Parents weekend highlights production, exhibits, tours

Parents Weekend at WSC, May 24-27, will be highlighted by a musical production, an art exhibition, and a library tour. A special added attraction will be "Fanfare for Parents Weekend," an original musical composition written by William Schmidt, music instructor, especially for this occasion.

Registration for parents will begin Saturday morning, May 26.

SMEA adds two on executive board
Two Winona State students were recently elected to the State SMEA executive board. Douglas Rosendahl is the new vice-president, and the new secretary is Marilyn McChure. The new executive board will aid in the planning of this year's convention.

ROSENDAHL is a junior from Bloomington, majoring in biology. Last year he was the exchange student to Norway. This year, he was a member of the local SMEA and Academy of Science.

McChure is a senior from Rochester, majoring in English. She transferred here this year from Marquette State. She is active in the local SMEA, InterVarsity, and the Winonan.

The convention was held at Hamline University April 7-9. On Friday evening, Dr. Governor James Goetz spoke on "Youth's role in the world," and a reception was held with a special added attraction will be "Fanfare for Parents' Weekend," an original musical composition written by William Schmidt, music instructor, especially for this occasion.

The convention passed several resolutions, including one which requires all student council members to be on the student council committee and to pass the P.O. system, which the community as a whole will be helped to improve the community through cooperation.

Seniors mustered only 67 votes and the graduates cast only 5 votes.

A member of Kappa Pi, Madrigal Singers, and Choir, McChure, 20, is also a member of the Student Senate and SNEA. In addition he is president and plays the trumpet in the college band, which belongs to Sigma Tau Gamma Fraternity.

SOMESEN Auditorium, where the event will take place, will be open to the public. The event will feature performances by the Winona State College choir and band, as well as a special art and crafts exhibition and tour of the new library addition.

'Spring Romance' undereway

Construction is finished for the "Spring Romance," the theme of this year's spring prom, according to Kappa Phi, general chairman. The theme will be decorated with floral arrangements, and it will be open on the evening of April 29th.

Planning designs started in January, and it will culminate on April 29th, according to Kappa Phi, general chairman. The theme will be decorated with floral arrangements, and it will be open on the evening of April 29th.

The Student Senate will be in charge of the evening, and the event will feature performances by the Winona State College choir and band, as well as a special art and crafts exhibition and tour of the new library addition.

From April 29

P.O. boxes are being mailed to all students, and the Kappa Pi Art and Design committee is in charge of the evening. The theme will be decorated with floral arrangements, and it will be open on the evening of April 29th.
Editorial

Are elections valid?

If nothing else comes out of this year's Student Senate elections, they might certainly be called the burlesque of the 1966-67 school year.

Agony and poor management have managed to turn this year's campaign and election into a passive, self-indulgent, expression of apathy and consumer demands.

CONSIDER first the campaign. Campaigning has been the most lachunaroid aspect of the election. Previously, candidates would anxiously wait for the magic hour when they could begin putting up signs, turning Somers basement into a circus of color and excitement. The most pleasing sign was the posters showing and generating an apathetic feeling toward what is supposed to be an important voice in the college.

While we commend the candidates for running, having six of the fourteen offices unopposed is certainly not a sign of a growing, living college.

The poor turnout, about 500 votes is an indication of lack of student interest. However, quite a few students didn't vote, even though they went to the polling place, with their student I.D. cards, but were informed that, as periodically throughout the day, they could not at that time vote, not enough ballots being printed. Thus a segment of the interested populace was denied their right to choose their leaders at a time when student leaders become the lack of student interest.

The selection of the polling places were not, we must admit in the interest of a larger voter turnout. While the Commons was a very good location, why was the front of the Smog chosen as the other polling place? Many students do not enter the Commons during the day, and what else in the hall is there to attract them? Wouldn't in front of the P.O. boxes been a better place? There, throughout the day, more people vote than would have ever been expected.

The Student Senate elections this year are over, and unless another one is called, which might not be a bad idea, due to the irregularities mentioned, we will go through the next school year with a Student Senate that was not selected by all of the important body that wanted to select them, and we can rightly be suffered to be called the laughing stock of the Minnesota State Colleges.

Noteworthy news in brief

Bremer Scholarship

Applications for the Sylvia S. Bremer Prize, for creativity in writing, must be made by April 21, and must be open, according to Dr. Guthrie, chairman.

