ACTION ON 79 LOCAL BILLS

Controversial Measures
Still Before Legislature

By ADOLPH JOHNSON
ST. PAUL (AP) — The Minnesota Legislature wound up the first half of its 1955 session this week with, as usual at this point, most of its major decisions yet to be made.

Behind it were completed action on 79 local, but time-consuming bills, with many more of the same kind nearly ready for final action. Behind it, too, was much ground-work on problems yet to be solved. Before it were decisions on appropriations and taxes, school aids, school district reorganization, welfare aids and election laws, labor laws and constitutional revision, and countless other matters.

Both in a majority leaders, Sen. Archie Miller, Hopkins, and Rep. Fred Cina, Aurora, were optimistic as the Legislature headed into its final eight weeks.

Ahead of Pace

"The Senate is well ahead of its pace of other years," said Miller, "and I am sure things will work out all right."

"The House is in good shape," reported Cina. "Committee work is coming along well. Most important bills are in, many have been heard and others soon will be."

"We will definitely finish our work on time, with a good program. We will vote the appropriations necessary to meet the needs of the state and the taxes to pay for them."

Miller sounded the same note when he said, with special reference to school aids, that "The Senate will not vote school aids that we cannot see the money to pay for."

The latest job for lawmakers was posed Friday by Gov. Freeman when he presented his proposals for reorganizing the state government.

His plan to consolidate state activities into 10 major departments for greater efficiency and economy was generally well received, in some cases enthusiastically. But many expressed the fear that because of its magnitude time would run out before the plan could be enacted.

In a week shortened by the Washington Birthday holiday, the Legislature received a report recommending establishment of a central water resources agency with expanded powers. The House adopted a resolution asking the University of Minnesota to televise all home athletic contests. The resolution was not offered in the Senate where it has been resisted strongly at recent sessions.

Civil Service Bill

The House Civil Administration Committee approved a bill to take the civil service director out of the classified civil service and make him an appointee of the governor.

The House completed legislative action on a resolution asking Congress to grant statehood to Alaska and Hawaii, and the Senate approved one asking Congress to help open eastern markets to Minnesota dairy products.

Committee hearings were begun on the fair employment practices bill and the withholding plan for collecting state income taxes.

The first major appropriation bill of the session was introduced in the House.

The Senate Education Committee killed a bill for state aid for junior colleges.

That proposal joined a lengthening list of measures which have met this fate. Others include party designation for legislators, full powers of arrest for state liquor agents, and cutting the voting age to 18.

The first money bill to be completed calls for an allotment of $2,117,758 for a number of activities paid for in part from state funds.

Many legislators were hopeful that the fact the total was $129,000 less than was granted for the same purpose two years ago might indicate a trend which would ease the tax-raising problem.

Other money bills are in preparation and most of them are expected to be finished in the next three or four weeks.

$20 Tax Cut
Bill Ready for Senate Study

Senator Byrd's
Committee Will Open
Hearings Monday

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — A proposed $20-a-person income tax cut voted by the House yesterday headed today for an uncertain reception within the Senate Finance Committee.

Chairman Byrd (D-Va.) called for testimony Monday by Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey. Byrd, who opposes the reduction, announced he would try to get a committee vote on the bill then to bring it before the Senate next week.

In addition to the proposed $20 slash effective next Jan. 1, for each taxpayer and each of his dependents, the measure would continue corporate income taxes at 52 per cent instead of permitting them to drop to 47 per cent on April 1. It also would extend excise taxes on liquor, tobacco, gasoline, automobiles and other items at present levels.

Byrd said he believes the committee will strike out the Democratic-sponsored income tax cut which survived a 210-205 House vote before that chamber passed the bill 242-175.

But Sen. George (D-Ga.), on whom Byrd was counting heavily as an ally, said in a separate interview that he wants to canvass the situation thoroughly before he decides what steps to take.

This statement represented an apparent change in views by the Georgia senator since President Eisenhower last Wednesday denounced the income tax cut as "reaching some kind of heights in fiscal irresponsibility."

Previously George had said that he considered the proposal "unwise and unfortunate" at this time.

House Democrats, headed by Speaker Rayburn of Texas, tightened their lines after Eisenhower's statement and won what many of them considered a political victory over the administration.

On the key 210-205 vote, the tax cut was supported by 205 Democrats and 5 Republicans, and opposed by 18 Democrats and 189 Republicans.

He told newsmen while visiting at Gettysburg, Pa., that "the very closeness" of the House vote encouraged him to believe the Senate will kill the proposal.

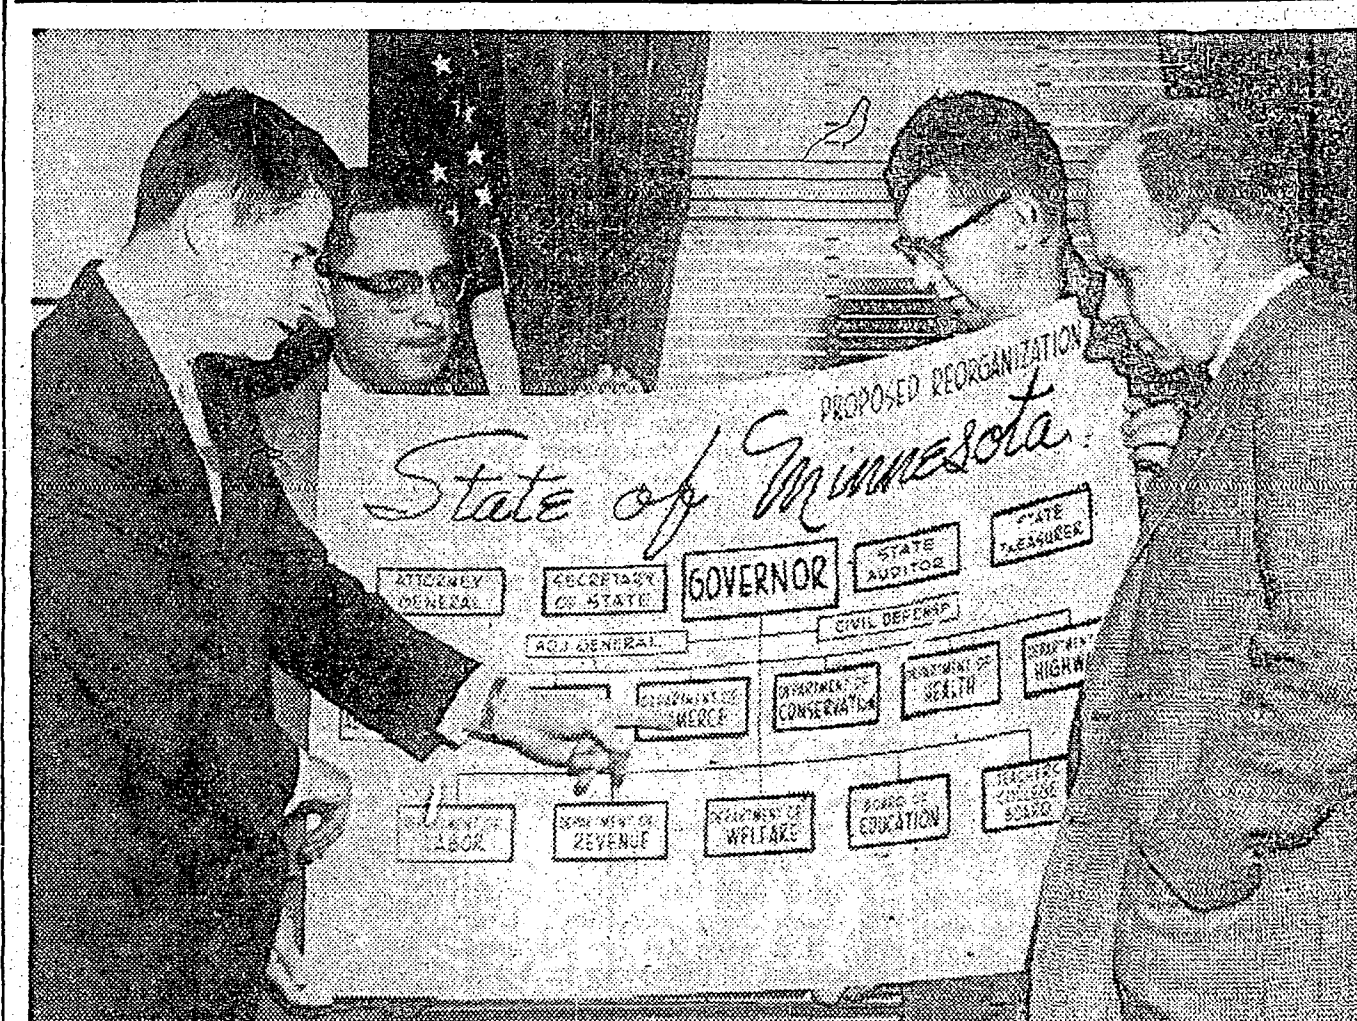

Vote in House

The vote by which the house today defeated a Republican motion to strike a $20 individual income tax reduction from a bill extending excise and corporate tax rates included:

Minnesota: For — Marshall, Andersen, Judd, O'Hara, Against — Blatnik, Knutson, McCarthy, Wier.

Wisconsin: For — Byrnes, Laird, O'Konski, Van Pelt, Davis, Withrow. Against — Johnson, Reuss, Zablocki. Paired for — Smith.

Orville Freeman, who proposed the plan; Arthur Naftalin, state commissioner of administration and "the man behind the plan;" Rep. D. D. Wozniak of St. Paul, and Sen. Gordon Rosenmeier, Little Falls. Jury Acquits
Man on Charge
Of Killing Wife

Crowd Jams Court
Corridor in Memphis, Tenn.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A jury today found Eugene D. Haas, 26, of Frazee, Minn., innocent of a charge he slaughtered his sickly wife in a bloody climax to an unhappy marriage.

The decision was reached late Friday night but held over until court convened this morning. The courtroom was cleared of spectators to forestall a demonstration.

The crowd jamming the corridors outside the courtroom cheered and applauded when told the verdict by newsmen.

Haas sat stunned for a full 30 seconds after the verdict was read. Then he turned and embraced his father, Ervin Haas, 55, sitting next to him. Both broke into tears.

The verdict was announced at 9:40 a.m. It came after 13 hours of deliberation. Haas, neat in Navy blue dress, had sat through the three-week trial cool and unruffled. His lawyers, who had expected a quick decision became restive as the wait dragged on but beamed when the verdict came in.

Tough Grind

The state, in a circumstantial evidence case, argued that Haas hacked up his wife's body and hid the pieces. Only the head was found—about a month after Haas reported his ailing wife missing.

The defense hammered on what it called the "ancient doctrine of reasonable doubt," and said the state proved only that Myrtle Haas died of violence but could not show who killed her.

T. V. Carpenter, the jury foreman, said, "It was a tough grind. Everyone took it very seriously." He declined to elaborate on the deliberations.

Haas was apparently unworried as he waited for the verdict. "Why should I worry and sweat?" asked Haas Friday. "I am innocent. I have a clear conscience. I believe right always comes out best."

The all-male jury received the case late Thursday night.

In closing arguments, the state said Haas had been proven guilty beyond a reasonable doubt and asked the death penalty. The defense countered that all prosecution evidence was based on "prejudice and speculation."

Haas, stationed at the nearby Memphis Naval Air Station, reported his wife missing Oct. 26. On Nov. 28, two hunters found a skull, later identified by the state as part of Mrs. Haas' body in a field near the naval base. Scattered nearby were bits of human tissue, clothing and a .22-caliber rifle which belonged to Haas.

Trial Began Feb. 7

The trial began Feb. 7. A week was required to seat a jury. The state's evidence admittedly was circumstantial and most prospective jurors said they would oppose a death penalty based on such evidence.

A pathologist testified that Mrs. Haas had been shot twice in the head, brutally beaten on the face and her head severed from the body with a hatchet.

Probably the strongest state testimony came from Mrs. Haas' pastor, the Rev. John Sivley, at Episcopal rectory. He told the jury that Haas told him Nov. 20 his wife's head had been found and identified, although the head actually was not discovered until eight days later.

Haas denied making such a statement and said the pastor must have the conversation "mixed" up with later events.

The defense produced six witnesses who said they saw Mrs. Haas alive on dates ranging from Oct. 27 to Nov. 6. The state contends she was slain Oct. 25.

The defense arguments rested chiefly on two points: 1. That Mrs. Haas was seen alive after the date the state says she was murdered. 2. She could have been attacked and devoured by packs of wild dogs that roam near the air base.

Virginia Man Kills
2 in Shooting Spree

APPOMATTOX, Va. (AP) — An Appomattox man early today shot and killed two men, police said, then fought a savage 90-minute gun battle with nearly 30 officers before he was wounded and captured.

Police said Frank Mayberry, 49, first shot his brother-in-law, then felled a physician who was called to the scene. Mayberry was charged with two counts of murder. He denied the shootings.

Authorities said they knew of no motive for the wild shooting spree, at the nearby south central Virginia village of Evergreen.

The dead were Jack Tucker, about 40, and Dr. David A. Christian III, about 34.

During the gun battle that followed the twin killings, police besieged Mayberry with hundreds of rounds of ammunition, tear gas bombs and flares.

Officers swarmed over Mayberry after he was toppled by four wounds from a shotgun blast fired by David T. Robertson, Appomattox county sheriff. Mayberry's wounds were not serious and he was held in the county jail here under heavy guard.

Vincent Spezzano, reporter-ph.ographer for the Lynchburg (Va.) News, questioned Mayberry as he was being handcuffed by police.

"I asked him why he shot Tucker," Spezzano said. "He denied shooting him. I asked him if he shot the doctor. He said he didn't shoot anybody."

SHOWDOWN
Near on Quemoy

By JOSEPH ALSOP
TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Another important offshore island is gone. After having been refused American help to defend Nanchishan, the Chinese Nationalist government has abandoned Nanchi to the Communists.

This is a drastic change of plan. Evacuation of the civilian population of Nanchishan began soon after the retreat from the Tachens. But the island's military garrison was supposed to defend the place to the death.

For the American policymakers, the abandonment of this pretty little islet 60 miles or more south of the Tachens will be an event of high significance. On the one hand, it vastly increases the likelihood of an early Communist attack on the offshore islands which have been given an on-again-off-again guarantee by the Eisenhower administration. Unless the wisest Chinese and Americans here are unanimously mistaken, the President's willingness to assist the defense of Quemoy and the Matsus should soon be put to an acid test.

