Airliner Ditches In Pacific; 4 Die, 19 Others Survive

SEATTLE (AP)—The dry, choked voice of Mrs. Emma Peterson pounded choked and far away as she told of the crash landing Saturday of the big Pan American World Airways plane in the Pacific Ocean.

"I didn't know it was John," she said in the voice of a person who wants to but but can't cry. "I just noticed that someone had been dragged in all covered with oil."

"I lifted his head up and laid it in my lap so it would not lie in the water on the bottom of the life raft."

"He opened his eyes and smiled weakly, then said, 'Oh, is that you, Emma?'"

"Then he didn't say any more. He groaned, became silent and died there—his head in my lap."

John Peterson, 80, died. And so did three others in the crash landing of the Hawaii-bound plane on a quiet sea 25 miles off the Oregon Coast. His 75-year-old wife, survived, along with 18 other passengers and crew members.

The pilot of the big four-engine Stratocruiser, Capt. H. S. Joslyn, was forced to ditch the plane when one engine was wrenched from its mounting and fell into the sea. There was no explanation for the engine's tearing loose.

Last night the survivors brought back their recollections, bitter and sweet, and the bodies of the four who perished.

Three were swept to their deaths by a relentless current and wind that drove them away from life rafts on which the surviving huddled.

Those clustered on the three life rafts could hear the constantly weaker and more distant cries of those who died in their life jackets, victims of cold, shock and drowning.

"It's something I never want to hear again," a crew member recalled with breaking voice.

Those who came ashore from the Navy transport USS Bayfield in Seattle last night told of the calm of all aboard when Capt. Joslyn ordered over the communication system:

"Get to your seats. Prepare to ditch."

Less than 10 minutes later the ship crunched down on the surface of the water. The tail assembly broke off.

Antiaircraft Atom Test to Be Made

WASHINGTON (AP)—The current atomic tests in Nevada will include firing of a high-altitude nuclear bomb that might pack enough power to wreck an entire formation of enemy bombers.

Plans to develop atomic antiaircraft weapons were revealed last night in a joint Atomic Energy Commission-Defense Department announcement. No date for the initial test was given.

French Seek Allied OK on Big 4 Talks

Final Approval Given Pact to Rearm Germany

PARIS (AP)—Bolstered by final French parliamentary approval of German rearmament, Premier Edgar Faure, turned his efforts today to getting Allied agreement for Big Four talks soon with Russia.

As he prodded the apprehensive French Senate towards its crucial, pre-dawn votes on the Paris accords yesterday, Faure gave assurance he already had contacted the United States and Britain on preparation for a high-level parley with the Kremlin.

He went further by making an East-West conference—covering all problems "susceptible to a solution"—the final item in a five-point statement of government aims. He stressed the need for full cohesion among the Western Allies before entering into talks with Russia.

Chances of four-power talks were believed greatly improved by Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin's sudden support as the French Senate prepared to vote. In an interview with the Soviet news agency Tass Bulganin expressed his "positive attitude" toward President Eisenhower's news conference remarks last week advocating an East-West meeting after the accords have been fully ratified.

State Department officials in Washington said the Western Big Three were expected to consult promptly on Russia's favorable expression.

Dulles hailed the French Senate's approval of the West German rearmament treaties as "an event of great significance for the free world."

France's next diplomatic move is expected to be a conference between French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer sometime before Easter. The two will seek agreement on details of the Saar compromise which nearly split the West German Parliament.

West German opposition Socialists announced yesterday they had obtained enough parliamentary support to compel the Supreme Court to consider their suit challenging the constitutionality of the French-German agreement to Europeanize the disputed coal-rich valley.

Adenauer, however, was reported jubilant over the French Senate's action, which came after Faure had beaten back every attempt to delay or water down endorsement.

Only the formality of President Rene Coty's signature remained to wind up French ratification.

S. Korean Hails Humphrey Plan For More Troops

SEOUL (AP)—South Korea's top military leader today hailed the proposal by Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) to move more U.S. troops into South Korea to "outflank" the Chinese Communists.

Gen. Lee Hyung Keun, chairman of the ROK joint chiefs of staff, said: "We wholeheartedly welcome the senator's proposal. He is a far seeing man and that is really wonderful news."

Humphrey said Saturday he thought some U.S. forces should be sent back to Korea to distract the Chinese buildup against the Formosa Strait.

"The Communists there (in North Korea) have violated the truce by building airfields and assembling a jet air force," he added.

Today Lee declared: "That is what we have been expecting for a long time. The immediate thing for us to do is to balance the military strength between North and South Korea."

La Crosse Man Getting New Arm To Play Violin

LA CROSSE, Wis. (AP)—Henry Erickson, a victim of an industrial accident in which he lost his right arm, says he has no misgivings at all about having an artificial arm instead.

Erickson, a night watchman whose arm was caught in moving gears and torn from his body at the shoulder Jan. 6, said Saturday he'll learn to play a violin.

Doctors at Madison said Erickson's new arm will be a device set in a foam rubber shoulder and jointed with particular care for the violin playing. Erickson plans to spend two months at Madison to learn the basic operations of the arm.

Erickson is known locally for his folk tune fiddling. His son sent him a new violin from the Far East and Erickson says he's in a hurry to try it out.

Prison Revolt Contained at Lincoln, Neb.

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Three prisoners considered "dead weight" by their companions in the day-old rebellion at Nebraska's state penitentiary were sent to the warden's office today, but nine others still held two guards hostage in the maximum security building.

Gov. Victor E. Anderson said after interrogating one of the trio that the two guards had not been harmed.

Ronald Larkin, 28; Paul Barnes, 35; and Elwood G. Robinson, 29, were sent from the prison jail at 4 a.m. following the first word from the holed-up prisoners since late Sunday afternoon.

Larkin, the governor said, told him the three in the building by mutual agreement because they were considered "dead weight" by the others. There was no elaboration.

The 12 prisoners in the penitentiary's "jail" captured two guards early Sunday. They have been without food since Sunday. "The guards are not harmed in any way," Anderson said after talking to Larkin. "In fact they have been sleeping."

The governor said "the men are not planning an escape. They know they cannot escape."

Anderson said prison authorities believe the rebels have "some kind of homemade knives."

S.D. Youth Killed, 5 Hurt in 2-Car Crash in Iowa

WHITING, Iowa (AP)—A 23-year-old Sioux Falls, S.D., youth was killed and five persons were injured Saturday in a two-car smashup near here.

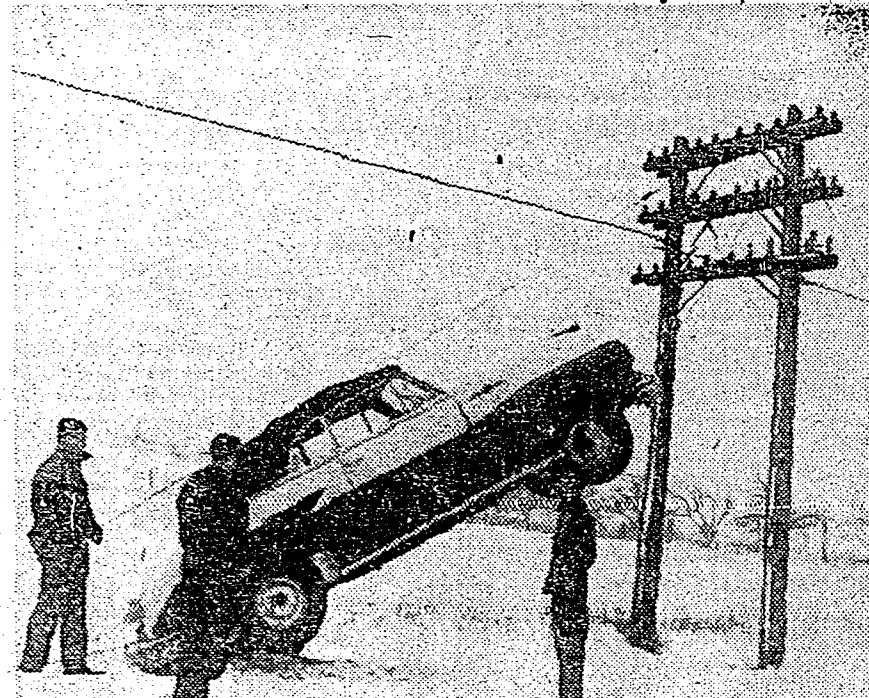

Dead is Billy R. Beatty, a passenger in a car driven by Willard Stewart, 35, also of Sioux Falls. Driver of the other car, Harold Larson, 35, Sioux Falls, wife, Opal, and Stewart were hospitalized in Owana. Larson's two sons were treated for cuts.

Stewart was reported in critical condition.

Man Held For Sale Of CCC Certificates

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—A 27-year-old Minneapolis man, charged with disposing of $30,000 worth of Commodity Credit Corp. certificates, is scheduled to be tried April 4.

Victor G. Zabroski was arrested Saturday. Asst. U. S. Atty. Keith Kennedy said the cotton warehouse certificates were taken from the New Orleans CCC office in February 1954.

Anthony D. Mladucky, 44, of Ludington, Mich., was driving home during a spring blizzard Saturday when his car slipped off the pavement. In trying to swing it back onto the highway his car skidded out of control and in a million-to-one shot ran up a telephone wire. A wrecker held up the car while telephone linemen unhooked the wire and Mladucky continued home. The car was undamaged except for a dent in the right rear fender. (UP Telephoto)

Legislature Gets Action Blueprint From Freeman

Governor's Success May Rest With Fate Of Priority List

ST. PAUL (AP)—The 1955 Minnesota Legislature headed into its last 20 troubled days today with a new blueprint of priorities provided by Gov. Freeman.

The extent to which the Legislature is willing—or able—to follow that blueprint may provide the measure of the governor's success in his first term.

He asked the Legislature, which has turned down his proposals for party designation, constitutional revision and powers of arrest, to give priority to balancing the budget, reorganization, education, increased old age assistance allowances and conservation, safety and fair employment practices legislation.

He said he was determined to do his best to maintain a harmonious working relationship with the Legislature, but added that he had obligations to continue to work for his program and inform the public about it.

The governor and the Legislature agree that balancing the budget is the number one problem. Differences are likely, however, about how it is to be done.

Senate Finance and House Appropriations committees have been at work since early January on the problem. Currently they are working on budget allowances. Totals of the thousands of separate items they are considering probably will become available in 10 days or so and will determine just how difficult the budget balancing problem will be.

The governor submitted a budget totaling 167 million dollars and a tax program to raise the 16 million additional dollars he estimated would be needed to balance the budget.

The tax program can be cut to the extent that the Legislature is able to balance the budget. The House Tax Committee has held extensive hearings on the tax program without reaching any final decision.

One item on the tax program, related to school aids rather than general revenue, has received House Tax Committee approval and is ready for House debate. This is the withholding plan for collecting income taxes.

Indications are this may face rough going in the Senate if it passes the House, unless the administration is prepared to accept certain conditions. Considerable Senate sentiment has developed to insist that there be forgiveness of part of the income tax to avoid doubling up on payments during the changeover to the current collection system and that the extra money collected not be spent during the next two years.

Priority List

This is the status of other items on the governor's priority list:

Reorganization—Hearings begun by House Civil Administration Committee and scheduled this week before the Senate committee.

Education—House Education Committee has tentatively voted for $85 basic aid; present level is $80 and Gov. Freeman has urged $92; Senate committee has reached no decision; both groups still studying complicated equalization aids which face sharp cuts in the absence of legislative action; House has passed bill for constitutional amendment to divert iron ore occupation tax from trust fund to trust fund for current education expenses; bill pending in Senate to divert same money to general revenue fund.

Old age assistance—Proposal to increase maximum allowance from $60 to $65 a month after being denied special priority; same proposal included in package bill before Senate Welfare Committee, with opposition developing unless increase tied in with medical allowance limitation.

Conservation—A long list of drainage, soil conservation and forestry proposals based on interim studies making fair progress.

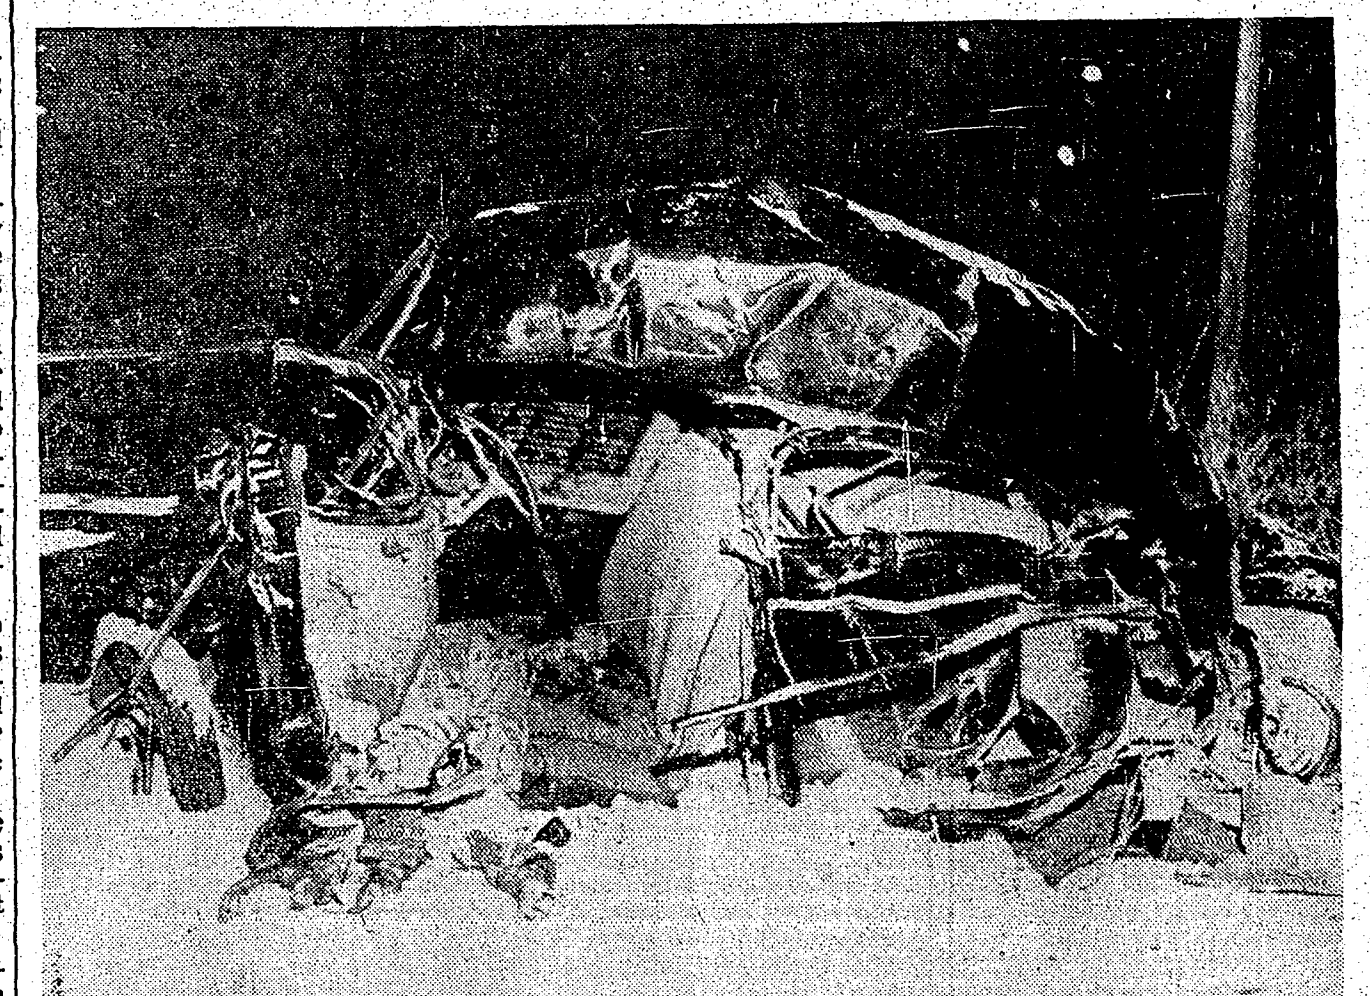

Auto Safety Bills

Safety—Bills providing for seizure of automobile license plates of motorists without drivers licenses and use of chemical tests in drunken driving cases passed by House and awaiting debate in Senate; absolute speed limit bill on Senate debate list.

