$150,000 FIRE RUINS STORE

Taken From The Roof Of The City Hall, this picture shows firemen raising a ladder to the second floor of the west section of the store. The store has a frontage of about 100 feet on East 4th street and extends about 90 feet back from the street. A storehouse located at the rear of the building but separated by a passageway as well as other nearby office buildings were not damaged by the fire. (Daily News photos)

All Three Sections of the Home Furniture Store on East 4th street were damaged by an early-morning fire which apparently broke out in the basement. Most seriously damaged is the one-story section, at the center. A double brick wall separated the furniture store from the Winona Beauty Shop, part of which is seen at the extreme left. The store is about a half a block from the Central Fire Station.

Ike Would Like To Invite Zhukov To Visit U.S.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower may invite Russia's Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov to visit him someday, but the experts are not betting on it.
There are too many problems, hostilities and suspicions between Moscow and Washington to make such an invitation possible now.
One of the President's associates said he does not see "a chance in a million" for such an invitation. State Department officials label the whole question "premature."
Yet diplomats said that in some special future circumstances the friendship which developed between Eisenhower and Zhukov when they were Allied military leaders in Berlin at the end of World War II might prove useful to both countries.
Zhukov moved into the spotlight yesterday when he was appointed defense minister of the Soviet Union. A few years ago under the late Joseph Stalin he had apparently been banished from Moscow.
Eisenhower was reminded of Zhukov's new eminence at his news conference yesterday and was told Zhukov had said recently he still held the dream of visiting the United States someday.
Eisenhower paid warm tribute to Zhukov as a military leader and confirmed that each of them had told the other he was sure his country would not attack the other's homeland.
The President said he had, at the direction of Washington, invited Zhukov to visit this country in 1945. Zhukov accepted, but later called off the visit, giving illness as the reason.
The President himself indicated to newsmen the improbability of a visit under present conditions. He commented that "this would be a remarkable thing at the present state of affairs." He added that he "certainly wouldn't hesitate" to talk over with his advisers the problem of an invitation "if we found it desirable."

Arctic Air Whips Across Midwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Arctic air and northerly winds headed into the mid-continent today, ending a brief spell of mild winter weather.
The big mass of cold air from Canada sent temperatures tumbling sharply over the Great Plains from the Canadian border all the way to Oklahoma. There were strong northerly winds and some snow.
The cold air moved slowly in turning east but falling temperatures gradually extended southeastward across the upper Great Lakes region.

It was 20 degrees below zero early today in Dickinson, N. D., compared to yesterday morning's 12 above. Frigid air and strong winds were forecast for most of the north central region.
The belt of light snow extended from the Great Lakes region across the Central Plains to the Rockies. No other wet spots were reported.
Mild winter weather continued over most of the East and South.

Senate Approves Pact With Chiang

WASHINGTON (AP)—For the second time in two weeks, the Senate in effect has told Communist China to keep hands off Formosa.
By a lopsided 64-6 vote, the Senate last night approved a mutual security treaty with Nationalist China pledging American military aid in defense of Formosa and the nearby Pescadores Islands.

A strong favorable vote had been expected in the light of the acceptance given Jan. 28 to use President Eisenhower's request for congressional approval of his use of American troops in the Far East if necessary, but the final action on the treaty came with surprising speed.

Ike Urged to Reconsider Cuts in Army

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Democratic Leader McCormack of Massachusetts urged the administration today to reconsider proposed Army manpower cuts and said 95 per cent of House Democrats are opposed to them.

"It is a dangerous thing," he said in an interview, "to think that one man is possessed of all knowledge in one field. It could be a terrible thing for our country if the President is wrong."

Sen. Russell (D-Ga.) said some senators also "are greatly disturbed," but that there probably is little Congress can do unless "we want to impeach the President, and everybody knows that is not going to happen." He said reappraisal of the cuts seems justified.

President Eisenhower has said he made the final decision on the extent of manpower reductions, which propose mid-1956 armed forces of 2,850,000 men, compared with more than three million now. The bulk of the cut, 173,000 men, would be in the Army.

The Senate Armed Services Committee, which Russell heads, spent nearly six hours yesterday questioning Secretary of Defense Wilson and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, about the reductions.

Defense Posts On Tachens Being Wrecked

By FRED HAMPSON
TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Chiang Kai-shek's forces blasted and burned a maze of underground defense works and shuttled tons of ammunition and supplies to rocky beaches in the high-speed final phase of the Tachens islands evacuation.

U. S. 7th Fleet warships churned the East China Sea around the island and jets swept overhead protecting the critical military withdrawal.

Civilians already had been removed. Most of the refugees already were on the Nationalist bastion of Formosa 200 miles to the south.

3 Islands Emptied
Nationalist sources said the withdrawal had been completed on three outlying islands, the Yu Shan group 35 miles northeast and Pishan 32 miles southwest of the Tachens.

The government announced a decision to pull out civilians on Nanchuan, 80 miles south of the Tachens. But official quarters said the military garrison would remain there and probably would be strengthened to maintain the island as a northern shield for Formosa.

AP Correspondent Jim Becker reported from the Tachens that Nationalist troops were "blasting into uselessness a labyrinth of caves and tunnels."

"Seemingly endless streams of brown-clad soldiers sloshed through the mud, lugging boxed mortar shells, hand grenades and machine guns which never will be used to defend this northernmost outpost," Becker said.

"The Communists are blasting too, on the low brown island of Yikiangshan only eight miles away."

Symbol of Defeat
"In the choppy, brown muddy waters off the (Tachens) beaches, small landing boats maneuver around the burned hulk of a long LST sunk by the Communists in a shallow water during a bombing before the evacuation started."

"It seems a symbol of defeat and retreat."

"Hard-bitten Rear Adm. Lorenzo Sherwood Sabin Jr. squints at the LST and the empty villages of the Tachens from under his two-star helmet and says:

"I hope this is the last piece of real estate we give away to the Communists."

Sen. McCarthy Buys Family Homestead

APPLETON, Wis. (AP)—Sen. Joseph McCarthy has acquired the old family homestead.

He completed negotiations Wednesday with his brother, Howard, a local real estate dealer, for purchase of the 144-acre McCarthy farm four miles northwest of here. The listed price was $25,000.

The sale includes an eight-room frame farmhouse, where the senator was born; a large barn, and some smaller buildings.

3 Die in Crash Of Auto, Salt Truck

PORT HURON, Wis. (AP)—Three persons—a couple and their grandson—were killed Wednesday night in the crash of their automobile and a loaded salt truck.

Bodies of the victims were mangled almost beyond recognition and the car was demolished.

The victims were Elias A. Fadell, 56, his wife, Rose, 55, and Christopher Fadell, 7, all of Port Huron.

The truck driver, Ruben T. Carpenter, 37, of Milwaukee, suffered from shock but was not injured.

The truck was carrying 35,000 pounds of salt.

Russ May Have Better Trigger For H-Bombs

By ELTON C. FAY
WASHINGTON (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov's boast that Russia holds superiority in hydrogen bomb development may refer to discovery in 1953 of a short-cut method for triggering the fusion explosive.

But if that was the case, American officials are confident any temporary advantage the Soviets held has since been overcome.

In some atomic circles here there is a suspicion that Soviet nuclear physicists evolved a technique for setting off hydrogen bombs through heat—producing compression of a high magnitude which required only insignificant amounts of the fissionable material used in conventional A-bombs.

There is the possibility that the Russian technique was perfected almost a year before American weaponers worked out the problem, and may have been tested in the summer of 1953.

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov's threat to join Russian and satellite armies under one command may have another purpose besides a military one: It could help to keep the restless East European masses under control, observers here point out.

'Kidnaper,' Victim Die in Flaming Car

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP)—A wild auto chase ended in flaming death early today for a man and a teenage girl he forced at gunpoint to drive him in a getaway attempt.

Police tentatively identified the man as Leonard Pasco, 23, who had a previous record and was out on parole.

They said he attempted to escape pursuing officers by commandeering a car and forcing Constance Cobb, 17, of Milltown, to drive at top speed. The car hit a Hudson County patrol car which had been set up as a roadblock on the Pulaski Skyway.

It skidded, flipped over and burst into flames. The girl and Pasco, trapped inside, burned to death despite police efforts to get them out.

Late last night, Pasco was picked up by a Milltown patrol-

Return to Tough Policy May Hurt Reds in Europe

VIENNA (AP)—Russia is going to have trouble in East Europe by returning to its "guns instead of butter" policy, Western diplomats in Vienna believe.

These East European experts don't expect the fall of Georgi Malenkov to bring many changes in the leadership of the Soviet satellites. One or two "front" men for the apparently outdated policy of more consumers goods may lose their jobs. But these diplomats think Russia will be just as happy to let "collective leadership"—on its way out at home—continue in the satellites as a barrier to any new Tito.

The big effect of the Moscow changes, the diplomats predict, is likely to be in the resistance of the 70 million people of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria.

Opposition to the Communist regimes was strong before Stalin died and Malenkov announced his policy of more for the people. That "new look" policy undoubtedly lessened suppressed resistance a little, but there is still a great deal. Recent Iron Curtain travelers report continued bitterness and disillusionment.

With the new back-to-Stalin industrialization policy, Western diplomats expect resistance to increase again. Some observers expect it to be kept underground by a revival of the Stalin "big stick" terror policy.

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov's threat to join Russian and satellite armies under one command may have another purpose besides a military one: It could help to keep the restless East European masses under control, observers here point out.

Home Furniture Damage High

By GORDON HOLTE
Daily News Staff Writer

The most costly mercantile fire in Winona's downtown business district in more than 15 years early today swept through the Home Furniture Store, 66-68 E. 4th St., virtually destroying the interior of the 3-section building and leaving in its wake damage estimated at upwards of $150,000.

Plagued by sub-zero temperatures, firemen who answered the first alarm at 6:18 a.m. snaked their way through dense, rolling clouds of smoke that engulfed the brick structure but found that flames fed by quantities of furniture on display in the store had raced almost instantly through most areas of the building.

Early this afternoon, seven hours after the flames had first licked their way into the main floor of the building, firemen were still at work putting out scattered blazes that broke out intermittently in the walls and flooring of the store.

Fire Chief Frank P. Witt, who called in all off-duty firemen to augment his regular force in fighting the fire, said that a preliminary investigation indicated that the fire started in an area near the oil-burning furnace in the center section of the building.

Furnace Inspected
He said that there was evidence that the fire was most intense at this spot near the furnace and the building joists here were burned away.

The main display floor of the center section finally gave way during the early morning hours and fell into the basement.

Floors in the east and west wings, however, remained intact. (The building housing the store has three sections: At the west there is a two-story area which is separated from a similar two-story building at the east by a single story center section.)

When the fire was first discovered by a Winona patrolman, the blaze was reaching its height in the center section. From there, Chief Witt said, it spread outward and up into the east wing and then to the west wing of the building.

Smoke in Apartments
There is another two-story building housing the Winona Beauty Shop, 62 E. 4th St., immediately adjacent to the Home Furniture Store but separated by a double brick wall. Over the beauty shop are three apartments from which all occupants were evacuated unharmed by Winona policemen.

Firemen kept the fire from spreading into the beauty shop building although furnishings in the upstairs apartments were covered by smoke and an oily film.

C. R. Hauge, 914 4th Ave., Goodview, owner and manager of the furniture store said that it would be impossible to estimate immediately the loss of contents in the store. The total, he said, would depend on the amount that could be salvaged from the fire-ravaged building.

He said, however, that the furniture loss—part of which is covered by insurance—could run over $50,000.

The building is owned by Mr. and Mrs. George Falk who live in the front apartment on the second floor of the beauty shop.

Mrs. Falk said that she did not know the value of the property and her husband, a sales representative for a beauty supply firm, is out of the city today.

Hauge said that he would estimate that the loss might amount as high as $150,000 and Chief Witt said that he believed a $125,000 figure would be conservative.

Center All Lost

Following his most recent inspection of the still-smoking and smoldering interior of the structure, Chief Witt said that he believed that the one-story center section of the structure was a complete loss and could not be repaired.

Here, the floor had fallen in, the rear portion of the roof was collapsed and the wall sections were burned away.

He said that both the east and west wings might be restored, however.

Hauge said this morning that he was making immediate plans to resume operations on a limited, emergency basis.

The store owner explained that he was seeking to make arrangements for office space and that he hoped to have a telephone installed by late today or Friday morning.

Hauge said that he would not know to what extent he could begin operations immediately until he has had an opportunity to make a complete inspection of the store and its contents.

He said that if it were possible he hoped that remodeling and enlarging of the store might be effected.

Discovery by Patrolman
The fire was discovered at about 6:15 a.m. by Patrolman James Bronk who was approaching the alley entrance to the police station in the City Hall.

Bronk said that he was walking toward the rear door of the police station—about a half a block away from the furniture store—when he noticed a red glow reflected on buildings at the rear of the Knights of Columbus Club, 64 E. 5th St.

"At first I thought that probably the janitor at the Elks Club (65 E. 4th St.) was burning rubbish near the alley early in the morning," Bronk recalled.

Clouds Of Black Smoke Billowed out from the Home Furniture Store during the height of the fire shortly after 6:30 a.m. today. When this picture was taken a large window at the front of the west

"I realized immediately, though, that the glow must have been caused by a much bigger fire and my next thought was that maybe there was a fire in the Edstrom Studio," he said. The studio is located in the first building west of the City Hall and there's a driveway separating the two structures.

Sees Brilliant Glow

Bronk said that as he reached the west edge of the City Hall he looked north through the driveway and saw a brilliant red glow in the front window of the Home Furniture Co.

The window through which the fire could be seen is in the east, 2-story structure of the store.

Bronk turned and ran to the rear entrance of the city building, opened the door and shouted to Desk Sgt. Donald Berg that there was a fire in the furniture store.

"Right after I saw the fire in the window I could hear what sounded like a lot of glass bottles breaking," Bronk related, "and just as I had my hand on the door at the rear of the City Hall and was going to call Berg there was a big 'boom' that sounded like an explosion."

This apparently was the sound of the large glass window in the center portion of the structure breaking from the heat that had built up inside the building.

After shouting to Berg, Bronk sprinted a block to the Central Fire Station to notify firemen of the blaze. When he reached the building, a Federal Bakery Co. employee, Philip Hamerski, also had just arrived to turn in the alarm.

Berg said that after Bronk had called to him he glanced out of the east window at police headquarters and saw the reflection of flames leaping high in the air.

The desk sergeant called Patrolmen Ray Kauphusman and Marlowe Brown who were cruising in a squad car and dispatched them to the fire scene.

Arouse Families

Berg recalled that there were persons living in the second floor of the building adjacent to the alley and separated by a double brick wall from the structure housing the furniture store.

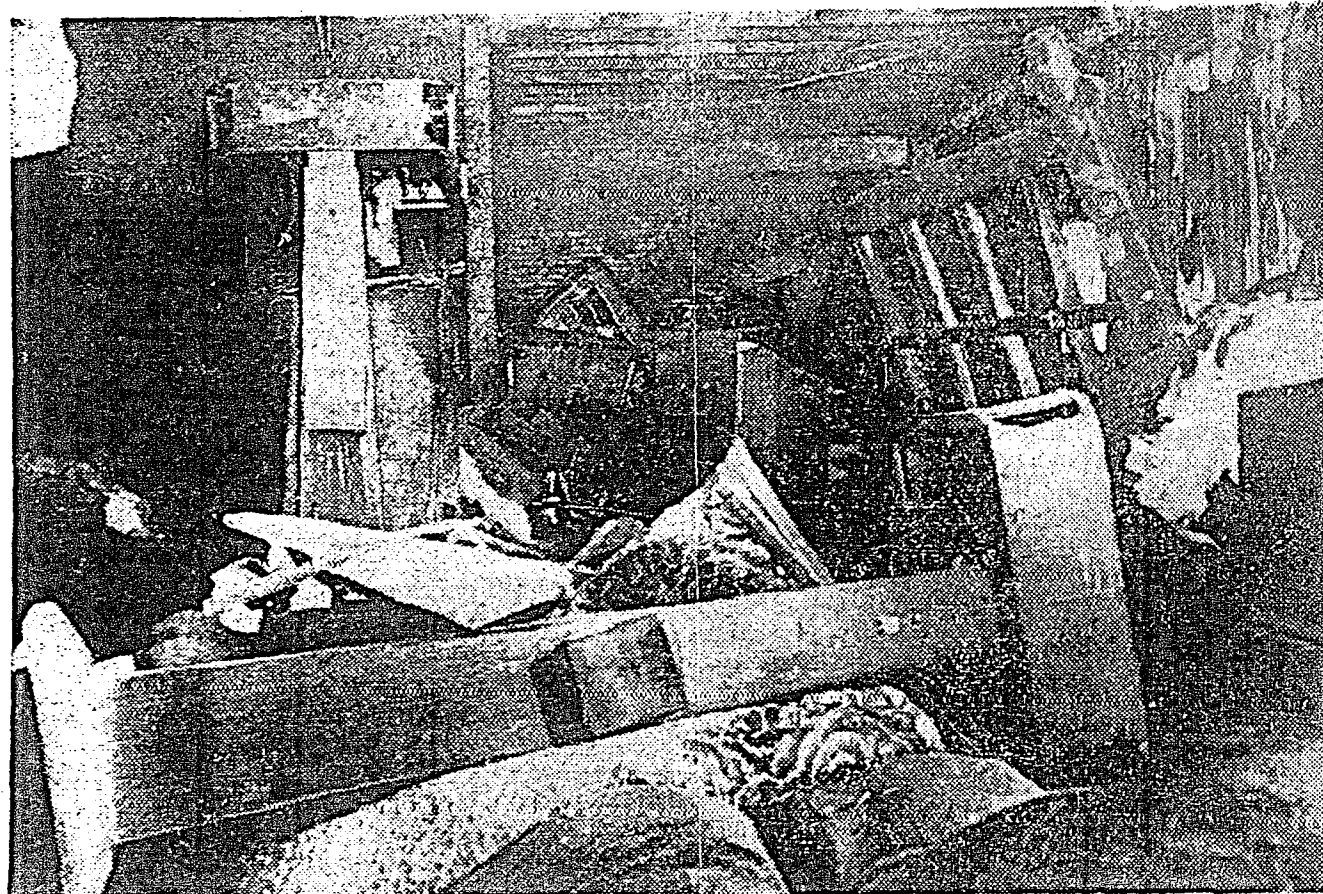

He told the patrolmen to go to the second floor immediately and rouse the persons living there.

Bronk, Brown and Kauphusman made their way through dense clouds of black smoke and pounded on the door of each of the three apartments, shouting the fire alarm and instructing the occupants to leave immediately.

Mrs. Falk, who lives with her husband in the front apartment, already was awake when the policemen arrived.

"I don't know why I woke up," Mrs. Falk explained. "I don't recall any particular noise but I just woke up."

"I happened to look out of the window and could see the red reflection of flames against the side of the Nash Clothing Store," she continued, "but I didn't know where the fire was. I started for

Charred Furniture And Twisted metal beams littered the basement of the Home Furniture Store after the fire had been brought under control this morning. The fire is believed to have started near the furnace in the center section of the building. Only one basement section, protected by a brick fire wall, was not swept by fire.

the telephone to call the fire department and just then I heard a siren and knew the firemen were on their way."

Pound on Door

It was immediately after this, Mrs. Falk said, that the patrolman pounded on the door and called out that there was a fire in the furniture store.

Mrs. Falk said that she dressed in her haste she put on a pair of bedroom slippers rather than street shoes—and went into the hallway where she encountered smoke but made her way down the stairway to the front entrance.

Kauphusman and Brown, meanwhile, were alerting Miss Mary Vance who occupies the middle apartment and a Mrs. Corey, who only recently had moved into the rear apartment.

Miss Vance fled from the building dressed only in her nightgown and robe.

Parked Car Moved

After they had notified the persons in the three apartments of the fire the patrolmen returned to the street and Kauphusman moved a car away from its parking space in front of the west section of the furniture store.

He told the patrolmen to go to the second floor immediately and rouse the persons living there.

Bronk, Brown and Kauphusman made their way through dense clouds of black smoke and pounded on the door of each of the three apartments, shouting the fire alarm and instructing the occupants to leave immediately.

Mrs. Falk, who lives with her husband in the front apartment, already was awake when the policemen arrived.

"I don't know why I woke up," Mrs. Falk explained. "I don't recall any particular noise but I just woke up."

"I happened to look out of the window and could see the red reflection of flames against the side of the Nash Clothing Store," she continued, "but I didn't know where the fire was. I started for where a complete remodeling project was nearing completion. He said that the heaviest loss probably could be expected in the second floor of the east building where the more expensive living room furniture was being kept.

Purchases Made Recently

Hauge said that he had just returned from a buying trip where he had purchased new shipments of furniture. This merchandise had not arrived at the store as yet, however.

Also alerted soon after the fire was discovered were those who occupy offices in the Modern Life Building, 76-78 E. 4th St., which is separated from the furniture store by a narrow alley.

When Robert S. Horton, treasurer of the Standard Lumber Co., which has offices in this building, arrived shortly after 6:30 a.m., he found that a ventilating fan on the west side of the building was on and was drawing smoke into the lumber offices. He turned off the fan, the smoke cleared away and there was only a scant amount of smoke that entered the building after that.

Immediately after the fire was discovered, the off-shift of firemen was called to emergency duty and all patrolmen on the first (day) shift were called in early to assist in traffic control at the fire area and for other duties.

