Evacuation of Tachens Completed

28 H-Bombs Can Atomize U.S.

CHICAGO (AP)—A developer of America's first atom bomb believes 28 well-placed H-bomb hits could jeopardize the lives of 50 million U.S. citizens with deadly radioactive fallout.

Dr. Ralph E. Lapp said the strategic bombings could "atomize" and cover with radioactive fallout a vast region containing two thirds of the nation's industrial might.

The atomic scientist said one hydrogen bomb—if exploded close to the ground—could coat with a potential death mantle an area of 10,000 square miles, comparable to the state of Maryland.

He said the single H-bomb explosion would create a sun-hot fireball three to four miles wide while devastating a large area.

Writing in the Bulletin of the Atomic Scientist, he said a person caught in an H-bomb area can do only one thing—go underground in a shelter and remain there for a day or two. People in "the shadow of the atomic cloud," he said, can't run away from it.

Court Upholds Dismissal in $125,000 Case

Decision Sets Stage for Third Damage Trial

ST. PAUL (AP)—The Minnesota Supreme Court today upheld the right of District Judge A. C. Richardson, Austin, to throw out a $125,000 jury verdict for James E. Briggs, blind locomotive engineer of Oelwein, Iowa, in a personal injury suit against the Chicago Great Western Railway Co.

Master Sgt. Floyd A. James, above, Cave City, Ark., hung from the wing of a C124 airplane over Dayton, Ohio, in freezing weather to keep the plane from crash landing with 31 persons aboard. The Air Force said James repaired the ship's landing gear at 4,000 feet. Two crewmates held his feet while he worked to free the landing gear. (AP Wirephoto)

Last Nationalist Soldier Boards Boat Off Island

Other Troop Detachments Already In Formosa

BULLETIN
ABOARD THE ESTES OFF THE TACHENS (AP)—The last Chinese Nationalist soldiers boarded ships off the Tachen Islands beaches at 11:10 p.m. tonight (9:10 a.m. CST) to complete the evacuation of the Tachens.

By FRED HAMPSON

TAIPAI, Formosa (AP)—Bitter February gales churned the East China Sea to a white froth, whipped a bone-chilling rain across the Tachen Islands for the final stage of the great Nationalist withdrawal. "Ships of the great evacuation armada pitched and rolled at anchor off the islands," AP Correspondent Jim Becker reported from the amphibious flagship Estes.

The Nationalist Defense Ministry said it felt the withdrawal was entering its crucial stage with most land fortifications blown up and equipment and troops en route to Formosa.

It said this was a critical period although there was no indication the Communists meant to attack. AP Correspondent Forrest Edwards, aboard a U.S. aircraft carrier, reported indications on his ship that the troop withdrawal is a one-shot affair.

Will Move Troops

Nationalist troops, guns and equipment were loaded and the whole armada, including the protective warships, will make the trip to Formosa together, Edwards said.

Carriers and pilots were prepared to shift their jet and propeller-driven air cover umbrella from the Tachens to the ocean lanes to Formosa, he reported.

"It seems certain that the evacuation fleet will have air cover from the time it leaves the islands until it gets to Formosa," he quoted a Navy briefing officer. "We are ready to shift cover whenever ordered."

The carrier Princeton, especially adapted for antisubmarine warfare, has been assigned a special protective mission as the evacuation sails for Formosa. It seemed almost certain that other carriers would provide air cover and anti-submarine patrols while evacuation ships are still near the Tachens.

The two Tachens and the Yu Shan group to the northeast and Pishan to the southwest have been stripped of all civilians.

Nationalist troops in number remain only on Upper Tachen. Work details remained on Lower Tachen. The other islands were abandoned.

The U.S. attack transport Washburn arrived here today with 1,185 Nationalist troops, the vanguard of Chiang Kai-shek's U.S.-trained 46th Division, and 520 tons of ammunition. Trains shuttled the troops off for south Formosa military camps.

The official Central News Agency said 16,070 civilians had arrived at the northern Formosan port of Keelung. Fleet dispatches said U.S. ships had removed 14,920 civilians from the Tachens and Nationalist craft had taken off 973.

Refugees were quartered in schools and other relief centers. The U.S. Foreign Operations Administration was reported to have set aside eight million dollars for rehabilitation and the Chinese government appropriated five million dollars for rehabilitation and the Chinese government appropriated five million Formosa dollars ($335,000).

Hops to Hold Island

While the Tachen withdrawal neared completion, a storm appeared to be brewing over the future of Nanchishan, Nationalist island 80 miles to the south. It lies about 20 miles off the China mainland, 120 miles north of Formosa.

The Nationalists made clear today they intend to hold it, whether or not the United States helps.

Col. Hsiung En-tieh, a Defense Ministry spokesman, called the defense of Nanchishan a "natural development" after the Tachen withdrawal. Did he expect U.S. air cover?

"That is up to the Americans," he told a news conference.

So far the Americans have kept official silence.

Unofficial reports have placed the Nationalist garrison there at 5,000 regulars and guerrillas. There were indications that the Nationalists reinforced the island during the Tachens withdrawal.

The Reds hold no islands within shelling range of Nanchishan but there are some, unoccupied now.

Firemen Battle A Stubborn blaze in the loop area of Chicago's Skid Row and pelting snow combined to give work-bound people a good excuse for being late. The fire, believed to have been started by bonfires set by vagrants in the empty building, caused rerouting of traffic just at the morning rush hour. Five firemen were injured fighting the blaze.

Tito Hopes to Stay Out Of East or West Blocs

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—the major danger of humanity," Yugoslav President Tito said again today that Yugoslavia will not enter any bloc—Communist or Western—but will pursue an independent course to "support the policy of peace."

Sun-bronzed from his 73-day trip to India, Burma and Egypt, the Yugoslav Communist leader disembarked from the naval ship Galeb at the Adriatic seaport of Rijeka, Belgrade radio reported thousands cheered him and singing schoolchildren scattered flowers over the waterfront.

"We believe that blocs lead to war, and conflicts are

He expressed appreciation for the warm welcome he received in neutralist India and Burma. The world is fortunate, he continued, that there are other countries "which look, as we do, on world problems, that we have joined together to calm down world passions to pursue the path of peace and not that of arms and force."

"Peace-loving people are determined not to help those who believe in force," he declared, adding that the Yugoslav people would stand firm on that policy.

Tito made no mention of this week's shift in the leadership of the Russian government or its possible impact upon Soviet-Yugoslav relations. He rebuked those who have speculated that Yugoslavia was traveling closer to Moscow in its foreign policy recently.

"Malicious voices are saying," he said, "that we are tourists. That comes from those who are against peaceful coexistence in the world, those who are hindered by the people who wish peace."

Yugoslavia broke with the Russian-led Cominform in 1948 on Kremlin charges that Tito was pursuing "nationalistic" policies. In the past year, it has gone a long way toward restoring what Tito calls normalization of diplomatic and economic relations with the Communist nations while carrying on friendly relations with the West.

Woolson Marks 108th Birthday

DULUTH, Minn. (AP)—Albert Woolson, sole survivor of the Civil War's "Boys in Blue," was celebrating his 108th birthday today, with personal greetings from President Eisenhower.

"Such an anniversary is meaningful, not only to your loyal personal friends but to people throughout America who regard with honor the brave men on either side of the conflict in which you served nearly a century ago," the President wrote in a special delivery letter received at the Woolson home last night.

"You have my best wishes for a happy and memorable celebration."

Woolson's only public appearance was the dedication at City Hall of a pedestal holding a bust of the veteran, presented to the city last fall.

Tonight 18 members of Woolson's immediate family will have an informal birthday dinner for him at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John Kobus. After that will follow a short open house for some 40 close friends and neighbors.

Red Policy Sees War Probable

By STEWART ALSOP

WASHINGTON—The ruling faction in the Kremlin has concluded that even a partial settlement with the West is out of the question; and that war is probable if not inevitable. Soviet policy is henceforth to be based on these grim assumptions.

This is the majority view of those best qualified to interpret the meaning of the events surrounding the downfall of Georgi M. Malenkov. There is all sorts of evidence to support this interpretation.

In the first place, there is the nature of the difference between Malenkov and N. S. Khrushchev. Their well-advertised disagreement about the degree of emphasis on arms production has been only a symptom of a more basic difference—whether war with the West or "coexistence," and a long period of stalemate, is more probable.

There is no doubt where each has stood on this question. There was, for example, the extremely belligerent speech when Khrushchev made in Prague, in June last year. When this speech was published in the Soviet press, much of its belligerent tone was carefully edited out—this at a time, of course, when Malenkov was in the ascendant.

Leaders Disagreed

Free World Warned On Russian Aims

CHICAGO (AP)—A State Department expert on Russia said today the shakeup in the Soviet government and the "vitriolic and threatening speech" by Foreign Minister Molotov which accompanied it emphasizes a need for continuing "cohesiveness and vigilance" among the free nations of the world.

This comment on the week's developments in the Soviet capital was made by Ray L. Thurston, director of the State Department's Office of Eastern European Affairs, in a speech prepared for the Foreign Policy Institute of the Council of Foreign Relations.

Thurston said the latest U.S. government estimates on Soviet and Communist bloc armed strength put the total at more than six million men under arms.

He said Russia is believed to have 175 to 225 divisions and more than 20,000 combat planes "in operational readiness." In addition, Eastern European satellites have 80 divisions and 2,400 combat planes.

"The seven Soviet-dominated countries," Thurston said, "have an aggregate of 1,450,000 effective troops plus trained reserves of about 2,300,000."

He gave this breakdown of the effective satellite forces: Bulgaria 250,000; Hungary 200,000; Romania 300,000; Poland 310,000; Albania 45,000; Czechoslovakia 215,000; and East Germany 125,000.

Russia controls these satellite forces, Thurston said, by maintaining large numbers of Soviet officers in advising and training them.

Thurston referred only briefly to the Soviet upheaval which replaced Premier Malenkov with Marshal Bulganin. He said the Russians are making "new threatening noises" and are placing new emphasis on heavy industry and armaments production. Then he said:

"Only a few days ago we were treated to a spectacle of sudden and dramatic changes in the high Soviet leadership accompanied by a vitriolic and threatening speech on foreign policy by Mr. Molotov. I will not speculate here on all the implications in these events, but they do point up sharply the need for continued cohesion and vigilance in the free world."

'Champagne Girl' Still in Hospital

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Trixie Friganza, vaudeville's "Champagne Girl," isn't leaving the hospital just yet.

The 33-year-old actress was admitted to Cedars of Lebanon Hospital last week with an intestinal ailment. She was reported improved and due to leave the hospital yesterday.

But Dr. Alfred P. Luppi said she needs more tests and that she suffers from arthritis and heart trouble as well as intestinal trouble.

Ike Hunting For Quail at Georgia Place

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
THOMASVILLE, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower, happy over a modest start, tries his hunting luck again today in a quest for south Georgia quail.

The chief executive arrived here shortly before dark yesterday and brought down two birds in an hour's shooting. So did his host, Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey. They were 10 under the daily limit of 12.

Aides said Eisenhower was pleased when he managed to bag a couple of birds before darkness brought him back to Humphrey's plantation estate, a 600-acre place known as Milestone. The President had said with a grin as he started out aboard a mule-drawn hunting roadster:

"Well, if we don't find 'em in about 15 minutes, it'll be a bad day."

The President and Humphrey, their wives and Mrs. Eisenhower's mother Mrs. John S. Dowd flew from Washington to Spence Air Base at Moultrie, Ga., 35 miles to the northeast. Also along was Clifford Roberts, New York investment banker and an old golfing pal of Eisenhower.

The party traveled to Thomasville by motor car, and the President—even though it was close to the dinner hour—changed from business clothes quickly and set out for quail.

N.D. Garage Burns

HAZEN, N.D. (AP)—Fire Thursday night destroyed the Klautt Garage here, valued at $50,000 to $60,000 by its owner, Arthur Klautt. The Hazen, Beulah and Stanton fire departments fought the blaze which was believed to have started in the basement.

Klautt estimated he had about $26,000 insurance on the building.

Pflimlin Seeks To Form New French Cabinet

PARIS (U) — Pierre Pflimlin, member of 13 postwar French governments and staunch advocate of West German rearmament, sought today to line up enough support to become France's new premier.

Assembly circles voiced a friendly reaction to his candidacy last night and observers gave the 48-year-old Alsatian lawyer better than an even chance of marshaling sufficient backing to get the job.

Pflimlin, a member of the Catholic Popular Republican Movement (MRP), has devoted himself mainly to domestic affairs in his various Cabinet posts and is little known outside France. He served as agriculture minister in eight cabinets and also has headed the ministries of health, national economy, commerce and overseas territories.

After Antoine Pinay gave up the ghost yesterday, President Rene Coty's next logical choice was a member of the MRP. The party was one of Pierre Mendes-France's bitterest opponents during his stormy premiership and also doomed Pinay's chances by refusing to give him solid support. Backers of those two men might retaliate by opposing any member of the Catholic group.

Career Gals Get Told to 'Loosen Up'

BY HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (U) — Curbside comments by a pavement Plato: Are the strains of modern life beginning to affect even women?

It would seem they are, particularly with career girls. The iron nerves of housewives are still holding up well, perhaps because they dress more sensibly and can lie down and relax in between the times they are prodding their husbands up the ladder of success.

But the career girl—Horatio Alger's mythical granddaughter, Hortense—often finds her life in the business world keeps her in endless tension.

Some signs that this is true: Women used to marry ulcers. Now they're getting more and more ulcers themselves.

Barterers report that more and more secretaries and stenographers are having cocktails at lunch to bolster them up for a long hard afternoon of trying to make the boss look like he knows his job.

If you stand on a mid-Manhattan street corner and watch the glamour girls of business go by, you will notice that about one out of every ten of these trim beauties is nervously gnawing her lip, twisting her lovely face all out of shape over some inner worry.

Caught 'Between'

Why? My theory is that career girls are caught between a man's world and a woman's world. They are doing a man's work all day while dressed up as if they were a movie star on her way to launch a battle-ship. They are as uncomfortable as a plumber trying to fix a drain-pipe while clad in a straitjacket.

No wonder they sometimes are cranky and moody, get easily upset over trifles, or miss out on a promotion because they bawl out their employer instead of buttering him up. They are suffering from a new career girl's disease—clothing claustrophobia. It's their clothing—not the boss—that pinches them.

Nobody can do a good job when he has a cramped feeling. Career girls should take a hint from their married sisters. When a housewife sets out to clean up her hair, she puts on a pair of old loose-fitting slacks, the shirt her husband wore the day before and a pair of floppy slippers that go flap-flap-flap as she flop-flop-flops around looking for more dirt to annoy.

Working Uniform

This is the working uniform of most American housewives today. Good thing, too. It enables them to avoid the anatomical imprisonment suffered by the more fashionably dressed career girls. Their carefree clothing allows their bodies to slump into those restful, bulging, lumpy—and, of course, graceful—patterns natural to womankind when they are not a-prowl for their prey, man.

But since it is well known that too-tight clothing inflames the temper and reduces mental efficiency, a girl ought to do something about her present ulcer-manufacturing office garb. A recent scientific study

—I just made it—shows that the two key areas where constriction brings out the raging lioness most in a woman are—the waist and the feet.

So any career girl will find it easier to concentrate on winning fame and fortune in her work, if she'll just follow these two tips:

"Either throw away your girdle, or get one so comfortable you can put it on with one hand tied behind you—this I'd like to see—and buy shoes at least one size, and preferably two, larger than the ones you're wearing."

You'll be amazed, Hortense Alger, to see how these two steps will take the pressure off your mind, cut down your nervous irritability. Even if you don't land a bigger job, you'll feel so gay and sweet-dispositioned the guys in the office will be standing in line to marry you.

Let the one who wins you worry about business ulcers. You can stay home and be really comfortable in those floppy slippers that go flap-flap-flap.

Oven Doesn't Burn But Spanking Will

NEW YORK (U) — Six-year-old Olga DeJuana and her sister, Gloria, 4, were playing in the kitchen of their Brooklyn home yesterday when they decided to put their dolls in the oven.

After the dolls were in the oven, Gloria suggested that Olga climb in with them. Olga did, and Gloria jammed in the wire baking rack and Olga was very much stuck. Howls from Gloria and Olga brought their mother, who needed police help to free Olga.

Anybody burned? Only Gloria, in a "rear action" maneuver by her mother.

Labor Party May Result From Merger

WASHINGTON (U) — Sen. Bender (R-Ohio) said today there is "good reason to believe" that projected merger of the AFL and CIO marks "the birth of a political effort comparable to that which produced the British Labor party."

Bender praised the planned labor merger on another score. He said it should "definitely end costly jurisdictional disputes."

A member of the Senate Labor Committee, Bender disagreed with Henry G. Ritter, president of the National Assn. of Manufacturers, who said the merger could lead to "dangerous monopoly" from an economic standpoint.

CIO President Walter Reuther said in an interview there was "no basis" for Ritter's charge, and added:

"The people who now make that charge are the very same people who have always tried to block any kind of labor organization at all."

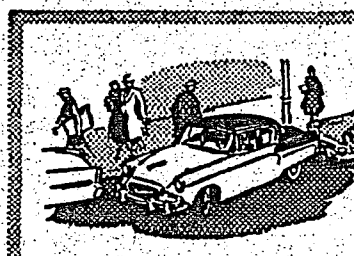

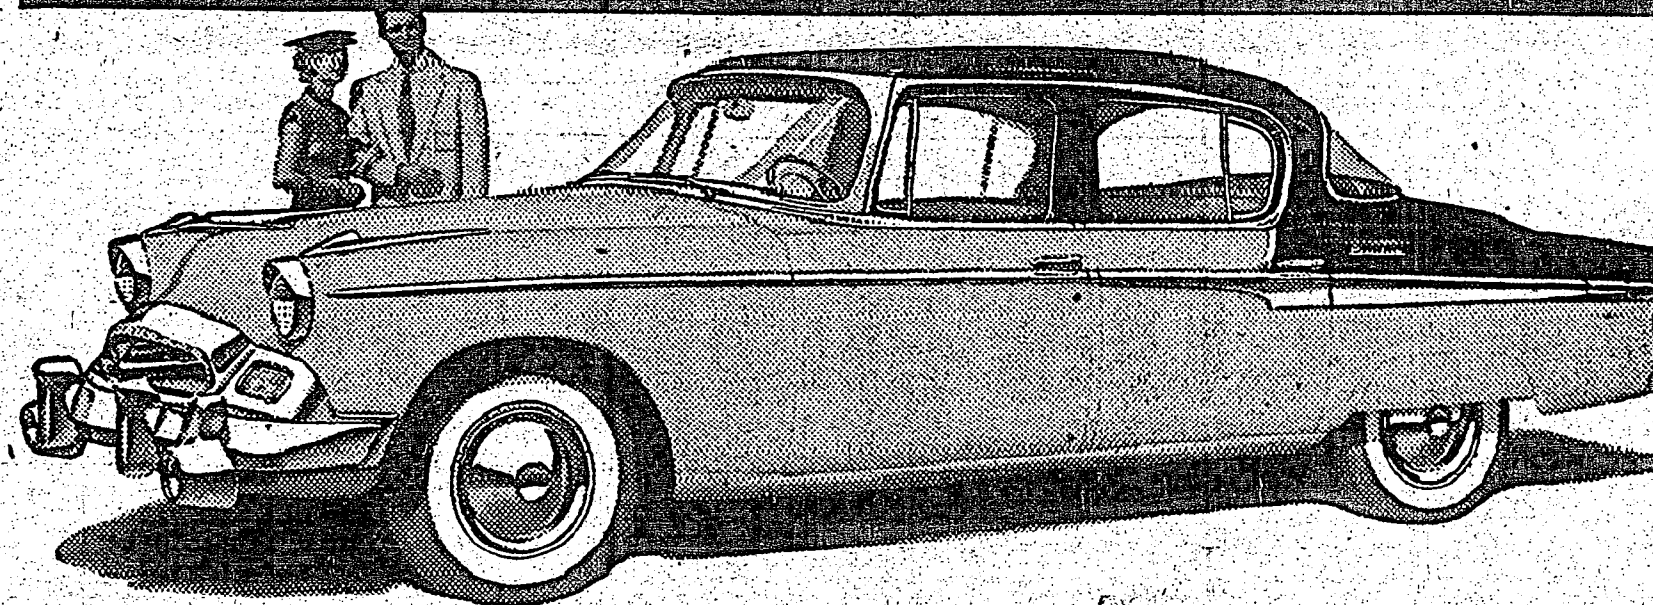

Senators Ives (R-NY) and Douglas (D-ILL), both members of the Labor Committee, also said in separate interviews they found no basis for Ritter's statement.

Bender said: "This could be the biggest labor organization in the world and its influence for good could be unlimited. But by the same token, its potential influence for control of one or the other political parties is a factor to be reckoned with in American political history."