Fair employment practices—Ready for Senate consideration, awaiting action by House Appropriations Committee; backed and opposed by some of same groups interested in party designation and constitutional revision, which failed.

A House showdown is scheduled this week on one major problem the governor did not include on his priority list. Rep. Charles Halsted, Brainerd, chairman of the House Highways Committee, served notice that he will ask for a special order for a bill for a constitutional amendment to set a new formula for dividing highway revenues.

Train Kills 3 In Albert Lea

Three Men Died when a passenger train hit this car at a crossing near Albert Lea, Minn., Sunday and carried the vehicle 162 feet down the tracks. The body of one of the victims lies sprawled from the front seat. Killed were Dwight Bakken, rural Albert Lea; Lloyd Hoynes, Albert Lea, and the driver, Louis Gavle, 69, Twin Lakes. (AP Wirephoto)

Spring Cold Wave Raps Sunny South

ATLANTA (AP)—A record-shattering spring cold wave caused more than 50 million dollars damage to orchards and crops and took at least three lives in the Sunny South yesterday.

A hard freeze virtually wiped out the peach crop in seven Southern states and ruined early vegetables, fruits and nuts in many sections.

Somewhat warmer weather was in sight today, but it did not bring any satisfaction to farmers counting multimillion-dollar losses.

The icy blasts swept down from Canada and the Great Plains into Dixie Saturday. There was little the growers could do about it.

Some frantic 11 y burned smudges in their orchards. Others prayed. The Fort Valley Ministerial Association in the heart of the Georgia peach district conducted services asking "God's help, mercy and guidance."

But the cold blanket covered all alike.

Here is the estimated damage by states in millions of dollars: Alabama, 13; Georgia, 10; Kentucky and Louisiana, both estimated in millions but no figure set.

At Birmingham, Ala., police reported Owell Dudley, a 30-year-old cripple, died from the cold when he fell out of bed in his unheated room.

Flora Henderson, 43, was found frozen to death near her Knoxville, Tenn., home shortly after the temperature dropped to a record spring low of 14 degrees.

Clinton Draper Sutphin, 38, was found dead 18 miles east of Wytheville, Va. Sheriff J. Muncy Sutherland said he apparently froze to death. He lived at Poplar Camp, Va.

Record low readings for March 27 were reported from New Orleans to Asheville, N.C. New Orleans had a low of 31 and Asheville registered 11. It was 15.8 in Atlanta, the coldest March 27 since the Weather Bureau began keeping records 75 years ago.

50 Bills Introduced In State Senate Before Deadline

ST. PAUL (AP)—Fifty bills were introduced in the Minnesota Senate today, the last day for submitting bills without the consent of the governor.

Today's new proposals brought the Senate total to 1,507. Few bills introduced at this stage have a chance for consideration.

The new proposals included one to increase the pay of members of the Legislature from $3,000 for each session to $4,800. It was sponsored by Sen. Louis Murray, East Grand Forks, Herbert Rogers, Duluth, and Thomas Vukelich, Gilbert.

St. Paul Drug Store Destroyed by Fire

ST. PAUL (AP)—A fire that razed the Towey Super Cut Rate Drug Store Sunday caused an estimated $30,000 damage. Firemen said a short circuit in a deep freeze motor apparently started the fire.

Mangled Auto Carried Along For 162 Feet

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A passenger train traveling at about 45 miles per hour smashed broadside into a car Sunday, killing the three occupants and carrying the mangled vehicle 162 feet down the tracks.

Victims were three Albert Lea farmers—Louis Gavle, 69, Twin Lakes; Dwight Bakken, 56, Albert Lea, and Lloyd Hoynes, 36, Albert Lea.

The deaths raised the 1955 Minnesota traffic toll to 112, compared with 128 during the same period last year.

Gavle was driving the car that was struck by a southbound Minneapolis and St. Louis passenger train five miles south of Albert Lea. Engineer Harry Ramler, Fort Dodge, Iowa, thought the car was going to stop at the crossing, but the machine continued onto the tracks in front of the train.

Thrown Out of Car

Hoynes was thrown out of the car and the others were trapped inside. Only one of the victims was married. Bakken, the father of two children.

Dr. S. G. Egge, Freeborn County coroner, said there was a slight rise at the crossing, but that it would not have obstructed the driver's view of the approaching train. The road was not slippery, the coroner added.

In an accident described by Minneapolis policemen as the worst they had ever seen, David J. Bruneau, 21, was fatally injured following an 80-mile-an-hour police chase. Bruneau's wife and another woman were seriously hurt.

Police said Bruneau backed up and sped away after a squad car blocked his way after the Bruneau machine almost slid through a red light. Officers gave chase. Bruneau's car failed to make a jog on Elliot Avenue South, jumped a curb, snapped a tree, caromed across the street, smashed into a parked car, spun around and hit another tree. The three occupants were thrown from the car.

Woman Hospitalized

Mrs. Cleo K. Rasmussen, 25, who was thrown 75 feet, was hospitalized with critical injuries. Mrs. Bruneau, 19, sustained back and internal injuries.

Freeman to Make Personal Appeal For Reorganization

ST. PAUL (AP)—Gov. Freeman will make a personal appearance at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday before the House Civil Administration Committee to plead for action on his proposal for reorganization of the state government, it was announced today.

Veteran legislators said it was a rare occurrence for a governor to appear before a legislative committee.

Big 3 Ready To Consider Russian Talks

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States, Britain and France are expected to consult promptly on Russia's favorable attitude toward a high-level Big Four meeting.

As a result of France's parliamentary approval of German re-arming, the Western Powers will take up the problem of an approach to Russia on the firmest basis they have had for several years.

The problem of relations within the Western alliance, however, presents difficulties for President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles. Britain particularly is disturbed over the prospect of United States clash with Red China over the Chinese Nationalist coastal islands of Matsu and Quemoy.

Pressure has been increasing on President Eisenhower within the United States to take a tougher and more definite line on defense of those islands. There has been no decisive commitment so far.

Both a Big Four meeting and the Quemoy-Matsu issue will be among problems discussed by Eisenhower and Dulles with congressional leaders at luncheons at the White House Wednesday and Thursday.

Two European developments bearing upon a possible four-power meeting later this year were acclaimed here during the weekend.

A State Department statement, approved by Secretary Dulles, announced that "in general we welcome" the statement by Premier Nikolai Bulganin that the Soviet government takes a "positive attitude" toward President Eisenhower's views on arranging big power talks.

Like Eisenhower, Bulganin expressed interest in a conference if it would contribute to lessening international tensions. This suggested that he thought there should be some advance evidence that a meeting would be fruitful.

A few hours after he spoke, the French Senate adopted parliamentary action on ratification of a series of agreements which would make Germany an armed partner in the North Atlantic Alliance and in the Western European Union.

Dulles immediately issued a statement saying that the French action was "an event of great significance for the free world."

It has been linked with the problem of East-West talks in two ways. American and other Western leaders have stated that until the ratification process was completed they would not go into new top-level meetings with the Russians because the Soviet Union would only be interested in blocking ratification. They have also said, however, that once Germany's new role was fully approved, the possibility of constructive talks would be greatly improved.

Italian Premier, Ike Discuss Disarmament

WASHINGTON (AP)—Premier Mario Scelba of Italy meets President Eisenhower today to urge that he try a new approach to break an apparent deadlock with Russia over disarmament.

The visiting Italian leader, who arrived by plane from Canada yesterday, had a White House appointment to review East-West relations and some topics of particular interest to the two nations.

Scelba was reported eager to stress his government's hope that the United States will persist in efforts to persuade Russia to agree to a plan for worldwide reduction in armaments.

Scelba plans to leave Wednesday night for visits to New York, Philadelphia, Chicago and Detroit.

While many U. S. states have legal codes based on the common law of England, a system of laws more nearly related to the Code Napoleon is used in Louisiana which, together with certain other Southern states, never adopted the English law.

By GRETCHEN L. LAMBERTON
WHAT a week of weather! It just doesn't do to be trusting and optimistic about the weather here in Minnesota, and you'd think a person who's lived here as many winters as I have would have learned that elementary fact by now. But no, I got so beguiled by the weekend of balmy weather just before the big snow-and-blow hit us that on Saturday I not only dragged some of my porch furniture out on the sun deck but I had my snow tires taken off.

Monday morning the porch furniture was so deeply buried in snow drifts that I couldn't even find it. My steep driveway was drifted three feet deep and I was snowbound for the day. In the evening Dick Neville shoveled me out. Tuesday morning the howling winds had choked the driveway with even deeper drifts. It wasn't until Wednesday morning that I finally got shoveled out for keeps.

Even then it was a precarious business negotiating the ice-crusted driveway, and Wednesday night—minus my trusty snow tires—I slid backward down it and into a deep drift. A good neighbor, one of the Snyder boys up the hill, gallantly got my car out of the drift but got his own car stuck doing it.

What a performance for the third day of spring! I hereby resolve to leave my snow tires on next year until the Fourth of July. Or, better yet, I hereby resolve to leave them on, period! I felt a little better about my wrong weather guess when I heard that a prominent local doctor had his snow tires taken off on that same fatality balmy weekend, then a day or two later got thoroughly stuck in his own driveway. And it comforted me to learn that a certain tire dealer had his complete stock of snow tires moved to the basement storeroom that weekend—just before the heaviest demand of the year.

My mother assures me that winters aren't what they used to be when she was a child. The family lived on a farm on the ridge which got the full force of the wind. Sometimes when blizzards lashed the farm for several days it was a Herculean task to shovel a path to the barn. The children walked two miles to the little red brick one-room schoolhouse (which is still used today). On the first day after a big snowstorm all fence posts were buried in snow and you couldn't tell where the road had been.

The children sank waist-deep in soft snow and were soaking wet by the time they got to school. So were most of the other farm youngsters. All of them stood around the glowing hot-bellied stove and steamed partially dry. "We never really dried out," said my mother, "but nobody ever seemed to get pneumonia or bad colds. Maybe it was because everybody wore long, home-knit black woolen stockings and heavy long underwear."

She told about what a lot of fun it was when a crust formed over the deep snow and they could walk on top of it right over the tops of fences. Once in March my grandfather drove a team of horses hitched to a sleigh over crusted fields. Crossing a ravine the horses broke through and plunged into belly-deep water underneath the snow crust. They had to be unhitched and the sleigh abandoned until later in the spring. Those were rugged days all right.

Well, this ought to bring on a heat wave. Day before yesterday I bought a new pair of 4-buckle fleece-lined overshoes. My old ones were worn holey after five years of hard service walking these hills.

General Cracks Down in Pakistan Reorganization

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP)—Iron-handed Gov. Gen. Ghulam Mohammed held supreme authority in Pakistan today after his second crackdown in five months.

The 59-year-old army-backed strong man declared a state of emergency yesterday throughout the country. As one of his first acts under special emergency powers, he blanketed the four provinces in the country's western portion into one unit named West Pakistan.

The country's eastern section, the province of East Bengal 6,000 miles across India, was formally renamed East Pakistan. It already was generally known by that name in West Pakistan.

Federalists long have planned to wipe out the divisions in West Pakistan in an effort to balance the more populous eastern section. Of the Moslem nation's 76 million people, 42 million are in the East.

Ghulam Mohammed acted ostensibly to solve a legal tangle stemming from his first crackdown Oct. 24, when he dissolved the Constituent Assembly. The Assembly had worked for seven years without producing a constitution and the governor general said, "The constitutional machinery has broken down."

The Assembly speaker then brought suit in the chief court of Sind province to set aside the dissolution. The court upheld the speaker's contention that the governor general had exceeded his powers.

As part of his emergency action yesterday, Ghulam Mohammed also:

1. Declared legal 35 of the 46 acts the federal court had invalidated.
2. Assumed power to certify the annual budget, normally a task of the constituent assembly, and.
3. Ordered that measures approved by the dissolved Assembly be incorporated in a Pakistani constitution.

Fiddle Fanciers Flock To Oklahoma City Fair

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—About 4,000 fiddle fanciers got in a lot of fiddle-fiddle at Oklahoma City's Fiddle Fair yesterday.

Twenty-eight fine old instruments of early Italian, German and French make were shown as a special feature. But of the 44 Stradavari, Guarneri and Amati violins displayed, none were pronounced authentic by George R. Clarke, violin maker and connoisseur, who examined them all. The audience loved every minute of it though, staying more than eight hours, while some 200 violins were exhibited.

Cobalt was used by the ancient Egyptians to tint pottery blue.

2,000 Students Expected at TC Science Day

15th Annual Event Set for Wednesday At College Here

More than 2,000 Southeastern Minnesota and Western Wisconsin high school students are expected to participate in and observe exhibits of science and industry at the 15th annual Science Day at Winona State Teachers College Wednesday.

