President addresses convocation

"It is with combined pleasure and anxiety that I am up here before you." With this statement the WSC students and faculty met the new President, Dr. Robert DuFresne.

Dr. DuFresne expressed the students and faculty in an informal yet clear manner.

"MEET THE PRESIDENT" was the headline of the student body's challenge, ideas, and thinking.

"WHAT DR. DUFRSENE wants is people to think, accept a challenge, ask questions, and challenge me," he summarized the students' reaction by saying, "The life bit, that's what he is." He quickly pointed out: "What do I mean by challenge?"

"I MEET THE PRESIDENT" was concluded by Dr. DuFresne's statement, "The future, that's what I'm interested in; that's something upon the day's convocation, he stated he would meet the new President, Dr. Robert DuFresne.

It was patterned, inside and out, from a book on the diplomatic game that is one of the features of the annual Georgetown Garden Tour.

He has criticized and fought government officials, members of Congress, important business leaders, labor leaders, and others who were not acting in the public interest. He has denied and threatened, evaded and sued -- but he has never given up his right so often that the warning, "Pearson might find out about this." The major influence is secret connivance in government that is too often the decision that frequently cramps their style.

"A SATURDAY REVIEW OF LITERATURE" poll picked "Pearson and His Scoundrels" as the second best exponent on the nation.

"In his play, Saroyan leaves the impression of his almost Whitmanian love of humanity; of his scorn for the middle, and anxiety that it is highly creative, humorously rich, and, as one critic stated: "It possesses rare esthetic refinement.""

"To the students and faculty: I'm going to have the best challenge of my life into the whole endeavor."

"Life" was defined by the President to get new and modify academic programs. The part needed to be fulfilled by the student body was to put his thought and ideas into the whole endeavor. WSC to lose student body?

Those instructors who ignore the results will be only admitting they do not want to learn of the image he has provided for his students, so a student Senate has proposed a student rating system to evaluate the faculty.

The time has come for faculty members at Winona State College to be informed of their standing in the eyes of the students.

The student government evaluation form and return it to a survey committee to be recorded. As yet, it has not been determined whether to complete an anonymous evaluation form and return it to a survey committee to be recorded. As yet, it has not been determined whether it is expected that a large majority of the faculty will welcome the THE COMMITTEE finds itself in a quandary in attempting to arrive at reliable estimates. It is generally accepted that if a teacher is aware of his relationship with the student body, he will make an effort to maintain decorum. From the administration, but for those teachers and instructors who are concerned about the results of the survey, we are not competent to consider, but tentative agreement on this matter.

It is bad enough for students to have to travel several hundred miles to attend class for one day and then leave for Easter Vacation. It is outrages to hold over their heads a Sword of Damocles, requiring them to be present for that one day of classes, on pain of being dismissed from that class.

College exists for students, and its role is properly that of serving these students with an education. Since it is students that pay fees, shouldn't their feelings be taken into consideration?

If the Extra Day is required, perhaps classes could be held Friday, June 9, and commencement the next day, Saturday. This would provide the extra day, and many people who have to work Friday would be free to attend a marathon commencement, an idea not altogether new to many colleges and universities.

Social committees plans future attractions

Who thought of having Winter Weekend or River Boat Days? In an effort to vary the social activities the WSC social committee tries to give the students a major social event each quarter.

NEWLY REORGANIZED, the social committees consists of 21 students headed by chairman Joan Wierzbica and vice-chairman Tom Breurigen, with three faculty advisors: Mr. James Swayne, Mr. Jacques Heidelberg, and Mr. John Kasten. With a student-oriented committee, the members are more able to judge what activities the student body will or will not enjoy.

Every Monday afternoon the social committee meets in Kysko Commons to discuss and evaluate past events and plan for future attractions.

PRESENTLY, Mary Ten, publicity, with a sub-committee are working on a new format and design for the spring quarter calendar. It is hoped that the calendar will have photographs in an entirely new layout.

According to Joan Wierzbica, "the social committee decides on the activities and then asks college organizations to sponsor them." Each event on the social calendar is allotted a certain part of the year's budget by which the club can finance the activity. The 1966-67 budget of $9000.00, is part of the $12,000 activity fee paid quarterly by each student enrolled at WSC.

AN UNDERTAKING to increase the 1967-68 social calendar and budget, Tom Breurigen and his sub-committee, want to include new and different activities. Each event is for the whole student body, anyone interested in discussing ideas or criticism of the social events should attend the Monday meetings at 4 p.m. in the Union, or visit the Audio-Visual department from 1:30 to 5 every afternoon.

MEMBERS OF THE Social committee are: Veronica Fellows, social senator, Winona; Bunny Hipps, Winona; Judy Breurigen, Rochester; Mary Ten, St. Paul; Judy Ten, St. Paul; Sylvia Ten, Blooming Prairie; Mary Harty, Blooming Prairie.

Road trip north expensive; WSC drops two in a row

Winona State's basketball fortune took a turn for the worse this past weekend as the Warriors dropped a pair of costly conference battles with Bemidji and Moorhead.

The two setbacks moved Coach Ron Eldick's squad out of the top spot in the Northern Inter- collegiate Conference and in to fourth place behind Bemidji, St. Cloud, and Morris.

FRIDAY NIGHT the Beavers connected on 56 per cent of their shots and broke away to capture an 89-70 victory and replace Winona in the league lead.

The Statesmen trailed only 37-34 at the close of the first half, however, came in the rebounding battle for the win. Moorhead's Mike Jerzek and Mark Wilke were both dominant on the boards when the Warriors had narrowed a 10-point halftime deficit to just a 5-point gap.

Meisner contributed 18 points to top Winona, while both Jerzek and Tim Anderson added 14.

Hank Richm led the host team with 24 points, Gary Rankie to-taled 20, Carl Postin totaled 16, and Charlie Johnson chipped in with 11. Cactus Warrrior rounded out the Dragons' balanced attack with 16 counters.

WINONA HITS the road again this weekend to tangle with two of the league's top teams. The War-rriors challenge second-place Morrhead Friday night and then travel to Minnesota for a rematch with the Indians Saturday night.

Colorado match leaves WSC swimmers damp

Altitude does make a difference, according to Richardson, who swam in both the 200 yard and 400 yard freestyle.

IN THE OTHER dual meet, Colorado State defeated Air Force 63-41, in a three-lane pool. The pool had movable bulkheads to make it any length or width desired, and another pool set up for water polo which could be converted into a 25-yard pool.

AGAINST Colorado State, Laurcy Calvert was first in the individual medley, while Diet Chil-lled 10 points in a reserve role.

might lose his first match of the season to Luther's Gary Rankie, 6-2. Those were the only two matches the Warriors lost, with Steve Drange (177) fighting Neil Searl in a 2-2 draw available for Luther's other only point. THE ONLY PIN of the evening came at 4:00 of the heavyweight match, bringing John Zwolinski's unbeaten string to seven and his pin record to six.

With hardly a night's sleep under their belts, the grappler's faces bore a non-conference op-ponent Saturday evening, crush- ing River Falls State, 58-14.

State's only victory in the first four matches came at the hands of 139-pounder Art Normand, who decided Jim Hammet, 6-4. A riding time victory by Steve Baird (145) turned the tide, and from there on State's big boys took over.

MERI B. SCHWANDT (132) picked up a decision, followed by Steve Drangel (140), who pin-led 10 points in a reserve role.
