The Battle's at white heat as youngsters at Joan of Arc Junior High School in New York welcomed the city's first substantial snow of the season Wednesday. More than three-and-one-half inches of the white stuff fell. The weatherman told New Yorkers to button up their overcoats, predicting the city was in for its coldest weather of the winter. Consolidate All Highway Funds, State Bill Asks

Proposed Amendment Called Best Way to Meet Road Needs

By JACK B. MACKAY
ST. PAUL (AP) — All gas tax revenues would be lumped in the state trunk highway fund and the Legislature would have control of allocations for financing all highway needs under a constitutional amendment proposed in a bill introduced today by Rep. Odean Enestvedt of Sacred Heart.

Rep. Enestvedt, a member of the liberal majority and chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, also proposes in his bill that all motor vehicle license fees shall go into the road and bridge fund. Presently these revenues go into the trunk highway fund.

"Passage of my amendment would make for a better and more workable method of financing Minnesota highway needs — trunk and secondary, city, county and township," the lawmaker said. "In effect, my proposal also would repeal a portion of the old Babcock amendment."

The Highway Study Commission, created by the 1953 Legislature, is recommending that the Legislature submit a constitutional amendment that would call for distribution of 62 per cent of gas and motor vehicle tax revenues to the state trunk highway fund, 8 per cent to municipalities of over 5,000 population, and 30 per cent to counties and municipalities under 5,000. Of the 30 per cent, 3 per cent would go to the communities that have less than 5,000.

City members of the Highway Study Commission, however, are not satisfied with that distribution, contending that municipalities should receive 10 per cent. They suggest the additional 2 per cent come out of the 30 per cent allocation and not disturb the 62 per cent recommendation.

Enestvedt said it is his idea that the road and bridge fund provisions should be amended so that not less than one-fourth of one per cent of the funds shall go to any one county and, in addition, the 3 per cent limitation be abolished so counties and the three large cities — Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth — "could get more adequate assistance."

Allocation of Fund
The allocation from this fund will be under the control of the Legislature and can be adjusted to fit the needs of our secondary system as the Legislature sees fit," Enestvedt said. "In my opinion this setup has flexibility."

Those who are interested in trunk highways will see that the gas tax revenue is maintained. Those who are primarily interested in their city streets, county and township roads, will know that when they pay their automobile or truck license, those funds will be used for that purpose."

Enestvedt's amendment specifically reads:
"Shall the Constitution of the State of Minnesota, Article 9, Sections 5, 16 and Article 16, Sections 2 and 3, be amended to provide that the proceeds of any tax on motor vehicles will be paid to the state road and bridge fund to be used for highways and bridges in the counties and other political subdivisions in amounts determined by the Legislature; and to provide that the proceeds of any tax on gasoline or other substance producing power for motor vehicles will be paid into the trunk highway fund to be used for the trunk highways of the state?"

During his draft-dodging troubles, he belatedly claimed that he was exempt from service because he was a citizen of Portugal, a neutral country.

Tuesday, Rubinstein's friend described the strange plot concocted as a means to succeed where the government failed.

"I heard this plan outlined in detail some weeks ago by a top businessman as coming from a business rival of Serge's," this informant said.

Chou Won't Send Delegate to U.N.

Rejects Offer To Discuss Formosa Crisis

Accuses U.N. of Ignoring Charges Against U.S.

LONDON (AP)—Communist China tonight rejected the United Nations' invitation to appear before the Security Council and discuss a Formosa cease-fire, unless:

1. Red China is given the Chinese Nationalists' seat on the Security Council.

2. The United States is cast in the role of a defendant in the Council's Formosa discussions.

Premier Chou En-lai's reply—broadcast by Peiping radio—was to an invitation issued by Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld.

The invitation was based on a New Zealand resolution adopted by the Council. That resolution placed no onus on any of the parties in the China coast dispute but sought Red Chinese participation in cease-fire talks.

The Chinese Premier did not slam the door on sending a delegation to New York but set a tremendously high diplomatic price for their appearance.

Chou said he fully supported Soviet resolutions pending before the Council. These resolutions accuse the United States of "aggression" in China waters and ask Red China to appear before the U.N. to discuss the charges.

Chou's reply went into a long series of accusations seeking to place the blame for the Formosa fighting on the United States.

A Peiping radio broadcast quoted Chou as saying:

"The government of the People's Republic of China holds that only for the purpose of discussing the resolution of the Soviet Union and only when the representatives of Chiang Kai-shek's clique have been driven out from the Security Council and the representative of the People's Republic of China attends in the name of China can the People's Republic of China agree to send a representative to take part in the discussions of the Security Council."

The Russian resolution before the Council accused the United States of aggression in Formosa Strait.

Chou's reply also said "without the representative of the People's Republic of China participating in the name of China in the discussions of the United Nations Security Council, all decisions taken in the Security Council on questions concerning China would be illegal and null and void."

The Premier said tension in the Formosa area was brought about by "United States occupation of Formosa and intervention in China's internal affairs. All genuine efforts to ease and to eliminate the tension created by the United States in this area and in other areas of the Far East will receive the support of the People's Republic of China."

Then, Chou said it was "especially intolerable" that his country, with its 600 million people, was "deprived of its legitimate position and rights in the United Nations while a representative of a small handful of remnants of the traitorous Chiang Kai-shek clique, repudiated long ago by the Chinese people continue to usurp the position of Red China in the United Nations."

Chou said he was of the firm opinion that the Security Council should condemn the United States "for its acts of aggression against China and call upon the United States to stop immediately its aggression against China . . . and withdraw all its armed forces from Formosa and the Formosa Strait."

Chou repeated his thesis that Red China's determination to "liberate" Formosa could not be the cause of world tension because this was an internal matter.

Chou lashed out at New Zealand's proposal in the Security Council to consider the matter of hostilities around Formosa—a measure designed to open up the question of a cease-fire.

"This is obviously to intervene in China's internal affairs and to cover up the acts of aggression by the United States against China, and is therefore in direct violation of the fundamental principles of the United Nations charter," Chou's message said.

Chou declared that his government "is firmly opposed to this proposal to intervene in China's affairs."

Mercury Dips To -38 in Northern N.Y.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A flow of arctic air extended over broad areas of the nation today from the Mississippi Valley to the Atlantic Coast with the most severe cold in the northeastern section.

New York City and other eastern cities reported the coldest weather of the season, with temperatures at zero in the metropolitan area. An unofficial low of -38 was reported in the village of Beekmantown, in northeastern New York.

New York City hit Wednesday by winter's heaviest fall of snow, 3.7 inches, was numbed by the first zero temperatures in seven years. It was a new low for Feb. 3, and the coldest day since Jan. 31, 1948, when the mercury also dropped to zero.

It was 1 above in Newark, N.J., a new low for the date; Boston was a little colder with -1.

It was -23 in Newport, Vt. and -20 in Burlington and Montpelier, Vt. New York state reported these sub-zero marks: Watertown -21; Massena -20; Albany -15; Glens Falls -15; Poughkeepsie and Binghamton -11; Utica -10, and Syracuse and Elmira -6.

Snow fell over wide areas of the East yesterday, with falls reported from eastern Kentucky to southern New England. The fresh snow measured up to 5 inches in some areas. Temperatures stayed below zero all day yesterday in sections of New England and New York state.

Today's freezing line extended southward to the northern Gulf states. But the Gulf coast escaped the blast of icy air and early morning readings ranged from the 50s to near 70.

The only precipitation in the cold belt today were snow flurries near the Great Lakes region.

Temperatures moderated over the Great Plains and Rocky Mountains, which reported considerable cloudiness and light snow and freezing drizzle.

Bill Would Ban Lewd Comic Books

ST. PAUL (AP)—A bill aimed at protecting minors from the possible effects of publications, including comic books, regarded as obscene, lewd or indecent, was introduced in the Minnesota Legislature today.

The proposal makes it a misdemeanor to sell or distribute commercially or to possess for distribution to minors any material "devoted to the exploitation of sex" or other matters that would be obscene for a minor.

Coming under the same ban would be publications featuring fictional deeds of violence, bloodshed, lust or immorality so as to incite minors to violence or depraved or immoral acts.

S. Korea Says U.S. Controls Their Army

SEOUL (AP)—Defense Minister Sohn Won Il today said South Korea's armed forces might automatically join the United States in case of a shooting war with Communist China.

He told a news conference that such action would be justified by the recently ratified U.S.-South Korean Mutual Security Treaty in which both countries agree to come to each other's aid in time of attack.

Asked if South Korean forces would be deployed toward Formosa or north toward Manchuria in case of such a war, Sohn said: "We must not forget the United Nations Command has the operational control of our armed forces. We will act in complete coordination with U.N. forces."

CLOSE FRIEND PERPLEXED

Did Plot to Shanghai Rubinstein Go Wrong?

By EARL WILSON
NEW YORK (Special)—Serge Rubinstein was to have been kidnapped and taken out to sea on a tramp freighter—not murdered.

Enemies in the business world had hired kidnap experts to tie him up, toss his aboard this freighter which was in their hire, and shanghai him.

Then the ship's skipper—he was also a part of the plot—was to notify the Coast Guard that he'd found "some stowaway aboard."

The hated financial wizard was then to have been delivered to U.S. immigration authorities.

And for the rest of his life he would have been "a man without a country," beating his head against the technicalities of the law, trying to get back into the U.S. to resume his money-grabbing ways.

This theory of Rubinstein's sensational death—fantastic as it may seem—has been turned over to police—seriously—by one of his few associates, who remained a friend to the last, this writer learned.

This man—one of the few Rubinstein intimates willing to talk candidly—thinks Rubinstein may have died of a heart attack in the excitement of the plot which he believes went wrong.

Or—says this informant—the kidnapers may have had to kill him when he refused to go along with what revenge-seeking competitors considered the cruellest joke they could ever play on a man without business ethics.

The Russian-born Rubinstein had his own troubles over deportation. Up to the time of his death, he'd resisted successfully, but a deportation order against him still was pending in the courts.

In the 30s, he had picked up a Portuguese passport—by fraud—and entered this country by way of Canada in 1938. This government never recognized the passport.

During his draft-dodging troubles, he belatedly claimed that he was exempt from service because he was a citizen of Portugal, a neutral country.

Tuesday, Rubinstein's friend described the strange plot concocted as a means to succeed where the government failed.

"I heard this plan outlined in detail some weeks ago by a top businessman as coming from a business rival of Serge's," this informant said.

The other measure, by Assemblyman George Windrow, Cudahy Democrat, would require only enactment by the Legislature.

Some 500 Persons jammed into the Wisconsin Assembly chambers Wednesday, for a public hearing on bills to establish daylight saving time in the state. The move is opposed by many farm groups and supported by city residents. Photo shows Melvin J. King, Milwaukee, giving testimony at the hearing. (UP Telephoto)

60,339 Enlist In Services In January

WASHINGTON (AP)—The military services got more than 60,000 voluntary enlistments in January, the largest number to join up in any month since the end of the Korean War.

Preliminary enlistment figures made available by the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps today showed a total of 60,339 against a January 1954 total of 38,392 and a figure of 22,383 for December.

The services attributed this big spurt in enlistment in part to an announcement in December that special GI benefits offered during the war in Korea would end for any man not in uniform by the end of January.

Officers said also that the measures already taken and urged by the administration to attract career military men have had some effect on inducing youths to sign up before they were drafted.

The Army last month enlisted an estimated 25,000 men. This compared with a monthly range in 1954 of from 5,000 to 10,500. The Navy exceeded its January quota of 15,500. Last year its highest monthly enlistment was 12,000 and its lowest 3,800. The Air Force in January enlisted 17,914 against a 1954 average of less than 13,000 each month.

The Marine Corps also exceeded its quota of 1,925, but failed to exceed the monthly average of last year, when the Corps was still increasing its size. The Marine Corps, like the Army and Navy, is now due to drop back in total numbers under President Eisenhower's revised goals.

Brother of Three Missing Boys Loses Eye in Gun Mishap

By JOE F. KANE
MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Little Tommy Klein, 18 months, whose three oldest brothers have been missing for more than three years, will go home later this week with a big bandage covering his sightless left eye.

Tommy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Klein of Monticello, Minn., still convinced that their three missing sons will some day be back with them, are shocked by the accident that cost the boy his eye but are thankful the accident didn't prove more serious.

Mrs. Klein took a rifle shell out of her husband's trousers Monday when she was doing the family washing and placed the shell on a

Bunnell Home Renovation Survey Made

Upwards of $10,000 Needed for Job, Architect Indicates

A St. Paul architect, experienced in restoration work, has presented the Winona County Historical Society with a list of 22 suggestions for proper renovation of the Bunnell residence in Homer.

He is Francis F. Gorman, who toured the century-old home Jan. 20 accompanied by Dr. Lewis I. Younger, president of the society. Included in an extensive (and expensive) list of recommendations from Gorman was the statement that "the building is structurally sound — no emergency work is needed at present, as it is in no imminent danger of collapse."

The society, after purchasing the home for $3,500 from Mrs. Agnes Berrum in October, is hoping to restore the building — vintage 1850s — and make it a tourist attraction.

Basic Question
Basically, said Gorman, the society must first decide how extensively they want the place restored, set up their objectives now and work toward them — piece by piece if necessary. They must decide how authentic they wish the home to be and whether or not they wish it kept open the year round.

The length of time the home is open will determine, to a large degree, the extent of installations and repairs. (Younger, in an appearance before county commissioners in September of 1954, said that the society wanted to eventually maintain the Bunnell home as a year-round attraction.)

A partial listing of Gorman's suggestions includes:

Provide for a heating plant; forced air is preferred because it provides quick heat and maintains humidity.

Install some modern kitchen facilities. These could be located out of sight in a portion of the present potato cellar, with limited kitchen facilities for use as a spot for serving refreshments.

Install toilet facilities. A toilet room could be made out of the present pantry room. This would centralize the plumbing for toilet and kitchen in the wall separating them.

Drill a Well
Drill a well and provide a water pump. Provide drains and a septic tank at least 50 feet away from the well.

Provide additional supports for the main floor. It will be necessary to remove the present wallboard on the basement room ceiling to ascertain how the joists run and then determine what additional supports are necessary.

Replace the sliding doors that originally divided the living room from the dining room. Replace the parape that was originally on the south side of the home and the porches on the north side.

Rebuild the chimney, incorporating a 6-inch flue lining. Put cedar shingles on the roof. Rewire the entire building, providing outlets in convenient places.

Take all the old paint off the woodwork and reproduce it as it existed 100 years ago. Replaster the walls and replace the wallpaper. Weatherstrip all windows and doors.

Measure the house and have architectural drawings made of it as it now exists. This is necessary to provide a basis for planning future work. The blueprinting would cost an estimated $150.

Furnishings Extra
Gorman said that the matter of furnishings is entirely separate from any of the above considerations and should come later. The Minnesota Historical Society can probably be of considerable help in that project.

Dr. Younger, asked today for an estimate of the total expense involved should all of Gorman's suggestions be followed, replied that it would be "in excess of $10,000."

He pointed out that right now, the society is looking for a group or individual "who will agree to underwrite the cost of blueprinting the building. That is what must be done first," he said.

The historical society, Younger added, hopes to do all the work "strictly by donations from civic-minded groups or individuals. We can't do it by ourselves," he continued. "We'll supply all the elbow grease — but we need financial help from others."

Ideal Arrangement
He said that "the ideal way, of course, would be to have one single wealthy firm underwrite the entire project — really do one bang-up job on it — but we realize too that such an arrangement is impossible here. We're content, however, to do it the piecemeal way, adding to the home's improvements a little at a time. It's something that should definitely be done."

Gorman, a member of the American Institute of Architects, a graduate of the University of Minnesota and a graduate of the Swedish Institute of Architecture at Stockholm, was financed on his trip here by the Winona chapter of the DAR.

Despite our perhaps unexpert and uninformed ways in things medical, we're still inclined to argue that fresh air, blended with a little exercise of one's feet, is the best of miracle drugs. Our feet were given us for more than standing. Let's walk them around a bit; they'll like it and you will, too. A good brisk walk down the road or to the store gives an abundance of clean, crisp air to cleanse the mind as well as the lungs.

Girl Injured by Car; Seek Hit-Run Driver

A 14-year-old Winona girl was injured Wednesday night when she was struck by a hit-run car at East 5th and High Forest streets. Maxine Clemenski, 902 E. Broadway, told police that she was walking south on High Forest street at the East 5th street intersection at 8:30 p.m. when she was knocked down by a car which was traveling north on High Forest street and was making a right turn to go east on 5th street.

The girl said that she was struck by the right front fender of the car which did not stop after the accident. She was carrying a pair of ice skates at the time of the accident and one of the skates was pushed against her body, causing bruises. Taken to a physician, she was released and returned to her home after examinations indicated that she apparently suffered no serious injuries.

If you have baked your sheet sponge cake too slowly and it is too stiff for rolling up neatly, you may be able to remedy the trouble this way. Cover a very hot baking sheet with a wet cloth; place a sheet of paper on top of the cloth and the sponge cake on top of the paper. After a minute or so the cake will be steamed enough so it can probably be rolled up with ease.

By JIM BECKER
TAIPEH, Formosa (AP) — Motorcycles of young Chinese Nationalist army draftees snake through the streets of this capital city daily on their way to rugged infantry training.

The automobiles bearing the young draftees—90 per cent of them native Formosans—are festooned with bright banners calling for a staunch defense of Formosa. The draftees pitch out crackling strings of firecrackers.

After their big sendoff, the men are loaded on trains and taken to Nationalist training camps, where their terms of service range from 3 to 10 months. Younger soldiers get the longer terms.

Draft age is 18 to 44 but the vast majority of draftees appear to be in the minimum age.

The Nationalists pay 100,000 men have been drafted for this service in the last five years. After their training is complete, the men are released but are kept in the army reserve.

