Should seniors take finals?

Spring quarter finals are looming up, and the bad news is even printed on the front page of the Winonan. Although the grades of spring quarter finals are often difficult, many professors, if they know that it is a senior's last quarter, and if he has a "B" average in the course, and sometimes "A" average, will exempt that last quarter student from taking the final.

"Students may not gap at this, we support this policy. We do not recommend that all last quarter seniors claim stalling for no final, or that all instructors tell last quarter seniors that they need not take a final.

Chances are, if the instructor has given several tests, and re- quired a paper, he will know exactly how well the student will do in the final. If, for example, a student through four years of college is conscientious, has received good grades on his tests, and the student's capabilities, it is very unlikely that the student would do so well on the final as he has normally done in the other required work of the course.

Although we support this policy, we recognize that much depends upon the individual student and the class. We also know it depends upon tests and other grades already given, as well as the instructors attitude toward this practice.

WE DO NOT, even for a minute suggest that all instructors allow last quarter graduates to miss the final, but if a student has proved himself conscientious, and if the professor feels that a student will get a "B" or better on the final why not reward him for hard, conscientious work?

Probation notices finally sent

Here it is, the ninth week of an eleven week quarter, and only over half of the regular tieing up of loose ends, although over half of the representatives of the students of Winona State have been sent. Sometimes we wonder, if the administration must want to play catch up with the students. First they send the regular schedule until only a few weeks before final week, when it could easily be posted with registration, and now they get around to notifying students of their academic standing.

College is here for the purpose of giving students an education. It is not established for the students. When will our administration realize this?

The last regular WSSA meeting of the academic year saw a general uprising of loose ends, although over half of the representatives were not in attendance.

July Rose, student union senator, proposed the establishment of the student union. Two members said students, and Mr. Kone presented details of the new addition. The student union has a snack bar and a bakery.

IT WAS resolved that the WSSA recommend to the Board of Trustees that activities fees be raised by $1.50 per quarter to provide yearly commitments. The theme for homecoming this year will be Psychodrama VII, starring Mrs. Jacqueline Gray and Mrs. Beverly Gray. Only three suggestions had been turned in as of the final day of the meeting. In a report that this year the contest for Homecoming Queen would include a runoff for the top seven contestants.

Jim Brodie has been elected Junior Class President, and the senators re-elected Mr. Henry for another term as WSSA advisor.

Mike Tron presented a list of 37 candidates for the Who's Who election that is being conducted today.

Due to lack of time, the Teacher Evaluation scheduled for the end of the quarter will be postponed until next fall.

The revised constitution of the Inter- Residence Hall council was also considered and accepted by the senate. President John Ross thanked the three senators who were able to make it to the last Advisory Committee.

One disadvantage of a Rubber Stamp

The following is the result of an interview with the new student senators as asked the question "What is it like to be one of the recipients of a rubber stamp?"

The newly elected President, Sen. Jesse Kline, said that he is ideologically the role of student government is very open — it only someone would do something. I want to reflect what students want — my class in method acting should thus greatly facilitate the use as a mirror. I don't feel that as an individual one should take any definite stands or set precedents."

SUSIE EBRELL, senator-at-large, commented: "I really did not know that I was getting into, but they told me my face was the role of student gobierno- lations for a job well done and due to graduate soon, with a handicap, could never have at- ease. Despite this fact, "Charlie" possession to have career."

In removing the tree this gentleman apparently had to perilous access of approximately 80 feet without the aid of a ladder, putting both brain and brawn against the swaying steel structure. At a hideous height of 15 stories the structure could have been noth- ing short of unsevering.

LET ME ALSO observe something about the type of man who would ever think of setting out on such an endeavor. His first must be of finer stuff who recognizes those things which seem out of place. Secondly, he must be a gallant person to whom daring and heroic deeds are commonplace.

"Charles Marx, a man of obvious fine up-bring- ing if he is on probation or not, by now he must figure that he isn't."

Although we support this policy, we recognize that much depends upon the individual student and the class. We also know it depends upon tests and other grades already given, as well as the instructors attitude toward this practice.

WE DO NOT, even for a minute suggest that all instructors allow last quarter graduates to miss the final, but if a student has proved himself conscientious, and if the professor feels that a student will get a "B" or better on the final why not reward him for hard, conscientious work?

Golfers third at conference meet

The Warrior golfers finished third in the NIC grid tournament at Houghton, Mich., last Saturday in the midst of a protest over the championship.

Host Michigan Tech won the disputed event, totaling 478 points for 27 holes, followed by Benidji at 483, Winona 488, and Minnesota Morris 527.

Protests were lodged against Michigan Tech for allegedly having a caddie, which is forbidden by NIC rules. Defend-er, third place finish with a 119. Jim Stout led Winona to its championship.

Huettl had 121, Roger Fischbachedly having a caddie, which was

Warrior 9 falls, finishes third

The baseball season ended in disappointment for Coach Gary Grob's power-laden sluggers last weekend, dropping two of three games to Gustavus Adolphus State, and slipping to third place in the final NIC standings. The Warriors ended the season with an 18-10 record.

Mankato shelled Winona's touring hopes last Friday with an 8-2 drubbing which, coupled with St. Cloud's rout of Moorhead, stilled all hopes of meeting St. Thomas in the District 13 NAIA playoff.

Mankato pitcher Gary Cargill kept the Warrior batters under control, while teammate Jim Terrell led a 13 hit attack on the Winona mound. Chip Schwartz was tagged for the losing pitcher Dennis Iverson, striking his record to 5-2.

The Warriors managed only one hit, a Mankato home run to put the Warriors back in front 4-3. A Mankato hit knocked in the tying run.

The second game was all Mankato, as they jumped off to a 5-0 lead in the first three innings only to lose pitcher Dennis Iverson, striking his record to 5-2.