Teachers Ask Attorney at Board Meeting

Czarnowski Says National Schedule Should Be Adopted

The Winona Public School Teachers Association legal counsel will meet with the Board of Education Monday night to discuss teacher dissatisfaction with the new salary schedule recently adopted by the school directors for the 1955-56 contract year.

The meeting date was set Thursday night by the school board in answer to a request by the association that its attorney, William M. Hull, be permitted to appear before the board to discuss matters pertaining to the schedule.

The school directors were unanimous in their agreement that Hull might meet with them Monday evening, several pointing out that all regular meetings of the board are open to the public.

All Open, He Says

First Ward Director Harold Schultz commented, "I think that we should make an effort to emphasize to the public that they are welcome to come in and talk to us at any time. All of our meetings are open and it isn't necessary to request permission to come here and speak but I don't think that everyone realizes that."

The request for the meeting was contained in a letter addressed to the board last month after the directors had approved at their January meeting a new salary schedule for the next contract year that is from $100 to $150 higher than the one for the current year. The action was taken by the board without a request for salary adjustments by the teachers.

The teachers thus far have informed the board only that they have "rejected" the new salary schedule but there has been no direct counter-proposal made to the board.

Earlier this week, however, the teachers association in a paid Daily News advertisement said that they are asking for a maximum basic salary of $5,850 for instructors with a bachelor's degree and 13 years' teaching experience. This maximum is $1,000 higher than the new salary schedule adopted by the board and $1,150 above the 13-year level under the present schedule. These maximums are exclusive of the additional increments paid to married men and for various assignments.

Brief Discussion

There was only a brief discussion of teachers salary matters by members of the board at Thursday night's committee of the whole meeting.

Director-at-Large Clarence P. Hartner, chairman of the personnel committee which drafted the new salary schedule proposal for presentation at last month's meeting, was asked by 2nd Ward Director George W. Richman what his committee proposed now that the schedule had been rejected by the teachers.

Hartner said that he had not spoken with his committee since the last meeting but "as far as I'm concerned I'm content to leave it as it is at the present time."

Second Ward Director Richard Powell said, "I think we ought to wait until we hear what the teachers representative has to say. I don't know just what the intent of their letter is; I don't quite know what it means although I think it was about the response that could be expected."

Hartner said that he "had hoped that this would be one year that we wouldn't have to go through all of those formalities on salaries."

Fourth Ward Director Louis Czarnowski, one of four who voted against the new schedule last month, had the most to say about the salary situation and suggested that some sort of national organization be established to get suggested teachers salary ranges on either a national or regional basis.

"Surely a new low has been reached," Czarnowski declared, "when school boards compete against one another in order to get the highest bidder for teachers contracts similar to the tactics used by baseball clubs in buying players."

Czarnowski continued, "This board should realize that if industry adopted the tactics of luring skilled craftsmen — not executives — from their competitors by raising the hourly wage the entire fabric and structure of their organizations would collapse. Is there any justice in the fact that there are teachers in many parts of the United States teaching for $2,200 a year while we in Winona for the same kind of work are paying upwards of $4,400?"

Move to Union?

Referring to mention made earlier in the year that there were reports that Winona's teachers were considering union affiliation, Czarnowski said that "I am told that the salary increase (adopted by the board in January) was a 'union buster.' I would at this time like to cite some advantages of dealing with a teachers union — preferably a national organization — as a lever in salary consideration; therefore I urge this board to pass a resolution favoring or

Knutson Mental Test Nears as Doctor Is Named

PRESTON, Minn. — A mental examination for Ernest Knutson, Lanesboro, being held here pending trial for second degree murder, drew nearer today with the announcement that Dr. William S. Chalgren, Mankato, has been selected to give the test.

A. E. Sheridan, Waukon, Iowa, defense attorney, has notified J. F. Herrick, Lanesboro, Fillmore County attorney, that Chalgren will be a satisfactory examiner. The district court, Judge A. C. Richardson, Austin, presiding, also has approved the Mankato doctor. Herrick is awaiting word from Miles Lord, Minnesota attorney general, before making a final decision. Lord, a classmate of Herrick's, will assist with the prosecution here starting March 14.

The forthcoming trial has been postponed twice while attorneys settled the pre-trial examination question. Originally the date was Jan. 24, then Feb. 1 and now mid-March. Knutson is charged with firing the shots which eventually took the life of former Fillmore County Deputy Sheriff Walter Kruegel last November.

'Barking Dog' Trial Scheduled in Court

Earl Boller, 472 W. 5th St., this morning pleaded not guilty to a municipal court to a charge of "barking two dogs which have the habit of barking and howling in the night to the disturbance of the neighborhood."

organization and affiliation as soon as possible."

Czarnowski said that he believed that a national or regional board charged with setting salary maximums and minimums would be more competent to deal with salary matters than local board members and asked the board representatives to be appointed to consult with the state commissioner of education to discuss the matter.

His fellow board members agreed that Czarnowski was touching on a vital problem in school board affairs but most felt that it would be unwise to strip the local board of salary setting functions.

Board President Carrol Syverson and Powell each said that they thought that salaries should be established on the basis of the individual community's ability to pay the bill.

The board agreed to give further study to Czarnowski's suggestions.

Youth Pleads Not Guilty to Carnal Knowledge Count

WABASHA, Minn. — Raymond Leuth, 18, Mazeppa, this morning entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of carnal knowledge involving a 17-year-old Lake City girl. He appeared during a special session of Wabasha County District Court with Judge Arnold Hatfield presiding.

Leuth was among the Mazeppa and Lake City youths charged following the recent juvenile delinquency probe by Wabasha County authorities and William Bennyhoff, Rochester, state crime bureau agent.

The youth was bound over to the May term of District Court and returned to jail until his attorney, John B. Friedrich, Red Wing, can arrange payment of the $1,000 bail.

Three other youths, charged in connection with incidents revealed by the investigation, have paid $100 fines and costs. Lloyd Betcher, Weston Lammernan and Thomas Tri, all 18 and Mazeppa natives, had been held in jail since entering pleas of guilty to charges of procuring and giving to other minors, nonintoxicating malt beverages.

Five of the eight Lake City teenage girls implicated appeared before juvenile Judge Kenneth Kalbrenner Thursday afternoon but no action was taken. The other three were scheduled to appear this afternoon.

Also appearing before Judge Hatfield this morning were four Millville youths who were charged with second degree grand larceny in connection with thefts from a Hammond used car lot Jan. 18.

Represented by a court-appointed attorney, Fred Gerber, Plainview, the four entered pleas of guilty. Sentencing was delayed pending a pre-sentencing investigation.

Richard, 21, and Kenneth Domke, 18, and Stanley, 18, and Richard Schuchardt, 21, were returned to the Wabasha County Jail under $1,000 bond each. Dist. Atty. Martin Healy represented the state in all the court actions.

The two pairs of brothers had waived preliminary hearing in justice court Jan. 25.

Huff, 16, was arrested by police on a charge of failing to identify himself at the scene of an accident.

He appeared in municipal court this morning and because of his age the case was referred to the juvenile court.

More than 300 persons braved sub-zero temperatures Thursday to watch seven acts in each of the two divisions compete in the finals of the month-long contest.

Vetsch Set To Renew Fight For Sheriff

Attorneys to Make Motion Here Feb. 18 In District Court

Clarence Vetsch, La Crescent, will renew his fight for the Houston County sheriff post in Judge Karl Finkelnburg's chambers here next Friday at 2 p. m.

His attorneys will make a motion for amended findings of fact and conclusions of law on a new trial. Judge Finkelnburg ruled Jan. 8, after a trial in Houston County District Court Dec. 30 and 31, that Vetsch was the Nov. 2 election loser to incumbent Beryl Kerrigan as the La Crescent village precinct was not lawfully governed.

It is understood that the judge can grant or reject either motion. If he chooses the latter course, Vetsch in all probability will appeal to the state Supreme Court. He tallied 2,371 votes to Kerrigan's 3,294 in the general election but lost a recount battle instituted by the incumbent. When Judge Finkelnburg ruled the La Crescent precinct vote invalid, the results were switched: 3,124 for Kerrigan, 2,900 for Vetsch.

A citizen's committee in La Crescent has aided the former constable in obtaining funds for his continued court fight. Vetsch is represented by Milton Kludt, La Crescent, and Richard Plunkett, Rochester. C. Stanley McCormick, Winona, and Thomas Flynn, Houston, are Kerrigan's attorneys.

Kerrigan, who has served Houston County for eight years, is holding the office while the dispute is being settled.

Liquor License Bill Introduced In State Senate

ST. PAUL (U) — A bill requiring cities and villages that establish municipal liquor stores to continue to grant private liquor licenses was introduced in the Senate today.

The number of private licenses to be granted would be not less than the maximum number issued during any previous five year period.

The measure was sponsored by Sens. J. R. Keller, Rollingstone, Herbert Rogers, Duluth, and Thomas Vukelich, Hibbing.

The same authors also submitted a bill to assure holders of retail liquor licenses that the licenses would be renewed each year, "as a matter of right," unless the holder or of a license has been convicted of an offense which would be grounds for revocation of his license.

Sen. Chris Erickson, Fairmont, offered a proposal to require that future probate judges be lawyers. Present probate judges could continue in office and be eligible for re-election. An amendment authorizing the Legislature to set qualifications for probate judges was adopted at the November election.

Sen. Vukelich and others introduced a bill to require payment of prevailing wages on all building projects of the state and its political subdivisions. Sens. Val Imm, Mankato, Magnus Wefald, Hawley, and Walter Burdick, Rochester, offered one to permit second and third class cities to levy a one mill tax to advertise their advantages.

Salary increases for the attorney general, two deputies and six assistants are asked in a bill introduced by Rep. Lawrence Yetka, Cloquet, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee.

The measure asks the attorney general's salary be upped from $1,500 to $13,000; two deputies, from $10,500 to $11,500; and six assistants from $8,775 to $9,775.

Other bills provide: Creating an abstracters board of examiners and providing for examination and regulation of abstracters, and also establishing penalties, by Rep. Peter Popovich, St. Paul.

Change in the law relating to approval of operation of dairy plants, and adding a provision that the modification in question should not apply to producer dairy farmers nor to establishments that do not process but only sell dairy products at retail.

Providing for annual reports to be made to the commissioner of agriculture by creamery associations not later than Dec. 30, each year, by Rep. Michael McGuire, Le Sueur.

The First Truckload Of Merchandise to be salvaged from the ruins of the Home Furniture Store was being loaded this morning. Appraisers estimated that 10 truckloads of goods might be salvaged from the building where damage estimated at $120,000 or more resulted from an early morning fire Thursday. The merchandise seen here is being removed from the basement of the store and is being piled in a passageway at the rear of the building before being loaded in trucks. (Daily News photo)

Salvage Starts At Burned-Out Furniture Store

Salvage operations were launched this morning at the fire-ravaged Home Furniture Store, 68 E. 4th St.

Owner-manager C. R. Hauge, 914 44th Ave., Goodview, early today began recruiting a salvage crew and said that he hoped to begin temporary operations on a limited basis at a new location almost immediately.

Hauge said that he has obtained temporary use of the building which formerly housed the United Furniture Co., at 173 E. 3rd St., and this afternoon was seeking to make arrangements for the use of the building at West 4th and Main streets until recently occupied by the Red Owl Store.

Hauge said that if present plans develop he would use the United Furniture Store site as a storage place for furniture salvaged from the store and would make arrangements for sales displays at the West 4th street location.

The salvage began immediately after insurance adjusters inspected the fire ruins and gave permission for the removal of salvage merchandise.

Assisting Hauge and the owner of the building, George Falk, 62 E. 4th St., was the firm of Joseph Sopornick & Sons, St. Paul, adjusters representing the insured.

Sopornick said this morning, after his inspection of the premises, that he believed that the loss of contents and building will amount to at least $120,000.

He said, however, that he hoped that upwards of 10 truckloads of merchandise in the building might be salvaged.

Until an inventory is made of the salvage, however, an estimate of the value could not be made.

Falk said this morning that his plans for the reconstruction of the fire-damaged building would await conferences with the insurance adjusters.

Occupants of three apartments over the Winona Beauty Shop, 62 E. 4th St., adjacent to the furniture store, moved back into the building today.

There was smoke damage in each of the apartments and in the beauty shop but the fire did not enter this building.

Hauge this morning recruited salvage crew members from the Winona office of the Minnesota State Employment Service and at 1 p. m. all off-duty firemen were expected to join in the salvage operation.

Lights were being installed in the building this morning so that the salvage work might continue.

Kohler, Others Discuss Speedup Of Road Building

MADISON (U) — Gov. Kohler, legislators and others interested in a planned speed-up of highway construction in Wisconsin conferred in the executive office Thursday.

The governor said participants discussed road financing, motor vehicle registration, safety, driver licenses and other activities in the field.

The meeting was one of several to be held in connection with formulating the governor's recommendation to the Legislature on highway matters. A special message involving highways is due in about two weeks.

The governor said he had nothing to say at this time about plans for getting more money for an accelerated highway program.

It generally is known that people involved in plans for expanded highway work have talked increased gasoline taxes, high driver license fees and car and truck registration fees as possible means of bringing in new revenue.

More Trouble Expected Among Russ Leaders

WASHINGTON (AP)—Top American officials are reported convinced on the basis of careful analysis that there will eventually be more trouble among the little group of men which rules Russia.

The demotion of Georgi M. Malenkov, his replacement as premier by Nikolai A. Bulganin, the emergence of Communist party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev as the strong man of Moscow are regarded as the beginning of a third phase in the struggle for power.

The struggle dates, of course, from Joseph Stalin's death in March 1953. It reached its first climax with the purging of secret police boss Lavrenty P. Beria.

Most officials concerned with analyzing Soviet government behavior agree on several conclusions about the takers which started the world Tuesday:

1. The massive Soviet system needs a dictator for its most effective operations and tends to produce a dictator when it does not have one.
2. There is more evidence, than ever that since Stalin's death the dozen men who boss the Communist system have been caught up in personal rivalries and that these struggles will continue until a new dictator clearly appears.
3. While Khrushchev is the strong man now, his power cannot yet be considered to be firmly established.
4. The Soviet army has gained in the appearance of political strength and authority but whether it has real weight is uncertain.
5. The Old Bolsheviks are the most powerful group in the Presidium of the Central Committee of the Communist party of the Soviet Union. They are the men who worked with Stalin from the days of the Russian Revolution.
6. They include Bulganin, Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, President Klement Voroshilov, Lazar Kaganovich and A. I. Mikoyan. Mikoyan recently lost his Soviet government ministry but so far as known remains in the inner party circle.
7. There is some tendency among U.S. specialists to believe it was the Old Bolsheviks who got Malenkov. The assumption is they did not like his "soft" foreign policy line or his domestic policies which had failed to stimulate industrial and agricultural production.

They'll Do It Every Time

It Happened Last Night Rudy Vallee's a Great Hometown Booster, But—

NEW YORK (AP)—Rudy Vallee was talking about the advantages of the country over the city.

"I had a caretaker who was always pointing them out," said Rudy. "His name was Charlie Johnson. He was from Lovell, Me. 'What's New York or Los Angeles got that we haven't?' he'd say. 'Libraries? Ho! We've got 3 traveling libraries that bring the books right to us!'"

Rudy's speech almost convinced me that I should go back to Rockford, Ohio, and work on the weekly paper.

We were at a little French restaurant. Rudy was just back from 17 weeks in Europe. He played himself in "Gentlemen Marry Bruettes," looking as he looked in 1925 when he was fresh from the country.

"Charlie Johnson," Rudy went on, "would say 'Yes, you do have museums and beautiful paintings.' 'But what do they show? Beautiful fields, lakes and sunsets. We don't need the paintings—we have the beautiful fields, lakes and sunsets. The painters come here to copy what we see every day!'"

I was about ready to buy my tickets for back home.

Rudy, having finished his costly dinner, lit a costly cigar.

"Charlie would say, 'You have symphonies and concerts and the opera in the city.' 'What do they do?' he'd say. 'They copy the songs of the birds. We hear them every hour. Without buying a ticket.' 'I remember the other night,' he'd say, 'when I heard the beautiful song of the thrush—and all was still.' 'Somebody from the city said, 'Yeah, too still.' 'But,' continued Rudy, 'Charlie was right. I got advantages in health, and in proper living, in a small town, that have been invaluable to me.' 'So all right, it's a deal,' I said to Rudy. 'I'll go back to the Middle West. You'll go back North.' 'I would never go back there to live,' exclaimed Rudy. 'I don't like those dreary leaden skies. I'm always a sun-worshiper, but I never knew it till I moved to California. I love it there. When I go back up there, they say to me, 'You can't talk that way. You were born here.' 'I say 'Because I was born here, do I have to like it? I don't believe the average boy who leaves, wants to go back. I don't.' 'I'll see you around Broadway.'"

THE MIDNIGHT EARL

Shelley Winters says she did the bubble bath scene nude on NBC-TV's "The Women" Monday night. "The only trouble was," she said, "when I leaned back in the tub the bubbles didn't move back with me. I kept scooping 'em over me, scared to death."

Producer George Sidney's set July 1 as rehearsal date for "St. Louis Woman," and says, "As far as I know Sinatra and Ava Gardner will both be there." Frank signed for it before he got hot again, and MGM might have to hike his salary. . . . Fran Warren, a hit in the touring "Pajama Game," gets a screen test soon.

Producer Paul Gregory's upset—"The Caine Mutiny" will cancel the Southern portion of its tour because of Paul Douglas' remark that "The South stinks." A possible solution: "Have someone play Douglas' role—but there's no one available to take over the difficult part."

Judy Garland expects the baby April 7. . . . Kay Spreckles baked a birthday cake for Clark Gable. Harry Belafonte's set to star opposite Gina Lollobrigida in an Italian film.

Jittery Markets React Swiftly To News, Rumors

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Jittery markets swing widely these days with every new surprise on the news wires. And recent days have brought an unusual number.

It is what stock traders call a sensitive market—sensitive alike to news breaks and to mere rumor and expectation. It is sensitive these days because so much business planning is based on "ifs."

The most obvious "if" is the delicate balance between peace and war. Business management has to plan, if it can, to be ready to jump either way.

A shooting war would bring a quick end to many an ambitious business program. It would change overnight, for one example, most companies' present inventory policies.

A move toward real peace, on the other hand, would knock the bottom out of the expectation of continuing defense orders that is the foundation of the planning—and the basis of the stock price—of any number of manufacturing companies.

But even if you ignore this big "if" of international relations, business itself is going through a period of uncertainty.

The general expectation is for a period of general prosperity. But few individual companies can be smug. Competition is too keen.

Mergers and rumors of mergers are quickly reflected in the stock market—a place where traders constantly reassess the relative positions of rival companies and different industries.

Business management has to make many other guesses. Directors debate whether to raise dividends or keep the money for expansion or as a hedge against uncertainties. They debate whether to sell more stock or to borrow money instead. They discuss stock splits pro and con.

And all these discussions—or the mere guess that such debates could be under way—send rumors floating through a sensitive market.

Icebox Safety Measure Passes State Senate

ST. PAUL (AP)—A bill making it illegal to leave discarded refrigerators in places where they might endanger children was passed by the Senate Wednesday and sent to the governor.

The measure specifies that doors or hinges of such boxes must be removed before the boxes are thrown away.

Approved and sent to the House was a resolution to continue the legislative committee on Indian affairs, which has worked to obtain federal aid for Minnesota Indians. The resolution authorizes the governor to name a member of the committee, which would also have five senators and five representatives as members.

Other bills passed and sent to the House included:

Permitting persons to attend Memorial Day services at Monson Lake State Park, near Willmar, without buying the one dollar sticker required to enter state parks. Authorizing the city of Duluth to transfer $1,100 remaining from a pre-1940 bond issue for public works projects to the city general fund.

Group Trying For Close Party Ties, Says Thy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Thye (R-Minn.) said today a group of Republican congressmen is trying to promote party unity behind President Eisenhower's program by establishing close informal contacts with administration officials.

Thye said the group has had meetings thus far with White House staff members and with Justice Department representatives in an effort to shoulder a role in the formation of policies. The legislators, he said, would like to "know what is coming" when new administration proposals are made to Congress.

"We want to have something to do with the formation of the policies that we are asked, as Republicans, to carry out," Thye said in an interview. "We want to be part of the family instead of just the errand boy for the family."

The Minnesota senator said senators and House members represented in the group are made up largely of those who lack the seniority for top rank on important committees.

He said the group is open, however, to any Republican who wants to join. Invitations to its informal meetings have not been limited to all-out advocates of Eisenhower's legislative program, Thye added. Thye, Sen. Duff (R-Pa.) and others have urged more meetings of the Conference of All Republican Senators to discuss policy matters. Since the opening days of this Congress, none have been called by

By GRETCHEN L. LAMBERTON

IN January one expects snow and icy cold and takes it in stride. The trouble with February is that one has the optimistic idea that it's getting along toward springtime, and when there's a little spell of slightly balmy weather one thinks, "Whoops, spring is just around the corner!" And then when the inevitable blizzards, ice and deep snow bury the land, one's hopes are so dashed.