Training in many units is crisp and efficient. Chinese Army units are organized from battalion down almost exactly like American units, and are equipped with the same weapons and vehicles. The troops wear the dull green fatigue uniforms of U.S. soldiers but the suits are altered to the high-neck Chinese style for both officers and men. Training is heavy on camouflage.

Rushford to Open Bids on March 7

RUSHFORD, Minn. — Bids on three curb, gutter and sidewalk projects and a storm sewer installation here will be opened March 7 by the city council, Clerk Arthur Berg said today.

It was decided to ask proposals within the next few weeks following a public meeting in the council rooms Wednesday night. Residents along Elm, Money Creek, Grandview and Grove streets were unanimous in their desire for the improvements, Berg said, and the council now will go ahead with the contract letting.

About four blocks of these streets are involved in the curb, gutter and sidewalk project. Storm sewers would be placed in a two-block strip of Elm street in downtown Rushford.

495 Workers in One Plant Get Free X-Ray at City Hall

Approximately 98 per cent of the employees at the J. R. Watkins Co. participated in a recently completed, company-endorsed program of chest X-rays, Miss Patricia Leary, supervisor of the Winona public health nursing service, reported today.

The Watkins company was the first Winona industrial or business firm to participate so extensively in the city's free X-ray program, Miss Leary explained.

The suggestion that employees might avail themselves of the free X-ray service in the city health department was made to Watkins officials by the Public Health Nursing Advisory Board and information regarding the program was presented to all employees through the cooperation of department heads at the firm.

Distributed to all of the more than 500 employees were company-prepared leaflets explaining the chest X-ray service with space in which the employee could enlist in the mass testing program.

The company also authorized time off work for employees who wished to participate and a car pool was established for transportation of Watkins workers to the city hall for the X-rays.

The program for the tests was developed by Miss Leary and her department and the advisory board.

During the three weeks the tests were in progress — they were completed last Thursday — the X-rays were given at the rate of five every 20 minutes. The regular X-ray schedule in effect at the health department — Monday mornings and Thursday and Friday afternoon — was used. On those days any county resident may obtain a free X-ray.

495 X-Ray
Miss Leary said that only nine half-days were required to give chest X-rays to the 495 employees who enlisted.

By using the car pool and a planned scheduling of appointments, each employee was not away from his job for more than 20 minutes, Miss Leary said.

She said that other firms in the city will be asked whether their employees wish to participate in the free X-ray test program.

The Watkins employees were the second largest single group to be given the X-rays. Some time ago about 600 students, faculty members and employees at the College of Saint Teresa received the X-rays.

Whitehall Group Maps Projects

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—Thirty members attended the monthly meeting of the Whitehall Improvement Association at the City Cafe Wednesday noon. James E. Garaghan, who was elected president at the January meeting, presided.

Robert Young, Arcadia, and R. E. Gorsuch, Winona, who are establishing a Buffalo-Trempealeau county credit bureau with offices in Arcadia, were introduced.

Garaghan was authorized to appoint a WIA board of directors to meet weekly to receive suggestions and grievances from members and prepare them for presentation at the monthly luncheons. Twelve directors will be appointed representatives of various businesses. From this group Garaghan will select three men as a committee to welcome new residents to Whitehall.

President Garaghan also will appoint a committee to study financing building of a residence for the high school principal. K. D. Berdan has announced that he will have to move from his present apartment by June 1. It was suggested that a residence reserved for the principal might be erected independently of any school board action and be financed on a self-liquidating basis.

The group decided to invite the clergymen serving Whitehall to be members of the WIA without charge.

The Wisconsin adjutant general wrote that there are no plans at this time for switching any National Guard units but if such a time came, Whitehall would be considered.

The proposal to place house numbers on all residences again was discussed.

Next meeting will be March 2 at 1 p.m. at the City Cafe.

Son Drowned, Army Tells Strum Couple

STRUM, Wis. (Special) — Mr. and Mrs. Ignatz Rombalski, Strum, received a cable Tuesday stating that their son, Cpl. Roy Rombalski, 27, who had been reported missing in Germany, had been drowned. The cable said a letter would follow.

The drowning is believed to have occurred Dec. 28, 1954, at Orleans, Germany, where Rombalski and three other men had stopped on a holiday furlough. According to reports, the soldiers became involved in trouble with German civilians, who chased them into a flooded creek. The other three men returned to camp after an unsuccessful search for Cpl. Rombalski.

The Rombalskis had received word that their son was missing in mid-January.

Youth, 19, Fined For Having Beer

Dwight Collett, 19, Rochester Rt. 4, was fined $25 in justice court in Goodview Wednesday after pleading guilty to a charge of having strong beer in his possession with intent to drink at a place other than the home of his parents.

Collett was one of three Rochester area teenagers arrested at Lewiston early Wednesday in a car in which authorities found a number of bottles of beer.

Arrested by the Lewiston constable, Arthur Linden, the boys later admitted to Sheriff George Fort that they stole the beer earlier in the evening at the Rochester Veterans of Foreign Wars Club.

Collett's companions have been referred to juvenile authorities at Rochester.

Collett paid the $25 fine and costs of $3.50.

Commissioner Says Liquor Raid Proves 'Get-Tough' Policy

ST. PAUL (AP) — Liquor Control Commissioner Harry Sieben today announced a raid was made on the "Blue Moon" tavern in the village of Beloit, Mahanomen County, and the proprietor arrested and promptly prosecuted.

Two 17-year-old girls drinking beer and dancing in the tavern were found by Sheriff Harold Nyström of Mahanomen County, working with a state liquor control agent.

Benny Stall, the proprietor, was brought into court before Leo Wander, justice of the peace, at Mahanomen Wednesday, fined on each of two counts and given suspended jail sentences.

Stall was fined $100 and sentenced to 90 days in jail, but $50 of the fine and the jail sentence were suspended on one count.

On the other count he was given a $50 fine and 45-day suspended jail term.

Stall is the first concrete evidence of Gov. Freeman's strict enforcement policy, particularly in the sale of beer or liquor to minors," Sieben said. "The governor means business and I mean business, and wherever possible we will carry on a stepped up campaign against the sale of liquor to minors."

PLAINVIEW EXPLORERS

PLAINVIEW, Minn. (Special)—Eleven members of Plainview's Explorer Scout post participated in a polar camp at Rochester last week. The group was housed in a cabin, where they cooked their own meals over open fireplaces. Accompanying the group were advisers Ervin Schreiber and Lester Christison.

Bill Would Approve Sale of 3.2 Beer At Public Dances

Winona County Sen. J. R. Keller has joined two other Minnesota senators in authoring a bill which would legalize 3.2 beer in dance halls.

Present state law prohibits sale of beer in rooms where there is a public dance. However, certain communities, including, Winona, have been issuing dance licenses where beer is sold.

The law prohibits the serving of any drink consisting by weight of more than one-half of 1 per cent alcohol at a public dance. The bill would amend the law to prohibit drinks of more than 3.2 per cent alcohol.

Authors with Sen. Keller are Mil-an Bonniwell, Hutchinson, and Arthur Gillen, South St. Paul.

Fountain Citian Awaiting Surgery

FOUNTAIN CITY, Wis. — James Glomski, 20, Fountain City television aerial installer who was injured in a fall on a Winona roof Dec. 23, still is confined in St. Mary's Hospital, Rochester.

Officials report his condition is good and that his left leg will be amputated within the next two weeks. Blood vessels behind the knee were injured in the fall and vascular surgery at the Mayo Clinic failed to revive the lower section of the limb. His wife and son, Timothy, reside here.

Vetsch Hasn't Picked Lawyer For Appeal

La Crescent Group Continues Drive For Court Funds

LA CRESCENT, Minn. — Clarence Vetsch has not retained the law firm of Plunkett & Plunkett, Rochester, to aid his present attorney, Milton Kludi, in a proposed appeal of a Houston County District Court decision in the Nov. 2 general election for sheriff.

This announcement was made today by Richard Plunkett, Rochester, a member of the firm which is studying a transcript of the testimony given in court Dec. 30-31. A similar record of the trial is being studied by a St. Paul attorney and Vetsch is expected to make a choice sometime this week.

Meanwhile, the citizens fund to back Vetsch has grown to about $800, according to Dr. L. W. Giltens, La Crescent chairman. He met with the committee here Tuesday night to study a canvass of other areas of the county and to organize the last section of the local house-to-house campaign.

Kohler Outlines College Plans at La Crosse Banquet

LA CROSSE, Wis. (AP) — Gov. Kohler outlined details of his university-college co-ordination plan Wednesday night at the La Crosse County Chamber of Commerce annual awards banquet.

In his opening message to the 1955 Legislature, the governor asked for co-ordination of higher education, but outside of asking for one board of regents for the University of Wisconsin, nine colleges and two institutes, he did not spell out further details.

"A single board of regents would be charged with directing a long range plan for the entire higher educational system," Kohler said. "An administrator appointed by the board would direct the whole program, and each degree-granting unit would be under the immediate supervision of its own president."

He said the legislation would contain safeguards to prevent any segment of the existing system from dominating the new system. It would prohibit abandonment, without legislative act, of any existing institution, Kohler said, and it would provide adequate safeguards for the personnel of existing institutions.

The chief executive added that co-ordination is needed because of the higher birth rate, demands for more advanced technical training, and danger that the Madison campus enrollment might get so big the UW could not handle the load.

The local chamber's President's Award went to W. Leo Murphy, president of the Gateway Transfer Co., and widely known figure in state transportation circles.

Students Wrestle At Hotel Winona

Wrestling, not the rough, tough kind of the professional stage but the kind used in high school to develop physically fit students was demonstrated before the Rotary Club at its meeting at the Hotel Winona Wednesday.

After setting forth the aims of the high school wrestling program now being used by 70 Minnesota local high schools, Gordon Paschka, high school wrestling coach, with the assistance of Richard Waite and John Delozier, two students of the school team, staged a wrestling match. During the contest, he explained the rules and various holds.

Wrestling, he said, dates back to the golden age of Greece, and was part of early American life. Abraham Lincoln was a top wrestler. William O. Cribbs was introduced as a new member, and Leonard Plein, Cotter High, and William Hostettler, Senior High School, were introduced as student guests for February.

Bell Corp. Has New Vertical Takeoff Plane

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—The Bell Aircraft Corp. today unveiled a jet-powered vertical takeoff and landing aircraft its executive feels could revolutionize military aviation as well as some forms of the air transport industry.

Lawrence D. Bell, founder and president of the company, said he felt the plane was "the most significant single development in aircraft flight since the Wright brothers' first airplane."

The plane, long a subject of speculation in the aircraft industry, was designed and built by Bell engineers at a cost of more than half a million dollars. It is powered by two jet engines mounted on an axle at each side of the body. The engines can be turned from a vertical position for takeoffs and landings to a horizontal position for level flight.

In addition, the craft is equipped with a compressed air system that ejects air streams at the wing tips and tail, thus giving the pilot control of the plane during landings and takeoffs. Bell engineers said that as far as they knew, this was the first practical application of such controls — called "reaction controls."

During level flight, standard aircraft controls will be used.

The plane, successfully flown more than 20 times by Bell test pilot David W. Howe, is a queer-looking contraption but an obvious top-wing monoplane. It has no wheels — it doesn't need them. And it has a glider body with an open cockpit. It is 21 feet long and has a wing span of 26 feet.

The jet engines have not actually been rotated in flight. But the test program calls for such testing in a matter of weeks. Howe has maneuvered the plane in the air by means of the compressed air control system. He has used the jet engines to take off and land and to keep the plane in the air.

The obvious military value is that such a plane can operate in the field without runways like a helicopter. But unlike a helicopter, its speed is not limited to less than 200 miles an hour.

The principle, according to Bell engineers, can be applied to a combat jet fighter that exceeds the speed of sound.

Trempealeau Co. Pensions $48,782

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—A total of 888 people benefitted by $48,782.39 from the Trempealeau County public welfare department in February, according to figures secured from the office headed by Judge A. L. Twesme.

Of the total, the county's share was $7,984.08, the major portion being paid by the state and federal governments.

The 645 on old age assistance rolls received $38,276.16, of which $5,618.98 was the county's share. A total of 219 people benefitted by $8,300.48 on the aid to dependent children rolls. The county's share was $1,867.81.

Blind pensioners numbering 14 received $786.75, of which $69.39 was the county's share, and the 20 on disabled rolls received $1,419, the county's share being $237.90.

Stockton Contributes $92.60 to Polio Fund

STOCKTON, Minn. (Special)—Proceeds of the March of Dimes drive here totaled $92.60, including $34.50 donated during the talent show Sunday night at the school. Lewis McMartin Jr. was master of ceremonies.

Other fund raising events included a candy sale that added $6.40 to the total and a 4-H card party that raised $1.70.

This is Bell Aircraft Corporation's experimental jet-propelled vertical-rising airplane. Here it takes off on the test flight at Niagara Falls, N. Y., airport. Jet engines on either side of this experimental plane's fuselage are designed to be vertical for take-off and are to revolve 90 degrees for forward flight. (AP Wirephoto)

State Traffic Toll Reaches 59 as Two Pedestrians Die

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Minnesota's traffic toll stood at 59 today, seven ahead of last year after two pedestrians were killed Wednesday night.

Victims were Martin Kusak, 68, of northeast Minneapolis, and Mrs. Winifred E. Blunk, 70, St. Louis Park.

Kusak's body was discovered by passersby at the intersection of Marshall street and 6th avenue N.E. Police said skid marks indicated he had been struck down while crossing the street. The car which hit him did not stop and police said there were no eyewitnesses.

Mrs. Blunk was struck as she crossed Excelsior boulevard near Raleigh avenue in St. Louis Park after leaving a bus. Driver of the car was identified by officers as Ray McGary, 18, Hopkins. He was not tagged.

Polio Fund Events Set in Homer Area Through February

HOMER, Minn. — March of Dimes activity is intense in this area of Winona County with a farm-to-farm solicitation, a card party and a dance aiding in the drive for funds. Mrs. Malcolm Hobbs is the chairman for rural Winona County.

The Sugar Loaf unit of the Farm Bureau will stage a benefit card party at the Pleasant Valley School at 8:15 p.m. Friday. Refreshments will be served.

A square dance will be held for the polio fund at the Homer Hall Feb. 19. Rudy Hauser will call. The Homer Hilltoppers 4-H Club will sponsor a pie social for the fund Feb. 26.

Mrs. Hobbs stated today that about one-third of the anticipated total has been received to date and she urged school board chairmen who have been assigned to canvass their district to complete the campaign and return funds to Jesse Jestus, Winona County superintendent of schools or the Winona County extension office.

RED CROSS EMPLOYMENT

There is an urgent need for women clubmobile workers in the Far East, the Winona County Chapter, American Red Cross, said today. Girls must be physically fit, between the ages of 23-30, college graduates preferred, with training in group leadership or related fields. Special training will be given before assignment. Further information may be secured at the Red Cross office.

90% of State's School Districts Called Obsolete

ST. PAUL (AP)—Ninety per cent of Minnesota's present school districts must be considered obsolete, says a North Dakota educator.

Addressing the Minnesota School Board Assn. a n n u a l meeting Wednesday night, Dr. M. L. Cushman of the University of North Dakota said this was so because, of 5,298 state districts doing business in 1952-53, only 478, or less than 10 per cent maintained programs covering 12 grades.

Dr. Cushman said also that Minnesota has a higher percentage of one-room schools and of school districts with nine or fewer teachers as compared to other states. He added that this condition was continuing despite various studies which have shown that the quality of education goes up and the cost per pupil declines as the size of schools is increased.

Dr. Cushman told the board members they should never lose sight of the fact that the prime purpose of school districts is education.

"Districts don't exist simply to keep local business men operating," he said, "to enhance the town by successes of basketball teams or to provide jobs for board members, superintendents or teachers."

Delegates were acting on proposed legislation and electing officers at closing sessions today.

Ike Quiets Knowland, Restores Own Power

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower killed two birds with one stone—at least temporarily—when he asked for, and got, congressional approval to defend Formosa and the Pescadores Islands as he thinks best.

The birds were (1) the demands of some Republicans, like Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.), for stronger action against Red China and (2) the old question of the President's power to take action which might lead to war.

Persons familiar with the administration's thinking have been saying around Washington the President's request for the resolution has had a quieting effect on those Republicans who didn't consider him tough enough on the Reds.

Knowland, who has repeatedly called for a blockade of the China coast, supported the resolution. But if there is any real Republican unity on Formosa policy now, it will almost certainly dissolve if, for instance, Knowland thinks Eisenhower uses this resolution to make concessions to the Reds, instead of stiff-arming them.

The resolution, with language both broad and vague, sounds tough. Under it Eisenhower could order the bombing of Red China, even if it meant war, if he felt that was necessary to frustrate an attack on Formosa.

The resolution is clear on only one thing: That this country will specifically defend Formosa and the Pescadores. But that has already been the clearly stated American policy for five years under Presidents Truman and Eisenhower.

The resolution says Eisenhower can take action to defend other areas around Formosa, now held by Chiang Kai-shek. Or, since the resolution says nothing to the contrary, Eisenhower could let the Reds have those other areas without a fight from this country. Eisenhower was quizzed closely at his news conference yesterday about his intentions on defending Chiang's islands near the China mainland. He declined to be any more specific than the resolution. There has always been a constitutional question, going back to this: The Constitution says only Congress can declare war. But can a president actually get the country into war, thus making the actual declaration by Congress only a recognition of an accomplished fact?

Presumably a president could, by some action of his, plunge the country into war. Congress has been a check on any president's war-making inclinations. The reason: Congress could re-

Mother, Son Stricken By Polio Win Degrees

CHICAGO (AP)—A mother and her 23-year-old son, a victim of polio for three years, were graduated yesterday from Loyola University. Patrick O'Mara, sitting in a wheel chair, received his degree from the Very Rev. James T. Hussey, university president. O'Mara, big legs and one arm lifeless, completed his junior and senior work while bedridden.