On the other hand, precisely because an early attack on Quemoy or the Matsus is now much more probable, the time available for negotiating a cease-fire in the Formosa Strait is probably much reduced.

In high Chinese quarters here, it is believed that in Bangkok, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is promising Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden full American backing, if Britain can trade the rest of the offshore islands for a reasonably guaranteed cease-fire. But as both the Chinese Communists and the Chinese Nationalists have bitterly denounced the whole idea of such a trade, a good deal of time is surely needed for the trading.

Bitter Pill

From the Chinese standpoint, meanwhile, the evacuation of Nanchishan is a bitter pill, made all the more unpalatable by the claims that the place would be held at all costs. The pill has been swallowed for two quite different reasons.

First and foremost, the generalissimo and his colleagues are very far from averse to bringing near the moment for the final test of the Eisenhower administration's real intentions regarding Quemoy and the Matsus. Although the Chinese profess confidence in public, they are venomous in private about the uncertainty of American policy. And they are not at all averse to cutting down the available time for cease-fire negotiations.

The position of Nanchishan has now become militarily untenable without American aid. Our help in defending Nanchi was urgently requested and not for the first time — during the evacuation of the Tachens. Our refusal of aid and the subsequent rapid Commun-

Tenant Farmer
Held After Beating
Wife, 2 Children

POPLARVILLE, Miss. (AP) — A 30-year-old tenant farmer was held today on charges of assault and battery with intent to kill after beating his wife and two children with a shotgun and a chair arm.

Sheriff Buford Walker said Chester Thrash fired the shotgun into the ceiling Thursday and then used it to beat his wife. The sheriff said 75 stitches were required to close the wounds on her head.

The sheriff said Thrash then used the chair arm to beat his two children, Linda Gale, 13, and Gary Lyn, 11. Walker said 125 stitches were required to close the wounds on her head.

The sheriff said Thrash then used the chair arm to beat his two children, Linda Gale, 13, and Gary Lyn, 11. Walker said 125 stitches were needed to close the cuts on the girl's head and 75 were needed to close the boy's wounds.

Hospital attendants reported the three in serious condition last night, Walker said. In addition to the head wounds, Walker said they suffered numerous bruises and lacerations.

Walker said an argument developed between Thrash and his wife after they had been drinking.

1,300 Marines
Leaving Korea

SEOUL (AP) — About 1,300 troops of the 1st Marine Division boarded Navy transports in Inchon Harbor today and will leave Korea "sometime this weekend," the 8th Army announced.

An Army spokesman said it would be the second contingent of Leathernecks from the division's 5th Marine Regiment to leave for Camp Pendleton, Calif. The spokesman said 2,000 Marines had left aboard Navy ships two days ago and would arrive at San Diego simultaneously with the second group.

Rescuers on Way
Toward Snowbound
Wyoming Families

GILLETTE, Wyo. (AP) — Snowplow and helicopter crews returned early today to their battle with wind and cold to reach perhaps a dozen families marooned by huge snowdrifts in northeastern Wyoming.

Although there was some fresh snow during the night, none of the families was considered in danger and all were believed to have enough food.

Similar efforts continued across the state around Rawlins in the southwest to get feed to thousands of sheep likewise stranded by a blizzard last weekend and continuing bitter weather.

Campbell County Commissioner Quinton Marquis reported roads were opened to one ranch before dark Friday in the rescue mission to an area about 15 miles north and east of here.

Two other ranches remained cut off.

National Guard trucks followed the snowplows with food and fuel, along with livestock feed. An undetermined number of livestock, believed to be mostly cattle, were affected in Campbell County.

Farther north, on the windswept ridge of the divide in southern Wyoming, an estimated 24,900 sheep remained trapped and hungry.

Red Gunboats
Shell Wuchiu,
Chiang Island

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Chinese Communist gunboats shelled the Nationalist island of Wuchiu last night but the Defense Ministry expressed belief it was not preliminary to an invasion attempt.

The Nationalist Ministry said the exchange of gunfire at tiny Wuchiu, 80 miles west of Formosa and less than a half square mile in area, broke out when 11 Communist gunboats and armed motorized junks happened to pass by.

A communiqué said two of the Red craft were damaged heavily.

In Taipei, Nationalist Premier O.K. Yui told the Legislative Yuan (Parliament) that Chiang Kai-shek's forces would "in no circumstances" give up Quemoy and the Matsus without a fight.

The Premier said those islands were vital to the defense of Formosa and the Pescadores and added that he believed American experts should agree. The United States is committed to defend unspecified areas which it deems necessary to the defense of Formosa and the Pescadores.

The Matsus are 100 miles west of Formosa's northern tip and straddle the approaches to the Communist port of Fochow, Quemoy, farther south, juts into the Red harbor of Amoy.

Wuchiu is in the Formosa Strait about 10 miles south of Red-held Nanchi Island.

The main value it would have for the Reds would be as propaganda, for they could then give the impression of making progress in their avowed plans to "liberate" Formosa.

Plane 'Explodes,'
2 Iowans Killed

DES MOINES (AP) — Two Des Moines men were killed today in the crash of their light plane. A witness said the craft "seemed to blow apart in the air."

The victims were Mr. Sgt. Max Hinkle, 43, a Marine reservist, and Carl William Thulin, 23, a Navy reservist.

The accident occurred shortly after daylight, just after the two had taken off for Lincoln, Neb., to attend military reserve meetings. Hinkle was a Marine in World War II and Thulin saw Korean War duty.

Hinkle was the pilot and owner of the plane.

Gene Lash of Commerce, six miles west of Des Moines, said he saw the plane circling above some trees "and then there was a flash and it seemed to blow apart in the air."

The plane did not burn after reaching the ground but its parts were scattered over a wide area.

German Socialists
Plan Fight to End

By GEORGE BOULTWOOD
BONN, Germany (AP) — Opposition Socialists rallied their forces today for a last ditch—but apparently hopeless—struggle to block the Paris treaties rearming West Germany.

As the parliamentary battle over ratification entered its third day, the clashing lawmakers faced the prospect of an all-night session before reaching a vote. All hope for French approval of German sovereignty and rearmament rested on the outcome.

Despite the fierceness of the fight, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer seemed certain of victory in his drive to push the pacts through the Bundestag, the lower House of the West German Parliament.

The Socialists virtually conceded defeat in advance by summoning party chiefs to a conference immediately after the close of debate "to consider the new political situation."

There was no clear indication when the final vote might come.

The House was scheduled to take a semifinal vote after all sections of the treaties have been discussed. Then Adenauer and Socialist party Chief Erich Ollenhauer were to make their last bid for support before the final ballot.

If approved, the ratification laws must be returned to the Bundesrat (upper House) for final action before being sent to President Theodor Heuss for his signature.

The four treaty laws before the Bundestag would:

1. End the 10-year Allied occupation of West Germany.
2. Authorize the Western Big Three Powers — France, Britain and the United States — to maintain armed forces in West Germany.
3. Admit West Germany into the 2-nation West European Union and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.
4. "Europeanize" the strategic Saar.

Rockies Cold,
Rest of U.S.
Has Mild Spell

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
It was mild winter weather over wide areas of the country today but the northern Midwest and sections of the Rockies were cold.

Warm, moist air from the Gulf spread over much of the Midwest and temperatures were from 20 to 30 degrees higher than yesterday morning from Texas northeast to the Great Lakes region. Readings in the 40s were reported northward to Des Moines and Chicago while it was 54 at Kansas City.

Mild weather also prevailed over most of the East and South with an early morning reading of 70 at Palm Beach, Fla.

The cold air moved southeastward into the Great Plains and Northern Rockies with the biggest temperature drops around 30 degrees in parts of Montana and Wyoming. One of the lowest readings was -9 at Grand Forks, N.D.

Temperatures were generally around normal from the Rockies westward, with freezing weather extended southward into parts of Nevada and Utah.

There were several wet spots. A belt of light rain extended from eastern Kansas through Missouri into Illinois with scattered areas of drizzle southward to the western Gulf of Mexico. Snow fell over the Northern Plains, the Northern Rockies and Pacific Northwest while showers were reported in the Far Southwest.

Eight Manila Pact Nations Stand United

BANGKOK (U) — The eight Manila Pact nations stood firmly today in the path of creeping Communism in Asia, confident their alliance could stop the Reds.

They showed their determination to fight aggression in a three-day conference that ended late Friday. Delegations from the United States, United Kingdom, Pakistan, the Philippines, Thailand, Australia, New Zealand and France hailed the organizational work as a positive step against stopping the Communists.

The conference showed the world that:

1. The United States means to stand behind its Asian allies militarily, economically, culturally and spiritually.

2. That the best defense against Communist aggression is the might of America's great fleet, Air Force and nuclear weapons in the Pacific and the military outlays to be expended by the seven other members of the alliance.

3. That not only will members of the Manila pact benefit economically from the organization but their neighbors in Asia will get help also.

4. That all the nations in the pact will cooperate closely in an effort to root out Communist subversion in each country and keep a sharp eye on the threatened nations in Asia not yet members of SEATO.

Father, Sick Child Use Porch Window To Escape Blaze

HERON LAKE, Minn. (U) — Fred Diemer used a porch window as an escape hatch for himself and an ill daughter late Friday when flames destroyed the family's home.

Diemer and his wife were doing chores when they smelled smoke. While Mrs. Diemer called the Heron Lake fire department her husband raced through the fumes to the second floor where Roxie, 7, was confined to her bed with a cold.

Diemer grabbed his daughter, stepped out on the upper porch and handed her down to his wife, then made his own way to safety.

The other six Diemer children were in school. Only a few pieces of furniture were saved from the blaze. The family planned to live temporarily in a vacant tenant home on their farm.

Second Judge Asked For South Minnesota

ST. PAUL (U) — Bills to add another district judge in southern Minnesota were introduced in both the House and Senate Friday.

Gen. Hull Will Retire From Far East Command

By C. YATES MCDANIEL

WASHINGTON (U) — The Army today announced the retirement April 30 of Gen. John E. Hull, U.S. and U.N. commander in chief in the Far East. His successor was not named immediately.

Hull will leave the Army after more than 37 years service and just one month before he would be subject to compulsory retirement.

Hull is the fourth Army general to hold the top command in the Far East, starting with Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

The announcement of his retirement, coming at a time when Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, second ranking U.S. commander in the Western Pacific, is in Washington, stirred speculation Taylor would succeed Hull.

The Defense Department has declined to comment on such published reports. It has also kept officially quiet about other reports that the top command in the Far East would pass to one of the other services, possibly the Air Force, now that there has been a large reduction in the number of Army troops stationed in Japan and Korea.

Village Up in Arms Over Pigeon Influx

HILLS, Minn. (U) — Local nimbros, aroused by an invasion of unwanted pigeons, bagged 65 of the birds and scared off some more in an impromptu hunt Friday afternoon.

Chris Sjolseth, village councilman who organized the shooting party, said the hunters got only "a few" of the several hundred birds he estimated had taken up residence here.

The council temporarily lifted the ban on shooting firearms in the village limits for the hunt. Sjolseth said plans were under way to electrocute, if possible, the remaining birds.

It was long believed that the Tory newspaper, the Royal American, suspended publication in New York City Aug. 1, 1948, but the New York Historical Society has acquired what it says is the only known copy of an issue published Aug. 7, 1873.

nist enveloping movements then sealed Nanchi's fate.

The enemy's enveloping movements have virtually encircled Nanchi by this time. To the south, halfway between Nanchi and Matsui, the Communists have put troops on the Taishan Islands. And Pekishan and the other little islands of Nanchi's own group, which lie just north of Nanchi, have also been occupied by the enemy.

For some time now, Nanchi has been garrisoned by a regiment of Chinese regular troops, but the defense of the place was always held to depend on the Tachens. Hence powerful defense positions have not been built.

Loss Air Balance

A hard fight for Nanchi might still have been attempted, however, if it were not for the local air balance. In theory, an air battle for Nanchi was feasible, since it is just about equidistant from the Nationalist air bases on Formosa and the Communist bases on the mainland.

But in practice, the Nationalists have only one fully operating wing of obsolescent P-47 jet fighters, plus another wing of Sabre jets which has now been sent into combat ahead of its training schedule. Their other planes are World War II types. In other words, the Nationalists do not have enough jet fighters to want to take on the much more numerous MIG 15's of the enemy.

Without a simultaneous attempt to control the air, any attempt to reinforce and supply Nanchi by sea would be a suicidal operation, especially for the rather weak Nationalist navy. With the Communists quite obviously preparing a rather triphibious operation like that which won them Yikiangshan, there were only two choices.

The generalissimo either had to sacrifice the Nanchi garrison for the sake of showing fight or order them to abandon Nanchi. His original intention to do the former may perhaps have been shaken by American advice to the contrary. But the desire to bring this crisis of the offshore islands to a climax, and so to forestall any effective ceasefire bargaining, quite certainly entered in, too.

The abandonment of Nanchi would always be a development of considerable local import, in and of itself. Fukien, the mainland province across the Formosa Strait, from which any attack on Quemoy, the Matsui or Formosa proper must be launched, is a geographical trap. Few decent roads cross the mountains that girdle Fukien. Any major military effort there pretty well has to be supplied by sea.

The evacuation of the Tachens unblocked the route for coastal traffic for many miles south of the big bulge of the Yangtze Delta. The evacuation of Nanchi will open the mouth of Wenchow Harbor and will unblock another long stretch for coastal traffic, right down to the neighborhood of the Matsui.

In the present circumstances, moreover, the abandonment of Nanchi has to be viewed against a background which gives it more than local import.

MIGs Move In

As previously reported by this correspondent, there was one big missing piece, until recently in the pattern of Communist aggressive preparations. Korea-hardened divisions and MIG 15's and other air strength had been massed in the Chekiang-Kiangsu region, threatening the Tachens. But no added strength had been redeployed into Fukien, to increase the threat to Quemoy and the Matsui.

This missing piece in the pattern is now being supplied. A Fukien air base which the Chinese Nationalist Air Force had regarded as not usable by jet planes, has already been occupied by a regiment of MIG 15's. Air reconnaissance also shows rapid installation of electronic equipment at this airfield. Intelligence which is incompletely confirmed but regarded as highly probable further indicates that at least two Korea-hardened divisions have now moved into Fukien.

