Hikes in State Aid to Schools Called Absurd

Sletvold Calls for Thorough Study of Educational System

By JACK B. MACKAY
ST. PAUL (AP) — Proposals to increase basic state aid from $80 to $92 per pupil unit were denounced today by A. O. Sletvold of Detroit Lakes, counsel for the Minnesota Taxpayers Assn., as "impractical, preposterous, and absurd."

Sletvold, a former state senator, told the House Education Committee at a hearing that there should be no increase at this time, and declared:

"Let's put our educational house in order before voting more money for senseless patch-work."

Sletvold contended that it is impractical at this time, in view of the "already excessively high tax structure," to increase the state aids for schools.

"It's absurd at this time," he added, "in view of the fact that our state government already is paying 43 per cent of the entire cost of running our public schools."

Study Urged
"It is far more practical to undertake instead a penetrating study of our entire school situation, thereby obtaining basic facts on which to determine two years hence what, if any, adjustment should or should not be made in basic state aid."

"I make that suggestion because a thorough examination of our school districts is a really big order. Do we have too many? Are there too many one teacher schools with too few pupils that skyrocket our education costs far and above those of other states such as Michigan, Wisconsin, and Iowa for example?"

Minnesota, Sletvold pointed out, is the eighth highest state in the Union in education costs. We spent in 1953-54, he explained, an average of $312 per pupil compared to $285 for Wisconsin and $264 for Michigan.

Sletvold contended that, if Minnesota's per pupil cost had been the same as Wisconsin, Minnesota would have spent 27 million dollars less. And if they were the same as Michigan, Minnesota would have spent 48 million less in the biennium, Sletvold said.

"We base our state aid on uniform assessment rates," Sletvold said. "Yet the tax department has recently disclosed that in some districts property is deliberately under-assessed and consequently those districts receive more aid than they are entitled to. Such districts also pay less than an equitable share of state property taxes and the correctly assessed districts are thereby penalized financially."

"Under such conditions it is imperative that state aids should not be increased. We submit that our state has dealt and is dealing most generously in contributing to the education of our children. There is danger of over-doing it."

Sees Careless Practices
"Too generous contributions on the part of the state will lead to careless, inefficient and even wasteful practices at the local level."

The House later Wednesday killed a bill, commonly known as the "anti-bootlegging car bill," which would have banned the sale of new cars by used car dealers. The measure also would have forbidden sale of cars on Sundays.

The Talks That Took place around this conference table at Yalta in the Crimea in 1945 took on a new meaning Wednesday when the State Department distributed a two-volume book revealing the long-suppressed secrets discussed there. Shown at the table, clockwise from the officer at left, are: Ivan Maisky, then commissar of Russia's foreign affairs; the late Joseph Stalin; an unidentified man; Maj. Gen. Laurence S. Kuter, standing, then assistant chief of the U.S. air staff; Gen. George C. Marshall; Adm. William D. Leahy, then chief of staff to President Roosevelt; the late President Roosevelt; Edward R. Stettinius Jr., then U.S. Secretary of State; Adm. Ernest J. King, then U.S. Navy chief; an unidentified man; Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, and Prime Minister Winston Churchill. ## Stalin Sought Sweeping Concessions for Fighting Japs, Yalta Papers Reveal

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER and WARREN ROGERS JR.
WASHINGTON (AP) — Publication of long-secret Yalta papers failed today to still the controversy that has raged over the wartime Big Three meeting. The half-million-word American record of the historic session was made public last night by the State Department, reportedly over the objection of Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

Secretary of State Dulles had said only Tuesday that the 834 pages of documents would not be made public now.

The papers disclosed that Premier Joseph Stalin had made a veiled threat of "difficulty" in taking Russia into the war against Japan unless President Roosevelt agreed to sweeping concessions.

Roosevelt did agree, giving Russia new strategic positions in the northwest Pacific and a powerful hand in Manchuria.

The record disclosed also that Roosevelt told Stalin and Churchill it was "very embarrassing" to him to yield to another Russian demand for Ukrainian and White Russian membership in the United Nations—giving Russia three votes in the General Assembly.

And they disclosed long arguments by Roosevelt and Churchill with Stalin over their demands for creation of free governments in postwar Poland and other liberated Eastern European countries.

Stalin agreed to a declaration and procedures for setting up democratic regimes. But within a few years the Soviets solidified Communist rule from the Baltic to the Black Sea.

The Big Three conference was held at Yalta in the Russian Crimea in February 1945. Roosevelt, Stalin and Churchill had met some months earlier at Tehran, mainly on coordinating military strategy against Nazi Germany.

At Yalta they grappled with great political issues, including the future of Germany. The record shows they agreed on "disarmament" of Germany in principle but not on how it should be carried out.

But the overriding problem was Russia's prospective entry into the war against Japan. Russia agreed to come in once Germany was defeated. The war in Europe ended (Continued on Page 18, Column 1)

Russ Violation Of Agreements Will Be Cited

McCarthy Warns Party Has Not Kept Its Pledge

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) indicated today the administration is seeking ways to denounce Russian violations of the Yalta agreement without giving the Soviets any legal advantages.

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) called on President Eisenhower in the Senate yesterday to "announce the support of his administration for formal congressional action repudiating the Yalta agreements."

Knowland, Republican floor leader, did not comment on McCarthy's demand. But he said in an interview that as far as he is concerned, any action will have to await "full study" of the 1945 conference record made public last night by the State Department.

"There may be ways to denounce or repudiate these agreements, in view of the Soviet failure to comply with them, which would not put the Russians in the position of being able to reap some benefits," Knowland said.

Study Urged
"Before we reach any final decision, it would be well to study the facts as they are disclosed in the conference record."

McCarthy told the Senate yesterday Republicans had failed to live up to a 1952 platform pledge to repudiate the Yalta agreements. He said he is "not optimistic" about GOP chances in 1956 "if we come before the American people with a series of broken campaign promises."

He blamed Eisenhower's brother Milton and "holdovers from the Roosevelt regime" for swaying the President from a policy aimed at "liberation" of the Iron Curtain countries to one of "coexistence" with Communism.

"I merely mention Milton Eisenhower because he is typical of the palace guard of New Dealers which lead like a herd without his knowing exactly where they are taking him," McCarthy said.

The White House had no comment. Efforts to reach Milton Eisenhower were unsuccessful. President of Penn State University, he has sometimes acted as adviser to the President on Latin-American affairs.

Could Cost Berlin
Knowland indicated repudiation of the Yalta agreements might counteract American claims that the Soviets failed to hold the free elections they had pledged for what are now Iron Curtain satellites. Repudiation also might wash out the basis under which the Big Four now control Berlin.

There was little immediate comment on the 500,000-word Yalta record. A number of Congress members said they had not had time to study it.

Sen. Capehart (R-Ind.), however, said it showed the late President Roosevelt had made "an almost unpardonable error" in granting concessions to the Russians, but he added: "In all fairness, he was a sick man."

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said publication of the documents was "a very dangerous step . . . to satisfy the move vitriolic elements of the Republican party." He named no names. As for the papers themselves, he said they "will provide interesting reading but, I fear, will do nothing to settle our present-day problems."

Case Dropped Against 'Joe Go' Leaders
BARABOO, Wis. (AP) — Charges of aiding and abetting a felony against Le Roy Gore and four other officers of the Joe Must Go Club were dismissed Wednesday by Sauk County Dist. Atty. James R. Seering.

The club was organized last year to seek recall of U.S. Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.). Its efforts were unsuccessful. Subsequently the club was found guilty of violating the state corrupt practices act and the officers charged with the club's activities.

The complaints dismissed were against Gore, former publisher of the Sauk-Francis Star, Patricia Watt of Whitefish Bay, Harold H. East of Amery, Carl Lachmund of Sauk City and Ivan Nestingen, Madison assemblyman.

Circuit Judge Bruce Belfuss of Neillsville found the club guilty last Dec. 31 of violating the corrupt practices act, which bans a corporation from contributing funds for political purposes.

The club is appealing to the high court.

Spring Near But Temperature Hits -18 Along Border

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Spring is only a few days away but the coldest weather of the month was reported today in wide areas of the country.

It was 18 degrees below zero early today in International Falls, Minn., on the Canadian border, after a high of 6 above yesterday. Bemidji, Minn., had 10 below.

Temperatures were lower throughout the nation except along the Gulf of Mexico. Laredo, Texas, had a high Wednesday of 93.

Wisconsin's coldest spot was Superior with an overnight minimum temperature of 10 below. Some other overnight lows: Park Falls 4 below, Grantsburg 2 below, Wausau 4 above, Eau Claire 8, Green Bay 9, Lone Rock 12, La Crosse and Madison 14, Milwaukee 15, and Beloit 19.

Maximum temperatures in the state Wednesday ranged from 34 at Beloit to 10 above at Superior. Some other state highs: 32 at Milwaukee, 30 at Lone Rock and Madison, 29 at Green Bay and La Crosse, 27 at Wausau, 22 at Grantsburg and 17 Eau Claire.

A few snow flurries were reported in the state Wednesday, but later in the day, most of Wisconsin had clear, cold weather. This morning, the extreme northwest portion of the state reported snow flurries and most of the rest of the state reported cloudy skies.

Temperatures were lower over most of the country from the Mississippi to the Atlantic, except along the Gulf Coast. Coldest areas were the upper Great Lakes region and northern parts of the Midwest.

Freezing weather, however, extended southward into parts of Virginia, Kentucky and northern Tennessee. It also was cold in sections of the Far West.

Light snow fell in parts of the Northern Plains and northern Rockies. There was light rain in a few areas in the Southern Plains.

Dulles Irked by Request on Yalta

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles angrily refused to answer and stalked away today when a reporter asked why he released the controversial Yalta papers at this time.

The incident occurred at the Military Air Transport Service terminal as Dulles was about to board a plane for Ottawa and his first state visit to Canada.

An official who declined to permit use of his name said Wednesday night that the documents were released at that time because at least one newspaper already had obtained a copy. There also were reports of heavy pressure from Republican members of Congress.

Solomon's Decision

KENOSHA, Wis. (AP) — The Kenosha County Board was split on renaming Paschen Lake. Some members wanted to call it Benet Lake and others, Lake Shangri-la. The board finally settled by ordering the lake cut in half, the northern part to be known as Lake Shangri-la, and the southern part as Benet Lake.

Disturbing Elements Charged in Market

WASHINGTON (AP) — A CIO official and a Wall Street banker told the Senate's stock market inquiry today there are disturbing elements in the 1955 market.

CIO Secretary-Treasurer James B. Carey declared there is evidence the Eisenhower administration "has conspired to boost stock prices" until they have soared far out of line with the rest of the economy.

Carey said Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey's recent take-it-easy caution to the Senate Banking Committee was a confession that the administration's economic policies "are built on a will-of-the-wisp."

In other testimony prepared for the committee, investment banker Ferdinand Eberstadt said nobody can say for sure whether stock prices have gone too high.

"More disturbing than the present market level," Eberstadt said, "are security frauds and sales of securities which, while not technically fraudulent, are so worthless as to have the same effect on the buyer."

President Eisenhower told his news conference yesterday he knew of no instance in which the stock market inquiry had gone beyond proper bounds. But he said it is necessary to proceed with caution where public confidence is involved.

The day before, Humphrey said some of the committee's lines of inquiry might produce "a questioning of confidence" in the economy. Chairman Fulbright (D-Ark.) replied the inquiry is necessary and will continue.

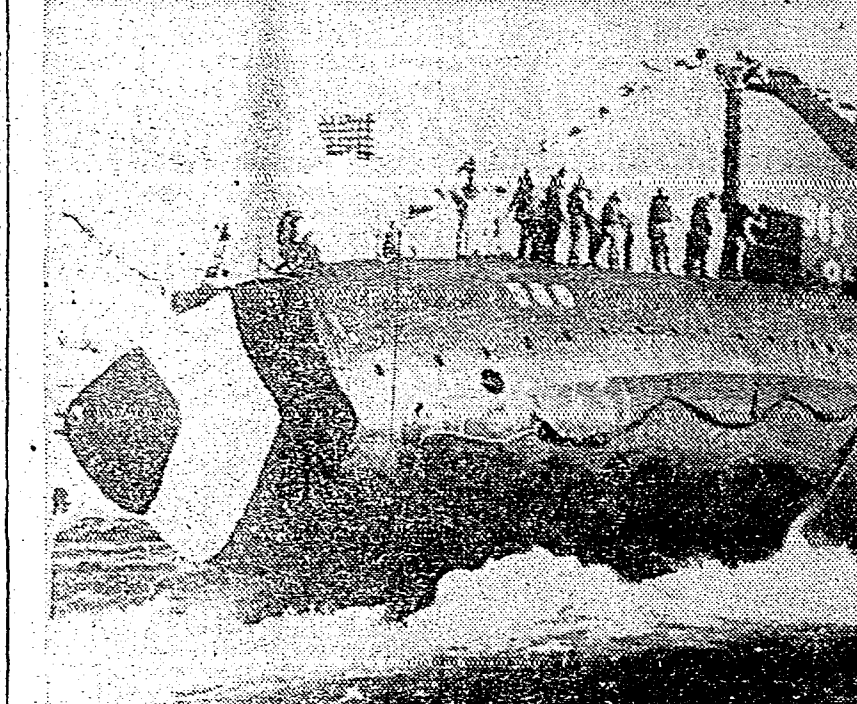

Carey declared today: "The secretary's brazen statement alarms me."

"If this recent bull market is nurtured by so poor an economic pasture that a few words before this Senate committee can cause its destruction," the CIO official said, "then he has indicted the economic policies of the Eisenhower administration."

Carey said the committee should step up its investigation to find out (1) "if we are as near to economic disaster as Mr. Humphrey has declared," or (2) whether Humphrey "is merely trying to buffalo this committee, the United States and the American people into an unquestioning, silent acceptance of the trickle-down economic theories propounded by Mr. Humphrey and his Cabinet associates."

The conference committee was appointed yesterday to iron out the sharp dispute involved in tax bills passed by the House and Senate.

The Senate bill provides only a one-year extension of the corporation and excise taxes. The House bill, in addition, would cut taxes $20 a year for each taxpayer and each dependent, starting next Jan. 1.

Battle Over Tax Cut Settles Into Game of Waiting

WASHINGTON (AP) — The congressional battle over a Democratic tax-cutting drive settled today into a nervous waiting game.

The issue rested for the time being with a Senate-House conference committee not scheduled to meet until next week.

Meanwhile, both sides fired new verbal blasts. Rep. Daniel A. Reed (R-N.Y.) said Democratic insistence on an income tax cut year could bring an "unconscionable windfall" to the liquor industry.

The dispute is delaying action on a bill which would extend present corporation and excise tax rates now due to expire April 1. Unless the extension is voted, liquor taxes would drop from $10.50 to $9 a proof gallon, and Reed said that would give the liquor industry a "windfall" of 132 million dollars.

House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) and Rep. Boggs (D-La.) discounted any such possibility. They said agreement would be reached by April 1.

The conference committee was appointed yesterday to iron out the sharp dispute involved in tax bills passed by the House and Senate.

The Senate bill provides only a one-year extension of the corporation and excise taxes. The House bill, in addition, would cut taxes $20 a year for each taxpayer and each dependent, starting next Jan. 1.

The House later Wednesday killed a bill, commonly known as the "anti-bootlegging car bill," which would have banned the sale of new cars by used car dealers. The measure also would have forbidden sale of cars on Sundays.

Dahl Scheduled For Arraignment In Pepin County

Charge of Grand Larceny Brought Against Marine

DURAND, Wis. — Arthur Dahl, 19, was scheduled to be arraigned today before County Judge Joseph Reidner here on a charge of grand larceny.

He was taken into custody Wednesday by Victor Seline, Pepin County sheriff, at St. Paul where he had been held by police since Sunday.

Specifically, Dahl is being charged with thefts from an Arkansas, Wis., farm and a Frankfurt, Wis., home, which he is reported to have admitted to St. Paul authorities. He is being questioned concerning other thefts, according to Seline.

Dahl is a former resident of the Arkansas area and moved to St. Paul with his parents about four years ago. Seline said he is absent without leave from the U. S. Marine Corps, reportedly deserting the corps from a Great Lakes Training Station hospital.

Dahl was arrested Sunday in connection with the disappearance of Eugene Salzman who was being hunted for allegedly killing his parents at Hayward last week. The Arkansas man told St. Paul police Monday that he took $61 worth of soybeans from the Louis Lee farm at Arkansas Feb. 19 and about $80 in cash from the Frankfurt home Dec. 4, Seline said today.

St. Mary's Students Hear Talk on Coins

Brother J. Quentin, F. S. C., of the faculty of De La Salle High School, Minneapolis, discussed coin collecting at St. Mary's College Wednesday.

A member of the Northwest Coin Club and the American Numismatic Association, Brother Quentin lectured on his personal coin collection, which has been valued at several thousand dollars. During the presentation, several commemorative coins were projected upon a screen and explained.

Brother Quentin possesses what is believed to be the oldest known coin in the world, a piece struck in Lydia, a Greek city in Asia Minor, in 650 B. C. His hundreds of Greek and Roman coins, he said, portray much of the history of those ancient empires.

Nearly 150 Flying Farmers Entertained by Winonans

Nearly 150 Minnesota Flying Farmers descended on Winona, and the J. R. Watkins Co. in particular, Wednesday for a tour of company plants and the experimental farm on Homer Ridge.

More than 30 light planes from all parts of the state landed at the Winona Municipal Airport before 10:30 a.m. Takeoffs started at 3:30 p.m.

Met at the airport by buses, chartered by Watkins from Winona Transit Co., the group was divided in half, one unit being taken directly to the offices and manufacturing plant and the other to the Farm Line manufacturing plant here. Later they exchanged.

Many of the Flying Farmers were accompanied by their wives and children, the latter being of all ages from toddlers to teen-agers. Oldest of the visitors was Mrs. Ida Larson, 79, Rushford, who accompanied her son Harley in his Cessna plane. They live six miles east of Rushford.

At noon, the farmers were guests of the company at the Hot Fish Shop. The business meeting was conducted by Minnesota Chapter President Charles Schmidt, Morris. Mrs. Jean Ewald, Stanley, is secretary. Also present were Delbert Anderson, Hutchinson, vice president, and Kenneth Butler-Hutchinson, national vice president.

Following the business meeting, the entire group was taken by bus to the Watkins Experimental Farm, where C. P. Crawford, farm manager, was host.

The Winona Chapter of the Future Farmers of America assisted.

World War II Ended Earlier Than Expected

WASHINGTON (AP)—The end of World War II in 1945, came earlier than the British-American combined chiefs of staff dared hope even in February of that year.

Included among the Yalta papers made public by the State Department was a top-secret outline of war plans reported by the combined chiefs to President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill Feb. 9 at Yalta.

They said planning dates for the end of the war were needed for planning production and allocating manpower. Accordingly they fixed the "earliest date" for the end of the war against Germany as July 1, 1945, and the "date beyond which the war is unlikely to continue" as Dec. 31 that year.

Germany actually surrendered May 7, 1945.

"We recommend that the planning date for the end of the war against Japan should be set at 18 months after the defeat of Germany," the combined chiefs added.

Actually, it was only three months and one week after Germany's surrender that Japan gave up, on Aug. 14. That was just eight days after the United States dropped its first atomic bomb—a factor not mentioned in the combined chiefs' report.

2 Gunmen Grab $9,000 Payroll

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Two gunmen grabbed a Sears Roebuck & Co. $9,000 payroll while about 40 employees were lined up to receive the cash late Wednesday. Police said they had only meager clues to the robbers.