Well, one way to keep up the flagging spirits during this month is to pore over the seed catalogs and size up all the fancy new seeds and plants they've developed for 1955. Buried in ice and snow out here in the country, last night, I was enthralled with some of the new plants. There is a "new" hardy golden foliage in spring that changes to chartreuse in summer and autumn.

For those of you who like bittersweet vines there is a newly developed "Tree Bittersweet." Says the catalog: "Handsome tall-growing shrubs (8 to 10 feet) very hardy and filled with thousands of bittersweet fruits during the autumn and winter."

There is also a Fragrant Pink Snowball bush with "beautiful coral-pink buds opening to exquisite shell-pink. The intense gardenia-like fragrance is delightful. A few blooms will scent the entire home. Free blooming, handsome, hardy."

A new one on me was the Oriental Orchid, sensational from its picture. The catalog says: "All can now enjoy this beautiful Asiatic orchid. Strong says that it tolerates regular 7 to 10 inch cattleya orchid-like flowers that last for weeks. Perfectly winter hardy, requires no special care for garden blooms this summer. Buds increase, big blooming size."

Another exotic import from Africa is the "Star of Africa," which is described as "shaft after shaft of snowy-white wax-like buds that open into a glory of perfect stars, 10 to 20 on each stem, and they last six weeks or more as cut flowers." There is also the Black Magic Iris, a purple-black iris that blooms both in April and September.

Some of the fancy new trees are the white-leaved maple, tree wisteria, tulip tree, Chinese tree peony and the double-flowering red hawthorne tree from England. The Chinese Date tree, or Zizyphus (isn't that a marvelous word?) is imported from the high interior of China and withstands 22 below zero in this climate. The catalog says that a four-year-old tree bears 150 pounds of fruit which is delicious either fresh or cured like Arabian dates, and it makes superb jam or preserves.

There is also a Dwarf Fig tree offered which produces fruit the first year. It can be left outdoors all winter as far north as Philadelphia. In climates that are colder it is recommended that these figs be planted in tubs and brought in about November. There is also the Japanese Walnut tree which is "the hardest and most vigorous of all the walnuts. It has withstood 21 below zero temperatures. Nuts are large and borne in clusters of 15 to 20. Kernels are meaty and of rich, delicate flavor. Handsome shade trees."

Among the vegetables I'm dying to try are the White Wonder cucumber which is pure white at all stages of growth and so mild that it can be eaten by people who cannot tolerate regular cucumbers. The Sakurajima radish which grows to 15 pounds and is a fine winter keeper. There are the white anti-acid tomatoes and the China Long cucumber (imported from China) which grows two feet long and is almost seedless. Then there is the "100-pound Jumbo State Fair Melon," a watermelon that grows to 100 pounds and more; the Winter Watermelon, a true watermelon that keeps all winter; and the New Hampshire Midget watermelon which has strawberry-red meat, is supposedly most delicious of all, and grows to be only four to five pounds.

One more note for icy weather: The other day Abercrombie and Fitch, New York, sent me a catalog with an ad for a "heated windowsill bird feeder." It's made of weatherproof metal with an electric heating unit that keeps the tray warm, so your birds will have warm tootsies all winter. It's yours for $30. I can just see it crowded like a rush-hour subway with sparrows, thousands of shrill, gabby, tough sparrows, while the aristocrats of the bird world huddle icy-footed in the snow!

Millikin said in a separate interview he is willing to call such meetings any time it appears a conference would be fruitful. He said that any five Republican senators can force a meeting whenever they choose, adding that this provision has not been invoked.

Repeal of Payroll, Property Credits On Taxes Proposed

By JACK B. MACKAY

ST. PAUL (AP)—The Minnesota Legislature Thursday took its first step toward possible repeal of the property and payroll credit on taxes proposed.

The House Tax Committee approved a bill which, if passed, would increase the normal income taxes by $800,000 a year from corporations and $175,000 from banks.

Rep. D. D. Wozniak, of St. Paul, chief author, told members of the tax committee that banks paid taxes in 1954 of $1,880,000 which is distributed to communities in which the banks are located.

In 1938, he said, the tax from banks was $2,243,002.

Co-authors are Reps. E. J. Chisgren, Littlefork; Walter Day, Bagley; Joseph Karth, St. Paul and Charles Husted, Brainerd. Wozniak explained that each state possesses the power to tax state banks as it sees fit, but the power to tax national banks is restricted by federal law.

National banks cannot be taxed more heavily than other competing forms of business.

Since 1927, with passage of the classified property tax, Minnesota national banks were taxed on their shares. These were assessed at 33 1/3 per cent of full and true value and subjected to the state and local levies applicable to all property.

This tax then was declared invalid by the state Supreme Court, but the banks continued for several years to make some payment under a "gentlemen's agreement" between the banks, which was renewed each biennium, by the tax commission.

The agreement was validated for two years by legislative act in 1935.

In 1939 the Legislature amended the income tax law to make it applicable to banks, but the governor vetoed it on the ground that such a tax would permit the banks to escape their proper share of the state tax burden.

Then, the banks agreed to pay state and local millages on stock if the assessed value were reduced to 15 per cent instead of 33 1/3 per cent of true value.

The 1941 Legislature, Wozniak recalled, passed the excise tax measured by net income as one of the four methods allowed to tax real property.

As the tax is in lieu of all taxes except on real property, Wozniak added, the rate was put at 8 per cent instead of the 6 per cent applicable to other corporations. The excise tax was selected in preference to the income tax, so that interest from tax exempt bonds could be included in gross income.

With this exception, bank net income is computed in the same manner as taxable income for the income and franchise tax. The bank excise tax is administered by the income tax division.

Wozniak said proceeds of the tax are distributed to the counties in which are located the banks paying the tax, and are apportioned by each county auditor on the same basis as personal property taxes in the taxing districts in which each bank is located. Proceeds of property taxes on bank realty are assessed, collected and distributed as other property taxes.

The tax committee also approved a bill dealing with partnerships under the state income tax law. It closes loopholes in the old law by which a partnership could postpone a tax liability with respect to income of a new partnership by as much as 11 months, according to William Burkmann, state income tax director.

He said the new proposal also has the objectives of "flexibility and equity" as between the partners and also as between the partners and the government.

Defend Human Rights, Truman Tells Meeting

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Harry S. Truman told the National Conference of Christians and Jews last night "we must strive abroad, as well as at home, to defend human rights."

The former President said suppression of freedom in various parts of the world threatens "to undo the slow and hard-won achievements of civilization."

He declared: "It is only the people of religious faith throughout the world who have the power to overcome the force of tyranny. It is in their beliefs that the path can be found to justice and freedom."

World Will Hear More From Mendes-France

In the seven and one-half months that he survived as Premier of France Pierre Mendes-France accomplished a great deal. It was inevitable that his positive leadership and his insistence on facing harsh realities should make him many enemies in the Chamber of Deputies. His opponents finally managed to muster the votes necessary to force him from office.

He came to office with a wager that he would either settle the Indochina crisis within a self-imposed time limit or resign. He won his bet. He managed to achieve approval of the European security plan which meant the rearming of Germany — something his predecessors had lacked the courage or the forcefulness to attempt. He let the French people know that further taxation was necessary and that an end to evasion of taxes would have to come if the country were to survive and take a place of respect in the world. Frenchmen shook their heads in wonder — they were not used to politicians who behaved as if they really wanted to lead.

Premier Mendes-France is not the first politician in history to suffer a setback for his frankness with the people. Winston Churchill knew the heartbreak of rejection because he spoke facts when other political figures were dispensing platitudes. Yet the time finally came when great trouble was visited on the British and they turned for leadership to the man who promised "blood, toil, tears and sweat."

Pierre Mendes-France has shown integrity, audacity and an uncompromising faith that his countrymen can conquer their problems if they stand up to them. At the moment he seems to have been defeated. But the world will hear more from this little Frenchman who knows where he is going and what his people need.

One-Man Police Cars or Two?

Is better police protection offered by one-man police cars or by cars in which two officers ride together? Some cities use one, some the other. Most police experts favor the one-man car because it permits spreading out more broadly what too often is an inadequately manned staff. The policemen themselves would rather have the two-man cars for reasons that combine sociability and safety.

Lately the Kansas City, Mo., police chief, Bernard C. Brannon, has written on the subject in Public Management, the organ of the International City Managers Association. He says that his city has been converting from the two-man system to one. Obviously, manpower is saved. To prevent a lone officer from being endangered, he does not attempt a hazardous assignment without notifying the radio dispatcher and getting help from other cars in the area. Thanks to this precaution, no policeman has been killed or wounded since the new system started. Major crimes have decreased seven per cent and burglaries 21 per cent.

One effect is greater individual responsibility. Officers do not have to share credit with a companion, nor can they put blame on him.

Probably one-man operation will be satisfactory in residential areas during the day. At other times or places the question is still open.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

John Cunningham, board chairman of the Associated Advertising Agencies of America, has dug up some examples of "huckstering" as practiced in the 1880s that make even the worst commercial jingles you hear on television almost palatable. A patent medicine called Lucinda Cordial got away with this:

Lucinda Cordial Barren Wives
It turns to mothers fair,
And the fond name of father gives
To husbands in despair.

A lady rabbit glared at her young daughter, who was idly nibbling a carrot, and sneered, "At your age I was already married, and the mother of 218 children!"

At a dinner party in the nation's capital, Peter Lind Hayes refereed a hassle between a proud daughter of Kentucky and an equally proud son of Texas. The fun—and the boasts—flew in all directions.

"Why, we have so much solid gold stored in Kentucky," concluded the young lady, "we could build a wall of the stuff, ten feet high and four feet thick, clear around the border of Texas."

The Texan smiled tolerantly. "Go right ahead and build it, honey," he urged, "—and if we like it, we'll buy it."

An American journalist met a writer from behind the Iron Curtain who had just escaped to West Berlin. "The Russians announced on the radio today that their writers now can

These Days

Stature of Lincoln Continues to Grow

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

NEW YORK — As the years roll in the saga of America, Abraham Lincoln grows in stature not because he was assassinated, not even because he was president during our Civil War, but because he was a philosopher, a moralist, a rare figure among those who rise in our political system.

The American president has usually been a politician, not a statesman; an operator of the techniques of manipulating the people's choice, not a thinker who leads his followers into the lofty realms of moral philosophy. Too often his speech has been of the earth rather than inspired by revelation. How many of them could have thought, much less put into rhetoric, the grandeur of the second inaugural:

"With malice toward none; with charity for all; with firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in; to bind up the nation's wounds; to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and his orphan — to do all which may achieve and cherish a just and lasting peace among ourselves and with all nations."

Abraham Lincoln thought lyrically and his poetry was sunshine in a dark moment of national history. He required no ghost-writer. He was not briefed by researchers. He called no conferences to decide what he was to think and say. His artistry came from his consciousness, and to it, no man could add or detract. A man who could compose the "Gettysburg Address" on the back of an envelope while traveling on a railroad train is unusual among our politicians who generally submit their major thoughts to associates for criticism, the associates taking out of it everything that is of sufficient potency to produce controversy.

LINCOLN WAS NEVER afraid of controversy. In fact, he started his national career as a controversialist, debating the Little Giant, Stephen Douglas, no mean man. The Lincoln-Douglas debates stirred a generation by the deftness of logic, by the fullness of the knowledge of both debaters and by the courageous stance of each man on a public question. There was no pussy-footing in anything that Lincoln did and said, as the more popular Seward discovered to his discomfort.

What a wonderful thing it would be in this age of television if two candidates for the presidency—say Eisenhower and Stevenson in 1952—could have debated the issues before the nation, face to face, with questions and answers and interpolations. Perhaps the nation might have discovered that the egg-heads are really behind the scenes. It might be like the speaker with "the perfect voice" who squeals through a few paragraphs when the microphone has suddenly and for no just cause gone dead.

Lincoln lives for us not so much in deeds as in ideas. "I intend no modification of my oft-expressed personal wish that all men everywhere should be free." "What is conservatism? Is it not adherence to the old and tried, against the new and untried?" Replying to the South Carolina commissioners, he said: "As President, I have no eyes but constitutional eyes; I cannot see you."

ONE CAN PICK AND CHOOSE nuggets of thought, wisely and literally spoken, courageously phrased, with no idea of advantage. Such men do not often appear in any country; they have rarely appeared in ours since that magnificent group of philosophers sat in Independence Hall to adopt the Declaration of Independence and later to write the Constitution. Lincoln might have been of that galaxy had he been born earlier; he was of their succession. He was a sad man, as the philosopher must be. John Stuart Mill said, "Ask yourself whether you are happy, and you cease to be so." Lincoln probably never asked himself such a question: He was born and reared in a world of contention and quarrel that ended in war and in his assassination.

Our people in these days pray for the inspiration of a national ideal. We live in a period of excitement, of action, of motion, but we are a sad people because we are not at peace with ourselves or with the world. We need the wisdom of a great mind and the leadership of one who walks with God. We again need the gentle hand of Abraham Lincoln who could be firm in the right without permitting himself the wickedness of hate.

Reds May Feel Limited War Answer to Troubles

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Here is how the diplomats view Moscow's latest political turnover:

As far as the USA is concerned it's a two-way street. Nikita Khrushchev, the new backstage dictator of Russia, is vigorously anti-American, much more belligerent than the placid, flabby Malenkov. But the reason for the turnover is serious unrest inside Russia . . . Purges in various Soviet republics have not been headlined in the press but they've been important. Part of them were to weed out Marshal Beria's followers; part to stamp out unrest . . . Malenkov's appeasement of the masses by giving them more food, more consumer goods, did not work. Unrest continued. Now Khrushchev will try sterner methods. He will gird for possible war, but more optimistic diplomats believe he can't possibly afford one.

Heart of the Soviet problem is food. While the U.S.A. is teeming with surpluses, Russia faces probable shortages. The climax is expected in May when there may be starvation in some areas . . . Whereas the U. S. now has only one-sixth of its population working as farmers, Russia has 50 per cent farming. Yet the U.S.A. produces far more than the U.S.S.R. . . . The reason is farm machinery, better weather, better drying conditions, better know-how, almost everything except better soil. It would be hard to beat the rich loam of the Russian steppes . . . It was Dictator Khrushchev who started the campaign to increase farm production. His idea was to lure young Russians into settling on virgin farm land, also to build up "agro cities" . . . In other words, collective farms centered around urbanized communities. Khrushchev proposes using Henry Wallace's hybrid corn, American farm methods. He wants the U.S.S.R. to increase its population from 200,000,000 to 300,000,000, but knows this is impossible unless Russia can raise more food. It was to increase the population that he imposed a heavy tax on bachelors and couples with few children . . . Though Khrushchev initiated this program, Malenkov was officially in charge. It's been a failure . . . First, Russia has lacked the tractors and farm machinery. Second, the Russian peasant lacks the know-how. He breaks up equipment, has no mechanical knack, seems to think farm machinery can run without oil.

Khrushchev waves flag — The new Russian backstage dictator has been so belligerent against the U.S.A. and the West that his remarks actually have been toned down by the Soviet press. Speaking at Prague June 15, 1954, Khrushchev quoted Lenin as saying: "As long as the capitalist encirclement lasts it will be very difficult and complicated to come to an agreement." . . . Then Khrushchev proceeded to go much further than Lenin, as follows: "One must be strong in order to coexist with the enemy. We have done everything possible. We have given to our country atomic energy. We have given it the atom bomb. We even were ahead of the capitalist class and created the hydrogen bomb before they did. We know that the bourgeois politicians are irresponsible chatterers. They believe they can scare us, but nothing can frighten us because we know as well as they what a bomb is." . . . But when the speech appeared in Pravda on June 16, 1954, it was watered down as follows: "In the beginning the enemies of disarmament and the enemies of ruling out A-weapons declared that the Soviet Union made such proposals only because she had neither the A-bomb nor the H-bomb. Now that we have the H-bomb and had even created the H-bomb before the others, we have submitted the proposal to make a solemn obligation not to use weapons of this kind — not because we are weak, but because we are really serious with our peace policy in the interests of the working masses."

U. S. embassy predicted — This time American officials were not caught as short as when Marshal Beria was purged. They knew upheaval was in the wind but didn't figure it would come quite so soon.

Ambassador Bollen had wired the State Department that Malenkov and Khrushchev were watching each other so closely that neither one would leave town . . . One sign pointing to a change was a piece which appeared in the Banner, a Moscow magazine, in May, 1954, referring to Malenkov as the "sparrow who could never learn to fly." . . . There were also changes in Russian magazines to rewrite history so as to give credit to Khrushchev for doing various things which he had absolutely nothing to do with. For instance, Russian history was rewritten to include him among those who reorganized the Red army after the revolution of 1917 and who helped win World War II. Actually he had little to do with either, but Russian magazines carefully went out of their way to give him credit . . . Premier Malenkov apparently was given his life in exchange for playing ball with Khrushchev. The Kremlin wanted to give the impression to the outside world that it had arranged an orderly transfer of authority . . . The last purge created a bad impression.

Will Bulganin last? — Marshal Bulganin has been friend of Premier Malenkov's. That is one reason diplomats figure he won't last too long. They gave him about six months. Then he can be made the scapegoat just as Malenkov is the scapegoat today . . . Bulganin got his training as a political commissar attached to the Red army. While he is close to the army, he is not a military man . . . Chief danger to the United States is that the new dictators will use the bogeyman of the U.S.A. to divert attention from unrest inside Russia. Khrushchev needs unity at home and the best way to get it would be by insulting the U. S. over China and Formosa . . . The Red army also has some new fighting equipment that it would like to try out. So there is definite danger that Russia might permit Communist China to push the Formosan crisis up to the point of limited war . . . Diplomats believe the Kremlin doesn't want full-scale war but would be delighted to have another Korea whereby the Chinese can lose their manpower and bear the brunt of the fighting. The Russians want them to try out the new equipment and watch the U.S.A. win more ill will in Asia.

Canadian Hanged For Boy's Murder

MONTREAL — Lucien Picard, a jobless Montreal machinist, was hanged early today for killing 6-year-old Raymond Trudeau and dismembering his body. Police officials termed the murder one of the most gruesome they had ever seen.

Picard, 45, was convicted of murder Nov. 9. Part of the boy's body was found in a suitcase in Picard's room.

Advice on Health

Indications Of Earache In Babies

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

If your baby pulls at his ear, or screams and turns his head from side to side, he may have an earache. These signs are even more indicative of an earache if he has a cold and a fever.

The most common cause of an earache is an infection of the middle part of the ear which may occur in the so-called "catching" diseases, especially in colds or in cases of sore throat.

These disease germs might be carried to the ear through a tube which leads from the baby's throat to the middle part of his ear. In this way, the ear might become infected.

What To Do

If your baby has an earache, don't get excited. There's a lot you can do to help him.

First of all, call your doctor. He'll be able to give him penicillin, streptomycin or one of the other antibiotics, or one of the sulfonamide drugs. He may also advise you to put three or four drops of warm glycerin or mineral oil in the ear every few hours.

Warmth usually has a soothing effect. There are numerous ways of applying it. Probably the easiest is to place a hot water bag or heating pad against the baby's ear. Make sure either is well wrapped in a towel or some other cloth, so it will not burn his sensitive skin.

You can also use a cloth soaked in hot water and wrung nearly dry, or even a bag of salt warmed in the oven. And remember a partially filled water bottle or bag of salt will feel more comfortable to your baby than well-filled bags.

Another Help

Sometimes the warmth of the palm of your hand placed against the baby's ear will help relieve the pain.

You can also give him aspirin. Half a tablet is enough for children under six years of age.

If there is a discharge from the ear, you can wipe it off with dry, sterile cotton. Of course you must be very gentle.

One more thing. Don't put warm oil or anything in an ear that is discharging unless your doctor advises it.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

M. R.: I recently had an examination and was told I have subcutaneous nodules. What would cause them?

Answer: Swelling under the skin might be due to a variety of causes. A condition known as von Recklinghausen produces swellings of this type. Multiple tumors of other types might also occur.

You should have a biopsy done of these swellings, that is, a bit of tissue should be removed and examined under the microscope to help determine their cause.

Changes in Kremlin Hard to Understand

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON — What lies behind the Kremlin shuffle can only be guessed at. There have been plenty of guesses. No one can argue with certainty his guess is right. It's too soon and there's not enough solid evidence.

This writer knows of no one in the government, and reporters have asked plenty of questions, who pretends to speak with positiveness about events in Moscow this week.

Letters to the Editor

Fair discussion of matters of general interest is welcomed. Articles must be pertinent and not over 400 words long, the right being reserved to condense any too long or to eliminate matter unsuitable for publication. Religious, medical or personal controversies or articles supporting candidates for office are acceptable. The Winona Daily News does not publish original verse.