His mother, Mrs. Nellie O'Mara, a high school mathematics teacher, was granted her master's degree in education. Present at the exercises was her husband, Arthur, a high school principal.

Are You an Amateur Or a Professional?

From childhood on, we humans seem to take naturally to shiny stuff — but when we get old enough to see over a dashboard, a shiny ice-glaze on the road is no welcome sight! For a pro driver, it's a warning. A Wisconsin insurance company defines a pro as follows:

He knows that you can't tell how slippery the road is from its look, alone. He tests it while starting out, by touching the brakes at slow speed.

If he feels that tire chains are in order, he puts them on pronto — because a pro never depends on luck.

He takes what is normally a safe following distance, multiplies it by at least four — and then drives consistently behind this extra margin of safety.

He drives with eyes and mind far ahead of his front bumper, realizing that there is no such thing as a quick emergency stop on slick surfaces.

He is on the double-alert when approaching the favorite hangouts for ice-shaded sections of the road, bridges and culverts, intersection approaches, dips and valleys.

He knows that winter clothing and cold weather tend to hang an anchor-drag onto physical reactions, so he "soups up" his alertness to compensate for the slow-down.

He keeps a window partly open, because he knows that it lets in warning signals, as well as good fresh air to keep his mind and windshield clear.

In these and other ways, the pro wisely rides out the winter, knowing that it's largely mind over slippery matter . . . and confident that with the right actions and the right equipment, he'll roll on through into another wonderful ice-free spring.

Durand Newspaper Supports Alma Home Owners

In this part of the state, people appreciate Wisconsin Highway Commission planning that improves rural roads. Projects of the past have removed much of the drudgery involved in a trip to town. Few farmers need tire chains any more to battle their way through hub deep mud after the first April shower.

Northwest Wisconsin has been proud, too, of its succession of talented sons into the office of highway commission chairman — Thomas Pattison, William Ward and Harold Plummer. They have focused attention on the basic problems of highway work. They have pulled the farmer out of the mud through foresight and direct action.

Right now, though, a majority of residents here are casting a jaundiced eye on a proposal affecting the city of Alma. To improve Highway 35 at the south end of that community, it has been suggested that 14 homes be torn down or removed. The only other alternative is to reach an agreement with the Burlington Railroad to move its dual tracks farther into the channel of the Mississippi River. Burlington officials seem reluctant to talk about the subject.

The destruction of 14 homes at Alma would be a double tragedy. First of all, owners of those properties are substantial taxpayers. The city needs all the tax revenue it can get to meet ordinary expenses without increasing levies. Secondly, people who own those 14 homes have spent many years of their lives and a noticeable portion of their incomes making their residences a creditable part of Alma.

Many affected householders in Alma have reached an age where they no longer are willing to consider construction of a new place. The only other alternative is to move away. Under such circumstances, Alma not only stands to lose taxes, but population as well. In rural towns, that is a double tragedy.

It would be regrettable if the Wisconsin Highway Commission decided it had to use the right of eminent domain to make a better road through Alma. Eminent domain laws require that there must be a public use and necessity for taking land. Owners are paid, but all too frequently the compensation in cash is little reward for the destruction of a lifetime of effort and memories.

Both the Highway Commission and the Burlington Railroad would improve public regard if they reached a reasonable agreement for moving the tracks into the river channel. This project does not concern Alma alone. All of us who are its neighbors hope for an agreeable settlement that will save 14 homes and make the capital of Buffalo County a more populous, attractive and pleasant community. —Durand, Wis., Courier-Wedge.

Gov. Umstead of North Carolina said the one hope to avoid increasing rates or finding new sources of taxation, is to get new taxpayers in his state. Some adjustment, however, is needed in the business taxes at the present time in order to make it less difficult to get new industry to locate in North Carolina, according to the governor.

These Days

Dangers Not Over In Formosa Area

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

NEW YORK — It is impossible to take any position concerning China without taking a serious risk of further disturbance or even war. These are the possibilities:

1. We have drawn a publicly indefinite line beyond which, in effect, we have served notice that the Red Chinese may not go;
 2. They can move beyond their interpretation of that line and we might then either clarify the line or recede to another line;
 3. Or we may hold the line which is undoubtedly clearer in the minds of the President and the State Department than of the American people;
 4. We could end this situation by either giving Red China a seat in the United Nations or by the recognition of Red China by the United States or both;
 5. We could withdraw from our guardianship over Formosa and the Pescadores;
 6. We could defend Formosa and the Pescadores by attacking the provinces of Chekiang, Fukien and Kwangtung;
 7. We might adopt the British plan of recognizing two Chinas, the People's Republic on the mainland and the Republic of Formosa.
- EACH STEP HERWITH outlined involves a serious risk and the possibility of war. Behind the Chinese Communists are a hundred years of antagonism to the "white man!" This psychological complication makes the Chinese situation different from any European situation, even as between Germany and France. To the Chinese — and it makes little difference which kind of Chinese or any other Asiatic — the slightest victory over the "white man" is emotionally so elevating that it may at times appear juvenile.
- I recall that when Chiang Kai-shek expelled Michael Borodin and a hundred or so Russian advisers from China, some Russians were put in bamboo cages and carried from village to village for the people to stare at. It was a meaningless thing to do in the face of his own victory over the Russians and the Communists; yet it satisfied a Chinese desire to get even with the "white man" — the Yang Kuei Tze, the "foreign devil."

Behind every act of the Chinese Reds is this Asiatic emotion and it is one reason why the Chinese Communists at Panmunjom were so arrogant. It is the reason for the dirty trick of withholding some of our troops as hostages in violation of the Truce of Panmunjom.

The Chinese tasted blood in the Korean and Indochina wars. The "white man" was defeated in both these wars, the Americans in Korea, the French in Indochina. From the American standpoint, the Korean War was unfortunate but it was not a major catastrophe; for the Chinese Communists, it was one of the greatest victories in the history of that country. The Chinese defeated the Americans; as a result of that war the greatest of American generals was dismissed from his post. It was not only a military victory; it was evidence that a new day had dawned in Asia. From that day, Chou En-lai began to compete with Nehru for the leadership of the Asiatic peoples. He had gained "face."

WHETHER THE OUTSTANDING problems between Red China and the United States can be settled without a shooting war, largely depends upon historic accidents. Surely Mao Tse-tung and Chou En-lai are working themselves into the kind of frenzy which was exhibited in the Boxer rebellion and the Students Movement and in the various boycott movements — mass hysteria which is a response to the challenge of racial inferiority. The Red Chinese seek not racial equality but racial superiority. The "Middle Kingdom," the center of the universe, will live again.

It is difficult for most Americans to understand the depth of emotions concerning race unless they have witnessed it themselves. They are not conscious of race and therefore assume that all racial protests against an assertion of superiority are exaggerated. But in any Asiatic country, particularly China, the racial question looms large even among those who may, for one reason or another, be friendly to Westerners. It is impossible for a Chinese to acknowledge "white" superiority. It is impossible for him not to be offended by the notion that Western civilization, a comparatively young manifestation in human culture, is superior to the age-old civilization of China.

Our incapacity for dealing with the Red Chinese since 1946 has only convinced them how right they are because they know what they have put over on us.

MacArthur's Blast Against War Deserved More Notice

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—This column today may be somewhat personal. If so, it's because my wife has given some directions as to what kind of column I should write.

Mrs. P. doesn't often intrude in the business of column-writing. If she did, I'm sure the product would be better. Occasionally she gets pretty indignant when I take out after someone she likes in the government, and she used to get quite annoyed when I paid my respects to Harry Truman over Gen. Vaughan plus some other things.

But most of the time she's pretty good about not being a back-seat column writer, in view of which perhaps, her current idea deserves serious consideration.

She feels that the newspapers did not give sufficient space to the recent speech of Gen. Douglas MacArthur in which he said that war is an outmoded instrument of national policy. And when an old soldier who has come through three wars—from World War I to World War II to the Korean War, plus the eviction of the bonus army—takes a public stand like that, then I think Mrs. P. is right.

Some papers of course played up the fact that the old soldier was against the United Nations and collective security; so that the public may have missed the way he emphasized the idea that war would be the end of civilization and that the only remedy was people-to-people friendship.

I certainly agree with him about people-to-people friendship. It's something I've been harping on for a long time. But I think he underestimates the United Nations and collective security. If you're going to have police states upsetting the peace of the world, you have to have police action to stop them. And I would like to call attention to two things that are working reasonably well today in either blocking war or making the world a better place to live in.

Pan American Police One of them is pure collective security; namely, the way the Pan American nations have been pulling together in police action to promote peace.

The other is the way certain religious and private groups have been working among other people to promote friendship. While Adm. Radford has had us skating perilously near the brink of war in the Far East; and while Germany and France are still haggling over cooperation for the mutual defense of Europe, the Pan American countries grabbed hold of an energetic young war in Costa Rica, pulled out its tail feathers, clipped its wings and dumped it back where it belonged inside Nicaragua.

They acted as the cops of the Western Hemisphere.

It took some fast and forthright work to get this done. Several times they worked a good part of the night. Some members sat the entire night getting ready to take off on a rush, intervention airplane to Central America.

If they had delayed, if they hadn't been willing to meet nights and Sundays in the interest of peace, if they hadn't had the wise leadership of Carlos Davila of Chile, the distinguished Jose Mora of Uruguay, the veteran Hector Castro of El Salvador, and many others, there might be bloody wars elsewhere in Latin America. Because other nations were watching, waiting to see what happened.

The Pan American Union was not always this way. There was a time, 20 years ago, when it was a namby-pamby organization that featured colored cockatoos in its patio and distributed stereoscopic slides to women's clubs. But it has become more powerful and more pacific, until today there has not been a real war in Latin America for 20 years. Few other parts of the world have such a record. This is something worth bragging about. This is real collective security.

The Pan American Union operates on a high diplomatic level. Operating much lower, right down among the peasants and peons, are certain religious groups which are doing a wonderful job of winning friends and promoting peace. In Bolivia last fall I saw how the Catholics, Maryknoll Fathers, the Methodists got out and worked with their fellow men.

Quaker Work Camps And I hope I may be excused if I now call attention to what another religious group, the Quakers, are doing in Mexico and El Salvador. I may be prejudiced because I am a member of that faith.

The Quakers have been conducting work camps in both Mexico and El Salvador, a system under which a group of young men and women volunteer to work all summer without pay, eating the local beans and potatoes, sleeping in mud huts as do the natives, in order to get to know the people and help them build some particular community project.

Near Vera Cruz, for instance, the Quaker work camps helped pipe water into the village of Saragosa. This village had been there perhaps a hundred years, but had no water system. Water had to be carried in earthen jars on women's heads. So the Americans, digging ditches, swinging a pick alongside Mexicans, laid a ditch and a pipe from the spring through rock some distance away to the plaza of the village.

Now for the first time in history water flows in the public square. The 20 Quakers who helped build this primitive water system couldn't quite finish it last summer. So some gave up their school last fall and stayed in Mexico until they got the job done. They were not paid. They even paid for their own food. Their idea was that if you give a little of your life it comes back to you.

This little act of friendship near a city where women were killed by American warships firing on the streets of Vera Cruz in 1914 has materially changed the opinion which Mexicans have of Americans.

Advice on Health

Disfiguring Skin Disease Has a Cure

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Lupus erythematosus and pantothenol. Ever hear of either of them?

That first tongue-twister is a skin disorder with which I am sure some of you are familiar. And if you know what lupus erythematosus can do then you'll want to know what pantothenol can do, too, because pantothenol recently has been found helpful in treating this disfiguring condition.

Scaling Patches If you are afflicted with lupus erythematosus you'll have scaling patches of various sizes and shapes on your skin.

In these areas, your skin is reddened. Often the rash appears on both cheeks, your chin and over the bridge of your nose, giving a butterfly-like appearance. But, believe me, it's not a pretty sight.

Your face, neck and scalp are the first areas involved. If the disorder does hit your scalp, it might mean you're going to lose some of your hair. Your hands and feet might be affected, too.

Itching often is a troublesome symptom.

Frequently this disease leaves scars after the scaling patches have healed.

Influenced by Sun

While we don't know what causes this disorder, we do know that the first attack frequently follows overexposure to the sun. And the majority of attacks seem to occur during the early summer months.

This disease is three times more common in women than in men. The women most frequently attacked are in the 30 to 40 age bracket. It seldom bothers children.

Treating the Disorder

An ointment containing two per cent pantothenol is useful in treating this disorder. Pantothenol is related to one of the members of the B-complex family, pantothenic acid.

Thirteen of 15 patients treated with this preparation showed marked improvement in their condition.

Incidentally, this preparation was also employed in other types of skin disturbances, such as skin inflammations, itching around the opening of the bowel, and inflammations due to sensitivity to various substances.

Don't, however, rely solely on pantothenol if you are troubled with lupus erythematosus.

Check for Infection

Your doctor should make a careful search for any infection especially in your teeth, tonsils and sinuses.

You must rest, avoid overwork and avoid exposure to sunlight and ultraviolet ray. Try to avoid going out in very cold or very hot weather. Don't smoke excessively and avoid alcoholic drinks.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

A. C. R.: What are the effects of benzadrine and thyroid tablets in reducing weight?

Answer: Benzadrine helps reduce the appetite; thyroid speeds up the metabolism. Neither of these preparations should be taken except under the directions of the physician who will decide whether or not they are required.

PAUL HARVEY NEWS

Communists Seek To Boss World

By PAUL HARVEY

NEW YORK—Down on Revelle Ranch, the Harveys' farm in the Missouri Ozarks, protocol has just been revised in the barn lot. A new bull joined the family last month, Royal Domino. And it is now he who leads the procession to the barn at watering time. He did not get that top billing by chance. He had to earn it. Every new animal on the place has to assert himself by butting his horned head against the corners of the herd. The one which can out-butt all the rest is the leader. Next best is next in line. And so on.

After shearing, a ram with a poorer than average sense of smell sometimes can't recognize which is which of his naked playmates. So the male sheep start butting one another around, again until each is back in his proper place in line.

This is primitive law. It manifests itself in one way or another with every animal.

Sheep will determine who's boss the same way. They'll butt one another until they're properly sorted.

After shearing, a ram with a poorer than average sense of smell sometimes can't recognize which is which of his naked playmates. So the male sheep start butting one another around, again until each is back in his proper place in line.

'Butting Rights' Parents of first-graders can tell you the same principle applies when youngsters are getting acquainted. They establish "butting rights."

And that's what's going on at this moment around Formosa. World powers are establishing their butting rights.

Our diplomacy may sound civilized, but it's basically primitive. Until about 1946 there was no question as to who was the boss bull out there in the Pacific. But then another great world power began to emerge upon the world stage. We had helped to strengthen this relative newcomer. With our money, our help and our hardware, we had made Communism strong.

And suddenly this Frankenstein of ours began butting his way across the map of Asia, bowling over a hundred million humans at a whack.

Until the irresistible force ran smack up against us.

Spelled U. S. At Formosa.

Now we are going to butt our way . . . or get butted out of the way. One or the other.

This is no way for civilized nations to act? I know.

That is what the silk-handkerchief set has been trying to tell us for years.

Enemy Not Civilized But they lose eight of the fact that the enemy we face is not civilized!

We cannot forget the decent human who lost his mud hut in the rape of China . . . and the vacant chairs in thousands of our own homes . . .

We cannot continue to genuflect before this godless mob of barbarians who herd our clergy, our civilians and our captive servicemen through a daily Calvary, behind the bamboo curtain . . .

Or little boy blue might just as well haul his ships home. He's had it. He's been outbuted.

He's not the boss over there anymore.

It'll be the bitterest brew since mother dropped the Brillo in the coffee pot, but if we're second best we'll have to swallow it.

On the other hand, if we out-butt them . . .

And we have the strength, if we have the courage . . .

Then the nations of the world will fall back into line and follow us.

Until next time.

One recent study shows that the average American man walks 9 miles a day and the average woman 10.

Congregational Women's Union Installs Officers

"Learn to live one day at a time," Mrs. Harold Rekdal told her audience Wednesday afternoon at the annual meeting of the Woman's Union of the First Congregational Church.

"Strength is given us to bear our troubles one day at a time. We are not expected to carry yesterday, today and tomorrow on our shoulders all at the same time. Learn to trust in God and turn to Him every day."

Mrs. Rekdal presided at the installation ceremony for the officers and chairmen for the coming year following the business meeting at which annual reports were given by retiring officers, committee chairmen and circle chairmen.

February With Its Holidays is here. For the first of these, a frozen Lincoln Log is a tempting dessert. Pour 1 cup heavy cream into a well-chilled bowl; beat until stiff. Fold in 2 teaspoons sugar and 1 teaspoon vanilla thoroughly. Spread cream on 23 chocolate wafers and put together in stacks of 4 or 5. Lay stacks on edge on a platter to make one long roll with cookies and cream alternating. Spread remaining cream on outside of roll. Sprinkle with shaved chocolate. Chill for at least 4 hours in refrigerator. To serve, slice diagonally at a 45-degree angle in about 1-inch-thick slices. Serves 6. Note: Shave chocolate by running a parer down the sides of a bar of sweet chocolate.

Wenonah Chapter Names Directors

Named to the board of directors of Wenonah Chapter, Izaak Walton League, at its meeting at the league cabin on Prairie Island Wednesday evening were the Mmes. Dave Morrissey, Leon Rose, Kenneth Murray and Leon Inman. Mrs. Reuben Stephen was elected a state director from the local chapter.

Mrs. Stephen reported on the state convention in Minneapolis, reviewing the report of the state league's anti-litterbug chairman on the campaign carried on by the state chapters, particularly the women's chapters. Praise was given Wenonah Chapter for its campaign.