The intruders entered the office only minutes after an armored truck had delivered the payroll to the firm's warehouse on 28th Street and the Milwaukee Road tracks.

One gunman wore a sweater pulled up over the chin and cap down over his eyes while the second had on a frame carrying false nose and glasses.

Mrs. Kay Nelson, a biller, thought the affair was a gag because of the funny costumes until one man grabbed her arm and demanded to know where the money had been taken.

Noting the lineup of workers in the warehouse, the pair approached Charles D. Springer, 33, the paymaster, and ordered him to "give us that box or we'll blow your head off."

After seizing the wooden container with the pay envelopes in it the men fled out a side door to a waiting car. The car was later discovered to have been stolen from a parking lot at 4th avenue S. and 27th street, about two miles from the holdup scene.

Two Sears employees who followed the machine as it pulled away said they believed two women were in the rear seat. They lost track of the car in heavy traffic under a railroad underpass on Franklin avenue.

Winona County Sends One as March Quota

William A. Boucher, 26, son of Mrs. Anna Boucher, 820 E. 2nd St., left this morning for induction into the armed forces as the county's March Selective Service quota.

Two other men, both volunteers, made the trip for physical examinations.

Rural Rate Boosts Forecast If Phone Taxes Are Raised

ST. PAUL (AP)—Any increase in taxes paid by telephone companies at this time would result in telephone rate increases in many rural Minnesota communities, Anchor Nelson, REA administrator, and Keith W. Vogt, secretary-treasurer of the Minnesota Telephone Assn., forecast today.

In a letter to Rep. Walter E. Day of Bagley, released today, Nelson said that further taxes on state telephone companies "will necessitate increased rates for rural subscribers and may result in denial of service to many."

A hike in gross earnings taxes of state telephone companies has been proposed in the administration's omnibus tax bill introduced in the Legislature last Friday.

The bill calls for a 75 per cent increase in gross earnings taxes for telephone companies serving communities having less than 10,000 population and all phone firms serving customers in rural areas.

Nelson stated that small telephone companies "can make great contribution toward making telephone service available throughout rural Minnesota, unless unnecessary obstacles are placed in their way."

Nelson also contended that increased telephone taxes could seriously reduce the number of future REA loans to Minnesota telephone companies.

Two Contests Feature Balloting in Oakwood

MILLVILLE, Minn. (Special)—In the balloting for Oakwood Township offices last week, 121 votes were cast, a large total for the township.

For supervisor, Ralph Ryan won over Emil Beck, 64 to 58; for assessor, Bert Olson won over incumbent Henry Rheingans, 59 to 57. All had filed. Walter Carsten, unopposed, was re-elected treasurer with 96 votes. For justice of the peace and constable, for which there were no filings, Tim McGrath was elected justice and Emil Beck, constable.

A levy of $9,000 was set; the gopher bounty was unchanged.

Cages of homing pigeons were dropped into occupied areas during World War II with questionnaires which were filled out by the people and carried back by the pigeons.

State to Weigh Closing of Two Game Refuges

Gilmore and Wiscoy Hearings Held by State Officials

Findings and recommendations involving the proposed closing of two Winona County game refuges were today being forwarded to Gordon Wollan, acting director of the Minnesota Department of Conservation's Game and Fish Division.

Involved are the Gilmore Valley refuge, consisting of about 5,000 acres south of Highway 14 between Winona and Stockton, and the Wiscoy Valley refuge of about 2,000 acres in the south central part of Wiscoy Township and bounded on the south by the Houston County line.

Public hearings on petitions from county residents asking that the two be vacated by the state were held at the Goodview Municipal Hall Tuesday.

Privately Owned
Presiding at 2 and 8 p.m. sessions was Stephen S. Sokolik, representing the Game Bureau of the Department of Conservation, who pointed out that the areas in question are privately owned lands that have been designated as game refuges by the state.

He recalled that two petitions, bearing the signatures of 50 county residents on each, asking that the state withdraw operation of the two areas, had arrived at the Capitol some time ago. Sokolik explained that the public hearings were scheduled to allow persons for and against the move to have their say.

Also present at both afternoon and evening sessions was Ronald Shager, county game warden. "In regard to the Wiscoy Valley refuge," said Shager, "it has outlived itself (the refuge was established in 1916) . . . it is extremely hilly . . . the hills themselves are a refuge."

Leo Borkowski, Goodview, speaking in favor of the move, pointed out the impracticality of operating, maintaining, posting and patrolling the refuge, adding that it was "inaccessible on its southern border."

Sokolik noted that the Wiscoy refuge was not feasible from the standpoint of operations and said that "a refuge is only as good as its law enforcement."

No one was present to voice opposition to the move.

Gilmore Valley
More than 35 persons were present for an evening session, debating the proposed closing of the Gilmore Valley refuge, which lies partly within Goodview village limits and also within the Winona city limits.

A 50-name petition asking that the refuge continue to be maintained by the state was presented during the affair.

Said Warden Shager: "It was presented by farmers, who said they didn't want the buildings and livestock shot up by hunters." He said that a lobby of fruit growers was in attendance, asking that the refuge be vacated because the pheasants were eating up their crops.

Game Checked
Tuesday afternoon, Sokolik and Shager toured the two refuges to determine the number of game within the refuge compared with the number outside.

Shager said today that a report on the two hearings and findings in the personal investigations would be forwarded to the state Commissioner of Conservation today, along with Sokolik's recommendations.

An answer will not be forthcoming for at least a month, said Shager.

St. Patrick's Is Without Irishmen

ST. PATRICK, Minn. (AP)—Eugene O'Hern adjusted his bright green tie this morning and went to church, a virtual stranger in this tiny community now populated by six Germans and six Bohemians.

The Mass at St. Patrick's Church was said by Father Leon Bonin, whose ancestors came from France.

But for O'Hern and four Irish families in the outlying farm area, it was one of the banner days of the year.

O'Hern, 50, now lives at St. Catherine, a community about 4 1/2 miles east of here.

He said he was happy to be an Irishman on St. Patrick's Day, and acknowledged he would do at least "some celebrating" tonight at Prior Lake.

Aside from his necktie, O'Hern decided this year against wearing any other gay green garb.

The day apparently was observed with similar restraint by the four Irish families out in the country, all that is left now of what once was a fairly large Irish settlement, also members of St. Patrick's Church.

The families are Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Cavanaugh, Roland Ryan, Michael Nash and Lawrence O'Hern.

St. Patrick's itself now is bereft of Irish. Mr. and Mrs. Martin Eischmann, operators of the general store here, are of German descent. They have four children.

The other residents are Mr. and Mrs. George Stepka and their child, Mrs. Theresa Franek, a widow, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bily, who are in retirement.

St. Patrick is about 30 miles south of the Twin Cities in Scott County.

With Easter Only Three Weeks Away, downtown Winona merchants today began their 3-day "Easter Parade of Values," and Miss Arlys Vaughn of Rollingstone got into the spirit right away by trying on an Easter bonnet. Eleven stores are showing their fashions in free style shows at the Winona Senior High School auditorium this afternoon and again at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

Meanwhile, the annual Sportsman Show will open Friday at the Winona Armory. There'll be free parking in all metered zones Friday and Saturday. (Daily News photo)

Caretaker Named At Farmers Park; Improvements Set

Victor C. Gunderson, Lamolite, has been hired as caretaker of Farmers Community Park, Stockton, which will be open May 1 through Sept. 30.

In announcing the caretaker appointment, Clarence Totman, chairman of the park board of directors, also revealed that recreation facilities at the park will be improved on a five-year plan. A merry-go-round and teeter-totters for children have been ordered. Future additions will include swings and other playground equipment.

The new caretaker replaces Clem Rettig, Stockton, who served two years. A cleanup, paintup, fixup program will be under Gunderson's direction when the park opens. Groups desiring to reserve the park for special functions are urged to do so at once by calling the county extension office at Lewiston.

Farmers Community Park is a gift of H. C. Garvin to Winona County and contains 27 acres of wooded slopes and valleys with a spring-fed brook running through the main valley. Facilities placed there since the mid-1920s include Green Lodge; a canopied speakers rostrum and bandshell; a kitchen; women's activities building; fireplaces and picnic tables; well water; recreation areas for children; volleyball and diamond ball areas, and horseshoe courts.

Since the board works with a county budget which is limited by state law, contributions by interested individuals are encouraged, Totman said. A women's organization has recently contributed $25 toward the children's playground there. M. J. Bambenek, Winona park-recreation director, has assisted the board with the playground layout.

First National Opening Drive-in

Drive-in banking has come to Winona with completion of a drive-in teller booth installation at the First National Bank, 177 Center St.

Bank business now may be accomplished by entering the drive-way adjacent to the front of the bank on Center street and driving to the center of the north side of the building.

The drive-in facilities include a small booth protruding from the building equipped with 14-inch bullet-resistant glass. An electronic communications system has been installed to facilitate conversation between the teller and the person in the car.

Immediately to the north of the drive-in lane are parking spaces with a 15-minute time limit.

Annual 'Y' Banquet To Hear Member Of National Council

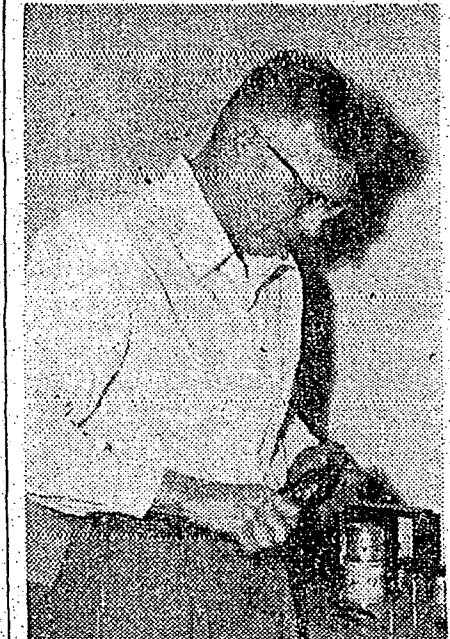

Dr. Harry Lewis, Appleton, Wis., who will be the principal speaker during the 69th annual YMCA banquet Monday at 6:30 p. m., has been affiliated with YMCA work for a number of years and is a member of the National Council of the YMCA.

A member of the board of directors of the North Central area council of the YMCA, he is immediate past president. John D. Teague, Winona, is chairman of the area council that includes representatives from North and South Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa and Wisconsin.

Leo McCaffrey is general chairman of the banquet that will include organ music by Miss Janice Michel. Miss Leona Ebel, executive secretary of the Winona Girl Scout Council, will lead singing. The invocation will be by the Rev. Webster Clement, president of the Winona Ministerial Association.

Pictures of Winona YMCA activities will be shown. The public is invited.

Winona and Area Students in 'U' Exercises Tonight

Two Winonans and six area residents will receive armed forces commissions and/or degrees during the University of Minnesota's March commencement exercises tonight at 8 o'clock at the Northrup Memorial Auditorium, Minneapolis.

The commencement address, "The New Frontiers of Democracy," will be by Carol M. Shanks, a native of Fairmont who is president of the Prudential Insurance Co. of America.

Paul R. Giel, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Giel, 520 Sioux St., will be commissioned a second lieutenant in the Ordnance Corps. Karl Frederick Meinert, son of Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Meinert, 319 Grand St., will receive a bachelor of business administration degree.

The area students include: LeRoy A. Carlson and Cortland A. Qualy, both of RUSHFORD, receiving commissions as second lieutenants in the Air National Guard of the District of Columbia (Carlson also will receive a bachelor of business administration degree); Thomas Richard Turner, ST. CHARLES, a bachelor of arts degree in the college of science, literature and the arts; Wallace Warren Hyde, LAKE CITY, a master of education degree, and Ruth Ann Roschen, also of LAKE CITY, a bachelor of science in professional nursing, and Robert Matthew Hill, CALEDONIA, a doctor of philosophy degree.

Hill received his bachelor of science degree cum laude in 1944 at St. Mary's College and his master's degree last year at the University of Minnesota. His major is agricultural biochemistry and he also has a minor in analytical chemistry.

If necessary signatures are obtained (a freeholder is a resident property owner) and the Lake City Consolidated District Board accepts the proposal, an election will be set by Mrs. Verma Olin, Wabasha County superintendent of schools. All eligible voters of the district seeking merger are permitted to vote in the consolidation election.

A recent move by a group of rural Wabasha County districts to create a rural high school district near Zumbro Falls would probably be set back if consolidation of the Zumbro and Lake City districts is approved.

No Vehicles Exempted From Limit, Sheriff Says

Sheriff George Fort emphasized today that no vehicles are exempted from observing the axle weight limits posted for all state and county and township roads in Winona County earlier this week.

The sheriff said that he will maintain an around-the-clock patrol of all highways and that every vehicle must be operated in conformance with the posted limits. Five-ton limits have been established for the spring breakup on State Aid Road 11 from one-half mile south of Fremont to Lewisville, State Aid Road 1 from one mile north of Nodine to Dakota and State Aid Road 1 from two miles east of Ridgeway to the Highway 76 junction.

All other county aid, state aid and township roads have been posted with 4-ton limits.

Clyde Girod, 4345 9th St., Goodview, has been awarded three shares of Swift & Co. stock for submitting one of two top suggestions to the firm during January.

Plant Manager F. E. Booth said Girod's suggestion involved installation of a horizontal rail for transferring quarters of beef, eliminating manual lifting. He is employed in the mechanical department of the Winona Swift & Co. plant.

Shares of Swift stock are being presented as special centennial awards to employees who submit the best ideas for improving any phase of the company's business, Booth explained.

These special prizes are in addition to the regular awards presented to employees in the company's 30-year-old suggestion plan program. All employees of the company are eligible to participate.

Regular awards are paid in cash or merchandise for all suggestions adopted under this program. All employees receiving these regular suggestion awards also are eligible for special monthly and year-end prizes of Swift & Co. stock shares. A total of 229 shares of stock will be awarded to employees during Swift's centennial year.

A committee chooses the best suggestions submitted each month from Swift plants in the United States and Canada. Employees submitting the top two suggestions each month receive three shares of Swift stock in addition to their regular awards. The next best two suggestions receive two shares each and the next two one share each.

At the end of the year, 15 grand prize winners will be selected. The best suggestions submitted during the centennial year will receive 25 shares of stock.

Booth said that since the program began, the Swift suggestion system has paid more than $788,992 for 45,242 suggestions which have been adopted and put into practice.

State Approves Zumbro Falls Plat

ZUMBRO FALLS, Minn. — Consolidation of the Zumbro Falls and Lake City school districts has been approved by the State Department of Education and attempts are now being made here to secure 25 per cent of the freeholder signatures.

The Zumbro district is made up of two rural districts and the local school unit which merged into a consolidated elementary district years ago. The district operates a two-room grade school which now has 94 pupils. High school students have been sent to Lake City for at least 10 years. There are now 27 attending Lincoln High School from this area.

If necessary signatures are obtained (a freeholder is a resident property owner) and the Lake City Consolidated District Board accepts the proposal, an election will be set by Mrs. Verma Olin, Wabasha County superintendent of schools. All eligible voters of the district seeking merger are permitted to vote in the consolidation election.

A recent move by a group of rural Wabasha County districts to create a rural high school district near Zumbro Falls would probably be set back if consolidation of the Zumbro and Lake City districts is approved.

Present officers are: LeRoy Peterson, exalted ruler; Henry Epstein, leading knight; T. Charles Green, loyal knight; S. Sadowski, lecturing knight; John Carroll, squire; Lloyd Osmun, chaplain; Dr. Roger Hartwich, inner guard; John Dietrich, filler, and Earl Heiting, secretary.

Hiss Clarifies His Position at Yalta Meeting

NEW YORK (AP)—Alger Hiss said last night that he unsuccessfully opposed Russian proposals at the Yalta conference to admit extra Soviet republics as independent members of the United Nations.

Asked about the Yalta documents, made public by the State Department, Hiss said he has considered that "my position at all times was pro-American" rather than anti-Soviet.

Hiss, whose role at the Yalta conference has been a controversial issue for years, clarified some cryptic notes published by the State Department as part of the Yalta documents.

Hiss' notes, written in an amateur shorthand, concerned the agreement at the 1945 Roosevelt-Churchill-Stalin conference to allow Russia three votes in the General Assembly of the United Nations, then being launched. Russia got votes for White Russia and the Ukraine as well as for itself.

Hiss was interviewed at his apartment after the State Department issued the Yalta papers. He was recently freed from prison after serving a term for perjury for denying before a federal grand jury that he passed State Department secrets to a prewar Russian spy ring.

Hiss, a State Department official, was assigned at the Yalta conference to keep records and advise his superiors on matters dealing with the U.N.

According to the documents issued by the State Department, President Roosevelt told Prime Minister Churchill and Marshal Stalin that the matter of allowing Russia two extra votes was "very embarrassing to me."

Hiss said in the interview that he believes Roosevelt's embarrassment concerned publication of the decision at that time.

The decision was not made public at the end of the conference. There was a stormy controversy when it leaked out in Washington weeks later. Opponents of the agreement called it an unwarranted concession to Stalin.

Hiss said he believes Roosevelt wanted to explain the agreement personally to congressional leaders first.

Hiss said he turned his notes over to the State Department when he left the service, "in the hope that they would be useful to my associates."

Whitehall Man Fined For Drunken Driving

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—Arthur Anderson, Whitehall, entered a plea of guilty to drunken driving when he appeared before Justice P. M. Paulson Monday.

He was fined $100 and $6.95 costs or 60 days in jail. Anderson was arrested Friday in the Town of Hale by Trempealeau County Traffic Officer Maurice Scow.

They'll Do It Every Time

'Oriental' Finds Buying a Home Real Problem

SAN LEANDRO, Calif. (AP)—An American war veteran of Japanese ancestry said today he has been trying unsuccessfully for three months to buy a home near his dentist office in San Leandro, a booming suburb of Oakland.

"It really hurts when they push you around," said Dr. Satoru Larry Aikawa, 31, a dentist, born in Stockton, Calif. "They call you up when it is time to serve your country in the armed forces." Dr. Aikawa protested after his attempt to buy a $15,750 home fell through because of neighborhood complaints.

Earl H. Lacount said he was ready to sell his home when an anonymous phone call from a woman warned:

"If you sell to Orientals you will not live to sign the deed."

Lacount said he then talked to his neighbors, found they were opposed, and called off the deal.

Dr. Aikawa said his family—wife and three sons—outgrew the war housing project in which they live.

Churchill Displeased With Yalta Confab Site

WASHINGTON (AP)—British Prime Minister Churchill took an extremely dim view of the location of the 1945 Yalta conference.

The official record quotes Churchill as saying: "If we had spent 10 years on research we could not have found a worse place in the world than Yalta."

It is good for typhus and deadly lice which thrive in those parts."

However, Churchill's fears proved unfounded.

In President Roosevelt's log of his trip to Yalta, aides recorded that "medical officers of the USS Catocin have accomplished a very effective job of de-bugging at Yalta."

Stewart Finds Asiatic Fans Enthusiastic

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"It was a real eye-opening experience. I had almost forgotten movie fans like that existed."

This was James Stewart talking of his recent journey to Japan, Hong Kong and Manila. When I saw him at his Beverly Hills home, he spoke with amazement of the Asiatic film fans. They were as rabid as the movie addicts were in this country before TV set in.

"It was a shot in the arm for me," said Jimmy. "It made me realize all over again the power of the film industry. I want to make more trips to other parts of the world now. I think other movie figures should do the same and renew their enthusiasm for the film business."

