cents to nine cents.

Before, we paid $1.19 for overalls, now we pay about $3.75. A John Deere model A was bought for about $1,100 then—but now it's up to $3,000. Then they called it depression—now they call it re-cession.

This is the fruit of organized labor. They get in just eight hours a day with big pay whether they work or not, forgetting that you and I work from 12 to 22 hours a day—and many a day getting but three scant meals.

For our labor, I spent $400 on 4 1/2 acres of land last year and received in return only $100 for my work and investment. That's what our city people call making money.

Maybe that was the reason the stock market went up after the election. Let us all try to carry the burden—not put it all on just a few. That makes horse sense, if the person is not a bawky farmer."

Farmers Must Have 100 Per Cent Parity

To the Editor: I would like to answer a farmer who wrote to you recently about another farmer, who originally wrote to you about flexible price supports.

The most recent farmer, criticizing the first man's stand said, "He was at a loss to see why the first farmer connected the prices of hogs, eggs and milk with flexible price supports."

I say in answer to the second man that the price of hogs, eggs, ewes and cows and some of the other animals are now operating under the flexible program.

Hogs at flexible prices are at 83 per cent of parity; milk is at about 70 per cent of parity; poultry is at about 59 per cent of parity, and eggs are at about 55 per cent of parity.

The second farmer also said, "If the supports on grain were lower the average farmer could buy cheaper grain and make more money." What a statement!

The average farmer doesn't buy very much grain. The average farmer raises his grain on his own farm and sells his grain through hogs, milk, butter, poultry, eggs and cattle, with such things now averaging about 68 per cent of parity.

The second farmer said, "He would recommend that the maximum payments under any price support program be set at no more than is now being received by the average farmer."

How long do you think the average farmer will last selling at 68 per cent of parity?

How long do you think a businessman in town would last selling at 68 per cent of parity?

100 per cent parity is what the farmer has to have. We are selling hogs at $17 per hundredweight—parity is $20.50; we are selling eggs at 26 cents a dozen—parity is 46 cents a dozen; we are selling milk at $2.95 per hundredweight—parity is $4.69; we are selling poultry around 15 cents a pound—parity is 29 cents a pound; we are selling but a few cents per pound—parity is 73 cents per pound.

These flexible prices are going to wreck quite a few farmers and the businessmen in town will follow if these prices continue.

Check on the average farmer and you'll find out my statements are correct.

Two Articles Titled "Thought-Provoking Musts"

To the Editor: Thank you for bringing to the attention of your many readers the Mankato Free Press' editorial on the teacher shortage and the excerpt from the Courier which inspired the additional comments on the problem. (Friday, Jan. 21)

The revaluation of what is a good and proper relationship between pupils and teachers can be a subject long overdue for general consideration. It is time the pendulum swung in that direction where the teacher is given his rightful position of dignity and authority.

There will go up a cry among some, both old and young, but we suspect that no teacher is so "old-fashioned" that he or she will take undue advantage of his charges.

George Sokolsky's adjacent column in the same issue on divorce and its repercussions is a good one, too, as it lays out another social problem concerning children.

Its message affirms how important strong homes are in over-all community well-being. Improved teacher status can be achieved only with cooperative support from parents.

The two articles are thought-provoking "musts."

Wry-Smiller Directs Letter to Carrol Syverson

To the Editor: Here is a letter I plan to send to Mr. Carrol Syverson:

My dear Mr. Syverson: My heart bleeds for you. You say sagittately that you Republicans just spent a lot of money defeating Mr. Daley for our Legislature, and then what happens? Why, your naughty President turns around and appoints him as the most distinguished farm expert in the Northwest to one of America's top agricultural boards.

Tsk, tsk, too bad, Mr. Syverson. I can imagine how you fellows would rather have had a good regular down-the-line party man from Idaho or Ohio or Timbuctoo, even if he was a pipsqueak, than this—let's not suppose the worst—than this "Independent" Mr. Daley from our Winona County.

Dear Mr. Syverson, let me give you a word of consolation. You know what your naughty President has just done to the Democrats? He's gone and swiped into the New Deal and Fair Deal program dreamed up by those two blackguards FDR and HT. Now naturally we Democrats believe in this program and have to support him. But not you, just between us, we're dancing with tears in our eyes!

So Mr. Syverson, why don't you do what we Democrats had to do? Dust off your wry smile and wear it.

Politest! Some fun, eh kid?

Ambassador Feels Formosa Attitude Won't Bring War

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—U. S. Ambassador Karl L. Rankin said today he does not feel there is great danger of an important conflict breaking out in the troubled Formosa area if the United States maintains its firm attitude without being provocative.

Rankin told a news conference: "I believe the stronger attitude we take without being provocative and we will not be the better chance we have to avoid war."

"I am sure the Reds intend to try to get Formosa sometime" but "I don't expect any trouble in the foreseeable future, at least in the next few months."

Permanent Camping, Dominican Republic Missionaries Say

The Rev. and Mrs. Andrew Rupp and their family are visiting at the Galesville home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Van Vleet after spending five years as Evangelical Mennonite missionaries to the Dominican Republic. A son of the Van Vleets, Russell, also is a missionary in the West Indian country. Above, left to right, are: The Rev. Mr. Rupp, holding 2-year-old Mark; Timmy, 4, and Mrs. Rupp, holding baby Debra. (Mrs. L. E. Danuser photo)

GALESVILLE, Wis. (Special)—"It's like camping out all year round," said the Rev. and Mrs. Andrew Rupp of their life in the Dominican Republic, while visiting the Oscar Van Vleet family here last week.

The Rupp family brought home word of the Rev. Russell Van Vleet, son of the Galesville couple, who is also a missionary in the tropical West Indian country.

"We live very much as the natives do, in frame houses built like our summer cottages might be here," the Rupp family said. "Not so different from that of the native, except that the Americans understand the science of nutrition and guide their diets accordingly."

Malnutrition Prevalent
Some 70 per cent of their parishioners are poor and underprivileged, with malnutrition a leading cause of high infant mortality among natives. "Too much starch in the rice, yams and other foods the poor live upon," they said, "is all wrong for the people." Yuca, a root yielding a starchy food, is a common item in the bill of fare.

If one is able to buy them, fruits and meat may be had. Oranges, grapefruit, bananas and mangoes are abundant, as are many types of meat. Sugar cane is a main crop on the big estates, but among the poorer natives served by the Rupp-Van Vleet missions, people live on plots up to 10 acres, where barely enough food can be raised for the average family of five children.

Houses of the typical family in the mission, which covers some 1,500 square miles and reaches 150,000 souls scattered among 50 towns, are of frame construction, with boards of palm wood. They are cut from the pithy palm-stalk center, and are not very durable. Earth, dampened and pounded to a hard surface, makes the floors of the houses, which are usually of but two rooms. Even the missionary, said the Rupp family, cannot have glass windows, but makes do with shutters like the rest. These keep out the daily rains, but admit myriad insects, and the Americans are forced to sleep constantly under mosquito nets. Mosquitoes and ants are the chief nuisances, they said.

Natives Friendly
The natives are friendly, the Rupp family said, looking forward to their return in April. The Rupp family and Van Vleets have the help of three unmarried women from America in their work and also have been helped by several converts among the natives. Visiting a native home is unusual in that the missionaries may find a family ranging in color from ebony to olive brunette—all brothers and sisters. The population is made up of Spanish, Indian and Negro blood, mixed in varying proportions.

Christopher Columbus founded the capital, calling it Santo Domingo and there lived out his life. In 1936, the city, now of 250,000 population, changed its name to Ciudad Trujillo.

While the population is largely of the Catholic faith, the Evangelical Mennonite Church, which supports the Rupp family, has its following, as do a few other Protestant churches. There is also the "Fraternity of the Holy Spirit," a religion practiced among the natives without sanction of the government. The sound of the voodoo drum may be heard in the distance at times and it's hard to know if it is for entertainment or for worship.

The Rev. Mr. Rupp's face lit up as he told of the change wrought in the people where the Gospel has come. "We hope for better conditions among the people," he said, adding that the next few years, and the coming of the younger generation into grown-up life, will show a great difference.

Services are largely conducted outdoors in the tropical climate where it never rains in the morning. Natives are supposedly compelled to send their children to school, but the rules are not too well enforced. When the children of the missionaries are old enough for school, their colleagues bring mothers will take over their training. A high school at San Juan, home of the Rupp family, is the only high school in the republic.

Met at College
The Rupp family and the Russell Van Vleets became acquainted while all were attending college at Taylor University in Indiana. After the two couples were married, all went to New York to attend the Bible Seminary in preparation for their mission and traveled together to the Dominican Republic in 1929. When the Rupp family got back, the Van Vleets will be free to return for a year in America. Like the Rupp family, they will give a great deal of time to appearances in churches.

Many articles of manufacture in their mission were brought home by the Rupp family, including mahogany trays handsomely polished by hand, purses and other articles woven of palm leaves, tortoise shell ornaments and embroideries and lace done by women. Of note were a pair of shoes ingeniously made of tires and inner tubes.