Speakers included George Laing, state president, who talked on state objectives and stressed the need of funds for national and state work. The national president, William Wertz, has requested each chapter to pledge, if possible, $50 to $100 to further the YOA cause. Mr. Laing also commented on "conservation battles in Congress such as those concerning Dinosaur and Echo parks."

Chester Wilson, Mrs. Stephen continued, talked on the accomplishments of the state conservation department, pointing out that "what happens to the land is the key to the conservation program" and that "soil conservation and flood control depend in a large part on the efforts of the Izaak Walton League."

Other speakers urged unification of all conservation groups in this country to protect national parks and state parks, spoke of the need of a watershed program and the planting of more trees and urged opposition to any additional large dams. Erosion control, tree planting and contour fencing were discussed and films shown of this type of erosion control.

The local chapter voted to conduct a candy sale at the cabin the afternoon of Feb. 20 and to serve a potluck meal March 12 for members of the chapter and their husbands and members of Will Dilg chapter and their wives. Mrs. Alfred Fratzke will be chairman in charge.

Lunch was served with the Mmes. Fratzke, Leo Clibor, Stanley Hammer and Roland Hanson on the committee. Slides and games provided entertainment and the attendance prize went to Mrs. Louis Myers.

Spring's New Fashions Need That Lithe Line

By IDA JEAN KAIN

This spring the fashion line will be on the s-t-r-e-t-c-h-e-d midsection, from just under the high bust to the top of the hipbone. To wear these lithe lines, midsize's silhouette must be shapely and supple through the middle measurement. Fact is, these dashing styles will separate the young figures from the no longer young and lissome.

Well fiddle-de-dee, you don't have to put up with a stodgy middle measurement! Against nature to stay young and supple? Ah no, nature fashioned the figure narrow in the middle for facility of movement. Unused muscles lose their natural ability to stretch, bend and contract. They get lax and lazy and fall down on the job of hugging the waistline and holding the sunny flat and firm. Of course overeating figures in too... then the once-sleender waist becomes fat-encircled and matronly.

Today's exercises will restore muscle tone to waist and abdomen and to the lateral muscles which bound the sides of the silhouette.

Warm up with easy stretches. Standing with feet well apart, hold arms out at sides, shoulder level. The exercise is simply to pull up and in firmly with the girdle muscles and bend slowly and smoothly sideways, keeping shoulders relaxed and centering the action from under arms to top of hipbones. Hold the stretch-bend as you stretch clear to fingertips. Come back to position and then bend to opposite side. Repeat three times only.

Finish with a held stretch-bend. Sitting on floor, with legs together, have hands clasped behind neck, elbows bent. Twisting at the waist, bend and touch right elbow to right knee... hold. Then twisting in the opposite direction, touch left elbow to left knee... hold. As your muscles become more supple, the stretch-bend can be increased to touch right elbow to left knee.

Do not over-do an exercise at the beginning. You want to become supple, not stiff.

For illustrated exercise leaflets, send long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for For a Slimmer Midriff and Away With Middle Spread. Address request to Ida Jean Kain, care of The Winona Daily News. Post card requests cannot be answered.

St. Paul's Women's Auxiliary Renames Mrs. C. W. Ozier

Officers of St. Paul's Women's Auxiliary were re-elected at the meeting of the auxiliary in the parish house Wednesday evening. Devotions were led by Mrs. C. R. Kollofski and Mrs. C. W. Ozier, president, presided.

The re-elected officers are Mrs. Ozier, president; Mrs. Myles Petersen, vice president; Mrs. E. L. Ragar, secretary; Mrs. Harold Richter, assistant secretary; Mrs. F. A. Giebler, treasurer; Mrs. E. W. Toye, assistant treasurer, and Mrs. William Markle, auditor.

Mrs. Robert Reed and Mrs. Kollofski were named program chairmen succeeding Mrs. Marion Bickford. Mrs. Philip Baumann gave the report of the nominating committee.

Reports were received from Mrs. Henry Barkow, social service chairman and Mrs. Frank Mertes, chairman of the St. Paul's Day dinner.

Mrs. H. O. Shackell announced World Day of Prayer, sponsored by the United Council of Church Women, for Feb. 25 at Central Lutheran Church.

Mrs. Bickford introduced Mrs. R. H. Wilson who gave a paper on Albert Schweitzer. Mrs. Wilson suggested that books written by Schweitzer give a better picture of his life than the biographies which have been written about him.

She went on to say that there were two phases to Schweitzer's life, "birth to his 30th year and from his 30th year on. After the age of 30, he began the study of medicine. He was the oldest son of a pastor of the Lutheran faith and so had much interest in theology.

"He began to play the organ at the age of eight, and possesses a keen interest in organ and organ building." It has been said of Schweitzer she pointed out that "In Africa he saves old Negroes and in Europe he saves old organs."

"In 1894 and 1895," she continued, "he was in military service. He gave his first 30 years to art, music and scholarship.

"The remainder of his life is being given to benefit man. He holds three doctorates—in theology, music and philosophy and medicine."

Mrs. Wilson pointed out that he chose Africa as a base for his work "because it became a symbol of what life meant to him and there he could put religion of love into practice. He spent 40 years in Africa. In that length of time he made eight sojourns to Europe. In 1939, Schweitzer visited this country for the first time.

"He used the fees from his lectures to aid his work for lepers. While in this country he received an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from the University of Chicago."

Following Mrs. Wilson's talk, the membership of the newly-organized chapters was announced. Chapter 5-E was hostess group during the social hour.

Trinidad Takes Royal Holiday to Watch Princess

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad (U)—Trinidad took a royal holiday today to watch Princess Margaret tour this capital city. Early birds staked out claims to sidewalk vantage points for her state drive, with thousands expected to jam the route.

The princess, who landed in Trinidad Tuesday to begin a month-long tour of the British West Indies, was given a preview last night of the island's gala carnival later this month.

Almost 800 singers and dancers appeared in the hour performance that followed a big reception at Government House. Margaret tapped her feet to the rhythm of a Calypso song written and sung in her honor by Vernon Roberts, nicknamed "Mighty Panther."

The last guest Margaret greeted at the reception was James Byran, of Dillon, S.C., who came to Trinidad in 1941 as an American soldier and stayed. Byran, who is crippled, was sitting in a wheel chair. The crowd applauded as the princess first passed by, then turned and walked up to him.

Rubinstein's Last 'Date' Questioned

NEW YORK (U)—Estelle Gardner, 26, brunette model who was a guest in financier Serge Rubinstein's 5th Avenue mansion a few hours before he was slain, has been questioned for a third time in police efforts to solve the mystery murder.

She was questioned last night after cab driver Abe Lewis told police he had picked up a woman fare near the Rubinstein home shortly before 2 a.m. last Thursday. This is the time the model said she left the millionaire playboy after having a goodnight drink with him.

But Lewis could not identify Miss Gardner as his fare. Between 2 a.m. and 8:30 a.m., when Rubinstein's pajama-clad body was found in his bedroom by the family butler, the murderer or murderers gained access to the locked and barred house and gagged, trussed and strangled the 46-year-old World War II draft dodger.

Stanley T. Stanley, a broker friend, yesterday denied he had furnished police with a list of 10 of the slain man's business foes for possible questioning. Police say they have checked through about three quarters of 1,000 names appearing in half a dozen address books kept by Rubinstein.

'Hog-Calling' Frankie Laine To Australia

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (U)—Frankie Laine departs today for Australia, where he'll probably add another chapter to his amazing success.

Laine has long baffled the experts. Even his own mother wouldn't term him handsome. He has a figure that resembles a barrel. He half sings, half shouts his songs in a voice that seems to come from his critics more suited for calling hogs. When he performs, he waves his arms like an aggravated windmill.

Yet he manages to draw a comfy half-million dollars a year and charm enthusiastic followers from Down Under to Scotland. How does he do it? I have always claimed that he is one of the last of the minstrels. He seems to be cut from the Al Jolson tradition of songster. Though he lacks vocal finesse, he more than makes up for it with enthusiasm and a superb lyric sense.

And, sincerity. He can put his heart into weird pieces like "Mule Train" and "Wild Goose" and make you believe them.

I chatted with Frankie before his Australia hop. He was finishing up another of his Columbia musicals, "Bring Your Smile Along."

Frankie (born Frank Paul Lovachio) discussed his contract with Columbia Records, which is one of the most envied in the business. He gets paid at least $50,000 a year for 10 years, and his accrued royalties continue five years after that. He makes a minimum of 16 sides per year, plus an album. One of the stipulations of the deal is that he must go out and perform before the public at least 26 weeks a year.

Politics Won't Pick Warden, Freeman Tells Stillwater

ST. PAUL (U)—Gov. Freeman today informed the Stillwater community that there are no political motives behind the resignation of Edwin Swenson as warden of Stillwater Prison and disclosed that a "broadly based, completely nonpartisan committee" is being selected to aid on naming a successor.

The governor asked that civic and social organizations in Stillwater cooperate in naming a representative to serve on the committee. The makeup of the committee will be announced in a few days by Morris Hersh, public welfare commissioner, the governor indicated.

George Smart, executive secretary of the Stillwater Association of Commerce, wrote the governor there has been uneasiness in Stillwater over Swenson's resignation. In reply, Freeman said he wanted to assure "all the citizens of Stillwater that I have, and will continue to act in this manner, with the positive benefit of not only Stillwater but the entire state of Minnesota in mind."

Mother's Pleas Answered; Reds Release Her Son

VIENNA, Austria (U)—Communist Hungary released an American woman's 18-year-old deaf-mute son from behind the Iron Curtain today after long years of petitions by the mother.

In a tearful reunion in Vienna after five years apart, Mrs. William Brooks, of Washington, D.C., and Great Neck, N.Y., declared: "This is the happiest day of my life."

Mrs. Brooks had been petitioning the Communists to let her have her Hungarian-born son, Peter Fredric, since soon after she left him in Budapest in 1949. A former Hungarian actress, she had escaped from Communism and lost the boy—a childhood victim of leftist politics—with friends.

After immigrating to Canada and then to the United States, she married William Brooks, an engineer attached to the Sperry Corp. on Long Island and now assigned in Europe for two years. It was her second marriage.

Mrs. Brooks said she believed the Communists finally freed her son only because he was unfit for military service.

The youth arrived at Vienna's West Station aboard the Arlberg-Orient express. As he stepped from the train, pale and wan, he saw his waiting mother and fell into her arms. Unable to express his emotions in any other way, he kissed the tears on her face.

A short time later, mother and son left for Paris to join her husband—Peter's new father.

"I hope that American medical science will be able to cure my boy's ailment and thus give him new happiness in the free world," she said.

laundry table. While her back was turned, Tommy's 3-year-old brother took the shell upstairs, placed Klein's rifle on the floor and tried to insert the cartridge.

Shell Explodes

The shell accidentally exploded and a piece of the casing hit Tommy, who was sitting in a chair nearby, in the eye. Another piece of the casing ripped into the chair only a few inches from the chubby youngster.

Tommy was brought here for treatment at St. Mary's Hospital. "My wife and I figure that this might have cost his life—we have to look at it that way and be thankful it wasn't worse," Klein said. "At least he's still got his good health and can learn to get along with just one eye."

Tommy's three brothers have not been seen since they left their home here to play on Nov. 11, 1951. Kenneth was then 7, David 6 and Daniel 3. The family later moved to Monticello, where the Kleins still live.

An extensive search was conducted along the Mississippi River near the Klein home, but no trace of the boys was found. Caps belonging to two of the brothers were later found on the open water. "We both think someone just picked them up and took them away," Mrs. Klein said Wednesday.

day. "It's such a troubled feeling if we could just find something out for sure."

Certain Boys Alive

"Every time I leave the house I think someone could drop them off or send some kind of word about them before I get back."

Klein said "We know they're alive—absolutely—we never at any moment doubted it. We believe time will prove we are right. There are certain family plans we make with them always in mind."

Commenting on the finding of the caps, the father said: "Searchers went over that stretch of the river time and again and hadn't found a clue. Then one day after the police said they thought the boys had drowned, the caps showed up on the water. We always felt that whoever took the boys threw the caps there at that point as a cover-up."

Klein said "My wife has the three oldest boys' clothes put away and has never used them for the younger ones. We had gotten presents for them for Christmas that year and have kept the gifts except for a red toy truck we finally decided to give one of the younger boys this last Christmas."

We had gotten it for Danny."

In addition to Tommy and the 3-year-old, whose name the parents asked not be used in connection with the accident, the couple has another son, Gordon, now 12.

January Tax Filing About Same as Ever

By FRANK O'BRIEN
WASHINGTON (AP) — There's an air of quiet satisfaction at revenue service headquarters for an unusual reason: A lot of people apparently have not caught on to one provision of the new tax law.

A number of taxpayers evidently think the income tax filing deadline is still March 15, as it was for 40 years. But the 1954 tax law moved the date to April 15, effective this year.

Since this change was widely publicized, the revenue service had glumly expected a dull January followed by a mounting crush of calls for help in making out returns during February, March and early April.

It just isn't developing that way. A headquarters telephone check of some major tax filing points today disclosed that business is as good this January as a year before—better in some places.

And a check of one long line of taxpayers waiting for advice in the Washington area disclosed that something like 80 to 90 per cent of the people in the line thought the income tax deadline was still March 15.

The revenue service is continuing last year's drive to give priority to returns calling for a refund.

Also, last year's program of giving an especially close look at returns calling for big refunds is being repeated. Officials never have said where they drew the line between "big" and "small" refunds, but it was reported to have been at or near $200 last year, with all refund claims over that amount being set aside for special scrutiny. The line may have been dropped to around $150 this year, but officials would neither confirm nor deny this report.

JACKSON CO. INDUCTEES
BLACK RIVER FALLS, Wis. (Special)—Leaving here this morning for induction into the armed forces at Minneapolis were Nordahl Thomley, Osseo, and LaVern Olson, Ettrick, as the Jackson County inductees.

Joan and Jane Erickson of Fargo, N. D., granddaughters of Mrs. Edward Erickson of Arcadia, and Mrs. Marjorie Reski of Moorhead, Minn., recently won a 14-state talent contest in Chicago as a vocal trio.

The trio won a week's engagement at the Chez Paree and a year's contract with Mercury records. The girls made several appearances on radio and TV in Chicago.

The girls first competed and won a North Dakota contest sponsored by radio stations at Fargo and Mandan, calling themselves the "Peppermints." The Erickson girls are daughters of Harold Erickson, who lived in Whitehall when his father, the late Edward Erickson, was sheriff of Trempealeau County several years ago. Their mother is the former Joan Fernholz of Arcadia. Erickson manages the Central Lumber Co at Fargo. Left to right, Joan, Mrs. Reski and Jane.

Badger Arterial Highway System Bill Approved

MADISON (AP) — Approval of a bill setting up a 2,200-mile state arterial highway system that would cost 280 million dollars over the next 10 years has been given by the Senate Highway Committee.

The arterial plan calls for a network of main roads to be designated as part of the state major highway system. Over a period of 10 years these roads would be modernized and reconstructed, with about 26 million dollars being spent annually. Highways that would be in the system include 2 from Minnesota to the Michigan border near Hurley; all of 12; 14 from La Crosse to Madison; 16 from Minnesota to Tomah; State 18 from Prairie du Sac to Dodgeville; 29 from 12 near Elk Mound to Green Bay; all of 30; all of 41; 42 from Manitowish to Sturgeon Bay; all of 51; 53 from 12 at Eau Claire to junction with 2 near Superior; 57 from Green Bay to the junction of 42 near Sturgeon Bay; all of 141 and 151.

CAB Following Ike's Wishes on Pacific Routes

By VERN HAUGLAND

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) today prepared an order setting out Pacific air routes according to the wishes of President Eisenhower and against some of its own expressed convictions.

A spokesman said the order would be in line with instructions of the President, and would be submitted probably this week for his signature.

The board said Wednesday it was proposing a three-to-seven-year renewal of Northwest Airlines' certificate for its route between Seattle-Portland and Tokyo by way of Anchorage, Alaska. The board had previously favored a permanent certificate.

The CAB also reversed itself at the President's order, and agreed to terminate Northwest's service between Seattle-Portland and Hawaii.

Also at the President's order, Northwest's previous authority to operate directly between Minneapolis-St. Paul and Tokyo by way of Anchorage will not be renewed, although the board said, "the question of local service between Anchorage and the Twin Cities remains for decision in the pending States-Alaska case."

The President approved CAB proposals to:

1. Reject a bid by Trans World Airlines for a new route between India and Tokyo—linking its Transatlantic-Europe-Middle East schedules with Northwest at Tokyo for a round-the-world service.

2. Reject a similar TWA bid for renewal of its inactive Bombay-Shanghai route with temporary alternative routes to Hong Kong and Formosa.

3. Renew the transpacific and Orient, and West Coast-Hawaii routes of Pan American World Airways for temporary periods of from three to five years, instead of granting permanent authority as requested by Pan American.

Wisconsin Woman Spears 104-Pound Lake Sturgeon

CHILTON, Wis. (AP) — Mrs. Ottila Daun, 35-year-old farmwife, put aside her housework in favor of a trip to Lake Winnebago for the sturgeon fishing and speared a 104-pound specimen that may set a record for the ladies.

Mrs. Daun, the mother of three children, speared the fish Wednesday on her first journey to the lake for the sturgeon hunt.

"I hit it about four inches from the tail," she said, "and just backed it through the hole in the ice." Art Hill, Calumet County warder, who recorded the fish, said it may be a record catch by a woman. The state record for a speared sturgeon is 180 pounds. The average weight this year is 80-90 pounds.

The sturgeon is a long, thin fish, has a small head and even smaller mouth. It's a sluggish creature and can only be taken by spearing. There's no real or artificial bait that attracts it and the only way for the fisherman to make a kill is with the spear.