Sponsored by the college Science Club in cooperation with the Mayo Foundation chapter of Sigma Xi, national science fraternity, the fair will include exhibits by college science departments, the Mayo Foundation, local industry and a day-long program of motion pictures.

At a morning program, after welcoming remarks by college president Dr. Nels Minne, Dr. Hiram E. Essex, Mayo Foundation will discuss "Science Today." An illustrated lecture concerning glacial Lake Agassiz and the glacial period in Minnesota will be given by Dr. Louis H. Powell, director of the St. Paul Science Museum.

J. P. Emanuel, secretary of the Science Fair committee, has announced that exhibits to be furnished by local industry will help make this year's Science Fair the biggest it has ever been.

Local industries furnishing exhibits include the J. R. Watkins Co., the Mississippi Valley Public Service Co., Marigold Dairies, Neco Ordnance Corp., McConnon and Co. and Northern States Power Co. Rochester industries furnishing exhibits include the Waters Corp. and the Rochester Dairy Cooperative. Participating industries include the Coca-Cola Bottling Co. and the Seven-Up Bottling Co.

For the first time, according to Emanuel, area schools have been invited to submit exhibits. Winona schools participating include Senior High School, Coffey, St. Stanislaus and Cathedral. Entries have also been received from Rochester junior and senior high schools, Rochester Lourdes, St. Augustine of Austin and Grand Meadow.

In addition to these schools exhibiting, all area schools have been invited to attend and will send student groups to observe.

Awards for participating schools and individual students have been donated by the Mayo Foundation chapter of Sigma Xi. Exhibits will be in the fields of biological science, chemistry, earth science, mathematics, photography and Physics.

Discussing the importance of the Science Fair, Emanuel pointed out that "the college is happy to arrange opportunity to stimulate thought and interest for area and community students. It is the opinion of the committee that programs of this sort provide impetus to further study on the part of young science students. We also are happy to invite area residents to attend the programs to give recognition to the scientific talent of their children."

Exhibits Open at 9 a.m. At 11 a.m. the general assembly will be held, with Dr. M. R. Raymond, college vice president, presiding.

For those who have made reservations, lunch will be served at 12:30 p.m. in the student exchange and at 3 p.m. awards will be presented in the auditorium by Dr. E. J. Baldes, representative of Sigma Xi.

Exhibits will be on display until 4 o'clock in the afternoon and from 7 to 8 o'clock at night. The junior and senior high school projects will not be on display from 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. to give an opportunity for the judges to inspect them.

Science movies will be shown in the auditorium during the day and evening.

The public is invited.

Soldier Hero Buried Beside Indian Relatives

BLACK RIVER FALLS, Wis. (Special)—Cpl. Mitchell Red Cloud Jr., was buried Saturday at the Decorah Cemetery near the graves of his Winnebago ancestors.

The ceremony marked the final tribute to the 25-year-old soldier who was killed in Korea Nov. 5, 1950, stopping a Communist attack. For his heroism, Cpl. Red Cloud was posthumously awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor, the nation's highest military award.

Graves near Red Cloud's have small boxes where food for the spirits were placed during the Indian burial ritual. Although the Saturday ceremony did not include this tradition, Winnebago Indians conducted a day-long feast as part of the wake on Friday.

The Rev. Mitchell Whiterabbit, pastor of the Evangelical Reform Mission Church, explained that "the purpose of the wake is to prepare the dead for his journey to the happy hunting ground in a successful manner. The Indian belief is that death is not the end of life — only a stumbling period in a person's life." He added that "death may be compared to a running warrior who stumbles, recovers, and continues to run."

Veterans Gather
In another tradition of the Winnebago, veterans of World Wars I and II and the Korean conflict, gathered to tell of their experiences in war. They called upon the spirits of men who died at the hands of men to accompany the spirit of Red Cloud to the happy hunting ground.

Attending the services Saturday were two Wisconsinites who fought along side Cpl. Red Cloud during World War II and in Korea, Robert Dwyer, La Crosse, was with Cpl. Red Cloud as a member of "Carlson's Raiders" during World War II. The Marine corps unit saw action on Midway and Guadalcanal islands. The corporal contracted malaria and was returned to the United States in 1945, later receiving his discharge.

Three years later, he enlisted in the Army and was sent to Korea with Company E, 19th Infantry. Another member of that unit, Edward Svach, Milwaukee, recalled Saturday that Cpl. Red Cloud was in many ways "just another soldier" but that his acts of gallantry were outstanding. He saw Cpl. Red Cloud give the alarm when the Communists staged an attack near Chonghyon, North Korea, the first major American battle of the war.

The soldier opened fire on the attacking forces, but was struck by the return fire. He drew himself to his feet and clung to a tree for support, continuing to fire. Cpl. Red Cloud drew the enemy's fire in order that his comrades could group and prepare for the attack. Eventually, his forward position was overrun and he was killed. The action permitted his unit to regroup and counterattack before he fell.

His mother, Mrs. Nellie Red Cloud, received the Congressional Medal of Honor April 3, 1951 at Washington, D.C.

Husband, Son Gone
Mrs. Red Cloud, whose husband died in 1946 and who lost another son when he was electrocuted while on duty with the Army in the state of Washington in 1948, was among the more than 2,000 persons who attended the funeral Saturday. Also present was the corporal's brother, Merlin, a Navy and Air Corps veteran.

The funeral procession from the Langlois-Galston Funeral Home was led by James Smoke, Tomah, first commander of the Winnebago Veterans association, who was dressed in full Winnebago regalia. Speaking at the tiny church at the mission was the Rev. Mr. Whiterabbit, whose text was from the Book of John, "Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends." A loudspeaker system was used because the church will accommodate only about 100 to 200 persons. At the graveside, a Winnebago Veterans firing squad saluted the soldier before the American flag was lowered. The folded flag was presented to Mrs. Red Cloud by Douglas Davenport, New Lisbon, 7th district American Legion com-

Continuing 4 Nights

Capacity Crowd Attends United Lenten Service

A challenge to Christian living in society, the home and church was directed at a capacity crowd Sunday night at Central Methodist Church by Dr. Ronald Meredith, Wichita, Kan., Protestant United Lenten speaker.

His message, "Lest I Lose Thy Song," was the first of a series to continue through Wednesday at 7:30 o'clock each night, under the sponsorship of the Winona County Ministerial Association. The Rev. Webster Clement, Faith Lutheran, president of the association, presided last night together with the host pastor, Dr. Truman Potter. The Rev. Clara Karsten, McKinley Methodist, led hymn singing and an anthem by a united church choir. The plea for devotion to Christ in all walks of life followed a recount of events connected with the Last Supper, particularly how Judas Iscariot forsok the Lord.

God Never Forsakes
"Within our hands is the power to forsake Him," Dr. Meredith said, "it is never God who forsakes. Love never shuts the door." "Are we singing Christ's song?" he questioned, "as homemakers, as churchmen and in the world?" His sermon then centered in order on these three areas.

Some of his remarks concerning the home were: Is it the kind where Jesus fits? The best way to get Christians is to raise them. Holy babies come from holy families. The things we do come back to haunt our children tomorrow!

As churchmen we spend too much time making comparisons of ourselves with others, Dr. Meredith said. Jesus said, "That except your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the scribes and Pharisees, ye shall in no case enter into the kingdom of heaven." (Matt. 5:20.) Another problem in our churches is that we can't think big. Once people start thinking big about church matters, God can do great things. The only thing in the world today that stops a church are those of us who can't think as God wants us to think.

'Refuse to be Different'
In our talk as churchmen, he continued, we discuss everything but the most important matter—a person's relationship to Jesus Christ. We refuse to be different from the world. We're lost around like a puppy dog on the string of other people's opinions. "Come ye out from among them, saith the Lord." A person is never crucified for being like his crucifiers.

Christians should have a testimony for the world, the speaker declared. Religion that ends in self, ends. Part of this testimony, he said, is in the area of race relations, about which we have preached so long. It's about time that the church begins to practice as well as preach the great social issues of our day. "Righteousness exalteth a nation; but sin is a reproach to any people" (Prov. 14:13).

The singing of Christ's song has never been popular, Dr. Meredith charged. He then related an eight-hour trek behind the Iron Curtain in Germany recently and how zealous the Communists appeared to be. "This type of enthusiasm cannot be conquered with a yawn" was his challenge.

More People Wanted
A crowd estimated at better than 1,000 jammed both the main and auxiliary auditoriums at Central Methodist for the opening Lenten service. Dr. Potter asked for larger crowds the rest of the week stating that the church could hold 300-400 more. Ministers of the WCMA will preside at each service and the choir will sing. A hymn period precedes the meetings starting at 7:15 p.m.

Following Sunday night's service, members of the WCMA and their families were guests of Dr. and Mrs. Potter at a reception for Dr. Meredith, who flew by private plane from Wichita to Kansas City after morning services yesterday and from Kansas City to Rochester where he arrived around 6 p.m.

Temperature To Reach 54 Tuesday
Spring weather was staging a comeback today after 'Ol' Man Winter ruled the first week of the official spring season.

Clear skies pushed the thermometer from a chilly 13-degree reading at 7:30 a.m. to 32 at noon and by Tuesday afternoon the mercury may rise to 54 degrees. A low of 25 is expected tonight.

Sunday night, the low in Winona was 12, after a high of 32 in the afternoon.

The forecast warned, however, that as the result of warmer temperatures, definite rises in the Root and Zumbro rivers may be expected by Thursday as the snow melts.

Crash Bruises Woman; Other Driver Arrested
UTICA, Minn.—A Bethany woman suffered a head bruise when the car in which she was riding was involved in a collision on Highway 14, two miles west of here, at 8 p.m. Saturday.

Injured in the mishap was Mrs. Edwin Howe, a passenger in a car driven by her husband.

Frances Fisch, 22, Caldonia, the driver of the other car, was arrested on a charge of careless driving, Sheriff Fort reported.

Fisch, pleaded guilty to the charge in justice court at St. Charles and paid a $25 fine and costs of $3.70.

Commander and Capt. Arthur Fredrickson, commander of the Black River Falls National Guard unit, Mrs. Red Cloud went briefly, her only display of emotion during the ceremony.

Six acting pallbearers — members of the Adams-Friendship American Legion and the Black River Falls Veterans of Foreign Wars posts — were selected at the request of the soldier's mother. The posts are named in Red Cloud's honor. All four of the armed services were represented by color bearers and guards.

Houston Boys County Scheduled for Friday

CALEDONIA, Minn. —Boys County, sponsored by the Houston County American Legion posts, will be held Friday at the courthouse. Representatives from county schools will tour county offices in the afternoon and meet officials in the evening. This is the second annual Boys County, created to instill an interest and knowledge of local government in teen-age youth.

Ridgeway Home Badly Damaged In Fire Sunday

RIDGEWAY, Minn. (Special)—Three rooms in the William Gellersen home here were extensively damaged by fire early Sunday afternoon.

The Gellersens were sitting in the living room with dinner guests when one of them noticed the smell of smoke. Investigation revealed that fire was shooting out of a crack in a door casing between the kitchen and dining room.

They summoned the Ridgeway fire department shortly after 2 p.m. and about 100 neighbors also came to assist in fighting the flames. The fire was quickly controlled.

The kitchen and dining room were extensively damaged by fire and a bedroom sustained smoke and water damage. Rafter below the roof also were burned. The firemen tore down the chimney which was built along electrical lines in the building. The fire is believed to have originated near the chimney, although the exact cause had not been determined this morning.

Mrs. Gellersen said no estimate of the damage was available, and that the loss was partially covered by insurance.

Much of the furniture was removed from the house. Electric service probably will not be restored before Tuesday.

Mrs. Gellersen is The Daily News correspondent here.

Autos Collide On Bridge Here; 2 Others Reported

Cars driven by John Wenger, Cochran, Wis., and Robert Ingram, Rushford, were damaged in a collision on the south approach to the interstate bridge at 12:38 a.m. Sunday.

Ingram was beginning to overtake the other car when he struck the bumper of the Wenger automobile.

The Ingram car went across the roadway, struck several guard rails and then returned to the right lane of traffic.

Ingram, who was arrested by police on a charge of driving with an expired driver's license, reported $350 damage to his car. He forfeited a $10 deposit when he failed to appear in municipal court this morning to answer the charge.

Charles Schludinski, Fountain City, Wis., and Mrs. Dorothy Arntsen, 463 Dakota St., were drivers of cars that collided at West Howard and Harriet streets at 11:23 p.m. Saturday.

Schludinski, driving south on Harriet street, estimated his damage at $150 but no report of damage to the eastbound Arntsen car has been filed at police headquarters.

At 9:45 p.m. Saturday cars driven by Gerald Schneider, 161 Harriet St., and George Modjeski, 252 W. 4th St., collided at West 3rd and Johnson streets.

No damage estimates have been made.

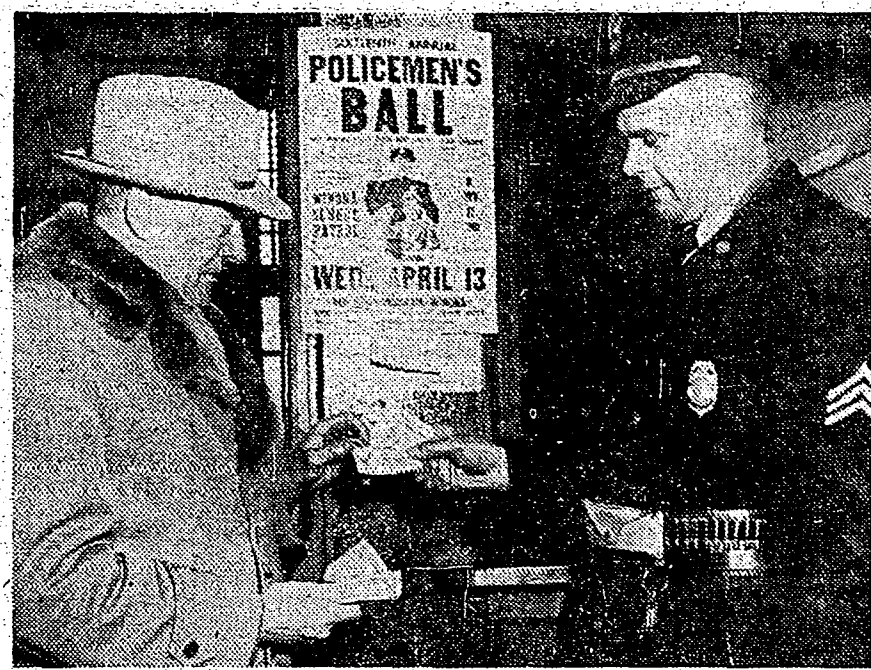

He said this includes her share of a cottage in Chippewa County (valued at $2,000) in addition to personal property held in joint tenancy. He said that in partial restitution, Mrs. Peterson also has agreed to sign over her share of the home in Osseo (valued at $10,000) on which there is an $1,800 mortgage plus last year's taxes of $180. Yates added that they will turn over real estate in Osseo valued at $500. An additional $1,250, held by a restraining order in the civil action, also could be released.

