"Chantecler" Presented By Cast of 33

Rostand's "Chantecler," a play which represents artistic and dramatic values as well as a keen insight into human nature, will be presented this evening and tomorrow afternoon at the college.

Other characters of the play are: the stately blackbird, Oscar Janson, Redwood Falls; the philosophical dog, Patou, Glenn John-son, Stockton; the two owls exhibit the human traits of rational, affectionate, and sacrifice even to death.

The student body and faculty are invited to meet the group . . . and if you like to meet the group . . . and if you like to meet the group . . . and if you like to meet the group . . . and if you like to meet the group . . . and if you like to meet the group . . . and if you like to meet the group . . . and if you like to meet the group . . . and if you like to meet the group . . . and if you like to meet the group . . . and if you like to meet the group . . . and if you like to meet the group . . . and if you like to meet the group . . . and if you like to meet the group . . . and if you like to meet the group . . . and if you like to meet the group . . . and if you like to meet the group . . . and if you like to meet the group . . . and if you like to meet the group . . . and if you like to meet the group . . . and if you like to meet the group . . . and if you like to meet the group . . . and if you like to meet the group . . . and if you like to meet the group . . . and if you like to meet the group . . . and if you like to meet the group . . . and if you like to meet the group . . . and if you like to meet the group . . . and if you like to meet the group . . . and if you like to meet the group . . . and if you like to meet the group . . . and if you like to meet the group . . . and if you like to meet the group . . . and if you like to meet the group . . . and if you like to meet the group . . . and if you like to meet the group . . . and if you like to meet the group . . .
Our Responsibility In Japanese Agression

The Japanese war against China is described to us as being a new type of war. People who know the Orient tell us that the Japanese are not fighting Chinese military bases, nor Chinese armies, nor the Chinese navy. The Japanese soldier is instructed by his government to destroy the Chinese home, Chinese wives, and children, and Chinese schools. This is not without reason for the Japanese military government knows that by striking at and destroying these institutions he will destroy the Chinese as a race. If once done so, Japan will reduce working wages and conditions to the costie status throughout China, and use China as a sweathouse where the workers are to produce more cheaply than any other country in the world.

The Japanese military machine within the last twenty years has built from rock bottom a world trade that makes her financially able to support herself, and regardless of a total lack of natural resources for military equipment, outfit herself to go into China and practically wipe out one of the oldest civilizations in the world.

Our Trade With Japan

Let us see just what type of trade Japan is carrying on with the United States. Very modern factories there produce a motley concatenation of articles including everything from American flags to nut cups, from sun glasses to sippers, and from comic to table clothes. These articles are known to the American buyer, as they must be marked "Made in Japan." Less easy to detect are the articles containing silk. These include silk hose, silk underwear, silk dresses, and silk neckties. These articles are of greater importance in Japanese trade than the first group named, as silk accounts for more than three fifths of China's trade with the United States. For these trifles which crowd our dime stores, and for the silk stockings which break at the bending of a knee the United States is returning over $300,000,000 worth of essential war materials.

The appalling fact is that if we did not provide these materials, no other nation could or would.

The opposition to the reduction of the number of constants criers that all of the constants are necessary to the general scholarship and cultural development is essential to progress. Just as so-called 'bourgeois and intellectual' jealousy, (8) Fear of opposition.

You all know the condition of our South. We don't want to talk about it, so we listen to it being. If the movement for change and need of change, action must be taken soon.

Mendesohn Girls Make Concert Trips

With the ringing of thirty-two alarm clocks to the accompaniment of thirty-two yawns, thirty-two sleepy but excited Mendesohn girls dragged themselves nearly out of bed at four-thirty on the morning of April 18.

After dressing hurriedly and bolting a steaming cup of coffee, they splashed through the rain and mud with hats askew and mud-splattered overcoats and suits to the waiting bus.

At 5:45 the bus, loaded beyond the point of com-r stere, pulled out of Winona headed for St. Paul. After a ride made up of naps, conversation of the dozy and vocalizing, they arrived at the Washington High School at nine o'clock. The thirty-two descended on the gymnasium, the building on many a cold night took over the auditorium, spreading their bundles everywhere.