In short, the only objective reasons for optimism are in process of being removed. And at the same time, the removal of Nanchi as a threat on the enemy's flank automatically makes an attack on the Matsui the most likely next order of business.

To be sure, both Americans and Chinese would rate an attack on Quemoy and/or the Matsui as much less likely, if the administration were not pursuing the tactics blandly described in Washington as "keeping them guessing."

If there were a firm American guarantee of the offshore islands, opinion here would be about evenly divided as to the odds for or against an attack.

Since American policy is unclear, however, the best opinion here is that the Communists will at least probe our intentions as to the "guaranteed" islands, perhaps drawing back after the first attack if the United States responds strongly and decisively.

Maybe the best opinion is wrong. Maybe the Communists will draw back now. Maybe a cease-fire will somehow be wangled at the last moment. But one thing is certain. The time of climax is now appreciably nearer.

Township Directors Of Farm Bureau Meet at Caledonia

CALEDONIA, Minn. (Special) — Russell Carlson, new Farm Bureau fieldman for this area, and Mrs. Lewis Minion, Windom, Minn., state women's committee director, spoke at a meeting of Houston County FB township directors here.

Eighty-five directors, chairmen of women's committee activities and their assistants representing nearly every township attended.

Al Huesmann, county president was toastmaster and challenged every member to acquire one new member, thus exceeding the 1955 membership goal.

Mrs. Minion explained that this year in place of the custard pie contest, the dairy products promotion project is the baking of a plain butter cake. Each adult is eligible. The final bake off, after township, county and district elimination, contests will be at the state fair. Recipes to be used may vary with the individual baker, she said, but the cake must qualify under the name of a plain butter cake. Mrs. Minion said the custard pie contest helped consume 15,000 dozen eggs, over 4 tons of lard and 52,000 pounds of milk.

Carlson said, "The future of the dairyman looks better than a year ago. Surplus stocks held by the government have been reduced through sales to foreign countries and more consumption in our country. Promoting the use of milk vending machines is essential in all schools."

A pot luck dinner preceded the business meeting. The Sophomore Drama Club of Loretto High School gave their version of "The Farmer's Daughter." The rural youth trio composed of Ardy's Omdot, Barbara Lee and Kathleen Skiffon, accompanied by Francis Joers, sang. Judy Hayes sang a solo. Mrs. Albert Holm of Spring Grove, gave comic readings. Community singing was led by Leroy Elkins.

Miss Patricia Ann Hutton, new home agent, was introduced. Wayne Hanson, county agent, spoke on the annual farm family tour which will be held this summer. The committee appointed was Mrs. Russell Senn and Arnold Veglahn, La Crescent; Elling Solum and Mrs. Gilman Myrah, Spring Grove; Mrs. George Kelly and Vincent Popp, Houston; Elmer Bunge, Eitzen; Carl Hartman, Hokah; along with agricultural teachers from Caledonia, Spring Grove and Houston and representatives of SCS, ASC, Farm Bureau and extension officials.

Announcement was also made that the district spring conference will be held at Caledonia March 17.

Air Force Flying Mankato Polio Victim to Omaha

MINNEAPOLIS (U) — Arrangements were completed today for an Air Force transport plane from Wold Chamberlain Field here to fly a Mankato polio victim to a respiratory center in Omaha.

Mrs. Selma Maxwell, formerly a patient at Sister Kenny Institute in Minneapolis, is expected to leave Mankato Sunday about 9 a.m. and arrive in Omaha 90 minutes later. She will use a portable chest respirator for the trip.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis arranged Mrs. Maxwell's trip after surveys showed that polio sufferers recovered more quickly when in the company of others similarly afflicted. The C47 to be used for the flight is part of the 514th Air Defense Group stationed here.

Well-Dressed Holdup Man Back To Tell His Story of Robbery

Clothes, Cars Attract Young Chicago Man

Cashed 1st Traveler's Check at Galesville, Authorities Told

By GORDON HOLTE
Daily News Staff Writer

A 32-year-old Chicagoan with a flare for fast cars and fine clothes was being questioned by authorities here today regarding last week's $1,360 holdup of the Winona Western Union office.

Slender, soft-spoken Robert Standish, whose previous holdup of a Western Union office in Illinois a little more than three years ago resulted in arrest and a prison term, was returned to Winona Friday night from Lima, Ohio, where he was taken into custody Monday.

In questioning by Sheriff George Fort and Chief of Police A. J. Bingold, Standish today told of using a toy cap pistol to obtain the $1,360 in travelers checks and about $6 in currency from two employees at the Western Union office in the late afternoon of Feb. 15.

Within five minutes after he sped away from the office in a stolen car, Standish had driven into Wisconsin, Sheriff Fort was told, and a short time later he had cashed the first of the stolen checks—at Galesville.

$840 of Loot Remains
When he was apprehended in Ohio Standish was found to be carrying $840 of the loot and had in his possession a quantity of merchandise—much of it clothing—which he had purchased with the checks.

Standish, who was returned to Winona in the custody of Deputy Sheriff John F. Jensen, is being held here on a charge of armed robbery and is expected to appear in municipal court next week.

Sheriff Fort said that he would be held at the county jail pending his arraignment in court. The prisoner was questioned by Chief Bingold at police headquarters this morning.

Standish said today that the day of the holdup was the first time he had ever been in Winona and added that he planned the robbery "because I was getting short of money and didn't want to pass any more checks."

He explained that in recent months he had cashed between 15 and 20 worthless checks—several of them in Rochester within a few days before his arrival in Winona—to finance the purchase of a foreign sports car and a trip into Iowa and Minnesota.

Released Last Christmas
Convicted previously on auto theft and assault charges, Standish told Sheriff Fort that he was released from the Joliet, Ill., state prison last Christmas where he had been sentenced to a 3-year term.

He went to Chicago, Standish said, and found that his wife, who had divorced him, had remarried during his stay in prison.

"I talked to her mother and she said that I couldn't see my daughter and I got to feeling pretty bad about it," Standish said.

Records carried by him show that he applied for unemployment compensation in Illinois earlier this month and it was sometime later that he purchased a 1951 Jaguar sports car for $1,400. He made a $200 down payment on the car with a $200 check he wrote on his father's account.

He drove this car as far as Waterloo, Iowa, where it broke down and he went to a used car lot where he asked to test drive a late model Chrysler. After driving the car out of the lot, Standish said, he continued on into Minnesota.

A receipt he was carrying at the time of his arrest indicated that he had checked out of a Rochester hotel Feb. 14 and he came to Winona the following day.

Made Several Bars
In Winona the prisoner said, he visited several downtown bars during the afternoon and finally determined that he would attempt the holdup at the Western Union office.

He said that he could not remember where he had purchased the cap pistol he used in the robbery but felt that he probably obtained it either at Rochester or Waterloo.

Asked by Sheriff Fort whether he was drunk at the time he went to the Western Union office at about 5:30 p. m. Standish replied, "I wasn't drinking down drunk but I had been drinking and could feel it."

He left his car in a parking area at the rear of the Western Union office, staged the holdup and fled through an alleyway at the east side of the building.

After first entering the alley,

Robert Standish, center, this morning was questioned by Chief of Police A. J. Bingold, left, and Sheriff George Fort, right, regarding the holdup of the Western Union office here last week. Standish, 32, developed the beard since he was taken into custody in Ohio last week. When he staged the $1,360 holdup in Winona Feb. 15 he was clean-shaven. (Daily News photo)

Standish said, "I came back once and looked into the window to see how fast they (the two company employees) were moving."

He said that when he noticed that Miss Ornet Koetz, 226 Market St., the clerk whom he ordered to get the checks, was reaching for a telephone to call police he raced through the alley to the car and drove away.

Standish cannot recall clearly the events that followed after he drove across the interstate bridge into Wisconsin and went to Galesville where he cashed the first check.

"I was pretty well loaded, I guess," the prisoner said, "but I think that somewhere along the way that night I stopped at a motel."

He said that he drove "in kind of a round-about way to Ohio" and arrived in Lima Feb. 18.

Receipts he was carrying indicated that he stayed at a hotel in Fond du Lac, Wis., where he registered as P. Hagen Feb. 17.

He was in Plymouth, Ind., the following day, it was indicated on a receipt from a service station where he had his car washed.

Angry Wife Blamed
Ironically it was an angry wife who was responsible for Standish's arrest near Findlay, Ohio, last Monday.

Standish said that he met another man in Lima and the two went out Sunday night.

They stayed out most of the night, Standish said, and when they returned home Monday morning his companion's wife began to upbraid her husband and Standish left.

Still angry, the wife called the Ohio state police, reported that Standish was drunk and was driving a car and gave authorities the license number.

It was near Findlay that police spotted the license number given them by the woman and Standish was stopped for drunken driving.

Sheriff Fort said that he was informed that the arresting patrolman ordered Standish into the squad car, then went back to Standish's automobile to turn off the motor.

The sheriff said that while the patrolman was walking away Standish attempted to drive away in the squad car but was stopped.

Taken to state police headquarters the prisoner was searched and the police became suspicious when they found the large number of travelers checks of various denominations. A later check indicated that the car he was driving had been stolen.

Equipment Operator
A high school graduate who completed several extension courses from the University of Illinois, Standish is experienced as a motor equipment operator and has worked at various times on excavation jobs.

He resided in Tacoma, Wash., for a time after serving for 4½ years in the Army during World War II. He was stationed for some time in Alaska. Following separation from the service he earned a student pilot's certificate in Washington.

At the time of his arrest Standish had signed several of the travelers checks preparatory to cashing them.

On six of the as yet uncashed checks of $20 denominations he had signed the name of John Hammel.

On the $10 checks he wrote the name of D. Barton.

Checks Recovered

A number of the checks cashed by Standish in the Lima area have been recovered.

These include a $50 check cash-

Wykoff Rider Falls on Ice, Seriously Hurt

WYKOFF, Minn. (Special)—A 14-year-old Wykoff farm girl was reported to be in serious condition at St. Olaf Hospital, Austin, at noon today from injuries received when she was thrown from a horse at 10:30 a. m. this morning.

Still unconscious at noon was Karen Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Anderson, whose farm home is located one mile east of Wykoff in Fillmore County. The attending physician said she has a skull fracture.

The girl had been riding her horse past the Wykoff Feed Mill when the animal slipped on a patch of ice and tumbled Karen head-first to the ground. The horse landed on top of her.

She was unconscious when employees of the feed mill discovered her moments later.

When attempts to reach a physician at either nearby Spring Valley or Preston failed (Wykoff has no doctor), Ralph Anderson, Wykoff undertaker (no relation) who operates an ambulance service, rushed the still-unconscious girl 38 miles to the hospital at Austin.

A report from the hospital at noon indicated that Karen was still unconscious upon arrival at 11:45 a. m.

She is a sophomore at Wykoff High School.

Fishing Very Good, 3 Winona Men Pay $189 Fines, Costs

WABASHA, Minn. (Special)—It cost three Winona fishermen just a little over a dollar a fish for the 172 game fish they had in their possession in justice court here Friday.

It all came about when the two friendly but dumb fishermen who were fishing near their turned out to be Gordon Ebel and Philip Ham, two Whitewater Wild Life Refuge wardens. Despite the fact that they used big corks and large hooks to catch sunfish, they knew the law.

On a plea of guilty, Justice of Peace Henry Kronebusch told the three fishermen—Richard, 22, and Lawrence Suchan, 30, 223 Mankato Ave., and Roman Gierok, 57½ West Bellview St.—that they had the choice of paying $60 fines each or serving 60 days in jail.

Richard, a Navy man home on leave, produced the $180 plus $9 costs—in cash.

The two refuge wardens were assisted in the case by Willis Kruger, Wabasha County warden, and Lloyd Billiar, refuge forester.

The sunfish limit is 25 per day. The fishermen were arrested in the Weaver area.

Forage Institute Held at Kellogg

KELLOGG, Minn. (Special)—More than 40 Wabasha County farmers turned out for an institute on forage at the auditorium here Friday.

Matt Metz, Wabasha County agent, was in charge. He was assisted by a panel of county farmers and two University of Minnesota extension specialists. Sessions started at 10 a. m. and lasted until 4 p. m.

Rodney Briggs, University of Minnesota agronomist, and Harold Jones, soils specialist, discussed crops and soils and Briggs rated forage samples brought in by the farmer-students.

Panelists were William Drysdale, Kellogg, who spoke on the glass silo; Marble and Byron Wood, Plainview, pit silage; Ed Bremer, Lake City, grass silage, and Meade Vermilya, Plainview, hay conditioners.

No Flooding Expected Here This Spring

Forecast Dependent However on Normal Precipitation Level

Precipitation during the next month will determine whether or not Winona and other areas of the surrounding Mississippi River district will have damaging spring floods.

A. D. Sanial, meteorologist in charge of the La Crosse district office, said today that damaging floods are not indicated in this river district unless an abrupt change takes place in the trend of precipitation.

No change is anticipated by the Weather Bureau at Washington, D. C. It forecasts normal precipitation for the Feb. 15 to March 15 period in the Minnesota region of the Upper Mississippi River district. Temperatures will be normal or slightly below.

The inevitable "if" is that should an extended warm period develop, it could quickly deplete the snow mantle throughout the district. But a quick thaw would cause trouble only the Black (Galesville) and Zumbro (Theilman) river areas.

Therefore, the forecast indicates rainfall in April and May will be the significant factors as was the case of a year ago.

Minnesota River

The Minneapolis Weather Bureau office noted that there is little snow in the Minnesota River valley and that it can be absorbed easily by the ground. Only bankful stages as the result of snow melt will be between Aitkin and Ft. Ripley. However, the April and May precipitation may change the situation.

Sanial noted that the current winter's precipitation is only 55 per cent of normal and the least in the 17 years he has prepared stream flow forecasts. He added that the second lowest total was recorded in the winter of 1939-40. In the spring of 1940, the maximum stage of the Mississippi River at La Crosse from snow melt was only 7.6 feet and the highest for May and June only 7.9 feet. Flood stage there is 12 feet.

The all-important "if" caused a lot of trouble in areas along tributaries and the Mississippi a year ago.

After the warmest, driest February on record, March of 1954 had 7 inches of snow and more than 12 inches of rain. April produced 4.51 inches of rainfall and other precipitation, and the Mississippi rose to a peak of 16.25 feet last May 7. (Flood stage here is 13 feet and the all-time high was 17.93 feet on April 20, 1952.)