The bag limit this year is three per fisherman and they must be at least 40 inches long. The sturgeon's life is watched closely by game managers because the female must reach 15 years before it is old enough to spawn.

British Prime Ministers Turn To Own Nations

LONDON (AP)—The British Commonwealth prime ministers turned today to an examination of the economic health of their nine nations but kept an anxious watch on the explosive Formosa situation.

Britain's Chancellor of the Exchequer Richard A. Butler was scheduled to give the conferring premiers a general survey of the Commonwealth's economic and financial position.

Informants said Butler's report would deal with the prospect of liberalizing trade with America. They expected him to examine the problem of making the pound sterling convertible into other currencies without setting any timetable for realizing that objective.

Meanwhile, the Colombo powers, three of whom — India, Pakistan and Ceylon — are represented at the Commonwealth meeting, were seen as possible intermediaries in Formosa if the United Nations Security Council fails in its peace moves.

Representatives of the two other Colombo nations—Indonesian Ambassador to London Raden Supomo and Burmese Charge d'Affaires Sod Boonwat, called on India's Prime Minister Nehru yesterday. It was learned later that Supomo suggested to Nehru that the Colombo group mediate in the crisis if the council's efforts bog down.

Informal diplomatic sources said there were indications Red China would agree to an informal "unwritten" ceasefire if Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists yield the offshore islands of Matsu, Quemoy and the Tachen.

These informants believe Peiping would go along with such a deal in order to avoid a major war with the United States. It was generally felt that under such an arrangement, Red China would refrain for the time being at least from attacking Formosa and the neighboring Pescadore Islands. The United States would be expected under such a deal to restrain the Nationalists from attacking the Chinese mainland.

The Detroit Police cleanup squad smells up the neighborhood as they pour a barrel of mash into the alley after a raid in Detroit Wednesday. Seized in the raid was a 60-gallon-a-week moonshine still with two 35-gallon cookers hooked up to a cookstove in the kitchen of the third floor apartment and 525 gallons of mash. Patrolmen were attracted to the apartment when they sniffed the aroma of the cooking mash. (AP Wirephoto)

Fire Destroys 3 Business Buildings; Family of 6 Flee

HENDRUM, Minn. (AP)—Fire early today destroyed three business buildings and the living quarters of the Harry Kurovski family of six, who fled the flames in their night clothes.

Destroyed were the Coffee Shop, operated by Lawrence Kolnes; the Brooks pool hall, operated by Robert Brooks; and the Hendrum cafe, operated by Mr. and Mrs. Kurovski, who lived on the second floor.

Damage was estimated at from $25,000 to $30,000, plus unestimated smoke, water and heat damage to adjoining buildings.

No one was injured.

Firemen from Grandin, N.D., and Halstad and Ada, Minn., were called to help the Hendrum firemen and their early arrival was credited with saving the remaining six buildings in the business block.

Hendrum Fire Chief David Dyrendahl said the fire, of undetermined origin, started in the coffee shop. It was discovered by two men driving by on U.S. 75 about 1:30 a.m. and was brought under control about 4 1/2 hours later.

The motorists, who were unidentified, aroused residents of the Ernest Johnson home who turned in the alarm.

Hendrum is in Norman County about 28 miles north of Moorhead, Minn.

Taxpayers Group Says School Aid Boost Would Hurt
MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The Minnesota Taxpayers Assn. today called for freeing of state aid to education at present levels and said proposed increases would lead to rapidly rising income taxes.

"Even if funds were available, which they aren't at this legislative session," Secretary Norman A. Borgen said, "we should study and consider before undertaking a program that two years hence would compel us to raise 73 million dollars more than is needed for the current biennium."

If the state is to raise individual incomes and increase job opportunities, Borgen said, "we must hold the line on expenditures. Put a ceiling on our income tax. Abolish our personal property tax."

Borgen said the state withholding system proposed by Gov. Freeman would "mean double tax payments for every taxpayer of one year's extra tax. This would bring in only sufficient funds for high state aid for the current biennium and still would not solve the problem."

RUBINSTEIN

formant told this writer Monday night after returning from the funeral.

"It seemed so weird I couldn't credit it then.

"I didn't tell Serge because he wouldn't have spent $400 or $500 a month on bodyguards anyway.

"And now I hear it from others in Rubinstein's own business circles who also believe that may have happened.

"The tying of his hands, you'll notice, appears almost to have been done in a friendly fashion.

"The kidnapers may have said to him, 'You cooperate and nothing serious will happen to you.'

"Then I believe they may have found it necessary to kill him to silence him."

This informant, who insisted upon anonymity lest he be asked to tell the story over and over again, asserts that the paid kidnapers doubtless used Rubinstein's girl friends — "he had a hundred of them, not just two or three" — to help them get inside the Fifth Avenue mansion.

Rubinstein's enemies probably paid $50,000 or $100,000 for this job, his friend contends — and even that price wasn't too high, he feels.

"I saw him at 6:45 p.m. the day he was killed. He was never more buoyant."

"He had eight people in his office discussing a $5,000,000 oil and uranium deal in Colorado and Utah.

"He was the world's greatest con man. He would appeal to people's greed and then get them so entangled in the web they couldn't get out.

"He had a meeting scheduled in his office at 10 a.m. the day of his murder to go further into the oil and uranium deal."

"I feel the administration is definitely pro-business to the extent that the welfare of the great mass of workers of this country is being completely ignored, any statements of the President to the contrary notwithstanding."

Available statistics indicate that boys have more colds than girls, but women have more than men.

Someone's Put The Indian Sign On Sitting Bull

BISMARCK, N.D. (AP)—The end of this Sitting Bull business is not yet.

In the Senate Wednesday, Sen. Carroll Day of Grand Forks came up with a box of bones sent him, he reported, by E. C. Christie of Cavalier County as "the real bones of Sitting Bull."

Day's explanation was that some North Dakotans had been tipped off of a raid by South Dakotans on Sitting Bull's grave at Fort Yates, and had salvaged the relics of the Sioux leader and substituted the remains of a bobcat.

Day handed over the box of bones to Sen. Ole Johnson of Cavalier County. Johnson delivered the trophy to president pro tem Oliver Belden.

Ray Schnell of Dickinson, a former lieutenant governor, had been called to speak to the senators. Schnell is an auctioneer, and someone proposed that he auction off the bones to raise funds for the March of Dimes.

A total of $225 was obtained from the senators for various bones, all of which were returned to the box.

Earlier Start Expected in '56 Presidential Race

By NORMAN WALKER

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—With both political parties planning a shorter presidential campaign in 1956, AFL leaders expect an earlier start in trying to whip up political interest among workers.

Union chiefs of the 10-million-member AFL plan to devote today's session of their winter meetings to mapping strategy for next year's election campaign.

James L. McDevitt, director of Labor's League for Political Education, the AFL's political arm, said that if the two parties hold 1956 nominating conventions in August as indicated, instead of July as in 1952, the AFL will step up its vote-getting drive.

McDevitt said the AFL collected and spent its largest political funds in history in the last election. He did not say how much, but the AFL has adopted a plan of assessing unions and collecting contributions from members on an annual basis, rather than only in election years.

Under the law, the contributions can be used to help candidates, but the union treasury assessment may be used only to "educate" union members on political issues.

That the AFL is still inclined toward the Democratic party was evident in comments made yesterday by AFL President George Meany to reporters. Asked how he felt about President Eisenhower's administration, Meany replied:

"I feel the administration is definitely pro-business to the extent that the welfare of the great mass of workers of this country is being completely ignored, any statements of the President to the contrary notwithstanding."

Available statistics indicate that boys have more colds than girls, but women have more than men.

Atoms for Peace Conference Will Be Held in Geneva

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—An American and an Indian will be top men at the first world scientific conference of atoms-for-peace in Geneva next August. The U.N.-sponsored parley will disclose scientists' estimates of the prospects for nuclear power in the next 25 to 50 years.

The American, Walter Gordon Whitman, 59, of Concord, Mass., will be the secretary general, in charge of arrangements. He is a pioneer researcher in aircraft propulsion for the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission, member of the AEC's General Advisory Committee and director of the Defense Department's research board.

Homi Jehangir Bhabha, 45, of Bombay, chairman of India's Atomic Energy Commission and secretary of its Department of Atomic Energy, will be conference president, empowered to rule out political discussions.

U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold announced their appointments last night in letters inviting 84 countries—10 of them Communist—to send five official delegates each to the congress.

He enclosed an agenda and rules for the "International Conference on the Peaceful Uses of Atomic Energy," to start Aug. 8 in the old League of Nations Palace and last 12 working days.

The rules, formulated by a seven-nation advisory committee of scientists which met here Jan. 17-23, specify that the conference is for exchange of information only. One provision reads: "No proposals requiring adoption by voting shall be submitted or entertained by the conference."

The committee also agreed that the conference proceedings will be published.

2-Way Policy In North Africa Hurts France

By PRESTON GROVER

ALGIERS, French North Africa (AP)—The problems arising from a divided and almost immobile French National Assembly are complicated by a conflicting two-way policy for North Africa. At the same time that France is trying to graft Algeria onto herself, she is agreeing to early home rule for Tunisia and, later on, for Morocco.

If Tunisia gets home rule first, will the nationalists in Algeria sit quietly by?

Just to make France's problems more difficult, the Communist radio in Budapest and the pan-Arab radios in Cairo, Beirut and Karachi broadcast inciting nationalist demonstrations and terrorism. Even Franco's radio in Spanish Morocco takes a daily kick.

Aside from petty party squabbles in the Assembly itself, the government is heavily influenced by hundreds of thousands of French colonists in North Africa. They live there. They are tough people. They have little sympathy with the nationalist yearnings for self-rule. They admit they have a privileged position and intend to keep it if they can.

They have brought high-quality farming to North Africa which the Arabs would not likely have produced. The increased yields from French farming provide much of the food for the increasing Arab population. And the more Arabs there are, the more they cry for a share of the land the French are farming.

It is a problem which calls for money, might and a clear policy. France is short of all three.

Many Arab eyes are turned toward America to help. Much American capital is ready to go into Morocco if it can be assured of stable conditions. Millions of dollars of foreign capital moved into Morocco right after the war and Casablanca boomed like a mining town. But the flow has almost stopped.

I met one American investor hoping to buy resort property in Agadir, on the south Atlantic coast of Morocco.

"It's the future Miami of Europe," he said. "If these characters wouldn't scare away all the tourists," he was pretty unhappy. American military figures have a worried eye on the problem. America has important air bases, not only in French Africa but in nominally independent Lybia, farther east.

Those bases are also part of the daily Communist radio target.

"The Russians are afraid of those bases. They can't get at them directly, but they can endanger them by stirring up France and Morocco." That was the analysis of Abdel Hal el Kittani of Fez, often referred to as the "Moslem Pope of the West."

America is backing France in North Africa, hoping evidently against hope that she will make those decisions which will restore a happy and progressive climate in North Africa. But France is handcuffed by her own internal conflicts and animosities, especially in the Assembly.

British Colony Gets Switch in Government

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP)—A new government headed by Norman Washington Manley, leader of the leftist People's National party, held power in this British colony today.

Manley's appointment as chief minister — a foregone conclusion following the PNP's parliamentary election victory three weeks ago — was formally announced yesterday by Gov. Sir Hugh Foot before a joint session of the House of Representatives and the island's Legislative Council.

Manley told the House his chief goals were self-government for Jamaica and a federation of the West Indies.

Medical estimates indicate that a person who recovers from a cold will be immune to another cold for an average of about seven weeks.

Atomic Radiation Casualties Reported

By RUSSELL BRINES

WASHINGTON (AP)—A University of California scientist, Dr. Ralph W. Chaney, says atomic laboratories are "having casualties" from radiation.

He declined to give any precise details in talking later with newsmen, but made the statement yesterday to the House Armed Services Committee in support of his plea that Congress exempt promising young scientists from the military draft.

Atomic scientists are serving under hazards "as great as those of the battlefields," he said.

The committee, meanwhile, prepared to approve a bill, probably today, extending for four years the government's authority to draft youths 18½-28 years of age for two years' active military service, followed by six years of reserve obligation. It ended two days of hearings yesterday.

The House is expected to approve the measure next week. The present draft law expires next June 30 and must be renewed if compulsory service is to be continued.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) said a subcommittee will consider later a proposal by Rep. Hinshaw (R-Calif.) for a presidential commission to consider appeals from drafted youths for exemptions to permit them to continue scientific training.

Dr. Chaney, supporting this measure, told the committee that drafting of a certain young chemist at the Livermore, Calif. atomic laboratory, for example, would lead to injuries there "as they've had at many other installations."

"You have to know what precautions to take in order to prevent exposures" to fatal radiation from nuclear experiments and the weapons program, he told reporters later.

The Livermore chemist, identified only by the initials M. C., is one of about 100 men in the country skilled in "radio-chemical diagnostics," Dr. Chaney said. The chemist's job is to prevent casualties from radiation, but he is of draft age, he said.

"Most laboratories don't have that man," meaning an expert like M. C., he added. "They are taking chances and are having casualties."

Dr. Chaney declined to specify numbers of casualties or accidents. Dr. Chaney identified himself as professor of paleontology and consultant on manpower problems at the University of California. He said he was wartime assistant director of the radiation laboratory.

Librarian Finds Flag Minus Stars

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP)—When it was pointed out to city librarian Fred Mulholland that the flag flying over the main library had only 45 stars, he hauled it down and counted.

The 45 stars meant the flag had been made between 1896 and 1907. The flag, donated by the widow of an Army colonel, had been used four or five months.

"We'll continue to use it until we get funds to buy another," he said. "It's the only one we have."

Japanese Boy's Boast Nearly Fatal

TOKYO (AP)—Akira Ito, 12-year-old son of a Communist leader now in the underground, brandished a knife in his grammar school class today and boasted: "I'll show you how to commit hara-kiri."

It stumbled. The knife pierced his stomach. He is in critical condition at a Tokyo hospital.

Bank Robber Wants His Own Money Back

WACO, Tex. (AP)—Bobby Jack Howard, 29, charged with robbing the Farmers State Bank at Meridian, Tex., of $3,800 Monday, is a little irked about one thing.

After his capture at the home of an uncle in a rugged central Texas area, officers recovered about $3,000 in cash from Howard's pockets.

Five dollars of it, Howard said sourly yesterday, belonged to him.

Moslem Wives Answer Questions To Get Reforms

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP)—How many wives does your husband have? Does he let you help spend his income? Did you have any voice in choosing your husband?

These are some of the questions being asked of 5,000 Moslem wives by the All-Pakistan Women's Assn. It aims to set up a bill of rights for the country's women, after analyzing returns from its questionnaire.

The association was founded by Begum Liaquat Ali Khan, Pakistan's ambassador to Holland. She is the widow of the country's first Prime Minister.

Behind the questionnaire is a tradition. Moslem husbands have dominated their wives, keeping them at home and also pampering them. The pampering has contributed to the domineering, and vice versa.

Husbands of years ago, when nomadic raiders considered women a top prize, tried to protect their wives by segregating them and making them stay home. The tradition of purdah — where a woman is secluded from the sight of all men except her husband — grew up. Wives began to wear veils. In public buildings, they sat behind perforated stone screens.

The father often determined whom a girl could marry. The husband was allowed four wives. He controlled their finances and decided on almost anything they might want to do.

When Pakistan became independent, moves were made to reform Moslem society and emancipate the woman. Many of the traditions broke down.

The All-Pakistan Women's Assn., originally started to aid refugee women, entered the controversy as the practice of polygamy persisted despite many attempts by women to stamp it out.

Russians Talk of Moving Mountains With Atom Power

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Russians, rather coy about taking part in President Eisenhower's atom-for-peace plan, are giving free rein to their imaginations about what it could mean.

For instance, a recent broadcast from Moscow monitored in Washington talks about moving mountains, reversing rivers, even melting the polar icecap.

The broadcast was based on an article by an engineer, Andrei Markin, who said Soviet scientists have taken steps in peaceful uses of atomic energy to "make it possible to rectify many defects of nature."

The article suggests that only the Communist approach will work in using atomic energy on an international scale. He says of his projects that "under capitalism they cannot be turned to practical account."

When he says "plans exist" without saying when "to irrigate deserts such as the Sahara, to construct a huge hydroelectric power station in the Straits of Gibraltar, and so forth."

Markin goes on: "An even bigger scheme would be the construction of a power dam in the Bering Straits. There is also a plan to create a whole complex of projects with a view to directing the warm currents of the Pacific into the Arctic Ocean in order to raise the temperature of the areas behind the Arctic Circle."

Soviet engineer Markin did not ignore his own country. Atomic explosions might blast away the canyon called Turgay Gate and "the way will be opened for the rivers of Siberia to flow southward to Central Asia and Kazakhstan," he said, adding:

"The Arab steppe will become a flowering garden of bountiful fields."

More Badger Cities Restricting Beer To Those Under 21

MADISON, Wis. — More cities are prohibiting the sale of beer to persons between the ages of 18 to 21, a League of Wisconsin Municipalities survey has shown.

The League said it has found that 14 out of 28 cities of more than 10,000 now prohibit the sale of beer to persons under the age of 21, and that two others decline to issue licenses to class B beer only taverns which under state law are permitted to serve persons 18 years of age and over.

The municipal group's study was apparently made in connection with discussions of legislative proposals for a statewide law raising the minimum age for beer sales from 18 years to 21, to make it consistent with the rule on the serving of liquor.

SKILLET CLUB FOR MEN

By Frank Kohler

PUT A WIGGLE ON NEW SHRIMP DISH

From our Eureka, Calif., Newspapers Chapter, Mrs. Muriel Kruger presents "Shrimp Wiggle." This is a handy string for your bow during winter evenings. Good for lunch or dinner, too, but fine for a late evening chafing dish. And you can do it with fresh cooking shrimp as well as canned.