The attorney commented that Mrs. Peterson had no part in the offense. The couple's sole possessions after such settlement, he said, would be a 1951-model automobile and some household goods and equipment.

Yates said that Peterson had been employed at a creamery at Bangor and that he is willing and able to support his wife. He said that there would therefore be no need for the county to support them.

Although he does not condone the act, and said Peterson did not, Yates explained that Peterson became involved in butter and egg futures "like many other respectable men have before him—at least respectable until that time."

Acting Prosecutor Charles P. Curran, Mauston, pointed out that the probation statute had been acted for the use of the court

4 Drivers Arrested On Weight Charges; School Buses Operate

The patrol of county roads by Sheriff George Fort and his deputies resulted in the arrest of four persons on charges of violating posted axle weight limits.

Lytle Ellefson, 31, Rochester, was arrested at 3:10 p.m. Friday on a charge of operating a chartered bus that was 3,350 pounds overweight on State Aid Road 137 in the township of Homer.

The bus, owned by Yellow Cab Co., Rochester, was en route to Ridgeway when it was stopped.

Ellefson paid a $25 fine and costs of $3.50 in justice court at Goodview.

Nordeen Fosse, 45, Hayfield, Minn., was charged with operating a chartered school bus that was 2,200 pounds overweight on State Aid Road 137 in Homer Valley at 3:10 p.m. Friday.

This bus also was en route to Ridgeway and Fosse paid a $25 fine and $3.50 costs in Goodview justice court.

Robert Witt, 22, Houston Rt. 1, paid a $25 fine and $3.50 costs in Goodview justice court after pleading guilty to a charge of driving a milk truck that was 2,400 pounds over the limit.

He was arrested on State Aid Road 1 in Pleasant Hill Township at 9:30 a.m. today.

James Goodrich, 29, St. Charles, was arrested at 6 a.m. Sunday for driving a 1,800 pound overweight milk truck on State Aid Road 11 in Utica township.

Harmony Man's Condition Serious

Allen Johnson, 22, Harmony, continued to receive treatment at the Winona General Hospital today after lying semi-conscious in a field in Goodview for several hours early Saturday.

Johnson, who apparently stumbled and fell while walking through the field, was found to have portions of his feet frozen, was suffering from exposure and his condition was described as serious.

Further treatment will depend on his progress toward recovery in the next few days.

At 9:45 p.m. Saturday cars driven by Gerald Schneider, 161 Harriet St., and George Modjeski, 252 W. 4th St., collided at West 3rd and Johnson streets.

No damage estimates have been made.

He said this includes her share of a cottage in Chippewa County (valued at $2,000) in addition to personal property held in joint tenancy. He said that in partial restitution, Mrs. Peterson also has agreed to sign over her share of the home in Osseo (valued at $10,000) on which there is an $1,800 mortgage plus last year's taxes of $180. Acting Prosecutor Charles P. Curran, Mauston, pointed out that the probation statute had been acted for the use of the court

He paid a $20 fine and costs of $3.50 in justice court at St. Charles.

Sheriff Fort, meanwhile, said that a weekend survey indicated that school bus drivers in the county were taking steps to comply with the road limits and all buses were operating on schedule this morning. In some cases tandem axles were installed to maintain a weight distribution within the posted limits.

"I appreciate the difficulties experienced by these operators who must make their daily runs on posted roads with children who must be taken to county schools," the sheriff said, "and I'm grateful for their cooperation in this matter."

"I think that everyone realizes that the limit are posted only in the interest of maintaining good roads at a minimum expense to the taxpayers."

"If the weight limits are observed we can go through the critical spring breakup season with a minimum damage to the roads," he continued, "and a considerable saving is realized in the elimination of costly repairs later in the year."

Off After Breakup
The sheriff said that the limits will be relaxed as soon as the danger of damage to roads has been passed.

He suggested the possibility that violations during the breakup season might be reduced if penalties imposed were greater.

2 Strum Owners Undecided About Rebuilding Plans

STRUM, Wis. — Loss in a fire which destroyed two frame store buildings at the Strum business district early Saturday must be computed by insurance adjusters before the owners plan new construction, it was learned today.

Ted Hulberg, proprietor of the Hulberg Store, a grocery, and Hans Jacobson, owner of the Jacobson Hardware, have made no plans for reconstructing their places of business which burned to the ground in a fire of undetermined origin. The fire broke out in the Hulberg grocery about 11 p.m. Friday and spread to the adjacent hardware store in minutes.

The task of digging out and replacing buildings and stock valued at about $75,000 will await adjustment with insurance firms.

At 9:45 p.m. Saturday cars driven by Gerald Schneider, 161 Harriet St., and George Modjeski, 252 W. 4th St., collided at West 3rd and Johnson streets.

No damage estimates have been made.

Economic Study Group Planned By Chamber

Issues, Problems To Be Discussed By Businessmen

Winona businessmen are being offered the opportunity to participate in an economic study group to probe 17 fundamental economic issues and problems.

The Chamber of Commerce has mailed explanatory literature and a questionnaire to determine the extent of interest among the businessmen.

Chamber President Lester O. Peterson announced that Frank Mueller, district manager of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, will be in Winona Thursday and Friday to organize an economic study group here.

The plan was devised by the economic research department of the national organization. The department prepared 17 pamphlets covering key economic principles with emphasis on analysis and problem-solving without excessive refinements and detail found in textbooks.

Groups, usually composed of 17 to 24 members, meet periodically until all 17 topics have been discussed. At each of the sessions, the topic is first reviewed by a moderator after which the meeting is opened to discussion and questions. An economics professor from a local college has agreed to serve as moderator for sessions here.

Cancer Volunteers Attend Workshop; Treatment Cited

More than 100 volunteer workers for the Winona County chapter of the American Cancer Society attended a workshop session at the YMCA Friday afternoon. Presiding was Mrs. E. M. McCullough, county commander.

Speakers at the affair were Dr. W. O. Finkelnburg, speaking on "Service," Brother L. George, "Research," and Mrs. M. L. Spencer, "Education."

Dr. Finkelnburg, medical adviser to the local cancer control board, said that cancer was fundamentally a problem of the unregulated growth of cells in the human body, adding that surgery and radiation are presently the two best means of cure.

Issues Warning
He issued a warning to the public to beware of cancer "quacks" or "specialists" and said that a person confronted with a cancer danger signal should go at once to a reputable physician.

Brother George, of the faculty at St. Mary's College, who recently received a $3,500 research grant-in-aid from the American Cancer Society, spoke on his work as far as it is related to cancer.

"The wisdom of the ACS," he said, "is indicated by the type of research applications which they accept and the method by which the applications are approved."

"They state specifically," he continued, "that they will support studies in the course of six years in chemical, physical or medical sciences aimed towards gaining knowledge of the phenomena of growth—normal or malignant."

Chairman Speaks
Mrs. M. L. Spencer, education chairman for the local society, commended Dr. Finkelnburg for the time and aid he has donated to the Winona board of control.

Also speaking briefly were Mrs. F. J. Van Cor, who asked for more volunteer workers in the preparation of cancer dressings, and A. M. Oskamp Jr., chairman of the local fund drive, who presented a breakdown of the cancer donations spent. Solicitation kits were given to volunteers and refreshments were served.

Automobiles provide transportation to their jobs for 74 per cent of U. S. workers.

Hairdo Change Sends Girl on Way to Fame

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (A)—Sometimes it pays for a girl to change her hairdo, Shirley MacLaine did and now she's on her way to fame and fortune.

Like many a girl who wants to make the big time on Broadway, the doll from Richmond, Va., tried the glamor route. "I wore my hair long and thought I was the beauty type," she recalls. "But I wasn't."

She's right. Her face lacks the striking beauty of a Hedy Lamarr or a Maureen O'Hara. But she has an intriguing appearance, with high cheek bones, freckles and bright, daring eyes.

As a budding beauty, Shirley starred. Well, not quite. She got a chorus job in an "Oklahoma!" revival and did a few other jobs. She scarcely made enough to pay for her dancing lessons. Yet she managed to subsist, thanks largely to the peanut butter sandwiches (raisin bread) in the automat. They cost only a dime and she topped them off with a refreshing lemonade.

"It was a little sneaky," she admitted. "You see, I'd go to the station where the ice tea was served. Instead of buying the tea, I'd take the glass of ice and the lemon. Then I'd fill it with water, squeeze in the lemon and add some sugar from the table."

"It was delicious, but I had to keep changing automats. They didn't approve."

Russia Ruled Out Of Order on Asian Conference Seating

TOKYO (A)—Russia was ruled out of order today in its demand that Red China, North Korea and North Viet Nam be seated in the United Nations Economic Commission for Asia and the Far East (ECAFE).

Dr. P. S. Lokanathan of India, ECAFE executive secretary and temporary chairman for the 11-day session which opened today, ruled out the Soviet maneuver.

M. A. Menshikov, the Soviet delegate, asserted the Chinese Nationalists and South Koreans were "illegally occupying" seats belonging to Communist China and North Korea. He demanded the delegations be ousted.

He did not demand the expulsion of South Viet Nam, but said that delegation could not speak "for the whole of Viet Nam."

Despite the official rebuff, six Chinese Communists sat in on the conference as "observers" representing the Red-dominated World Federation of Trade Unions.

The expected flareup came after Japan's Prime Minister Ichiro Hatoyama opened the conference with a pledge that Japan would try to actively contribute to East Asian economic strength.

The American Cancer Society is the only volunteer agency supporting a comprehensive program of education, service to cancer patients, and research for the control of cancer.

Carmel Quinn Tattles, She'll Marry Manager

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Carmel Quinn, the cute Dublin redhead on the Arthur Godfrey show, has accidentally tattled that she, too, has picked out a man to marry—Bill Fuller, of Dublin, her manager and discoverer.

"Isn't he awful? He's wahrmin' it out of me!" she exclaimed the other day to a friend after she'd told me.

Carmel was worrying out loud about a physical exam that day—part of her application for permanent U.S. residence, preliminary to becoming a citizen.

"I have one tahrrib thing wrangin' with me!" she confessed. "Near-sightedness."

"Don't you have a seeing-eye boy friend?" I asked her.

"I have!" It is Fuller, 37-year-old owner of clubs in London and Dublin who hired her there and booked her as a singer with Ambrose's orchestra in London.

"It was good experience travelin' in coaches, sittin' up all night, lookin' out at the blackness, listenin' to the men snoring. Men can sleep anywhere, they can!"

Carmel, who's 25, and Fuller may marry next summer. Godfrey's said to approve.

"Maybe we could go back to Dublin on a trip," she said. I'd give anything to be walkin' up the street in Dublin this minute. Not that I don't like here, they're out of this wairld for style.

"I sent one I'd already wairn a while to my sister, and everybody in Dublin was lookin' at it, remarkin'."

Life's been very good to her since she came here a year ago, especially when she went to audition.

"Oh, there were hundreds there all perfectly poised, and one man said it was all out and dried. I said to him, 'Don't keep sayin' that to me. I'll go and do me best.'"

"Then I began sayin' to myself, 'Does it matter that much? Sure, I'll be dead in a few years any way.'"

She was astonished to win and her regret now is that Godfrey's show isn't seen in Ireland, where they have little TV.

"It makes me miserable that nobody in Dublin sees me," she said. "All they can do is hear me on the radio. They all sit up till late one in the mahrnin' scootin' around the radio to hear me."

"I listen to the Arthur Godfrey Digest on the radio Friday night," she said. "Though 'tis real difficult, tryin' to listen to the Godfrey radio show and watch 'The Life of Riley' on television at the same time. 'Tis real hard to do both, 'tis!"

Hiss Engaged In Espionage, Senator Claims

By LEE GARRETT

WASHINGTON (A)—Sen. Mundt (R-S.D.) says Alger Hiss "was acting in an espionage capacity" when he was given secret American documents just before the Yalta conference.

The senator gave no details to back up his statement, made during an NBC television appearance yesterday, but he added:

"No wonder that the Russians were able at Yalta to get these concessions because their courier, their agent, was at that time able to plant himself in the Department of State."

Hiss, who attended the Yalta conference as a State Department adviser, recently completed a prison sentence for perjury in denying that he had passed secret information before the war to a Communist spy ring in this country.

Hiss issued a brief statement at his New York City home, saying, "When one flimsy plank falls down, people who take that partisan point of view jump to another one." He did not elaborate.

Mundt said the late Edward Stettinius, then American secretary of state, said in 1945 that "he wanted every single secret paper turned over to Alger Hiss before Jan. 15, prior to the Yalta conference. At that time Alger Hiss was acting in an espionage capacity."

At Yalta, agreement was reached that Russia would enter the war against Japan in return for territorial concessions in the Far East.

Mundt said, "It was a most unfair price and an unconscionable giveaway and in my opinion the greatest diplomatic blunder in American history."

He defined the price as "the Polish territory and the Chinese people. We paid it."

Baby Sitters Make Jail Prohibitive

OKLAHOMA CITY (A)—A 24-year-old mother came up with a new story when arrested by police last night for loitering. "I don't have any money for a fine," she complained, "and if I go to jail I'll be stuck 90 cents an hour by the baby sitter until I get out."

ALSOPS

ed movements of his arms, and he must be able to do so at various speeds, with varying degrees of stopping.

Moreover, just to be sure that the absolute maximum of time is wasted on drill, the British have devised orders fiendishly calculated to entrap the unwary (this reporter was caught every time).

For example: "Platoon will ADVANCE in columns of three. To the REAR, march." Or: "Company will move to the RIGHT in columns of three. LEFT turn."

With the help of this sort of booby trap, an experienced British drill master can take up an entire afternoon simply displaying his vocabulary. And thus the problem of what to do with the troops is solved. The solution has no more military value than the ballet, but it does no positive harm.

Typewriter U. S. Solution

For reasons hidden in the mists of time and the mysteries of national temperament, the American army has found an entirely different solution to the same problem. The American army's solution is the typewriter.

When this reporter, at the front in Italy, was given a chance to transfer to the American army, his British colonel gave him the customary "chit" — a handwritten note, torn out of the colonel's notebook, authorizing the bearer to "go to Algiers to join the American army." When the American army asked for "orders," the chit was produced. It was regarded as a sort of horrible joke throughout the American army, and this reporter was "out of channels" from the very start.

