House Expected To Pass Ike's Trade Program

Protective Tariff Forces Hope to Water Down Bill

By CHARLES F. BARRETT
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's embattled program designed to expand free world trade by lowering U.S. tariffs moved toward expected House passage late today.

But protective tariff forces, after a surprising show of strength yesterday, said there were good prospects that they could water down the administration bill.

Eisenhower reportedly planned a last-minute appeal for support through a message to be read by House Minority Leader Martin (R-Mass.).

It took three roll calls within 24 hours yesterday merely to establish procedure for considering the bill. In the end, supporters of the program succeeded by only one vote, 193-192, in adopting a rule which limits foes to offering just one amendment.

But in the tentative first test yesterday, supporters were startled by a 28-vote licking. It appeared then the bill would be opened to a flood of trade-restricting amendments. The picture was reversed only after Speaker of the House Rayburn (D-Tex.) stepped down from the rostrum to plead for the limitation.

On each roll call, a majority of Republicans voted against the procedure curbing amendments. A majority of Democrats supported it. Democrats did most of the shifting to save the day for supporters of the trade program.

The bill would extend for three more years the President's power to negotiate reciprocal trade agreements under which the United States cuts tariffs on foreign goods coming into this country in exchange for reductions in trade barriers to American products shipped abroad.

Most of the tariff-cutting authority under the present law has been exhausted. The new bill would permit the President to cut rates an additional 5 per cent each year for three years. He could make even bigger cuts in some cases.

Eisenhower and his supporters in Congress argue this would help U.S. allies sell more goods here, help Americans sell more abroad, and knit the free world closer together in every way.

Opponents claim that increased imports might undermine competing American industries.

Senate Confirms State Liquor Commissioner

ST. PAUL (AP)—The Senate today confirmed appointment of Harry Sieben as state liquor control commissioner. He was named by Gov. Freeman to replace Dudley Ericson, commissioner since 1947.

Next Move in Formosa Up To Red China

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—The next move in the Formosa crisis is up to the Red Chinese. More and more American officials are coming around to the view that they may make it with military force.

The importance of what the Reds may do overshadows a rift between the United States and Britain over the Quemoy, Matsu and other coastal islands.

With British support, the United States has established a firm line in defense of Formosa. Beyond this, the United States has in effect said it will fight a Chinese Communist assault on any of the offshore islands if President Eisenhower decides the move is aimed at conquest of Formosa.

The British, however, hold that Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists should give up the offshore islands and pull back to Formosa.

In this situation, the Communists have to decide whether they will try to take over either the coastal islands or Formosa itself by military means or by diplomatic maneuver. Under present circumstances, if they try by military means in either case it seems certain they will confront at the least a limited war with the United States.

Several months ago the Chinese Reds began stepping up their threats to capture Formosa. They have increased the violence of propaganda against the United States.

Furthermore, diplomats here have heard they have privately told Chinese and Indian leaders they intend to take Formosa this year and will be selling rice from Formosa by the year's end.

These private boasts, coupled with the increasingly strong public stands, are regarded as going beyond normal propaganda in such a situation. In effect, the Chinese Communist leaders are nailing themselves to a program of Formosa.

That has some American officials worried. However, officials declared that Secretary of State Dulles meant exactly what he said in New York Wednesday night. Dulles asserted that the free nations could not make concessions in the Far East to try to induce the Communists to be peaceful without gravely imperiling the confidence of the free peoples of Asia.

State Indebtedness Now $95,144,505

ST. PAUL (AP)—Minnesota's indebtedness last Dec. 31, was $95,144,505, up $436,174 in six months, State Auditor King reported Thursday night.

King said also that receipts from all sources for the same period were 237 million dollars, compared with 265 million for the last half of 1953.

Ike Raps Linking Democrats, Reds

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower says Republicans ought not to link Communists and Democrats in the same class when they line up to fight their enemies.

The President's admonition was delivered to the Republican National Committee yesterday after it unanimously had affirmed a subcommittee's choice of San Francisco as the site and Aug. 20 as the opening date for the 1956 presidential nominating convention.

The committee thanked Eisenhower for "an inspirational and heart-warming talk" and proceeded to assert in a resolution offered by former Sen. C. Wayland Brooks, Illinois member:

"Thanks to him (Eisenhower) and his unequalled leadership, we approach 1956 not only determined to win, but convinced that we will win because America wants and is determined to have the quality of government which Dwight D. Eisenhower and the Republican party have given it."

Maintaining silence on his own plans, the President told the delegates not to close their "balance of values" in their struggle to win elections.

"Our greatest enemy is the Communists," he said. "Our great struggle today is a 'free world' against a 'dictator world.' Our greatest enemy is not the Democrats. We certainly know we can't have better allies when we are fighting anybody from abroad.

"So let's remember that. Let's not build up a picture that the worst enemy anyone can have is a Democrat. Far from it. We just don't think they can do as good as we do. As a matter of fact, we know it."

The President's cautionary remarks appeared directed at such GOP campaigners as Sen. McCarthy of Wisconsin, who assailed Democrats in speeches entitled "20 Years of Treason," and at others who have accused Democratic officials of being soft toward Communism.

Democrats have said Vice President Nixon was one of the latter, but Nixon has denied making any such general charges.

Eisenhower told the delegates that instead of the "progressive moderate" label he once used for his administration he now prefers "dynamic conservatism."

Report 21 Communist Craft Sunk

Sea Battle 130 Miles Northwest Of Formosa

By SPENCER MOOSA

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The Chinese Nationalist air force claimed one of its bombers sank a submarine off the Red-held Taisan Islands this afternoon while other planes and warships wreaked havoc on a Chinese Communist troop supply convoy.

The air force said the bomber went into a power dive and bombed and strafed the sub, scoring direct hits and causing bubbles to rise as it went down.

Planes patrolled the area for a long period but found no trace of the undersea craft.

In the same East China Sea area, Nationalist warplanes and ships claimed at least 21 Red vessels sunk, with indications the battle would go on through the night.

If the Nationalist claims are confirmed, it would be the most severe defeat they have ever administered to the Reds.

The ministry said the Reds lost eight landing craft, five gunboats and eight armed motorized junks, plus other unspecified craft. The landing craft were believed to be carrying about 200 soldiers each.

The ministry said the Nationalist warplanes also attacked the Red-held Taisan Islands, destroying eight barracks and causing heavy Communist casualties.

A ministry spokesman said the Red flotilla was cruising southward toward the Taisans when the Nationalist warships intercepted it. Chiang Kai-shek's warplanes also raced out to attack.

The ministry said none of the Nationalist ships was lost. The sea battle erupted off the Chekiang province coast about 130 miles northwest of Formosa between the Nationalist northern outpost of Nanchishan and Red-held Taisan Island.

The Red convoy was spotted at 7:50 a.m. moving southward from the Wenchow Bay area. Two warships and four gunboats were conveying eight landing ships each capable of carrying 200 troops.

In the first 30 minutes of action, seven Red landing craft were sunk. Col. Lu Fa of the Defense Ministry said he reported three of the four Red gunboats were set afire and possibly sunk.

Lu said the small transports were loaded with troops and supplies but he refused to speculate on their mission. Possibly the Reds were building up their garrison on Taisan, 15 miles off the coast, for an assault either on Nanchishan to the north or Matsu to the south.

Taisan is about 90 miles southwest of the Tachen Islands, which the Nationalists abandoned last week to the Reds.

Far to the south, Chinese Red batteries on a nearby island hurled 90 shells at the Nationalist garrison on Quemoy earlier today, the ministry said. The Red guns fell silent when Nationalist artillery roared out in answer.

The Nationalists have voiced their determination to fight for their remaining outposts of Quemoy, Matsu and Nanchishan with or without U.S. help.

3 Places Offered Waverly Captain

WAVERLY, Iowa (AP)—"This is a wonderful country," said a moist-eyed Negro Air Force captain as he pondered today which of three dwellings in Waverly to move his family into.

"Capt. Virgil A. Daniels, 37, said yesterday he had run into 'racial pressures' in his attempts to find housing here for his wife and three children.

This town of 5,124, site of an Air Force radar installation, rallied to the captain when his story was made known.

At a ceremony yesterday, Daniels, his wife Inez, 27, and daughter Gwendolyn, 2, were presented keys to an apartment, which only the day before they had been urged not to rent because some tenants "said they didn't want to live with colored people."

The Daniels, who have two other children, Joyce, 11, and Virgil, 9, received keys to two other places. Because he could not find adequate housing, Daniels, a brother of singer Billy Daniels, had to commute 42 miles round trip daily from Waterloo to his job.

"Now I'll be able to save the expense of that long drive and have more time with my family," he said.

Freeman Demands Balanced Tax Plan

By JACK B. MACKAY

ST. PAUL (AP)—Gov. Freeman said today that Minnesota is going to have a balanced tax program if it's necessary to keep the Legislature in session the entire year.

While emphasizing that "I'm not trying to threaten anyone," Gov. Freeman said at a news conference that "we have needs that must be met."

He was asked by The Associated Press: "What happens, governor, if a withholding tax plan is not enacted by the Legislature?"

"The Legislature," the governor replied, "needs to present a balanced and a reasonable tax program."

"If unreasonable interests fail to permit a balanced tax program it is my pledge to the voters of this state there will be one."

"If we must be here throughout the entire year—there will be a balanced tax program."

Gov. Freeman was asked if he would call a special session. It was obvious that he was reluctant to talk about a special session right in the middle of the current Legislature, but he did say that the governor has powers to call a special session and that "if I am forced to do so, I will."

The news conference was held in the presence of Rep. E. J. Chisgren, Littlefork, and Rep. D. D. Wozniak, St. Paul, chairman and vice chairman, respectively, of the House Tax Committee; G. Howard Spaeth, state tax commissioner, and Joseph Robertson, research analyst in the state tax department.

The governor and Wozniak agreed that, if a withholding income tax program is not put into effect next July 1, there will be no $5 increased exemption for individual taxpayers and no increase in basic school aids.

The governor was asked if he would accept a withholding plan—under which employers make payroll deductions the same as the federal government—if it contained a tax forgiveness provision.

"I would feel impelled to veto it," he answered.

No Chance See For Rigid, High Level Farm Props

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. R. D. Harrison (R-Neb.) said today there is "no chance whatsoever" that Congress will enact a new agriculture law this year to restore rigid high level price supports on basic farm commodities.

There was reluctant agreement with this view among some other members of the House Agriculture Committee, which Thursday heard Secretary of Agriculture Benson stand firmly by the administration's program of flexible supports.

Members who declined to be quoted by name said efforts to reinstate support levels at 90 per cent of parity did not appear to "stand a ghost of a show" under present circumstances.

And Benson told the committee, as he has on other occasions, that he would recommend a presidential veto of any high support bill passing Congress.

Enactment of such a law would be "a mistake," he said, declaring Congress should give the present program of flexible supports "an opportunity to work."

Pineau Cabinet Awaits Fate in Assembly Vote

PARIS (AP)—Socialist Christian Pineau put his proposed Cabinet and political platform on the firing line today, asking the National Assembly to confirm him as France's 21st postwar premier. He was given no more than an even chance for approval.

The schedule for the Assembly session called for Pineau to present his Cabinet and program in a speech immediately after the opening of proceedings, with debate following. Political wrangling could postpone the vote on approval until late tonight.

Victory for Pineau would end the two-week Cabinet crisis and make him the first Socialist premier since the resignation of Paul Ramadier in 1947.

The Premier-designate needed a majority of the votes cast in the 627-member Assembly. However, anything less than the continuing support of about 310 members would leave his government on shaky ground. Some unofficial tabulations last night gave him less than 290 sure backers.

Pineau's program was typical of a Socialist candidate. It included provisions for wage increases and continuance of former Premier Pierre Mendes-France's negotiations to grant more authority to France's restive North African protectorates.

Revision of State Labor Act Asked

ST. PAUL (AP)—A broad revision of the state labor relations act is proposed in a bill offered in the Minnesota Legislature by four liberal legislators.

Sponsors are Reps. Joseph Prietzel, St. Paul; Loren Rutter, Kinney; Joe Karth, St. Paul, and Francis LaBrosse, Duluth.

Their bill would: Substitute a "petition" for the strike notice now required to bring the state labor conciliator into a dispute; or permit either party to ask help from the conciliator without a formal petition.

Write into the law as unfair labor practices and unlawful interference with the rights of workers to form and join unions, interference with the affairs of a union, and refusal to bargain collectively with designated representatives of employees. These are now unfair labor practices under federal law.

Set up procedures under which the state conciliator, if he failed to settle a dispute, could appoint a referee to investigate and make findings. Orders of the referee could, finally, be enforced through an appeal to the district court.

Eliminate the liability of individual employees as such for unfair labor practices and provide that only employers or labor organizations would be liable for such violations.

With reference to the proposal for a referee, sponsors of the bill said they believed failure of the present law to provide an administrative process is "one of its greatest shortcomings."

"The law at present," they added, "requires the use of injunctive procedures which are not conducive to good labor-management relations."

They also said they felt the proposed petition was more likely to leave the parties involved in an atmosphere of conciliation than the present strike notice.

Thursday, the House passed a measure requiring that all butter offered for sale in the state be graded and labeled for the protection of butter users. The bill now goes to the Senate along with a House-approved resolution asking that butter instead of substitutes be served to members of the armed forces.

PLANS 8-NATION COUNCIL

Dulles Flying to Bangkok for Talks

By WARREN ROGERS JR.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles flies toward the Far East today with a roughed-out plan for an eight-nation military council to coordinate defenses against Communism in Southeast Asia.

The blueprint has many details yet to be filled in. It includes four main goals for a conference opening next Wednesday at Bangkok, Thailand:

1. To set up an organization. The Southeast Asia Defense Treaty was signed last Sept. 8 at Manila and since then all eight participating nations have ratified it.

2. To build military security. The treaty area covers all of Southeast Asia and the western Pacific below Formosa, including the Indian states of Laos, Cambodia and Viet Nam. Each treaty nation is pledged to act "in accordance with its constitutional processes" against armed aggression in this area.

3. To create safeguards against subversion. Just how this is done has not been made clear.

4. To foster economic welfare. Again the outlook is clouded. Earlier talk about an American "Market Plan for Asia" or a more modest program of loans and grants has given way to "coordination of existing programs."

Dulles took all these aims into account in his speech at New York Wednesday night. He also cited a fifth:

"The Bangkok conference will enable the free nations of the West and of the East to begin a vital demonstration. They can show that, through association as sovereign nations, they can each help the other to independence, security and well-being."

A working committee of representatives of the eight Manila Pact nations—the United States, the Philippines, Pakistan, Thailand, Britain, France, Australia and New Zealand—has developed a military council concept which does not include any commitment of troops. Thus it differs from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, which set up a vast military organization in Europe.

"We find no passion or prejudice on the part of the jury in arriving at its verdict."

"Apparently the excessive verdict resulted merely from its unwitting acceptance of the figures submitted by plaintiff with respect to certain elements of damage without appreciating that they were predicated upon an inadequate or improper factual foundation in each instance."

High Court Calls For Reduction of $275,000 Verdict

ST. PAUL (AP)—The Minnesota Supreme Court today ordered a new trial unless Oscar Ahlstrom, Thief River Falls, consents to a $100,000 reduction in his $275,000 Hennepin County jury verdict against the Soo Line Railroad.

Ahlstrom, now 28, was crushed seven years ago when a 900-pound crate he was helping unload at the railroad's warehouse fell on him. The lower half of his body was paralyzed and he must be confined to a wheel chair for the rest of his life.

The unanimous decision of the high tribunal, written by Associate Justice Theodore C. Christianson, held that the verdict was "clearly excessive" and attacked the manner in which the jury arrived at the verdict.

In reversing District Judge Levi M. Hall of Minneapolis, unless the reduced verdict of $175,000 is accepted, the high court said:

"The damages assessed by the jury were clearly excessive and it was an abuse of the trial court's discretion to allow the jury's verdict to stand."

"We find no passion or prejudice on the part of the jury in arriving at its verdict."

"Apparently the excessive verdict resulted merely from its unwitting acceptance of the figures submitted by plaintiff with respect to certain elements of damage without appreciating that they were predicated upon an inadequate or improper factual foundation in each instance."

First 'Blue Cross Baby' Has 8½-Pound Son

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP)—Mrs. Ann Woodard Reid, 21, the first baby in the United States paid for by the Blue Cross hospital service plan, gave birth to an 8½-pound boy in Memorial Hospital yesterday. He also was born under the Blue Cross plan.

Youth Gets 25 Years For Hatchet Attack

CLOVIS, N. M. (AP)—Odell Jeffries faces 25 years in the state prison for pleading guilty yesterday to attacking 14-year-old Janice Wells with a hatchet.

The 19-year-old Negro, who confessed to the attack Wednesday night, was charged and sentenced quickly yesterday noon.

Mrs. Aileen Wells, mother of the victim, broke down at the arraignment and cried, "He didn't get nearly enough. My daughter will be scarred for life."

Janice, still in Clovis Hospital, was struck several times on the face with the hatchet. Jeffries broke down the door of the home and attacked her. He told police he didn't know why he did it.

Publishers Claim Pressure to Ban Matusow's Book

WASHINGTON UP—The Justice Department has declined to comment on a charge that it is bringing pressure to suppress a book by Harvey Matusow, ex-Communist who has repudiated his sworn testimony.

The assertion was made at a news conference yesterday by Albert E. Kahn and Angus Cameron, New York publishers, who said the book they plan to issue March 15 "contains charges seriously implicating the department."

They said various printers and binders in New York, whom they declined to name, have backed out of agreements to handle production of Matusow's book after being visited by FBI agents.

Under questions by reporters, they said that so far as they knew, the FBI men had done no more than make inquiries about which printers and binders were handling the book.

Matusow has appeared as a witness both in court trials and before congressional groups investigating Communism, and has named numerous persons as being connected with the Communist movement. He has since signed affidavits, however, asserting that much of the testimony which he gave under oath was false.

Advance proofs of his book, "False Witness," include statements that he was encouraged to testify as he did by some Justice Department officials, and some members of congressional committees.

Atty. Gen. Brownell refused at a news conference yesterday to give his views on the Matusow case, but the possibility developed that Matusow may never be punished for swearing first one thing and then another.

Brownell said under questioning that as the law now stands, contradictory statements under oath do not in themselves constitute perjury. The law requires that the government prove on which occasion the defendant was lying, he said.

Advice on Health

Smoking Cut Aids Blood Vessel Ill.

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Many diseases are more prominent in one sex than in the other. Buerger's disease is one of these. This painful, often crippling, ailment is almost entirely confined to men, usually those between 30 and 45.

What causes it, we don't know. Many patients are known to have been extremely heavy smokers, and, if you've got Buerger's disease, I strongly advise you to give up tobacco in all forms.

Stated simply, Buerger's disease is a spasm of the blood vessels which interferes with the supply of blood to your limbs. Usually your legs are affected, but occasionally it develops in the arms.

First Symptom The first indication is usually a pain in your calves, caused by exercise, such as walking or running. After a short rest, the pain stops.

Later on, there is a severe burning pain in your feet and legs. Ordinarily one leg is affected first, but eventually both usually are stricken.

As the disease progresses, you might not be able to walk more than a hundred yards before the pain in your calves forces you to halt. After a few minutes' rest, you can resume walking, but you won't go very far before the pain returns.

Your doctor, of course, will prescribe the proper treatment for you. There are also certain general rules you should follow.

Be especially careful of your feet. Wash them each morning in tepid water, using a bland soap. Pay particular attention to the spaces between your toes, drying them without rubbing. Sprinkle your feet with foot powder.

File your toenails. Wear a clean pair of socks each day. Use shoes which do not bind. Make sure there are no tears, wrinkles or nails inside your shoes. Don't walk in your bare or stocking feet.

Avoid exposure to cold. Don't sit with your knees crossed.

Don't Cut Corns Don't use salves, medicated pads or antiseptics unless prescribed by your doctor. Don't cut corns or callouses. Don't use hot water bottles, electric pads or sun lamps to warm your feet. You've got to avoid burns at all costs. A severe burn might mean gangrene and amputation.

Tomorrow I'll discuss some more things you probably should do if you've got Buerger's disease.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

A. R.? Will using an electric blanket have any effect on one's health?

Answer: There is no evidence that any effect on health can be produced by an electric blanket.

British Woman Asks Russians for Asylum

VIENNA, Austria (U.S. — A British woman reportedly has asked the Russians for political asylum. Austrian police said the woman, Mrs. E. E. W. Grossett, of Edinburgh, Scotland, went to a Russian zonal control post after arriving here by air.

In Edinburgh, her husband said he expected his wife back in a few days. "You know how women take notions," he said. "She often goes away and runs out of money and then comes home."

He said she had no "particular political sympathies."

Illinois Couple Hurt When Car Runs Into Tree

Mishap Occurs
3½ Miles South
Of Lamoille

LAMOILLE, Minn.—A Princeton, Ill., couple was injured this morning when their car ran out of control, plunged into a ditch and crashed into a tree off Highway 61, 3½ miles south of here.

Receiving treatment at the Winona General Hospital for injuries suffered in the mishap at 10:15 a.m. are Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Linden. Their year-old son, Allen, who was riding in the back seat of the car, was not injured. Sheriff George Fort said.