High duty is imposed on articles they might have sent to them, so they compromise by merely getting along without many comforts—and like doing it. Dedication to a purpose is presumably the reason for the genuine liking of the Rev. and Mrs. Rupp have for their work. Asked how long they expect to remain there, they said "All ways."

She is a member of Grace Presbyterian Church and active in Miriam Circle of that church.

Civic services included work with the Gray Ladies of the Red Cross, Mrs. Hicks filling the office of chairman of the local unit of the Gray Ladies. She also is a member of the Ground Observers Corps. She is a member of Winona Chapter 141, OES, and at one time filled out the unexpired term of another member in the office of Electa.

Mr. and Mrs. Hicks had one daughter, Gloria, the late Mrs. Charles Hughes, who died in 1946 from polio. They have one grand-son, Roger Hughes, 10, who for a time following his mother's death, made his home with Mr. and Mrs. Hicks who reside at 119 W. King St. Mr. Hicks is a contractor-carpenter.

Mrs. Philip Felten is president of the local organization of the Mrs. Jaycees, and formerly served as recording secretary for the group. She also holds the office of recording secretary of the Winona Branch, AAUW. She is a member of the Winona Teresian Alumnae Chapter, and served as its treasurer last year, and a member of the St. Rose of Lima Guild, and was vice president of the guild for 1950-51. Community work includes membership in the Catharine Allison Hospital Library Volunteers with which group she works at the hospital, and service as a captain for the Winona Community Chest for two years. She also is a volunteer in Red Cross work in Winona, typing at the bloodmobile headquarters during visits of the unit to this community.

Her church is St. Mary's Catholic Church in which she is active. She was graduated at the College of Saint Teresa where she majored in business administration and social studies, in 1952. Her husband who is associated with the Felten Implement Co., and she reside at 1223 W. Broadway.

Calisthenics Slim Off Inches, But Not Pounds

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Calisthenics are slimming but not reducing. There's a sizable difference. Slimming refers to inches... reducing to pounds.

It's true you can't substitute exercise for diet. A few calisthenics night and morning, even rugged ones, won't offset the bulging consequences of overeating. A perfect reducing diet will knock off pounds, but, alas, it won't tighten flabby muscles.

Face it. If you diet to reduce but do not exercise, you'll have the same figure but on a slightly smaller scale. So it's not a question of exercise versus diet... it's slimming stretch-bends and turns plus calorie curbing for the overweight lass. The normal weight whose waistline cinching in can skip the diet because what she is after is slimming... not reducing.

Reason this way. The shape of the silhouette depends on muscle tone. Muscles that lack tone can't hug the figure, and sooner or later as your muscles give way, you're forced into a larger dress size, willy-nilly. But a little regular exercise restores elasticity to the figure controlling muscles, makes them compact, and gives them better shape — and you, too.

The top exercise is a circulation rouser. It stirs up the fat cells from the spot that is being exercised and gets them into circulation. And these freed calories are then ready to be used for energy... provided they are needed for fuel. That's where diet fits in... When the intake of calories is cut below the required amount, stored fat is burned and weight drops.

Summed up: With exercise alone, you can tone muscles and measure slimmer. With diet alone, you lose weight but do not tone the muscles. Back up diet with a small amount of regular exercise and you can lose weight and inches.

For the most streamlined results, tone the big muscles... the bracing front muscles which form the abdominal wall, the side-front muscles which span the waist area, and the big, fleshy muscles which form the hips. Here is an exercise that slims all three measurements. Since it involves a twist, it is not advised for anyone with lower back trouble.

Position: Lying on back on floor, hands clasped behind head, knees bent toward chest. Movement: Holding knees together and pulling snugly up-and-in with the abdominal muscles, lower legs from one side to the other in a swinging motion, touching floor each time. Be sure to keep shoulders as flat on floor as possible.

If you wish help with your exercising, send long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for illustrated leaflet for a Slimmer Midriff. Address request to Ida Jean Kain, care of The Winona Daily News. Post card requests cannot be answered.

Former Winona Manager Named Swift & Co. V.P.

E. D. Fletchall, manager of the Swift & Co. Winona packing plant from December 1946 until June 1948, was elected vice president and assistant to the president of the company at its annual meeting in Chicago Thursday, it was announced today by F. C. Booth, Winona plant manager.

Five changes in the firm's top management staff were announced by the board of directors as the company began its centennial year. Harold H. Swift, who has served as chairman of the board since 1948, was elected honorary chairman and will continue as director and consultant to the board. John Holmes, president since 1937, succeeds Swift as board chairman, becoming the chief executive officer of the company. Porter M. Jarvis, executive vice president since 1950, was elected president.

Two new vice presidents were elected by the directors. They are Fletchall who will assist President Jarvis in the management of the company's meat packing plants and Robert W. Reneker who will direct activities in agricultural research, industrial relations and public relations and also assist the president.

"Swift & Co. was never stronger than it is today," Swift declared as he relinquished his active officer status. "The company's progressive management headed by Mr. Holmes, Mr. Jarvis and Mr. O. E. Jones is unusually well qualified to carry on the tradition of Swift service which began 100 years ago when my father Gustavus Franklin Swift started in the meat business on Cape Cod."

Commenting on his voluntary retirement Swift pointed out that at 70 years of age "it is appropriate to have somewhat less responsibility and somewhat more leisure." Holmes, becomes chairman of the national meat packing company after 48 years as an employee. He served as vice president from 1928 until 1937 when he became the first man outside the Swift family to head the company.

High hopes for the future were voiced by Jarvis, Swift's fifth president, as he assumed his new duties.

"Swift & Co. is building for a greater future as it starts its second century of service," Jarvis said. "We want to keep pace with our growing nation and we are gearing our operations to achieve this goal with a program of continued plant modernization and added emphasis on research. More people need more food and better food to meet the challenges that lie ahead. We are well equipped in manpower and facilities to do the job of processing and distributing the products that Americans need."

Swift's new president started his company career in 1926 in the provision department of the South St. Joseph meat packing plant. He came to Chicago in 1935 and in 1933 became an assistant to Mr. Holmes. He was elected vice president in 1941 and a director in 1949.

The two new Swift vice presidents both started their company careers in 1934. Fletchall in the refinery department and Reneker in the purchasing department.

FAIRLY SPOKEN

By MARGARET LATROBE

Now that the former governor of New York, and Mrs. Dewey, have left behind the ugly brown state mansion at Albany and located themselves in a fine apartment in Manhattan—I wonder if they are still having roast lamb for dinner every five days? It's funny how odd bits and pieces of interviews stick in the mind. It wouldn't be surprising if Mrs. Dewey had forgotten that the governor once inquired what she had planned for dinner, and wasn't happy to hear about the leg of lamb.

To which she very aptly replied—"Well, there are only a certain number of things one can have for dinner every five days." And isn't it so! Most of us read the excellent recipes for varying the beans and bacon, peruse the color pictures of succulent soufs, truffled corn pudding and the like. Then we go right back to the pork chops Monday, soup on Tuesday, lamb on Wednesday, cheese on Thursday, fish on Friday. Saturday and Sunday is your own business.

It's easier that way. The family gets used to a certain even in rotation. Keeps the mind free for more important issues. Pork chops will do the trick, so why worry about it.

It's easy to feed the mind the same way. It gets used to a certain pattern of ideas. Certain ideas are palatable, others not. In our house, our section of town, we think thus and so. We approve of this, not that. We like our politics a certain way. We like a touch of variety through the week, but we want to stick right over again on Monday with the same old pattern. "It was good enough for Grandpa and it's good enough, etc."

There isn't a single thing wrong with a saddle of lamb—but a little garlic and marjoram brightens it up a lot. Nor is there anything wrong with a certain trend of thinking, just as long as it doesn't become the iron clad ritual for a specific time or place. A little spice and garlic does wonders for the inroads of the mind.

A little change from platitudes, whether of the culinary or the cultural, the political or the ethical, makes both the stew and the outlook a better seasoned product.

400 Attend Rollingstone Creamery Meet

ROLLINGSTONE, Minn. — Four hundred persons were on hand Monday for the annual meeting of the Rollingstone Creamery Association.

Edward Tew was elected for a three-year term and Edward Kalmes for a one-year term to the board of directors. Directors holding over are Leo Hartert, E. J. Maus and George Reese. Officers will be elected at a meeting of the board of directors tonight.

Reports issued show 11,905,947 pounds of milk and cream were received, containing 509,702 pounds butterfat. Receipts were $447,485.49.

Volume of milk and cream received in 1954 is about the same as in 1953, but due to 75 per cent parity since April 1, $41,339 less was paid to patrons. A total of 141,081 pounds of butter was manufactured.

Average price paid for butterfat in sweet cream was 69.46 cents per pound plus one-half cent per pound to the ADA for advertising. Whole milk was sold to Rochester Dairy Cooperative for processing. A total of 128,936 pounds butter was sold to local and Winona trade and the balance was shipped to eastern markets.

Patron equity earnings amounted to $4,965.60 which is 1.2 per cent earnings on receipts. This equals 4 cents per 100 pounds on milk and .3 of a cent per pound on butterfat in cream. The 1950 equities totaling $2,855 were paid to patrons at the close of the meeting.