2 tablespoons butter.
1 tablespoon minced onion.
1 No. 2 can tomatoes.
1 cup cooked rice.
1/2 pint cream.
2 cans cleaned shrimp.
Salt, pepper, hot sauce and MSG to taste.

Melt the butter, and simmer onions until tender, then add tomatoes and rice. Cook over moderate heat until mixture is slightly thickened. Stir in the cream. If shrimp are large, cut them in thirds, otherwise in half, and stir them in. Season to taste. We might add that a bit of sherry, judiciously applied, or even 1/4 cup of beer doesn't hurt things a bit.

While we're on the subject of shrimp, here is Shrimp-Rice Newburg, from Mrs. F. W. Elliott, Oklahoma City Daily Oklahoman Chapter.

2 cups cooked rice (3/4 cup raw).
1 package frozen shrimp (or 1 lb. fresh).
1 can cream of mushroom soup.
2 tablespoons top milk.
2 tablespoons sherry.
1 slice bread.
2 tablespoons melted butter.
Salt, pepper, dash hot sauce, MSG to taste.

If using fresh shrimp, clean and de-vein them. Heat the soup and stir in the milk, season to taste and add the sherry. Mix with the shrimp. If you use a casserole, butter it and pour in the mixture. Trim the crust from the bread, cut in small cubes, toss in the melted butter, and sprinkle the resultant croutons over the top. Bake at 375 degrees about 30 minutes, until bubbles form around the edge of the casserole.

If you use a chafing dish, pour in the mixture and cook over boiling water, stirring frequently, for about 30 minutes, and add sherry just before serving.

Victor Brunell, Worcester, Mass., Gazette Chapter, sends us a very neat little confection here—"Nuggets."

1/2 cup dark corn syrup.
1/4 cup maple syrup.
1/4 cup chopped black walnuts.
1/4 cup grated coconut.

Boil corn and maple syrup until it will form a hard ball when dropped in cold water. Remove from heat and stir in the walnuts and coconut, then drop in very small drops on a buttered cookie sheet to cool.

And, lads, be sure you cook this stuff enough—if you don't make it brittle, it'll take out every in-lay you've got!

County Struggling To Escape Federal Aid Loses Fight

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Rebel-Hous Harrison County, struggling four years to stay free of federal aid, has lost its fight.

The Ohio Supreme Court yesterday ruled the county must participate in a federal aid program for Ohio's totally and permanently disabled.

Harrison County's flat refusal of the money threatened to cost Ohio three million dollars a year in U.S. grants. Of the state's 88 counties, Harrison County alone remained aloof.

To officials of the coal-mining county one thing was clear—they demanded the privilege of taking care of their own. Harrison, with some 19,000 residents, is located in eastern Ohio.

County commissioners said they neither needed nor wanted the federal money. They said their handicapped were cared for under their poor relief program.

When prolonged negotiations failed, State Welfare Director Henry J. Robinson turned to the state's high court. In a 5-2 decision, the court allowed Robinson a writ of mandamus requiring the county to accept the federal funds. Attorneys said the amount would total about $400 a year.

In its decision, the court said: "The board statutory authority of the (welfare) department to make rules and to require accounting and reports as to persons permanently and totally disabled in the county . . . cannot be questioned by the county."

Phone Scientists Working on Tube To Step Up Service

NEW YORK (AP)—Bell Telephone scientists are working on a small, hollow metal tube which will radically step up transmission of television impulses and telephone calls over long distances.

Bell Laboratories announced yesterday that successful experiments have been used in employing a metallic tube about two inches in diameter and with a hollow center. The tube itself is not solid metal.

Tachen Storekeeper Tells of Red Attack

By JIM BECKER

KEELUNG, Formosa (AP)—"Hon cha!" "Hon cha!" "Hon cha!" The bent, white-whiskered old man squatted on a rolled up blanket, his head in his gnarled hands, and muttered, "Hon cha" over and over again in a tired voice.

"Hon cha" is "bombling" in the dialect of the Communist-threatened Tachen Islands.

The old man was one of 538 civilians evacuated from the bomb-pocked islands 200 miles north of here who landed in this picturesque harbor aboard a Nationalist Chinese troop ship today.

His name is Liu Yu. He was a storekeeper on the Tachens—two high cliffed rocky islands that house some 30,000 Nationalist soldiers and civilians.

The old man said the Communists bombed the Tachens repeatedly in the last few days. "They have bombed every place on the island," he said in a shaky treble voice. "It was terrible."

"They were bombing again when we left."

The old man slung his rolled blanket over his shoulder and was helped into a waiting American-built truck to be taken to a relief station.

Long lines of men, women and children from the Tachens filed down the gangplank of the American-built transport ship all morning. They carried a few pitiful belongings.

Nationalist sailors sprayed each with DDT powder. Most were children. And 214 of the 538 aboard were dependents of soldiers who remain on the Tachens expecting to fight, although American warships and planes are standing by to cover their withdrawal if it is ordered.

The children were dressed in black, high-neck school uniforms. They looked like little penguins with the white DDT powder spilled down their fronts.

They were gay and smiling, but their elders were solemn. Many women carried babies in arms. Lee Tsui, 30, a school teacher said: "We left because of the bombing and the Communists, but the soldiers who stayed behind are ready to fight."

Democrats Considering Philadelphia, Chicago

WASHINGTON (AP)—A subcommittee of the Democratic National Committee had under consideration today bids from Chicago and Philadelphia for the party's 1956 nominating convention. Chairman Paul Butler of the full committee said there may be an announcement of a choice today.

Whatever recommendation the site subcommittee makes, he said, will be subject to approval by the full committee.

but is made of thin, tightly coiled copper wire wrapped inside a flexible coating that holds the wire in place.

The present coaxial cable has a copper wire running down the center. The new wave-guide transmission, experiments show, would carry many times the capacity of present coaxial cables and microwave radio relay systems.

Woodpecker scalps, elephant tails, tobacco and beaver skins all have been used as money.

British Officials Deny Claims Air Defense Lacking

LONDON (AP)—Britain's government denied an opposition charge yesterday that defective fighter planes and a lagging guided missile program have left Britain with "no air defense whatever."

Laborite Woodrow Wyatt touched off the exchange in the House of Commons, demanding, "When is it expected that defects in the Hunter fighter, which causes engines to stall when guns are fired, will be cured?"

George Ward, undersecretary of state for war, admitted that the Royal Air Force Hunter—only faster-than-sound jet fighter available to the RAF in squadron strength—has developed "bugs" in simulated combat.

"It may be necessary to make certain modifications . . ." Ward said, "but as it is, the Hunter is a formidable aircraft and could go into action tomorrow."

Alaskan Defense Plans Limited To Bases, Cities

By ELTON FAY

ELMENDORF AIR FORCE BASE, Alaska—An enemy attacking this northern stepping stone to the United States would face a tough tussle for big military bases and cities but he couldn't draw American forces into struggles over remote areas, top military commanders say.

This plan of defense of Alaska's tremendous territory—its more than twice the size of Texas—was laid out in a news conference yesterday by Lt. Gen. Joseph H. Atkinson, commander in chief, Alaskan Defense Command. He was seconded by Maj. Gen. George R. Acheson, chief of the Alaskan Air Command, and Maj. Gen. James F. Collins, commander of Army forces.

"People ask," Atkinson said, "what we would do if an enemy landed at some place like a little spot over on the coast."

In the first place, he said, "the enemy wouldn't be interested, and if he was we would just leave him there."

Acheson said the military's mission is "not to defend all of Alaska" but to keep big installations and important centers out of enemy hands.

Big Alaskan installations mentioned were Elmendorf, Ladd and Eielson Air Force bases, with Anchorage and Fairbanks listed as "important centers."

Atkinson was asked if he believed there was a possibility of attack by Russians on the ground as well as in the air.

"I don't think there would be any big land campaigns," he replied. "I do not rule out the possibility of at least limited airborne operations. As a matter of fact, that is the only way he could get in except for the possibility of attempting amphibious operations in a few spots."

He expressed doubt there would be more major defense construction in Alaska except for the possibility of fighter plane strips.

Acheson said the approaching advent of guided missiles tends to rule out fields too far forward.

Gen. Collins said plans are being worked on for locating Nike anti-aircraft guided missile sites in Alaska but that no construction has been started.

The Army commander expressed the belief Alaska now is garrisoned by adequate military forces and "if the situation developed we could get more in a hurry from the United States by air."

Wiley, Thye Seek Federal Grants to Fight Delinquency

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Wiley has introduced legislation into Congress to provide federal grants to aid the fight against juvenile delinquency which he says is at an all time high.

Sen. Thye (R-Minn), co-author of the bill, said experience in Minnesota showed a desperate shortage of well qualified professional personnel to deal with delinquency. Wiley, Wisconsin's senior Republican senator, said Tuesday the purpose of the bill is to prevent waywardness before it starts and to help the rehabilitation of youngsters already in trouble.

The measure would establish a program of federal grants to states. The legislation, Wiley said, is part of President Eisenhower's program.

Minneapolis Man Heads Phone Society

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Elnathan C. Gates, Minneapolis, has been named president and general manager of four independent telephone companies serving some 31,000 subscribers in the Midwest.

The companies are Minnesota Telephone Co.; North Dakota Telephone Co.; Iowa-Illinois Telephone Co. and Southeastern Iowa Telephone Co. Gates previously served as vice president of the firms.

North Western Freight Derails Near Wausau

WAUSAU, Wis. (AP)—A main Chicago and North Western freight line was still tied up today by a derailment of 28 freight cars Tuesday night at Mount View, five miles west of here. No one was injured in the wreck.

J. F. Sainsbury, regional superintendent of the line, said that the cause of the wreck was undetermined. He said a wrecker is working from each end of the pileup to clear the track, which carries only freight service.

Write-in Candidate New Mayor of Tower

TOWER, Minn. (AP)—Andrew Erickson, a retired railroad man won as a write-in candidate Tuesday for mayor of Tower, a berth for which nobody had filed. Erickson received 189 votes as result of what observers said was a community word-of-mouth campaign. All other officials were re-elected.

The American Music Conference estimates that three million Americans play the violin or viola.

Super-Powerful New Insecticide Developed

WASHINGTON (AP)—A super-powerful new insecticide said to have great possibilities for farm and public health use has been developed by the U.S. Public Health Service.

Known as DDVP (for its chemical name, dimethyl dichloro vinyl phosphate) the substance is described as more deadly to insects yet less harmful to humans and farm animals than many currently used insecticides.

The Department of Welfare, announcing its development Tuesday, said DDVP was tested recently in a large dairy barn where there was a high fly population with a known "immunity" to DDT.

Sour orange trees were introduced into Florida so early by the Spanish explorers that they were long believed to be native to the state.

Truman Warns World Must Avoid Conflict

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Former President Truman, urging the world to work for the brotherhood of man, said last night, "If peace doesn't come, there will be no world left."

"We are facing the greatest age in history," Truman said. "We must meet it. All we need to do is meet the situation with which we are faced, and we should meet it on the principles of the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man."

"If peace doesn't come, there will be no world left. You are listening to one who knows what he is talking about and I say that advisedly."

Truman, later in his speech, said he had reference to the use of atomic energy. He was the main speaker at a testimonial dinner honoring the Rev. Dr. Harold L. Reader, a fellow 33rd degree Scottish Rites Mason.

Talking with reporters after the dinner, Truman wouldn't comment on the Formosa situation "as a matter of policy," but said reporters could say he didn't appear worried about the Pacific.

"The man in the White House has my sincere sympathy," he said.

Near-Miracle Needed to Save Mendes-France

PARIS (AP)—French Premier Mendes-France readied a big effort today to halt a snowballing opposition move to throw him out of office. Most deputies felt it would take a near-miracle to save him.

The Premier's opponents held the National Assembly floor all day yesterday and more planned to speak today with complaints against the government's policy in troubled North Africa. Later today, Mendes-France was to take the floor with his defense.

The Premier was expected to call for a confidence vote sometime before midnight, requiring him to resign if he loses. The vote should come early Saturday.

The government was accused yesterday both of going too far and not going far enough in offering greater self-government to the North Africans.

Several Communist deputies charged the government had done too little. But other speakers, chiefly from the extreme right, insisted trouble in Algeria had been fomented only after the government showed weakness in France's protectorate of Tunisia, where negotiations for local self-government have dragged on for months.

Nationalist Minister Remains in Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chinese Nationalist Foreign Minister George Yeh has delayed for the time being his return to Formosa and is remaining in Washington during the unfolding of the critical Formosa question.

There was no verification of Taipei reports that Yeh is in consultation with the State Department on a declaration concerning the defense of the Matsu and Quemoy islands off the Chinese mainland.

Off-Campus Course Slated for Preston

PRESTON, Minn. (Special)—Winona State Teachers College will offer a 40-hour social studies course at Preston beginning Feb. 14 at 7 p.m. at the courthouse.

Miss Mildred Bartsch of the WSTC faculty will be in charge of the course that will meet three hours weekly, carrying four quarter hours of credit.

The course, "Consumers Problems 104," is intended to meet the general education needs of persons interested in economic activities. Registration may be made at the first session.

Sen. Knowland Fears Reds May Talk and Attack

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) said last night that Communist China, even if it agrees to discuss a Formosa cease-fire, may "at the same time" launch attacks on some Nationalist-held islands off China.

Knowland, the Republican Senate leader, told a GOP rally at nearby Potomac, Md., that "the mere fact they negotiate is no guarantee that they may not use the same time to cause us trouble."

He said the Communists have often accompanied diplomatic talks with military action in the affected area.

The United Nations Security Council has asked Red China to discuss a cease-fire in the Formosa Strait, and some administration leaders believe that country may accept.

Knowland told the GOP rally the Chinese Reds "will not be satisfied with any such price" as the yielding of the offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu, now held by Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist forces.

3 Members Inducted By Lions at Galesville

GALESVILLE, Wis. (Special)—Three new members were inducted into the Galesville club of Lions International Monday evening. Receiving pins for membership were Hilton Moran, Dr. Clarence Moen and Donald Gilmeister. Past president L. S. Montgomery took charge of induction rites.

The club discussed a proposal from the State Conservation Commission on stocking Lake Marinka with plant life as the beginning of a program of rearing game fish in the lake. A committee was named to investigate.

Episcopal Bishop Calls For End to Prejudice

DETROIT (AP)—The Rt. Rev. Richard S. Emrich, bishop of the Michigan Episcopal diocese, has called on churches in the diocese to accept members of "every racial and cultural background."

At the annual diocesan convention, he urged the churches to do "on the basis of love" what the U.S. Supreme Court did "on the basis of law and justice." He referred to the court's ruling last year against segregated schools.

Supposed Fuel Could Really Warm Things Up

KONOSU, Japan (AP)—Police are looking for 300 sticks of dynamite missing from a load of 1,800 sticks that spilled from an overturned truck. Passers-by picked up some of them. Police are worried because they resemble kairo sticks, a fuel which Japanese use in portable warmers.

Guatemala 'Traitors' Sentenced to Death

GUATEMALA (AP)—Two army men were sentenced to death yesterday by the Army War Council as ringleaders in the attempt to overthrow the government of President Carlos Castillo Armas Jan. 20.

Ship Collisions Sink One Vessel

HAMBURG, Germany (AP)—Ship collisions were reported on both sides of northern Europe's Jutland Peninsula today. One vessel was going down, maritime authorities said.

In the North Sea, an unidentified coastal vessel was reported sinking off the German harbor of Emden after a collision with the 4,674-ton German steamer Konsul Schulte. Two tugs and a rescue vessel headed for the scene.

In the Baltic Sea, the Danish navy said the lightship Gedser Rev, south of Falster Island, was badly damaged in a collision in foggy weather with an unidentified ship. The damage was reported above the water line, however, and her crew was reported working to get the vessel's vital radio beacon operating again. The ship marks the southernmost tip of Danish territory and the north side of the Baltic arm into the Kiel Canal.

Talk of Island Trade for Truce Stirs Up Anger

By FRED HAMPSON
TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — London reports that Red China might agree to an unwritten cease-fire in the troubled Formosa area in exchange for the Chinese Nationalist islands of Matsu, Quemoy and the Tachens produced angry reaction here today.

Said one Nationalist officer: "We start by talking about the evacuation of the Tachens in the interest of peace and now we are talking about giving up every outlying island."

Chiang Kai-shek's people fear the crisis, precipitated by Communist seizure of tiny Yikiangshan, will wind up in what they consider the old and discouraging pattern of more concessions to the Reds.

It was also felt here that disagreement between the Nationalists and the United States is playing into the hands of those who are willing to give the maximum to Communist China.

Until a few days ago there were indications that if Chiang agreed to evacuate the exposed and threatened Tachens, the United States would agree to help him defend Matsu and Quemoy.

But Washington reports, at least as interpreted here, now make it appear that agreement is out — at least in specific form.

What will happen if the Western Powers try to buy an agreement with Peiping at the cost of the Nationalists' outer islands?

Some of Chiang's hotheads say the Nationalists will have no part of such a deal, and will stay on the islands and fight.

They might at that, but they will be under considerable pressure to accept a cease-fire.

FAIRLY SPOKEN

By MARGARET LATROBE

There couldn't be much to it—taking care of a baby. Look at the millions of people who bring wees home from the hospital without hiring a nurse to stick around a week or two—that's what she said. Look at all that money we'll save—that's what he said.

So they brought the first-born straight home to the apartment. No nurse, no fuss. Just the extra quart of formula and instructions as to how to fold the diapers.

Daddy carried his boy. The minute they laid the little blue and white bundle in his arms, he was a different fellow. This was his son, his heir—even though he had just left the inheritance with the hospital cashier downstairs. He could take care of his wife and child. Taking off 10 days to sort out help out with things at home. Sort of see how much fun it could be with a baby around the house.