Sheriff Fort said that Linden, 29, told him that he was driving north on the highway and that the child was lying in a makeshift bed in the back seat.

Linden said that his wife reached into the back seat to cover the boy with a blanket and that he turned partially to assist her.

When he turned, Linden said, the car veered off on the side of the road and went out of control.

The automobile traveled a distance of 273 feet across the shoulder and down a ditch where it struck the shoulder of a side road, hurtled 35 feet across the road, continued a short distance past the road and hit a tree where it came to a stop.

Mrs. Linden, 34, is hospitalized with chest injuries, head and face cuts and multiple bruises.

Her husband, less seriously injured, received treatment for chest bruises suffered when he was thrown against the steering wheel and multiple cuts about the face and head.

Sheriff Fort, who was accompanied to the accident scene by Deputy Helmer Weinmann, summoned an ambulance to take the injured couple to the hospital.

The sheriff said that the car traveled a distance of 332 feet after leaving the road.

Shortly before the accident the Lindens had been following a truck driven by Jack Frost, La Crosse.

Frost said that when he glanced back and noticed that the car was not behind him he looked more closely and saw the car lying in the ditch.

The trucker called the sheriff's office.

Winter Camporee For Scouts Set

Operation "Polar Bear," a two-day winter camporee designed specifically for Gamehaven council Boy Scouts over 14, will get under way Saturday morning at Camp Kahler, Rochester, with Martin Hollingsworth, Stockton, as camp director.

Program plans will be primarily on a unit basis under the volunteer leadership of scoutmasters and explorer advisors.

Scouts will participate in a round robin series of field problems, including rope rescue methods, first aid problems, compass work, fire building and axmanship.

A fellowship hour Saturday evening in the winter lodge will feature a film, "The Region X Canoe Base," which is located on Moose Lake, near Ely, Minn.

Church services are planned for Sunday morning, with units scheduled to return home after a noon meal.

Officials in charge have announced that plenty of warm clothes and food "are a must." There is no fee required for the camporee, as each unit will provide its own food, shelter and leadership.

Education's Role In World Welfare Cited for Alumni

The contributions of American educational institutions in promoting the welfare of people throughout the world were cited Thursday night by Dr. Clifford P. Archer, professor of education at the University of Minnesota.

Speaking at a dinner meeting of the Winona branch of the University of Minnesota Alumni Association, Dr. Archer cited the 57 members of the staff of the university's College of Agriculture who have been given leaves of absence to assist foreign nations in technological research, economic development and in other capacities.

He mentioned the 25 faculty members from the Institute of Technology, 14 from the school of public health, 11 in education and large numbers of others in the liberal arts who have accepted similar missions in their respective fields.

"In this respect the University of Minnesota is playing its part as large institutions throughout the land," Dr. Archer said, "in a program contributing to the peace and prosperity of the world. And in doing this we are learning, too, and are enriching our own lives far more than anyone can say."

"This is the way progress is realized," he said, "and it isn't costing the taxpayer a thing, either. But it has helped us to understand the problems of the world and we could do so much more if the political figures could know as intimately the problems of the world. For if we are to play the role of world leadership that has been thrust upon us, we must know the problems of the world's people."

Dr. Archer's address highlighted the dinner meeting attended by about 35 at the Hotel Winona.

Chairman of the dinner, H. Darby, presided at a brief business meeting that followed the dinner and presented several amendments to the club's constitution which were approved by the membership.

J. M. George served as toastmaster for the banquet and Mrs. C. A. Rohrer was accompanist for a program of singing.

Stressing the importance of education in world development, Dr. Archer commented, "Often you hear it said that America is great and holds the position it does today because of its abundance of natural resources."

"But, we must remember always, the South American countries of Columbia and Bolivia may have richer natural resources than we have in terms of minerals and agricultural potential. Where you find a nation that is going forward you find a nation with a good system of education and a measure of freedom enabling the people to seek the truth."

They Get Paid for Shooting Water Pistols

BILLINGS, Mont. (AP)—Any guy you might see packing a toy water pistol in a 17 million dollar refinery at Billings isn't a misplaced television cowboy. He's checking on steam pipes and the toy's a tool.

The refinery is laced with miles of pipe, including high pressure steam pipes with temperatures up to 350 degrees Fahrenheit. That's hot enough to cook a roast. It often is necessary to know if a steam line or trap contains live steam.

At first refineries men touched these lines and got burnt. Some spit on the pipes. But now one squirt from a water pistol and the water jet explodes into steam and gives the answer.

Confusion in Court

CONCORD, N. C. (AP)—A civil claim was thrown out of court here by Judge W. H. S. Burgwyn, because, "No 12 men on this earth can understand the various charges, claims and counter claims in this suit (covering a 30-year charge account) in the limited time of a session of the Superior Court."

"And that includes this presiding judge," he added.

Cochrane Volunteer Mans Plane Post For 6,000 Hours

COCHRANE, Wis.—Howard Mohnk, supervisor of the Cochrane Ground Observer Corps post, received a citation honoring him for 6,000 hours of service since the post was organized here in 1950.

The award was presented during a GOC meeting Monday attended by three officials of the Minneapolis filter center. A member of the Minneapolis group, Sgt. Alec Lafferty, said the Cochrane post had reported more planes to the filter center than any GOC in the nation.

Plans for a new observation tower now are being completed.

Two Lewiston Boys Raised To Star Scouts

LEWISTON, Minn.—Two Lewiston youths were elevated to the rank of Star Scouts at a court of honor held here Thursday night.

The court of honor at which 10 Scouts received badges was held in the St. Rose of Lima hall following a potluck supper sponsored by the Lewiston Troop 16 and attended by about 175 persons.

Scoutmaster Victor Bohr presided at the court of honor and A. N. Eusterman, a Lewiston businessman, and C. W. Roberts, Lewiston school principal, spoke briefly.

The Star awards went to John Litcher, the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Litcher, and Cecil Mulholland, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Mulholland.

Those receiving 1st Class badges were John Kennedy, John Michael and Dave Kupla.

Tenderfoot badges were awarded to Jack Miller, Clarence Cady, Jack Bohr, Bernie Kennedy and Tom Wirt.

A film on Boy Scout activities was shown.

Whitehall School Crowding Described at PTA Session

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—The overcrowded conditions in the Whitehall school and plans for relieving them were outlined at a Parent-Teacher Association meeting in the high school auditorium Wednesday evening by Kenneth D. Berdan, clerk of the school board.

Introduced by Henry Thoreson, PTA president, Berdan said that overcrowding exists principally in the grade classrooms, the band and chorus rooms, and in addition to the hot lunch program facilities are inadequate, the visual aid program has only the grade corridor in which to operate, and some of the high school teachers do not have classrooms of their own.

With funds that could be made available through a bond issue, Berdan said, construction of an addition housing a new gymnasium and band and chorus rooms, together with the conversion of the assembly room and the upper part of the gymnasium into classrooms, could be financed.

With state law limiting bonding to 5 per cent of the assessed valuation of a district, he said, this plan is the most feasible of several that have been studied by the combined school board and special building committee appointed following the annual school district meeting last July.

Referendum Needed

The assessed valuation of the district is about 3½ million dollars, which would allow bonding up to approximately $175,000 at this time. Berdan said that there is presently a bill before the Legislature to change the bonding limit to 5 per cent of the equalized valuation of the district, which is approximately $5,000,000, but even if passed, the question would be to go to a referendum of the people before put into effect.

The proposed addition would lie to the southeast of the present structure, which stands about squarely on the lot, the speaker said. Construction would be made in such a way that a second story could be added.

Assembly study halls are out-moded, he pointed out, classrooms when not in use for classes being favored as smaller study units by present day educators. He said two classrooms and a library could be made out of the present assembly.

The top half of the present gym could be converted to three classrooms, leaving the bottom half to be used as a hot lunch room and for a visual aid room. The moves which have to be made are an integral part of present day education are now being inadequately shown in

Farmer Out Hunting Thwarts Zoo Family

Rain, Snow And Colder Weather Due

Drivers Cautioned
On Slippery Roads
In Some Areas

You can take your choice on temperatures, but it's apparent the Winona area will get rain and snow tonight and Saturday.

The local forecast calls for a low of 30 degrees tonight, with temperatures turning colder by Saturday morning. (Nevertheless, the weatherman says a high of 34 is expected Saturday.)

A state forecast, issued in view of cold wave and heavy snow warnings to west and central Minnesota, says this part of the state will have a low of 10 to 20 above tonight and a high of 20 Saturday.

Cloudy skies are expected tonight along with rain mixed with snow. Saturday a light snow will change to snow flurries.

The anticipated cold wave will enter the state this afternoon and tonight, with strong northerly winds and falling temperatures. In the west and central parts of Minnesota, temperatures will range from 5 below to 5 above, while the southwest portion will get up to 10 degrees of snow.

Wisconsin's temporary high temperatures are due to end today, the Weather Bureau at Milwaukee said today.

At 9:30 this morning, there was light freezing rain at Grantsburg in northern Wisconsin. This was the first precipitation in the state in more than 24 hours. And a heavy mist that froze when it hit the ground glazed highways in portions of the southern half of Minnesota this morning as temperatures hovered around freezing throughout the state.

Some snow was reported in the north, but the most danger was in the southern portion where the mist put a fine coating of ice on all roads.

The Minnesota Highway Department said the slippery road conditions were reported south of an east-west line from Pine City through Roylston to Wheaton.

Some slipperiness also was reported in the Crookston, Bemidji, Detroit Lakes and International Falls areas, where snow up to an inch began compacting on roads.

The highway department said it was sanding hills, curves and intersections. The department also said that roads with heavy traffic were much safer after the thin layer of ice was worn off.

In the Twin Cities area, the heavy mist, appearing as sleet at times, glazed streets, but wore off quickly as morning traffic began moving.

Both main and lesser highways in the state were affected about the same by the general weather conditions—snow in the north and ice in the south.

George L. Belew, 42, one of the FBI's "10 Most Wanted Criminals" covered his face with his hands as he was led from the Winona County jail here this morning. Belew is being returned to Fargo, N. One of '10 Most Wanted' Held Here

One of the FBI's "10 Most Wanted Criminals" was lodged in the county jail here Thursday night.

In the custody of a U. S. marshal, the prisoner, George Lester Belew, 42, was held here overnight before continuing his trip to Fargo, N. D., where he faces prosecution on federal charges.

Sheriff George Fort said that Belew was arrested by the FBI in Urbana, Ill., earlier this week in an apartment which he occupied with his wife.

The sheriff said that information supplied by the FBI indicated that Belew has been convicted on a charge of forgery and also was wanted for the interstate transportation of a stolen vehicle, making false representations with intent to defraud, assault and interstate transportation of stolen property.

Sheriff Fort found that Belew was named in a warrant issued at Fargo March 6, 1953 and another issued at Salina, Kansas, Aug. 7, 1954.

For some time the fugitive has been included on the list of the ten criminals at large who are most sought by the FBI.

He was known to have carried a gun and was considered dangerous.

Belew was known by the FBI to have used more than 25 aliases at various times.

Sheriff Fort said that Belew was brought to the Winona County jail at about 7 p.m. Thursday in the custody of Marshal D. F. Grem, Fargo, and a Fargo police officer, James Pancratz.

The prisoner was taken out of the Winona jail at 8 a.m. this morning for the remainder of the trip to Fargo.

County Treasurer Sets Special Hours

Winona County Treasurer Arthur W. Dorn said today that beginning Monday and continuing through Feb. 23, his office at the courthouse will be open during the noon hour for persons wishing to get in under the wire in payment of their real estate and personal property taxes.

The only exception will be Tuesday, when all courthouse offices will be closed in observance of Washington's birthday. Office hours on other days will be from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Dorn also reminded county taxpayers that the deadline for payment of 1954 personal property is Feb. 28. After that date an 8 per cent penalty will be attached to all tax bills.

Winner Selected At Fountain City

FOUNTAIN CITY, Wis.—Joan Schaffner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Schaffner, Eagle Valley, has been named recipient of the Daughters of the American Revolution award by her classmates at Fountain City High School.

A senior, she has been a member of the school newspaper staff for three years, sang in the girls' sextette and girls' chorus for three and four years respectively and was a member of the school bowling team for two years.

The girls' sextette won a first place rating a year ago and a second rating two years ago in district music contest competition.

Joan has been a member of the Future Homemakers of America for four years. She plans to study home economics after graduation from high school. She received junior and chapter FHA degrees in 1952 and 1953. Joan was a delegate to the FHA Green Lake convention and attended a similar meeting in 1954 to receive the state homemaker degree. She also was elected editor of District 5 last year.

A 4-H club member for six years, she served as treasurer in 1952, club reporter in 1953 and was president last year. In 1953 she received the home grounds improvement award and placed first in a demonstration contest at the state fair.

Joan is a member of the choir at the Evangelical and Reformed Church, was secretary-treasurer of the Young People's Society from 1952 to 1954 and served as treasurer of the Tri-State Youth Circuit in 1952 and this year.

Rural Districts Ask Consolidation With Wykoff Unit

WYKOFF, Minn.—An increase in state aids may be in store for the Wykoff High School as a result of a move for consolidation made this week by 11 common school districts of the area.

A plan for consolidation of 11 districts with Wykoff District 104 was submitted to the State Department of Education this week. If subsequent petitioning and voting are successful and the consolidation becomes a reality, the enlarged district will have a $766,328 assessed valuation.

Officials claim this will be sufficient to institute a building program here to add home economics and agriculture to the curriculum. Addition of these courses would change the school classification and entitle it to increased state aid, they said.

Overcrowding at the Wykoff school was brought to the attention of the rural districts last spring when the Wykoff Board of Education sent a letter to them stating the problem. Since then, meetings between the 11 rural boards and the Wykoff group have led to the formulation of the plan for consolidation.

Rural districts on the plan are 63, 75, 76, 77, 80, 93, 95, 96, 153, 170 and 172. All are now sending students to the Wykoff school. Only district 93 has a school operating for elementary students. In addition, pupils from 12 other rural districts not included on the plan are being served by the school.

E. S. Chambers, Wykoff, said the consolidated district would continue to serve them. There are 285 pupils enrolled here now.

St. Charles Plans 2nd Parents Day

ST. CHARLES, Minn. (Special)—Thursday has been set by Supt. W. B. McPherson as the second annual parent conference day at the St. Charles-consolidated school.

Classes will be dismissed at 11:30 a.m., with teachers slated to schedule conferences with parents throughout the afternoon.

Purpose of the affair, said McPherson, is not only to talk over problems but to give parents a better chance to get acquainted with the school program and to give teachers a better chance to get acquainted with the community.

Parents who plan on attending have been urged to call the school this week and make appointments with teachers they wish to see. All arrangements, added McPherson, must be made in advance of Thursday.

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS

Personal Property taxes become delinquent March 1st, when 8% penalty must be added according to law. When the amount of such tax exceeds $10.00, one-half may be paid prior to March 1st and the remaining one-half prior to July 1st.

The Court House will be closed Tuesday, February 22nd, in observance of Washington's Birthday.

Mail Service For Stars Now Big Business

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (U.S.)—Seven years ago, an actress named Claire Rochelle got tired of waiting around casting offices and hoping for jobs.

She looked for another line of work and decided she might be able to make a living answering fan mail for movie stars. Her favorite was Howard Duff, the Sam Spade of radio, and she approached him. He signed up as her first client.

Today Claire Rochelle runs an industry that replies to over a million and a half pieces of mail yearly for 250 stars and TV shows.

Miss Rochelle and her husband Leo Hirsch run the United Fan Club and Fan Mail Service from an office on the Sunset Strip. I visited them and found the place buzzing with activity. One secretary was laboring over a batch of George Gobel mail.

"He's our latest sensation," said Miss Rochelle. "When we started with him three months ago, he was getting 50 letters a week. Now the figure is 3,800 a month and it's rising all the time. Everybody writes to him—children, old people, farmers and city folks."

Another current favorite is Marilyn Brando.

The fan mail service receives an average of 120,000 letters monthly. Most are requests for photos, and these are dispatched to the writer. About 15 to 20 per cent require answers, and these are written by a staff of four secretaries. Fourteen others, mostly disabled persons, work on the outside addressing envelopes.

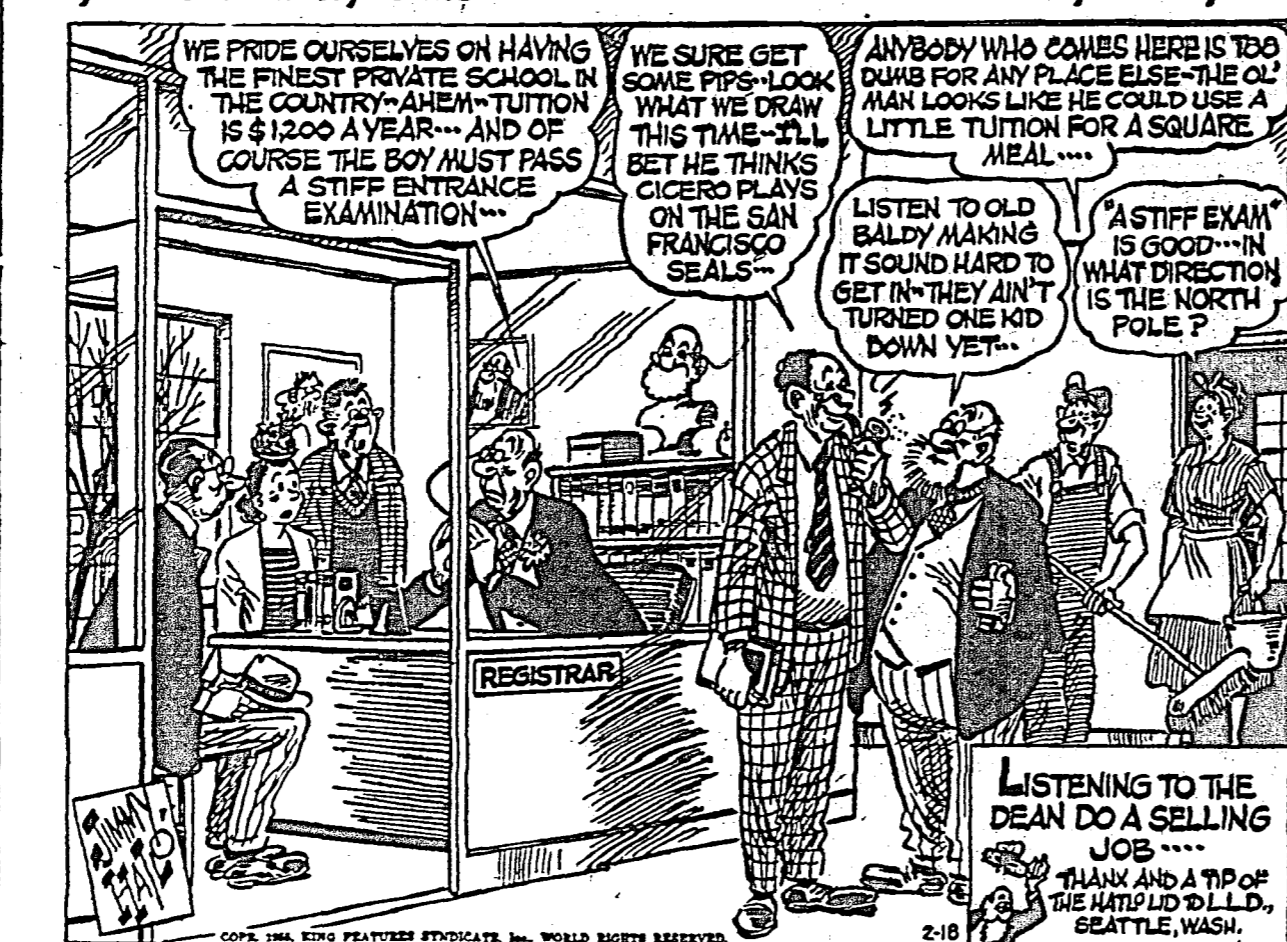

The cost to the star runs from 7 cents to 25 cents, depending on how large a photo they want to send. The average bill is around $300 to $500, but it can cost some of the better stars as much as $1,500 to keep the writing fans happy.

Rebellion Reported In Paraguay Capital
BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (U.S.)—Heavily armed civilians reportedly fought a pitched battle with troops on the outskirts of the Paraguayan capital of Asuncion Tuesday night in an apparent attempt to overthrow President Alfredo Stroessner's government.

There was no confirmation from Asuncion of the reports, brought by travelers arriving here yesterday from Paraguay.

The travelers said the civilians tried to take over the headquarters of the 1st Cavalry Regiment near the city. One source said according to rumors current in Asuncion that at least 10 persons were killed and 200 arrested.

Navy Secretary Predicts No War

NEW YORK (U.S.)—Secretary of the Navy Charles S. Thomas predicts no immediate war in Formosa Strait because—as he puts it—for the first time in the cold war the Reds "came face to face with the harsh realities of sea power."

Thomas, in a speech last night on the 160th anniversary of the Naval Supply Corps, said Formosa will remain a problem for the United States because it is a part of a "pattern" for Communist conquests.

