South Dakota Fire Kills Four Children

MITCHELL, S. D. (AP)—All four children of the John Heinrich family of rural Mitchell burned to death in a fire that destroyed two bedrooms of their home and sent the 27-year-old mother to the hospital with first and second degree burns.

Dead are Dale, 6, Delores, 5, Diana, 4, and David, 2. The fire was thought to have been caused by an oil stove which exploded about 12:30 a.m.

Late this morning the father still had not been located. He is a trucker employed by Phillip Deer of Mitchell and was on a run somewhere between Omaha and Minneapolis.

The bodies of two children were found on the floor of one of the two bedrooms which burned. The other two were found in one of the beds. The home is two miles north and a half mile east of Mitchell.

According to reports, the mother was set afire by the explosion and oil sprayed over the two beds in which the children were sleeping.

Apparently two of them were awakened for eye witness accounts reported that two were seen momentarily moving in the flames. Mrs. Walter Bracha, a neighbor living just west of the Heinrichs reported that Mrs. Heinrich told her, "the worst thing was the screams of the kids."

Mrs. Heinrichs and others attempted to get into the flaming house, but were driven back by flames and smoke.

The Heinrichs lived with Mrs. Heinrich's father, John Hoeltzner. They slept in two bedrooms on the west side of the house. The children had one bedroom and the parents the other. A stove located in the children's room is the one believed to have caused the fire. Sawtooth Bracha, brother of Walter Bracha, reported he saw flames in a window and started for the Hoeltzner residence. Before he got there the whole west end of the building was in flames.

Blind Couple To Keep Baby

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A deaf and blind couple today won their fight to keep their 2-week-old baby, as a juvenile court judge ruled the County Welfare Department can't make them put the child in a foster home.

Judge Russell Thomas said Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hathaway can keep their son "with no strings attached."

Hathaway, 53, and his wife, Georgia, 32, were supported by friends and neighbors.

Five Men Killed In Chicago Blast

CHICAGO (AP)—An exploding gas oven in the bake shop of a suburban department store Sunday night killed five men and critically injured another.

The blast in the suburban River Forest Wieboldt Department Store bent and shattered the walls, floor and ceiling of the first floor bake shop.

Four of the victims were employees of a company installing a new 32-pan gas fire oven. The fifth was a store engineer.

300 Striking Seamen Left As Ship Sails

NEW YORK (AP)—The Queen of Bermuda was at sea today, steaming toward the island of Bermuda and leaving 300 striking crewmen stranded in New York as alleged "deserters."

The 22,500-ton vessel sailed yesterday without passengers and manned by a skeleton crew of 120. Many of the passengers had already been settled in their cabins late Saturday afternoon when the British-owned Furness Bermuda Line announced their trip was canceled. Since then, many got air transportation to Bermuda. Others went off to other resorts or returned home.

The strikers, members of the British National Union of Seamen, had left the ship in protest against the firing of three crewmen who had sought a $30 monthly cost-of-living pay increase. The line claimed the discharged crewmen had become "agitators," threatened other members of the crew and wrote insulting notes to the ship's officers.

The strikers were warned to return to the ship or lose their jobs.

Dulles Back to Ike Today to Continue Report

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles continues his report to President Eisenhower today on what he found during a two-week, 26,000-mile look at what he called "the forward positions of freedom" in Asia.

He spent an hour and a half with the President late yesterday, and planned to return to the White House for further conferences today.

Dulles returned yesterday from his tour of seven Asian nations, saying he found "courage and love of liberty and hope." Much of the hope, he said, is based on U.S. power and willingness to fight.

Referring to the countries as the forward positions of freedom, he said they are "positions which the Chinese Communists are desperately trying to take."

Dulles plans a radio-television report to the nation tomorrow night. Details are being worked out.

Dulles went to the Far East last month to help forge a new link in the West's Pacific defenses.

Gov. Freeman's Reorganization Bill Presented

Regrouping of 100 Agencies Recommended

By JACK MACKAY

ST. PAUL (AP)—Gov. Freeman's omnibus reorganization bill, proposing sweeping changes in state government, was introduced in the Legislature today.

Rep. D. D. Wozniak of St. Paul, assistant majority floor leader and chairman of the House Civil Administration Committee, is chief author.

The governor recommended the regrouping of more than 100 departments, boards, commissions and agencies of government that are directly responsible for him, into a small number of major departments. Each of 10 major departments will be headed by single administrators, who will constitute a "small cabinet" responsible to the governor.

Rep. Wozniak will have the full cooperation of other top leaders in the House—particularly majority whip Fred A. Cina, Aurora, and Speaker A. I. Johnson, Benson—in his "big assignment."

Describing the reorganization plan as "one of the most important matters before the Legislature," Rep. Wozniak said he will give it top priority as chairman of the committee to which the bill was referred. He said hearings will begin next week.

"The taxpayers of Minnesota deserve fully efficient and economical government," Wozniak said in introducing the bill. "They expect this kind of government."

"We must, therefore, adopt every proposal which will streamline the executive branch of the government or in any other way make it more efficient."

Legislators Skeptical
"My personal opinion is that there is widespread support in the state for any improvement which will give the taxpayers more for each dollar."

Wozniak also emphasized that it is "all the more important now, in view of our tax and appropriations condition, to act favorably on reorganization."

Many legislators are skeptical about the chances of passing such a far-reaching bill this late in the session. The governor did not pre-

Eagles Ballroom At Milwaukee Burns

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Fire which may have been caused by a carelessly discarded cigarette swept the Eagles Million Dollar Ballroom early today, causing loss estimated by Fire Chief Edward Wischer at $500,000.

Some 200 firemen, responding to five alarms, fought the fire in zero temperature. No one was injured.

Water cascading from the five-story brick building which also houses the national headquarters of the Fraternal Order of Eagles froze as it hit the street. City workers blocked off the streets and sandpaved in the area.

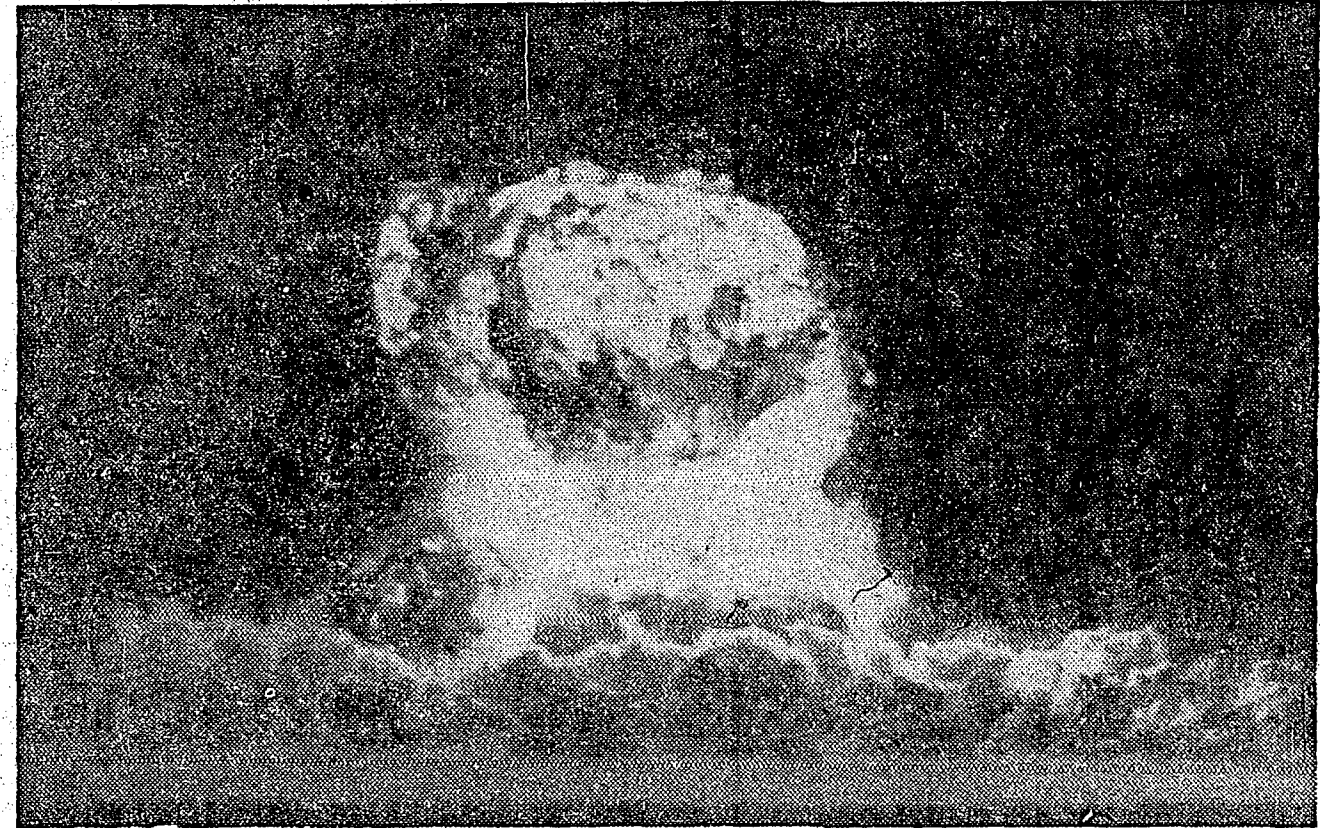

Chief Wischer said the fire and most of the water damage was confined to the ballroom located on the second floor. He said the blaze instantly started just below the bandstand in the ballroom. The first alarm was turned in at 3:14 a.m. The fire had been brought under control by about 5 a.m.

Four Perish in Cottage Fire

WILMINGTON, Mass. (AP)—A woman and three men perished yesterday in a blaze which destroyed a converted six-room summer cottage near Silver Lake.

The victims were John Mead, 30; his wife Ruby, 35; John R. Stephens, 26, a boarder, and James R. Frotton, 50, a merchant seaman who visited the cottage Saturday night and decided to stay overnight.

Cause of the blaze was not determined immediately.

Plane Crashes In Mountains Of Formosa

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—A U.S. Air Force transport plane carrying 14 persons crashed yesterday in the cloud-hidden mountains of southeast Formosa.

Search planes spotted the wreckage today and reported no sign of survivors. Rescue parties were on the way to the scene.

The C54 was on a flight from Okinawa with five crewmen, nine passengers and a replacement engine for another U. S. Air Force plane stranded in Hong Kong.

It crashed about 20 miles northwest of Taitung. Off course 33 miles, it hit a 10,000-foot mountain at about the 9,000-foot elevation.

The plane was from the 6,000th Operation Squadron, Tokyo. It was last heard from yesterday in the vicinity of Hengchun, on Formosa's southern tip.

Global Bomber Down in Snow

LIMESTONE, Maine (AP)—Swirling, drifting snow today "swept" global bomber" but paradoxically saved its crew Sunday night in the first crash of a 10-engine B36 at Loring Air Force Base.

The 4½ million dollar aircraft crashed on a landing run and burst into flames. The plane was "walked away" from the wreck. Five suffered burns.

Col. Jackson W. Lewis, Loring Air Base commandant, said the super bomber cracked up on a snowstorm when a northeast snow storm interfered with its set-down approach. But, Lewis said, snowdrifts cushioned the crash impact and delayed spread of fire until all hands scrambled to safety. The plane was returning from a routine training flight.

B36 planes are capable of taking an atom bomb 10,000 miles. Those hospitalized at the base with burns included M. Sgt. Donald L. Johnson, 23, gunner, of Frederick, S.D.

Explosion Set Off From Tower 500 Feet High

Perfect Fireball Holds Shape For 20 Seconds

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The largest atomic device tested in the 1955 nuclear series exploded today with a predawn brilliance that dazzled observers in several western states.

The blinding flash of the bigger than average A-weapon startled observers on a mountain peak 55 miles away and lit up skies briefly like an early sunrise over southern California, 250 miles away.

The detonation from a 500-foot tower, highest ever used in a Nevada test, packed a wallop considerably greater than the standard A-bomb, but its shock apparently bounced on uninhabited areas. Las Vegas, 75 miles from the Yucca Flat test site, did not feel the blast.

The 20-second fireball attested to the size of the device. The previous three explosions in this series failed to produce fireballs of more than six or seven seconds duration.

Seen In Oregon
The flash was reported seen as far as Klamath Falls, Ore., nearly 550 airline miles away. It also was seen in San Francisco, Salt Lake City, Phoenix, Ariz., and south of the border in Mexico.

Clear weather conditions gave Los Angeles its best view of any atomic test. This was the 35th shot at the Atom Energy Commission's Nevada site.

More than 100 planes—Air Force, Navy and Marines—took part in the test, with 66 of them coordinating in a simulated attack mission on the target area. The AEC said 77 planes were airborne at the time of the blast, accounting for vapor trails high in the sky above and to the side of the fireball.

A contingent of 550 soldiers and 25 marines huddled in trenches 5,500 yards away from ground zero and then moved forward in another maneuver of exercise Desert Rock VI. Their commanding officer, Brig. Gen. Fred W. Sladen, said there were no casualties.

Thus the AEC and Department of Defense finally got "Operation Jinx," as it was being called, off the planning board. The high-tower blast was originally scheduled to open the present series on Feb. 15 but had been postponed repeatedly because of adverse weather.

Atomic Trigger
The test was the product of both Los Alamos, N.M., and Livermore, Calif., laboratories but constituted a major effort for Livermore. Because of Livermore's emphasis on hydrogen weapons, there was some speculation that this device might be an atomic trigger for the H-bomb. Hydrogen bombs themselves are not tested in Nevada.

The AEC said 40 experiments were conducted in the test. These included military, civilian defense and diagnostic, that is, purely scientific, studies.

Few Stock Prices Too High, Report

WASHINGTON (AP)—James E. Day, of Chicago, president of the Midwest Stock Exchange, said today that the prices of very few stocks appear to be out of line despite an 18-month rise in market averages.

He and Ronald E. Kaehler, president of the San Francisco Stock Exchange, were called to tell the Senate Banking Committee about New York City where stocks are bought and sold.

The committee started public hearings last week in what Chairman Fulbright (D-Ark.) described as "a friendly study" to determine what's behind the boom in stock prices and what it may bring.

Day cautioned in his prepared testimony against sweeping generalizations about the market being up or down on the basis of various stock averages.

"The market is made up of hundreds of issues that daily have opposite trends," he said. "An erroneous impression is created when we speak about the stock market as a single unit."

"The only sound way to evaluate prices of securities is to analyze them on the basis of book value, earnings per share and yield. On this basis, it would appear that very few stocks are out of line price-wise."

Day said there are "a hundred and one reasons" why people buy and sell stocks or anything else, and price levels are affected by the attitude of the public as well as values.

"There is every reason to believe that the business outlook is a healthy and vigorous one and that the attitude of the general public is one of confidence," he said.

Students Ask State Help in School Fight

IRVING, Tex. (AP)—Students have called on the state to help settle a fight between the Irving School Board and fired Supt. John Beard.

The 53-year-old Dr. Beard is battling to keep his job. The board has stood fast on its decision to discharge him.

The fuss raged unabated today while a strike by some 200 teachers and other school employees who support Beard entered its second week. Volunteers and replacements are running the schools, which are under police guard because of the emotional pitch in this booming little city of some 23,000 near Dallas.

In the latest exchange, the board yesterday turned down Beard's suggestion, the public vote on whether he or the board should quit. Beard fired back that the board is "dogmatic, unfair, undemocratic and biased."

As hot words flew, students were preparing a letter to State Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar asking help. The idea of the letter originated with nine students, and they said there was no opposition to it from either side.

While a policeman stood by in the Irving Community House, senior and junior high school students filed by and signed the letter.

It said in part, "We, the students of the Irving school system, representing the rights of every American student, request the aid of state officials in Austin for investigation and improvement of the school situation during the present emergency."

There was no immediate comment from Edgar.

The board fired Beard Feb. 16 for what it called his "repeated fail-

Minnesotans in Washington

Andresen Doubts Congress Will Restore 90% Supports

By RICHARD P. POWERS
WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Minnesota Republicans in the House who favor restoring 90 per cent price supports on the basic farm crops say there is a large question whether Congress will act this year.

They are Reps. August H. Andresen of Red Wing, a member of the House Agriculture Committee, and H. Carl Andersen of Tyler, a member of the House Appropriations Subcommittee which handles agricultural appropriations.

Both fought the administration's program for flexible supports which Congress adopted last year. Both are backing efforts to restore the high support program.