A dinner was sponsored by the businessmen and served by the women. The high school band, under the direction of Robert Schuh, furnished music.

Principal speakers were Milard Chab from the State Department of Dairy and Food; Owen Owens, field director of Rochester Dairy Cooperative; and Floyd Thompson, executive secretary of Minnesota Creamery Operators and Managers Association, St. Paul.

Honored guests were Albert Reisdorf and Alfred Sens, both from Winona, who were directors of the association 25 years ago.

Recently a new churn has been purchased. It is constructed of aluminum alloy and the drum is equipped with a tempering tube to control churning temperatures. This new churn will be ready for installation about March 1.

Once again, stilbestrol should be handled with care. Feed only to fattening cattle, not breeding stock, dairy cattle, sheep or swine.

Those who successfully passed the examination at the recent hog cholera vaccination school are: Kenneth Heim, Leon Sackreiter, C. Crawford, Mrs. Frank Tolmie, George Meisler, Frank Brosig, Wes Randall, Edmund Luehmann, and Halvor Lacher. They are now legally qualified to purchase and use on their own herds, live virus cholera vaccine.

Philosophy for the day — when we hold opposing views on various questions, let us remember that rarely is one side all black and the other side all white, but that usually both sides are slightly gray. Progress on most questions is reached through discussion and compromise rather than through emotional, inflexible argument.

Homemakers Taught How to Block Print

ALMA, Wis. — A two-day block printing craft school was held recently in Buffalo County for a group of seven homemakers leaders.

Mrs. Alice Kelly Iverson, extension specialist in home furnishings at the University of Wisconsin, was instructor. Homemakers leaders who attended the school and who later will teach this craft in their own communities are: Mrs. Alvin Wade, Bluebell Homemakers; Mrs. Emmons Accola, Waste Valley Homemakers; Mrs. Charles Clark, Gilmanston Homemakers; Mrs. Glenn Earney, Mothers Nite Out; Mrs. John Moham, Alma; and Mrs. Frank Reuter, Live and Learn Homemakers Club.

Creating one's own designs as well as mixing colors was a basic part of the project. Designs were also developed by using cedar, leaves, onions, green pepper and string. Those attending Farm and Home Week at Madison will see some of the block printing craft pieces created by these Buffalo County homemakers. The 4-H crafts project selected by Buffalo County will be block printing, stencil painting and decorative stitching.

Tests Indicate Stilbestrol Value

By MILTON HOBERG
Fillmore County Agent

PRESTON, Minn. — Fillmore County farmers now have a new substance available to them to increase fattening cattle profits. It is a new hormone called stilbestrol.

Stilbestrol is a synthetic drug which has increased the rate and economy of gains when given to fattening cattle.

Tests show all kinds of fattening cattle increased growth when fed stilbestrol in proper amounts. Steers show a better response than heifers. Six hundred to 1,200-pound animals have been tested and weight seems to make no difference. Costs of gain have been lowered 2 cents to 4 cents a pound.

Grade, yield and finish are not changed by feeding stilbestrol and a good ration must be fed. State federal regulatory officials have passed on its use at the present time. However, it is a powerful drug and further experimental work must be done before its effects are known.

It is not approved for anything but beef slaughter cattle. Keep feeds containing stilbestrol away from breeding animals.

Five to 10 milligrams per head per day have given best results. You cannot mix your own because the method of mixing has been patented. Many feed companies are now mixing feed containing stilbestrol.

Apparently there are no disadvantages to stilbestrol feeding when used as recommended.

Anhydrous Ammonia Gaining Favor as Fertilizer in Area

By PAUL M. DAY
Plainview "Vo-ag" Instructor

PLAINVIEW, Minn. — Anhydrous ammonia as a source of nitrogen fertilizer is gaining widespread attention in this area.

Anhydrous (meaning without water) ammonia is a concentrated nitrogen fertilizer containing 82 per cent nitrogen. It is a gas, liquefied under a pressure of 240-270 lbs. per square inch. The system used to store and transport this gas is much the same as for propane gas.

'Seeded' Into Ground

The fertilizer is applied in the ground to a depth of 6-8 inches where the ammonia attaches itself to the clay particles in the soil. Once attached it is not easily leached out by heavy rains or run-off water. At temperatures above 60 degrees the ammonia is converted to the nitrate form by the soil bacteria. This is the form in which most of the nitrogen is used by the plant. At temperatures below 60 degrees the soil micro-organisms are relatively inactive and do not convert the ammonia to nitrates until spring. This means that you may apply anhydrous ammonia any time during the year, making it possible to get application done during the slack seasons of the year.

Applied on cornstalks in the fall, it speeds up the decaying process. Applied in the spring it is readily taken up by the plant and utilized as ammonia. For side dressing of corn it should be applied by the time the corn is 15 inches high. This application is made between the rows where the extending roots reach it. Because special equipment is needed most farmers will find it more profitable to hire custom applicators rather than own their own machines. A group of neighbors might own a machine in partnership also.

Farmers should not be too concerned if small white clouds appear over the field during application. The white vapor you see is moisture drawn from the air and combining with the ammonia. When you consider one gallon of ammonia is expanded 9,000 times to make anhydrous ammonia the amount you are using is very small. One can expect about 60 per cent of the nitrogen to be used the first year with a corresponding carry over to the next year's crop.

Not a Cure-All

There is one caution in the use of this fertilizer which every farmer should consider. Do not expect this fertilizer to solve all of your soil fertility problems. If you are short of either or both phosphate or potash, heavy applications of nitrogen will not give you maximum yields. Farmers are urged to have their soil tested before applying anhydrous ammonia.

If these simple precautions are taken, the use of anhydrous ammonia on your farm will be more profitable.

Some of the advantages of anhydrous ammonia are:

- Can be applied at any time of the year without danger of leaching.
- Reduces handling of fertilizer bags.
- High concentration of nitrogen will reduce cost per pound of plant food, make fertilizer cheaper.

Some of the disadvantages are:

- Can't be mixed with other fertilizer for application. Makes two applications necessary.
- Costly equipment required for application.
- May not be able to get custom applicator at time desired.

Quick Action Important in Sausage Making

By MRS. JOYCE RANDALL
Winona County Home Agent

LEWISTON, Minn. — These are the days when hogs are traveling to the locker plant to return eventually as pork chops, hams, sausage and other tasty pork products.

Since it is now far more common to have the meat ground at the locker plant and taken home for further processing, here are some precautions in handling from Ina Rowe, extension nutritionist at the University of Minnesota.

Whether meat is ground at home or at the locker plant, it should be re-processed on the same day it is ground. When the meat is allowed to stand in a big drum for any length of time, chemical action takes place which causes a rise in temperature of the meat, with the result that a souring or fermentation takes place, off-flavors develop and the sausage may become unfit for use.

As soon as the meat is ground, season it as desired, then put into cases for sausage, pack it into family-size portions and freeze or smoke it immediately.

Rancidity is one of the problems in handling pork. Spices commonly used in sausage, such as thyme and sage, are usually also antioxidants. For that reason, heavily spiced sausage will perhaps retain its flavor better than sausage which is not so heavily spiced. Salt, on the other hand, when combined with fat, tends to hasten rancidity.

When seasoning sausage, it is well to go easy on salt and heavy on spices for long-keeping quality. It may even be practical to add salt to sausage when it is to be prepared for the table. Directions for preparing sausage are given in extension folder 18, "Sausage Recipes" available at the county extension office.

Sen. Wiley Proposes Dairy Research Lab

WASHINGTON, D.C. — A dairy research laboratory to seek new uses for milk and help solve the surplus problem would be built by the federal government under legislation to be introduced into Congress shortly.

Sen. Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin has announced that he will soon introduce a bill authorizing funds for such a project.

The Wisconsin lawmaker said the "research I am proposing is by no means the exclusive or even the principal remedy for the total dairy problem," but it could be "an important factor in the solution."

The Magic Of Milk Was Unveiled to Winona County dairymen Thursday afternoon by L. M. Henderson. Some of the products made from milk for the modern market are on the table in front of him. Only half of the milk produced in America is sold as fluid, he said. The rest is used commercially to make medicines and various other products. (Daily News photo)

Better Packaging Of Dairy Products Urged at Institute

By EARL GILBERT
Daily News Area Editor

LEWISTON, Minn. — Winona County dairy farmers were given first-hand knowledge Thursday afternoon here of what happens to the milk produced on their farms.

L. M. Henderson, dairy scientist and research expert, formerly with Rutgers University, lectured on the "Magic of Milk" at a dairy institute in Hruska Hall sponsored by the county extension division, County Agent Gordon Anderson in charge.

Earlier in the day, Ralph Wayne and Rodney Briggs, extension dairyman and extension agronomist, respectively, from the University of Minnesota, discussed feeding and grass silage.

"Merchandising is the answer to dairy surpluses," Henderson said.

"It isn't price alone, for the cities using the most dairy products percentage-wise are Salt Lake City, Utah and Tucson, Ariz., where the price is the highest. Contrasting this," he said, "is Milwaukee, Wis., number one city of the number one dairy state, which ranks 44th in use of dairy products among the top 50 U.S. cities."