Israel's Ben-Gurion Resumes Defense Post

JERUSALEM (U.S.)—Israel's first premier, David Ben-Gurion, agreed last night to end his desert retirement and become defense minister again.

Ben-Gurion has been living on an agricultural project in the Negev Desert since quitting his dual post of premier and defense minister 14 months ago. He takes the defense post from Pinchas Lavon, who resigned for undisclosed reasons last night from Premier Moshe Sharett's coalition Cabinet.

Since both Ben-Gurion and Lavon are members of the Mafai (Labor) party, the switch presumably will cause no change in government policy.

Anything in New York, But Try Buying a Cow

You can hire thousands of civil engineers and probably a few un-civil ones.

But—and here's where I think I got her—yo' can't get a Justice of the Peace here in Manhattan. You got to go to New Jersey, or upstate.

Segregation Issue May Be Added to School Aid Law

WASHINGTON (U.S.)—Sen. Ives (R-NY) indicated he may propose an anti-segregation amendment to federal school aid legislation, but told newsmen today he is still studying just how to word it.

Ives injected the segregation issue into the Senate Labor Committee's school aid hearings yesterday. Sen. Purtell (R-Conn) later asked the National Education Assn. to state in writing whether it would actively oppose a provision refusing federal school building aid to states which segregate white and colored school children.

The NEA, a professional organization of educators, is already on record against an aid ban based on the segregation issue. But William G. Carr, NEA executive secretary, said he would have to check with the organization on whether it would actively fight such an amendment.

Sen. Hill (D-Ala.), committee chairman, said in an interview the issue of segregation has no place in school aid legislation. In the past, he said, the Senate "has always voted down" efforts to insert anti-segregation amendments in the government's public housing program.

The question of federal aid to schools, however, would appear to be a somewhat different position because of last year's Supreme Court decision outlawing school segregation, although the court has not yet heard arguments on how to carry out its decision.

Committee Republicans were reported to be considering an amendment to the school bill to limit aid to those states which have school systems "in accordance with" the Supreme Court segregation ban. No precise language has been worked out.

What effect a provision of that kind might have on the school aid bill was uncertain, but unless Southern senators had assurance it would be defeated they might resort to unlimited debate in an effort to kill the whole program.

Meanwhile, some Republicans appeared concerned over the unanimous opposition to the President's own school aid program by all educational witnesses the committee has heard thus far.

Both Ives and Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) indicated they would support a larger program of direct grants than the 200-million-dollar, three-year plan proposed by the administration.

The administration program is based primarily on federal loan guarantees and other indirect aids. Educators who have testified thus far have contended it would not help appreciably to wipe out an existing shortage of more than 300,000 classrooms. They urged, instead, a straight program of federal matching grants such as the billion-dollar two-year program sponsored by Hill.

Cowboy Snowbound For 2 Months

RAWLINS, Wyo. (U.S.)—Mike Cronin, in his 70s, has been snowbound all alone since before Christmas on the Al Engberg ranch, where he's tending cattle.

They got worried about Mike the other day and just to be sure the old-time cowboy was getting along all right, Roy Rasmussen flew over the ranch south of here, and dropped reading material.

"From the hearty wave we got, I'd say Cronin is doing fine," the pilot reported.

Salary Boosted to Fill County Position

OAKLAND, Calif. (U.S.)—The Alameda County supervisors have voted a $13,200 annual raise for a job that is now vacant.

They expect that increasing the county administrator's salary from $3,000 to $16,200 will attract applicants.

A proposed ordinance would widen the administrator's duties to include general supervision over all county expenditures. Application deadline for the new job is March 21.

Edwin S. Howell quit the $3,000 position last month to become Richmond, Calif., city manager.

Delay on Rearming Vote Asked by Union

DUESSELDORF, Germany (U.S.)—The Socialist-dominated West German Trade Union Federation has demanded that Parliament delay voting on rearmament until new Big Four negotiations on reuniting Germany have been held.

It took six people on farms to support one person in a city 100 years ago in the United States, while today there are about six city people for every person on the farm.

Many Hiring Baby Sitters Must Pay Social Security

By FRANK O'BRIEN

WASHINGTON (U.S.)—Do you pay a baby sitter an average of $4 a week?

Do you have a cleaning woman who comes in once a week? or a gardener, handyman or other casual domestic help?

If you do, it is quite likely you are now an employer, with the same responsibility as a big corporation for paying social security taxes.

New provisions of the social security law that went into effect Jan. 1 lowered the qualifying limits for domestics to include them in the social security system if they get $50 cash wages from you in any calendar quarter of the year.

That means any one person to whom you pay about $4 a week or more throughout any one quarter will probably qualify—making you an official employer, with full responsibility for collecting, reporting and paying social security taxes on your behalf. If she—or he—gets $50 a quarter or more from you, is included, Age makes no difference. You are responsible for collecting, reporting and paying social security taxes even if the employee does not want to come into the system.

Test for Eligibility
(But it is up to the government to call on the employee—using the name and address you must supply—and give her a social security card and number.)

The only test now for whether your household employee is eligible for social security coverage is:

Does he or she receive $50 cash wages from you in any calendar quarter—January through March; April through June; July through September, October through December? The number of days worked in the quarter—previously it had to be 24 days—no longer matters.

The government estimates the new provisions made something like a quarter of a million maids, baby sitters, handymen and other domestic or casual employees of nonfarm families eligible.

What are your obligations as an employer?

If you have a domestic employee who qualifies, you are obligated to:

1. Deduct 2 per cent from his wages.
2. Add from your own pocket the same amount. (If you prefer, you may make no deduction and pay the total 4 per cent of the cash wages from your own pocket.)
3. Send this 4 per cent to your district director of internal revenue within a month after the close of the calendar quarter, along with the Employer's Quarterly Tax Return for Household Employees.
4. At the end of each calendar year, give your employee a written statement of how much wages you paid him during the year, and how much social security tax you sent in for him.

These are the same as the obligations of any firm in taking care of its employees' social security contributions. You are not required, as a business is, also to deduct income tax and send that to the government.

Here are some of the questions that seem to be the most common, and answers from social security and the revenue service:

What does all this get for my employee?

It allows your household help to join the majority of the nation's millions of breadwinners in paying a quarterly premium on monthly retirement benefits to be paid after the employee is 65, or make monthly payments to the worker's survivors.

Full Details Available
Your local social security office can supply full details on the complicated business of how much coverage is needed for what benefits.

Just what "household help" is included?

The revenue service lists maids, laundresses, cooks, housekeepers, gardeners, janitors, furnacemen, handymen, governesses, valets, butlers, chauffeurs and baby sitters. The rule is that they must be your own employees. This lets out carpenters, painters and like workers who are self-employed (doing work for you under contract, not as your employee) or who are the employees of some firm.

The taxes do not apply to your mother, father, wife, husband or son or daughter under 21.

What does "cash" wages mean?

This means money paid out by you. It includes checks and money orders. It does not include street-car tokens, but does include cash paid for carfare. It does not include the value of food, clothing, room or such other noncash payments.

What about a maid, or other household employee, who does not have a social security number?

Must Have Number
The employee should be sent to your local social security office, or should write to the office (you can do this for the employee) for Form SS-5 (Application for Social Security Number.) Or this can be obtained from your district director of internal revenue.

How do I—newly an employer for social security tax purposes—get started?

Telephone, write or visit your local revenue office or social security office and ask for the Employer's Quarterly Tax Return for Household Employees. Once you get this, you will go on the mailing list of your district director of internal revenue, and he will send the form to you each quarter, in time for filing.

Say I have a maid, or handyman, who also works in other homes? Should each household be reporting separately for this employee?

Yes, each reports separately, and each pays social security taxes—or does not pay them—under the $50 a quarter rule.

You may get from any Internal Revenue Service office a booklet called "Household Employer's Social Security Tax Guide." This goes fully into your obligations under the new law, tells you how to fulfill them, and provides helpful tax tables, plus forms for keeping records and for making the required annual report to your employer.

Memphis Would Get Own Power, Shun Dixon-Yates

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (U.S.)—The city of Memphis will meet future power needs by building its own generating plant, if necessary, rather than buying power from the Dixon-Yates group, Mayor Frank Tobey says.

If construction of the proposed Dixon-Yates plant is started at nearby West Memphis, Ark., "the city of Memphis will take immediate steps to build its own plant here," Tobey told newsmen yesterday. The city now buys its power from the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Under a contract with the Atomic Energy Commission, the Dixon-Yates private power group would supply the Memphis area with about 600,000 kilowatts, replacing a like amount of TVA power distributed to the atomic plant at Paducah, Ky. The plant has the approval of President Eisenhower but is bitterly opposed by many TVA supporters.

Tobey said the city's proposed plant would cost approximately 100 million dollars. He said he has conferred with financiers about bonds and expects no financing difficulties.

Farm Crisis Past, Benson Tells Congress

WASHINGTON (U-P)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson told Congress Thursday that the biggest shock of farm adjustment from abnormal wartime demands appears to have been passed and producers generally are now in a period of "comparative stability."

In a statement prepared for a farm outlook hearing of the House Agriculture Committee, the GOP farm chief appealed to Congress to refrain from "rocking the boat" with regard to present federal farm programs. He made the same plea in a Senate committee hearing several weeks ago.

Benson said indications of improvement in the agricultural economy are to be found in (1) stabilizing farm prices and farm income; (2) an advancing level of per capita farm income; (3) a slight increase last year in agricultural assets; (4) continuing high domestic demand for food; (5) increasing foreign trade in farm products; and (6) an expanded movement of government-held price-depressing surpluses into use, particularly abroad.

Benson had been asked by the committee to make particular recommendations today with regard to possible changes in the dairy support program. The secretary said he believes the present program should be continued.

Conceding that the dairy surplus and price situation looked "dark indeed" a year ago, Benson said the industry today shows "new signs of health and vigor."

The present program offers lower price supports than were in effect a year ago—75 per cent of parity as against 90 per cent. Some dairy state lawmakers have been urging an increase in the support level.

15 Left Homeless In Hibbing Fire

HIBBING, Minn. (U-P)—Fire which destroyed an apartment fashioned from a barn near here left 15 persons homeless Wednesday night. No one was hurt, however.

Hibbing Fire Chief Hugh Riley said the fire apparently started in a defective chimney. He estimated damages to the building and its contents at $8,000.

Without homes are four adults and 11 children—the families of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Chandler and Mr. and Mrs. George Sparby. Chandler is presently in a Minneapolis hospital for an operation. The building, two miles from Hibbing, was burned to the ground.

By GRETCHEN L. LAMBERTON

LAST Sunday I had a visit with Max Conrad who was in town for a day between his flight to Paris and a flight to Zurich next week. You remember he flew a little Piper Apache plane non-stop from New York to Paris in November and delivered it to a Paris friend. Then flew another one over to the same friend several weeks ago. You will remember, too, that Lindbergh was the only man to fly in 1950 to successfully fly the Atlantic in a small plane. Both of these latest flights of Max's, undertaken in midwinter and in very small planes, were extremely hazardous, and he had some hair-raising adventures which I'll tell about next Monday.

But today I want to tell WHY he undertakes these perilous flights. I said, "Max, why do you at the age of 50 and with a family take such terrible risks and go whipping off casually in the dead of winter in a tiny little plane? Why do you take such risks?"

The wrinkles around his sky-colored eyes deepened as he laughed. "Why, it's a lot safer than trying to drive to Chicago on these crowded highways. That REALLY scares me."

Then he said seriously, "Why do I do it? I want to make some money to keep this Winona Experiment going. You see—there's no way right here in Winona that I can make money. There's nothing for a long-distance flier, test pilot or whatever you want to call me, in Winona. I have to make money in the only way I know how—ferrying planes or expediting with planes. So, that's what I'm doing. I've been without regular income this past year when I've been trying to set up this Winona Experiment. Oh, I ferried a couple of planes to South America. And I did take my plane to all the neighboring towns and give people rides—my Winona Experiment kids sold tickets at a dollar a ride, and all that money went into the Experiment." He went on, "These two winter trans-Atlantic flights made me some money. Some of it's for family, but—" His eyes kindled to blue sparks. "The rest of it I've put into the Winona Experiment. I've hired the best mechanic I can find to help the kids build the plane during the time I have to be away ferrying planes to earn money. Then during the times I get home I'll meet with the kids, like I met with them last night as soon as I got home."

Max is a dedicated man, a man with a vision. Kids used to love aviation and have a real share in it. But these last few years aviation has become exclusively the property of the military and of corporate heads. There are no more inexpensive little planes, but only enormously costly jobs that only the military and big business tycoons can afford. Max wants to get kids and aviation together again. That's the main purpose of this Winona Experiment in which he is teaching kids to build planes and to fly them.

From Washington someone sent me the last issue of the official publication of the U.S. Air Weather Service in which they wrote incredulously about the modest man who had walked into the office and so diffidently had asked for the weather report between New York and Paris, and then had calmly flown the perilous journey in midwinter in his small plane—and had come back to tell the tale. "After meeting Max Conrad I did a little checking on the Winona Experiment and several other facets of this man's story. They were all true. Here was a man so imbued with the love of flying that he has dedicated his life to fanning the spark of flying enthusiasm that is rapidly dying out in a nation that has made more contributions toward the progress of aviation than any other country in the world. It warmed the cockles to meet an American, in this era of over-active adrenalin and the fast buck, who would give up a good job to turn missionary and try to bring back the thrill and love of flying to the new generation. I was impressed with Mr. Max Conrad—this twentieth-century Don Quixote."

Well, that's Max Conrad of our town. I sometimes wonder if we in Winona understand and appreciate this lone eagle. During the next two months Max is going to fly six more planes across the Atlantic—two Piper Apaches to Switzerland, one to Madrid, a Beach to Paris, a ten-passenger Super-Beach and a million-dollar Convair to Zurich. "That'll bring in more money for the Winona Experiment," he said matter-of-factly.

After these six are delivered Max has been asked to ferry more planes to South Africa and other places, and he's considering it. "When I ferry planes across an ocean I go to the factory and tinker with them—install big tanks and instruments I think are necessary and so on to make them fit for an ocean crossing. If I go into this plane ferrying in a big way I'd like to fix up a shop right here in Winona, fly the planes here from the factory and rig them up for trans-ocean flights. That way I could spend more time with the kids in the Experiment too. And it'd give me more time to work out my plan, perhaps with the Recreation Department authorities, to form a non-profit corporation to handle the Winona Experiment. But first I'm going to make some more money to put into it. When I get home from Zurich we'll see."

On Monday this column will tell a little about these last two perilous flights of Max's.

Rubirosa Seeks Divorce From Barbara Hutton

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (U-P)—The Dominican Republic's cafe society diplomat, Porfirio Rubirosa, has begun divorce proceedings against Woolworth heiress Barbara Hutton on incompatibility grounds.

Rubirosa's attorney, Eneas Savinon, published notice of the action in the local press Wednesday.

Miss Hutton was last reported staying in Honolulu.

Miss Hutton and Rubirosa were married in New York, Dec. 30, 1953, but separated three months later. It was his fourth marriage and her fifth.

National Concerns Eyeing Sites in Twin Cities Area

ST. PAUL (U-P)—Gov. Freeman was informed Thursday that a number of national concerns are looking over a large area of land acquired in Rosemount and Inver Grove townships with a view to development of a huge industrial district.

B. R. Harris of Kansas City, vice president of the Chicago Great Western Railway Co., told Freeman at a conference with the business leaders that the railway has acquired about 4,000 acres of land in the Pine Bend area, about 14 miles from downtown St. Paul and six miles from Soya.

The railway has sold 950 acres to accommodate construction in Rosemount Township of a 25-million-dollar refinery by the Great Northern Oil Co. and has given the St. Paul Ammonia Products Inc., an option for 250 acres in Inver Grove Township for a new 15-million-dollar plant.

Gov. Freeman hailed establishment of the Pine Bend industrial district as a development of "even greater significance than is indicated by the millions of dollars of new development it involves."

"It represents a new enthusiasm for economic development in Minnesota and especially in the Twin Cities area," Freeman said, "and demonstrates the value of cooperative effort to build Minnesota's future."

"Business and government are cooperating to call attention to the numerous natural advantages Minnesota presents to new enterprise. Commercial, financial and industrial leaders are demonstrating, in their participation in this development, their faith in the future of our state and our people."

La Crosse's Oldest Resident to Be 104

LA CROSSE, Wis. (U-P)—La Crosse's oldest resident, Mrs. Theresa Brieske, reaches her 104th birthday Saturday.

No celebration is planned. Mrs. Brieske has spent most of her time in bed of late.

Tuesday she received a card from President and Mrs. Eisenhower.

Mrs. Brieske, who lives with two of her six children who still are alive, resided at Norwalk, Wis., for 54 years. Her husband died in 1930.

Check Forger Who 'Worked' 14 States Caught at Eau Claire

EAU CLAIRE, Wis. (U-P)—A California man who says he can remember passing at least 190 forged checks in 14 states was arrested here Wednesday night when a grocer became suspicious.

Police said the man identified himself as James K. Hazel, 27, of San Mateo, Calif. He was charged with forging a $35 check Wednesday night at a grocery here.

Clement Graf, co-owner of the store, said he became suspicious when the man asked if he could leave his groceries at the store while he picked up his auto at a filling station.

Officers Donald Brumm and Victor Larson picked up Hazel as he walked along a road. They said he signed a statement saying he had passed at least 190 forged checks in 14 states. They quoted him as saying he passed one or two of the checks at La Crosse and two at Madison.

Highway Department Again Breaks Its Promise

Winonans, and for that matter most residents of Southeastern Minnesota, are disappointed over another broken promise by the Minnesota Highway Department.

The latest dream bubble that the department burst was the announcement that work on a four-lane highway between Winona and La Crosse, scheduled to get under way in 1955, has been stopped. Because of "additional delays," we were told, only the Minnesota City-Mankato avenue sector will be put under construction this year.

This same rigmarole of broken promises has been regular procedure in the department's handling of Highway 61 in this area for the last half dozen years.

First came the word that the La Crescent-Dresbach sector was to be constructed in 1949. Some tracts of right-of-way were acquired and condemnation cases were heard in District Court here pertaining to land in Dakota.

Next it was announced the route was to become part of the Mississippi River Parkway and constructed with additional federal aid.

Then it was announced because of the difficulty of securing a detour, the whole project—a ten-million-dollar deal—was to be let at one time. This produced big headlines.

A year ago, at a meeting of the Highway 61 Association, a gigantic map was displayed, showing the route of the proposed four-lane highway. Every detail was drawn onto this map. Happiness prevailed. It was all going to be done as one project.

Later detailed aerial photo maps of the routing through each of the villages between Winona and La Crescent were supplied to this newspaper and published as a series of pictures.

Then came the first hint of a reduction in the program—only the Minnesota City-La Crosse sector was to be built in 1955. This was later cut to Minnesota City-Homer and now comes the word that Highway 61 construction in 1955—late in the year—will be from Minnesota City to Mankato avenue only—and that all work on plans beyond Mankato avenue has been stopped.

Little wonder the highway committees along the river are screaming and pulling their hair.

All of this probably would be funny, if it was not so tragic.

Highway 81 still remains one of the most hazardous highways in the state. The accident toll per mile is extremely high. Many motorists are afraid to travel its narrow ancient ribbon of rough concrete.

Highway 61 is one of the important gateways to marvelous Minnesota's Land of Ten Thousand Lakes. It carries an immense tourist traffic along the scenic Upper Mississippi.

Highway 81 is also the route of Highway 14 between La Crosse and Winona—the principal highway to Rochester and the Mayo Clinic.

On top of all this, the Minnesota Highway Department has not undertaken a major construction project in the Winona area since the interstate bridge was built here before and during World War II.

People can have restraint, can cooperate with their state departments, can turn the other cheek—but they want this vital Highway 61 project badly and hope this will be the final delay.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

There's been a new rash of stories lately about tight-lipped Englishmen. One, for instance, concerns two crooked, but very formal, Londoners who had shared the same prison cell for over six years. One's reserve finally broke down and he assured the other, "No need to call me 'Number 835628' from now on. Henceforth, to you, old boy, I'm plain 855!"

The other has it that two proper Oxonians were adrift for two days in the empty sea when their ship went down. One finally broke the silence by venturing, "I know we've never been formally introduced, my dear chap, but could you give me some idea of the nearest way to Southampton?"

Charlie Poore, star book critic for the New York times, quotes an earnest little girl who assured her teacher, "Of course I know how to spell banana. It's just that I never know when to stop."

A Wall street broker, slave to his work, saw his wife off to the country and stayed away from other women for almost three hours. Then, naturally, he couldn't stand it any longer and called up his very private secretary. "Put on your glad rags," he ordered, "and meet me at the Stork in forty minutes." When he donned the trousers of his own glad rags, he found in the right pocket a note in Friend Wife's handwriting. "Caught you!" it read. "Is this trip necessary?"

Government Suffers From Spoils System

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

NEW YORK — The personnel of our government consists of 2,345,000 employees of all kinds from day laborers to policy-making officials whose decisions determine the fate of the nation. Probably the first scientific study that has ever been made of the whole subject has just come to light in the report of Herbert Hoover's commission on organization of the executive branch of the government. The annual payroll of all government civil employees is approximately $9,000,000,000.