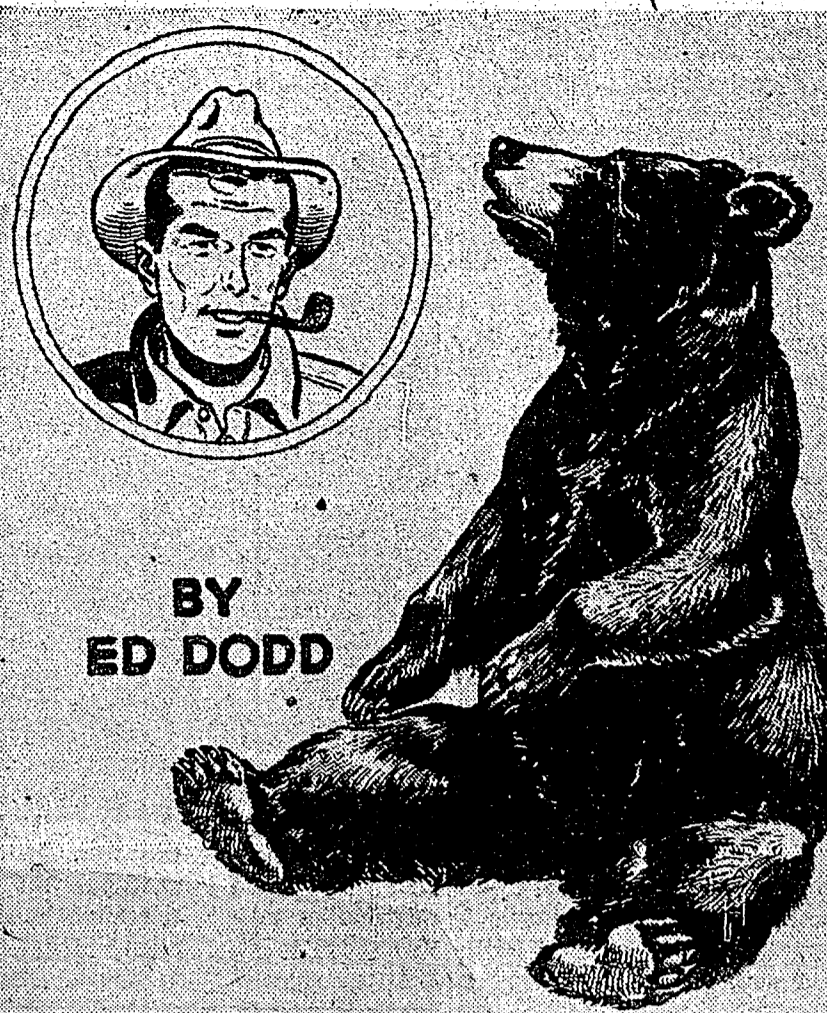

In the American army an order is not an order until it has been typed in innumerable faultless copies, validated at headquarters, stamped, processed, and Heaven knows what else. Any American soldier—as the hearings in the case of the celebrated Major Peress served to recall—proceeds through the army in a vast suffocating sea of documents.

Brilliant Solution

This is unquestionably a brilliant solution to the problem of keeping soldiers busy. In our army the number of man-hours daily devoted to composing orders or other documents, and typing or mimeographing or printing them, and signing and stamping and filing them, and even reading them, is absolutely astronomical. There are those who swear that in the last war the system would have stopped the American army dead in its tracks, before a shot was fired, if the brilliant device of VOCO—"Verbal Orders of the Commanding Officer"—had not been invented in the nick of time.

It is hard to see how any sensible man can disagree with Gen. Matthew Ridgway, Army chief of staff, when he argues that this is no time to be cutting American ground strength. Even so, maybe Gen. Ridgway ought to try a revolutionary experiment—an absolute ban on typewriters, at least below the division level. After all, wars have been fought and won with absolutely no typewriters at all—and by American armies.

VOICE of the OUTDOORS

Animal Drawings

Ed Dodd, creator of Mark Trail adventure feature, which appears in The Daily News has published Mark Trail's book of "North American Mammals" which soon will make its appearance in bookstores. The picture is a partial reproduction of the first page of the pocket size book that contains 250 pages of Dodd's animal drawings. It is a typical example of the size and style of the drawings.

Each page consists of a drawing of some animal with a little story about it. It covers 84 better known North American mammals or as Dodd puts it, "warm-blooded animals, more or less covered with hair, that nourish their young with milk." There are several pages devoted to each animal giving interesting information about it.

Take the raccoon as an example. There are six pages devoted to "this little brother of the bear" who "wears the black mask of a bandit" showing him leading a farmer's dog to a creek where he can successfully fight it, picturing his child-like tracks, opening a clam shell, washing its food and with its young. Sufficient information with the pictures to arouse interest in the animal and to identify it in the field.

The publishers, Hawthorn Books, New York, do not contend that it is a guide to North American mammals, but declare that it is both a useful field guide and a delightful book for home reading and enjoyment. We might add that every child would be tickled to death to get one as a gift or birthday present.

Fishing Results

Dr. John B. Moyle, Minnesota's Bureau of Fisheries, has summarized in the current issue of The Minnesota Volunteer some of the data on Minnesota fishing obtained from fish biologists checking fishing in 12 typical or representative Minnesota lakes during the past several years. These lakes are the department's data on which the question "How is fishing?" is answered. Here are a few paragraphs from the article:

"A total of 30,000 fishermen were contacted on the 12 census lakes in 1954. The lakes have a total area of 15,136 acres and include bass-pan-fish, northern pike lakes; walleye-northern pike lakes and panfish-rough fish lakes.

"From these 12 lakes in 1954 — or more accurately during the fishing year December 1, 1953 to December 1, 1954 — it was estimated by the census that fishermen took 465,000 fish weighing 276,000 pounds. Of the total weight of fish taken, 76.7 per cent was taken by summer anglers; 14.7 per cent by winter anglers and 8.6 per cent by dark-house spearing.

"More fish were taken from the average acre of the census lakes in 1954 than 1953 and the catch rate — goodness of fishing — remained about the same. Fishing has increased somewhat during the past three years. There were 30.1 fishing hours on the average acre in 1952; 35.5 in 1953 and 36.8 in 1954. Similarly, the total fishing harvest has increased from 27.2 fish per acre in 1952 and 27.8 in 1953 to 30.7 fish per acre in 1954. Pounds of fish taken per acre has also risen from 15.4 in 1952 and 16.2 in 1953 to 17.8 in 1954. In general, there appears to have been about a 16 per cent increase in the fishing harvest from the census lakes over the last three years. Our fish populations are as yet keeping up with the increased fishing pressure—growing fish as fast as they are caught."

"The average size of fish taken has remained about the same over the past three years: 0.57 pounds in 1952; 0.58 pounds in 1953 and 0.58 pounds in 1954. The catch rate for summer angling, by which the bulk of the fish are caught, has stayed about the same: 0.51 pounds of fish per angling hour in 1952; 0.47 in 1953 and 0.47 pounds in 1954.

"Over the past three years winter fishing, both angling and spearing, has become increasingly popular. In 1952 winter anglers took 8.4 per cent of the total catch, by weight, from the census lakes. This increased to 13.1 per cent in 1953 and 14.7 in 1954.

"The creel census throws some light on the effect of recent liberalized fishing regulations for pan-fish. During the past two years fishing for pan and rough fish has been permitted year-round with two lines. In 1951-52, however, the season was closed from February 15 to May 15 and only one line permitted.

"No exact tally has been made of the proportion of anglers availing themselves of the two-line privilege, but creel census biologists estimate it may be as high as 50 per cent of the summer anglers and 75 per cent of the winter anglers.

"The principal effect of the year-round fishing law has been to increase the length of the effective summer angling season for pan-fish by about 16 days; mostly days prior to May 15. If anglers took fish faster with two lines than with one it could be expected that the length of fishing trips would be shorter, more fish would be taken per hour of fishing, and the total catch of panfish would increase. None of these trends are evident in the creel census, according to Dr. Moyle. Catch per man-hour of fishing has remained about the same for both summer and winter anglers. Length of fishing trips of summer and winter anglers has varied little over the three years; remaining at about three hours. Also the total catch of crappies and sunfish, the principal panfishes — from the census lakes has shown no marked increase being 100,000 pounds in 1951-52, a one-line year, and for the two-line years following, 99,000 and 113,000 pounds.

"Similarly, Dr. Moyle indicates, it is unlikely that the extended season has had much effect on the catch. There are so few fishermen out during the previously closed season from February 15 to May 15 that their take adds little to the total.

"In terms of fishing success the winter and summer angler were about equal in 1954; the former averaging 0.46 pounds of fish per hour of fishing and the latter 0.47 pounds."

Family of 4 Slain; Suspect in Jail

ROCK ISLAND, Tenn. (P)—A family of four was found slain on their farm yesterday and officers accused Billy Gibbs, 23, whom they already had in jail for selling the family's mules and pigs.

The victims were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bratcher, 44 and 42, their daughter, Lily May, 10, and their motherless granddaughter, 20 months.

As Sheriff Eldridge Youngblood explains it, this was the story: Bratcher was shot to death, his wife and daughter beaten to death and the baby either drowned or allowed to die of exposure last Wednesday.

2 Helicopters Rescue 93

VANCE, S.C. (P)—Two helicopters flying a continuous shuttle service brought 93 stranded fishermen and pleasure seekers to safety yesterday. They were among more than 200 marooned overnight by high tides and rough water on Lake Marion.

Most of them—men, women and children—beached their boats on the small islands that dot the 12-mile lake and built bonfires. All made it safely to shore yesterday. No one suffered any more than a slight case of exposure.

The helicopters from Shaw Air Force Base at Sumter, S.C., effected many of the rescues by the light of the fires. Capt. Robert L. Hess, of Philadelphia, who with Maj. Francis M. Carney, of Doylestown, Pa., flew one helicopter, said, "There was no panic and it was a very fine, very successful operation."

Those not picked up by the helicopters, had to wait until the water calmed down enough to allow them to bring their boats to shore. Women and children were picked up first. After all the stranded returned to shore, the helicopters flew on the lake making certain no one was left.

Lt. Ronald L. Ingraham, of Bethesda, Md., flew alone in the other helicopter.

Advice on Health

Pneumonia Season Is Still Here

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.
With the arrival of spring and warmer temperatures, many of you might believe you have safely weathered another pneumonia season. You might be inclined to relax your guard, so to speak.

Well, you can catch pneumonia in the summer as well as in the winter. True, the winter death rate from this disease is double that of summer fatalities. But some pneumonia victims still die during the summer.

First, let's understand who is most susceptible.

All Ages Susceptible
This disease, which kills one patient in 25, attacks all ages. However, it is especially dangerous for the very young and the very old. Men are more likely than women to get pneumonia, and single persons are more often victims than married persons of either sex.

Fatal Attacks
Men between the ages of 40 and 64 are probably more likely to suffer fatal attacks if stricken. Negroes are more susceptible than white persons.

Persons weakened by malnutrition or some other disease are more likely candidates for pneumonia, and alcoholics are just asking for it.

If you fall into one or more of these categories, you've got to be especially careful.

Follows a Cold
One more thing to remember: Pneumonia almost always follows a cold.

Avoid getting wet or chilled during the approaching rainy weather. Don't work so hard that you become tired. You're more likely to catch cold if your resistance is low.

If you do become chilled, have a fever, a hacking cough, a sharp pain in your chest and breathing is difficult, get right to bed.

One Out of Three
A generation ago, pneumonia killed one out of every three it attacked. Because of antibiotic drugs, the odds are much better now. Your physician will probably be able to save your life if you call him in time.

But if you're careful, you won't have to call him at all!

QUESTION AND ANSWER
D. W. B.: What might be the cause of frequent attacks of colitis? Can this become serious?

Answer: There are many types of colitis, resulting from various causes. A permanent cure can be brought about in most types of colitis by means of proper treatment. It is advisable to consult a physician regarding this condition.

Operation Now Producing New Heart Muscle

By RENNIE TAYLOR
Associated Press Science Reporter

LOS ANGELES (P)—A method of producing a bloodshot heart muscle with a comparatively safe, simple operation is a lifesaver in many cases of coronary artery disease, a Chicago surgeon reported today.

The operation takes only 30 minutes and in many cases the patient can get out of bed the next day, said Dr. M. S. Mazel, chief surgeon of Chicago's Edgewater Hospital.

Dr. Mazel reported 53 of these operations in an exhibit for the American Academy of General Practice, assembly of the nation's family doctors.

Out of the 53 patients operated on in the last four years, Dr. Mazel said, there have been only two deaths chargeable to surgery. Forty-five of the patients have gone back to work, he added.

Coronary disease is one of the major kinds of heart trouble, causing 160,000 deaths in this country every year. It develops when the coronary arteries, which spread over the outside of the heart like a close fitting network resembling tree branches, become narrowed and clogged.

These arteries supply the heart muscle with blood. Since this muscle is the most powerful one in the body, it requires lots of blood to keep going. A closing of a main coronary artery usually means death unless something is done quickly.

'I Resolve to Stay Alive Through '55'

If you saw this on someone's New Year's resolution list, you'd probably think: "Why resolve to stay alive? That's taken for granted."

And that's exactly the trouble; staying alive is just taken for granted. We don't feel the need of a resolution, a change in attitude, a struggle toward improvement, or any conscious effort. Instead, we figure that — like the mechanical doll under the Christmas tree — we're all wound up for a 70 or 80-year spin, and we'll just naturally keep chugging along until the spring gives out.

But—glance back over 1954, the year that has trudged offstage with the weary, scythe-toting old man. In that short span, probably around 95,000 fellow Americans died accidentally . . . before the spring gave out. At the start of '54, any of these 95,000 would have declared: "Why, sure I'll stay alive through '54; heck, I don't need a resolution for that!" —Just what you'd say, now, about 1955, wouldn't you?

How would things have gone for these 95,000 dead if they had paused on January 1, 1954, and said: "I resolve to stay alive through '54 . . . to keep the pilot-light of caution aflame inside my brain."

If these 95,000 had but taken this attitude, held onto it, adopted it as an operating principle, how many of them would be alive today? 90,000? 94,500? 94,900? What do you think?

This will be a great year, for this is a great and stirring age. We've got front-row seats for an exciting show—the era of atomic power — and the curtain has already gone up. There are world-shaking problems, and dangers faintly flash and mutter like a distant storm along our horizons. But that's all the more reason to keep alive and at full strength. America — the Free World — needs all of us! It needs the power of your mind and muscle and spirit to wade into the tremendous jobs ahead.

