Conservative, Freeman 'War' Out in Open

Governor's Accusation Of Tax Committee Members Starts Uproar

By JACK B. MACKAY
ST. PAUL (AP) — The "war" between conservative legislators and Gov. Freeman has busted wide open, as had been anticipated. It all started when the governor accused conservative members of the House Tax Committee of trying to embarrass him and his Democratic-Farmer-Labor party by opposing Freeman's income tax withholding plan.

Two veteran leaders, Rep. Roy E. Dunn, Pelican Rapids, and Rep. John A. Hartle, Owatonna, didn't waste any time in telling the chief executive what they thought of his tactics.

Dunn, who was the House majority whip for eight legislative sessions and still has a strong voice in influencing the 65-member conservative bloc, declared:

"The governor would be better off if he would let the Legislature use its own judgment and not try to intimidate us."

Hartle, speaker of the House for three previous terms and presently state Republican party chief, had this to say to Freeman's statement that conservatives are unwilling to face the facts of life:

"It is the fuller appreciation of these facts that causes us to refuse to blindly follow an inexperienced leader. Most of us have been around here long enough to know what the facts of life really are."

Freeman, commenting on the straight conservative-liberal split when the tax group approved the withholding plan, 16-13, said that he observed the tendency of conservatives to oppose legislation just because he favored it.

The governor said that legislation ought to be considered on its merits and that partisanship had no place.

Dunn admitted that the conservatives followed party lines but accused the DFL party of "setting the example."

"When we voted in committee," Dunn said, "we were voting our convictions and voting the way the majority of our people wanted us to vote."

Follow Course
"Our concern here is the State of Minnesota and its people, and certainly we are pursuing the right course, regardless of the governor's feelings about it."

The charges that the conservatives deliberately want to block legislation because the governor favors it is utterly ridiculous and untrue.

"After all, he is just the governor. He should stick to the executive branch of government. We've dealt with a good number of governors in the past, regardless of party. And we always acted in the interest of good government. I don't think the governor is helping himself by intimidating the Legislature."

"I think his approach is wrong. That's why the Constitution provides for three separate government branches, executive, legislative and judicial. We're doing our duty in the legislative field and the governor's responsibilities lie in the executive branch."

Hartle also said that the vote on the withholding measure didn't indicate party loyalty "so much as an expression of disapproval of the governor's proposal."

"The minority group on the tax committee," Hartle added, "has had enough legislative experience to analyze the bill and determine all of its ramifications and judge it on its merits or demerits."

And, it is expected, that more will be said by the governor.

Liberal Control
The liberals control the House by a single vote, 66-65. In the Senate, conservatives dominate by an overwhelming margin.

In the House Thursday afternoon, constitutional revision took another beating. A bill to change the method of amending the Constitution was beaten, 67-59. Two days ago, the Senate killed a bill on the question of calling a constitutional convention.

The bill that failed Thursday would have made it possible to adopt a constitutional amendment if 60 per cent of those voting on the question approved. Now, a majority of all ballots cast in an election is required for adoption. Result of this is that failure to vote means a "No" ballot.

The House Elections Committee approved a measure to repeal the presidential primary election law, 10-4. Approved also was a bill to modify that law so the primary would be held the second Tuesday in March when municipal elections are held. Instead of the third Tuesday in March. Delegates also would be chosen by the political parties.

Four permissive tax bills were introduced in the House. They would allow cities and villages in the state to levy four special taxes, which would be outside of any present per capita spending and taxing limits.

3-Year Sentence For Matusow Pleases Brownell

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Brownell doffed his hat yesterday to Federal Judge R. E. Thomason, of El Paso, Tex., who sentenced turnabout witness Harvey Matusow to three years for contempt of court.

At a news conference, Brownell was asked if he was "happy about Matusow."

In reply, the attorney general read excerpts from Judge Thomason's finding that Matusow has taken part in a "scheme" to put the Justice Department on trial and "generally discredit" the testimony of undercover agents.

Brownell said:

"I am very pleased to have a judicial ruling that brings credit on the people in the Department of Justice who handled this matter."

Yalta Papers Called Damaging To Democrats

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Capehart (R-Ind.) said today the Yalta papers "will be very very damaging to the Democrats."

He said the newly published documents are filled with political implications, which "probably will carry over to the 1956 presidential campaign." But some other legislators, of both political parties, were less positive.

On the international level, Rep. Vorys (R-Ohio) predicted that the disclosure will kill any chance of American participation in a new Big Three conference with Russia.

Vorys said in a separate interview that State Department publication of the 10-year-old record of the Big Three negotiations should have this "profound effect" on future planning:

"It should discourage the people of the United States from wanting to have our leaders take part in any more three or four-power secret conferences such as some of our allies are now suggesting."

British Prime Minister Churchill has periodically talked of a new Big Three conference. British Labor party leaders have strongly urged one.

Vorys said disclosure of the Yalta documents probably will produce "a lot of partisan, nonpartisan and bipartisan discussion" but he added: "I don't think it will affect our bipartisan foreign policy because everything has come out before."

Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) said some Republicans will undoubtedly "try to use what happened at Yalta for political purposes."

But the Republican party as a whole, he said, "will have to decide whether to place their country or their party first."

Both Mansfield and Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.) said that, with the benefit of hindsight, it appears obvious that former President Roosevelt "made some mistakes" at Yalta, where he conferred with Churchill and Russian Premier Stalin.

But Mansfield said Roosevelt "was guided to a considerable extent by his military advisers."

As presented to Roosevelt, Mansfield said, the crucial result to be achieved at Yalta was a commitment from Russia to enter the war against Japan and thus cut back an anticipated one million casualties in an assault on the Japanese homeland.

Jackson said Gen. Douglas MacArthur had told him as late as July 1945 that 500,000 American casualties would be the price for knocking Japan to her knees. A month later the atomic bomb dropped on Hiroshima threw these estimates far out of focus.

Woman's Kidnap Note Alerts Authorities Here

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — A statewide alarm was broadcast today after a Middleton motel operator found a note in which a woman claimed she had been kidnapped.

(Buffalo County Sheriff Glenn Davis, Alma, Wis., said that Traffic Officer Henry Zeichner and Deputy Palmer Peterson from Buffalo County this morning were posted on Highway 35 at the interstate bridge near here to intercept the car in the event it was driven toward Winona.

(At noon today no car of that description had been seen at the bridge approach.)

Dane County authorities said the operator of Porky's Cabins near Middleton told them a man and a woman and a child checked out of the cabin early today.

The couple registered Thursday night under the name R. Woodruff, Rolla, Mo.

Missouri authorities, contacted by the sheriff's office, said a man answering the description of the one who registered at the motel is wanted in Missouri for "unlawful flight to avoid prosecution."

The Missouri authorities said the fugitive has a divorced wife, who might be the woman who scratched the message.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation was called into the case.

The note was scribbled on two post cards found hidden in the bed sheets in the cabin occupied by the couple and the child.

"Please call police. This man is wanted in St. Louis. Help me. Help. Tell police he is headed for the Canadian border. He has kidnapped me. Help. Please help."

The motel is on U. S. Highways 12-13, about a quarter of a mile north of the Middleton village limits.

The car, bearing Missouri license plates, left at 7:30 a.m., the motel operator told authorities.

The man was described as six feet tall, with short dark hair and a black mustache.

Middleton Police Chief Harold Wille said the man was driving a black, two-door Mercury auto of about 1946 or 1947 model.

The car was seen headed north on U.S. Highways 12 and 13.

Wille said he did not think the note left was written by a prankster.

"The note was scratched out in letters too big it took two cards," Wille said. "We figured she wrote it when he was outside starting the car."

In Milwaukee, James Poster, agent-in-charge of the FBI office, said the federal agency was using its facilities in an effort to locate the people involved.

But Poster added that he did not as yet have enough information to evaluate the situation.

Roosevelt Tipped Hand to Russians

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Kremlin must have been surprised at the size of United States forces used to resist Communist expansion in Europe and Asia after World War II.

For Marshal Stalin heard from President Roosevelt at the Yalta conference that the United States would not keep troops in Europe for more than about two years after the war and did not plan to station troops in Korea at all.

In retrospect, it appears possible that the crumbling away of the British Empire—which was Churchill's first concern—than he was over getting along with Stalin, assuring Russian action against Japan and completing arrangements for Soviet cooperation in the United Nations.

upon Indochina. This was against Churchill's interest in reasserting British authority in Burma. Roosevelt also disclosed to Stalin, calling the action "indiscreet," Churchill's plans to build up France into a strong power for British purposes in Europe.

Roosevelt seemed to be less concerned over the crumbling away of the British Empire—which was Churchill's first concern—than he was over getting along with Stalin, assuring Russian action against Japan and completing arrangements for Soviet cooperation in the United Nations.

Montreal Hockey Fans on Rampage

MONTREAL (AP) — Thousands of hockey fans went on a seven-hour rampage of destruction and looting last night in the worst demonstration Montreal has seen since the anti-conscription riots of World War I. Many were injured but none seriously.

The fans, fired to a fury against National Hockey League President Clarence Campbell, smashed windows, looted jewelry stores and beat up people in the streets. Their demonstration continued long after a game at the Montreal Forum between the Canadiens and Detroit Red Wings was called off at the end of the first period.

Atomic War for Quemoy

By JOSEPH ALSOP
HONG KONG — Take the grave weakness of the American armed forces on this side of the Pacific. Bled in what seems to be the American policy in the Formosa crisis. Add the formidable array of Chinese Communist military power. Then bake at crisis heat.

What you get from this repellent recipe is the clear possibility, almost verging on the likelihood, that the United States will end by having to fight an atomic war for Formosa's offshore islands.

That is not the Eisenhower administration's intention of course. The intention is to make a cease-fire deal, or to teach the Communists to mind their manners in a "limited" fight. But the administration's intention has less and less relation to the real drift of events.

It can be safely predicted that the Chinese Communists will not formally assent to a cease-fire. In this city where the best information on Communist China is available, every competent authority, American, British and Chinese, also agrees that Peking means to attack the offshore islands this spring. Therefore, unless the National Security Council again reverses American policy, a fight for the offshore islands involving American forces is now in the cards.

Crucial Air Battle
In such a fight, the air battle will be crucial. A powerful Communist force is now massed for the air battle in the great Chinese airbase complex in Chekiang and Kiangsi provinces, as already described in this space. Have we, then any assurance of beating this powerful Communist air force without using the absolute weapons?

Thye Asks Hearings On Egg, Milk Problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Agriculture Committee has been asked by Sen. Thye (R-Minn.) to conduct public hearings in Minnesota and other sections of the Midwest on problems affecting poultry, egg and dairy production.

Thye said he was not satisfied with an Agriculture Department report made after hearings last December on the price spread on poultry and eggs between the producer and consumer.

Harry Peterson, executive secretary of the State Assn. of Cooperatives, said the bill, an amendment to the cooperative law, would permit people to band together in the field of health to do what they are unable to do as individuals.

F. Manley Brist, representing the State Medical Association, said the bill would transfer control over the consumer, which he described as unfair. He said there are so many other ways to meet the problem that another is unnecessary.

The roll call on the motion to kill the bill:

For — Sens. Behmiller, Walter Burdick, Rochester; Child, J. R. Keller, Winona; Joseph, Masek, St. Paul; Ralph Maywood, Minneapolis; John McKee, Bemidji; Joseph Vadheim, Tyler, and Harry Wahlstrand, Willmar.

Against — Sens. E. J. Anderson, Frost; N. J. Hanson, Cromwell; Harold Kalina, Minneapolis, and B. G. Novak, St. Paul.

A-Weapons in Pacific Ready, Nixon Warns

CHICAGO (AP) — Vice President Nixon says the United States has atomic weapons in the Pacific and will use them if necessary.

"Practical atomic explosives are now conventional and will be used against the military targets of any aggressive force," he said yesterday.

In Chicago for speeches at St. Patrick's Day programs, he also touched on the 1945 Yalta pact.

"I don't believe there actually was any deliberate attempt to sell us out to the Communists," he said in answer to a question about his speech to the Executives Club.

He said there was no doubt that concessions given to the Russians in the pact were detrimental to the United States and the free world.

"The reason the concessions were made was that the leaders of the free world simply didn't know what the Communist animal was like," he said.

"Another reason was that we badly needed Soviet support at the time for the conquest of Japan."

The fall of China to the Reds, he said, could be laid directly to the door of the pact, and "of course it naturally followed that we had a war in Korea and one in Indochina."

In posing the threat of atomic retaliation for any aggression in the Pacific, he said:

"It is foolish to talk about the possibility that the weapons might be used in the event war breaks out in the Pacific would be limited to conventional explosives. Our forces could not fight an effective war in the Pacific with these types if they wanted to."

Asked by a newsmen if such weapons were now cached in the Pacific, ready for use, he replied:

"Yes, they are cached in the Pacific."

Jet Plane Explodes
SANTIAGO, Cuba (AP) — A U.S. jet plane from the Guantanamo naval base exploded in the air yesterday while on patrol. The pilot parachuted to safety but broke a leg.

Committee Kills Co-op Health Bill

ST. PAUL (AP) — The Senate Public Health Committee today by a 9-4 vote killed a modified cooperative health bill, which one senator described as a "toe in the door toward collectivism."

A similar, but broader, proposal was killed by the committee a week ago.

The measure defeated today would have permitted cooperatives to provide hospital and medical care for their members through periodic payments and agreements with hospitals and doctors. Before action by the committee, it was amended to provide free choice by physicians.

The bill was killed on motion of Sen. Fred Behmiller, Morris, who said, "This is essentially the same bill we had before." Sen. Fay George Child, Maynard, who seconded the motion, called the proposal "a toe in the door toward collectivism."

Harry Peterson, executive secretary of the State Assn. of Cooperatives, said the bill, an amendment to the cooperative law, would permit people to band together in the field of health to do what they are unable to do as individuals.

F. Manley Brist, representing the State Medical Association, said the bill would transfer control over the consumer, which he described as unfair. He said there are so many other ways to meet the problem that another is unnecessary.

The roll call on the motion to kill the bill:

For — Sens. Behmiller, Walter Burdick, Rochester; Child, J. R. Keller, Winona; Joseph, Masek, St. Paul; Ralph Maywood, Minneapolis; John McKee, Bemidji; Joseph Vadheim, Tyler, and Harry Wahlstrand, Willmar.

Against — Sens. E. J. Anderson, Frost; N. J. Hanson, Cromwell; Harold Kalina, Minneapolis, and B. G. Novak, St. Paul.

Freeman Drops Miller, Names Hubert Schon

Governor Expresses Concern About Minnesota Program

ST. PAUL (AP) — Col. Ernest B. Miller today was removed by Gov. Freeman as state director of Civil Defense and replaced by Col. Hubert A. Schon of Minneapolis.

The appointment is effective April 1. Gov. Freeman said he checked the term of office of Civil Defense director with the attorney general's office and was advised that a director serves at the pleasure of the governor.

Schon was born in Clements, Minn., in Redwood County, Feb. 6, 1907, attended grade school at Solway and Bemidji, Minn., was graduated from Hopkins High School in 1924 and from the University of Minnesota in 1930.

On Labor Committee
He is now executive director of the United Labor Committee for Human Rights.

Schon served in various camps in this country and in the Pacific Theater of war from 1941 until 1946. During this service he was promoted from first lieutenant to colonel, Corps of Army Engineers. He served as assistant chief of staff G-1 to amphibious engineers and deputy chief of staff of an area base in Manila, P.I.

Since 1952 he has been commander of the U.S. Army Reserve School in Minnesota. He is married and has three children.

Col. Ernest B. Miller

Freeman Adviser
In the last few months, Schon has been a personal adviser to the governor on safety matters and matters of Civil Defense.

Asked by The Associated Press why he removed Col. Miller, Gov. Freeman said:

"It is part of my program to bring competent staff people and advisers into my own administrative family."

"I have been concerned about Civil Defense because, with developments in the Far East and constant threat of international involvement, I wanted the best possible person in charge of this operation."

The governor then emphasized that removal of Col. Miller was no reflection on him and had nothing to do with politics.

When the governor summoned Col. Miller Thursday, the director asked if there will be a change in members of the Civil Defense staff. The governor informed Col. Miller, a survivor of the Bataan death march, that he had no plans for the staff employees and that Col. Schon, as director, would evaluate the program and make his own plans.

Lived at Brainerd
Miller, who lived at Brainerd prior to taking over as Civil Defense head in 1950 on appointment by then Gov. Youngdahl, was captured by the Japanese in Bataan. He was a prisoner three years and five months.

He returned to Brainerd where he had headed a reserve unit prior to World War II and was elected state commander of the American Legion.

Miller, in a statement released by his office today, said:

"At this time I want to be on record that the effort of the past five years has established the basis for a sound Civil Defense program in Minnesota. This accomplishment is largely due to the spirit of cooperation my office has received from the many volunteers and local Civil Defense officials throughout the state."

Five Persons, including an Air Force captain and three of his children, died Thursday afternoon when two cars collided head-on on an open highway eight miles north of Wichita Falls, Tex. The dead were: Capt. James J. F. Keane, 38,

Flatbush, L. I., N. Y., and his sons, John, 8, Michael, 2, and Timothy, 1, and the lone occupant of the other car, David Owen, Enid, Okla. Mrs. Keane and another son, James, 10, were critically hurt. (AP Wirephoto)

U. N. Given Report on Gaza Battle

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Security Council members today studied a personal report by the U. N. Palestine truce chief on the Feb. 28 Gaza battle in preparation for further debate on the Egyptian-Israeli fighting.

The 11-nation group recessed its formal discussion yesterday after Canadian Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, head of the truce supervision organization, made it plain that he held Israel responsible for the clash in which 38 Egyptians and 8 Israelis died.

But Burns' report also upheld an Israeli contention that continued Egyptian infiltration across the border is one of the main causes of tension in the Holy Land. He said Egyptian authorities "should take appropriate measures" to stop such moves.

The council adjourned subject to call by its president, Selim Sarper of Turkey. Its next meeting probably will be Tuesday or Wednesday.

Egyptian Ambassador Omar Loutfi called on the council to punish Israel as an aggressor. He suggested it might even invoke sanctions—economic, political or military—to prevent another such incident.

Israeli sources indicated they expect the council to limit itself to lesser action.

The U. N. truce chief told the council his investigators found that Israeli Army troops launched the attack on an Egyptian military camp near Gaza and a truckload of Egyptian reinforcements.

Burns said it was "most important to assess the causes contributory to this grave incident." Citing Israeli charges of Egyptian spying, murder and sabotage inside Israel, he added:

"The Gaza incident could appear in this context as retaliation for the spying, sabotage and murders for which the Egyptian military intelligence service was said to be responsible."

The truce chief said tension between the two countries also had been heightened by Egypt's seizure of the Israeli freighter Bat Galim at Suez last Sept. 28 and her execution of two Jews in Cairo in January as Zionist spies.

Bank Guard Gets Stuck in Elevator

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Police raced to the City National Bank during the early morning hours and found strange noises coming from inside. Unable to find the night guard, Ralph Greenwood, they surrounded the building. There were no burglars though. Greenwood was trapped in a stuck elevator. He was pounding desperately on the walls for help.

BEARDSLEY TO TALK

DOVER, Minn. — Philip A. Beardsley, district manager of the social security office, Winona, will explain new social security laws at a public meeting here Monday at 8 p.m. at the Dover school. Emphasis at the session — sponsored by the local Commercial Club — will be the effect new legislation has on farmers.

Clumsy Handling of Yalta Papers Hit

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department has filed an early claim on the 1955 prize for clumsy handling. The way it handled, and then released, the Yalta papers was as clumsy as anything seen in Washington in at least a year.

Secretary of State Dulles juggled the papers as if they were on fire. He didn't seem to know what to do: Make them public or keep them private? In the end they "leaked." Then he made them public.

A year ago the Army gave certain senators, confidentially, a report on its dealings with Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.). One copy was "leaked" to a newspaper, presumably by one of the senators.

Whereupon another senator, hearing of this, decided to release the report to newspapers generally. Publication led to a flaming McCarthy-Army row and eventually to the McCarthy-Army hearings.

Nothing so sensational is expected from release of the Yalta papers, a two-volume account of the 1945 wartime conference between President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Generalissimo Stalin.

Churchill is irritated by the State Department's release of the papers. He gave grudging consent to their publication when pressed by the department. He said there are mistakes in this American version.

State Department officials have worked on gathering the 1945 wartime Yalta documents for almost 10 years, intensely in the last two. They were printed by the government printer in limited number.

For at least a month the department has had 125 sets of the 834-page volumes. Republicans, critical of Roosevelt's performance at Yalta, for years have demanded the papers be published.

Last Monday Henry Snydam, Dulles' press chief, said it was "inadvisable" to release the papers publicly because they involve national security and U.S. relations abroad.

He said Dulles had decided not to publish them but would make 24 copies available to Democratic and Republican leaders in House and Senate and to six congressional committees.

But Sen. George (D-Ga.), chairman of the Senate's Foreign Relations Committee, declined the honor. He didn't want to be blamed, he said, for any "leak" that might occur.

Dulles, after this rebuff, withdrew a bit. He said members of Congress could have the volumes if they wanted them. And on Tuesday at his news conference he said the papers would be made public someday—he didn't know when.

But that same day, Tuesday, one of Dulles' aides told a newsman the volumes would be released to newspapers Thursday for publication.

Singer Ordered to Make Statement On Marriage Status

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Don Mills, lead tenor of the Mills Brothers singing group, has been ordered to answer a lawyer's questions as to whether he is legally married.

Superior Judge Orlando H. Rhodes instructed him to appear at the office of Atty. Seymour M. Lazar April 1 for the questioning.

The lawyer said Mrs. Jean Phillips Mills, of Hollywood, plans to file either a divorce suit or a suit for payment of services rendered against Mills. In an affidavit filed with the court Mrs. Mills said she joined Mills in 1952 as housekeeper and social secretary and in 1953 entered into a "valid marriage relationship" with him. She said that since then Mills has left her.

Pope Pius Attends Lenten Ceremony

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Pius XII today attended a Lenten ceremony for the first time in two years.

The pontiff was too ill last year to attend the annual series of sermons. Today, for the first time since the 40-day season began Feb. 23, the 79-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church observed the ceremony.

In accordance with tradition, the pontiff watched the service in privacy behind a screen. Six cardinals and many other prelates were present.

Farouk's Uncle Dies

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP)—Egyptian Prince Mohammed Ali, an uncle of former King Farouk, died here yesterday after a heart attack. He was 78.

But, just as in the McCarthy case, there was a "leak." It is not yet known who did the "leaking." The State Department doesn't seem to be investigating.

But sometime between Tuesday and Wednesday afternoon several newspapers obtained copies. Dulles then let all the newspapers have them.

Russians Ready To Tighten Travel Limits

MOSCOW (AP)—Izvestia warned today that the Soviet government may tighten travel restrictions on Americans here in reprisal for recent limits put on movements of Russians in the United States.

The government newspaper said steps would be taken if the United States persisted in keeping Russians out of such diverse locales as Brooklyn and Moscow, Idaho.

Listing the areas placed off limits to the Russians in the State Department ruling of last January, Izvestia declared:

"Nothing embarrasses official circles in the United States. They unceremoniously demand that new restrictions on Soviet citizens in the United States be accompanied by the lifting of all restrictions on American citizens in the Soviet Union."

