COMMUNICATION: THEME: OUR GENERATION

Communication, the problem of the generation gap was the main theme of the United States Student Press Association, which the undersigned attended last weekend in Washington.

The problem between the college generation and the generation in power are real, and there is a lack of communication. This problem is certainly a big one, but our college generation has a better chance of doing things about it than any previous generation.

Many are the people who feel that the college generation has had the affluence generation, and we have higher ideals and stronger feelings for humanity, the United States, and equal and rights opportunities for all people. We should be the generation for our own generation, but we are in danger of selling ourselves out.

Two things have brought home the fact that many of the brighter students are not entering political, the top, American society can be changed.

We are being given an important and valuable chance to change our society. I am being the achievement to do this, for College generation. United States Student Press Association, being years-old voice, and the largest bulk of our population is under 25.

We are being given an important and valuable chance to improve our society. Whether or not we do this is up to us.

The second conclusion is that
Mr. Runik has very little

Grapplers annihilate Marquette

Hosting Marquette University last Friday evening, the Warrior grapplers coasted to an easy victory, truncating the Memorial school, 57-10.

Fred Arbananis dropped a 6-3 decision to Tom Greenwood of Marquette at 133 lbs., followed by a forfeit at 138. Rog Serbic (177) drove Marquette's Tenser 1-5, and from there on the scoring was all on the Winona side of the board.

STEVE BAIRD (145) decisioned Mike End, 1-7, followed by one of the most bizarre matches ever seen in Memorial Hall. Jim Tannishell walled Marquette's 133 pounder John Howard to a scoreless tie in the first period, neither wrestler able to score a takedown. In the second period Tannishell was down, and in an effort to pin him, Howard unknowingly pinned himself with out either wrestler scoring a point. As referee John Philp stop ped the match and raised Tannishell's hand in victory, no one was more surprised than the losing Howard.

Macle Sovereign dropped Phil Bueck of Marquette in the 160 lb. division, 6-0, after which 167 lb. Rop Wicks pinned his opponent at 7:34. Steve Drange (177) dropped John Wieland, 5-2, followed by John Zwolinski's much-feared first period pin of Mike Rog at 1:38.

The Warrior grapplers have two road meets this weekend, traveling to Moorhead Friday evening, the Warrior 400 yard freestyle relay team, made up of Bill Kehrer, Anderson, George Kasika and Larry Calvert set a new pool record of 3:28.7.

Mixing Calvert's record setting performance in St. Thomas, Kasika shattered the 400-yard freestyle varsity mark, making it 3:27.3.

Thursday, Remelji comes to Winona to square off against the tankers, with this one promising to be the big conference meet of the season.