Urged Better Packages

"We're missing the boat on packaging," Henderson continued. He then went on to unload a 10-gallon milk can which contained about 50 items made from milk. These included the familiar quart milk carton, shoe polish, medicine, paint, stabilizer, glue, casein-sized printing paper, food products, vinegar, alcohol and cosmetics.

"Dairy products should be put in attractive packages to compete with other products on the market," he contended. This was illustrated by display of common

'Bum' Goes Begging For March of Dimes

OMAHA (U) — Charley Feder's method of getting dimes for the March of Dimes is an odd one.

He dresses up as a hobo and turns the bars "begging." He says he has done this five years and has obtained hundreds of dollars.

He says, "Oh, sure, I get run out of some places. But I always go back the next day to explain and give the waiter a buck tip."

Witness Gives Court Testimony Over Phone

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (U) — The witness couldn't come to the court and the court couldn't wait for the witness. So the two got together on the telephone.

Attorneys trying a $54,511.12 suit in U. S. District Court needed the testimony of William Hill, III, in his Grinnell, Kan., home. Hill's testimony was taken in direct and cross examination and recorded by an official court reporter.

Telephone company officials who installed a 5-telephone setup, said this was the first use of a conference call in court litigation in the western part of the country.

Farm Woman Sheds 123 Pounds to Win Weight-Losing Title

CHICAGO (U) — A farm woman who shed 123 pounds of excess fat in one year by dieting was crowned champion weight loser today by TOPS, a national women's reducing organization.

Mrs. Esther Conrad, 60, of Appleton, Wis., cut her weight from 315 pounds to 192. Her dress size narrowed from 56 to 42.

She said she got her biggest thrill when her 5-year-old granddaughter climbed into her lap recently and said:

"Grandma, you've got such a nice big lap. The other one always slid off."

TOPS stands for Taking Off Pounds Scientifically. Mrs. Conrad received the award at the organization's third annual meeting at headquarters of the American Medical Assn.

The population of the U. S. Pacific Coast areas is increasing at the rate of 3.7 per cent a year, about double the national average.

What's the Best Equipment for Laundry Room?

By MISS PAULINE POEHLER
Buffalo County Home Agent

ALMA, Wis. — Mrs. Kathryn Bailey, extension specialist in home management at the University of Wisconsin, presented two excellent demonstrations on "Buying, Use and Care of Automatic Washing Machines, Dryers and Ironers" at meetings at Mondovi and Cochrane last week.

How often a home demonstration agent has been asked, "What kind shall I buy?" Being a member of the extension service, she cannot answer that question for you. However, she can help you to know the points to look for when buying, as well as how to operate for best efficient use, and how to care for your equipment.

Before buying large laundry equipment, you might ask yourself these questions. What are the needs of my family? How much use will I make of this equipment? Will it be time, energy, and/or money saving for my family? What will the total money expenditure be? Is the construction satisfactory? Does the equipment have convenient, easy-to-operate controls? Does it have adequate safety devices? Does our house have adequate wiring and plumbing?

Let's just consider the question: If my washing machine is in good working order, would it be more profitable to purchase a dryer? First you might consider the number of times you must hang your wash outdoors—cold weather, muddy weather, rainy days. Do I have lines to hang up wash in the laundry room or must I climb three flights of stairs from the basement to the attic to hang them up? Nine pounds of dry clothes becomes about 18 pounds when wet. Would it be a time and energy saver to have a dryer? On the other hand, what about the cost? Can we afford the initial cost of purchasing a dryer, the cost of installation (for quick, effective drying it is recommended to use only a 220 volt wire) and operating costs? Or could this money best be used for other purposes or needs of the family? How much use would I make of a dryer? If there are only one or two in the family, would it be profitable to purchase a dryer?

If your present washing machine is not in good working order, then perhaps the first item on your wish list would be the automatic washing machine.

For more complete information on the selection of laundry equipment, write to the county extension office in Alma for your free bulletin.

Plant Industry Meeting At Caledonia Planned

CALEDONIA, Minn. — The annual plant industry conference for Houston County will be held at the Caledonia City Hall Wednesday, Feb. 2, 10 a. m. to 3:30 p. m., according to County Agent Wayne Hanson.

The meeting is set up primarily for all town board members, county commissioners and weed inspectors but everyone is invited to come. Information will be presented on chemicals for weed and brush control and methods of controlling insect and plant diseases. The new requirements for the selling of agricultural seed will also be discussed.

Corn for Polio Drive Set in Trempealeau Co.

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special) — The corn for polio drive here is expected to be one of the biggest sources of income to the Trempealeau County polio chapter this year.

Vocational agriculture teachers of the county, meeting at the home of Carl Penno at Blair Saturday evening, discussed a plan to make the drive a community project for the FFA chapters. Although the "ag" teachers urge farmers to take corn to the mills themselves, the FFA chapters also are planning to canvass the area with trucks, asking for contributions. Most chapters plan to make this a project on the first Saturday in February.

Mills in Trempealeau County have consented to purchase all this corn at the market price, the proceeds of which will go to the Trempealeau County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Last year farmers who contributed corn at the mills received, if they wished it, a printed tag showing that they had given to polio. There are still sufficient tags in the mills to take care of this year's contributions.

Threshing in January could be the caption of this photo taken Jan. 3 on the Rongley Brothers farm, three miles northeast of Canton, Minn. RUSHFORD, Minn. — Patrons of Tri-County Electric Cooperative will be surveyed starting Feb. 1 to determine future line loads. Questionnaires will be mailed to 7,600 members of the system according to George Werner, manager, in an effort to plan for construction and location of lines and poles in the future. There has been a marked increase in line loads during the year and the replies given by patrons about appliances they now own or plan to buy should help company officials decide where improvements are to be made.

500 Seniors Get Advice On Futures

By DAILY NEWS STAFF WRITER

HOUSTON, Minn. — A unique service to seniors of Houston and Fillmore County high schools was continued here Thursday as the third annual Career Day was observed at the local school.