"If one should act on the strict principle of reciprocity," Izvestia said, "then these strict limitations on travel by Soviet citizens must be answered with the same measures in the U.S.S.R."

The State Department declared more than one-fourth of the United States out of bounds to Russian citizens in reprisal for similar long-time curbs against Americans in the Soviet Union.

Russia eased its strict 1948 travel restrictions slightly two years ago, but it still bans travel by U.S. citizens and other foreigners to about 30 per cent of the Soviet Union.

ADA Opens Eighth Annual Convention

WASHINGTON (AP)—Americans for Democratic Action opened its eighth annual convention today with messages of greetings from former President Truman and Adlai Stevenson urging continued political action in behalf of "liberal" policies.

The convention will last three days. Actual work starts tonight with commissions on foreign, domestic and political policy debating proposals for the organization's platform.

The ADA, formed in 1947, calls itself an "independent, anti-Communist, political organization" dedicated to making liberalism a more effective force.

Truman sent a message saying he was sorry he could not attend the convention. He wished the estimated 600 convention delegates success in their "political efforts to protect our constitutional rights and preserve the natural resources of the country from attacks of special interests."

ALSOPS

possible answer to this key question. No one can give any other answer, who knows the hard facts of our weakness.

Our only prospective allies, the Chinese Nationalists, have one unready group of F86 fighters and one obsolete group of F84s to match the very great Communist strength in jet aircraft. All the rest of the small Nationalist air force is composed of rotary engine types.

The U.S. Far Eastern air force has some 500 planes less on its roster today than on the grim day when the Korean War began. Furthermore, it has no bombers whatsoever except for one group of B36s on Guam. As they have been exclusively trained with atomic weapons, the B36s cannot hit a fair sized county with conventional bombs.

Finally, there is the Seventh Fleet, with its total strength of six carriers and no replacements in sight. On the Seventh Fleet will fall—must fall—almost the whole burden of the air offensive. Refueled Air Force fighters may be used as bombers. But the main job of sweeping the enemy airfields, which is the only way to win the air battle, will have to be done by naval air.

Realistic Situation

That is the realistic situation. The Navy's leaders in the Pacific are strongly committed to the view that we must fight for the offshore islands. They do not want to discourage a bold policy. They profess to be able to do the job the situation imposes on them.

But history says it is a very risky business, to send in a carrier force against a strong land-based air force. In the present case, the risk is all the greater because the Communists are ready to use their Hushin-28 jet bombers, which are almost as fast as our carrier-borne fighters. Maybe the optimism of the admirals will be justified by the events. But common prudence demands preparedness for a different outcome.

This assessment of the situation is the real explanation of the recent, sensational Tokyo story reporting that high American authorities expected atomic war in a matter of weeks. The authorities in question were undoubtedly located in the Air Force.

The American air leaders in the Far East are no doubt somewhat prejudiced by the fact that they have virtually nothing to fight a war with, except atomic weapons. Airmen everywhere are also inclined to expect land-based air to win a contest with carrier aviation. The Air Force viewpoint must be discounted for these reasons.

Yet however much you discount the Air Force viewpoint, it is still more closely in accord with the facts than the admirals' viewpoint. We simply have not got the forces available in the Far East to be even reasonably sure of winning a fight for the offshore islands with conventional weapons. The forces needed to give us a reasonable margin were sacrificed, long ago, to the budget and the tax structure.

But if we enter the fight for the offshore islands, we must win at all costs. For if American forces are engaged and defeated, all Asia will regard the defeat as decisive proof of superior Communist power. And the sequel will then be total catastrophe throughout Asia.

Hence it is not hard to foresee what can too easily happen. If the fight for the islands goes against us, as it may well do, there will be only one sure way to win. Whatever may be the administration's present intentions, the use of the atomic weapons can thus become unavoidable. And so our own weakness can end by plunging us into an atomic war for Quemoy and the Matsus.

University Schedules Short Course on Fairs

ST. PAUL (AP)—The University of Minnesota will sponsor a short course in county fair management at the Nicolet Hotel, Minneapolis, March 28-29.

Monday morning's program will get under way with talks on changing the site of a fair and a report of an Ohio survey on public acceptance of county fairs. The afternoon program includes discussions of fair operating costs, youth benefits and responsibilities at county fairs and public relations. The Tuesday program will feature talks on the role of the livestock exhibitor and judge at the county fair, developing centennial celebrations, beautifying fair grounds and efficient fair administration.

Ike to Join Mamie At Gettysburg Farm

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower arranged to join his wife at Gettysburg, Pa., today for an overnight stay at their new home.

He scheduled his departure for about noon on the 85-mile drive. The First Lady and her mother, Mrs. John S. Doud motored to the new country place yesterday afternoon and spent the night there. It was Mrs. Eisenhower's first venture outdoors since she came down with the flu early last week—and the first time she had slept in her new home. Eisenhower plans to drive back to Washington tomorrow to attend the annual dinner of the White House News Photographers Assn.

The Coast Guard Cutter Fern was finding little use for its ice breaker as it passed the Burlington bridge on the Mississippi River shortly after 10 o'clock this morning. The Fern is expected to encounter little more than floating ice between here and Wabasha, but will face a heavy layer of ice at Lake Pepin. The cutter's arrival at Winona today was the 11th time the first spring passage has occurred before March 19 according to records dating back to 1858. (Daily News photo)

Fern Again 1st Boat Up River

The U. S. Coast Guard Cutter Fern was moving upstream on the Mississippi River today, finding relatively easy going most of the way. It passed Winona about 10 o'clock this morning after docking last night at Trempealeau, Wis.

But the small cutter, equipped with an ice breaker, is expected to encounter difficulties upon arriving at Lake Pepin. Ice on the lake was slightly more than two feet thick early this morning, and there apparently hasn't been much change since. There has been a slight honeycombing on the surface, but the ice remains solid over the lake.

Brilliant sunny skies pushed the thermometer from a chilly 14 degrees at 7:30 a. m. today to 31 at noon. The Weather Bureau forecast indicates there will be increasing cloudiness today with warmer temperatures tonight. A low of 22 is forecast. Saturday will be cloudy with occasional light snow and colder temperatures Saturday night. High temperature will be about 34 degrees.

The weatherman added that due to the cold temperatures, there will be little change in the levels of tributary streams. The Mississippi River here stood at 5.95 this morning, an increase of .15 of a foot in 24 hours. There was floating ice in the river.

Only half an inch of snow fell Friday afternoon and evening, bringing the total since October 20 to 20 inches, an inch more than the November-through-March season last year. There has been two inches of snow this month as compared to a 9-inch fall in March 1952. The high total a year ago included a 5-inch blowing snow March 12, 1954.

Previous winter snow fall totals are 26½ inches during the winter of 1952-53; 30½ inches during 1951-52 (which also had an 8-inch total in April 1952) and 82½ inches during the 1950-51 winter.

The Fern's arrival marked the fifth time in the past 100 years that the first boat through the river has arrived on March 18. Last year, the Fern passed Winona on March 6 and two years ago it arrived on March 15.

The Fern has been the first through for the past four years, beginning with March 18 in 1952. There have been six earlier arrivals by riverboats while later passages have been recorded in 89 years.

Badger Official Making Appeal for Natural Gas Control

MADISON (U.P.)—Atty. Gen. Vernon Thomson appeared at a public hearing on a natural gas resolution Thursday shortly before he flew to Washington to appeal for strong federal regulation of natural gas prices.

Thomson planned to join Gov. Kohler and Sen. Wiley today in urging President Eisenhower to oppose any weakening of federal regulation under the Natural Gas Act and a recent U. S. Supreme Court ruling.

Before starting his trip, Thomson addressed the Assembly State Affairs Committee which held a hearing on a resolution to memorialize Congress and the President to retain regulation on prices of the natural gas producers.

The committee voted unanimously to recommend that the Assembly pass the resolution.

"Can we count on the vote of the junior senator from Wisconsin?" asked Assemblyman Sokolowski (D-Milwaukee), committee member.

Sen. Joseph McCarthy voted for the Kerr Gas Bill in 1950.

The resolution offered by Assemblyman Metzner (R-Madison) urges defeat of any change in the 1938 Natural Gas Act "which would create a gap in the price regulatory chain, or otherwise weaken the protection accorded consumers under the act."

Both the Assembly and Senate are expected to approve the resolution when they meet next Tuesday.

Metzner told the committee that "usually these memorials to Congress don't mean much, but in this case we've been invited to express ourselves."

Thomson told the committee any step to remove FCC regulation of producers' well-head prices "would leave Wisconsin consumers at the mercy of monopolistic interests."

Mankato Phone Workers Strike In Pay Dispute

MANKATO, Minn. (U.P.)—Employees of the Mankato Citizens Telephone Co. went on strike today in a dispute over retroactive pay clause in a new contract.

The strike affects 59 employees, members of local 292, AFL-Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

Telephone service in Mankato and seven nearby exchanges was not immediately affected by the walkout. All equipment is automatic.

The strike came after union rejection of the company's proposal that a two-year contract be signed without retroactive pay.

Lt. Workman's Body Found in South Carolina

Flier's Helmet First Spotted By Farmer

The body of 1st Lt. Robert Workman, 26, Winona, Minn., who was blown from his jet plane during a violent storm Sunday, was recovered near Moncks Corner, S.C., Thursday.

(Moncks Corner is about 25 air miles north of Charleston, S.C.) Workman was blown from the ship when its canopy was wrenched loose as it went into a spin at 38,000 feet during a violent windstorm. The two-place plane, flying from Sanford, Fla. to Norfolk, Va., was piloted by Lt. Col. Wade K. Forman, University City, Mo.

Robert Hill, a farmer, found the body when he started a search after spotting the flier's helmet. Maj. Ervin Melton of the South Carolina Civil Air Patrol said Lt. Workman's parachute had failed to open.

Workman, entered the Air Force in 1950 and received his wings Sept. 13, 1952. A former Marine, he had been an aeronautical student at University of Minnesota.

The body was taken to the Charleston Air Force Base before being sent home.

His mother, Mrs. Gladys Workman, 112 E. Howard St., said she had last seen her son at Christmas.

She recalled that his father, Harold, drowned in 1942 in the Mississippi River. He had been president of the Winona Junior Chamber of Commerce.

A rescuer of the elder Workman had been instrumental in getting for the City of Winona was used for the first time in a vain effort to revive him.

Lt. Workman was born in Winona June 16, 1928. He was a 1946 graduate of the Winona Senior High School, entering the Marine Corps after graduation.

He served a year with the Marines and then attended Winona State Teachers College for a year before enrolling at the University of Minnesota, where he studied aeronautical engineering for two years.

He entered the Air Force in August 1950.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed this morning. Surviving are his mother; a sister, Mrs. Joseph Wicka, 510 Hamilton St. and his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Murray, 422 Center St.

Duluth Fireman Wins Compensation For Rescue Injuries

ST. PAUL (U.P.)—The State Industrial Commission today reversed the decision of its referee, Charles A. Hatch, and ordered compensation paid to Edward Sobczyk, Duluth fireman who was injured in 1952 while attempting to rescue a man who had fallen into a depression.

The three-member commission ordered compensation of $35 a week be paid to the fireman for 17 months, from Jan. 15, 1953 to June 11, 1954, with payments to continue thereafter as his disability warrants under provisions of the workmen's compensation law.

The referee found that an accidental injury occurred which arose out of the fireman's employment, but denied compensation on the ground that the required notice or knowledge had not been received by the employer. Sobczyk appealed.

The commission cited a Supreme Court decision in the case of O'Grady versus the City of Duluth, holding that the statute does not require written notice of death or injury where the employer has actual knowledge.

The commission held that when Asst. Fire Chief W. J. Smith told Sobczyk during the rescue attempts that "you'd better go and take a breather," there was actual knowledge of the occurrence of an accident and "knowledge by Smith was knowledge by the city of Duluth."

Signing the order were Commissioners Ralph L. Distad, A. E. Ramberg, and R. E. Faricy.

Northwest Orders 10 New Planes

ST. PAUL (U.P.)—Northwest Orient Airlines today ordered 10 new planes from Douglas Aircraft Co. and will decide later whether they will be DC6B or DC7 craft.

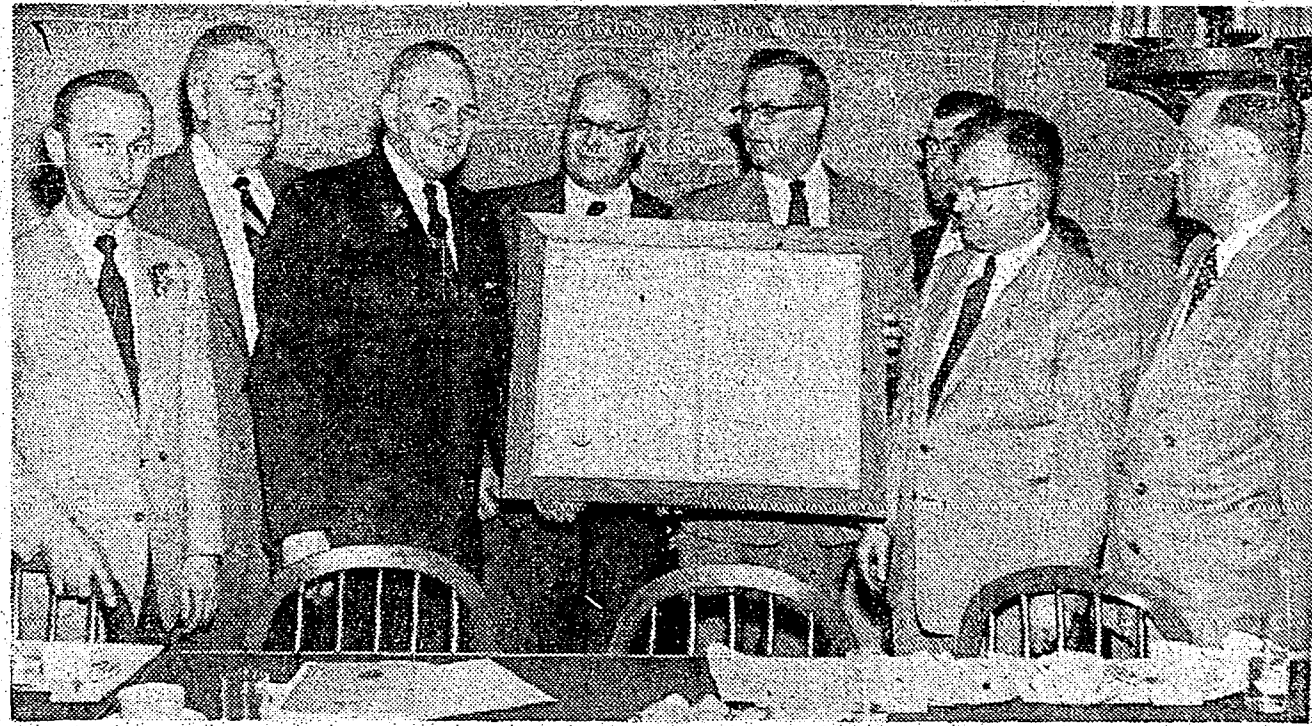

Should Northwest select the DC6B, the contract would involve about 14 million dollars. If the DC7 is chosen, the cost would be about 23 million dollars.

Woman Has Twins — 48 Days Apart

DELAWARE, Ohio (U.P.)—On Jan. 28 one twin was born to Mrs. Bernard Schmees, 35. Yesterday—48 days later—the other was born.

Dr. James Parker said the first infant, a girl delivered prematurely by Caesarian section, resulted from normal pregnancy within the uterus. The second, a boy, was from pregnancy outside the uterus, one of less than 200 known cases, he said.

The first child, still at Jane M. Case Hospital, now weighs 5 pounds 12 ounces. The other weighed 5 pounds 4 ounces at birth.

The Recently-Organized Winona Federation of Teachers Thursday night received its charter at a banquet meeting at the First Congregational Church. Among those attending the banquet were, left to right, Henry Winkels, Newport, Minn., secretary of the Minnesota Federation of Labor; George W. Beacom, St. Paul, American Federation of Teachers area vice president; Carl J. Megel, Chicago, AFT national president who made the charter presentation; Harvey Otterson,

Minneapolis, president of the state federation; Eldon Brandt, president of the Winona federation who accepted the charter in behalf of the local organization; Harold Niemeyer, Minneapolis, representative of the regional office of the AFL; Lewis Schoening, Winona federation member and program chairman for the banquet; and Morris Bergsrud, representative of the Winona Trades & Labor Council. ## TEACHERS GET UNION CHARTER

Urged to Call Public's Attention to Deficiencies

Public school teachers must assume the leadership in securing improved and expanded educational opportunities for the youth of the nation, the national president of the AFL American Federation of Teachers told charter members of a new Winona AFT affiliate here Thursday night.

Speaking at the recently-organized Winona Federation of Teachers charter presentation banquet at the First Congregational Church, Carl P. Megel, Chicago, told the teachers that they "have opportunities never the privilege of teachers before in the history of America."

In calling attention to critical educational needs and in spearheading the fight for correction of school deficiencies.

Megel headed a delegation of union officials who were present for the acceptance by the Winona federation— with 53 members the state's largest charter unit—of its local charter.

The formal presentation of the charter was made at the close of the banquet meeting by the national president to Eldon Brandt, first president of the Winona local.

Guests at the banquet included Harvey Otterson, Minneapolis, president, and Henry Winkels, Newport, secretary of the Minnesota Federation of Teachers; George W. Beacom, St. Paul, area vice president of the national organization; Harold Niemeyer, a representative of the Minneapolis regional office of the AFL; and Morris Bergsrud, representing the Winona Trades & Labor Council.

Superintendent of Schools Harvey D. Jensen and Carroll Syverson, president of the Winona Board of Education, attended as invited guests.

Cites National Shortage

In his address to the teachers, Megel called attention to a national shortage of qualified teachers stemming from an upward trend in the birth rate.

"Since we sat down to this banquet," Megel remarked, "980 new children have been born in the United States. And in the length of time it took me to say that two more were born. One child is being born every 7½ seconds and each should have the inherent right of American society to a good education."

"But," Megel continued, "what do we find. We find underpaid and overworked teachers. We find that 300,000 teachers have gone out of the profession in the past ten years to take jobs that will pay them a living wage. Today we need 300,000 more qualified teachers. I say qualified because the problem of certification is a pressing one today and in my travels around the nation I've found communities where there are persons teaching who do not have even a high school diploma."

Referring to the shortage of qualified teachers, Megel stated that "on the basis of 30 children to a classroom, some 9 million boys and girls in America today are being short-changed as far as adequate teaching is concerned."

The AFT president also maintained that every teacher employed today is "underpaid at least $1,000. In 1939 thousands of teachers all over the country were earning at least $3,000. Taking into consideration the rise in the cost of living, these teachers should be making at least $6,879 today if they are to enjoy the same buying power as they did in 1939. But where thousands earned $3,000 in 1939 less than 6,000 teachers across the country make that equivalent salary today."

Building Needs
Megel also cited critical school building needs confronting the public today.

"When I was out in Long Island," Megel said, "I saw children going to school in an old dog kennel . . . in North Carolina classes were being held in an old coal bin . . . in Kentucky wash rooms, cloak rooms and a basement room were being used for classroom purposes."

He said that 60 per cent of all American school buildings were constructed prior to 1900, in Chicago four schools were built before 1856, in Mobile, Ala., a school now in use was erected in 1936, still used in Massachusetts is a building constructed in 1818 and in Pennsylvania 2,200 schools still have outdoor toilets.

"Perhaps you in Minnesota do not have problems as serious," Megel acknowledged, "but unless something is done immediately you're going to experience these

2 May Face Circuit Court Larceny Trials

Brothers From Arkansas Area Farm

DURAND, Wis. — Two brothers from the Arkansas area face possible circuit court trials for grand larceny starting April 4 as a result of recent action by the Pepin County sheriff and judge.

Arthur Dahl, 19, pleaded guilty to grand larceny in connection with the theft of $80 from the John Bilderback home, Town of Frankfort, Dec. 4, 1954, before County Judge Joseph Reidner at 4:30 p.m. Thursday here. His brother Stanley, 18, was arrested by Sheriff Vic Seline Wednesday night and is being held for hearing on similar charges, though no specific counts have been named yet, according to Undersheriff Mrs. Seline. Both are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Dahl, now of the Twin Cities and formerly of Arkansas. The boys reside between the two places, though Arthur is currently absent without leave from the Marine Corps.

He was bound over to the spring term of circuit court yesterday under $2,000 bond and is being held in the county jail here. The sheriff picked him up in St. Paul Wednesday after he had been arrested Sunday by St. Paul police in connection with the Eugene Salzman disappearance. Salzman was being hunted at the time for the slaying of his parents at Hayward last week.

Though Dahl pleaded guilty to the one charge, others are being investigated by John G. Bartholomew, Durand, Pepin County district attorney and will probably be brought up at the April trial, Judge Reidner said today. Stanley is being held while investigations of alleged similar thefts made by him are conducted. He is scheduled to appear before Judge Reidner today.

Arthur allegedly deserted the Marines from a Great Lakes training station hospital recently and was arrested in St. Paul as police searched for Salzman. He reportedly told authorities he was acquainted with Salzman and had talked with him March 7. Later, when Salzman was arrested in Waco, Texas, Dahl confessed he did not know the Hayward soldier, according to St. Paul police. He then told of his connection with the Pepin County thefts, the police said.

Seline arrested Stanley late Wednesday after bringing Arthur here from the Twin Cities.

Early Morning Mail Train to Pass Up Winona

Elimination of the Winona stop by the early morning mail train was announced today by Acting Postmaster C. B. Erwin, who explained that it will mainly affect mail being dispatched from Winona for the Twin Cities.

Erwin said that the northbound train that formerly stopped here at 3:30 a.m. daily, would now leave the Winona mail at La Crosse. The mail will be brought to Winona by a 4:20 a.m. train.

He noted, however, that letters sent to Red Wing and the Twin Cities should be mailed by 11 p.m. in order to arrive for delivery early the next morning.

The Post Office department announced that the new schedule will go into effect Saturday.

Erwin added that the new schedule will probably not affect deliveries or boxholders receiving mail from Chicago, Milwaukee and eastern cities in that it will arrive here at 4:20 a.m.

Jane Wyman Won't Predict Oscar Award

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — Time for a chat with Jane Wyman about Oscar and things.

The talented lass from St. Joe, Mo., won an Academy Award in 1948 by not saying a word in "Johnny Belinda." This year she's up for another one because of her performance in "Magnificent Obsession." What are her chances?

"I doubt if I'll win," she commented candidly. "It looks like a race between Judy Garland and Grace Kelly. I don't know which one will win. Judy certainly did a magnificent job in 'A Star Is Born' and a lot of people are pulling for her. On the other hand, Grace was terrific in 'The Country Girl' and the vote may go to a newcomer."

"You can't tell. If Kelly and Garland split the ballots, the Oscar might go to me or Audrey Hepburn—Sabrina was very popular for Dorothy Dandridge ('Carmen Jones')."

"It all boils down to the fact that you can't predict Academy Awards. You never know until you open the envelope and see the winner's name."