The writer's name and address must accompany each article and if publication of the name is not desired a pen name should be given. Unsigned letters receive no consideration. Where fairness to the public demands publication of the writer's name will be required, but he will be given opportunity to deny or withdraw the article published over his signature or withheld.

Something Should Be Done About Rust in City Water

To the Editor:
I read an article in a recent paper about the rust in Winona water. I think something should be done about this.

We have lived in Winona a number of years and haven't had any trouble until recently (this past year). Now our water is very rusty quite often and is hard to drink because of the color.

Winonans should back this issue until something is done about it.

Hopes City Will Show Interest in Swimming Pool

To the Editor:
For some time I have been reading your editorials, and am quite pleased to find that you, too, are in favor of a municipal swimming pool in the city of Winona. I feel that, for a city of our size, a centrally located pool would certainly be more convenient than Latsch Beach.

Many other cities, only half the size of Winona, have provided their youngsters with a safe, more easily reached, place to swim. A city of our size should be able to afford one.

I sincerely hope that the people of our city will show more of an interest in the health and welfare of their children.

Newspaper Thanked for March of Dimes Cooperation

To the Editor:
Although it is too early to measure the success of the 1955 March of Dimes in terms of dollars received, there is a forecast of success in the public's enthusiasm for our cause and awareness of our need. This was a direct result of the unselfish cooperation of your newspaper.

At this moment, pending the result of last year's vaccine field study, the National Foundation is making plans for distribution of 9,000,000 shots of the Salk vaccine for administration to first and second grade children. The results of the previous study, upon which depends the use of a vaccine this year, will be known early this spring.

The discovery and evaluation of the Salk vaccine is a major triumph by no means final effort in the fight against poliomyelitis. There will be more cases, perhaps many more, before the job is done. Meanwhile, 70,000 previous victims still look to us for rehabilitation and care.

And so, with this expression of thanks for your generous help goes our guarantee of service and preparedness. Come what may, we will be ready.

Sincerely,
W. E. Dugan

Urges New Businesses Be Brought to City

To the Editor:
This letter concerns the article that was in the Tuesday night's paper over the Owl Motor Co. moving to a new site on Sarnia street. That is a good move—but what is going to happen to the present Owl Motor building? Why not bring a new business to Winona?

As it stands now people are moving away from Winona to get jobs. Look what Rochester did! They built up new businesses like Dayton's and Donaldson's. Why can't Winona do something like this? Not only would it help wage-earners but it would improve the city.

What the city does about this issue may stand to prove whether Winona will grow into a large and

It has been traditional practice to view Kremlin turnovers as resulting from power struggles and to predict an aftermath of bloody purges. There have been some previous examples to support such a view.

But it doesn't necessarily follow, and may be only wishful thinking to believe so, that this must always be the case. That would assume Russian Communists are too inflexible and stereotyped to meet new situations differently.

Because Georgi M. Malenkov was dropped down to deputy premier, it has been argued he had lost in a power struggle with Nikita S. Khrushchev and that the latter is now the No. 1 man and Stalin's heir as dictator. But there can be an opposite view.

From the time of Stalin's death in 1953 it has generally been understood—and this was also a guess—that his principal heirs, the top Russian Communists, have ruled as a committee with no one of them dominant.

Malenkov was a member of this ruling clique. It's possible he has been only a front man from the beginning and now, with reasons still obscure but with his consent, the clique has decided he should step aside for another front man.

His successor as premier, Marshal Nikolai A. Bulganin, has been described as strictly a front man, either for the party or for Khrushchev.

But if a committee is boss, and not Khrushchev at all, the time may come when Bulganin will be told to step aside to make way for Khrushchev or someone else.

A lot of significance has been read into the appointment of Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov as defense minister. Unlike Bulganin, who is a political general, Zhukov is a real soldier and war hero.

Zhukov's elevation could mean, and has been so interpreted, that the generals have grown strong enough to force the Communist leaders to share authority with them. If that is so, they might in time take full control.

Call Goes Out For Resistance To Segregation

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — A call went out today to Johannesburg's Negro thousands to strike against the government's latest segregation scheme. The appeals' chances of success appeared problematical.

The African National Congress dispatched runners to the city's slums, calling nonwhites off their jobs tomorrow or Monday. The strikes were called to protest the government's forced movement of Negroes from their homes in west Johannesburg to selected nonwhite areas outside the city.

More than 100 families were evicted Wednesday, with some 60,000 persons in all to be moved in the next seven years.

A successful strike could paralyze Johannesburg, whose Negro population does most of the work in factories, shops and homes. But South Africa's racial laws provide heavy penalties, including the lash, for Negroes found guilty of striking.

The walkout also was expected to have little or no effect on the 350,000 nonwhites working the area's mines. This labor force is restricted to compounds from which outsiders are barred.

China Can Survive Atomic War, View Of Red Leaders

By JAMES D. WHITE
The Associated Press

What next after the Tachens? Red China has the initiative. Peiping has many choices. It can sit tight and see what happens. It can pick off more offshore islands, piecemeal, from Nanchishan to Quemoy. It can blow the works and go after Formosa. So many choices are open that it's anybody's guess what Peiping will do next.

Former Panama President May Face Trial

By LUIS NOLI

PANAMA (AP)—A special congressional investigating commission has recommended that former President Jose Ramon Guizado be tried on charges of complicity in the assassination of his predecessor Jose Antonio Remon.

The National Assembly is expected to debate the recommendation next Wednesday. It must decide whether to try Guizado or quash the accusation. If tried and convicted, he could be sentenced to a prison term of from 10 to 20 years.

The commission's report, read to the Assembly last night, said Guizado was implicated by his own testimony and that of others questioned, including his own son.

Jose Ramon Guizado Jr. and two of his business partners are among 13 other persons held in connection with the Jan. 2 slaying of Remon.

A 43-year-old Panamanian lawyer, Ruben Miro, has admitted the actual machine-gunning. He said in his confession he had discussed the killing previously with Guizado and was promised the cabinet post of government and justice minister.

Guizado termed the accusations "senseless" but the Assembly impeached him Jan. 15, installing Second Vice President Ricardo Arias Espinosa as the nation's third chief executive in two weeks.

The Assembly ordered Guizado who had been first vice president under Remon, held incommunicado in the national guard jail pending the investigation.

Edison Co. to Build Nuclear Power Plant

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional atomic energy specialists today hailed as highly significant the plan of Consolidated Edison Co. of New York to build the nation's first privately financed nuclear power plant.

H. R. Searing, president of the big utility which serves the New York metropolitan area, made the announcement to the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee yesterday.

The plant, to cost an estimated 30 to 40 million dollars, is to be built five miles south of Peekskill, N.Y., on the Hudson River. Searing estimated it would be a year before construction begins and at least four years before the plant is in service. It would probably have a generating capacity of about 125,000 kilowatts of electricity—large enough to serve a city of 250,000.

Searing said his firm should be ready to apply for a license before April 1.

The nation's first commercial nuclear power plant is now under construction at Shippingport, Pa., near Pittsburgh as a joint project of the Duquesne Light Co. and the Atomic Energy Commission.

Searing conceded his company's plan for a privately financed plant leaves numerous problems to be solved. But he declared, "Our chief objective has been to get something done, for we firmly believe that only by actual construction of projects can the art be placed on a commercial basis."

Searing said Babcock and Wilcox, boiler manufacturing concern, was designing the reactor. Consolidated Edison believes best suited to its purposes. He said it should be "reasonably competitive with conventional plants in our area."

Argument Over Clothesline Fatal

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—In an argument over a clothesline, two men shot and killed each other last night and the wife of one was seriously wounded.

Police said Edwin Robinson, 47, hung some clothes on a back porch line and later accused Harry Bonner, 52, a tenant in the same building, of having gotten dirt on the clothes.

The men went for weapons and, returning to the porch, fired at each other, police said.

Robinson's 48-year-old wife, Jimmie Lee, was struck by a bullet and was taken to Southside Hospital in serious condition. Police could not immediately determine whose gun the bullet came from.

kov, Khrushchev, and the Moscow diplomatic representative of one of the neutral powers. Khrushchev announced in his blunt way that if the Paris agreement to re-arm Germany were ratified, then "there was nothing more to be done." The clear implication was that there was no hope of avoiding war if West Germany were rearmed. But Malenkov hastily interposed that there was always something to be done, "to avoid war."

This is not to suggest that Malenkov was in any sense a pacifist idealist or a friend of the West. The difference is one of emphasis. But this difference could be crucial. How crucial is suggested by the decision sharply to increase arms spending, announced some days before Malenkov's downfall was made public, but when Khrushchev was certainly already in the driver's seat.

This decision is compared by the experts to Josef Stalin's decision to rearm at all costs after Munich—it is a sign that the Kremlin now, as then, expects war. Similarly, Molotov's tough speech after Malenkov's resignation is compared to Stalin's speech immediately after the end of the war, in which Stalin clearly foreshadowed the "hard" policy towards the Soviet Union's war-time allies.

Hard Policy

For what consolation it may be worth, this switch to a "hard" policy based on the expectation of war comes as no great surprise to the American government. As noted in this space early last January: "When Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen returned to Moscow recently, he reported back that the sense of tension had measurably increased there in the few days since he had left."

Thereafter, Bohlen reported that the "sense of tension" derived from a power struggle which was centered on a basic policy disagreement; and that Khrushchev, the proponent of a tough policy, appeared to be winning this struggle. The evidence suggests that the power struggle began to come to a head in the late autumn, soon after Khrushchev returned from his trip to Communist China.

This trip, it is believed, convinced Khrushchev that the Chinese Communists were prepared to take major risks of war. On his return, he took the position that the Soviet Union had no alternative but to support China if it came to a showdown, and that the Russian arms industry must therefore be greatly expanded at all costs.

Khrushchev had been fighting for more arms production and a tougher policy even before he left, of course. But the beginnings of the China crisis strengthened his hand. So did the German rearmament pact. The army finally sided with Khrushchev, it is believed, and the issue was actually settled in his favor in late December or early January.

Does Not Want War

The triumph of Khrushchev does not mean that the Kremlin is getting ready to start a world war tomorrow. On the contrary, there is solid evidence that, even since Khrushchev became the real power in the Kremlin, Moscow has tried to restrain Peking from going too far in the Formosa crisis. Bohlen and other experts are still convinced that the Kremlin does not want a war.

Yet all-out rearmament, and a "hard" policy based on the assumption that war is possible, obviously in itself increases the danger of war. According to one experienced policymaker, what has happened in Moscow has multiplied the risk of world war by a factor of about four. In the circumstances it is strange—but true—that there is apparently no disposition whatsoever in the administration to have a hard new look at the state of our own defenses.

Smaller Meal At Day's End Cuts Weight

By IDA JEAN KAIN

The bulk of would-be-slimmer ladies skip at breakfast, eat sparingly at lunch, and make up for it at dinner. Alas, they never seem to get an ounce slimmer. As time goes by, they gain on this one big meal a day plan and blame it all on birthdays they don't admit having.

The wise co-ed has come along with a slimming plan that takes advantage of the specific dynamic action of food taken during the day when the body is spending energy. Here's her enlightening letter.

"Some of your readers might be interested in a dieting tip which has proven, in my case, to be most successful. Based on the knowledge that fewer calories are needed at the end of the day, my practice has been to eat dinner at noon, ending the day with a smaller meal. I start the day with an energy building breakfast, always including eggs.

"By following this method, I discovered that unwanted pounds disappeared faster, although my calorie intake was no different than an ordinary diet. I am in my 20's and have been overweight since adolescence. Diet after diet was started and soon abandoned because of hunger and the discouragingly small loss of weight for the effort involved.

"In five months I have lost nearly 50 pounds and expect to see the pointer on the scale at my normal 125 pounds in three more months. I shall be very happy if any of your readers benefit from my plan of slimming down without going hungry."

There is an uncommonly intelligent young woman. She is cooperating with nature. Her plan works slimming miracles for this reason: Food alone causes an increase in metabolism. Scientifically this is termed the specific dynamic action of food. About one hour after a meal, the metabolism begins to rise, and reaches its peak in about three hours. Protein causes the greatest rise in metabolism. So, by eating a good breakfast, including protein, the specific dynamic action of the meal, augmented by the protein, begins early in the day. The overweight who skips breakfast loses out on this stepped up metabolism by many hours!

When the biggest share of calories are eaten in the evening meal at the end of the day's activities, more of them are stored. The reason many overweighters are not hungry for breakfast is because they overeat at dinner. If they would follow the plan of having their big meal around one o'clock and have only supper at night, they would relish a big breakfast and take advantage of the elevated metabolism from breakfast on. The plan is satisfying . . . and slimming. Why not tune in with nature. Try it for 30 days.

The dietitian predicts this bright co-ed will graduate magna cum laude — and then, if she chooses, get her Mrs. degree.

Eartha Kitt Ill, Show Won't Go on

NEW YORK (Special)—Eartha Kitt, star of "Mrs. Patterson," was reported ill today and the lack of an understudy in the play created a problem.

Miss Kitt left the stage of the National Theater last night eight minutes after the curtain went up. Money was refunded to the audience.

The Negro entertainer's press agent Virginia Wicks said today Miss Kitt "collapsed" and "has been a very sick girl for six weeks."

Bill Doll, press agent for the show, said, "I don't know whether she is ill or whether she doesn't want to go on tour, or what." Doll said he had an appointment today with a lawyer for the producer, Leonard Sillman, to discuss the situation.

The play, which opened Dec. 1, is scheduled to close here in three weeks and go on a national tour.

A spokesman for Sillman said there will be no performance tonight if Miss Kitt does not appear.

Miss Kitt's press agent said she plans to return to her role tonight. The Sillman spokesman said several doctors were called backstage last night and they failed to agree on the 27-year-old Miss Kitt's condition.

Miss Wicks said Miss Kitt has a kidney infection and her doctor "wanted to pull her out of the show six weeks ago and put her in a hospital" but she insisted on carrying on.

Miss Wicks said Miss Kitt has been under daily medical care, fainted at the theater after the performance last Saturday night, fainted three times last night—both at home and at the theater—and spent the night at the home of one of the physicians called backstage.

Reputed Bosses Of Vice Empire To Go on Trial

By REX THOMAS

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Two of the reputed bosses of a one-time vice empire face trial here Monday for the killing of A. J. Patterson, the publisher who had sworn to smash the racketeering domain.

Former Prosecuting Atty. Arch Ferrell, 37, and ex-Chief Deputy Sheriff Albert Fuller, 35, are both charged with first-degree murder, punishable by death in the electric chair.

A third defendant, former Alabama Atty. Gen. S. Garrett, also is under a murder indictment for what the state contends was a bizarre plot to keep Patterson from taking office as Garrett's successor.

Garrett is under treatment for a mental disorder in a hospital at Galveston, Tex., and no date has been set for his trial.

Patterson, a crippled 69-year-old former state senator, was shot down outside his Phenix City law office June 13 a few days after he had won the Democratic nomination for attorney general on a promise to break the evil grip of lawlessness in his community.

His 33-year-old son John is the attorney general now. He won the Democratic nomination without opposition after his father was slain, and was elected in November.

The elder Patterson was assassinated a few hours after he had made known that he would testify before a grand jury in Birmingham which later charged Garrett, Ferrell and a young Birmingham attorney, Lamar Reid, with trying to steal the nomination from Patterson.

The three men were indicted for fraudulently adding 600 votes to the total for candidate Lee Porter, of Gadsden, after the official Jefferson County canvass of the June 1 election returns had been made. Reid at that time was chairman of the county Democratic committee.

The vote fraud trials have been set for March 7 in Birmingham.

Former faces trial in Montgomery March 1 on two perjury indictments for filing a sworn statement on campaign contributions without listing more than $22,000 from Phenix City gamblers who wanted Patterson defeated.

The elder Patterson accomplished in death what he had vowed to do alive. His murder brought about an unprecedented vice cleanup in Phenix City which resulted in heavy fines and prison sentences for more than 100 racketeers and their underlings. National Guard troops took over law enforcement for six months during the cleanup.

Ferrell and Fuller were caught in the housecleaning too. The former prosecutor paid a $200 fine and Fuller $250 for election law violations during the first Democratic primary May 4, which a grand jury charged was rampant with fraud.

Detective Has Lots Of Cabbage on Ice

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Detective Sgt. J. W. Wingate, stuck with a truckload of cabbage, bought 700 pounds of ice to keep it from spoiling and hopes he gets his money back.

The owner of the truck, C. W. Benson, of Wilmington, N. C., telegraphed police yesterday that his driver phoned long distance saying he "misaid" the truck and ran up a big taxi bill trying to find it.

Wingate found the truck and its perishable cargo where it had been parked on a side street since Wednesday. The detective bought the ice and hopes the substitute driver arrives before it melts—and with the money to repay him.

Archbishop Meets Opposition on Wedding Edict

LONDON (AP)—The Archbishop of Canterbury and a group of his own churchmen differed today over the Church of England's ban on conducting weddings for divorced persons.

The archbishop, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, said in an official pamphlet yesterday the ban was necessary to make couples think more seriously before marriage. D.R. Fisher is the British state church's No. 1 official.

Dissenting clergymen promptly answered with a statement asserting the pamphlet did not prove that second marriages are necessarily sinful or fall short of the Christian ideal and therefore the church should change its stand.

The archbishop said the church's duty is to give guidance to the divorced so they may be restored to its sacramental life.

"But that does not mean," he added, "that the church should remarry them. That would be asking the church to compromise the one way in which it can give clear testimony to our Lord's standard for their sakes."

Dr. Fisher admitted that in some cases second marriages have been "abundantly blessed."

"For this reason," he added, "I do not find myself able to forbid good people who come to me for advice to embark on a second marriage. If they remarry, they will never again be able to hear a full clear witness to our Lord's declaration of what marriage is."

They must decide whether this lasting spiritual loss is, in their judgment, outweighed by a call of God to seek spiritual gain in a second marriage."

The dissenting statement was issued by the Rev. C. Rhodes, a director of the Modern Churchmen's Union. It is an organization of clergymen and laymen which seeks to liberalize the Church of England's views on divorce.

The group said it could not reconcile the archbishop's pamphlet with the "idea that such marriages are in any way sinful or fall short of the Christian ideal," the statement declared.

"We can, therefore, see no reason why the church should withhold its full blessings from them," it said.

Indiana Governor Reported Offered Post in Cabinet

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP)—Rep. Charles B. Brownson (R-Ind.) said Thursday night he had confirmed in Washington that Gov. George N. Craig of Indiana was offered a position as secretary of the Army.

Here for a Lincoln Day speech, Brownson said in a news conference before the talk that the governor, a Republican, had turned down the sub-Cabinet post. He expressed the opinion that nothing could tempt Craig to leave Indiana "until he has finished the job he started."

Craig's term as governor ends in January 1957. The state constitution forbids a governor's serving consecutive terms.

Robert T. Stevens is secretary of the Army.

Seek Jury for Trial of Sailor

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Efforts continued today to seat a jury for the trial of 26-year-old Eugene Haas, accused of killing his wife.

The first four days of the trial has produced only eight jurors. Most of the prospective jurors say they wouldn't send Haas to the electric chair on circumstantial evidence.

The state is asking the death penalty and says its evidence is circumstantial.

A decomposed head, identified as part of Mrs. Haas' body, was found in a field near the Memphis Naval Air Station Nov. 28.

Haas not only denies he killed his wife, but says he believes she is still alive. Haas reported his wife missing about a month before the head was found.

The sailor is from Frazee, Minn., his wife, 30, from Newport, R.I.

Freeman, Cina Differ on Type Of Tax Revenue

ST. PAUL (AP)—Rep. Fred Cina, Aurora, House majority leader, and Gov. Freeman apparently don't see eye-to-eye on the interpretation of the type of revenue to be raised by the administration income tax withholding system.

Cina admits the state will have 25 million dollars more with which to operate during the next biennium if the Legislature passes the income tax withholding bill, of which he is chief author. But he protested that it is not "additional revenue," as referred to in a news story.

On the other hand, Gov. Freeman in his budget message said flatly the speeding up of tax payments will bring an estimated 25 million dollars of "additional revenue" plus another 2 million dollars through better compliance on current collections. Furthermore, Gov. Freeman's printed budget message labels the 25 million "new income" for the biennium.

When Cina's protest was met by a newsman's presentation of the budget message itself, showing the governor's description as "new income" and "additional revenue," Cina's reply was: "Well, the governor is wrong."

Grassland Trip Set For Buffalo County Grassland Winners

ALMA, Wis.—Archie Brovold, Buffalo County agent, says that tentative plans have been made for a two-day grassland trip to the Twin Cities next Thursday and Friday.

The 1934 Buffalo County grassland contest winners and members of the county grassland committee will visit farms and industrial points of interest during the two days.