Remodeling Under Way

Hauge pointed out that a 5-year remodeling and expansion program at the store was now nearing completion at an estimated cost of more than $35,000.

A new store front had been provided, the remodeling and decoration of the second floor area of the west wing was almost finished and plans already were under way for the enlarged store reopening.

He and Chief Witt said that initial inspections of the structure indicated that virtually all of the stock was charred, water-soaked or smoke-damaged.

In a store room at the rear of the east section, however, there were a quantity of new mattresses—still unpacked—which were not damaged by the fire.

Checked About 5:15

Patrolman Kermit Richmond said that sometime between 5:15 and 5:25 a.m. he stopped at the furniture store, checked the front and rear doors and that there was no fire to be seen at that time.

Chief Witt said that the fire broke through the first floor almost directly over the furnace in the second section. The front window in this section gave way and aided by this new draft, the fire quickly spread up the walls into the second floor of the east section.

The front window of the east section was the next to break and was followed a short time later by the west display window. Inside the store there were archway openings through all three sections of the first floor and the fire had a clear path to the east and west.

The spread was blocked by a fire door in the east basement section but broke through a wood door to the west basement.

In the center section there are two metal posts running from the street level to the roof at the front of the store.

Posts Buckle

The extreme heat in this area caused the two posts to buckle partially and one was displaced 4 inches the other 3 inches.

Chief Witt said that this was the first serious fire in a store building in the downtown business district since the interior of the F. W. Woolworth Co., 62 E. 3rd St., was damaged extensively more than 15 years ago.

More recently the Farmers Exchange at the foot of Main street was destroyed about seven years ago and two years ago several buildings in the West 5th street shopping district—including the Holden Drug Co., 953 W. 5th St.,—were damaged by fire.

Two other fires were reported while firemen were fighting the Home Furniture Store fire this morning.

At 7:16 a.m. a run was made to put out a chimney fire at the Elwood Peterson residence, 811 E. Mark St., and at 10:26 a.m. a fire was put out in a trailer house owned by William Fay at 559 Carmona St.

Tax Conformation Bill Passes State Senate

ST. PAUL (A)—The Senate today passed the first four of a long series of bills to make the state income tax law conform with the federal law in certain respects.

The bills now go to the governor. They deal with alimony payments, stock options, food and lodging furnished by an employer and fellowships and scholarships.

Approved and sent to the House was a bill requiring that newspapers that are legal publications send a copy of each issue to the Minnesota Historical Society.

Mazeppa Tavern Entered; Two Youths Sought

WABASHA, Minn. —Goodhue and Wabasha County authorities today were attempting to end the spree of a pair of Minneapolis youths who since noon Wednesday are believed to have stolen three cars, taken $75 from a Mazeppa tavern and broken into the municipal liquor store at Pine Island.

Wabasha County Sheriff John Jacobs said the break-in at the Mazeppa tavern occurred about 2:40 a.m. Friday. Proprietor Nick Smith, who lives above the tavern, was awakened by his daughter, who heard the sound of breaking glass.

As Smith dressed, he apparently warned the burglar who had gained entry by breaking a window. Missing from the cash register and nearby drawer was $75. Smith told the sheriff the burglar got into a car with another man and the pair drove off.

Started in Minneapolis

Sheriff Lenus Olson at Red Wing said the chain of events that authorities believe involve the same pair of teenagers, began about 12:30 p.m. in Minneapolis.

Wednesday afternoon, a car found abandoned at Wanamingo (Goodhue County) was traced to a Minneapolis owner, who told authorities his car was stolen shortly after noon. A neighbor gave the police a description of the youths matching that of a farmer who pushed the car into Wanamingo. The car had been abandoned in Wanamingo with a faulty clutch.

Later Wednesday, a car owned by the assistant coach at the high school was taken, presumably by the pair that abandoned the Minneapolis car.

A few blocks away, however, the car smashed into a telephone pole. Damage to the vehicle was estimated at $150.

Steel Another Car

A second car stolen in Wanamingo, owned by Erling Baker, is presumed to be the vehicle in which the pair drove to Pine Island.

There they smashed one of the small panes in the front door and reached through to open the door. Both cash registers were left open at the end of operations Wednesday, one containing two silver dollars and a number of pennies. Officials said, however, that none of the money was taken and that no merchandise was missing.

The Baker car has not been recovered and at noon today the boys were still at large.

State Cuts Back 1955 Program for New Highway 61

Further curtailment of prospective construction of four-lane Highway 61 between Minnesota City and La Crescent was revealed today when it was stated officially that only the Minnesota City-Mankato avenue sector of this badly needed trunk highway will be built in 1955.

Delay in acquiring right-of-way and completion of detailed plans for the Mankato avenue-Homer and Lamolite sector was given as the reason.

Bids definitely will be asked for a June letting of the Minnesota City-Mankato avenue sectors, J. C. Robbers, chief engineer of the State Highway Department, spokesman for the department in the absence of M. J. Hoffmann, commissioner, and O. L. Kipp, assistant commissioner, who are ill, stated today.

"The commissioner," he added, "has also authorized the immediate acquisition of right-of-way for the Mankato avenue-Lamolite sector, next scheduled for construction. Plans for this sector are now well advanced in the drafting department."

Early in the year, it was announced that the Minnesota City-Homer sector would be started in 1955. The revision, Robbers added, has taken place within the past 10 days due to right-of-way problems and delays in planning.

Construction to be undertaken during the present season, he added, will in no way interfere with tourist traffic on Highway 61 the coming season.

Officials of the Highway 61 Association, the Hiawatha Valley Association and the highway committee of the Winona Chamber of Commerce expressed disappointment over the announcement.

"It has been 10 years since any major state highway work has been done in the Winona area," H. G. Hymes, president of the Highway 61 Association, said today. "It is time something is done about stalling on the part of the Minnesota department. There are always excuses but no action."

An early meeting with state highway officials, and perhaps Gov. Orville Freeman, will be sought, Hymes added. "We want this four-lane highway now—not 10 years from now. This end of the state is being badly neglected," he asserted.

Massage Used To Revive Heart, Mother Relates

How her son's heart was restored to beating by massage was described by Mrs. William Snec, 615 E. 3rd St., to the Winona Association of Life Underwriters at a luncheon meeting at Hotel Winona Wednesday.

She said that 8-year-old John underwent surgery at the Heart Hospital, on the University of Minnesota campus, to correct irregularities which made him a "blue baby."

It was during the second day of his two days of surgery that the heart completely stopped beating, said Mrs. Snec, and surgeons revived the muscle with massage.

Before surgery John was unable to attend school, but now leads a normal active boy's life, said Mrs. Snec. Last summer, following the surgery, he gained 19 pounds.

The mother emphasized the need for continuous research and explained that money received in the Heart Fund campaign is used for research and not patient care.

The luncheon meeting was held to lay final plans for the Heart Fund campaign in Winona County. Association President Ervin Baudhuin said that business solicitation will begin here immediately, and Mrs. Frank Subjeck, chairman, and Mrs. H. M. Scherer, co-chairman, announced that the Winona residential solicitation will be made Feb. 20.

Everett J. Kohner is county fund chairman. Goal is $4,340.

Turning Hearts Into Dollars Big Business

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Turning hearts into dollars is the big aim of merchants this week.

And each year more manufacturers get the notion that St. Valentine would make a good salesman.

Book publishers are taking newspaper ad space to plug titles with the words "heart" or "love" in it. The Elgin National Watch Co. of Elgin, Ill., this year has launched a big promotion to persuade jewelers that the day dedicated to love ought to rank next to Christmas and graduation day as a chance to sell watches.

The drive to revive the nightshirt is filling the papers and magazines with pictures of that onetime favorite, all bedecked with designs and colors that would have frightened Grandpa, and plugging Valentine's Day as the right time to take the plunge.

The men's tie foundation is pleading with every lass to buy her man a cravat, and has some ties with love motifs emblazoned on them.

The jewelry industry's council has a long list of love emblems in a wide price range for men, women and every child.

St. Valentine's chief trouble as a salesman has always been that he's in a field so recently worked by St. Nicholas.

Many Christmas bills, alas, still aren't entirely paid. And the memory of the cost of generosity still lingers.

Merchants are aware of this. But each year they try a little harder to overcome it.

Time was when Valentine's Day was chiefly an occasion for the exchange of cards—and the valentine still runs second only to the Christmas card.

Candy makers have always enjoyed a sales field day on this occasion. The florists and the telegraph offices always pay a good deal of homage to St. Valentine, and he is always good to them in return.

Wife in Front Seat, Car Crushes Owner

CHICAGO (AP)—James M. Bannan, 44, was fatally injured today when he was crushed by his own car while his wife sat in the front seat.

Policeman Robert Witt said Bannan and his wife Elizabeth, 39, were preparing to drive away from the driveway of Bannan's sister in suburban Evanston. The car stalled and Bannan got out and went to the front of the auto, leaving Mrs. Bannan in the front seat.

Witt said Mrs. Bannan told him the gear shifted automatically and the car moved forward with Bannan clinging to the front end. It went about 70 feet down the driveway, across the street and crashed into a parked car. Bannan was crushed against the parked auto.

Mrs. Bannan told police that she could drive a car but was too frightened and excited to know what to do to halt the machine.

Couldn't Sleep Couldn't Eat

Maybe you aren't very sick and yet you don't feel really well. Perhaps you suffer from headaches, indigestion, nervousness, gas and flatulence, loss of sleep or lack of appetite. Frequently these symptoms are caused by constipation. Let's see how the case of Bea and Mrs. Peter Bothen of Chicago, Illinois, took.

Marion Marlowe's Gowns Are Grand (Four Grand)

By EARL WILSON
NEW YORK—Pretty Marion Marlowe has two new $4,000 gowns—yeah, $4,000 each—for her show at the Pierre Cotillon Room . . . and thereby hangs a clue to her future.

"The singing sweetheart of the Arthur Godfrey show" will return to the program after a month's leave, she tells me . . . and then she'll have a week off every month to play other top cities. Godfrey and CBS have already approved.

"What the heck's in a dress that can cost $4,000, besides you?" I asked.

"Imported chintilly lace, embroidery, bugle beads and pearls." "Real pols?"

"I'm not that rich! With those expensive costumes, I'll have to work every day on TV for the next four years to pay for them."

Serge Rubinstein once said it would be "good business" if he could publicly meet Archduke Otto of Hapsburg—and agreed to give $1,000 to an Austrian charity if it could be arranged. They went to the same restaurant, sat at separate tables, and on the way out, Rubinstein was presented to His Majesty, who was cordial. Rubinstein sent around a check for only $500, however.

"That's all you're going to get," Rubinstein said, when an indignant protest came in, "because he only said hello—he didn't shake my hand."

Merger Agreed on, Unions Planning Membership Drive

By NORMAN WALKER
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The nation's top union leaders, agreed on consolidating forces into a single organization, today planned a giant drive to take in millions of new members.

Leaders of the American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations decided to bury traditional rivalries and embark on the same sort of intensive mass organizing campaign that sparked the CIO's surge two decades ago.

The AFL and CIO chiefs worked out what appeared to be an ironclad arrangement to merge into a 15-million-member union federation.

A long series of ratifying actions still was required to solemnize the wedding, but declarations of intentions from principals appeared convincing. Both George Meany, top man in the AFL, and Walter Reuther, CIO chief, predicted the merger would be an accomplished fact before the end of the year.

They said a well-financed organizing drive to take in new members would be launched and where possible unions in the same general field would be combined to make more effective their bargaining and political powers.

An initial organizing goal was the chemicals and plastics industries. A field where combining rival unions appeared most likely was in the textile industry where relatively weak AFL and CIO unions have largely neutralized each other for years.

There was no way of anticipating whether the apparently stronger union setup would bring on bigger or longer labor strikes, but it was apparent that AFL and CIO leaders felt their hand would be strengthened in dealing with employers.

In arranging the merger agreement yesterday the union chiefs accustomed to hard horse trading with employers, played a give-and-take role with each other.

The AFL was given the top jobs in the new setup. Meany was assured of the presidency and AFL Secretary—Treasurer William A. Schwartz will have the same title in the merged federation.

The CIO was given the right to enter the AFL as a union and to organize entire plants from top to bottom in individual unions without regard for AFL crafts.

In addition, it was agreed that the leadership for the ambitious new member organizing activities would come from the CIO.

The key question of whether unions would be allowed to "raid" or seize each other's already-organized members was left open. Reuther had wanted a definite police system to stop this, but it was agreed only that "raiding was a disease which ought to be discouraged."

The merger agreement contained intentions to include guarantees in the new constitution that would prevent racial discrimination among unions and effectively deal with union racketeers.

Blair to Ask Bids On Renovating Jail

BLAIR, Wis. (Special)—The City Council has decided to accept bids for the renovation, cleaning and painting of the city jail in the city hall.

The Council also agreed to reimburse Hans Melby for 12 feet of sidewalk he erroneously assessed against him in 1953.

Approved was Mayor W. H. Melby's appointment of Archie Kocum, Francis McGuire and Don Hui-bregtse as a three-man citizen's committee to represent the city on the general centennial committee. The centennial will be sponsored by the American Legion post.

Referred to the park committee was a proposal to enter into an agreement seeking aid of high school agriculture classes in pruning trees and bushes at Riverside Memorial Park. Carl Penno, vocational agriculture instructor, will supervise the work.

The committee was authorized to seek bids for a new mower for the city park.

Communists Hope To Win Control Of India State

MADRAS, India (AP)—Communists hope to win control of one of India's 28 states in elections starting tomorrow. They have at least a chance to do so.

The polling in Andhra state will take place in different sections over a 17-year period. Counting of ballots is due to start March 1. Opposing the Communists is Prime Minister Nehru's Congress party.

Congressmen and Communists have been battling right down the line, each pouring money and energy into the electoral fight. National political figures, movie stars, parades, torchlight marches, street-corner rallies and mass public meetings have marked the campaign.

Nehru made a two-day speaking tour and was followed by the Congress' president, U. N. Dhebar. There is considerable difference of opinion as to how valuable Dhebar and Nehru were, but there is general agreement that fiery S. K. Patil, the chief Congress politico in Bombay state, proved an asset.

Patil entered the fray with the Andhra Congress organization split, somewhat demoralized and fighting the Reds with its back to the wall. His political enthusiasm apparently sparked a real Congress comeback.

The Reds also have thrown nationally known figures into the campaign. Oxford-trained Prof. Hiren Mukherjee and Ajay Ghosh, India's top Red, have stumped the state.

The Communists are relying heavily on a "grass roots" door-to-door campaign. Bicycling from village to village, youthful Reds are chatting intimately with poverty-stricken Andhra peasants and promising them all the land they'll need.

The primary issues are social and economic, with each party promising to bring much-needed reforms to Andhra, one of India's poorest states.

Honor Roll Announced At Lanesboro School

LANESBORO, Minn. Hendrix was believed attempting to light a coal furnace when the explosion occurred. Two large sliding doors were blown from the carriers. Other damage was slight.

Surviving are Hendrix' invalid wife, two sons and a daughter.

He's been president of the association for 18 years but this is the first time he's taken home the champion's cup although he's entered tournaments since 1902. It was a wind and snow storm that partly helped him be champion. His final round opponent decided to hasten home and conceded the match.

U.S. Sets Policy On Far Pacific

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators, watching Asia like men with no time to lose, in the past two weeks have approved two extremely important treaties and a far-reaching resolution. All involve defense in the far Pacific.

Treaty debates are often oratorical festivals which sometimes last weeks. Not this time. The Senate took less than a day each to approve the treaties and just a few days for the resolution.

The resolution and one treaty apply to defense of Formosa. The other treaty covers defense of Southeast Asia. The Senate took these two actions on Formosa:

1. Jan. 28. It gave President Eisenhower a blank check by approving beforehand anything he thought necessary to do in defense of Formosa, the nearby Pescadores Islands and "related" areas.

This means he could order the bombing of mainland China if he thought it should be done to prevent a Red Chinese buildup for an attack on Formosa. The resolution gives the President extraordinarily wide discretion.

2. Feb. 9. The Senate okayed a mutual defense agreement between the United States and Chiang Kai-shek's government, but only on Formosa and the Pescadores. It does not apply to other Chiang-held islands.

The President, of course, will operate under the wider powers of the resolution as long as he sees fit. Although the resolution and the treaty seem like duplicates of each other, they are not quite.

The President's power under the resolution ends when he notifies Congress the emergency in the Formosa area is over. That emergency may not be considered over for years.

The treaty, on the other hand, is to last "indefinitely," unless canceled by either side on one year's notice.

The treaty, rushed through at this time, has more psychological than real value, since it is "added notice" to the Red Chinese of the American government's determination to defend Formosa.

Under this treaty the members agree to act together for the defense of Southeast Asia against Red attack.

EVERYONE AGREES . . .

They don't make this kind of man any more...

Mon fighting for their lives, their land... and their loves!

Pact Threatening Arab League Unity To Be Signed Soon

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—Diplomatic informants say the Turkish-Iraqi defense pact, which threatens to disrupt the Arab League, will be signed in Baghdad sometime this month, possibly before Feb. 18.

Announcement of the Western-backed agreement touched off a violent campaign by Egypt against the pact and by Syria and Jordan. The Cairo government, attempting to maintain neutrality in the East-West cold war, has threatened to pull out of the league the day the pact is signed. So far the other Arab nations have refused to go along with Egypt in condemning Iraq, also a member of the league.

Albert Lea Man Pleads Guilty to Tax Violations

ST. PAUL (AP)—The head of an Albert Lea, Minn., farm implement firm, charged with income tax violations, Wednesday threw himself on the mercy of the court.

District Judge Dennis Donovan accepted a nolo contendere plea entered by Frank G. Wells, 69, head of the Olson Manufacturing Co. Wells previously had pleaded innocent to two income tax counts.

Today's plea covered the charge for the year 1948, when the government said he evaded payment of some $3,000 in taxes. The 1949 count charged that he understated his income by $700.

Bennett Knudson, Wells' partner in the firm, paid a $5,000 fine last April in connection with the same case.

In another case, Frank L. Johnson, 32, St. Paul, pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to file an income tax return in 1951. The government said he had an income of $3,700 that year. Johnson was secretly indicted by a federal grand jury, according to Alex Dim, assistant U. S. attorney.

Judge Donovan ordered a presentence investigation.

Preston Creamery Patron Payments Hit $1,154,835

PRESTON, Minn. (Special)—Patrons of the Preston Creamery Association were paid $1,154,835 for milk and cream in 1954 and another $55,785 has been placed toward their capital credits, according to a financial report given at the annual meeting here Wednesday.

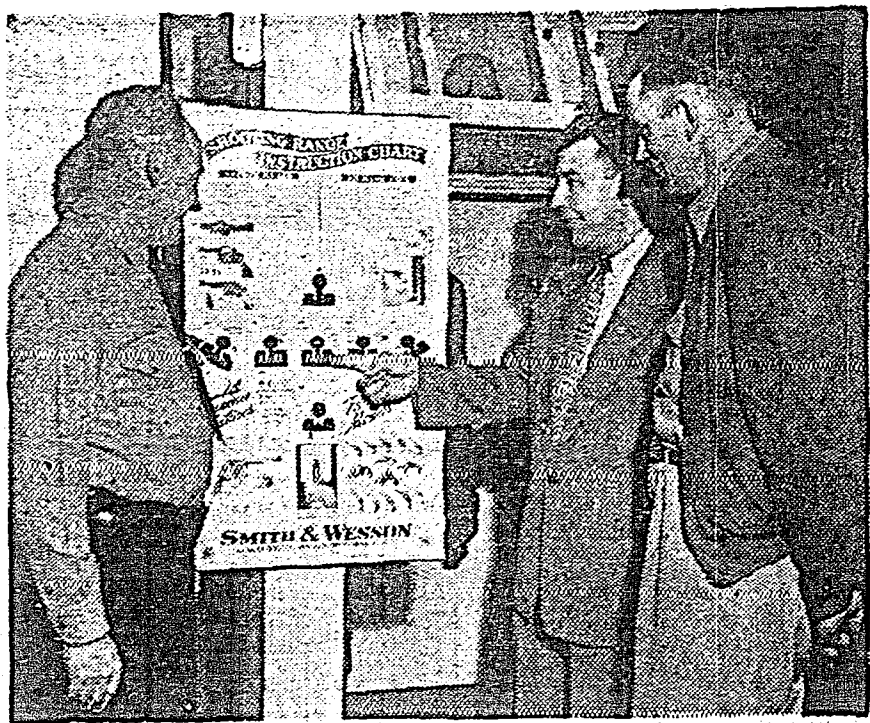

This amount was paid for 28,479,729 pounds whole milk; 459,774 pounds sweet cream; 245,177 pounds No. 1 and 2 cream, and 18,894,662 pounds skim milk from other plants. Milk, cream and skim milk totaled 48,179,312 pounds with 1,225,151 pounds butterfat. Average paid for 3.5 average milk was $2.58.

George Watts and Eugene Schaevel were re-elected to the board of directors and Everett Anderson replaced Arthur Kramer. The board will meet in late February to reorganize. Watts is currently president, Norman Storhoff, vice president, and George Stender, secretary-treasurer. More than 700 were served at noon in the town hall here, a crowd which officials claim is the largest in the history of the co-op.