This year all the star nominees will take part in the program, giving out minor awards. This appears to be a scheme to cut down on absenteeism. It turns out it wasn't needed, since some former recipients as Marlon Brando and Bing Crosby have changed their ways and are eager to attend.

"I think it's a good idea to have us all work that night," Jane observed. "It keeps us busy and keeps build up the suspense."

"I have often wondered how an Oscar nominee feels on the big night. Jane told me:

"You feel numb. Naturally, it's a pretty exciting time, and you're always cognizant of what's going on. Like at the nominations telecast, I was sitting there blithering, watching Judy Garland get her nomination. Then they announced my name. It just didn't sink in. Finally, the fellow who was sitting next to me whispered that I had just been nominated, and I suddenly realized it."

"Later people asked me why I was looking so blank when my name was announced. I heard it, but I was in another world."

Armed Forces

PLAINVIEW, Minn. — Gerald Daniel Cavanaugh, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Cavanaugh, is among nearly 100 young men undergoing tests this week at the Air Force Base, Omaha, Neb., for admission to the United States Air Force Academy. Cavanaugh is a sophomore at St. Mary's College, Winona. Examinations are expected to take about a week and the first class of the academy will begin this summer at the interim school site at the Army Air Force Base, Denver, Colo. The permanent school will be at Colorado Springs, Colo.

SPRING VALLEY, Minn. — Sgt. C. Ronald L. Odell, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson, is a recent graduate of the Infantry school at Ft. Benning, Ga. He was enrolled in the school's rifle marksmanship instructor course. The soldier entered the Army in January 1949. His wife lives in Lawton, Okla.

TAYLOR, Wis. — Pvt. Ardell D. Perrier, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Herried, recently arrived at Puerto Rico for duty with the 23rd Infantry Division. He entered the Army in October and took basic training at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.

ARKANSAS, Wis. (Special) — Clayton Myers is spending a furlough from his duties with the Marine Corps with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Myers.

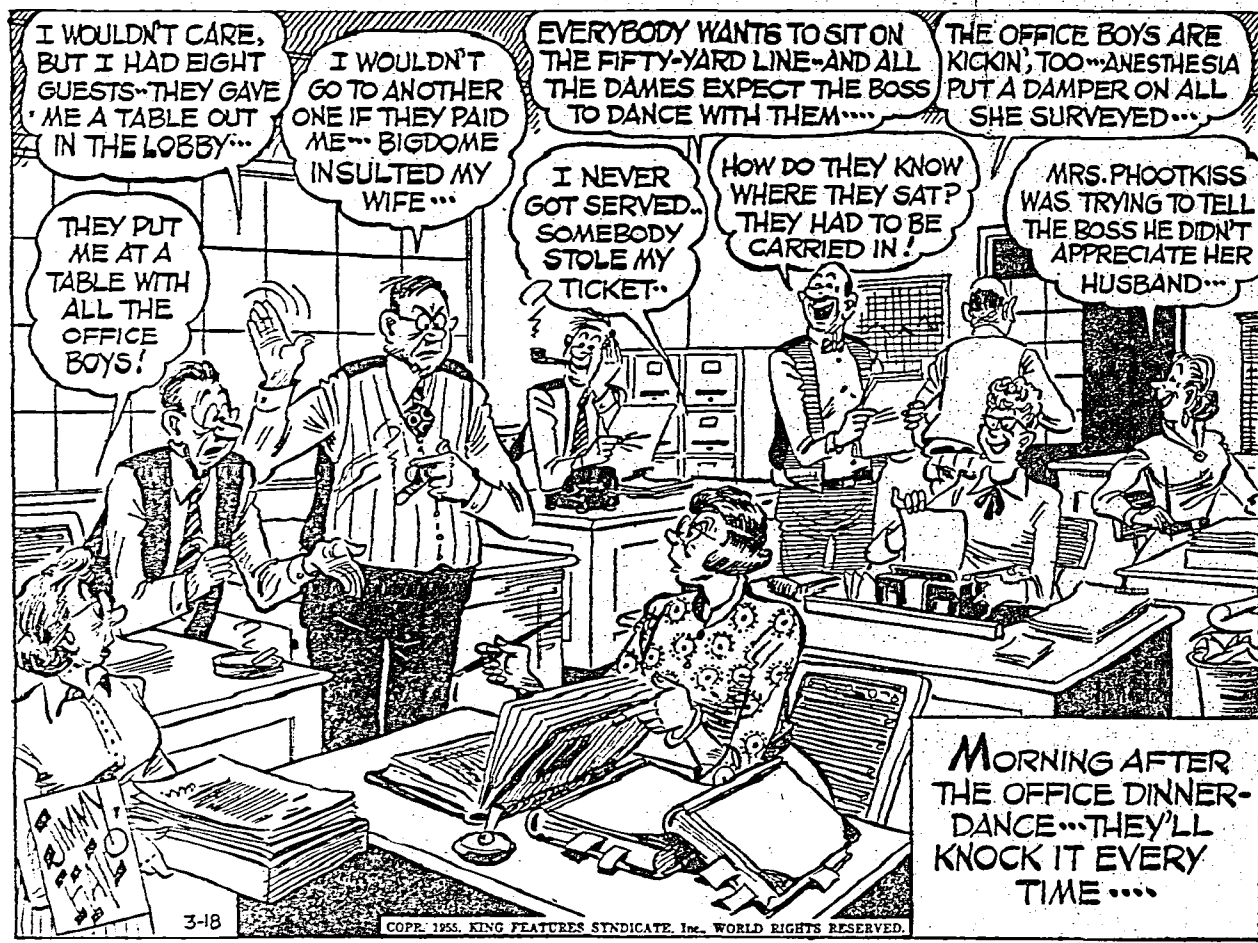

Dean Richardson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Richardson, is on furlough from the Air Force.

Changing Similes Unkind to Women

By EARL WILSON
NEW YORK—Time tears on—as is beautifully illustrated in the changing fashions in similes.

"He ate like he was going to the electric chair" or "he ate like the Russians were in the Bronx" have been Broadway and Hollywood sparklers for some years.

Lena Turner, Jane Russell, Marie McDonald and other sweater girls long ago inspired the classic:

"Modern girls are shaped like a chiffonier with its top drawer pulled out."

The trend is toward greater candor concerning the ladies. I heard a woman described as being "as mouthy as the Mississippi" while another lady was said to "have lips like rubies . . . Rubi-rossa's."

Mark Twain's "as comfortable as a toothache" seems mild now. So does Bob Davis' "as beautiful as a flower in a seed catalog" and Flender Ward O'Malley's claim that a certain guest was "as welcome as the coal bill in father's Christmas mail."

All these I found in the late Frank J. Willstach's "Dictionary of Similes," now 30 years old.

There was Heywood Brown's famous crack about a ball player who "ran the bases as if he was hauling a fat man in a rickshaw."

"Her mouth opened like a folding bed," "as dull as a Philadelphia Sunday," "as slow as a plumber going for his tools" and "as soft as a government job" were some other oldies.

I know they're old — Philly's now very lively Sundays, government employees work furiously, and plumbers are downright speedy.

Ring Lardner said that in high society he "attracted about as much attention as a dirty finger nail in the third grade." And Josh Billings said:

"Most men are like eggs—too full of themselves to hold anything else."

But back to today — Jimmy Cannon has encountered somebody who "had the personality of an old fried egg," and he mentioned an athlete who "let out a scream like the pullout whistle on the Queen Mary."

Ticket Broker George Solitaire has said some Broadway brethren are "empty suits" and some of the ladies are "frayed curtains."

When a Broadway actor's in a hit, says Eddie Hanley, "he's as quiet as an overture."

"Should you have a delightful one, especially about your home state or community, lend it to me. Despite all these, good similes today seem as rare as poor Texans."

Supervisor Called To Tell About Peress Promotion

WASHINGTON — The Senate Investigations subcommittee called Irving Peress' former Army supervisor today to tell what he knows about the New York dentist's promotion and discharge.

The witness, Lt. Col. Ruluff Lev-erich, was chief dental surgeon at Camp Kilmer, N. J., when Peress was stationed there.

The subcommittee is seeking to unravel Army red tape surrounding Peress' promotion to major and his subsequent honorable discharge after he had refused to answer questions about alleged Communist connections.

Lt. Col. Chester T. Brown, a Camp Kilmer intelligence officer, testified yesterday he had noted on Peress' promotion request papers that the dentist was "suspected of disaffection," and recommended the advancement be disapproved.

"It seemed to me impossible that the promotion would go through," Brown said.

Maj. Vernon McKenzie of the surgeon general's office here said he also protested promoting Peress and some 700 other officers without consideration of their security status, but the promotion went through.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) told reporters he hopes for a wind-up of the hearings one week from tonight, after three days of testimony by Army Counselor John G. Adams, Secretary of the Army Stevens and Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker, former commanding officer at Camp Kilmer.

A pretty young B-way stage star of another show may not know what Marion Coby, recently of "Pajama Game," has said about her in her divorce action. The star was "tailed" by sleuths . . . Marilyn Monroe's "gone New York," and is apartment-hunting. She helped Milton H. Green's wife Amy give him a surprise party for his 33rd birthday. Her agents and her studio begin serious back-to-work negotiations any day.

Broadway favorites to win stage Tonies March 27 include Mary Martin, Cyril Richard, Walter Slezak, Carol Haney, and Nancy Kelly, but nobody'll talk.

Let's get Growing

By A. F. SHIRA
HOME LANDSCAPING
WHEN planning to landscape a new home, the owner should endeavor to give his house an attractive setting that will be pleasing to him as well as to the passer-by. Since the home is built for permanence, the plantings on the lot should be arranged to set the house off to the best advantage. The planting scheme should take in the entire width of the lot and back to the rear of the house, joining the side yards with the front to present the house and the grounds as a complete whole.

Since the grounds are seen not only "full-front," but also at an angle, the planting should extend around the corners of the house to some extent to broaden the perspective. How far it should be continued along the sides depends on the general lines of the house and the door and window openings. Plants that will be attractive throughout most of the year should be used, and properly spaced so they will not become overly crowded as they grow. Foliage and not flower should be the first consideration. The average small home has little use for formal plantings.

The front entrance is usually emphasized and a Pyramidal Arbor-vitae can be used on each side of the doorway and, also, at each front corner of the house; or a Dundee Juniper, or other slender, upright growing form that is hardy in this area. And the hardiness is what you must watch. The Irish Juniper is a fine, slender columnar tree, but I have not found it dependably hardy here. The same is true of the Globe Arborvitae.

On either side of the tail planting at the entrance and the corners lower forms such as Pfitzer Juniper, Savin Juniper and Mugo Pine can be used. In between the entrance and corner plantings the low growing Spiraea Anthony Waterer with its pink flowers will blend in well with the other plants. Other flowering shrubs that can be planted to advantage are, lilacs, hydrangea, roses, etc. Do not plant shrubs or evergreens in straight rows along foundation walls.

Corners should be emphasized, but inside angles generally are not planted. The corner groupings on the sides of the lot can be extended toward the rear and filled out with perennials and annual flowers. If a low hedge is desired along the front line of the lot, attention can be focused directly on the house and the lawn by omitting the hedge for a considerable space in front of the house.

Trees are important in properly framing the house, or to screen an unpleasant background. Select the trees or plants for what they do. Your local nursery, or a nursery catalog, can give you information on height, spread, form of growth and hardiness. Evergreens of tall growth such as cedars and spruces, or other large trees, should not be planted close to the house.

Since permanence is the objective in landscaping the house itself, flowering annuals and herbaceous perennials should not be used in such plantings. Simplicity is the goal of good landscaping for the home.

A gardening enthusiast from the thriving community of Houston writes that they have two garden clubs there, one called the Forget-Me-Not Circle and the other the Iris Circle. They have monthly meetings usually with talks by outside persons, or club members. Each year these two clubs jointly sponsor a flower show. They are conducting a "Community Flower" campaign to encourage the planting of the selected flower in both city and rural areas. In addition they have several other ambitious projects lined up to further beautify the community.

What is your garden club doing?

The new Senate Office Building will have a 500-seat auditorium with booths for radio and television broadcasts of hearings.

This Walking Upright Just Silly Habit

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK — An open letter to Dr. James A. Tobey, Newtown Conn.

Dear Doc:

I just want to tell you how much my backache has improved since I took your hint to quit walking upright and start running around on all fours.

It has made such a change in my life you'd hardly recognize me as the same man.

For years my poor aching back had caused me intermittent trouble. But I could never track down the real reason for it.

Then, some weeks ago, I came across an article by you in "Today's Health," published by the American Medical Assn. You listed poor posture as among some 58 possible causes of backache.

"Standing erect may help distinguish man from the apes, but it certainly lets him in for a lot of trouble," you wrote. "The human skeleton is not particularly well adapted to this upright position, except possibly during that relatively brief time of youth when man is more or less lean, lithe and buoyant."

Erect Posture Pains

"For most of the rest of his life, this erect posture has made man prone to pains in the back and other ills which might not occur if he ran on all fours."

Was this the answer to my problem? I decided to go about on all fours for a month to find out.

The month is over. I am happy to report that not only has my backache largely disappeared, but my sinus is cured. My vision has improved so much I have thrown away my glasses. My appetite is fine and I have lost 15 pounds. I feel like a tiger—except at work.

Since most of your readers probably lack the courage to try to remedy a backache by going around on all fours, I'd like to give you a case history of what happened to me and the predicament I now find myself in.

Any Objections?

First of all, I asked my wife if she had any objections to my making so drastic a change in my everyday posture. She said she'd love to see how I looked. I promptly got down on all fours.

"Why you look much better that way," she said. "It hides your stomach."

The first few days I ran around on all fours only at home, or in my immediate neighborhood. Late at night, my back and arms hurt terribly, and everytime I tried to go faster than a dog trot I fell on my face.

But as my muscles strengthened, my shape thinned down, and the callouses thickened on my palms and fingertips, I found I could gallop around the block without getting tired.

Reasonable Dogs

For some reason the dogs I met in these early nocturnal training ramblings resented my four-limbed posture. I had fights with a police dog, a dachshund, two fox terriers and a French poodle. Oddly enough, the poodle put up the best scrap. I had one devil of a time proving to him I was the better man.

For comfortable going about on all fours I find the best costume is loose-fitting slacks, a sweater, open shirt, tennis shoes for traction, and a cap—my hat kept falling off and showing my bald spot.

The first time I climbed into the bus on all fours to go to work I felt a mite self-conscious. I was afraid of being stared at. But after a startled first glance the other passengers made room for me to read my newspaper on the floor, and paid me no more heed. You have to do more than get down on all fours to attract attention in Manhattan.

Ruins Drinking

The same thing is true at cocktail parties. My new posture actually has reduced my social drinking. For when I loped up on three limbs to my host, holding up my glass for a nip for the road, he looks down as if seeing me for the first time, and says, "Really, old fellow, don't you think you've had enough?"

My only trouble, doc, is at the office. My boss says that if policy reasons he can't allow me to do my work on all fours, the only way I now feel comfortable. He says that if I don't work sitting up at my desk like everybody else,

The Casual Observer

By GRETCHEN L. LAMBERTON
EVERY community has a few "me-firsters" in it, whose philosophy is "me first, and the heck with the rest of the world." These are the people who cause traffic accidents, hoard scarce items, barge through waiting lines, duck responsibility, and so on. If they manage to worm themselves into high places they are apt to cause wars. A sure and easy way to spot them is by their traffic manners.

Several days ago during a hard rain storm I had the misfortune of running into one of the most flagrant of me-firsters—one of those who has the courtesy mailbox space on the Fourth street side of the post office while they do business in the post office or elsewhere. As I was driving up to this courtesy box another car cut in ahead of me and stopped directly in front of the box and a middle-aged man got out. I pulled up behind him, waiting for him to get his letter mailed. Instead, he walked toward the post office. I called out to him, "Would you mind moving your car up so as not to block the mailbox?" He looked at me and coolly continued on his way and went up the post office steps.

A second car pulled up just behind me wanting to get at the courtesy box. We waited. A third car drew up behind the second car waiting. Nothing happened. Finally the end car began to honk irritably, then the one next to me began. A fourth car joined the waiting line and began to honk too. I rolled down my window and pointed to the parked car, indicating that I couldn't budge.

At this point the me-firster appeared at the post office door and ambled quite unhurriedly down the steps. As he passed I called to him, "Did you know you've blocked four cars from using the mailbox?"

That was a stupid thing to do, because in the first place it did no earthly good except to relieve my irritation, and in the second place it very likely just made the me-firster feel important at having made so many cars wait his whim. But the stupidest thing of all was that I took down his license number on a scrap of paper in order to report him, then saw it blow out of the window and into a mud puddle.

From up Lake City way comes a request for "your favorite Chinese recipe." It's hard to decide between a good chow mein made with beef tenderloin, and sweet-and-sour pork and one or two others. But I think this Pineapple Chicken is perhaps my favorite. You can get bamboo shoots and water chestnuts in small cans at most grocery stores, and the bok choy mentioned is the long celery-cabbage carried by many markets.

2 tablespoons vegetable oil, 1/2 cup finely sliced celery, 1/2 cup finely chopped bok choy (or use extra celery), 1/2 cup water chestnuts and 1/2 cup bamboo shoots cut fine, 1 teaspoon sugar, 2 tablespoons soya sauce, 1 teaspoon Chinese flavoring powder (like Accent), 2 cups chicken broth, 2 cups cooked chicken thinly sliced, 1 1/2 cups canned pineapple cubes, 2 tablespoons cornstarch mixed with 3 tablespoons cold pineapple juice (or water).

Heat oil in heavy iron skillet and fry vegetables for 2 minutes. Add seasoning and broth and steam 4 minutes. Stir in chicken and pineapple, cover and steam one minute. Thicken with cornstarch, stirring constantly. Cook one minute and serve hot with slivered blanched almonds sprinkled on top. Serve with rice. Usually the soya sauce makes it salty enough without additional salt.

backache or no backache, I'll be fired.

But, Doc, those eight hours at a desk are sheer torture. Once you learn the carefree pleasure of going about on all fours you can never be happy again even in a semiupright position.

Once you get the habit of traveling on all fours you find it harder to give up than smoking. The other night, coming home on all fours as usual, I saw a golden full moon rise, and felt a sudden intoxicating desire to lift up my head and bay at it. Isn't that natural, Doc?

But what can I do about this? I've tried myself in at the office? I'd like to quit my job, and I would, too—if I knew of any way I could earn a respectable living on all fours.

It isn't my posture that gives me backaches now, Doc. It's the rule-bound posture of civilization; and it causes most of our headaches as well as backaches. How are we going to cure people of civilization, Doc?

Hopefully yours,
Hal Boyle.

Little Change In U. S. Weather

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Little change was reported in the nation's weather today, generally mild in most of the southern section, and a little cool across the northern tier of states.

Light rain or snow fell in areas from Wisconsin and Illinois eastward through the Great Lakes region into Pennsylvania. South of the snow belt, rain was general in a band from Oklahoma east and northeast across most of Kentucky and northern Tennessee to the Middle Atlantic states around Virginia. Dry and generally clear weather was reported in most other sections of the country.

The coldest weather centered in northern Minnesota. Lowest was -8 at International Falls, Minn.

The white lily was one of the commonest garden flowers of the ancient world.

TC Announces 15 Scholarships

Announcement of the first 15 scholarships awarded to high school seniors for the academic year 1955-56 at Winona State Teachers College was made today by Dean Maurice Mariner, chairman of the scholarships and loans committee.

"The committee wants to emphasize the fact that these awards represent just the beginning of the list for the coming year," Mariner said. "Announcements of further awards to applicants from schools outside Winona will be made from time to time through the spring. Announcement of awards to Winona Senior High School students and to those currently enrolled in college will not be made until sometime in May."

The preliminary list released today includes: Edgar J. Shaw, Dodge Center; Sara McBride, Stewartville; Dwayne Glasenapp, Rochester; Anna Joyce Olson, Bellevue; Shirley A. Hoberg, Fairbault; Robert Motzko, Farmington; Elaine Halvorson, Brainerd; Mary F. Kleis, Hastings; Audrey Krenz, Hastings; Margaret Ann Brown, Fairbault; Virginia L. Richards, Brownsville; Darlene Moeller, Fairmont; Shirley Ann Ellis, Austin; Carol Leibner, Lewiston, and Suzanne Hennnessy, Gary, Ind.

Mariner stated that the number of applications received at the college up to March 15 had been unprecedented.

"Most of the applicants represent a high caliber of student in academic standing, school citizenship and qualities of leadership," Mariner said. "We could not ask for finer applicants for entry into the teaching field."

Members of the scholarships and loans committee at the college are the Misses Gertrude Finch and Marguerita Steffenson; Lyle Arns, Edward M. Davis and Mariner.

There was a 3.7 per cent decrease in the number of cigarettes sold in the United States between 1953 and 1954 and a 3 per cent decrease between 1952 and 1953, some but not all of it attributable to increased use of king size cigarettes, says the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization.

Sixty-Five Winona Businessmen Thursday afternoon visited Winona's public and parochial schools and colleges in the annual observance of Business-Industry-Education Day here. Following the school visitations, the businessmen and teachers met for a social hour at the Winona State Teachers College Student Union. An estimated 250 attended the tea. Left to right above are the Rev. Harold Dittman, superintendent of schools of the Catholic diocese of Winona; Lewis Schoening, a member of the public schools faculty who served as general chairman for B-I-E Day this year; L. O. Peterson, president of the Winona Chamber of Commerce; M. O. Wedul, Winona State Teachers College representative who was chairman of the social committee; Miss Modesta

Gallery, College of Saint Teresa, a member of the planning committee, and E. R. Lewandowski, St. Mary's College, chairman of the publicity committee. Thursday night Dr. Nels Minne, president of the Winona State Teachers College; Sister M. Helen of the College of Saint Teresa, and Lewandowski were heard on a special B-I-E Day program broadcast by KWNQ and KWNQ-FM. Dr. Minne discussed educational problems including the current teacher shortage. Sister Helen described the activities of foreign students in Winona and Lewandowski discussed the contribution to education which will result from the construction of a new science building on the St. Mary's campus. ## High Court Orders Rehearing in Award To St. Paul Nurse

ST. PAUL, Minn. — The Minnesota Supreme Court today ordered the State Industrial Commission to conduct a rehearing in the case of Mrs. Nora Romani, St. Paul registered nurse, who was awarded compensation and medical benefits on grounds she contracted tuberculosis at Ancker Hospital.

The commission awarded her $6,472 to cover 117 weeks for temporary total disability from June 22, 1950, to Sept. 11, 1952, with the added provision that Ancker Hospital and the St. Paul Board of Public Welfare furnish medical care and hospitalization as may be reasonably required to cure and relieve the condition of tuberculosis.

Mrs. Romani was employed by Ancker Hospital May 16, 1950. Twenty-nine days later she was found to be afflicted with tuberculosis and was confined as a patient in the hospital. She had been a registered nurse since her graduation from St. Francis School of Nursing at La Crosse, Wis., in 1945.

Associate Justice Theodore Christianson, who wrote the unanimous decision, emphasized that, for an employee of a public institution to qualify for medical benefits and compensation, it must appear from evidence that he or she not only had contact with persons afflicted with tuberculosis but also that such contact "was the source" of the tubercular infection.