Andresen and Andersen said in separate interviews there is a good chance the House will pass legislation to restore the 90 per cent figure on wheat, corn, cotton, rice and peanuts. Tobacco, the sixth basic, would continue to receive 90 per cent supports.

"I doubt if the Senate will consider it this year, thus leaving it for final action in 1956—a presidential election year," Andersen said.

Change Next Year
This is in line with views from other quarters that the Democrats, who control both houses of Congress, may decide to make their all-out effort to change the farm law next year.

"If the Democratic leadership is sincere, then they should make every effort to get the measure through both the Senate and House this year," Andersen said.

"I personally hope that Congress will restore the high support figure. And I also hope that, if it does so, President Eisenhower does not veto the bill."

"Whether the bill passes the House this year will depend on the Democratic majority. They may decide to make the effort in 1956."

Andersen said southern Democratic members "do not seem to be very excited about the legislation" to restore the high supports.

The reason for this, Andersen said, is that cotton will be supported at from 89 to 90 per cent of parity, peanuts about the same, rice "close to 90" and that corn also will be supported close to 90.

Wheat is the only basic that will drop to 82 1/2 per cent of parity," Andersen said.

Under the flexible farm law, wheat, corn, cotton, rice and peanuts can be supported at between 82 1/2 and 90 per cent of parity—with the secretary of agriculture deciding the level.

Plans Amendment
Although dairy products are not included with the basic commodities, Andersen said he will offer amendments during his committee's consideration of the legislation to increase the support level on butter, cheese and such.

Dairy products are currently supported at 75 per cent of parity. Andersen said he also will propose amendments to increase the support level on butter, cheese and such.

Racers Routed From River Bed

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles River is just rolling along today—without hot rods.

Police rounded up about 150 youngsters who were racing souped up jalopies on the dry, paved river bottom yesterday. About 30 other cars left the police waiting on the levee and escaped up the San Fernando Road ramp.

Police made no arrests but explained to the youngsters that a river, even without water, is a river and not a race track.

New Eruptions Threatened in Eastern Hawaii

PAHOA, Hawaii (AP)—The threat of violent new volcanic outbursts hung like a dark cloud today over the danger-filled lava fields of eastern Hawaii Island.

Earthquakes of diminishing intensity jolted the area throughout yesterday. They rumbled along the 20-mile slope from Kilauea crater to the active volcano fields on Puna Peninsula.

Volcanologist Gordon A. MacDonald said Pahoia—its villagers packed and ready to run if a big eruption burst forth—"is still not out of danger, but things are definitely looking better."

He said volcanoes may continue to pop up in the devastated Puna area "for days, weeks, even months."

Gov. Samuel Wilder King inspected the fuming lava flows and spouting lava fountains from the ground yesterday.

A week of fiery eruptions has driven 600 persons from their homes. Lava flows have closed around at least nine dwellings and caused an estimated two million dollars damage to rich cane and timber lands. Four villages have been evacuated.

A fountain of lava burst out of a cane field a week ago near Pa-

ho. Since then eruptions and earthquakes have scorched a four-mile stretch across the heart of the Puna Peninsula.

Child Born in Wrecked Auto

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A little Woo that forgot to whoa is doing just fine today.

Eugene Woo, 25, was rushing his wife, Pui Chen Woo, 23, to the hospital yesterday for the birth of their second child when his car struck a parked auto. Amid the confusion the baby, a 6-pound, 15-ounce daughter, arrived.

Doctors from a nearby emergency hospital treated Mrs. Woo for a head cut and reported both mother, father and daughter in good condition.

Holidays Tough For Young Girl

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Never ask 8-year-old Cheryl Ann Creech if she had a nice time over the holidays.

The Fourth of July in 1948 she contracted whooping cough. New Year's Day in 1951—a tonsillotomy. Her birthday, May 1, 1951—measles. Christmas Day, 1951—pneumonia.

This year Cheryl had flu on St. Valentine's Day and Lincoln's Birthday and had an appendectomy on Washington's Birthday.

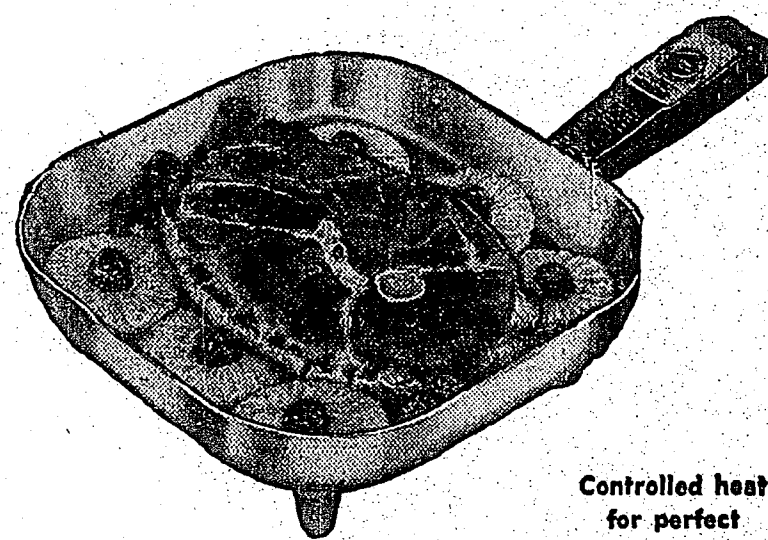

Her mother, Mrs. Jesse J. Creech, gave her a big basket of eggs yesterday—for an early Easter celebration. She is recovering from the Washington's Birthday surgery.

World's Largest Hair and Scalp Home Treatment Firm To Demonstrate New Methods GUARANTEED FOR LIFE

Winston's New Method Offers Lifetime Satisfaction to Men and Women with Hair and Scalp Problems. Private, Individual Demonstration Will Be Open to the Public Wednesday Only, March 9, 1:30 P.M. 'til 9 P.M., Winona Hotel, Winona, Minnesota.

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 6—In an interview here today R. W. Ochs, who heads the House of Winston, the largest Hair and Scalp Home Treatment firm in the world, stood before us and in plain, simple language, set forth a new realm of hope with an entirely new concept of thinking regarding the Hair and Scalp, and its troubles by making the following declaration:

WINSTON'S LIFETIME, registered warranty guarantees all of our clients, old and new alike, definite, lasting results to their complete satisfaction.

"They must be completely satisfied with all results at the end of their treatment, or all of Winston's future individualized treatments will be given absolutely without any cost to the client until their complete satisfaction has been attained. Positive and lasting results will be definite and complete to our clients' complete satisfaction."

WILL NOT MISLEAD
"The House of Winston makes this offer not only to further acclaim the already realized Winston Slogan, 'We Will Do What We Say,' but to definitely denounce misleading, short term (30, 60, 90 day) guarantees. Their very foundation is false and serves only to confuse the public. The House of Winston will have no part in such trickery."

COMMON SENSE
With this, Ochs calmly sat down and the questions began. The first question asked by one of the reporters was this, "Can Winston actually help people with hair and scalp problems?" Ochs stood again, and said: "Using common sense alone. Could We Afford Not To, with our guarantee?"

SOME DISCOURAGED
"The House of Winston does, however, exclude from its lifetime warranty, the shiny bald, because it is impossible to attain something from nothing. When the root is dead (that is, if hair is not growing through the scalp any more), it's dead, gone forever!"

INDIVIDUAL ANALYSIS
"Reason, Ladies and Gentlemen, if you desire a Professional Hair and Scalp Examination, Call Consultant L. A. Defoe, Wednesday Only, March 9, at the Winona Hotel in Winona, Minnesota, 1:30 P.M. 'til 9 P.M. However, no appointment is necessary, there will be no cost for examination and you will not be embarrassed in any way."

Rolvaag Gives DFL Answer To Bjornson

Political Discussion Heard by Students In Meetings Here

Minnesota's DFL Lieutenant Governor Karl Rolvaag, speaking before a noon luncheon audience at Hotel Winona Saturday, attacked the 1951-53 administration of GOP Governor C. Elmer Anderson, labeling it as one "in which the farmers developed a lack of confidence in the state's government."

The verbal barrage, hacking at state Republican policies, came during the day's second major partisan session in a day-long Political Participation Day sponsored Saturday by St. Mary's College.

During an opening morning session, former GOP State Treasurer Val Bjornson had termed a $20 tax cut proposal introduced by the Democratic party in Congress, "out and out trickery, contemptible political shulshury, insincere and politically dishonest."

He had gone on to say that the proposed legislation was "strictly a contemptuous bid for votes in the 1956 elections," adding that he believed the measure was illogical to begin with, in that it "ties a tax reduction to proposed tax levy increases as nothing more than a rider."

Bjornson later had launched into an attack on the present Minnesota legislative program, slashing an attempt by Gov. Orville Freeman to put into effect a state withholding tax and adding that Minnesota taxpayers would "unequivocally pay twice—two years' tax in one year—between July 1 of one year and July 1 of the following year."

Bjornson Answered
Rolvaag, during the noon luncheon attended by about 60 persons, answered Bjornson's blast at the $20 tax cut for individual income taxpayers by saying, "I don't have enough of the facts on hand and don't know enough about it at present to give a definite statement."

He did, however, indicate a degree of approval for the measure when he said that "more purchasing power in the small consumer will leave us all better off."

In regard to the proposed state withholding tax, Rolvaag declined to answer Bjornson's accusation that taxpayers would be paying two years' tax in one year, but touched on a different aspect of the question, noting that "six other states have the same program as is being proposed here and none of them have had any forgiveness."

He added that "five of those six states have adopted the state withholding program under Republican administrations."

Rolvaag said that he believed "12 other states are contemplating similar tax programs."

The lieutenant governor limited his remarks for the most part to farmers' problems and to the state's economic situation, saying that "there's a serious chain of events going on in this state," he continued. "Because the farmers developed a lack of confidence in state government in the period from 1951 to 1953, they began cutting down on their orders for farm machinery and equipment, implement dealers, therefore had to cut down on their orders for mechanical farm equipment, because they knew the farmers would not buy them, and as a result manufacturers had to slow down production and lay off workers, which in turn decreased even more the farmers' confidence in the GOP administration."

Summing up his syllogism, Rolvaag concluded that "the election of 1954 was the result of a protest over a disastrous state Republican administration."

Naftalin Comments
Arthur Naftalin, present commissioner of administration for the state of Minnesota, while addressing a summary session for the representatives of three colleges attending the affair, outlined what he considered basic points of agreement and basic points of difference between the Republican and Democratic parties in the U. S.

The two parties are basically alike," he said, "in these three points: (1) The democratic process. (2) Belief in the capitalist system. (3) Belief in the two-party system."

He added, however, that "in society there are two tendencies. One is to preserve the good values of the present, which is the conservative or Republican attitude; and the second is a seeking for change and adventure in politics, which is characteristic of a liberal, or flexible Democratic policy."

Naftalin urged college students to "participate in politics—you owe it to yourselves. You will find it very rewarding as an extremely worthwhile use of time and energies."

He noted that "technology and

Elections Tuesday In Some Minnesota, Wisconsin Communities

Elections will be held Tuesday in Minnesota's townships; Wisconsin's 10th senatorial district of Buffalo, Pepin, Pierce and St. Croix counties, and the city of St. Charles, Minn.

Probably the most significant of the three is the primary election for state senator from the 10th district of Western Wisconsin. There three Republicans will vie for the right to oppose Democrat William W. Ward, New Richmond, Wis., in the April 5 general election. Ward is unopposed for his party's nomination. The GOP candidates are Robert F. Knowles, New Richmond; Le Roy C. Hagemann, Ellsworth, Wis.; and Elmer W. Gunderson, Pierce County.

A replacement for Warren P. Knowles, who was elected lieutenant governor Nov. 2, will be named April 5 for an unexpired term ending the second Wednesday in January 1957. The 10th district has not been represented in the current session of the state senate.

At St. Charles, voters will pick a mayor, two aldermen, a city recorder, a treasurer, two constables and an assessor. Mayor Coleman C. Smith is unopposed for re-election. Roger Anderson and Erford Ham are the lone candidates for the alderman jobs. Oscar N. Linden is the lone candidate for the recorder and Raymond Wiskow is unopposed for treasurer. Albert J. Fix, Homer Ross and Darwin Morrill will compete for the two constable jobs while Albert F. Wiskow and Fred Kroening face one another for assessor. Polls will be open from 7 a. m. to 8 p. m.

As set by state law, the Minnesota township annual meetings will be held to name a supervisor for a three-year term, a treasurer for two years, an assessor for two years, a justice of the peace and a constable for two years each. Budgets for various township services will be determined.

Meanwhile, town and village caucuses are being held in Wisconsin until March 14. Candidates will be named at these meetings for the April 5 municipal and town elections.

human clashes of public personality are what determine political policy" and cited a "great need today for knowledgeable persons in government."

Naftalin called for greater numbers of professionals and well-informed persons in the field of politics and offered a challenge to students when he said: "There's a strong theory in the U. S. today—and college students are one of the greatest offenders by it—that those well educated and professional are above politics and therefore wish to keep out."

3 Ways to Get in
Citing ways for U. S. citizens to inform themselves in the political field, Naftalin said that "the best way is through actual participation in politics. A second means is to attach oneself to the individual who is already in politics and work with him, or thirdly, attach yourself to a cause—something you believe in—and work with it."

Concluding his summary of the day's sessions, Naftalin offered the axiom, "Get into politics and get into the swing of American life."

Director of the political education affair, sponsored as a part of Minnesota's Citizenship Clearing House, was Brother L. Fabian of the St. Mary's College department of political science. He was assisted by George Hansen, president of the Young Republican club, and Paul Madigan, president of the Young DFL club on campus.

Heath said that he was driving east on Highway 35 toward Winona when he noticed Zeller approaching from the east.

Zeller, Heath said, suddenly drove across the eastbound lane of traffic, continued on the shoulder for a short distance and then veered back across the traffic lane.

Heath said that he applied his brakes but the two cars collided near the center of the pavement. The front end of each car was damaged extensively.

Winonan Charged After Accident; 3 Persons Hurt

Three persons were injured and a Winona motorist was arrested on two traffic charges as a result of the collision of two cars on Highway 35, near Dam 5-A, Saturday afternoon.

Deputy Sheriff Orville Abts, Fountain City, said that the accident occurred at about 2:45 p. m., and involved cars driven by Orvin Zeller, 38, 164 E. 4th St., and Harley Heath, Strom, Wis.

Two passengers in the Heath car — Mrs. Heath and Mrs. Vern Harcey, Utica — were taken to the Winona General Hospital for treatment of multiple bruises and shock suffered in the mishap.

Mrs. Harcey was admitted to the hospital for further examinations and observation but Mrs. Heath was released after it was found that she apparently suffered no serious injuries.

Zeller, who was arrested on charges of drunken driving and driving without a license, complained of chest pains and had a head bruise but was not hospitalized.

Sheriff Glenn Davis said today that Zeller was released from the Buffalo County jail Sunday after posting a $125 bond and is slated to appear in court in Alma, possibly later this week, to answer the charges.

4,000 Crowd Armory For 1st Hobby Show By 50 Senior Citizens

"Let wanton girls and boys, Cry over lovers' woes and broken toys. Our waking life is sweeter than their dreams."

Thus spoke the poet Santayana and thusly acted two score and 10 of Winona County's young-in-heart oldsters who made the first "Hobby Show For Senior Citizens" ever held here a success.

The day-long affair at the Winona Armory Saturday — attended by a conservatively-estimated 4,000 persons—had everything.

The success of the show for city and county residents past the age of 60 surpassed even the most optimistic chairman's fondest expectations.

And there were old people everywhere. They stood four and five deep along the balcony surrounding three sides of the armory—just watching. They moved slowly along the line of exhibits downstairs, with hand-clutching grandchildren intoning the oohs and aahs over the intricate handiwork and bright colors before their eyes.

The exhibitors themselves—ranging in age from 60 to 92—stood up a proud and happy bearing beside their individual displays, amazed for the most part over the huge crowd they'd drawn.

As visitors walked down the line of expertly-shown hobbies, the exhibitors would stop them and ask them to "take a gander at the ribbon I won."

They were eager to show the individual works of art they had created, to explain just how each piece was accomplished and to tell how happy they were that someone had stopped to talk.

An unusual development was that about 85 per cent of the persons who came to see the show were past 50 themselves. There wasn't an overflow of unaccompanied children or young couples. For the most part it was elderly persons, who, taking note of advancing years, were interested in what others in like circumstances had done with their spare moments.