This contest, sponsored by the grassland committee, encourages the proper use of legumes and grass which in turn saves soil and water resources. Brovold said. County winners are farmers who have put forth extra effort in practicing good land use.

Madison Economist Expects Firm Egg Prices by Spring

MADISON — Record-breaking egg production is continuing to burden the market, W. P. Mortenson, University of Wisconsin farm economist, says.

Egg prices — the lowest since the depression 1930s — aren't likely to firm up until spring, he continues. The spring hatching season will divert some of the extra eggs which have sent prices crashing.

Wisconsin poultrymen have just gone through one of the worst price squeezes in history. It's the first time — as far back as records go — that egg prices haven't adjusted to a seasonal rise November-December prices hovered below normal lower July-August prices.

But Mortenson predicts a good income for efficient producers in the year ahead. Only those on the marginal edge of efficiency are likely to be in difficulty. This is the present 1935 outlook.

Over-all, egg prices should be better than last year, as total output is expected to drop below the 1934 level. Present prices are discouraging many flock owners from ordering replacements.

Feed prices will tend to inch upward until next harvest. But if the 1935 feed crop is normal or above, feed prices for the 1935-36 season should be slightly lower than for the 1934-35 season.

The outlook for broilers and turkeys remains uncertain. However, the outcome is expected to be better than last year.

Home Economists To Meet at Madison

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—A management specialist of international fame, one of the few women in corporation public relations work and president of the American Home Economics Association, will be a featured speaker when Wisconsin home economists meet in Madison March 25 and 26.

Dr. Lillian Gilbreth, mother of "Cheaper by the Dozen" fame and visiting professor at the University of Wisconsin, will talk on management as it relates to the home.

Mercedes Hurst, Chicago, will note woman's influence on industrial products in her talk on "The Lady Gets What She Wants."

Miss Catherine Dennis, recently elected national president of the home economics groups, is a former teacher now supervisor of home economics education in North Carolina. She will speak at the Saturday luncheon.

Valley Cooperative Names Directors, Receives Reports

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—Odell Schansberg and Theodore Duebber were unanimously re-elected to the board of directors of the Trempealeau Valley Dairy Cooperative of Whitehall at the annual meeting at the city hall here Wednesday afternoon.

Holdover directors are Henry Guse, Albert Eid, Palmer Haug, Henry Sygulla and Edward Anderson. Guse, president, presided. He introduced Fritz Holzman, auditor of the past 25 years with Land O'Lakes, Inc., Minneapolis, who read the financial report; Wilfred C. Phillipson, Madison, fieldman with the American Dairy Association, who discussed the advertising program, and Joe Giesen, plant manager and operator, who spoke briefly.

$85,910 in Assets

The balance sheet showed total assets of $85,910.58. Net income on 1934 operations was $30,627.69, representing the patrons' equity, compared with $4,380.09 last year. Previous to 1932 there was a deficit of $12,395.40, so that at this time patrons' equities total $27,225.47. Total members and patrons capital and equity at this time is $51,645.47. Current liabilities were listed at $23,803.17 and term liabilities, $10,461.94.

The plant during 1934 handled 52,634 pounds of whole milk, which included 45,337.31 pounds for custom churning, 2,402.618 from local patrons' grade A milk, and 4,896.065 local grade B milk. Cream received totaled 84,487 pounds. Butterfat sold in grade A milk and cream totaled 137,520 pounds and butterfat churned amounted to 1,713,485 pounds.

Average price paid for grade A milk on the average 3.56 test was $3.285 a hundred, and the average price paid for grade B milk on the average 3.41 test was $2.951.

The average price paid for butterfat in cream was $6.57. The cost of handling milk per hundred was $1.11 plus.

Giesen, who came here four years ago, said the plant manufactured 210,000 pounds of butter in all of 1934, and in January alone of this year the total output of butter was 208,000 pounds.

Future Outlook

Holzman told the audience that the future of the dairy farmer lies with the dairymen themselves and suggested that cutting down the overhead on the farm, getting together in one farm organization so that they will be able to arrive at costs and demand their own prices as other businessmen do, and advertising their products are the solutions to their problems.

Phillipson expressed satisfaction with the dairy advertising program launched by the ADA a year ago. He said the real potential lies in getting adults to drink more milk and eat more cheese and butter.

Lunch was served after the meeting by members of the Altar Society of St. John's Catholic Church.

The action of a hurricane is similar to that of a tornado, but the hurricane is much larger.

Crooked Creek Water Shed Set For Meeting

Discussion Slated For City Hall at Caledonia Monday

CALEDONIA, Minn.—Farmers in the Crooked Creek Watershed area will have an opportunity to discuss water damage problems at a meeting in the Caledonia City Hall Monday at 8 p.m., according to Wilfred Pohlman, who will be in charge.

Plans will be made to set up a federal watershed project for the Crooked Creek area if the land owners are interested in doing so. The entire project will be discussed by representatives of the Soil Conservation Service and the Extension Service. A movie has been secured to show how watershed organizations are set up and how they operate.

A preliminary meeting on the Crooked Creek watershed was sponsored by the Universal Five Farm Bureau early in January. A committee of Pohlman, Clarence Elkens, Leo McCormick, Robert Richards, Arnold Goetzinger, Bert Welscher, Harold Leary, John Goetzinger and R. E. Sprague was set up to study the problem. This committee met about two weeks ago and planned the mass meeting. They also set up a list of nominees for a steering committee if the decision at the mass meeting is to go ahead with the organization of the Crooked Creek Watershed.

The Hope Aitkin bill set up in the last Congress provides for federal assistance to locally organized watersheds.

Winona and Stockton Class Meetings Set

Two adult farmer evening classes have been scheduled for next week. The Winona farm management class will meet at the high school Monday at 8:15 p.m. and the Stockton adult farmer class will meet at the Stockton Town Hall Wednesday at 8:15 p.m.

Main topic of discussion at the Winona class meeting will be "Prevention of Farm Accidents," and special features will be a farm safety film especially suitable for the entire farm family and a series of tape recorded interviews with farmers of this area describing farm accidents that they have had recently.

"Principles of Dairy Feeding" will be the topic of discussion at the Stockton meeting. Howard Ness, nutrition expert of the J. R. Watkins Co., will be guest speaker. Lunch will be served after the meetings.

CALEDONIA CREAMERY

CALEDONIA, Minn. (Special)—The annual meeting of the Caledonia Cooperative Creamery will be held at the Caledonia City Hall Saturday Feb. 19 at 1 p.m.

Lamb Feeding Test Reported

CALEDONIA, Minn.—Groups of feeding lambs gained at about the same rate and cost per pound of gain on alfalfa hay or corn silage as their only roughage in a 70-day western Minnesota experiment.

Houston County Agent Wayne Hanson reports the research took place at the University of Minnesota's West Central School and Experiment Station at Morris Nov. 3, to Jan. 12.

Tests indicate that corn silage is a good feed and can be fed fattening lambs as their only roughage. Although corn silage-fed lambs gained as fast and as economically, they didn't rate as high a carcass grade and were evaluated at 25 cents per 100 pounds less than the lambs fed alfalfa hay as their roughage.

Lambs fed alfalfa hay each ate about 1.5 pounds per day and those fed corn silage about 2.3 pounds per day. For test purposes, the feeders figured alfalfa hay at $16 a ton and corn silage at $9 a ton. The amount of concentrate — shelled corn and soybean oil meal — was about the same for both.

The researchers say, these results indicate that the feeder who can produce good corn silage efficiently will find it a profitable roughage for fattening lambs.

Farm Accounting St. Charles Topic

ST. CHARLES, Minn. (Special)—Farm accounting will be the topic of discussion for the adult farmers school Tuesday at 2 p.m. at the St. Charles agriculture department.

Many good farm account books are available, according to Frank Toimie, instructor. The one that will be discussed at this meeting will be the "Minnesota Farm Account Book." Records in this book are not difficult to keep and good records are essential to any farm business, Toimie said.

Houston County Hog Show Set For March 2

Market Animals To Be Featured At Fairgrounds

By WAYNE HANSON
Houston County Agent

CALEDONIA, Minn.—Plans are being completed for the Houston County market hog show at the 4-H sales pavilion on the fairgrounds here March 2.

Local farmers in the Houston County trade area are invited to bring in three hogs, either barrows or gilts to compete in the show.

The program, starting at 10:30 o'clock in the morning, will include a hog grading demonstration, a discussion of hog growing problems and judging of the pens and individuals.

On the program will be three outstanding swine specialists: H. G. Zavoral, extension specialist, University Farm, St. Paul, and Carroll Plager and Lew P. Reeve, Austin.

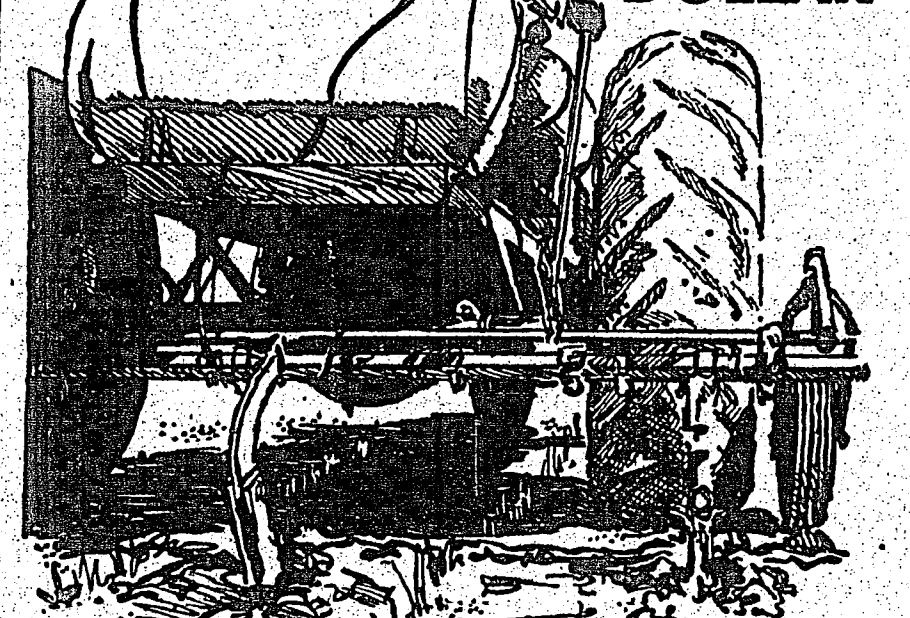

In the morning, a hog grading contest will be conducted. Contestants will be shown samples of three market grades—the premium, the standard and the overfat. Then 10 hogs supplied from outside sources will be driven into the judging ring, one at a time, and each contestant will write his estimate of the grade and live weight of the hog. After the hogs are slaughtered, the actual grade and yield will be determined. The winner will receive a ham for an award. This contest is open to everyone except the officials of the show.

For the afternoon show, each individual is limited to two pens of three market hogs which are then judged according to estimated grade and yield. Substantial premiums will be paid on the top pens and top individuals. In addition, each exhibitor desiring to sell according to the carcass grade and yield will be asked to designate which of his three barrows he believes will have the best killing report. Each exhibitor successful in naming the right barrow will receive a bonus prize of $5.

Dean Dennison and William Bowman, Caledonia, will serve as superintendents of the show. Entries will close on Feb. 28 and must be weighed and in place at 10:30 a.m. March 2. Complete rules of the show and entry blanks are now available from the superintendents, the county extension office, all agriculture instructors and livestock selling agencies in the county.

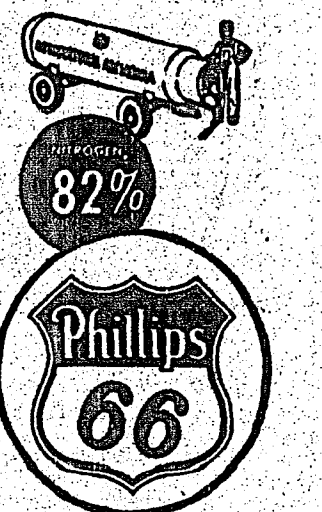

More than 92 per cent of the nation's farm families have electricity in their homes.

Turkey Farmer Cuts Feed Cost

By EARL GILBERT
Daily News Area Editor

KELLOGG, Minn. — Since only 15 per cent of Minnesota's turkey growers made a profit in 1954, according to University of Minnesota specialists, any innovation to cut costs and increase efficiency on the turkey farm is worth knowing about.

Carl Reinke, Kellogg, who raised 21,000 birds last year, has come up with a method of feeding which saves hours of backbreaking work each day and cuts feed costs $4-$6 per ton. This represents, according

Kellogg Host To Forage Day On February 25

Farmers Requested To Bring Samples To Auditorium

KELLOGG, Minn. — A forage day will be held Feb. 25 at 10 a.m. at the Kellogg Auditorium.

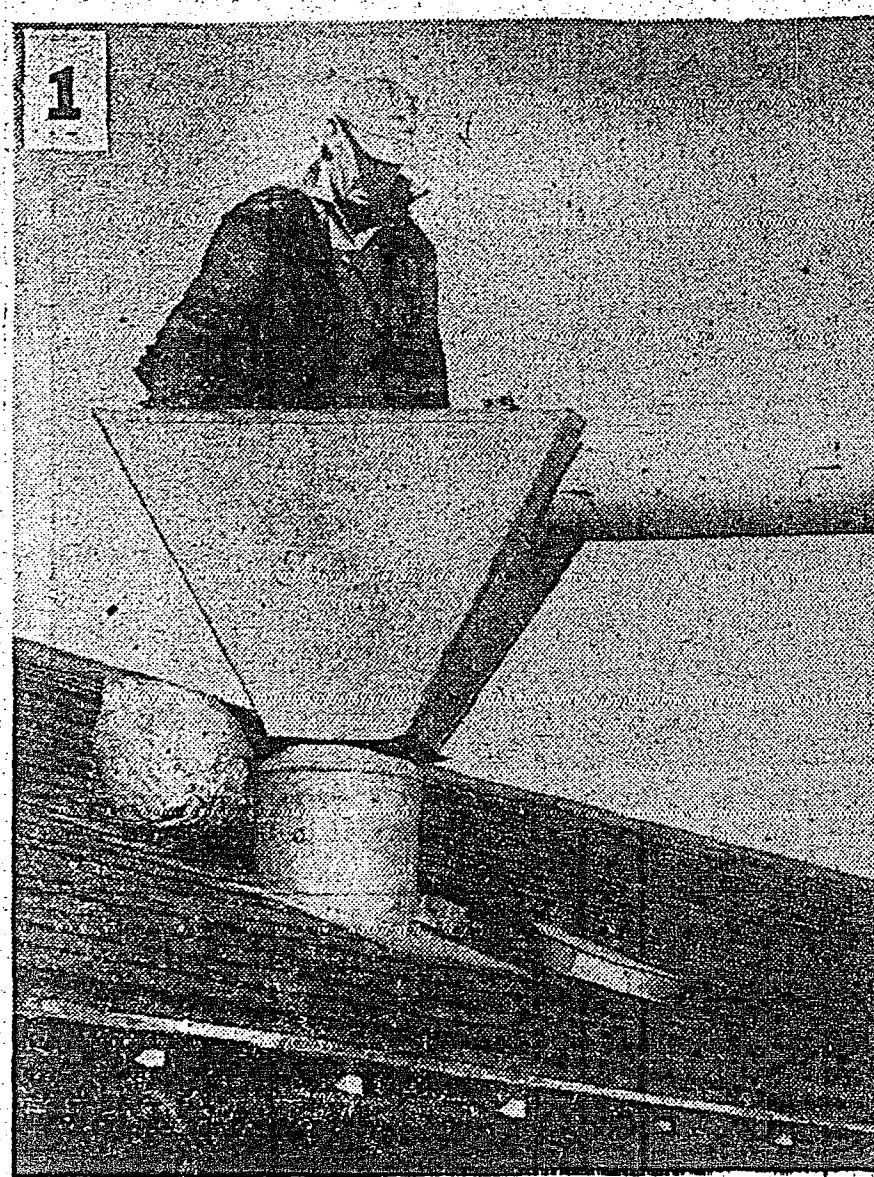

Rodney Briggs, extension agronomist, and Harold Jones, extension soils specialist, will discuss problems in crops or soils. To make this a successful day, the county agricultural agent, Matt Metz, is asking farmers to cooperate by bringing in samples of forage from their farms. Samples of hay processed in different ways, such as: Loose hay, baled hay, hay cured with a barn dryer, as well as silages of both grass and corn. They will be judged and discussed by Briggs. Soils and fertilizers will be discussed by Jones.

When bringing in samples, a small amount of silage in a plastic bag to protect the aroma and quality would be very satisfactory, Metz said. A small slice from a bale of hay or a neat bundle of loose hay would suffice.

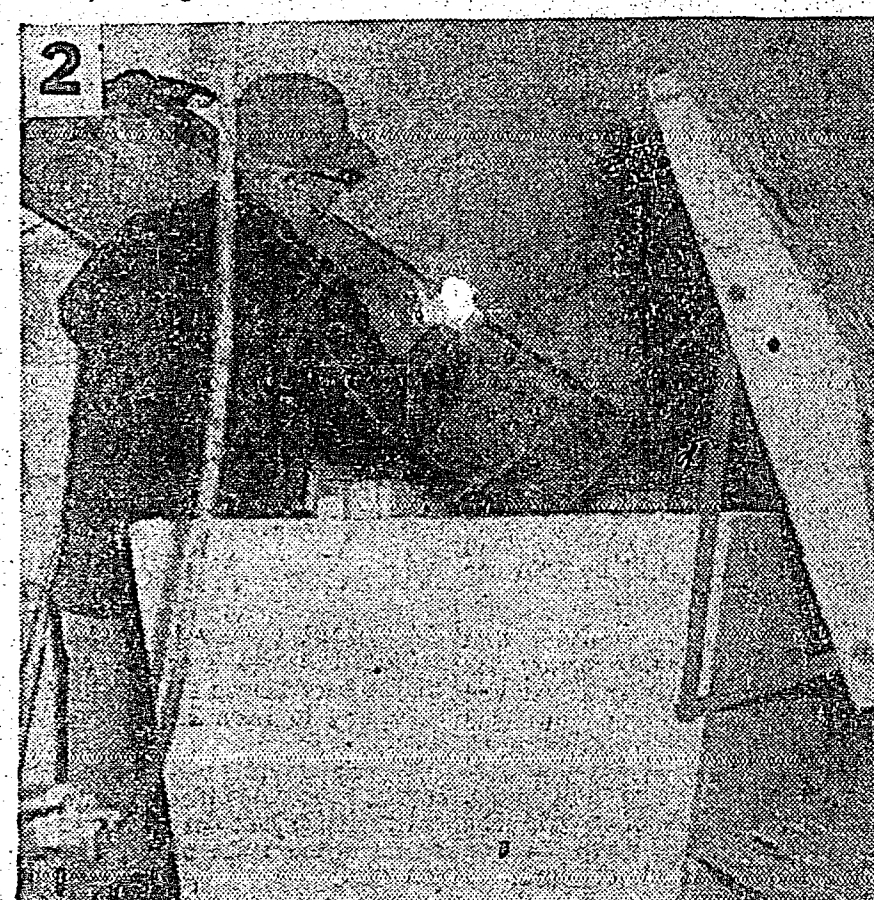

Area 4-H Training Meeting Planned Here

A 4-H training meeting in recreation and rural arts will be held at the Winona YMCA March 14, according to an announcement by Mrs. Gwendolyn Bacheller, assistant state club leader.