The Supreme Court said the present record shows ample evidence to support a finding that Mrs. Romani was in contact with persons afflicted with tuberculosis and with contaminated material at Ancker Hospital.

14 High Schools To Attend TC Girls' Play Day

The Women's Physical Education Club of Winona State Teachers College will be hostess to girls from 14 high schools at a play day in Memorial Hall Saturday.

High schools represented in the events include Wykoff, Plainview, St. Charles, Winona, Lake City, Rushford, Litchfield, Paynesville, LeRoy, Zumbrota and Red Wing, Minn.; Decorah and Cresco, Iowa, and Arcadia, Wis.

The program will open with registration at 9 a.m. in the lobby of Memorial Hall, to be followed by a speech of welcome from Miss Carol Anhalt, South St. Paul, president of the Women's Physical Education Club.

With "Cavalcade of Sports" as the theme of the day, activities for the morning will include a mixer, basketball, and volleyball. Trampoline free play, swimming, badminton, aerial darts, table and deck tennis, and an indoor track meet will occupy the afternoon.

General chairman of play day is Miss Barbara Plourde, Stillwater. Other students serving on committees include the Misses Olive Towsen, Manchester; Kareq Stewenson, Galesville, Wis.; Gloria Ronnenberg, Winona; Thelma Ahrens, Cresco, Iowa; Elaine Behnken, St. Charles; LaRue Swearingen, South St. Paul; Barbara Johnson, Stillwater; Shirley Haakenstad, Mabel; Janet Rompa, Winona; Mildred Holmquist, St. Paul Park; Jane Snyder, Winona; Patricia Sinnott, Rochester; Beverly Krieger, St. Paul; Cleo Wolfe, Arcadia, Wis.; Barbara Gates, Winona; Nancy Blaisdell, Minneapolis; and Elaine Tollefson, Mabel.

Dr. Jean Talbot and the Misses Beulah Gregoire and Phyllis Roney of the women's physical education faculty are advisers to the club and for play day.

SIGNALS PLANNED
CALEDONIA, Minn. (Special)—The Minnesota Department of Highways will let a contract April 1 for the installation of a fixed time traffic control system at the intersection of Main and Kingston streets.

AT POETS MEETING
PLAINVIEW, Minn. (Special)—Harold Lamp attended a meeting of the League of Minnesota Poets Saturday in Minneapolis.

Man's Death Ruled Suicide

EYOTA, Minn. (Special)—Suicide by hanging has been ruled in the death of William Krusmark, 78, retired Plainview farmer, who was found dead at the home of his stepdaughter, Mrs. Vernold Hoffman, Eyota, Wednesday. Olmsted County Coroner Dr. T. O. Welner made the ruling after investigation.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Foley & Johnson Funeral Home, Plainview. Burial will be in the Greenwood Cemetery.

Social Security Visit Arranged

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—A representative of the Social Security Administration district office at Eau Claire will be at the courthouse here Thursday at 10 a.m. to meet persons with questions regarding their individual social security accounts.

The 1954 amendments to the Social Security Act, explained the Eau Claire office this week, changed the retirement test as it applies to persons who are 72 or older. A self-employed person or a wage earner, may now draw his social security benefits regardless of his earnings, if he otherwise qualifies.

PEPIN COUNTY TEACHERS

ARKANSAW, Wis. (Special)—Miss Elda Kousar, Pepin Town, who will graduate from the Buffalo County Normal School in June, has been hired to teach at the Big Arkansaw School in the Town of Waterville. She succeeds Mrs. Mary Enders, Miss Janice Westberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Westberg, Stockholm Town, another June graduate of the normal school, will teach at the Stockholm Village School. She succeeds Mrs. Fay Hetrick.

Whitehall Chorus To Enter Contest

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—The Whitehall High School chorus, directed by William Dahl, will enter a girls' trio and triple-trio, a boys' quartet and octet, a mixed quartet, a madrigal group and 23 solos in the solo and ensemble district contest at La Crosse Mar. 26.

Madrigal group, Donna Ball, son.

Blair Boy Made Star Scout

BLAIR, Wis. (Special)—Robert Paul was advanced to the rank of star scout during a board of review meeting for Boy Scout troop 52 here recently.

Four others — David Syverson, Terry Wheeler, Gilbert Herman and William Paul — were advanced to second class rank at the affair, announced scoutmaster Harry Paul.

Paul said this week that forthcoming activities for the troop will include a swimming session at the Winona YMCA March 28 and a district first aid contest April 17 at Whitehall High School.

White House Watching Rail Strike Situation

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The White House remained in the background today as negotiations continued to end the Louisville and Nashville Railroad strike, which has disrupted business in 14 states.

The seriousness of the five-day-old walkout was pointed out to the President yesterday by Kentucky Gov. Lawrence Wetherby. He asked that the Railroad Emergency Board be reconvened or a new board named "to find the facts."

He also:

1. Urged governors of other states in the strike area to send similar telegrams to Eisenhower.
2. Raised Kentucky's truck weight limit from 42,000 gross pounds to 56,000 on certain highways to break the transportation emergency.

In Washington, Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerity said the White House is watching the situation. He indicated, however, nothing would be done while the National Railway Mediation Board is trying to settle the dispute.

L&N President John E. Tilford said yesterday he was ready to put the issues before a 27 emergency board, but a spokesman for the 10 striking AFL union of nonoperating workers said he "could not be sympathetic with such a course."

George E. Leitch issued his comment in Nashville, Tenn., where he was conferring with Francis A. O'Neill Jr. of the mediation service.

After canceling all passenger schedules, the L&N imposed an embargo yesterday on livestock and perishables moving over the 4,787-mile system. It also takes in the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis Railway and the Clinchfield Railroad. Freight operations still were reported to be "about 50 to 75 per cent of normal."

4 Masked Gunmen Take $54,000 From Chicago Bank

CHICAGO (AP)—Four masked gunmen, in less than two minutes, robbed a bank in suburban River Forest of $54,000 yesterday.

Yelling and waving their guns they entered the River Forest Bank and, scooped up the money from a cash drawer and teller's cage. They overtook $90,000 as they made a hasty retreat. Less than a minute after they fled in a car, the first police squad car arrived.

Police said they used the ruse of reporting a false alarm robbery at a real estate office, sending the suburb's police squads 17 blocks away from the bank. The police station is 2 1/2 blocks from the bank.

One of the gunmen carried a machine gun and the others were armed with pistols. Two wore handkerchiefs and the other two wore rubber nose masks. They entered the bank a minute after police received the phony robbery alarm.

Chief Bernard Gerard said the police radio dispatcher was alone at the station when the bank alarm sounded. However, a suburban Forest Park squad was near the bank and was first to arrive. The gunmen forced ten bank employees and six customers to lie on the floor. One shouted: "This is a stickup. Hands up. Get over there or we'll blow your brains out."

VOICE of the OUTDOORS

Wetland Dividends

With the keynote of the 20th North American Wildlife Conference at Montreal this week, "Save America's Wetlands," the above rather remarkable AP wirephoto is very timely. It is a definite demonstration that abandoned marshlands, where dust storms once blew, can be made, as The AP caption says, a paradise for waterfowl.

"It was made on the Missouri River flyway where the great spring flight of blue, snow and Canada geese, mingling in one big flight, are now winging their way northward. Each dot in the sky is a goose.

The submerged cornfield over which the birds are moving is a part of Forney's Lake, near Thurman, Iowa, a community in the southwestern corner of the state, adjoining the Missouri River. The state owned the area, but since 1932 there had been no water in Forney's Lake. It had completely dried out, as have many lakes in drought-pinched regions.

So in the spring of 1954, the state leased most of the lake area, some 400 acres, to a farmer and he planted it to corn. The old lake bed grew good corn, but the weather cycle changed along the Big Muddy in this area and heavy rains came flooding the lake bottom cornfield before it could be picked. Now, with abundant food and water from the melting snow plus that carried through the winter, it has become a waterfowl paradise—a restored area of great attraction to migrating geese as well as ducks.

Minnesota's Dick Dorner at the Montreal pow-wow told the story of his effort to reclaim Minnesota's vanishing wetlands. He is known as the founder of this "save wetlands" movement which has spread from Minnesota into a national project. Dick contends that Minnesota alone has hundreds of drying potholes that with a little management can be a haven of wildlife. Ducks now nest in a similar area that the state restored in the Whitewater refuge.

"Saving these Minnesota wetlands is the biggest conservation challenge of today," Chester A. Wilson, retired Minnesota conservation commissioner, told the legislative committee in a farewell talk. "The campaign to buy up the wetlands before they are drained has to be pushed fast with big money, a lot more than in sight right now."

"The raising of six and a half million dollars, the amount Dorner says is needed in Minnesota, is more than you can get from private subscription. The reserve game and fish fund should be tapped for this work."

We are sure that every hunter and fisherman who built up the game and fish fund reserve would much sooner have the money used for this wetland purchase program than to build a new state office building to house more conservation executives in St. Paul who belong out in the field.

Fox and Pheasants
Michigan where bounties on fox have been thrown out has just released the results of a five-year study to test the claim that foxes are an important factor in holding down pheasant population. The Michigan department has had men follow fox trails through fresh snow during the last five years.

In a thousand miles of foot travel in southern Michigan's pheasant range, 2,407 pheasants were flushed by the men, and evidence was found to show that the foxes had killed 24 pheasants. The foxes had also taken nine quail and 55 rabbits.

Where a fox kills a larger bird or animal, there is usually evidence of the deed in the snow while there usually is nothing to show where a fox has killed a mouse. The trackers saw evidence that the foxes had made 1,581 attempts to catch mice and the workers estimate that half of these attempts were successful.

The foxes killed 41 shrews and three snakes dug out of the ground. They also fed on 20 types of carrion, including dead deer, sheep, pigs, and fish.

BEDTIME STORIES

By HOWARD GARIS

Priscilla, who was Bunty's walking doll, had run away all by herself from Hollow Tree School. Bunty had taken her doll to school, as she often did. The orphan rabbit left Priscilla in the cloak room, covered with a scarf to keep warm.

But, after Uncle Wiggly and Mr. Butter, the goat gentleman grocer, had built a fire in the furnace, to warm the school, Bunty suddenly discovered that Priscilla was missing.

The reason that Uncle Wiggly and Mr. Butter built the fire in the school furnace was because, Mr. Coke, the rat gentleman janitor, had not come to school, even though Mr. Butter had horned out a path for him in the snow.

Uncle Wiggly and Mr. Butter went looking for Mr. Coke. They could not find him and hurried back to the school. Mr. Coke was still missing. And then it was that Bunty discovered that Priscilla was also missing.

Priscilla, the doll, had gone off by herself to look for an adventure. She had almost given up hope of finding one when, all of a sudden, as I told you in yesterday's story, Priscilla saw Mr. Coke.

"Where have you been all morning?" asked Priscilla of the rat gentleman janitor. "Uncle Wiggly and Mr. Butter have been looking all over for you."

"I was doing some rescue work," answered Mr. Coke.

"What kind of rescue work?" Priscilla wanted to know.

"I was rescuing two little squirrels of Mr. and Mrs. Bushytail," answered the janitor.

"Please tell me about it?" asked Priscilla as she stood on a snowy path with the rat gentleman janitor.

"Oh, it wasn't so much," answered Mr. Coke, modest like and shy. "Mr. and Mrs. Bushytail, the father and mother of Johnnie and Billie Bushytail, the squirrel brothers, had two new little squirrels a short time ago."

"I don't know the name of the new little squirrels," said Mr. Coke. "Maybe they have not yet been named. But as I was passing the Bushytail home, in the big, hollow oak tree, I heard calls for help. At first I thought Mrs. Bushytail had burned the hickory nut pudding. But I soon found out that the calls for help were coming from outside the Bushytail home.

"Then I saw the two new little squirrels stuck in the snow. They had run out of their hollow tree home and had tried to walk in the snow to one side of the path that Mr. Butter had horned in the drifts."

"The new little squirrels—I shall call them Blinky and Blanky—were in a deep drift. They were too little and their legs were too short for them to get out of the drift by themselves. So I managed to founder and wade through the drift to them."

"Did you get them out of the drift?" asked Priscilla.

"I surely did," answered Mr. Coke. "And I took them to their home. That is what delayed me in getting back to Hollow Tree School. I am sorry that Uncle Wiggly and Mr. Butter had to build up the fire which is my work."

"Ha! Ha! Ha!" suddenly laughed Priscilla.

"What is so funny?" asked the rat gentleman janitor.

"Mr. Butter didn't do much toward building up the fire," answered Bunty's doll. "He didn't know how. He built the fire upside down and Uncle Wiggly had to build it over again. But everything is all right now, except that they don't know where you are, Mr. Coke."

"They will know very soon," answered Mr. Coke. "I was on my way back to school when it happened to meet you. But how come that you are out of school, Priscilla?"

"Oh, I just ran away when no one was looking," answered Bunty's doll. "I wanted an adventure, but, so far, I haven't found one."

"You heard me tell of the adventure I had with Blinky and Blanky," said Mr. Coke. "I told about the call for help that I heard."

"But that isn't like having an adventure for myself," said Priscilla. "I want something exciting to happen, like—"

"Hark!" suddenly exclaimed Mr. Coke. "I hear another call for help!"

Who was calling this time, and what happened, will be told in the next story if the hard boiled egg doesn't burst out of its shell and go looking for a chicken to play tag with.

Daughter's Dying Wish Frees Father

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Seven-year-old Doris LeGardye's dying wish to see her father was fulfilled.

Responding to her appeal, Municipal Judge Leo G. Marcollo, of Richmond, suspended the remaining week of Corlie C. LeGardye's 30-day jail sentence for drunkenness and sent him to the hospital. LeGardye, 32, a stevedore, reached Doris' bedside seven hours before she died of leukemia Wednesday night. Soon after he arrived, she had roused from a coma and recognized him.

U.S. tobacco production in 1954 was 998,000 tons, an increase of 7 per cent to an all-time record.

Price of Cars Issue in Stock Market Hearing

By SAM DAWSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—The price of that new car you want to buy is an issue today at the senatorial inquiry into the stock market.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright (D-Ark) of the Senate Banking Committee thinks the factory list price is too high. He asks why auto manufacturers couldn't lower it.

And the man who makes the most cars in the country—Harlow H. Currier, president of General Motors—insists prices of the new cars, his own and his rivals, are actually set by a highly competitive market.

Auto company profits, he contends, come from holding costs below the price the buyer is willing to pay, and from improving methods of producing cars with high customer appeal.

Today's duel between the two men on Capitol Hill is being fought against the dramatic backdrop of more than a year of struggle within the auto industry. During that time mergers for survival cut the six smallest companies down to three. Ford and GM's Chevrolet fought fiercely for top sales position.

General Motors' connection with the stock market, aside from its listing there of 8 1/2 million common shares for trading, is its recent sale to its stockholders of 4,314,256 additional shares for around 325 million dollars.

Inquiring senators see another connection: GM's size and importance in the nation's economy, they say, make its acts a possible influence on price stock trends in general.

Currier sees the daily fluctuations of the stock market as having no effect on GM's plans for expansion or for its stock offering. And he calls the success of GM's recent stock sale proof that there is plenty of investment money around to be tapped if the investor likes the deal.

Boy Given Life For Strangling of His School Chum

DEDHAM, Mass. (AP)—Slim, boyishly handsome Peter Makarewicz, 16, of Norwood, begins a life sentence in state prison today for the sex strangling of his school chum and neighbor Geraldine Annesse, 15.

A Norfolk County Superior Court jury deliberated almost three hours yesterday before convicting Makarewicz of the Nov. 4, 1954, slaying in a garage next to the girl's home. He was charged with first-degree murder.

Peter's attorney Louis Goldstein said: "I still believe he is innocent. I will review the record and see if there are grounds to take it to the Supreme Court of Massachusetts."

Peter, calm and stoical during the 10-day trial in which he maintained his innocence, heard the verdict and slumped in his seat and began to cry. His parents rushed to his side. They were crying too.

Joseph Annesse, 63, father of the slain girl, who lived only a block from the Makarewicz home, commented grimly: "The verdict was okay. But I would feel better if he got death like my daughter."

FAIRLY SPOKEN

By MARGARET LATROBE

Well, the Congress finally got over being pigeon-toed with embarrassment and raised its own salaries. It has been obvious to everybody for a long time that our lawmakers deserved more pay, and if they didn't deserve it, something was amiss. Now that a happier bank balance attaches to high political office, the competition for Washington addresses will be stiffer. And whatever contributes to attracting ability toward politics is a dandy idea. (No reflection, gentlemen—it is something you have said yourselves.)

The same reasoning applies to another group of public servants. Our teachers. By the nature of things, this group cannot vote themselves better salaries from some pot o' gold source. They depend on us for their miserable wages. Local sources are responsible for paying teachers a wage scale which lies between "wretched" and "inadequate" the country over.

It is to the everlasting credit of the teaching profession that it has never placed a purely commercial aspect on its work. How could it, when conditions in elementary schools call for stringency of economy at best, and require additional part time jobs at worst? When college professors, after a lifetime of experience, are paid about what a young engineer or advertising genius considers chicken feed?

Yet what do we require of our teachers? Nothing much except perfection, great wisdom, infinite patience and a high degree of training. And how do we rate the importance of their work? Merely as the greatest profession of all.

We evasively refuse to add two and two, while demanding that our youngsters be taught that lesson well, by experts. We know that teaching aptitude is a treasure, not found in everyone. We understand that years of graduate work, years of experience, are not lightly won. It is obvious to us that, in our society, a man is entitled to fair pay for fair toil. But what happens? We will not appropriate enough money, we con-time to deny even living wages in far more cases than seems creditable, we smile derisively at a group who keep on plugging away at the most important jobs in existence. Teachers won't strike. They will manage. Let's take a vacation in Las Vegas where some shoddy comedian is drawing $30,000. A year? A month? Huh—ah. Thirty thousand smackers a week.

This column stated an opinion last June that "teachers aren't afraid to teach." Bless their hearts, I think they are afraid not to teach—whether they are paid decent money or not.

Ship Goes on Rocks, Passengers Taken Off

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A ship's officer reported today the 3,000-ton Chilean ship Villarrica with 200 passengers went on the rocks in the Straits of Magellan off South America Tuesday but that half the passengers had been rescued.

"A relief ship from Punta Arenas is on the way to take off the remaining 100 or more passengers," said a radio from Los Byrnes, radio officer of the SS Mormacgulf, which picked up some of the passengers. He said: "The ship has a huge hole in the bottom but the stern is well up on the rocks and the emergency generator evidently is keeping the remaining passengers warm."

Serve a Greek salad! To make it cut up green peppers, tomatoes and onions. Add minced parsley and salt to taste. Now add olive oil and a little wine vinegar. Garnish with anchovies.

Marine Band Conductor To Retire on May 1

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Marine Corps announced today that Lt. Col. William F. Santelmann, 53, conductor of the Marine Band, will retire May 1. He has had a part, for 32 years, in providing White House music.

Calvin Coolidge was president when Santelmann joined the band. His father led the Marine musicians then and the son took over in 1940, upon the retirement of Capt. Taylor Branson.

Helen Clapesattle, Woman of Year Dinner Speaker

Helen Clapesattle, director of the University of Minnesota Press, and author of the best-seller, "The Doctors Mayo," will be the speaker at the annual Woman of the Year dinner sponsored by the Soroptimist Club of Winona at the Hotel Winona April 28.

Miss Anita Saxine, general chairman for this event, made this announcement at the business meeting of the Soroptimist Club held at the home of Mrs. C. Keith Millam, 1215 W. Broadway Wednesday evening.

Miss Saxine also announced that any woman's group in Winona wishing to submit a nominee for the Woman of the Year should send the information to her at the Winona Free Public Library. Members of the committee assisting her are Mrs. Herbert Streich, Mrs. Sylvester Ryan, Mrs. D. B. McLaughlin, Mrs. Dan Trainor Sr., Mrs. Fae Griffith, Miss Marjorie Woodworth and Miss May Murray.

Mrs. Griffith, president of the club, presided at the business meeting session which followed the dinner, served by Mrs. Millam and Miss Woodworth. Mrs. Griffith announced that the Winona club is to entertain Dr. Olga Monsani of Florence, Italy, from April 21 to April 29, and that Miss Murray is in charge of arrangements for Dr. Monsani.

Dr. Monsani is being sponsored by the United States Department of Labor. She is a past president of the European Federation of Soroptimist Clubs, and is a vice president of the International Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc. She has been active in community organizations, and has worked with the Red Cross and relief agencies in Italy. She is an international lawyer.

Mrs. Griffith announced that the North Central Regional Conference will be held at Marshalltown, Iowa, April 23 and 24, and that several of the Winona members are planning to attend this conference.

All chairmen of committees gave their annual reports at this meeting as Mrs. Griffith must make president's report at the regional conference. Work on a Civil Defense project was discussed and the local Civilian Defense director, C. A. Hedlund, will speak to the members at the April meeting if arrangements can be made.

A report was given by Mrs. Griffith on the work being done by the local representatives of the Governor's committee on teacher shortage. She is a representative of the club on this committee, and another member, Miss Ruth Pallas is also on this committee although she is representing another organization.

Hostess for the April luncheon meeting will be Mrs. Herbert Streich.

The Soroptimist club voted to contribute $25 to the American Field Service scholarship program, to aid in a project which may make it possible for a Winona High School junior to take a tour of Europe this summer.

Card Party Reports Given Rebekahs

At the meeting of Winona Rebekah Lodge at the Odd Fellows Temple Wednesday evening with Mrs. Elmer Porter, noble grand, presiding, reports of the past two card parties were given by Mrs. Charles Flanagan, chairman for the month of March. Another card party will be held March 2 at 2 p.m.

Mrs. W. O. Miller was appointed and installed as left supporter to the noble grand. She was installed by Mrs. Paul Griesel Sr., district deputy president, assisted by Mrs. John Wanek as deputy grand marshal.

Members have been invited to attend the Wi-Mi-Daks Conclave at Minneapolis May 6 and 7. This conclave includes the states of Wisconsin, Minnesota and North and South Dakota. There will be conferences, degree work and drills by lodges from the different states.

BIRTHDAY CLUB
WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—The Hilltop Birthday Club held a party in honor of Mrs. Julia Slaby Tuesday evening. The Mmes Harold Olson and Pearl Olson were hostesses.

FACULTY WIVES
The faculty wives of the Winona Public Schools met at the home of Mrs. Elden Brandt, 508 Harriet St., for a sewing party Thursday evening. Green and white carnations and green candles centered the tea table at which Mrs. R. J. Williams presided. The attendance prize went to Mrs. LeRoy Holden. Serving on the committee were the Mmes. Robert Prosser, Walter Grosnick, Davis Christensen and H. Richard Johnson with Mrs. Brandt as chairman.

A Silver Gray Dress With Lines of white marking off check, the white repeated in the curving collar through which was drawn a tailored gray bow was worn by Miss Pauline Phillips, at the far left above, as one of the models in the Winona Fashion Show of Shows presented in the Winona Senior High School auditorium Thursday afternoon and evening.