A Variety Show

Beautifully appliqued quilts and hook rugs . . . crocheted handkerchiefs, tablecloths and linens of all kinds . . . tatting and sewing . . . knitting and afghan finery . . . How many years' labor and eye-strain went into some of the pieces so carefully laid upon the tables—each with its tag, telling what it was and who made it?

Many of the finest eye-catchers in the show were lined along the south wall of the armory, where wood-working craftsmen displayed their wares.

Some of them were almost unbelievable in their detail and delicacy.

There were artfully-carved bookcases and chairs, firmly rounded and perfectly varnished lamp bases and columns . . . and a display of miniatures, which included a tiny beer wagon, a log-driver's wagon and a tiny coach and four.

Each of the dark brown miniatures was completed by perfectly executed dray horses — linked to their respective vehicles by almost-unsuspected reins and completely rigged in every detail.

A leather-tooling artist had patiently finished handbags, belts, holsters and wallets, and there was a breath-taking series of collections, including dolls from all over the world, salt and pepper shakers, China ware and translucent cups and saucers.

Historical Exhibit
Peter Loughrey was there too, displaying for the Winona County Historical Society a collection from his 1901-03 stay among the natives of the Philippine Islands. He was adjacent to a colorful display of books dealing with all types of hobbies, presented by the Winona Public Library.

Laddy Cisewski was showing his miniature church altars — carved by hand and duplicating those found in several Winona churches; the St. Stan's Quilters drew lots of exclamations by their giant million-stitch blanket, and one woman presented a display of silver spoonery, some of which dated back 300 years.

There were 50 exhibits in all—each just a little different than its neighbor and each a story in itself, accomplishment-wise.

High note in the evening's show was struck when C. A. Choate, who served as master of ceremonies for both afternoon and evening entertainment programs, announced the selections for a king and queen of the hobby show.

Present for the coronation were members of Winona's Winter Carnival royalty, including Pat Passehl, Miss Snowflake; George "Spike" Graham (Jack Frost V), and Frosters Lloyd Ozmun and Roger Schneider.

Named queen and presented with an orchid and a kiss by Jack Frost was Miss Elizabeth Hicks, 92½, 119 W. King St., the oldest participant in the hobby show.

Also presented with a spirited huss by Miss Pat Passehl, was John Thile, 91, the selected king of the affair. He lives at 378½ E. 3rd St. and was the second-oldest entrant in the show. Thile was pinned with a white carnation by Miss Snowflake.

An unscheduled heart-warmer turned up when, following coronation ceremonies, Thile grasped a surprised Miss Hicks about the waist and bestowed a kiss upon her face.

Winners of attendance prizes at the evening program included: Henry A. Osted, St. Paul; Mrs. Alphonse Prochowitz, 515 W. Bellevue St.; Joseph J. Kraft, 1007 W. Wabasha St.; and Mrs. Earl Wakefield, 224 W. Sanborn St.

Named first-place winners in their respective categories were: Embroidery—Mrs. Minnie Damm, Hotel Winona; tatting—Miss Elizabeth Hicks; crochet work—Mrs. Lizzie Eggert, 662 E. 3rd St.; afghan—Mrs. L. Bambenek; refreshments, Mrs. Walter Kelly; equipment and circulars, Herbert Johnson; displays and lighting, Frank Tillman and Philip A. ## Tractor Tips Backward Onto Rollingstone Man

ROLLINGSTONE, Minn. (Special)—A young Rollingstone farmer miraculously escaped death early Saturday afternoon when his tractor tipped over backwards onto him.

The farmer, Paul Kronebusch, who operates the place formerly owned by Sen. J. R. Keller west of here, underwent surgery at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Wabasha, this morning for an injury to his right knee suffered in the accident. His condition is good, according to a Wabasha physician, and he can be expected to leave the hospital in about two weeks.

Kronebusch was towing a sawrig into the woods near the Raymond Mueller farm when the tractor tipped onto him. The Muellers summoned assistance and Paul was pulled from underneath the equipment. It is reported that the sawrig kept Kronebusch from being crushed.

Millville Youths Get Suspended Terms for Thefts

WABASHA, Wis. — Four Millville youths, held here since Jan. 22 on grand larceny charges in connection with thefts at a Hammond used car lot, were placed on probation today by District Judge Arnold Hatfield.

Two of the youths, Richard Donke and Richard Schuchard, both 21, were given indeterminate sentences to the state prison at St. Cloud, which were suspended. The pair were turned over to the Board of Pardoners for a period to be set by the board. Their brothers, Kenneth Donke, 18, and Stanley Schuchard, 18, were turned over to the Minnesota Youth Conservation Commission for periods to be set by the YCC.

The quartet pleaded guilty before Judge Hatfield in Wabasha a month ago and were held for pre-sentence investigation. The judge sentenced them today in Rochester. They were returned here by Sheriff John Jacobs and will be turned over to Thomas Richards, Winona, state parole officer.

Richard Schuchard is on furlough from the armed forces. The military will not interfere until he is released by the state. They were held for thefts at the car lot Jan. 18 under bond of $1,500 each.

Victim of Mad Dog Found At Moorhead

MOORHEAD, Minn.—A dog-bite victim sought in four states as being in urgent need of anti-rabies treatment was found here Sunday.

He is Daryl Emery, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Emery, Moorhead.

Doctors learned the dog's teeth had only scratched the surface of the boy's leg and did not draw blood. But treatment was ordered as a precaution against the deadly infection.

Apparently unconcerned, Daryl went to a movie yesterday afternoon while doctors awaited arrival of anti-rabies serum.

After the movie a local supply of the serum was found and the first of 14 daily injections was given Daryl by a doctor.

The boy's father, who operates Emery Excavating Co. here, said he wasn't worried about the bite until relatives called him yesterday.

They told him they had heard a Sioux Falls, S. D., radio broadcast of the search for the dog-bite victim and knew he and the boy had been on a trip into Iowa last week.

Emery confirmed it was he and his son who stopped to look at some construction equipment in La Mars, Iowa, Tuesday morning. "I had my back to the boy," Emery explained. "I heard him holler 'Ow!' I turned around and the dog was walking away."

He said the dog had acted "sort of funny" but its bite did not appear serious. The dog, a small Collie, had grabbed the boy's trousers more than his leg, Emery said.

The dog later bit a 14-year-old girl near La Mars and was impounded. It was found to have rabies.

Emery said he and his son were returning from an auction sale of heavy equipment in Garnett, Kan., at the time of the incident.

After learning of the search, Emery hustled the boy to a doctor yesterday morning.

Add a little curry powder to the cream sauce you've made for boiled onions. Serve with broiled chicken and steamed rice. A green salad with coarsely grated carrot, or carrot curls in it will add color and crisp texture to this menu.

NEW ULM, Minn. (P)—A Friday fire in the offices of Dr. F. H. Dubbe turned in its own alarm.

The blaze, starting in a broom closet, melted a soldered pipe joint. Water trickled through the ceiling into the Maine Clothing Store.

Investigating the source of the leak, a policeman found the fire which was doused with only nominal damage.

New Jelke Trial Starts

NEW YORK (P)—Minot F. (Mickey) Jelke's new trial on compulsory prostitution charges starts today and this time there may be women on the jury.

"Nobody knows a woman like a woman," Jelke's lawyer commented yesterday in saying he would welcome "courageous" woman jurors. The prosecution's case in the past rested heavily on testimony of call girls connected with Jelke's alleged $100-a-night vice operations.

Another change for the oleomargarine heir this time will be the presence of the press and public throughout the trial. The first time, Judge Francis L. Valente barred observers "in the interest of public decency and morals."

This ban eventually resulted in Jelke's conviction being upset by the state's highest court. It ruled that he was denied a fair trial because the courtroom was closed during the prosecution phase of the trial.

The defense asked Valente to disqualify himself from presiding at the second trial on the ground that he would be prejudiced by the

Rumors Princess Will Wed Air Ace Strengthened

By HAL COOPER

LONDON (P)—Persistent press rumors that Princess Margaret will wed divorced air ace Peter Townsend got unexpected support today.

A big-circulation tabloid carried an interview with the RAF group captain indicating there may be something to the stories.

British papers first dropped hints that Margaret was in love with Townsend — more than 15 years her senior — two years ago when he was an equerry in the royal household and they were frequently seen together at social functions.

The reports died down a short time later after Townsend suddenly was whisked off to Brussels as air attaché at the British Embassy.

Since then, as far as the British public knows, they haven't met. But two big Sunday papers — the People and the Pictorial — asserted this weekend that the romance is still very much alive and that the matter will soon come to a head.

Today the Mirror, which is under the Pictorial and has a circulation of 4½ million, carried an interview with the 40-year-old Townsend in Brussels which gave the impression the stories had some basis.

Mirror reporter Howard Johnson said he told Townsend that the Pictorial had commented that if Margaret "places above all the man she loves, then she need fear no enduring rebuke."

He quoted Townsend as replying, "That is nice to hear."

Johnson said he also told Townsend the Pictorial had predicted there soon would be an announcement from Buckingham Palace "concerning yourself and Princess Margaret."

He said Townsend replied: "Please don't quote me on this. I think it gives away too much of my thoughts."

Overruling of the first trial. Valente refused to do so. Jelke and his attorneys then said they were sure the judge would conduct a fair trial.

Cadillac

Acting on a 20-Year-Old Decision!

Let's suppose it was a couple of decades ago when a young lad, with his book strap over his shoulder and his lunch basket under his arm, started slowly down a dusty road that led to a country schoolhouse.

But his walk was short that day. For a big, handsome Cadillac—with its smiling driver traveling in the lad's direction—stopped and gave him a "lift."

And as he stood there on the schoolhouse lawn and watched the big car roll off into the distance, he made a decision. He decided that, some day, he would own a Cadillac.

And here you see him, his dream come true—taking the keys to a new 1955 Cadillac!

As a Cadillac dealer, we've been privileged many times to help make such a dream come true. And it never ceases to be a thrill.

But we do feel, in all sincerity, that many motorists —not realizing the Cadillac car is practical as well as wonderful—wait too long to make the move.

The lowest-priced Cadillac, for example, actually costs less than twelve different models of other makes. Its economy of operation is far beyond anything you could logically anticipate from a car of Cadillac's size and luxury. And at the time of resale, a Cadillac traditionally returns a greater share of its owner's investment than any other car in the land.

If, like the gentleman in the picture above, you have been looking forward to a Cadillac of your own—you should give careful consideration to these remarkable Cadillac facts.

It is entirely possible that the time for your Cadillac has come—and, as we said, it is always a pleasure to help make such a dream come true.

Better come in and see us today.

Litterbugs Hit Hard In New York City

The stakes have been raised for New York's litterbugs. It now costs them as much as $25 to throw a gum wrapper on the sidewalk, where the fines used to average around $2 or $3. There are, however, still plenty of gum wrappers on plenty of sidewalks.

The difficulty is partly statistical. Even with the addition of 200 new sanitation department patrolmen to the 50 who had been trying to cope with the problem, that still makes the odds in favor of the litterer about 32,000 to 1. Not even a Joe Friday or a Fearless Fosdick could keep an eye on 32,000 New Yorkers at once.

The city has managed to ante up an additional $800,000 to hire the 200 additional patrolmen, who will wear blue uniforms with "D.S." on the collars and may even be armed in case a litterbug gets unruly. Sanitation Commissioner Andrew W. Mulrain has his Irish up about the way the city looks and a lot of good citizens are wishing him well.

Department statisticians estimate that 90 per cent of New York's litter is preventable compared with as little as five per cent in some European cities. Included in this category is garbage "air mailed" from apartment windows — the customary method of disposing of the stuff in some sections of town. Also included are such things as discarded newspapers, candy wrappers, tobacco cans, theater programs and all the hundred and one other examples of flotsam left behind by the goings and comings of 8,000,000 hurrying residents.

In most sections of Manhattan there is a heavy wire trash receptacle every block or so, which means that anyone who wants to cooperate with Mulrain's men with the brooms can easily do so. Most local residents use these public wastebaskets, too, most of the time. But enough New Yorkers insist on their traditional habit of being untidy so that Mulrain and a lot of other people are ashamed of the city's appearance.

Mulrain came out for $25 fines early this year and most of the city magistrates agreed to go along with his proposal. The law was already on the books permitting this levy against litterers, but until the commissioner spoke out the fines had averaged only $2 or $3.

The sanitation department is in the process of changing 23,000 signs to warn of the possible $25 fines.

There have been some complaints that a $25 fine is excessive for dropping a piece of paper on a sidewalk instead of into a trash basket, but Mulrain doesn't think so. In fact he points out, when compared with the penalties elsewhere the higher levy here seems quite mild.

In cities elsewhere in New York state, fines of up to $50 can be levied. In Virginia, judges can assess a litterbug as much as $500. Milwaukee's ordinance provides for fines of $5 to $500 for littering, but few arrests are made. In Arkansas and Idaho, litterers may spend a cool 10 days in jail and in Georgia — which doesn't fool around, sub—a fellow caught depositing the southland can be hauled off to a cell for six months — and required to keep that cell clean, to boot.

Here in Winona we are not as much concerned with trash thrown in the streets as we are with the worst type of litterbugs — those who dump beer cans, bottles, etc. along our highways. And sad to say, the filthy habit seems to be getting more prevalent every year.

St. Cloud Park Board Acquires More Land

It is good to see the Park and Recreation Board reaching out for additional public areas as a part of a long-range development plan. This kind of far-sightedness pays off handsomely in the years to come.

Land for parks and playgrounds can be acquired now at moderate costs whereas 10 or 20 or 30 years from now they might cost many times the amount now set aside. And, of course, if the development of the community takes a different turn, the tracts acquired can always be disposed of, usually at a substantial profit.

The school system here is thinking along similar lines, projecting its needs a quarter of a century or more ahead. As a result it has picked up a number of parcels of property which some day may be used for school development as the city expands.—St. Cloud Daily Times.

These Days

Taxpayers Should Tremble and Obey

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

NEW YORK — You never know what you are liable to get into when you act as a plain citizen who helps to pay the civic bills as a taxpayer, and you begin to question the experts. The new rule seems to be that those who call themselves experts having spoken, it is for the rest of us to tremble and obey.

I got into a thing called fluoridation because I read an article in the "Scientific American" about this stunt. I did not like the authors' approach to the problem since, in effect, they started out by telling those who might disagree with them that they were swinish anti-intellectuals. As I read their pro-fluoridation article, my hackles rose and I said to myself that apparently nobody knows whether this thing is really good or bad except for small children and why not buy it in a drugstore. I have since discovered that I have paid cash money to a dentist to do it on my children out of a bottle. In fact, a study on the use of stannous fluoride dentifrice appears in the journal of the American Dental Society for February.

HAVING SAID SUCH THINGS to myself, I thought that maybe I would share my thoughts with my gentle readers, when lo and behold! Upon my head fell a mountain of literature, pro and con, articles signed by physicians and dentists who favored and opposed fluoridation and even more material from those who join movements and become fanatical about them, no matter on which side.

I have now gone through this accumulation of literature, first having thrown away all the duplicates. What I discover is this:

1. Fluoridation is good for children up to their eighth year;
2. It can be done out of a bottle bought in a drugstore by dentists and is so being done;
3. It does not help adults much if at all;
4. The dental profession is not 100 per cent in favor of fluoridating drinking water to lessen the danger of caries, which is fancy talk for a cavity; some dentists say that the arguments for it are non-conclusive; others say, "What do you want to know about it, you aren't a dentist?"
5. Nobody denies that fluorides in water, even in small quantities, can affect the kidneys adversely and can later in life show up in kidney stones; the pros take the position that the quantity used in drinking water is so small that the danger is not worthy of consideration. Still, if you get a kidney stone, you would know that it hurts and can cause great damage;
6. Nobody bothers about the citizen who is allergic to the stuff; perhaps he will drink bottled water or gin. When I go to Chicago, for instance, I order bottled water from Wisconsin because the taste of Chicago water upsets my digestion. But what does the fellow do who has no expense account?
7. Fluoridation at the reservoir does not control the dosage; a child who drinks 10 glasses of water a day, gets five times the dosage of one who drinks two glasses a day.

THIS ABOUT SUMS IT UP, I have talked to a number of distinguished dentists about fluoridation. What impressed me most is that they object to being quoted pro or con. They say it is unethical for them to express an honest opinion as citizens about a matter which involves the taxpayers' money, because they may only ethically express themselves through learned journals. Even those who vehemently pronounced fluoridation to be bad and that they can take care of it out of a bottle feel that they are bound not to get into a controversy in the press because that looks like advertising and therefore is unethical. Naturally, as a reporter, I think that is the bunk but I keep their names out of the story so that they will not be brought before the American Dental Association on charges.