After the 1954 spring flood, damage in Winona was estimated at $118,000, while the district sustained an estimated $758,300 loss as the result of the flooding. Durand, Wis., and the Chippewa River valley were hardest hit with losses set at $464,000.

10.6 Expected Here
A table based on present hydrologic conditions and moisture content of snow cover over the upper Mississippi basin and tributaries, indicates that the maximum river stage expected here this spring is 10.6 feet. A minimum of 9 feet and median of 9.6 feet also were forecast.

These contrast with the forecast of 9.2 a year ago and the actual maximum of 16.25 feet.

Trouble again may be in store for Durand residents, according to Sanial's forecast, with a maximum half a foot over the 11 foot flood stage expected. And a crest 3 inches over the 12-foot flood stage is forecast at GALESVILLE.

The only Minnesota community with a maximum over flood stage forecast is THEILMAN, where water is expected to rise a foot over the Zumbro River's 38-foot flood stage.

Reason behind the generally low river crest forecasts is the arithmetical average of precipitation and proportionate area coverage in the 60,000 square mile drainage area above La Crosse.

The variable factors are in precipitation between now and April 15, during which as much as 30 per cent additional precipitation could be added. It normally amounts to about 12 per cent.

Frost Shallow

Rainfall during September and October 1954 was considerably above normal, but the four preceding months were dry and below average. This produced a ground water table generally 4 inches higher than a year ago at the end of January, but due to a uniform snow cover this winter, frost depths are not excessive and will permit greater infiltration of melting snow this spring.

Sanial observed that by Feb. 15 a year ago, the snow depth was depleted to mere traces over the southern half of Wisconsin and in extreme southern Minnesota. Since there was no January thaw last month, the snow cover on Feb. 15 is generally greater this year.

Home heating has been affected, too. Sanial reported that through Feb. 22, the accumulation of heating degree days was 5,157 compared with 4,553 at this time a year ago. This represents a required fuel increase of 13 per cent in the area.

Peak stages for Mississippi River and tributary streams, listing the flood stage, median and maximum depths anticipated, are as follows:

Actors Agree Dogs, Children Scene Stealers

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — Film actors agree on one thing—avoid playing scenes with dogs and children; they'll steal you blind.
Yet here is a Broadway star who appears set for a career with a boy and a dog—and a scene-stealing old man as well. What's more, she loves it.
She's Jan Clayton, the winsome star of "Carousel" and "Show Boat" in New York and "Guys and Dolls" on the road. She appears in the TV series "The Adventures of Lassie" with the clever collie, Tommy Rettig and George Cleveland.
"I couldn't be happier," she said at her sumptuous home overlooking the San Fernando Valley. "That dog is a tramp at heart—a real character. Tommy's just about the brightest kid I've ever known, yet not precocious like some child actors. And old George is a great guy; I've learned a lot about acting from him."
It's lucky that she likes the series, because Jan seems set with Lassie for a long spell. She has made 26 of the telefilms and will start another 39 this spring.

Actor's Marriage Hits Rocks, Son's Then Follows Suit

SANTA MONICA, Calif. — The marriages of the Edward G. Robinsons, both Sr. and Jr., have hit the rocks.
Edward Sr., the movies' "Little Caesar," was sued here yesterday by Gladys Robinson, 59, after 28 years of marriage. She accused him of "destroying my happiness" and "destroying the legitimate ends of matrimony." She charges mental cruelty.

A few hours later the wife of Edward Jr., Frances Christine Robinson, 24, instructed her attorney, S. S. Hahn, to bring suit for divorce next Monday on grounds of incompatibility.
"We'll try to get the divorce as quietly as possible so far as the accusations are concerned," Hahn said.

Mrs. Robinson Sr. yesterday asked temporary alimony and half of community property which she values at $3,500,000.
The movies' tough guy married the former Gladys Cassell of New York City in 1927 in Medina, Pa. She was known professionally as Gladys Lloyd.

The 61-year-old actor stated through Warner Brothers Studio, "this is a tragic occurrence after many years of marriage... there is a possibility that we may resolve our differences. At least, that is my hope."
The Robinsons have had one of filmdom's longest marriages. The divorce came as a big surprise to Hollywood.

Mrs. Robinson said she will leave Hollywood and spend six months at Laguna Beach, Calif., and then go to Italy's Grillo Palace on the Adriatic Sea.

Her suit listed among the joint assets $1,700,000 in furnishings and paintings and her $175,000 Beverly Hills home. She said they also have two cars, bank accounts, and $263,000 in bonds, stocks and insurance.

Robinson, a noted art patron, has a large collection of paintings, including the works of Van Gogh, Cezanne, Renoir, and Gauguin.
Robinson Jr., 22, and his TV actress wife were married in 1952. They separated for the first time last June but were reconciled.

Hahn said the couple remained together three months. "When young Robinson failed to keep his promise to stop drinking, they separated again," he said.

The young couple faced problems from the start. Robinson Sr., learning of his son's elopement to Tijuana, Mexico, stopped the latter's $70 weekly allowance and ordered the newlyweds out of his Beverly Hills home.

Robinson Jr. subsequently was arrested on a charge of issuing checks to defraud. The charges were dismissed. Drunk arrests followed and last December robbery charges against the youth were dismissed in court here. The elder Robinsons stood by their son during the legal tribulations.
The young couple has a 22-month-old daughter.

Ogden Nash Makes Living as a Poet

By EARL WILSON
NEW YORK — When you watch Ogden Nash on "Masquerade Party," you may find it hard to believe that here's a man who really makes a living as a poet.
"But that's the old backbone," the 52-year-old bard from Baltimore and Boston told me recently.
"I have enough books that keep selling to give me an income. TV, and testimonials and lectures are the gravy."
You'll notice the non-poetic character of his speech. Yet his "Candy is dandy but liquor is quicker" poem has undoubtedly been recited (correctly) by more people than have recited "Thanatopsis" (correctly).
Of course it is shorter.
And did the Garden Clubs ever reprint Shakespeare? They reprint one of Nash's poems:
"I think that I shall never see
A billboard lovely as a tree
Perhaps unless the billboards
fall
I'll never see a tree at all."
Nash, a six-footer with mouse-colored hair and a quiet, retiring manner, went around for years hearing himself quoted—but rarely recognized except by people who'd heard him lecture.
Now even the cab drivers know him.
"That was a good show, Ogden," they tell him, as they drop him off at the Harvard Club (he was at Harvard a year, then quit to go to work) or at the Coffee House, his only other club.
A sensitive fellow, Nash is often pained—afterward—by something he's said on TV.
"You'll make jokes in front of millions of people that you would make in your own home," he said.
"Once in a while the producer in his demagogical way will give you a question to ask that makes you out a damn fool."
Without tipping off the answers, producers do sometimes suggest humorous questions before the show.
"When Dagmar was on," confessed Nash, "I was requested to ask her, 'Is your bust in Westminster Abbey?'"
He feels that whatever answers he gets on the program are flashes of luck.
"Sometimes, no matter how the person's dressed, he betrays himself with some little gesture. Still, I'd done 42 weeks on the air with Guy Lombardo and I didn't recognize him. He was supposed to be an Eskimo. It was one of the hottest days of the year and he had on about 500 pounds of fur."
Nash is happy about the TV, because poetry isn't printed as widely in the magazines as formerly. The Saturday Evening Post and The New Yorker are still good markets. Three years ago he received four figures from Life for a long poem. Years back, when times were hard, he wrote verse for laxative ads.
Besides TV, lecturing and poetry-writing, Nash is completing a show which is as irregular in idea as some of his meter.
"It's based on the assumption that George Washington, when offered the Crown by England, took it and became king. So America is a monarchy—and there's a Princess—and a guy from Arizona wants to make it a republic."
Through all this activity, Nash's face is probably better known than any other poet's. Not long ago, after a TV show, he gave an autograph, and then heard one kid say: "Who'd you get?"
"I got no idea," said the other boy, "but he was easier to get than Perry Como."

THE WEEKEND WINDUP . . .
"DON'T PRINT THAT!" A TV and movie star, whose home was burgled four times, can't get insurance here any more; she gotta get it from Lloyd's, at hiked rates . . . A new playwright with a hit show is borrowing money from friends. (His money's frozen overseas.)
Gene Tunney will appear in a comic strip . . . Celebrity Service's information book lists its Beverly Hills office phone incorrectly . . . Audrey Hepburn and Marion Marlowe were together in a musical revue, "Sauce Tartars," in London in '48 . . . Ted (Amateur) Mack's preparing to buy a summer camp for boys.
Romayne Simpson, the ex-Marchioness of Milford-Haven, will marry socialist Walter Nichols . . .
Lily Pons calls her Palm Springs home "Pons Springs" . . . Philip Pine's deal with Hal Wallis for the movie, "Stone for Danny Fisher," was signed in a N.Y. Autom . . . Remember Stepin Fetchit? He's now a songwriter.
TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Carolyn Scott explained "Smokers Anonymous." When you get the urge to smoke, they send over two guys who sit with you all night—until you all get drunk.
WISH I'D SAID THAT: "Teen-agers should get nine hours in bed and most do—six hours in bed and three hours in class."—Charles Knouse.
Taffy Tuttle told Myron Cohen why she dated a certain guy: "He may not be handsome, but his money is so good-looking." That's early, brother.

Churchill Tells BBC to Keep Out Of Political Debates

By TOM OCHILTREE
LONDON — The British Broadcasting Corp. has had a clear warning from Prime Minister Churchill to keep its place and avoid overshadowing Parliament.
Churchill—a House of Commons man for half a century and its star performer—says he never will permit the government-controlled BBC to drain away any of the Parliament's dignity and prestige by serving as a rival forum for topical debates.
As the situation stands, his Conservative party and the opposition Laborites have entered into a gentlemen's agreement with BBC not to broadcast or televise debates on any subjects due to come up in Parliament within two weeks.
This ban has resulted in the BBC dropping discussion programs the past few days dealing with the hydrogen bomb and price fixing. Newspapers of various political views and some members of both parties have objected. They claim the gentlemen's agreement is strangling BBC. The ban particularly annoys Parliament members who regularly appear on TV and radio.
The House of Commons adopts legislation. But unlike the U.S. Congress, this putting of new laws on the statute books is not always regarded as the House's most important function.
It serves as a great debating forum where the often conflicting opinions of the nation can receive an airing and as a place where the actions and policies of the Cabinet can be subjected to close questioning.
In Churchill's view, one forum at the center of the nation's affairs is enough.

Iraq, Turkey Settle Details Of Defense Pact

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP)—Iraq and Turkey applied the final binders today to their new mutual defense alliance, despite mounting Arab opposition.
The Parliaments of both nations were expected to give speedy approval to the pact signed in Baghdad Thursday by Premiers Nuri Said of Iraq and Adnan Menderes of Turkey.
Meanwhile, Iraq attempted to soothe her ruffled partners in the eight-nation Arab League with assurances the treaty pledges both sides to guarantee "enforcement of United Nations resolutions on the Palestine question."
U.N. resolutions include recommendations that Jerusalem be internationalized and that Israeli finally liquidate the 1948 state of war by signing peace treaties.
The Iraqi government also disclosed that the pact leaves the way open for all Arab Asian states and "other countries concerned with security of the area" to join the pact designed to bolster the Middle East against Red aggression. This could include the United States and other Western nations.
Egypt, which has strongly opposed any Arab participation in East-West quarrels has served notice she will call a meeting of the Arab League and demand that Iraq be thrown out of the Arab security alliance.

Red Literature Going Back to Propaganda Role

WASHINGTON (AP)—New evidence appeared today that Russian literature is being forced back into purely propaganda service of Stalinist days.
There was a time under former Premier Georgi Malenkov when it looked as if the boy-meets-girl theme which the rest of the world enjoys would be given a free rein also in the Soviet Union.
Russian writers in public conferences recognized that love has a place in literature as well as life. They were cautiously encouraged to develop the time-honored theme of romance and even to explore now and then some new ideas in writing.

That was a radical change from the days of Joseph Stalin when Communist party pressures left the writer only the function of serving as a propagandist for Stalinism.
But the old idea seems to be coming back under the post-Malenkov leadership dominated by Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev.

In an editorial, the Communist party newspaper, Pravda, on Feb. 22 asserted bluntly:
"Soviet literature in all fields should fully meet the demands of the policy of the Communist party and should contribute toward the implementation of this policy."

VOICE of the OUTDOORS

Winter Wonderland
Trempealeau Valley, especially its lower reaches is one of our most attractive areas scenically. In summer, this area offers no finer scenic trip than up to Fountain City along the north rim of this valley to Arcadia and back over Highway 93 as it crosses the Tamarack range into Centerville.

Winter, the above picture shows, does not spoil this scenic richness. Taken on the Pine Creek road looking down toward Dodge, the view has the striking beauty of a distant foothills and forested lowlands. The road in the immediate foreground, bordered with the reflective white of the birch is an avenue inviting exploration and perhaps adventure.

It is here that the cottontail rabbit ventures forth to romp in the moonlight, and the ambitious gray fox, not satisfied with its regular diet of field mice, gives chase, or the bluejay screams a warning as you hike up the hill in the afternoon. Two pairs of cardinals head it and flash across the gray-white background.

Hiking in winter may not flush as much action as in summer, but it does possess a restful stillness found outdoors at no other period of the year. The forest around you is in deep sleep. It takes quite a breeze from the frozen branches of the tree to creak musically.

But tracks in the snow, especially if it is freshly fallen and on the ground overnight, tell the tales of much active life. It is difficult to read them all, but a bit of study will identify quite a few to the average outdoor hunter. Occasionally something unusual catches the eye—a spot where a deer bedded down for the night or where snow fleas marred the newly fallen snow. Anyway, a winter hike can be restful, vigorous and educational.

Trout Stocking

At this season of the year more and more fishermen turn their thoughts to the trout problem. Right now in Wisconsin, area fish biologists are making sportsmen's club meetings explaining the trout program and urging more trout rearing ponds maintained by such groups. Following is a summary of the Conservation Department's thinking on trout today:
A total of 26 conservation departments were last year stocking legal-sized trout directly for the creel, an expensive procedure but one with an assured and immediate result. Trout are being raised to three years of age before release in some areas.

Federal aid has made it possible for all states to undertake fact-finding with revolutionary changes in fish management operations. No state now rests entirely on blind stocking and regulation as the way to better trout fishing. There is a decided decline in the stocking of warm water fish.