Creative writing entries must be in the larger forms of prose, poetry, drama, or a collection of brief forms may be submitted.

Theatre performances and projects are limited to those involving students, according to the particular offerings of WSC, sponsored by the Departments of Speech and Theatre, and may include acting roles or projects in directing, design, costuming or production of college plays or operas.

Application forms, which must be returned with all required material obtained from Dr. Guthrie, or the Office of the Registrar, must be at the next Association meeting of the Sub-Committee, Dr. Judson, Dr. Nelson, Mr. Laffin or Miss Magnus.

Social Security

Young people receiving Social Security benefits as children of retired, disabled or deceased workers have 28 high school graduation time, can get the Social Security Administration to plan if they plan to go to college in the future. But they should notify the nearest Social Security office three months before they plan to enroll and see that their benefits aren't cut off. Such benefits formerly were halted at age 18, but a new rule is now in effect for young people who are full-time students.

OslO Night

WSC students, faculty members, and faculty wives are invited to attend "OslO Night" smorgasbord at 8:30 p.m. Sunday, April 23, at Kryzsko Commons, according to the evening's speaker, Norwegian Consul-General Finn Seydered.

The program will also include folk dancing and folk songs and Scandinavian ambience, the exchange professor from Oslo Teachers College, will present pictures of Norway.

Science department offers new majors

An Earth Science major in depth in 60 credits and a minor, is pending approval of the State College Board of Regents, Mathematics and Science Division Chairman has announced.

The new major in Earth Science, which would require 45 credits in earth science, and 45 in supporting mathematical sciences, is being offered.

ANOTHER NEW major, miss Dorothy B. Magnus, head of the Chemistry department, is being presented. It will require 45 credits in chemistry and 45 in chemistry, mathematics and physics.

Beginning next fall, new courses in astronomy and one in meteorology will be offered. They will be without prerequisites.

In the Biology department, radiobiology 359 will be taught for the first time by Mr. Anderson.

A NATIONAL Science Foundation sponsored institute in Ecology for high school teachers meeting in Winona through the year will be offered. Calvin B. Clum, head of the biology department, and James Ophus will be the instructors.

The program is self-supporting through enrollment.

There will be a trailer section to 202 in the fall quarter, and Zoology 211 in the spring quarter. There is a trailer section available in Zoology 201 in the winter quarter and a trailer section in Zoology 301 in the spring quarter.

American History 148 will be added as an elective for biology majors or minors. Comparative Anatomy has been added to the series.

CHEMISTRY 101, will also be offered this fall. It is designed as a general survey of chemistry, open only to students who have had high school chemistry.

Analytical Chemistry 423 and 424, a sequence stressing modern analytical chemistry will be offered in the winter and spring quarters.

The Bachelor of Science Chemistry major and the Bachelor of Arts Chemistry major and have been revised to include the two new analytical chemistry courses.

All chemistry courses required for the new majors and minors are being revised to fit the following new recommended sequence of courses:

THE first year of chemistry will incorporate certain sections of qualitative and quantitative analysis which have previously separate courses.

The second year will mainly be organic chemistry with physical chemistry 412, beginning in the spring quarter.

The third year will be physical chemistry; General Chemistry and advanced inorganic chemistry.

The fourth year will be open for electives including biochemistry, individual research problems, chemical literature, polymer chemistry and other courses.

The Parallel Nursing 201 course has also increased their course offerings by four.

Nursing 410 and 411 will deal with medical-surgical nursing, arts and liberal course will be 11 credits.

Another 11 credit course is 420, Public Health Nursing. Trends in Nursing is the fourth course, and carries 4 credits.

Two new faculty will be added to the nursing department. One will teach public health nursing, and the other to teach advanced medical-surgical nursing.

Public relations committee suggests improvements

by Kathy Gunderson

Public relations is an area of vital importance to the modern institution of higher learning. To attract prospective students and generally to promote a positive image of the school is a large task that requires much time and money; yet WSC public relations for the present year consists of a meager $500 budget and a committee of faculty members ideally charged with providing services that would easily justify hiring of a full time public relations person.

Largely concerned of prop and program, the committee, Mr. Almlie, the committee has begun a potentially ambitious project called the Speakers Bureau.

A good share of this year's efforts have been devoted to revamping, adding to, and publishing a booklet on the Bureau.