The United States government has suffered from the spoils system in two senses, namely, that the political party in office regarded the employment of civil servants as a method of strengthening their party; the other fault is that some administrations have blanketed unproved employees, taken on for political reasons, into the civil service.

THE PROBLEM THAT FACES the government is not only to establish an efficient civil service, but to preserve the policy-making function of officials as a political responsibility of those chosen by the government and to achieve efficiency by giving government employment, even for short periods or special tasks, to the most competent men and women in the country without the constant impediment of stiffening seniority rules. In war-time, for instance, the government recruits the most able men in the nation for special tasks.

From 1933 to 1952, Congress has passed a number of laws granting politically-appointed persons civil service status non-compulsively, that is without examination. The number so protected only amounts to about 220,000 persons, although the figures are kept so badly that it is believed that this is a low calculation.

The problem facing the Hoover commission was to define the difference between policy-making and non-policy-making officials. There is a difference, for instance, between a stenographer and an official whose judgment may lead to economic disaster or even to war. The government is particularly weak in managerial personnel. The report says:

"It is not well understood how much manpower is actually needed to do this job effectively. The existing number of non-career executives is spread too thin in terms of the tasks which they should perform."

"Our task force has noted the high and increasing rate of turnover of top non-career executives, especially in the assistant and under-secretarial positions."

THE ADMINISTRATIVE functions of the government have grown so enormously that it is no longer possible to entrust managerial responsibility to the "chief clerk" type of mind. In March 1953, . . . an attempt was made to improve the delineation by the establishment of a definite class of political employees beneath the level of assistant secretary and exempt from the competitive civil service rules. At the time, political and confidential employees were removed from schedule 'A' and placed in a new schedule 'C'. The commission concludes that while the concept of separating political and confidential jobs from other exempted jobs is basically sound, schedule 'C' has not yet achieved its desired objective. . .

The Hoover commission has therefore recommended that in the non-career category be placed: "All positions having vested in them statutory authority or executive delegations of authority requiring the incumbents to make final decisions in the establishment of governing policies, programs, objectives and in the enunciation of principles which will control the action of subordinates in the implementation of the foregoing;

"ALL POSITIONS, the duties of which require the incumbents to act publicly in advocating new policies and in justifying or defending the governing policies of the basic principles or philosophy which controls their department or agency policies. Such duties would include direct participation with, or representation of, non-career executives in public debate, evaluative discussions, and justifications of departmental policies, programs or activities."

In a word, the civil service is taken out of politics and political debate. The managerial group selected by the president to function directly under his authority and working to carry out his policies, for which he is responsible to the people, will operate in the political sphere.

Cong. Chet Holifield of California objects to this proposal on the ground that:

" . . . if recent experience is an indication, the addition of another schedule would invite more juggling and wider opportunity to dilute the career service with political appointees."

His concept is fallacious because it is the president who is responsible under the Constitution.

Red Air Power in Formosa Area Far Superior to U.S.

By BREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—One unpublicized factor which makes the Chinese Reds so bold and brash around Formosa is their heavy air superiority over the United States.

It's no secret that the United States has around 2,500 combat planes in Japan, Okinawa, Korea and Formosa. In contrast, the Chinese and Russians together have around 8,500 planes in the same area, including those in Siberia.

Furthermore, the Reds could bring in strong reinforcements in about 24 hours, while it would take us two to three days to ferry planes across the Pacific. Finally, Russian fighter planes are generally more modern than ours, though we are ahead in strategic bombers.

Russia has been claiming that she has 20,000 combat planes. This figure is probably about right. Furthermore, Russia began building jets about two years before we did, and her fighter fleet is reported completely modernized. Our total combat air strength is estimated at around 12,000 planes.

All this is why Alexander de Seversky, the famed aviator who did so much to prod American aviation into action during and just before the war, is now prodding the various senators regarding the appalling deficiencies of the U. S. Air Force.

Simultaneously, Air Force commanders have been meeting in Colorado Springs to try to remedy these deficiencies.

Holocaust on Formosa

The only thing that is going to stop Russia from attacking us, De Seversky has advised senators, is a strong air defense. "Yet," he warns, "our own effort has been woefully meager. More alarming still, the provision for our continental air defense made in the new budget is utterly inadequate."

De Seversky also warned senators that, while the Red Chinese might not be able to capture Formosa, nevertheless their superior air power could pound it to pieces. To stop such a bombardment, the United States would be forced to retaliate bombing of the Chinese mainland, which might well lead to a general war.

"The Red Chinese air force," De Seversky has told senators, "could, by going over the Seventh Fleet and partially evading the fleet's air cover, utterly destroy the physical and human assets of the nationalistic stronghold of the menace to Formosa is not the Chinese army, but the Chinese air force."

"The island, therefore, can be defended only by preventive action extending beyond its locale, as implicit in the President's statement: 'We must be alert to any concentration or employment of Chinese Communist forces obviously undertaken to facilitate attack upon Formosa, and be prepared to take appropriate military action.'"

"This means," concludes De Seversky, "that the President has the power to attack any and all Chinese air force installations on the Chinese mainland at any time that, in his opinion, a concentration of that enemy air force anywhere in China appears to constitute a threat to Formosa. Such a preventive attack in defense of Formosa—or a retaliatory 'post mortem' bombardment of China—should Formosa be destroyed by the Reds despite our warnings—would most likely explode into full-scale atomic war between the United States and the U.S.S.R."

Mr. Hammer Makes World News Today

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Names make news, and right now Mr. Hammer is making world news.

So are George Little, Nick Betlo, George Bug, and Nicholas Scandalmaker.

They've been plotting and feuding ever since old Mr. Steel died a death that made big headlines in every front page in America.

Never heard of them? Of course you have. But not spelled that way. They are the English translations of the names of some top Soviet leaders—Molotov, Malenkov, Khrushchev, Zhukov, Bulganin and the late Joe Stalin.

Take a Peek

Let's take a peek behind the Iron Curtain and see how the Russians get the names that sound so odd to us, and, indeed, often do have an order origin than our own names. Our information comes from Tom Whitney, who had ample opportunity to study Russian nomenclature during a 7-year assignment as an Associated Press correspondent in Moscow.

Most Russian names, like many well known American names, have a meaning, but the meaning is often less obscure.

Many Russian first names have a Christian origin, such as Mikhail (Michael), Npytor (Peter) or Nikita, a variation of Nicholas.

Some names come from professions. Thus Mr. Miller, the Russian is Mr. Melnikov, Mr. Smith is Mr. Kuznetsov.

A number of names come from places or nationalities. Mr. Moskovsky is Mr. Moscow, Mr. Khokhlov is derived from "Khokhol," a slightly contemptuous nickname for a Ukrainian.

Names Descriptive

Many of the most interesting Russian names, however, are descriptive. Examples: Mr. Bezgubov ("Mr. Lipless") and Mr. Goloplenko ("Mr. Naked-Navel").

Some of the Russian revolutionary leaders adopted pseudonyms to hide their identity. This explains how Joe Stalin became "Mr. Steel," and Vyacheslav Molotov, minister of foreign affairs, became "Mr. Hammer."

Here are English equivalents for the names of some of the present Soviet hierarchy:

Nikita Khrushchev, Communist party boss—Nicholas Beetle.

Nikolai Bulganin, the new premier—Nicholas Scandalmaker.

Georgi Malenkov, George Little.

Defense Minister Georgi Zhukov—George Bug, or Beetle.

Marshal Klement Voroshilov—Clem, the stirrer or tosser.

Japan to Demand Return of Islands Taken by Russians

GIJU, Japan (AP)—Prime Minister Ichiro Hatoyama said today Japan will "certainly demand" return of the Habomai and Shikotan islands by the Soviet Union.

"Japan will not relinquish its rights on the territorial problem," Hatoyama declared in an election campaign press conference.

The Habomai and Shikotan islands lie just south of the Russian-occupied Kurile Islands. In the north Pacific, the Kuriles, Japanese home territory, were taken by the Russians after World War II.

Hatoyama speculated the Russians would probably insist on retention of the Kuriles and Sakhalin.

THE WORLD TODAY

Uncertainty Over Quemoy Disturbing

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The very vagueness of the Eisenhower administration's intentions on defending the Quemoy and Matsu islands from Red Chinese attack could lead to serious trouble.

The administration has explicitly stated it will defend Formosa, where Chiang Kai-shek's main forces are, and the Pescadores Islands. It has been consistently vague about defending Chiang's other islands, including the Quemoy and Matsu groups.

If the Reds guess wrong—if they attack and find it has been the administration's determined but so far unexpressed policy to defend those islands—then the United States will be in at least a limited war with China.

The administration apparently has decided to take that risk for reasons of its own. One of those reasons, perhaps, is the hope that as long as the Communists are forced to guess they will be cautious and not take chances.

They have already taken chances. They attacked and captured one of Chiang's smallest islands, Yikiangshan. Then they pegged shots at the Tachen Islands. They were allowed to take them too when Chiang's forces pulled out.

In both cases the administration said the islands weren't important to the defense of Formosa and the Pescadores. Perhaps the administration will do the same and say the same if Quemoy and Matsu are attacked.

But Secretary of State Dulles in a speech this week indicated—although he didn't say flatly—that Quemoy and Matsu would not be surrendered to serve as stepping stones for a Red attack on Formosa.

In his speech he did not close the door to the possibility the Reds might be given Matsu and Quemoy if they agreed through a cease-fire not to attack Formosa. But he didn't exactly say that either.

If the administration had told the Chinese Communists they would have to fight the United States to get the offshore islands, the Reds might then have felt they had to fight or lose face. That may have been one reason for not being too explicit. At the same time, if they had been flaily warned, they might have backed off.

But the United States also has a face-saving problem in the Orient. The influence of the Chinese Communists among Asians undoubtedly increases with every inch of real estate they grab from under America's nose by talking tough.

In his speech, Dulles said, "A great danger in Asia is the fear of the many non-Communist peoples that the United States has no real intention of standing firmly behind them. Already that fear has mounted to the danger point."

On Feb. 2 President Eisenhower told a news conference his immediate aim is to make certain the Reds understand that the United States is absolutely determined to defend Formosa. By this time they must have no doubt of that.

What they can have doubt about—because they have never been told otherwise—is American intentions about the other islands.

The United States had 26,750,000 births during the past 10 years.

Gavel Corner

Beginning her second year as president of the Woman's Union of the First Congregational Church is Mrs. Howard L. Packard. A former Winona, Mrs. Packard returned here in 1947. Since that time, she has served the Woman's Union of her church as recording secretary, finance chairman, circle chairman and first vice president.

As a member of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, she also has held offices in that organization.

Mrs. Packard is a member of the Wagon Chapter, DAR. Previous to serving as regent, she held the offices of treasurer and vice regent. At present she is state chairman of the Americanism committee of the DAR.

Her husband and she reside at Fair Acres on Homer Road.

Mrs. Helen Foreman, 270 Center St., heads Court Winona 191, CDA, as grand regent. Before becoming grand regent, she served the court as historian for two years. Mrs. Foreman also has been active in the work of the Winona Council of Catholic Women, and is a member of the Cathedral of the Sacred Heart. She is a member of the Winona Auxiliary 2, USWV, and served as pianist for the auxiliary for a number of years.

Mrs. Foreman, who is employed in the drapery department at the Bailey & Bailey Drygoods Store, has two sons and three daughters and seven grandchildren, probably eight by the time this article appears.

Three of her children live in Winona, a son, Robert, at home with his mother. Another son, John, and his family also live in Winona as do a daughter, Mrs. Jack (Kay) Critchfield, and her family. Her other daughters are Mrs. Thomas (Rosa Lee) Hausler, St. Paul, and Mrs. Richard (Eunice) Baker, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

President of the Winona Teresian Alumnae Association Chapter is Mrs. A. Del Schneider who lived in Waseca, Minn., before coming to Winona in 1945. Mrs. Schneider served as program chairman and as vice president of the Teresian chapter prior to becoming the chapter president.

She is a member of the Cathedral of the Sacred Heart, of the St. Joan of Arc Guild of the Cathedral and of the Cathedral PTA. Music is one of her interests, and each year she assists in the Winona Community Concert Association membership campaign as a worker.

About a year ago, a new leisure Mrs. Schneider began time activity developed to occupy a part of her day. Mrs. Schneider started a business of her own, professional reweaving, operating under the name of the Winona Reweaving Service.

Her husband, who operates a dry cleaning and laundry delivery service in Winona, and she reside at 471 E. 5th St. They have four children, Lawrence, nine; Ronald, seven; Patricia, five; and Jeanne, two months.

Pupils Entertain Stockton PTA

STOCKTON, Minn. (Special)—The Stockton PTA met in the school Tuesday evening with Mrs. James Slade, Mrs. Hilary Jowick, and Mrs. John Van Winkle in charge of the social hour. Alois Wessel, president, presided.

Ways of raising money to help defray expenses of Boy Scouts at camp this summer were discussed. A motion was carried to have a card party and pie sale early in the spring. Mrs. William Jacobs, Mrs. Alois Wessel and Mrs. John Van Winkle were appointed on the committee to work out the details.

Entertainment for the evening was in charge of the children of the school. A cantata based on the childhood of Hiawatha, was sung by 17 upper grades pupils, solos being sung by Karen Kratz, Elizabeth and Bonita Roth. Pantomime characters were portrayed by William Hinton, Hiawatha, Kathleen Board, Nakomis, and Donald Todd, Iagro. An interpreted solo was sung by Kathryn Van Winkle.

Children of the lower grades entertained with a rhythm band selection directed by Connie Johnson. The next meeting will be March 15 with Mrs. Mary Brown and Mrs. Jack Lewis on the committee.

Weekly Card Parties Planned by Rebekahs

At the meeting of Wenonah Rebekah Lodge Wednesday at the Odd Fellows Temple with the noble grand, Mrs. Elmer Porter, presiding, the charter was draped for a period of 30 days in memory of Mrs. Amelia Sonnenberg by Mrs. Laura Phillips, Mrs. J. E. Haefner, Mrs. W. O. Miller and Mrs. Milton Reed.

Mrs. A. F. Dowers was installed as musician by Mrs. B. R. Wanders in the absence of the district deputy president, Mrs. Paul Giesler Sr.

Weekly card parties will be held each Tuesday at 2 p.m. for the next three months. A cash prize will be given at each table and an attendance prize given. No lunch will be served. Mrs. W. O. Miller is in charge for February. The parties are open to friends.

Following the meeting, a valentine party was held with an exchange of valentines and handkerchiefs. Mrs. Minnie Schellhaus, Mrs. Dowers and Mrs. George Nissen were in charge.

Legion Auxiliary Collects $287 For Polio Fund

EYOTA, Minn. (Special)—The American Legion Auxiliary at its meeting Monday evening in the Eyota Legion Hall heard the report of Mrs. Duane Bierbaum, president, on the auxiliary members' solicitation for the March of Dimes which realized $287.94 in Eyota.

It was decided to buy a book for the school library. Mrs. Halie Brobst volunteered to distribute containers for the Crusade for Freedom. The auxiliary voted to donate $5 to the crusade.

Sending a girl to Girls State was discussed but no decision was reached. A layette made by the auxiliary will be sent in the near future to the family of an Eyota serviceman who is ill in the hospital. A special Americanism program was given by Mrs. L. Vrieze. Lunch was served.

World Friendship Tea Planned by Galesville Scouts

GALESVILLE, Wis. (Special)—Miss Ruth Mogg, executive director of Girl Scouts of the St. Croix area, will be a special guest here when all Galesville troops join in presenting their third annual world friendship tea in the parlors of St. Mary's Catholic Church Saturday at 2 p.m.

An international air will be evident in pictures shown by the Rev. Charles Brady, taken by him last summer when he visited his native Ireland and also in the presence of two English girls who recently came to Galesville as brides of Galesville men, the Messdams Russell Lund and Harold Williamson, who will pour at the tea.

Announced for the program are vocal and instrumental music numbers, dances, and a talk by Miss Mogg. Foreign-type cookies will be served and sold for the benefit of the Galesville troops who invite the public to attend.

Convention Plans Announced for Canton Auxiliary

Plans for the conferring of the Decoration of Chivalry at Brainerd, Minn., in June were announced in a letter from W. W. Wiltse, department commander of Minnesota, read at the meeting of the Auxiliary to Canton Loyalty 5, Patriots Militant, IOOF, in the Odd Fellows Temple Thursday evening. Mr. Wiltse succeeded J. A. Millar, Owatonna, formerly of Winona as department commander.

Mrs. John T. Wanek, junior past president, presided at the meeting in the absence of Mrs. Paul Riesel Sr., president, and Mrs. Paul Baer, vice president.

A letter from Mr. Millar thanking the members for their cooperation during his term of office, 1932-34, was read. Another communication announced the international convention of Patriots Militant and Auxiliaries in Chicago in October. A request that each auxiliary donate an apron and a potholder was made.

Announcement was made that more than $2,200 was sent to the National Cancer Society by the past international president, Ruth L. Gage, Bloomington, Vt., chairman of the project. A certificate of appreciation has been received for local work. Thank you notes were read for gifts and cards sent to sick and shut-in members.

A short program and refreshments in keeping with February holidays was carried out with Mrs. Olga Zimdars as hostess. Mrs. Laura Darling read Lincoln's Gettysburg Address and Mrs. John Hamernik gave a short biography of George Washington, and ended with a quotation attributed to him, "I hope I shall always possess firmness and virtue enough to maintain what I consider the most enviable of all titles, that of an 'Honest Man.'"

Mrs. J. E. Haefner spoke on the origin of Valentine's Day and presented one to each member. Mrs. Wanek gave a humorous poem, "A Boy's Opinion of Grandmothers." "I'd Love to Live in Loveland."

Was sung with Mrs. Zimdars as accompanist to conclude the program.

Cherry pie with ice cream and coffee was served by the hostess. A huge red valentine surrounded by smaller ones and cupids centered the dining table and on both ends, miniature cherry tree stumps with an ax and artificial cherries lying at their bases together with small American flags in gold standards, were used as decorations.

Mrs. Wanek will plan arrangements for next month.

Red Cross Picks New Heads for Trempealeau Co.

BLAIR, Wis. (Special)—Dr. O. M. Schneider and Leland Chenoweth, both of Blair, assumed their duties as Trempealeau County Red Cross chairman and secretary, when members of the executive board met Wednesday evening at Dr. Schneider's office here. J. Malcolm Huett, Eau Claire, field representative for Western Wisconsin, presided.

The meeting was called to plan the 1935 Red Cross fund campaign. Donald Stevenson, Arcadia, is chairman, with Mrs. E. W. Halverson, Strum, serving as co-chairman in the northern part of the county. A goal of $6,232-$1,000 higher than a year ago, has been set for 1935. The campaign will get under way March 6. The chapter must have funds, Huett pointed out, to continue the blood program. Nearly 500 pints of blood have been given to Trempealeau County patients in hospitals at Eau Claire, La Crosse, Madison, Arcadia, and Whitehall, besides a quantity of the blood derivatives, gamma globulin and serum albumin.

Treasurer Everett Guse reported that the blood program cost the chapter $1,582.83 in 1934. It is anticipated that the blood program will cost the chapter even more during the coming year. He said $1,897.55 was used for disaster relief in the county during 1934.

Nearly 50 per cent of the funds collected will stay in Trempealeau County, Huett said, explaining that the remainder will be sent to the national Red Cross to be used for disaster relief and for services to members of the armed forces and their dependents.

Fund campaign chairmen announced by Stevenson include: Dodge, Mrs. Walter Kratch; Burnside, Bud Kowsek; Preston, Omar Austad; Ettrick village and township, Mrs. C. A. Bryce; city of Independence, Mrs. Roy Lyga. Chairmen announced by Mrs. Halverson are: Pigeon Falls, Mrs. Ray Hagen; Osseo, Mrs. Orrin Indrebo; Strum, Mrs. Palmer Eide; Eleva, Mrs. Mel Skogstad; Town of Hale, Henry Wraastad; Town of Summer, Mrs. Ray Rippenburg; Town of Unity, Hensel Jacobson; Town of Albion, Mrs. Robert Boekhouse, and Town of Chimney Rock, Hiram Carlson. Other chairmen will be announced later.

In the chapter, Dr. E. P. Rohde, Galesville, is first vice chairman; Everett Guse, Whitehall, home service officer and chapter treasurer; Mrs. L. W. Halverson, Strum, second vice chairman, and Mrs. C. A. Bryce, Ettrick, public relations chairman.

New officers of the Red Cross chapter here are: Mrs. Herbert Kowitz, chairman; Mrs. Claire Forslund, treasurer, and Mrs. Robert Blair, secretary.

Mrs. Howard Kezar and Jack Weischappel are chairmen of the annual Red Cross fund raising drive this spring.

Wykoff, Minn. (Special)—Mrs. Reuben Emerson, Wykoff, has been named Fillmore County Easter Seal Campaign chairman.

The appointment was announced this week by Miss Edith McLaughlin, state president of the Easter Seal society and principal of the Lindsay School for Crippled Children, St. Paul.

The annual fund appeal for crippled children and adults begins March 10 and continues through April 10, Easter Sunday.

TOWN OF BROCKWAY

BLACK RIVER FALLS, Wis. (Special)—The Town of Brockway will hold a special meeting Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the town hall to discuss who shall be assessor. In 1934 the township was completely reassessed by professional assessors under the direction of Alvin Accola, Alma.