Areas that have gone into extensive research on trout are in general agreement. Trout of any size stocked in trout streams are short-lived. Trout stocked in suitable lakes where competing fish have been removed make a remarkable growth through a comparatively long life if not caught. Such trout usually do not reproduce and fish-fishing depends on rearing pond replacements.

Alberta finds that the big problem in converted trout lakes is the survival of big uncatchable trout. Fishermen may take 80 per cent of the original stocking, 50 per cent of the second and none of the third. The reason, it says, is that the fish that escape from the early stocking grow to a size where they can readily eat all of the new fish introduced.

Some of the fish management men are unimpressed by the cost figures cited as to stocking for the creel. They point to the years of blind stocking of newly hatched fish with little if any return.

Ike Careful in Picking Paint for Gettysburg Barn

THURMONT, Md. (AP)—President Eisenhower, an amateur artist of note, probably never took more care with an oil portrait than he did in selecting the color he wants his barn painted.

The barn is on his 189-acre farm at nearby Gettysburg, Pa., and the shade he chose—with Mrs. Eisenhower's approval—is a pale greyish green, with a white trim.

The President spent five hours at the farm yesterday inspecting the nearly completed new home he and Mrs. Eisenhower are building on the historic Civil War battlefield, and going over repair work on the big old barn, now a weather beaten red.

When it got too dark to see much around the place, the chief executive and the First Lady drove 25 miles for a weekend of rest at their rustic lodge here in Maryland's Catoctin Mountains.

While Mrs. Eisenhower and New York interior decorator Elizabeth Draper planned furnishing of the new home, he wandered down to take a look at the barn.

He found the painters applying a coat of primer white over the red and experimenting with a yellowish green trim. The chief executive had a different idea.

"What I had in mind," he told building contractor Charles Tompkins of Washington, "was a grey green with a white trim."

Then he thought of his wife and added with a laugh: "I'll have to ask Mrs. Ike. She'll have the last word on it."

He went to work with one of the painters on the color he wants.

Forty-five minutes and several mixtures later, Eisenhower finally was satisfied. And he had the painter try some of the presidential concoction on the side of the barn.

Then he hiked back to the house and had Mrs. Eisenhower take a look out the window.

A moment later he reported the First Lady thought the shade was "just right."

His parting shot to the painter was: "Let your artistic sense be your guide."

Japanese industries produced $6,745,000 worth of armaments for U.S. troops in Japan during 1952, more than 99 per cent of it ammunition.

Klavestad Report Shows Work Done For State in '54

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—Cost of work done by the Trempealeau County highway department for the state in 1954 including general maintenance, winter maintenance and advance construction was estimated at $154,081.55, according to the annual report Highway Commissioner Jens Klavestad, Whitehall, submitted to the county board of supervisors.

Of the total, $141,656.08 was refunded by Dec. 31, 1954, leaving $12,425.47 as the balance due from the state. The total also included $8,358.52 in 1953 maintenance paid in 1954.

Among the general maintenance jobs performed were replacement of the Bibby Bridge on State Highway 54, at cost of $14,186.43; replacing the Glasgow Bridge on the same highway, $10,819.77; repairing concrete pavements, $5,023.62; raising the Sakrisson Bridge on Highway 93, $3,147.86; widening the Suttie Bridge on Highway 54, $3,935.83; placing sand lift and cleaning ditches on Highway 93, $5,048.74; similar work on Highway 35, $2,174.01; repairing a 48-inch culvert on Highway 95, $2,254.42; putting in a temporary Bailey bridge on Highway 93, $1,830.53 and rip-rapping bridge 17 on Highway 53, $1,581.14.

Three federal aid secondary projects were listed in the commissioner's report. The contract has been let for the construction of the bridge across the Trempealeau River on County Trunk P in the town of Dodge. It is a joint Buffalo-Trempealeau county project.

Right-of-way has been purchased and other preparations made for the opening of bids for construction of the bridge on County Trunks D and T in the Town of Ettrick. Another federal aid secondary project this year is the Farmers School Bridge on County Trunk X in the Town of Burnside.

Total expenditures for county trunk maintenance in 1954, were $121,082.86, the report said.

Author to Speak At TC on Monday

Donald Berwick

Donald Berwick, author, editor, lecturer and teacher, will be the speaker at Winona State Teachers College Monday at 9:50 a.m. in Somsen Hall auditorium.

His topic is "Notes and Comments."

Since the end of World War II and with it his service as a U.S. naval officer, Berwick has maintained three careers simultaneously as author, editor and teacher.

As a writer, his stories and articles have appeared in some of America's best-known periodicals. As an editor, he has served on the staffs of the New Yorker, Esquire, Newsweek and Look. His teaching assignments have included Temple University, New York University, the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, and the Rocky Mountain Writers Conference.

Ad Alley Pickups

Saturday, Feb. 26, 1955

A brief mention of interesting items about people, business places and campaigns as compiled by The Winona Daily News ad department.

in recognition of exceptional ability in the field of drug store merchandising and unusual initiative in displaying and selling Rexall products

Frank Speed, member of the sales staff at Ford Hopkins Service Store, is the proud recipient of the above Rexall Citation of Merit awarded by the Rexall Drug Co. Joe Sichter, store proprietor, said the award was made in recognition of Speed's "sincere enthusiasm and desire to serve" and "in acknowledgement of unusual initiative." Only a limited number of sales-people in the ten thousand locally-owned Rexall Drug stores receive this citation each year, no Speed can be justly proud of the award.

The F. A. Krause Co., local feed and implement store, now gives stamps with each purchase, which are redeemable on gift items in the store. The store puts a new twist in the saying of "getting interest on the money you SAVE" by inserting in their classified ads the line "We pay you interest on the money you SPEND!" More information about this new stamp plan can be obtained at the store.

Bob Macone, manager of the local Gamble Store, recently attended a two-day meeting at Minneapolis where he and other store managers from eight states saw new and seasonal lines of merchandise which will soon be featured at all Gamble Stores. Macone announced that many lines of merchandise have been reduced in price, and that this spring Gambles will have available a new Ship-Direct discount catalog that will present tremendous savings for their customers. At the Minneapolis meeting it was announced that shoppers are turning more and more to Gambles for their needs, as evidenced by a 13 per cent increase in sales during January of this year, Macone said.

Many people always associate the word "liquor" with evil, but this is as wrong as can be, for drinking is wrong only when abused. Similarly, many feel the same way about those associated with the liquor business. Some of the finest people in Winona and the area are associated with the liquor business, which disproves this latter feeling, also. An example of a fine man who is associated with the liquor business is Bill Wesely, owner of "Bill's" Liquor Store, 119 Main St. The past week, Bill, inspired by the proclamation of Brotherhood Week, wrote the following lyrics dedicated to the universal Brotherhood of Man. It was written to be sung to the music of "Age Old Melody of Central Europe."

Verse One
Fellow men, we have a noble Father
God who rules the Heavens!
Let's clasp hands in holy Brotherhood
Against all fiendish leuens.

And when Satan's powers we've conquered,
Let the whole world hear it;
And praise the Fathers,
Thank the Son
And bless the Holy Spirit!

Verse Two
Christ Himself hath taught us how
To love our God above each creature.
Universal charity was with Him
A potent feature.

Conqu'ring greed and spurning Mammon,
We may share His glory!
Fatherhood of God
And Brotherhood of Man,
Oh, what a wondrous story!

One of the largest orders of Treet ever sold in Winona — 100 cases — was recently delivered to the Arcade Food Market. Part of the shipment is in this giant display.

Too Many School Districts in the State

Commenting on an editorial in The Winona Daily News outlining arguments against increasing state aid per pupil unit from $80 to $92 as urged by Gov. Freeman and some school people, Editor C. H. Russell of the Mankato Free Press had some pertinent statements to make recently in his "Round Our Town" column.

After listing the points carried by our editorial, Editor Russell went on to say:

All of these are points which the Legislature should take the time to weigh and study—even to study over the coming biennium if necessary, to reach a sound and logical decision.

One of the justified complaints against the school lobby in this state is that they place so much emphasis on demands for more and more tax money; so little emphasis on the reforms which the state's educational system needs.

And against anyone who questions these demands they hurl the accusation, "So you are against education!" reminiscent of the new dealers, who used to say of the millions squandered for relief, "So you want people to starve!"

Unquestionably there are too many school districts in the state; too many small schools that involve high costs for the return they give; too many districts that are receiving school aids, still are not operating any schools at all.

These, and numerous other questionable practices in our state educational system, should be ironed out—possibly before any additional aids are granted.

If our educational lobbyists were as avid and anxious to correct these weaknesses and inequities as they are to tap the till for more tax revenues, they would have been corrected many years ago.

Pay Roll Raiders Hit Working Man

Governor Freeman is asking for a law to collect state income taxes on a "pay as you go" basis. He would have employers deduct a share from your weekly pay check and pass it on to the state government. Uncle Sam now does just that.

Mr. Freeman argues that such a system would bring the state an added $2 million a year, though where he gets this estimate isn't clear. One of the tax-withholding plan's best friends—William Wettergren of the Minnesota School Board Association—estimates the annual extra income at $600,000.

There are several reasons for the governor's apparent enthusiasm for tax-deduction. One of these would be to collect little dabs of money from those persons who work less than a year in the state and then move outside its boundaries.

Another reason is that collection on a weekly or monthly basis would be less painful than coughing up the money all at once.

Another reason is said to be the better means of detecting those who illegally file returns or file none at all.

Another reason is that the state would be able to get its hands on a double tax for six months.

But none of these reasons is sufficient to saddle the pay rolls of this state with another deduction. The governor has said nothing of the whole host of state employees who would have to check returns and make refunds. Each would have to have a salary, an office, a car allowance, traveling expenses, pensions, insurance and vacations.

The state already has the laws it needs to pick up violators of the income tax laws, but the laws are not now being enforced. Why is there any reason to expect that the withholding staff would be any more effective or efficient?

One of the great faults with the governor's plan is that for a little while the state would have extra money, but what about the years after that? The state's standard of giving would be increased in direct relationship to its increased income. A standard of giving is as hard to reduce as a standard of living.

Moreover, the tax would be too easy to pay. Citizens would be less aware of the sums of money being spent by the state government. It would be better for all of us if we had to pay weekly our debts to city, county, state and federal governments.

But the worst feature of all is that this tax plan is aimed directly at the wage earner. The fellow who cannot hide a nickel of his income. The self-employed would still be able to evade. Why penalize the fellow whose weekly check is practically a matter of public record?

The governor is shooting at the working man—the very fellow he publicly avows he loves with all his heart. This is a bum deal for anybody on wage or salary roll.—Albert Lea Tribune.

Competition Tough On U.S. Industries

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

NEW YORK—It is easy to be theoretical about what does not affect one's own affairs. Actually for the amount of shears and scissors I would ordinarily buy, it would make little difference where the cutting steels come from. However, if I were manufacturing shears, scissors, surgical instruments or manicure sets in the United States at this moment, I would be looking around for something else to do or I might even move my business to some other country and export the goods from there to the American market. It could be more profitable under H.R. 1, now before Congress. Before World War I, most of the surgical instruments and supplies came to this country from Germany which specialized in this kind of commodity. Then during the war, the United States was caught short. Appeals were made to American manufacturers of scissors and shears to go into surgical instrument production, which required particularly skilled labor, workers with a high capability for precision. If this work group is lost by American firms going out of the surgical instrument business, it will be difficult to reassemble the workers.

FOR MANY YEARS, this industry was protected by a tariff which it regarded as reasonable. Meanwhile, American surgeons found it easy to get their own inventions and improvements manufactured here in the United States. The tariff, on shears and scissors, has now been lowered twice and probably faces a third reduction. The American manufacturer is required to pay wages that are four times higher than wages paid to similar workers in Germany and he cannot translate the difference into a competitive price.

Result: American firms are closing down. The shears, scissors and manicure implement manufacturers association states that the following firms have already discontinued manufacturing these commodities:

Berrie Shear Co. — Sturgis, Mich.; Belmar Instrument Co. — Belmar, N. J.; Birmingham Cutlery Co. — Birmingham, Ala.; Case-Smiley Co. — Fremont, Ohio; Cameron Manufacturing Co. — Emporium, N. Y.; Arthur Corp. — Newark, N. J.; Harlan, Inc. — East Orange, N. J.; Kafelt Manufacturing Co. — Keene, N. H.; Metrolite Corp. — Canton, Ohio; Carl Monkhous — Ellicottville, N. Y.; Progress Cutlery Co. — Fort Smith, Ark.; Rex Cutlery Corp. — Irvington, N. J.; T. E. Schneider Corp. — S. Norwalk, Conn.; Tri-Ess Products, Inc. — Jersey City, N. J.; International Edge Tool Co. — Newark, N. J.

Others are expected to follow. It is reported that in Solingen, Germany, and vicinity there are about 800 manufacturers of cutlery, ranging from family work at home to small factories. In addition to manufacturing at about one-quarter the American cost, this industry is subsidized by the West German government which receives subsidies from the United States. American manufacturers cannot compete with low wages and indirect American subsidies to German firms, plus a low tariff.

THE LARGEST AMERICAN manufacturer of quality shears and scissors is J. Wiss & Sons. They have now gone out of the surgical scissors business because they cannot remain in it competitively with Germany. The Clauss Cutlery Co. reports that it will have to do the same because "our production is almost down to nothing."

It is possible to say: Who cares? If Messrs. Wiss and Clauss cannot afford to make surgical instruments, let them go into some other business. They are not like dairy farmers who have to be subsidized; they do not have that many votes. On the other hand, if we get into World War III, are our boys to die because surgical supply necessities cannot be imported from Germany? That is the real issue—not whether individual firms will survive or not.

There is a theory that when American manufacturers cannot compete in the American market with manufacturers from other countries, they ought to omit making this particular commodity and devote their capital and skill to something else.

That theory might be sound in time of peace. But we are living in a world that is continually within a prospect of war. Therefore, it is essential to conserve those American industries which are needed for war production and those skilled laborers who are becoming all too rare in a period of automatic machine production. That is a factor in our manufacturing that ought to be weighed against the advantage that may come from supporting the economies of those nations which we want to keep on our side. The American industries involved are comparatively small and do not involve huge investments of capital or large numbers of workers. But what they do may be irreplaceable in time of war.