Nevertheless, I get the impression that there is division in the ranks and when doctors do not agree, what should we laymen think? Maybe fluoridation is a boon, but I remember a whole kind of boons which in short order were silently discarded and forgotten. All I say is that if the stuff may be harmful to the kidneys, why not wait until we are sure one way or the other and meanwhile let the dentists use it on our kids from the bottle.

Churchill Request Keeps Yalta Papers in Mothballs

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Prime Minister Churchill has secretly requested the State Department not to publish its diplomatic correspondence regarding the Yalta Conference until 10 years have passed.

This will be a bad blow to Republican politicians who have had their tongues hanging out waiting for the secret Yalta record to be published so they could charge alleged Rooseveltian give-aways to the Kremlin.

However, when Churchill's request was relayed to John Foster Dulles, his reaction was: Since Eden and Churchill risked their political necks for us on the Foroman crisis, we ought to adhere to Winston's wishes.

So the Yalta papers, though already in galley-proof form, will be suppressed.

Churchill based his request on the fear publication would harm American-British relations.

GOP Disappointment

This probably ends an attempt by GOP senators to pry the Yalta records loose. Senators Knowland of California and Bridges of New Hampshire had continued an appropriation of $12,000 a year for four years to publish documents pertaining to both Yalta and U. S.-Chinese relations. Terrific pressure was applied to the State Department last October to get publication before the November elections, and Bill Reed, Republican Senate secretary, even went down to the State Department to prod historian Robinson McIlvaine — to no avail.

GOP senators don't know it yet, but actually the Yalta records are disappointing from a political point of view. They contain almost nothing about Alger Hiss, long suspected of selling the U. S. A. short at Yalta.

They do contain one typical Rooseveltian vice-crack: the effect that "maybe we should sell Long Island to Stalin."

But on the whole, Republican politicians are probably better off having the documents suppressed for 10 years. This way they can talk about the Yalta "give-aways" without anyone being able to dig up conflicting facts. So perhaps Winston Churchill did the GOP a good turn.

Note — In 1943 the State Department proposed publishing the secret record of the Versailles peace conference, whereupon Churchill protested. At that time it looked as if the Allies were losing the war and he was afraid the Germans would have a published record to show how tough the Allies were on them at Versailles. The State Department acceded to Churchill's wishes in 1943, but published the full conference record in 1945 when the tide of war had shifted and the Allies were confident of winning.

Dulles vs. Chiang
Here is the inside reason why Sec. of State Dulles suddenly went to Formosa for an unscheduled conference with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

Dulles flew to Taipei after Chiang virtually demanded that he show up to discuss something he said was extremely critical to the free world. When he got there, Dulles found that Chiang was hoping mad because he thought Foreign Minister Anthony Eden had persuaded Dulles during the Bangkok conference to abandon any idea of defending Quemoy and Matsu.

Dulles assured Chiang the U. S. fleet will help defend both islands against Red China — if it looks as if an invasion is the prelude to an attack on Formosa. Chiang answered that he hoped this was true because, if not, he would have to order his own forces to attack the mainland, even if it meant eventual suicide for him and all his army.

Dulles wound up the conference by urging Chiang to keep calm

What Time's Next Rocket To the Moon?

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—How will the well-dressed man look in the year 2,000?

If the toys for space-minded kids of today were the real portent of what the future holds, the average American would look with less than joy on the prospect of life in the 21st century.

What adult yearns to go around with his head in a big plastic globe and yelling "blast off" to any stranger who asks him: "What time does the next rocket leave for the moon?"

But be consoled, men. Oscar E. Schoeffler, a fashion authority, says clothing will be even more comfortable in 2,000 than it is now. You may be able to go to a store and have it sprayed on you. Yep, that's right — a custom-sprayed suit.

Here are a few apparel forecasts Schoeffler made in looking ahead 45 years:

"Style leadership will definitely pass from women to men. Men will again become the peacock."

Second Skin

"There will be a basic one-piece suit which will resemble a second skin, and other clothing will be worn over it or discarded, depending on the climate. The military services already are working on this theory of many light layers of clothing rather than one heavy suit."

"This basic suit will be one in which you can even sleep. It will have insulation that will permit your own natural body heat to keep you warm."

"But the suit won't make you look like a garage mechanic in overalls. It will be vibrantly colorful and have an endless variety of pattern. The suit may even be composed of new chemical fibers not even presently dreamed of, and actually sprayed on you to guarantee a perfect fit."

Shoes? They'll be light and glove-like. No worry over the laundry breaking off buttons. Buttons will disappear and be replaced by magnetic closures.

"Both the basic suit and outer garments will be feather light and carry out a decorative theme, such as some neckties do now," said Schoeffler.

Couple Threatened, Robbed of $750

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A gunman who spoke of holding a human life "in the palm of your hand and having the wonderful feeling of killing someone" forced a restaurant owner and his wife to take him on an hour-long ride yesterday.

"How would you like to die? Have you ever been shot? I love to hear a gun go off."

Dewey A. Yacovelli, 31, told police these were a few of the threatening remarks made to him and his wife by the man.

The gunman, a Negro, continually clicked the safety of the pistol which was pressed against one of their necks as he sat in the back seat of the car, Yacovelli related.

Yacovelli's wife Marie said they were ordered out of the car in an alley when he "told us he hadn't made up his mind whether to kill us or not."

"Dewey and I held hands and prayed," she said. "After a while he disappeared and we got back in the car and went to the police."

During the ride the couple, parents of four children, were robbed of $750 in cash and rings valued by Yacovelli at $1,150. He said the gunman was lying in wait in their car in front of their restaurant.

German Armaments Under Some Controls

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—In deciding to rearm Germany, the West had to choose between the potential danger of revived German militarism and the more immediate danger of an aggressive Russia.

The potential danger remains although, starting out, German rearmament will be under some controls: An armed force of 500,000 men in with Germany's Western neighbors and NATO, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The United States more than five years ago proposed German rearmament and has fought for the idea since. It is coming closer to being a reality. France, remembering three German invasions, has been cool.

In Germany itself there is much pacifism and opposition to rearmament. Under the pressure of changing events this pacifist mood may evaporate and become again one of militarism.

The German military leadership has been a consistently dominant, antidemocratic force, contemptuous of civil authority.

Gordon A. Craig, Princeton professor and specialist on German militarism, in a recent lecture considered the danger of rearming Germany by asking: Who will be the new German military leaders?

Reports from Germany have said only those officers who had no connection with the Nazis will be commissioned. But Nazism was only one short chapter in German history. A longer chapter has been that of the military leadership, anxious for conquest to justify its existence.

It is possible the new leadership, even though non-Nazi, will continue the old story by reverting to type.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, friend of the West, has pushed Germany into rearmament. He is 79 and will not be around long. What happens after he leaves the scene is a guess. The West had to gamble on it.

Will the present democracy continue, with strong civil controls on the military, or degenerate after Adenauer into a power struggle, chaos, revolution and the return of a dictatorship of some kind?

Rearmed Germany may remain a loyal ally. Or she may burst through Allied controls and plunge into huge rearmament aimed at regaining her lost territories.

The West Germans intensely desire reunion with East Germany, where the Russians have built an armed force with the help of German generals captured in the war.

It is even possible the new military leadership, if it gains enough power, may take Germany out of the Western alliance and shift to Russia.

Craig recalled that under the first German republic in the 1920s, when Germany's army was limited to 100,000 men, the generals schemed secretly with the Russian Communists to get arms.

Perhaps the only happy prospect in the picture of German rearmament, besides the immediate strength it gives the Allies, is that the Russians seem far more worried about it than the West.

Through With Monkey Business

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Harry D. Spencer swears today he is all through with monkey business.

A house painter by trade, Spencer looked around for something else to do when he landed with a New Orleans firm that buys monkeys from South America for sale to zoos in this country.

"I was born and reared on a farm in Indiana, so I figured I'd do all right with monkeys," moaned Spencer from his bed in New Orleans Charity Hospital.

The job of feeding them and cleaning their cages netted him $20 a week, 10 bites, chills, a 104 fever and a strange malady that doctors so far call "fever of unknown origin."

Spencer still thinks monkeys are "cute little fellows," but he's going back to painting.

'Hold Line on Funds,' Aim of Legislators

By ADOLPH JOHNSON

ST. PAUL (AP)—Strong evidence that members of the 1955 Minnesota Legislature hope to hold the line on expenditures is seen in Capitol activities.

The first big appropriations bill, passed in the House weeks earlier than usual, was about $129,000 smaller than the bill for the same purposes two years ago.

Rep. Leo Mosier, Minneapolis, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, told the House before it approved the $2,172,000 semi-state activities bill unanimously, that his committee was working to hold the line. He said reductions made in this bill would not impair services.

The same "hold the line" attitude was in evidence earlier last week when members of a Senate Finance subcommittee began work on allowances for state departments.

Rep. Fred Cina, Aurora, House majority leader, cautioned members against unwise cuts, adding his belief that if increases are necessary legislators have a duty to approve them and vote the necessary taxes.

First Major Issue
The constitutional convention bill became the first major issue to come up for debate in the Senate, but the matter was laid over until this week after only a little more than an hour of discussion. Debate will resume next week, possibly Tuesday. The companion bill in the House was approved by a House committee, 20 to 1.

Legislative action was completed during last week on 41 more bills, bringing the total for the session to 120, but only a handful could be called important.

Among these was a bill to encourage business by making research costs a tax deduction, a resolution calling on Congress to correct a situation which limits the market for Minnesota dairy products, a bill to permit state employees to have union dues deducted from their checks, and the dog seizure bill.

The dog bill, strongly opposed by anti-vivisectionists, would require that impounded dogs be turned over to medical research laboratories after a suitable waiting period.

OK Parity Resolution
The House approved a resolution calling for full parity for farm products and a proposal designed to provide tax relief for intercity bus companies, especially the smaller ones.

After a one day delay, the Senate voted, 50 to 2, to confirm Morris Hursh as commissioner of public welfare. This was the first of three appointments by Gov. Freeman to draw any Senate opposition. One of those who voted against Hursh was Sen. Raphael Salmore, Stillwater, who criticized Hursh at the time of the resignation recently of Edwin Swenson as warden of the Stillwater prison.

Receiving committee approval were the fair employment practices bill and proposals for a 65-mile-an-hour "absolute" speed limit and for preparation of a state building code.

While it took no action, the Senate Liquor Control Committee showed an antagonistic attitude toward Gov. Freeman's proposal for powers of arrest for state liquor control agents. The measure, to permit each sheriff to grant such powers in his own county, was backed by the governor as a replacement for a proposal for broad arrest powers. That bill was killed earlier by a House committee.

Tax Hearings Ending
Hearings were nearing completion on the Freeman proposal for a withholding system for collecting state income taxes, with committee action expected this week. The House Education Committee began study of basic aids. The present basic aid level is $80 and the governor has urged an increase to $92.

The Legislature received a report on another form of school aid —equalization. The report, based on a four-year statewide study, indicated these aids may not be serving their intended purpose, which is to equalize educational opportunity.

The aids are distributed on the basis of assessed valuations but the report showed that these valuations vary over the state from about 17 per cent to 52 per cent of market values. The report indicated undervalued districts are getting more aid than they are entitled to.

Last week passed without the appearance of bills to embody Gov. Freeman's reorganization plan, but bills were introduced to carry out his proposals to raise an additional $3,200,000.

Also submitted were a series of civil service measures which in part parallel the governor's suggestions, including a proposal to transfer the Civil Service department to the Department of Administration.

Another new bill provides for sharing receipts from the telephone gross earnings tax — which have been rising rapidly in recent years with cities and villages when receipts exceed $4,750,000 a year, the present level.

During the week the Legislature learned when its fast running time will expire. The last day for passing bills will be April 20, and the Legislature must adjourn April 21.

Gov. Freeman has said he will sign no late bills and legislative leaders say they will finish on time, as they did two years ago for the first time in many years.

Freeman Proclaims Girl Scout Week

ST. PAUL (AP)—In a proclamation issued Saturday, Gov. Orville L. Freeman designated the week of March 6 to 12 as Girl Scout Week, and March 12 as the 43rd anniversary of the founding of girl scouting in the United States.

In making the proclamation, Gov. Freeman asked citizens to cooperate with and support the Girl Scouts "so that increasing numbers of girls may benefit from the splendid program of training in citizenship which the Girl Scout organization offers."

Governor Freeman pointed out that the Girl Scout organization has grown to more than a million and a half girl members and more than 500,000 adult leaders "who are each day living up to their promise to do their duty to God and country; to help other people at all times and to live by the Girl Scout laws of loyalty, honesty, courtesy, cheerfulness, usefulness, kindness and helpfulness to others."

More than 1,000 Girl Scouts and adult volunteers are observing Girl Scout week in Winona.

ALSOPS

on his political future. And his backing the Fair Dealing Harriman—he could hardly back anyone else—would start an unholy row in the Democratic Party.

There are, to be sure, ways in which Stevenson could be beaten even if he wanted the nomination and made a fight for it. If Harriman tries for the nomination on his own, for example — and as governor of New York he has a legitimate claim — the loss of New York's ninety delegate votes might block Stevenson.

Or Sen. Estes Kefauver might block Stevenson in another way. If Kefauver decides to make a second try for the nomination, his strategy is already clear. He will challenge Stevenson to primary contests in such states as Oregon, Nebraska, New Hampshire, and even Stevenson's native Illinois. If Stevenson ducked the challenge, this would hurt him badly. But if he were beaten by Kefauver (who has a real following in the party) the wound might well be mortal.

Odds High
Yet the odds are still high on Stevenson all the same. Kefauver, who will be only fifty-seven years old in 1960, is just as doubtful as Stevenson about the wisdom of running in 1956, and for precisely the same reason. Moreover, Stevenson has the biggest name in the party, and he is far more acceptable to all sections of the party than Harriman, Kefauver, or any other presently visible candidate.

Some new figure may emerge, of course — Stevenson himself, after all, was practically unknown eighteen months before the 1952 convention. But as of today, it looks like Stevenson, even if he has to be hit over the head first.

There are a minority among Stevenson's friends and advisers who seriously believe that he can beat Eisenhower in 1956. For one thing, the peace and prosperity of which the Republicans boast may not last for eighteen months. And even if there are no small wars and no bad economic troubles, there are important political differences between 1952 and 1956.

A number of states — notably the two Eastern giants, New York and Pennsylvania — which were in Republican hands in 1952 will be Democratic controlled in 1956. Moreover, even the Republicans are inclined to agree that Eisenhower is unlikely to carry the Southern states he took in 1952. And after all, the hopeful Stevenson adherents point out, a change of only one vote in twenty in the 1952 voting would pull Stevenson equal to Eisenhower.

There are even Democrats who claim (their voices audibly vibrant with hope) that Eisenhower is determined to retire, full of honors, at the end of this term. They profess to believe that the thing is already settled (that the President has tapped Chief Justice Earl Warren for the nomination, and that it was to make sure that Warren would accept the poisoned chalice that Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell flew out to California to see him before his appointment was announced.)

Yet this sort of Democratic speculation has a certain hollow, whistling-in-the-dark sound. It contrasts sharply with the sound of happy confidence in the voice of one of the House Republican leaders, who remarked recently: "Of course Ike will run, and of course he'll win. He's the greatest politician in the country, as great as Franklin Roosevelt ever was — greater, because nobody's sore at Ike."

Hokah Accident Driver Reported Improving Nicely

LA CROSSE, Wis. (Special)—The driver of a semitrailer that collided with a Milwaukee Road train and caught fire Saturday morning was reported to be "improving nicely" at St. Francis Hospital at noon today.

An attending physician said Roy Jesse's other injuries were minor. The 22-year-old Shawano, Wis., man miraculously escaped injury in the crash but his clothing caught fire as he jumped from the truck cab some 150 feet west of the Jesse's 16 crossing. The flames on Jesse's clothing were beaten out by members of the train crew. He suffered first and second degree burns.

Engineer Al Beers, 61, Minneapolis, jumped from his seat in the train's diesel locomotive, narrowly avoiding being hit by a piece of steel from the truck that smashed a window in the cab of the engine. He is the oldest active engineer on the Iowa-Southern Minnesota division of the railroad. The train, with a mail-baggage car, sleeper and day coach, was en route to Austin from La Crosse.

Jesse was driving south on the highway with a load of meat packing supplies for George A. Hornel & Co., Austin.

The diesel of the train was damaged and towed to a siding near the Hokah station east of the crossing. Cars of the train were blackened by gasoline fires after the truck's gas tank ignited. One set of wheels at the rear of the diesel was bumped off the tracks, but traffic was moving on the highway by mid-morning Saturday.