Kay Vollmer Named Alma DAR Winner

ALMA, Wis. (Special)—Miss Kay Vollmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Vollmer, has been selected by the senior class and faculty of the Alma High School as the DAR representative.

Kay has been a member of the band four years, chorus two years, home economics club three years, library club two years, journalism club two years and a drama club four years. She had a leading part in the senior class play this year and is co-editor of the school annual.

Each of the last two years she has been carrying an extra subject and her name has appeared regularly on the school honor roll. Kay plans to attend college.

Lions at Whitehall Sell Concert Tickets

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—The Lions Club membership is divided into two teams for the sale of tickets for the barbershop concert at the Whitehall High School gymnasium March 13 at 2:30 p.m.

The team selling the most tickets will receive a steak dinner from the losing team. Captains are Kenneth D. Berdan and B. Niel Sharkey.

Taking part in the concert will be a chorus and four quartets, two men's and two women's, from Eau Claire, together with the state contest winning Ladies Auxiliary trio and two barbershop quartets of Whitehall. Proceeds will be used to complete a fishing pond for children which was started last fall at the rear of Bar-Nor Mills.

drogen bomb in the first place was right—because we could not take the chance that the Russians would gain a decisive advantage over us.

When the first atomic bomb was exploded in 1945, the world set out on a new road, and no one can say where the road will lead. But the physicists—including Dr. Edward Teller, the peculiar genius of the hydrogen bomb—are sure that the hydrogen bomb is not the end of the road.

End Not in Sight
Even the monstrous Super-Super, the bomb with a power more than 20,000 times the power of the first atomic bomb, will not be the end of the road. And this country cannot afford to let the Soviet Union travel further or faster on this terrible road than the United States. We must be sure, to put it bluntly, that our weapons are at all times even more horrible than their weapons. And we cannot possibly be sure of this unless we constantly test our weapons.

Yet the Strauss statement leaves unanswered the most important question of all. This is, quite simply, whether we are right to rely on the hydrogen bomb as our principal offensive weapon.

There are experts who believe that there are universal and ancient dangers in the hydrogen bomb, which are only hinted at in the Strauss report. For example, the report notes that radioactivity from hydrogen explosions could fall out at great distances "later to be eaten by humans or by grazing animals which, in turn, provide food for humans."

Radio strontium has a special affinity for bone. The human fetus is particularly sensitive to radiation. The danger here is that radio strontium fall-out on grazing areas might reach and destroy the fetus through a complicated grass-cattle-milk-bone-fetus chain-of-death.

Dangers Studied
The Strauss report notes that studies of this radio strontium danger are so far "reassuring." But would this be true of a full scale hydrogen war in which hydrogen bombs were used in great numbers? Might not this kind of war make still-births a universal phenomenon?

This suggests only one of the reasons why some very distinguished scientists are convinced that the hydrogen bomb is a weapon with a suicidal backlash. Some scientists, for example, believe that large numbers of hydrogen explosions will greatly increase the incidents of cancer; or will cause mutations in later generations; or will even, in the words of Nobel Prize winner, Dr. Edgar Adrian, "lead to a degree of radio activity which no one can tolerate or escape," and thus "end the human race."

But suppose all these experts' fears are wholly unfounded. Suppose the only danger is the local fall-out described in the Strauss report. Will we really ever use a weapon which rains death on an area the size of New Jersey? Will we use such a weapon when we know that the enemy has it too? Indeed, might we not hesitate to deal such indiscriminate death, even if we knew that the enemy could not reply in kind?

No one in his senses will argue that we should stop making these weapons, as long as the Russians are making them. But relying on such suicidal weapons as the central element in our power is something else again. And it does seem time to ask whether we are right to do so. It is not at all an easy question to answer, but it is time to ask it all the same.

U. S. farm families use about the same percentage of their incomes in the purchase of food as city families, says the Twentieth Century Fund.

Harmony Church Installs Two

Rev. Monson Rev. Johnson

HARMONY, Minn. — The Rev. Walter G. Johnson, Mount Sterling, Wis., and the Rev. Knut Monson, former missionary to Madagascar, were installed as senior and assistant pastors, respectively, at the Lutheran church here Sunday.

Included in the parish are congregations at Henrytown, Minn., and Fremont, Iowa.

The Rev. Mr. Johnson is a graduate of Luther College, Decorah, Iowa, and later attended Luther Theological Seminary, St. Paul, Minn. He has served parishes at Sioux Falls, S. D., Ames and Gilbert, Iowa.

Pastor and Mrs. Monson have served several years as Lutheran missionaries to Madagascar and outposts in Africa.

Pastor Johnson is married and has two sons.

Installation Set At Wilmington, Caledonia Parishes

CALEDONIA, Minn. (Special)—The Rev. Richard L. Hansen, Muskegon, Mich., will be installed as pastor of the Immanuel Lutheran Church here and Wilmington Lutheran Church in special ceremonies Sunday at 10:30 a.m. and 2 p.m.

In charge of the rituals and guest speaker at both installations will be Dr. E. C. Reinertson, president of the southern Minnesota District of the Evangelical Lutheran Church.

A native of Milwaukee, Wis., Pastor Hansen is a 1943 graduate of Luther College, Decorah, Iowa, and of Luther Seminary, St. Paul, Minn.

Following ordination, Pastor Hansen's first parish was at Mizpah, Minn., where he remained for three years.

Before coming here, he spent six years at Muskegon, where he organized a home mission congregation for the Evangelical Lutheran Church. He is married and has two sons.

Installation ceremonies here will be at 10:30 a.m. and at Wilmington at 2 p.m.

Mayo Foundation Announces New Training Courses

ROCHESTER, Minn. (U)—The Mayo Foundation for medical education and research Thursday announced two new programs for graduate engineering training in medical instrumentation.

The new programs are innovations for the Mayo Foundation, which since 1915 has offered advanced training only in the fields of medicine and surgery and their various specialties and laboratory sciences. They will be open to engineering students.

The foundation said two $500 scholarships will be offered to students entering graduate work in the department of electrical engineering at the University of Minnesota.

Fellowships will be awarded to graduate students in engineering who have completed work for a master of science degree in engineering. The fellowships include residence at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester for one to two years.

The fellowships will lead to a degree of master of science. The fellowships and scholarships were established in conjunction with the University of Minnesota.

Awards Given At Independence FFA Banquet

Northwest Livestock Trophy Presented To Emil Skroch Jr.

INDEPENDENCE, Wis. (Special)—A banquet for Future Farmers of America and their parents was held Wednesday at the new Independence High School gymnasium.

There were 58 members present. Guests numbered 80. The Rev. Herbert Zoromski gave the invocation. Dinner was prepared by Mrs. Marjorie Jelen and Mrs. Caroline Misch assisted by Mrs. Otis Briggs. Future Homemakers of America served.

Emil Skroch Jr., president of the FFA chapter, was master of ceremonies. He introduced other officers: Donald Kloss, vice president; Allan Skroch, recorder; Herman Bautech, secretary, and John Lucette, adviser and vocational agriculture instructor.

The FFA quartet of Emil Skroch, Donald Bautech, Allan Skroch, and Iver Jackson sang three numbers. "Oh Beautiful Savior," "Sweet Kentucky Babe" and "How Dry I Am." Eleanor Skroch accompanied on the piano.

Brown commented on the accomplishments in the FFA group. He urged the boys to strive to greater achievements. Johnson spoke on behalf of the board of education.

Arthur Pientok showed colored slides of the FFA trip to the Black Hills last summer and also of the boys and their livestock at the Northwest Livestock Exposition at Eau Claire last fall when Emil Skroch Jr., won the grand championship.

Presented these awards: The Green Hand pin—Lowell Berg, Lowell Berg, David Burt, Gerald Harkness, David Harkness, Duane Kokott, Roy Livingston, Robert Lyga, Gene Maronick, Roger Kunkle, Martin Maule, Eugene Misch, David Pientok, Gerald Pientok, Edward Pientok, Eugene Pientok, Paul Pientok, Adrian Smith, Allan Skroch, Robert Sylla and Donald Woychik. Chaptin Farmer pin—Norman Foss, Gerald Harkness, Robert Hanson, Lenias Harkness, Paul Kaban, Edward Misch, Martin Misch, August Misch, Ronald Misch, Robert Misch, Richard Misch, Benedict Schneider, Frank Stankiewicz, Bernard Burt, Tony Burt and Conrad Woychik.

Senior award—FFA tie clasp, Donald Bautech, Herman Bautech, Dennis Burt, Wayne George, Roger Kunkle, Robert Kloss, Arthur Pientok, Jerome Schank, Emil Skroch, Robert Sylla and Benedict Woychik. Pioneer corn awards—Emil Skroch, Arthur Pientok, Lenias Harkness, Allan Skroch, Iver Jackson, Marcel George, Wayne George, Donald Bautech and Jerome Schank.

Milk testing certificates—Allan Skroch, Donald Woychik, Marcel George, Frank Schank, Lenias Harkness, Robert Kloss, Richard Kloss and Andrew Rom. Emil Skroch Jr. received a beef steer trophy for having the grand champion steer at the Northwest Livestock Exposition.

Edward Misch received a grooming kit for having the best groomed steer of the local FFA.

Outstanding farmer awards were given to Emil Skroch Sr. and Andrew Pientok. The president officially closed the meeting and Herbert Olson showed a short comedy movie, "The Tuttle Tugger."

Water Use Study Urged by Group

MADISON—Water use and water rights are becoming increasingly important to the economic development of Wisconsin and surrounding states.

That was the report of C. E. Busby, nationally known water law specialist from the Soil Conservation Service in Washington, D. C., at a conference early this week of representatives of 40 Wisconsin agencies and organizations concerned about water problems.

The conference was called by the State Soil Conservation Committee as a result of numerous inquiries from soil conservation district supervisors.

Following Busby's talk, the group discussed a number of water use problems arising in Wisconsin.

Existing law does not emphasize conservation and a fair division of the state's common water supply, the group concluded. New legislation is needed before the water use situation becomes extremely serious, it was decided.

The group voted to ask the Natural Resources Committee of State Agencies to set up a series of seminars for interested agricultural, industrial and other water-use groups. The seminars would examine the basic concept of the Wisconsin water right law.

5 Pigs Needed In Each Litter To Break Even

PRESTON, Minn.—Fillmore County farmers must raise an average of five pigs per litter to break even in their hog business, says County Agent Milton Hoberg. He bases his estimate on figures provided by the University of Minnesota Agricultural Extension Service.

Heavy pig losses often bring many litters down to this danger point. In fact, about 1 out of 4 pigs born this spring will never go to market. For the county as a whole this means about 50,000 pigs lost every year.

The most critical time for young pigs is their first week, but losses are heavy up to weaning time.

With many sows farrowing this spring, there is still time to save a large part of this spring's crop, Hoberg said.

Farrowing stalls and pig brooders will protect little pigs early in their life. Hog raisers should also be careful not to overfeed the sow immediately after farrowing. More trouble is caused this way than by underfeeding, the agent continued.

Anemia, or iron deficiency, causes many deaths. Ordinarily this happens when pigs cannot run out on soil. Iron can be supplied by throwing fresh sod in the pen, or by reinforcing clean soils with iron sulphate and by giving iron tablets to small pigs, he advised.

Poor sanitation also is an important cause of death among small pigs. Keeping sows, little pigs and farrowing pens clean and keeping pigs away from old hog lots will cut down these losses. Treatment of pigs shortly after weaning with worm removing drugs also will help, Hoberg said.

State Farmers Increase Cattle, Hogs, Chickens

ST. PAUL—Minnesota farmers own more cattle, hogs and chickens than a year ago, according to the State-Federal Livestock Reporting Service.

Sheep, horse and turkey members have decreased since January of 1934, the service said.

Increases from a year earlier were: Cattle 1 per cent; hogs, 20 per cent; chickens, 3 per cent. Sheep numbers showed a decrease of 2 per cent; horses, 18 per cent, and turkeys, 3 per cent. The number of cows and heifers, 2 years old and over kept for milk, was down 2 per cent.

The Jan. 1 inventory value of Minnesota's principal livestock and poultry numbers was $555 million compared with $611 million a year earlier. This is a decrease of $56 million, or 9 per cent from a year ago. Cattle were the leading class of livestock in terms of inventory value. Hogs were second, poultry third, sheep fourth and horses fifth.

Included in the $555 million are cattle at $386 million, hogs $127 million, chickens $21 million, sheep $13 million, horses and mules $6 million and turkeys about $2 million.

Fertilizer Meeting Set at Lewiston

LEWISTON, Minn.—Dr. John M. MacGregor, soil scientist from the University of Minnesota, will be the main speaker at a fertilizer institute Feb. 26 at 2 p.m. at the St. Rose High School.

The meeting is being sponsored by the Minnesota Butane & Equipment Co. All farmers are invited. Lunch will be served.

Ridgeway and Winona Class Topics Listed

"Profitable Corn Production" will be the topic of discussion at the Ridgeway adult farmers evening class at the Ridgeway School next Thursday at 8:15 p.m.

Two of the important questions to be answered at this meeting are "How to raise the protein content of corn" and "How to boost corn yields." A series of slides and a film have been secured to illustrate these new developments.

Harry Pierce, instructor, urges all farmers in the Ridgeway area who are interested in making more money from their corn fields to attend this meeting. Lunch will be served.

The Winona young farmer class will meet in the high school building at Lewiston Wednesday at 8:15 p.m. All young farmers interested in farm welding are urged to attend.

Two Meetings Planned By Lewiston Teacher

LEWISTON, Minn.—Gordon Jacobsen, agriculture instructor, at Lewiston High School, has scheduled adult farmer meetings for Lewiston and Altura next week.

Monday at 8 p.m., Gordon Anderson, Winona County agent, will speak on soils and fertilizer at the Lewiston High School. Elmer Simon and Herbert Welch will assist Jacobsen at Altura Wednesday night in a discussion on swine.

IN RAISING CHICKS, the start is everything! Many chicks are lost because some chicken raisers feel that anything is all right at the start. The facts are these, however: the first six weeks are the most critical in a chicken's life. Utmost care—and the best starter feed possible—prevent needless, expensive "infant mortality" in your flocks.

NOW, every farmer's wife knows that steady, consistent gains mean weighty chickens or heavy layers at maturity (depending on whether she raises her flock for meat or eggs). Either way, puny chickens seldom pay off for her.

BEST ADVICE we know for getting chicks off to a flying start is to put Occident Chick Starter in the feed hoppers as soon as chicks arrive. Have the house at about 95 degrees. If chicks huddle under the hover—it's too cold. If they move out along the walls—it's too warm. Have plenty of water and feed before chicks at all times. The first 2 or 3 days also put some Starter on paper plates. Chicks will find this easier and start eating sooner. When chicks are two weeks old, start feeding them scratch grains. Increase the grain proportion little by little 'til it's one-fourth of the ration at six weeks. Keep granite grit available after the first week.

WHEN YOU ASK for Occident Chick Starter you're asking for a feed with real flavor appeal... with color that attracts 'em... and with plenty of balanced nourishment in each bag. Start 'em right and get a good strong finish. Feed Occident Chick Starter and you'll do it.

The Future Belongs to Those Who Prepare for It!

Hundreds of Boys in Our Community Are Preparing for It Through Membership in Future Farmers of America Chapters!

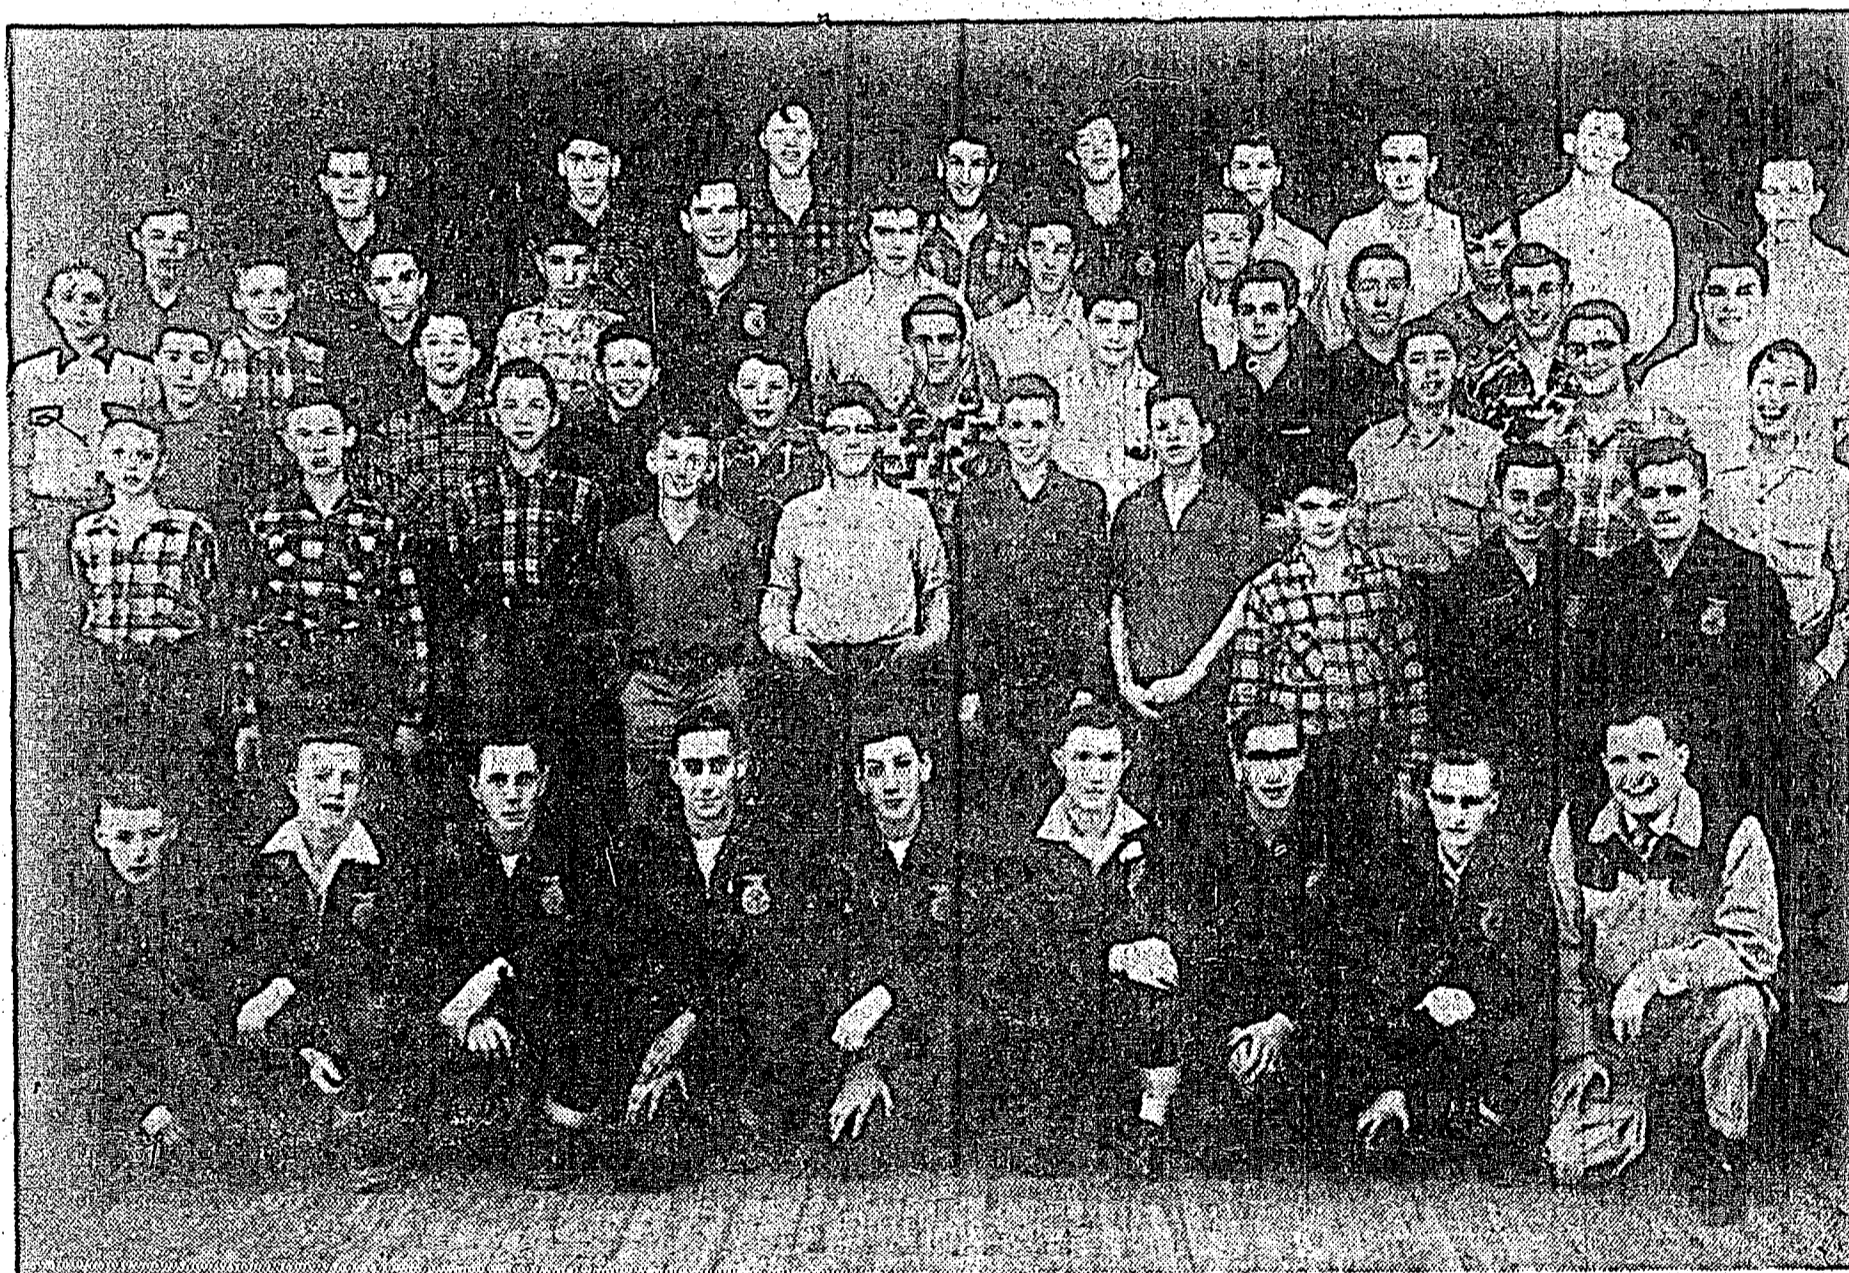

WE HONOR THEM ON THEIR 27TH ANNIVERSARY

○ This year, more than ever before, the FFA anniversary is an auspicious occasion . . . along with the national anniversary, the Minnesota association celebrates a quarter century of activities. The FFA is a non-profit, non-political farm youth organization carried on in public and secondary schools to further the farm prosperity of America. It is serving its purpose well—each year finds more and more youths participating in the program of vocational education in our public school systems.