This nation's potential is beyond measure. The need for new things, new methods, new ideas is so great that it cannot be described. Yes, there is great reason to keep alive and at peak capacity — not merely to enjoy the show from our front-row seats . . . but to climb up on the stage and help make the show come out right!

It's Great to Be Alive in Fifty-Five; it'll be even greater in fifty-six, fifty-seven, sixty-seven, seventy-seven, two thousand! Remember that . . . and keep remembering that . . . and help others to remember!

Are We All Slaves to Convention?

Free as we may feel we are in this great nation, we are all slaves to convention, business, tradition, precedent or some unseen taskmaster who may not be as cruel and ruthless as Simon Legree but nevertheless molds us to a prescribed pattern through fear.

"What people say!" cracks a whip that for some may be good. For others the sting of his lash may kill the spark of initiative that might have made the recipient a creative genius.

"What people say!" Can what they say be put down as an axiom? Is "what people say" necessarily truth? How unjust, how mercilessly cruel, how unfair and how uninformed has been the wagging tongue.

But the wagging tongue has been a past master at deception. Think of the ordeal of shame and the character assassination that a pimply-faced boy or girl has carried through life by an uninformed, an ignorant and unkind wagging tongue.

Who has the effrontery to say he can judge a man's soul by the color of his skin? The scientist? The writer? The educator? None would make an assertion so bold except an irresponsible wagging tongue.

Why do we hate one another? Trace back man's inhumanity to man and what do you find? Its origin was in a wagging tongue.

Examine your prejudices. You may hate the rich because you think the rich are dishonest. What made you think the rich are any more dishonest than the poor or middle-class in the financial scale? Likely it was a wagging tongue. But do you take the pains to ascertain whether or not any single group has a corner on honesty? Do you ask your tax assessor whether statements of the rich have any greater or less degree of honesty than those of the average man?

Maybe you hate labor leaders. Men who may have devoted their lives to the welfare of others, yet you hate them. Why? Wasn't the thought first planted by a wagging tongue?

The wagging tongue doesn't always go so far as to create hatred but by innuendo, deceit, sham and subterfuge it fertilized the mind that the brain may be a breeding place for thoughts of hatred. — Don Brown in the Waseca, Minn., Journal.

These Days

Lending Activities Of U.S. Widespread

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

NEW YORK — The government of the United States sure has gone in for lending money, according to the Hoover Commission. It controls 104 agencies, employing 40,000 persons and the total loans, guarantees, and insurance and contingent liabilities amount to $244,000,000,000 as of June 30, 1954. That amount is an indebtedness of the government of the United States until it is paid off. The national debt is presently $277,807,554,048. By any system of bookkeeping the current responsibility of our government is $521,807,554,048. This does not include obligations under Social Security.

The outstanding agency loans, insurance, guarantees and commitments are mainly as follows:

1. Aids to housing	$55,786,358,000
2. Aids to agriculture	8,643,092,000
3. Aids to business	2,875,710,000
4. Aids to foreign governments	26,360,443,000
5. Veterans Life Insurance	44,097,312,000
6. Insurance of bank deposits	106,509,000,000

Total $244,272,515,000

Regarding Social Security (Old Age and Survivors Insurance), the Hoover Commission says:

"THIS PROGRAM is financed through payroll taxes imposed on both employers and employees. The receipts from these taxes are paid into a trust fund which constitutes a liability of the federal government of about $21 billion on June 30, 1954. It is estimated that this fund will reach a maximum of about $65 billion in the year 2000 and will decline thereafter reaching $52 billion by 2020. Proceeds from the payroll taxes and interest on the trust fund will not cover all costs of annuities of OASI accrued to date. Estimates made by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare place the unfunded liability of the federal government to persons now under the Old Age and Survivors insurance program at about $228 billion and for all retirement programs at about $265 billion."

The Hoover Commission analyzes the weaknesses of lending and guaranteeing agencies as follows:

"1. The tendency of such agencies to expand their functions beyond their original purposes.
"2. When the function for which such agencies were established has been completed, there is an inner impulse to continue when they should be liquidated.

"3. There is a tendency to create activities which could be undertaken by private agencies.
"4. In some of these agencies there are concealed subsidies.

"5. Congressional policies which permit the making of loans or guarantees by such agencies to individuals or concerns without adequate equities.

"6. The making of loans or guarantees without adequate premiums or fees or interest rates from beneficiaries out of which administrative expenses can be paid and reserves against losses built up.

"7. Departmental lending or guaranteeing programs have a fatal attraction politically. Pressure groups, whether business, farmers, or veterans, often force the abandonment of the normal standards of prudence in the organization of these agencies which alone can assure the repayments of credits granted. Thus some of these operations practically become subsidies to a small fraction of the people from the taxpayer at large.

"8. Where easy money is obtainable from the government, financial integrity tends to deteriorate and windfalls and corruption frequently flourish."

REPRESENTATIVE CHET HOLIFIELD criticized the Hoover Commission, of which he is a member, for its report. He started his statement:

"The commission report is so faulty in concept and method that I must object to it even though a few recommendations, standing alone, may have merit.

"By and large the recommendations in the report, if fully carried out, would make it harder for American citizens to buy homes or to get loans for their farms or businesses."

Obviously this cannot be true. The argument is nearly always made against each of the Hoover Commission's reports that they would reorganize the government by undoing some of the good work of the New Deal, particularly as regards the expansion of governmental agencies beyond the intent of Congress. This report needs to be read in detail to grasp that these agencies possess the power to socialize the United States.

Sen. George Gets Tentative Backing for Big 4 Meet

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—The backstage story of how the White House at first disagreed, later agreed, with Sen. George of Georgia over a Big 4 conference is indicative of the jumbled way in which important steps toward world peace sometimes are taken.

It was no accident that Sen. George made his statement urging a Big 4 conference. He has been thinking about this for some time. The senator lost a boy in the last war, and has been telling friends privately that there's no alternative to war save diplomacy. To that end he got an assurance from John Foster Dulles that after the defense pact with Chiang Kai-shek was ratified, Dulles would work for a cease-fire in the Formosa Strait.

Accordingly, the Secretary of State took off for the Far East talking about peace and promising a cease-fire. He came back warning of war and recommending the defense of Quemoy and Matsu.

As a result, the venerable senator from Georgia has been disturbed. He doesn't like the direction in which U. S. foreign policy is turning.

So, privately, Sen. George sounded out Sec. Dulles about a Big 4 conference and got some encouragement. Dulles didn't say yes and didn't say no. His friends said later that what he really had in mind was a foreign ministers meeting, not an actual Big 4 conference including Premier Bulganin.

George also had a private talk with Sec. of the Treasury Humphrey, only top Cabinet adviser who is still opposed to a military showdown in the Far East. Other Cabinet advisers dealing with foreign affairs have now lined up with Dulles in favor of a stiff Far Eastern policy, even preventive war.

They are definitely prepared to use tactical atomic bombs against military targets on the Chinese mainland — a step which many believe would lift all Asia solidly against us. Congress has now given the President authority to take this drastic step, and Sen. George was the man who insisted that the resolution of authority be passed in record time. Now that the authority has been given, however, George is not happy about gathering signs that the atom bomb may be used.

Sec. of the Treasury Humphrey not only agreed with Sen. George, but encouraged him to discuss his worries with others.

George also discussed the matter briefly with Eisenhower in the course of registering a complaint about publication of the Yalta papers. The senator felt that publication might make it difficult to hold more international conferences, and he pointed out that such conferences are absolutely necessary if the world is going to make any progress toward peace. A Big 4 conference might be held now, he said, Eisenhower agreed — as he usually does when he talks to Sen. George.

Worry Over George When, therefore, George finally made his statement about a Big 4 conference, it was something of a surprise to have Sen. Knowland issue a statement from inside the White House throwing the full weight of the Eisenhower administration against the George suggestion.

Knowland had just come from a conference with the President during which he, Knowland, did most of the talking and Eisenhower did most of the listening — as usual. As usual, also, the President expressed agreement with Knowland.

It was after this, and with the President's blessing, that Knowland, standing beside press secretary Hagerty, issued his blast against the Big 4 parley.

A few minutes later White House advisers began to wake up. Not only had the President sanctioned a slap-down of the powerful senior senator from Georgia, but

Silent Woman Can Terrify Her Mate

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK — Wives with a habit of talking too much often realize this is an ordeal for their husbands.

Sooner or later, their husbands tell them so. But few wives realize their silences are sometimes even more of an ordeal.

Or do they? Perhaps instinct tells them that nothing confuses a man more than a silent woman. When a woman speaks, she employs symbols that have a meaning—a word, a phrase, sometimes even an idea. Thus, even though she often cunningly bends language like a pretzel to make it mean something exactly the opposite of what she actually says, the man who loves her at least has a clue to what is going on in that maze called her mind.

But let her lapse into silence, and he feels as separated from her as if they were two sardines packed in different cans.

Men's Simple Minds

Men's minds are so simple to read a wife quickly learns that a husband's silence usually means: (1) he doesn't feel like bragging, or (2) he is tired and wants to store up his strength for a more important family argument.

Women, however, are full of deep and mysterious silences. Ten minutes of silence by his wife will reduce a veteran husband to a quivering jelly of apprehension.

It is only the newwedded husband, pitifully unaware of the ocean depths of a woman's mind, who comes to work boasting:

"Well, I guess I got my little bride trained. I stopped off for a few drinks with the boys, got home two hours late, and my wife didn't even make a yap. After all, why should she? There's no reason why a man should have to punch a time-clock at home."

Such foolhardy optimism merely gives an experienced husband a shudder. I know of a husky husband who came to his office one morning pleased as a schoolboy. The night before, during a brief flareup with his new wife, he had told her she had better realize he was the boss because, after all, didn't he foot all the bills?

"You can bet that shut her up," he said. "She didn't give me a word of backtalk."

Wife Cleans House

She didn't say anything for the next two days either. Just smiled and brought him his meals. But when the husband came home the third night, his wife was gone. So were the rugs, the draperies, the pictures on the walls, the pots, pans, the silverware and every stick of furniture in the place.

The stunned man reached for a chair to sit down. There was no chair. The gas and electricity had been turned off. The refrigerator was bare as Mother Hubbard's cupboard. The bathroom rack lacked even a crying towel.

The only thing remaining in the empty apartment was a mattress on the bedroom floor. To the mattress the wife had pinned a scrap of paper. Eagerly the lonely husband lit a match and bent down in the gloom, hoping at least to read a farewell note. But the paper was only a notice the rent was due—his wife's ironic way of saying goodbye.

Now this pathetic young man simply made the mistake of underestimating the power of a woman's silence. Your wise husband realizes that silence in a wife, when they are alone together, is a real danger signal. After a few minutes, he will do anything to get her talking again, even if he has to start a mild argument to do so. The main thing is to make her quit thinking and start talking.

No husband can plumb the fabu-

THE WORLD TODAY

Who 'Leaked' Yalta Papers Not Yet Told

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — Almost two weeks after someone in the State Department "leaked" the Yalta papers to the New York Times there is still no answer from the department on three basic questions. Who "leaked" them? Did Secretary of State Dulles know and approve? Why, on the very day they were "leaked," were they described as nonpublishable because they involved national security?

Dulles twice has been asked to explain in the circumstances. He would not answer. Nor would his assistant secretary of state, Carl McCordle, in charge of information, when asked point-blank if he did the "leaking."

There can no longer be any doubt where the Times got the documents on the wartime Roosevelt-Churchill-Stalin conference. The newspaper itself has said it got them from the State Department.

Dulles was asked by a reporter and by Sen. Kerr (D-Okla.) to explain the release of the Yalta papers. He marched away angrily from the reporter. He sat silent in front of Kerr.

This writer telephoned McCordle over the weekend and said: "You have twice been accused in print of being the one who 'leaked' the Yalta papers. Did you 'leak' them?" He said: "I won't answer a question like that."

(Drew Pearson, syndicated columnist, has said McCordle was the "leak." Chalmers Roberts, reporter for the Washington Post and Times-Herald, said newsmen at the State Department believe McCordle did the "leaking.")

On Monday, March 14, Dulles' press officer Henry Stimson, and on Tuesday, March 15, Dulles himself, told newsmen the Yalta papers could not be released for publication at this time because:

"They involved national security and this country's relations with its allies. This indicated the papers were 'classified' and therefore could not be made public."

But on March 15, the same day Dulles said that, the State Department gave the documents to the Times. When news of this got around the next day, Dulles released the Yalta documents to all newspapers.

On March 14 Dulles had attempted to give 24 copies of the Yalta papers to designated members of Congress—while withholding them from the press.

Democrats in Congress refused the papers. They said they did not want to be accused of "leaks" if any occurred.

It was after Dulles had been turned down in Congress that his department gave the papers to the Times.

Pipe Contest Plans Go Up in Smoke

FLINT, Mich. — A pretty 22-year-old nurse saw her plans for representing Michigan at the international pipe-puffing contest go up in smoke today. Her mother disapproves.

Kay Kelley, a nurse at Hurley Hospital in Flint, doubtless would have been tabbed as a favorite at the contest in Schenectady, N.Y. She won the Michigan championship Saturday night, outpuffing Mrs. Robert Rudl, of Flint, last year's international champ.

Miss Kelley kept her pipe going for 36 minutes 10 seconds on the regulation 3.3 grams of tobacco. It was her first try at pipe smoking too.

"But Mother won't let me go to the contest in New York," she said. "In fact, she's simply shocked by the whole affair. She doesn't even approve of smoking, let alone pipe smoking for girls."

lous whorls of his wife's thoughts when she is silent, because a woman's mind doesn't travel in a straight line like a man's. It wheels in circles like a homing pigeon, and then, like that same pigeon, heads for home.

A normal husband with a normal wife can take it for granted that when she falls silent, she is brooding over (1) something he should have done that he didn't do, or (2) something he did do—but did wrong. It is unimportant whether the grievance is big or small, old or new. She may be less angry with him because he went bankrupt yesterday than she is over suddenly remembering he smiled at another girl on their honeymoon 25 years ago.

He must merely keep in mind that whereas a man's silence usually ends up in sleep, a woman's silence always ends up in some kind of action. And the longer she is silent, the more violent will be the action she takes.

Therefore no matter how flighty or foolish his wife's talk may be, the sensible husband realizes her vocal chords are the best safety valves of his own marital happiness.

Any woman's conversation is more endurable than the ordeal of her silence.

Why Wasn't Red Cloud Buried in Arlington?

To the Editor:
I read about Cpl. Mitchell Red Cloud's outstanding heroism in your Wednesday issue for which he received the greatest honor America can bestow, the Congressional Medal of Honor.