In the center of the left hand picture is Mrs. L. William Bailey in a softened blue cocktail frock with its hip folds drawn to the side into a huge butterfly bow. Her wrap is a platinum fox stole. At the right of the picture is Miss Kay Sheridan in a caramel-colored box-jacketed suit with banding of white on its standing collar and again at the hem of the three-quarter-length sleeves. ## Fashion Show Brings Spring Into Picture

By MAY MURRAY

Spring was in the air inside despite another of winter's belated onslaughts outside, when Winona's Fashion Show of Shows was presented before large crowds in the Winona Senior High School Auditorium Thursday afternoon and evening.

Nine Winona stores participated in the showing of dresses, wraps, hats, accessories, suits and sports attire for women, frocks, coats and hats for little girls and the new in the masculine fashion world for both young and old. In addition, jewelry from Morgan's and furs from Furs by Francis accessorized the women's fashions.

Stores presenting fashions included Bailey & Bailey, W. T. Grant Co., F. C. Penney Co., Jordan's, Sale's, Stevenson's, St. Clair & Gunderson, H. Choate & Co. and Nish's.

The show was sponsored by the Merchants Bureau of the Winona Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. Adolph Bremer directed the show and served as commentator.

Models were the Mmes. Everett Edstrom, Carl Klage, Robert Toye, L. William Bailey, H. M. Johnson, Howard Clark, Beverly Lipinski, Don Raciti, Frank Fells and Clarence Ford, the Misses Patricia Passell, Joan Wunderlich, Pauline Phillips, Joan Angstrom, Kay Sheridan, Rita Zybicki, Ruth Jordan, and Donna Freeman, Patty Stein, Cheryl and Candy Harkness, Bille Christensen, Bobby Stein, Oren Testa, Edward Creighton and Philip Cain.

Susan Lord and Nancy Cizek were pages for the show. Curt Peterson's orchestra played for the modeling and a special vocal was by Peterson.

Navy Duster
A navy faille duster lined in pink over a matching pink striped frock, an aqua sailor dress with its square collar boasting white scrolls, worn with a white orlon coat; brown ranch pants teamed with plaid jacket and honey sweater, a smart navy half-size dress worn with a cape stole of fur, a coordinated duster and dress, a beige coat with blue mink scarf, a gray-blue silk-keen late-day dress and a boldly pencil-print dress were shown by Bailey & Bailey.

Suits, a gray flannel with low-placed half belts at each side of its box jacket, and a caramel one with white bandings at collar and sleeve hem, opened the W. T. Grant showing. Mink scarfs were worn with the suits. Also in this division were a child's smartly fitted coat with flaring skirt, a navy two-piece frock, a navy print frock with covering solid navy jacket, a rain coat and hat with its white patterned lining repeated in a matching umbrella, worn over a navy skirt and white cotton blouse, the first of the afternoon's over-bouse dresses and a yellow ensemble of skirt, orlon sweater and print shirt.

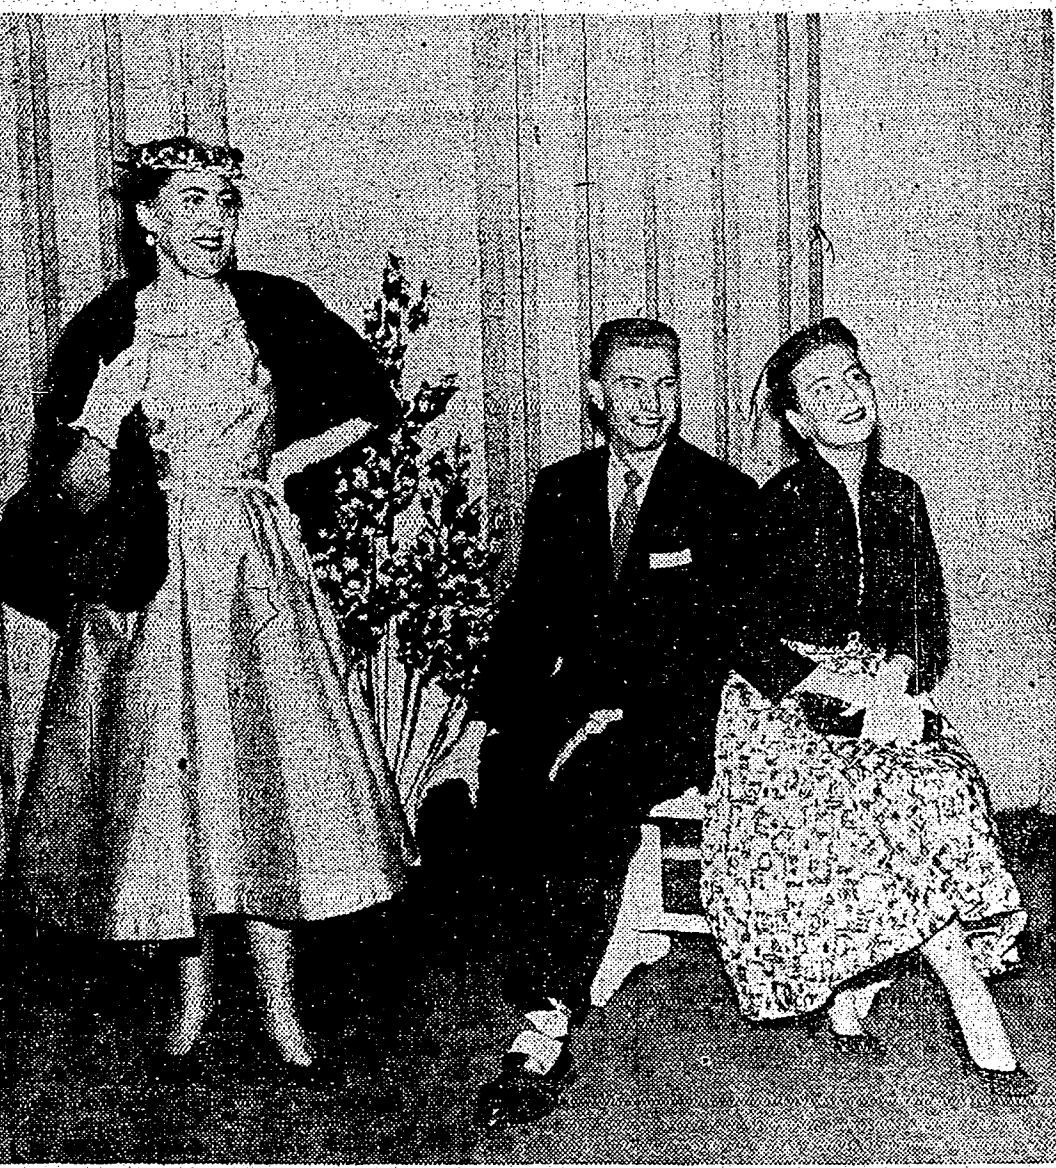

A five-piece navy and white child's outfit and charcoal coats with pink collars and matching bonnets and bags for the young miss initiated the fashions from Penney's. A scroll pattern outlined the neck of a beige silk-keen dress for date time, worn with a flowered hat and fur pocket stole. A dress with harmonizing duster, a tweed short coat, a blue faille frock and a gray red box jacket suit paraded next followed by a blue and white tweed coat and navy Loma frock. Polka dots in varying sizes patterned another frock, bold checks appeared in a duster type coat and a four-skin mink scarf combined with a bolero dress.

Gay pink figures marked a carnival print in a summer frock of black from Jordan's. Also shown were a navy bolero dress and matching summer frock in pink with high neckline and in blue with lowered yoke and embroidered white scrolls on its bodice front dropping to a lowered waistline. A pink nylon frock for the young lady in the family, and a navy coat set for her were included as was a long beige wool plush coat worn with a Russian sable scarf. A black three-piece suit preceded the wedding party finale in which a blue formal's waltz-length skirt for the attendant was matched in the tiered lace skirt of the bride's white lace gown. The bridegroom wore a tuxedo for the late afternoon ceremony.

Print on pongee provided a skirt and blouse, a rainsheder coated hat in white and a man's leisure coat appeared in the open scene for the Sale's show. Lee riders and blouse were provided for the working housewife. An orlon top, a wide dark quilted skirt and blouse, a navy suit joined with white sweater, and a black cotton frock highlighted with white collar also made their appearance. A red topper gave a splash of color to a half-size navy dress while daughter wore a white coat over a froth of maize net for a formal. Floral necklaces and earrings, tassel earrings and pearl jewelry as well as coffee and sugar and cream servers were accessories and props.

Blue and Violet
Blue and violet softly joined hands in a polished cotton formal; blue was shown also in an afternoon frock and navy in another dress in the Stevenson's fashions. A duster suit with red skirt and duster lined in peppermint stripes with matching blouse, a cape collar suit with collar matching its solid-toned skirt, a white orlon coat, a silk frock, a new redingote and a mauve pink cocktail frock with encircling lines on its extra-full skirt were other numbers. The younger member of the family wore a navy bolero outfit, a child's coat and doll purse and a sports frock. Sports casual separates dominated the picture for St. Clair-Gunderson, stripes and solid colors being playmates in such items as a sportscar play suit, Bermuda shorts, black shirt, straight, black cardigan and a most amusing mechanics suit worn with racing hat complete with ear flaps. Another grouping brought a bold striped pattern in boat-necked Italian blouse, fish beach bag, Italian pants, Capri halter, shorts, sailor collar blouse and full skirt. Men came to the front in soft colored showing in suits, slacks and casual jackets and the youngest edition of the man of the family wore a Tom Sawyer suit with broadcloth shirt and bow tie.

The orange scale of colors flashed in a three-piece suit lined with the same tangerine as its bowed blouse in the fashion picture at H. Choate & Co. Here also were a silver-gray checked dress with circular white collar, a navy suit with its jacket front extending in wide looped-over tie, an overblouse suit in which the cuffed overblouse material was repeated in the jacket lining, a black dress with an enveloping puffed cape collar of sheer white embroidery, a jacket dress on a subtle line, a soft colored tweed suit on long lines, a two-piece navy frock, many with the added beauty of stone marten and mink stoles. Nylon frocks with the widest imaginable skirts in palest blue and yellow were offered for daddy's littlest girl as well as a muted plaid suit.

An aqua hopsacking coat and matching rayon linen frock softened the wrath of the waiting maid when the first of the Nash Clothing Co. frocks arrived. A redingote ensemble, a pink checked jacket dress, a sweater dress; and an avocado green frock were in line in this showing. Orange and brown fashioned a three-piece suit. Three pieces also were offered in a linen suit. For party going, soft blue draped to a bow at the hips over an extremely full skirt, and was enfolded in platinum fox. Topcoat, suits and slacks in gray tones dominated the men's scene but highlighted of this moment, bringing an auditorium-wide exclamation, was the pink sports coat worn with charcoal gray slacks.

Let's Catch Hold Of Some Fresh Ideas This Spring

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Just 48 hours 'til spring. Spring there's a lifting word that won't stay on the ground. Since spring is a time of renewal, let's catch hold of some fresh ideas. It takes mental gymnastics to pull out of the rut and feel younger than springtime.

Today, it's a natural to feel young for your years. The good news is that many of the commonly accepted notions about physical changes that occur in later years are now discarded. For example, we frequently hear, "I'm too old to learn." Nonsense! An intensive series of tests made to determine loss of learning power revealed that the important factors are interest and will to learn rather than ability to learn.

Interest—there's a key word. Add enthusiasm to interest and you have a perfect keeping young combination. I like Elsa Lancaster's greeting to her husband Charles Laughton, "You look tired out and 15 years younger," was her sprightly comment upon his return from an arduous but happy story telling tour. Anyone in his audience could catch his enthusiasm and sense that this versatile actor was having the time of his life.

Boundless enthusiasm is a typical characteristic of youth. Youth looks forward—the best years are still ahead. That's the test. Do you feel that your best years are still ahead? "Man starts to get old, not when he puts on bifocals—but when he begins to dwell on the good old days," says Dr. Winfred Overholser, nationally known psychiatrist. "And," he added, "the more one thinks of himself as old, the more likely one is to accent the traits."

The way to stay young most of your life is to be young all through middle age. By the way, what age do you term the middle period? It may be later than you think. From 40 to 55 is young middle age, from 55 to 70 is still middle age—the latter half. Young old age is reckoned at 70 plus, and old age from 95 on.

How young you will be at 70 depends a great deal on your food habits from 40 on. Aging is a process of wearing out and tearing down. The foods which furnish the material to make good the wear and tear and promote the smooth functioning of the body will keep you young longer. These are called protective foods that hasten old age. Check this list to see if you are staying physically young. Do you have these foods daily? For protein and tissue repair: A liberal serving of lean meat, fish or fowl with a meat organ once a week; a pint of milk, and 1 or 2 eggs. For body regulating materials and needed vitamins: Green and yellow vegetables plus a salad with dark green leafy vegetables; fruits, including a citrus fruit or juice, and whole grain cereal or bread and butter. These are the protective foods—and they are better than a spring tonic.

Send long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for Take Your Choice Diet and illustrated exercise leaflet Wake Up and Stretch: Address request to Ida Jean Kain, care of The Winona Daily News. Post card requests cannot be answered.

Oscar E. Engbreitson.

Vocations Topic For School-Home Association

"Fostering Vocations in the Home" was the subject of the talk given by Sr. M. Lucretia, Mistress of Novices at the Motherhouse of the Sisters of St. Francis, Rochester, at the meeting of the St. Mary's Home School Association Tuesday evening in the church hall. Mrs. George McGuire, vice president, presided in the absence of the president, Robert Fritsch.

Sr. Lucretia opened her talk by pointing out the appropriateness of the topic under consideration in view of the fact that March has been designated as Vocation Month. However, she stressed that, by no means should the consideration of vocations be restricted to Vocation Month.

She dwelt on the subject of the home as the bedrock of vocation, stating that "vocations are born in the home, not in the classroom, during a religious film, or on a visit to a convent, factory or monastery. Priests and sisters often examine their own lives seeking reasons why there may be so few vocations."

"However, it is chiefly in the home that vocations must be nurtured if they are to develop to fruition. Much attention is given in the field of education to readiness in the various phases of the learning processes. This same phase must not be neglected in the spiritual development of children. The first step a child learns should be taught to him at home. Conversation about God and family prayer should be natural occurrences in a Catholic home.

"Preparation for the practice of the Evangelical Counsels—which constitute the vows of poverty, chastity and obedience taken by religious men and women—should have their groundwork in the home as basic Christian virtues.

"Poverty may be taught by supplying children with their needs—not their every want; chastity—by giving an example of modesty in everyday living, and by never making light of marriage, especially in the presence of children; obedience—by teaching children to obey whether or not the reason requiring obedience is explained. Every child should know what it means to obey for the sake of being obedient."

Sr. Lucretia reminded the parents that they "have a sublime vocation," and that they "share with Divinity in peopling heaven. Good will only breathe His spirit into as many temples as parents make ready for Him."

"Youth desiring to enter religious life know the sacrifices entailed, but they also know the promise on the part of God that one who leaves father, mother, sister or brother for His sake will receive a hundredfold."

The speaker urged parents and friends of youth to never be guilty of discouraging a vocation to the religious life.

Sister M. Francine's room received the attendance prize. Lunch was omitted in observance of the Lenten fast.

Winona AAUW Members Invited To Style Show

Members of the Winona Branch of the AAUW are invited to attend an International Fellowship Benefit fashion show to be sponsored by the Recent Grads Group of the Rochester Branch, AAUW, and a Rochester fashion store Saturday.

Three showings are planned in the Elizabethan Room of the Kahler Hotel: Following an 11 a.m. brunch, again after a 1 p.m. luncheon and the third following a 3 p.m. tea.

Proceeds will go to the fellowship benefit fund which will be used for an international study grant to bring a foreign graduate woman to Minnesota to further her studies in her chosen field, one of national or international interest. The study grant will be named in memory of Mrs. W. J. Mayo.

Although the benefit is a sell-out event, Rochester members plan to accommodate Winona members who attend this first formal showing by the Rochester store. Professional models from the Twin Cities will show the fashions on a table-high ramp. Printed programs, floral arrangements and favors for the guests also are planned.

Minority Groups Studied by Faith Women's Society

The study of "Women of the Old Testament" was continued at the meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of Faith Lutheran Church in the church parlors Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Wayne Kirkham reported that a liberal thank offering had been made at the last meeting, and urged that the society help the American Field Service scholarship fund to support four students from foreign lands during 1955 and 1956. Mrs. Kirkham also reported on the work of the Winona Council of Church Women.

Mrs. Clarence Gauger, treasurer, reported that the free will offering for Missionary Marion Treon Miller in Liberia, Africa, had reached some $30. At the last meeting, members of the society voted to give a free will offering rather than hold a Lenten tea as in prior years. Mrs. Kenneth Jungmans, president, urged the members to attend the spring forum in Cannon Falls. Members of the various missionary societies of the Central Conference of the United Lutheran Church in America will attend this forum and noted speakers will be present.

Mrs. Kirkham, representative to the Winona General Hospital Women's Auxiliary, appealed for books to be given to the hospital library, and also called attention to the great need of the Red Cross. The society voted a sum of money.

The afternoon study program was in charge of Mrs. Carsten Christiansen who chose as her topic: "Miriam, Member of a Minority Group." She said that "in the study of Miriam we are to consider a member of one of the world's most notable families. Moses who led his people out of Egypt and became the famous lawgiver, was the greatest of three. Aaron became the first high priest of Israel, and Miriam played her part as the gifted poet and singer."

Mrs. Christiansen presented her topic under three divisions. Miriam by the River Nile, Miriam by the Red Sea and Miriam in the desert. In her discussion of Miriam as a member of the minority group, she made reference to minority groups within the borders of this country. She referred to the American Indian, a Spanish-speaking American, an Oriental Amer-

Faribault Oldtimer Recalls Playing Host To Jesse James Gang

FARIBAULT, Minn. (U) — Charles A. Boucher celebrated his 102nd birthday Thursday with reminiscences of events that are mostly history to present-day Minnesotans.

Boucher, then 23, was working on a farm near Northfield Sept. 7, 1878 when some horsemen stopped and asked for something to eat. The men were fed and their horses cared for.

It wasn't until later that Boucher and his fellows learned they had played unwitting hosts to the Jesse James gang, making a getaway after robbing the Northfield bank.

Boucher was making a trip to Duluth in 1894 when, passing through Hinckley, he saw crews carrying bodies to a mass grave at the edge of that community.

It was the aftermath of the raging forest fire which claimed 413 lives in and near Hinckley in 1894. Boucher came here from Quebec, Canada, when he was 11 and spent most of his life as a farmer and railroad cook.

Boucher said his recipe for longevity is brief, "good tobacco and good whisky."

Russians Give Party On St. Patrick's Day

OTTAWA (U) — The Russian Embassy gave a St. Patrick's Day party yesterday but not in honor of Ireland's patron saint. Government and diplomatic officials were invited to meet the embassy's new counselor Ivanov Loginov. The Russians said they hadn't realized the significance of the date when they sent out invitations.

ican, a Negro-American and a Hebrew American.

She mentioned the 400,000 American Indians who live in 161 Indian reservations in various parts of the United States, the 400,000 Puerto Ricans who live in New York City, and the 77,000 Chinese and 127,000 Japanese in this country. In her closing prayer she asked that "as the Lord sent Miriam, so He would send us to our homes, our societies, our churches and our communities to bear witness for Him."

Hostesses for the afternoon, Mrs. Wallace Glidden and Mrs. Edward Richter, were assisted by Mrs. G. T. Talley, Mrs. Oscar Olson and Mrs. R. J. Roth.

Heart Operation Plan Successful

MINNEAPOLIS (U) — Cross-circulation surgery, the dramatic last resort of youthful heart victims, has cured the defects of about three-fourths of the 36 patients who have come to the University of Minnesota Hospitals for such operations during the past year.

A report released late Thursday showed that those who survived the operation and post-operative complications now have normal hearts and normal life expectancy. There were no fatalities among the 36 donors.

Cross-circulation surgery was first used at the University Hospitals on March 26, 1954, by a surgical team headed by 36-year-old Dr. C. W. Lillehei. The procedure had been worked out by Dr. Lillehei and three other University of Minnesota surgeons, Dr. Richard L. Varco, Dr. Herbert E. Warden and Dr. Morley Cohen.

Twenty-four of the 36 operations were performed for the correction of interventricular defects — abnormal openings in the wall separating the heart chambers. The other operations were performed to correct such conditions as "blue baby" defects and other heart abnormalities.

Dr. Lillehei said he believed the cross-circulation technique could be applied to other heart defects in the future. He said that surgery performed under the technique has been curative rather than aimed at bringing temporary relief.

In the operation, the blood streams of the patient and donor are linked, permitting surgeons to work on the bloodless defective heart while the patient's circulatory functions are performed by the donor's heart and lungs.

While the patient's heart is tied off, blood is diverted past the organ. Thus surgeons have a "dry field" in which to operate. The patient's lungs are collapsed, allowing surgeons easy access to the heart.

Woman Has Key To Tuneful Thief

SAN FRANCISCO (U) — Mrs. Fay Bush, who witnessed a $50 grocery holdup, was asked by police to describe the robber. She said he was a baritone, "I'd know his voice anywhere," she said. "He left the store singing 'You'll never know just how much I love you.'"

Wife Objects to Hubby's Romance

NORFOLK, Va. (U) — A motorcycle riding waitress, who says she is the wife of Navy baker James Lloyd Parker, is doing a slow burn over a report that Parker hopes to marry an English girl.

Mrs. Frances Mallory Parker, 21, says she and James were married April 18, 1954, in Elizabeth City, N.C. She exhibits a marriage license and photograph as evidence.

She says Parker left recently on a 30-day leave to visit "with the folks" in Kerrville, Tex. Then she saw a newspaper story last Tuesday saying he hopes to marry 19-year-old Maureen Toole of Arundel, England, whom he met while on shore leave in the British Isles.

Miss Toole, a student in a modeling school, had been staying at his sister's home.

Parker told newsmen last night: "I'm sorry, I just can't comment. I'll have to see more about this Norfolk thing."

The newspaper story Tuesday said Parker flashed a diamond at Miss Toole and that Miss Toole said "Maybe."

Commented Mrs. Parker yesterday: "Maybe not."

Waseca Attorney New CAB Counsel

WASHINGTON (U) — Sen. Thye (R-Minn.) was advised today the Civil Aeronautics Board has appointed Franklin M. Stone, Waseca, Minn., attorney, as its general counsel.

Emory Nunneley has resigned from the job effective April 1. Stone, 45, is a graduate of Waseca High School and of George Washington University law school here. He was a special agent for the FBI for 10 years and is now practicing law in Waseca.

Tanker Carrying Jet Fuel to Reds Detours

HELSINKI, Finland (U) — Owners of the Finnish tanker Aruba said today the vessel probably will call Saturday at Ceylon with its 13,000 tons of jet fuel consigned to Communist China.

They revised plans to send the ship to Red China after her crew, fearful of becoming involved in war action, refused to sail into "danger areas."

Rotational Use Of Pasture Gets Praise of Agent

Procedure Helps Prevent Trampling Much Good Feed

By HAROLD KARLI
Fillmore County Soils Agent
PRESTON, Minn.—Recent work at the agronomy division, University of Minnesota, indicates rather wide difference in protein level of forage plants in respect to various portions of the plants as well as stage of maturity.

Alfalfa plants analyzed in the early-season stage at height of 12 inches showed the top 2 inches contained 33.5 per cent protein, while the lowest 2 inches had a level of 15.2 per cent. The same samples on the basis of total digestible nutrients were 72.1 per cent and 57.4 per cent respectively.