The crossing does not have an automatic flasher signal. An 18-year-old Rushford area girl, Miss Mary Olson, died en route to a hospital after an accident at the same crossing March 17, 1952. She was a passenger in a car driven by Robert Steinbauer that ran into the side of a train. Steinbauer and another passenger in the car were injured seriously.

Brother Reviews How Biologists Lengthen Life

Scientific progress in the field of biology from the time of Pasteur up to the present was reviewed by Brother George, F.S.C., principal speaker at the Communion breakfast of the Knights of Columbus in Holy Trinity Auditorium, Rollingstone, Minn., Sunday morning.

He stressed the stepped-up progress stemming from Flemmings' discoveries in 1929.

Between 135 and 150 members from the surrounding area attended the breakfast which followed the 9:30 a.m. Mass at the church. Breakfast was served by St. Ann's Circle of the Ladies Aid.

Brother George congratulated the large gathering who had received holy Communion — "the pledge of everlasting life." He said they had taken at face value Christ's words: "If any man eat of this bread, he shall live forever."

The speaker went on to point out that "the most compelling desire, the basic motive in man's life is to preserve life, both natural and supernatural. Due to the great contribution of the science of life—the natural life of man has been greatly extended.

"Today one is not old until he has reached the biblical three score and ten years. In other words the average life expectancy now is almost 70 years."

Polio Vaccine Studied
Among the means which biologists have developed to eliminate early deaths have been immunization for contagious diseases and the production of antibiotics, he said. It was noted that by April 1 of this year there will be a definitive answer to the problem of whether the newly developed vaccine for polio will have put the deathblow to this human malediction.

"Antibiotics, a term first used in 1942, refers to chemical substances produced by such microorganisms as bacteria and molds which have the capacity to inhibit the growth of and even destroy bacteria and other microorganisms," he continued. "Starting with penicillin and streptomycin there are today 15 medically useful antibiotics that have put 43 specific diseases under control." Br. George noted that "the tremendous find of the antibiotics was made by biologists who were studying the nature of rather obscure microbes living in the soil."

"Their tremendous antibiotic properties were discovered as it were by accident. Thus it is that some of the greatest contributions of science to the welfare of man have resulted from the study of science for its own sake—that is, to know nature better. The ulterior motive of helping man has been a secondary consequence.

"With death from germ diseases being doomed to elimination greater stress will be given to the degenerative diseases—diseases due to the wearing out of the human body. Among these are ailing hearts, arteries, and kidneys."

Brother George put special stress on "the attention being given to the problem of overeating and its resultant shortening of life. To be obese or not to be is the question facing those who have eaten not wisely but too well. To be obese is to bear testimony of the triumph of matter over mind.

"Life insurance companies have the records to show that obese persons—whether men or women, young or old—have a death rate that is much higher than normal. The main cure and better yet, prevention of obesity is the control of weight by simply eating less."

Brother George concluded his talk stating that man should "eat to live, not live to eat."

Reiland Toastmaster
Leonard Reiland, master of ceremonies, introduced the speakers including the grand knight, Arthur W. Fair, the chairman, A. Del Schneider, and Carlus E. Walter, faithful navigator of the fourth degree, who spoke on outlined requirements for the work in this, the ceremonial or patriotic degree of the order.

Carpenter, as president of the Automobile Club Safety Council of Winona and a member of the UCT executive committee, reported on the safety poster contest sponsored recently by the UCT and the safety council.

Winter Returns For Quick Job

Ol' Man Winter gave Winona and area residents a stern reminder this weekend that spring doesn't officially arrive for another two weeks.

Temperatures in the 40s last week had given the idea that spring was just around the corner, but an inch of snow and a low temperature of 8 degrees below zero Sunday night should have dispelled those thoughts. It was only 2 above Saturday night.

The weatherman says it won't be quite as cold tonight, with a low of 10 to 12 above. Cloudy skies will continue Tuesday, but the temperature is expected to zoom to near the freezing mark. It was 5 above at noon today.

Lows of 23 below zero at International Falls and Bemidji early this morning were 63 degrees colder than the 34 above logged at Anchorage, Alaska. It was 62 degrees warmer at Edmonton, Canada.

The Twin Cities' 11 below was their coldest on record for March 7.

It appeared, however, that the latest subzero blast was more a hit-and-run attack than a full dress cold wave. Highs of from 5 to 15 above were forecast for northern Minnesota today and the range in southern sections was expected to be 15 to 25.

Skies were mostly cloudy today and light snow was predicted for the western regions. Lows tonight are expected to extend from 0 to 10 above in most sections but the mercury may hit 5 below in the north.

Other overnight readings included -9 at Alexandria, -10 at Rochester, -9 at Redwood Falls and -16 at St. Cloud.

December-March Worst for Fires

Highest fire loss totals, year after year, are recorded in the winter months, December through March. Principal winter hazards, according to the National Board of Fire Underwriters, are:

Home heating plants. These are hazards in themselves unless clean and in good repair—including their boilers and pipes. They also lower the humidity and tend to dry things out.

Open fires. To keep sparks from flying out on rugs and upholstery, a sturdy fire screen should always be in place. Chimneys must be clean and free of cracks, too.

Portable heaters. These present several hazards. If they are electric, they may put a drain on electrical circuits and cause overloading. If they burn oil, keep them level and away from combustibles such as drapes and furniture. Fill them outdoors. Never fill or carry a lighted heater. Rooms in which they are in use should be adequately ventilated. Gas heaters should be vented to the outdoors.

Big Building News—New Nail Developed

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER
AP Real Estate Editor

A new nail has been developed. Borrowing the idea of the fish hook, it has a barbed shank. It goes in easily enough but won't back up. Its primary purpose is to protect the appearance of dry wall construction, especially the type of wall using gypsum wall-board. But it also calls attention to the number of different nails now doing special jobs in home building.

You can no longer say "A nail is a nail is a nail." There are threaded nails and grooved nails, cement-coated nails and notched nails—each designed for increased holding power at such places as trussed rafters, hardwood flooring, and so on. A barbed underlayment, and so forth.

There are aluminum nails to prevent rust when exposed to weather. Copper nails keep galvanic action from eating away copper flashing and roof gutters. And of course, the golden spike was in our history books.

This newcomer, however, is called the annular-ringed nail—an annular because the bar-like grooves run around the shank ring-style. It illustrates much of the research that has been going on. It is the result of two years of tests made on the job with 24 different types of nails and culminates 20 years of engineering by manufacturers.

If you ever hammered on the partition studs in one room and then found that nailheads had popped through wallpaper in the adjoining room—as this writer discovered—you can understand why several industries' faces have been red. To reset popped nails is not complicated, but to pay for a re-decorating job is something else.

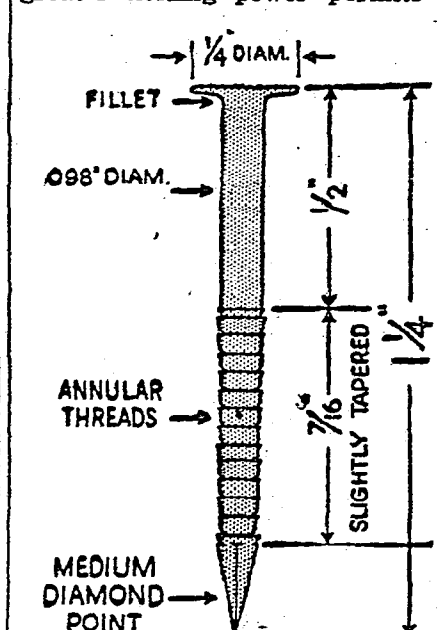

Then there has been the habit of nails just naturally creeping out. This happens when lumber dries out and relaxes the friction depended upon to hold a nail. This has concerned the wood-box and furniture-making industries as well as home builders.

The Gypsum Association, comprising the leading manufacturers of gypsum wallboard panels, took this bull by the horns and sponsored extensive studies. Dr. E. George Stern of Virginia Polytechnic Institute had done much in his wood research laboratory by using helically threaded nails in place of bolts in building trussed rafters. So every type of nail was experimented with.

Now Lloyd H. Yeager, general manager of the Gypsum Association, is ready to announce the winning nail. His formal report for home builders will appear in a forthcoming issue of the Correlator, official publication of the National Association of Home Builders.

A Little Shorter

The new nail is 3/4 of an inch shorter than the commonly used 1 1/2-inch cement-coated nail. Its greater holding power permits it to be shorter and because it is shorter, axial movement or twisting with the shrinking and expansion of the wood, is reduced by 40 per cent. Yeager says this is as important as the grooves in reducing creep.

The New Nail and its specifications as recommended by the Gypsum Association.

"It was discovered," Yeager reports, "that under repeated alternating cycles of high and low humidity, the fibers of framing lumber surrounding a nail shank could actually force the nail outward. The greater the penetration, the greater was the movement of the nailhead."

As for coated nails, it was found that the cement coating actually served as a lubricant and increased the amount of creep. So the new nail is bright and noncoated. One of the largest nail manufacturers (Independent of Bridgeport) observed that the new nail could be turned out by a number of producers and should sell for very little more than coated nails—probably about $2.50 more for an average house. The rings are not machined, but are rolled into the shank with dies.

City Issues $203,000 Fire Station Permit

A building permit was issued last week for Winona's new $203,000 fire station at 455 E. 3rd St.

Contractor for the 2-story 108-by-87-foot concrete building is the Keller Construction Co., 3rd and Winona streets. The building was designed by the Ellerbe & Co. architectural firm, St. Paul.

The largest permit of the year issued by the city engineer's office, it boosted the 1955 building permit valuation total to $237,803 some $170,852 above the total at this time a year ago.

Two other permits also were issued last week. One, for a new 14-by-22-foot garage, was to Earl J. Briska, 961 E. 4th St. Sylvester Smith, 972 W. 2nd, drew a permit to construct a porch addition at an estimated cost of $25.

Open Can of Food Safe Because of Paint Industry

WASHINGTON, D. C.—To those who have been housekeeping for any length of time, it seems "only yesterday" that it was thought "risky business" to leave left-over foods in opened cans.

Today, this is no longer a puzzle for homemakers. The canning dilemma has been solved in a manner which has become more and more an American habit in recent years. The problem was left on the doorstep of the paint, varnish and lacquer industry. And the situation is now well in hand.

The problem might have been stated in this manner: "Wanted: A protective lining for tin cans which will be tasteless, nontoxic, flexible, resistant to numerous acids and salts and also able to withstand machine stamping. Of course it must also be paper-thin, inexpensive and easy to apply!"

The basic problem stemmed from the chemical behavior of many of the foods and beverages we consume. The sulfur, for instance, that is found in peas, certain beans and meats will cause black stains on an uncoated can surface. The acids in various fruits and vegetables can produce "clouding" and gas. Consequently, before any type of food or vegetable can be considered suitable for canning, it must be subjected to exhaustive chemical analysis.

Next, an appropriate lining material is selected from those already developed or an entirely new material is formulated. This is followed by "time testing" under a wide variety of storage conditions. This makes certain that the lining will remain intact and will not decompose under the action of the can's contents, with consequent impairment of purity and flavor.

No new canned food product reaches your kitchen shelf until its lining has met all of these exacting requirements. Today's research in can linings is multiplying the number of foods and beverages which find their way to your home in safe, convenient metal containers. The newest canners in this field are the soft drinks. Some juices and drinks, such as beer, have been widely distributed in cans for many years. But soft drinks have their own chemical personalities which have necessitated new development in tailor-made linings by the paint, varnish and lacquer industry. This has made possible the recent boom in canned soft drinks.

DIGNITY combined with informality distinguishes this unusual treatment of the split-level plan. Garage entrance is eliminated from the facade by placing a two-car garage half-a-flight down from the living room level and under the two rear bedrooms, where it is entered either from the rear or from the side. A large playroom and adjoining lavatory is placed under the front bedroom. This provides for the popular family room, or second living room now in demand. A full basement for heating plant and storage space can be built under the living room wing of the house if desired. A feature of the plan is the garden patio adjoining both living and dining rooms. This is plan 522AP by Derick B. Kipp, architect, designed for the Architects' Home Plan Bureau, Box 141, Bethlehem, Conn. The house covers 1,795 square feet.

HOME REPAIR DOs and DON'Ts

By Andrew C. Long

PAINT ROLLERS

Do... remember that paint rollers, which once could be used only with certain types of paint over certain types of surfaces, are now made in designs and materials for every possible use.

Do... prepare all surfaces for roller painting as for any brush or spray painting. Clean and free from oil, dust and foreign matter.

Do... fill the roller tray half way up its slanted surface; dipping in the roller and rubbing it back and forth on the ribbed part of the tray to remove the excess paint.

Do... apply the paint to a wall with a forward and backward movement without spinning at the end of a stroke.

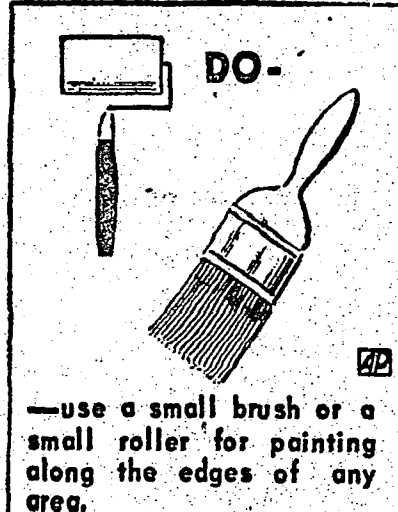

Do... apply the paint to a ceiling across the narrowest area, not stopping until the entire ceiling is completed; this will prevent lapping.

Don't... forget that lining the roller tray with aluminum foil or heavy paper will save cleaning and make for quick changes of color.

Don't... neglect the use of a small brush or trim roller for painting along edges—but do this progressively, along with the painting of the main surface area, to prevent shading.

Don't... overlook the possibility of attaching the paint roller to an extension handle when painting ceilings.

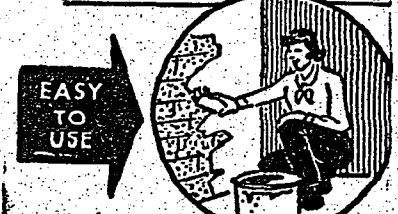

Don't... store the roller where it will collect dust and force you to give it another cleaning before the next use.

IF YOU'RE a kind of radio enthusiast they call you a "Ham." If you like to work with flowers and plants and the like, you have a "Green Thumb," although after working in a garden or a flower pot your thumb is anything but "green." Well, for the guy that likes woodworking for a hobby we could say that he has a "Sore Thumb," and it probably is. Anyway, for you "Sore Thumb" enthusiasts we have something now that is really unusual. Not only is it unusual but interesting, a lot of fun to do and could be turned into a profitable hobby for somebody who can turn them out real good. It's called "Physculpture."

This is a new venture for the East-Bild Pattern Co. and I'm sure by now you are all familiar with the East-Bild Patterns that we have had for sometime. This Physculpture is more or less a different type of decorative idea. The only things that come close to it are decouls and stenciling work. With Physculpture you pick out the design you want, trace it on a piece of plywood or hardwood, and then with the use of hobby knife, or a Mototool you proceed to follow the lines and rout out the design. This will produce an etch effect to the design on the plywood or hardwood. Now then, the easiest way to do this etching or routing is with a power tool. That tool would be one like Casco Co. puts out. Small, fits in your hand easily and has a chuck in which you fit these real tiny etching drills, or grinders, polishers or whatever you might want to use it for. Not only easy for this type of thing but a handy tool to have in your workshop anyway.

Getting back to the Physculpture, after you have etched the design in the wood, and incidentally it only goes about 1/16" deep, then comes the finishing. This of course depends entirely on the wood that you use. One finish that they recommend is one coat of orange shellac, after dry rubbed with fine steel wool to remove the gloss. Paint over this with a white water base paint and wipe off before it dries. This will let the paint that goes into the etching stay there and make the design stand out like 3-D. This type of finish works swell with a dark background. But of course you can use any type of wood, light or dark. So far East-Bild Pattern Co. has only come out with 8 different patterns and these are excellent decorative designs. They show one of them etched on a flush door and I can say that it certainly adds to it. These patterns sell for 50¢ apiece, and it looks to me like you'll get far more than that in enjoyment out of them. Remember the name now "Physculpture."

We have really simplified the installation of a door for you now. The next time you buy a door from us whether it be a Flush door or a Panel door, we furnish you with a butt gauge for the hinges, a lock boring jig complete with strike plate centering tool and face plate gauge, and drills. This goes along with no charge the only thing we ask is that it be returned. With these tools you can't possibly put in a lock wrong or hinges on wrong and not only that but it will cut the installation time way in half. Just another customer service from O'Brien's!