Around the house? All over the house—if you called a two-room apartment a "house." Walking in the door with his precious cargo, he nearly stumbled over a four-foot stack from the Stork Diaper Service. "What's all that stuff for? We didn't have quinquies—we've only got this one—how could any kid use so many in just one week?"

They had just delivered the bathnet, the bassinet, the crib, the play pen, the stroller, the carriage and the toys. Well, so he had felt pretty good on hearing it was a boy. A man sort of goes to pieces at a time like this, doesn't he?

"Honey—he's crying. Make him stop. Tell him he's home. Do something—here, take him. Do he's—ugh, wet or something. Heat the bottle?—What bottle?—I'll have to run to the drugstore for some bigger ones—these are the wrong size. Oh, With a hot needle? Where are the needles? I'll run to the drugstore for some needles. Do you think he doesn't like it here, or what? I never heard such howling. Do something, dear. Are you pinching him, or what? It's too dark in here. He was used to lots of light and lots of noise. Gee, I hope he likes it here. You think we ought to move, or what? Okay, but what do I do with the wet ones? Listen, dear, you're his mother—what do I know about babies? I'm calling the doctor right now—this just isn't normal, all that yelling. Say doc—? Oh, He says put him down. But doc, he's still yelling. Oh, He says put him on his tummy. Listen dear, I just happened to think—the office, there was something very important I forgot about. Remember that nice nurse? She said if we needed her just to call and she would take over for a few days. Here's the number. I'm too slaky to dial.

"Migosh, I'm a father."

Postal Authorities Illustrate Wrong Point

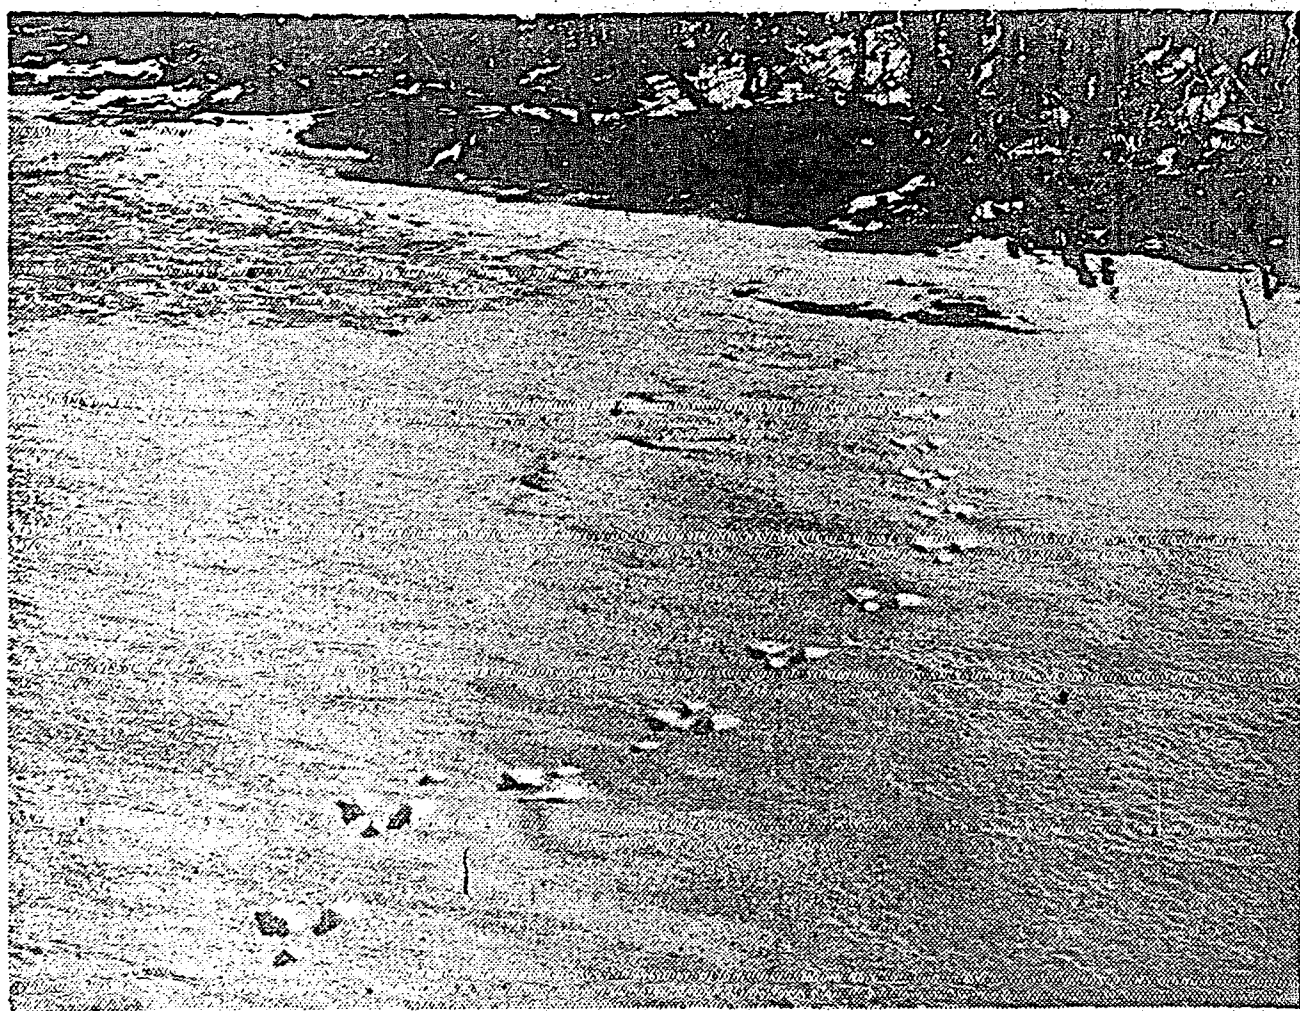

DRIGGS, Idaho (AP) — Postal authorities are planning to switch mail deliveries from trains to highway vehicles on a route that passes through here. They were scheduled to tell Driggs residents yesterday why the move means better service for them.

A crowd waited for several hours but the postal officials never showed up. Seems the roads, in the wake of a snowstorm, were too bad for travel.

Home Where Heart Is

LOS ALAMOS, N. M. (AP) — He hasn't said whether it's that he plans to go into business for himself or not, but state policeman Milton Matteson was high bidder on a government surplus jail.

VOICE of the OUTDOORS

"Tracks in the Snow" tell many tales to the trained outdoor observer. In fact, they are often the key to success for a trapper. Pioneers as well as Indians depended a great deal on their ability to read tracks for survival.

Ability to read tracks makes a hike in winter most fascinating. After a fresh snow the whole story of a section of the outdoors is revealed by its tracks. They show where a rabbit lives, where a field mouse ventured forth or where snow fleas played.

Too often marks in the snow tell of sudden death. They show where a covey of quail, buried under the snow, where discovered by a fox or where a rabbit did not get away or where the fittest won another survival victory.

Minnesota Legislature

Most of the Tuesday meeting of the state Senate Game and Fish Committee was devoted to discussion of a bill that would open all upland game seasons on the same date similar to the present Wisconsin plan. It was tabled without action.

Late opening of the trout season on the opening day also came up for further talk. The bill would open the season on the first day at 10 a.m. but would keep it open every day until 10 p.m. We don't know why anyone would want to stumble about the Whitewater until 10 p.m. The present closing time is 9 p.m.

Bills with some merit introduced during the week include one prohibiting use of other than shotguns in hunting upland game birds; make waterfowl shipping regulations conform with federal regulations; closing all refuges to deer hunting except every fifth year.

Manitoba Fishing

The Manitoba Game and Fish Division announced this week its fishing season and limits for the coming year. The nonresident license again will be $5.50. Here are the seasons and limits:

Lake Trout, brook trout and brown trout—April 15 to Sept. 15—Five a day.

Rainbow trout—March 1 to Oct. 31—Five a day.

Northern, walleye and sauger—May 14 to Oct. 31. Eight a day.

Largemouth and smallmouth bass—July 1 to Oct. 31—Six a day.

Total individual possession limit—20 a day—Export limit 20. No open season for sturgeon.

Now get this: Minimum size limits are lake trout, 16 inches; Brook, brown and rainbow 11 inches; walleye 15 inches; muskie 24 inches and graylings 11 inches.

Our regulations and limits along the Old Mississippi are not so bad after all when compared with the above from Canada where wilderness conditions are still supposed to prevail. Canadians are realizing that tourists will come from the U. S. for a reasonable catch of fish.

Winnebago Sturgeon

A month-long sturgeon spearing season on Wisconsin's Lake Winnebago opened Feb. 1. Last year, during a similar season, fishermen took 100,000 pounds of sturgeon out of the lake. More of these fish were taken there than by all commercial fisheries in the United States and Canada.

To guard against depletion, regulations and supervision has been tightened this year. A minimum size of 40 inches and registration stations have been set up. Each fish caught must be tagged with a dollar tag. The season limit is three sturgeon. Thousands seeking sturgeon are expected on the lake ice the coming weekend.

Adequate Rubbish Can Complaint Has Woman in Uproar

DETROIT (AP) — For lack of an adequate rubbish can, Mrs. Shirley Ann Duckett, 24, was haled into a police station yesterday.

"They shot questions at me like it was the third degree," Mrs. Duckett protested. "Just like I'd committed some sort of a crime."

She said police fingerprinted her, asked her if her parents were born in the United States, if she or her husband ever had been arrested, requested her height and weight and made her sign her name.

Then they threatened to lock her up, she said, until her scheduled court appearance today. Her three young daughters accompanied her to headquarters in a police cruiser. Police said Mrs. Duckett was warned last July to get an adequate rubbish can and to maintain her half of the alley in a sanitary manner. She was ticketed in November and the warrant was signed in January.

But the petite young wife of a salesman, just back from a long Miami vacation, said she bought a new rubbish can two months ago so she threw the November ticket away.

"Besides," she added, "there's a woman down the street who doesn't even have a rubbish can."

Recent sample measurements indicate that 9-year-old American boys average 3.8 inches taller and 18.7 pounds heavier than 9-year-old boys were in 1881.

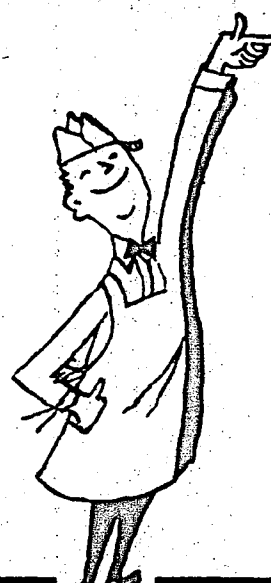

Religious Course for Jewish GIs Started

NEW YORK (AP) — A uniform course of Jewish religious instruction has been provided for Jewish servicemen and their families at military bases in this country and abroad.

Rabbi Joseph H. Lookstein, chairman of the Jewish Chaplaincy Commission of the National Jewish Welfare Board, said yesterday it is the first standardized religious curriculum ever worked out for Jews in the armed forces and their dependents.

Rabbi Lookstein said the purpose of the course is to "promote order in religious training" for Jews away from home.

Tough Bounces

The Caledonia entry in the District One basketball race has had its share of heartbreakers this season. The Cyclones have lost five games in the conference, all to first division teams, and four games were dropped by a total of 13 points.

Jim Richardson, genial Caledonia coach, says, "We led in all four games with less than two minutes remaining. The league has better balance this year than anytime before."

Richardson continues, "This is one of the finest squads to work with that I have ever had. All of the boys train well and we have a well-balanced squad."

"Bob Lonkoski, one of the top scorers in District One, has developed into a fine team man. He's always full of fire and has plenty of speed."

"I believe Walt Gensmer is the best guard in District One. He's a good steady boy and a wonderful leader who can do many things well which makes him a threat from any spot on the floor."

"Bob Bunge, Bob Peiper, David Rupp, Dale King and Gary Flatten have all come a long way since last November."

Richardson closes on an optimistic note, "The remainder of the season should be full of surprises and I have a feeling Caledonia will be pulling many of them."

"We have eight games left and with a few breaks we could win all of them."

Merritt Kelley, intrepid Daily News photographer, is the gent who snapped the shutter to catch these basketball players in "song and dance" poses. Of course, the boys pictured here had other thoughts on their minds than the rumba, samba and two-step, since basketball is a serious thing to them. In case anybody's interested, the shot of Skemp was taken during the La Crosse Logan-Cotter game which Logan won 56-35. Sheridan was caught doing the mambo in the first St. Mary's-Winona State game and the Redmen won that tilt, 79-67. Loretz, star on Cochrane's Firehouse Five, stepped off the footrot in the March of Dimes game but despite the effort, his team lost 79-66 to Winona High. Both Stout's Jim Dailey and Winona State's Bill Christopherson were, shot by King-Kong Kelley in the same game and the Warriors won that game 93-58.

Squad Named for Peds' Plane Trip

Coach Lyle Arns named a traveling squad of 14 men to make the flying trip to Bemidji and Moorhead for games with those teams on Friday and Saturday.

The group will include 12 players and two managers. Also making the trip will be a representative of the J. R. Watkins Co. under whose auspices the Warriors are making the trip by plane.

The Watkins' company is furnishing its plane, an executive type DC3, and their two pilots for the two-day trip. Watkins' pilot Jack Ollum and co-pilot Gene Hebbler will handle the plane on the northern jaunt.

Players making the trip include the Regnier brothers, Gil and Harold; Jim Kern, Lee Paul, Jerry Grebin, George O'Reilly, Dick Fredrickson, Pete Polus, Dave Smith, Craig Currier, Bill Christopherson and Lad Turner. Jerry Seeman and Russ Blankenship will accompany the team as managers.

The Warriors will leave the Winona airport at 1 p.m. Friday, and will play Bemidji Friday night. Friday night will be spent in Bemidji. The airborne Warriors will arrive in Fargo, N.D., at 3 p.m. and set up headquarters there for the game with Moorhead Saturday night. Departing time from Fargo is set for 11:30 p.m. on Saturday, and the Peds will arrive home at 1:30 Sunday morning.

The Warriors defeated Bemidji last Friday night 79-75 at Memorial Hall for their first conference win of the season. Winona and

In 15 years of NCAA basketball tournament play, a total of 79 institutions have competed and all eight districts have won the team title at least once.

Moorehead will be meeting for the first time this season.

The Warriors big task Friday will be to stop Bemidji's center, Red Caswell, who currently holds down the number six spot in the loop scoring. The big gun at Moorhead, who has split with St. Cloud, and then, in turn, defeated Winona, is a freshman, Lowell Bolger, who is right behind Caswell in the scoring.

The Warriors are currently riding on the crest of two straight victories and will be out to continue their high flying tactics on their air trip to the northland. The Warriors stand at 1-2 in the conference going into the two-game trip.

Twelve straight points late in the fourth period gave the Lakers their triumph over New York after the Knicks had crept to within two points of Minneapolis. Jim Pollard's 22 points was high for the Lakers, who trail Fort Wayne by four games.

But now Rochester has regained its effectiveness. The Royals knocked off Fort Wayne's Western Division leaders, 84-74, Wednesday night for their sixth victory in the last seven games. Meanwhile, runner-up Minneapolis was handing the New York Knicks a 96-81 setback to tighten up the western race.

In the other game played, the Philadelphia Warriors outlasted the Boston Celtics, 122-107, to record their highest point total in history. The defeat also dropped Boston out of a first place tie in the eastern scramble and pushed idle Syracuse into the top spot.

Budget Shaky For U.S. Olympic Skating Team

Longsjö Places First in 5,000 Meter Qualifying

ST. PAUL (AP)—U.S. Olympic officials grappled today with a shaky budget, uncertain whether there is enough money around to send a full complement of American speed skaters to Russia for the world championship.

The final accounting will come late today, after selection of the last two members of the nation's 1956 Olympic team. A sixth and youngest Olympic qualifier was added Wednesday when 23-year-old Art Longsjö of Fitchburg, Mass., a bicycle-peddaling file clerk finished first in the 5,000 meter.

There wasn't any great mystery about who the U.S. wants as its representative against the international field, headed by Russia's own speedsters. Don McDermott, Englewood Cliffs, N.J., this nation's finest sprinter, is a certain choice.

The other two are Ken Henry of Chicago, another dash man, and Johnny Werket, Minneapolis, the class of American 1,500-meter men. If finances can support only two for the trip, the decision will be between Henry and Werket to team up with McDermott.

McDermott, Henry and Werket, all Olympic veterans, have qualified here for the 1956 games in Italy. They are joined by Bill Carow, Madison, Wis., Pat McNamara, Minneapolis, Longsjö and by an eighth man to be chosen later today.

Longsjö turned in a time of 8:56.4 to lead a field of 24 contenders in the 5,000-meter Wednesday, the fastest recorded in the three times the Olympic trials have been held here. The New England clerk also is expected to be strong cycling contender in the 1956 games.

Ken Bartholomew, Minneapolis, 10 times national speed skating titlist, came in sixth in the 5,000 and was making a new bid for a berth on the team in the 10,000 today.

Royals, Lakers Cop NBA Contests

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
There's still plenty of life left in the Rochester Royals. The other National Basketball Association clubs have been finding this out recently.

Off to a slow start, the Royals were easy pickings during the early stages of the season. The veterans seemed to be slowing up and the rookies failed to click.

But now Rochester has regained its effectiveness. The Royals knocked off Fort Wayne's Western Division leaders, 84-74, Wednesday night for their sixth victory in the last seven games. Meanwhile, runner-up Minneapolis was handing the New York Knicks a 96-81 setback to tighten up the western race.

Nett Hopeful Cotter Breaks Shooting Slump

WHS Coach Snyder
Forecasts Toughie
Friday Night

Cotter High Coach Johnny Nett borrowed a page from coaching rival Don Snyder's book and previewed the Cotter game against Winona High Friday night by saying:

"We'll show up and try to make a game of it Friday night."

