In the college playing fair with the students on probation? Many students and at least one member of the admissions and retention committee don’t think so.

For example, are students not notified that they are on probation until several weeks are gone in a quarter. Why aren’t students not told that they have been dropped from school, because of grades, until they try to pay fees for the next quarter?

Formerly, students had only to appear before the committee to be reinstated, but now most students have to prove their willingness to study and raise their grades before they are allowed back in Winona State. Still, these offenders see more well as coming to school dances.

Students who are on probation have been dismissed from college. A notice, enclosed with the grade slip could inform students that they have been dropped, and also tell them of their right to appeal. Programming recommendations for students who are on probation, and comparing their grades in a rather simple manner with the IBM machine, and it would not take very much time or manpower.

TRAVELLING HUNDREDS of miles to return to college, and then beingbildly informed that a student has been dropped does not present a very good image for the college. If students were notified when changes were made in their record, they, or their grades reports, they would not have to spend a lot of time and money to find out the same thing, and they could earlier begin to look to other fields.

College is for the students, and their welfare should be put first. All colleges could use improvement, and notifying students when they get their grades that they have been dropped, instead of letting them return to Winona State to find out the same thing might be a good place to start.

SS disregards student voice
by J. M. Wierzb
Despite the club representing the students on a committee (145) in favor of Plan 3, presented to the Senate, the students voted 114-1 in favor of Plan 3, under the leadership of Jim Ekker. However I feel there is one more thing lacking — strict training of the student senate’s voting.

THREE SENATE reorganization plans were presented. Plan 1 had six at large members, four of which were the faculty senate, four class presidents, and four executive members. Plan 2 called for an executive board of six, with nine senators at large; Plan 3 modified the executive board, by having only five elected positions, four class presidents and four at large senators.

A Presidential Advisory Committee will be formed, which will first meet with President DuFresne Thursday for a discussion. The board of thirteen senators are urged to attend the meeting, in order to be mandatory for the executive board, and other interested students members to attend.

Next week’s SS meeting will be Thursday at 4:30 in the Student Center, in the regular Tuesday meeting.

To the Editor:
Yes, despite the club representatives, majority in favor of a more flexible and vital SS. However I feel that they expressed the opinions they are to represent, and voted for a slight modification of Plan 1.

Whom does the SS represent? According to its title, it is a “student” senate, but according to its present voting record, i.e. 114 to 1 in favor of Plan 3, it is a club of 17 members, acting for its own ends and shunning the voice of the student body.

RECENTLY, an ex-mutation petition was presented before the Senate, requesting that the W.S.C. Senate have the authority to be present SS by having only six at large members, two from military service as a student was not paid, no matter who he may be!

Is the college playing fair with the students on probation? Why, for example, are students not notified that they are on probation when it does get them? The W.S.C. does with these athletes?

What does WSC do with athletes?

To the Editor:
I really must comment on the Temple defense against the Kappa Epsilon fraternity last Saturday. As I understand it, the team wasn’t well prepared, or quite limited, so that the excellent publicity and the dance itself were doubly impressive. Apparently the Temple sparkles so far enough, the team of Winona State coming up with something it could use more of imagination. That was the best dance in a long time, let’s hope it sets a precedent — competitively and anything alike. Social activities. Once again, hats off to the Temple.

Sincerely,
Gary Anderson

The knee edge

Notes Taken During A Recent Wrestling Match. Could this be settled peacefully?... "Kill the love child"... The leaders screaming “Reverse, reverse...”... What is it all about...? People yelling stupid instructions that can’t possibly be heard above the roar... How do you tell someone that you are not initiated or the uninitiated, the uncertainty, the silence, the puzzlement... but then we all know what’s up here!... One Person’s Opinion. Intramural athletics serve the purpose of developing physical fitness, but I do not believe we can unquestionably defend extra- } moral on this same basis. Couldn’t the money involved be better spent? Creative job in sports for Viet Nam? (For those of you who can’t read between the lines, I hasten to point out the note of sarcasm intended in that question.) Who is to say that their efforts? Vicarious identification with the super-stars?... Unchallenging of school spirit?... Who is the college playing fair with the students on probation? Why, for example, are students not notified that they are on probation when it does get them? The W.S.C. does with these athletes?

The WINONAN inadvertently referred to Dr. Howard Munson, principal of Phelps School, as Harold Munson.

Finance committee sets appropriations

by Kathy Gundersen

Administering college activity funds and setting general policy regarding fund raising is the two-fold function of the WSC eighty-member Finance Committee.

Operating last year on a budget totaling almost 85,000 (the sum of all the $5 activity fees), the committee appropriated out shares to a myriad of campus organizations, clubs and activities.

RECIPIENTS included athletics, dances, musicals, Homecoming, Parents' Day, WSC Highwaymen, WSC Band, Student Senate, Student Assembly sub-committee, social funds at the beginning of each semester and many others.

The business manager represents college administration on the committee and the office manager acts as secretary but has no vote. In addition, the committee includes four voting students selected from seniors and representatives on the student Senate.

Faculty members are Robert Fabry, Joyce Locks, Harold Murch and Helen McGreath. Student members include June Price, Richfield; Suzanne Brem- leth, Providence; Robert Robert, Rockford, Ill.; and Roger Wattrill, Austin.

The following is an excerpt of a letter from Evelyn F. Hatfield, chairman of the Finance Committee. "Of the sixty organizations, clubs and activities our committee funds, all are grateful for the assistance they receive from the Finance Committee. All must submit a request for funds at the beginning of each year and the Finance Committee may then grant, modify, or re-approve for all fund-raising projects.

SUCCEEDING the late Mr. Barcelona, chairman of the Finance committee is Milton Under- dorfer, associate professor of mathematics and math depart- ment. He is appointed by the president of the college. In addition to the Finance Committee and Faculty Senate appoint three additional full-time representatives on the committee.