It is also known that hay and pasture plants undergo a serious reduction in protein and total digestible nutrients as they approach the blossom or seeding stage. This loss is accompanied by a buildup of lignin which is highly indigestible. These facts point to the necessity of better methods of harvesting the crop, whether it is to be used for pasture, hay, or silage if we are to get the greatest nutrient yield per acre.

Farmers have observed that a herd of cattle turned into an entire field of pasture will move rapidly about for several days nipping off only the most nutritious and tasty upper section of the plants. In the process they have trampled and soiled much good feed. Later, as the lower parts of the plants must be grazed, milk production drops. In the past few years, several methods have been tried in an attempt to find better means of harvesting the pasture crop.

Rotational grazing is one of the most practical means of getting the greatest yield from the pasture acreage. This system means that the herd will be limited to grazing only a portion of the pasture for a limited period. This period varies between farms, from 12 hours to a week, with best results where the interval is short.

The pasture is generally fenced into parallel strips from 100 to 300 feet in width, depending on the size of the herd. Each of these strips opens into a central lane and each may be opened and grazed successively. The strip should not be larger than about six days' grazing and the amount grazed per day is controlled by moving a hot wire along the strip. Since the system employs electric fence, the labor and cost of such a system is very low.

The system forces the animals to eat the entire plant, completely grazing an area, before moving on to the next. This results in more uniform feeding, which, in turn, gives uniform milk flow. Also it is possible to pasture more cattle per acre. Farmers now using rotational grazing are very enthusiastic about results.

Here's How to Read Fertilizer Analysis

By ARCHIE BROVOLD
Buffalo County Agent

ALMA, Wis.—The use of commercial fertilizer has become a part of the operation on practically every farm in Buffalo County, and in most cases farmers are receiving full value for every dollar invested in commercial fertilizer.

Comparing the actual fertilizer available for plant growth is the method a farmer should use in comparing the various brands of fertilizers.

Most fertilizer companies put the analysis of the fertilizer on the bag. In all cases the first figure indicates the amount of nitrogen available to the plant. Second or middle figure indicates the amount of phosphorus available to the plant and third figure indicates the amount of potash available for plant growth.

Example: A sack with 0-12-30 indicates there is no nitrogen available but there are 12 pounds of available phosphorus and thirty pounds of available potash in a 100 pound sack of the material. Symbols are used in some cases (N-12-30-K20 or N-P-K). Fertilizers also may be purchased where the elements are kept separate so you may use the kind and amount needed. Ammonia nitrate, which has an analysis of 33 pounds of available nitrate in a 100-pound sack, will give you a straight nitrogen fertilizer.

Murate of potash, which usually contains 60 per cent available potash, also is available for farmers who wish to use a straight potash fertilizer.

In most cases, all fertilizer should be purchased in respect to the amount of available plant food in the fertilizer. This information should be stated clearly on the sack. It is your guarantee that you are receiving what you pay for.

Shipping costs are a factor to consider in the purchasing of fertilizer also. Due to this cost, higher analysis fertilizers are usually the best buy.

An example of that is: 13-12-12 compared to 4-16-16 or 5-20-20. They are both mixed in the same proportion, but there is 25 per cent more fertilizer in the 4-16-16 compared to the 13-12-12 and 20 per cent more in the 5-20-20 compared to the 4-16-16.

If the farmer uses the higher analysis, he handles less weight.

for the same amount of fertility and the cost per unit of available plant food is usually less. To make sure your fertilizer investment pays dividends, and to get the best results from commercial fertilizer, you should have your farm soil tested. Then, use the recommended amounts of high analysis fertilizer which will fit your soil and plant needs. The analysis you are using should be stated clearly on the sack. Remember—that is your guarantee that you are receiving full value for every dollar invested.

Home Furnishing Project Meetings Set in Buffalo Co.

ALMA, Wis.—Miss Pauline Poehler, Buffalo County home agent, has announced a series of three 4-H home furnishings project meetings for the coming week.

Although the 4-H home furnishings project has had a small enrollment through the years, she said, it still is an important one, especially for the older 4-H girls. Emphasis for 1955 will be placed on matting pictures, making bedspreads and selecting furnishings for a bedroom.

All mothers of 4-H girls, as well as general and home furnishings project leaders are invited to attend one of the 4-H home furnishings project meetings. They will be held as follows:

Monday—Mondovi City Building; Tuesday—Fountain City Auditorium; Wednesday—Alma Grade School.

All meetings will begin at 1:30 p.m.

COMPROMISING WITH QUALITY
and neglecting proper feeding of young chicks is a serious mistake. True, the damage to new chicks may not be apparent at first. But deficiencies will show up in their later life. And, you can count on the fact that these weaknesses are probably due to improper feeding when chicks were young.

VITAMIN UNDERFEEDING in infancy, in particular, becomes a permanent weakness and shows up clearly when the mature hen is subjected to the strain of laying eggs. Experience and countless feeding tests have proven that maximum results are impossible if there's a deficiency in the ration. And, after all, there's such a little difference in cost between feeding a so-called "economy" starter and a quality feed like Occident Chick Starter.

IT TAKES AN UNUSUAL FEED to produce unusual results. And Occident Chick Starter is just such a top performing feed. It contains the proper balance of proteins, vitamins and minerals—including the highly important animal protein factor "B<sub>12</sub>". This ideal combination of ingredients assures high livability and fast growth.

Occident Chick Starter gives chicks all this plus a "come hither" flavor that keeps 'em coming back for more. The feed looks good, tastes good...and, just as important, it's easily digested.

NEXT TIME you're in town, stop in and see us. We'll be glad to give you complete feeding information on Occident Chick Starter...the first key to bigger egg production later on.

'Treeville' Set For May 6; Site To Be Selected

La Crescent Banker General Chairman Of 2nd Annual Event

PRESTON, Minn.—A committee headed by Milton Hoberg, Fillmore County agent, will pick a site for the second annual Arbor Day, tri-county "Treeville" May 6.

A general committee of George M. Robertson, Winona; Hoberg, Ted Robertson, Rushford; Alvin Humble, Rushford; Willis Garrett, Preston; Ralph Jones, La Crescent; Cyril Kramer, Altura; Harold Poeschl, Caledonia, and Wayne Hanson, Caledonia, met recently and set up committees for the event. It will be arranged especially for school children and young people but there will also be a program for the adults. Jones is general chairman.

Bankers in Winona, Fillmore and Houston counties will sponsor the event and cooperate with various organizations and agencies planning it. Last year, with inclement weather, 1,500 attended. This year it is hoped 5,000 will attend.

The following committees were set up and will meet April 15 to develop the complete program:

Site and grounds—Milton Hoberg, chairman; Gordon Anderson, Winona County agent; Dale Fankuch, state forester at Preston, and Alvin Humble, banker at Rushford.

Budget, registration, and prizes—Ted Robertson, banker at Rushford, chairman; Cyril Kramer, banker at Altura; Ralph Jones, banker at La Crescent, and Don Tollefson, banker at Mabel.

School participation—Melvin Wedul, Winona State Teachers College, chairman; Miss Gladys Lapham, superintendent of schools, Houston County; Jesse Jestus, superintendent of schools, Winona County; Miss Anna Seem, superintendent of schools, Fillmore County; Albert Hjelle, school superintendent, Spring Grove; Harvey Jensen, school superintendent, Winona and Harold Aulse, school superintendent, Harmony.

Publicity—George M. Robertson, banker at Winona, chairman; Willis Garrett, banker at Preston, co-chairman; Earl Gilbert, Winona Daily News area editor, and Harold Poeschl, soil conservationist, Caledonia.

Program—Wayne Hanson, Houston County agent, chairman; Anderson, and Hoberg.

Tree planting—Harley Larson, soil agent, Caledonia, chairman; William Sillman, soil conservationist, Lewiston; Carroll Lodahl, assistant Winona County agent, and Bill Ruff, vocational agricultural instructor, Rushford.

Agronomist Coming To Caledonia High

CALEDONIA, Minn.—Latest information on new varieties of grains, legumes and grasses will be presented by an extension agronomist, Dr. Edwin Jensen, Institute of Agriculture, St. Paul, at the Caledonia High School Auditorium March 29 at 8 p.m.

Arrangements have been made by Donald Keith, Caledonia agriculture instructor, and Wayne Hanson, county agent.

Everyone is invited to hear Dr. Jensen present this topic and answer questions on grains and forages.

Jensen replaced Ralph Cumis as extension agronomist last fall. He will be working with weed control as well as farm crops.

Rural Youth Meet To Start on Sunday

ST. PAUL—The ninth annual Rural Youth conference and short course will be Sunday through Tuesday on the St. Paul campus of the University of Minnesota.

According to Robert Pinches, assistant state leader at the University of Minnesota, the conference is open to all young adults living in rural communities in Minnesota as well as to members of Rural Youth and young men and women's groups.

The conference will open with registration from 6 to 8 p.m. Sunday in the union on the campus. A get-acquainted party will follow registration. James Rabehl, 1954 International Farm Youth Exchange delegate to India, will show pictures of his trip as a feature of the evening's entertainment.

Speaker at the closing banquet will be Gov. Orville Freeman whose subject will be "Sprouting a Greater Minnesota."

Plan A Under Way In Jackson County

BLACK RIVER FALLS, Wis. (Special)—Blood testing of all Jackson County plan B herds, beef herds and herds not selling milk got under way this week.

The county on March 11 became the 45th county in the state to go under plan A for brucellosis. Of the county's herd owners, 79.8 per cent voted for the plan.

Veterinarians assigned to the test are Dr. Norman Paulson, Sessco, for the Northfield region; Dr. H. E. Horel, Augusta, Cleveland Town; Dr. K. E. Johnston, West Salem, Melrose; Dr. S. D. Cronk, Galesville, Town of North Bend; Dr. L. Larson, Galesville, Town of Franklin;

Dr. William Reichenbach, Whitehall, Town of Curran; Dr. W. R. Reese, Galesville, Town of Springfield; Dr. Benjamin Shlimovitz, Black River Falls, Town of Irving, and Dr. V. Ziebell, Tomah, east side of the county.

Dr. Ziebell, federal veterinarian, is in charge of the Jackson County testing. The doctors have vaccine with them for herd owners interested in having calves vaccinated.

February Minnesota Egg Production Up Over Year Ago

ST. PAUL—Minnesota egg production in February totaled 360 million—one million more than the number produced a year earlier, according to the State-Federal Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

The slight increase is due to a few more layers on farms, since the rate of lay was the same in both years. Summer, fall and early winter egg production was substantially higher than a year earlier with accompanying lower prices. With egg production declining in February to the previous year's level, prices strengthened and on Feb. 15 Minnesota farmers were receiving an average of 35 cents per dozen, compared to 39.5 cents a year ago.

February milk production of 731 million pounds was 4 per cent less than a year earlier. For the first

Pepin Farm Club Holds 90th Meeting

DURAND, Wis. (Special)—The 90th regular meeting of the Pepin County Farm Management Club—over a period of 11 years—was held in the courtroom here Wednesday evening under the direction of T. A. Parker, county agent.

Discussions were held on "What's New in Farming?" "Farm Practices That Should Have a Place in Your Farm Plan This Year" and "Activities That May Be Included in the Year's Program."

Two months of this year, milk production has been 3 to 4 per cent below a year ago and for each of the past ten months it has been at a lower level than in the corresponding month of the previous year. The average production per cow in February was the third highest of record, being exceeded only in 1953 and 1954. Milk cow numbers on farms during the month averaged about 2 per cent less than a year ago.

Tri-County REA Lists Receipts Of $1,146,787

Annual Meeting Set
At Rushford High
For Next Saturday

RUSHFORD, Minn. (Special)—Gross receipts of $1,146,787 in 1954 will be announced at the Tri-County Electric Cooperative annual meeting at the high school March 26 at 1 p.m.

The annual statement of revenue and expense lists net income of $177,263 after deductions of $913,694 for operating expense and $63,485 interest on a long-term debt. Assets, consisting mainly of the $4,285,041 electric plant, total $1,415,133. Liabilities include a $3,296,912 REA loan and $956,704 in member and patron equities.

Roy C. Zook, assistant administrator of the REA, will be the main speaker. Two directors for Houston County and another member of the board at large will be named at the business session. Lunch will be served at four spots starting at 10:30 a.m.: At the Rushford Lutheran Church by the Lutheran Ladies Aid; at the Presbyterian Church by the Presbyterian Ladies Aid; at the Legion Hall by the St. Mark's women and at the library by the Catholic women.

Novelty acts, featuring some of the top acts of this area, will be presented in the high school from 12:1 p.m.; free movies for children run continuously at the cooperative garage starting at 10:30 a.m. Women will have the opportunity of witnessing appliance demonstrations at the Trojan Theatre from 10:30 to 1:30 p.m. Door prizes will be given away.

Current officers and directors of the co-op are: H. S. Roberts, president; E. F. Luehr, vice president; John P. Papenfuss, secretary; E. A. Albrecht, F. B. Blanchard, Irving Bacon and Glenn Churchill, directors.

Sales of kilowatt hours increased in 1954 over the preceding year from 33,688,447 to 37,680,850. A total of 235 customers were added during the last 12 months; miles of line were raised from 2,567 to 2,615; the average KWH used per member over the year increased from 4,585 in 1953 to 4,970 in 1954. Of $4,354,341 borrowed from REA, $1,057,429 has been repaid.

9-INCH EGG
WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—A White Leghorn pullet on the Hiram Holstad farm near Whitehall laid an egg recently that measured nine inches around the long way, 8 1/2 inches around the short way and weighed 1 1/2 ounces. This was quite a stunt for a dainty, sensitive Leghorn pullet, when an ordinary egg weighs only two ounces.

Barbershop Quartet music was a part of the entertainment at a Winona County Farm Bureau get-together at the YMCA Thursday night. State and national officers spoke following the program.

Mondovi Farmers Union Reports

MONDOVI, Wis. (Special)—Charles Rutschow and Francis Diller gave convention reports at a meeting of the Napels-Mondovi Farmers Union Friday.

President August Schreiner Jr. presided; Miss Esther Linse, accompanied by Mrs. Stanley Melrose, led group singing. Martin Heike gave a report on legislation; Schreiner read a message to the local from the national president, James Patton. A motion was made to send $35 for the budget fund to National Farmers Union.

Door prizes were won by Richard Yarrington, Mrs. Ina Nichols and Charles Rutschow. Hostesses for the meeting were Mmes. Clayton Butler, Dale Pace, Willard Pabst and Irvin Yarrington.

District Farm Bureau Meet At Caledonia

CALEDONIA, Minn.—Farm Bureau activities on the district level were coordinated and discussed at the Southeast Minnesota spring conference in the Masonic Temple here Thursday. A Winona County get-together followed in the evening.

Heading the speakers were Minnesota President J. L. Morton; Herman Aberg, Chicago, director of the American Farm Bureau Federation livestock department; Herbert E. Deason, sales manager of Minnesota Farm Bureau; Russ Carlson, SE Minnesota fieldman and A. H. Gredvig, St. Paul, director of organization. Al Huesmann, president of the host Housh County FB unit presided at the Caledonia meeting; Halvor Lacher, Rushford, president of the Winona County unit presided at the get-together.

Gredvig, who outlined the current membership drive in the state, announced that the Wabasha County unit was first in the state to reach its quota, this for the second straight year. Legislation affecting Farm Bureau, some sponsored by them, was discussed at the national level by Aberg and at the state level by Morton. Home and community activities and the 1955 Farm Bureau women's program were discussed at separate sessions in the morning. Lunch was served at the Caledonia Methodist Church. About 70 attended.

At the get-together in the Winona YMCA last night, community singing opened the program and was followed by a Ridgeway quartet of Rollie Smith, Gerald Stinson, Alton Blumentritt and James Morcomb, accompanied by Mrs. Stinson. Gordon Anderson, Winona County agent, showed the movie "Wealth In The Land Of Hiawatha." Morton, Aberg, Deason and Robert Law, Lake City, Blue Cross representative, spoke. They also answered questions from the audience. Refreshments were served. About 50 attended.

Wisconsin Judging Contest April 22

MADISON—Students of agriculture in Wisconsin high schools will be taking part in the annual state judging contest at Madison, April 22, according to J. F. Wilkinson, short course director at the university.

Student teams will enter dairy cattle, fat stock, meats, dairy products, poultry and eggs, farm crops, and farm management judging events.

Three students make up a team, and each school can enter three teams. Contest entries must be in Wilkinson's office by April 15.

Sawmill Operation Course at Preston

PRESTON, Minn.—A sawmill operation short course will be held at the Kenneth Hewitt Mill here March 30 by University of Minnesota forestry specialists. There is no charge.

According to Marvin Smith, extension forester at the university, the first short course will be held March 29, at the Duncan Lumber Co., Cannon Falls.

The course program begins at 9 a.m. Included are lectures and demonstrations on efficient sawmill layout and operation; how to lower production costs and increase sawmill profits; how to select and adjust saws; proper piling of native lumber for good air seasoning; log grades and how they relate to lumber grades and how the sawmill operator and farm woodlot owner can contribute to better forest resource use.

Corn Growing Champ

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—Andor Rognlien, Eleva, was recently proclaimed Trempealeau County junior corn growing champion at a banquet held at Madison in honor of Wisconsin corn growing champions.

His yield of 153.07 bushels per acre was not only the highest in Trempealeau County in the 1954 selected two acre junior corn growing contest, but it also was the top yield in Wisconsin in the junior contest. Andor was awarded a scholarship.

Four Fertility Institutes Set In Houston Co.

Caledonia, Hokah,
Houston and Spring
Grove to Be Hosts

CALEDONIA, Minn.—Both farmer and soil specialist views on the use of commercial fertilizer will be thoroughly discussed at a series of four fertility institutes in Houston County Tuesday and Wednesday, according to Extension Agents Harlie Larson and Wayne Hanson.

The meetings have been scheduled for:

- Caledonia City Hall, Tuesday, 1:30 p.m.
- Spring Grove High School, Tuesday 8 p.m.
- Hokah Auditorium, Wednesday 1:30 p.m.
- Houston Community Kitchen, Wednesday 8 p.m.

At Caledonia the meeting will start with a panel discussion by Leonard Sylling, Elmer Theis, Irvin Ingvalson, Clarence Eikens and Donald Keith, all of Caledonia. Moderator will be Wayne Hanson.

At Spring Grove the panel members will be Erling Butters, James Sylling, Arnold Onstad, Sigmund Bergrud and Boyde Anderson with Harlie Larson as moderator.

At Hokah panel members will be George Schroeder, Carl Hartman, John Ideker and John Fokema, with Wayne Hanson moderator.

At Houston panel members will be Carmen Nohre, Orson Hempstead, R. C. Haralson, Don Carlson and George Schoen, with Harlie Larson as moderator.

Panel members will discuss corn maturities, planting rates and broadcast planter box and side dressing use of fertilizers.

Following the panel discussion at each of the four institutes, Dr. Harold Jones, extension soils specialist, Institute of Agriculture, St. Paul, will use colored slides and charts to show factors that affect yield results from fertilizer use.

Farmer-Sportsman Nominations Asked In Fillmore County

PRESTON, Minn.—Nominations for Fillmore County's outstanding farmer-sportsman are due March 25, County Agent Milton Hoberg, said today.

Anyone can make nominations for the honor. The county's top farmer-sportsman will compete for a special award given each year at the Northwest sports show April 8-17 in Minneapolis.

A winner and runner-up will be selected for each of four districts in the state. One of the four district winners will be selected Minnesota's top farmer-sportsman.

Points considered in selecting the farmer-sportsman include reputation as a successful farmer in the community; wildlife conservation practices; soil conservation and land use program on the farm; and community activities including those with youth, sportsmen and farm groups.

OPPORTUNITY IS KNOCKING!

Would you trade 16 bushels or more of corn for $7.50 worth of Nitrogen Fertilizer (custom applied on your farm)? Sure you would, and this opportunity is brought to you by the MINNESOTA BUTANE & EQUIPMENT COMPANY of Lewiston. Our supervised use program for Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia assures you profitable returns from each dollar you spend on fertilizer.

As a business man it will pay you to look into our custom fertilizer application program. The use of more Nitrogen Fertilizer is the most economical way to increase yields from corn and small grain and grass pastures.

Mr. Haack, our full time Soils Specialist, will assist you in planning a balanced fertilizer program. You will get more profit and lots of satisfaction out of producing a big corn crop. Your State University has published much literature pointing out how profitable the use of Nitrogen Fertilizer is. Average returns per dollar invested in Agricultural Ammonia for the State of Minnesota are over $4.00.

As a progressive farmer you are urged to look into this opportunity that is knocking. The use of Nitrogen Fertilizer pays big returns. Consult your County Agent; consult our Soils Specialist; consult whomever you please; just look into this opportunity.

Winona County 4-H Clubs to Accept Juniors

Junior members will now be accepted in Winona County 4-H clubs, according to an announcement by Assistant County Agent Carroll Loda made at the 4-H leaders council meeting at the YMCA here Tuesday.

Boys and girls who are not nine by the first of the year will be recognized as junior members and will have the opportunity of exhibiting at the county fair and receiving ribbons.

County clubs are going to build a 50 by 60 foot stand for selling lunches at the fair grounds. A 4-H auction will be held this year for all but grand champions and the silent bread and pie demonstrations will be held about two weeks before the achievement day when oral demonstrations are given.

A committee was appointed to plan the land judging contest and tractor maintenance school. Details will be ironed out at the next council meeting. A tri-county camp will be held in Iowa June 13-15 which 12 Winona County junior leaders expect to attend. Lunch was served by the St. Charles Peppers and the Crystal Springs Riders. About 100 attended.

9 Pigs Per Sow—How Do These Farmers Do It?

CALEDONIA, Minn.—Nine pigs per sow were raised by Minnesota swine honor roll farmers in recent years, reports Hqstoun County Agent Wayne Hanson. "That's 3 1/2 pigs per sow more than the average farmer raises successfully. How do honor roll farmers raise more pigs per sow?"

University of Minnesota folder 90, "Care and Feeding of Brood Sows," has many of the answers, Hanson says. H. G. Zavoral, extension livestock specialist who wrote it, gives many practical pointers on how to produce big litters of healthy pigs.

Zavoral says proper sow feeding during her gestation period helps assure larger size and better vigor at farrowing time. And the bigger the pigs at birth, the bigger they are at weaning and the sooner they reach marketable age.

A thrifty sow, not overly fat, should go on a good ration two or three weeks before she is bred. She should be gaining weight, says Zavoral. This means she'll "start" larger litters and have more chance of carrying more pigs through to live birth.

It's a good idea to record the date each sow is bred. This will help you estimate her farrowing time, he continues.

When she's carrying pigs, the sow should have plenty of good feed. Quality is important, Zavoral emphasizes. Feeding a variety of good rations is better than the same old stuff day after day—even a good ration can become boring and there's a danger of that one ration being a bit of some small but important feeding factor.

In the booklet, Zavoral lists the exact ingredients for several different high quality rations. He also gives an after-farrowing ration.

