Activity fund a o.k. chairman states

To The Editor

Two weeks ago, an editorial in The Winonan expressed some concern over the dispensing of the student activity account. As chairman of the joint student-faculty finance committee, I feel that a reply is in order.

The committee quoted from the current State College Board regulations (a) administration. The administration of the Student Activity Account should be under the direction of the college president who shall be guided in his decisions by the recommendations of a joint student-faculty committee established for this purpose. Plans for the administration and control of the Student Activity Account shall be submitted to the Board for approval. Such plans shall give to the proper student authorities an equal voice with the faculty in the determining the policies that the committee recommends to the approval of the president.

I SHOULD LIKE to invite attention to the editorial, to the fact that the joint committee is composed of four student representatives and four faculty members, and to the fact that student and faculty opinions, and educators could know better the direction in which their jobs lie.

Student interest picks up

Student body participation and interest may finally be picking up. The recent polls that have been circulating indicate that persons dissatisfied with the situation are trying to do something about it, instead of just grumbling about the situation.

It is unfortunate in some respects that this rate of student enthusiasm did not come sooner in the year so that we could reap the benefits of its rise over a longer period of time. For now, with finals and summer vacation, most of the student body will head for home or wherever they plan to spend their summer, so that they do not leave the enthusiasm that has developed this spring at home or at work when they return to college in fall.

So until June 10, study like a dog. Congratulations to the graduates who will be published, does he feel the opinion poll had a tremendous influence on bringing about their graduation? Third, there was no sample control.

The Senate report of the Senate-Administration meeting is printed in the Tri-State Correspondent.

WHILE THE entire faculty and students were invited to vote, on June 10, Ritter noted that the polls were circulated to a subset of students. He believed more students would have voted if they had been made aware of the polls.

WHR C affects changes

Recently, the dorm Senate conducted a survey designed to articulate the needs of the students residing on the campus of Winona State. Monographed sheets were distributed to students living in Conway, Richard's, and Shepard (Second floor only) Halls.

These sheets requested the writer's name, and suggestions for improvement. In an effort to ensure anonymity, Ron Lusske, dormitory senator, noted that the response was very good, that many suggestions were made.

Suggestions ranged from: fewer room checks in the women's dormitory, in a proposal calling for 3 "lates" a quarter, to the statement that "all dorms be closed at the end of each quarter," to provisions for more "open houses" in the school year.

TO ENTERTAIN

Of the suggestions, the most common were: pay-in-proportion-to-what-you-earn meal tickets, coin changes in the dormitories, allotment of two provisions for more "open houses" in the school year.

Poll controversy discussed

"I feel the opinion poll had a tremendous influence on bringing about the debate between the administration, faculty and students." This was the words spoken by Student Senate president Louis Kanavati in reference to the recently conducted Student Senate-Administration meeting at which results of the recent opinion poll were discussed.

A COMMITTED appointed by the Student Senate wrote student and administration a letter offering to mediate and 835 students responded May 25 and 24 when the poll was held.

The Senate report of the Senate-Administration meeting is printed in the Tri-State Correspondent.

For the May 25 issue the Winonan felt that since the poll had been issued by the Student Senate, the percentage results would not be published until the senate evaluated them and released their evaluation.

"RESULTS of the poll are not being published this issue as the Senate felt statistical results were not concrete as a result of the questions not being administered, diluted. However, much information was and will be taken from the poll," according to John Rinn, Senator-at-Large, president-elect. It should definitely be noted that a poll, whether it was conducted by the Student Senate or any other group, was a means to a certain end. But, it is not the means, it is the end. This is not a great number enough to say this was the overall opinion of the student and faculty members, not to be taken lightly.

Edmo Roper in Saturday Review stated, "Self-Government existed when the majority of the public had its majorities the things that we believed in, and the people would approve."

"Also expressed the view that the average citizen was both more intelligent and less informed than was commonly thought, and that the first duty of the polls was to explore the ideas of public ignorance so that the response was very good, that many suggestions were made. Third, there was no sample control.