Nominating Committee
In a new move, patrons named a nominating committee for the annual meeting in 1956. Its members are Russell Heusinkveld, Wendell Vrieze and Vernon Gatzke. Speakers were Milton Hoberg, Fillmore County agent; Robert Ahlin, a representative of Dough-boy Feeds, New Richmond, Wis.; Harlan Hatfield, Winona, representative of Land O' Lakes, and Oscar Aulse, Preston, representative of the A. C. Christenson Co., Chicago, to whom the creamery sells its butter.

As revealed by the report, $126,834 was added to permanent assets during 1954. Of this, a large part went toward remodeling and additions in equipment and building. A drying department was added and a large U.S. Army contract for dried milk has been obtained.

Returns of $1,525,244 were noted during the year for sale of: Butter,

Congressman Needs Work to Make Ends Meet

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Wickersham (D-Okla.) said Wednesday he is seriously looking for part time work because he is going in debt at the rate of $409 a month. He blamed expenses that go along with his $15,000 job.

Wickersham, commenting on the congressional pay situation on his 49th birthday, said a proposed $10,000 a year raise for congressmen won't be enough. He figures it should be hiked to $27,500. "If something isn't done in the next five years," he declared, "we'll have no one in Congress but the ultra-rich or members subsidized by powerful influences."

Describing himself as a "pretty average congressman," Wickersham said at least a fourth of the House members now "draw their salaries in advance up to six months ahead."

"I like serving my constituents in Oklahoma," he told newsmen, "and I'll take any legitimate job that doesn't interfere with my House duties."

During his 12 years in Congress, he added, expenses have outstripped his income by $39,000.

$878,182; skim milk powder, $547,939; skim milk and buttermilk liquids, $16,987; bottled milk and cream, $56,682; cottage cheese and orange, $3,923, and grade A milk to other plants, $14,783.

Assets were listed at $478,720 with liabilities and equities equaling this. Among the equities are $118,207 in patron capital credits.

Manufacturing Output
Manufacturing included 1,435,199 pounds of butter at $59.13 per hundredweight and 3,650,639 pounds powdered milk at $15 per hundredweight.

The produce department of the co-op realized returns of $147,492 with a net of $20,051. Expenses were $15,982 with $4,069 being placed in patron capital credits. Sales in the department were: Feed, 1,342,902 pounds; salt, 108,212 pounds; flour, 17,900 pounds; twine, 567 bales; fertilizer, 76,680 pounds; seed, 35,475 pounds; poultry, 49,496 pounds, and eggs, 123,434 dozen. Chester Maust is general manager; William Vork, operator of the drying department; Edward Larsen, operator of the creamery; Aumour Gabbert, manager of the produce department; Mrs. Mildred Johnson, Mrs. Eva Ott and Miss Dorothy Ristau, bookkeepers, and Vernon Sikink and Ralph Larson, other holdover directors.

Priests Ousted From Argentine Public Schools

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—The Ministry of Education announced today the discharge of 100 Roman Catholic priests from teaching jobs in Argentine public schools and three from top positions as education inspectors.

The ministry said the ousters completed its program of removing the church from a position of influence in schools supported by the government. The Catholic religion still will be taught but students will not have to earn passing grades.

The government moved Wednesday to cancel a $5,600,000 annual subsidy to private schools, most of them Catholic.

The campaign against church influence in education started last November when President Juan D. Peron charged that some Catholic clergymen were trying to infiltrate schools, labor unions and other organizations in order to undermine his regime. Catholicism is the predominant religion in Argentina.

WESTOVER AIR FORCE BASE, Mass. (AP)—A kitchen push-button gives Capt. Kenneth R. Kurtzman a hot car on cold mornings.

He calls his invention "MATO"—morning - assisted - take - off. It cost him about $3.

'Secret Diplomacy' Urged on Formosa

OTTAWA (AP)—Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent, just back from the Commonwealth prime ministers conference in London, says he thinks "secret diplomacy" would do more than an international conference to solve the Formosa dispute.

In a radio interview, he said he did not believe the Formosa issue could be settled without the presence of both Nationalist and Communist China at any negotiations.

Fears Come True But Only After Six-Story Leap

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—George Anastasio, 60, leaped from the 6th floor of the Milner Hotel Wednesday and lived.

Police said he had been under the impression tax agents were "after" him.

Anastasio, who came here from Greece in 1906, started out as a peanut vendor, then shoe shine boy and for the past 20 years has been a bartender.

In his meager room, police found stocks valued at $15,000 and a bank book showing a balance of $5,000. This book also showed a $5,000 withdrawal only last week.

The Internal Revenue Service said it had no record of Anastasio, nor any tax returns—but began an investigation of the man they never heard of before.

Anastasio suffered several fractures. The hospital reported he was in fair condition today.

Eden Sidesteps Laborite Demand On Formosa Peace

LONDON (AP)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden sidestepped a Laborite demand today that he immediately arrange a Geneva-type conference to obtain a Formosa cease-fire.

Opposition member James Hudson asked Eden in the House of Commons: "In view of the refusal of Chou En-lai to meet the United Nations, will you take immediate steps to summon an international conference to which both China and the United States will be invited, with a view to obtaining a cease-fire in the Formosa Strait?"

Eden replied: "The consequences of the Chinese refusal are being studied by her majesty's government in close consultation with Commonwealth and other friendly governments."

The British Foreign Office refused to comment on the government's secret negotiations with other nations for a cease-fire.

But Indian Prime Minister Nehru told a news conference here Wednesday night that the Western powers, Russia and India were

Scouting's Success Described at Rotary

Twenty-two million boys and men have been associated with scouting in the United States in the past 45 years, Carl Milton, assistant Gaiheaven Boy Scout executive, told the Rotary Club at its meeting Wednesday at the Hotel Winona. Boy scouting is observing its 45th birthday this week.

Scouting, he said, is America's tested and best answer to the youth problem facing this nation today. It gives a boy an opportunity to make his own decisions and to express himself by doing things, he added.

Scouting works well with the parent, home, church and school, he added. Twenty-eight Rotarians active in scouting were introduced.

secretly canvassing all possible moves to end the China fighting. Nehru said this included a suggestion for a conference outside the United Nations, but he refused to elaborate further.

British informants said Britain already has spurned a secret proposal made last week by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov for a Formosa conference without the participation of Nationalist China.

About one third of the United States is arid or semiarid.

'As Our Youth Go, So Goes the Nation'

"Crime prevention starts in the high chair, not in the electric chair." Thus, with J. Edgar Hoover's slogan as its keynote, the National Exchange Club launches its eighth annual National Crime Prevention Week.

Ever since crime statistics began rising, both at the juvenile and adult levels in our country, the National Exchange Club has presented a week-long program each year to curb this costly burden on the country and on the American taxpayer.

This year's target is juvenile delinquency, and for a good reason. Last year, there were over two million crimes in the United States, over half of which were committed by persons between the ages of 10 and 17. Further, authorities recently stated that if statistics continue at their present rate, the year 1960 will see a staggering total of 1½ million juveniles on trial for crime.

As if those figures by themselves aren't enough, we are told this year that the chances of your child becoming a juvenile delinquent are one in fifty . . . a pretty good chance.

Let's face it; the whole problem is thrown right in your lap. What are you going to do about it? Will you just sit back complacently and say, "It won't happen to my kids." Mere words . . . and words they will remain unless they are backed up by parental action. Let's recognize right now that too many parents have been saying just those words for too long while doing nothing. Thus, the situation we have today. And, there is no excuse for it . . .

As Mr. Hoover said, you can start crime prevention in the high chair. He means you, the parents of this community. Parental neglect is the major contributing factor to juvenile delinquency. For with parental neglect, the door is open for any youngster to fall prey to the evil forces and temptations of crime, stemming from too much unoccupied and unsupervised time.

The National Exchange Club, through its National Crime Prevention Week, is issuing a personal appeal to the citizens of the country to become advised on what is happening. We must realize that these young people of today are the future of America. Paraphrasing an old line, "As our youth go, so goes the nation."

We have an opportunity and an obligation to start now and become a part of this great movement to save our youth. It is up to each one of us to become so concerned as to what is happening in our land that we will not stop at the conclusion of National Crime Prevention Week, but will continue to fight crime until it is beaten. The child you save may be your own.

Maybe We Ought to Give It Back to the Indians

When we saw him getting on the bus we knew what he had been doing and our hearts went out to him. His eyes were red and gleamed with a wild light, he kept looking over his shoulder and mumbling to himself:

"Add the sums on line eight and nine on page 27 and subtract the date of the Declaration of Independence, multiply by four, divide by the figure on page ten line eleven, except in February which has 28 and in months that have an 'r' in them."

A character out of Alice in Wonderland? No, just an ordinary citizen who had spent the night trying to fill out the income tax forms—simplified version. Simplified from what, we would like to know? Perhaps what they mean is that it is not printed in cuneiform.

We don't ask them to reduce taxes. They say they need the money and if they do, let them have it. We look pretty good in last year's suit and you get tired of thick steaks if you eat them too often. But they could do something about those forms.

If it is impossible to translate them into simple English — it shouldn't be but if it is—they could be sporting enough to offer a prize to any person who fills the forms in perfectly. Perhaps a refund of the tax payment or a trip to a resort might be appropriate awards.

Someone should do something — maybe pass a law or censure somebody. Perhaps we should just look for a legal technicality which would enable us to give the country back to the Indians and let them worry about raising the money to run it.

These Days

Few Well Informed On Fluoridation

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

NEW YORK —Most people know as little about fluoridation as I do. Most of those who favor it and oppose it are and are littered with propaganda on both sides would find it difficult to explain why anyone should get all hot and bothered about this business of pouring another poison into our water. For our health, our water has already been chlorinated and the real effect is to give it so horrible a taste that alcoholism is on the increase. Whenever I taste water that has been manhandled by a chlorinator, I understand why the late Heywood Brown preferred gin.

So now they are to put fluorides into our water to save our teeth. My suspicions are naturally aroused because so many dentists are for it. They must have grown eleemosynary of late to favor something that they claim will put them out of business. As I have no teeth of my own, perfect teeth are of small moment to me personally, but I too can be eleemosynary and favor something that benefits someone else, if it does.

THE QUESTION that arises in my mind, suppose 10 or 20 years from now, the professors change their minds about fluoridation. Suppose they say that instead of saving teeth, it harms something else. So I read an article in the "Scientific American," entitled "A Study of The Anti-Scientific Attitude," and discovered that the authors, Bernard and Judith Mausner, agree with Senator Fulbright that there is a "swinish blight of anti-intellectualism," and that whoever says that if you want to use fluorides for the teeth, get it in a bottle at a drugstore instead of in the water-works, is an aforesaid swinish anti-intellectual. This broad generalization reminds me of the anti-Fascists who denounced everlastingly who despised Stalin as pro-Fascist, and the anti-Communists who believe that everyone who reads the "Daily Worker" is a Communist.

In a word, here is supposed to be learned writing on a technical subject which I pick up to inform myself and find in the first paragraph a polemic on the distrust of "intellectuals," which has nothing to do with the subject. I am sure that the Mausners, whoever they may be, regard themselves as intellectuals but I doubt whether they can write learnedly on the moral system of Maimonides, Thomas Aquinas, Spinoza and Kant and, if they cannot, I shall everlastingly deny them the title of "intellectuals." Also, unless they can write several thousand words on the Romantic Period in music and unless they can speak authoritatively on the influence of Wagner on Verdi's "Othello," I shall mark them down as having no right to wear the sign of the egg-head.

THE TROUBLE WITH A fellow who becomes fanatical about such a subject as fluoridation is that while he can explain why poison, if taken in small doses, might do no damage, or might even be beneficial, like opium, if one has a bellyache, he does not explain why it should not be added in a drugstore so that the fellow who does not care for the stuff is not obligated to have it in his coffee. The answer, of course, is that it is a poison.

In a free society, no one ought to be forced to do what he chooses not to do, just as a Christian Scientist may eschew a physician, or a Jew, pork. These choices are made on religious grounds and therefore are protected by the Constitution, but fluoridation is advocated by dentists and social workers and therefore the Constitution may not be invoked to protect them.

I know much about teeth, not having them anymore. The question has always been in my mind whether I lost my teeth or the dentist lost them. I remember once being advised to use some stuff as a mouth rinse and then reading a learned paper by another dentist on how this particular stuff softens the gums. How does one get his teeth back after his dentist gives a free sample of a gumsoftener?

Reasonable people recognize that in a free society there ought to be room for some freedom of choice. Suppose a citizen does not want perfect teeth if he has to get it by drinking poison in small doses. He ought to have a choice. And the rest might buy their fluorides in a drugstore.

Report May Rebuke TV For Children's Programs

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—The big television networks have been quietly pressuring the Senate juvenile delinquency committee to tone down their report on the connection between TV programs and juvenile crime. However, it doesn't look as if they would succeed.

The Senate committee on juvenile delinquency did such a forthright job on comic books and child crime that the comic-book industry appointed a czar to clean up. Equally forthright hearings were held on television programs which the big networks offer up to children during the hours between 4 and 6 p.m., and a draft report has been written by the staff and distributed to members of the committee. A copy of the report was also sent to interested networks for their comment, and the howl that came back has echoed around Senate committee rooms.

However, the three members of the Senate Committee—Langer of North Dakota, Kefauver of Tennessee, and Hennings of Missouri—are standing pat. They may even strengthen their report.

Meanwhile, here is some of the stinging criticism of the TV programs which the preliminary Senate report, so far still secret, levels at the big telecasters who mold the minds of millions of children.

Greatest Mind-Molder

"Sociologists have pointed out that television has wrought the most marked influence upon the habits of the family of any technical development since the motor-car went into mass production . . . Even the less domestic parents and educators are beginning to be concerned about the repeated exposure of children to the sequence of crime and violence on television."

"While it is not the intent of the subcommittee to equate crime and violence with badness," says the draft Senate report, "it is a problem resulting from the repeated exposure of boys and girls to a sordid and brutal fare."

To illustrate the tremendous impact which TV now has on children, the Senate Committee cited a survey in the nation's capital by Charles Haden Aldredge as follows:

"Interviews with 400 families owning television in the metropolitan area of Washington, D.C., revealed that motion picture attendance has fallen off 4 per cent among children of families that owned TV sets for more than two years. Children read 11 per cent fewer magazines, 15.7 per cent fewer comics and 9.2 per cent fewer books."

Commenting on this survey, the Senate draft report stated: "Young children may be termed a unique group. For them television is not intruding upon already established patterns. Because they can watch television before they are able to read the printed word . . . They are apt to undergo heavy exposure to television in pre-school days. Television is frequently the first teacher."

"Violent Programs Increase" Despite this, the amount of violence which the big networks are dispatching out to young children has increased rather than decreased, the Senate probers found. Citing a study of the seven New York TV stations, the Senate report showed that "the number of acts and threats of violence had increased substantially between 1952 and 1953." This meant 6.2 acts and threats of violence per hour, the survey showed.

"Furthermore, during the week of Jan. 4-10, 1953, children's television hours in New York were twice as saturated with violence as other hours," the survey stated. Another TV survey cited by the Senate probers indicated that "the domination of crime and violence is increasing rather than diminishing."

Summarizing the obvious effect of TV programs upon juvenile crime, the unpublished Senate report states: "It was found that life is cheap, death, suffering, sadism, and brutality are subjects of callous indifference, and that judges, lawyers and enforcement officers are dishonest, incompetent, and stupid. 'The manner and frequency with which crime is brought before the eyes and ears of American children indicates a complete disregard for psychological and social consequences.'"

Advice on Health

Chilblains Mild Form of Cold Injury

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Acute chilblain is about the mildest form of injury you can suffer from the cold. Children and adolescents are usually the chief victims. This is particularly true if they are undernourished.

If the blood supply in your veins is below normal, even moderate exposure to cold may produce chilblains. Your fingers, toes, heels, nose and ears are the most likely targets. The rest of your face is vulnerable, too.

You might be unaware that the low temperatures have affected your skin until you feel a burning or itching sensation. The area will turn a bluish red, but the color will disappear when you press the affected finger, ear or whatever it may be. The unnatural color will return shortly after pressure is relieved. The area will feel cold and will probably be clammy to your touch. This is caused by much sweating.

Chilblains differs from frostbite, which we discussed several weeks ago. In frostbite, the affected areas are frozen, and deprived of their blood supply.

Warm stockings, earmuffs and mittens, of course, will help prevent chilblains. These things are still important after you have contracted the ailment.

If your feet have been the target for chilblains, it's a good idea to wear woolen socks when you go to bed during the cold months. During the day, two pairs of socks should be worn. A thin pair of cotton hose inside a pair of woolen socks is usually advisable. Thick boots will also help. You've got to protect the sensitive portions against cold, dampness or injury.

Heating Pads

Use electric heating pads or hot water bottles occasionally to warm the sections bothered by chilblains.

You should clean the areas with water each day, and massage them gently with warm oil. You may also apply Hydrocortone ointment. Some persons have reported relief after taking nicotinic acid or vitamin K by mouth. Exercises to improve your circulation also are important.

There are other things your doctor can do for you, too.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

A.G.: If a woman has her tubes tied so she cannot become pregnant, is there any chance of having it undone?

Answer: Operations to restore the tubes in many instances are not successful. Occasionally, such an operation may be carried out satisfactorily. You should consult with your physician about this matter.

Bobo May Cost Winthrop Another Million Dollars

NEW YORK (AP)—Winthrop Rockefeller, whose divorce from Barbara (Bobo) Rockefeller cost him a reported six-million-dollar settlement, apparently must shell out another million dollars in lawyers' fees.

In State Supreme Court yesterday it was disclosed that Rockefeller already has paid out $500,000 in legal charges, and has another half million to go.

The court action was in answer to a $100,000 suit filed by Boston Atty. Joseph Sax against both Winthrop and Bobo. Sax charges nonpayment for services rendered in 1951-52.

That Fool Dog Saved His Life

By PAUL HARVEY

NEW YORK—I just got a telephone call from Bayfield, Colo. About Frank Montgomery.

Maybe you don't know Frank. He and Sissie have been farming out there for as long as neighbors can remember.

They'd see Frank, hobbling on that crippled knee, and his great collie dog, Sissie, making of that ridge farm.

"Here comes Frank and that fool dog," folks would say.

"Criter, big as a horse, will eat him into the poorhouse someday," folks would say.

But Farmer Frank and Sissie were rarely apart and never for long.

Except Frank would never let Sissie chase the tractor. Always afraid the dog might tangle with one of the big hind wheels. So, last January ten, when Frank was dragging the road from the house to the highway, Sissie stayed in the house.

By the kitchen door . . . with her nose on the floor . . . waiting.

Sixty-nine year old legs wouldn't let Frank move fast. And when suddenly he finds himself too many degrees tilted in the roadside ditch, and the machine started to skid, Frank wasn't fast enough to jump.

The tractor went over. Came down on top of its driver. Broke his back.

And the wheel pinned him face down in the frozen ground.

With that last wild roar when one wheel went up, the great collie dog inside the hilltop house came to her feet.

Then sudden silence stung her sensitive ears.

Grabbing the doorknob with her teeth, Sissie bounded across the porch and off down the hill.

She'd been taught and trained never to chase the tractor, never to follow Frank into the field when he was on the tractor. And she never did.

But something helped Sissie know this time was different.

When the dog got to the foot of the hill the tractor was overturned. Oil, seeping from the crankcase, mingled with the steam from a ruptured radiator. And in an instant Sissie sensed that her crippled master could not move.

Worse, with his face buried in the frozen earth, he could not breathe.

Desperately the dog started to dig. Clawing away like a windmill in a hurricane.

Gradually the dog began to make a dent in the hard crust of frozen ground.

Farmer Frank's face . . . at first flushed . . . had turned white, then started to turn black.

Desperately the dog clawed away. Faster and faster.

Until, without once scratching her master's face, Sissie had excavated around it. Until, with a rattle and a roar, the man began to breathe again.

Frank didn't know much of what happened next. The frightful pain which followed the shock erased most of it from his memory.

But somehow, with Sissie's help, he struggled free.

And somehow, with a broken back, he crawled to the house and called for a doctor.

As I started to say, I got a call from Bayfield, Colorado today, Frank's home. Home from Mercy Hospital in Durango. He's back in Bayfield. Still in bed. Still in a cast.

Doctors said minutes more Frank would either have suffocated or frozen to death.

But as it is . . . the cast comes off in one more week and then, though with a brace at first, Frank will walk again.

Frank will work again. And beside his bed lies that fool dog.

Waiting.

U.S. Pays Jap Farmer For House Plane Hit

TOKYO (AP)—A Japanese farmer, whose house was destroyed by an American bomber which crashed after an attack by Soviet fighters off Hokkaido last year, will receive more than two million yen ($5,540) compensation from the United States, Kyodo news service said today.

The RB29 photo-mapping plane was on a routine mission Nov. 7 when MIG fighters shot it down. Ten of the 11 crewmen parachuted to safety. The other was killed.

Answer: Operations to restore the tubes in many instances are not successful. Occasionally, such an operation may be carried out satisfactorily. You should consult with your physician about this matter.

Bobo May Cost Winthrop Another Million Dollars

NEW YORK (AP)—Winthrop Rockefeller, whose divorce from Barbara (Bobo) Rockefeller cost him a reported six-million-dollar settlement, apparently must shell out another million dollars in lawyers' fees.

In State Supreme Court yesterday it was disclosed that Rockefeller already has paid out $500,000 in legal charges, and has another half million to go.

The court action was in answer to a $100,000 suit filed by Boston Atty. Joseph Sax against both Winthrop and Bobo. Sax charges nonpayment for services rendered in 1951-52.