Farm Women Urge Use of More Milk

By MRS. SYLVIA SHIRAS
Trempealeau County Home Agent

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—Farm women in the county are learning about the farm business this month. They admit they may be prejudiced in favor of milk, the main product of farms in this county. But about all they say usually when it is discussed is, "Milk is good for you, use more of it." Now they have interesting facts to prove it.

I suggest you dairymen start talking with one of them about dairy products—you might learn some new things about your own business.

For instance, calcium in milk is important for older people. The result of too little calcium in the diet throughout life may contribute to fragile bones which are easily broken.

Food value of pasteurized milk is the same as milk not so treated, except for vitamin C.

Last week you saw a picture of the men and women honored by the Trempealeau County agricultural committee for soil conservation work on their farms. Each of the wives had her share of responsibility in this. She had to make decisions on stretching the use of the household equipment to make it last out another year or several years. Or she may have done more home sewing.

Mrs. Harry Kulig, Whitehall; Mrs. George R. Knutson, Blair; and Mrs. Alfred Hanson, Arcadia, are active partners in the farm enterprise and represent many other homemakers who study new methods and learn the best procedures for their jobs. They must fit the family's use of income into plans for farm improvement. The farm homemaker today has a professional responsibility in keeping up with new homemaker methods as her husband advances in new farming methods. Here is a hint to these busy up-to-date homemakers:

If you plan to clean the walls in a room or two this spring, choose a cleaner that gives you the best job with the least work. Rhode Island's experiment station has been trying various cleaners, and reports that homemakers often wear the paint finish off by using strong washing powders, bar soaps, soap flakes, synthetic detergents, and ammonia. Finishes roughened by poor cleaners need redoing much more often.

Few homemakers limited their use of strong cleaners to such "tough jobs" as removing finger marks and smudges on door frames and around light switches. Less than five per cent of the women protected their woodwork from soil by using wax.

New FHA Plan Being Accepted, County Head Says

ALMA, Wis.—The new soil and water conservation loan program is meeting with much favor among the farmers of Buffalo County, according to Ralph Moy, chairman of the county Farmers Home Administration committee.

There is evidence of desire and need on the part of farmers to conserve their land resources, he said. Availability of funds will make it possible to start or complete soil maintenance and improvement practices now contemplated or planned.

For the first time soil and water conservation loan funds are available in Wisconsin and programs of the FHA have been expanded.

In addition to making operating and farm real estate loans, the agency can now advance funds for most any need which will contribute to soil and water conservation, "we are now in a position," Moy said, "to help eligible farm families meet most any legitimate credit need. We still adhere to our original policy though, and will not advance funds to anyone who can get adequate credit through banks or other lenders."

"Even though many good farmers have satisfactory credit ratings," Moy said, "often they do not have sufficient collateral to get the financing needed through the usual channels. The FHA endeavors to fill that gap. The fact that, in the past few years, over 800 farm families through the unit office at Alma is conclusive evidence of the important part which it has played in the betterment and improvement of the agricultural economy of the county and community."

Moy, Edward Linse and Christ Castleberg are the FHA committee for Buffalo County. It's their responsibility to review and pass on all applications filed for various needs in the local office.

Pepin Co. 4-H Clubs Nearing Goal of 300

DURAND, Wis. (Special)—Pepin County 4-H clubs are nearing a membership goal of 300, according to T. A. Parker, county agent.

To date there are 18 clubs with 268 members—220 who have been active and 48 new members. There is a possibility, Parker said, that three more clubs will be organized in the near future with an enrollment of 22.

Used Machinery May Be Good Buy, Agent Advises

By PETER BIERI
Trempealeau County Agent

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—Need an extra piece of farm machinery, but can't afford it right now? Used equipment can be the answer.

There are several advantages to buying used equipment. First, this is one way the small farmer can get the labor saving equipment he needs to lower production costs or extend his farming operation, at a price he can afford.

Then, larger farms can often use another piece of equipment, such as a used tractor to pull the mature spreader, to make their operation more convenient. If the price is low enough, the extra convenience is often worth the cost.

In either case, price is important. So it's wise to shop around. That way you learn what equipment is selling for, and know what a fair price is. When you find a machine that's priced right look it over carefully. Here are some of the things to watch:

Look for worn universal joints, cracked or bent gear boxes, or bent shafts. If you're looking at a combine, check to see if the cylinder shaft has been bent by a stone.

Start the machine and run it until it's well warmed up. Then listen to gear boxes and other moving parts for unusual noises. Look the machine over carefully while it's running for excessive vibration or anything else unusual.

Check all the castings to see if they're cracked or broken. Even small cracks mean possible trouble, and castings are expensive.

Examine the frame to make sure it's lined up properly. Any bad dents or twists may mean trouble.

Good paint looks nice, but can mean one of two things. Either the machine has had good care and been kept painted, or the paint is there to cover a fault. Find out which one it is.

When you find something wrong, or a part that needs to be replaced, figure the cost of repair. Add that to the price of the machine, and see if it's still a good buy.

If you can do repairs yourself, the machine may be a bargain. But if you're not too familiar with machinery, remember that labor costs for repairs come high.

It's also wise to check and make sure parts will be available if the machine breaks down in the future. Best bet is to buy a used machine that's still being manufactured.

Hunt for Talent Open to 4-H'ers
ST. PAUL—A Search for Talent contest, open to 4-H club members in the state, will be held for the sixth successive year, Leonard Harkness, state 4-H club leader at the University of Minnesota, announced today.

The event is being sponsored by the University of Minnesota Agricultural Extension Service in cooperation with Cargill, Inc. Awards will be given by Cargill to county, district and state champions.

Local clubs will hold competition for members within the next few months, Harkness said, since county contests must be completed before June 1. District events will be held during the summer, and the state finals are scheduled as one of the 4-H events during the State Fair.

Contestants must be between 10 and 21 years of age. Local clubs may select an individual or group to present a musical, dramatic or other talent number at the county talent show. However, talent numbers must be limited to six participants, not including the accompanist.

Two DHIA Groups Make Reports in Trempealeau Co.

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—The two Trempealeau County Herd Improvement associations have released their February reports.

Maynard L. Sexe reports the following: Leslie Grover, Galesville, had 28 head of registered Holsteins which produced 712 pounds of milk and 37.7 pounds of fat in 16 days for an average of 5.3; 69 registered Holsteins at the county hospital produced an average of 3.58 with 945 pounds of milk and 33.8 pounds of fat; Floyd Backs; Beaches Corner, had 26 grade Holsteins which produced 995 pounds of milk and 32.5 pounds of fat for an average test of 3.26; Emil P. Skroch, Independence, had 20 registered Holsteins on test which produced an average of 885 pounds of milk and 30.8 pounds of fat for an average of 3.47; Arthur Ofsahl, Ettrick, had 29 registered Holsteins, which averaged 828 pounds of milk, 29.9 pounds of fat for an average test of 3.61.

The average milk production per cow tested by Sexe was 703 pounds of milk and 26 pounds of fat. This included 586 cows in 19 herds. Average price received for butterfat was 89.3 cents a pound.

Among the 15 herds totaling 355 cows tested in February by Leo Howell the highest production herds were: R. E. Christopherson, Pigeon Falls, had 10 registered Holsteins which produced an average of 988 pounds of milk and 37.7 pounds of fat with an average test of 3.77. Marshall Nehring, Centerville, had 16 registered Guernseys which gave an average of 727 pounds of milk and 35.2 pounds of butterfat with an average test of 4.86; the 22 registered Holsteins on the Elmer Weltzien farm, Arcadia, produced an average of 984 pounds of milk and 30.1 pounds of fat with an average test of 3.06; Ray Lamberson, Osseo, had 28 registered Holsteins which gave an average of 913 pounds of milk and 29.2 pounds of butterfat with a test average of 3.20; Palmer Holmen, Osseo, had 34 grade Holsteins which produced an average of 824 pounds of milk and 28.6 pounds of fat with an average test of 3.50.

Among the 355 cows tested by Howell, the average milk production for February was 704 pounds and the average fat production, 27.2 pounds.

Club Music and Drama Contest
ETTRICK, Wis. (Special)—The annual southern Trempealeau County 4-H club music and drama contest will be held at 8 p.m. Monday at Ettrick Community Hall, and not on March 18, as was previously announced.

The winning numbers in the northern county contest held at Whitehall, will compete with Ettrick entries. Winners will be chosen to compete in the district contest at Taylor March 25. Mrs. William Thomas, Frenchville, and Mrs. Leslie Larson, South Beaver Creek, are in charge of arrangements here. Three one-act plays have been entered from the southern part of the county. Musical numbers may enter in four categories—vocal, instrumental, dance and novelty numbers. There will be no solo contests.

Adult Farmer Class Set for Lanesboro
LANESBORO, Minn. (Special)—James Richmond, farm specialist of the J. R. Watkins Co., Winona, will conduct the adult farmer class Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Community Building. He will discuss vitamins and high level antibiotics in the livestock rations.

The program will also include a film, "Road to Greater Hog Profits."

DEMONSTRATION GIVEN
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—Demonstrations were given by Carol and Bernice Drenckhahn at a meeting of the Mt. Vernon Meters 4-H Club Monday at the Earl Drenckhahn home. Mrs. Al Peshon talked on the values of 4-H. The next meeting will be held April 11 at the District 84 School in the form of a talent contest.

Scooters 4-H Branch Organized

ETTRICK, Wis. (Special)—The South Branch Scooters 4-H Club has reorganized with Wilbur Salzwedel as president; Carole Severson, vice president; Ione Salomonsen, secretary-treasurer, and Wanda Larson, reporter. Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Larson and Mr. and Mrs. Willard Salzwedel will be leaders. Meetings are to be held the first Monday in each month.

Carole Severson and Wilbur Salzwedel will arrange the program for the next meeting and lunch will be served by Mr. and Mrs. Martin Severson and Mr. and Mrs. Vilas Salomonsen.

The group will participate in the music and drama contest here Monday.

Activity Banquet at Plainview Monday
PLAINVIEW, Minn. (Special)—Seventy-one Plainview Consolidated School students will be guests at the Plainview Commercial Club's annual activity banquet Monday at 6:15 p.m.

The toastmaster will be Bruce Oxtun, with the invocation by the Rev. W. J. Brown. Frank Duncan, president of the Commercial Club will extend greetings to the students. Wayne Herman will respond for the students. Awards to the students will be made by members of the school faculty with closing remarks by Supt. S. L. Johnson.

Tickets for the program, which is open to the public, are available at the school or the Red Owl Store.

FAST CHICK GROWTH IS IMPORTANT

says Steve Carter of General Mills

There is something about baby chicks you've probably noticed... the faster they grow, the fewer disease problems you have! That's because a healthy chick is generally less susceptible to disease. Thus, when you have chicks that gain weight fast, you end up with more chicks that live and grow into good producing raisers.

And, if you start your chicks on Larro SureChick, you can get those important, fast gains. In just 12 short weeks, SureChick can give you chicks that weigh as much as 30 times their hatching weight! So, if you want healthy chicks, perky little peepers that are capable of withstanding onslaughts of disease and severe temperature changes, choose Larro SureChick this spring.

If you are raising chicks I think it is mighty important that you get your SureChick this spring from...

Jackson County Music, Drama Winners Named

HIXTON, Wis. (Special)—Judy Merrill and Lois Becker, Taylor, singing a novelty duet and the Irving 4-H Club band were awarded first places in the annual Jackson County 4-H club music and drama festival Wednesday. Judy and Lois, members of the Elm Tippler Club, were last year's first place winners in the vocal class. The contest was held at the Hixton High School.

The Irving 4-H Club band, which placed first in the instrumental music class, is comprised of Richard and Robert Hanson, Peter and Richard Overlein, Mary Mayer, Lorraine Rice, Susan Gilbertson and Patricia Peters. Ranging in age from 12 to 15, they received musical training through the Melrose and Black River Falls school districts.

The winners will represent Jackson County in the district music and drama festival at the Taylor High School next Friday at 7 p. m. representatives of a six or seven county area will compete for district honors. A representative from the University of Wisconsin extension division will judge this contest.

Other participants in the contest were: A vocal sextette by the Hatfield Arbuthus Ramblers; the Elm Tippler Band, Taylor; clarinet duets by Nancy Nehring and Karen Finn and Elina Stoltz and Jeanne Curran, Taylor.

The Wilson Creek Club, North Bend, presented a cornet duet with Donald Johnson and Michael Sacia; a piano duet by Jane Borchardt and Ruth Ann Oliver and a flute-phonograph quartet by Bonnie Johnson, Sally Buttenhoff, Ronald Sequest, and James Sacia.

A play, "Fording It," was presented by Jean Burchard and Joanne Hughes of the rural Black River Falls Club, Whispering Hills. Richard Biernie and Steven Cotone, drama and music teachers of the Hixton High School, served as judges for the contest.

LA CROSSE, Wis. — Four Winona ice fishermen were found guilty of fishing with more than two lines Thursday in County Court here. Fines were set at $15 each with court costs to be split among the four. A 5-day stay was granted.

All four had entered pleas of not guilty. They were charged by Warden Dave Hammes in connection with illegal fishing in the Mississippi River March 2. The fishermen are: Henry Kowalewski, Sugar Loaf; Karl Kunda, whose address was given as 317 Chatfield St.; Joseph Kunda, whose address was given as 450 Mankato Ave., and Frank Grupa Jr., 450 1/2 Mankato Ave.

Mondovi Scouts Planning Supper

MONDOVI, Wis. (Special)—The Mondovi Explorer Scout post will sponsor a public benefit pancake supper Thursday at 5 p. m. in the dining room of Central Evangelical Lutheran Church here.

Proceeds from the affair will be used to purchase camping equipment for the local troop, said Earl Van Gelder, explorer adviser.

The Rev. Harold Haugland and Oscar Thoreson, both of Mondovi, were guest speakers at local explorers' annual Mom and Dad night this week.

Movies of skiing in Sun Valley, Idaho, were shown through the courtesy of a Mondovi auto firm.

North Central Maps Helicopter Service for State

MINNEAPOLIS — A helicopter service linking the Twin Cities with 19 Minnesota communities and 5 in Western Wisconsin was proposed today by North Central Airlines.

President H. N. Carr said application for such service was filed in Washington with the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB). North Central already serves 16 Wisconsin cities and 11 in Minnesota.

Carr said World-Chamberlain airport would be the main post offices in Minneapolis and St. Paul would be co-terminals for helicopters. The ships would serve as feeders for planes using the Twin City Metropolitan Field.

Tentative plans call for the 'copters to fly to St. Cloud, Anoka, Wayzata, Stillwater, White Bear, Rochester, Red Wing, Hastings, Northfield, Faribault, Owatonna, Mankato, New Ulm, St. Peter, Willmar, Litchfield, Chaska, Shakopee and South St. Paul in Minnesota. Wisconsin communities on the map are Rice Lake, Chippewa Falls, Eau Claire, Menomonie and Hudson.

Carr said there were no plans for providing immediate service because the CAB would have to conduct full public hearings on the application. State of rights also would depend on availability of equipment, if they are approved, he added.

The company last week filed applications for similar helicopter routes in the Detroit and Chicago-Milwaukee areas. Carr said the firm acted after an official had been to Europe to study the 'copter service now being flown by Sabena, the Belgian airline.

Carr said principal advantage of the 'copters is their ability to land and take off from relatively small "heliports."

8 Green Hands Advanced at FFA Meeting

LANESBORO, Minn. (Special)—Eight Green Hands were advanced to the degree of Chapter Farmer during a special meeting of the Lanesboro Future Farmers of America Chapter Tuesday. They are: James Bremseth, Dan McCulloch, Robert Hager, Angelo Hennessy, Virgil McCollison, Milton Solberg, Arlyn Johnson and Dale Landverk.

The degree is conferred upon Green Hands after a year of vocational agriculture. Each candidate must have earned at least $50 from his enterprises, conducted a satisfactory farming program, led a 10-minute group discussion and become familiar with parliamentary procedure in conducting a meeting.

Committee reports on the rat and mouse campaign, the summer picnic, fire prevention week and the thrift plan were also presented during the meeting.

Arlyn Johnson entertained with guitar and vocal numbers and he led the group in singing.

School Merger Effective July 1

BLAIR, Wis. (Special)—Consolidation of the Reynolds Coulee and Blair school districts will become effective July 1 following a 4-1 vote Tuesday by the Trempealeau County School Committee to dissolve the Reynolds district.

The action came after 70 percent of the land area of the district was represented in a petition to the committee asking for consolidation with the Blair district.

A public hearing was held at the Reynolds Coulee School March 8. About 60 interested persons attended and gave testimony both for and against the proposal.

The committee met with the Reynolds Coulee board and later with the Blair board before making a decision. Reynolds Coulee is District 7 of the towns of Ettrick and Preston.

Sixteen residents of the district signed the original petition asking for the consolidation.

Grimm Uses 22 Men As Braves Bow 8-5

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves met the Pittsburgh Pirates in an exhibition skirmish here today with the Braves holding a 4-4 win-loss Grapefruit League record.

The Braves bowed, 8-5, to the Boston Red Sox Thursday afternoon at Sarasota, Fla., the site of Boston's spring training ground.

Manager Charlie Grimm pushed his rookies onto the mound against Boston. Bobby Buhl started and finished the first three innings by allowing only one run.

Glenn Thompson took over for the fourth frame for the Braves by handing out five walks, three hits and five runs. Grimm subbed Charley Gorin for Thompson, then Paul Cave was rescued by Dave Koslo in the sixth.

The Braves managed to put at least one man on base in every inning but missed base hits in the clutch. All told the Braves received nine walks and seven hits and 11 men were left on.

Grimm started the contest with a veteran lineup, but before the finish he had 22 players in the game, including five pitchers.

Second baseman Billy Goodman led the Sox attack with three hits and three RBIs. He drove home a run when he beat out an infield single with the bases loaded in the fourth frame and singled down the left field line with the bases jammed again in the fifth inning for two more Boston runs.

Russ Kemmerer, the first Boston pitcher to go four innings, was the winner although Sid Hudson was the standout of the three Red Sox pitchers.

Kemmerer was touched for two runs in the second on a walk to Henry Aaron and singles by Johnny Logan and Del Crandall with an infield out by Buhl to bring Logan home from second.

The Braves managed two more in the seventh inning after Bill Bruton walked, Jack Dittmer was hit by a pitched ball and Eddie Mathews singled home Bruton. A sacrifice fly from Joe Adcock added the other run.

The Braves fifth and final run was scored in the eighth after a walk for Roy Smalley, Al Spangler's safety and Billy Queen's sacrifice brought Smalley in.

Thompson was tagged as the losing Braves pitcher.

GOOD HIT, NO FIELD

Jabbo Tries To Overcome Butcher Tag

By JACK HAND

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—First in hitting and last in fielding among National League third basemen is the story of Ray Jablonski, known far and wide as a "good-hit, no field" ball-player.

Keenly aware of his reputation as a "butcher" in the field, Jablonski is working on defense this spring. His first with the Cincinnati Reds. He knows the St. Louis Cardinals traded him last winter because of his poor fielding.

"Everybody knows I'm supposed to be poor in the field," he said at a Cincinnati workout. "All these fellows (Manager Birdie Tebbets and his coaches) know the situation. They're trying to help me."

"The first game I ever played in St. Louis, an exhibition against the Browns, I made an error and nobody ever forgot it. The next day, when we played another exhibition with the Browns, the fans cheered me when I would catch a ball, just warming up on the sidelines. It's always been the same. When I come up to bat they cheer but when I go after a ball they groan."

Jablonski has been trying to bend down a bit lower as he stands at third base, hoping he will be in a better position to field the ball. Many of his 34 errors last season came from wild throws. He claims he used to throw flat footed but now is trying to take time enough to get set before he lets the ball go.

Jablonski led the league's third basemen with a .295 average and drove in 104 runs last year. Tebbets hasn't decided on his batting order yet but he probably will hit Jabbo No. 6, giving him plenty of chance to bat with men on. Johnny Temple, the No. 6 hitter part of last season, has been moved to leadoff.

Brooklyn Sells Palica to Orioles

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers today sold Erv Palica, 27-year-old right-hander, to Baltimore for an undisclosed sum of cash and first baseman Frank Keller. The latter will play for Brooklyn's St. Paul farm club.

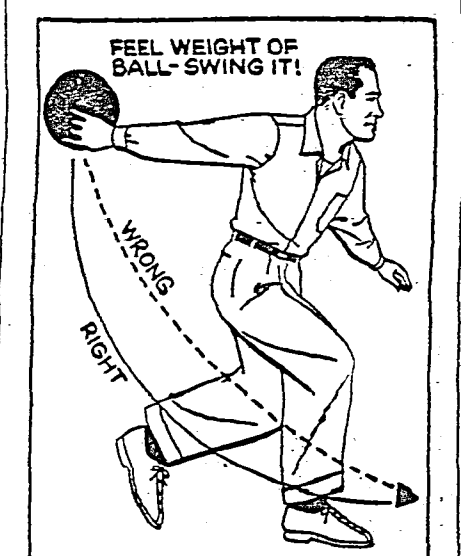

The Palica sale closes out the Dodger-Oriole deal of last winter when the Brooks sold Preacher Roe and Billy Cox to Baltimore. Roe later retired.

HOLDING THE SLOT

Delay the Downswing—In the previous article, I explained that bowling and golf both have a "point of explosion," just before the lowest point of the downswing is reached. To be in proper position at that point, the downswing, in both sports, cannot be hurried. It must be smooth. In golf the firm left arm is pulled straight down to hold the groove, it followed on the upward swing. In bowling, the ball drops down into the same "slot," as sketch shows.

To get and hold the groove you must feel the weight of the ball by being relaxed. No tenseness whatever. The ball weight drops your body into an easy, natural crouch through the finishing fourth, final step-slide to the foul line. The ball swings low, at ankle-point height, through the lowest point in the arc, so that you can apply a smooth, free, arm-lift from the spine. Rush the swing from the top, as sketch shows, and you'll drive the ball downward, into the alley, without follow-through and, of course, with poor direction. Concentrate on dropping the ball into the downward slot. It means bowling without any physical effort, plus better scoring.

Jablonski led the league's third basemen with a .295 average and drove in 104 runs last year. Tebbets hasn't decided on his batting order yet but he probably will hit Jabbo No. 6, giving him plenty of chance to bat with men on. Johnny Temple, the No. 6 hitter part of last season, has been moved to leadoff.

Decked Flanagan Rallies, Scores TKO Over Bratton

ST. PAUL (AP) — After going down for a first round count of eight, Del Flanagan rebounded Thursday night to score a technical knockout over Johnny Bratton and toss a roadblock into the Chicago welterweight's comeback path.

Dr. Joseph McCarthy, Minnesota boxing commission physician, ordered the scrap halted in the ninth round when he found Bratton's eyes cut and dilated. He said the fighter also was dazed and "didn't seem to know where he was."

St. Paul's largest fight crowd since World War II, 6,817 fans, poured a whopping $19,396 into the cash registers for the St. Patrick's Day card.

Flanagan, weighing 152½ and with his fire aroused after the early knockdown, poured a barrage of left jabs and right uppercuts into the 147½-pound Bratton. The St. Paulite opened a cut over Bratton's left eye in the second round, and the optic continued swelling until it was closed at the TKO.

Before the fight was stopped, Flanagan had held a generous point margin on cards of the two judges and referee. He absorbed few blows himself and was unmarked at the finish.