Paramount sent Stewart to Tokyo to open "Rear Window" and publicize "Strategic Air Command." He also helped premiere the film in Hong Kong, then dropped down for appearances in the Philippines. At each stop he and his wife Gloria found the crowds large and demonstrative.

"The Japanese are wildly enthusiastic," Jimmy observed, "yet they're very polite. They're crazy about American pictures, especially the ones with action."

It's no accident that Stewart is a top favorite with the Japanese. He selects his pictures carefully, concentrating on subjects that take best advantage of the movie medium. As he defines them: "Stories that move and get somewhere; not films where the characters sit around in a room and discuss their problems. Nobody wants to go to the movies to listen to problems."

Because the Stewart vehicles contain more action than dialogue, they are readily adaptable to the foreign market. Especially in Japan, where the language does not permit dubbing of the voices. Subtitles must be used.

Jimmy goes back to work this week, making a TV film for G.E. Theater. It's his first for TV, and he said that he might do more.

Advice on Health

Abdomen Pain One Sign of Diverticulosis

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

About one out of every ten persons over 45 have diverticulosis. This condition is not too serious unless it develops into diverticulitis. And, if you have diverticulitis, you will know it.

The mere presence of diverticula causes no symptoms. The diverticula are little pouches which form in the wall of your bowel, particularly in the large intestine. They form much like the little pouches which occur in an automobile tire inner tube when weak spots develop.

If the openings of these diverticula into the intestine become blocked, they may become inflamed. This is diverticulitis.

Constant Pain

When this condition develops, there is constant pain, usually in the left lower part of the abdomen. The abdomen may also swell. There may also be nausea and vomiting, with excessive amounts of gas in the bowel. Constipation may be present and diarrhea is sometimes a symptom, but not very often.

If you should have these symptoms, of course, notify your physician. Then go to bed and stay there. Use hot water bottle or an electric heating pad to apply heat to the lower part of your abdomen.

Your diet should consist chiefly of low-residue foods. Don't eat raw fruits and vegetables, and stay away from highly seasoned foods and condiments such as mustard, catsup, horseradish and vinegar.

Your doctor might suggest use of drugs such as atropine. Antibiotic and sulfa drugs might also be used, to help control the infection and keep it from progressing.

Perhaps your physician will advise injecting a few ounces of warm liquid paraffin into the rectum, which should be retained overnight.

If you have the condition for a long time, don't use laxatives.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

Will you please tell me the best remedy for pinworms?

Answer: Treatment of pinworms consists in removing the worms by frequent washings of the infected region. The use of various drugs given by mouth is also beneficial. The person infected with pinworms should have his fingernails cut short, wear underpants at night, and wash his hands before eating and after going to the toilet.

VOICE of the OUTDOORS

Spring Shadows

Silent skeleton trees along a creek filled with the waters of thawing snow, reflecting their pale, like shadows in the stillness of the water, are a part of spring just as much as the song of the bluebird, the arrival of the first marten or the courtship of the horned lark.

This period of spring, just before Nature breaks forth with new strength, nearly everywhere is caught in the picture above taken along one of the little tributaries of the Root River in Houston County. There appears to be nothing alive in view. Stillness as far as the eye can see—a dead world of decay—a graveyard of a wood.

Yet within these silent tree trunks the sap of life is rising, the little buds are the end of the limbs—the fingertips of the trees are getting a new blush of color. If one was to stand stock still here or sit silently, without moving for a few minutes on that fallen log just across the creek, he would note a surprising array of activities—the song of birds would rise, a squirrel appear, a muskrat swim across from the bank, and the caw of a crow come clear from downstream. The woods are fascinating in spring.

Being a Camel Can Be Lonely In the Spring

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Spurned by the yak, disdained by the buffalo, Cecil finds being a camel is a lonely business at Crandon Park Zoo.

He's letting zoo officials know he wants camel companionship by kicking up his heels, leering at the yak and buffalo in adjoining pens and blowing through his rubbery lips at Carol, a nine-foot giraffe nearby.

In short, it's spring and he's acting like a young camel in love. Park Director A. D. Barnes noticed all this and finally went to the County Commission about it. The commissioners told him that if the park had enough money, go ahead and buy Cecil a mate.

But the park officials don't know how much young female camels cost and they aren't sure they have enough money. They're checking up on it.

Meanwhile, Cecil continues his antics. He's the only camel at the zoo and he's been here two years. He will be 6 next month and for him, there could be no better birthday present than a camel.

Legion at Rushford To Hear Auxiliary Head

house slough, or any other of the thousand little nooks known to the northward moving waves of waterfowl. They are a welcome sight, against the dirty grayness of decaying ice. The white gulls look very white against this background.

This drift northward, observers like Bill Green, biologist of the Wildlife Service, will tell you, has been going on for weeks. It can be charted on a great river like the Mississippi from the reports of fieldmen and rangers that come to his desk. The upward trend in number and species tell the tale—the number is ever increasing in its northward push.

These waves of birds find food and cover in the increasing open water areas—new sloughs open every night—new bird population appears—the birds rest on the lower end of the gray, rotting ice of Lake Pepin—the last river barrier to an open channel into the north.

Wilson Bows Out

Chester S. Wilson, retired Minnesota Commissioner of Conservation, passed up part of a farewell party at the office the last day of his rule, March 15, to appear before a Minnesota legislative committee on behalf of a bill that would expand the state's aid to soil conservation.

"This," he told the committee, "is the most important bill pending before this session of the Legislature because the future welfare and prosperity of the state depends on what happens to soil and water, our basic resource."

The measures for which he was speaking would enable Minnesota soil conservation to receive federal aid for small watershed projects, and appropriate $175,000 annually for employment of personnel to help in spreading soil conservation practices on farms of the state.

In other words, Wilson fought to the last for the basic things of conservation. He has gone a long way in constructive conservation thinking during the years he served Minnesota as its conservation commissioner. Too bad he did not realize this situation 20 years ago—when soil conservation work was being pioneered by men like Carlos G. Bates and others—and Minnesota lagged far behind in its grasping of the thought. It took a depression to make the Minnesota Conservation Department realize that soil and water are basic.

"I have a hunch that any additional taxes will be passed on to me. Taxes already make up half of what the retailer pays per barrel. Frankly, I'm not in favor of increasing taxes on beer — the common man's drink. It doesn't make sense to me."

Why pick on beer to raise $2,000,000 additional taxes? Nearly half the cost of a barrel of beer delivered to the retailer now, is taxes. The Federal tax is $9 per barrel. The State tax is $1.10 on 3.2 beer and $2.20 on strong beer. The proposed tax would be a 40% increase in State taxes.

This tax on beer is against the best interests of the thousands of Minnesota farmers who received over $27,000,000 for malting barley last year. It's against the best interests of the thousands employed in the industry and it's also against the best interests of the consumer, who must pay this discriminatory sales tax.

Main Yalta Points Known for Years

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—What happens now that the Yalta papers have finally been made public? More talk. That's all. There's not much new in them. The main points in the Yalta agreements have been known for years.

Politicians, Democrats and Republicans, will argue about Yalta, as they have for a decade. The papers may have an influence on the 1956 elections. But that's doubtful simply because the main points have been long known and discussed.

Russia broke agreements made at Yalta among President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin. That was 10 years ago. The United States can't undo the damage done by Russia except by going to war. For example:

Russia agreed to let the East Europeans have free governments but then enslaved them; it agreed to deal with Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist Chinese but let the Red Chinese have captured Japanese weapons to conquer Chiang.

Without fighting Russia, the United States can't liberate Eastern Europe. Without fighting Red China, it can't restore Chiang. Since the United States has no intention of doing either, there's nothing left but talk.

The Eisenhower administration could try to repudiate the Yalta agreements. But there are two good reasons to think twice before doing it:

Such a repudiation, since it couldn't mend the broken agreements, would be a gesture only; and if Roosevelt's agreements were repudiated now, how could any nation ever expect any agreement by a future president to stand?

President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles probably had both thoughts in mind when they took office in 1953. They didn't recommend repudiation. They simply asked Congress to condemn Russia for bad faith.

The Republican-run Congress then did nothing. Even if Eisenhower now asked for repudiation, the present Congress, run by Democrats, would certainly turn him down. To do otherwise would be to repudiate a Democratic president, Roosevelt.

3 Main Agreements
There were three main agreements at the wartime Yalta conference: (1) Cooperation among the Big Three in crushing Germany; (2) cooperation in creating free governments in Eastern Europe; and (3) Russia's promise, after getting concessions in Asia, to get into the war against Japan. Roosevelt had the advice of his military leaders in wanting Russia to help end the Japanese war fast.

Russia did get in, only five days before Japan quit. Ever since, Republicans have criticized Roosevelt for acting, as their 1952 platform said, "without the knowledge

Nationalist Chinese Show Little Interest In Yalta Records

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Nationalist Chinese officials, bitterly familiar with the effects of the Yalta conference which gave Soviet Russia special rights in Manchuria, evinced only scant interest today in the records published by the U.S. State Department.

President Chiang Kai-shek, in southern Formosa, was not expected to comment.

The matter was not even mentioned at a routine Cabinet meeting, according to a minister who attended.

Foreign Minister George Yeh issued this statement: "China was not represented at the Yalta conference. Nor was she consulted before or during the conference on any of the understandings reached between the participating powers."

"The publication today of these secret documents will enable the free peoples of the world better to assess the far-reaching consequences of the agreements in the light of the events that have since taken place."

36 Candles on Legion Birthday Cake

The men who formed the American Legion at a Paris caucus in 1919 couldn't have known that a generation later their sons would be called to uniform in an even greater war.

That group, sparked by the late Theodore Roosevelt Jr., had several aims. It hoped to protect veterans' interests and rights, to preserve the friendships and memories of days in uniform, and to take a responsible part in civic affairs.

It was to be social and fraternal (there's no "rank" in the Legion). A cardinal point in its service program is that no veterans' child shall suffer want or opportunity.

Veterans and issues — and wars — have come and gone since the Legion's first convention in Minneapolis in 1921. There were the depression years, when our military forces were down to a handful of regulars, and preparedness talk was boomed down. And there was World War II, with more than 12,000,000 U.S. men and women in uniform, and the cold war that still goes on.

Through it all, the American Legion and its fellow veteran organizations have done a needed job for their members. But they have done more: In promoting Americanism, working with youth in activities like the junior baseball program, honoring new citizens and in backing civic projects.

Legionnaires and their friends held a 36th birthday party Tuesday night at the Legion Memorial Club. There were jokes and reminiscing, and a few speeches.

But Leon J. Wetzel Post No. 9 of Winona did something more. It took the occasion to honor five of its most devoted members by presenting them with honorary life memberships. They are J. M. "Pete" Henry, Howard W. Clark, John W. "Jack" Dugan, R. Burr Mann and Ray C. Steele. A year ago a similar award—the first ever granted—went to Joseph C. Bambenek.

The Daily News congratulates the American Legion on its achievements and these men on the recognition thus accorded.

This Machine Makes Life More Bearable

Perhaps by its very nature the machine has caused the disappearance of certain amenities and as an instrument of force it has brought to the surface in human beings a latent savagery that was never buried very deep. But in innumerable small ways as well as large, it has made life more bearable. Such is the claim to distinction of a device recently employed by after dinner speakers in London.

The device is simplicity itself. It is a miniature traffic light set on the table before the speaker. It flashes green when he starts to speak, switches to amber as a sign that it is time to think of concluding, and turns to red if the speech has gone on too long.

The device is as yet unperfected. As used in England one of the speakers operated the signal and, human nature being what it is, allowed himself the longest green light. To avoid such pitfalls a disinterested person should work the device — preferably one of the guests. Better still would be to have it operated mechanically. A mechanical timer might prove a disservice to listeners on some rare occasions — but seldom in the case of after dinner speakers.

Not all speakers would be influenced by such a device. Some would ignore the signal and roll on unimpressed. But in the majority of cases it would be a boon to speaker and audience alike — particularly to the latter. It might even make banquet food more digestible.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

March (it's been changed to April) observes an editor of the Old Farmers Almanac, is the month when many a taxpayer is ruined by untold wealth.

Two Scotchmen were walking down a lane near Aberdeen (where else?) when one stopped and said, "Jock, there's something jingling in your pocket. Don't tell me it's money." "I couldn't tell you that," admitted Jock, "because it wouldn't be true. The jiggling is the wife's teeth. There's too much eatin' goin' on in my house 'tween meals."

"One day a lion caught me unawares without my gun," admitted an intrepid explorer, "But I just sat stock still and outstared him. The beast didn't so much as touch me." "Incredible!" marvelled his dinner partner. "How do you explain that?"

"One reason," mused the explorer, "may have been that I was sitting on the highest branch of a very tall tree."

My old Uncle Herbert from Vermont, visiting New York, was appalled by the heavy traffic choking every thoroughfare. "You

These Days

Americans Need To Know Russia

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

NEW YORK — It is a very important part of my duty to read publications which come from Soviet Russia. I also read the Daily Worker and other Communist journals published in the United States. Because it has been possible to have access to what the other side thinks and does, I have been enabled to evaluate their activities and to write about them for my readers.

Now along comes the Post Office with a decision to enforce ignorance by excluding such publications from the mails. This decision takes from those who are opposing Communism in this country the most valuable tools available to them. Let me cite an example. On January 30, in a broadcast, I said:

"SOVIET RUSSIA HAS been going through a period of internal political difficulties since the death of Stalin because the collective leadership principle has not altogether been a success. It will be recalled that after Stalin died, a triumvirate was set up consisting of Malenkov, Beria and Molotov. Beria was killed, after he had attempted to pull a coup d'etat of some kind. Then Khrushchev emerged as the head of the Communist Party."

"So, at this moment, the democratic centralism system of Soviet Russia is managed by Malenkov and Khrushchev, Malenkov being the head of the government, Khrushchev the head of the party. It appears that Khrushchev is the more powerful of the two and is gradually emerging as a successor to Stalin."

Khrushchev publicly took control of Russia on February 8, a week after I made this evaluation. The literature of the subject made it clear during the previous November and December that Malenkov no longer mattered and that Khrushchev had become the boss. It was also clear from the literature that what we got into the habit of calling "peaceful coexistence" had been abandoned as an effective slogan and that Khrushchev was adopting a policy of making Soviet Russia more formidable as a military power.

BY READING MATERIAL that comes out of China, last September, I wrote about the deep concern in that country over the rising birth rate, the population rising to about 600,000,000. China has never taken a scientific census but by a rule-of-thumb method they have a fairly good approximation of their population. Many suggestions have been made for reducing that population, one being the transfer of Chinese labor for the development of the Karakum Desert near the Caspian Sea. I do not know what has happened to that scheme which was so important to Stalin that Vishinsky made a speech on how atomic power was being used to blast mountains, etc.

It takes endless reading to keep up with all the forces and movements in this changing world and the best reading is original material published for home consumption. In my time as a foreign correspondent, I have seen the fast moving, adjectival star reporter rush into China or Japan, read the local foreign press, meet diplomats, and having written to meet a deadline, rush to the next country. Sometimes this works out because it brings a fresh mind to a problem, puts it in perspective, and catches the trend rather than the detail.

BUT FOR FUNDAMENTAL knowledge of a country, it is necessary to know its history, sociology and economics, to know something of its language and literature, and to read constantly what its people read. Experts on Russia, such as Professor Philip Mosely of Columbia University or George Kennan, formerly of the State Department, may not evaluate events as you or I might, but their knowledge is invaluable and must be available even for those who have another view. If all those who study these problems, whether they are attached to universities or newspapers or to nothing, are to be cut off from knowledge, our country will suffer the consequences of lack of knowledge.

It is stupid to believe that it is possible to fight Communism by increasing ignorance concerning Communism. It is fatuous to assume that the American people can gain a correct view on Russia if they are excluded from knowledge of Russia. If the Post Office wishes to serve the cause of anti-Communism, it ought not to exclude anything from the mails. And I am sure that all experts on the subject will agree that the Post Office's function is to deliver the mails efficiently and to leave policing to the FBI which is experienced in this field.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Ike, Congressmen Discuss 'Country Living,' Cattle

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—"Country living" at Gettysburg and elsewhere dominated the conversation when farmer Ike Eisenhower lunched with farmer-congressman Lester Johnson of Wisconsin and other freshman congressmen the other day.

Johnson wondered if Ike's farm near Gettysburg, Pa., was making money, explaining that he himself had tried to operate a farm while living in the city, but the arrangement was "not too profitable," and he finally sold out to his tenant.

Eisenhower replied that he would be satisfied with a small profit from his Gettysburg acres after leaving the White House, "because I like living in the country and don't plan to work too hard at farming."

"My farm is mostly pastureland for grazing beef cattle," he said. "That part of Pennsylvania has been farmed so hard in the past that there has been a lot of erosion. As a result, I don't think it would be worthwhile for me to try to raise any crops on a big scale."

His limited farming experience, explained the President, had sharpened his interest in soil conservation. After reading a book on the subject, he said, he was all the more convinced that the basic solution was controlling water at the source instead of building big dams in flooded areas.

"Getting back to my cattle," remarked the President, "I do not have a big herd, but they are all Black Angus."

"You should have settled on White-faced Herefords," suggested GOP Cong. E. Keith Thomson of Wyoming.

"I almost did," disclosed the President. "Hereford breeders offered to donate me a herd picked from different states, but I finally turned down the offer. I decided on Black Angus because they don't require as much care as dairy cattle. Then, too, practically all my neighbors in Pennsylvania have Black Angus, and it is a lot easier for me to exchange sires with them."

Ike's Birthday Present

The President got a chuckle out of a story told by Johnson, an outspoken foe of Sen. McCarthy.

"I was elected on Oct. 13, 1953," recalled the Democratic congressman from Wisconsin. "The day was your birthday and my Republican opponent played this up. He put ads in the newspapers urging the voters to send him to Washington as a 'birthday present for Ike.' When the votes were counted, however, you got a Democratic birthday present—me."

Ike grinned but was noncommittal when two of his Democratic guests, freshman Congressmen James Quigley of Pennsylvania and Herbert Zelenko of New York, both insisted that he was their "constituent."

"It stands to reason that I am your congressman, Mr. President," contended Quigley. "Your farm is in my district."

"Wait a minute," spoke up Zelenko, onetime champion wrestler at Columbia. "Columbia University is in my district, and that's the precinct where you voted the last time. Until you change your voting address, you are still my constituent."

Eisenhower laughed louder than anybody when Zelenko added as an afterthought:

"You know, this is one of the few times I have been invited to lunch by a constituent when he didn't ask me for a favor."

Less McCarthyism

A closed-door session of the joint committee on atomic energy revealed that the latest Eisenhower appointee to the Atomic Energy Commission appeared to have the same kind of background as Dr. Robert Oppenheimer. However,

Irishman King on St. Pat's

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Every Irishman feels like a king on St. Patrick's Day.

And if he acts like a king today—well, he is entitled to. He is descended from kings. Every Irishman is.

This causes the Irish more trouble than almost anything. They know they come from kings. But when they point this out, not boastfully mind you but as a matter of historical truth, what happens? If the scene is a bar, some surly taproom seer is sure to express doubt or jeer, "So who cares?"

Now is this a way to talk to royalty? The poor Irishman, reduced to verbal frustration by this slight on his ancestry, has been known to resort to hostile eloquence: Bam! Bam! Bam! Bam! Bam!