Public Ceremony To Honor Last Of 'Boys in Blue'

DULUTH, Minn. (U) — Albert Woolson, last survivor of the Union forces of the Civil War, will leave his home here Friday for a short half hour to attend a public ceremony marking his 108th birthday.

The Woolson family has limited his public appearances this year because as Mrs. John Kobus, his daughter, put it: "Father gets too worked up with all these people making a fuss."

Friday at 2 p. m. in the rotunda of the City Hall the city will formally accept a marble base for a bust of Woolson. The base was purchased by the Duluth AFL Musicians Union of which Woolson, a Civil War drummer boy, is honorary lifetime member.

This winter Woolson has given up his daily walks with his son-in-law and has not shoveled his front walk as in the past. He blames it on "my advancing years."

Physical Education Meeting Slated at Rochester Saturday

Representatives from the physical education departments of Winona State Teachers College and the Winona public schools will attend a meeting of the southeast division of the Minnesota Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation at Rochester Saturday.

Those attending include E. N. Brodthagen, the Misses Beulah Gregoire and Phyllis Roney of the faculty of Winona State Teachers College, the Misses Elaine Behnken, St. Charles; Carol Anhalt and LaRue Swearingen, South St. Paul, and Thelma Aherns, Cresco, Iowa, all students from the college; and Miss Susan Day, Mrs. Ruth Nelson, and Victor Gislason from the Winona public schools.

Miss Florence Hurst, nutritionist from the Mayo Clinic and the Department of Public Health, will speak on "Current Developments in Nutrition" at the luncheon meeting. At the afternoon meetings in the Rochester Senior High School, Gerald Hansen of the Rochester public schools will speak on "Social Dance Steps"; Miss Roney on "Use Your Official Rules When Teaching Softball," and Martin McIntyre of Faribault on "Wrestling in the Physical Education Program."

Miss Gregoire is president of the southeast division of the Minnesota Association, and Miss Day is secretary-treasurer.

A girl in the office says she is all in favor of a revision of the calendar if it will mean more pay-days.

Danish Schools 'Tough,' IFYE Student Reports

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—"You will be thankful to be students here at Whitehall High School after I tell you about Denmark's educational system," Miss Mary Alice Dettlor told an assembly group here Monday.

Miss Dettlor, a resident of Plainfield, Wis., spent three months in Denmark last year under the International Farm Youth Exchange Program.

Principal speaker at the Trempealeau County Holstein Breeders Association banquet Monday evening at St. Stanislaus Church, Arcadia, she appeared here and at Blair High School Monday afternoon. Miss Dettlor also spoke at the Trempealeau High School Tuesday morning.

Danish schools have seven grades, she said, explaining that youngsters completing the seventh grade would be ready to enter the junior year in a high school here. Following their grade school, they have three years of high school.

In the grades, the children learn Swedish and German in addition to their own language, and also have two years of English.

High school subjects include French, Latin and Spanish.

No vocations. No music, home economics, agriculture or similar subjects are offered in the Danish schools and students who wish to take such courses must do so after high school.

School starts at 7:30 a. m., and before then the students help their parents with work around the home. They have school six days a week.

Discipline is very strict; the children cannot smile or laugh in class. Their desks are simply flat tables and as there is no place to keep their books, each night they must carry all books home, returning them back in the morning. The usual study time at home is four hours each evening, she said. There are no female teachers, Miss Dettlor added.

Danish children never say "no" to their parents when they are asked to do something. Furthermore, the children bow to their fathers when asked to perform some task, and courtesy to their mother.

'Typical' Danish Home
She described the typical Danish country homes, consisting on the average of 17 rooms built one story high of brick with tile roofing. "They cannot buy machinery and have the modern conveniences in the kitchen as in this country," she said, "so they put their money into their homes and living."

There are one to four grandparents in many homes, she said, besides the immediate family and the hired help. Living close to the Iron Curtain—Miss Dettlor lived in one home that was less than ten miles from the barbed wire fences with a machine gun every six feet—has taught these people to live joyfully each day and enjoy the pleasures of life while they have them. Almost every evening a family entertains neighbors, or they go visiting, and as the women crochet or knit and the children play, the men play cards or discuss their farm problems.

"We ate seven times a day," Miss Dettlor said, which included three regular meals besides morning and afternoon coffee and coffee twice in the evening. Because of the lunching, every other day is baking day in Denmark.

The Danes have no pie, so the first family Miss Dettlor visited wanted to know if she could make the famous American apple pie. She did, and the whole neighborhood was invited to see their first American pie.

Why Wooden Shoes

The Wisconsin IFYE discovered why the Danes wear wooden shoes or boots. For one thing, rubber must be imported from the Dutch East Indies, and rubber boots are expensive. But Danish cleanliness makes it almost necessary to remove shoes when coming into the house.

(In addition to sweeping out the kitchen many times a day, the floor must be mopped three times daily.)

Housewives wash all windows inside and out every Wednesday morning, Miss Dettlor declared. A neighbor youngster once asked her if Americans didn't have machines for washing windows.

Through American motion pictures, the speaker said, the Danes have come to believe that every American family has two or three Cadillacs, a station wagon, two or three maids, and an electric dishwasher, and other conveniences.

They were surprised that American youths know how to work. "They expected Hollywood movie stars when we came over there," the speaker said (she was one of three who went to that country under the program), "but instead they got sons and daughters whom they came to accept as members of their families." She explained that the IFYEs are not sent to foreign countries to teach the people, but to study them.

"The Danish people are friendly and happy," the speaker added, "and they have two bumper crops, flowers and cotton-top children."

She said there are 1,700 country churches in Denmark that were built between 1100 and 1150.

As Denmark has too cold a climate to raise corn, Miss Dettlor took some popcorn with her. Her hosts were shocked to see the corn popping and called the popcorn "corn flakes." One of her little Danish brothers ate his popcorn with cream and sugar. The rotund maiden attracts the boy friend in Denmark, Miss Dettlor said, the larger waistline indicating to the young men that the chubby young lady will make the better cook and homemaker.

Asked why Danish farmers do not export butter and cheese to America, she said, she found that much Wisconsin-made dried milk is used in that country and saw containers bearing the name "Eau Claire."

Dress Quite Familiar

She found that the young people there dress much the same as they do here, and that they, too, like hot dogs, although the winners are longer, and they eat them differently, holding the meat in one hand and the bun in the other and dipping both into the catsup.

Bicycling is the main means of transportation in Denmark, she said, and young people think nothing of a 50- or 60-mile trip on a Sunday.

She arrived in Denmark about July 1 and found that the Danes celebrated the 4th of July as the United States' Independence Day. She said she was thrilled to mingle with 50,000 Danish people on that date, listen to an inspiring address, and here the people pray that America would do the right thing to preserve world peace. "If other nations would put the flags of other countries side by side as they did," she said, "maybe we would have world peace."

U.S. Coin Gets OK For Another Year

PHILADELPHIA (U) — United States coin of the realm has been declared up to standards for another year.

A group of citizenry made the annual visit to the U.S. Mint yesterday to test the coins. The 13 men and three women on this year's assay commission found everything in order—as was expected. The mint makes a preliminary check prior to each visit of the commission to ensure that.

The commission is appointed by the President. Its members receive no compensation, only the honor of appointment.

St. Cloud Bus Line Refuses Pay Hike For 20 Employees

MINNEAPOLIS (U) — The St. Cloud City Bus Lines has turned down a fact-finding board's recommendations for pay boosts for the firm's 20 employees.

Recommended were increases of three cents an hour for workers with six months' service; five cents an hour during the second six months and eight cents an hour for employees with more than a year's service.

The proposals were accepted by union officials. In rejecting the plan, the company offered a two-cent hourly pay hike which employee representatives refused.

The union has been asking an increase of 13 cents an hour plus other benefits. The board's proposals would have carried the scale for operators and utility men with a year's service to $1.40 an hour, raised "B" class mechanics to $1.43 and "A" class mechanics to $1.45.

No strike date has been set by the union, conciliators said.

Motorist Guides Air Ambulance To Safe Landing

MILES CITY, Mont. (U) — A veteran B17 bomber pilot on a mercy flight ran into foul weather and trouble, but a motorist below saved the day. Using his car's headlights, he guided the air ambulance onto the highway.

The patient was Kenneth (Buz) Chamberlaine, 36, injured Monday when a horse fell on him. Dr. Robert Currey and pilot Jim Shennum late Tuesday loaded Chamberlaine on a plane at Scooby to bring him to Veterans Administration hospital here.

They ran into soupy overcast near Glendive. The ceiling lowered to less than 500 feet. Shennum spotted the highway and buzzed it.

Motorist Pep Waple realized the trouble and pulled his car around. Its headlights guided the plane down onto the highway. Another motorist, James Cuber, of Rosebud, took the party on to the hospital.

Chamberlaine was reported in satisfactory condition yesterday.

Clean Shave Sends Westerners to Jail

TRUTH OR CONSEQUENCES; N.M. (U) — Police are arresting clean-shaven men these days if they don't have a shaving permit. It's the law that, by way of making the city look more Western for its annual fiesta program, men must buy a $1 shaving permit or wear their whiskers long. Fiesta ends Feb. 17.

Hearse Makes Second Trip With Same Man

EL MONTE, Calif. (U) — Harry Apperson was in a hearse en route to a mortuary last Sept. 1 when he received and persuaded the driver to take him to a hospital.

A chronic sufferer from a heart condition, Jones had been pronounced dead by a doctor.

Last night Jones suffered another heart attack. And this time he was not revived. His body was taken to the same mortuary for which he started last September.

Maybe Insult Will Drive Pigeons Away

AKRON, Ohio (U) — Several weeks ago the City Council ordered the Health Department to exterminate by whatever means necessary the flocks of pigeons that have been plaguing downtown Akron.

Shoot them, trap them, gas them, ordered the Council.

But after criticism from the Audubon Society and other bird lovers, the Council this week rescinded its previous order and passed another ordinance which simply declares pigeons are a "common nuisance." Maybe the pigeons will be insulted and go away, the Council said.

Here's What 22 'Aliens' Think Of Our Country: They Want It

Citizens-to-Be Graduate From Voluntary Class

By TOM BERGHS
Daily News Staff Writer

"... One nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

I went back to the third grade last week and heard 22 persons pronounce that—a concluding line to our Pledge of Allegiance—and felt more than a small twitch of guilt.

Because they weren't third-graders, touching off a session in rote memory patriotism, but instead they were adult men and women with faith—a faith that goes all the way to the root of their constitutional foundations and remains here—unshaken by the outlandishly poor example so often set for them by American citizens. A faith that tells them that Frank Scott Key was right—that this is the land of the free.

Those 22 men and women aren't citizens yet—they're just "half-way citizens"—technically "aliens," involved in a long naturalization process—but they're already better Americans than most of us, who've had our citizenship handed to us on a silver platter—with no questions asked.

A Faith Demanded
Leopold Stokowski, a Polish immigrant who received his citizenship in 1915 and became a world-famous symphonic conductor, once said: "The place of one's birth is an accident. I have often felt that the foreign-born Americans who, like myself, deliberately choose the country where we would live and do our life work, are more than natives of the new world. The very act of transferring our loyalties and destiny to this country demands a faith in its way of life, which few native-born Americans are ever called upon to feel."

Our 22 Winonans have such faith. The Polish income tax expert, the Belgian war bride, the Ukrainian professor, the Polish farmer, a Canadian secretary, the little Polish carpenter and the Czech marathon runner. You don't have to tell them that here there is freedom—they know it and live by it. But they wonder sometimes, like the German escapee who asked why—if loyalty and love deserve that Americans are to remove their hats and put their hands over their hearts when the flag passes in review (as is so properly taught)—why do our citizens stand aloof with their hands in their pockets during a parade? Could you answer him? I couldn't.

Those 22 men and women are wonderful persons. Norman Indall, their instructor during evening classes at Winona Senior High School for the past eight months, agrees most wholeheartedly to that.

"These people want to be good citizens," he said following the group's "graduation" session last week.

Legion Cooperation

The whole program got under way during the early months of 1954, when the Winona American Legion, through its citizenship committee, decided that it would be a grand idea to provide a helping hand for aliens in this area, who were preparing to take their citizenship examinations.

Ultimately, through the cooperative efforts of the American Legion, the Board of Education and the high school, a slate of 20 evening classes was set up.

Each class was to be two hours in length, but they often ran overtime—because the persons attending them were so vitally interested in what they were studying.

The classes are not required for an alien wishing to attain his or her citizenship—they were merely "there" as a learning tool for those who wanted to come.

Only Two Drop-outs

"We started with a class of 22," said Indall, "and finished with the same number. I thought some of them would become discouraged. But it's not easy stuff—and quit. But they didn't. Only two dropped out—one woman had a baby and a man entered the Army—but we picked up two more the second or third meeting and they all stuck together until it was done."

Indall was one of four teachers in Winona's public school system who taught the men and women to read, write and speak our language, helped them to know and understand our Constitution and system of government, taught them our national songs and showed them the way to attain their citizenship.

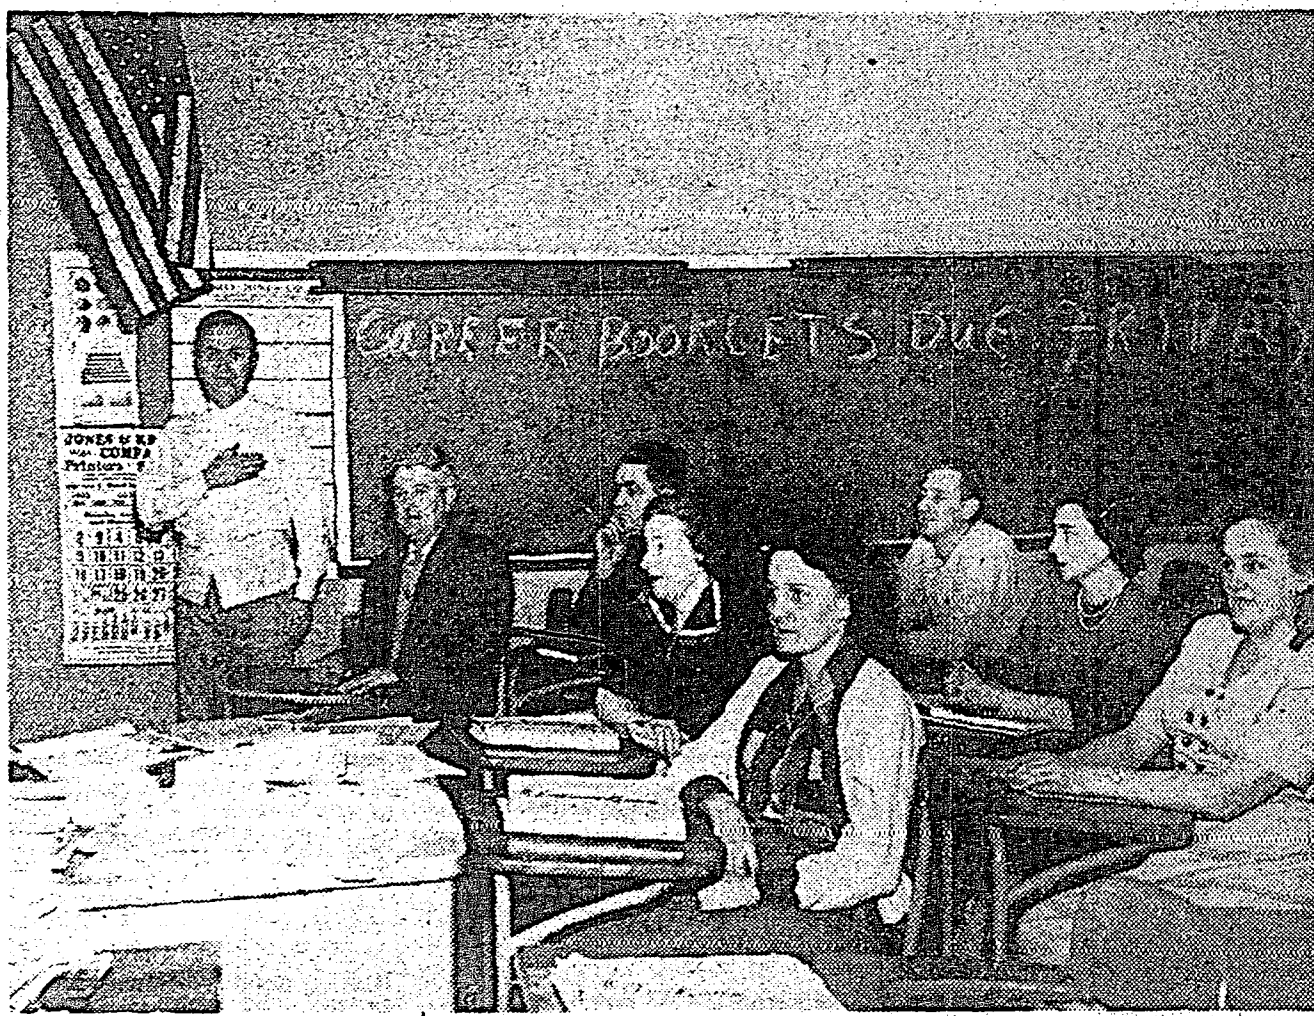

Helping too were Mrs. Indall, Miss Verlie Sather and Miss Mildred Kjöme.

"The improvement those persons showed over the period was remarkable," says Indall.

Superintendent of Schools Harvey P. Jensen keynoted the public schools' attitude toward the program when he said, "We are happy to cooperate with these serious-minded persons in helping them to reach the goals they seek."

Achieving those goals was not an easy job for the 15 Poles, two Germans, one Belgian, one Czech, one Canadian, one Ukrainian and two Czechs who stood the gaff.

Biggest hurdle for most of them of course was the language prob-

Studying The Pledge Of Allegiance to the flag during their final citizenship class at Winona Senior High School last week are these soon-to-be Americans. Left to right are: Jan Klimke, Germany; Albert Hromada, Czechoslovakia; Leo Ochymowycz, Ukraine; Mrs. Al Hegenbart, Belgium; Mrs. Lisette Klimke, Germany; Jan Sagoun, Poland; Mrs. James Newmann, Canada; and Mrs. Albert Hromada, Czechoslovakia. lem. Basic requirement for the citizenship test is the one that says the applicant must be able to read and speak the English language. For some of them it wasn't bad—but for others it was a monumental task.

How well they mastered their studies won't be known until they take their final exam. The "big one" will be administered by the Immigration and Naturalization Service and the federal District Court at the post office here. If they pass—they're citizens, for now and always.

For Various Reasons
Some of them had unusual reasons for coming to this country; others had somewhat unique methods of getting here and with a few you wind up wondering how they ever had the courage to attempt it.

But for all of them, there was a common dreadful day in history that altered the course and destiny of all their lives. That day was Sept. 1, 1939—the day Hitler's stalking power divisions thundered into Poland, capitalizing World War II.

That was the day that upended the lives of all 22, eventually turned almost all of them into frantically fleeing displaced persons and plotted 22 course stars on the long ascent to Winona.

It was two days later, that Jan Suszek, 46, now living at 864 E. 5th St., joined the Polish army in its pitiful short-lived defense against Hitler's crushing invasion.

Fifteen days later, Russia too sought some of the easy pickings in Poland and plummeted into the helpless country.

Jan was immediately captured by the Russians and sent to a prison camp in Siberia. There, the slightly framed 120-pound carpenter went to work under the Soviet heel. He managed to stay alive for six months in Siberia before escaping during a prisoner of war exchange en route to Germany.

He was later recaptured, spent two years in a German prison camp and was finally released by American liberating forces in 1944.

It was quite a come-down for the Polish carpenter who at one time had been one of Poland's most respected cabinetmakers.

Jan, at one time had employed six men in his shop at Mynow, Poland, making by hand the finest beds, tables and cabinets.

At one time a fairly wealthy man, Jan had sent $35,000 of his money to the U. S. for deposit in a Washington, D. C., bank. When the Russians later took over Poland's monetary system, they impounded the paper at the bank that said Jan had claim to the money over here.

He worked until January of 1951 as a civilian worker for the U. S. Army and came to this country in February of that year as a displaced person.

Jan would have been free to return to Poland, but chose to come here because "I hated the Communists."

"If here in this country, I am seeing a Communist," he said, "to the FBI I am telling right now you betcha!"

Jan's first job in Winona was at St. Mary's College—as a carpenter—but now he's employed at the North Western Railway shops, where "the pay is so much better than my best days in Poland."

The four-member Suszek family has one citizen in the fold already. Jan's 22-month-old son was born in Winona, but for Jan, his wife Martha and 5-year-old Therese, it means the long pull for citizenship.

For Mrs. James C. Newmann, 632 W. Wabasha St., the story was a little different. She's a Canadian, but none the less it was still the start of World War II that started her on the road to Winona.

At her home in British Columbia, she was employed by a U. S. Army Quartermaster post. Her sister Jeanne married a soldier stationed there and later moved to Minneapolis, which started a train of events that eventually brought Mrs. Newmann, her father, her brother and an aunt to Winona.

Through her brother-in-law, Mrs. Newmann (then Isabelle McKinnon) was enticed to come to the U. S. on a 30-day visa. She liked it so well in Minneapolis that she stayed on, in a secretarial capacity, and met Jim Newmann, then a student and now employed at the Lake Center Switch Co.

The two were married Dec. 9, 1950, and shortly thereafter moved to Winona. "I just liked it here in the U. S. when I came down on that 30-day visa," she said, "so I began working on my papers and here I am."