As the school has two assemblies the club had arranged to give two programs. The first began at 9:45, the second followed after a short period of resting and lemon sipping. When the two programs were finished and robes were packed, the girls once again climbed into the bus, this time to go to the University. The students presented were the first and incidentally for the lunch of which they were so badly in need. When the concert for the St. Paul Rotary Club, the last of the day, was finished, the girls were given a half hour of free time which to do as much shopping as the weather permitted. After this interval they gathered at the bus (most of them a trolley ride from the University) they were taken back to the University and the second trip made by the Mendesohn Club this year ended.

The first trip was to Holmen, Wisconsin on Tuesday evening, April 11.

The scheduled concerts include: April 20 — Cal-

Reston, Sorenson, Hall, Minneapolis.

If You Don't Know The Answer, Try This

I wonder at the thoughtlessness of somebody and everybody in not having discussed the serious problem in the world today. The problem is not whether we know the answer. We are confronted with it daily, and mightily the prospect of such a question almost paralyzing for the thinking individual and out of the time that they know it all so don't have the problem, and every one else whom one asks inerogatorily believes in the same question. "It is for you to say, "is it a foolish question?" This is a philosophy of what anyone is an attitude is ridiculous. Where's your ingenuity?

Now here are some methods tested and approved by Winona State Teachers College. They vary, of course, with the teacher, the subject matter, and how close it is to the end of the period.

You might counter with another question. For instance, if you are asked, "What are Japan's ultimate purpose in invading China?", you might say, "Don't you think that's a ridiculous question?"

Then there is the "friendly neighbor" method. If interested, you can't avoid asking questions of some one, someone smart. We try to sit next to him, anyhow.

The idea is to give the person next to you (it helps if the neighbor is of the opposite sex), and he or she will whisper the answer to you.

The method is the "hook" method. Keep your text on your desk. However, when you are called upon to discuss a topic, don't start frantically turning pages. Calmly look up the topic in the textbook, find the new paragraph, and read the complete paragraph given on the question, and recite. If you think you have time, it is advisable to outline your recitation first. This method invariably yields A grade.

However, one's procedure must always be modeled after the situation. However, if your ingenuity fails you, and none of the suggested plans seems advisable, you can always get a nickname and leave the room.
CONCERNING WINONA ALUMNI ATHLETES

Information Secured

Through the cooperation of the Athletic Department and the Alumni Association, we have obtained information on outstanding athletes who have graduated from this college. To include all athletes would be impossible, but it is hoped that in the future we may write about others.

It has been my rule that these men have sent prospective students to this college, and for this reason we are able to know them. It is hoped that the alumni will continue to support the alma mater in this as well as in other ways.

It has been mainly through the efforts of these two, and additional information on athletes who have at present such a fine group of athletes.

Peds Lose First Ball Game to La Crosse

After a shaky start that allowed the La Crosse baseball nine to score 9 runs in the first two frames, the Winona baseball nine settled down and made a good ball game out of a 3-2 defeat. The game was one of the many contests that was played in celebration of baseball’s 100th anniversary, and was the opening game for Coach Powell’s nine.

Arns started hurling for Winona, but after allowing 5 hits in two innings, retired in favor of Juergens. John pitched very good ball from the third inning on allowing 6 hits in the last seven innings. Campbell seized the entire contest for La Crosse allowing 19 hits, and being backed up by errorless fielding by his teammates.

As the name implies, the novice meet was for men who had never played as a member of a team in those contests.

As is usual much promising talent was revealed among the newcomers; and although no novice records were broken, there were no many records threatened that one cannot but look at the coming season with considered optimism.

Although the meet has not completed, the following is a summary of the events run so far: 100 yard dash: Davidson, 11.1; 200 yard dash: Davidsson, 21.2; 440 yard dash: Hutter, 51.8; 880 yard dash: Steffes, 1 minute, 29 sec.

Track Schedule

April 28 — Gustavus Adolphus College, Cross, Winona, at Winona.
May 5 — Dragon Relays at Moorhead (probable).
May 19 — Opener Against Mankato, Winona, at Winona.
May 26 — State Track Meet at St. Cloud.