Naturally no one is going to argue with an Irishman on St. Patrick's Day even if he claims he's Emperor of Timbuktu and he may, if he feels like it. For there are some 25 million Americans of Irish descent, and on this day most of them feel like they're playing fullback for Notre Dame.

Personally, you don't have to take my word for it that I'm descended from a king. I can prove it. I've got a green card that says so.

Yes, we all can prove the pure green of Erin's mystic kings flows in our veins, thanks to research work by an Irish sportsman, the Hon. Francis De Moleyns.

(Editor's note: This guy's an Irishman!)

Boyle's note: Yep. His folks used to spell it Mullins. But once, while they were in the Irish Sea, they got lost in a fog that blew over from London. By mistake they landed in France. When the fog finally lifted again, some 400 years ago, they sailed right back to County Kerry. Naturally during their long stay in France they had forgotten how to spell, and they've been De Moleyns ever since.

Anyway, perhaps because of the disaster to his own name, De Moleyns became interested in Irish history. He backtracked some 1,600 well-known Irish names.

For the American Irish, De Moleyns has opened a shop off Park Avenue where for from $5 to $12.50 you can buy a necktie or scarf emblazoned with their family crest and get a green card that bears some of the more printable facts about their heredity.

Well, sir, I forked out my fiver for the tie and card. And guess who am I? It seems there was once upon a time an Irishman called Niall Mor, who as practical everybody knows was the 12th monarch of Ireland, and ancestor of Chief O'Boaghill.

This is Gaelic for O'Boaghill, which I gather means we sprang from a high place in a swamp. The English, who came to Ireland for a brief visit and stayed on for several centuries, lured my innocent ancestors into changing the name from O'Boaghill to Boghill, then Boyleigh and then Boyle.

Both Stettinius and Byrnes wrote books about what they heard and saw at Yalta.

Honesty Never Need Hide Behind Closed Doors

To the Editor: The little "filler" found under the editorial on the teacher salary subject seemed like a coincidence but proved amusing to me. It speaks of the even-tempered parent being who doesn't need to send his child from the room when he hits his thumb. In like manner would a news reporter be excluded from a meeting he necessary if those at the meeting weren't ashamed of what transpired there? Should those who do so much to shape the future generations' thinking conspire against those who pay their salaries in private? Honesty and integrity never need hide behind closed doors.

Why must teachers be hired on a standard scale regardless of ability or quality of teaching? Perhaps they should be rated each period by the students as they rate the students on the "back" of the report card as cooperation, courtesy, dependability, etc. I know that some deliberately antagonize some members of their class because of personal dislike.

If a student once breaks a rule, forever after everything that happens is blamed on him, guilty or not. Children are very discerning and spot a phony faster than any adult. Does a man rate a raise just because he has had a job a certain number of years? Some improve in their work and deserve advancement, some turn out to be some quality of work the tenth year as they did their first, and no employer would consider paying him more.

Winona teachers rate themselves with the wage scales of other towns but do they think about the fact that all wages in Winona are below those in those other towns or that they require their teachers to take a refresher course every four of five years, regardless of the number of years they have taught?

The Winona Daily News does a fine job of reporting in all fields and I'm sure the public appreciates it. Whether it coincides with their own thinking or not. Only those with a guilty conscience would accuse them of being unfair.

As a closing statement I would quote the wisdom of the Scriptures for the chest thumpers: "He who exalteth himself shall be abased."

Citizen of Winona.

Men and Women of Winona Courteous

To the Editor: I wish to pay a well deserved tribute to the men of Winona and also many of its ladies. During the past winter there has been the next step some would always step up and help me.

Whether in the garb of workman or bank president, all were always courteous and helpful. From experience I can say that is not always the case in some large cities.

Mrs. Harriet H. Dunton.

Bickering Over Salaries Will Leave Lasting Impression

To the Editor: This continuous bickering concerning our school teacher's salaries certainly doesn't set a good example for the students of our schools. In fact it will leave a lasting impression that will make them as disagreeable as the whose chief interest is not the welfare of the students but rather their selfish desire for more and more money!

In one sense of the way, I'm delighted that I attended schools where the principles of the divine Master were practiced and the instructions remembered. His words when He said: "Suffer the little children to come unto Me, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven."

Trouble Not With Roads But With the Drivers

To the Editor: Last Sunday I heard on KWNO that the listener should send a telegram to Gov. Freeman that he start immediately to rebuild Highway 61 between Winona and La Crescent because it is one of the most treacherous routes in the entire state, that in the last four years 11 persons lost their lives in this 25-mile stretch of highway. I wrote the governor right away when I heard KWNO to not let anybody fool him. That it is not the highway. That it is the drivers. No state can build highways, no matter how deep it goes into the matter, to stop careless and reckless drivers from having had accidents. The thing the states must do to lower the number of killings is start with the car manufacturers. Prevail on them to stop building cars for style and speed only. Insist they build cars for safety and comfort only.

The way 1955 cars are, no driver knows definitely just where the wheels are on the surface of the road. How can anyone drive safely when such is the case? I have 1957 model. I am 5 feet 4 1/2 inches tall. I have to stoop, and at the same time craven to get in the driver's seat under the steering wheel, and then I cannot see over the wheel. I cannot see surface of road within 25 feet when I drive looking forward for traffic, just guess where the edge of the road is.

I am sure no driver knows where wheels are in relation to the spot driving. All cars have that fault, even those built eight or ten years ago, but especially the 1953, 1954, 1955 cars. I feel this way about it all. It is trusting to good luck everytime one goes on the highway to get back home alive, and it does not make a bit of difference if it is a crooked or streamlined highway.

There never was such trouble with the Model T and Model A Fords. Too much speed and style caused over 90 per cent of all killings. To me it is just as simple as that. Yours for cars built for safety and comfort and not for style and speed only.

Joseph H. Ley, Plainview, Minn.

Proposed World Calendar Would Cause Confusion

To the Editor: You are undoubtedly familiar with articles that are appearing in various publications, and the general campaign that has been launched by supporters of calendar reform in an effort to secure the adoption of their proposed World Calendar.

We believe its adoption will bring confusion and religious and economic embarrassment to an already troubled world. Perhaps you would like to comment on it editorially.

We have seen just at present what an effective influence an editorial can have in arousing public action in voicing general and individual opinions, about our need for improving the highway between here and La Crescent. Every wide-awake citizen will join in sending telegrams to the Governor, because you took the lead.

Now something of the same could be done in informing the public of this undesirable move that is under way. They claim there is not enough opposition voiced, but how can people oppose a thing they know nothing about or only the one side.

You may also wish to write or send a telegram to John Foster Dulles, protesting the adoption of the proposed World Calendar.

Mrs. Elise Wolters.

Wants Lamollice Sector To Be Built First

To the Editor: Wake up Winona, you have accepted the wrong answer. Why resist because Gov. Freeman has promised to start grading on the new highway? Why start at Minnesota City when all the night letters ask that something be done on the death stretch on the Lamollice road?

The Minnesota City road is a safe part of the highway. Then, too, we have only a promise to grade as far as the money permits. And the deathtrap will be taken care of in 1956 or 1957, two years from now.

What is going to happen there during that time? Just what has happened in the last week or the last few years.

Why not ask the Governor to revise his promise—and start at the entrance to Minnesota near La Crescent—also in the meantime see that the lower speed limit be enforced.

Let's ask Sen. Keller to see that the starting point be changed.

Place over high heat and stir until mixture comes to a hard boil. At once stir in 3/4 cups sugar (1 1/2 lbs.). Bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and skim off foam with metal spoon. Add 1/2 to 1 1/2 teaspoons spearmint extract and sufficient green coloring to give desired shade.

Whitehall Girl Scouts to Open Cookie Sale

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—Whitehall Girl Scouts with other Girl Scouts in the St. Croix Valley area, will begin their second annual cookie sale Saturday. The sale will continue on a door-to-door basis through April 2. No advance orders have been taken. The cookies will be sold by the girls when they call.

Of the money received, five cents is retained from the sale of each box. This amount will be placed in the troop treasury to be used for troop projects or to assist in the expenses of girls who go to Camp Nawakwa next summer.

This five cents per box represents less than 30 per cent of the profit the Girl Scouts make on the cookies. The major portion of the profit goes to the St. Croix Valley Area Council to be used in the development of increased facilities and equipment of Camp Nawakwa. Whitehall Girl Scouts will be at their Camp Nawakwa near Cornell July 17 to 23.

Girl Scouts all over the United States celebrated the 43rd birthday of girl scouting in this country last week. The local scouts attended church in uniform March 6. ## Keep in Trim

Reducing Success Leads to New Interest in Life

By IDA JEAN KAIN

The newly found feeling of self-confidence expressed in letters from successful dieters is most rewarding. A heartwarming example is the courageous Obiano who proudly writes that she has succeeded in getting down to exactly half her original weight!

"I must write and let you know how proud I feel of myself. Ever since I was a child, overweight has been a big problem. At nine years of age, I weighed over 100 pounds and kept right on gaining. At 35, I weighed 252 pounds . . . and I cannot describe to you how defeated I felt, or how embarrassed I was when I tried on clothes, trying to find something — anything — to fit me.

"Finally I made up my mind I was going to do something about it — and I did. I am now 40 and what a wonderful difference. I weigh 128 pounds with these measurements: Bust 34, waist 27, hips 37. What a pleasure to go into a store and be able to slip into size 16 and the greatest of ease. I feel fine and free. Without that burden of fat, I truly, no words can express the difference. I wouldn't go back to 252 pounds again now!

"I use your protective pattern of eating to keep my weight normal. Enclosed is a self-addressed envelope. Please send me the 'Take Your Choice Diet,' the leaflet on Slimming Clubs, and another Calorie Chart. Mine is worn to tatters.

"Thank you for helping us heavyweights. I know now that all overweight can lose — if they honestly want to and make up their minds. I'm really proud now — and they can be too."

We all salute you! What you have achieved requires courage of a high order. For you the second 40 years will be far happier and infinitely healthier.

All interested overweighters, tune inner decision to reduce and banish the burden of fat and you can change your life. Firmly make up your mind that this is the last spring you will be overweight. Set your goal. On the scientific plan of eating, you can lose 25 excess pounds by this summer. And, if need be, another 25 pounds before the leaves come tumbling down next fall. But don't go on some silly diet and try to half starve. You can't stay with that kind of diet. Check with your doctor. On the protective pattern of eating you can lose weight healthfully and look and feel the way you did all those excess pounds ago.

Send long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for "Take Your Choice Diet, Scientific Wonder Diet and Ideal Weight Chart for Women." Address request to Ida Jean Kain, care of The Winona Daily News. Post card requests cannot be answered.

S.D. Hutterites Having Trouble With Legislature

By HAROLD S. MILNER
AT GLENDALE COLONY, FRANKFORD, S.D. (AP)—The Acts: "And all that believed were together and had all things in common."

The simple, homespun Hutterian brethren take the Bible literally. And, as a result they live a peace-loving, communal life. They shun most pleasures of the world around them.

The first of the 14 incorporated communal colonies in South Dakota, Tabor and Alexandria, were established in 1935. The year of greatest expansion was 1950, when four additional colonies were founded.

The Hutterites recently acquired 6,000 acres in the Doland area of Spink and Clark counties for two more colonies.

There are no radios, no movies. No pictures or mirrors adorn their walls.

It's not because of their different way of living but a new law that has brought the Hutterites into the news again.

Timothy: "Yea, and all that will live Godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution."

The 1953 South Dakota Legislature sought to prevent the Hutterite colonies from expanding by repealing the law which would permit new communal corporations to form.

Disguised Persecution
This, in the eyes of the Hutterite ministers, is a form of disguised persecution, a method of molesting and banning; a method of suppressing a Christian religion.

Persecution is not new to the Hutterites. Jacob Hutter, after whom the people are named, was burned at the stake in 1538, eight years after the Anabaptist sect was formed.

The sect's own books tell of the attacks on "a peaceful, non-resistant group of Christian people, who have for 400 years been harassed, hounded, reviled, persecuted and driven from one land to another as prophesied by Christ."

Many persons consider the Hutterites as Mennonites because of their nonviolent, deeply religious beliefs.

The Hutterites differ from the Mennonites mainly in their communal life and they are more conservative.

According to the writings of Peter Hofer, the present elder who lives in Starbuck, Manitoba, Canada:

"Both are children of the Reformation, born in the same cradle in Switzerland. Both were persecuted severely for centuries and driven relentlessly from country to country."

Ban on Television
To Hutterites worldly amusements of most kinds are taboo. On the banned list are the dance, theater, card party, carousels, pool room, smoking, circus, moving picture show. Also banned are television, radios in the home, bathing resorts.

1 Corinthians: "Whether therefore you eat or drink or whatsoever you do, do all to the glory of God."

That, too, is taken literally by the Hutterites.

Their wedding rites are an occasion. They invite neighbors to consume beer, wine and liquor to toast the newlyweds.

The ministers will tell you that drinking and eating is not wrong if done in moderation.

The Rev. John Waldner, Glendale Colony in Spink County, was asked if he thought the South Dakota legislation was persecution.

"What else could it be?" he asked. "I can't make out why people are trying to do it. If they (the Legislature) knew their Scriptures better, it wouldn't be possible. All religious people have tribulations."

The Hutterite leaders are more awed than anything else by the actions of the Legislature.

"Every evening when we pray, we pray for the government," the Rev. Jacob Wollmann of Huron Hutterite Mutual Society said.

Fat Cats Attract Rats, Says Official

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—An official of the City Sanitation Department blames cats for the presence of rats around the Dexter Asylum, the city's home for the homeless poor.

Dr. Edwin Knights said some asylum patients have pet cats. They feed them too well and the cats leave bits of food around, attracting rats.

The fat cats, he said, are generally fast asleep when you would expect them to be chasing the rats.

Nagging Backache Sleepless Nights

Often Due to Kidney Slow-down
When kidney function slows down, many folks complain of nagging backache, headache, dizziness and loss of pep and energy. Don't suffer restless nights with these discomforts if reduced kidney function is getting you down—due to such common causes as stress and strain, over-exercising or exposure to cold. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or worry may cause getting up too often or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the kidneys, rid the body of waste and flush out toxins. ## FAIRLY SPOKEN

By MARGARET LATROBE

The surveys come, the public opinion samplers go—but here is a lament from a fellow who never gets questioned. No one ever asks his opinion for any poll.

Gallup missed him when the Presidential race looked comfortably close between Dewey and Truman. He was slighted under Roosevelt's reign, when polls were whisking in the dark. He didn't even get a chance to say "boo" when the old Literary Digest was counting yea's and nay's.

Kinsey ignored him when compiling engrossing data about—what was it? Even the United States Census takers rang the doorbell when he was in Des Moines on business, leaving him and his dear ones uncouneted in 1950. And his income is so paltry the Internal Revenue investigators have never bothered to challenge a single tax return.

(And why doesn't some smart publisher print some of the off-record replies these pollsters get, or build a new comedy show around them?)

Anyway, so turn the wheels of progress. "Rating services" can immediately tell whether Berle has reached the boiling point, whether Gleason's diet is any good or if the nation's others don't think Lucy is pretty casual about baby sitters for little Ricky. Sounds silly? It's big business.

But our neglected friend is happier, now that he heard of the census being taken on smoking habits of the nation. He figures they will knock at his door this time. He wasn't much of a smoker until word of this survey reached his waiting ear, but by diligent effort has increased his snipe-counting to three packs a day with an after-dinner pipe and a couple of cigars reserved for the "No Smoking" car.

When approached, he wants to provide statistics worth having, that's all.

Bill Seeks End To Quota System On Auto Dealers

ST. PAUL (AP)—Quota systems under which automobile manufacturers or distributors require their dealers to dispose of a certain number of cars would be outlawed under a bill introduced in the Minnesota Legislature today.

Sponsors of the bill are Reps. John Metcalf, Shakopee, B. G. Novak, St. Paul, and Harry Waldstrand, Willmar.

The proposal would make it unlawful for any manufacturer or distributor to "coerce or attempt to induce" any retail dealer to accept any cars or parts or accessories not ordered by him.

Also outlawed would be any attempt to require any dealer to do anything by threatening to cancel his franchise, to prevent his choosing the method by which vehicles or accessories should be transported, and charges against any dealer for advertising without his prior consent.

Baby Abandoned in Milwaukee Store

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A tiny baby girl, probably less than a week old, was found in apparent good health Wednesday abandoned in a downtown department store.

Two teen-age boys found the infant in a shopping bag on a stairway landing. The child was dressed neatly and wrapped in a blanket. A dish cloth was tucked under the chin as a bib and a partly filled baby's milk bottle also was in the shopping bag.

A store nurse described the baby as between 4 and 7 days old and "perfectly formed."

Doctors at County Emergency Hospital pronounced the baby in good health.

Legal Questions Up for Decision In Railroad Strike

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The Court of Appeals will serve as judge today in the legal tug-of-war arising from the four-day-old Louisville & Nashville Railroad strike.

The railroad's goal: Restoration of an order forcing train crews to cross picket lines erected by 25,000 strikers in 14 states. Arguments will be heard in Frankfort.

After suspending all passenger trains yesterday (about 50 were involved) the L. & N. sued two groups of unions for a total of $645,000 for alleged damages resulting from the walkout.

The Circuit Court petitions also ask $215,000 each day the 10 AFL nonoperating unions continue their strike.

The six operating unions, which have been respecting picket lines, were accused of breaking their contract with the railroad by not operating the trains.

No hearing was set on the damage suits but the unions have 20 days in which to reply. They declined comment last night.

Although the L. & N. estimated freight operations were "50 to 70 per cent of normal" along the 4,737-mile line, the lack of railroad cars has idled nearly 14,000 coal miners in Kentucky.

The shortage also was blamed for the closing of five central Kentucky plants and some in Nashville, Tenn. The Ralston Purina Co., largest rail shipper in Nashville, expected to halt operations today.

Officials in Montgomery, Ala., where cattle shipments are a major industry, said they were feeling the pinch.

The strike, which affects two subsidiaries of the L. & N.—the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis Railway and the Clinchfield Railroad—added other casualties to the list yesterday. They were the Atlanta & West Point and Georgia Railroads and the Atlanta Joint Terminals.

Train Trips Spurt As Rail Wrecks Cease

SINGAPORE (AP)—The demand for tickets on the night train from Singapore to Kuala Lumpur is so brisk that they must be picked up 48 hours before departure.

The Malayan Railways is getting back some of the business lost to airlines because of Communist terrorism. There was a time when it was common for terrorists to derail and wreck passenger trains.

A train wreck hasn't happened for a long time now, for the Reds have been driven deeper into the jungle. The railway administration has lost no time in bettering its service.

It has ordered six new diesel engines and turned out new air-conditioned sleeping and restaurant cars. All engines are painted in bright colors. At the central terminals of Singapore and the Malayan capital of Kuala Lumpur, there are brunettes "train hostesses" to give travel tips and to make a train journey generally more pleasant.

MVPS '54 Net Income Hits New Record

Mississippi Valley Public Service Co.'s net income in 1954 was the highest in the firm's history, according to the annual report sent to stockholders and employees.

The report of operations states: "Although we look forward to another good year in 1955, we do not expect the results to quite equal the 1954 record." Net income was $318,000.

In 1954 operating revenues were up 4.5 per cent over 1953's $2,170,000. Kilowatt hour sales were up 4.9 per cent to set a new 1-year high of 88,000,000 hours. The firm has about 12,500 customers in Minnesota and Wisconsin.

$435,000 Construction
For 1955, the directors have approved a $435,000 construction budget. This is to provide for enlarged distribution facilities throughout the system, increase capacity at the Winona terminal of the 69,000-volt transmission line from Wisconsin and a 12,500-volt residential distribution substation in the West End—the first in the city.