Plenty New, Say Plumbers Of Products

If you're one of those skeptics who thinks there's nothing new under the sun, then take a look at this list reported by the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau of new products recently introduced to the public by the plumbing industry.

One-piece toilets with virtually silent flushing actions and built-in overflow outlets which protect homeowners from a flooded bathroom in event of a stoppage.

Nonsew flush tanks which will not collect moisture or drip water on the floor no matter how hot the weather or how high the humidity.

Countertop lavatories built in dresser-type cabinets which are available in many different color combinations and designs for installation in either bathroom or bedroom.

Shelf-back lavatories with ledge space for toilet articles above new combination fittings which temper hot and cold water through mixing to suit the user's needs.

Slab-type lavatories, with or without pedestals, which offer plenty of attractive flat space for placement of toilet articles while the fixture is in use.

Small bathtub-shower receptor combinations designed to economize on floor space but still allow sufficient area for bathing.

Dental lavatories designed solely for use in oral hygiene. Economical and compact in size, dental lavatories help relieve congestion without creating a space problem even in the smallest of bathrooms.

All household plumbing fixtures are now available in a variety of pleasantly matching colors. Most popular are the pastel shades, including pink, gray, green, tan, yellow and blue. All colored fixtures are acid-resistant and do not stain when subjected to ordinary household chemicals.

Let's get Growing

by
A. F. SHIRA

ROSES FOR YOUR GARDEN
EVERYONE loves roses for their color and fragrance. They are beautiful flowers in a wide range of colors and no garden should be without a few of these aristocrats of the plant world. Some persons will say, "Yes, I love roses, but they are too hard to grow." Yet, they are no more difficult to grow than many other flowering plants.

The new-hardier hybrids, new insecticides for combating rose pests and balanced fertilizers all make rose-growing easier for the novice as well as those with more experience. You will have some loss from year to year, but your overall enjoyment in your roses will more than compensate for this. If you did not grow any roses last year, but plan to do so this season, it is now time to order your plants. If you grew roses last year, you can order now to replace any that did not come through, or to increase the size of your planting. The best plants are two-year-old, field-grown budded stock, No. 1 grade, and should be purchased from a reliable nursery, or dealer. Such plants will bloom freely for you this year. Dried out plants with poor root systems should be avoided.

Roses want good soil and should have full sun for at least half of the day. They can be planted in beds, or borders, or other favorable locations. They combine well with perennials in the border or with shrubs, if the latter do not crowd the roots of the roses or shade them too much. The soil should be enriched and well drained.

There are three main classes of roses: (1) Bedding, (2) Climbers, and (3) Shrub Roses. We are going to discuss only the bedding roses at this time.

(1) Bedding Roses. These are small to medium sized bushes growing to six feet in height and are probably the most popular of all roses. In addition to the types described below there are miniatures, small bushes generally not over one foot in height with small flowers, suitable for edging and for window gardens. Also, tree roses that grow to six feet on a single stem, but they are hard to get established and expensive. A new strain called Grandifloras has just been introduced. The pink Queen Elizabeth, a 1935 All-American Winner is in this class.

(a) Hybrid Tea. These are the choice roses for display in the garden and for cut flowers, blooming the entire season. The blossoms are large, showy and are usually on single stems. They have been developed from the older tea roses and the hybrid perpetuals and combine the flowering merits of the teas with the hardiness of the perpetuals. Some of the popular roses of this type are: Red Crimson Glory, pink Radiance, yellow Eclipse, and Peace, a blending of yellow and white. Tiffany, gold and pink, was the All-American Winner for 1935 in this class. A new strain of Hybrid Teas has been developed by Brownell called Sub-Zero roses. They are harder and in form, size and color compare quite favorably with the hybrid teas.

(b) Hybrid Perpetual. These are sturdy bushes up to 6 feet or more in height and harder than the hybrid teas, but bloom freely only once during the season. About the only hybrid perpetual still seen in rose gardens are the large white Frau Karl Druschki and the pink Paul Neyron.

(c) Floribunda. This type is next in importance to the hybrid tea roses. Their popularity is greatly increasing, since they are hardy, vigorous and bloom throughout the season. The blooms are smaller than the hybrid teas and are borne in clusters. They are the freest blooming of all roses and for abundance of bloom and wealth of color no others can compare with them. Roses of this type include: Red Pinocchio, pink Fashion, white Dagmar Spaeth, and yellow Goldlocks.

(d) Polyantha. These are smaller growing bushes than hybrid teas and the small flowers are borne in dense clusters. They are now just about superseded by the floribundas. The pink Orleans is a rose of this type.

Let's get growing with roses. Order them now for early spring planting.

Beautiful Table Possible Without Full China Set

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

You can get a pretty table even if you don't own a complete set of china.

It is wiser to own six or eight dinner plates that may serve a larger crowd at a buffet gathering than four complete place settings of your favorite china.

You can combine the plates with plain china, glass or silver until you can afford to add additional pieces in your own china pattern. Some people prefer to add more dinner plates, using inexpensive glass or variety-table china as they go along.

Plain or patterned glass salad plates, small glass bowls on little glass plates for some desserts and just the underplate used for cake, pie, etc., are budget fill-in pieces. The little dessert bowls may be used as cream soup bowls, finger bowls or individual vegetable dishes also.

Combinations Cited

If dessert and coffee is served at the table, glass creamer and sugar bowls may be used with coffee cups of patterned or plain china. When coffee is served in the living room a hostess may use a variety of cups, perhaps from her collection of family heirlooms. Silver, pewter or copper coffee pots add a touch of elegance used with any coffee service.

Buffet dining makes life simpler for the hostess. The dinner plate serves for salad and butter, easier on the dishwasher and requiring fewer pieces in the regular china pattern. But a sit-down dinner may go off well in spite of that by using inexpensive china and glassware to fill in.

Use a white soup plate with a patterned dinner plate or a contrasting pastel soup plate. A glass bowl may serve as the cream soup plate.

Use a glass salad plate. Tiny ones may be used for butter. Glass salad bowls are popular. Some young brides utilize the family punch bowl for salad until they acquire a wooden one.

Silver-plated or sterling—or pewter are good investments for vegetable, butter and other serving dishes if you can afford to splurge. They seem expensive at first but by the time a few large china dishes have been broken and replaced you'll appreciate the long lasting possibilities of metal.

Ordinary glass oven dishes can be used as centerpiece containers. Little vinegar cruets, an odd sugar bowl or creamer or even hollowed stem beer glasses may be used in decorating the table.

Attractive floral centerpieces and candles can make your table gleam even if you haven't all the beautiful china you'd like.

More Recruits
Need Dental Care
KANSAS CITY (M) — Maj. Gen. Oscar P. Snyder, chief of the Army Dental Corps, says the percentage of young men entering the Army in need of a repair job on their teeth is the highest he can remember.

Snyder, here to speak today to the alumni of the University of Kansas City School of Dentistry, blames the bad teeth on World War II.

During the war, he said in an interview, a lot of dentists were in the armed forces. Fathers of young children were also in military service and many mothers held jobs. The result, he added, is fewer children received dental checkups.

BEDTIME STORIES

By HOWARD GARIS

Uncle Wiggly was so excited that he jumped up and down at the telephone in his hollow stump bungalow. He also twinkled his pink nose.

"What ever is wrong?" exclaimed Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, who had just finished giving the rabbit children their breakfasts.

"Did you get an electric shock from the telephone, daddy?" asked Buster the Rabbit Scout. "If you did I know what to do for you. We study first aid in our scout classes."

"Maybe my doll, Priscilla, can help him!" suggested Buntie the orphan rabbit. "Shall I make you a cup of hot sassafras tea?" asked Nurse Jane. "No! No! Thank you all, but I didn't get an electric shock. It was a sort of telephone shock, though," said Uncle Wiggly.

"What ever happened?" asked Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "Please stop bobbing up and down, Mr. Longears, and tell us. What is wrong?"

"It's Pat Butter! He is stuck!" exclaimed the rabbit gentleman. "Did he stick himself with a knife?" asked Buster.

"No, it isn't that kind of stick—or being stuck—or even cut," exclaimed Mr. Longears. "Pat Butter just stuck himself."

"But how? When? Where?" asked Nurse Jane. "Pat is stuck in a bank of snow," explained Mr. Longears. "As you know—Nurse Jane, Buster, Buntie and everybody—all of us here in Woodland, near the Orange Ice Mountain, are snowed in. There are such deep drifts of snow around our houses or bungalows that none of us can get out. The rabbit children can't get out to go to Hollow Tree School, or any place else."

"Yes, we all know that," said Nurse Jane. "Our back door and our front door are both blocked by deep snow." "Yes, we all know that, thank you," said Uncle Wiggly politely. "I thought Pat Butter, being a strong goat, might use his head and horns like a plow and unsnow us. I telephone Pat and asked him to do this. He said he would. He said he would horn a path out of his own house. Then he promised to horn a path for my bungalow and also paths for the Lady Mouse Teacher of Hollow Tree School, for Mr. Coke the rat gentleman janitor and for the other animal children so they could all go to their classes. But now Pat can't do it."

"Why not?" Nurse Jane wanted to know. "Because Pat is stuck," replied the rabbit gentleman. "But where—when—?"

"I will explain, if you please," answered Uncle Wiggly politely. "But first I must ask Aunt Lettie. All I know, when I called on the telephone just now, is that Pat is stuck in the snow. That's all Aunt Lettie would tell me about her husband. I will ask her for more information."

So Uncle Wiggly called back over the telephone: "Will you please tell me, Aunt Lettie, why, when and how it happened that Pat got stuck in the snow?"

"I will tell you," bleated the goat lady, "and then I must pull Pat out. As you know, Uncle Wig-gily, our front door is blocked by a drift of deep snow, just as your door is blocked. Pat said he would take a run from the far end of our long, front hall. He would ram his head into the snow drift. He was going to wiggle his head and horns like a rotary snow plow. The March Wind was going to help by blowing away the snow. Well, Pat took a long run. I held the front door open for him. He rammed his head into the snow drift!"

"What happened next?" asked Uncle Wiggly. "His head got stuck in the drift and he is still stuck there," explained Aunt Lettie. "Now, if you will excuse me, Uncle Wiggly, I must pull Pat out of the drift. Then he can come to help you. Here I go to pull Pat out!"

The telephone clicked. Uncle Wiggly hung up.

"I wonder how Aunt Lettie can pull Pat out of the snow," said Mr. Longears. "If you, also, wonder, you may find out in the next story if the postage stamp will stick to the envelope tightly so that it will not fall out when the carrier takes it out of the box."

Airboats Off Miami Collide

MIAMI, Fla. (M)—One man was killed and 16 other persons injured when two airboats loaded with passengers collided in the Everglades near the Tamiami Trail.

The big crafts, driven by airplane-type propellers, met at a bend in the channel yesterday and rammed together before the drivers could turn.

The dead man was identified as Owen T. Boyle, 58, of Rapid City, S.D. His left hand was severed and his body slashed when one of the propellers struck him.

Mrs. Neal Creamer, 52, of Topsfield, Mass., was in critical condition from a cut apparently delivered by one of the propellers. Mrs. Stanley Dodge, 50, of Wiscasset, Maine, suffered a deep cut on the head.

The British railways operate a number of firefighting trains.

A trio of real old-timer musical contrivances were exhibited by Mrs. Emil Paape, 602 E. Broadway, during Saturday's "Hobby Show For Senior Citizens." At the far left is a 150-year-old Swiss music box, complete with drums and bells, which is one of only 10 such machines in the world. It plays off a wind-up mechanism from within a beautifully-carved hardwood case. In the center is a 40-year-old player piano, which includes a device that plays mandolin accompaniment to the piano music. At the far right is one of the world's first coin-operated juke boxes. It is 75 years old and is a slight variation from a machine first invented by Thomas Edison. Mrs. Paape keeps these and several other ancient-vintage musical machines in her garage at home. Listening on the earphones necessary to use the machine is Donald Schneider, 1751 Gilmore Ave. (Daily News photo)

The pledge reaffirms Kiwanis' determination to serve the individual, the community and the nation. The presentation to the President was made while Engdahl and a Kiwanis group were in Washington to attend the fourth biennial Kiwanis congressional dinner held in honor of the nearly 100 congressmen and senators who are members of the organization.

Mokah Residents Surveyed the wreckage of a semitrailer Saturday morning after the truck collided with a Milwaukee Road passenger train at the crossing on Highway 16 about 4:10 a.m. The cab and trailer of the truck were wrecked by the impact and swept by fire as one of its gasoline tanks ignited. The diesel engine also was damaged. The driver of the truck received first and second degree burns. He was reported to be "improving nicely" today. The diesel engineer, Albert Beers, 81, escaped injury as a piece of steel from the truck crashed through the diesel's front window. (Daily News photo)

Nephew Objects To Disposition Of Big Estate

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—An adverse examination was held in probate court here Friday on the objection that has been filed by Lester W. Dick, Onalaska, against the will of George I. Brown, 80-year-old town of Gale recluse who left his farm and personal property—estimated to total about $30,000—to George W. Scott, 55, Galesville pharmacist, who also was named as executor.

LaVern G. Kostner, of Fugina, Kostner, Quinn & Ward, Arcadia, and Ray Anderson, Galesville, is counsel for Dick. Robert B. Johns of Johns, Roraff, Pappas & Flaherty, La Crosse, represents Scott. Leonard F. Roraff was the attorney summoned to the Brown farm home on Decorah Prairie, about five miles east of Galesville, on Dec. 23, 1954, to draw up the will, seven days before Mr. Brown died.

Dick's objections to the will, which has not yet been admitted to probate, were based on his contention that Brown was incompetent at the time the will was drawn, and that Scott, a friend of Brown, had exercised undue influence over him.

Dick is a nephew of the deceased.

Statement in Will
The original will, on file in probate court there, states that deceased, although realizing that he had relatives, wished to leave all his estate to George W. Scott in appreciation of the care he had given him.

On questioning by Kostner, Scott, native of Melrose, said he had come to Galesville in 1930 and had met Brown soon after that, seeing him a couple of times a week in 1934. Although he had been employed as a pharmacist steadily up through part of 1949, he had worked only for one or two week periods at Alma and Cochran in 1954, he said, and for one or two days at a time at the Longwell drug store in Galesville. He said he had a few investments which contributed to his support.

He testified to never living with Brown until during his last illness as he maintained an apartment in town. He said he took Brown to La Crosse hospital on Nov. 8, 1954, for exploratory surgery and then brought him home again on Dec. 15 as he insisted on returning home. He had stayed with him then until his death at 12:32 a.m. Dec. 30, preparing his food and administering the medicines prescribed by his doctors.

Says He Was Alert
Scott testified that Brown was alert at all times both at the hospital and after he returned home, and never needed as much medicine for pain as the doctors said he might have—one-third grain Panapone every three hours if necessary. He said he took nourishment until the last day he lived, and was up about 50 per cent of the time during the daytime until the last day of his life.

He said Brown had visitors both at the hospital and at home, including Dick and his wife, and neighbors. He testified to contacting Almond Bjoland, Galesville, on Dec. 23 for Brown, who wanted an attorney for drawing up a will. Bjoland called Leonard R. Roraff, La Crosse, who arrived at 4:30 p.m. that day. Scott testified to securing Lucas Veum of Oak Point tavern as a witness but said he did not remain in the house when the will was drawn or signed.

He said he did not see the will until he took the sealed envelope in which it had arrived at the Brown farm to Roraff's office in La Crosse after Mr. Brown's funeral.

He testified that Brown was mentally competent until 4 p.m. on Dec. 29 and went into a coma at 8 or 7 p.m., about six hours before his death from cancer of the pancreas.

Dick, 66, testified that he had visited Brown once or twice a year prior to 1954, taking him boxes of food at Christmas, but that he had visited him about once a month during 1954. He said Brown had come about once a month to the tavern at Ettrick at which Dick was employed until Dec. 8, 1954. He had drunk beer, he said, but had not become intoxicated.

He testified to taking Brown to a La Crosse hospital in December

Israel Accused Of Aggression

JERUSALEM (AP)—Israel has been charged by the U.N. Mixed Armistice Commission as a "brutal" aggressor who deliberately attacked Egyptian forces in the Gaza Strip a week ago.

The armistice group said the bloody assault in which 38 Egyptians and 8 Israelis died violated the 1949 Palestine truce agreement.