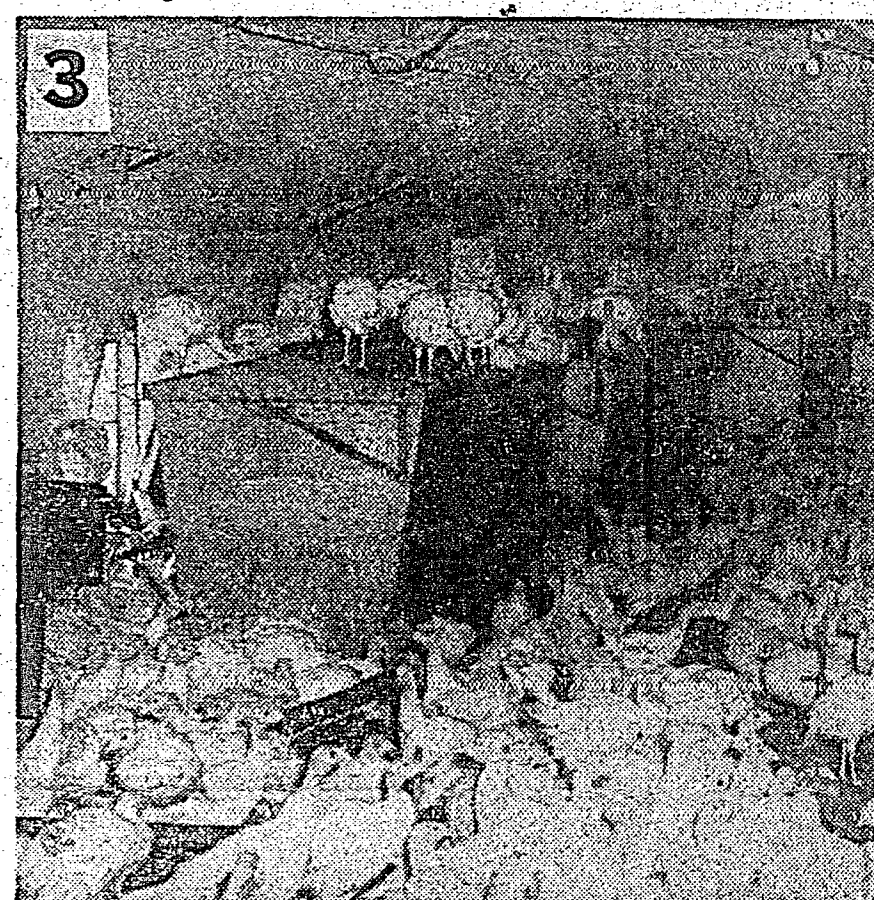

The session will inaugurate a series of 10 gatherings throughout the state in March to train 4-H and rural youth leaders in these two fields. Mrs. Mildred Sampson, Minneapolis, will conduct the training. Ten leaders from each county of the area are invited to the Winona meeting. It will start at 9 a.m. and continue until 4 p.m.

Turkey Feed Is Delivered at the Carl Reinke farm, Kellogg, by a large bulk truck from an area feed mill. The horizontal pipe coming into the photo from the right is attached to the 5-ton feed tank on the truck and feed is blown through it into the funnel, left. Arthur Hendrickson, Reinke's hired man, stands behind the funnel to relay orders from the inside to the truck driver, Joe Plein, Rollingstone.

At The Business End of the operation, owner Carl Reinke directs bulk feed coming down the chimney-style pipe and chute, into a one-ton range feeder in his turkey house. One advantage of bulk feed, other than saving costs and labor, is its freshness, Reinke says. This feed was ground and mixed at the mill the morning of the day it was delivered. Hose at the left is a gas line running to a brooder stove.

Thousands of turkeys get their meals at these range feeders, located in the Reinke turkey sheds. It is estimated by state officials, that 600,000 turkeys are grown annually in Southeastern Minnesota. A total of 350,000 birds are processed annually in Winona County's Altura Rex plant. Officials there claim that most of the turkeys in this area are grown by about 150 farmers. (Daily News photos)

Warming Eggs Before Use Good Sometimes

By MRS. JOYCE RANDALL
Winona County Home Agent

LEWISTON, Minn.—We seem to get on the subject of eggs every once in awhile, but since they are still such a two-way bargain—in nutrition and in price—you Winona County homemakers will want to use them generously in family meals and to splurge in baking favorite foods, which call for eggs.

To hold their "fresh" qualities, eggs need to be kept cold. How- ever, for success in cooking, home- makers often ask when to use eggs cold and when to take the chill off in advance. Here are some temperature tips from the U. S. Department of Agriculture:

A high-quality raw egg sepa- rates into white and yolk most easily when it's 50 to 60 degrees. An egg just out of the refrigerator is so cold that its white is viscous and clings to both shell and yolk, making separation difficult. On the other hand, when an egg warms up to 75 degrees or more, the yolk tends to flatten and then may break in separating, especial- ly if the egg is not top quality. Thus, when eggs are to be sepa- rated, it pays to remove them from the refrigerator at least an hour in advance. Obviously, small eggs will warm up sooner than large ones.

For cake-making, eggs, like other ingredients, should be at room temperature to combine well.

Egg whites whip more quickly and to a greater volume when the chill is off. Various studies indi- cate that best whipping tempera- ture ranges from 64 to 77 degrees.

For cooking in the shell, take the chill off the egg before it goes into hot water to avoid cracking the shell from the sudden contrast in temperatures—or put cold eggs in cold water and bring eggs and water to simmering temperature together.

Hard-cooked eggs seem to sepa- rate most easily from shells when they are cold. As soon as they are cooked, cool rapidly in cold run- ning water. Fast cooling helps pre- vent the unappetizing dark-colored layer around the yolk. Many home- makers have found that chilling makes eggs more firm, thus easier to slice for a garnish or to sepa- rate the yolks from the whites for stuffing.

Marketing Meeting Slated at Plainview

By MATT METZ
Wabasha County Agent

PLAINVIEW, Minn. William Dankers, extension marketing spe- cialist, will be at the Plainview City Hall Feb. 18 starting at 1:30 p.m.

Marketing, the channel a product goes through from the time it leaves the producer until it reaches the consumer, is not understood by many farmers. Some of our marketing problems, whether they be in dairy or grain products are: Transportation, processing, packaging, storage and many oth- ers. The question most frequently asked is, "What is mine, 'the pro- ducers' share of the consumers' dollar?"

We hope to see many Wabasha County farmers as well as busi- nessmen who also have a great interest in this marketing problem at this meeting. Here is a chance for you to get some of your ques- tions answered.

Reports from Poland indicate that artificial eyes are on the black market. Sailors bringing them in are selling them for high prices.

Booklet on Planning Available at Offices

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)— "Planning Stall Barns" is the title of a booklet which may be secured at the county extension office in Whitehall.

Prepared by the agricultural en- gineering department of the Col- lege of Agriculture, University of Wisconsin, the booklet outlines plans for stall barns designed to promote herd health, save time and lighten chores, use electrical equipment, aid in producing qual- ity milk, and provide good and convenient storage.

The information is based on findings secured at the electric re- search farm financed by the Wis- consin Utilites Association and op- erated by the University of Wiscon- sin to study the uses of electricity on the farm. Publication of the bu- letin was financed in part by a grant from the Barn Equipment Association.

This is one of several plan books for all farm buildings which can be secured at the extension office.

Is Commercial Fertilizer Required?

By HAROLD KARLI
Fillmore County Soils Agent

PRESTON, Minn. — Is it pos- sible to maintain a high level of fertility and a good balance of nutrients in the soil without the addition of commercial fertilizer? This question is often asked by farmers, especially those who fol- low crop rotation, conservation practices and have large numbers of livestock per acre. Certainly it would be hard to duplicate the beneficial effects obtained from the addition of barnyard manure or green manure worked into the soil. The addition of manure will add valuable plant nutrients, im- prove soil structure and tilth, in- crease absorption capacity, and in- crease the ability of the soil to hold moisture. None of these can be purchased in a bag.

We must recognize, however, that on most farms there is not nearly enough manure to adequat- ly cover the acreage. Also, barn- yard manure is comparatively low in phosphorus, having an analysis of about 10-5-10. In other words, for each ton of manure applied we add about 10 pounds of nitro- gen, 5 pounds of phosphorus and 10 pounds of potash. From this, it can be seen that we are adding a rather small amount of phos- phorus.

This coupled with the fact that nearly all soil samples taken from Fillmore County show a deficiency of phosphorus, means that we will have to add phosphate fertilizer and very often a combination of nitrogen, phosphorus and potash.

The only way that we can be sure of the amount and kind of fertilizer to add is to make an accurate soil test of the field in question.

Even though a farmer employs the best farming practices, he gen- erally removes nutrients from the soil faster than they are replaced through the addition of manure.

The U.S. birthrate in 1954 was 25.2 per thousand people.

DDT Suggested For Protection Of Woolen Rugs

By MRS. SYLVIA SHIRAS
Trompsdale County Home Agent

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)— Even if your wool rugs get heavy wear they'll be safe from carpet beetle or clothes moth damage if you use a DDT spray.

Spray both sides of a rug once a year with a 5 per cent DDT oil spray for full protection. Clean the rug before spraying, and use about one and a half to two quarts of the DDT solution for both sides of a 9- by 12-foot medium-weight rug, although the exact amount de- pends on the size and thickness of the rug.

Give special attention to those spots which will be under heavy furniture and to the edges of wall- to-wall carpeting. Specialists at the U. S. Department of Agricul- ture weren't sure whether the DDT, because of its crystalline form, would hold up if the rugs received heavy wear so they tested it on an office rug which got a lot of foot traffic and was vacuumed weekly.

Then they exposed the treated carpet to carpet beetles and the DDT proved its worth. After 18 months, even the part of the rug that got heaviest wear and frequent cleaning had lost considerable DDT, but enough remained to pre- vent the rug from all but slight in- sect damage. The part that had little wear still gave excellent pro- tection.

Wisconsin Milk Production Hit New High in '54

MADISON—Milk production in Wisconsin hit an all-time high in 1954, according to the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service.

Total monthly milk production estimates made during the year show that Wisconsin's annual output was 4 per cent above that of 1953. Milk production in the nation increased over 1 per cent from the previous year. State dairy herds produced over a billion pounds of milk in December, and total milk production for 1954 is estimated at over 15 1/2 billion pounds.

Milk output in the nation during December is estimated at over 8,800 million pounds and the total output for the year at nearly 123,800 million pounds.

Crop reporters indicated that milk production in Wisconsin herds Jan. 1 averaged 19.2 pounds per cow or about one-half pound below last year but 3 pounds above average for the date. For the nation, milk production per cow averaged 16.67 pounds and was 2 per cent above the Jan. 1 average last year and the highest on record for the date.

Nineteen hundred fifty-four brought farm commodity prices in Wisconsin to the lowest level since 1945. The prices received index at the beginning of 1954 was 262 per cent of the 1910-14 base. By December, the index was 236 per cent, or a drop of 10 per cent from the first of the year. For the year as a whole the index averaged 246 per cent compared with 248 per cent for 1953 and the previous postwar low set in 1949 of 254 per cent.

Comparisons of present farm price levels with those a year ago show crop prices in total 2 per cent higher with most of the increase in grains, hay, potatoes, and legume seed crops.

Meat animal prices were down about 15 per cent with the decline general for all types of livestock. Biggest declines for the year, however, were in egg prices, down 40 per cent, but prices for poultry, sheep, and hogs were all down over 20 per cent.

Milk prices in total are off 6 per cent from levels at the end of 1953. Prices for milk used in dairy manufacturing were off 33 cents per hundred pounds or about 5 per cent. Prices for milk at fluid markets were up only slightly in December compared with a year earlier.

Expenses Down Less While this past year brought a drop of 10 per cent in prices received by Wisconsin farmers, the prices paid by farmers for family living expenses and production costs were down only 4 per cent, the report revealed.

This difference in rates of decline is reflected in the index of farm purchasing power which for 1954 was 88 per cent of the 1910-14 base. This was the lowest for any year since 1940 and makes two years in a row that this important indicator of the farm situation has been below the 1910-14 average.

Indications point to a 6 per cent decline in cash farm income in Wisconsin for 1954. Lower prices were somewhat offset by a higher volume of farm marketings, particularly milk and livestock. On the basis of present relationships, total cash farm income will fall below $1 billion for Wisconsin in 1954 for the first time since 1950.

Wages Paid Lower Wages paid to hired workers on Wisconsin farms in January 1955 averaged the lowest for the month since 1951. Farm wage rates at the beginning of the year were 5 per cent below the Jan. 1, 1954 average.

Hired workers averaged $115 a month with board and room or $7 less than on Jan. 1 last year while the monthly wages with a house but no board averaged $155 or $10 less a month than a year ago. Wages paid by the day with board and room now average $5.70 or 30 cents less than a year ago and a similar drop from $7.50 to $7.20 is shown for rates per day without board and room. Hourly wages without board or room now average 93 cents compared with 99 cents a year ago.

While the January wage rates last year averaged the highest recorded for the month, wages during the rest of the year averaged lower than in 1953. As a whole, farm wages in Wisconsin in 1953 were the highest on record.

Crop Values Per Acre Crop values per acre in Wisconsin last year averaged all the way from $480 for strawberries to about $13 for rye. Values per acre for about half of the crops listed in the accompanying table were higher last year than in 1953 and about half were lower. These changes in values resulted from changes in yield per acre of the various crops or in changes in farm prices from the previous year.

Last year's crop of field corn had the highest value per acre of the grain crops averaging about $36 per acre which was more than value of either the pea or corn acreage harvested for canning. Wisconsin's commercial onion crop ranked second last year with a per acre value of $451 and the carrot crop ranked third with a value of nearly $314 per acre. The potato crop followed closely with an average value per acre of nearly $312. Cabbage produced for market averaged $210 an acre and kraut cabbage $146. Crop values per acre for mint for oil, cucumbers for pickles, snap beans, and green lima beans for canning all averaged over $100 while peas for canning had a value of $82 and corn for canning nearly $60 per acre.

But values are rather low for some crops, such as hay, where production is general throughout the state and the investment per acre is not particularly high.

Russia's New Leaders Love Peace, Report

LONDON (AP)—The Moscow radio pictured Soviet Russia's new leaders today as firmly wedded to policies of peace and co-existence. This was coupled with the usual Red raps at Western defense arrangements.

The broadcast, recorded here, appeared designed to counter a belief in the West that the Soviet Union has assumed a new tough look.

"The foreign policy of the Soviet Union and of all countries of the socialist (Communist) camp," it said, "is a policy of preserving and strengthening peace. It is based on Lenin's principles of the co-existence of different social systems."

The broadcast was based on assessments by the newspapers Pravda and Vestnik of the work done by the Supreme Soviet (Parliament) in sessions at the Kremlin this week.

It came a few hours after the Moscow radio complained that American newspapers gave a false and sensational interpretation to the ousting of Georgi Malenkov as Soviet Premier and his replacement by Marshal Nikolai Bulganin and to Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov's statement on international affairs.

Most Western observers viewed the government changes in Moscow and the restoration of emphasis on heavy industry—the kind of plants that make armaments—as signaling a new freeze-up in the cold war.

Today's broadcast laid little stress on the leadership change. It ignored the fact the Supreme Soviet approved a new budget, calling for an increase of about 12 per cent in military expenditures.

The switch away from Malenkov's policy of more consumer goods was described as being good for Russia's toiling millions. The broadcast said:

"The internal policy of the Communist party and the Soviet government is clear. It is a policy of continued expansion of heavy industry and, on this basis, of the entire socialist economy, primarily of agriculture, a policy of raising further the well-being of the people."

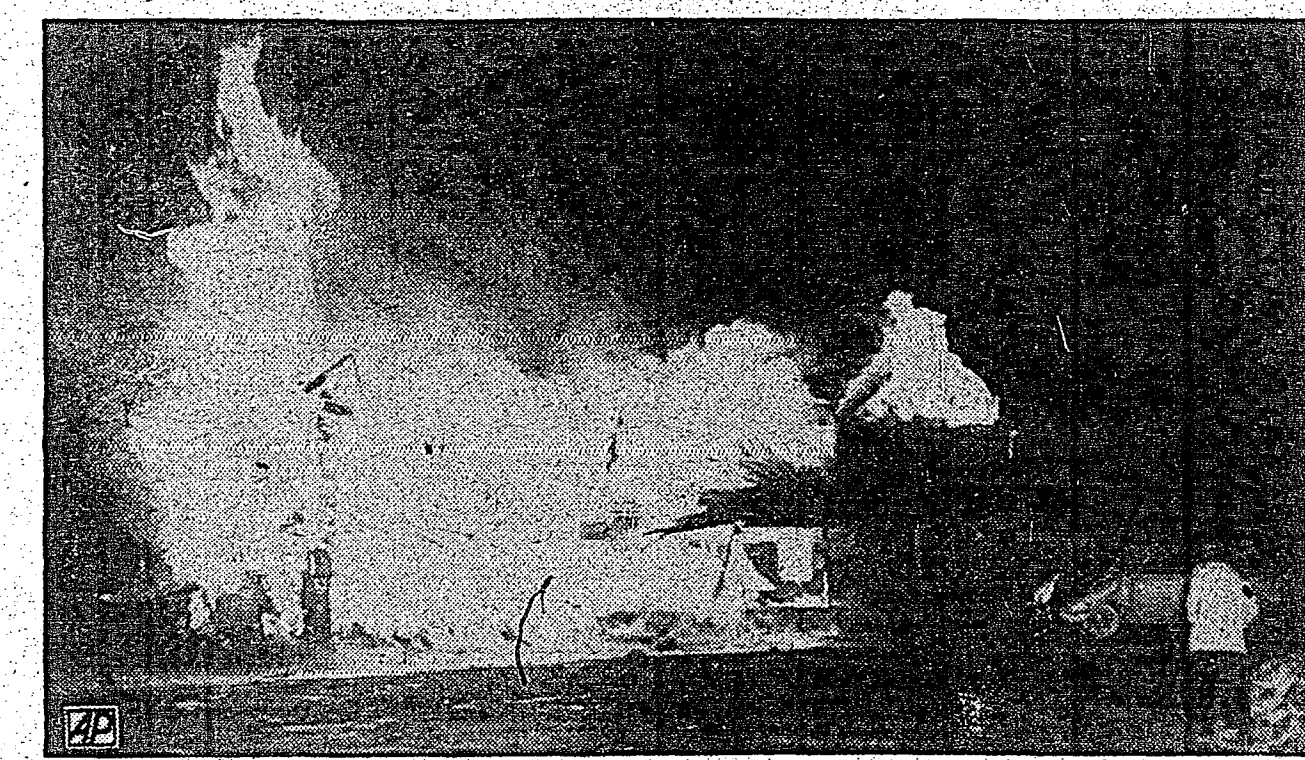

It said Russia's policies for peace are opposed by the policy of strength "which is proclaimed and pursued by the aggressive circles of the U.S.A. and by some other states which follow in her wake."

"If the warmongers dare put into practice their criminal plans, it will not be world civilization which will be destroyed, no matter how much it might suffer from new aggression, but the rotten capitalist system which is already nearing the end of its era."

The broadcast said that "Confident in its immeasurable strength, the Soviet Union threatens no one, does not intend to attack anyone and considers the consolidation of peace its chief task."

But, in attacking the Paris agreements to rearm West Germany, it said "the Soviet Union and the other peace-loving countries will not sit still."

"They will respond to the new military blocs which are being established jointly with the German militarists by a still greater consolidation of their ranks," it said, "by strengthening further their friendship and collaboration and, where it is necessary, by expanding mutual aid still further."

Draft Director Favors Service For Scientists

CHICAGO (AP)—The nation's draft director says young scientists should "spend a little time learning to defend themselves" as members of the armed services.

Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service, outlined his views Thursday at a manpower conference attended by educators and industrialists.

Pinpointing his discussion of the question of whether to draft or defer scientists under 26, Hershey described the present draft law deferring students as "liberal."

He said all students, whether studying general or scientific courses, must "spend a little time learning to defend themselves."

He said it would prove beneficial. Hershey declined to discuss proposed changes in the Selective Service Act while addressing some 1,000 persons gathered for the two-day conference sponsored by the Society of Military Engineers.

"The place to talk about changes in Selective Service is being congressional committees, not here," he said.

Albert Lea Voters To Pick School Site

ALBERT LEA, Minn. (AP)—Residents in District 38 will vote in March on a proposed site for new 12-room grade school on which the school board has taken a 60-day option.

The tract is located in the city's southeast section. A second grade school also is planned for the western area.

The new buildings became necessary when 22 outlying districts voted to consolidate with the Albert Lea one so pupils would have the benefit of the city's junior and senior high schools. Only three isolated districts remain unmerged now and efforts are under way to bring those in.

Michigan Auto Supply Firm Hit By $2 Million Fire

OWOSSO, Mich. (AP)—Fire which caused an estimated two million dollars damage swept through the main building of the Owosso Manufacturing Co. Thursday night.

The plant, a division of Ionia Mitchell-Bentley Corp., is a major supplier of trim materials to the auto industry.

Firemen battled the spectacular blaze for eight hours in near zero weather before it was extinguished.

No one was injured. Don Mitchell, president of the firm, said the brick building and machinery were valued at one million dollars. Only a shell of the building was left. Mitchell placed another million estimate on a huge inventory of seat cushions, upholstery, foam rubber and other materials that were destroyed.

Much of the material was destined for use in Nash and Studebaker cars. The cause of the fire could not be determined immediately.

Trade Blockade Can Subdue Reds, McCarthy Believes

By ARTHUR BYSTROM

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—Sen. McCarthy says a trade blockade can force the Communists into submission without firing a shot.

The Republican junior Wisconsin senator spoke briefly Thursday night to about 200 persons attending a Junior Chamber of Commerce award dinner honoring Paul Zeimer, 32, for his civic work.

McCarthy, who has been spending the week in Wisconsin, travels to Appleton tonight to address an Outagamie County GOP rally. Then he plans a quick motor trip to Milwaukee to make an appearance later in the evening at a gathering of the Wisconsin GOP clubs where Roy Cohn, former counsel for the Senate Investigations Subcommittee, will speak.

McCarthy said it is not necessary to start a war to curb trade between "friendly nations" and Communist countries.