The increase in the capacity of the transmission line terminal substation is necessary to permit full use of the new purchase power agreement with the Northern States Power Co. The 12,500-volt substation will permit the distribution of power at a higher, more efficient voltage to customers in one area in the city.

New facilities and replacement of worn-out and inadequate equipment during 1954 cost the firm $295,000. The largest part of this was used to provide additional distribution lines and equipment to adequately meet the increasing load demanded by customers. About $88,000 of the total estimated cost of $110,000 was spent on a special underground circuit to transmit power from the Liberty street steam plant to the west part of the city. The installation will be completed this spring.

Perfect Safety Record
For the fifth consecutive year, MVPS employees established a perfect safety record. No employee has suffered a lost-time accident since 1949. During 1954, the firm received a National Safety Council award, the 15th since the contests were originated in 1930.

During 1954, a total of $50,000 was contributed to the employee's retirement plan by the company. The fund now has assets totaling $376,000.

A breakdown of the 1954 revenue dollar reveals that 42 cents of every dollar came from residential and farm users ($910,339); 29 cents from commercial consumers ($638,651); 23 cents from industrial ($498,098), and 6 cents ($123,810) from all others.

Paid out of each revenue dollar were: 28 cents in taxes ($685,000); 25 cents, wages and pensions ($548,240); 17 cents, coal and other expenses ($362,797); 11 cents, depreciation ($226,423); 6 cents, common dividends ($133,600); 5 cents each, interest and funds retained in business ($111,637 and $108,326), and 3 cents, preferred dividends ($75,000).

Coal Expenses Down
Coal expenses hit a 6-year low in 1954. Highest during the 6-year span was $465,208 in 1950. Last year, coal cost the firm $272,447. The average home consumed 2.77 kilowatt hours compared with 2.587 hours in 1953. In 1949, home consumption totaled only 1.951 kilowatt hours. Farm use increased 599 hours per user to a 6.446 average in 1955.

The firm's annual meeting will be held April 21 in Milwaukee, Wis.

Paper Describes Gangsters Who Terrorized Russ

By RICHARD KASISCHKE

MOSCOW (The newspaper Baku Worker, published in the famed oil city and capital of Azerbaijan, tells about the arrest and execution of a trio of gangsters who terrorized the countryside.

They mutilated one of their murder victims and dumped his body in a ravine. In another case they placed a body in an automobile and ran it over an embankment.

Some Russians might consider this destruction of an automobile almost the greater crime. The AP correspondent discussed this case with a Soviet citizen who has been on the waiting list to get even the smallest of four makes of automobiles manufactured in the Soviet Union—the little Moskvitch, which sells for 9,000 rubles ($2,250 by the official rate).

The Russian exploded: "Why shooting's too good for those guys! Here I patiently huff and puff a couple of years and can't get a car, and those guys run one off a cliff."

Senators and Ike Concerned Over Prices

By SAM DAWSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—Both ends of Pennsylvania avenue are concerned about the stock market. And their concern is pointing up the basic problem: What the stock market is good for, what its place is in a smooth-running economy—even whether the country wouldn't be just as well off without it.

At one end of the avenue, senators debate the difference between gambling, speculation and investment.

On that difference depends whether stock exchanges are just places to make a fast buck if you're in the know, or whether they do a real job by keeping oiled the machine from which comes jobs, industrial growth and the products whose sum spells out our standard of living.

At the other end of the avenue, President Eisenhower stresses that he is "not only concerned with a drop on the stock market" but with "any other unexplained drop" in prices in other segments of the economy.

This is so because he is "trying to promote an expanding economy" in which one essential is confidence.

And, earnestly, he tells a news conference—and later the nation by radio and TV—that the stock market is "one of the points of our economy" where confidence is a sensitive and essential thing.

All the talk about what the stock market really does—whether well or badly—comes out of the hearings of the Senate Banking Committee on the trend of stock prices and practices on the exchanges.

Sen. Capehart (R-Ind) refers to the risks stock traders take as gambling. The very sound of that word curls the toes of the officials of the stock exchange. The senator explains that in Indiana even planting a crop is called that.

Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) insists the risks are speculation and an entirely different thing—as do the stock exchange spokesmen.

Douglas defines gambling as taking on risks that don't exist previously—like dice, which are no risk until you shake them. He defines speculation, however, as a means of sharing risks that are already implicit in the situation.

Such risks every corporation assumes in its daily operations, and even in existing at all. Its shareholders share these risks among themselves in proportion to their holdings, hoping, of course, to make a profit. The function of the stock exchange, then, is to offer a market place where these risks can be shared.

Assault on Children Keeps Them at Home

WARWICK, R. I. (AP)—Parents of 30 Oakland Beach children who have been abused by a neighbor on school buses decided at a neighborhood meeting last night to keep the children home "until some action is taken to protect the youngsters."

They complained the children have been "burned, assailed, assaulted, kicked and abused" by older children on the buses.

School officials say the matter is in the hands of Juvenile Court.

FBI Joins Probe Of Vandalism in Telephone Strike

ATLANTA (AP)—The FBI joined union and company officials today in probing a wave of vandalism in the four-day-old strike of Southern Bell Telephone Co. workers in nine southeastern states.

Damage reports continued to mount while negotiators tried to reach agreement on a new contract for the estimated 50,000 workers affected by the walkout.

The FBI entered the picture after a cable serving several government offices in West Palm Beach, Fla., was cut yesterday.

W. A. Smallwood, district director of the CIO Communications Workers of America, urged strikers to help prevent vandalism.

"We are striking on matters of high principle and we desire intensely to keep the strike on the same high plane," he said.

He said the strike was "highly effective." Company spokesmen disputed this and said supervisory workers were handling jobs of union strikers.

In Birmingham, Ala., CWA leaders charged supervisors were using names of union members when they answered telephones in an effort to "demoralize" other union members. C. P. Malone, district manager at Birmingham, denied this.

Miss Dorothy Magnus, head of the speech department, served as contest manager. Dr. Harold Guthrie, chairman of the division, helped with arrangements, and Miss Donna Freeman, student from Dexter, was assistant contest chairman.

Lyman Bringgold is director at Lake City. Mrs. Almer Ottensmeyer at Kasson-Mantorville, Tom Stoltman at Winona, James H. Bacon at Stewartville and Miss Joyce Westin at Pine Island.

Winners of "excellent" in different classes were:

County Spelling Bee Planned at Preston

PRESTON, Minn. (Special)—Fillmore County's annual spelling bee will be held March 25 at 1:30 p.m. at the Town Hall here.

The affair is co-sponsored by a Minneapolis newspaper and the Fillmore County Teachers Patriotic League—an organization of elementary teachers in the rural schools.

Rural and graded elementary schools have been urged to enter one contestant each in the county contest. No student in grades 9-12 inclusive is eligible.

During the affair, a 75-word written test will be administered, with the top 15 spellers to take part in an oral spello-down. The student with the highest average in both written and oral spelling will be entered in the state finals April 16 at Minneapolis.

U.S. Worked on Baby Atom Bomb Early as 1944

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Yalta papers' publication disclosed, that nuclear physicists were working toward development of a "baby" atomic bomb at the very outset.

Among the documents made public last night was a memorandum from Maj. Gen. Leslie R. Groves, chief of the wartime Manhattan District which developed the first bombs, to Gen. George C. Marshall, then Army chief of staff. Dated Dec. 30, 1944, it was stamped "top secret."

Along with other disclosures, this memorandum showed that:

1. It was hoped that by the spring of 1945 there could be developed a nuclear fission bomb "which would be equivalent to about 500 tons of TNT."

2. The first bomb was tested at Alamogordo, N.M., on July 16. The first combat bomb was dropped on Hiroshima Aug. 6.

3. For years after that, nuclear physicists believed any atomic bomb must have a minimum force of 20,000 tons because the "critical masses" of fissionable material could not be made to produce an explosion, when brought suddenly together, of less than that explosive force.

The trigger device used in the first bomb and for a number thereafter was a "gun type," mentioned in the document made public last night. This gadget fired two spheres of fissionable material together at high speed, producing instantly the contact of the critical mass.

On Way to Fire She Discovers Her Own

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (AP)—Mrs. John Rigoulot glanced out her window at the next-door home of her brother-in-law. It was on fire.

Knowing there was no one at home, she called the fire department.

Then she ran to a neighbor's to seek help. But on the way she saw that her own house was ablaze too.

Firemen said a faulty oil furnace may have caused the fire in Mrs. Rigoulot's home. They blamed either defective wiring or spontaneous combustion for the separate fire in the home of her brother-in-law William Rigoulot. Damage to both homes was listed as extensive.

Mundt Claims Much Confusion In Peress Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Mundt (R-S.D.) said today the Senate's new investigation shows "an unconscionable state of confusion" marked Army handling of the Irving Peress case.

Mundt said he has heard nothing yet to support the contention of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) that some Communist "mastermind" at the Pentagon was pulling strings to help Peress.

He added in an interview, however, that he is listening hopefully for evidence that someone has straightened out the twisted trail of Red tape of which Army witnesses told yesterday.

Peress is a former Army dentist who got a promotion and honorable discharge after refusing to tell the Army whether he was a Communist.

It took the Army almost 10 months to discharge him after 1st Army intelligence (G-2) first recommended his separation.

Lt. Col. James D. Anders testified yesterday before the Senate Investigations Subcommittee that about a month of the delay was attributable to McCarthy's investigation of alleged security risks at the Army's Ft. Monmouth, N. J., radar laboratories.

Anders said his G-2 policy unit at the Pentagon devoted "almost 100 per cent" of its time for a month to digging up facts in connection with that Red hunt, and that this was "one reason" for the delay.

Highway Dept. Section to Handle Urban Roads Asked

ST. PAUL (AP) — Creation of a separate section within the state highway department to deal with road planning and construction in urban areas is asked in a bill introduced in the Legislature Wednesday by Rep. Charles Halsted, Brainerd, chairman of the House Highways Committee.

Halsted said the Minnesota Highway Study Commission, of which he is a member, reported that Minnesota is now "badly in arrears" on planning in urban areas.

The bill asks that the highway commissioner be empowered to set up the separate section. Halsted said that at present there exists no section whose sole duty is the study and attention to road progress in such areas.

"Urban planning," the bill reads, "is very complex and needs well-trained specialists, and without such specialists progress may be retarded. Such a section may alleviate some of the present deficiencies."

Other bills introduced in the House were:

Requiring loyalty oaths from all public officials and employees, and from teachers and educators in state teachers colleges and the University of Minnesota. By Rep. Thomas Christie, Minneapolis.

Changing the statewide primary election date from the second Tuesday in September to the second Tuesday in August. By Reps. Roy Schulz, Mankato, Roy E. Dunn, Pelican Rapids, and Louis H. Husong, Brewster.

Empowering the highway commissioner to declare a minimum speed limit below which no person shall drive in areas where investigation shows consistent impeding of normal and reasonable movement of traffic. By Rep. Peter Popovich, St. Paul.

Proposing three special salary ranges to induce specially qualified individuals to accept employment with the state. The ranges would be from $10,000 to $13,000, $12,000 to $15,000, and $14,000 to $18,000. By Reps. Sally Luther, Minneapolis, and Howard Ottinger, Chaska.

Governor Kohler Has New Grandnephew

MADISON (AP) — Walter J. Kohler IV, grandnephew of Wisconsin's chief executive, was born Tuesday at University Hospital here.

Young Master Kohler is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Kohler III. The father is a sophomore at the University of Wisconsin engineering school.

The new baby is the grandson of Carl Kohler, the governor's brother.

The J in the name stands for Jodok, a family name from Austria.

TWO RIVERS, Wis. (AP) — Rita Loh Chervney, 14-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Chervney, strangled when she was caught in her sweater as she fell out of her crib Tuesday.

The Manitowoc County sheriff's department used an inhalator for about an hour in a vain effort to revive the girl.

The family lives on a farm north of here.

Tax Exemption Bill For Wright Brings Praise, Protest

MADISON (AP) — Both praise and protest were provoked at a public hearing Tuesday by a bill to exempt architect Frank Lloyd Wright's world-famed Taliesin from general property taxes.

"Wright is one of the eminent architects in the world and has students from all over the world attending his school at Taliesin," said Sen. Gaylord Nelson, Madison Democrat who wrote the measure.

Nelson said Wright's school "deserves the same tax-exempt privileges enjoyed by others."

Under the bill, the state superintendent of public instruction could certify the Wright School near Spring Green or any others offering art instruction as having standards comparable to private and public institutions of learning. "This bill is the height of special legislation," declared B. W. Wells, Madison. "Whether Wright is a great artist is not an issue. It provides special privileges for a man who threatened to leave the state because the Supreme Court ruled against him."

Nelson offered the bill after the state high court ruled Taliesin is not entitled to tax exemption because it lacked statutory requirements of an educational institution.

Wells, appearing as a citizen, cited court decisions in Wisconsin and elsewhere holding that any foundation existing for private profit cannot be exempt from taxation. He said Taliesin provided private profit for Wright.

A pound can of corned beef hash can be turned into a small meat loaf if it is mixed with a lightly beaten egg, a quarter cup of milk, a cup of firmly packed soft bread crumbs and a little grated onion. Bake in a moderate oven until firm through.

White Students Attend 'Negro School' in South

By PHIL MANGELSDORF
INSTITUTE, W.Va. 19—Until last year, West Virginia State College was a school for Negroes only. Since last fall, 399 white students have signed up for classes, swelling the school's enrollment to 1,070.

It is a unique and successful experiment in reverse integration. The novelty of white students attending a Negro school has been achieved with little publicity. The faculty and student body have accepted it casually.

President William J. L. Wallace explains it this way: "We didn't recruit white students. We felt it might be resented. But we knew many persons were interested and when white students showed up we accepted them."

State is a land-grant college, located near a large Carbide and Carbon Chemicals Co. plant, about 10 miles from Charleston. Most of the white students live nearby. Many work at the chemical plant.

President Wallace, a Negro with degrees from the University of Pittsburgh, Columbia and Cornell, thinks the experiment has been very successful.

"In general," he said, "there has been no resentment on the part of the Negro students. People being what they are, there was bound to be some conflict. But when minor incidents broke out, there always was someone nearby to settle the matter."

About 35 per cent of State's student body come from other states, and they are Negroes.

Dan Williams, a junior and editor of the student newspaper The Yellow Jacket, came from Miami, Fla.

"I never thought I could go to school with white students," he said. "I never did before. Then I met Joe Vinson (a white student). We're good friends now. He showed me how silly my attitude was and I have no resentment any more."

SKILLET CLUB FOR MEN

By Frank Kohler

COOK FISH IN FOIL AND KEEP PAN CLEAN

Are you an ichthyophagist? If you are, you'll like these two ideas. Our brother John, he of the engineering turn of mind, has perfected what we think is a good method in fish cookery. This is particularly good for large fillets, such as lake trout or white fish, although it works equally well with any salt or fresh water fish of similar specifications.

In a suitable shallow baking pan, form what he calls an "inner pan" of aluminum foil, letting the foil extend out over the sides and ends of the pan. Wash the fish and remove excess belly fat if any. Place fish on the foil, skin side down, and dot liberally with butter, and dust with salt and black pepper. Grate some lemon peel finely, and sprinkle about one tablespoon over each fillet. This is for fillets weighing about a pound and a half when trimmed. Sprinkle a tablespoon of white wine over each piece of fish, and broil about three inches from the heat. Baste several times while cooking, and cook until nicely browned.

Have a hot serving platter ready. Remove the fish pan with foil and fish from the broiler, and place it immediately adjacent to the hot platter. Experiment cautiously, and you'll find that you can grasp the foil itself without burning your fingers. Now grasp fish at both corners of one end, and slide the foil with fish and juices intact, right off the pan onto the platter.

On each side at the center of the side, tear the foil in toward the fish as far as you can without disturbing the fish. Now grasp the foil firmly on the same side, at opposite ends, and tear the foil, by pulling outwardly, so it will tear clear across under the fish between the tears you have started.

If you do it correctly, the ends of the foil will pull out from under the fish, leaving him in beautiful shape on the platter, complete with mighty succulent juices. You can sprinkle him with fresh minced parsley, and serve with slices or wedges of lemon. And you have a broiler and a pan that don't even need to be cleaned!

Mrs. J. Evelyn Weiss, Chicago

Daily News Chapter, sends in a fine fish fry. She, by the way, is an alumna of the Antoinette Pope School of Cookery, which is no mean accomplishment. Use any filleted fish—she recommends white fish, boned and split. Cut fish in slices or pieces about three inches wide. She recommends about two pounds of fish, or seven slices, for the following quantity of meal:

1 large whole egg.
¼ cup tepid water.
1 cup matzo meal.
¼ cup flour.

Beat egg well with water. Separately, mix together the meal, flour and salt. Matzo meal is recommended, because it is coarser and won't burn as easily, but cracker crumbs may be substituted. Dip slices of fish in the egg mixture, then in the meal, then back in the egg, and in the meal again. Allow to rest about 15 minutes before frying.

Heat shortening in a large skillet having a cover. Test temperature of fat by dropping in a cube of bread—if it turns a golden color, temperature is right. Place enough fish fillets in to cover bottom of skillet, cover, reduce heat slightly, and let fry about five or six minutes on one side. Salt and turn, and re-cover the skillet, and fry about five or six minutes more. Then remove cover and fry to a nice golden brown on each side. Drain on paper towel—Mrs. Weiss says it is good either hot or cold.

Youngdahl Praises Spirit of Israel

ST. LOUIS 16—Federal Judge Luther W. Youngdahl, a former governor of Minnesota, says Israel is the "bastion of freedom in the Middle East."

Judge Youngdahl, of the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia, told a dinner observing the 7th anniversary of Israel's founding Tuesday night:

"The Democratic forces of the world can not afford to let Israel down." He said the spirit of the Jewish people will never die. "They gave up material possessions," he said, "and some of their life blood to help establish Israel."

Miss Tillie Sylvest, Trempealeau County superintendent of schools, and her secretary, Vivian Olson, check volumes and papers in the county's traveling library. (Ruth Rogers photo)

Trempealeau Co. To Offer Books For 5 Cents Each

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—Miss Tillie Sylvest, Trempealeau County superintendent of schools, has begun to make arrangements to move the Trempealeau County traveling library books into the new courthouse addition.

She has found many books which are old but are still in good condition and contain material which may be used by children for reference work, the pictures they contain or simply for reading entertainment.

These books will be culled from the library and sold for 5 cents each. The money realized from the sale will be used to purchase new books for the library boxes which will again be sent among the schools next fall. Those wishing to purchase volumes may call at her office Saturday between 9 a.m. and noon and Monday from noon to 5 p.m.

The county superintendent's suite in the new courthouse is on the first floor front and in the northeast corner. In contrast to her one office and two tiny storerooms which she has in the present building, the addition will give her a large main office, a private office, an office for the supervising teachers, a spacious library, and a storeroom.

First coats of paint have been applied on all office walls in the addition.

Even Scotland Yard Has Housing Problem

LONDON (AP)—Housing 20,000 members of the metropolitan police department offers a challenge to Scotland Yard. It has its own architects dealing with the problem.

Policemen work irregular hours. They need extra space in which to hang uniforms and, in London, park bicycles.

The architects have begun by designing quarters in which the main bedroom is in a quiet part of the house or apartment. They make it soundproof, if possible, to help the cop who works at night and sleeps by day.