The commission's ruling yesterday heightened speculation at U.N. headquarters in New York that the Security Council would vote similar censure against Israel when it takes up the explosive issue again next week.

Maj. Gen. Edson L. M. Burns of Canada, U. N. Palestine truce chief, was expected to leave for New York in a few days to give the Security Council a personal report on the Gaza incident, which has strained relations in Palestine to the breaking point.

At yesterday's meeting on the Egyptian-Israeli border, the truce commission adopted an Egyptian resolution declaring the Gaza attack Feb. 28 "was committed by Israeli regular army forces against an Egyptian regular army force."

It was carried over Israeli objections by the votes of the Egyptian delegation and the U. N. chairman, Commandant Francois Geicomaggi of France.

At the same time the commission brushed aside an Israeli counter complaint that an Egyptian unit had ambushed an Israeli patrol, starting a running fight that took the Israelis into Egyptian territory.

This complaint was killed off when the Egyptian delegation voted against it and Geicomaggi abstained.

Israel appealed the condemnation decision to a special committee headed by Burns, who was not present at the eight-hour meeting.

At its initial meeting on the Gaza incident last Friday, all the Security Council's 11 members except Russia remained silent. Most of them indicated they blamed Israel and voiced sympathy for Egypt.

Bordered tension was heightened over the weekend by more demonstrations in the Egyptian-held Gaza area. For the second time Arab refugees marched to Government House and demanded that Egyptian authorities give them arms to fight the Israelis.

As a safety precaution, 16 wives and children of the U. N. truce observers in the area were sent to the Arab sector of Jerusalem.

Pier Angeli In Fine Condition
PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Hospital authorities said film actress Pier Angeli, injured in a plane accident, is in fine condition but they will not know for several days if she will lose her expected baby. The 22-year-old Italian-born actress suffered a fractured pelvis when she fell while aboard a plane Feb. 25. Her husband is singer Vic Damone.

Bandsman Believes In Beating Own Drum
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Roy Harte may not blow his own horn but he certainly believes in beating his own drum.

Harte, a 30-year-old radio and TV bandsman, put down his sticks at midnight Saturday after drumming for 57 consecutive hours.

During the marathon Roy was given haircuts and shaves, washed and changed, and even missed a beat. He even boarded a truck, and still playing rode to a night club where he sat in with Gene Krupa's band.

Roy had "a real fast 12 hours sleep" yesterday and doesn't think he'd like to do it again.

1953 for surgery and visiting him there and then again in 1954 when he was hospitalized, going down two or three times a week. During the latter hospitalization, Brown said, he did seem to recognize him and his wife immediately. He testified that once he mentioned at the hospital that he had papers and money at his home which he needed to put in order.

He said that when visiting him at home, he found Brown undressed and in bed; that on one occasion he asked for beer and said that it was behind a curtain in the room; but there was no beer there. On another occasion, he said, he thought he saw Dick's "rig" or car, when it was not in his line of vision.

Dick described his mental condition as "poor" and said Brown acted afraid of something as he kept looking toward the door.

Dick said he did not know of the close friendship between Brown and Scott. He testified that he did not know if his sister, Mrs. Nellie Gallop, Galesville, or his niece, Alice Melbo, 610 Logan, La Crosse, planned to file objections.

The objector stated his contention of undue influence by Scott in the words, "Brown wasn't capable of making a will."

21 Winona Taverns Listed as Having Liquor Stamps

ST. PAUL, Minn. (Special)—Twenty-one Winona taverns are included in a list of 46 places in Minnesota which have bought federal liquor stamps but have no liquor licenses, released by state Liquor Control Commissioner Harry A. Sieben.

Sieben said that similar lists of "apparent violators" have been prepared for 37 other Minnesota counties but none of these were in the lists published during the weekend.

The only ones identified were those in Hennepin County, including the city of Minneapolis, and Winona County.

VOICE of the OUTDOORS

Recreation Values
Bill Voight, editor of Outdoor America, the official publication of the national Izaak Walton League, devotes the inside back cover each month to a conservation editorial under the heading "Some Folks Say." In the current issue he uses the heading "You Can't Put a Dollar Sign on Wildlife." This is very timely now when legislators and Congress are in session and many measures are pending on our recreational resources. Here is the editorial:

"A good friend of mine took me to task for saying 'that, and put a new idea in my thick noggin. Maybe he's got something.' It goes like this—

"If you can't say what wildlife (and hikin', swimmin', and campin') is worth when you have it, maybe you can figure what it costs to be without it."

"A juvenile judge sparkin' a Boy Scout drive says it costs about $5,000 to keep a convict in the pen for a year, and about $2,500 for a youngster in reformatory; but it costs only about 18 bucks to keep a lad in scoutin'."

"Experts say one out of every 18 Americans can expect to become the victim of some kind of mental illness in his lifetime. The actual record of the 15 million expensed for military service, almost 2 million had to be rejected for neuro-psychiatric reasons (ain't that a dilly for sayin' 'mentally off balance?'). Right at 9 million Americans today are sufferin' some kind of mental trouble, and they account for 70 per cent of all the patients in our public hospitals. And that's costin' the 48 states about a billion bucks a year."

"Take industry, and don't think they're not worryin' about this mental ailment business! They find that just a few individuals are responsible for a high percentage of their accidents, absenteeism, and personnel problems. Alcoholism, divorce, suicide and a lot of physical ills are mostly just expressions of mental illness. All these things cost business plenty, and the consumer public is payin' the bill every time the cash register rings up a sale."

"Now all this doesn't mean that a good share of us are headed for the 'bug house.' And it doesn't mean that one in eight, or one in eighteen, have inherited insanity! It just means that too many 'normal' people are sick mentally to the point they're a real expense on society."

"No, this mental trouble isn't inherited, it just comes with the modern ways of livin'. It comes from high pressures in the office, shop, and home. It comes from lack of the thing most of us get too little of—outdoor recreation. Huntin', fishin', hikin', campin'—these are the things that can get us back to a natural way of livin'."

"Of course you can't say all fishermen are honest, and all non-fishermen are crooks. And you can't say that all delinquents are from the slums. But you can heed the words of a man like Judge Long when he says that 'I cannot recall a single case, in twenty years, of serious juvenile conduct involving a youngster whose hobby and recreation outlet was fishing."

Missing Arcadia Man Back Home

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special)—Lester Schmidt, 31, who disappeared Friday night, was found about 1:15 p.m. Saturday by Lloyd Lorch. He was standing alongside Highway 95 south of town, cold and hungry, having slept in the woods Friday night.

Schmidt had wandered off in the direction of Glencoe after 7 p.m. Friday rather than attend a movie here as originally planned. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Schmidt, reported him missing about 9:30 p.m. Friday when he didn't come out of the theater.

Lorch had heard of the wide search being conducted in the area Saturday morning and gave Lester a ride home when he found him next to the road early in the afternoon. He said he had slept in the woods. His feet were wet and almost frozen, according to reports.

Canada Wins Hockey Title

KREFELD, Germany (U)—The world amateur ice hockey championship is back in Canada today and the Russians can be mighty happy they'll not have to meet again the Pentiction Club from British Columbia which blanked them 5-0 in the final game.

Next year the championship will be decided at the Olympic Winter Games in Italy. The winner becomes both Olympic and world champion. At least six of the Pentiction players are former professionals and thus ineligible for Olympic competition.

The Canadians, who went through the eight-game tournament undefeated, won much as they pleased in capturing their 15th world title.

The United States wound up fourth, one point back of Czechoslovakia, but gained one position on the all-star squad when Don Rigazio of Cambridge, Mass., was selected by the coaches as the No. 1 goal tender. He was the unanimous choice of the seven coaches.

ident and Ethel Knapik, sergeant-at-arms. Vera Hegg was elected vice president succeeding Ciel Bell. Officers with one year left on their terms are Margaret Hittner, secretary, and Lenore Klagge, treasurer.

Individual trophies presented to bowlers winning titles in the recent WWBA tournament are as follows: Jerri Modjeski and Virginia Schuminski, doubles champions who bowled 1,098.

Mary Prochowitz, singles champion with a 604 handicap series. Helen Englerth, scratch all-events titlist with 1,543, and Pat Foster, handicap all-events champion with 1,678.

Members of the Main Tavern Team of the Pin Topplers League, Keglers Klub, which won Class A honors with a 2,677 series are Gertrude Suchomel, Vera Hegg, Bette Bailey, Lucille Schaale and Florence Peikert.

The Callahan's Liquor team of the Keglerette League, Keglers Klub, won Class B team honors in the tournament and members of that team awarded trophies were Margo Trubl, Esther Kuhlman, Sylvia Callahan, Myrtle Williams and Myrtle Krynski.

Checks for prize-winners in the tournament were awarded prior to the banquet. Attendance prize winners Sunday were Joan Lilla, Gert Gabrych, Elaine Seavey, Joan Lillard, Marilyn Lande, Helen Vondrashek and Mary Natche.

who selected the team for The Associated Press.

Canada, with six, and Russia, with four, dominated the all-star selections.

BASEBALL BRIEFS

Hack Hopeful Ted Can Tap Some Homers

MESA, Ariz. (U)—Manager Stan Hack of the Chicago Cubs indicates he's becoming more impressed with the talents of Ted Tappe, a left-handed swinging outfielder from the Texas League.

Tappe hit 27 home runs for Tulsa last year and has no fear of major league pitching. "The plate's the same size up here, isn't it?" comments Tappe who has been smashing balls over the fence with regularity this spring.

Rookies Bob Zick and Joe Stanka and veteran Bubba Church hurled a six-inning intra-squad shutout Sunday as the Blades beat the Leonards, 5-0.

TAMPA, Fla. (U)—Walt Droppo, strapping first baseman acquired from Detroit, showed the Chicago White Sox a bit of slugging Sunday.

Droppo smashed a home run and a pair of singles and knocked in three runs in a training camp game in which farm hands did most of the pitching. Droppo's side lost 9-7, however.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (U)—Larry Jackson, righthanded rookie has earned the right to pitch the St. Louis Cardinals opening Grapefruit League game against the New York Yankees here Thursday.

Jackson gave up only one hit and struck out three during a two-inning tour on the mound in an intra-squad game Sunday. The Red Schoendienst and Stan Musial played to an 11-inning 1-1 draw. Jackson won 12 and lost 6 for Rochester last year.

LAKELAND, Fla. (U)—It's no secret that Detroit Tigers' general manager Harold (Muddy) Ruel plans to do some window shopping at other Florida baseball camps. The Tiger brass is interested in acquiring a reserve second baseman—just in case of injury to veteran Fred Hatfield or bonus baby Reno Bertoia of Windsor, Ont.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (U)—Sal Maglie cut loose for the first time in spring training Sunday and the 38-year-old New York Giants' pitcher was highly pleased over the results.

The crafty "Barber" faced eight batters, giving up home runs to Willie Mays and Whitey Lockman. After his chore was completed, Maglie said, "All I was interested in was getting the ball over the plate. I was able to do that without any trouble. No aches, no pains so I can't kick."

Menasha Wins Badger Catholic Tournament

WEST DE PERE (U)—Menasha St. Mary is the new champion today in the 25th annual State Catholic High School basketball tournament with its 54-48 triumph over De Pere St. Norbert.

Milwaukee Don Bosco placed third with its 60-42 win over Green Bay Central Catholic, followed by Milwaukee Plus XI defeat of Madison Edgewood, 67-55.

The American Bowling Congress tournament, March 28-June 5 at Fort Wayne, Ind., will have 5,826 teams shooting for $430,000 in prizes.

De LaSalle Wins Catholic Title

ST. PAUL (U)—Minneapolis De LaSalle still reigned today as the Minnesota State Catholic High School basketball champion and Duluth Cathedral once again had to be satisfied with the runner up spot.

The two teams, finalists in the 1954 tourney also, battled in the 1955 finale Sunday and De LaSalle won 57-33 to remain champion.

Last year, De LaSalle won by a 34-25 count.

In other games Sunday, St. John's Prep, of Collegeville, defeated St. Anne's of Wabasso 52-46 for third place, and Rochester Lourdes beat Marshall Central Catholic 57-53 for consolation honors.

After De LaSalle's 12-9 lead during the first quarter of the championship contest, Cathedral never threatened. Before that point play had been on a see-saw basis, with the lead changing hands seven times.

Bob Kammerer and Dave Thies each netted 14 points for the victorious Islanders and Gordie Falconer, with 8, was high for Cathedral.

Bob Thimmesch tallied 20 points and teammate Nob Kowalkowski 16 as St. John's won third place.

In double figures for St. Anne's were Nick Fischer, with 12, Mark Altermatt 11, and Jim Rohlik 10.

Lourdes was paced by Jack Streiff and Nick Stevens, with 19 and 15 points respectively. For Marshall, Garry Couture had 13, Bob Sullivan 12, Pat Sullivan 11, and Duane Deutz 10.

Semifinals were played Saturday night. De LaSalle defeated St. John's 67-48 and Cathedral downed St. Anne's 43-41 in overtime.

Kammerer was voted the outstanding player of the tournament and received the Phil J. Schaefer Memorial Trophy. The sportsmanship trophy, given by Osman Temple Shrine, went to St. Felix of Wabasha.

Named to the all-tournament team were Kammerer, Thies and Tom Reinhardt, all of De LaSalle; Kowalkowski and Thimmesch of St. John's; Roger Johnson, Cathedral; Streiff, Lourdes; Rohlik, St. Anne's; and Deutz and Pat Sullivan of Marshall Central Catholic.

3 in Playoff At Baton Rouge

BATON ROUGE, La. (U)—Three golfers, who fought from behind during a tricky wind, tee off today in an 18-hole playoff for $2,200 first money in the $12,500 Baton Rouge Open.

They are Bo Winger, Oklahoma City; Jimmy Clark, Laguna Beach, Calif.; and Billy Maxwell, Odessa, Tex., who tied for first with 278s after yesterday's fourth round.

The three came from behind in the final round, played as a sudden cold snap with powerful wind gusts played tricks with their shots on the 6,450-yard Baton Rouge Country Club course.

However, Clark managed a par 72 and the other two got 71s.

If they tie again today, a sudden death playoff will follow.

Maxwell, playing in the final threesome, fell six inches short of first money on the 18th hole when he missed a putt and a winning 70. "I knew I needed a birdie 4 to win," said Maxwell, "and I tried awful hard, too hard. That putt was only about seven feet."

Marty Furgol, Lemont, Ill., who had a one-stroke lead over the field with 205 at the start of yesterday's round, found the chill wind and final round tension too much. He came in with 74 for a 279 total.

Jerry Barber, Los Angeles; Jay Hebert, Woodmere, N. Y.; Art Doering, Inwood, N. Y.; and Cary Middlecott, Klamath Lake, N.Y., finished with 279.

Hustling Badgers Hand Final Blow to Fading Gopher Cagers

MINNEAPOLIS (U)—Minnesota's basketball Gophers closed out a season peppered with suspense and surprise today exactly as they opened it, with an imposing riddle.

The mystery today was not how the Minnesotans could drop out of the championship race as emphatically as they did in the last week, but how they ever managed to get as close as they did.

Saturday night's 78-72 loss to Wisconsin finished the Gophers' bitter-end fight with Iowa off chord and ironically.

Through the last month of the season Minnesota stayed alive by conquering earlier road game failures. They ended by dropping two in a row at home, where previously they were unbeatable.

Minnesota was surrounded by question marks when it opened the season with Dick Garmaker and Chuck Mencil, but otherwise without proven manpower.

The newcomers held up to a degree totally unexpected. But luck and apparently the percent-howitzer batteries can replace Garmaker and Mencil.

This year's freshman squad is considered about average. Its chief contributions may be 6-8 Dave Griffin of Duluth and a gifted 6-3 forward, Bob Olson of Superior, Wis.

Wisconsin, playing with brisk efficiency, overlooked Minnesota in the second half of Saturday's game while the Gophers were mired by frequent mechanical errors and failure to solve the Badger defensive press.

Wisconsin, a 14-point underdog, grabbed the lead for keeps seconds after intermission on Dick Miller's field goal. The Badgers built the lead to nine points at various times before Miller crushed the final Minnesota comeback with eight straight points.

Miller had 27 and Dick Cable 18 for Wisconsin. Garmaker hit 19 and Mencil and Lindsley 17.

THUMB UP—STIFF WRIST HELPS ON RUN ALLEYS.

KEEP STIFF WRIST

Aid on "Run" Alleys—Ned Day, former world match champion, was a master as "playing" alleys.

Slick, medium or slow, all alleys looked alike to him in his prime because he could vary his delivery. How did he do it? Wrist control.