"We can bring about the release of American boys held prisoner by Red China," he said, "if we tell our allies they will not receive one cent of American aid as long as they trade with the Communists."

The senator said it was "immoral, dishonest and unbelievable" for Congress to vote for extension of the draft law which would "send our soldiers over to the friendly nations while they are sending our goods behind the Iron Curtain."

N.D. University Picks 'Kold' Queen GRAND FORKS, N. D. (AP)—A brown-haired, brown-eyed Oakes, N. D., freshman, Karen Sather, was named Queen Aurora of the fifth annual King Kold Carnival at the University of North Dakota Thursday night.

The queen, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sather, was announced at a pep rally beginning the three-day event.

Highlights of the Carnival will be hockey games tonight and Saturday night between the UND Sioux and Colorado College.

6-Foot Airman Wins German Beauty Contest

BREMERHAVEN, Germany (AP)—A strapping, 6-foot airman named William Rose won a beauty contest here over 14 of the town's loveliest frauleins but the judges ruled this Rose was no American beauty.

The airman, who comes from Auburn, Neb., won the title of "Miss Bremerhaven Port of Embarkation" with the support of buddies who had put him up as a mystery candidate. They raised $355.90 for the March of Dimes and cast enough ballots at 10 cents a vote to give Rose the title.

Despite a fetching Gay Nineties costume and a parasol, Rose was disqualified and the crown went to the runner-up, Ursula Wallenstein, a petite Bremerhaven brunette. The March of Dimes kept the $355.90.

General Warns Madison Perfect Enemy Target

MADISON (U.S. Gen. Benjamin W. Chidlaw, U. S. Air Force, has praised Madison as a model city but added cities like Madison could become model targets for an enemy air attack.

Chidlaw, commander of the Continental Air Defense Command, spoke to about 400 persons Thursday night at the second annual Air Power Day banquet sponsored by the local Chamber of Commerce.

Gen. Chidlaw said he has signed the first scroll of its kind designating "the city of Madison, Wisconsin, as a model Air Force city."

He referred to a program of understanding between the city and the Air Force for better harmony after citizens had complained about the noise of jets stationed here.

In urging cities to do everything they can to help the Air Force speed its planes on the way, Chidlaw said:

"Every split-second advantage in time we put into our jets might reduce your chances of being blown up."

He said in case of an air attack "cities like Madison are no longer model cities; they become model targets."

VOICE of the OUTDOORS

Lamprey Victim
This five-pound northern was unable to shake off its parasitic lamprey even when E. W. Abraham, Waseca fisherman, hauled the fish out on the ice of Machine Shop Lake Wednesday afternoon. The picture made shortly afterward shows the live kicking freshwater lamprey still attached to its prey.

Mississippi River fish, some fish biologists contend, free themselves of this type of lamprey during the open water season by leaping out of the water. The lamprey is supposed to let go when exposed to the air. This one did not—it hung on after being on the ice. The lamprey sucking mouth containing more than a hundred sharp teeth and a toothed rasping tongue was planted solidly into the fish. It in this way sucks the fish's life blood and body fluids.

A close look at the picture will reveal one of the lamprey's small eyes—it has two—in the head, and seven small holes in a row which lead into the gills. It has only a single nostril. The very small tail fin and equal small dorsal or back fins can be made out on the picture. These furnish this most primitive of all fishes power to move about in the water.

Between 23 and 40 are preferred. A small number of secondary teachers with experience teaching in two or more subject fields also are needed.

Interviews also will be conducted at Wisconsin State College, Eau Claire.

Dogs Kill Deer
A deer killed by dogs was found on the river ice near shore on the Minnesota side of the river about midway between Dakota and Dresbach Tuesday morning. It had been dead a day or two—part of its head was eaten away, according to Ronald Shager, local warden, called to investigate after it was discovered by a fisherman.

It was a spiked buck and had, from tracks, been chased onto the ice and killed by several dogs. Deer can sometimes outwit dogs or wolves on ice. They have the ability to stop short—dogs go sliding past them.

Any person, the warden pointed out, under Minnesota law can shoot any dog chasing a deer without any recourse on the part of the owner of the dog. It further states that it is the duty of all game wardens to shoot such deer-chasing dogs. So, if you have a dog which you suspect of chasing deer, better keep it in the barn at night.

Too Many Jackrabbits
One jackrabbit was too many for Cecil LaBresh, Rochester, Sunday, when he was caught with a big one in his possession without any hunting license near Utica. The next day, Ronald Frisby, Utica's justice of peace, hearing his plea of guilty to hunting without a 1953 hunting license, said "410 please."

Two other hunters in the car with LaBresh, Clifford Golish, and Lawrence Stock, both of St. Charles, paid a similar fine for having uncased guns in their car. The arrests were made by Warden Shager.

Wolf hunters, incidentally, riding about by the dozen on trucks in the Lewiston area, should also remember that a truck is a motor vehicle and it is unlawful to carry an uncased gun in a motor vehicle. They still have not found that big wolf.

Inland Water Fishing
The northern and walleye season for Minnesota's inland waters, including Lake Winona, closes Feb. 15. The panfish season, crappies, sunfish, perch and bullheads, is open the year around now both on Minnesota inland waters as well as in the river one. Bass, walleye and northern season closes in the river zone March 1. Fishhouses must be off the ice with the closing of the pike season.

Bedtime Stories
By HOWARD GARRIS

The blue jay bird answered Pat Butter by laughing: "Ha! Ha! Ha!" Just like that. If you will please remember, yesterday's story ended there.

"Ha! Ha! Ha!" laughed Mr. Blue Jay as he flew around the head of the goat gentleman who was running over the ice of Frog Pond, trying to catch Uncle Wiggly. The rabbit gentleman was being blown very fast across the pond because he had a skate sail fastened to his back and he couldn't reach around to take the sail off to stop himself.

That is why Mr. Longears called for Pat Butter to help him off with the sail. And that is why the goat was chasing after the rabbit. But he could not seem to catch up to him.

Oh, you want to know why Mr. Blue Jay laughed? You shall hear in just a moment.

"Ha! Ha! Ha!" laughed the bird again.

"What are you laughing at?" asked Mr. Butter as he kept on running across the ice, trying to catch Uncle Wiggly to take the sail off the rabbit, who couldn't take it off himself because it was tied at his back.

"I am laughing at you!" answered Mr. Blue Jay politely.

"Why are you laughing at me?" the goat wanted to know.

"Because you don't know where to get skates so that you may skate after Uncle Wiggly instead of running after him," answered the bird.

"Put on your skates, Mr. Butter. You say you are the champion goat skater of Woodland. Here is your chance to prove it. Put on your skates and then you can easily catch Uncle Wiggly and save him from the bad chaps!"

"My skates? My skates?" bleated the goat. "Where—what—bad chaps? Did you say bad chaps, Mr. Blue Jay?"

"That's what I said," answered the bird.

"Where are the bad chaps?" inquired the goat. All this time he was running over the ice, trying to catch up to Uncle Wiggly. And, all this while, the blue jay bird was flying around the goat's head talking to him and trying to help him.

"Where are the bad chaps?" inquired Mr. Butter.

"On the other side of Frog Pond," answered the bird. "The fox, the wolf and the bob cat are on the other side of Frog Pond, waiting for Uncle Wiggly to be blown to them. And unless you soon catch up to Mr. Longears, and take off that sail, he will soon be just where the bad chaps can grab him!"

"Oh, my goodness me sakes alive and some rice pudding with the raisins in upside down!" bleated the goat. "I must save Wiggly! I could save him if I only had skates, for I can skate faster than the wind is blowing him and when I catch him I can take the sail off his back and he will stop being blown into the paws and jaws of the fox, the wolf and the bob cat. But where can I get any skates?"

"From around your neck!" was the surprising answer of Mr. Blue Jay.

"Skates around my neck?" exclaimed the goat. "Certainly! To be sure!" chattered the Mr. Blue Jay. "Your skates are hanging by a strap around your neck!"

"Why, so they are!" bleated the goat in surprise. "I dangled them there when I came out to watch Wiggly sail skate. But I forgot all about my own skates. Oh, how funny I am!"

"You sure are!" chattered Mr. Blue Jay. "Quick now! On with your skates and speed along after Mr. Longears. As you are a champion skater, you should soon catch up to him and take off his sail. Then the bad chaps will not get him!"

"Watch me go!" bleated the goat. Quickly he put on his skates. Quickly he skated after Mr. Longears. He soon caught up to him.

"Here I am, Wiggly!" bleated Mr. Butter.

"Good!" exclaimed the rabbit. "Off with the sail!"

Something happened. You shall hear about it tomorrow if the match box will prop up the clothes line with a candlestick so the washing machine can take the cake of soap to the movies.

"A Nice Place to Meet Your Friends"

Laughter Was Staff of Life To Abe Lincoln

By STEFAN LORANT

Written for The Associated Press

For Abraham Lincoln, laughter was the "joyous, beautiful evergreen of life." He needed it as he needed food and water and during the dark days of the war, laughter was his life preserver.

Lincoln's penchant for listening to and telling jokes is well known. But he seldom told a joke for the sake of the joke. They were like parables; they were lessons of wisdom. His stories made a point clear, clinched an argument—and they usually began with "That reminds me . . ."

When Horace Greeley ripped into Lincoln in a violent editorial, the President was asked how he felt about it. Lincoln was reminded of the big fellow whose wife beat him over the head without resistance. As others tried to interfere, the man told them: "Let her alone. It don't hurt me and it does her a power of good."

As another occasion, a group of senators came to urge Lincoln to reorganize his Cabinet. Once again he was reminded of the story of an old farmer back in Illinois who was pestered by skunks. As he went out into the night with his shotgun, ready to put an end to the unpleasant visitor, not one skunk but seven appeared. The farmer took aim and killed one, but that one raised such a fearful smell he decided the best thing was to let the other six go.

After listening to the story, none of the lawmakers pressed for Cabinet reorganization.

Much of the press attacked Lincoln mercilessly. Wrote one journalist of the period: "His silly speeches, his ill-timed jocularity, his pusillanimous evasion of responsibility and vulgar pettiness, have no parallel in history save in the crazy capers of California."

Such savage outbursts recalled to Lincoln the backwoods traveler lost in a thunderstorm. As lightning streaked, thunder roared and the blackness became frightening, the traveler felt to his knees and prayed: "Oh Lord, if it is all the same to you, give us a little more light and a little less noise."

Lincoln joked about himself as easily as he did about others. When asked how it felt to be president, he answered with the story of the tarred and feathered man whose neighbors were riding him out of town on a rail. When they inquired how he liked it, the man replied: "If it wasn't for the honor of the thing, I would much rather walk."

"They say I tell many stories," Lincoln once remarked. "I reckon I do, but I have learned from long experience that plain people, take them as they run, are more easily influenced through the medium of the broad and humorous illustration than in any other way; and what the hypercritical few may think, I don't care."

No Action Taken To Replace Voigt

MADISON (U.S. The Wisconsin Conservation Commission will go along with Lester Voigt for at least another month as acting director of its conservation department.

The commission, holding its regular monthly meeting Thursday, decided to defer selection of a full-time director, Voigt, who took over when Ernest Swift resigned last year to enter the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, is a candidate for the director's post.

There was no discussion on the issue at the meeting, and no reason given for the postponement.

Commissioners agreed to meet with legislative conservation committees March 10 and with representatives of the State Conservation Congress some time this spring to discuss current progress and plans.

FAIRLY SPOKEN

By MARGARET LATROBE

You can say "Be My Valentine" to everybody you know without a paste pot and paper lace to give the red cut-outs a personal touch.

The greeting card industry, bless its creative heart, has made it easy to find that certain message which great-aunt Tabitha's second cousin will know was selected for her alone. How? Because you can step into the stationer's and pick out a card dedicated "For Great-Aunt Tabitha's Second Cousin. With Love on Valentine's Day."

In the unlikely event you don't have an aunt Tabitha, you can still greet all friends and relations apply and intimately. Your mood can vary with the warm February sun, following as wide an arc as personalities and conscience allow.

For instance, the card picturing a large purple plum with a face peeking from behind its velvet circumference suggests both the day's sentiment as well as a touch of gout. It reads: "I'd be plum silly not to want you for a Valentine." Get the idea?

Another we all can use is "What Every Working Girl Should Know." And inside, the pleasant rejoinder — "A Millionaire."

Intriguing is the eye-catching number on which are imprinted lots of red lips with the tender exclamation "Ain't You Sweet?" (The manufacturer assumes, and quite rightly, that every card should be chosen with caution by those bent on acquiring somebody for a Valentine.)

Insouciance blends with frankness on another — "You've Got a Figure Divine. And a face only a Mother could love."

I was thrown a bit off balance by one message addressed "To My Husband and Sweetheart," but the saleslady assured me no triangle was suggested. The card was meant for one and the same gentleman.

There is the right card for every single soul. Sisters, nephews, darling daughters, noble sons, Honey Bunny, Swell Dishes, Sugar Pusses, Friend's Mother and the all-inclusive Wonderful Person missives await your selection.

So Happy February 14th, folks! "I'm Out to Getcha." One way or another, won't you be my Valentine-in-a-minute?

Heart Muscle May Be Hurt by Smoking, Claim

CHICAGO (U) — There appears definite evidence, says the Journal of the American Medical Assn., that smoking can damage the heart muscle.

An editorial in the AMA Journal published Thursday said:

"There seems now to be definite evidence that smoking, even though it may not directly affect the coronary arteries, can have a damaging effect on the myocardium (muscular part of the heart wall)."

"No patient with coronary disease should incur the added risk to his heart imposed by smoking without first discussing thoroughly the problem with his physician."

In New York, the chairman of the Tobacco Industry Research Committee commented that his group is "convinced the vast majority of the American public agrees that all questions of tobacco in relation to human health need much more thorough and complete investigation than has been made up to now."

The chairman, Timothy V. Hartnett, said the committee, organized and financed by large tobacco companies, is continuing research into the tobacco-health relationship.

Two other articles in the Journal also discussed the effects of smoking on the heart.

One report, authored by three physicians, found that changes in blood pressure and the heart rate followed the smoking of cigarettes. The authors—Drs. Henry L. Rusek and Virgil J. Dorset of Staten Island, N.Y., and Dr. Burton L. Zohman of Brooklyn—suggested that smoking is bad for coronary disease patients because of other effects, such as increases in heart rate and blood pressure.

They said their findings did not prove that smoking presents a "direct danger" to such patients through constriction of heart arteries.

Dr. Isidore E. Buff of Charleston, W.Va., wrote the other article about the effects of cigarette smoking. He said a series of tests showed abnormal changes in 10 per cent of the 400 normal persons following smoking.

Pilot's Story Has Special Thrill for Albert Lea Couple

ALBERT LEA, Minn. (U) — An Albert Lea couple got a special thrill out of the story about Col. W. O. Beane, a jet pilot recently held aloft in his parachute by what he described as "eerie winds" over Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Patten were commenting about the story in the Albert Lea Tribune when they came to the name and discovered the principal was their son-in-law, the husband of their daughter, Virginia.

Patten put through a telephone call immediately to the Beane's San Antonio home to learn that the episode had occurred the night before the colonel's 35th birthday.

"While I was dangle in darkness as black as a dungeon, Virginia had to entertain the 35 guests invited for the buffet supper to celebrate my anniversary," Beane told his father-in-law.

Patten said it was the third narrow escape for Beane. Once he parachuted to safety in Japan after an exploding plane opened his chute when the colonel couldn't. Another time, he was shot down over Korea and parachuted into a rice paddy only two minutes flying time from the North Korean lines.

Deadline Set For Korean Vets' Benefits

The Veterans Administration has issued a checklist of deadline dates before which eligible veterans of the Korean conflict period must act if they wish to take advantage of certain benefits.

Most of the deadlines resulted from President Eisenhower's proclamation setting Jan. 31, 1955, as the end of the Korean conflict period governing eligibility for the benefits. The conflict period began June 27, 1950.

One of the most important deadlines not affected by the President's proclamation, requires that eligible veterans who wish to go to school or train under the Korean GI Bill must start training within three years after they leave service or forfeit all further rights to the benefits.

This requirement is contained in the law itself and, therefore, was not affected by the proclamation.

Deadline Set

Those who start their education or training within the required three-year period, must complete their Korean GI Bill training by Jan. 31, 1963, or eight years after discharge, whichever is earlier. The terminating date of Jan. 31, 1963, resulted from the proclamation.

For GI loans on homes, farms or businesses, eligible veterans of the Korean conflict period have until Jan. 31, 1955, to receive a VA guaranty or insurance as a result of the proclamation. No further guaranties or insurance may be issued after that date on loans made to veterans under the present law.

For vocational rehabilitation under Public Law 894, eligible disabled veterans of the Korean conflict period must start in time to finish their rehabilitation by Jan. 31, 1964, or nine years after separation, whichever is earlier.

These termination dates apply to all eligible veterans except those in certain "hardship" categories. For the latter, an additional four years is granted by law in which to complete their rehabilitation.

For a $1,600 grant toward the purchase of an automobile or other conveyance, seriously disabled veterans of the Korean conflict who are eligible must apply for the grant within three years after they leave service or forfeit the benefit.

For this benefit, the proclamation merely set Jan. 31, 1955, as the end of the Korean conflict period during which eligibility for the grant may be established. This means the injuries covered by the law must be sustained in active service on or before that date.

No Deadline Benefits

No application deadlines prevail for the other VA-administered benefits affected by the President's proclamation. These benefits for eligible veterans of the Korean conflict period on a wartime basis are:

o Hospitalization and domiciliary care for nonservice-connected disabilities.

o Compensation for service-connected disabilities or death at wartime rates.

o Pension for total and permanent nonservice-connected disabilities or death.

o Reimbursement of burial expenses and a flag to drape the casket.

The President's proclamation did not change the deadlines previously established by congressional action for certain benefits available to eligible World War II veterans.

These benefits and the applicable deadlines are:

o World War II GI Bill education or training—For those now in training, no additional training may be afforded after July 25, 1956, except for veterans who may have additional training time under the Armed Forces Voluntary Recruitment Act of 1945.

o Vocational Rehabilitation under Public Law 16—in general, no training based on World War II service may be afforded beyond July 25, 1956, except for certain hardship cases who are granted an additional four years in which to train.

o World War II GI Bill loans for homes, farms or businesses—No guaranty or insurance will be available on loans made to eligible World War II veterans after July 25, 1957.

Further information may be secured from Philip Kaczorowski, Winona County veterans service officer, at the courthouse.

The meeting will be held in the historical society building.

Taverns Reminded Of Hour to Close

MANKATO, Minn. (U) — Blue Earth County taverns must quit selling beer at midnight and have their places cleared of customers by 1 a. m., the county board said today in letters sent to all such operators.

A spokesman said the letter was read because of several misunderstandings about closing hours.

Communists Fire On Night Fighter

WITH U.S. 7TH FLEET, Tachen Weng, a Communist gunner, fired at a U.S. carrier-based Banshee night fighter Wednesday night, a Navy briefing officer reported today.

The Banshee, from the Essex, was north of the Tachen Islands when a burst of antiaircraft fire exploded about a mile away. No fragments hit the plane.

Estimates Differ, Says School Official Of Budget Slash

MADISON (U) — "It could be considered a matching of one set of estimates against another," the state's top school official said in discussing Gov. Kohler's $1,750,000 cut in state school aids.

George E. Watson, state superintendent of public instruction, made the statement Thursday before the Legislature's Joint Finance Committee, which is studying the governor's executive budget bill.

Assemblyman George Molinaro (D-Kenosha), a committee member, asked Watson, "What reason did they give you for the $1,750,000 cut?"

Watson said he had presented the governor with his best estimates on what funds would be needed to meet the formulas for state school aids in the 1955-57 biennium and that the governor's office had come up with a different estimate.

He said there was no announcement by Kohler's office as to the reason for the lower estimate.

Watson added that his office has had indirect assurance that "aids will be met, one way or another."

Watson's office had asked for about 60 million dollars in local school funds, including $47,500,000 for aids to local elementary and high schools for 1955-57. The governor suggested a budget of $45,750,000 for that purpose.

Asked by a committee member whether he had seen anything which might change his estimate, Watson replied:

"I have seen nothing since to greatly change those figures." Watson said that 85.7 per cent of the more than 62 million dollars requested by his department would be distributed to localities for school aids. He said $1,024,650, or 1.6 per cent of the total would be used during the biennium for actual operation of his department, which he said plans no staff additions although some phases of the work could use added staff.

Schools for the blind and the deaf take another $1,450,000, or about 1.6 per cent of the total. He said payments to "emergency substitute" teachers, begun two years ago, would require $432,000.

Wisconsin paid only about 93 per cent of the statutory school aids last year because the 1953 Legislature underestimated the rising school enrollment.

When the two deficiencies are made up by the present Legislature, the 1953-55 school aids will amount to about $41,400,000.