The nearly 400,000 Future Farmers in the nation (about 15,000 of them in Minnesota and Wisconsin) are the backbone of our future farming needs—they are training diligently to supply the needs of NEW farmers every year if our rate of agricultural production is to be maintained. A typical and vigorous group in each community—50 of 69 in the Winona school system posed for the picture at the right with their instructor so that you could see for yourself the size of the group which is active right in the city. Other communities have similar chapters learning and doing for the good of the farm future.

2 Winona Co. Meetings Set For Next Week

Family Conference, Young People's Institute Planned

By MRS. JOYCE RANDALL
Winona County Home Agent

LEWISTON, Minn.—Two events coming up next week will be of interest to Winona County folk even though attendance is limited at both events.

On Tuesday leaders from home extension groups in both Winona and Wabasha counties will gather for the Family Life Conference. This is a training meeting from which the leaders will go back to their own groups with the information.

Mrs. Louise Danielson, family life specialist at the University of Minnesota, will be principal speaker. Assisting her will be Miss Caroline E. Frederickson, district home agent supervisor and extension agents from Wabasha and Winona counties.

Main topic for discussion this year is "Getting Along Together in the Family."

Chairmen of homemakers' groups have been asked to send two leaders from each group to the conference at the Winona YMCA from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. The second event is of interest primarily to young married couples who are just getting or want to get started in farming. For want of a better name, we are calling this meeting a "Young Couples' Institute."

It will be held next Thursday in the Fellowship Hall of the new Central Lutheran Church in Winona. Beginning at 10 a.m., the meeting will continue through 3 p.m. with lunch being served at the church for a reasonable price. Reservations for the lunch must be in our office by Feb. 20.

Throughout the day panels will discuss "Securing and Using Credit Wisely" and "Growing Up With Your Family." Lucille Holliday, extension home management specialist, will talk on "Getting Your Money's Worth."

Assistant County Agent Carroll Loda will present to the men folks a display of new gadgets to help ease the load in farm work. To the ladies, I will demonstrate and discuss ways to get new furniture for old. As has been mentioned before, the "Institute" is designed primarily for those getting started in farm living. If you know of couple who might be interested, urge them to attend.

SUNNYSIDE CHEERITES
BLAIR, Wis. (Special)—Members of the Sunnyside Cheerites 4-H Club will meet Saturday at 3 p.m. in the clubrooms in the city hall to pick the cast for a play to be presented at a later date. Philip Dahl is leader.

Clinic on Broilers Planned Near Madison

MADISON—Broiler growers will meet on the fairgrounds near here at 10 a.m. Tuesday to discuss problems facing the industry, according to J. B. Hayes, poultry specialist at the University of Wisconsin.

Hayes says this is a problem clinic, so no program has been set for the meeting. As problems are raised by individual members, the group will talk them over and try to find a solution.

Several county agents and Hayes will meet with the growers.

ASC Meetings Next Week in Trempealeau Co.

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—Lois J. Gilbert, officer manager of the Trempealeau County ASC has announced that 1955 farm program sign-up will be conducted at township meetings next week.

Notices of the meetings are being mailed to every farmer in the county, accompanied by a brief summary of the practices which are available for cost-sharing in 1955.

Farmers are asked to look over the summary of practices before going to the meeting so that they will have in mind what they will want included on their farm plan, she said.

Committeemen will not make farm-to-farm visits as was the custom in the past. Therefore, farmers are urged to go to their local sign-up meeting at the time specified. Township committeemen who are acquainted with the individual farms and practices will be there to give information on the program and assist their neighbors in planning a program.

Meetings, to be held in the afternoons beginning at 1 o'clock, are as follows:
Albion Town Hall, Feb. 23, 24 and 25;
Arcadia, city council rooms, Feb. 23, 24 and 25;
Burnside, Independence City Hall, Feb. 21 and 22;
Caledonia, town hall, Feb. 23 and 24;

Chimney Rock, Intense School, Feb. 21, 23 and 24;
Dodge, Miller's Hall, Feb. 23 and 24;
Etrick Community Hall, Feb. 21, 23 and 24;
Gale, Farmers' office, Feb. 21, 23 and 24;

Hale, Pleasantville Town Hall, Feb. 21, 23 and 24;
Lincoln, courthouse in Whitehall, Feb. 23 and 24;
Pigeon Town Hall, Feb. 21, 23 and 24;
Preston, town hall in Blair, Feb. 21, 23, 24 and 25;
Sumner, Osseo Community Hall, Feb. 23 and 24;
Unity, town hall, Feb. 23, 24 and 25.

The only all-day meetings will be held for the Town of Trempealeau in the town hall at Centerville. These will begin at 9 o'clock in the morning and continue all day Feb. 23 and 24.

Thursday, Feb. 24—Wauman-dee St. Boniface School Hall;
Friday, Feb. 25—Fountain City Auditorium, and Monday, Feb. 28—Alma Grade School.

Fitting, collars, taping the waistline and selection of a coat will be given special emphasis. The project has proven a popular one through the years. A total of 183 girls were enrolled in this project last year.

A series of homemaker craft schools have been scheduled for the last week in February. Crafts to be taught include block printing and knitting. Each of the 36 homemaker clubs as well as the 31 4-H clubs are invited to send project leaders to the craft school in their area. They have been scheduled as follows:

Monday, Feb. 21—Mondovi City Building;
Tuesday, Feb. 22—Gilmanton High School;
Wednesday, Feb. 23—Wauman-dee St. Boniface School Hall;
Friday, Feb. 25—Alma Court-house and
Monday, Feb. 28—Fountain City Odd Fellows Hall.

All schools will begin at 10 a.m. Project leaders for block printing at the craft schools include: Mrs. Emmos Accola, Mondovi Center; Mrs. Charles Bildeback and Mrs. Charles Clark, Gilmanton Center; Mrs. Frank Reuter, Wauman-dee Center; Mrs. John Moham, Alma Center; and Mrs. Alvin Bode and Mrs. Glen Earnay, Cochrane Center.

Knitting instructors at the craft schools will be Mrs. Emma Passow and Mrs. Henry Haase, Alma; Mrs. Elsie Bollinger and Mrs. Merlin Haueser, Cochrane; Mrs. Ralph Moy and Mrs. Orin Gunderson, Gilmanton; Mrs. Auren Rockwell and Mrs. Ed Stamm, Mondovi; and Mrs. John Erickson, Wauman-dee.

Wisconsin Holstein Breeders Meeting at La Crosse Next Week

LA CROSSE, Wis.—The state Holstein breeders annual meeting will be held at the Stoddard Hotel, La Crosse, Monday and Tuesday.

Prof. George W. Trimbauer of Cornell University will address the Monday afternoon session on practical herd management problems.

Egg, Milk Production Still at High Level

ST. PAUL—Egg and milk production in Minnesota continued high during January, according to the State-Federal Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

Egg production continued at the highest level on record for the state. A total of 406 million eggs were produced during the month, up 5 per cent from the 386 million produced during January 1954. The increase in production over a year ago was due to both more layers and a higher rate of lay during the month. There were 23,200,000 layers this January compared with 22,876,000 during January 1954. Eggs produced per layer during January this year were up about 4 per cent from a year earlier.

Milk production totaled 745 million pounds, the second largest January volume of record. This production was only 3 per cent below the all-time high of 769 million pounds produced in January 1954. Average milk production per cow was at a level second only to the rate a year earlier. The average number of milk cows on farms at 1,379,000 was down 2 per cent from the January 1954 level of 1,404,000 head. The upward trend in milk cow numbers, which began in August 1952, came to an end last March and since then numbers have declined slowly and steadily.

Cochrane and Mondovi Classes Invite 'Vets'
ALMA, Wis.—Archie Brovold, Buffalo County agent, has announced that openings are now available for veterans wishing to enroll in the veterans farm training program.

United States armed service veterans wishing to take advantage of this program should contact Ray Scholl, Cochrane, or Charles Whitworth, Mondovi, veteran trainers, or the county extension office for further information.

Apron Going Out of Style? Not in Italy

By GORDON ANDERSON
Winona County Agent

LEWISTON, Minn.—It is odd how several bits of unrelated information and/or nostalgic memories will come together in time and prompt a man to erupt with some foolosophy.

Last week I finished a book, "The Web of Subversion," an analysis of present Communist infiltration into our government. I then started laboring through an old book entitled "The Intellectual Development of Europe." In the meantime an old World War II buddy pilot dropped into the office to say hello and recall incidents of humor and pathos in our mutual Italian sojourn on the behalf of our neighbor's welfare.

Also within the last week I attended several rural organization meetings, and enjoyed a steam bath at the Winona YMCA, in which I dreamed of the ancient baths of Calcutta, the ruins of which I observed in Rome.

All this mental bologna came to a boil last night and I thought I would share a story with you.

In June of 1945 I had the privilege of driving a jeep out into the country in southern Italy. Within 90 minutes I had driven 2,000 years into the past, for the peasant life on the spur of land which juts out into the Adriatic Sea is the same today as it was in Biblical times. The jeep's radiator leaked, and so when a small group of people in a nearby field was espied, I stopped, walked over and asked them for some "acqua."

This group consisted of ma, pa, several kids and grandma. They were harvesting their oat crop. All except grandma were pulling the heads of grain from pitifully poor and widely separated stalks. Grandma held out her large apron, into which were dropped the handfuls of oats. She then rubbed the works together, gave the corners of the apron a clever jerk, and thereby snapped the contents into the air. The wind blew away the chaff and the oat then dropped back into the outstretched apron. In other words, grandma was the threshing machine. Incidentally, I gave them a dollar bill for the water. It caused great excitement as none of them had ever seen an Italian dollar before.

Grandma is very possibly a descendant of a family which was part of one of the greatest material civilizations the world has ever known, the Roman Empire.

Now it is interesting to note that in the last stages of that magnificent civilization, certain customs held sway. Agriculturally, lime was used as a soil conditioner, ground bones (phosphorus) were added to the soil, and contour farming was practiced to a certain extent. So, actually, other modern customs prevailed.

Pressure groups gouged the treasury, while the treasury gouged everybody. For a small fee a man could hire another assassinated. Women, married or otherwise, were pursued by their husbands and otherwise, and frequent trips to the local grape-squercery were considered (sic) apropos and sophisticated. The man of the hour was the tax-collector. Luxury, leisure and intrigue were enjoyed by all. A day's work was definitely not fashionable.

Meanwhile, around various parts of the perimeter of this wonderfully rich empire, less fortunate people ate curds and whey, scratched lice and saddle sores, and slaved for the conqueror. The only group that stood between them and the local grape-squercery were a highly paid mercenary army. No one else in the empire gave a darn. That empire no longer exists.

Philosophy for the day: Don't throw away your aprons, ladies, oats will be growing in this country for a long time.

Crooked Creek Farmers Form New Watershed

Over 270 Farmers With 47,000 Acres In Group's Area

CALEDONIA, Minn.—A Crooked Creek Watershed Association was organized here this week with the naming of a steering committee. They will explain watershed procedures to the 270 to 300 farmers in the 45,000-acre area along Crooked Creek in the eastern section of the county. Members of the committee are Robert Richards, Harold Davy and John Petersen, Brownville; Arnold Goetzinger, Leo McCormick, Leonard Gengler, W. A. Huffer, Saylor Wheaton, George Middendorf, Al Huesman, Harold Olinger, Wilfred Pohlman, Clarence Eikens, Bert Welscher and Harold Leary, Caledonia; Marvin Dierson, New Albion.

The Universal Five Farm Bureau unit gave impetus to the new watershed at its January meeting when it named a committee to inaugurate formation of the conservation area. At the meeting this week, Harold Poeschl, Root River district conservationist, explained the Hope-Aitken Small Watershed Act under which the Crooked Creek unit will operate.

This watershed is the third organized in Houston County in recent months. Others are the Beaver Creek Watershed Association and the Crystal Creek Watershed Association.

Crooked Creek is the largest with 45,000 acres; Beaver Creek second with 38,000, and Crystal third with 9,000. Parts of Houston County are affiliated with the Rush-Pine Creek Watershed Association together with Winona and Fillmore counties.

Nine Straight A Pupils at Wabasha
WABASHA, Minn.—Nine Wabasha Public School students recorded A averages during the third six-week period of the 1954-55 school year, according to figures released by school officials.

They are: Zack Garland, Gail Inskeep, Judith Pagel and Sheran Wagner, seniors; Margie Whitmore and Janet Young, juniors; Georgia Van Houten, a freshman, and Mary Lee Malone and Jean Zabel, 8th grade students.

Gail Inskeep, Zack Garland, Margie Whitmore, Janet Young and Jean Zabel have straight A averages for the first semester. The honor roll listing showed that the senior class had the highest percentage on the list with 35 while the 7th grade was second at 33 per cent. Other class percentages on the honor roll are: 9th grade, 32; 8th grade, 31; juniors, 26 and sophomores 16.

New Houston Co. Home Agent Long Active in Clubs

CALEDONIA, Minn.—Miss Patricia Ann Hutton, 22, native of Arcadia, Wis., who has replaced Mrs. Philip Labus as Houston County home agent, was style queen of Fillmore County in 1949 and won a blue ribbon in state fair competition.

She participated in state 4-H week at the fairgrounds twice while a member of the Scotland Merryworkers Harmony. Later, while attending the University of Minnesota, she was a member of Gamma Omicron Beta sorority and the home economics association.

Currently the home agent is conducting a homemakers' leader training course in "Entertaining the Easy Way" and before 4-H summer activities start, will instruct another course in "New Fabrics for the Home." This home-maker unit will start March 17, she announced today.

Trempealeau Co. Wives Pushing Furniture Around

By MRS. SYLVIA SHIRAS
Trempealeau County Home Agent

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—Blue shadows on the snow — did you see them too? I hope so. As I drove to and from meetings around the county this past week, there was a picture at every turn of the road. It was made of glistening white snow, brown branches and patterns made by blue shadows of trees, fences and hillside shoppes. It was truly beautiful.

Leader delegates of homemaker clubs are meeting in homes this month because we have been talking about a new look for the house. The homes have been our laboratories. Hostesses were most cooperative, letting us push furniture around and re-arrange things generally. I am not sure, in fact I have not heard what Jarle Engvald of Hale, or Alphonse Stencil in Arcadia, or Arnold Hanson said when they came in the house after we had been there. But we had them in mind as we pushed and shoved. In fact we thought about every member of the family. We tried to visualize the interests of each person and his comfort as well as convenience in reading, studying, playing games, writing or watching television.

I better warn the husbands of homemaker to turn the light on before going into the living room after the club meets this month. You might find your favorite chair in another corner, or a table or lamp where you don't expect it. But if you don't like it, it needn't stay that way. A home arranged to take care of the living that the family enjoys is what we are after. The new look means that the rooms are comfortable, simple, restful and functional.

Two Farmers Slated For Honors at Independence Banquet

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—George R. Knutson, operator of an 80-acre farm in the Town of Preston, Alfred Hanson, who tills 280 acres in the Town of Arcadia, and Harry Kulig, farmer of a 222-acre place in the Town of Lincoln, will be honored for their progress in 1954 in soil and water conservation practices at the fourth annual recognition banquet to be held at Club Midway, Independence, Feb. 26 at 8 p.m.

The banquet is sponsored by the Trempealeau County Soil Conservation District supervisors, Ed Baker of Eau Claire, district conservationist, will be the guest speaker.

Buffalo Co. Holstein Breeders Plan Meeting

ALMA, Wis.—The annual meeting of the Buffalo County Holstein Breeders Association will be held at the Gilmanton Town Hall March 1 at 1:30 p.m.

Charles Brace, Holstein breeders fieldman for Wisconsin, will be the speaker, and movies will be shown. A dairy lunch will be served by the board of directors.

Future Farmers Week Proclaimed

National Future Farmers of America Week will be observed Feb. 19-26. Gov. Orville L. Freeman has officially proclaimed these dates as Future Farmer Week in Minnesota.

In this state, the week will officially open the 25th anniversary of establishment of the organization. Nationally, the FFA had its official beginnings in the summer of 1928. Minnesota's first chapter was organized in late 1929.

Today there are 370,000 members in 9,000 chapters across the continent and in our possessions. Minnesota has 10,500 members in 240 chapters.

Members of FFA are students in vocational agriculture classes in high schools. Their motto is "Learning To Do; Doing To Learn; Earning To Live; Living To Serve." There is a creed and constitution and its graduates number some of the more prominent farm personalities in America. Minnesota has 50,000 alumni of this farm organization.

In proclaiming Feb. 19-26 as FFA week, Gov. Freeman stated that "Minnesota's future is largely dependent upon the skills and efforts of those citizens who operate the many farms of the state and that the Future Farmers of America organization helps to develop leadership, promote good citizenship, teach sound methods of farming and inspire patriotism among the members."

FAST CHICK GROWTH IS IMPORTANT

says Steve Carter of General Mills
There is something about baby chicks you have probably noticed . . . the faster they grow, the fewer disease problems you have! That's because a healthy chick is generally less susceptible to disease. Thus, when you have chicks that gain weight fast, you end up with more chicks that live and grow into good producing raisers.
And, if you start your chicks on Larro SureChick, you can get those important, fast gains. In just 12 short weeks, SureChick can give you chicks that weigh as much as 30 times their hatching weight! So, if you want healthy chicks, perky little peepers that are capable of withstanding onslaughts of disease and severe temperature changes, choose Larro SureChick this spring.

This Pioneer's Log Cabin was originally built by Lars Iverson, a Norwegian immigrant, who settled in Fillmore County in 1861. In 1934 it was dismantled and reconstructed at the Union Prairie Lutheran Church as a memorial to hardy century-ago settlers. Windows on the two-story building are shuttered against the winter now, but in spring the boards will be removed and the building will be reopened as a museum. (Vienna Drake photo)

Reconstructed Cabin Dedicated to Settlers

LANESBORO, Minn. (Special)—On the grounds of the Union Prairie Lutheran Church, three miles southeast of here—stands a stately memorial to the sturdy Norse settlers who claimed the fertile ground in Fillmore County almost 100 years ago.

The stolid memento of long-ago days is a well-preserved log cabin—originally built in 1861 by Lars Iverson, a Norwegian immigrant, on his homestead near the north branch of the Root River—but painstakingly dismantled and reconstructed on the church grounds in 1934, by some of the members of the Union Prairie congregation.

Today, the 23-by-17-foot two-story cabin is a museum for early settler history, containing hundreds of antiques, including furniture, implements, utensils and personal belongings common to farmers of a century ago.

Lars and Martha Iverson and their two small children left Norway in 1851 to seek their fortunes in this country.

They settled first in Wisconsin, but after hearing of the good land available for nothing in Minnesota they banded their belongings and three wee ones into an ox-drawn covered wagon and headed west. When they reached the banks of the Root River a few miles north of here, Lars figured it was as good a place as any, staked a claim and built his home—the log cabin seen in the accompanying photo.

It was in the new cabin in July of 1861 that the immigrant couple's fourth child—Betsie—was born.

She later married Lars Hillestad and from that marriage one child yet survives—Mrs. Louise Nepstad of Whalan.

In later years, the farm passed into the hands of a Lanesboro man—Eric J. Bothun—who in turn passed it on to his two sons, Freddie and Peter.