"It should definitely be noted that although polling the students and faculty for their opinions is an excellent idea, persons familiar with conducting surveys found the poll to be deficient in several respects. First of all, the questions were poorly and ambiguously phrased second there was an unavailability of sufficient responses in that those polled were forced to say "yes" or "no" and there was no in-between answer. There was no sample control."

Graduates secure future employment

A good number of the 1968 graduates have been able to re- ceive employment for the coming year, according to the Winona State College Bureau of Recom- mendations.

The following is a tentative list of the Bachelor of Science gradu- ates; all but five will be teaching next fall.

Reepke gave up the lone hit, Thomas run in the first inning, and then the Warriors exploded for four in the eighth inning to sew up the game. Pat Roland had double with bases loaded to give Winona State its first two runs. Then, with one out, Roepke walked to force in the third run, Al Cooervisor squeezed in a perfect squeeze bunt to score the last run of Winona State's four runs.

Groeb named new coach as Dr. McCown steps down

Dr. Lefler McCown, head baseball coach for twelve years at Winona State, has stepped down after the two run losses, holding a 3-1 lead after three innings.

The student body must begin to motivate the Student Senate. You must rectify your problems with the Student Senate, in order to get action.

GROEB, NAMED to succeed McCown, played first base under McCown for four years, compiling a .344 batting average. He also coached the Caledonia amateur baseball team for an average of 80-18 record.

Missouri Valley downed Superior, Wis., State to provide Winona with their second round foe. They also defeated Iowa Wesleyan, who faced Winona in the third game, and were the team to stop.

In the second game, against Superior, Barnette went the distance for the Warriors, giving up a run in the first inning, and then shutting them out the rest of the way. Winona garnered 10 hits, all singles, as they run up nine runs, holding a 3-1 lead after three innings.

In the nightcap, Winona took a 4-2 lead after four innings, but seven errors, and two four run innings by Iowans, proved too much, as Winona fell, 15-7.

Winona WRAPPED up its season with a 3-1-1 record. (Final)

WINONA STATE placed by assistant coach, Gary Groeb.

S.S. president gives opinion

WE HAVE A GREAT bunch of kids here at Winona State College. Everybody around here is really nice, but I wonder if being too nice tends to slow down a student body.

A few weeks ago, six student senators and advisors traveled to Dickinson, North Dakota, for a Tri-State Student Government Convention. I really won't want to go into lengthy detail and state everything we learned, but I would like to mention one thing which impressed me more than anything else.

Generally speaking, most of the other student senators of other colleges were quite similar, with some having a little more aggressive ness than others. This is where I felt the WSC Student Senate was lacking. Then I asked myself, why are we like this? Why does the Student Senate at Winona State lack aggressiveness after comparing the personnel of both senates, I felt that our senators were just as capable, if not more so, than senators of other schools.

This is what really impressed me. I didn't find my answer to why we are lacking aggressiveness until last week, when three students came to the Student Senate meeting and wanted the Student Senate to take action on a certain issue, and they did. This made the Student Senate look important and aggressive, but was it the three students who agitated action through the Student Senate?

WHAT I'M TRYING to say is this: at Winona State College, the student body feels that the Student Senate is there to make all our decisions, take sides, when they are supposed to, and entertain the student body all times to make them happy!

Well, all I can say is that the student body cannot remain passive much longer, you must make us wake up! The Student Senate is only going to be as active as the student body makes them. Members of the Student Senate are only human. They are in charge of taking care of student problems, but if they see no problems or no one pushes them to find problems, as far as they concern themselves, there aren't any.

The student body must begin to motivate the Student Senate. You must rectify your problems with the Student Senate, in order to get action.

JUST TO SHOW you how interested our student body is, 85 of 400 juniors turned out for senior class elections. 190 of 700 freshmen turned out for the sophomore class elections. These results stick! We might as well drop these elections — actually they are worthless! For the school wide opinion poll taken for 2 days at 2 booths, only 25% of the student body was interested in stating what they felt were their problems on campus. Yet the student body continues to complain and criticize.

For next year, I'd hate to have the Student Senate try and shut down the throats of our student body, but if the student body doesn't wake up pretty soon, this is all the Student Senate may try to do.