One of the "big guys," Eddie Yost, homered to start the bottom half of the first inning yesterday and the Senators went on to defeat the Cincinnati Redlegs 6-4 for their fourth straight victory.

The Boston Red Sox broke a three-game losing streak by whipping the Milwaukee Braves 8-5. Billy Goodman collected three hits and batted in three runs.

Al Kaline scooted home from third base on Jack Phillips' slow infield roller in the ninth inning to give the Detroit Tigers a 3-2 triumph over the Philadelphia Phillies.

The New York Yankees turned back the St. Louis Cardinals 7-4, getting three unearned runs in the eighth inning to snap a 4-4 tie.

The Kansas City Athletics received effective pitching from Art Ditmar and Marion Fricano and downed the Chicago White Sox 8-2. Bob Nieman of the Sox produced four hits.

Chico Fernandez's error on Gus Triandos' double-play grounder let in the winning run as the Baltimore Orioles nosed out the Brooklyn Dodgers 5-4 in 10 innings.

In another extra-inning game, the Chicago Cubs outlasted the Cleveland Indians 8-7 in 11 frames.

Middies Rip Shorewood; Superior, Eau Claire Win

By JACK VARICK

MADISON (AP)—They saved the surprises for the last as Middleton turned torrid in the final period and upset Shorewood, 77-72, Thursday night to complete quarter final action in the 40th Wisconsin high school basketball tournament.

The Cardinals from Middleton provided the 12,799 fans with a thrilling finale by overcoming a 14-point Shorewood lead in the fourth quarter to win a spot in tonight's semifinals. Center Dave Wundrow, who nearly cracked a scoring record, hit nine points and guard Paul Olson put in eight in the victorious rally.

Monroe Wins 63-45
Monroe opened the quarter final round in the afternoon with a generally expected triumph over Kimbrey, although the 63-45 score might have caused some raised eyebrows. Platerville stayed close enough to bother Superior Central most of the way but the Vikings won as they were counted on to do, 78-68. And Eau Claire followed suit by marking up its third victory of the year over Wausau, 76-68.

And even the last contest on the opening day card of the tournament looked as if it would go according to the books until the capable Shorewood quintet collapsed, scoring only nine points while Middleton piled in 27 in the last eight minutes.

Top Teams Tangle
So Superior Central and Monroe, rated the state's No. 1 and 2 teams respectively in pre-tournament appraisals, tangled tonight at 7 in the upper bracket and the surprising Middleton Cardinals will battle Eau Claire at 8:30 in the lower bracket.

And while it would be safest to say it's anybody's finals, Superior and Eau Claire are regarded in this camp as the probable combatants in the championship tilt Saturday night at 7:30.

Loses 41-29 Lead
Shorewood, which came to the meet with a 19-4 record and as a runner-up in the Milwaukee Suburban Conference, trailed by one point after the first quarter against Middleton. But forward Ron Meyers of the Greyhounds broke Middleton's back, or so it appeared then, with five straight baskets in the second quarter to shove Shorewood to a 41-29 lead.

In fact Meyers was so hot he set a new tournament field goal percentage of .667, hitting 8 of 12 attempts from the floor.

But Middleton's 6 foot 3 Dave Wundrow was piling up points himself and keeping Middleton in contention. He hit six field goals and four free throws for 16 points in the first half. Three more baskets gave him six points in the third quarter but he counted heavily in the last period.

Wundrow collected 31 points in all—one short of the tournament record set by Warren Hoff of Eau Claire in 1946 and tied last year by Bob Litzw of Stevens Point.

Bob Andereg, Monroe center who brought the top season scoring mark of 28.1 points per game to the final round here, gave a good display of his ability. He put in 26 points for the victorious Cheesemakers but 19 of them came in the first half when the issue really was settled. Andereg tried 11 shots from the floor and made 7 to tie the field goal percentage mark of .636 later broken by Meyers. The .636 record had belonged to Charles Schultz of Beloit and Roy Ward of St. Croix Falls.

The cheesemakers had an even better marksman in guard Jim McNeane who hit at a .750 clip. He made good on 6 of 8 field goal attempts but didn't set a record because a player must make 10 or more attempts to qualify.

Ladich Leads Superior
Forward Stan Ladich, Superior's leading scorer, could hit only four free throws in the first half against Platerville. The Lumberjacks opened the second half with a vengeance and began hitting from all sides but the 6 foot 2½ Ladich was there for Superior when needed and he kept the Vikings in front. He hit three straight field goals early in the second half and ended up with a total of 24-high for the Vikings. Guard Jack Stark added 20, 12 of them in the first half when Ladich was cold.

Forward Dick McWilliams paced Platerville with 20 points and Jack Gardner got 11. They got fine help from a pair of 5-9 guards — Bob Millman, who scored 15 points and Mickey McKiehan, who hit 10.

Barjones Scores 30
Eau Claire's Old Ales, rated 6th best of the state's high school teams, had beaten Wausau, decisively twice during the regular season. But without center Bob Barneson, 6-5, they would have had difficulty doing it again Thursday night. Barneson sank nine field goals and 12 free throw attempts, because of the bonus rule. He had 22 chances at the free throw line and missed 10. The old mark of 19 free throw attempts was set in 1952 by Charles Brendler of Madison East.

New Crowd Mark
The two afternoon games were viewed by 14,266 at the University of Wisconsin field house, a new single session record for the tournament. That crowd was 293 above the record set Friday night last year.

If Middleton and Monroe can win tonight, the tournament final will be strictly a Badger Conference affair. Monroe licked Middleton during the regular season as the Cheesemakers won the loop crown. Middleton was runnerup.

Ortonville, N. Prague Gain State Tourney

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ortonville in Region 3 and New Prague in Region 4 claimed upset victories over favored foes Thursday night to lead the parade of eight finalists into the Minnesota High School Basketball Tournament at Williams Arena next week.

Two more finalists will be picked as semifinal play starts in the four remaining regions, where champions will be determined Saturday night.

Ortonville ousted Renville, defending titlist, 66-64. Gustavus Adolphus, while New Prague was swamping St. Paul Central, 70-61, at Williams Arena.

Jack Blink scored a tremendous 32 points, a dozen of them in the final period, to put Ortonville into the big show for the first time since 1918. Blink sank all 12 of his free throw tries while Chuck Huselid was carrying Renville's scoring honors with 18.

Ron Johnson, New Prague's high powered center, made a single-handed affair out of his mates triumph with a whopping 39 count-down of the team's 70. It will be the victors first appearance in the main prep event of the year since 1928. Central's Earle Maendler was second high scorer with 14.

Chips go down tonight at Moorhead where Morris and Staples battle it out for the Region 6 crown after both won their semifinal contests Thursday night on the Concordia College floor.

Morris was forced into a second, sudden death overtime before claiming its 53-51 decision over Alexandria while Staples was turning back Detroit Lakes, 47-43.

Jim Hruby tossed in the winning shot for Morris at 1:28 of the sudden death session after the count had been successively knotted at 45-45 and 51-51. Detroit Lakes led 12-8 at the first quarter but Staples took over after a 16-16 tie for a 33-30 count at close of the third period. The Lakers again caught up at 41-41 but Bob Peterson dropped in four free throws to make it 45-41 before Allen Moberg threatened with a last minute fielder with 1:15 left. The gun sounded as Dale Sorenson bucketed a goal to end it at 47-43.

Finals tonight bring this schedule: Region 1 at Rochester: Wykoff vs. Austin.

Region 6 at Moorhead: Staples vs. Morris.

Semifinals: Region 2 at St. Peter: Fairmont vs. Slayton, and Windom vs. Garden City.

Region 5 at Minneapolis: Kokato vs. St. Louis Park, and Monticello vs. Minneapolis Washburn.

Region 7 at Duluth: Esko vs. Lindstrom-Center City, and Chisholm vs. Tower-Soudan.

Region 8 at Grand Forks: Bemidji vs. Crookston, and Ada vs. Kennedy.

Senators Trip Cincinnati 6-4 For 4th Straight

Yanks, Tigers, A's Chalk Up Wins on Grapefruit Circuit

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ
The Associated Press

While some baseball clubs strive toward winning pennants, the Washington Senators would be content to wind up in the first division — which is what Manager Chuck Dressen is pointing for in 1955.

Not since 1946 has Washington finished among the top four clubs in the American League. The Nats were fourth that year. In 1950, '52 and '53 they were fifth. Since they won their last pennant in 1933, the Senators have been in the first division only five times.

Dressen, who led the Brooklyn Dodgers to two straight National League flags in 1952 and 1953, has his Nats riding atop the Grapefruit and Cactus League standings today with a 4-2 won-lost record.

"Our goal is to finish in the first division," Dressen said. "With luck we may even finish as high as third."

He thinks his club has a chance provided the "big guys" don't get hurt. He meant first baseman Mickey Vernon, outfielder Jim Busby and third baseman Eddie Yost. He also regards pitching as the strongest part of his team.

One of the "big guys," Eddie Yost, homered to start the bottom half of the first inning yesterday and the Senators went on to defeat the Cincinnati Redlegs 6-4 for their fourth straight victory.

The Boston Red Sox broke a three-game losing streak by whipping the Milwaukee Braves 8-5. Billy Goodman collected three hits and batted in three runs.

Al Kaline scooted home from third base on Jack Phillips' slow infield roller in the ninth inning to give the Detroit Tigers a 3-2 triumph over the Philadelphia Phillies.

The New York Yankees turned back the St. Louis Cardinals 7-4, getting three unearned runs in the eighth inning to snap a 4-4 tie.

The Kansas City Athletics received effective pitching from Art Ditmar and Marion Fricano and downed the Chicago White Sox 8-2. Bob Nieman of the Sox produced four hits.

Chico Fernandez's error on Gus Triandos' double-play grounder let in the winning run as the Baltimore Orioles nosed out the Brooklyn Dodgers 5-4 in 10 innings.

In another extra-inning game, the Chicago Cubs outlasted the Cleveland Indians 8-7 in 11 frames.

Argentina Upsets U. S. Quint 54-53

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Argentina is a somewhat hysterical leader of the Pan-American basketball tournament today, victor over a United States team that was supposed to take the championship with comparative ease.

The Gauchos, led by that veteran of Olympic basketball, Jean Oscar Furlong, beat the United States, 54-53, Thursday night amid scenes of confusion and ecstasy and now appear to have the Pan-American title in the bag.

The game had a crowd of 10,000 in pandemonium. Argentina led virtually all the way, once being ahead by 13 points, but the Americans closed in down the stretch and tied 53-53. Then a free throw turned the trick.

When the buzzer ended the game, the Argentine team was mobbed by fans while it was doing an impromptu waltz on the court. It was 30 minutes before the court was cleared.

Furlong led the Argentine scoring with 14 points. Bob Williams got the same for the U.S.

Brazil swamped Venezuela, 86-44, in another game in the men's while Mexico beat Canada, 58-41, in the women's division.

You can always tell it is spring when sleds and skates give way to baseballs as booby traps to trip over on the front porch.

Diamond Dust

It was no surprise reading a Minnesota baseball release that Jerry Kindall will be on the Gopher traveling squad which leaves Saturday for a swing south. . . . The Gopher baseball team opens its southern trip Monday at the University of Texas.

Kindall, signed to play this summer with the Winona Chiefs, is a sophomore shortstop and the release calls him "Minnesota's outstanding sophomore prospect . . ."

Also on the Gopher squad are Dick Anderson of Austin and Shorty Cochran and Dick Buro, both of Rochester . . . Co-captain of the Gophers is first baseman Roger Anderson from good olde Windom . . .

A look at Michigan State's early baseball prospects is like renewing acquaintances with the Southern Minny . . . Dick Idzkowski had a 4-3 record for the Spartans last year and Billy Mansfield, both former members of the Rochester Royals, was 3-0 . . . Idzkowski was at his best in the College World Series at Omaha, twice relieving to save Spartan starters . . . the release states . . .

Regular second baseman is George Smith, who like Kindall of the Gophers, has signed a declaration of intention to play for the Chiefs this summer . . . Smith, a 5-10, 170-pounder, batted .290 for the Spartans last year . . .

Dick Stanton, Lamolite baseball player, will play for Peoria this season and has signed his contract with that team's Three-League, Class B entry . . . Stanton is a power-hitting third baseman . . .

Short Shots

Jim Bade and Bob Rogneby of Cochrane were picked by a La Crosse sports announcer on an all-tournament squad . . . Bob McNish, Rochester coach, says of the 57-56 heartbreaker his team suffered to Austin Tuesday night, "We should have had 'em, but we kicked it away . . ."

McNish recalled that Rochester blew a scoring opportunity in the last three seconds, but took the boy who missed the shot off the hook by saying, "Actually, we lost the game before then—we shouldn't have let Austin catch up after we had them down 34-24 at halftime . . ."

Vern Awles, senior wrestler at Luther College, was recently named "Athlete of the Week" at the Decorah, Iowa, school in recognition of his mat accomplishments . . .

Awles wound up his college wrestling career with a 23-3 record including an 8-1 decision, his final appearance against Wartburg College . . .

He moved up a division to the 147-pound weight when Luther's wrestler in that division was sidelined by an injury . . .

Bill Hargeshimer, hustling director of the Park-Ree's Bantam League basketball program, has furnished the 1954-55 Bantam League All-Star squad as follows:

Forwards—Jim Jenkins, Federal Bakery; Pat Woodworth, Red Men's Club; George Schmeling, Athletic Club; Centers—Roger Stover, Central Methodist, and Gary Kolofsky, Peerless Chain. Guards—Frank Braun and David Lundberg, Central Methodist, and Strand Wedahl, Federal Bakery.

Jenkins with 120 points and Braun with 101 were the two top scorers in the Bantam League . . . Others over 90 were Pat Woodworth, 97; Stover, 96, and Wedahl, 92 . . . Jenkins also led in field goals with 54 and Stover topped Bantam League free throwers with 28 . . .

Elvind Hoff, drum-beater for the Minneapolis Lakers wrote prior to the start of NBA playoffs: "We had a pretty good season. Believe me, these guys can win the playoffs if they put their mind to it."

"The Eastern teams are frightened to death of the Lakers, but we've got to convince ourselves we can handle Fort Wayne . . . Watch Pollard's playoff performance. "If he's 'got it, I think we'll take all the marbles . . ."

Take It Easy, Earl

Sometimes a guy isn't as young as he used to be hardly anymore, as G.G. would say . . . Earl Gillespie, a voice of the Milwaukee Braves, was taken to Memorial Hospital at Bradenton, Fla., in an ambulance after he suffered severe chest pains during the night . . .

Cardiograms were ordered to determine whether he had suffered a heart attack. Gillespie, 32, who played for Green Bay in the old Wisconsin State League, had been working out with the Braves.

Iowa-La Salle Slated Tonight In NCAA Semis

Halderson, Buffs Make Bid Against San Francisco

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The La Salle explorers defend their national collegiate basketball crown against Iowa's Big Ten champion Hawkeyes tonight in the semifinal round of the 17th NCAA tournament.

Following the La Salle-Iowa opener at 7:45 CST the western delegates — San Francisco and Colorado — will clash.

The municipal auditorium arena is assured of a bulging crowd of more than 10,000 for both the semifinals and Saturday night's finals.

Coach Ken Loeffler's Explorers, who crushed Brady, 92-76, for their first NCAA title last year, got into the final go-round again by beating West Virginia in the first round at New York, then taking Princeton and Canisius at Philadelphia.

The Explorers, featuring All-America Tom Gola, have a 25-4 record.

Iowa, coached by Bucky O'Connor, had a first round bye then handed Penn State and Marquette in reaching the semifinals. The Hawkeyes have a winter-long record of 19-5.

San Francisco's Dons, beaten once in 27 games, whipped West Texas in the first round and then defeated Utah and Oregon State to get up to the final two-night session. Coach Phil Woolpert's All-America Bill Russell, 6-10 center, may be called upon to carry an extra load since Jerry Mullen, a top defender, is hobbled by an ankle injury.

Coach Bebe Lee's Colorado Buffaloes qualified by winning the Big Seven title and beating Tulsa and Bradley in the regional at Manhattan, Kan. The Buffs, boasting a solid team headed by 6-7 Burdette Halderson, stand 18-5 for the season.

800 See St. Pat's Card at Caledonia

CALEDONIA, Minn. (Special)—Over 800 boxing fans turned out despite bad weather conditions for the annual St. Patrick's Day boxing show sponsored by the Loretto Athletic Association and held at the Caledonia Community Hall.

A good exhibition of boxing was staged in the windup between a pair of featherweights, Dave Keefe of Caledonia and Ous Biers of Milwaukee, Keefe won a decision.

Two new heavyweights, Al Kramer of Caledonia and Norbert Staggenmeyer of Eitzen, fought a crowd-pleasing battle with Kramer winning by TKO in the third round.

Results of the card follow:
135-Bill Mulvanna, Caledonia, defeated Billy Little, Hokah.
Heavyweight—Al Kramer, Caledonia, TKO'd Norbert Staggenmeyer, Eitzen, (3).
155-Monny Costello, Rochester, defeated Jerry Miller, Brownville.

115-Johnny Bauer, Caledonia, defeated Howard Fellmar, Hokah.
105-Hurley White, Brownville, defeated Vern Cronson, Chaffield.
100-Dick Lonchick, Hokah, TKO'd Dale Georges, Caledonia.
95-Billy Gavin, 140, Caledonia, TKO'd Gale Gehring, Houston, 125, (2).
105-Leroy White, Brownville, defeated Ken Hanley, Chaffield.
175-Skip Painter, Lanesboro, defeated Mel Ertolan, Hokah.
105-Orrville O'Call, Chaffield, defeated Charles Lorenz, Hokah.

Lopes, Costa Mix Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—A couple of youngsters who never before have been in a Madison Square Garden main event—Joey Lopes and Carmelo Costa—go to it in the feature 10 in the Eighth Avenue Arena tonight.

Both have impressive records. Lopes was a cautious 6-5 choice. They have agreed to come in at 132 pounds, so although Lopes is a lightweight and Costa a featherweight, there will be little difference in poundage.

Lopes, 22, from Sacramento, Calif., by way of Portugal, has an impressive three-round knockout of Percy Bassett to his credit in his last fight. He has seven straight victories and a record of 30-6-1.

Costa, of Brooklyn, has lost only two of 28 bouts, with three draws in the record. One of the losses to Bobby Bell he avenged later. The bout will be telecast and broadcast by NBC, starting at 9 p. m. CST.

Nascak, Sturdevant Signing Brings Chiefs Roster to 19

Two more names were officially added to the roster of the 1953 Winona Chiefs today by announcement of Winona Baseball Association officials.

Players signed for the upcoming Southern Minny season are both well-known to Winona and league fans—shortstop Emil Nascak and third baseman Joe Sturdevant.

Nascak will be starting his seventh season of Southern Minny participation. Four of his previous years—1950-51-52-53—were with Winona, all years when he was named to play in the league's mid-summer All-Star game.

With Lakers in '54 Nascak first appeared on the Southern Minny scene in 1949 with Rochester, batting 12-for-18 in play-offs. Last year he played with Faribault's Lakers after that team's shortstop, Dick Kaess, suffered a broken wrist.

Nascak participated in a Faribault winning streak that found the Lakers placing well up in final standings.

Known more for his glove work than for his hitting, Nascak's best year at the plate was in 1952 when he batted .293, had four doubles, three homers and 16 RBIs.

Last season in 73 times at bat with Faribault Nascak got 16 hits.

Righthanded Hitter

Sturdevant, righthanded all, the way, was released by Waseca-Owatonna when that team signed Olin Martin to bolster its left-handed-hitting punch, according to WBA spokesmen.

Sturdevant played two years for Waseca. In 1952 he batted .296 with 54 hits in 183 trips to the plate, including 12 doubles, two triples, eight homers and 32 RBIs.

Last season Sturdevant's average for 143 trips to the plate was .266.

Roster Listed

The Chiefs roster now includes 19 players.

They are Jack Triplett, Sid Langston, Bert Tracy, Bill Leach, Stan Shargy, Tom Petroff, Wes Rinker, Al Radsavage, Don Miller, George Smith, Emil Nascak, Jerry Kindall, Joe Sturdevant, Jim Lawler, Carl DeRose, Jack McGrath, Joe Shraake, Ed Lyons and George Gleason.

Following is a WBA spokesman's size-up of the Chiefs, position-by-position:

Outfield—Triplett, Langston and Tracy. Also Leach, Shargy, Petroff and Rinker.

First Base—Radsavage.

Second Base—Miller, Smith and Shargy.

Shortstop—Nascak and Kindall.

Third Base—Sturdevant, Petroff and Leach.

Pitchers—Lawler, DeRose, McGrath, Shraake, Lyons, Rinker, and "another topnotch righthander."

Catchers—Gleason and Leach.

5 Holdover Members

Holdover members of the Chiefs are Triplett, Leach, Shargy, Radsavage and McGrath.

Players with Southern Minny experience on the Chiefs roster for the first time this year are Langston, Miller, Lawler, DeRose and Gleason, all with Austin last year, and Sturdevant, formerly of Waseca.

Not a member of the Chiefs last year, but also a "newcomer" is Nascak, a member of the Faribault Lakers in 1952 and a member of the Chiefs four years prior to last season.

A veteran of Minnesota AA ball is Tracy, who played in the now-defunct Western Minny with Sleepy Eye.

Newcomers from the college ranks are Kindall, University of Minnesota; Smith, Michigan State, and Shraake, St. Mary's.

Completing the ranks of signed players announced are Petroff, Rinker and Lyons.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGUM, D. Sc.

1. WHICH DO MORE TO RAISE THE STANDARD OF LIVING—MEN OR WOMEN? MEN ☐ WOMEN ☐ 3-18

Answer to Question No. 1

1. Women, when they have a chance. Men do the inventing and manufacturing of the "refinements of life"—but because women demand them. In boom and pioneer towns men live about like savages until women enter and civilize things. But for women's demands for better living, we would probably still be living in caves.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. Yes. Psychiatrists often find that delinquents commit crimes because their gangs will call them cowards if they don't, and the wrongdoers fear this shame. On the other hand, parents often shame their children into getting their lessons or doing the right thing in a social situation. We all often do wrong (or omit to do right) because we would be ashamed to speak up against public wrong.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. Most people think that they remember more unhappy than happy experiences. But two psychologists found this was usually when people were feeling gloomy. They had subjects list a large group of experiences and discovered that the list included far more happy than unhappy experiences. After all, this is not a "vale of tears"—at least not in America and the free countries.

THE GRAB BAG

THE ANSWER, QUICK!

1. What minor incident in China in 1937 developed into the Chinese-Japanese war?
2. What ancient Greek scientist said that if he were given a lever and a place to stand, he could move the world?
3. What grand opera, play and motion picture were based on the life of a washerwoman, a friend of Napoleon's?
4. Can you give the next line after, "I was a King in Babylon"?
5. On what date will Easter Sunday fall on this year?

HOW'D YOU MAKE OUT?

1. The clash of Chinese and Japanese soldiers at the Marco Polo bridge.
2. Archimedes.
3. Madame Sans-Gene.
4. "And you were a Christian slave," from To W. A., by W. E. Henley.
5. On April 10th.

A diplomat is a fellow who waits to compliment his wife on the beautiful centerpiece until he is sure it isn't a new hat.