Farm Home Purchased
It was Peter Bothun—after abandoning the farm home in 1893—who sold the building to the Rev. P. J. Nestande, now retired, who was one of Union Prairie Lutheran's first pastors.

Pastor Nestande directed the work of dismantling the log cabin and re-erecting it on his church's grounds as a memorial to all early Norse settlers.

Only two members of that original working group of parish men have survived to tell of the infinite pains taken to number each log and chip before it was carted from its original foundation to its new location at Union Prairie.

They are Olwin Simonson, now of Northfield, Minn., and his brother Joseph, presently U.S. ambassador to Ethiopia.

Hesper Lutherans Near 90th Birthday

HESPER, Iowa (Special)—A Lutheran congregation here—officially in existence more than 100 years, but officially incorporated since 1885—announced this week that it would observe its 90th anniversary this summer, with a two-day festival planned for some time in July.

In conjunction with the summer celebration, the parish's Ladies Aid will celebrate its 70th anniversary.

Polio Chapter to Meet At Club Tuesday Night

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—A meeting of the executive committee, county officers and local chairman of the Trempealeau County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis will be held at Club Midway Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

The vocational agriculture teachers of the county, who have conducted the Corn for Polio drive through their FFA chapters, also have been invited to the meeting.

A full report on this year's polio drive is expected. Local chairmen are being asked to turn in their reports to Marvin Olson, chapter treasurer, at Whitehall by Feb. 18 or 19 so that he can compile the report of the drive for the meeting.

The earliest pioneers with a Lutheran background, who settled in this Winneshiek County village, just three miles over the border from Mabel, Minn., came in 1852 and 1853. Since that time more than 20 pastors—both lay and ordained—have served the congregation.

Itinerant Pastors

First shepherds of the Hesper flock were primarily itinerant pastors who preached here and provided the ministries of the church during their visits to the homes of pioneers here.

The home of a layman—Salve Olson—was the meeting place for families seeking spiritual guidance when visiting pastors were in the area. Among early preachers were the Revs. P. A. Rasmussen, Libson, Ill.; N. Amlund, Story City, Iowa; V. Koren, Decorah, Iowa; F. C. Clausen, Spring Grove, Minn., and N. S. Jensen, Highland Prairie, Minn.

Private homes and schoolhouses soon became unsatisfactory and inadequate facilities to serve the people. On Feb. 3, 1889, a meeting was held at the Salve Olson home when members voted to erect a church. Named to the committee on this project were Tarala Ramlo, Ole Burreson and Mikkel Boland.

The following year (1870) the work of building the church was commenced, but it was not until three years later that it was finished. On June 5, 1873, the church was dedicated by Pastor Brandt of Decorah, Iowa. The same church has been in constant use ever since. From time to time it has been repaired and modernized and it will have its interior decorated again this year.

In Big Canoe Parish

During its early history, the Hesper congregation was included in the Big Canoe, Iowa parish. The first resident pastor was the Rev. H. A. Stub, who served from 1885 until his resignation in 1891.

Following Stub's resignation a series of short pastorates included the Revs. T. Eggen, A. L. Huss, K. Weitem, and K. Weitem. In 1895 the Rev. A. O. Langehough came and served until 1905. From 1905 until 1918, the Rev. William Rasmussen was the pastor.

From Maddock, N. D., came the Rev. Ivar Havnors, who completed the longest pastorate in the history of the congregation, serving from July 1919, until September 1946. He is now living in Story City, Iowa. Following his retirement, the Rev. H. T. Braa served for six months until the arrival of the Rev. Philip C. Hiller in March 1947.

On Nov. 1, 1953, Pastor Hiller accepted a charge in Madison, Wis., and from that time until July 1954, when the present pastor, the Rev. Obed Nesheim, was installed, student pastors of the Lutheran Seminary served in the pulpit.

During the pastorate of the Rev. Langehough, Hesper became affiliated with Mabel, in that it was there that the parsonage was maintained. In 1954 another change was made when Hesper became a part of a parish at Burr Oak, Iowa, with the residence of the pastor now at Burr Oak.

The first board of trustees of the congregation included Jochem Nelson, Benedict Larson and Hans Johnson.

Church Purchased
In 1914, the congregation bought the old Methodist church here and converted it into a church parish hall, which at various times has been improved by additions and fixtures.

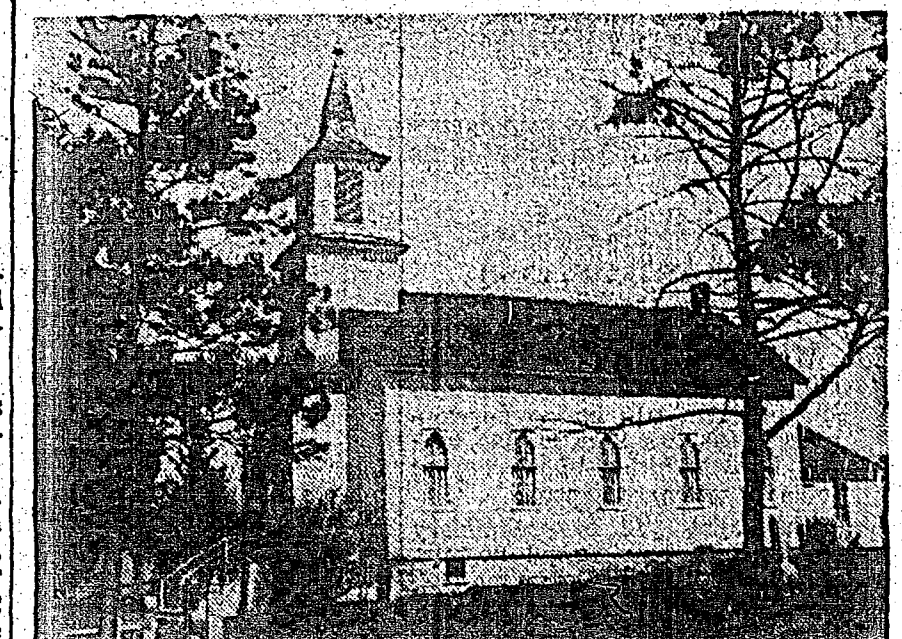

The Ladies Aid will note its 70th anniversary this year, for it was on July 1, 1885, that 14 ladies met at the home of Mrs. B. M. Lein in Hesper for the purpose of organizing a "Kvindeforening" (Ladies Aid). The first officers were Mrs. Tarina Wennes, president; Mrs. Guri Bjorjorn, secretary, and Mrs. Lavinia Lein, treasurer. During their first year they sewed clothing for the Indian Mission at Wittenburg, Wis., and their first auction fest was held at the Mikkel Boland farm.

In 1943 the Ladies Aid organized four mission "circles" which meet once a month in addition to the regular aid. The same year the cradle was organized with Mrs. Charlie McMillan as its first secretary.

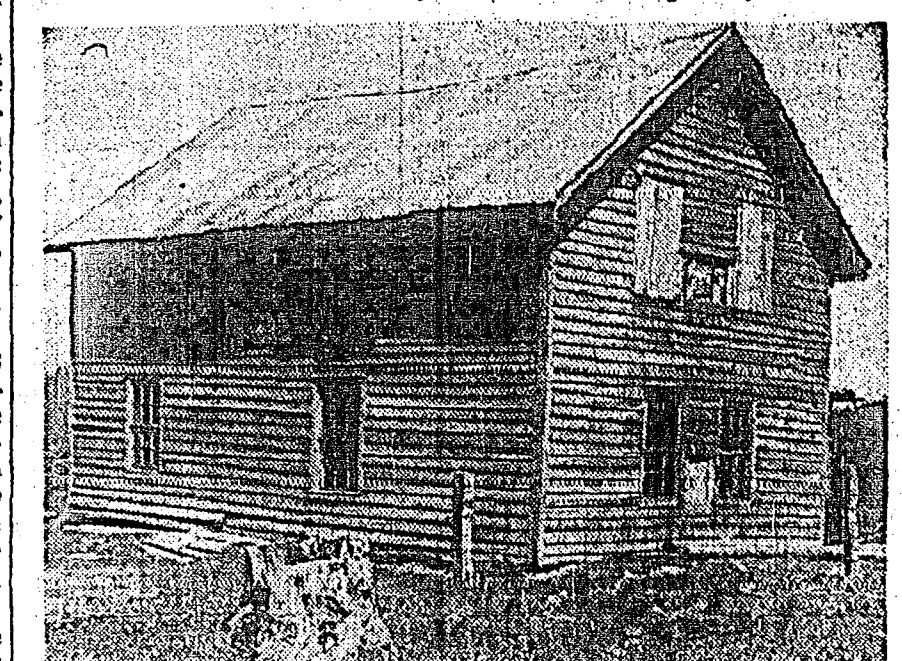

In 1947, it was decided to discontinue Ladies Aid membership. Under the new arrangement, each female member of the congregation automatically became a member.

Present officers are: Mrs. Philip McMillan, president; Mrs. Benjie Aasum, first vice president; Mrs. Victor Mitchell, second vice president; Miss Emma Johnson, secretary, and Mrs. Iver Flak, treasurer.

DRIVER TRAINING CAR
ST. CHARLES, Minn. (Special)—Ralph Haugen of the Frisch & Johnson Garage presented the keys of a 1955 Chevrolet station wagon to Milroy Tolin, driver training instructor at the St. Charles High School this week. The vehicle has been donated by the garage for the exclusive use of the driver training classes.

This is The Present 82-year-old Hesper Lutheran Church. Begun in 1870 and completed in 1873, the building has been in continuous use ever since. Through the years members of the congregation have refurbished both the interior and exterior of the structure and added whatever fixtures were deemed necessary. It will be redecorated again this spring before the congregation celebrates its 90th anniversary. (Burr Griswold photos)

This is The Home of Salve Olson, now standing unused on the Iver Flak farm one mile south of Hesper. Early Winneshiek County Lutherans gathered in the home of this layman more than 100 years ago to hear visiting ministers preach the Gospel. It was in this home that pioneer members of the congregation met Feb. 3, 1889, and voted to erect a permanent house of worship.

Mondovi Lutheran Churches Announce Lenten Schedule

MONDOVI, Wis. (Special)—Joint Lenten services will be held this year between the First Congregational and the Methodist churches here, with a series of six special services to begin Ash Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Congregational Church and alternating between the two throughout the remainder of Lent.

Guest speakers during the sessions will be: Feb. 23, the Rev. Arthur Brown, Durand; March 2, the Rev. Melvin Witmer, Fountain City; March 9, the Rev. Stanley Schmelling, Durand; March 16, the Rev. Norman Jackson, Osseo; March 23, the Rev. George Humm, Mondovi; and March 30, the Rev. Fletcher Bennett, Independence.

Choirs of both sponsoring churches will provide music at the weekly services.

CLUB AT ST. CHARLES
ST. CHARLES, Minn. (Special)—The Commercial Club's first meeting of 1953 will be held Monday at 8 p.m. Guest speaker will be Philip

A. Beardsley, manager of the Winona district Social Security Administration office.

Britain Trying To Buy Weapons From America

By ELTON C. FAY
WASHINGTON (AP)—Great Britain, with much of her guided missile program still in the development stage, has been talking with the United States about buying some American weapons.
The talks, still in preliminary phases with any formal negotiations yet to follow, involve the U.S. Army's Corporal missile, a Defense Department spokesman said today in answer to a reporter's inquiries.
The Corporal is a "surface-to-surface" missile, intended for bombardment of enemy targets at ranges greater than are covered by conventional artillery.
There has been speculation that the Corporal can strike with effective accuracy up to 40 or 50 miles. The Army says its range is "far beyond" that of artillery, which covers up to 30 miles with big guns.
The Corporal is produced for the Army jointly by Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. and Gilfillan Brothers, Inc. It has been in mass production for more than a year.
Any agreement for British purchase presumably would be made through the Defense Department and Army.

The spokesman said published reports that the British government already has purchased some other American missiles appeared premature, adding that the only missile involved so far is the Corporal and that in case negotiations are only in the discussion stage.
The Corporal can be equipped with either a standard explosive warhead or an atomic charge. In firing it starts out propelled by a rocket motor. During its flight at over 2,000 m.p.h., a guidance system takes control to steer the missile toward its precise target—massed tanks, troops, ammunition dump, bridge or rail yards.

Firemen Fight Dogs, Then Battle Blaze

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—Firemen called to put out a blaze in a brick warehouse were confronted by six barking, growling watchdogs. They had to subdue the dogs with a spray of water before tackling the fire.

These Maps, based on those supplied by the United States Weather Bureau, forecast the probable rainfall and temperatures for the next 30 days. (AP Wirephoto map)

BEDTIME STORIES

By HOWARD GARIS

There are three parts to this story, so I think I had better tell what those parts are and then you may enjoy the story better.
The first part is about Uncle Wiggly Longears, the rabbit gentleman with the pink, twinkling nose. Mr. Longears was hopping along in the dark of the night, not far from his hollow stump bungalow. He was waiting his chance to slip under his front door, a valentine for Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, his muskrat lady housekeeper. He was going to slip the valentine under the door, ring the bell and run away before Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy could open the door and pick up the valentine.
"I don't want her to see me," said Uncle Wiggly to himself as he hopped around in the dark. "I will wait until I think she is out in the kitchen, washing the supper dishes. Then I will leave the valentine."
That's why the rabbit was out in the dark of the night. He had the valentine in his pocket. He had printed on the envelope the name of Pat Butler, the grocery store goat gentleman.
"Nurse Jane will think the valentine is from Pat. Ha! Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggly.
The second part of this story is about Chief, the police dog. In the squad car he and Sergeant Bill were cruising around Woodland, where Uncle Wiggly lived. Chief and Sergeant Bill wanted to be sure that no one played any wrong tricks on the evening of Valentine Day. So Chief and Sergeant Bill were cruising around in the dark, just as Uncle Wiggly was hopping around in the dark. The third part of this story is about the fox, the wolf and the bob cat. These three bad chaps were sneaking along toward the rabbit gentleman's bungalow, hoping to get some nibbles from his ears.

As I told you at the end of yesterday's story, Foezie, who was trotting along between Bobbie the bob cat and the wolf saw something and suddenly Foezie yapped in a whisper:
"I see something!"
"What is it?" asked Bobbie.
"I hope it is something good to eat!" growled the wolf.
"I think it will be," whispered Foezie. "For I think I see Uncle Wiggly sneaking along in the dark of the night."
"What would that rabbit be doing out this time of night?" asked the wolf.
"Maybe he is out leaving valentines on the steps of his friends," suggested Bobbie.
"I think that is what he is doing," answered Foezie. "I had an idea that he might do just that and so I suggested that we come here to try to catch him. Now I think we can do it."
"Then let's rush up and grab him!" snarled the wolf.
"What are we waiting for?" Bobbie wanted to know.
"Yes, what are we waiting for?" growled the wolf. "Let's rush and grab that rabbit now! I'm very hungry!"
"So am I! Let's grab him!" mewled Bobbie.
"But not now!" whispered the fox. "Wiggly is hopping around so fast that we might miss grabbing him. Let's wait until he goes up on the stoop of some house to leave a valentine. Then we can sneak up easy like and grab him. Let's do that!"
"All right," agreed the wolf, and the bob cat said the same.
So the three bad chaps, who could see quite well in the dark, watched Uncle Wiggly hopping around.

"Well, what do you know about that?" suddenly whispered the fox. "Is anything wrong?" asked the wolf.
"No, there isn't," answered the fox. "But Wiggly is going up his own front steps. He can't be going to leave a valentine for himself!"
"Maybe it is for Nurse Jane," suggested Bobbie.
"That must be it!" agreed the fox. "It doesn't matter. He is now going up his own front steps. Get ready, we'll grab him in a second!"
Just at this time Chief and Sergeant Bill came quietly along in the squad car. They saw Uncle Wiggly and the three bad chaps.
"Now I must get my valentine ready," whispered Chief.

Kansas Town Confuses People With Its 2 Names

EL PASO or DERBY, Kan. (AP)—Every once in a while things get a bit confusing in El Paso—or, we mean Derby.

The town's got two names. This south central Kansas community of 3,200 population commonly is known as Derby, but actually and legally it is El Paso. Its founders back in about 1883 named it El Paso. Sometime later rail and postal authorities, fretting about the town being confused with El Paso, Tex., started calling it Derby. Nobody can remember just what year that was.

But at any rate railroad time-tables, postal directories, maps and even the high school settled on the name of Derby. Yet on legal papers it's still El Paso to avoid possible defects in land titles.

When the Derby (El Paso) City Council recently voted for 24-hour police service, to keep pace with the expansion in population spilling over from the neighboring city of Wichita, the problem surfaced again.

It seems that to be legally paid, the three policemen had to work for "El Paso." And that's what their badges and shoulder patches say.

Bob Smith, 61-year-old editor of the weekly Derby (El Paso) Star, said he believes the majority of the older residents favor "El Paso," but youngsters and business people like "Derby."
Smith says the city attorney thinks making the change to Derby official would be relatively simple. It probably could be done by the state Legislature now in session.
"The feeling's been smoldering for some time that we ought to do something about being a town with two names," he observed.
"But it just doesn't seem like sentiment has gotten worked up yet to a point where anyone wants to carry the ball."

Prohibition Era Mobsters Battle Outside Macy's

NEW YORK (AP)—Two prohibition era mobsters, one a convicted Manhattan horse thief, staged a whirlwind gun-and-knife battle yesterday on the shopper-crowded sidewalk outside Macy's department store.

Both men were wounded but, true to the underworld code wouldn't "talk."
A policeman was directing traffic on jammed 35th Street when, a few feet away, Sol Girsch, 58, and Sam Kramer, 60, went at it.

The men, who have known each other for 40 years, apparently met accidentally. After a bout of name calling—including "louse," "squealer," "double-crosser" and "rat"—Girsch whipped out a knife and Kramer (alias Sam Feldman) a revolver.

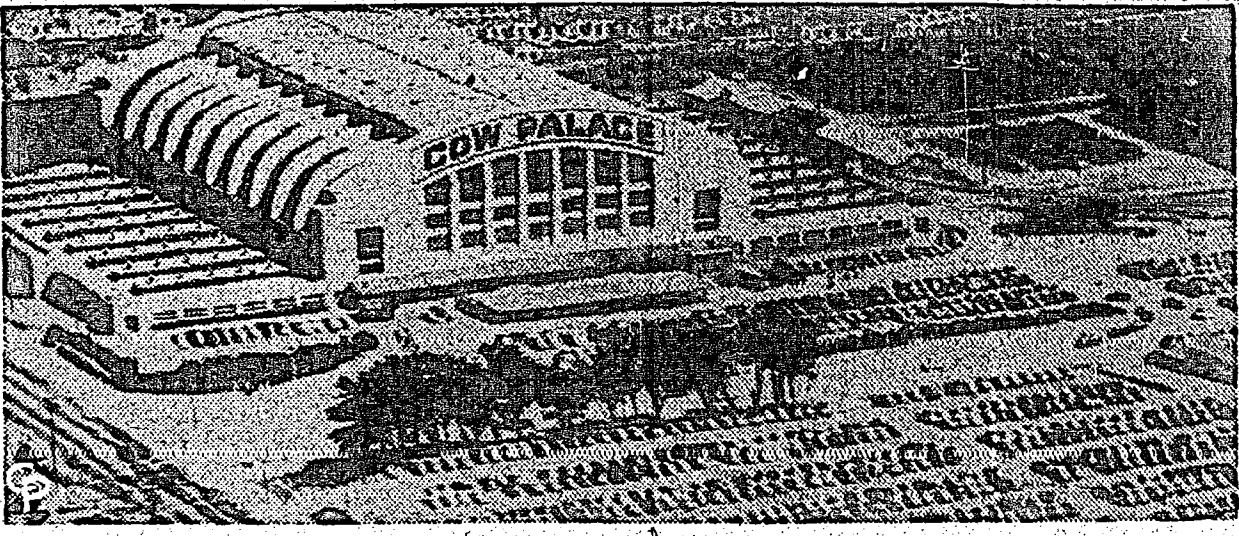

Spectators screamed and ran for cover as four shots rang out and a knife flashed.
Girsch fell to the sidewalk, wounded in the chest and wrist. Kramer had a knife slash on the right ear.

Quickly collared by the policeman, Kramer said only: "I'm sick."
Girsch, not seriously hurt, told police:

"All I know is I got shot. I don't know what happened. If I die, then I have nothing to worry about."
Girsch has a police record dating back to 1913, when he served eight months for stealing a horse and wagon here. He became a "strong-arm" man for the Dutch Schultz prohibition mob of the 1920s. In 1924, he got a 10-year prison sentence for an attempted $500,000 American Express holdup.

Police said Kramer has a record of 17 convictions and 20 arrests since 1910.
Both men were booked on charges of felonious assault and violation of the Sullivan (anti-weapons) law.

Recent tests have shown that cows which have free access to water give 2.8 to 4 per cent more milk than those watered twice a day.

San Francisco's huge Cow Palace has been approved as the site of the 1956 Republican National Convention scheduled to be held beginning Aug. 20. The huge arena will be made available to the GOP cost-free as one of the conditions bringing San Francisco its first major political convention since 1920.

FAIRLY SPOKEN

By MARGARET LATROBE

Are most women "loud mouths?"