Tom Gola and LaSalle Whip Manhattan '5'

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

It's difficult to improve on perfection, but if two-time All-American Tom Gola isn't doing just that in college basketball he's making a darn good try.

The magnificent 6-7 center was at his very best as LaSalle slowly gained momentum to make Manhattan its 17th victim of the season 76-62 last night. Gola simply was the whole show.

It wasn't until the last 10 minutes, when the Explorers began to pull away, that he got some support from Charlie Greenberg and Frank Blatcher. Before that, he practically battled the Jaspers on even terms all by himself.

He continually tormented the Jaspers with his ball hawking. He passed off beautifully to his mates, and when they missed the layup he generally was ready to tap in the rebound on the followup. He also snared 20 rebounds. He scored 27 points, hitting 12 of 23 field goal attempts.

The Jaspers, who had won 10 straight, thrice had third-ranked LaSalle nine points down and held on grimly against a Gola-fired rally for a 37-36 count at the half. Greenberg and Blatcher supplied the finishing kick and in six minutes had outscored Manhattan 14-2, with only a field goal assist from Gola.

In other games, Holy Cross snowed under little St. Michaels (Vt.) 101-72 with Wally Suprunowicz scoring 32 points. St. Louis U. overcame New York U. 87-66 while paired with the LaSalle-Manhattan game as a Madison Square Garden double header. Oklahoma surprised Oklahoma A&M 59-50 by hitting 31 of 36 foul shots for the Sooners' second success in 14 starts.

Furman showed up without flustered Darrell Floyd, the nation's leading scorer, but called on Bob Thomas and Bob Gaines for 25 points each to beat Davidson 96-67. Sophomore Lee Marshall scored 22 for Washington and Lee in an 82-67 victory over Virginia Tech.

Bradley, the NCAA runner-up to LaSalle last season, dropped its 14th decision in 19 games by an 87-63 count to Notre Dame.

In the Southeastern Conference, Denver Brackeen, the league's top scorer, hit for 34 to help Mississippi to a 66-53 victory over Mississippi State.

Oklahoma City U. came to life in the second half to humble Texas A&M 53-34 while Wichita was defeating Drake 96-78.

Hirsch Quits Football for Movie Career

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Football star Elroy (Crazy Legs) Hirsch may have something in common with Betty Hutton. Or the late Sarah Bernhardt.

The two ladies of the entertainment world gained much prominence with announcements of retirement that proved premature.

Betty just the other day and Miss Bernhardt, of course, long before that, even before Crazy Legs started football, which was long ago indeed.

Well, ol' Goofy Gams, as one admirer calls him, formally announced his retirement from football and the Los Angeles Rams last December.

His adoring fans presented him with a shiny convertible and off Elroy drove, straight into a movie career.

Hirsch does right well in the films, too. His starring picture, aptly named "Crazy Legs," made money. And his newest, a dramatic prison piece called "Unchained," has equal promise.

But in New York the other day Hirsch topped a hint that came football time he might get the urge to return to the gridiron.

More significantly, he said he'd respond to the urge especially if the Rams needed him.

This may be news today for Elroy. The Rams need him.

Big Bob Carey, who would have filled the job Hirsch left, has decided to stay out of football this year. He suffered a badly broken leg and torn knee. It will mend that much better after a year's layoff.

Carey has signed as assistant coach at Arizona State at Tempe. He'll help Dan Devine, who was an assistant at Michigan State when Bob started there in 1951. Bob will return to the Rams in 1956.

Hirsch's pal and producer, Hall Bartlett, says it is all right with him if Elroy returns to the Rams. Bartlett is not only a rabid Rams supporter, he is president of the Rams booster club.

Elroy is back in his native Wisconsin today, probably at the family home in bustling little Wausau.

Army Ready to Participate in Some Bowl Tilt

By ORLO ROBERTSON

WEST POINT, N. Y. (AP)—Army's participation in postseason football games, probably the Sugar or the Cotton bowls, had the backing today of the U. S. Military Academy's Board of Visitors.

The board, an 18-man group composed of members of Congress, the military and civilians, is strictly an advisory organization but its recommendations carry weight in formulating policies.

At the board's annual meeting last night at the point, Rep. Herbert (D-La.) made the motion to permit post season games. It was seconded by Representatives Teague (D-Tex) and Johnson (R-Calif.) and met with unanimous approval from the board, headed by Dr. James Baxter III, president of Williams College.

"To all intents and purposes the way has been cleared for the acceptance of a bowl bid by the Army," said Hebert. He said his motion had the backing of Secretary of Defense Wilson and, while not binding on academy authorities, it will be given serious consideration.

Gen. B. M. Bryan, superintendent of the academy and former Army gridiron star, and Head Coach Earl Blaik both were advised of the board's action. Neither was available for comment.

Although the board's recommendation approved any bowl game, the Cadets probably would be limited to either the Sugar or Cotton Bowl. They are the major bowls not entirely tied up with individual conferences.

Navy broke the ice on bowl games when it sent its team to the Sugar Bowl last Jan. 1, where the Middies defeated Mississippi 21-0.

Paul Andrews Favored Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—Because Paul Andrews is supposed to be on the way up and Harold Johnson on the way down, Andrews is an 8-5 choice to win the 10-round rematch tonight at Madison Square Garden.

Andrews is No. 2 among the light heavyweight contenders and Johnson is No. 3 but Johnson already had his shot at champion Archie Moore. He was knocked out in the 14th. There has been no demand for a rematch.

Although Andrews still is a light heavyweight, his ultimate aim is Marciano's "big" title. He'll be a legitimate heavy in another 18 months.

Andrews, billed out of Buffalo, N.Y., because his manager Marshall Miles comes from there, wants to wipe out his defeat by Johnson at Chicago last March 17. He had Johnson down with a left hook in the first round but lost a split decision on Johnson's strong finish.

Chiefs Sign George Smith, Michigan State Infielder

George Smith, a second baseman attending Michigan State College whose brother led the American Association hitting crown. Then the property of the New York Yankees, he was on option to Columbus.

Hal Smith was consigned to the Baltimore Orioles in the winter trade, with the Yankees involving Bob Turley.

Paul Richards' opinion of Hal Smith's promise as a catcher is illustrated in the fact that the Orioles traded proven major league backstop Clint Courtney to the Chicago White Sox after getting Smith.

Last season's Michigan State baseball brochure described George Smith as follows:

"Nickname—Smitty, 2nd baseman, 19 years old, 5-9, 160 pounds, sophomore.

"Graduate of Detroit Redford High where he was an outstanding baseball player and gained All-City honors . . . has a brother who is a catcher in the New York Yankees chain."

"Played with Detroit Moeller's as they won National Recreation title in 1953 . . . In 1952 played with Trumbull Chevrolet in Detroit as team took National Class D amateur title."

"Has two uncles who were active in Detroit amateur ball for the past ten years . . . bats right, throws right . . . good hitter and top fielding second sacker."

"May replace Hopping at second as regular season starts although he did not have the benefit of the southern trip."

Smith was on the Michigan State squad last year with Chuck Gorman, who pitched for the Chiefs, and Dick Idzkowski and Billy Mansfield, players with the Rochester Royals in the Southern Minny.

Also on the Spartan baseball squad were footballers Tom Yewick, Earl Morrill and John Matsock.

The signing of Smith gives the Chiefs 16 players on the announced availability list for the 1955 campaign.

SPORTS Sidelights BY RALPH REEVE

Hits & Misses

A pair of pieces of correspondence hit the desk—one from an anonymous "ex-St. Mary's player" and the other from Wilbur (Soup) Winblad, former Rushford coach now coaching at Farmington . . .

The St. Mary's boy wrote as follows: "In your column last night you said you did not know anyone who played football and basketball at St. Mary's. In 1952-53 a student at St. Mary's by the name of Chuck Hengel played both football and basketball, also baseball . . . How about a reprint."

There's the reprint, Bud, and thanks for the correction. We shouldn't have included the last three years in our statement since the Sidelights didn't hit Winona until Nov. 21, 1952.

The wrist-slap was deserved, but we feel it only makes stronger our original point—that St. Mary's has not been a school known for three-sport athletes . . . When you have to go back to the 1952-53 school year to find one (and our apologies to Chuck Hengel) it's clear that we weren't off base in the first dissertation on the subject.

Winblad, who mailed back the blank on bonus free throw rule opinions, enclosed the following notes:

"I sure enjoy the paper . . . It looks like a close race in District One again this year . . . Lost a heartbreaker to Lake City 69-65 . . . We led for over 29 minutes, once in the third quarter by 10 points . . ."

"Gale Sprute, our sophomore center, is really a ball player. He is averaging 23-plus per game and is shooting at a 56 per cent clip . . . We should be stronger next year as we lose only four of our first 12 . . . Had only two lettermen back this year . . . Sincerely, Soup."

Incidentally, the list of coaches responding to our bonus rule poll is snowballing . . . By Thursday morning 29 coaches had answered our blank, so we're assured of a pretty fair cross-section of high school coaching opinion on the bonus free throw rule when the results are announced . . .

Ol' Diz & Satchmo

One of the boys at Polley's Penthouse starting chuckling while reading a baseball book the other night. He read aloud the following anecdote:

"Dizzy Dean was broadcasting a New York Giants-St. Louis Cardinals game at St. Louis. After the Giants got three homers off a pitcher in the same inning, Ol' Diz remarked philosophically: 'Well, he's doing the best he can . . . At least he ain't makin' his outfielders run!'"

Remember hearing Diz and Buddy Blattner a few seasons ago and they started talking about Babe Herman, the onetime Brooklyn Dodgers slugger.

Blattner said, "Diz, you pitched against Herman, didn't you? Wasn't he pretty tough?"

Diz replied, "He sure was . . . He used to give me a lotta trouble . . . Why, he used to get two, three hits off me in a season!"

And here's one concerning Lefty Gomez, the former great New York Yankees lefthander.

Seems Gomez was toiling on the mound one day and the opposition loaded the bases. Joe McCarthy, manager of the Yanks in those days, walked out to the mound and said, "I just want you to know, Lefty, that the bases are loaded."

Gomez stared at McCarthy and finally said, "I suppose you think that I thought they were extra infielders!"

To close out today's potpourri, here's a reprint of Satchel Paige's rules for staying young:

o Avoid fried meats, which angry up the blood.
o If your stomach disagrees you, lie down and pacify it with cool thoughts.
o Keep the juices flowing by jangling around gently as you move.

o Go very light on the vices, such as carrying on in society. The social rambles ain't restful.
o Avoid running at all times.
o Don't look back. Something might be gaining on you.

Youth Dominates Tucson Tourney

Name players yesterday had to be satisfied with supplying minor fireworks, such as heaving clubs and bawling out a photographer.

Lakers Bow To Syracuse

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Minneapolis Lakers suffered their fourth straight setback in the National Basketball Assn. Thursday night, bowing to Syracuse, eastern division pace-setters, 85-81.

A basket by Earl Lloyd in the waning moments helped settle matters for Syracuse. After scoring the lead basket, Lloyd grabbed Jim Pollard's missed field goal attempt with 46 seconds to go. On the rebound of an ensuing Syracuse shot, Clyde Lovellette kicked the ball out of bounds. With three seconds left Paul Seymour's long hook shot dropped back into Dolph Schayes' hands and he scored.

Lovellette topped the scoring for the Lakers with 26 points. Johnny Kerr scored 22 and Schayes 21 for the Nats.

With Max Zaslofsky back on the team, Fort Wayne kept rolling in the only other NBA game.

Zaslofsky, one of the all-time NBA greats, scored 19 points as the Pistons defeated Philadelphia, 105-97. The balding setshot artist has been in double figures more and more lately.

George Yardley, back in action after a long layoff, scored 18 as the Pistons stretched their Western Division lead over second-place Minneapolis to seven games.

Bowling Clinic

By Billy Sixty

LIFTING FOR SPIN

Here is excellent form to copy. The action sketch is that of Billy Welu of St. Louis, co-holder of the ABC doubles title.

Welu has reached the foul line after four steps of sound footwork during which keeping the arm close to the side in the swing was the prevailing factor. Note the arm continuing straight out and up, even though the ball was released quite some distance lower and earlier. This phase of bowling is very important; much more so than the average roller realizes. For only by continuing the arm swing, as Welu is doing, is it possible to produce finger-spinning hook action easily and effectively.

Not to say anything about direction. The straightness of the arm provides control; sends the ball at the target. The arm is actually swinging a little to the right of its close-to-the-body downward course, insuring the release of the thumb first and leaving the fingers to apply spin.

Williams Slated To Sign With Sox

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Daily Record said Thursday night in a copyright story that Ted Williams "is returning to the Red Sox" and will join the team "about March 10."

"Although Ted has not yet notified the Red Sox of his impending return," the story added, "he is expected to make his official announcement in about 10 days."

Ted's decision to return — an about-face from his announcement last fall, may be due, it is reported, to the influence of his closest personal friend, Tom Yawkey, owner of the Red Sox. The Sox owner is probably the only one who could get him to change his mind."

This is the latest of a series of speculative reports, all of which have been met by this stock comment by Red Sox General Manager Joe Cronin:

"We have mailed Ted a contract and we haven't heard from him."

Gophers Risk Lead In Illinois Battle

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Minnesota, packed with brawny rebounders and fronted by an All-American candidate, meets Illinois before the television cameras here Saturday with the Big Ten basketball title beckoning both.

The game matches Minnesota outcourt marksmanship and under the basket vigor against an Illinois team of rare scoring balance and team speed.

The victor automatically becomes the championship favorite in a taut first place fight that also includes Iowa. Minnesota leads at 6-2. Iowa and Illinois are 5-2.

Iowa, however, is a much rougher schedule the rest of the way than Illinois or Minnesota.

To win, Illinois must withstand not only Gopher physical power and the bullseye shooting of Dick Garmaker, but Minnesota's home court advantage which has routed every team appearing here this season.

Garmaker is the Gophers' offensive gem, a 6-3 forward who was all-conference last year and who holds eight Minnesota scoring records.

His 26.3 Big Ten average this season puts him squarely in the running for the league's scoring championship. Garmaker's most destructive weapon is the jump shot, fired most efficiently from the left side and some 25 feet out.

Chuck Mencil at guard is another long distance bomber for the Gophers and a quick-thinking floorman.

But Illinois also has worries under the basket where 6-11 Bill Simonovich, a massive 285-pounder is Minnesota's chief rebound threat and an adequate scorer although of limited maneuvering ability.

Against this, Illinois will send a team of runners and fine shooters, almost all on the same level of scoring proficiency. Bill Ridley, only 5-9 but stunningly quick, shoots well from long distance. Paul Judson is a smooth running mate at guard, and Bruce Brothers, Bill Altenberger and George BonSalle make up an active front line. BonSalle, the center, is almost four inches shorter than Simonovich but moves faster.

Game time is 2 p. m. Minnesota has gone 18 years without a Big Ten championship but rarely since 1937 has it been in such good position this far along in the season. Illinois, on the other hand, has been a contender as a matter of course during the period.

In other Big Ten games Saturday night, Ohio State is at Wisconsin, Indiana at Iowa, Michigan at Purdue and Michigan State at Northwestern.

Probable lineups:

Minnesota
5-F Dick Garmaker (6-3)
n23-F Dave Tucker (6-11)
55-C Bill Simonovich (6-11)
30-C Chuck Mencil (6-0)
21-G Buck Lindsay (6-0)

Illinois
32-F Bruce Brothers (6-5)
20-F Bill Altenberger (6-1)
22-C George BonSalle (6-7½)
24-G Paul Judson (6-3)
11-G Bill Ridley (5-9)

Witness Held In Coed Slaying Denies Murder

NEW YORK (AP) — Angelo (Mike) Morelli, held as a material witness in the slaying of Ann Yarrow, denies any knowledge of the murder and says he never even knew the 23-year-old coed.

After being held in lieu of $10,000 bail Thursday the 27-year-old Morelli tearfully told newsmen:

"I didn't do a damned thing. I never saw her (Ann) in my life. I have no idea what happened to her."

Thus far, police say, Morelli has been unable to prove where he had been last Saturday night and early Sunday morning.

Miss Yarrow, a graduate student in human relations at New York University, was stabbed 37 times, strangled and raped in a girl friend's apartment. Authorities set the time of the killing between 1 and 3 a.m. Sunday.

Morelli had dated the owner of the three-room apartment, Herta Payson, 26-year-old secretary, and helped her to move into the flat about a year ago. Miss Payson discovered Ann's body Sunday morning after returning from a 10-day trip.

Morelli, dark-haired, $80-a-week clothing salesman, is separated from his wife, the district attorney's office said.

Morelli said he spent Saturday night going to a movie, making a round of bars, and finally picking up a woman. Scratches on his arms and neck, he said, came during an argument with the woman over money.

Police took Morelli on a tour of the places he said he had been, but they said no one remembered seeing him.

Morelli had a rush dry cleaning job done Monday on two suits and a topcoat. A preliminary police laboratory check showed "spots" on the garments, and further tests of the garments were being made.

Locks Washout At Keeping Cash From Deft Thief

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The mechanical know-how of Charles Heiser enable him to extract about 160,000 quarters from coin-operated washing machines in the last 18 months, police say, but he will have to spend one to 15 years in California's prison at Chino in atonement.

Heiser's daily thefts of the money boxes, detectives said, caused several apartment house managers to be fired; forced 11 washing machine service concerns to spend about $30,000 in installing new equipment, which Heiser proceeded to open as easily as before, and gave one washing machine agency operator unemployment.

Superior Judge David Coleman, trying the case Thursday, called it "one of the most amazing I ever handled."

"I bought one of the locks and worked on it for some time and finally fashioned a device that would open a lock in whatever position it had been set," Heiser told investigators.

"I promised police I would never disclose to anyone else how my invention operated," Heiser remarked as he was being led to jail, but he indicated that he had expected leniency from the court.

The only person Heiser had told about his invention was James R. Scarberry, 24, who is awaiting trial on a charge of stealing from washing machine boxes. Police said Heiser told them Scarberry went into business for himself after he got the secret. Heiser's profits, he told authorities, were gambled away.

W. E. Bloomfield, operator of a coin box agency, said he hopes Heiser's secret will be kept. "It gave me ulcers," he said.

'Crusade for Freedom' Week to Be Feb. 12-22

ST. PAUL (AP) — Gov. Freeman today proclaimed the period of Feb. 12-22 for observance of "Crusade for Freedom" week, and urged citizens to give all possible encouragement to the activities and goals of freedom.

The governor's proclamation said that Crusade for Freedom is performing outstanding service in spreading the ideals of freedom throughout the world and in bringing truth and hope to the people behind the Iron Curtain.

South Dakotan Named To Farm Credit Board

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower today nominated Samuel H. Bober of Newell, S.D., to be a member of the Farm Credit Board.

Eisenhower dispatched the nomination to the Senate in Washington from the plantation home of Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey. The President arrived here with Humphrey Thursday for a week-end of quail shooting.

Bober, 63, is a Democrat. He would succeed Raymond Sayre, deceased. Bober owns a 15,000-acre farm and ranch at Newell.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGUM, D. Sc.

1. WHICH ARE MORE EASIER TO "KEEP UP" WITH THE JONESSES—MEN OR WOMEN? ☐ MEN ☐ WOMEN

2. THE TRUTH ABOUT HIM—SELF NEVER KILLED ANY—CAME TO LEARN THE TRUTH KILLS THOUSANDS—TRUE ☐ FALSE ☐

3. DO FAST LEARNERS MAKE MORE USE OF THEIR ABILITIES THAN SLOW LEARNERS? YES ☐ NO ☐

learn the truth about cancer, men's health, etc., until it was too late.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. Not often, because school studies have to be geared to the abilities of the average student, or else none but the fast learners would ever graduate. Thus, those who learn faster can get by without hard work. The average students have to work fairly hard, but the slow learners have to do their damndest or join the great army of "drop-outs."

4. What well-known American illustrator was also famous for his marionette shows?

5. In European history, what was Godfrey de Bouillon's most famous exploit?

HOW'D YOU MAKE OUT?

1. The ending of debate by a majority vote.

2. An American writer of many books for children—1859-1923.

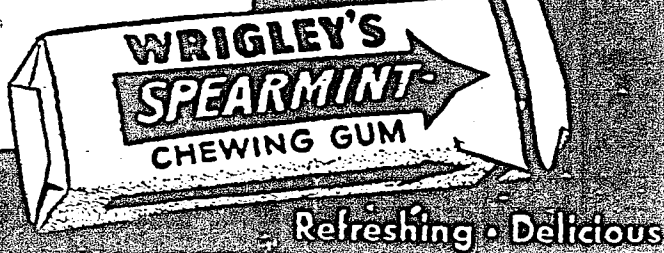

3. "A rainbow in the sky"—from The Rainbow by William Wordsworth.

4. Tony Sarg—(1882-1942).

5. His leadership of the First Crusade, from 1036 to 1100.