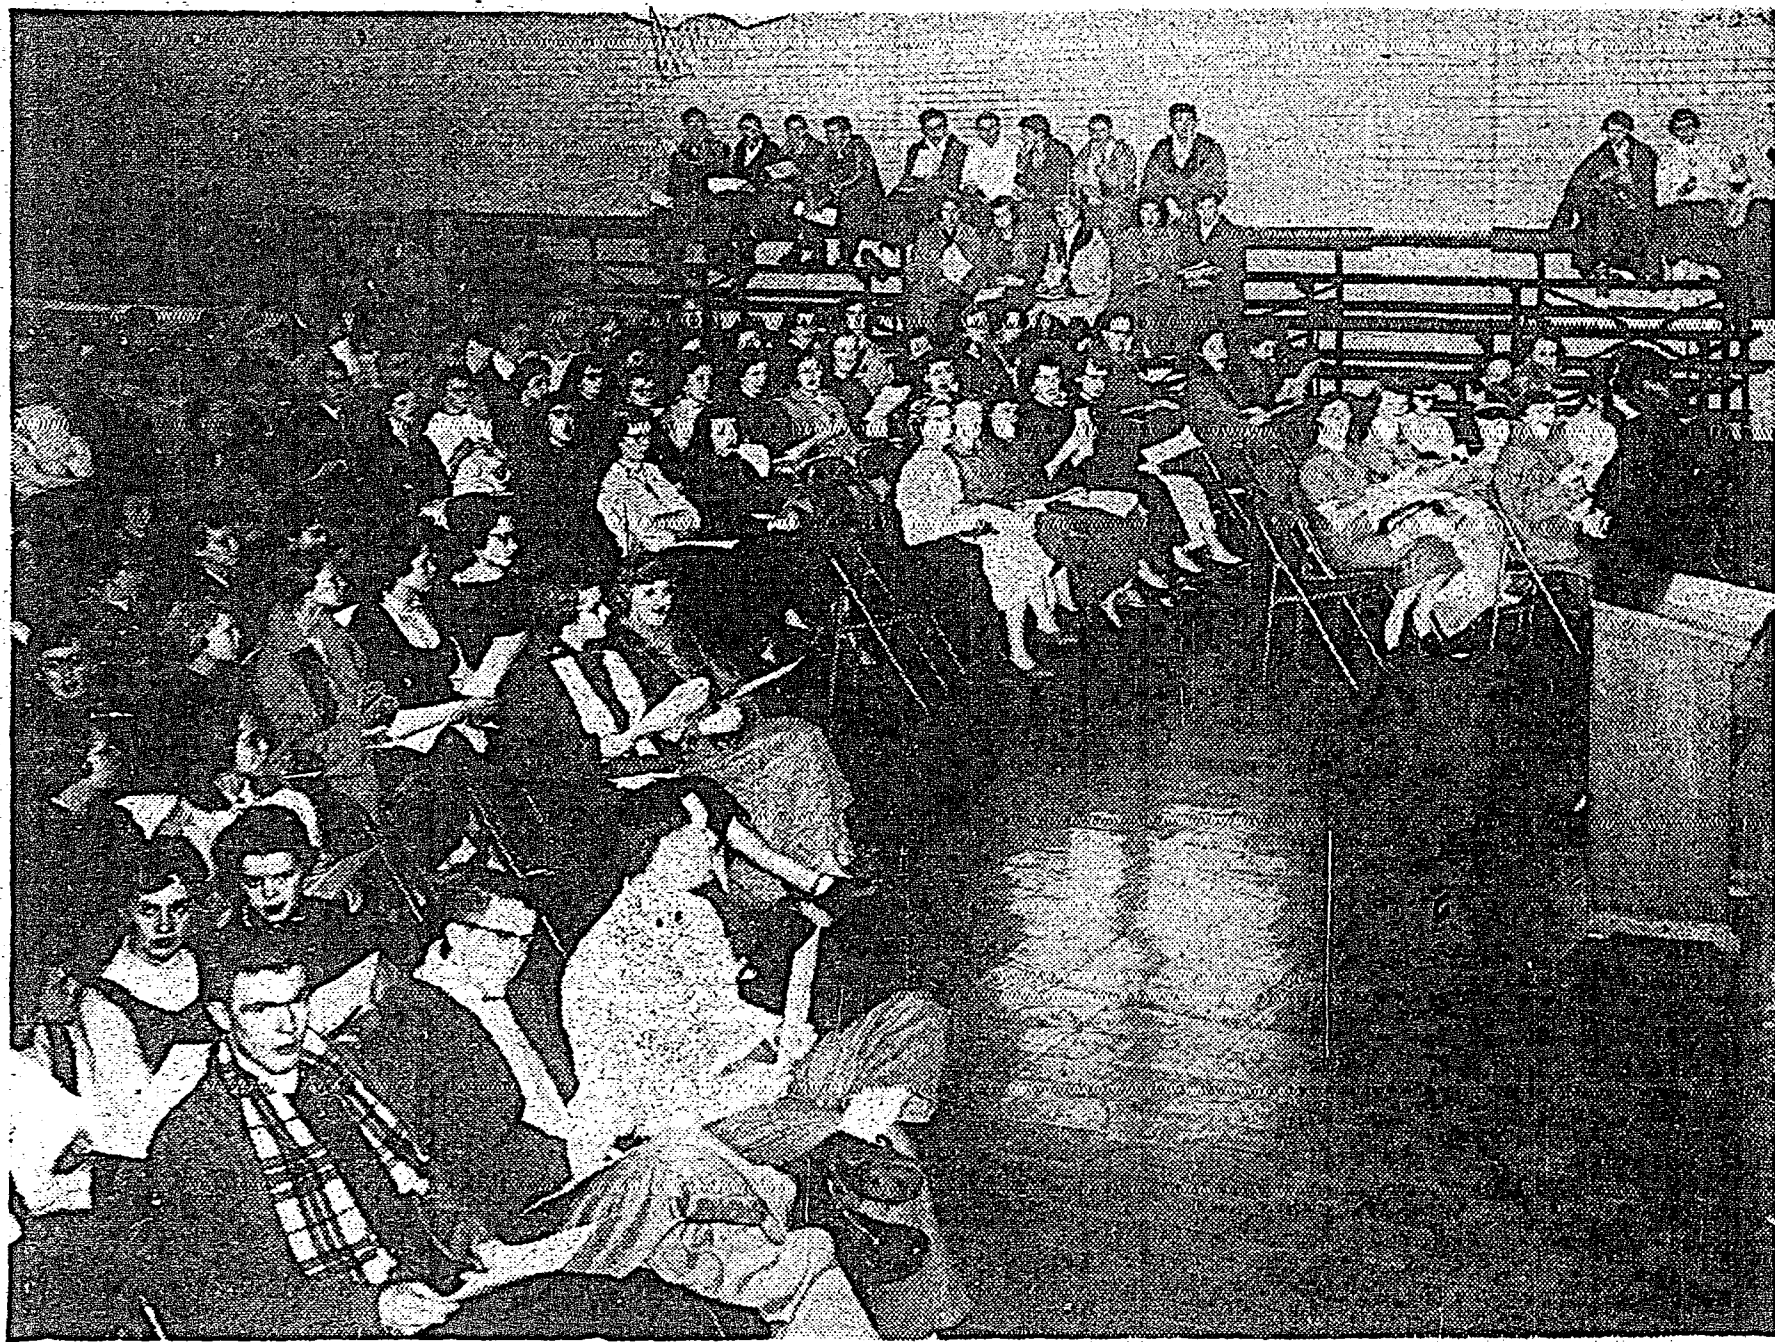

More than 500 youths, contemplating spring graduation from Houston, Caladonia, Canton, Chatfield, Harmony, Lakesboro, Mabel, Preston, Peterson, Rushford, Spring Grove, Spring Valley and Wykoff high schools, attended morning and afternoon sessions conducted by school, employment, trade and military experts of this Minnesota-Wisconsin area.

Dr. G. T. Mitau, chairman of the political science department of Macalester College, St. Paul, gave the keynote address at 9 a.m. for the second straight year on "You Hold The Key To Your Future." The remainder of the morning was spent in small discussion groups in various vocational areas of the student's personal choice.

These sessions were led by Harold Johnson, Minnesota School of Business, Minneapolis; George Schoen, Houston High School vocational agriculture instructor; S. C. Johnson, district manager of Buick Motor Division, Austin, Minn.; R. G. Three lectures inaugurated afternoon sessions. They were delivered by Mrs. Barbara Aalto, University of Minnesota on "College Life"; Orin Folwick, Minneapolis, representative of the Minnesota State Federation of Labor, and B. E. Youngquist, assistant professor at the Southern School and Experiment Station, Waseca.

Representatives of Minnesota, Wisconsin and Iowa colleges and the Minnesota State Employment Service talked privately with students for the remainder of the afternoon. Schools represented were

Dakota Telephone Firm to Be Sold

DAKOTA, Minn. (Special)—The Dakota Mutual Telephone Co., with 110 members and valued at $3,000-$3,500, will be sold to the Rural Telephone Association of Rushford in the near future, it was learned today.

The decision to sell was made at the annual meeting of the DMTC early this week and completion of the transaction awaits signing by executives of the two firms, Virgil Schultz, president of the Dakota company, said. It is a stock transfer deal whereby the local members become stockholders in the Fillmore County cooperative.

Within two years the local exchange will have dial phones, Schultz stated. The sale was prompted by the announcement that all Bell telephone poles in this area will be removed. These have been carrying the DMTC lines. To stay in business the Dakota company would have had to raise large sums to erect separate poles. The meeting, held in the basement of the Methodist Church, was attended by 39 member-voters. Thirty-six voted in favor of the move. Elected officials of the Dakota firm, led by Schultz, will stay in office until the new system is installed.

Gunmen Who Shot, Attacked Woman, Girl, 14, Hunted

CHICAGO (AP)—A statewide search was ordered today for two sex-mad gunmen who raped, robbed and shot an expectant mother in her grocery store and raped and beat a 14-year-old clerk.

Police Commissioner Timothy J. O'Connor, who led an intensive manhunt on the South Side last night after the attack, announced a $1,000 reward has been offered for capture of the robbers.

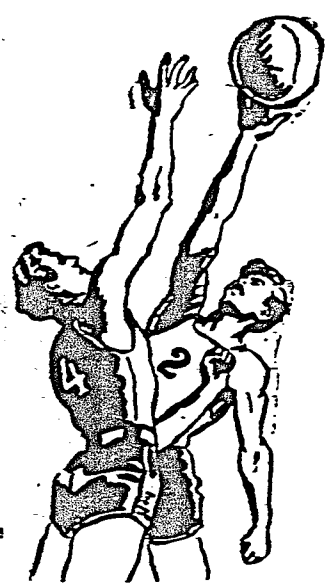

The condition of the woman, Mrs. Mary Pascoe, 26, was reported critical at St. Bernard's Hospital. Mrs. Pascoe, who was raped twice, was shot three times. The girl, Denise Paradis, a high school freshman, was sexually mistreated three times and slugged on the head. Fourteen stitches were required to close the scalp wound.

Police said the gunmen took from $40 to $50 from the cash register before fleeing.

Canada Set to OK W. German Rearming

OTTAWA (AP)—The Paris agreement to admit a rearmed West Germany into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization went to Gov. Gen. Vincent Massey today for his signature—the final step in Canada's ratification.

The Senate unanimously approved the pact yesterday, one day after the House of Commons okayed ratification 213-12.

VOICE of the OUTDOORS

Golden Opportunity

Will Gov. Orville L. Freeman take Minnesota conservation out of politics? Those who heard him last Saturday evening at the Wildlife Federation dinner in Minneapolis are fearful that instead of taking advantage of the golden opportunity offered him, he will sink the department further by appointing Charles Stickney his conservation adviser commissioner.

That Gov. Freeman is keenly interested in Minnesota's outdoor has been manifested in many ways during the campaign and since his election. An example is his wholehearted support of the "Keep Minnesota Green" movement. He is pictured above receiving a membership certificate in Keep Minnesota Green, Inc., from Frank Kauffert, right, its president.

Minnesota, probably more than any state in the union, needs a constructive conservation administration, an administration run by an individual versed in all the knowledge available today. Conservation—better fishing and hunting—is not guesswork. There are men—many of them trained especially in the field—who have the "know-how" needed today in this state.