Realizing that a policeman's work is often dull, the planners are insisting on materials to brighten up the rooms, even to the point of having bright-colored floors.

Presently, 3,700 police quarters are occupied. A thousand more are under construction and still more are in the planning stage. Policemen pay a nominal rent for the quarters.

Doctors to Aid Giving Vaccine in Trempealeau Co.

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—Ten Trempealeau County doctors met at the Courthouse Tuesday evening to offer to administer the Salk polio vaccine to first and second grade students free of charge if the vaccine is approved by the National Institute of Health.

Announcement of whether the Salk vaccine was successful as administered to scattered groups of first through third grade students throughout the nation in 1954 is expected sometime in April, according to Mrs. Fern Lasiter, county nurse, who called the meeting.

The vaccine, if approved, will be furnished free of charge for the children in these two grades throughout the United States by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. There are 1,071 first and second graders in Trempealeau County.

The doctors agreed that the same 10 centers for giving the polio vaccine should be used as are set up for administering the triple vaccines which are given every second year. They will be at Whitehall, Independence, Blair, Osseo, Galesville, Trempealeau, Arcadia, Ettrick, Strum and Eleva.

Mrs. Lasiter said that she plans to enlist members of the American Legion auxiliaries or other women's groups to assist at the centers.

The immunization, if given, will consist of three shots over a period of five weeks. A schedule of places and dates will be announced when more information is available. No special makeup clinics are being planned at this time.

The program is being set up at this time so that as much of it as possible can be completed before the end of the school year and the beginning of the summer season, when polio usually strikes.

Mrs. Lasiter said parents of all first and second grade students will be contacted by letter from her office regarding the vaccine. It will not be administered except with their consent.

Dr. John Van Susteren, Sparta, district health officer, said that after this year the national foundation will not furnish free vaccine. J. Arthur Johnson, Whitehall druggist, said that the vaccine will be available through all drug houses if it is approved so that children not covered by the free vaccine may receive it through their family doctor.

Present at the meeting were Drs. R. L. MacCormack and S. W. Simonson, Whitehall; O. M. Schneider, Blair; B. C. Dockendorff, F. T. Weber and Elizabeth Comstock, Arcadia; E. P. Rohde, Galesville; C. O. Rogne, Ettrick; L. R. Pfeiffer, Strum, and Oscar Knudsen, Osseo.

Also attending were Paul Lehmann, Trempealeau, county board chairman and chairman of the public health committee; Mrs. Alma Thune, representing the county superintendent's department and Colonel Larson, Marvin Olson, Alton E. Berg and Mmes. Norman Anderson and William M. Rogers, Whitehall, members of the executive committee of the Trempealeau County polio chapter.

North Korea's Army Reported Larger, Better

By MURRAY FROMSON
SEOUL (AP)—North Korea's Red army today is larger and better equipped than when it struck South Korea five years ago.

U.S. sources, however, privately discount the probability of another invasion from the north. So do South Korean officials, despite their publicly pronounced fears.

Intelligence reports, gathered by the allies in the past year, indicate the North Korean army, badly shattered at the time of the armistice, has been thoroughly overhauled.

Tanks, guns, jet fighters and medium bombers have been brought in since the armistice. The introduction of planes is a violation of the truce. It forbids the introduction of additional weapons although old weapons may be replaced. North Korea had no jet planes at the time of the armistice.

Gets Russ Tanks
Gen. Lee Hyung Keun, chairman of South Korea's Joint Chiefs of Staff, said last August North Korea had received 200 Russian-made tanks, 300 pieces of heavy artillery, 255 jet fighters and 42 medium jet bombers.

The United Nations Command mentioned only the illegal introduction of 150 jet fighters in its protest to the Neutral Nations Supervisory Commission. Conceivably, the artillery and tanks could be replacement of equipment the Chinese Reds took with them when they left.

At least 40 new jet airfields have been built. The North Koreans have dug in deep all across the 155-mile front. But they lack one important thing—full Chinese Communist support.

Communist China reported last September the withdrawal of seven divisions from North Korea. But there is conclusive evidence that up to 11 divisions—about 110,000 men—have been pulled out. The withdrawal still may be going on.

Chinese Nationalist intelligence reports these withdrawn troops are now opposite Formosa in the Amoy-Foochow area.

Little Red Enthusiasm
With increased Communist concentration on Formosa and Southeast Asia, there appears to be little Red Chinese enthusiasm for renewed adventures in Korea.

Without the Chinese Communists to bail them out, the North Korean army could well meet the same fate that befell it at Inchon. The armies were broken and most of their heavy equipment was captured.

South Korea has developed one of the largest standing armies in the world. This is far different from that day in 1950 when a poorly armed constabulary force met the first North Korean onslaught.

South Korea has 20 divisions on active duty. Another 10 reserve divisions will be filled out by June. The South Korean air force has been promised 75 Sabre Jets by the end of the year.

The reinforcement of the South Korean army has been accompanied by a withdrawal of U.S. forces in compliance with armistice terms.

With the Russians and Red Chinese beefing up North Korea and the United States bolstering the South Korean army, the entire peninsula once more is an armed camp.

Thus, South Korea probably could not—as has been speculated—send volunteer forces to help the Chinese Nationalists on Formosa.

Total of U.S. Blind Revealed by Official

NEW YORK (AP)—More Americans lost their sight in 1954 than in any previous year, the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness was told by its president, Mason H. Bigelow. He said 27,000 persons became blind last year, bringing the total in this country to 319,000.

The province of Ontario, Canada, is larger than France and Spain combined, says the National Geographic Society.

YALTA PAPERS

May 7, 1945, Russia entered the conflict with Japan on Aug. 9, 1945, three days after the United States dropped an atomic bomb on Hiroshima. Japan surrendered Aug. 14, 1945.

The agreement between Roosevelt and Stalin on Russian entry into the Pacific war has produced years of political controversy in the United States.

Many Republican senators and others denounced Roosevelt's concessions as an unnecessary grant of position and power to Stalin. Roosevelt's defenders have replied it was the price he had to pay to assure Russian military action against Japan.

State Department officials are understood to have hoped that publication of the record would bring the long dispute to an end. It appeared, however, that the record might simply furnish more ammunition for it.

In addition, a question was raised as to whether the published record was complete in all details. The State Department itself said some omissions had been made for national security or elimination of repetitious material or to avoid "needless offense" to foreign nations or to individuals.

Sen. Capehart (R-Ind.) called Roosevelt's action in agreeing to Stalin's Far East demands "an almost unpardonable error." Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said publication was aimed "to satisfy the more vitriolic elements of the Republican party."

Two deletions were made at the request of Churchill, the only surviving member of the wartime Big Three. Adjacent paragraphs indicated they concerned Churchill's ideas of France's postwar position. Even with these and possible other omissions, Churchill had declined to agree to the publication.

There were no major disclosures. The chief results of the Yalta conference had long since been known. The Far East concessions permitted Russia to take over the Kurile Islands north of Japan, the southern half of Sakhalin Island and operation of the Chinese eastern and south Manchurian railroads. The Russians also gained rights in the Chinese port of Dairen and the lease of Port Arthur as a naval base.

Except for the Kuriles, these were rights or positions which Russia had held 50 years before, then lost in 1905 through war with Japan.

In a meeting with Roosevelt at Yalta Feb. 8, 1945, Stalin said that if his conditions were not met "it would be difficult for him and Molotov to explain to the Soviet people why Russia was entering the war against Japan."

A record of this exchange was kept by Roosevelt's interpreter, Charles E. Bohlen, now American ambassador in Moscow. Bohlen recorded Stalin as saying the Soviet people "understood clearly the war against Germany which had threatened the very existence of the Soviet Union, but they would not understand why Russia would enter a war against a country with which they had no great trouble."

"He said, however, if these political conditions were met," Bohlen's notes continued, "the people would understand the national interest involved and it would be very much easier to explain the decision to the Supreme Soviet."

"The President replied that he had not had an opportunity to talk to Marshal Chiang Kai-shek and he felt that one of the difficulties in speaking to the Chinese was that anything said to them was known to the whole world in 24 hours."

At another point Roosevelt said he would like to take care of the Russian interest in using the port of Dairen by making it an internationalized port. He related this to the question of Hong Kong.

"The President said he hoped that the British would give back the sovereignty of Hong Kong to China," the Bohlen record showed, "and that it would then become an internationalized free port. He said he knew Mr. Churchill would have strong objections to this suggestion."

Nothing ever came of Roosevelt's idea about internationalizing Hong Kong.

Kong. Nor for that matter was Dairen internationalized, although the Big Three agreed that should be done. The Russians simply took over at Dairen and Port Arthur when they were able.

Hiss, Too, Kept Records
In the same conversation, Stalin indicated to Roosevelt that he was considering moving 25 divisions of troops to the Far East when they could be freed from duty in Europe.

Roosevelt also told Stalin he had in mind for Korea a trusteeship by Russia, the United States and China until the Korean people learned self-government, which he thought might take 20 to 30 years. Stalin and Roosevelt agreed that no foreign troops should be stationed in Korea.

In addition to Bohlen's notes, records were kept by other staff members, including Alger Hiss, a State Department aide later imprisoned for perjury in denying he had given documents to a prewar Communist spy ring.

It was in his notes that Roosevelt was quoted as finding it "very embarrassing" to put the Soviet, Ukrainian and Soviet White Russia into the United Nations as independent members.

Hiss kept his notes in abbreviated form, having taken them in longhand. There was no official stenographic record of the conference and the published record, aside from official documents, comprises independent accounts of members of the U. S. delegation staff.

After Roosevelt said he found the three U.N. Votes for Russia embarrassing, Hiss recorded this reaction from Churchill:

"Church: If brought out pub. now without any explanation will cause trouble. The decision actually was not publicly announced when the Yalta meeting ended. When it later leaked out to the American press, it became the first of the great Yalta controversies. Critics contended Roosevelt had made an unjustifiable concession to Stalin. The fact that no announcement had been made officially also stirred up a hue and cry about whether there were other secret agreements at Yalta."

The argument over a declaration for democratic governments in the countries to be liberated in Eastern Europe figured in many of the Yalta sessions. Notes kept by H. Freeman Matthews recorded this Feb. 9 exchange dealing with proposed elections in Poland:

Prime Minister — In Parliament I must be able to say that the elections will be held in a fair way. I do not care much about Poles myself.

Stalin — There are some very good people among the Poles. They are good fighters. Of course they fight among themselves too. I think on both sides there are non-Fascist and anti-Fascist elements.

Prime Minister — I do not like this position. Anybody can call anybody anything. We prefer the terminology democratic parties.

Stalin — I refer to the declaration on liberated areas. On the whole I approve it. I find in a certain paragraph the same expression, anti-Nazism and anti-Fascism.

President — This is the first example for the use of the declaration. It has the phrase "to create democratic institutions of their own choice." The next paragraph contains the following: "(c) to form interim governmental authorities broadly representative of all democratic elements in the population and pledged to the earliest possible establishment through free elections of governments responsive to the will of the people."

Stalin — We accept that paragraph three.

President — I want this election in Poland to be the first one beyond question. It should be like Caesar's wife. I did not know her but they said she was pure.

Stalin — They said that about her but in fact she had her sins.

President — I don't want the Poles to be able to question the Polish elections. The matter is not only one of principle but of practical politics.

Cites Atlantic Charter
A little later on Churchill referred to the Atlantic Charter and said he had once sent an interpretation of his about the charter to Wendell Willkie, the 1940 Republican presidential nominee, who died prior to the Yalta conference.

Roosevelt asked: "Was that what killed him?" The record notes "Laughter" in the conference.

The discussion involved whether France should be permitted later on to associate itself with the declaration on liberated areas. Stalin said it would be better to leave it to the Big Three.

The question of the role of the great powers in the postwar period was discussed at a dinner meeting Feb. 4. According to a record made by Bohlen, it went like this:

"Marshal Stalin made it quite plain on a number of occasions that he felt that the three great powers which had borne the brunt of the war and had liberated from German domination the small powers should have the unanimous right to preserve the peace of the world."

"He said that it was ridiculous to believe that Albania would have an equal voice with the three great powers who had won the war and were present at this dinner . . .

"The President said he agreed that the great powers bore the greater responsibility and that the peace should be written by the three powers represented at this table."

"The Prime Minister said that there was no question of the small powers dictating to the big powers but that the great nations of the world should discharge their moral responsibility and leadership and should exercise their power with moderation and great respect for the rights of the smaller nations."

After Stalin and Roosevelt had left the dinner, Churchill and Eden with the late Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius Jr. discussed voting procedure in the Security Council of the proposed United Nations.

Churchill said he inclined to the Russian view that the procedure should preserve the unity of the Big Three, apparently meaning that they should hold the real power of decision. Eden "took vigorous exception," according to Bohlen, on the ground that neither the English public nor small nations would support such a principle. Soon afterward Churchill and Eden left "obviously in disagreement" on a voting formula.

The formula eventually worked out vested decision on issues of war and peace primarily in a Big Five group including China and France but provided for full participation of six elected, smaller nations in the work of the Security Council. Each of the Big Five was given the right of veto on major questions.

Shared Stalin's Views
In a meeting Feb. 5 Roosevelt, Stalin and Churchill talked about dismemberment of Germany. Roosevelt said the first paragraph of proposed German surrender terms did not mention "dismemberment" nor make the idea sufficiently clear. He said he tended to share Stalin's view that it would be better to include the word.

Churchill objected that "you don't want to tell them" because it would make the Germans fight harder. He said Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was opposed to telling them. Stalin said the terms should not be made public until the time of surrender and added bluntly, "I want it agreed (1) to dismember and (2) to put dismemberment into the surrender terms."

Churchill said he would agree to a study "of the question of the best means of studying a method of dismemberment."

Stalin said he would have no objection to accepting some formula which would make dismemberment possible and it was eventually understood that the principle was agreed to. Germany was not dismembered, except into Communist and Western zones after the Big Three split.

Churchill said he felt the French should have an occupation zone in Germany. Stalin questioned whether this would not mean that France would become a "fourth power in the control machinery."

Churchill insisted and asked Roosevelt's view. Roosevelt replied that "I can get the people in Congress to cooperate fully for peace but not to keep an army in Europe a long time. Two years would be the limit." U.S. troops are still there, Roosevelt said he would be "just as satisfied" if the French, while sharing in the occupation, were not in the control machinery. However, it eventually came about that France shared fully as an occupation power both in controlling a zone in Germany and serving on the control commission.

Among the preconference documents was a letter from Maj. Gen. L. R. Groves, head of the Manhattan Project which developed the atomic bomb. The letter showed Roosevelt was notified and approved progress on development of the atomic bomb several weeks before the Yalta meeting. Groves' letter, dated Dec. 30, 1944, predicted the first atomic bomb would be ready about Aug. 1, 1945. As it turned out, the first combat bomb was dropped on Hiroshima Aug. 6, 1945. Japan surrendered eight days later.

Pair of Youngsters May Breathe Life Into Wheezing Chicago Cubs

By ED WILKS

The Associated Press

All things but championships come in pairs at Wrigley Field on Chicago's near North Side, where no pennants wave on the walls of ivy.

It was Larry French and Bill Lee who pitched the Cubs to their 1938 pennant. Hank Wyse and Hank Borowy did it in 1945. Billy Jurges and Billy Herman once plugged the middle. More recently, it's been Hank Sauer and Ralph Kiner in the outfield and Ernie Banks and Gene Baker on the double play.

Now, it's Bob Thorpe and Hy Cohen, a pair of right-handed youngsters who may breathe some life into Manager Stan Hack's wheezing mound staff.

Thorpe, 20, hung up the best record in the minors last season at 28-4. He's the first kid ever to jump from Class C to the Cubs. Thorpe, 6-1 and 170 pounds, just about owned the California State League batters last year while flicking his fast one in for Stockton. He had a 2.28 earned run average, completed 32 of the 33 games he started and hurled five shutouts.

Cohen, 24, had a 1.88 ERA last season with Des Moines, an all-time low in the Western League.

The 6-5, 215-pounder had a 16-8 record after returning from service. He started the year at Los Angeles, was 0-0 in nine appearances. Six shutouts, 100 strikeouts and only 53 bases on balls are on his '54 record.

The youngsters showed their stuff for Hack and the Cubs yesterday. And although the world champion New York Giants took the game 5-3, they didn't take much from the two kids.

Thorpe gave up just one hit in three shutout innings. Cohen had trouble with Willie Mays and Monte Irvin but breezed past the rest of the champs. Mays and Irvin both figured in the two runs Cohen gave up. Irvin slapped a bases-loaded single off rookie Al Lary to break it up in the seventh.

Another Giant crew ran into a pair of veteran hurlers in Bob Feller and Bob Lemon and dropped a 6-4 decision to Cleveland, Feller making his spring debut, blanked the Giants for three innings. Then New York slugged Lemon for three runs and half of their 12 hits in the third.

Big innings were the rule yesterday. Brooklyn, which got three hits each from rookie Don Zimmer and Roy Campanella, slammed Baltimore for five runs in the first and five more in the third en route to an 18-8 romp. Philadelphia also had a pair of five-run innings, coming from behind twice to clip Boston's Red Sox 17-12.

And the Milwaukee Braves got five walks and four unearned runs in a five-run eighth to beat the St. Louis Cardinals 11-10.

The Kansas City Athletics hammered five home runs to beat Detroit 8-3. Joe DeMaestri, Bill Stewart, Don Bollweg, Jim Finigan and Bill Renna homered for the A's, two off Billy Hoelt and three off Frank Lary. It was the first spring victory for Kansas City. The Chicago White Sox scheduled just one game with the New York Yankees this spring and ran off with it 3-1 on the three-hit pitching of Bob Chakales and Sandy Consuegra. Bullet Bob Turley, the young right-hander from the Orioles, again failed to please.

Bob Porterfield scattered five hits through six shutout innings as the Washington Senators beat Cincinnati 7-4.

Irvin's Return to Power Bolsters Giants Flag Hopes

Durocher Counts On Giel to Help In Relief Roles

By JACK STEVENSON

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—"Sure Willie Mays looks great, just great. But did you see that big guy in left field?" asks Manager Leo Durocher of the world champion New York Giants.

"He looks like the Monte Irvin of old, doesn't he? He's carrying the bat up where he can swing now. That's the way he used to do it. If he keeps hitting like he's doing this spring, and we all know he can, it will make the job a lot easier."

This is a far different spring from the one a year ago when nobody gave the Giants much chance for the pennant. Then Mays, just out of the Army, provided the spark. He finished by topping the league in batting with .345, belted 41 home runs and was voted the league's most valuable player. Outfield teammate Don Mueller was runner-up in hitting with .342.

Meanwhile, Irvin, who in previous seasons hit at better than a .300 clip, slumped badly. He wound up with a .262, down 67 points from 1952. But pinch hitters led by Dusty Rhodes and Bobby Hofman kept coming through in the clutch. And there was the great relief pitching by Hoyt Wilhelm and Marv Grissom.

Odds stand against a repeat combination of the Mays-Mueller finish and the timely pinch hitting. Added muscle for the batting this season must come from regulars who hit below form last year. Irvin heads a list including first baseman Whitely Lockman, second baseman Davey Williams and third baseman Henry Thompson. Catcher Wes Westrum, although most valuable for his defensive abilities, had his worst year at the plate with just .187.

Big things were expected from rookie outfielder Bob Lennon who hit 64 home runs for Nashville in the Southern Assn. last season, but to date Lennon has been a disappointment.

MONTE IRVIN
... Like Irvin of Old

Impressive rookies have been lefthanded pitcher Joe Margoneri, the strikeout king of the Southern Assn. last season and Eric Rodin who hit .336 in the same loop. Both played at Nashville.