Benson Proposal to Hike Interest Rate Irks Farmers

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Here is one reason why farmers are so irked at the man who is supposed to stand up for them—Sec. Ezra Benson.

The Farm and Home Administration was established to arrange loans for small farmers, either by direct government loan or by guaranteeing loans with local banks and finance institutions at moderate rates.

Despite this, Benson has proposed that the interest rates to small farmers be increased. He first made the proposal to Congress at a time when Sec. of the Treasury Humphrey was reducing interest rates on government bonds, but Congress finally authorized Benson to increase interest rates 1 per cent but left it up to him to make the final decision.

Meanwhile, Benson had appointed as his new Farm and Home Administrator Robert B. McLeish of McAllen, Tex. Mr. McLeish has had little experience with small farmers. Like so many Benson appointees, he is a business executive—president of a short-line railroad and executive vice president of the Sugarco Corporation. Despite this, McLeish was appointed to the job of aiding small farmers.

In this capacity he sent word to local representatives of the Farm and Home Administration that interest rates were to be increased 1 per cent. Immediately he got a protest, not so much from small farmers, because many of them didn't know about it, but from the banks and finance companies who were to handle the money. They claimed the interest hike was too steep and that small farmers couldn't take such a stiff increase.

Finally, bankers and finance representatives met in Washington, re-emphasized their views and in the end agreed to compromise at an increase of one-half of 1 per cent.

All of which put the bankers in the position of doing more for the farmers than the man who is supposed to be the farmers' best friend—Ezra Benson.

Note—In his State of the Union message in 1953, Pres. Eisenhower expressed concern for the problem of small farmers, later appointed a committee to study the problem. Over a year has now passed since the committee was appointed; still no report on the problem of small farmers.

Who Was the Lie? Two angry Democratic congressmen invaded the GOP cloakroom the other day, cornered an abashed Republican, called him a XIXIXI liar and invited him to take his choice as to which he preferred to fight.

The two belligerent Democrats were Jim Richards of South Carolina, chairman of the state Foreign Affairs Committee, and Wayne Hays of Ohio. The startled Republican, Jim Fulton of Pennsylvania, who sometimes votes with the Democrats, decided that this was no time for Democratic fraternalism. He declined both offers.

The near-brawl was over a news leak that Fulton earlier had blamed upon Hays. The Ohio congressman retorted that he had been out of town when the information was leaked to the press and demanded to know from Fulton who had accused him. Fulton named Chairman Richards.

Without further formality, the congressman from Pennsylvania marched over to Richards' office for a showdown. But the surprised congressman from South Carolina denied making any such accusation. At this point the two joined forces and set out looking for the Republican congressman from Pennsylvania.

Way You Sleep Can Hurt Back

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Most of you are well aware that you can develop a severe backache by straining too hard in trying to lift or carry something. But did you know that you can also get a backache because of the way you sleep?

A rupture of the intervertebral disks can be caused while you are asleep or awake. These disks are pieces of cartilage between the bones of the spine.

Sometimes patients report that they first noticed pains in their backs upon arising after a normal night's sleep. Examination of these patients probably will show that an intervertebral disk has been displaced. Such a displacement might be caused by the way you sleep. If you constantly sleep on one side with your back curved considerably, one of these disks might be forced out of its normal position.

Then you've got a backache. However, you are more likely to rupture a disk by performing some physical exertion, such as lifting a heavy load. A blow to your back can also cause a dislocation. When this happens suddenly, you will have a sensation that "something gave away" in your back, and pain follows almost immediately, sometimes passing downward into one of your legs. The pain is both severe and continuous, and is made worse by coughing, straining or bending.

Usually, the pain is relieved by lying down, so the best thing to do is to get into bed. You'll need a lot of rest.

The mattress must be firm, and the best way to accomplish this is to place several bed boards directly under it. This will help prevent it from sagging under your weight, and tend to keep your back in a more rigid position.

Stretch your affected leg occasionally. If the pain is severe, your doctor can give you drugs to relieve the discomfort.

Enough rest might do the trick, with no further treatment required. But if there is any indication of pressure on the spinal cord, surgical treatment might be needed.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

T.K.: The muscles in my arms constantly ache. Is there any way to relieve this condition?

Answer: Aching in the muscles of the arms may be due to excessive exercise, to some circulatory disturbance, to arthritis, or to some disorder affecting the nerves.

Careful study by your physician is needed to find the cause before treatment can be suggested.

Lion Sent Collect As Practical Joke

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—A practical joker sent a two-month-old lion cub to a bachelor in a New York City apartment.

When the animal arrived yesterday, Joseph M. Gidding, 37, an attorney, kept asking, "What am I going to do with it?"

To add to his troubles, his "friend" sent the kitty collect for a bill of $11.49 from its origin in Nicaragua.

PAUL HARVEY NEWS

Let's Not Build Up Our Enemies

By PAUL HARVEY

NEW YORK—The White House is getting anxious about our bulging government warehouses. Butter, eggs, wheat, rice and scores of other assorted price-supported foodstuffs are moulding, mildewing, rotting and being eaten by rats.

Seven billion dollars worth of surplus farm commodities, and the pile is increasing.

Secretary Benson's acreage restrictions and reduction in parity prices will remedy this situation in time.

But not by election time. So the political advisors to the White House are thinking up all sorts of madcap schemes for dumping this surplus, which is now greater than the one which helped embarrass the Truman administration right out of office.

It is sometimes the custom around Washington to allow "leaks."

If the administration wants to learn whether some new move is politically propitious, it allows a "leak."

Then, if the press and the public get angry enough, the White House will announce that it "does not and never did have any intention of doing so and so."

Every administration has used this technique for sampling public sentiment... for measuring your reactions in advance.

In the past few days, two of these trial balloons have been sent aloft. One is a suggestion that we trade butter to the Russians and the other is the suggestion that we send them some of our stored grains.

If you get mad enough, you won't. And the Republicans will have to figure out some other pre-election device for diverting themselves of this embarrassing pile of perishables.

If you get mad enough, let's see if I can help you. Rice rations in Communist China have recently been cut by one-third.

Russia has de-emphasized agricultural production in favor of military production.

The people are hungry. And we in the United States have seven billion dollars worth of food going to waste.

Here are the poor Communists, starving, while their governments make tanks instead of tractors. We are fat and full and prosperous, and they are starving!

I say let them starve. Let the administration figure some other way out of its political problems, but do not send one grain to those cannibals who torture our sons and imprison our clergy and threaten our babies with their bombs.

Let the Russian people wake up and get smart and overthrow their ruthless, barbaric rulers.

But let us not further strengthen the hand of their despots and continue endlessly to "make Communism look good" by our own lavish generosity or because somebody is more anxious about our next election than about our next generation.

There is hunger in Russia and it is going to get worse. Malenkov had to quit because he "mismanaged agricultural production."

Good! Soviet farmers are purposely, deliberately sabotaging production in a gallant effort to get out from under.

Risking concentration camps to do it. Our handouts would hurt their cause, not help them.

Send the unfortunate Russian people our sympathy, nothing more.

Fan the fire that'll roast more of the pudgy pigs in the Kremlin; don't use our gifts to help perpetuate them in office.

We spoon-fed Britain with Marshall Plan dollars and the average Britisher thought it was his then-Socialist government that was helping him to eat better than he ever had.

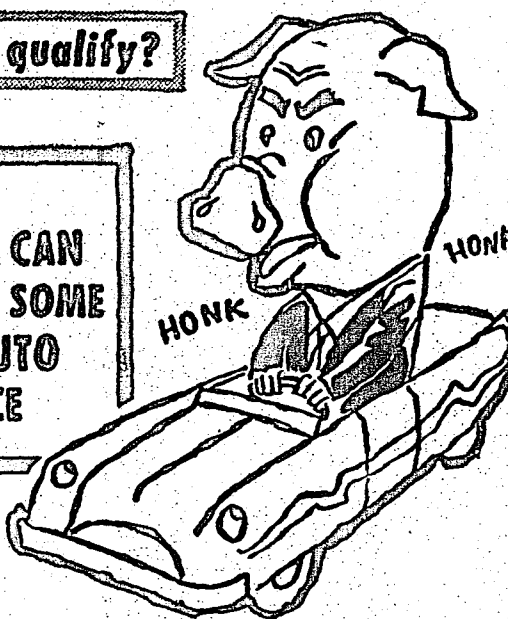

If the British didn't know the source of their sudden increase, you may be certain the Russian people would never know.

Food is a prime military weapon, essential to hot wars or cold. I know it sounds uncharitable to say let their children die.

But if it's either theirs or ours... Then charity begins at home.

Second Atomic Sub Ready in 2 or 3 Months

By ELTON C. FAY
WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's second nuclear submarine, the Sea Wolf, probably will be launched within the next two or three months.

The sister of the Nautilus—but with improvements in design and an atomic engine of different type—has been building since June 1953.

On the basis of time required for building the first hull, the Sea Wolf apparently will be scheduled to go down the ways at the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics Corp. at New London, Conn., sometime in May.

If the Nautilus pattern is followed, the Sea Wolf will have when launched the framework and some other components—although not the fuel load—of the atomic furnace.

A land-based model of the Sea Wolf's engine was started at West Milton, N.Y., in 1953 by the General Electric Co., under contract with the Atomic Energy Commission.

Presumably that test plant—a copy of the one that will be installed in the Sea Wolf—is about ready for trials, if not actually in operation. The AEC and Navy declined today to say.

Living Costs Unchanged in January, December

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government reported Friday that living costs were unchanged in January from December.

There were slight increases in the cost of food and some other items but these rises were balanced by drops in prices of clothing and house furnishings during January sales.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said its January index remained at the December level of 114.3. This is a fraction of 1 per cent below January 1954 and 1 per cent under the October 1953 living cost peak.

There was insufficient change in the index to require any pay adjustment for about one million workers in the auto and aircraft industries whose pay rates are geared to the index by union contracts.

This would have been the last time quarterly living cost pay adjustments would have been possible under major five-year auto industry contracts which begin to expire at the end of May.

Mrs. Arnyess Joy Wickens, acting labor statistics commissioner, said the consumer price situation continues to reflect considerable stability.

He reported that, with wages rising somewhat, the average factory worker is faring better under the stabilized price situation to the tune of better than $2 a week in net spendable earnings.

Safety Lecturer Dents His Argument

LINTHICUM HEIGHTS, Md. (AP)—State trooper Joseph White, lectured to the Linthicum Heights Methodist Men's Club Thursday on the horrors of reckless driving.

He showed the 63 members a safety film and emphasized in his talk that 90 per cent of highway accidents are caused by defective drivers.

Then he left and the club went into its business session. Suddenly the trooper came back.

"This is embarrassing," he told Frederick Lang, "I just knocked a dent in your door."

The safety lecturer had backed his cruiser into the listener's car. White made arrangements for repairs.

Badger Senate Bill Asks Half Million For State Parks

MADISON (AP)—A Legislative Council bill to appropriate $500,000 to the Conservation Department from the general fund for capital improvements for state parks was introduced in the Wisconsin Senate Friday.

The money would be used mostly for improving sewerage and sanitary facilities, water facilities and shelters.

Both the Senate and the Assembly held only short sessions without roll calls today and adjourned until their next regular meeting at 11 a.m. Tuesday.

Almost Nothing Gets by India Film Censors

By EUGENE LEVIN

NEW DELHI (AP)—Cold war propaganda, glamorized vice, too much sex, battlefield brutality—all are grounds for banning a foreign movie from India's screens.

The Central Board of Film Censors says in the past four years it banned 90 foreign films and permitted 325 to be shown only after cuts. A total of 1,167 features were brought into India during this period.

Most of the banned films—some 66—were from the United States. Russia followed with 10 banned.

Details of the bannings are not given by the censors except in general terms. The American "Dial M for Murder" is an example. A government spokesman commented that the film's theme of a husband plotting his wife's death was "not suitable for Indian audiences."

Sex and drinking reportedly kept "The Moon Is Blue" from Indian screens.

If a film tends to "wound the susceptibilities" of foreign nations or to disparage the heads of foreign states, it's forbidden.

Propaganda reportedly causes most of the banning of Russian films.

Paramount's "Ceasefire," a Korean War movie, was banned last summer.

A government spokesman commented:

"It's a propaganda film. If we permit one side to show that kind of film, then the Indian government would be in a position where it could not forbid the other side to show a similar film."

The American musical "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," with Marilyn Monroe and Jane Russell, was severely clipped because the stars "displayed their thighs."

Japan Holding Election Sunday

TOKYO (AP)—More than 1,000 Japanese politicians who differ more in methods than purpose are appealing for votes in Sunday's general elections.

An anticipated 75 per cent of Japan's 49 million eligibles will vote, possibly deciding which direction the country will take in the cold war struggle between East and West.

Prime Minister Ichiro Hatoyama and his Democratic party advocate stronger trade ties with Communist China. They are also pushing for the restoration of relations with the Soviet Union.

Crusty old Shigeru Yoshida, deposed by Hatoyama last December after six years as premier, says that would bring Japan closer to the Communist orbit.