A question then arose in my mind. Why wasn't Cpl. Red Cloud accorded the honor of being buried in Arlington National Cemetery as was Ira Hayes of Mt. Suribachi fame? He gave his life for his buddies which brings to mind the beautiful passage from the Bible: "Greater love hath no man than this; that a man lay down his life for his friends."

Will you kindly tell me who and what determines this privilege. Another thought: Are there any women buried in this cemetery? I'll greatly appreciate your answer.

Widening Highway 61 Will Not Help Matters

To the Editor:
Read the pieces with great interest about Highway 61 situation. Do they think widening this road will help matters? Can't see that it will, only the speed of the cars and speed of accidents.

They overdrive the speed limits now 20 to 25 miles per hour. Instead of 50 m.p.h. zones it will be 75 and 80. Just another speedway and a few less curves. Now what are all the signs on the roads for? The driver's protection!

Wonder why it wouldn't be a safer and saner way to try out a few things and the price of a few more signs of warning and a few more highway patrolmen to see that the speed limits are obeyed. A big danger sign and police patrol sign and other warning signs, and the lower speed limit, instead of 50 make it 40 through these worst places and 30 if needed, would be the answer.

I can't see why if more signs are put up on the road at Homer, and La Crescent it will surely help and then have the extra cops to see that the limits are obeyed day and night (especially).

Crack down on the speeders and make their fines heavy enough they won't be wanting to get picked up all the time.

We all know it's nothing but speed caused these accidents and the speed situation has got to be taken care of. The better the road the more speed, what are the cars made for—more speed. Can't see but what a lot more signs and patrolmen can do wonders. Believe me it is worth a try anyway.

think the road signs and patrolmen could be handled by the state highway, if not then go to the governor to handle the speed situation. That's what these laws are for. See they are obeyed.

Over 5,000 at Tri-County Co-op Meeting

RUSHFORD, Minn. (Special)—More than 5,000 persons attended the annual meeting of the Tri-County Electric Co-op here Saturday, jamming nearly all available space at the high school auditorium, Trojan Theater and co-op garage.

Harry S. Roberts, president, Harmony E. F. Luehr, Spring Grove, and E. A. Albrecht, La Crescent, were re-elected to the board of directors. Roy G. Zook, assistant administrator of the REA, Washington, D.C., delivered the principal address.

The financial statement revealed a net income of $177,263.

Continuous movies for children were shown at the garage starting at 10:30 a.m. C. P. Wagner, Minneapolis, representative of the North Central Electric League, presided at an electric appliance demonstration for women at the Trojan from 10:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. A variety show was held in the school auditorium at noon. More than 3,000 persons were fed at the Rushford Lutheran Church. Rushford Presbyterian Church, and the American Legion Hall.

Philip Beardsley, Winona, a representative of the Social Security Administration, spoke on farmer social security at 11:30 a.m. The business session followed the noon variety show. Roberts presided; John F. Papenfuss, secretary, gave the annual report; Earl Johnson, office manager, read the financial statement; George J. Werner, manager, and R. A. Burns, assistant manager, spoke briefly. Zook's address followed. Attendance prizes were awarded at the conclusion of the meeting.

Stockholders were present from Fillmore, Houston and Winona counties. Directors in addition to those named are F. B. Blanchard, Irving Bacon and Glenn Churchill.

Nebraska State Safety Patrol officers await a possible call to action within the penitentiary at Lincoln, Neb., where 12 prisoners hold two guards as hostages. The guards were captured Sunday morning and Gov. Victor Anderson and other top state officials waited for demands expected to be made by the prisoners. Anderson said if anyone tried to leave the door of the building in which the prisoners were, he would get a "51-gun salute." (UP Telephoto)

Trempealeau Co. Tax Payments Decline Slightly

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—Collections on the 1954 tax roll averaged 88.90 per cent in Trempealeau County by March 1 this year, compared with 90.45 of the 1953 tax roll collected by the same date a year ago, according to Gordon Severson, county treasurer.

Of the total tax roll of $1,839,637.63, excluding occupational taxes, $1,658,408.55 was collected by the municipality treasurers by the end of February. Of the total, $100,242.28 was postponed. Only taxes which may be postponed to the July 31st deadline are real estate taxes if half of them are paid by Jan. 31.

The total of $80,988.70 returned delinquent does not include delinquent personal property taxes nor special assessments held in trust by the county.

Year Ago Compared A year ago the total tax roll was $1,733,875.75, of which $1,585,996.59 was returned by the treasurers in early March. Postponed real estate taxes at that time amounted to $82,714.14, and delinquent taxes, excluding delinquent personal property taxes, totaled $65,162.02.

The Town of Caledonia again tops the list in the amount of taxes collected by the end of February, 96.87 per cent followed closely by the city of Arcadia, which collected 96.80 per cent.

Of the total tax roll for 1954, which is $105,761.88 higher than the 1953 taxes, only five of the 25 municipalities had a lower tax bill payable this year—Sumner, Elva, Strum, Trempealeau village and Independence.

Delinquent taxes, excluding personal property taxes, were, higher in all municipalities except Chimney Rock, Lincoln, the villages of Elva, Ettrick and Strum, and the cities of Blair, Independence and Whitehall. A comparison of the two years follows:

Municipality	1954	1953

Breakfast in Winona to Benefit Lake Tot Beach

Proceeds of the fourth annual Breakfast in Winona to be sponsored by the Mrs. Jaycees April 16 at the New Oaks will be donated to the Park-Recreation Department to complete purchase of equipment needed at the Lake Winona Tot Beach.

The Mrs. Jaycees established the Tot Beach in June 1933, in cooperation with the Park-Recreation Board. It is located at the Lake Winona water front adjacent to the boat house. Since its origination in 1933, more than 10,000 children between the ages of four and eight, have enjoyed supervised swimming and supervision of lifeguards appointed by the recreation department.

Equipment furnished by the Mrs. Jaycees in 1934, included two streamlined park benches, a portable picnic table, a 12-foot slide, a life buoy, two deluxe beach umbrellas, four water rings, a bulgy and two ducks, two umbrella tables, a small picnic table, six shovels, three beach balls, eight folding chairs, three play balls and 17 posts for the life line.

A number of items which still are needed at the Tot Beach, according to Michael J. Bambenek, director, are large colorful plastic life line floats, a new iron pipe and metal cable, instead of rope for the life line, umbrella and chairs and a light metal boat and oars for emergencies.

The Mrs. Jaycees expect to furnish as many of the items as possible with the profits from the breakfast.

Mr. Bambenek said, "If the Mrs. Jaycees again plan to make a financial contribution to the children's wading beach, it shall be accepted with open arms as in the past year."

Aside from the recent Bridal Show staged for the benefit of the March of Dimes, the Breakfast in Winona is the only profit-making project in which the Mrs. Jaycees participate. Since their establishment in 1949 in Winona, the Mrs. Jaycees have carried on several other projects of community-wide benefits.

In 1931, a ceiling projector and a collection of films for the use of bedridden persons was presented to the Winona Free Public Library in cooperation with the Winona General Hospital. Additional films have since been donated.

Annually Easter baskets containing gayly colored eggs have been prepared for the trays of patients at the Winona General Hospital. A gift of toys and books has been made in past years to the pediatric ward at the Winona General Hospital and the YWCA Nursery School.

The prize committee under the co-chairmanship of Mrs. Donald Blake and Mrs. A. Eugene Smith, is soliciting gifts from merchants of Winona. A list of the prizes as well as the location of the display of them will be announced in the near future.

Tickets for the Breakfast in Winona may be purchased from any Mrs. Jaycee or at the following business establishments: Edstrom's Music Store, Ted Maier Drug Store or St. Clair & Gunderson or by telephoning Mrs. Max De Bolt.

A Sewing Niche Which Like Magic disappears in a closet is pictured above. Open the closet and presto—all your equipment is at hand. At the end of the day's sewing activities, the worktable folds up flush against the inside of the closet door, the portable electric sewing machine rests on an end table or small chest in the closet, spools and shears hang neatly on the peg board which has been fitted to the upper half of the inside of the door. On the lower part of the door, a small bin can be attached to store patterns or buttons. Pin cushion, hem marker, tape measure and other items may join the spools and shears on the peg board. A narrow ledge on the door at waist height holds one end of the folding table. The other end is supported by a pair of hinged legs. The clothing pole in the closet is raised to retain the storage value of the closet but also is convenient for hanging partially-completed garments. A full-length mirror on the outside of the door adds to the efficiency of the set up.

Wilda Erickson Married to Emery Prigge

LAKE CITY, Minn. — At Zumbro Lutheran Church, Rochester, Miss Wilda Ann Erickson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence B. Erickson, Rochester, Minn., became the bride of Emery Prigge, son of Mr. William Prigge, Lake City, and the late William Prigge, in a double-ring ceremony read March 19 by the Rev. Abner Haugen. The church was decorated with spring flowers. Shelby Westby, Rushford, cousin of the bride, sang "Lord Jesus Christ Be With Us Now" and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Stanley Pennington who played the wedding music.

The bride given in marriage by her father, wore a beige dactron on pongee dress, with beige and avocado accessories, and a corsage of tangerine roses and white hyacinths. She carried a white Bible, a gift from the bridegroom.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Ruby Erickson, Rochester, whose dress was of avocado linen worn with beige and brown accessories and a corsage of yellow roses and white carnations.

Orvil Clau, Lake City, was best man.

The bride's mother wore a navy linen dress and the bridegroom's mother, black silk and lace. They wore corsages of pink and white carnations.

A dinner was served at the bride's parents' home for 28 relatives and friends. Mrs. Herbert Westby and Mrs. Edward Dahle were in charge of the dinner. Miss Alvina Busch, Miss Corrine Wiltgen and Miss Beatrice Wolner, Rochester, served.

The bride has been a Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. operator and the bridegroom is employed at Lincoln High School, Lake City. Parties and showers were given for the bride-elect by co-workers at the telephone office who gave an afternoon tea, aunts of the bride who gave a shower at the Herbert Westby home, Rushford, Mrs. Neil Graham and Mrs. Frank Bork who were hostesses at a shower at the former's home in Rochester, and Mrs. James Nordine who entertained at her home in Lake City.

Dinners were given by a group of friends at the Continental room in Rochester and by Miss Beatrice Wolner at her home.

Theater Reviewed In Lighthearted Teresan Musicales

By MAY MURRAY
Daily News Women's Editor

Theater from "Mellerrama" to modern Broadway musicals paraded the stage, ushered in by a discus thrower who through red tape has become a muse, at the College of Saint Teresa this week-end when the Teresan Players presented "It's All Yours," a musical revue, staged by John Marzocco of the college drama department. Burbage Players of St. Mary's College assisted.

A family of some years ago in the midst of an argument about the merits of the stage of the past and their present, are vouchsafed glimpses of bygone highlights of the theater for the edification of the children in the family, excerpts from the entertainment field known to the children at that time, and a taste of the future drama world, in reality the period of today, by the muse.

Miss Mary Ann Shea dead-panned a muse who while attempting to live up to her role, stuck the point of common sense into many a balloon of inflated phraseology and thought. Members of the family were amusingly played by John Coffey, Miss Dorothy Pecholt, Miss Shirley Cunningham and Miss Patricia Branley.

"Rock Candy Mountain" and "Eric Canal" brought early America to the scene when sung by John Healy, James Neal, Edgar Stahl and the Misses Marilyn Shonka, Nancy Junion, Barbara Lueken, Kathleen Stark, Barbara Brewer and Angela Gernon in pioneer costume.

End men in scarlet and an interlocutor, Gerald Brennan, in resplendent white, black and silver costume, conducted a minstrel show with such songs as "Swanee" and Stephen Foster melodies by the chorus. End men were Lux Henninger, William McConnell, John Meegan and Howard Super. Miss Jeanne Plunkett appeared in a clever tap dance as part of the scene.

Miss Marilyn Shonka in a turn of the century costume sang "Mary" in lovely soprano voice, and Miss Nancy Junion in bustling dress and feathered hat gave a true music hall interpretation of "Just a Bird in a Gilded Cage." The "Mellerrama" with villain to be hissed, hero who struck statuesque poses and sighing, swooning, heroine, had in its cast John Caulfield, Miss Kathleen Stark, Miss Audrey Rausch, Frank Dolan and Richard Goetzman.

Winona awaiting the arrival of the first stage from Lewiston and Stockton was beset with arrow-pierced settlers, a traveling medicine man whose tongue extolled the virtues of a "golden elixir" with as rapid-fire speed as the off-stage guns, and a pair of lassies from the East. Miss Angela Gernon and Miss Barbara Brewer, who waited in song their desire to return to the safety of Ohio.

Mr. Dolan was Dr. Quackenbush whose medicine revived the wounded Indian fighters. Others in the cast were the Misses Patricia Schlosser and Mary Ellen Donnelly as pioneer women. Mr. Healy as a frontiersman, Mr. Caulfield, Mr. Goetzman and Matthew O'Brien as Indian fighters and the Misses Ann Cray and Dorothy Barbara Lueken and Mr. Stahl, Mr. Neal and James Thomas as townspeople.

A rollicking pioneer dance was presented by the dancing chorus, the Misses Joan Purcell, Carmella Nardella, Joanne Wenzel, Jeanne Lucas, Kay Kinzie and Mary McNulty, Lux Henninger, Howard Super, Edward Creighton, Thomas Johnson, Gerald Brennan and William Hurley.

Students with straw sailors and blazers and girls in shirt-waisted frocks sang "Amy" and "Evelyn" in song during the maneuvers of their "marching society."

"Forty-five Minutes From Broadway" was offered by three dandies of the gay 90's and their gals, Mr. Stahl, Mr. Healy, Mr. Neal and the Misses Lueken, Shonka and Junion, and six girls of the same period, the Misses Margaret Beers, Julianne Cameron, Frances Link, Dorothy Capodice, Joanne Votava and Jean Bailey twirled parasols and presented a dance routine.

The trials of both the teacher and the students, particularly the "eager beaver" Mr. Keplen in a class in English for displaced persons were hilarious with Miss Constance Fudali as the teacher, Mr. Dolan as Mr. Keplen and the Misses Audrey Rausch, Mary Ellen

Kathryn Beadle Chosen as Soloist At Music Festival

GALESVILLE, Wis. (Special) — Kathryn Beadle, 18, Galesville High School flutist, was the only Wisconsin student chosen to participate in the concert program at Decorah, Iowa, the weekend of March 19. The concert was the finale of the Dorian music festival, annually given at Luther College for visiting school musicians. Of the 300 participating, five soloists were chosen for the evening concert.