Each of these pamphlets were sent to various church organizations, service groups, and other WSC faculty as speakers on various subjects as a public service. This program operates on the theory that much of a college's reputation is expressed in the manner through which recruitment and acceptance publicity is directed towards the faculty members.

A poll late this spring indicates measures must be taken to improve the relations of the participants in WSC Play Day.

Public Relations could go a long way to enhance the WSC campus. Mr. Almlie cites many examples of organizations probably and hopefully probable in the foreseeable future.

Attend Functions.

The third year will be physical recreation center. The second year will mainly be organic chemistry with physical chemistry 412, beginning in the spring quarter.

Mr. Almlie feels this is exactly what is needed. The success of this operation is in the hands of a man who will manage this well. He can devise himself totally to organizing a solid, informed, authoritative representation of the college for disseminating information, securing insurance and curiosity in any publicity the college receives (especially via mass media such as newspapers) and he would be an objective and separate entity not identified with the faculty as such.

ALMLIE and the committee would like to see expansion of the speakers bureau, inclusion of a representative student group, and development of a better information service involving coordination and communication among the various college areas, especially the alumni committee, the staff, student halls and the school publications.

Science Miss Magnus attends ANTA; Paper Bag Players perform

Miss Dorothy B. Magnus, head of the Theatre Department, was a delegate to the regional conference of the American National Theatre and Academy in N. Paul.

"Qualitcope '67" was the title of the conference. Although most of the meetings were held in the Crawford-Livingston Theatre of the University of Minnesota, the Minneapolis Science Center, most theatres in the Twin Cities were utilized.

HIGHLIGHTS included a performance by the famous Paper Bag Players of New York, and children's theatre company, who not only did a demonstration of techniques for the delegates, but presented a performance for the public in the Northrop Auditorium.

All of their work was completely original and highly creative.

Another highlight of the production was the production of Spoon's "Dear Liza" by New York professional actors, in the Hamburger House Theatre.

Others who performed and demonstrated at the Conference were a group from the Children's Theatre of the Minneapolis Institute of Arts who combined live dialogue and characterization with colored slides of costumes and props for "Cinderella.

The Warrior baseball team pushed its record to 7-3, sweeping a three-game series with UW-Milwaukee last week, and topping La Crosse 6-3 on Tuesday.

Last Friday the Warrior nine gave Milwaukee a 6-3 drubbing, piling up eleven hits in the contest.

Warrior pitcher Chip Schwartz went the distance in piling up his first win against two losses. Schwartz gave up only three hits and a bad pitch combined for the Warrior tally.

The only other Warrior run came in the fourth inning, when Al Von Bargen walked. Mike Decker singled and stole home in the highlight of the game.

HAL SCOFIELD got credit for the victory, with Jack Benedict relieving in the last couple of innings.

La Crosse’s runs came on a single and a double in the fourth, and a two-run homer by Thornburg, the sixth inning for four runs, with the bases empty in the seventh inning, coming up with five of its six runs in the last six innings, fighting back to third on Rich Decker’s sacrifice, and stole home in the highlight of the game.

La Crosse’s runs came on a single and a double in the fourth, and a two-run homer by Thompson in the seventh.

The Warriors lost Benndahl at 9 a.m. Friday, and again on Saturday at noon in an effort to extend their winning streak.

The only other Warrior run came in the fourth inning, when Al Conner walked, stole second, went to third on Rich Decker’s sacrifice, and stole home in the highlight of the game.

Stan Mofield lost its first match in three starts to Hamline Tuesday, 6-3.

Netmen lose to Hamline

The Winona State tennis team lost its first match in three starts to Hamline Tuesday, 6-3.

Craig Thornton, first singles star from Cotter, lost handily to Hamline’s Bob Bigelow, 6-8, 0-6, followed by second man Dick Nelson’s loss to Dick Hoel of Hamline.

Larry Erpelding picked up the Warriors’ first victory, at third singles, winning 1-6, 6-2, 6-0, Al Von Bargen, a teammate of Erpelding’s at Cotter, also won, 6-2, 6-3, at fourth singles.

Tom Stoffel and captain Bob Berger both lost their respective fifth and sixth singles matches against the powerful Hamline team.

In the doubles matches, the first team of Nelson-Erpelding picked up a 7-5, 6-1 victory for the Warriors’ final point.

Wednesday the Winona netmen traveled to Rochester JC for a meet, and this Saturday they will meet La Crosse at Lake Park Courts.