The greatest singular disaster ever encountered by Mrs. Al Hegenbart, 111½ E. King St., was when she saw her father and three of her sisters shot to death before her eyes as the family was attempting to escape from their Verriers, Belgium, home.

That was in 1940, when they attempted to get out of the Germans' way and into France. "Sure, sure," she said, "our whole village—right on the Belgian-German border—was trying to get out before we were all killed."

"My father (a furniture salesman) was leading us along the road several miles from the village when a German plane came over low and strafed the whole column of people—they killed my whole family."

Paullette then returned to Verriers to sit it out. She met Al Hegenbart after the U. S. had occupied the village in 1945—during the closing days of the war.

Al was with the postal unit at Verriers at the time Paullette went to work as a civilian employee. Presumably Al taught her a few things about post office and the romance was on. He returned to the U. S. after the close of European hostilities, but returned late in 1946 to claim Paullette as his bride.

The couple returned to Al's home at La Crosse, but moved to Winona in 1947, where he is employed by the Federal Bakery Co.

"The Russians told us that Stalin is good and that God was not in. That's no good, so I got out," said Joe Staron, 53, 878 E. Sanborn St.

Joe—who Indall says was the mutually-acclaimed leader of his 22 students—was sitting on his living room floor studying the provisions of the Constitution when I walked into his very comfortable home.

Joe was born in the village of Lgor, in the state of Krakow, Poland, where his father was the manager of a coal factory.

When he was older, Joe worked for the government as an income tax expert in the Russian-dominated half of Poland. That was in the years before World War II, when Poland was politically divided between Germany and Russia.

1939—and war—sent Joe to work for the Germans on a forced-labor basis in an industrial plant. There he stayed until April 6, 1949, when he escaped and made it with his wife Stanisla and two daughters to a DP boat headed U.S.-ward.

The family first went to work for George Daley at Lewiston and later moved into Winona, where Joe is now employed at the Standard Fish Market.

To Joe Staron, the word "freedom" entails a great many things.

"I work and I work and work—to save enough money to buy my house—and that too is freedom," he said, "you don't realize how much that means. In Europe now, that is not so."

"Everybody here has a job. If you work, you have money. If you have money, you are free to spend it you want and save it you want."

"In Europe now, you work, but get no pay from the Russians—no spending, no saving—all the time war and death."

Joe owns his own home lock, stock and barrel—and it's a beauty—where he provides a drastically different type of living for his family now.

His wife and his daughter, Mrs. Danuta Ratjar, are all enrolled in the course at the high school. Sixteen-year-old Krystyna is going to have to wait until she's 18 before she can take the citizenship examination.

She thinks that's a little incongruous. "I can speak, understand, read and write English better than anyone in the family," she said, "but they'll all be citizens before I am."

And on it goes. Each of them with different reasons for coming here, different ways of getting here and vastly spread out impressions of life in the U. S.

There's JAN and MARY REJMAN, 871 E. Mark St. and their son and daughter-in-law, who were Polish farmers, forced to work at a German government-operated farm after the war broke out. Their village of Frankamionka was burned out by invading Ukrainians in 1939 and the family finally made it here in 1949, via a DP visa.

The four Rejmans agree that the best reason for becoming U. S. citizens is to have the right to vote and seek or occupy public office.

MR AND MRS. ALBERT HROMODA, Krompachy, Czechoslovakia, are now living at Wabasha, but never missed a class. He's employed as a farm manager at St. Elizabeth's Hospital—and that's really a switch for Albert.

For 36-year-old Hromoda was twice the Slovakian grand champion marathon runner and established time records (neatly recorded on two huge trophies in his living room) that were better than those established in the Olympic games.

In 1940, Albert ran 10 kilometers in 31 minutes—and that's moving. It was a Slovakian national record.

It was during the Slovakian national games at Bratislava in 1943—where Albert jumped 50 miles in two hours and 37 minutes—that he met his wife Badovsky.

She was an ardent track fan (there's an old technique!) and there cheered him on to a second national title.

"I used to practice with him," she said, with a very definite twinkle in the deep-set Czech eyes.

Probably the most outstanding example of nothing more than plain raw courage was exemplified by MR AND MRS LEO M. OCHYMOWYCZ, who walked right up and twisted death's nose before making it to the U. S.

American citizenship will become Leo's fifth nationality—the first by choice—and the English language—at which he's more than fluent—is his eighth.

Forty-four-year-old Ochymowycz was born in Austria and at later dates successively assumed the mantle of the Ukrainian, German, Polish and finally America.

"This is the only important one," he said. "The others were pushed onto me, not by virtue of choice, but by right of habitation—this is the first one I have chosen of my own free will."

Leo came into contact with this highly-intelligent man when a sophomoric freshman at St. Mary's College, where he was in his first year of teaching in the U. S. His English was poor—and my German was even poorer—but in the intervening years he learned to speak flawless English.

It was a long road to Winona for Leo Ochymowycz, however. He has taught at several European universities up until 1939. From there on in, until he came to the U. S. in 1949, it was a constant struggle to keep just one step ahead of the Russians—who were systematically seizing all of Europe's intelligentsia for their own causes.

Leo got out of Poland in 1949, leaving instructions for his wife Sophie, who as yet was in no danger, to follow him in December of that year. She was to make her way at that time across the San River—which would be frozen by then—into Allied Poland.

Sophie, however, seeing that the Russians were rounding up wives of escaped men in their district, trekked out of the family home with her two children during the dead of night on Nov. 21—just 12 hours before she was due to be arrested.

The San River was not yet frozen, but she waded across the Future Citizens To Be Honored At Public Dinner

The Winona American Legion today announced that 22 future American citizens will be honored at a public recognition dinner Feb. 22 at 7 p.m. at the American Legion Memorial Club. Women are invited.

Included in the guest list will be the wives or husbands of aliens who have recently completed an eight-month citizenship course at Winona Senior High School.

The course, although not mandatory in the government-supervised naturalization process, was originally offered as a "helping hand" under the joint auspices of the American Legion and the Board of Education.

To Take Examination
Many of those who completed the 20 two-hour evening classes will take their final citizenship examination sometime early in March at the Winona Post Office under the supervision of the U. S. District Court.

Master of ceremonies for the Washington's Birthday affair will be Norman E. Indall, the class instructor.

Also on the program, various segments of Winona community life will be represented by: Morris Bergsrud, chairman of the county DFL party; Carro Syverson, chairman of the county GOP; Carl Aune, president of the Winona Trades and Labor Council; Lester O. Peterson, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Gordon Anderson, county extension agent; the Most Rev. Edward A. Fitzgerald, bishop of the Diocese of Winona.

Harvey D. Jensen, superintendent of schools; John T. Curtis, Leon J. Wetzel Post 9 commander; Mayor Loyde E. Pfeiffer, and the Rev. James C. Hill, post chaplain, who will give the invocation.

A movie "Our America" will be shown in conjunction with the program.

Tickets are available at the Legion club and from members of the citizenship committee and other Legionnaires including: Oke Hultkrantz, Adolph Bremer, Norman Indall, James Cole, Bernard F. Boland, John Fuhlbrugge, Arthur Rian, Lucian Grupa, Joseph Poblacki, John Curtis, Joseph Mayan, Charles E. Linden, Elgin Sonnemann, Ray Casini, Donald Klein-schmidt, Chester McCready, Melvin Harders, Henry Aune, Leo McVinn, Donald T. Winder, John W. Dugan, David Sauer, James T. Schain, James Stoltman, Dr. E. G. Callahan, George White, Carl Lauer and Dr. George Failing.

These 22 men and women—many of whom shortly will become citizens of this country—all share one particular thought, lying at the base of a steadfast faith in their individual decisions: The United States is the realm of freedom. It's the one place... the only place... the finest place in the world.

And of a certainty, as expressed by any one of them you talk to, included in their faith is the belief that one Norman Indall is numbered among the finest.

Leon J. Wetzel Post 9, American Legion, will honor these 22 seekers of freedom at a public banquet Feb. 22.

"... One nation under God... liberty and justice for all."

When I went back to third grade that night, I felt rather small, listening to 22 wonderful soon-to-be Americans saying that.

They meant it—and somehow said so in a vastly different way than you or I.

Finland Subject Of Talk Before Legion Auxiliary

"The Girl Scout counselor exchange plan is a wonderful way to promote friendship between peoples," stated Mrs. L. E. Brynstad in a talk before the American Legion Auxiliary Tuesday evening in the Legion Memorial clubrooms.

The comment came as the conclusion of a talk by Mrs. Brynstad on her experiences as an exchange camp counselor for the Girl Scouts in Finland last summer.

She opened her discussion with a brief history of the Girl Scout movement in the United States, beginning with its founding by Juliette Low in March, 1912. The international exchange plan, she explained, is underwritten by the Juliette Low fund which is made up of contributions from Girl Scouts throughout America and proceeds from special projects earmarked for this purpose.

Mrs. Brynstad illustrated her talk on Finland with films. She was introduced by Mrs. E. G. Callahan, Americanism chairman for the auxiliary.

During the business session which followed the program, members heard a report on the bake sale held recently for the benefit of the organization's memorial and general funds. Mrs. C. J. Hengel, Mrs. LeRoy Roth and Mrs. Walter Pelkert were in charge of the project.

Mrs. Roth reported on the plans for sending a supply of new and attractive handkerchiefs and Mother's Day cards to the state hospital at Rochester for the use of veterans who are patients there.

A report on plans for the local unit's Americanism Essay contest and selection of delegates to Girls' State was made by Mrs. Callahan. Colors were advanced Mrs. Barbara Steele. Music was provided by Mrs. H. V. Teegarden at the piano. A social hour followed the meeting. Hostesses were Mrs. J. J. Hermer, Miss Steele, Mrs. Vold and Miss Adelaide Deckert.

Central Junior High Delights In Operetta

To the delightful tune of Stephen Foster's "The Merry, Merry, Month of May," the curtains parted on a lovely southern garden scene Wednesday evening in Central Junior High School Auditorium when the students, under the direction of John Duell, presented the first of two performances of the two-act operetta, "An Old Kentucky Garden," by G. A. Grant-Schaefer. The operetta is to be repeated this evening at 8 o'clock.

The students under the able direction of John Duell pleased in such old Foster favorites as "Jeanie With the Light Brown Hair," "Come Where My Love Lies Dreaming," "Old Folks at Home," "My Old Kentucky Home," "Oh, Susanna" and others.

The dances under the direction of Mrs. Harlon Nelson were clever and artistic. The stage setting was effective with its bright colored flowers giving the effect of a Southern garden. Gay Chinese lanterns gave a picturesque touch.

Costumes were typical of the 1850 period, the women's with low necklines, puffed sleeves, wide skirts, and ruffles and flounces trimmed with lace or garlands of flowers. The men wore high hats and tail coats.

Mary Nystrom proved a sweet Jeanie "with the light brown hair" in the role of Col. Stanton's niece. The audience was delighted with Jerry Ziebell in a fine portrayal of Richard Morgan, the northerner, who wins the respect and admiration of the hostile southern Colonel Stanton who was well played by Scott Streeter. Kay Ehle was realistic as the Colonel's wife.

Henry Blow and Hannah Larkin played by James Simon and Mary Christensen provided comedy and Lyman Jackson and Richard Jewell added a bit of "corny humor" as Mr. Artichoke and Mr. Monkoff. All other parts were well enacted.

Other principals were: Stephen C. Foster played by Michael Loomis; Phillip Staunton, David Doner; Joy Davis, Virginia Stoecker; Majundor, Honey Lou Miller; Joe Buzzard, Patrick Crum; Elmiria, Nancy Kalbrener; William, Thomas Thaldorf; Andrew, Dalvin Boardman; Sarah, Peggy Williams; Adalza, Darlene Berndt; Lily, Ginny Loomis; Rastus, John Saecker; Tom, Alfred Wolfram, and Tim, Lee Edstrom.

The plantation chorus was made up of Andrea Brynstad, Jeanne Praskowski, Rebecca Peterson, Rosemary Voelker, Patty Valentine, Norma Hostettler, Judy Gross, Gail Parrish, Patty Sherman, Marlene Van Thomma, Alma Mauthaus, Mara Achef, James Hill, Byron Hock, Ricky Heyer, Sharon Elles, Susan Lundberg, Susan Wheeler, Karen Kalbrener, Mary Streater, Janette Belter, Judy Swanson, Karen Kryzsko, Sharon Harvey, Donna Burt, Lynn Hartner, Marion Schmidt, Germaine Volkman, Penny Heberling and Nancy Yahnke.

The guest chorus consisted of Marjorie Will, Marion Nilsen, Donna Lockwood, Karen Benning, Mary Sweeney, Rosalie Carter, Ann Snyder, Patty Kaiser, William Baumann and Gary Anderson. The rose drill chorus members dressed in crepe paper costumes to represent roses, was composed of Mary Froker, Bonnie Svenningson, Carol Reinke, Patty King, Joan Lake, Lois Ives, Priscilla Kamke, Linda Olson, Janice Schultz, Ingrid Isenman, Judy Earl, Carol Wiggins, Alys Comp-ton, Jane Baker, Judy Baker and Marilyn Simon. Hindu dancers were Sandra Holmes and Joyce Morcomb.

On the teacher committees for the presentation of the operetta were dance director, Mrs. Nelson; costume, Mrs. W. J. Keese and Miss Irene Walkee; make-up, Mrs. John Hughes, Mrs. Nelson, and Miss Phyllis Westlund; ticket sales, Peter-Rolf Ohnstad; posters, Edward Korpela; printing, Davis Christensen; publicity, Miss Gertrude Spiering; stage, Eldon Brandt, and orchestra, Milton Davenport.

Judith Hansgen, a ninth grade student was the accompanist. Diane Ahern, Barbara Bryn and Nancy Hock acted as ushers. Scott Streeter and John Saecker were stage assistants.

A lovely Southern garden, excellent interpretations of characters by means of music and drama and authentic costuming successfully combined to furnish a delightful evening's entertainment with orchestral music between acts furnished by the junior high school orchestra under the direction of Mr. Davenport.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert O. Skar, Taylor, Wis., announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Bernice Irene, above, to Donald C. Crogan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clem Crogan, Galesville, Wis. The wedding will take place Feb. 12, at St. Mary's Catholic Church, Galesville, at 10:30 a. m.

Exchange Teacher Talks on Hawaii Before Ettrick PTA

ETTRICK, Wis. (Special)—"Hawaii, the Paradise of the Pacific," was the topic of an address by Miss Flora Auyong, exchange teacher at Logan High School, La Crosse, at a meeting of the Ettrick PTA Monday evening.

Miss Auyong, an American of Chinese ancestry, was born in Honolulu. She attended college at San Francisco, Calif., and at Central Washington College of Education, Ellensburg, Wash. She has taught at Kona and Castle high schools in Hawaii.

In her address Miss Auyong discussed the Hawaiian people, language, customs, educational system, form of government today and its evolution, the strategic geographical location, and the many ways in which the territory compares with life on the "mainland." She also showed color slides of Hawaii, and sang Hawaiian songs, playing her own accompaniment on the ukelele.

Music also was by the "Novelty Nine," a newly-organized group of school musicians, directed by John Sorenson.

At the business session preceding the program it was decided to send two students and an adult as delegates to the Wisconsin children's conference on global education to be held in Madison April 14 and 15. A committee to select the delegates is comprised of Mrs. Arthur Runestrand, Mrs. John Terpening and Alvin Hogden.

It was voted to sponsor a four-number lyceum course for the coming year, to be secured through the University Extension Department.

The all-purpose room in the new Ettrick school building was used for a community purpose for the first time. About 100 were present.

Numbers Listed For Concert by Lois Marshall

Miss Lois Marshall, Canadian soprano, who gave a New York recital in Town Hall Jan. 23 before a large and distinguished audience, whose enthusiasm can be measured by the fact that the artist received the rarest tribute a New York audience can accord—a standing ovation, will sing at the College of Saint Teresa Saturday at 8 p. m.

A standing ovation is rare enough under many circumstances, but is virtually unprecedented for so young an artist, singing her second New York recital.

Rarely has a soprano sung a program of such breadth—from Purcell to Brahms and from Rossini to Verdi. The program itself was of the model Town Hall variety, including three song cycles: One by Purcell, in English; one by Brahms, in German; and the Ravel Scheherazade, in French.

In addition, Miss Marshall added the great concert air, "Non mi dir," from Mozart's "Don Giovanni," and closed the concert with a group of classic folk songs.

Five concert engagements have been booked for next season by local impresarios who attended this recital. These cities include, among others, Atlanta, Ga.; Montgomery, Ala.; Millbrook, N. Y., and two California cities.

The program Saturday evening will be as follows:

Hark, Hark, How All Things in One Sound Rejoice..... Henry Purcell

Negro Music in This Country Topic for DAR

Growth of "the only original form of American music," the music of the Negro in this country, was traced by Mrs. James McConnon at the meeting of Wenonah Chapter, DAR, at the home of Mrs. Leo Brom, Goodview, Wednesday afternoon.

She opened her discussion with the folk song of the American Negro "who sang of his sorrow and weariness of enslavement." Concerts given by the Fiske University chorus were listed as the first public presentations of this music.

"These spirituals are now of worldwide appeal," she continued, "because of their rhythms and simple sincerity." Records by Marion Anderson were used as illustrations.

Negro "blues" with "sad melancholy vocals, characteristic of this type of music" were commented upon next. Mrs. McConnon continuing, "The imitation of the Negro music by the white man grew into the minstrel show. Stephen Foster wrote many of his beautiful songs for these productions. 'Last step in the Negro contribution to world music is jazz which originated in New Orleans. This was true creative effort where the musician broke all established rules of music and played original compositions as he felt them.'

Girl Scouts to Decorate 'Trees' For Korea

Girl Scouts of Winona will combine the fun of a day's outing with a practical demonstration of their concern for less fortunate children, when they decorate four "Trees for Korea" as part of the Winter Play Day Saturday at the Trempealeau camp.

Girls will bring warm scarves, socks and mittens. Before they begin their afternoon of skiing and skating and games, there will be a ceremony during which the gifts for Korea will be hung on four small pine trees at the camp.

Each tree represents one of the four neighborhoods which make up the Winona Girl Scout Council. Following the ceremony, gifts will be removed from the trees, packed in cartons and shipped to the children of Korea as evidence of the good will and desire to help of local Girl Scouts.

Girl Scouts will meet at the camp site at 1:15 p.m., and are to bring their own equipment for the afternoon of skating, skiing and sliding. Adult counselors will be on hand to help with all activities and the program will end with a winter roast lunch.

End Brucellosis Tests on Beef Heifers, Group Asks

SOUTH ST. PAUL (AP)—The Central Livestock Ass'n. is asking that brucellosis tests be suspended insofar as beef heifers are concerned.

Delegates by resolution Wednesday, suggested to the State Livestock Sanitary Board that such animals pose no danger in spreading the disease because they are shipped to market. Present rules, the resolution said, result only in excessive handling of cattle.

The association did go on record for a continuation of legislative grants for control of brucellosis. It also voted against a proposed increase from five to seven of the sanitary boards on grounds it would have no beneficial effect.

Norris Cranes, general manager for the 122,000-member co-operative, reported 1,975,000 animals were marketed last year for $120,908,638. The $143,060 patronage dividends paid amounted to 17 cents on each dollar of commissions received, he said.

Ike 'Greatest U.S. Blessing,' Says Brownell

CHICAGO (AP)—President Eisenhower is "our greatest national blessing," says Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr., and the nation's security is "firmly anchored" to him.

Brownell termed Eisenhower "The one person, apart and above all others among us, with the military experience, sagacity, leadership and temperament to plot a course of peace through the turbulent, war-charged waters of our world."

Speaking of the President's role as commander in chief, Brownell said the national security is in capable hands. He recalled the President's budget message statement that the nation never has been so well prepared in peacetime.

Brownell, addressing the United League Club at its 75th anniversary dinner last night, chose at his subject "The President of the United States," because he said the question most often asked him was "What is the President like?"

The attorney general, one of the President's closest advisers, said: "Amidst the turmoil of this day, a fact has emerged: That this commander knows what to do, how to do it, when to act, and when not to act."

"The acid test of national leadership lies in public confidence," Brownell added. "Never before in our time have the people of this nation been more self-assured."

Rep. Tom Frey, a Republican who says he is a "wet," filed a bill to prohibit the mixing, selling or keeping of liquor in private clubs.

"Now we will know whether the public really wants to make the state 'cracker dry' or liberalize things so that we can have liquor by the drink," he said.

Architectural Firm Wins 2 State Awards

John J. Flad & Associates of Madison, Wis., which opened an office in Winona in July 1954, has been named winner of first and second honor awards in a competition sponsored by the Wisconsin Architect's Association.

The awards were for distinguished accomplishment in architecture and based on the firm's design of the Parker Pen Co. industrial plant at Janesville, Wis., and the Middleton (Wis.) State Grade School.

The architectural competition, which attracted 49 entries by firms throughout Wisconsin, is held every two years by the Wisconsin association, a chapter of the American Institute of Architects.

Its purpose is to encourage the appreciation of excellence in building design, and to give recognition of exceptional merit in recently completed structures. The awards are made on the basis of the owner's requirements, site conditions, cost limitations and other limiting factors.

Bills Discussed By Businessmen At Area Meeting

Bills introduced before the current session of the state Legislature and their effect on business and industry were discussed by Chamber of Commerce representatives from 13 Southeastern Minnesota counties at the Kahler Hotel at Rochester Wednesday.