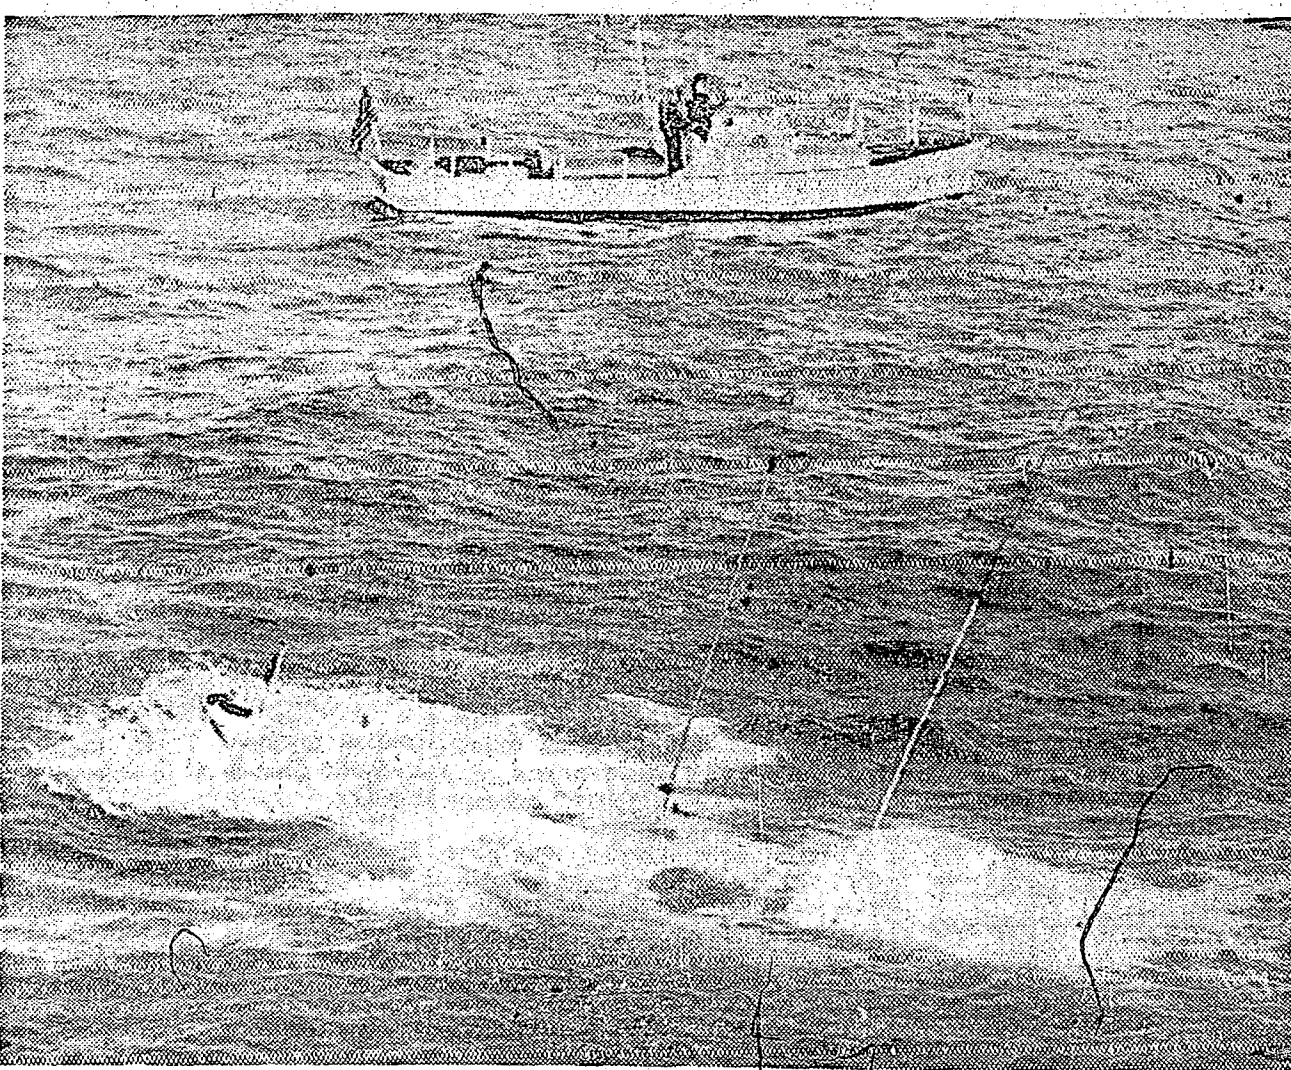

Hatoyama, proclaiming strong friendship for the United States, which purged him from public life after World War II, implies he may seek revision of the constitutional ban on rearmament.

Both Hatoyama and Yoshida are seeking Diet seats, all 467 of which are to be filled.

3 Senators Ask Explanation of Fraud Dismissals

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three Republican senators said here they will ask the Justice Department why it dropped the prosecution of five men accused of defrauding the government in grain deals.

Sens. Thye (Minn.), Young (ND) and Aiken (Vt.) said in separate interviews Atty. Gen. Brownell should disclose the reasons behind dismissal of the charges, and that they will ask him to do so.

The indictments, dismissed Feb. 12 in federal court in Houston, Tex., were against E. H. Thornton Sr. of Galveston and four officials of the Bunge Corp., of Minneapolis, a big grain shipping firm.

They are Robert F. Straub, president of the Bunge firm; Andre Herschler and Simon Kern, vice presidents, and Walton F. Mulloy, assistant vice president. Thornton is former general manager of the Galveston Wharves, a grain storage firm.

All five had been indicted on charges of conspiracy to defraud the government, to make false statements to the government, and to press false claims against the government for subsidies in dealings in adulterated grain. The government alleged this involved the blending into wheat for human food purposes of damaged Canadian wheat that had been imported as unfit for humans.

Adam and Eve Just Myth, Says Anglican Bishop

SOUTHWELL, England (AP)—An Anglican bishop says the Bible story of Adam and Eve is a myth and it serves no Christian interest to pretend otherwise.

Said Dr. F. R. Parry, bishop of Southwell, in a newsletter to his diocese: "It does not describe an event which happened at the dawn of history. It presents one of the permanent and moral realities of human nature."

"The author is stating a fundamental truth about man in the form of a story, a dramatic poem, or, as theologians now say, a myth."

"It is indeed a dramatic presentation of the meaning of sin and it rings true in all ages." Parry advised Christians to be "perfectly frank" about the Adam and Eve story. Otherwise, he said, they would be maneuvered on to false ground in trying to defend indefensible positions.

Grandmother Holding Tot Slides Down Roof

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 48-year-old grandmother slid down a roof with an 11-month-old grandson in her arms early today to save him from his burning home, then caught another child tossed out a second story window by his father.

The grandmother, Mrs. Lillian Cochrane, awakened this morning to hear her son, Thomas Urban, shouting as he battled flames in the living room downstairs.

She grabbed the baby, Tommy, from his crib, broke a window with a bottle of baby oil, and slid down the roof. The grandmother and the tot landed on top of an old refrigerator at the side of the house.

Then she shouted to her son to go upstairs and toss down the other child, 5-year-old Donald.

Urban was burned when he dashed upstairs. He was admitted to city hospital. The grandmother was treated for a cut arm.

Firemen put out the blaze and estimated damage at $2,500. They said the fire was started by a cigarette dropped on a sofa.

Irish Harp to Play Ballad Accompaniments

A Norwegian by ancestry who has conquered the Irish harp, will be one of the four musicians who will appear on the program to be presented by the Wisconsin College of Music Harp Ensemble under the sponsorship of the Winona County Old Settlers Association and the Winona Junior Chamber of Commerce. The program will be presented at 3:30 p. m. March 6 in the Winona Senior High School auditorium.

The Scandinavian artist chose the Irish harp she states not because she admires things Irish particularly but because the Irish harp provides the most suitable type of musical accompaniment for the ballads she sings during the program.

A graduate of Northwestern University School of Music, Mrs. Martin Kuban who is the Irish harpist, learned to play every instrument in an orchestra during her college years. In addition to the Irish harp, she plays the three-quarter size harp and states that the two instruments are basically alike.

A change of key in the regular harp, however, is controlled by foot pedals; but on an Irish harp, the musician must manipulate small knobs with one hand while playing with the other.

"This," Mrs. Kuban says, "accounts for the statement that 'a player of the Irish harp must be a master of omission.' If the harpist hasn't time to change the key, the note must be gracefully—and subtly—left out!"

Mrs. Kuban's interest in folk music was the result of eight years' experience teaching music to children in public schools. "Folk songs are a natural for children," she says and during her teaching years, she accumulated a huge collection of ballads. At the time she was looking for an instrument to accompany her ballads, when she first started their presentation, she thought of dulcimer or zither but the Irish harp was the first instrument available.

She does her own arrangements for the Irish harp which had its beginnings in the days of the traveling minstrels with the music always incidental to the song. The harp she uses in concerts belongs to her teacher, Phyllis Schlomovitz, who heads the harp ensemble. Other members of the quartet of harpists are Emmy Lou Meyer and Carol Dahm.

Proceeds from the local concert will be used to move the one-room country school building purchased by the society from its present site near St. Charles to the Winona County fairgrounds where it will house historical items displayed during the fair and be used for historical society and 4-H meetings.

ELBA, Minn. (Special)—Miss Rita Mueller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alois Mueller, became the bride of George Haag, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Haag, Crosby, Minn., at St. Aloysius Catholic Church Feb. 9. The altar was banked with white carnations and red roses. The bride was given in marriage by her father, and was attended by her sisters, the Misses Cecile and Emilie Mueller. Theresa Wegman, a niece, was flower girl.

White net and lace over white satin fashioned the bride's gown which was designed with long sleeves and a floor-length skirt. Her veil cascaded from a crown of pearls and rhinestones and she carried red roses and white carnations.

The maid of honor and bridesmaid wore gowns of lime and rose net with matching headbands, and yellow and pink carnations. The flower girl was attired in a taffeta dress, and carried carnations and red roses.

Douglas Haag and Edward Mueller, brothers of the couple, were the bridegroom's attendants. The wedding dinner was served in the church parlors. The couple left later for Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., where the bridegroom is in Army training.

Legislator Finds Majority Against Congress Pay Hike

By RICHARD P. POWERS

WASHINGTON (AP)—A large majority of the people in the congressional district of Rep. Melvin R. Laird (R) of Marshfield look down their noses at the proposed salary increase for members of Congress.

And a somewhat lesser majority are content to leave federal income taxes at present levels.

These and a number of other opinions were registered in replies to a poll conducted by Laird.

Laird sent out more than 80,000 questionnaires. He said they went to every mail recipient in the district. To date, he has received nearly 18,000 replies, about double the number of returns he expected.

"I understand this is the first time that any such attempt to cover an entire district in a poll has been made in any district in the state," Laird told a reporter.

Although he will not attempt an exact tabulation until more returns are in, Laird said he ran a "spot" check on the replies.

On the question of salary increases for Supreme Court justices, federal judges and members of Congress, this correspondent made a spot check and found the replies were overwhelmingly against any such increase.

Against Increase

Laird voted against the increase when the House approved it. The matter is now before the Senate.

Laird said his spot check of replies on other questions showed:

On the question of increasing the personal income tax exemption from $500 to $700 "even if such an increase would mean increasing the national debt by two and one half billion dollars," the replies ran on the average of four favoring the increase, 10 against and two no opinion.

On the question of allowing corporation income taxes to be reduced from 52 to 47 per cent, two favored the reduction to every eight against it and one with no opinion.

To the query, "Do you favor maintaining federal taxes on individuals at present rates until our federal budget is brought into balance?" the proportion was eight in favor to two against and one with no opinion.

Laird said the replies were running about 8 to 1 for tariffs to "protect American labor, industry and agriculture from competition of cheap imports from abroad."

The ratio, he said, was about 10 to 1 against the administration's proposal of a five per cent pay increase for federal civil service and post office employees, including military personnel.

The ratio was about 7 to 3 for continuing the selective service program as long as there are not enough volunteers. On the question of setting up Universal Military Training (UMT), the replies were about 50-50 for and against.

Laird said a majority replied they believed the Taft-Hartley Law to be a good law.

Many of the constituents wrote in side notes to Laird, such as: "Seventy-seven years a Republican, produced butter and bread for three wars, but now forgotten."

"I have only one suggestion: Why don't our lawmakers think of ways of spending less money and spend less time on thinking of ways to increase taxes?"

"Let the government keep its hands out of and off of all business."

"I feel you should use your own best judgment even if it conflicts with the majority of your constituents."

CHICAGO (AP)—State legislatures should specify whether human artificial insemination is legitimate or illegitimate, says an American Medical Assn. official.

C. Joseph Stetler, director of the AMA law department, said no state specifically approves or bans test tube babies.

Stetler told the Headline Club last night he doubts that the AMA or any other organization should take a formal stand on artificial insemination in view of the moral and legal issues involved.

Another speaker, Ritchie Davis, visiting law professor at the University of Chicago, said doctors have estimated that the United States has 50,000 to 200,000 test tube babies.

The most recent court ruling on the subject came in Chicago, where a judge ruled that a test tube baby is illegitimate and that the infemination by which he was conceived constituted adultery.

The decision is due for a test in the Illinois Supreme Court.

complaint charging the arresting police officer, Sgt. Clifton Bess, with exceeding the 24 m.p.h. speed limit on the trip to police headquarters last night.

The sergeant's case comes up in police court Monday.

United Stand By Skunks Causes Family to Split

CHICAGO (AP)—A family of skunks has forced Mrs. Helen Luther and her four children to leave their home again, the third time in 11 days.

The Luthers are separated in four homes of friends and neighbors in suburban Winthrop Harbor.

The skunks moved in under the house last summer but caused no trouble. But they started raising a fuss the night of Feb. 14 and made the home unsuitable for living. The Luthers moved out the next day.

Five days later Mrs. Luther returned home with her children. The next day they left. Mrs. Luther, who is clerk of the village, sought help from police and firemen. They found the terrain unsuitable for a fight and their mission was not accomplished.

Police expressed belief that tear gas might make things worse. Exterminating companies have shied away from the job of routing the skunks.

So Thursday night the Luthers returned home. They made a hasty retreat again yesterday, going their separate ways as the skunks appeared to remain united, and determined.

Mrs. Luther says she is in favor of any idea that will help her get rid of the skunks.

She added she would welcome suggestions. She hopes the mailman will be able to get close enough to her mail box to deliver them.

Speaker Claims 'Fifth Amendment' Lawyers Unfit

CHICAGO (AP)—A lawyer who invokes the Fifth Amendment against self-incrimination, says the president of the American Bar Assn., should be disbarred.

Such attorneys, said Lloyd Wright of Los Angeles, show "lack of loyalty," and "negate the presumption of fitness to continue as a lawyer."

Speaking before the Law Club of Chicago last night, Wright said: "When the assertion of the constitutional right by one who is also an attorney to seek protection against self-incrimination under the Fifth Amendment is present, this seems to me to be completely inconsistent with his high status as a member of the bar and an officer of the court."

He added the Fifth Amendment, however, must be preserved "to protect the individual against the collective power of government."

Weather Cancels Third Atom Blast

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The third and perhaps most potent blast of the 1955 atomic test series, scheduled for pre-dawn today, was called off late last night because of adverse weather.

The Atomic Energy Commission completed preparations for the 500-foot tower blast on Yucca flat at 5:35 a.m. But cloud and wind conditions worsened during the night.

The shot, originally scheduled to open the series Feb. 15, was expected to pack a wallop of close to 50 kilotons, or 2½ times the power of the nominal A-bomb. A weather briefing will be held today on chances of firing it tomorrow.