Sophie Kerr, the writer, says in a recent article that women blab too much. They need "fewer words and more thought!" And "a better selection of what they say and better manners when they say it!"
It's those last six little words, I guess, which could solve this feminine talking marathon. For when have women had more to talk about than today? When have women been in keener touch with ideas and happenings worth discussing? They were never so well educated, so aware of political and cultural trends.

Then what makes all the babes yak in non sequiturs and nonessentials? Their diets.

Their fads and fancies. Their husbands' grouches. What the doctor said and what they said to the doctor—but by then some other gal with a more expensive doctor has broken in and is launched on what she told her doctor. Or the children—and you'd better run like a hare if you are allergic to little Johnny's mishaps with the teacher or the preacher or the creature who lives next door and thinks little J. oughta be locked up in the handiest reform school.

I think this excess of chatter is of nervous origin, abetted by the coma suffered by good manners, formal manners, as our parents knew them. About the only time younger women can enjoy their own company is when much older and better-mannered women are present. The current crop of young matrons, keyed up to uncontrollable heights by pressures unknown to our mothers and grandmothers, is ready to burst. And they do. And they cannot stop.

Had good manners stayed with us, the nervous chatter might have remained under control. But when our "easy" push-button housework came in, with it came a thousand worries unrelated to the home—leaving no time for good manners. "What's the latest scandal on the Joneses, dearie?"
It's true we need more thought. Miss Kerr says. But our yicketty-yacking is born of a tense world and a desperate pace. We have plenty to think about but no place to tie the horses. No time to pause. A return to good conversational manners might slow us down a bit. Certainly it couldn't hurt anything. Yes, I'm afraid we talk too much without saying anything.

Police Discard 'Peeping Tom's' Murder Confession
DETROIT (AP)—Police today discounted as worthless the confession of a 34-year-old convicted peeping Tom in the investigation of the two-year-old rape-slaying of coed Joann Gillespie.
Marvin Lane, chief of detectives, said in an intensive police investigation and the findings of three psychiatrists showed Richard Ballingall, of Detroit, was innocent of the crime.
Ballingall, a former gravedigger and odd jobs man, admitted orally and in a formal statement Sunday that he beat and dragged the 18-year-old junior college student into the alley near her home where her mutilated body was found Jan. 3, 1953.
Monday, Ballingall retracted his confession, saying he was "confused."
After three days of examination, psychiatrists recommended Ballingall be placed in the psychiatric ward of a city hospital until he could be committed to a mental institution.

Plane Drop of Atomic Device Scheduled Today

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—A plane drop of an atomic device was scheduled today as nuclear weapons testers banked on a break in the stormy weather which might allow the long-delayed 1955 series to get started.
Test chieftain discarded a powerful pre-dawn tower shot which had been set for the opener in favor of the air drop in daylight.
The series originally was set to start last Tuesday.
With the shift to an air drop, troop maneuvers were canceled.
The tower shot presumably will come next, or as soon as there is less danger of radioactive fallout from the atomic cloud.

New Liner Steams In San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The towering Orsova—newest, largest and fastest passenger ship in the Pacific—steamed through the Golden Gate yesterday on her first visit to San Francisco.
Aboard the giant British Orient Lines vessel from Australia were 1,070 passengers. The Orsova, latest of the Orient Line ships to enter the England-Australia-North America route, sails for her home port of London today.

GOP Site Choice Pleases Democrats In California

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—California Democrats say they're "very happy" that this city by the Golden Gate has been selected for the Republican National Convention in August 15.

But Mrs. Clara Shipper, of Berkeley, Democratic national committeewoman, and Roger Kent, northern California party chairman, were critical of Mayor Elmer Robinson for not pressing efforts to obtain the Democratic National Convention as well.

They said he "made no effort to encourage the Democrats to meet here, despite actions of the Board of Supervisors calling on him to do so."

The Democrats picked Chicago. Mrs. Shipper said National Democratic Chairman Paul Butler told her San Francisco would have been considered if he had known the city was interested.

Republican choice of San Francisco—and its cavernous Cow Palace—resulted from close and fast teamwork by Mayor Robinson, Sen. William Knowland (R-Calif) and some San Francisco businessmen. Robinson quarterbacked the operation from New York, where he had gone to arrange for the United Nations General Assembly meeting here in June.

The convention site is just south of San Francisco, a huge, pillared building with a seating capacity of 17,000 and standing room for at least 2,000 more. It has been the scene of many world championship boxing matches, rodeos, conventions.

St. Paul Mayor Part of Topsy-Turvy Day Aboard Cruiser

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Things turned topsy-turvy when the cruiser USS St. Paul commemorated its 10th anniversary yesterday.

C. P. O. James Gardner was made commanding officer, temporarily, for having been aboard the cruiser longer than anyone else—eight years. He promptly assigned Capt. Claude V. Ricketts, his predecessor, to the galley to work on the noon meal.

Mayor George M. Vermillion of Long Beach and Mayor Joseph E. Dillon of St. Paul, who is vacationing here with his wife, were made seaman recruits.
It didn't last long. After lunch normal procedure was resumed.

He Knows Basketball

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP)—As a small-town correspondent of the Amarillo Daily News finished his telephone report of a high school basketball game, sports writer W. L. Powell questioned him:

"By the way, was this a conference game?"
"No," the reply came back, "it was a basketball game."

Top Communist To Seek Asylum In Red Poland

NEW YORK (AP)—Irving Potash, one of the original top Communists in the United States, plans to go to Washington today and seek asylum in Red Poland rather than face another trial in this country.

The government yesterday consented to a court order allowing Potash, currently free in $5,000 bail, to ask the Polish Embassy in Washington for a visa to take up permanent residence in Poland.

Potash, 55, was released from the federal penitentiary in Leavenworth, Kan., last Dec. 9. He served more than three years after his conviction, along with 10 other top U.S. Reds, on charges of conspiring to teach and advocate the violent overthrow of the U.S. government.

He faces a new trial, scheduled for March 1, on a charge of knowingly belonging to an organization (the Communist party) teaching and advocating political violence.

The Russian-born Potash never became a U.S. citizen. He is a former vice president of the Fur and Leather Workers Union, expelled from the CIO on grounds of alleged Communist domination.

A deportation charge was pending against Potash when he and other high-ranking party leaders were rounded up for the celebrated 1949 trial.

SPORTS Sidelight

BY RALPH REEVE

St. Felix Frolics

Coach Ken Kalbrenner's Wabasha St. Felix Yellowjackets have been rolling along at a good clip this season and two good reasons are a pair of boys who sport 20 and 17.7 per game scoring averages. Opposites in height but similar in their ability to swish the ball through the hoop are Wayne Pinsonneault, who hits 6-2 when he stretches and Dick Harano, a 5-8 guard.

Pinsonneault, center for Kalbrenner's Yellowjackets, has scored 298 total points this season for a 20-point average. His field goal shooting percentage is 49 and he scores 73 per cent of the free throws he attempts.

Harano, the Hawaiian captain and guard of the Yellowjackets, has 266 total points on the season and a 17.7 average. Dick, playing an outcourt position, has a 33 per cent field goal shooting average and is 67 per cent from the free throw line.

Harano, with plenty of speed and a constant threat to drive in and score a layup, is a 10-second man in track.

Both boys are active in student extracurricular affairs. Wayne is a member of Thespian, the St. Felix Dramatics Club; is a band member and vice president of CSMC.

Dick is prexy of the St. Felix senior class, is a member of Thespian and the glee club. The similarity between the two boys doesn't end there. Both are fine students.

Wayne is scoring at a "B-plus" rate in the classroom and Dick is an "A" student. St. Felix team totals include 330 field goals and 248 free throws for 908 total points, compared to its opponents' 742 total points. The point spread finds St. Felix averaging 60.3 per game and its opponents 49.3 per game.

The Right Move

Old pal Tommy Briere, Minneapolis sports scribe, has an article in the current issue of the Sporting News which is of interest to Winonans on two counts.

The article is headlined: "Heartaches, Too, Await Kids Grabbing at Bonus Contracts."

The story is an interview with Dick Siebert, former major league first baseman with the Philadelphia Athletics and now University of Minnesota baseball coach.

Siebert's theory is that a boy with baseball potential is better off attending college, playing baseball while in school and signing a pro contract when his college career ends than he is signing a contract right out of high school.

"Funny thing," Siebert was quoted, "when I advise prep against signing in pro ball in favor of going on to school, they all think I'm talking for selfish reasons, the betterment of my Minnesota team."

"Certainly, I'll admit I have that motive, too, but that's not the No. 1 reason. I just know that kids will be better prepared in every way to go into pro ball after finishing a college education in learning and baseball than when fresh out of high school."

Examples of the new trend of baseball prospects who deferred signing pro contracts right out of high school in favor of a college education are Winona's own Paul Giel, who got a $60,000 New York Giants bonus after finishing his career at Minnesota, and Wisconsin's Harvey Kuenn, who signed with the Tigers for $55,000.

"Of course, if a kid can get a big bonus for signing out of high school," Siebert says, "there's better reason for turning pro. But most of them pass up college for $2,000 or $3,000 and live to regret it. They buy cars and then their bonuses are gone."

Briere concludes the article as follows: "There's another baseball bonus baby in the ranks at Gopherville right now in Jerry Kindall, a sophomore shortstop who will start a three-year regular career for Minnesota this spring."

"He's a big league prospect right now and rejected numerous offers in order to attend college."

"I could have turned pro," said Kindall, "but I decided that I was going to college. Giel's experience led me to believe that I was making the right move."

Winona Chiefs fans may be thankful Kindall decided to follow Giel's example.

The former St. Paul star prep athlete recently signed a declaration of intention to play with the Chiefs, and since he is considered such a great prospect, we're looking forward to watching him in Chief spangles come the start of the 1935 Southern Minny season.

Utah State Spills Brigham Young '5'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
It looks as if Brigham Young was just whistling in the dark when it upped Utah in overtime last week to make a bid for the NCAA basketball tournament.

What toehold the Brigham got with that victory in the Skyline Conference race was eliminated last night when Utah State spilled them 76-71 and league-leading Utah, ranked No. 10 in this week's Associated Press poll, trounced Montana 101-68.

That left the Utahs with a 9-1 record and four games to play—all at home. And that just about cinches the league title and the NCAA berth for Utah.

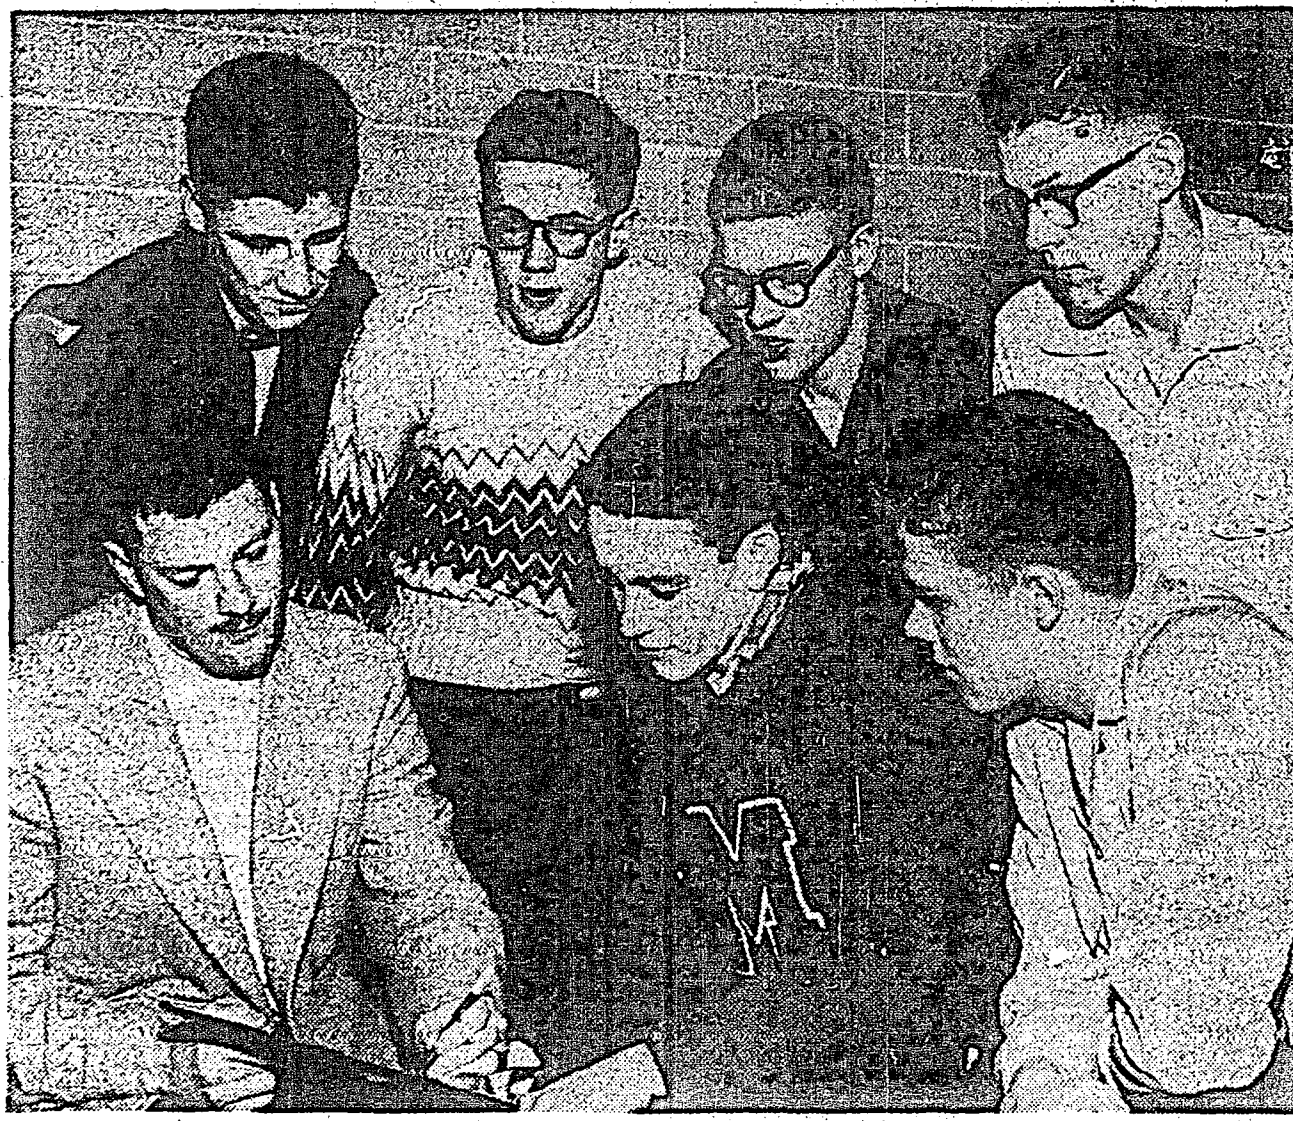

Art Runte, as usual, was the big man for Utah, canning 28 points toward the Ute total, which set Montana field house record.

Lee Booth's field goal and a free throw by Bart Johnson broke up a 71-71 tie for Utah State with two minutes left.

Wyoming, holding an outside chance for the title, combined height and a closing stall to defeat last-place New Mexico 59-52.

St. Louis lengthened its lead in the Missouri Valley Conference by winning at Wichita 91-78, despite an injury to Dick Boushka, the Bills' leading scorer. Boushka came back to play the final two minutes of the first half.

Manhattan and Niagara, heading for the NIT, won easily in a Madison Square Garden double-header. Manhattan (15-3) zipped past New York University 73-61 in a game played under pro rules and Niagara (16-5) never gave St. John's of Brooklyn a chance in an 82-62 decision.

years ago, when he was around 50, Hank Marino, former world match champion, hit upon the helpful idea of extending his left foot just a bit as he took his stance. As the sketch shows, the left leg thus is totally relaxed. The weight is entirely on the right leg. Marino calls it a half-step—added to his old, standard four-step footwork, in which he had the feet together, in line.

The half-step method does this: It sets the left foot ahead as an "indicator" of the line that the footwork must follow; it simplifies holding the ball in the palm of the left hand at the outset, and it acts as a sort of shuffle-step to insure a slow start for timing of footwork with ball swing. Top it off with the fact that it eliminates all pressure, and you've got good reasons to try it.

Hamline Defense Chills Augsburg

Pipers Within One Game of Gustavus

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Minnesota College Conference basketball race tightened up Thursday night as Hamline pulled within one game of leading Gustavus Adolphus with a decisive 65-49 victory over Augsburg on the Pipers' home court.

Hamline played a tight defense to hold the Auggies to their lowest score of the season. Jerry Porter of the Piper contingent with 15 while two Daves—Tschimperle and Schneider—were adding 13 apiece. The losers' best was Virg Gehring's dozen.

The Pipers, standing at 10-2 in loop play, come up against the Gusties, 11-1 for the season, at St. Peter Saturday night.

At Moorhead, St. Olaf of Northfield rolled to a 90-79 triumph over Concordia in a non-conference contest. The Oles held a narrow 38-36 margin at the half but then staged a spurt which saw Evy Mickelson basketing most of his 26 points for the night in the finale. Jim Varland counted 21. Ray Falls hooped 19 and Glen Olson 16 for the losers.

Frank Burleson hit for 26 counters as Bethel of St. Paul turned in an 80-62 count against Northwestern Schools.

St. Mary's Faces Tough Weekend

St. Mary's Redmen face a tough weekend in the rejuvenated chase for second place in the Minnesota College Conference race. Confident of the number two slot, the Marians meet fourth place Augsburg tonight and sixth place St. John's Saturday, sporting a six-game conference winning streak.

On the following Tuesday St. Mary's runs into Hamline, the squad they must beat.

Minneapolis Stadium May Be Set June '56

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — W. E. King, engineer for the project, said Thursday night there was a "gambler's chance" that Minneapolis' proposed sports stadium could be ready for its first baseball game on June 1, 1956.

King said he expected contracts for the steel work would be ready for bid calling about July 1 this year. The stadium is to be built on a large tract in suburban Bloomington.

Card of Thanks

CHRISTENSEN—Our sincere and grateful thanks are extended to all our friends, neighbors and relatives for their various acts of kindness and sympathy shown us during our recent bereavement. The loss of our beloved mother, Mrs. M. C. Christensen, who died on March 1, 1955, at her home in Winona, Minnesota, is deeply mourned. We are comforted by the thought that she is now in the arms of our Heavenly Father. Her funeral services were held on March 3, 1955, at the Winona Lutheran Church, with burial in the Winona Lutheran Cemetery. Her husband, Mr. M. C. Christensen, and her children, Mrs. J. M. Christensen, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Christensen, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Christensen, and Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Christensen, all of Winona, Minnesota, and her grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Christensen, and Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Christensen, all of Winona, Minnesota, and her great-grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Christensen, and Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Christensen, all of Winona, Minnesota, all join in expressing their appreciation to all who attended the funeral services and to all who have shown sympathy and comfort to the family during this time of bereavement.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGUM, D. Sc.

1. YOUNG WOMAN PLANS TO DEPEND UPON MARRIAGE FOR FINANCIAL SECURITY. WISE ☐ UNWISE ☐

3. DOES EVERYBODY HAVE AN AMBITION TO SUCCEED? YES ☐ NO ☐

Answer to Question No. 1
1. Unwise. A young woman who doesn't plan to be able to care for herself and children in the event that she becomes a widow, or if her husband should be disabled, is taking a leap in the dark. So in her prospective husband. All right for older women to seek security in marriage. Our booklet, "Your Success in Marriage," will help. Nonprofit, 15c (coin only) plus self-addressed, stamped envelope. Send to Dr. A. E. Wiggum, care of The Winona Daily News.
Answer to Question No. 2
2. Doubtful. Persons in delirium, or who have had a brain injury, or who are under hypnosis remember many insignificant incidents. Some even recite long compositions they have only read or heard once—some of the compositions in languages foreign to them. Persons under hypnosis recall childhood memories they can't remember when normal. Evidence indicates that we don't forget, but we bury older experiences under new ones.

Answer to Question No. 3
3. One psychologist tried to get from hundreds of people their "ambition pictures"—what they pictured themselves as being and doing in the years to come. Hardly half had any ambition picture at all. Everybody wants the rewards of success: Property, influence, prestige, etc. Not very many are willing to work for them, or at least map a plan to get them.

THE GRAB BAG

THE ANSWER, QUICK!
1. What have the following in common: Tudor, Ming, Ptolemy, Bourbon, Hapsburg?
2. Who wrote the poem, "Ben Bolt," beginning, "Don't you remember sweet Alice, Ben Bolt?"
3. What was the name of the Jewish religious leader who was puzzled by Christ's assertion that a man must be born again to enter the kingdom of heaven?
4. What product is advertised by the slogan, "Covers the world?"
5. What is the City of Monuments?

HOW'D YOU MAKE OUT?
1. They are the names of famous dynasties.
2. Thomas Dunn, English poet—1819-1902.
3. Nicodemus.
4. Paint.
5. Baltimore, Md.

In 1940, one farm worker in the United States could produce enough food for 11 people, on the average. Today, with shorter hours, he can produce enough for 18 people.