Seven Winonans were present and J. M. George of this city was presiding officer. Other delegations represented Rochester, Owatonna, Mankato, Faribault, Austin, Albert Lea, South St. Paul and Red Wing.

Appropriations for the 1954-55 biennium were studied and speakers compared them with recommendations of Gov. Orville L. Freeman for the 1956-57 period.

Other discussions developed informational material on Minnesota's public works, proposals to increase old-age assistance, repeal of the old-age lien law, withholding of state income taxes, pupil aid to junior colleges, personal property tax exemption on household goods, iron ore occupation tax amendment, increases in workmen's compensation, fee increases and 1954 valuations of manufacturers' machinery and inventories.

Objective of the legislative study group, said George in opening the meeting, is not to act as a lobbying agency but rather to disseminate information to those businessmen who may want to make individual expressions to their legislators. Similar groups have been organized in other parts of the state.

A table of 1954 valuations of manufacturers' machinery and inventories by counties revealed that Winona County is fourth in the state, led only by Hennepin (Minneapolis), Ramsey (St. Paul) and St. Louis (Duluth) counties. Valuation of tools, equipment and machinery in Winona County was $628,620 and valuation of raw materials and goods in process and finished was $627,460.

Among the measures to increase fees, of interest to Winona clubs, is that of which Sen. John A. Johnson of Preston is one of the authors, a 10-cent-a-club liquor license from $100 to $500 per year. Other bills would increase fees paid to the securities division, raise nurses licenses and the license now paid by insurance men and boost fees paid to bank examiners.

Objection to the location of the proposed $16,000,000 state hospital at Brainerd for mentally ill children was expressed by T. M. McDonnell, Rochester, if the hospital is to be for rehabilitation purposes. If such is the case, he said, it should be located either at Rochester because of its proximity to the Mayo Clinic or in the Twin Cities near the University of Minnesota medical school. If the hospital is to be for custodial purposes only, then its location is inconsequential, said the speaker.

College Appropriations
A study of Gov. Freeman's budget message showed that he recommended an increase in the appropriation for Winona State Teachers College of $90,256 for the next biennium, raising the figure from $779,048 granted in 1954-55 to $869,304. The Winona appropriation, however, is the lowest of all of the state teachers colleges.

Representing Winona at the conference were George, A. J. Anderson, Chamber of Commerce secretary, K. A. McQueen, S. J. Kryzsko, E. J. Sievers, Phillip A. Baumann and Gordon R. Cloway.

Another meeting of the group will be held at Rochester March 2.

Mercury Sinking; -10 Predicted

The thermometer went into a nose dive early today and weather forecasters in both Minnesota and Wisconsin agree that the worst is yet to come.

Winona's temperature dipped 35 degrees—to a wintry 5 below at noon today—and it's expected to be at least 10 below here tonight.

Surrounding rural areas will have temperatures about 5 degrees colder. Highway conditions this morning were described as fair by the district office at Rochester, but high winds were expected to cause considerable drifting in Southeastern Minnesota. At noon a wind of 20 miles per hour with gusts to 33 was reported at the Winona Municipal Airport.

Ice at Some Spots

There are isolated spots of ice in the district, a hangover from the sleet and melting snow that blanketed the area Tuesday night. Highways along the south part of the state were relatively clear. No precipitation was reported in areas around Preston, Spring Grove and Preston.

Further north, however, the snow ranged from half an inch at Rushford to an inch and a half at Winona and 4 inches in Wabasha. Street and highway crews were expected to have most of the accumulation cleared by noon, but the drifting could cause trouble. Some drifting was reported early today between Minnesota City and Minneapolis.

Snowy ice was reported between Minnesota City and Wabasha, but north of Wabasha Highway 61 was relatively clear. Main highways around Red Wing were reported relatively clear at noon today, but drifting snow was prevalent on side roads.

Late Wednesday afternoon three cars were reported in the ditch with five or six others stuck in a snowdrift on Highway 61 near Stockton Hill before highway crews arrived to sand the highway.

Effects of the cold wave were being felt today throughout Minnesota and Wisconsin. Minnesota lows included 23 below at International Falls, 22 below at Bemidji, 20 below at Alexandria, 17 below at Redwood Falls and St. Cloud, 15 below at Duluth and 12 below in the Twin Cities. The forecast is for lows of 20 to 30 below in the northern part of the state tonight with 10 to 15 below in the north Friday.

Locally, the mercury is not expected to get much over zero Friday.

Temperatures in Wisconsin fell as much as 29 degrees as the cold front moved into the northern part of the state early today. 6 Below at La Crosse Grantsburg, the traditional cold spot which is about 125 miles northwest of Winona, had a low of 14 below, while Eau Claire was a chilly 5 below. It was 8 below at La Crosse.

Coldest spot in the nation this morning was Dickinson, N.D., with a 27 below reading. Morning readings in Southeastern Minnesota communities included 12 below at Wabasha and 4 below at Spring Valley.

The Associated Press reported the Weather Bureau at Chicago said it could become the most widespread cold wave of the winter.

The advancing cold front stretched from the eastern end of the Great Lakes region on the north to southern Texas on the south. It touched off snow squalls in some areas.

The cold front was moving in a southeasterly direction.

In a recent Pennsylvania sample school survey, 1 child in 5 had bad tonsils, 1 in 10 had defective vision, 3 in 100 had heart defects, and 77.9 per cent had one or more teeth that needed dental care.

Working Mother May Get Break On State Taxes

ST. PAUL (AP)—Working mothers employing baby-sitters will get a financial break if the Minnesota House has its way.

Representatives voted late Wednesday, 87-26, to let such mothers earning up to $4,500 annually to deduct as much as $600 from gross income in figuring their state taxes.

Deductible amounts would decrease for those earning over $4,500 a year—with no deduction allowed for those earning more than $5,100.

Rep. Peter Popovich, St. Paul, attacked the bill on grounds that, when both parents work, there are more juvenile delinquents.

In other legislative action, the Senate Highway Committee okayed bills allowing use of stronger automobile headlights.

The Senate Civil Administration Committee approved a voluntary pension plan for legislators and rejected a bill permitting state employees to have union dues deducted from their salaries.

Condition of Pope Called 'Fairly Good'

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The condition of Pope Pius XII was described today by his personal physician as "fairly good, enough to justify a certain tranquility for the immediate future."

Dr. Riccardo Galeazzi-Lisi said the 78-year-old pontiff has steadily increased his work as he has slowly regained strength.

Building Code Commission for State Sought

ST. PAUL (U)—Creation of a state building code commission is asked in a bill introduced in the Legislature Wednesday by Rep. Dewey Reed, St. Cloud.

The commission would set up a code of rules, regulations and standards of construction. The commission would be composed of 11 members—two senators, two representatives and seven citizens—to be named by the governor.

A study of all statutes, with a view of eliminating overlapping or conflicting provisions, also would be made by the commission, which must report to the Legislature on or before Dec. 15, 1956.

Rep. O. L. Johnson, McGregor, is chief author of a bill providing that a public hearing must be held before lands declared as state reserves by the commissioner of conservation could be opened for taking of protected wild animals. All legal weekly newspapers would have to file a copy of each issue with the state historical society in a bill introduced by Rep. Peter Popovich, St. Paul.

TC Instructor Heads Conference

Miss Amanda Aarestad, faculty member at Winona State Teachers College and state chairman of the commission on teacher education and professional standards, will preside at the first Minnesota conference of local association chairmen at the Leamington Hotel, Minneapolis, Friday and Saturday.

Dr. T. M. Stunnett, Washington, D.C., executive secretary of the national teacher education and professional standards commission, will address the conference members Friday evening on "Portrait of a Dream."

More than 100 local chairmen will attend the conference from all over the state. The following have registered from the southeastern counties of Minnesota: The Misses Gertrude Piers, Albert Lea; Ella M. Gustavson, Alden; Frances Wassman, Faribault; Edwina Schueter, Lake City; Frances Hilligan, Red Wing; Loretta Neus, Austin; Yvonne Norrell, Wells; Violet Stewart, Owatonna, and Elizabeth Albrecht, Belle Plaine; Mrs. Clara Streiff, LeRoy; Mrs. Marian Beving, Albert Lea; Mrs. Loretta St. John, LeSueur; Mrs. Alice Erickson and Mrs. Mabelle Cuffel, Rochester; Emil Skovbroten, Owatonna; Sherman Nordquist, Rochester; Ray L. Stejke, Zumbrota, and L. M. Ellingson, Faribault, who is teacher education and professional standards chairman of the southeast division of the Minnesota Education Association.

Miss Aarestad is serving as state chairman for the third consecutive two-year term.

BEDTIME STORIES

By HOWARD GARIS

Pat Butter, the jolly grocery store goat, looked at Uncle Wiggy. The rabbit gentleman was skating across Frog Pond very fast. But Mr. Longears was not moving, or stirring out from right to left with his legs, as you do when you skate. Instead the rabbit gentleman was standing up straight, without moving a leg or foot.

Still he was skating fast across Frog Pond.

You know the reason why, because I told you at the end of yesterday's story. Uncle Wiggy was using a skate sail. It was fastened at his back. The wind blew on the sail and so the rabbit uncle was gliding fast over the ice on his skates without moving his paws.

But he was going too fast! The wind was very strong. So, when he found that he was being blown too fast by his skate sail, Uncle Wiggy shouted!

"Pat, I am going too fast! Please help me! Stop me from going so fast! Help! Help!"

Pat Butter, even though he sometimes might eat too much Swiss cheese, holes and all, was not a goat gentleman who deserted anyone who was in trouble. Least of all would he leave his friend, Uncle Wiggy. So, as soon as he heard the call for help, Mr. Butter bleated:

"I am coming, Wiggy! I am coming to help you! Wait for me!"

"I can't wait! The wind won't let me! The wind is blowing on my skate sail so hard that I can't stop!" shouted Mr. Longears.

"Then let go of the sail!" bleated the goat. "Let the skate sail blow away and then you will stop! Let go!"

"I can't let go of the skate sail, Pat!" shouted the rabbit gentleman. "I have tied the sail around at the back and I can't reach around to loosen it! You will have to come and help me, Pat, or I shall be blown all the way across Frog Pond!"

"I am coming, Wiggy! I am coming!" shouted the goat.

He began to run across the ice, back of Mr. Longears, chasing him, to catch him before the rabbit might be blown to the other side of Frog Pond. But the faster Mr. Butter ran, the faster Uncle Wiggy was blown along ahead of him by the skate sail.

"Are you coming, Pat? Are you coming?" shouted the rabbit. "If you get behind me you can loosen the skate sail and then I shall stop skimming over the ice. Are you coming?"

"I am coming as fast as I can, Wiggy!" bleated the goat.

"Then come a little faster, please!" begged Uncle Wiggy.

"I will try," answered the grocery goat. He made his legs to faster. But as you know, if you ever tried to run on ice, it isn't easy. Mr. Butter saw Uncle Wiggy getting farther and farther away from him.

Suddenly a voice shouted:

"Who is silly?" bleated the goat.

"You are," answered the voice. Mr. Butter saw a blue jay bird flying over his head. "You are very silly!"

"Why am I silly?" the goat inquired.

"You are silly because you are running after Uncle Wiggy who is skimming along on his skates, blown by the wind on his sail. You are just running!" shouted the bird.

"How else can I catch Wiggy and loosen the skate sail so he will stop being blown across Frog Pond?" asked the goat. "How else can I catch him?"

"By skating after him," answered the bird. "You are a good skater, aren't you?"

"I'm the champion skater of Woodland!" boasted the goat.

"Then why don't you skate after Uncle Wiggy? In that way you may catch hold of his coat tails and stop him long enough so that you can loosen the skate sail," chirped Mr. Blue Jay.

"But where shall I get skates?" asked the goat.

What did Mr. Blue Jay answer? You shall learn in tomorrow's story if the coffee pot will pour out some tea for the bottle of milk so the peanut butter sandwich will have something to play with.

Calling on the governor were Jim Rogers, Mankato; Joe Forbes, Bemidji; Tom Smith, Duluth; Alan Nelson, St. Cloud; Roger Budd, Austin; Charles Krulos, Red Wing; Roger Porter, Minneapolis, and Lyle Nelson, Lindstrom.

The scout report revealed that 29,000 boys and leaders participated in the conservation program last year. 23,165 trees were planted; 84,000 feet of streams and lake shore improved; 38,000 outdoor code posters distributed; 16,000 fire prevention posters given out, and 1,663 forest projects carried out.

8 Eagle Scouts Call on Freeman, Report Activities

ST. PAUL (U)—Eight eagle scouts, representing eight local Boy Scout councils in Minnesota, called on Gov. Freeman Tuesday afternoon and presented him with a report on their activities in 1954 in the field of conservation of natural resources.

The scouts also handed the governor a Boy Scout statuette to place on his desk as a reminder of scouting principles and precepts which he followed as a former Boy Scout. The scouts were accompanied by Assistant Executive Officer of Indianhead Council, Region 10, Boy Scouts of America.

Solitary Drinker Fulfills Pledge Of His Fraternity

By RAY KOHN
NEW YORK (AP)—More than a dry Martini filled the glass of 79-year-old Charles H. Blair.

In the liquid shimmered his memories of college days and the chain of years twining down to his solitary fulfillment of a fraternity pledge made 58 years ago.

It was no coincidence that Blair stood at the men's bar of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel last night. He was keeping faith with the "1900 Club" of the Psi Upsilon fraternity at Cornell University.

The club was formed in 1897 as 13 youths sat around the fireside of the Psi U house on the campus at Ithaca, N.Y., and vowed to hold reunions at regular intervals for the rest of their lives. They named the Waldorf-Astoria as the site—at 8 p.m., on Feb. 9, every five years.

The original group grew to 28 and the first meeting was held—they rushed it a bit—in 1900. The years rolled, and the students scattered, but the pledge held firm.

Time, as usual, took its toll, and the pledge was modified to read "if health permits."

In 1950 three members of the club showed up.

Twenty-one of the 28 are dead. This year the only one able to show up was Blair, grandson of Ezra Cornell, founder of the university.

Blair, retired senior partner of a brokerage firm, is the father of two daughters and the grandfather of four girls and a boy.

Blair picked up his Martini ("No olives, they take up too much room") and renewed the pledge to come back in 1960.

He toasted the club members, living and dead. He recalled the old campus scenes, the coeds ("They wore red petticoats and were highly moral"), his stint as a pitcher on the baseball team.

The Martini was gone and Blair slowly put down the glass and said softly: "How many men are gone—that's what stands out."

Dike Improvement At Arcadia Planned

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special)—The Arcadia Lions Club heard a report Monday evening from Paul Tyvand, chairman of a committee to study the cost and feasibility of straightening the Trempealeau River behind the A-G Hatchery and Eckel Implement Co. building.

The club will take steps to improve the river dikes that have been weakened by flood waters. The dike will be continued at Deer Park. Brush will be removed at that point to widen the river bed.

Heavy rains during 1954 caused the river to overflow four times. Secretary Willard B. Gautsch showed a movie of the Utah-Wyoming football game with George Galuska, formerly of Arcadia, appearing on the Wyoming team. Next meeting will be Feb. 21 in the Coffee Shop.

SKILLET CLUB FOR MEN

By Frank Kohler

CLUB MEMBERS GET NEW LOOK MEAT LOAF

The Trenton (N. J.) Times Chapter presents Mrs. Ann C. Brinker with a recipe we think you'll like. This is a meat loaf sort of thing, casserole, which comes out floating in a very delicious "gook."

Easy, and good.

1 pound ground beef.
1 onion, minced.
1/2 cup cooked rice.
1 egg, beaten.
1 1/2 teaspoons salt.
3/4 teaspoon pepper.
1 cup fresh bread crumbs.
1 cup hot milk.

Mix all together, and place in a buttered casserole. Cover with a sauce made by beating:
1 can cream of mushroom soup.
1 cup water.
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire.

Heat and stir until smooth, then pour over the meat, and bake one hour and 15 minutes at 350 degrees. You can enhance the flavor by adding 1/4 teaspoon monosodium glutamate powder and perhaps one tablespoon of Marsala or sherry to the sauce. We served this with toast points.

The Daily Oklahoman Chapter, of Oklahoma City, is represented by Mrs. Antonia Pecinovsky, with a Potato Salad that was a new thing to us, in fact, a highly interesting new treatment. Did you ever hear of making potato salad out of mashed potatoes? Well, anyway:

4 cups cold mashed potatoes.
1 small onion, minced.
3 hard-boiled eggs, chopped.
1/2 cup celery, diced (you can use cucumber, or both).
1 cup dressing.
3 slices crisp bacon, chopped.

Mix all together, and serve either hot or thoroughly chilled. If you like added "oomph," perhaps you might add, as we did, the following:

2 tablespoons minced green pepper.
1 tablespoon dried or chopped parsley.
2 teaspoons prepared mustard.
1 tablespoon lemon juice.
1/4 cup French dressing.

Salt and pepper to taste.

Mrs. Pecinovsky says that any commercial mayonnaise or whipped dressing is suitable, and this is a matter of your own taste.

We used 1/4 cup mayonnaise and 1/4 cup boiled dressing which we made with 2 tablespoons flour:

2 tablespoons sugar; 3 tablespoons salad oil; 1 1/4 teaspoons salt; 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, pinch of cayenne; 2 eggs; 6 tablespoons malt vinegar, 1 cup water.

Over boiling water in a double boiler, combine flour, sugar, oil, salt, mustard, cayenne and water. Stir constantly and cook until mixture thickens and remove top from heat. Break eggs into small bowl and beat moderately, then beat in vinegar, then half the hot sauce.

Return top to double boiler, and with water hot but not boiling, stir egg mixture very slowly into remaining hot sauce. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly until thick enough to mound up when dropped from spoon. Remove from heat immediately. Cool, pour into a jar, and refrigerate. This makes about 1 1/2 cups, and it will keep well.

Send your favorite recipe and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to this newspaper and become a life member of The Skillet Club. We'll send you a membership card to prove it.

Ex-Cook Suspect In Ax Slaying

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—A former man servant was booked today on suspicion of murder in the ax killing of Mrs. Katie Hayden, elderly wife of financier and real estate developer Samuel Hayden.

Booked was Rutherford Leon Bennett, 39, Los Angeles, who detectives said was discharged by the Haydens Jan. 31 after about three weeks' employment as a cook.

Bennett and a man with whom he lived, also brought in for questioning, steadfastly denied any connection with the case and said they were at home yesterday morning when the slaying occurred. Both are now employed in an automobile assembly plant.

Mrs. Hayden, 71, died soon after she was found on the kitchen floor in her luxurious home by a maid, Mrs. Peggy Smith. She had four head wounds. A bloody ax lay nearby. A few minutes before, the maid told detectives, Mrs. Hayden had gone from the living room to the kitchen to answer the back door bell.

Hayden, 70, had left for his office about an hour before. He is a former Chicago investment broker who has lived here about 10 years.

Zhukov Good Soldier, But a Poor Politician

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

The time was a late summer day right after the war. The place was the Blue Room of Spassko House in Moscow. The man slouched easily in a deep leather chair was Gen. Eisenhower. I remember asking the question, "What do you think of Zhukov?"

The general hesitated for a moment. The slanting rays of a setting sun fell across his face. He frowned slightly as he replied, "Georgi," he said, "is a very decent fellow."

American and British correspondents who had covered the war from the Russian side had the same opinion of the broad-shouldered, square-jawed Soviet commander. A tough guy all right, but a man who could smile and a man who—unlike many other Red commanders—would give you a straight answer to a question.

"Do you think we could ever do business with Zhukov?" someone asked the supreme Allied commander who was later to become president of the United States. "Well, left on his own," said Eisenhower, "I believe I could do business with him."

Good Endorsement
That seemed to be a good endorsement of Georgi Zhukov, Russia's new minister of defense. It filled in with what I knew of this man who was a good soldier, but I'm afraid not a very good politician.

Eisenhower visited Moscow after the war as Zhukov's guest. He reviewed a sports parade atop Lenin's Tomb with Zhukov, attended a football game with him at Dynamo Stadium and was cheered by the Russian people as no American perhaps ever has been cheered in Moscow.

I remember Zhukov sitting around a big table in Berlin shortly after the war. Eisenhower was across the table. Field Marshal Montgomery of Britain was down at one end. A French general whose name I can't remember was at the other end.

Beside Zhukov sat the late Andrei Vishinsky, then deputy foreign minister. I stood just behind Zhukov and Vishinsky, so close I could have flicked cigarette ashes down their necks.

Eisenhower made a proposal. When he finished, Vishinsky poked Zhukov in the ribs. He poked him with his thumb. Obediently Marshal Zhukov got to his feet and recited a routine Soviet reaction to what Eisenhower had said. If I remember correctly, it concerned some minor details of setting up a four-power command in Berlin.

Liked by West
Zhukov was still in the full flight of oratory when Vishinsky suddenly grabbed him by the tail of his smart fawn colored military

Land Donations Tax Deductible, Says Game Chief

ST. PAUL (U)—Ray J. Dorer, supervisor of the state bureau of game and fish said today that both the collector of internal revenue and the Minnesota tax commissioner have held that money and land donations to the state wetlands program are deductible from state and federal income taxes.

The state is attempting to acquire 209,000 acres of desirable potholes, marshes and bogs in 65 counties as wild waterfowl refuge as well as preserve the state's water supply.

The state has purchased 11,000 acres and has an option on 19,000 more.