If he does not want to take a trained man out of the state department, Gov. Freeman can bring to this state the top talent in the conservation field in the nation. Minnesota's outdoor resources demand the best—hunting, fishing and the tourist business in this state are a multi-million dollar enterprise if such recreations can be measured in dollars. Sportsmen of this state pay the bill generously. They deserve the best trained man who is certainly not a farmer like Charles Stickney despite the fact that he may be sincere, work untiring hours on the job and distribute political jobs in the department satisfactory to the party.

An example of Stickney's wisdom is shown in his recent statement about the solution to the northern spearing problem. He would open the season to the spearing of all game fish—walleyes, bass, and perhaps lake trout—to take the pressure off the northerns. Certainly no fisherman versed in all knowledge of game fish would approve such a program.

Hjalmar Swenson, present supervisor of the Minnesota Bureau of Fisheries, was very mild when he declared such guesswork suggested was highly impractical. Why not do what other states have done and outlaw spearing completely? It is not clear on the Mississippi and the river zone winter fishermen seem to enjoy their sport. In fact, there are today as many hook and line fishermen on the river as there are during the summer months. Spearing is not needed to attract fishermen outdoors.

Minnesota needs a conservation leader as commissioner who will rate the respect of leaders in the field over the nation. A man who can write an article telling of this state's recreational opportunities that the Saturday Evening Post will publish because they know he knows of what he writes. A man who will be listened to at a national convention of sportsmen. A figure that will be an asset to this state. Gov. Freeman today has the opportunity to endear himself to every conservationist, sportsman and tourist resort operator in the state by selecting such a commissioner of conservation for Minnesota. Let's take conservation out of politics Orville—take advantage of your golden opportunity.

'Ed Shave Night'
"Nick" Kahler, big boss of the Northwest Sportsmen's Show, has set aside at the show, Sunday, April 17, as "Ed Shave Night" and with other friends of Ed's in the Twin Cities has set up a committee to make it the top event of the 1955 show.

One of the things to be done is to present Ed with a beautiful bound book containing the signatures of thousands of his friends. To secure these signatures the committee has supplied us, and many other persons over the state, with bits of paper—about like a cigarette paper in size, on which Ed's friends may write their name and at the same time make any contribution they desire toward a gift to be given him that evening at the show.

If you desire to get in on the deal drop in at our office and sign one of the slips. Otherwise write your name clearly on a white bit of paper about that size and mail it to us with any contribution you desire to make, or send it to F. W. Kahler, treasurer, Ed Shave Night Fund, Glen Lake, Minn. We will see that the signatures we receive get to the committee.

Sicilian Boy Sure He Will Be Cured

BALTIMORE (AP)—Doctors at Johns Hopkins Hospital are cautious about his chances, but 7-year-old Vincenzo Gangemi of Sicily has faith that he will be healed. Vincenzo was born with part of his bladder growing outside his stomach wall. Skilled surgeons have performed one operation. Two more are needed.

The youth was brought here 10 days ago by Mrs. Barbara Harrison, of Davenport, Iowa, an ex-Army nurse who befriended Vincenzo on a European vacation. Money she begged and borrowed to pay for the trip and operations is running short.

Phone Call Starts Bomb Scare

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An anonymous phone caller last night set off a chain reaction of rumors regarding "planted" atom bombs in several Eastern cities that had police, the FBI and Civil Defense authorities checking fruitlessly well past the "deadline" of midnight.

The caller contacted the FBI in Philadelphia yesterday afternoon, identified himself as a "foreign agent," and said A-bombs would explode at midnight in buildings in Philadelphia, New York and Washington.

Precautionary checks were made, but William Peier, aide to New York Mayor Robert F. Wagner, said the official view was that the caller was a crackpot.

In Washington, however, the White House said there had been no Civil Defense alert and that no atomic devices were found.

Advice on Health

Manual Labor Not Only Hernia Cause

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

You don't have to do hard manual labor to develop a hernia. While the inguinal hernia is frequently found in laborers, others also suffer, no matter what their occupation. Children get them, too.

A hernia is a rupture, and an inguinal hernia is the most common type. The inguinal area is the section where your thigh meets your body.

A hernia is simply a protrusion which results when the abdominal wall has a weak section. The protrusion is a sac which may contain omentum or fat or a portion of the small or large bowel or bladder. Or it may contain a combination of these organs.

You may cause a hernia by lifting a heavy weight, by straining or even by coughing. If a father has a hernia, his son frequently has one also, although we are not certain that heredity is to blame.

You will easily recognize the symptoms of a hernia. It causes a swelling of varying size, usually in or near the groin. The swelling is most noticeable when you stand, strain or cough. Except during its production, it is not necessarily painful.

More Frequent in Men
Men are more apt to get a hernia than are women. Women probably are more susceptible following childbirth. When their abdominal walls relax, an operation upon the abdominal walls may also weaken them enough to permit a hernia to develop.

Frequently the contents of a hernia may be pressed back into the abdominal wall by trusses or supports.

The size of the hernia, however, may become greater over the years as the abdominal wall becomes weaker. Its size may increase because of irritation or pressure, or because it has been permitted to protrude for a long time.

The contents of the hernia may become attached to the inside of the sac, in which case, it cannot be returned to its proper position. This is called an irreducible hernia.

A Serious Condition
An irreducible hernia is a serious matter. In such a condition, the sac and its contents are constantly outside the abdominal cavity. You can readily see they then become susceptible to further injury or constriction.

Now this may interrupt the normal flow of the contents of the intestine and may even shut off the blood supply, causing gangrene. This calls for surgery to correct the condition.

By surgery, we can return the contents of the sac to their normal position and remove the sac entirely. Through surgery we can also strengthen the weakened abdominal wall.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
M. W.: What causes moles on the face and body? Is there any way of getting rid of them?

Answer: Moles are usually congenital, that is, they are present at birth, although they may enlarge considerably after birth. Certain types of moles should be left alone. Your physician will determine whether or not removal is necessary in your particular case.

YOUR INCOME TAX - NO. 10

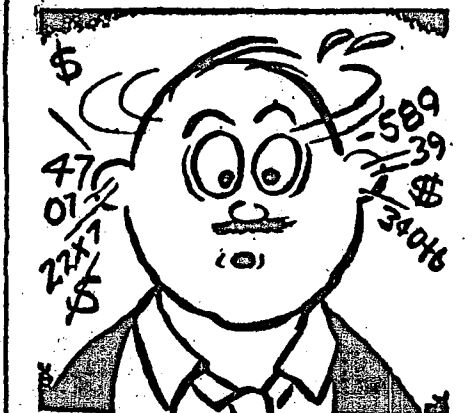

How to Figure Tax or Refund

By FRANK O'BRIEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The preceding nine articles of this series—a guided tour through your income tax return—have led up to the point where you are now ready to get right down to the crucial business of figuring out whether you still owe the government some tax money, or if you have a refund coming.

You have filled in the top of the page—give the names and social security numbers of both husband and wife if it is a joint return. You have decided whether you are filing a joint return, filing separately from your husband or wife, or as an unmarried person, or filing under the special provisions for a head of household or a recent widow or widower.

You have listed and counted your exemptions. You have determined whether you have any exclusions for sick pay, dividend income, pension or annuity income, such as a scholarship. You have computed any credits which may be coming to you for dividend or retirement income, or for any overpayment of social security tax. You have figured out your business-connected deductions, and have subtracted them from your total wages, entering the result as your total wages on page 1 of form 1040.

You have decided whether to itemize your personal deductions or take the standard allowance. If you itemized, you have your total entered on page 3 of the form. You have figured out and entered on page 2 of the form all your income tax as reported but on which income tax has not been withheld, and have transferred the total to item 5 of page 1.

You get your adjusted gross income—the part of your income on which your tax is figured—by subtracting from your total wages (from which you have already taken any business-connected deductions) any sick pay exclusion coming to you, and adding to the result any other reportable income you have.

If you are filing under the special provision for a head of household or a surviving widow or widower, check the correct box just under the space for your adjusted gross income.

Tax Liability
Then you are ready to find your tax liability in the tax table on the back of the instructions mailed with your return. If your adjusted gross income was less than $5,000 and you did not itemize your personal deductions.

If your adjusted income was $5,000 or more, or if you itemized your personal deductions regardless of the size of your adjusted gross income, you must compute your tax liability.

In the tax computation table on page 3 of the return you enter your adjusted gross income, and then subtract from it your total personal deductions. Then you enter the dollar value of your exemptions—$600 for each exemption—and subtract that from what is left of your adjusted gross income. That gives you your taxable income.

Single persons, married persons filing separately and heads of household then figure their tax liability on the basis of the taxable income just determined. Special tables on page 14 of the instructions help you determine your tax liability.

If you are filing a joint return, or are a widow or widower entitled to compute your tax as though it were a joint return, you split your income, find your tax liability on half of your taxable income in tax rate schedule 1 on page 14 of the instructions, and then double the result to get your full tax liability.

All who compute their tax liability enter it at the bottom of page 3.