The AEC designated it as "a major effort" of the Livermore, Calif., laboratory, arousing speculation that the device under test might be an improved trigger for the hydrogen bomb. Livermore specializes in H-bomb work. No hydrogen weapons are tested here; they are much too powerful.

But close observers of tests here considered it a good possibility that a more effective nuclear triggering device was under study. The thermonuclear (H) bomb depends on an initial atomic trigger.

Brotherhood Week Meeting Canceled, Violence Feared

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A Brotherhood Week meeting scheduled for tonight at the Hialeah, Fla., youth center was canceled after a group of ministers sponsoring the meeting said they "feared violence."

Rabbi Malcolm Sparer, one of the sponsors of the event, declined to say last night who he thought would be responsible for the violence.

"It was an explosive situation and we decided to cancel it because children participating in the program might have been hurt," he said.

The meeting was called off after copies of the Florida Independent, a weekly newspaper, were distributed in the area. A mimeographed sheet stapled to the newspaper called the meeting a "phony brotherhood meeting" where "our Hialeah High School choral group is to sing for a mixed group together with an all-Negro choir."

The mimeographed sheet said: "Stop this before it starts. We do not want mixed meetings and Communistic activities in this city."

The secretary of state's office in Tallahassee lists John Morro of Miami as president and treasurer of the "Florida Independent, Inc."

Rabbi Sparer said, "had no children been involved we might have gone through with it. Maybe some day Hialeah will grow up. This has prostituted Brotherhood Week."

Another sponsor of the meeting, the Rev. Alan E. Bartlett of the Miami Springs Methodist Church said, "There wasn't going to be any mixture. A colored choir was to appear as a group, but there seemed to be quite a lot of opposition. We were afraid instead of promoting brotherhood we would start another civil war."

Morro said he "had no idea" who attached the mimeographed sheet to his newspaper.

"Our first knowledge of it was when we received complaints in the office," he said. "We're trying

Kerosene Can Explodes, 2 Boys Die From Burns

NEWTON, N.J. (AP)—A 7-year-old boy, his pajamas ablaze, ran screaming in terror to his mother last night after a kerosene can exploded in his room. He and his 9-year-old brother died from burns. Fire officials said the fuel container was too near the stove.

The body of Jerry Pierce, who had given the alarm to his mother, Violet, was found near the back door. Donald, 9, was pulled from the charred ruins of an Army cot where he apparently had been sleeping.

Sixteen other persons fled the fire which destroyed the two-story multiple-family frame home in the center of LaFayette township, population 835. LaFayette is six miles from here in northwest New Jersey.

The mother raced around the home and took four other young children to safety.

Skyline Title May Go to Utah Tonight

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press
Coach Jack Gardner, who blew up a storm when he stepped out of the Big Seven with a pair of souvenirs, can make off with his first Skyline Conference basketball title tonight if his Utah kids defeat Colorado A&M as expected.

Gardner had proved he could win in the Big Seven when he left Kansas State in 1953, and since his two aces from the Big Seven have become eligible at Utah he's been almost unbeatable.

The lads who have made the difference are Gary Bergen, who moved to Utah with Gardner from K-State, and Art Bunte, who decided he liked Gardner's style, too after playing as a sophomore at Colorado.

With Bunte and Bergen, Gardner has been off and running this season, piling up a 10-1 record.

An 11th victory tonight against the Aggies would wrap up Utah's first undisputed title since 1931 and send Gardner back to the NCAA tournament where he's had so much success. While at K-State he finished second in the NCAA in 1951 and fourth in 1948.

The last time Utah went to the NCAA, incidentally, it won the title. That was in 1944 when the Utes were the choice from the Skyline, which recognized no official champion in the war years.

The Utes, No. 8 in the Associated Press poll, left just one game between themselves and the skyline title last night by disposing of second place Wyoming 75-57.

Colorado A&M, meanwhile, was clobbered by Brigham Young 94-65.

In another game involving conference title rights, Missouri blasted Oklahoma 91-78 to keep pace with league leader Colorado in the Big Seven.

Colorado plays K-State tonight, then meets Missouri in the show-down Monday.

Duke, No. 4 in the poll, defeated Cincinnati a second time 68-50 for the Dukes' 11th straight.

In the Atlantic Coast Conference, where a tourney will decide the champ next week, Duke nailed down second place in the regular season by beating North Carolina 86-74.

Elsewhere in the ACC, Wake Forest defeated South Carolina 84-75.

The two Pacific Coast Conference division champs kept winning UCLA, the Southern winner, barely topped Southern California 66-65, however. Oregon State, the Northern kingpin, trounced Oregon 54-44.

UCLA and Oregon State meet for the PCC title in a best-of-three set next week.

Other results: Dartmouth 77 Harvard 54; Washington 84 Idaho 76; West Texas State 75 Hardin-Simmons 67; Stanford 80 California 84.

The Lakers in the Rec. Junior League continued on their unbeaten streak with a 70-41 shellacking of the Bobcats in action in that league.

The Gophers and Badgers remained in a tie for second place, as the Gophers defeated the last place Browns 65-49 and the Badgers went all out to defeat the Wildcats 42-40.

Three men hit the double figure mark for the Lakers. Ray Grulowski had 25, Jim Wineski 12 and Jim Dean 11. High for the Bobcats was Bob Poblocki with a total of 15.

The Gophers also place three men in the double figures in chalking up their win and Jim Scherneck with 23 points led the parade. Roger Block had 16 and Jerry Langowski 15. Ed Wanek and Bob Ives each totaled 14 to lead the Browns and Tim Fitzgerald had another 12.

The Badgers had a hard time with the Wildcats but finally came out on top 42-40. Chuck Vaughan had 13, Gary Ruppert 12 and Leroy Trzebiatowski 10. High man, and the only man in double figures for the Wildcats, was Bernie Schreiber with half of his team's points as he hit 20.

Rec Loop Packers Win Fifth Straight

The St. Stan's Packers continued to dominate play in the Rec. Mid-Juniors League as they surged to their sixth straight victory, defeating St. Mary's 50-46. St. John's came up with an upset to chalk up its first victory of the season when it defeated the Cathedral Knights 48-43.

Tom Nelson with 22 and Joe Myczek with 10 points led St. Stan's to the victory. Three men were in the double figures for St. Mary's. Bob Doerr had 14, Ken Semling had 13 and Don Nelson scored 11.

Three men combined to lead St. John's to the upset victory. High for the Panthers were Clarence Chuchna with 17 points, Mike Sawyer with 14 and Ted Czaplewski with 11. John Brown had 15, Bruce Hartert 12 and Bill Starzecki 11 for the losing Cathedral Knights.

RESULTS FRIDAY NIGHT
Austin 59, Red Wing 48.
Albert Lea 70, Faribault 51.
Owajonia 55, Winona 52 (OT).
Lake City 66, Northfield 61 (non-conference).
Rochester 60, Dodge Center 24 (District Three tournament).

The bruising Austin Packers won the Big Nine Conference championship for the second straight year and gained considerable prestige in the process by handing Red Wing 59-48 in a clash of unbeaten teams Friday night at Austin.

Red Wing went into the game with 16 consecutive victories on the season, while unbeaten Austin had a 14-game winning streak.

Both teams were rated among the top five in state prep circles.

Ove Beren's Packers romped to a 17-8 lead at the end of the first quarter and were ahead 35-20 at halftime.

Red Wing's defense held the Packers to 14 points in the second half, but the Packers' offense was too strong.

Albert Lea connected on 49 per cent of its shots and waited to a 70-51 triumph over Faribault. Clay Lyon's 18 points topped five Albert Lea scorers who made 10 or more points.

Gordy Hunt and Jim Drevitz, Faribault's 1-2 punch, made 14 apiece. In games involving other Big Nine teams, Northfield lost a non-conference game to Lake City 66-61 and Rochester swamped Dodge Center 60-24 in an opening round District Three tournament game.

Chatfield and Wykoff, figured as favorites to win the District One Conference championship in early season form charts, lived up to expectations by closing out the loop season Friday night with victories to finish in a deadlock for the title. Chatfield beat fourth-place Harmony 62-42 while Wykoff turned back an upset bid by Rushford 73-62. The champions finished with records of 11 victories and one defeat apiece.

Third-place Spring Valley ended its slate with a 67-55 decision over Caledonia and Lanesboro moved into a three-way tie for fifth on a 52-46 conquest of Canton.

Peterson Wins 55-47
Spring Grove, also tied for fifth place, edged Houston 51-43 and Peterson chalked up its first triumph of the conference season by beating winless Preston 55-47.

Chatfield had Harmony down 31-21 at halftime although the Hurricanians held Bill Harwood, District One scoring champion to six points before intermission.

Dave Finstuen and Don Herrick, who tallied 14 and 10 points in the game, carried the load for Chatfield the first half. Harwood came back the second half with 18 points to finish with 24 for the night.

Herrick suffered an ankle sprain and his chances of playing in next week's District One tournament are undecided. Harmony's leading scorers were Elton Sikkink and Ed Jertson with 12 and 11, respectively.

Cast-Iron Kid
The Chatfield Jayvees won the prelim 50-29 as Harley Olstad, his shooting hand still encased in a cast, tallied 25 points.

Rushford trailed Wykoff by only three points at halftime, 36-33, but Harry Sheff's Wykoffs marked the turning point in the third quarter when they outscored Rushford 18-6.

Rushford shot 45 per cent in the first half and Wykoff was off in shooting form, finishing the game with an accuracy percentage of 23.

Gordy Quale netted 26 points, Chuck Austad 12 and Allen Jertson 11 for Rushford while Wykoff's Ron Eickhoff swished 26, Barry Schroeder 21 and Ken Nash 12.

The Wykoff B team won the first game on the evening's card, 48-26. Canton lost a six-pointer to Lanesboro in a game featured by the play of Gordy Johannsen's 25-point effort. Hobbling on a sprained ankle, the Canton marksman scored honors for the game.

Teate Hubert Vannatter had 12 points. Another Canton player, Tom Truman, saw action despite a sprained ankle.

Bob Johnson scored 17 and Ralph Sorum 14 to lead Lanesboro. The Lanesboro B team finished the season with an 18-2 record when it won the preliminary game 48-28.

Both Canton and Lanesboro had relatively cold shooting nights. Canton hit 17 field goals in 58 tries for 29.3 per cent. Lanesboro was 21-for-66 or 31.8 per cent.

Spring Grove's Gary Roverud, rounding back into shape after missing much of the season with a knee injury sustained in football, collected 29 points as the Grovers rallied from a 14-9 first period deficit to beat Houston.

LeRoy Carlson hit 15 points and Bob Flynn 11 for the losers. The Houston B team won the curtain-raiser 47-35.

Spring Valley, making baskets at a 46 per cent pace of shots attempted, was led by Gene Conway's 28 points and Sheldon in its victory over Caledonia.

29 for Lonkoski
Caledonia, as a team, shot 32 per cent, but Bob Lonkoski collected high point honors for the night with 23. No other Caledonia players scored more than eight points.

The Spring Valley B team also won, 42-23. Peterson, in racking up its first conference win, was sparked by Ev Eiken and Maynard Thompson. Eiken scored 23 and Thompson 20.

For Preston, sophomore star Wayne Kneekern hooped 19 and Ken Alderman 13.

Peterson trailed 12-9 going into the second period when it hit 22 points for a 31-27 halftime lead. Peterson increased the lead to 46-33 by the end of the third period.

The Peterson B team gave that town a double victory, winning the prelim, 45-41.

LAFF-A-DAY

"Don't be unreasonable, dear. You can't play tennis in this kind of weather, anyway."

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIDOM, D. Sc.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. Yes. Sociologist Bossard says, in substance: "If Jane Smith was necessary for happiness in 1949, Mary Brown may have seemed as necessary in 1952." There are both advantages and dangers in the modern custom of marriage for romance and personal happiness. For stable personalities, it is a heavenly highway to happiness. For unstable personalities, it often means little short of hell on earth.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. Yes. Otherwise your mind soon goes round in circles. You can't find the place to jump off and land on the right decision. If you forget your problem, even for short periods, the solution often pops up in clear perspective. Problems, sometimes solve themselves while you sleep—not often, however, in your dreams.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. Eight psychologists agreed on the following "working definition": "Good personality is the degree to which you interest and serve other people." If you don't interest others, you have a poor personality. But interest alone is not enough—gangsters are interesting. If you interest and serve, you have a good personality. Our booklet, "How To Develop Personality," nonprofit, 15c (coin only) plus self-addressed, stamped envelope. Send to Dr. A. E. Wiggam, care of The Winona Daily News.

Baby in High Chair Dies as Home Burns

LAKEWOOD, Colo. (U-A) A 15-month-old boy, left alone in his high chair, burned to death Thursday when flames swept the home of Mrs. Dolores Watson.

The mother was at a neighbor's, trying to free an auto from a snowdrift when a daughter, Mickey, 4, called in distress.

Neither Mrs. Watson, whose husband is a Rocky Mountain Arsenal employee, nor firemen could enter the blazing structure to rescue her son Kirby.

Fire Chief Gerald Ecker said the blaze probably started from a kerosene stove.

Burglars Assist Florist in Jam

MIAMI, Fla. (U-A) Burglars did the owners of Wooden Gardens florists a favor Thursday by forcing open a safe that had been jammed shut for two years. The safe was empty and the burglars didn't get a nickel for their efforts.

They did get arrested, however. Police charged Francis A. Piegli, 31, and Douglas K. Frost, 30, with breaking and entering.

Landlady's Complaint Brings 3 Hearses

MADISON (U-A) Air Force Sgt. Lawrence K. McKeon, 22, stationed at Trux Field here, was fined $50 after admitting in court he called three funeral homes to pick up the body of his landlady.

Hearses from the establishments arrived at the same time and were greeted by the landlady—very much alive.

McKeon told the judge Thursday he was angry because she had complained of noisy parties in his apartment.

Short Month Saves Lady From Ticket

OMAHA (U-A) A lady said she got a traffic ticket ordering her to appear in court Feb. 30. She asked what she should do. City Prosecutor Charles Fryzek suggested the date be amended to March 2 but Traffic Judge Frank Nimtz said: "If she doesn't come in there is nothing we can do. There is no such date."

In 1954, the natural increase in population of the United States was 2,600,000 and the total increase, including immigration, was 2,830,000.