Winona High defeated Cotter, 66-41, the first time the teams met this year but Nett didn't appear too pessimistic about the upcoming clash.

"I hope we break the shooting slump we had at Campion Tuesday night," he said. "We were terrifically cold. But I'll say this—the boys aren't down."

Nett plans to start Jim Danielson and Rich Brown at forwards, Ken Klein at center and Bob Hogen and Dave Skemp at guards. He'll be without the services of guard Don Dooney, still ailing with a knee injury.

Snyder sees Friday night's game as a close contest with five points separating the winner and loser, either way.

"I think Cotter will come back strong, especially after the last game in which they shot only 16 per cent," he said.

"Our boys were disappointed over losing to Red Wing and I'm really concerned about their frame of mind. It's hard to bring a team up against an opponent you beat before, but Cotter is much better than the 66-41 score of the first game would indicate."

"All I hear is that we're really going to be surprised Friday night. But I just hope we play a good, steady ball game."

Snyder, like Nett, has a guard on the inactive list. Don Klage has missed practice the past two weeks with a foot infection and it isn't known yet whether he will even suit up for the game.

Snyder plans to start Jack Nankivill and Earl Buswell at forward positions, Bill Heise at center and Chuck Walli and Bill Hostettler at the outcourt posts.

A B squad preliminary will start the evening's action in the Senior High Auditorium at 6:30. The varsity tilt will have an 8 o'clock tip-off.

Gustavus Rocks Concordia 80-61

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gustavus Adolphus today continued its skyrocketing role in the Minnesota College Conference with an 80-61 victory over Duluth Branch Wednesday night.

The loss dropped Duluth to a 4-5 mark and a seventh place tie with Augsburg. The Gusties are the games ahead of Hamline, standing at 6-2.

Down 61-57 at halftime, Duluth pulled within four points, 61-57 with seven minutes to go, when the Gusties started the surge toward their eighth straight triumph.

Bob McDonald salvaged the losers by topping the scoring with 21 points but was hard pressed by the Gusties Jim Springer and John Patzward, each with 20.

St. John's, trailing at the midway point 52-38, also staged a late half spurt to defeat St. Cloud Teachers, 88-84, in a non-conference contest. Bill Sexton for the victors and Roger Westlund of the Peds matched scoring honors with 24 each.

Coach Lloyd Luke's Winona High swimming team will be bidding for a sweep of its two-meet series with Austin Friday afternoon in the Senior High Pool.

The Winona High tankers scored their first dual meet victory in 18 years in the Austin pool the first time the squads swam this year.

Steady improvement of the WHS swimmers makes them favorite to repeat against Austin Friday afternoon. The first event starts at 4 p.m.

The Winona High hockey and wrestling squads travel to Faribault for Saturday afternoon engagements against Shattuck School squads.

Both the hockey game and wrestling match at Shattuck are scheduled to start at 3 p.m. Saturday.

First Game Set In Arcadia Gym

First game to be staged in the new Arcadia High School gymnasium will be Friday night when Coach Bill Cashen's Red Raiders host unbeaten Black River Falls, leaders in the Mississippi Valley Conference.

The auditorium-gymnasium is part of a 85-by-180-foot addition to the present high school building. The seating capacity is estimated at 1,200 with greater capacity possible with the addition of chairs and bleacher seats. The gymnasium includes a regulation-size playing floor.

Total cost of the addition to the school is $160,000, not including equipment.

In other Mississippi Valley Conference games, Mondovi plays at Durand and Whitehall travels to Augusta.

Blair, which took over first place by half a game margin in the Trempealeau Valley Conference, hosts Alma Center Friday night, while second place Eleva-Strum entertains Hixton.

Lake City, leading the Hiawatha Valley League, needs only a victory tonight against visiting Zumbrota to assure at least a tie for first place.

Lake City lost a 72-71 decision to Plainville Tuesday night and hopes to bounce back against Zumbrota. Plainville, first place team in the Whitewater Conference, entertains St. Charles in a feature game in that league.

A Bi-County game scheduled tonight finds Gilmanton playing at Cochrane in Cochrane's homecoming game. Friday night second-place Arkansas journeys to Alma and Fountain City hosts Nelson.

A District One feature Friday night is the Spring Grove-at-Wyckoff game. The Wykats, tied for the District One lead, meet a team studied with underclassmen, but also a rapidly improving team with good size.

Chaffield and Spring Valley, also tied for first, play at home against Houston and Mabel, respectively, while the fourth team sharing the top rung, Harmony, visits last-place Peterson.

Gale-Etrick, which suffered the first loss of its season Tuesday night to West Salem, entertains Melrose in an effort to get back on the right track, while West Salem plays at Trempealeau. Gale-Etrick and West Salem are tied for first place with 10-1 league records.

Austin and Red Wing, unbeaten leaders in the Big Nine Conference, host Albert Lea and Owatonna, respectively.

Rochester's rising Rockets play at Mankato and Faribault visits winless Northfield in other conference games. Winona High hosts Cotter in a non-conference affair to close out the conference activity.

OFF THE TRACK!

Fingers Under Ball—If your ball is driving high on the nose of the head pin (and whose doesn't at times?), it's almost certain that your backswing has slipped its groove. Your arm has come away from the body. It isn't hugging your side, as the sketch shows it must. Check your backswing. Unless you sense that your arm at the end of the backswing is approximately in line with the right hip pocket, you're out of the groove, and you've got practicing to do. My free pamphlet, "Three Bowling Essentials," will help. Get it by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to this newspaper.

The reason the "inside track" as the grooved swing is called, is so important is that with it the hand naturally assumes a position which places the fingers underneath the ball in the downward-forward swing. This makes it simple to apply hook-spin at release. More than that, though, it assures holding the line to the strike pocket . . . and that's what pays off. So, check your swing as soon as your ball starts riding high on the head pin. When the arm leaves the groove, the hand moves over on top of the ball in the downswing, and a "pulled" arm (to the left) sends the ball high. That's bad.

153 Open Fire
In Phoenix Meet

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—A bulky field of 153 golfers fired the opening round today in the $15,000 Phoenix Open Tournament with the weather as big a factor as any of them.

A couple of days ago with warm, sunny skies, the golfers burned up the Arizona Country Club course. Then yesterday a chill wind blew out the fires and the hottest round was John Barnum's 3-under-par 67 in the pro-amateur preliminary.

More wind was forecast today. The temperatures in the mid 50s also bothered Ed Furgol, who won this event and the United States Open in 1954 despite a crippled left arm. Furgol has been nursing ailments in his right arm this winter, but said before going on the course that it felt better. He admitted after a 72 that the arm still was giving him trouble.

Only eight of the approximately 100 professionals taking part in yesterday's play posted scores under par for the 6,684-yard course.

Johnny Palmer, of Charlotte, N. C., declared that if winds persisted he'd be happy to post a final score of 275. Johnny thrilled the onlookers, and himself, with a hole in one on the 130-yard 15th hole in the pro-am. It was, he says, the first ace of his 23-year career.

Wes Santee Wants Two Quick Trips To Mexican Games

NEW YORK (AP)—Wes Santee wants to make a "hit and run" affair of his 1,500-meter race in the Pan-American Games at Mexico City next month.

"If I'm chosen for the American team—and I'll be shocked if I'm not—I'll be allowed to fly down the night before the trials and again the night before the main race and then get right out again," the Kansas miler said.

"Because of the altitude—it's around 7,500 feet above sea level, I think—I wouldn't want to do any preliminary training there."

America's premier miler, whose time of 3:42.8 was certified this week as the world record for the 1,500 meters, is in New York to continue his assault on the indoor mile mark. He set the record with 4:03.8 last Saturday in Boston and will try to lower it in the Millrose Games Saturday at Madison Square Garden.

Olympic officials have asked me about the prospect of doubling up in Mexico, he said. "I told them no. I said I would run only in the 1,500 meters."

Santee, who has done a 4:00.6 mile outdoors and predicts he'll lower the present mark of 3:58 held by John Landy, said in order to make his best showing at Mexico City he'd be there just for the day of the race.

"The games start March 12 and the 1,500-meter trials are Thursday, Feb. 17. I plan to run in Milwaukee March 12, fly to somewhere in Texas on Sunday and stay there until Wednesday night when I'll go to Mexico City."

"Then after the trials I'd like to go someplace like Acapulco, which is sea level and about an hour away and wait until the final race Saturday."

Three Winona
Gloves Bid
For Titles

Flyweight Lee Huwald, lightweight Ed Sween and heavyweight Ray Balcarcel are hopes of the Winona National Guard Golden Gloves team in tonight's semi and final night of action of the Region 12 tournament at Rochester.

Middleweight Dick Lawrence, a welterweight tidbit two years ago, was ruled out of competition for not entering the early eliminations.

A St. Mary's College student, he and several other collegians were on semester vacations when the tournament got under way. Heavyweight Balcarcel is a St. Mary's student also, but he and Bob Koenig of the Rochester VFW team are the only fighters entered in that division.

Sween is accorded a good chance in the lightweight division, but he faces challenges from three other fighters including highly-regarded Don Fells of St. Charles, a member of the Milwaukee-Dover team.

The action starts at 8 p.m. at Mayo Civic Auditorium. Following are the entries in each weight division:

FLYWEIGHT—John Roseboom, Rochester VFW; Lee Huwald, Winona; Al McQuire, Caletonia; Jimmy Biers, Milwaukee-Dover.

BANTAMWEIGHT—George Horan, Caletonia; Dick Kier, Milwaukee-Dover; Elmer Milville-Dover; Johnny Costello, Rochester VFW.

FEATHERWEIGHT—John McMahon, Milwaukee-Dover; Howie Fitzpatrick, Caletonia; Dave Keith, Caletonia; Ed Kuyath, Rochester VFW.

LIGHTWEIGHT—Ed Sween, Winona; Dick Renaux, Rochester VFW; Don Fells, Milwaukee-Dover; Ken Hamilton, Grand Meadow.

WELTERWEIGHT—Darby Pien, Rochester VFW; Crowley, Chaffield; Cal Penz, Rochester VFW; Orville Alcott, Chaffield.

MIDDLEWEIGHT—Mike Reardon, Rochester VFW; Larry Folkert, Milwaukee-Dover; Hurley White, Caletonia; Joey Walsh, Chaffield.

LIGHT-HEAVYWEIGHT—Skip Paten, Rochester VFW; Cyril Paten, Caletonia; Gary Leaton, Rochester VFW; Loren Moenhead, Rochester VFW.

HEAVYWEIGHT—Bob Koenig, Rochester VFW; Ray Balcarcel, Winona.

Voights Resigns
At Northwestern

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Bob Voights resigned today as football coach of Northwestern University.

Voights last fall completed his eighth season as coach of the Northwestern football squad. The team finished ninth in the Big Ten last fall. Only winless Illinois ended up lower in the standings.

Voights had a contract extending to September, 1956.

Dr. J. Roscoe Miller, president of Northwestern, issued this statement:

"Coach Voights' resignation comes as a complete surprise to me. I regret sincerely his decision to leave the university."

Allie Reynolds Set to Retire

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Allie Reynolds, 37, says he has pitched his last major league baseball game. The decision to retire after 12 years in the big time comes as a result of a back injury and his doctor's advice.

In eight years with the New York Yankees, the big right-hander established himself as one of baseball's all-time pitching greats. His lifetime record is 184 victories and 104 defeats. Reynolds, always the "money" hurler, won seven World Series games for the Yanks and dropped only two.

In 1953 he suffered a severe back injury when the Yankee bus crashed into an underpass in Philadelphia. He was out of action for six weeks and the injury has been bothersome ever since.

His doctor recently warned him against aggravating the injury and said major surgery might be required. Reynolds, however, took no action on the doctor's recommendation. That, when Reynolds decided to retire, he announced his retirement last night.

"Some may think you approach something like this with a detached attitude," he commented. "But when you get around to it, the old, close ties are awfully hard to cut. From a standpoint of years I had lots of good pitching left. There's nothing wrong with the arm. I can throw as hard as ever."

"But you look at it a lot of different ways. I can't risk permanent injury at my age. I never had any intention of keeping on as anything less than a whole ballplayer and certainly I'd never do anything to hurt the Yankees' chances."

In Glendale, Calif., Casey Stengel, Yankee manager, didn't know that Reynolds was quitting. "If it's true I can only say that he'll be mighty hard to replace," he said.

In 1951, the Super Chief—so called because of his blazing fast ball and his Indian heritage—hurled two no-hitters, against the Cleveland Indians and the Boston Red Sox.

Reynolds came up to the majors with Cleveland late in 1942 and stayed with them through 1946. The Yanks landed him in a deal for Joe Gordon and he broke into a New York uniform in 1947 with 19 wins. He never dropped below the 13-win mark. Last year, when he was mostly in the bullpen, he won 13 and lost 4.

MANKATO, Minn. (AP)—Iowa Teachers had to go into the final two matches Wednesday night before claiming a 20-14 wrestling victory over the local Peds. The count was successively knotted at 10-10 and 14-14 before the visitors copped the 17-pound and heavyweight contests.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGUM, D. Sc.

1. WILL COMMUNISTS BANISH LOVE-MAKING AND ROMANCE? YES ☐ NO ☐ 2-3

3. CAN THE HUMAN MIND ACHIEVE BEYOND ITS OWN POWER TO IMAGINE? YES ☐ NO ☐

Answer to Question No. 1
1. Looks like they're trying hard. Press dispatch says that in Communist Burma a suitor cannot say to a woman, "I love you," or "You are beautiful." The Party rule for proposal runs: "I'm deeply impressed by your qualities as a faithful and energetic member of the Party, and I wish to wage the Party struggle with you." If rejected, he can't apply again for two weeks. But any other guy who tries to step in is put to death. Some romance!

Answer to Question No. 2
2. True. Any nitwit can blame anyone—even an angel. It takes tolerance and understanding of another's personality to praise him so he will gain a just idea of himself and his value. It should be an understanding that lets him know his faults but also increases his self-confidence. Give him our booklet, "How You, Too, Can Be Popular." Nonprofit, 15c (coin only) plus self-addressed, stamped envelope. Send to Dr. A. E. Wiggum, care of The Winona Daily News.

Answer to Question No. 3
3. Yes. Dr. Willard Libby says in "Scientific American" that there are only two pounds of the element tritium in all the oceans and rivers on earth. Yet, instruments now measure the amount of tritium in one pint of water—one part in ten million million millions. The human mind stands in awe at its own achievements. We control elements, yet we can't imagine what they are.

BEDTIME STORIES

By HOWARD GARIS

Mrs. Stubbail, the lady bear, was only half awake in the den where she lived with Mr. Stubbail, and their two children bears, Neddie and Beckie.

The reason Mrs. Stubbail was only half awake was because Candelmas Day, which this story is about, comes about half way in winter. Bears, and many other animals, go into a winter sleep in the fall and do not fully wake up until nearly spring, which comes around March 21.

This winter sleep is called "hibernation." It is rather a hard word to spell and remember, so you may just say "winter sleep," and it will be all the same.

"What did you say, Stubby?" asked the lady bear, still only half awake. "I—er—Oh, how sleepy I am—I—er—didn't hear—very plainly. What—er—um—did you say?"

"I said," answered the daddy bear, "that I was going out to look for my shadow."

"Oh, yes—that's right—this is Candelmas Day. But do you have to leave our nice, warm, snug den just to go out to look for your shadow," asked the lady bear.

"I don't exactly have to," answered Mr. Stubbail.

"Rush, my dear! Not so loud!" whispered the lady bear. "We don't want to wake up Neddie and Beckie. Let them sleep. They don't have to go outside the den and look for their shadows do they?"

"No, they are not cold enough," answered Mr. Stubbail. "You asked me, my dear," he went on as he stretched himself, "you asked me if I really had to go out to look for my shadow."

"That's what I asked you," murmured the lady bear. "And I answer you," said the gentleman bear in a growl, "gruff but, with all a polite voice, 'I answer you that I don't really have to go out to look for my shadow.'"

"Then why do you do it, Stubby?"

"Because it is expected of me, darling. It's just like meeting a lady animal on the woodland path. I don't have to tip my hat to her, but I do, because it is fashionable and because every gentleman always tips his hat to a lady."

"Yes, that's right," agreed Mrs. Stubbail. "But who thought up the idea of you gentlemen bears going out on Candelmas Day to look for your shadows? Who thought up that one?"

"Don't ask me, my dear. It is a custom, many years old. Of course, it is only a custom and a sort of story. But on Candelmas Day, so the story goes, we bears, and in some places, woodchucks, are supposed to go out today and look for our shadows. If the sun shines, and I see my shadow, I am supposed to come back to the den and sleep for six weeks more, during which time it is winter."

"Suppose you don't see your shadow? Suppose the sun doesn't shine on Candelmas Day? What then?"

"Then I am supposed to come back to my den and sleep for only four weeks instead of six weeks, and spring comes two weeks earlier."

"Well, I wish it were spring now," said the lady bear. So toddle out, Stubby, and I hope you don't find your shadow. Now I'm going back to sleep. Don't wake Neddie or Beckie when you go out."

"I'll toddle out as softly as a mouse," whispered Mr. Stubbail. "Now I wonder whether or not I shall see my shadow?"

The gentleman bear toddled out of the den. It was early morning. The sun was not yet up.

"I must give the old story a fact test," said Mr. Stubbail to himself. "I'll wait until I see the sun. There can't be a shadow unless the sun shines." Then, suddenly, Mr. Stubbail saw, slinking along toward Uncle Wiggly's bungalow, the fox, the wolf and the bob cat.

"While I am waiting for the sun, I will give these chaps a bear chase," whispered Mr. Stubbail to himself. "Here I go!" He began to run and shuffle fast over the snow. What happened next will be told tomorrow. If the auto tire doesn't flip off all by itself and leave the wheel to look for its own puncture, so the garage man will have some work to do.