Less Corn, Wheat Under Supports Now

WASHINGTON (U)—Farmers have placed less corn and wheat under government price support this year than a year ago, the Agriculture Department said Wednesday.

Through mid-January, farmers had placed 79,001,611 bushels of 1954-crop corn under price support compared with 208,201,267 bushels of the 1953 crop by Jan. 15 last year.

Wheat under price support last Jan. 15 totaled 380,952,515 bushels against 476,637,325 bushels on the same date last year.

The main reason for the decrease in 1954 wheat and corn under price support is that the crops were smaller in 1954.

Garage for Fire Truck Sought at Caledonia

CALEDONIA, Minn.—The Caledonia council is planning to acquire a garage for the new $11,586.16 three-stage pumper purchased for the fire department.

The bid by the Fire Fighting Equipment Co., Rock Island, Ill., was the lowest submitted. Delivery is expected in about 100 days.

Plans now are being made to secure a place to keep the new truck with the remainder of the money from the $15,000 bond issue approved by voters in December.

Coya Knutson's First Bills to 'Protect Farmer'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The first bills introduced by Rep. Coya Knutson (D-Minn.) in Minnesota's first congressional session, are designed, she said Wednesday, to "protect the opportunity for any individual who wants to make farming his living."

The hard work a farmer gives to his occupation deserves a fair standard of living which can be assured only through parity prices, she said in a statement.

One of the bills would provide for price supports of 100 per cent of parity based on the cost of production on a family type farm. Parity is a standard designed to bring farmers a fair return in relation to the cost of things they buy.

Another Knutson bill would provide for loans to beginner farmers "who desperately need thousands of dollars capital investment," she said.

"Every person in a farmer trading community is related to farmer prosperity," she said.

"The more income a farmer is able to spend for good living standards, the more income local merchants receive, to better pay help, and increase total income in a community."

"I believe we should expand opportunity in a democracy. Young people should have opportunity to borrow the $20,000 to $40,000 they need to successfully start a farm. Without capital they are necessarily excluded from farming."

Another of her measures would make it a national policy to strengthen the family type farm. Another would provide for stockpiling an adequate national "safety reserve" for food and fiber.

Mrs. Knutson so far has made no speech in the House. She gave no indication when she might make her first speech.

Defense Pact 'Relief' To China Nationalists

TAIPEI (AP)—The U.S. Senate's ratification of the mutual defense pact with Nationalist China yesterday has put Chiang Kai-shek's capital in a better mood than at any time since he made his "painful decision" to withdraw his forces from the Taiman Islands.

The reaction here is one of relief and satisfaction, particularly with the 64-6 vote by the Senate. "This shows," a Nationalist official declared, "that the American people are more united than ever before against Communism."

Tree Climbing Fox

Dramatic proof that a gray fox can climb high into the branches of a tree is shown in the above picture taken on the Pagel farm in Pleasant Valley by a Daily News photographer Wednesday morning. The fox, seeking frozen apples, was shot where it is hanging, a good 30 feet above the ground, by Mrs. Joseph Pagel, a 60-year-old grandma. But let Mrs. Pagel tell the story:

"For the past few weeks, the fox has been coming nearly every day for apples. He would come up from around behind the barn, go up the driveway by the house and climb up the tree much like a squirrel after the apples."

"When I would go out to call the men from the barn or work to get the rifle to shoot it the fox would come down out of the tree and beat it to cover so we were never able to shoot it."

"This morning through the window, I watched him come past the barn where he caught a mouse and then come boldly up the house driveway and pass on to the apple orchard. He took a run for the tree trunk and went up it like a squirrel into the branches, climbing slowly out on the small branches to reach the frozen apples."

"Although I had not shot a rifle for more than 10 years I took the shot. He came down so she got right under the tree. The fox looked down at me and I up at it. I took aim and got it with the first shot. It fell back and hung in the branches as shown in the picture."

Now Mrs. Pagel's problem is how to get the fox down so she can take it to town and collect the $3 bounty without damaging the productive old apple tree.

Marvin R. Shaw, new president of the Will Dug Chapter, Izaak Walton League, is wondering about this speaker problem and hoping that Mat Saari shows up tonight for the soil conservation meeting at the cabin. If he doesn't, Marvin is going to make the speech himself.

Saari is the third one he has gotten for tonight. First he announced that Dr. M. M. Hargraves, Rochester, prominent Walstonian and conservationist, would be the speaker. "Doc" bowed out and Tom Evans took

Brodie Twin Has Month's Checkup

CHICAGO (AP)—Rodney Des Brodie, surviving Siamese twin, left the University of Illinois Research Hospital yesterday after a month's checkup. Doctors said he was in "fine condition."

The 3½-year-old boy was taken to the care home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Royt Brodie in Ferris, Ill. Doctors said Rodney is able to walk without assistance and carry on a conversation. In an historic operation Dec. 17, 1952, surgeons separated Rodney and his head joined twin Roger Lee. Roger died 34 days later. The operation left Rodney with an open skull which doctors hope to cover with a hard substance at some future date.

Fraternity Put On Probation for 'Hazing' Coeds

DENVER (AP)—Denver University's Interfraternity Council placed its Kappa Sigma chapter on probation and ordered its top officers to resign yesterday as the result of a fraternity "hazing" of 10 coeds.

The stern action stems from an incident Monday in which the girls, all members of Alpha Chi Omega sorority, were "tried" at the fraternity house for allegedly having stolen the fraternity's plaque and crest.

The kangaroo court painted the Kappa Sigma insignia on the foreheads of four of the girls and on the panties of a fifth. In the melee which followed, one girl was tripped and knocked unconscious and another suffered a sprained ankle.

We're not concerned as much with how things start, as with how and when they end. This we can do something about.

Mrs. Proxmire Gets Divorce

RENO Nev. (AP)—Mrs. William Proxmire was granted a divorce Wednesday from the man who sought unsuccessfully last year to win the governorship of Wisconsin on the Democratic ticket.

District Judge Grant Bowen granted the divorce on the grounds of mental cruelty in a brief closed-door hearing. He approved a sealed agreement providing for the couple's property and custody of the two children, Theodore Stanley, 7, and Elsie, 5.

Mrs. Proxmire is the former Elsie Rockefeller, a great-granddaughter of William A. Rockefeller, John D. Rockefeller's brother. Proxmire is the son of a Lake Forest, Ill., physician.

She left the couple's home at Blooming Grove, Wis., near Madison, Dec. 28 to establish residence here.

The couple was married on Sept. 14, 1946.

English Girl Waits for Texas Sailor's Wooing

KERRVILLE, Tex. (AP)—There's a pretty young girl from London waiting on a hill country ranch for a Texas sailor who vows he's going to woo and win her for a bride.

The sailor, Lloyd Parker, met Maureen Tooze, 19, of Arundel, Sussex, on shore leave at Portsmouth, England, last year.

But he was going to sea in a few days, and he didn't have time to court the vivacious young model.

So he begged her to come visit his sister on the ranch in south central Texas until he is discharged this December. Then, he promised, he'd try to convince her she should marry him.

Maureen, the daughter of a retired British army captain, finally agreed—after a long exchange of letters from all parties.

"But we aren't actually engaged," she said of Parker. "In fact, we've had only a very few dates.

"I've been here since November of last year. I'm going to definitely stay on the ranch until Lloyd comes home."

Does she think she'll marry him?

"Well," she laughed, "he has a chance."

Parker, on duty in Cuba, telephones his sister, Mrs. Ruth Leclaire frequently.

"You'd better hurry, boy," his sister told him on his last call. "These hill country cowpokes keep dropping in for visits on the flimsiest excuses."

Bill Proposes Legislature Have Its Own Lawyer

ST. PAUL (AP)—The Minnesota Legislature would have its own lawyer under a bill introduced in the Senate Wednesday.

Sponsors of the bill include two men who are not lawyers—Sen. Donald Sinclair, Stephen, a farmer, and Sen. Herbert Rogers, Duluth railroad man.

The Legislature's lawyer would serve as legal counsel to the Legislature and its members in their legislative capacities. He would be legal adviser to the Legislative Research Committee and to interim groups created by the Legislature.

He would have the further duties of examining all rules and regulations issued by any state office, department, board or agency and would report to the Legislature any instance in which he believed a rule or regulation was contrary to law.

Introduced in the House was a measure aimed at eliminating abuses in the financing of installment purchases of autos.

"The desire of car purchasers for machines is so strong," said Rep. D. D. Wozniak, St. Paul, principal author of the bill "that they are taken advantage of by certain unscrupulous individuals."

"The purchaser does not have the money to pay the cash price for a car. The sale is therefore labelled as an inside 'time sale.' When a sale is on this basis, the usury laws do not apply. Dealers and finance companies are therefore free to pad the financing charges."

The bill provides for licensing of installment sellers of motor vehicles, sales finance companies and collector-repossessors. It also regulates sale of insurance in connection with sale of cars.

An important provision is the regulation of finance charges. Six per cent per year would be permitted on new cars, nine per cent on those up to two years old, and 12 per cent on older cars. Wozniak said charges range up to 50 per cent and higher based on the "time sale" approach.

The House is scheduled to resume debate today on a bill broadening coverage of unemployment benefits. The measure would make such benefits available to nearly every full-time, non-agricultural worker in the state and would require contributions to the unemployment compensation fund from all who employ one or more persons.

Rep. Joseph Prifrel, St. Paul, chief sponsor, agreed to delay further debate after the House rejected, 54-53, a motion by Rep. E. J. Windmiller, Fergus Falls, to return the measure to committee for further study.

Windmiller argued that amendments Prifrel submitted were so

House Has Bathroom With Built-in Cat

AYLESHAM, England (AP)—Mrs. Betty White kept hearing odd noises in the bathroom of the new house she moved into five weeks ago.

Workmen called in yesterday tore up the floor and discovered a cat crouching in a cavity eight inches square.

Investigation proved the animal was a 3-year-old pedigree Persian named Tommy belonging to the next-door neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. William Reed.

"Tommy must have crept in while the house was being built and got nailed in," said Mrs. Reed.

Europe's Royalty Gather for Wedding

CASCAIS, Portugal (AP)—Much of Europe's fast-rising royalty gathered in this little fishing village today for a "family" banquet inaugurating three days of wedding festivities for Italian Princess Maria Pia and Yugoslav Prince Alexander.

The 30-year-old prince and ex-King Umberto's daughter will be married in exile Saturday before more than 1,000 European blue-bloods. Their romance blossomed last year on the Mediterranean cruise Greece's King Paul put on for scores of royal guests.

Alexander, who works for a Greek shipping firm, is the son of the former Yugoslav regent Prince Paul.

The Marquis of Lucifero, minister of the house of Savoy in charge of arrangements, said 120 persons were invited to tonight's dinner in the Estoril Palace Hotel—"119 of them of fully royal blood," Lucifero himself is the sole exception.

Later tonight prominent Portuguese and foreign diplomats will attend a reception. Umberto has invited his countrymen, blue-blooded or otherwise, to attend a second reception tomorrow, mainly for Italians.

The wedding ceremony will take place in the 500-year-old Church of Our Lady of the Assumption. Because Maria is a Roman Catholic and Alexander a member of the Eastern Orthodox Church, special dispensation for the church ceremony was obtained from the Vatican.

complicated the entire matter should be referred back. Prifrel said the amendments did not change meaning of the bill but that he was willing to give members time to study them.

'Democratic' Nixon Captures Mexican Hearts

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The same man-in-the-street approach Vice President Richard Nixon used to win friends for the United States on his 1953 Far Eastern tour today gained for him the acclaim of Mexico City newspapers.

Reporting Nixon's informal greetings to bystanders after he placed a wreath on Mexico's Independence Monument yesterday, the newspaper Excelsior said:

"He put protocol and security measures aside and in a very democratic manner, and an unexpected way too, went over and talked to people on the sidewalk. The public was enchanted with his kindness."

Nixon arrived here earlier yesterday on the second leg of his good will tour of the Caribbean. Shortly afterward, he talked with President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines and Treasury Secretary Antonio Carrillo Flores. The vice president is expected to discuss the nation's economic situation with private businessmen as well as government officials.

The vice president and Mrs. Nixon were guests last night at a reception given by U.S. Ambassador Francis White at the embassy.

Hawks Know Where They Are Well Off

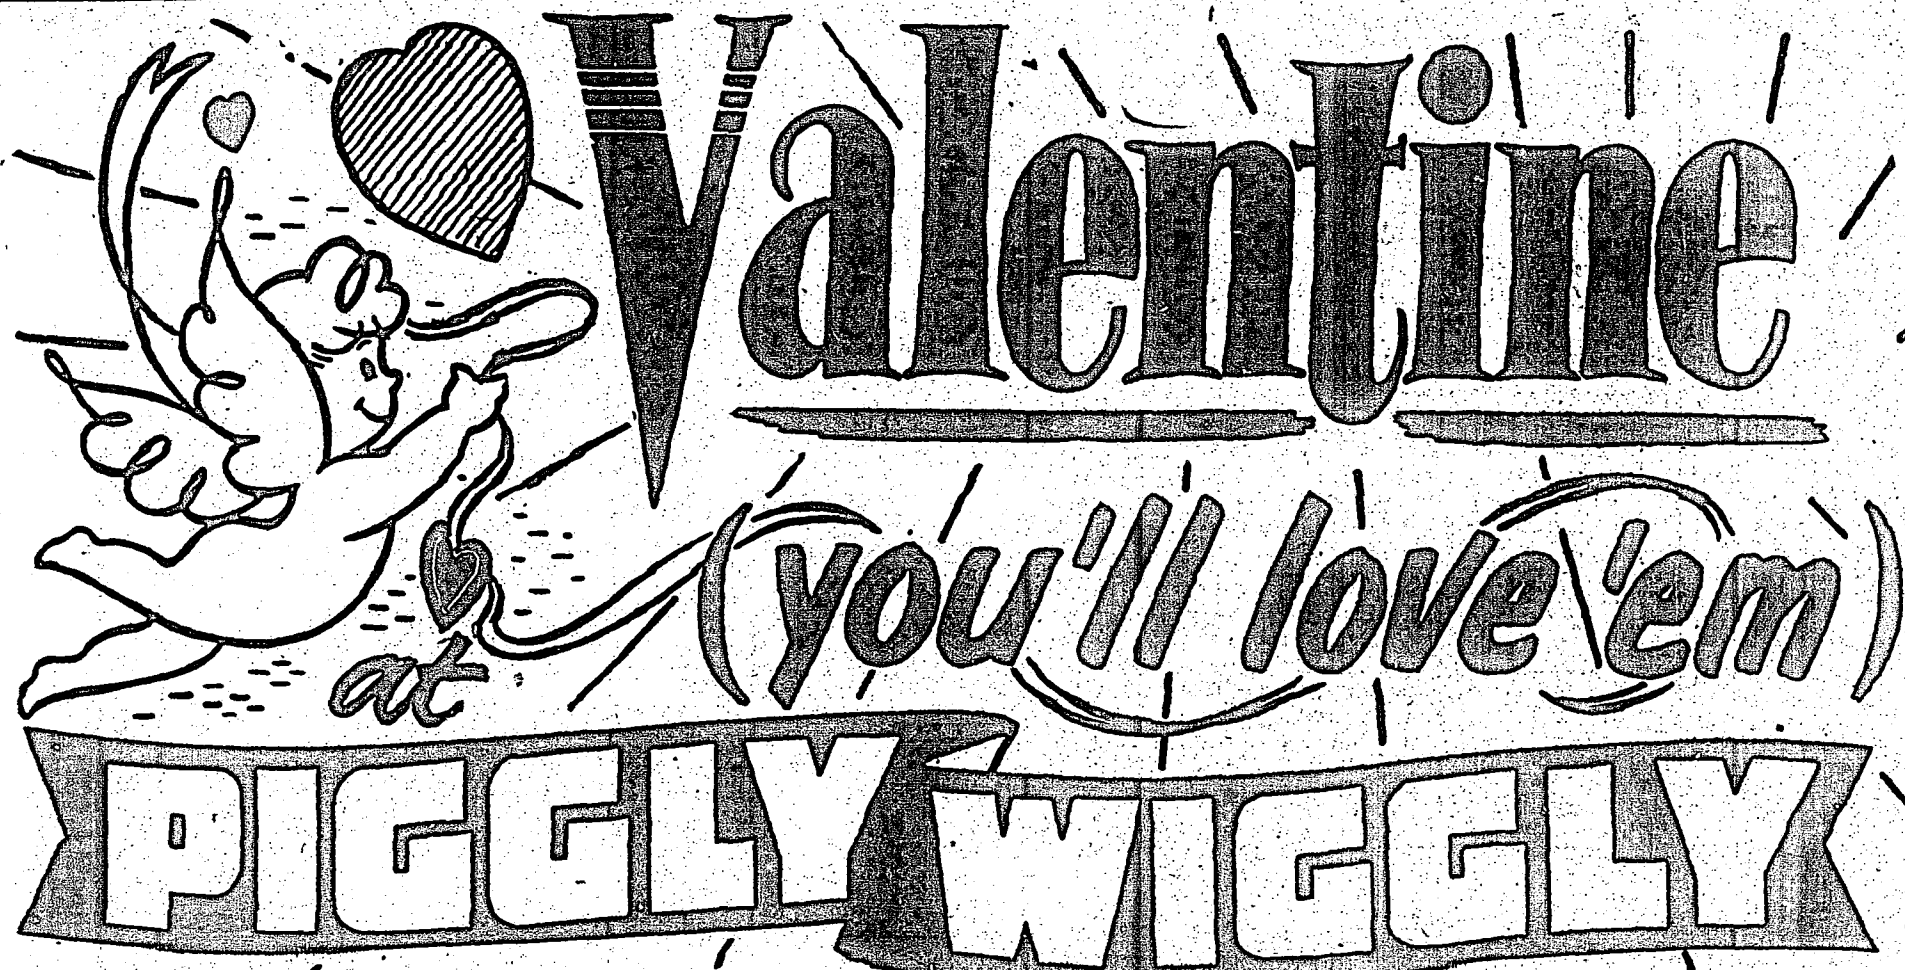

LANING, Mich. (AP)—Michigan's hawks apparently know they have friends at the state Capitol.

Last year, the Legislature passed a law giving protection to hawks and owls. This week, for the first time in 10 years, a group of sparrow hawks were reported perching on the state Capitol Building.

North Carolina 1st Team to Win 20 Games

Trounce William And Mary by 126-99 Score

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

It appears that if North Carolina State can't be the "fastest" among the nation's college basketball teams, the Wolfpack at least is going to try to be the team with the "mostest."

The Wolfpack, at one time No. 2 in the Associated Press poll but down to No. 7 this week, is the first team to win 20 games this season. They did it 126-99 last against William and Mary at Norfolk, Va.

In their last three games, the Pack has scored 359 points. There was a total of 85 field goals in the game—22 of them by Ron Shavlik of NCS. He added 11 free throws for 55 points and a new record by an Atlantic Coast Conference player. The loser's John Mahoney was away back with a mere 37.

The 126-point total by NCS—ineligible for the NCAA playoffs, incidentally, because of a probationary ban last spring—was a new high by an ACC team. Wake Forest had set the previous high only last week with 120 against Clemson.

Elsewhere, San Francisco kept its pace as the No. 1 team in the poll and the nation's defense leader with a 72-52 victory over Colgate of the Pacific. Bill Russell took charge of the boards and scored 27 points for the Dons in their 15th straight success.

Kentucky, making its first start since falling out of the No. 1 spot in this week's poll, knocked Georgia for a loop in the Southeastern Conference 86-40. The Wildcats, ranked No. 2, led 50-20 at the half and experimented the rest of the way.

Fourth-ranked Duquesne, which yesterday ruled itself out of a possible NCAA at-large playoff berth by accepting an NIT bid, choked off Carnegie Tech 62-27.

Dayton, ranked No. 18, got ahead early and stayed there to defeat Miami (Ohio) 78-62. Cincinnati (No. 17) called on Jack Twyman for its last five points to edge Xavier (Ohio) 70-69.

A pair of upsets popped up. Georgetown (D. C.), which lost four players in training rules trouble last week, knocked off 19th-ranked Villanova 84-79.

In the Southwest Conference, Southern Methodist surprised Texas Christian 84-70.

Duke gained a share of the ACC lead with Maryland and North Carolina by beating Wake Forest 75-74, and Richmond fattened its Southern Conference lead 76-54 over Virginia Military.

Knicks Outlast Lakers Again

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Thanks to a couple of old pros—Bob Cousy and Harry Gallatin—the Boston Celtics and the New York Knicks are back in business. And the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Assn. is a three-cornered race again.

Cousy, the wizard of the Hub, came through with a 33-point performance to lead the "crippled" Celtics to a 104-94 victory over the eastern leaders Syracuse Wednesday night. The win cut the Nets' margin over Boston to one game.

In the first game of the double-header at Boston, the Knicks outlasted Minneapolis 81-72 as Gallatin scored 30 and Carl Braun and Jim Baechtold 25 apiece. The Knicks trail Syracuse by two games and Boston by one.

At Rochester those two rookie whizzes, Frank Selvy and Bob Pettit, took personal charge of the Milwaukee Hawks and guided them to a 75-74 triumph over the Royals. Substitute Alex Hannum scored the crusher, a tap-in with 12 seconds remaining. Pettit topped the point parade with 25 and Selvy was next with 18.

WEDNESDAY'S FIGHT

BALTIMORE—Bob Baker, 219½, Pittsburgh, knocked out Willie James, 207, Roxbury, Mass. (2).