Then back to page 1, where you will take dollar and cents bites out of that tax liability if you have dividend or retirement income credited coming to you. These you figured out and entered on page 4 of the return. You now bring any credits you computed over to page 1 and subtract them from your tax liability.

For Self Employed
To your remaining tax liability you add anything you owe for self employment social security tax.

Generally, this applies to self-employed persons who are within the social security system since their social security tax is not withheld because they are not paid wages, they pay it themselves.

The tax is 3 per cent of your first $3,600 net earnings from self employment.

But if you were partly self-employed during 1954 and worked part of the time for wages on which social security tax was withheld, you do not pay the 3 per cent self employment tax on the full $3,600. In this case, you pay it on $3,600, minus the total wages you earned from which social security tax was withheld.

The self employed will need to get special schedule C (from a post office or bank) and fill it out. On the back of this you will find an outline of the many provisions and exceptions which may apply to your self employment situation. These complexities are laid out fully on pages 153 and 154 of "Your Federal Income Tax" published by the revenue service and available from the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D.C., for 25 cents in coin or money order.

Add in any self employment tax you may owe, and you get the big figure—your tax.

May Still Owe U. S.
That figure may indicate you still owe the government some money.

Or it may indicate that you have a refund coming to you.

You determine which by adding together on lines 12-A and 12-B of page 1 the tax you have paid through the year in amounts withheld from your salary, and any prizes, etc., and subtract from the result the tax liability you have.

If you are filing under the special provision for a head of household or a surviving widow or widower, check the correct box just under the space for your adjusted gross income.

Rome's Population Increases 782,555

ROME (AP)—The latest census estimate places Rome's population at 1,790,638, an increase of 782,555 over the 1931 figure and about 500,000 more than in the days when the Caesars ruled half the world. Rome is now the eighth largest city in Europe and 26th in the world.

In 1896 two Americans—George Harbo and Frank Samuelson—rowed across the Atlantic Ocean in an 18-foot open boat. They used only oars—no sails, no motor. Their 3,200-mile row took them 62 days.

Canton's Gordie Johannsen Holds 48.5 Shooting Percentage This Season

CANTON HOTSHOT . . . Gordie Johannsen, six-foot Canton cager, is averaging 48.5 per cent of his shots this season, a remarkable shooting percentage. In addition, he averages better than 20 points a game and has scored 929 points in a four-year career to date. He is good inside or outside and shoots hook shots with either hand.

By STAFF WRITER
CANTON, Minn. — Although Canton's great prep basketball star, Gordie Johannsen, isn't leading the District One Conference scoring parade, fans here doubt there exists a more accurate shot in area cage circles.

Johannsen, a four-year veteran on the Raider squad, has been sizzling the nets this year at an amazing 48.5 per cent clip. That betters the percentage of shots made by another District One standout, Chatfield's Bill Harwood, who averages about 40 per cent of his shots.

Johannsen's coach, Horace Olson, says, "Gordie is one of the best shots I have even seen on a basketball floor."

"He has a variety of shots and is accurate on all. He is tough to defend because he is an exceptional shot from out on the court as well as having a very good jump shot and a accurate hook with either hand."

Johannsen's most remarkable performance came Tuesday night, Jan. 18, when he triggered a brilliant second half comeback that found Canton winning 84-66 over Caledonia although trailing 37-28 at halftime.

Johannsen hit 15 shots in 26 attempts that night and scored 37 points, a single game high this season in District One loop.

Canton scored 56 points the second half against Caledonia, exactly twice as many points as it made the first half. Olson's comments on that rally:

"As for my telling the boys anything between halves, our comeback certainly can't be explained in that way. In my estimation, desire is 80 per cent of any sport and I believe the boys were tired of losing after dropping three games by a total of 16 points."

"All credit for the success we've had this season goes to the boys."

Canton is 4-2 in conference games, tied for second behind Wykoff, Chatfield, Spring Valley and Harmony. Olson's team shooting percentage on the season is close to 40 per cent and he points out that although Johannsen is averaging 20.7 points a game, Canton has had balanced scoring all season.

Shooting percentages of the other players bear that out: Vannatter — 35.6; Truman — 35.7; Pierce — 34.8; Livingood — 42.8.

"Besides these boys," Olson states, "Jerry Ward and Roger Young have helped us considerably."

Canton has taken advantage of the bonus rule of free throws with a good percentage of shots made from the gift line.

In the game against Caledonia Canton made 14 out of 17 for an 80 per cent clip. On the season the Raiders have netted 60.9 per cent of their free throws attempted.

Since the Caledonia game Canton has been taking more shots and that has paid off. Before that game Canton averaged only 40 shots a contest. Against Caledonia Canton attempted 67 shots and hit 35 for 52 per cent.

Going into tonight's game against Peterson, Johannsen has scored 929 points in his four-year career at Canton. His freshman year he averaged 6.9 points a game, 15.2 his sophomore year, 16.9 last season and currently, plus 20.

Up to Tuesday night's non-conference game which Canton won 55-47 over Harmony, he had taken 130 shots this season and made 63. Game by game his record of goals attempted and goals made follows:

Houston, 20-9; Mabel, 23-7; Caledonia, 11-5; Spring Grove, 13-8; Harmony, 18-8; Caledonia, 26-16; Rushford, 18-9.

He's a clinch bet to pass the 1,000 total point mark. Harwood, the Chatfield ace, may do it tonight since he has 986 points over a four-year span to date, which means he needs only 14 markers at Lanesboro to hit the 1,000 figure.

OLSON AT 31.2

18 Big Nine Cagers Average 10 or More

Eighteen players are averaging 10 points a game or better in Big Nine Conference play, a check of statistics shows.

Austin, Red Wing and Mankato boast three scorers apiece with double-figure averages. Winona, Albert Lea and Faribault have two players in twin digits, while Rochester, Owatonna and Northfield have but one.

Leading the scoring parade with an average of 31.2 points a game is Austin's 6-5 forward, Jerry Olson. No one else comes close to the Packer point-producer in scoring.

He has collected 53 field goals, 48 free throws and 154 points over the five-game haul. Faribault's cage combo of Jim Drewitz and Gordie Hunt hold 19.6 and 18.2 point averages, respectively.

In fourth place again is Winona's Bill (H-Bomb) Heise with a 17.6 point average. Over six games, the Winhawk jump-shot artist has scored 42 field goals, 22 free throws and 106 points.

Moving into the double-figure bracket this week for the first time is Winona's Earl (Buzz-Bomb) Buswell. The slender forward has 76 points and an 11.8 average. He boosted his totals with a 27-point night last week in Winona's victory over Mankato.

Olson, Drewitz, Hunt and Heise are the only players averaging better than 15 points a game in conference play. Fifth-high scorer is Red Wing's 6-6 pivot, Dick Deden, with a 14.6 average on 73 points in five games.

Other top Red Wing scorers are guard Darrell Maxwell with a 13.6 average and forward Wilson with a 10.2 handle. The Winhawks play at Red Wing Friday night and stopping the scoring of these three players is a major Winona assignment.

Feils Impressive In Glove Tourney

By RALPH REEVE
Daily News Sports Editor

ROCHESTER, Minn.—Don Feils, lightweight from St. Charles fighting under the Millville-Dover boxing banner, was one of the more impressive scrappers to win a victory here Thursday night in the opening round of Region Twelve Golden Gloves action.

Twenty-four fights opened this annual carnival of clout and Feils was one of three pugilists to advance by knockout victories.

In one of the best fights on the evening's card at the Rochester Armory, Feils flattened capable Dick Lonkoski of Caledonia. A good combination boxer-puncher, Feils caught Lonkoski with a vicious left hook flush on the jaw in the third round.

Lonkoski got up but hit the deck later when Feils opened up with another barrage.

Seven boxers scored victories via the TKO route and 14 decisions were rendered.

Only two Winona team members fought Thursday night. Featherweight Roy Gamoke lost a decision to tough John McMann of the Millville-Dover team and lightweight Ed Sveen won the judges' verdict in his clash with Bob Butlin, Rochester Police team swinger.

Sveen carried the action all the way, but hit the canvas near the end of the first round when Butlin caught him unaware with a blow to the left side of the face.

Sveen alternated a body and head attack and except for the first round, had enough ammunition to gain the decision. He opened a cut on Butlin's nose early in the fight that bled the remainder of the go.

Another pair of impressive fighters were two Caledonia featherweights, David Keefe and Gerry Mullin. Keefe scored a TKO in two rounds over John Kazos of the Rochester Police team and Mullin decided Darrell Krier, Millville-Dover leather-swinging.

Coach of the Caledonia team is Billy Leary, a Northwest Golden Gloves titlist as a featherweight in 1941.

Two crowd-pleasing welterweights were Orval Alcott, Chatfield, and Larry Alger, Grand Meadow.

Alcott won by TKO over Ron Shoemaker, Rochester VFW, and Alger scored a quick knockout over Mike Vail, also Rochester VFW.

Alger, son of the Grand Meadow coach, tossed his mouthpiece into the crowd early in the fight and then went to work on Vail. It didn't take him long to finish the fight. When it was over, Alger waved to the crowd, helped the fallen Vail to his corner and out of the ring. Five minutes later Alger was dressed and in the Grand Meadow corner, giving his teammates pointers on the many art of self defense.