Margoneri, however, has complained of a sore elbow on his pitching arm.

"I'm looking at pitching this spring," declares Durocher. "And I'll keep on looking at it."

Lefty John Antonelli proved the mound ace for the champions last year after coming to the Giants after 1953 in the trade that sent Bobby Thomson to Milwaukee. He finished with a 21-7 record and an earned-run average of 2.29.

With John as probable starter—although Durocher maintains his hurling isn't set—are the veteran Sal Maglie, 14-6 last season, Ruben Gomez, 17-9, and Don Liddle, 9-4. After being wild at the start of the past campaign, Liddle found himself in mid-June. The lefthander also came from Milwaukee in the Thomson deal.

Durocher hopes for help from Paul Giel, the improved bonus pitcher who can't be farmed out. When Paul blanked the Cleveland Indians the first three innings he worked in spring exhibitions and displayed a good change of pace, it appeared he may be of value. Most probably he'd be used as a middle inning relief man. Paul, a righthander, would share the chore with lefty John McCall.

Then there's Jim Hearn. The dependable Maglie is pressing 38 years, and there is no telling how far he can go. Gomez is the only other righthanded starter.

"Hearn could fix the whole thing," says Leo, promising to give Jim plenty of chances thus building his confidence. Hearn had his best year in 1951 when he won 17 games.

Shortstop and Capt. Alvin Dark again anchors the strong defensive infield, teaming with Williams to form one of baseball's greatest double play combinations. The champions have the defense, and if Irvin, Thompson and Lockman can bat in the .300 neighborhood they'd have an offense that could bring even a stronger finish.

TO TRY AGAIN . . . Don Gehrman, once king of the milters, and holder of 1,000-yard indoor record, puts on spikes before a light workout at Milwaukee, Wis. Gehrman, business manager and director of a boys camp, plans to compete again. (AP Wirephoto)

Hagen Voted Prexy Of Trempealeau Loop

ETTRICK, Wis. (Special)—Trempealeau County Baseball League officers were elected at a meeting held at Ettrick Community Hall Monday evening. Rudolph Hagen, Whitehall, will be president, Glen Haukeness, Strum, will be vice president, and Arthur Severson, Galesville, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

League teams and their representatives present were Arcadia, Don Galuska; Blair, Willis Johnson; Independence, R. A. Sobotta; Whitehall, Kenneth Swenson; Ettrick, Walter Wall; Galesville, James Miner; Strum, Haukeness and Trempealeau, Ralph Ebersold. About 40 baseball players from Trempealeau County attended the meeting.

Representatives from the Melrose, Gilmanston and Osseo clubs were present, and expressed interest in joining the league, but an eight-team league was decided upon.

Secretaries of the various teams include: Arcadia, Ignatius Somsal; Blair, Lester Lindberg; Independence, R. Sobotta; Whitehall, Kenneth Swenson; Ettrick, Walter Wall; Galesville, William Emons; Strum, Gerald Bergerson; Trempealeau, Stanley Szazama.

Better attendance is needed at the games, he said, and he stressed the importance of a better public relations program.

More newspaper publicity is essential, he said, and he urged the clubs to get the news of their games into the papers, regardless of whether they win or lose. Mrs. Vernal Solberg, Arcadia, has been named league reporter.

Rules governing the game were discussed, and applications from umpires were read. The 1954 season schedule has been reversed for 1955 play, with the season to open May 8, a week earlier than the previous year.

The starting date has been placed ahead in order to complete the games by Aug. 28, before the opening of the school year and the football season. Playoffs are booked for August.

Dykes Sets Sights On Olson After Beating Gavilan

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—"We're going after Bobo Olson and his middleweight title," was the word today from the camp of a jubilant Bobby Dykes.

The lanky ex-Texan who fights out of Miami whipped Kid Gavilan, the former welterweight king, in a rousing 10-rounder at Miami Stadium last night.

"We're going after Olson," said Maston O'Neal, manager of Dykes, and the 26-year-old fighter nodded agreement.

Sharp rights and lefts to the Cuban's head earned the unanimous decision for Dykes, who fought at long range while Gavilan frequently tied him up and pounded his ribs and mid-section.

Gavilan appeared to have lost much of his steam and never once threw his famous "bolo" punch. When newsmen asked him what he thought of the fight, he shot back:

"You had eyes. What did it look like to you?"

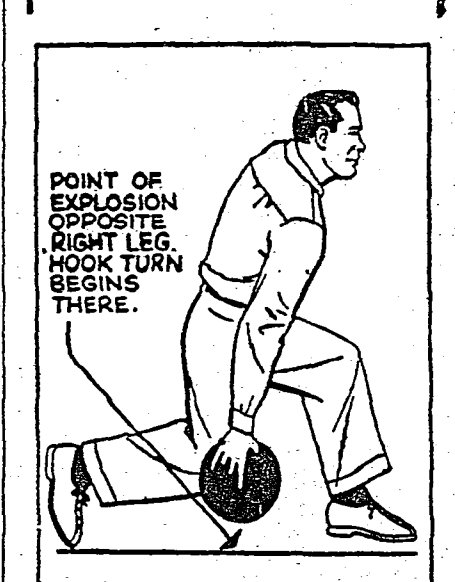

Gavilan, who admits to being 28, said he had been fighting 18 years but when asked if he plans to retire, answered:

"No, I've got three or four years of fighting in me."

It was Gavilan's second defeat in three starts since he lost the title to Johnny Saxton in Philadelphia last October.

Bowling Clinic By Billy Sixty

PROPER HAND TURN

It Comes Naturally — Bowling and golf have a "point of explosion" just before the lowest point of the downswing is reached. In golf, the full accumulated force of the club-head is applied about 12 inches before impact — before the ball is struck. In bowling, the explosion point, as sketch shows, is identical — as the ball enters its lowest arc. Here the wrist has turned slightly, and naturally, so that the fingers are on the right and a little behind the ball. And this is where either trouble starts, or the movement continues on and through effectively. One or the other. Concentrate on swing, all the way, to keep the arm in the proper groove. A split second after the ball reaches the point in the sketch, the halfway point is passed, and the arm begins its smooth, upward lift. The thumb releases first, and the fingers apply their hook-spinning action. Mind you, make no extra effort to get unnatural speed, or you'll throw the arm out of line. Easy is the word for it — swing easy.

Fight Results

MIAMI—Bobby Dykes, 161, Miami, outpointed Kid Gavilan, 152 1/2, Havana, (10). TOKYO—Shigeru Kato, 124 1/2, Japan, stopped Ben Escobar, 124 1/2, Philippines, (5). For Oriental featherweight title. MILAN, Italy—Roberto Miri, 161, Italy, outpointed Baby Day, 160 1/2, Jacksonville, Fla., (10).

4 Men Hit 600, Bell's 618 Tops

Led by John Bell's 245-618 series, bowlers in Winona men's leagues Wednesday night came through with some consistently high scores.

Bell did his firing for Mississippi Valley Public Service in the Retail League at Hal-Rod Lanes. Two others in that circuit, Harold Biltgen and Harry Johnson, both rolled 601 honor counts.

In the Class D League at the Athletic Club, Art Moore of Owl Motor Co. hit a 606 three-game score. High single games in that league, a pair of 221s, were bowled by Irv Praxel of Jerry's Plumbers and John Borzyskowski, Owl Motor.

Top scores elsewhere in Winona bowling were as follows Wednesday night:

Commercial League, Hal-Rod—Bud Hanson, Lakeside Produce, 215, and Len DuBois, Winona Rug Cleaners, 538.

Uptown Ladies, Keglers Klub—Florence Loeding, 196, and Esther Hardt, 498, both on the First National Bank team.

Merchants, Keglers Klub—Bob Albrecht, Weaver & Sons, 214, and Melvin Christopherson, Wally's Bar, 549.

Wednesday, St. Martin's—John Kasimov, Winona Boiler & Steel, 199, and Eldon Holtz, Breitlow Funeral Home, 517.

Bratton Favored To Beat Flanagan

ST. PAUL (AP)—Former NBA welterweight champion Johnny Bratton of Chicago carries a slight favorite's edge into his 10-round bout tonight against Del Flanagan, seventh-ranked welter from St. Paul.

Backers of both agreed that the fight represents a cross road for the two veterans. Bratton reigned briefly as champion in 1951. A gate of between $10,000 and $15,000 is expected.

Final Games in 2 Region Meets Slated Tonight

Renville Takes On Ortonville for Region 3 Title

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two regional championships will be settled tonight as play gets under way in Region 6 in the march of high school basketballers toward next week's eight-team showdown in the Minnesota tournament at Williams Arena.

Final tests bring Ortonville up against Renville in Region 3 while St. Paul Central and New Prague are fighting for the Region 4 crown. The first game will be played at Gustavus Adolphus College and the other at University of Minnesota.

In region 6 semifinals at Concordia College fieldhouse at Moorhead, it will be Staples vs. Detroit Lakes and Morris against Alexandria. That championship will be settled on the same floor Friday night.

Ortonville romped to a 73-61 victory over Lake Benton and Renville slipped by Walnut Grove, 48-47, in the Region 3 semifinals at Gustavus Wednesday night, the only contests scheduled.

Dick Peterson paced the Ortonville triumph with 24 points as his mates outscored Lake Benton, 17-5, in the final quarter. For the losers, forward Earl Klitzke dropped in 18.

Play in other regions starts Friday night with those championships to be decided 24 hours later.

Sale of Season Tickets Hits 400

Sale of season tickets for 1955 Winona Chiefs baseball games is nearly 400, it was announced Tuesday night at a meeting of the Winona Baseball Association board of directors at the Arlington Club.

By Tuesday night, 84 season tickets had been reported sold since the drive on businesses, industries and organizations was launched. It was also announced that more season tickets had been sold but that many of the workers from the 23 sponsoring organizations hadn't turned in reports.

Manager Emil Scheid attended the meeting and said that two exhibition games, at least, would be played in Winona prior to the season opening.

Sodding of the infield at Gabrych Park will be completed by May 15. Early practice probably will be held at Athletic Park or some other park in Winona.

Job possibilities for ball players were discussed and Scheid said work will be needed for five college players who'll join the team in June.

Purchase of equipment for the season—balls and bats—was approved.

Lakers Take Playoff Lead On 82-78 Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

New York's Knickerbockers and Boston's Celtics were all-square in one-half of the National Basketball Assn. first round playoffs today and the Minneapolis Lakers were one up on the Rochester Royals in the other.

The Knicks tied their series at 1-1 Wednesday night with a 102-95 victory. The deciding game to provide the opponent for the Syracuse Nationals Eastern Division champions, will be played in New York Saturday afternoon.

The Lakers edged the Royals, 82-78, in their first encounter to decide the opponent for the Fort Wayne Pistons, Western Division titlists, in the next best-of-three series. They'll resume their rivalry at Rochester Friday with the third game, if necessary, slated for St. Paul Saturday.

In whipping the Celtics, the Knicks were forced to come from off a 38-48 deficit with a great display of basketball in the last half. Nat Clifton led the New York scoring parade with 25 points, one less than Bob Cousy slipped in for Boston.

Rochester took an early lead over Minneapolis but the Lakers led at the half 38-35 and then came from behind again after Arnie Risen had given Rochester a 63-69 edge with 4 1/2 minutes remaining. Clyde Lovellette led the Lakers with 26 points, four less than Bobby Wanzer dropped in for the losers.

Confidence, Optimism Key Braves in Spring Training

By GAYLE TALBOT

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—For a club which finished eight games off the pace last year, the Milwaukee Braves are a remarkably confident outfit as they play to capacity crowds, day after day in preparation for the coming National League race.

They already are being hailed as champions by their justly famous followers, who think nothing of wheeling down here by the busload to get a preliminary look at them. Manager Charlie Grimm could discuss his intentions only during the brief lapses when his telephone was not ringing.

"The only phone in this ball park, and it has to be on my desk," Charlie said resignedly. "All I've been able to do for the past two hours is sit here and tell people there aren't any more tickets. They're going to have to get me a secretary. Some woman just gave me hell because I couldn't sell her a pair for today."

Bobby Thomson, whose broken right ankle in spring training a year ago badly hurt the team's chances, came in dripping from the field to use Grimm's phone, and Charlie muttered that the place looked like Union Station. Thomson was calling the specialist who set the break, making an engagement to have him look it over.

It was the first chance he had had since reaching camp.

"It's nothing important," Bobby said after he hung up. "I just thought he might like to look it over now that it's healed and maybe take some pictures of it. It feels good. Can't tell the difference from the other ankle."

Earlier he had watched the big outfielder sprint perhaps 100 yards out near the fence, and he looked like his old speedy self. He expects to be in left field on opening day and to remain there.

"I don't mind saying I'm optimistic," Grimm said. "I'd say we have at least as good a chance as anybody. If for no other reason, we figure to be stronger for having Thomson in there from the start. But there are other reasons. One of the main ones being a good deal stronger bench than last year.

"My pitching could be stronger too. I know I'll have three good ones in Warren Spahn, Gene Conley and Lew Burdette. Now let Bob Buhl and Chet Nichols pitch up to what we know they can do, and we'll have quite a staff. I blamed Buhl's failure last year on pitching in Puerto Rico. He didn't go down there this winter. I think you can blame Nichols' poor control last year on just having come out of the Army. I look for him to come back."

Central, Monroe 'Teams to Beat' In Badger Meet

By JACK VARICK

MADISON (AP)—Eight teams began the final drive today for the 1955 Wisconsin state high school basketball title which will fall to one of them Saturday night.

Superior Central, Monroe, Eau Claire and Shorewood were pegged as today's likely quarter final winners and the best bet for the crown looked like Superior Central or Monroe.

The quarter-final schedule: Kimberly vs. Monroe at 1:30 and Platteville vs. Superior Central at 3 o'clock in this afternoon's upper bracket games and Eau Claire vs. Shorewood at 8:30 in the lower bracket tonight.

Superior Central, Monroe and Kimberly were rated 1,2,3—in that order—in pre-tournament rankings. Eau Claire was rated 6th and Platteville 14th.

Superior Central and Monroe both made it to the final round of the 1954 tournament and have regulars left from those squads. Monroe was defeated in the 1954 quarter-finals while Superior lost to Stevens Point in the championship contest.

Superior has a tough, well balanced team while Monroe owns center Bob Anderson, who has scored an average of 28.2 points per game this season. Monroe's Cheesemakers have the best defense among the eight quarter-finalists—having allowed 47.9 points a game—and their point making average of 69 is second only to Kimberly's 69.3 point scoring average.

Stevens Point lost out in the regional phase of its battle to defend its crown so a new champion will be determined here in 1954.

Skemp Winner Of St. Mary's McNelis Award

Sheridan Named Redmen Captain For Next Season

Skemp Sheridan

The St. Mary's College most valuable player award was presented to Bill Skemp for his outstanding work in basketball.

The Bill McNelis Trophy is awarded annually to the player voted by his teammates as the most valuable to the success of the team during each season.

Also announced was Fred Sheridan as captain-elect of next year's squad.

The winner of this year's MVP award has just completed three seasons with the Redmen quintet. Skemp prepped at La Crosse Aquinas where he won letters in basketball and baseball during his last three years at Aquinas. While at St. Mary's he has won monograms in basketball and baseball.

Replacing senior guard Marty Coughlin as captain, Sheridan has completed his first year with the Redmen varsity as a regular.

He transferred from Marquette to St. Mary's during his freshman year, which made him ineligible for varsity competition during his sophomore year. Fred is a product of De La Salle, Minneapolis, where he was an all-state selection during his senior year.

The McNelis trophy is dedicated to a former St. Mary's athletic great, Bill McNelis, a 1927 graduate. McNelis lettered in football, basketball, baseball and track while on Terrace Heights, and he captained both the gridiron and cage squads during his junior year.

After graduation, Bill played pro football several seasons and then returned to his high school alma mater, Duluth Denfield, to take up teaching.

Last season the trophy was awarded to Pat Costello. In 1953 it went to Hugh Gorman and again in 1952 to Costello. In its initial awarding in 1951, it was presented to Paul Saufl.

Santee Silent At Pan-Am Games

By BOB MYERS
MEXICO CITY (AP)—Wes Santee was here to run in the 1,500-meter qualifying heats today in the Pan-American Games.

More newsworthy was the point that the lanky lad from Kansas slipped into town most unobtrusively.

And 24 hours later Santee, who can talk himself into and out of everything but the four-minute mile, had not issued a statement regarding the games, the track, the four-minute mile or Wes Santee.

Santee renewed acquaintanceship with at least two familiar rivals, Bob McMillen of the U. S. Army and little Fred Dwyer, who wrestled him to a one-fall finish in the epic Milrose mile in New York this winter.

Meanwhile, the United States' lead for the unofficial championship of the games continued to bulge.

Paced by her powerful track and field team, and with the aid of winners in the lesser sports, the unofficial points today had the U. S. A. in front with 279.

The leading rivals were Argentina, the defending Pan-Am champion, 90½; Mexico and Brazil tied with 36½; Cuba, 35; Chile, 27; and Venezuela, 26.

Pee Wee League Playoff Saturday

The Winona Hotels and the American Legion basketball teams in the Pee Wee League, promoted by the Park Recreation Board, will play one game Saturday, at 9 a.m. at the Central School gym for the league title. Both teams hold records of 12 won and 3 lost for the season.

The American Legion team won the title in 1954.

St. Francis Rated NIT 'Dark Horse'

NEW YORK (AP)—Off the record and vital statistics, Duquesne and Dayton are favored to make it through tonight's semifinals into the title showdown of the National Invitation basketball tournament, but little St. Francis (Pa.), the people's choice, just might make it tough for the Ohio Flyers.

Duquesne, top-seeded when the 12-team tourney opened Saturday, makes its bid for the championship game against Cincinnati with second-seeded Dayton playing St. Francis in the Madison Square Garden double-header.

St. Francis is a newcomer to tournament play off's compared with Dayton, twice a NIT runner-up. The Frankies haven't gotten this far in postseason competition since losing the Catholic tourney title to Marquette in 1952.

A year ago, St. Francis bowed in the quarter-finals, but not before the Frankies and their one-man game, Maurice (The Magnificent) Stokes, had won over the fans. St. Francis still has the fans on its side, particularly after Stokes' performance as the Frankies beat Seton Hall 89-78 and defending champ Holy Cross 68-64.

If the Frankies are to get the Dukes, they'll have to bag the Daytonians, which looks almost impossible. The Flyers have the height in 7-0 Bill Uhl and 6-9 John Horan. They also have snappy Jack Sallee, who counted 33 points as Dayton overcame St. Louis Tuesday.

Against the trio, Hughes has the 6-6 Stokes and a zone which he admits must be about the worst in the nation.

Jim Temp, first baseman and co-captain of the University of Wisconsin baseball team and a Badger football star, tripled home three runs in the fourth inning Wednesday as the United States scored a 12-7 victory over the Dutch West Indies in the Pan-American games at Mexico City.

Milwaukee Braves Coach John Cooney says Henry Aaron "could be as good a hitter as Willie Mays."

Cooney explains, "Aaron seems to be more consistent because he doesn't strike out as much. What makes Hank such a great hitter is the terrific pair of wrists he's got."

Eddie Roush, former Giants and Reds star, said of Aaron, "he hits that ball where it's pitched — high over his head, way outside or inside practically in the dirt. I don't believe he knows where the strike zone is."

Archie Moore and Nino Valdes, both snubbed in attempts to sign for fights against heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano, will fight each other early in May in Las Vegas.