In 1891 the race horse His Highness became the first thoroughbred to win $100,000 in a single season. Last year, 15 horses won amounts ranging from $159,425 to $328,700.

Grudge Battle

Sunday afternoon, 2:30 p.m., the Terrace Heights Blades will play the Winona Hornets in a hockey game at the West End Rink, the weatherman willing.

Tuesday night, you know, the Blades handed the Hornets a 2-0 surprise. The Terrace Heights Blades is a team composed mainly of St. Mary's College freshmen.

The Winona Hornets took second in the Southern Minny Hockey League which closed play Sunday. The Blades beat the Hornets raised a few eyebrows and facts significance to the return match Sunday.

We heard one joker quip, "The Hornets must have been playing without skates and sticks Tuesday night!"

The ice was in poor shape Tuesday night and a member of the losing aggregation, who didn't wish to be identified, explained the loss thusly:

"The ice was so lousy the contest was reduced to a shiny game where hockey skill meant absolutely nothing."

Hmm . . . Is that right . . . The Hornets, we feel, will endeavor to tilt the lid in a most perspicacious manner Sunday after the stunning upset they absorbed from the St. Mary's Collegians Tuesday night. It should be a most interesting afternoon.

Coaches Reply
In two days since we mailed out blanks to coaches, polling them on bonus free throw rule opinions, we've received 20 replies. Seventy-one blanks were sent out and we're hoping for 50 replies at least.

But from the quick response already, it's apparent coaches have given a lot of thought to the free throw rule in force this season.

The early trend appears to be 50-50 for and against the rule. Some coaches like it because they feel that it reduces fouling. . . Others want to see it used another year, believing one season isn't enough of a testing period.

Some coaches contend it has reduced the game to a free throw shooting contest, and would like to see the old four-foul rule brought back. . . Others believe adoption of some of the professional rules would make a better game.

Here are a few samples:
Ove Eversen, Austin, coach of one of the undefeated Austin Packers and a 22-year veteran in the coaching field, writes:

"I'm for it until something better comes along. It has cut down the fouling, we will have to admit. Maybe I'm like most of the coaches who are in favor of any rule UNTIL it hurts you!"

Ade Christensen of Spring Grove, defending District One champions, feels differently, however. He writes:

"It is unfair. I figure we spot our opponents 10 points a game this year as compared to last year for the same amount of fouls. It does not cut down on fouls and has developed more or less into a free throw contest instead of a basketball game."

"Leave it the way it was—one shot for the regular foul when not in the act of shooting, two when fouled in the act of shooting."

Good Prospects
A lot of fine basketball players are cavorting on the hardwood around the area this season.

In answer to our request, Walt Williams, Lake City mentor, forwarded us some statistics on his players and a figure that hit us in the eye was the 50.9 shooting percentage of 6-3 forward Gene Wiebusch.

Wiebusch has 90 field goals in 177 attempts and has scored 222 points in 13 games for a 17.1 scoring average. Both he and center Phil Schasker, also 6-3, have grabbed 161 rebounds over the 13-game haul, another nice mark.

Schasker leads Lake City in scoring with 274 points for a 21.1 average. He has 108 field goals in 234 attempts for a 46.1 percentage. . . The Lake City first five averages 45.5 in shooting percentage for 13 games. . . Forward Bill Rill, with a 12.8 scoring average, 102 points scored, is shooting 41.2 and 45.5 averages respectively. . . Bussian is the top free throw artist with 25 connections on 33 tries for 77 per cent. . . The Stewartville Sports Bulletin, a weekly mimeographed information sheet concerning Stewartville athletics, praises two all-around athletes in a recent issue. The paragraphs follow:

"The February 18 tilt will be the last one for the Tiger aces, Roger Jahns and Gary Aswegen. Perhaps it would be well to review some of the reasons that the Stewartville coaching staff has for regarding so highly these two lads."

"Roger Jahns is a very pleasant, personable young man. He is a good student, with a B average in his high school studies."

"He quarterbacked the football squad, plays a hard-driving forward in basketball; he is one of the top hurdlers in the region, and wields a big bat in summer baseball. Roger is slightly over 6 feet tall and weighs a very compact 178 pounds."

"Gary Aswegen has been a popular figure with fans and faculty at SMS for four years."

"He is a student of above average ability with a stable, tractable personality. Gary stands an even six feet and weighs 190 pounds. He has starred as a halfback in football, a forward in basketball, and pitcher in the spring sport. In every sport he has steadily improved to the point that he is one of the most feared players in the Whitewater."

Gophers Leading Big Ten Teams In Defense Play

Minnesota Fifth
In Field Goal
Percentage, .401

CHICAGO (AP)—Minnesota, Illinois and Iowa may be considered the Big Ten's leading basketball title contenders but they are far off the pace for the "statistic championship."

Minnesota, atop the standings with 6-2, is fifth in field goal percentage with .401, fourth in free throw percentage with .713 and fifth in total scoring with an average of 82.4 points per game.

The Gophers, however, head the Big Ten on defense with an average yield of 74.6 and have a top contender for individual scoring honors, Dick Garmaker, with a 26.3 average.

On the basis of averages, Ohio State's Robin Freeman is the No. 1 scorer with 40.8; Indiana's Don Schlund, No. 2, with 27.7, and Northwestern's Frank Ehmman, No. 3, with 27.5. The scoring title, however, is determined on total points at the end of the season, and this all but eliminates Freeman who missed two games because of injury.

Illinois and Iowa, each with 5-2 records, respectively have .401 and .413 field goal percentages and .686 and .645 ratings from the foul line.

The best shot-making team is fifth-place Northwestern 4-4 with .432 from the floor and a top average of 86.8 points per game.

Second in field goal accuracy is fourth-place Michigan State 5-3 with .428. Leading in free throw percentage is Indiana 3-4 with .730 followed by Ohio State 3-5 with .718.

Walsh, Costello Still in Running

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Thirty-two fighters were ready for the Monday stretch in the Northwest Golden Gloves after winning quarterfinal bouts Wednesday night, 13 of them with knockouts.

The Minneapolis team placed boxers in all but one of the eight weight divisions and Wahpeton, N.D., had four for the semifinal and final rounds. Three each will represent Duluth, Staples and Shakopee, with Rochester, Hibbing and Slayton boasting a pair apiece.

Crookston, Faribault and Blue Earth had entries in the bantam, lightweight and light heavyweight classes, in that order.

Wahpeton's hardy showing carried Darrell Charon ahead in the featherweight. Lawrence Walker, lightweight, Gary Carr, middleweight, and Frank Hiron in the heavy, Charon and Walker won by knockouts.

Still bidding for ring honors from Duluth were Norm Kuka, Roger Johnston and Henry Altenhoven while Rochester had Johnny Costello and Joe Walsh, and Hibbing Bobby Joseph and Phil Ness still in the running.

Ed Waukazo carried Crookston's banner into the semis, Ray Friedgens represented Faribault and Blue Earth had Wally Weitzel as a light heavyweight survivor.

THUMB RELEASE! FINGER! APPLY SPIN.

All Stars Spin Ball—You'll find few top-fighters who look alike in stance, footwork, and ball delivery, but actually most of them do the same thing in releasing the ball. They spin it with their fingers after they have released the thumb first.

You can't do one without the other. In the look-alike department the two stars who resemble each other, perhaps more closely than any other winning doubles combination in American Bowling Congress history, are Billy Welu and Don McLaren of St. Louis, the 1954 victors. In the sketch from an action photo, McLaren is releasing the ball in fine form.

Notice how far the thumb is out of the ball, but that the middle, third, and little fingers are still putting hook spin on the ball as it swings past the sliding left leg. Note, too, that the right foot (toe) has applied the brake to stop the slide perfectly at the foul line.

WHS Six Wins 7-1 for Region Berth

ROCHESTER, Minn. — The Winona High Hockey team handed Rochester its worst defeat in history here Wednesday afternoon and vaulted into the Region Six tournament as a result.

The Winhawks drilled the Rockets, 7-1. It was the first time a Rochester hockey team had been defeated by six points. The victory was scored in a regional playoff.

The Winhawks advance to the first round of regional play Tuesday at Williams Arena, Minneapolis. Other teams in the regional include Edina and Wayzata, in addition to Winona, and either Beardsley, Detroit Lakes or St. Cloud.

Speaking of the WHS hockey win, Coach Sanford Tyler said, "The boys wanted to win—that was one of the deciding factors."

"Dick Larson played a good game in the nets for Winona and showed the form he displayed earlier in the season. Wayne Noeske was going good, Don Beeman was slowed up a little by the injury he got recently, similar to shin splints. But he's coming along."

"Dick Smith had a good day although playing the whole game with a cracked skate blade — and Noesko played on borrowed skates."

"Roger Benson and Roger Munson were particularly good on defense."

"The boys just didn't let Rochester's Punk Schliff get started. Benson would fore-check him, and then either Munson or Smith would steal the puck. Most of Rochester's shots were long ones that were barely moving when they got to the net."

Noeske performed the hat trick for Winona High. His first goal came after only 47 seconds of play and according to Tyler "set the pattern for the rest of the game."

Dick Smith had two goals and assists and Benson had two goals and one assist. Rochester's only goal came after 8:32 of the third period on a screen shot. Winona had a 7-0 lead at the time.

"I think we've got the stuff to win the regional and go into the state tournament," Tyler said. "But the boys have to do it themselves. If they did against Rochester."

900 Compete in Bowling Tourney

The opening of the annual City Bowling Tournament at 7 p.m. Saturday at the 11st-Rod Lanes will draw 900 bowlers in the 180 teams, 220 sets of doubles and 425 sets of singles.

The big attraction and payoff is headed by a $100 cash prize for the top team winner, together with a first prize of $45 for the doubles, and a first prize of $30 for the singles. Altogether there are 45 team prizes, 57 doubles prizes and 106 singles prizes.

The all-events entry has 252 participants shooting for a top prize of $15.

These cash prizes are supplemented by six trophies and 14 belt buckles, all engraved and paid for by the Winona Bowling Association, with the exception of a trophy donated by Graham & McGuire, to be awarded to the individual rolling the highest single scratch game in any event.

A trophy will be given to the sponsor of the winning team; also to the winner of the singles with handicap, and to the singles winner without handicap; also to the winner of the all-events with handicap, and the scratch winner of all events.

In addition each member of the champion team with handicap will receive an engraved belt buckle; and likewise each member of the team rolling the highest scratch total will receive a belt buckle. Also similar buckles will be awarded to each of the doubles champions with handicap, and also to each of the doubles team rolling the highest scratch total.

These trophies cost the association $125 and will all be engraved.

Report Ameche Agrees to Terms

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Alan (The Horse) Ameche, the University of Wisconsin All-American football player and Heisman Trophy winner has agreed to terms with Baltimore of the NFL, according to the Milwaukee Sentinel.

Tony Ingrassia, football writer, said he learned of the agreement Wednesday from an authoritative source. He added that no contract had been signed but indicated it will be after the Colts and Ameche's attorney agree to certain clauses in the contract.

Ameche was not available for comment but his attorney, John Walsh, Wisconsin boxing coach, verified that Don Kellet was in Madison, Wis., Tuesday and discussed the contract with Ameche.

Walsh, however, insisted that no agreement had been reached and said "I want to study the entire contract closely before we agree on anything. Then it will be up to Al if he terms suit him."

Nobody was discussing salary for The Horse who set a new four year collegiate ground gaining record last year, but reports put it somewhere between $15,000 and $17,000.

The Colts snapped up Ameche as their first pick in the NFL draft two weeks ago. He reportedly has had offers from Canadian football clubs and some wrestling promoters are seeking his services.

$10,000 Tucson Open Under Way

By MURRAY SINCLAIR
TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Eager youngsters are expected to play important roles in the $10,000 Tucson Open Golf Tourney starting today.

The youth movement may be helped by the aches and pains and rustiness of some of the established, consistent money winners. The 6,409-yard, par-70 El Rio Golf and Country Club course should also help the younger lads.

There isn't a hard hole in the lot, Peter Thomson of Melbourne commented, "We have courses as easy as this in Australia although we don't play tournaments on them."

Ed Furgol, St. Louis, Mo., the U. S. Open champ, has a cold and complains of pains in his chest. "I never felt so bad in my life," he said yesterday. Aches and all, Furgol will be dangerous. He shot a 6-under-par 64 in the pro-amateur yesterday to win $50. So did Ed (Porky) Oliver, Lemont, Ill.

Tommy Bolt, the tempestuous Texan from Houston, is defending champ here but has had a nasty cold in his shoulder that has hurt his play.

If there is an individual favorite it is cool Gene Littler, Palm Springs, Calif.

"The boys wanted to win—that was one of the deciding factors."

"Dick Larson played a good game in the nets for Winona and showed the form he displayed earlier in the season. Wayne Noeske was going good, Don Beeman was slowed up a little by the injury he got recently, similar to shin splints. But he's coming along."

"WATCH OUT FOR THAT ROLLER SKATE."

LAFF-A-DAY

"And since when have you been allergic to mink?!"

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGUM, D. Sc.

4. COED ASKS: IS THERE ONLY ONE REAL LOVE FOR EACH PERSON? YES ☐ NO ☐ 2-10 TRUE ☐ FALSE ☐

Answer to Question No. 1
1. People who are lacking in emotional maturity and capacity to love cannot love again after disappointment in love or death of the loved one. Emotionally mature persons often find a second love richer and deeper than the first. If you are having difficulty getting over some disappointment, our booklet, "How To Be an Emotion Grower," will help you. Non-profit, 15c (coin only) plus self-addressed, stamped envelope. Send to Dr. A. E. Wiggum, in care of The Winona Daily News.

Answer to Question No. 2
2. No. Anyone can relate the outward events of his life, but no one knows enough about his prejudices, fears, angers, etc. — the emotions that made him behave as he did or motivated him throughout his life. He knows what he did, but he can never know completely why he did it. Many times, even though a man intends to be truthful, he avoids (unconsciously) telling facts of which he is not proud.

Answer to Question No. 3
3. True. They notice when a man bites a dog, or when it snows in July. When a tall man marries a short woman, people say, "Opposites marry"; or when a rich man's son is a playboy and a wastrel, they say, "All rich men's sons do so-and-so" — both the opposite of the truth. That's why about 99 per cent of all popular beliefs about the laws of nature are wrong.

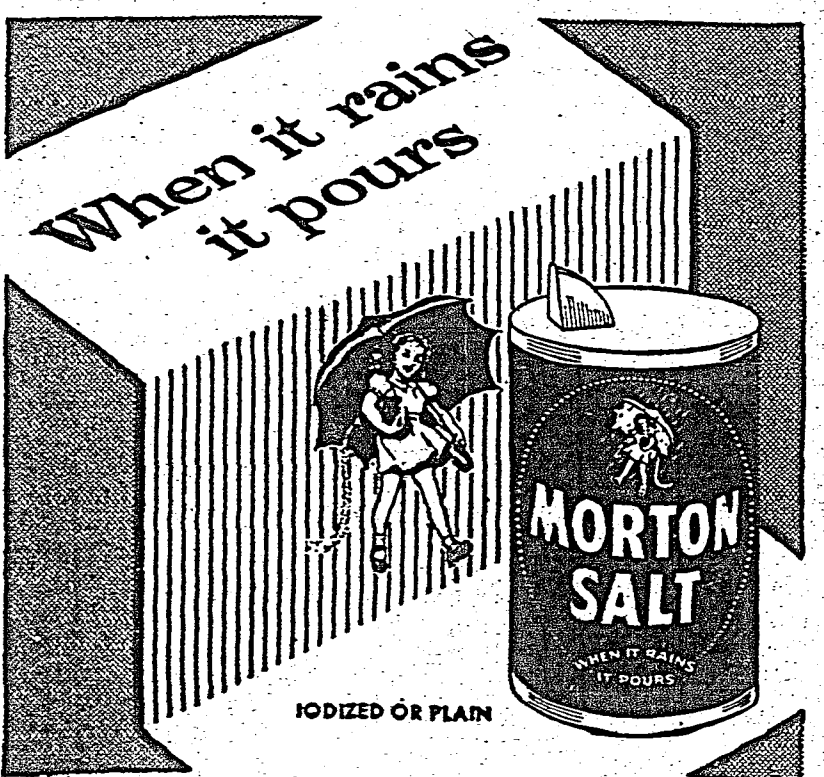

THE GRAB BAG

THE ANSWER, QUICK!

1. What was the date of the second inauguration of President Franklin D. Roosevelt?
2. Who was the author of "The Forsyte Saga"?
3. At what temperature does water normally boil?
4. Who in the Bible lied to Peter in regard to the price of some land he sold, making his name synonymous with liar?

HOW'D YOU MAKE OUT?

1. Jan. 20, 1937.
2. John Galsworthy (1867-1933).
3. 212 degrees Fah.
4. Ananias.

FAIRLY SPOKEN

By MARGARET LATROBE

I don't know how upset International Business Machine was, upon learning that the ancient Oriental abacus could tot up a column of figures faster than could their electronic devices, but I'm betting there was no dancing in the corridors at that august edifice when they read this news in the papers.

The abacus, as you know, is a simple little toy which every properly reared baby plays with. It has rows of pretty wooden beads lined up on wires of cribs and high chairs, and the wee ones amuse themselves by the hour shifting them to and fro while mother does the ironing. But would you believe that the sneaky little folk are not only entertaining themselves but slily learning to do logarithmic calculations, as well? By diligently applying their wits to the beads they will soon have Dad on the financial carpet. "Lissen, Pop, you cheated me three cents on this week's allowance!" And at a miserably early age.

The abacus is believed to have originated with the Chinese and to have been given most respectful attention by ancient Greeks and Romans. Even now, 90 per cent of all mathematical procedures in Japan are performed on this device.

Whether or not I was provided with a toy abacus in infancy is uncertain. The fact remains that your correspondent gropes in helpless anguish at the sight of more than three digits lined and demanding solution. While it is possible to live happily and fully without arithmetical ability, it is embarrassing to be in such constant touch with the banker, who has what I regard as an unusual and unhealthy fascination for adding and subtracting. They like a bank balance to come out even, or a

Ike Plans Weekend Of Quail Shooting

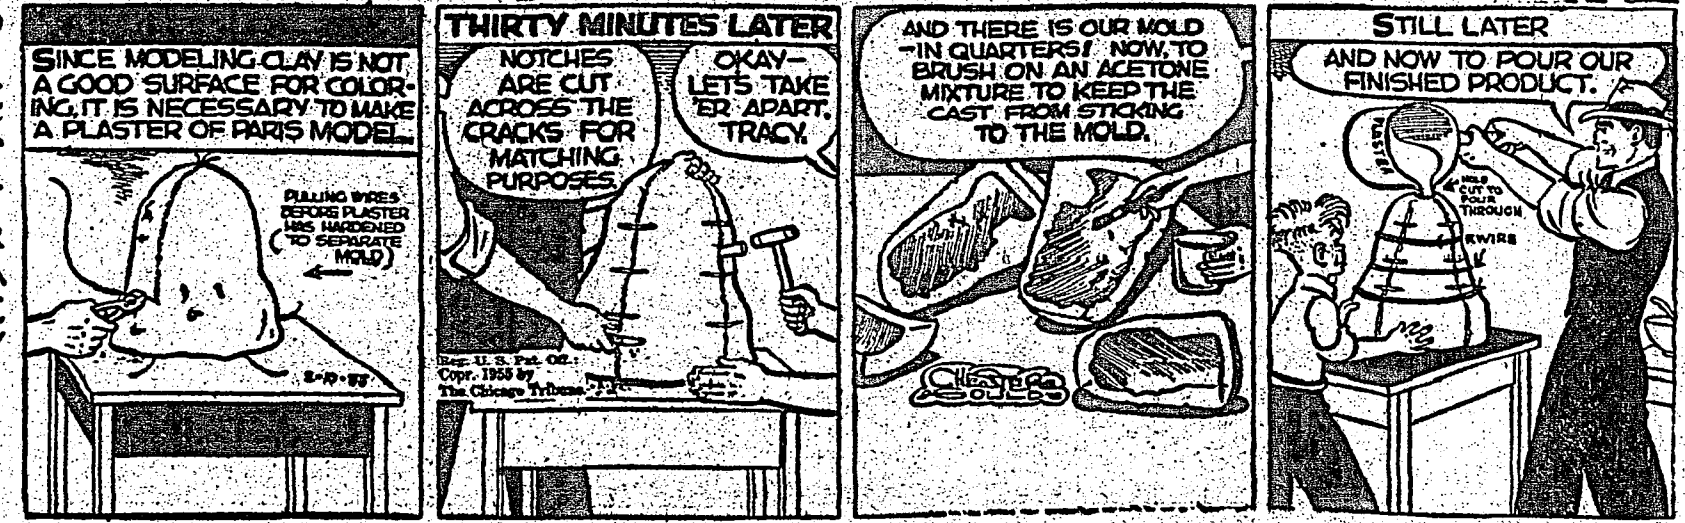

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower flies to Thomasville, Ga., today for a weekend of quail shooting at the estate of Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey.

The chief executive and Humphrey were being accompanied by their wives and Mrs. Eisenhower's mother, Mrs. John S. Doud. Eisenhower plans to fly back to Washington Sunday.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President plans to do some work "on a couple of matters" in between rounds of quail shooting. He did not specify the nature of the work.

Refrigerator dealers in Alaska say their sales are growing rapidly because food costs are high and residents find they can save money by owning permanent food storage facilities.