Don Meyer, Chatfield welter, had the most knockdowns to his credit. He decked Ron Shoemaker, Rochester VFW fighter, four times before the fight was mercifully stopped in the third round.

Other fighters who showed plenty of promise were three Rochester VFW gladiators—middleweight Mike Reardon and light heavyweights Bill Painter and Loren Moorhead. Reardon, a well-built stylist, carved out a TKO over Jim Smrkowski, Grand Meadow, in two rounds. Painter took a TKO over Melvin Horihan of Caledonia. Painter is a Lanesboro member of the Rochester VFW team.

Moorhead, fighting in the wind-up, decided Jerry Ryan, Plainview member of the Millville-Dover team in the most punishing slugfest of the night.

Johnson Meets Fuentes Tonight

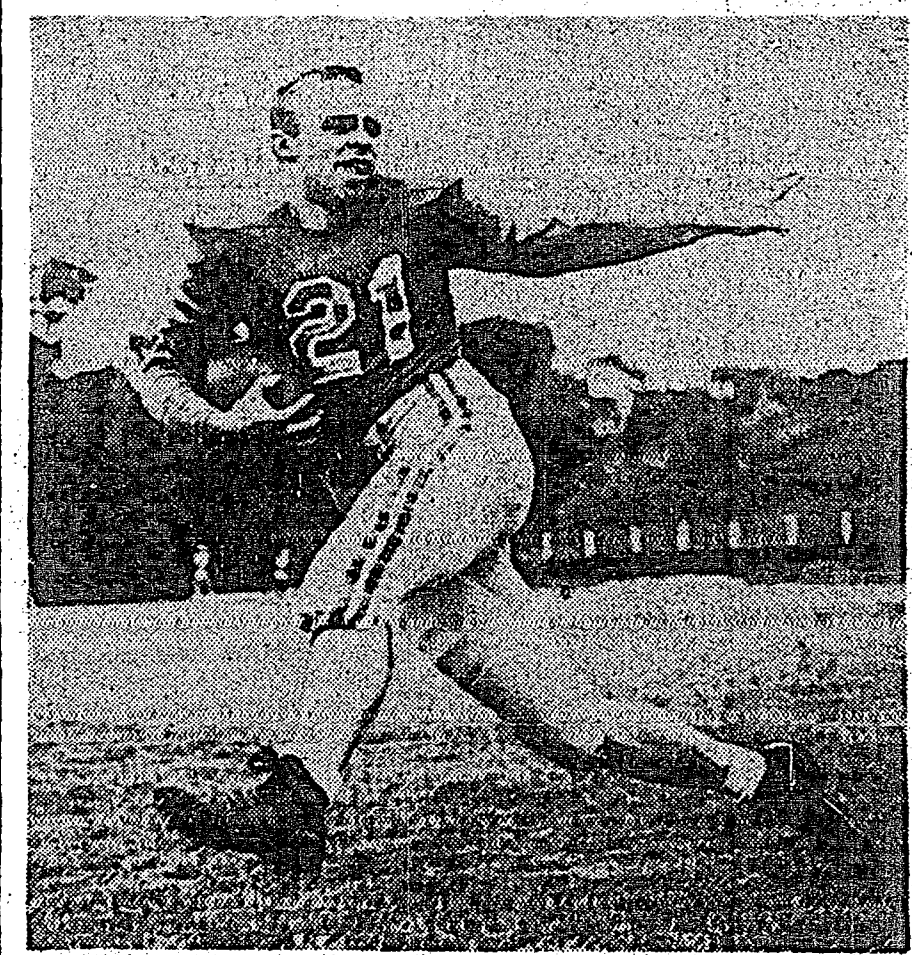

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — George Johnson, of Trenton, N.J., and Ramon Fuentes, of Los Angeles, try to climb over each other to better days in boxing tonight in their 10-round nationally televised bout at Convention Hall.

The 23-year-old Johnson, who spent most of 1954 in a sick bed with an appendectomy and tonsil trouble, is repaired in top shape and hopes to improve on his ranking as the 10th best middleweight.

With a record of 28 wins, 21 by knockout, and 5 losses, Johnson hopes to use Fuentes as an eraser to get rid of the stigma of his last night when he lost to Charley Salas at Miami Beach after entering the ring as a 3-1 favorite. His principal claim to fame is a TKO victory over Moses Ward.

Fuentes, 29, is rated fourth in the pack of welterweights trying to get into the ring with champion Johnny Saxton or leading contender Carmen Basilia. He has a record of 31 victories, 4 losses and 1 draw.

Colts Rate Shaw Best QB in U.S.

NEW YORK (AP)—Two of the slickest quarterbacks of the 1954 college season—George Shaw of Oregon and Ralph Guglielmi of Notre Dame—may play their trade within 35 miles of each other next fall and make contenders of two of the weaker sisters in the National Football League.

Shaw, a 185-pound throwing whiz who led the nation's major colleges in total offense, was the surprise bonus pick of the Baltimore Colts in yesterday's prolonged professional draft, enabling the Washington Redskins gleefully to pluck the All America Guglielmi.

Wilbur Ewbank, the Baltimore coach, explained his choice of Shaw, a third-string All America, over the highly touted engineer of Notre Dame's fighting Irish.

"We think Shaw is the best quarterback in the country, barring none," he said. "We know he is a great passer—he proved it with a losing team. We weren't too sure about the passing of Guglielmi because Notre Dame isn't essentially a passing team."

The Colts in their first regular pick seized Alan (The Horse) Ameche, stampeding All America All-American back from Wisconsin, giving them a potent one-two punch on the ground and in the air.

Seers of the professional circuit immediately labeled Baltimore a 1955. The Colts were next to last in the Western Division last fall with a 3-9 record.

"The draft tightened the league considerably in my opinion," said Commissioner Bert Bell. "Baltimore and Washington particularly strengthened themselves."

Both Baltimore and Washington expect their top draft choices to be available.

LAFF-A-DAY

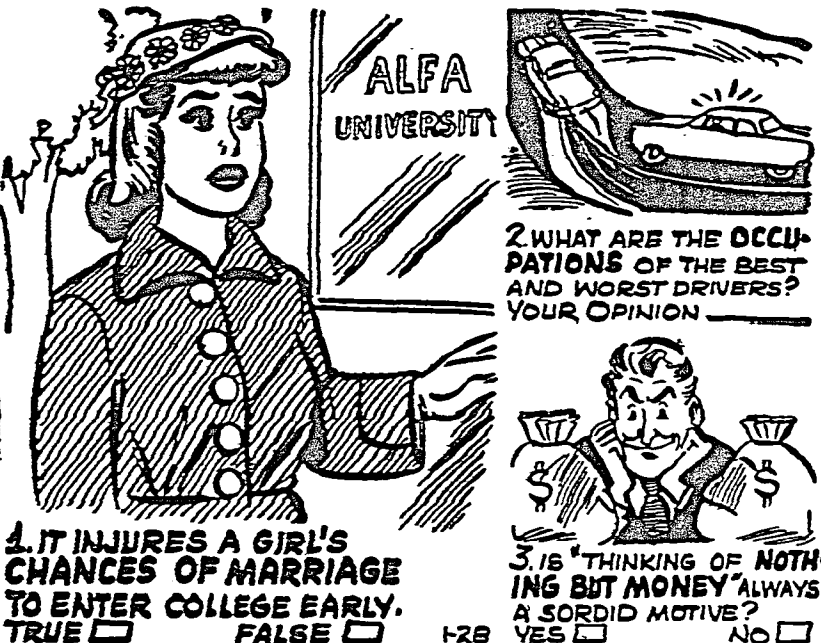

Dennis the Menage

I completely forgot. My wife's bridge club is meeting at our house today.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGUM, D. Sc.

Answer to Question No. 1
1. False. The late psychologist Noel Keys found that girls who had entered college at 18½ or earlier were, at age 25, not only earning more money than girls who had entered later, but one and one-half times as many were married as those who had entered at 17 or later.

Answer to Question No. 2
2. One insurance company (as reported in "Science Digest") found the following five best: Managers and supervisors of wholesale concerns, county agents, farm demonstrators, retired persons, farmers and foremen. Clergymen ranked 55th in safety, just slightly better than canvassers, peddlers, amusement workers, entertainers, and liquor distributors. Teachers ranked 7th, but their students ranked 62nd.

Answer to Question No. 3
3. No. Economist Taussig points out in his "Inventors and Money Makers" that a man "who thinks of nothing but money" is often working to save his stockholders or endow a church or college. Even the miser is driven largely by the same "collecting instinct" that makes people collect stamps, first editions, or cigar bands.

HOW'D YOU MAKE OUT?

2. An English medical missionary who for many years carried on his work in Labrador.
3. Eire, adopted in 1937.
4. Little Miss Muffet.
5. William Harrison (Jack) Dempsey.

You'll need a pint of oysters to a quart of milk if you are planning on oyster stew. To prepare the stew New York style, season with celery salt and Worcester-shire sauce.