The fight is expected to set up the winner for a match against Marciano, providing Marciano defeats Don Cockell May 16 in San Francisco.

Asked for it

Fred Powell was knocked out by Eddie Hearn recently in London, but he asked for it. Hearn was given a decision by the referee after eight rounds but Powell protested that the fight was supposed to be 10 rounds.

Hearn was willing to continue and there was no further protest from Powell. He was flattened by a right in the 10th round.

JOHNSTON SETS MARK

Philadelphia's Neil Johnston set a new free throw record and captured the NBA scoring crown the third straight year, according to figures released today.

He averaged 22.7 points per game with a total of 1,631 points and his 588 free throws broke the mark of 578 by teammate Paul Arizin in 1952.

Minneapolis' Wally Mikkelsen and Clyde Lovellette were seventh and eighth in scoring.

HOPES TED PLAYS

Charlie Grimm, manager of the Milwaukee Braves, says he hopes Ted Williams decides to play for the Boston Red Sox this year. "The game needs guys like him," Grimm said Tuesday. "The customers, whether they love or hate 'em, want to see them."

LIONS WOUNDED

The Detroit Lions admit they were wounded in a vital spot with the announcement the Toronto Argonauts signed Tom Dubinsky, understudy quarterback to Bobby Layne.

The Lions plan to tell NFL Commissioner Bert Bell that the Argonauts were "tampering" with Lion players before last season was over.

2 Whitehall Teams In YMCA Tourney

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—Two teams from Whitehall High School entered in the YMCA basketball tournament to be held at Eau Claire March 22-24.

The games will be played in three different gyms, at the Wisconsin State college, the YMCA and the high school.

On March 24 the Whitehall Vikings will play the Thorp Redmen and on March 25 the Whitehall Vikings will play the Thorp Stars, both games, at the "Y."

On March 28 a team from Whitehall will compete in the Mississippi Valley Conference volleyball tournament at Arcadia.

Arcadia Leading Broiler Chicken Producing Center

ARCADIA, Wis. — Almost overnight, this community of 2,000 can make luscious and convincing claim to being one of the Midwest's leading broiler chicken producing centers.

This year A-G Cooperative Creamery will send more than 2 million tasty fryers to market, only four years after the creamery's directors took over an abandoned brewery and set up an experimental broiler-processing plant.

The forward-looking, nine-man board decided in 1951 that the time was ripe to try processing broiler chickens. The move was natural enough. The farmers' cooperative was already operating a successful feed store and a booming chick hatchery.

But long-time A-G manager A. C. Schultz, acclaimed here as the moving spirit behind the huge cooperative's sound growth, says today, "The broiler enterprise expanded beyond the expectations of any of the planners."

Even that is understatement. What the broiler plant has meant to Arcadia was demonstrated eloquently last summer. Arcadia businessmen banded together to stage Arcadia's first Broiler Festival.

Two broiler pits a half city block long were set up in the downtown area, and Arcadia visitors ate broilers by the thousands, watched parades and attended free programs.

The fact that the cooperative's broiler department alone had a $162,000 payroll in 1954 is typical of what the farmers' producing and selling organization has done for Arcadia's business economy.

More than 20 per cent of the city's entire working population is employed in the broiler business. It will turn out milk products, feed, eggs and processed broilers with a value approaching 6 million. The total payroll will be close to $400,000, and very few of the employees will leave for other work. A modern pension plan offers a big incentive to all to stay in the big, happy family.

A-G serves a relatively confined rural area within an estimated 9 miles of Arcadia. About 400 farmers are patrons, most of them dairy and broiler producers.

One of the cooperative's departments is a tribute to Art and Schultz, and the boards of directors who have rehired him every year since the cooperative creamery was organized 31 years ago.

One board member said, "You can't even talk about A-G without talking about Art," and the self-effacing, 59-year-old Schultz says, "We've had consistently fine and progressive boards right down through the years."

Schultz is a native of Dodge, Wis., just west of Arcadia. He was a buttermilk farmer for the Glencoe Cooperative Creamery for 34 years and for 23 years with the Arcadia Farmers Creamery.

The two merged in 1924, and Schultz became manager and buttermaker. Until five years ago, he was secretary, manager and buttermaker, but the organization became too large. Today he is "just" the manager.

The creamery made butter and dried buttermilk to start. Today, in an all-modern, flexible plant, it manufactures butter, non-fat milk solids, condensed milk and sweetened condensed milk. It does milk and processes milk for its own patrons and for other nearby creameries.

Cradle-to-Grave Job

A-G added its feed department in 1925, its hatchery in 1928, a produce department in 1929 and the broiler and fryer processing plant in 1951. Today, its broiler undertaking is a cradle-to-grave enterprise. Chickens are produced at the hatchery and delivered to the raiser. The feed department delivers feed, and when the birds are ready for market, the produce department processes and markets them.

The hatchery receives its eggs from 90 farmers whose layers are special meat-type hens. Seventy-eight growers are raising the chicks in broiler house units with capacities ranging between 2,000 and 14,000 birds. The growing period is about five weeks.

A-G truck brings the grown birds to the processing plant and haul the finished birds to St. Paul, Milwaukee, Duluth, Winona, Eau Claire and La Crosse. In St. Paul the birds are distributed by Arcadia Fryers, Inc., a marketing subsidiary of the Co-op.

Schultz lauds his department managers: Martin Rebhahn and Darrell Schultz, processing plant; Lloyd Fernholz, hatchery; Joe Andre, feed store; Bernie Fernholz, creamery; and Walter Creely, milk-drying plant. Bernie Fernholz and Creely have been with the organization since it was founded. Andre for 28 years.

Also playing a big part in the broiler enterprise are Bob Boland and Pat Nelson, field service men who call on growers and help with management of the flocks.

The cooperative has a nine-man board of directors with three men elected each year for three-year terms. In 30 years the organization has had five board presidents.

Currently serving on the board are: E. R. Finner, president; Lambert Walski, vice president; Angus Andre, secretary; John Newcomb, treasurer; and Myron Scow, Eugene Sobotta, Ervin Duell, Harry and Peter Slaby, directors.

One director, J. P. Brom, died recently. The auditor, N. C. Hall, has served since 1924.

Warroad Dealer In Big Business After $75 Start

By KEN UNGER

WARROAD, Minn. — George Marvin came to Warroad in 1903 to buy posts, poles and lumber for a firm which operated retail lumber yards in Canada. His salary was $75 a month.

Four years later he bought out his employer here and went into business for himself.

Today he is proprietor of the largest sash and door plant in northern Minnesota, three country elevators, two seed and grain cleaning plants and a pulpwood purchasing business, with headquarters here.

Marvin's operations have spread across the boundary to northwest Ontario, Manitoba and western Saskatchewan, where his Spruce Products, Ltd. harvests thousands of cords of pulpwood and sawlogs and averages 4 1/2 million feet of lumber a year.

Despite his extensive personal accomplishments, Marvin modestly credits most of his success "to the loyal support of my many friends and the five sons which I raised to help me out." All of the boys are associated with him in operating his business enterprises.

William manages the sash and door plant, which started as an ammunition box factory during World War II. It was converted later to the manufacture of sash and doors, and now averages a carload of millwork a week.

Randolph runs two elevators at Warroad and one at Baudette, and seed and grain cleaning plants at the two towns. Jack operates a retail lumber yard at Warroad and assists his father in buying more than a thousand cars of pulpwood a year harvested by farmer-loggers of the Warroad district. Nearly all of it is shipped to Minnesota and Ontario Paper Company in International Falls.

Calvin manages the Marvin cabin court on Lake of the Woods in the village. And Frank is in charge of the Canadian operations, with offices in Winnipeg. There is one daughter, Mary, who is continuing the family's traditional association with the lumber business as an employee of a St. Paul construction firm.

Marvin was born in Zumbrota, Minn., the son of a lumber and grain dealer. He spurned the chance for a college education offered by his father and instead "migrated to Belmont, Man., to accept a job running a country elevator and lumber yard at $65 a month. "I was determined to make my own way in my father's line of business," he said.

The Canadian firm, which owned a string of retail yards, eventually sent Marvin to Warroad to buy forest products and he settled down for good in the boundary village.

At 74 he is still the active head of his extensive operations. His manager-sons refer to him as "the boss."

Waukesha GI, Italian Wife Get Their Wish

NEW YORK — A former GI from Waukesha, Wis., and his Italian wife, who meet here today on her arrival from Europe, will get their wish — their baby will be born in the United States.

Andrew Ceroni, 22, of Waukesha, came here to greet his 18-year-old wife, Maria. His father Vincent also came along. They can thank Rep. Glenn Davis, Waukesha Republican and immigration authorities that the baby, expected in June, will be born in America.

Ceroni met the former Maria Carlini while he was an Army corporal in Germany. They were married last August at her home town, Ceccano, Italy.

Andrew came home alone Nov. 1, immigration difficulties keeping his wife in Italy. But he started immediately to lay the groundwork for getting her into the United States. Usually a thing like this takes at least six months and that is what bothered Andrew because that would mean the baby would be born in Italy.

In December, he contacted Davis, who was in full sympathy with Ceroni. But red tape piled up.

Then on Feb. 25, Davis was notified by the American consul general in Naples that Maria had been granted a non-quota immigration visa. Andrew and his parents were overjoyed.

On March 9 Maria left Naples, bound for the reunion.

Rhee Favors Lifting Of 'Attack' Barrier

SEOUL — President Syngman Rhee today said "the sooner the better" in commenting on Secretary of State Dulles' statement that the United States might lift the ban preventing South Korea and Nationalist China from attacking the Reds.

"When we were ready to attack and go north, we were stopped," Rhee said. "Difficulties, humiliations and suffering were the result."

"The sooner we are able to attack, the better for Korea, Nationalist China, the United States and the rest of the free world."

Senate Confirms Harlan as Justice Of Supreme Court

WASHINGTON — The Senate Wednesday approved the long-stalled nomination of Judge John Marshall Harlan of New York to be an associate justice of the Supreme Court.

The roll call vote was 71 to 11. The final vote came after a day of debate in which Harlan's opponents attacked him as being inexperienced, an associate of internationalist groups and "a product of Thomas E. Dewey and his political henchmen."

His confirmation gives the Supreme Court its full nine members for the first time since the death of Justice Robert H. Jackson last October. When Harlan is sworn in, it presumably will clear the way for the court to decide how to carry out the school segregation ruling handed down last May.

Harlan, now a New York federal circuit judge, was nominated to the high bench by Pres. Eisenhower last November.

Sheriff Marlin Curran quoted Storteky as saying he was sitting in a chair in the couple's home, two and a quarter miles southeast of Lublin, "monkeying with the gun and it went off accidentally." The sheriff said Storteky's story "doesn't jibe" with the story told by a 9-year-old son, Stanley, but he didn't elaborate. Storteky is being held on an open charge.

Sheriff Curran said that after taking Storteky to jail he went to the home and picked up the farmer's .22 caliber automatic pistol and the three spent cartridges.

Mrs. Storteky, after the shooting, walked half a mile to the home of a friend, Mike Ustinowski, who with her brother, took her to the hospital. Storteky and his son were also at the hospital when the sheriff arrived there.

The sheriff said Mrs. Storteky talked with a physician just before she was taken into surgery but did not tell him how the shooting occurred.

Home Fires Cause 13 Deaths in U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Home fires caused the deaths of at least 13 persons today and Wednesday night.

In each of two of the tragedies, a mother and three children lost their lives and only the husband and father survived.

An early morning fire at McAlester, Okla., killed Mrs. Kitty Galbraith, her two small sons and a daughter. The only survivor was the family's Dr. Ben T. Galbraith, a prominent physician who was away from home attending a convention.

A mother and her three children perished in a Bridgeport, N.Y., fire that officials believed started in a kerosene heater. The husband and father, Bernard Brockway, 42, was rescued, badly burned.

Five persons, four of them members of the same family, died in a Nashville, Tenn., fire. The dead were Robert Moore, 27, his wife; their two small sons; and an unidentified woman visitor.

House Gets Bill To Speed Action On Trunk Roads

ST. PAUL — A proposal designed to make possible early action on trunk highway projects within municipalities to cope with rapidly increasing traffic congestion was introduced in the Minnesota House today by Rep. Charles Halsted, Brainerd.

The bill would authorize cities to advance to the state cash or engineering services up to the amount of the state's share of the proposed projects.

The state would repay the money, without interest, in up to 20 annual installments.

The measure would enable both municipalities and the state to issue bonds for specified highway projects.

Rep. Halsted, chairman of the House Highway Committee, said the bill was one of those suggested by the Minnesota Highway Study Commission.

Arthur Pucker, 21, of Roscoe, Ill., driver of the other car, was taken to a hospital here, the extent of his injuries undetermined.

American Version, Churchill Says Of Releases on Yalta

LONDON — Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons today the Yalta papers released in Washington were "of course the American version and in no sense an agreed official record of the powers concerned."

Churchill said: "I have not seen anything but the extracts which now are appearing in the press. Even these disclose some serious mistakes."

The Prime Minister, who was answering legislators' questions, indicated his displeasure at Washington's publication of the documents by saying:

"If this became an established practice it might hamper the free exchange of views at future conferences. In any case, it would seem a good thing to consult together on the text of any publication during the lifetime of the individuals concerned."

The 1945 Yalta conference in the Crimea was attended by President Roosevelt, Premier Stalin and Churchill. The 80-year-old British leader is the only survivor of the Big Three.

Britons generally were shocked and angered by disclosures in the documents—particularly President Roosevelt's suggestion that Hong Kong be turned over to China.

The Foreign Office and British press generally considered Washington's publication of the records a diplomatic blunder. The man in the street was hopping mad on learning some of the inside maneuvers at the conference.

Talk on the morning commuter trains coming into London was more concerned with Yalta than even the current split in the British Labor party over rebel Aneurin Bevan.

Critical references to the late President Roosevelt as a political schemer could be heard from Britons who heretofore have almost universally revered him as a great statesman.

The average Briton's pride appeared hurt particularly by two Roosevelt suggestions—to turn over Hong Kong to China and to exclude the British from the postwar administration of Korea.

Hong Kong, a British crown colony for 114 years, has been built up into the largest banking center in the Far East.

One Englishman in a black bowler hat—the trademark of London's Wall Street known as "The City"—was heard to say in a loud voice on one train:

"Roosevelt was mad if he thought we'd ever give Hong Kong to the Chinese. Why, it's one of the most valuable places left in the old empire. And it certainly sounds odd compared with the Americans now crying about giving the Chinese a few barren islands right in China's backyard."

Another remarked: "It's also nice to know Roosevelt tried to leave us out of Korea. I wish the British soldiers who died fighting there could have known about it."

The rest of Europe was slow in reacting. Up to noon Moscow radio had made no mention of the Washington announcement.

St. Norbert College Founder Succumbs

GREEN BAY, Wis. — (Abbott) Pennings, who founded St. Norbert College in suburban De Pere 57 years ago and still headed the school, died today after a short illness.

The 93-year-old Roman Catholic educator, oldest member of the Norbertine Order, was admitted to St. Vincent's Hospital last Friday with a cold. On Tuesday hospital spokesmen said he had taken "a turn for the worse."

DENNIS THE MENACE

LAFF-A-DAY

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGUM, D. Sc.

Answer to Question No. 1. 1. No, it's to show his superiority. The ornery cuss has been hoping she would tell the story wrong and give him a chance to show off his knowledge. He knows he can humiliate her by calling attention to a mistake no one else would have noticed. Shooting such husbands at sunrise is too mild—do it before dinner.

Answer to Question No. 2. 2. Make him "cost-conscious." says executive Glenn Gardner in "Management Information." Show him how to compare the cost of his product with that of competitors. Unless he does his best, his product will cost more, his competitor will outsell his company, and he may lose his job. Make sure he understands how his own personal efforts affect costs.

Answer to Question No. 3. 3. Doubtful. Two psychologists had several hundred students vote on hiring outside football stars. Next, they distributed five leaflets, week apart, strongly opposing. After each leaflet, they took a vote. First leaflet had a tremendous effect, reducing "absolutely yes" from 49 per cent to 18 per cent. Later leaflets had practically no effect. Seems best to make a big impression on the voters in the first place, and then save your money.

BEDTIME STORIES

By HOWARD GARIS

While Uncle Wiggly was trying to find out from Bunty more about how her doll, Priscilla, happened to be missing, the doll herself was having an adventure.

When she slipped away from Hollow Tree School without anyone seeing her leave, as I told you in yesterday's story, Priscilla did not know just what she was going to do.

"All I know is that I want to have an adventure," said Priscilla to herself as she walked along a snow path. For, as you know, Priscilla was a walking and talking doll.

It was lucky that Bunty had put a warm dress and rubber boots on her doll before taking her to Hollow Tree School that morning. For now Priscilla did not feel the cold so much and the rubber boots on her feet kept her little toes warm.

"So I can stay out as long as I please and look for an adventure," said Priscilla to herself as she walked away from Hollow Tree School along one of the many paths that Pat Butter, the goat, had snow plowed with his head and horns.

Meanwhile, back in the school, Bunty, with the help of Uncle Wiggly, Pat Butter, the Lady Mouse teacher and all the pupils was looking here, there and everywhere for the missing doll.

They looked through all the classrooms. They looked out in the hall and the vestibule. They looked in the cloak room.

"There is only one other place to look," said Uncle Wiggly after his long search.

"Where is that?" asked Bunty.

"Down in the cellar," replied the rabbit gentleman.

"Mr. Butter, the grocery store goat is down cellar," said Miss Mouse. "If Priscilla had gone down there, Mr. Butter would surely have seen her; don't you think, Uncle Wiggly?"

"You never can tell much about Pat Butter," answered the rabbit gentleman. "The most he thinks about is Swiss cheese. I shall go down cellar and ask Pat if he has seen Priscilla."

When Uncle Wiggly asked the goat about Priscilla, Mr. Butter, who had finished putting coal on the furnace fire, said:

"Who is Priscilla? Is that a new kind of Swiss cheese?"

"No, it is not!" exclaimed Mr. Longears. "Priscilla is Bunty's doll. She is missing! She has gone!"

"Who has gone?" asked the goat.

"Bunty? I wouldn't think that

Miss Mouse would let Bunty go out alone in the snow.

"No! No!" exclaimed the rabbit gentleman. "It is Priscilla who is missing, not Bunty. Have you seen her?"

"Yes, I saw Bunty up in the classroom," bleated the goat.

"No! No! I mean Priscilla! Have you seen her, Pat?"

"No, Wiggly, I haven't," bleated the goat. "And that reminds me, I haven't seen a piece of Swiss cheese since I came to Hollow Tree School with you. I think I have a piece in my pocket."

"Do you mean a piece of Hollow Tree School?" asked Uncle Wiggly, sort of teasing like and joking.

"No, I mean Swiss cheese," bleated the goat. He didn't know much about jokes. "Ah, here is a piece!" he exclaimed as he took some Swiss cheese from his pocket and began eating it. I mean he started to eat the piece of cheese not his pocket.

"I can't get anything out of you, Pat," said Mr. Longears, sort of provoked like.

"Not unless it is a piece of cheese," answered the goat.

"Thank you, I don't eat cheese," answered the rabbit. "I will go back upstairs and help Miss Mouse and Bunty look again for Priscilla."

Meanwhile Bunty's doll was tripping along the snow paths. She could walk very well for a doll. "But I don't see any adventures," said Priscilla to herself, disappointed like. Just then she heard a voice call:

"Hello!"