On a slow alley, one that broke quickly from right to left, he stiffened his wrist immediately as the push-away of the ball began. And he kept it stiff throughout the swing so that at ball release, the arm swung through straight, the thumb finished straight up (as sketch shows), and the fingers applied his powerful hook-spin—though the ball break was small.

On a medium alley he loosened his wrist a bit to meet the condition, naturally producing a little more wrist turn (thumb to left), and on stiff alleys he relaxed the wrist completely so that the hand turned over still more as he swung through long and smooth. But always, the thumb came out of the hole first. Stiff wrist action is worth a try—if you have trouble with too much hook on run alleys.

Pistons Cinch Western Title

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rookie coach Charley Eckman, who jumped out of the frying pan and into the fire when he gave up refereeing to become a National Basketball Association coach at Fort Wayne has scored in his first season.

Eckman came home with the bacon Sunday when his Pistons clinched the Western Division championship, even though they lost to Boston, 108-104.

While his old pals among the referees and rival coaches around the league whispered "wait and see," Eckman held loose reins on his club and watched them win.

The Pistons, a third place outfit last season, dethroned the powerful Minneapolis Lakers, who were eliminated Sunday when they lost to Milwaukee, 100-98, on their home floor.

Milwaukee's Bob Pettit scored his team's last 10 points as the Hawks snapped a 90-90 tie with less than four minutes to play. He finished with 21 points, one of six Hawks in double scoring figures.

Vern Mikkelsen hit 22 points for Minneapolis and Whitey Skoog and Dugie Martin had 21 apiece. Minneapolis overcame a five-point deficit to take an 81-74 lead with eight minutes remaining. From there it was mostly Milwaukee until Skoog tied the game at 80-80.

Syracuse, which has already grabbed the Eastern Division crown, ran up its seventh straight victory with a 107-101 verdict over Philadelphia. The largest crowd of the season at Syracuse—7,116—saw the game.

Boston broke a three-game losing streak to upset the Pistons and improve their playoff chances. The Celtics now stand a game and a half ahead of fourth place Philadelphia. Mr. Boston basketball himself, Bob Cousy, led the way with 31 points.

The New York Knicks, fighting to hold second place in the East, legged 16 points behind Rochester before they turned it on and rode past the Royals for a 101-96 triumph.

Delaney Meets Wilson Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Once-beaten Ronnie Delaney, fresh from his upset victory over welterweight champion Johnny Saxton, makes his network television debut tonight against Sugar Al Wilson, of New York, at New York's St. Nicholas Arena.

The Akron, Ohio, southpaw, raised to a No. 5 ranking among the middleweights after his Feb. 11 win over Saxton in a nontitle scrap, is a 3-1 favorite to rack up his 49th victory in the 10-rounder.

Gil Turner, aiming to get back in the rankings, is an 8-5 choice to beat Joe Miceli, of New York, in a welterweight 10-rounder at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena. The busy punching Philadelphia has won three in a row for a 46-7 record. Miceli, another comebacker who hopes to return to the top flight, has a 44-23 record.

Area Prep Tourneys Hit Boiling Stage This Week

Tournament basketball reaches the boiling stage this week as final playdowns in District One and District Three tournaments are scheduled, while in Wisconsin, Cochrane, lone area survivor among area teams, enters sectional play this weekend.

Tonight at Rochester the heavily-favored Rochester Rockets continue their bid for west division District Three honors. Rochester plays Kasson-Mantorville, while Elgin plays Stewartville.

District Three semifinals are scheduled for Wednesday night at Mayo Civic Auditorium and finals Saturday night. Lake City and Winona tangle in one half of the semifinal action, while sentiment favors Rochester against either Stewartville or Elgin in the other game.

District One finds four teams left with title hopes—Wykoff and Chatfield in the west division and Canton and Caledonia in the east division.

Wykoff and Chatfield finished in a tie for District One Conference regular season honors with 11-1 records. Coach Harry Sheff's Wykoffs have speed, size and well-balanced scoring to throw against Chatfield.

Big boys in the Wykoff lineup are 6-3 Barry Schroeder and 4-4 Eddie Zimmerman and both are capable of scoring heavily, while forward Ron Eickhoff is an accurate marksman from the side. Dribbling whiz Ken Nash and defensive artist Lynn Kidd complete Wykoff's lineup.

Chatfield boasts the top scorer of the past two years in District One, Bill Harwood, whose single-handed efforts pulled out a 58-55 victory over Spring Valley Friday night.

Chatfield lacks the size of Wykoff but with a healthy pivotman in Don Herrick, could make a strong battle for rebounds. Ron Olness can hit from the hole when called upon there and Dave Finstuen, a guard, is another threat.

The Canton-Caledonia battle for east division honors is a puzzler. The teams split during the season. Caledonia won 21-18 non-conference decision while Canton returned with an 84-66 conference victory later.

Caledonia has shown both offensive and defensive ability in tournament play so far, beating Mabel 91-79 and Rushford 47-51, while Canton topped Peterson 48-40 and Houston 53-46.

Top Canton scorer has been Gordy Johannsen, while Walt Gensmer and Bob Lonkowski have led Caledonia's individual scorers in tournament play.

Consolation games in district one division play Tuesday night find Harmony vs. Spring Valley in the west division at Spring Valley and Houston vs. Rushford in east division action at Caledonia.

Cochrane, winner of the Alma-Galesville District and a district playoff against Roberts, goes into the sectional tournament bidding for a state meet berth this weekend at Eau Claire.

Coach Ralph Leahy's Firehouse Five plays Eau Claire Friday night, 7 o'clock in the first game of the sectional at Eau Claire State College gym.

That game is one of the feature battles in Wisconsin tournament play this week. Cochrane, No. 2 in the final Little Sixteen ratings, represents a community of 444 persons and a high school of less than 90 students.

To get past its first hurdle, Eau Claire, Cochrane must beat a team representing one of the largest high schools in the state of Wisconsin, a school with close to 2,000 students. Eau Claire, in addition, was ranked No. 5 in the last Big Sixteen ratings and in 6-1 forward Whitey Johnson has a player regarded by some experts the best in the area and by others the best in Wisconsin prep basketball.

Cornell and Spring Valley meet in the other game of the sectional. Losers and winners of first night action play Saturday night. Sectional winner goes to the state tournament next week at Madison.

Wynn Comes to Terms With Cleveland

Since pitching usually is the predominant factor in the success of a pennant winner, the Cleveland Indians had good reason today to gloat.

The last of the Tribe hurlers, Early Wynn, a perennial holdout, came to terms yesterday. The hard-working right-hander signed a contract for about $40,000.

Alas! 'Twas Sad Day in Gopherville

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Sports fans of the University of Minnesota had little to cheer about Saturday: The basketball Gophers lost to Wisconsin, 78-72.

Minnesota's hockey team was blanked at North Dakota, 7-0. Gopher wrestlers finished a poor ninth in the Big Ten meet.

Minnesota's gym team had to be satisfied with fourth place in the Big Ten gymnastics event.

In the Big Ten indoor track meet, Minnesota scored but one point to finish ninth.

Gopher swimmers failed to score in the Big Ten swimming meet.

COLLEGEVILLE, Minn. (AP)—Other teams in the Minnesota State College Conference lacked the stuff Saturday to dump St. John's as the loop wrestling champion. The Collegeville team came through with 43 points for its fourth consecutive title.

Macalester, with 41 points, provided the Johnnies with their biggest threat. Concordia had 31 points. St. Thomas 30, Gustavus Adolphus 29, and Duluth Branch 0.

Wynn Comes to Terms With Cleveland

By SHELTON SAKOWITZ
The Associated Press

Since pitching usually is the predominant factor in the success of a pennant winner, the Cleveland Indians had good reason today to gloat.

The last of the Tribe hurlers, Early Wynn, a perennial holdout, came to terms yesterday. The hard-working right-hander signed a contract for about $40,000.

Teams were not disclosed by General Manager Hank Greenberg, who, still has two recalcitrants to contend with—second baseman Bobby Avila and outfielder Dave Philley.

Wynn said, "You can say it ended in a draw. He (Greenberg) gave in a little and so did I."

The Indians seem to abound in pitching potential for the 1955 campaign.

Wynn and Bob Lemon were the mainstays last season, winning 23 apiece, while Mike Garcia accounted for 19 victories and Art Houtteman contributed 15. That adds up to 80 of Cleveland's 111 triumphs.

Veterans Bob Feller (13 victories) and Hal Newhouser (7), plus rookie relievers Don Mossi (6) and Ray Narleski (3), also will be back on the scene, hoping to duplicate their 1954 success.

But Cleveland also is expecting another pitcher, who wasn't with them last season, to be a big asset. He is Herb Score, a strapping 21-year-old left-hander who compiled a 22-5 record for Indianapolis.

Other happenings around the spring training circuit:

Mickey Vernon of the Washington Senators ended his holdout by signing for a reported $26,500.

With Ted Kluszewski of the Cincinnati Reds pinch-hitting safely for both sides, Big Klu's team edged the Gus Bells 2-1 in an intrasquad game.

Rookies Bob Zick and Joe Stanaka and veteran Bubba Church pitched shutout ball as the Braves blanked the Leonards 5-0 in a Chicago Cubs intrasquad game.

Walt Drope, hoping to plug the Chicago White Sox's first base gap, hit a homer and two singles in the Sox intrasquad contest.

Third baseman Jim Finigan delivered three hits and rookie southpaw Carl Duser allowed just one hit in three scoreless innings to highlight the Kansas City Athletics' first intrasquad game.

Home runs by Willie Mays and Whitey Lockman sparked the New York Giants' regulars to a 9-3 victory over the rookies.

Bill Bruton belted an inside-the-park home run with two men on base as the regulars tied the scrubs 4-4 in an intrasquad game at the Milwaukee Braves' camp.

Wolves Win Track, Wrestling Crowns

CHICAGO (AP)—Michigan returned as an athletic power in the Big Ten over the weekend winning the track and wrestling championships while finishing a strong second in the conference swimming meet.

While the Wolverines were piling up points from Minneapolis to Columbus, Illinois was stripped of two of its titles.

A well-balanced Michigan team ended Illinois' four-year reign in indoor track by scoring in 13 of 15 events to pile up 67½ points. It was the Wolverines' first indoor track title in 10 years.

Michigan and Ohio State waged a close battle at Columbus but the Buckeyes managed to win their seventh straight swimming title.

Ohio State scored 123 points to 105½ for the Wolves. Iowa was a poor third with 33. Six new records were set with Ohio State swimmers establishing four.

Michigan surprised the field in the wrestling championship at Minnesota by winning four titles and picking up 50 points to edge favored Iowa by four points.

Illinois continued its dominance in gymnastics by winning a sixth straight title. The Illini amassed 139 points, Michigan State finished second with 91½.

Illinois' five-year reign in fencing was ended by Wisconsin. The host Badger team tallied 40 points to 34 for Illinois. Michigan State finished third with 25.

Composite point table:

	T	S	W	F	G
Michigan	67½	105½	50	—	38

State Bonus Proposed for Korean Vets

ST. PAUL (AP)—A proposal to pay Minnesota veterans who served in the armed forces during the Korean conflict a state bonus at a cost of 30 million dollars was introduced in the Minnesota Legislature today.

Sponsors are Sens. Fay George Child, Maynard, A. A. Anderson, Luverne, and E. J. Anderson, Frost.

The bonus payments would be computed at the same rate as the World War II bonus, $10 a month for domestic service and $15 a month for foreign service.

An estimated 120,000 persons would be eligible. The bonus would go to persons who served at least 30 consecutive days between June 27, 1950 and July 27, 1953.

2 Big Pine Trees Felled Near Wykoff

WYKOFF, Minn. — Two of the oldest and largest pine trees in this area have been felled on the Charles Mathison woodlot in Forestville Township.

The largest measured 85 feet in length, 32 inches in diameter at the cut and 92 years old by a ring count. The other was 75 feet long, 31 inches in diameter and 85 years old. Both stood on a precipitous river bank about six miles south of Wykoff and had to be cut in the winter to utilize the frozen river for trimming and piling.

Joseph Vreeman, Chauncey Staplecamp and Wilber Vrieze aided Mathison. It is estimated that 3,500 board feet of lumber can be obtained from the timber.

Registrations Asked For Garden Plots

All persons who had gardens last year on Park-Recreation Board property west of Huff street to Dakota street were asked today by M. J. Bambeck, director of parks and recreation, to notify him immediately as to whether they wish to retain their garden plots for the 1955 season.

The deadline for notification, Bambeck said, is April 1.

At that time available garden plots will be assigned to persons on a waiting list.

Persons wishing to have gardens in the area from Dakota street to the Gilmore Creek inlet should register at the present time, Bambeck said.

The plots will be assigned in April.

Carls Get Revenge Against Cornell

NORTHFIELD, Minn. (AP)—Carleton College today had sweet revenge on the team that beat the Carls out of the Midwest Conference basketball title.

Carleton Saturday night handed Cornell its only loss defeat this season. Guards Laurie Sloum and Howie Rosenblum, making their final collegiate appearances, sparked the Carls to the 70-61 upset. Sloum had 20 points and Rosenblum added 16.

Cornell sewed up the conference title the night before with an 83-71 triumph over St. Olaf. Carleton finished second with a 10-2 record.

This was the first time in four years that Carleton has not had a share of the conference title.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGUM, D. D.

Answer to Question No. 1
1. William H. Sheldon, in his "Physique and Temperament," concludes that handsome athletic men and women are easiest marks. Next, the lanky type. Sheldon and others find the short, stocky men and women the hardest to fool. The worthless blue-sky stock certificates in my files indicate I'm the handsome type.

Answer to Question No. 2
2. No. When people say, "I know what I want to say, but I can't put it into words," they don't know what they want to say, although they may have a strong wish they did. Psychologists believe you can't think clearly without words. Our booklet, "How To Increase Your Words Power," non-profit, 15c (coin only) plus self-addressed, stamped envelope. Send to Dr. A. E. Wiggum, care of The Winona Daily News.

Answer to Question No. 3
3. Almost at birth, says Donna

Guyon in "Bookhouse for Children." Even at four weeks they actually start "speaking" with gurgling and babbling sounds. These sounds are attempts at communication and are language to parents and child experts. At 18 months children speak at least 10 words. Girls learn a bit earlier than boys.

THE GRAB BAG

THE ANSWER, QUICK!

1. What is a Creole?
2. Who was the first President elected after women received the right to vote?
3. To whom was St. Paul writing when he gave his sermon on love?
4. Which is the oldest college in the United States?

HOW'D YOU MAKE OUT?

1. A descendant of one of the original French or Spanish settlers of Louisiana.
2. Warren G. Harding.
3. The Corinthians.
4. Harvard, founded in 1636.

Third Set of Twins

MEDFORD, Minn. (AP)—John Zeman is playing host at his nearby farm to the third set of Holstein calf twins, all born within a two weeks period.
The new arrivals carried his herd to a total of 36. Zeman said it has been many years since even one multiple birth has occurred on his place.

FAIRLY SPOKEN

By MARGARET LATROBE

Well, it sounded simple enough. "Go ahead," he said, packing for a long business trip. "Have some fun while I'm gone. Take the kids to town to see the ice show. Train ride, eating at an Automat, riding the subway—they would love it. And uh, there are lots of things you can do that will be fun—for them." Feeling tender and magnanimous, he left town. (The dirty bum).
It's one thing to discuss such a plan for educational recreation of the young, in private. It's quite another to shoot off your trap within earshot of those about to be educated, bless them!—with only Mommy in charge of tickets, trains, coats, snow pants, chocolate sundaes, escalators and drinking fountains. And questions—of course, this indicates keen minds. (The big, dirty bum!)
Mike said, in a rounded, simple, Step up to the box office, early, and say "Three. Two children, one adult." Doesn't pay to reserve expensive tickets in advance, with the town full of measles. But every mother east of the Mississippi with two, four, ten—even twenty, had planned it the same way. So all 4,000 of them were standing in line when the man announced the only seats left, were under the stage where naught and daylight and darkness were determinable, where no popcorn vendor ventured, where the rest rooms were an hour away at brisk canter.
You know something? Wee ones can be very sharp on the uptake. In moments of crisis they can do sums faster than a bank teller. They weren't sitting under anything to see nothing, not at those prices. So there was a pact. By subway to the big department store, up 10 floors via escalator, three laps around each toy counter and then just one little present, only a lit-

Survivors include a son, Dr. Frederick L. Blunt, of Albert Lea, a brother, Harry B. Blunt, of Boston and a sister living in California. Services will be Sunday.