The Galesville girl presented Andante in F by Molique, as her selection after having been chosen for the honor by Sigurd Rascher, New York, guest soloist and critic at the meet.

Other Galesville students selected for the trip were Carol Taylor and Mary Beth Ausheth. All three took part in the massed band which engaged in rehearsals for a day and a half before the final concert.

Kathryn is a senior in the Galesville High School, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Beadle, and has played the flute in the school band since grade school days.

Britain Ready For New Talks, Eden Declares

LONDON (U)—Foreign Secretary Sir Anthony Eden disclosed today that Britain, the United States and France have already begun discussing arrangements for a Big Four meeting with Russia.

Eden told the House of Commons this country is ready and eager to discuss the future of Germany and Austria, disarmament problems and a European security system with the Russians — now that the French Parliament has approved the accords to free and rearm West Germany.

Eden, who was answering a Laborite questioner in the House of Commons, said the British already are consulting their Allies "as to the methods by which we can go ahead" toward arranging Big Four talks.

Britain, he said, proposed the Allies should follow a procedure of consultation that will include meetings of officials when perhaps meetings of foreign ministers and, "if all goes well meetings probably at other levels also."

He did not elaborate on his reference to meetings "at other levels." The implication was that one would be "at the summit."

It has long been the assumption here, although it has never been officially stated that if and when Eden takes over the nation's leadership from Prime Minister Churchill he will quickly set out to meet President Eisenhower. Eden has long been the heir apparent to the leadership of the Conservative government.

He reminded Parliament today of a pledge he gave it on the subject of a Big Four conference only 14 days ago.

He said then, once the London and Paris treaties freeing and rearming the West Germans have been ratified, Britain will want to meet with the Soviets on the main problems blocking a European settlement between East and West.

German and Austrian treaty settlements, an effectively controlled work disarmament program and a continental security system — presumably in the form of mutual East-West non-aggression pacts — were the subjects he listed for discussion.

OK Sought for Fire Extinguisher Sales

ST. PAUL (U)—A bill requiring approval by the state fire marshal of all fire extinguishers offered for sale in the state was approved today by the Senate Insurance Committee.

Cyril Sheehan, state insurance commissioner, said his department does not have enough staff to make inspections but that such a law could be made effective by requiring the seal of approval of an accepted underwriters association.

Harlan Formally Takes Place on Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (U)—John Marshall Harlan formally takes his place on the Supreme Court bench today and goes to work at once in helping the court decide the major cases of the 1954-55 term.

The New York judge, chosen by President Eisenhower to succeed the late Justice Robert H. Jackson, thus becomes the second Justice John Marshall Harlan. His grandfather, for whom he was named, served on the Supreme Court from 1877 until his death in 1911.

After the reading of the court's opinions and orders, arguments in new cases were scheduled. These arguments were expected to continue through April 5.

Arguments in the biggest pending cases — put off because of Jackson's death last Oct. 9 began April 11. The full bench of nine Justices will hear attorneys debate suggested methods and timing for putting into effect the court's unanimous decision last May that public school racial segregation is unconstitutional.

30-Hour Week Next Aim of Auto Workers

By NORMAN WALKER
CLEVELAND (U)—The 30-hour work week is being readied by the CIO United Auto Workers as the next bargaining target after the present drive for the guaranteed annual wage.

The union's leaders are concentrating on whipping up support among the more than 3,000 delegates at the UAW's annual convention for the year-around pay plan. But they talk of the shorter work week as the next big step.

In fact, Walter Reuther, president of the CIO and the 1½-million-member UAW, indicated in his convention keynote address he sees no end in sight to organized labor's demands for more pay and improved working conditions so long as the American economy keeps expanding.

"When we go to the bargaining table," he said, "management asks, 'Don't you ever get tired of asking for more and more and more?'"

He said unions never will let up so long as they feel their demands are "economically just and economically necessary" and while science and technology continue to create more abundance.

"We are going in year after year and ask for more and more and more because we are entitled to more and more and more," he said.

The UAW has made the guaranteed wage plan its major demand on the auto industry in bargaining talks due to start in early April.

Holstein Breeders Opposing 2 Bills

STILLWATER, Minn. (U)—The Minnesota Holstein Breeders Assn. today was on record as opposing two bills before the Legislature — measures which would increase membership on the livestock sanitary board and which would compel a fat content of 3.5 per cent in all milk sold in the state.

Resolutions opposing the proposals were adopted at the group's annual meeting Saturday.

Hugo Abrecht, New Ulm, was re-elected president. Other officers chosen were H. W. Filk, Hutchinson, vice president, and Don Lashbrook, Owatonna, secretary-treasurer.

Sen. Humphrey Seeking Lakes Channel Dredging

By RICHARD P. POWERS
WASHINGTON (U)—Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) is seeking action at this session of Congress on legislation to authorize deepening of the Great Lakes connecting channels.

Army engineers earlier this year recommended the work — estimated to cost 109 million dollars — to tie in with the St. Lawrence Seaway now under construction.

The seaway, which Congress authorized last year, will provide a 27-foot channel from the Atlantic to Lake Erie. The purpose of the connecting channel legislation is to provide the same 27-foot depth into Lakes Superior and Michigan.

Humphrey called attention to the action of the Army Engineers Board of Rivers and Harbors in a letter to Chairman Chavez (D-NM) of the Senate Public Works Committee. Congress will not receive the report until governors of the eight Great Lakes states have submitted their comments and suggestions.

In the meantime, Humphrey is seeking to have the Senate Public Works Committee get ready for action on the legislation to authorize the connecting channel work.

Farm Funds Bill Seems Certain to Set Off Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — An $75-million-dollar farm funds bill seemed sure to set off a swirling, ahead-of-schedule debate in the House today on the policies of Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

The basis was laid in advance of the House session in a report of an appropriations subcommittee. Chairman Whitten (D-Miss.) said the group had what he called facts to back up its criticism of the operation of crop controls and of the surplus disposal program under Benson. The secretary termed the criticism "political propaganda."

Rep. Vursell (R-Ill.) called Benson a man of "courage and integrity" who has "proved his ability in the two years he has been secretary of agriculture." He said most criticisms of Benson by the committee majority were "unjustified."

All seven members of the Whitten subcommittee are agreed on the money bill itself. As okayed by the full Appropriations Committee Friday, it earmarks $878,625-

Cordell Hull Still In Critical Condition

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cordell Hull, 83-year-old former secretary of state, still was listed in critical condition today at Bethesda Naval Hospital.

He was hospitalized after suffering a stroke Saturday. No marked change was reported in his condition yesterday. The hospital said, however, he had shown "definite improvement" during his first night there. Latest reports said he was conscious.

CALF DEMONSTRATION

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special) — Trempealeau County Agent Peter Bieri, Associate Agent Edward Ausderau and Club Agent Ray Shanklin have been invited to a demonstration on dairy calves at West Salem Thursday. It will begin at 9:30 a.m., Marlow Nelson, dairy extension specialist with the University of Wisconsin in charge. Agents from Clark, Jackson, Buffalo, Monroe and Vernon counties also will be present.

391 in cash and 388 million dollars in lending authority for the Agriculture Department in the fiscal year beginning July 1—a net cut of only $6,424,524 below Benson's request.

Egypt Charged With Violation of Palestine Truce

JERUSALEM (AP) — Egypt stood charged today with "flagrant violation" of the Palestine truce. The U. N. Mixed Armistice Commission censured her for a "brutal and murderous" Arab attack last week on an Israeli wedding party.

A government spokesman in Cairo denied that Egypt had launched the attack that killed one woman and wounded 23 persons including five children. He said Egypt would appeal yesterday's commission decision.

The attack took place last Thursday at Patish, 11 miles inside Israeli territory from the Gaza Strip. Thirty-eight Egyptians and eight Israelis were killed Feb. 28 in the Gaza area in a battle which the armistice commission blamed on the Israeli army.

Summing up Thursday's shooting, a commission communiqué noted "with extremely grave concern the aggravation to the serious situation along the armistice demarcation line." It called on Egyptian authorities to do their best to arrest "these infiltrators."

It Was Too Cold For Hunt to Be Rattling Success

OKEENE, Okla. (AP) — It was just too cold for rattlesnakes to be rattling around.

The 550 rattlers captured by hunters in the annual Okeene Rattlesnake Roundup yesterday represented one of the smallest catches in the 16-year history of the event. The roundup was a success in one sense, however. No one was snake bitten.

A crowd estimated by the Oklahoma highway patrol at between 16,000 and 18,000 braved icy winds to watch the colorful proceedings. Ed Lamle, chief rattler of the International Assn. of Rattlesnake Hunters, was disappointed at the catch. Some 2,000 diamond backs were expected to be snared from this northwest Oklahoma City.

"It was just too cold, that's all," Lamle explained. "The snakes wouldn't come out and the hunters weren't too anxious to go in after them."

Biggest snake was garnered by Jimmy Davis, of Watonga. It measured 67½ inches and weighed 5½ pounds. The 550 snakes weighed a total of 779 pounds — a new all-time low.

Galesville Man Pleads Guilty to Charge of Disorderly Conduct

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special) — Nolan McClanahan, Galesville, pleaded guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct in justice court Thursday, following his arrest at Galesville by Sheriff Ernest Axness.

Justice P. M. Paulson sentenced McClanahan to serve 20 days in the Trempealeau County jail or pay a $15 fine and $11.95 costs. McClanahan was committed to the jail.

Marcus Alt, Trempealeau, who entered a plea of not guilty to a disorderly conduct charge Monday, settled the action through his attorney, E. A. Giese, Galesville. Alt had been scheduled to appear for preliminary hearing Friday.

Alt's $24.95 check covered the $15 fine and $9.95 costs.

Lanesboro Repeats With Spelling Champ

LANESBORO, Minn. (Special) — When Diane Ode, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ode, Lanesboro, won the Fillmore County spelling contest at Preston Friday, it marked the second straight year that a Lanesboro pupil had won the championship.

Diane won the combined written and oral contest with 54 of 80 words. An eighth grade student whose instructor is Donovan Wolfe, she will compete in the state contest April 10 at Minneapolis.

Laurie Stephens, Chatfield, is the alternate. Chatfield also was represented last year with an alternate.

Passion Cantata Given At Plainview School

PLAINVIEW, Minn. (Special) — A large crowd attended a Passion season cantata, "Christ Crucified," Sunday afternoon in the auditorium presented by the Plainview school mixed chorus directed by Walter Gludt.

The 55-voice choir sang eight numbers with Ronald Sparks, tenor; Maureen Costello, alto, and Janet Cravath, soprano, soloists. Roxanne Mahle was accompanist on the electric organ. Wayne Herman, high school senior, was narrator and organ preludes to the concert were played by Mrs. D. G. Mahle.

FBI reports show an 80 per cent increase in major crime since 1950.

Winners Named In Taylor Contest

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special) — Trempealeau County participants in the district 4-H club music and drama contest at Taylor Friday evening received three blue and one white ribbon.

Three one-act plays were in the competition. "Angel Face" from the Hale & Hardy Club, which won first place in the contest at Whitehall, March 17 and the Trempealeau County contest at Ettrick March 21, received a blue ribbon. The La Crosse play entered drew a red ribbon and Jackson County a white ribbon.

The Pigeon Flyers girls in vocal selections and the girls' band from the Arcadia Stars also received blue ribbons, and a square dance group from South Branch, Town of Ettrick, drew a white ribbon.

Ronald Gies of the Wisconsin Ida Theater, Madison, was the drama judge and Ed Hugdal of the University of Wisconsin extension music department judged the musical entries.

All blue ribbon winners are eligible to participate in state programs such as State 4-H Club Week at Madison June 19-23 and at the state fair at Milwaukee Aug. 20-28. Participation is by invitation.

Trempealeau Co. DHIA To Meet on Wednesday

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special) — The annual meeting of the Trempealeau County Dairy Herd Improvement Association cooperative will be held Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. at the courthouse.

Directors will be elected, the audit will be discussed and other business will be transacted. A speaker from the University of Wisconsin will discuss the new Wisconsin DHIA. Lunch will follow the meeting.

Company Spurned, Man Hits Woman With Borrowed Ax

CASS LAKE, Minn. (AP) — A 40-year-old Cass Lake man is in jail at Walker, Minn., charged with hitting a woman over the head with an ax.

Paul Goose waived preliminary hearing on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. Sheriff Buck Simpson said Goose injured Mrs. Elizabeth Hardy, 39, with a double-bladed ax.

The wound required 50 stitches. Sheriff Simpson said Goose was visiting Mrs. Hardy when he went next door to borrow an ax to cut kindling. When he started to return the ax, he wanted Mrs. Hardy to accompany him, the sheriff said. When she refused, he struck her with the ax, Simpson related.

Goose was held under $2,000 bond.

Actress Recovering From Fall Injuries

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Film actress Pier Angeli was recovering today from injuries she suffered Feb. 25 when she fell while aboard a Los Angeles-Palm Springs airplane.

The Italian-born actress left Desert Hospital yesterday and will rest here a week before returning to Hollywood. Miss Angeli, an expectant mother, suffered a broken pelvis and an eye injury.

Doctors said she would not lose her expected baby as first feared. She is with her husband, singer Vic Damone.

IN HOSPITALS

PLAINVIEW, Minn. (Special) — Dr. Richard Rossi underwent major surgery at St. Mary's Hospital, Rochester, Tuesday. Catherine Nunamaker underwent an appendectomy at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Wabasha, Friday evening. Charles Utigard, Millville, underwent surgery there last week.

Faith, Hope, Charity Still Going Strong

MARLBORO, Mass. (AP) — Faith, Hope and Charity — white-haired, blue-eyed triplets — observed their 87th birthdays yesterday with prayers and a chicken dinner.

Mrs. Annie Faith MacDonnell, Mrs. Ellen Hope Daniels and Mrs.

Charity Murphy, went to different masses "So we wouldn't be stared at."

However, they were together the rest of the day as guests of the Marlboro Country Club.

Although oranges were more expensive than apples 45 years ago, apples now are usually the more expensive.

Remodeling Job At Wykoff Bank

WYKOFF, Minn. (Special)—A 50th anniversary remodeling program at Wykoff's First State Bank is completed.

A portion of a brick wall between the office and bookkeeping department was removed and replaced by glass. A booth was built in the safety deposit room so patrons may have privacy. This room also boasts of new chairs and furnishings.

In the office, counters have been widened and a storage room with sliding doors has been constructed. Several new mahogany doors have replaced old ones and all new material used is mahogany. To match the remaining woodwork, T. O. Steffensrud removed stain and refinished it. Walls and ceilings all have been redecorated in soft shades of green and rose. The remodeling was done by Bert Fox & Son who are with the Leslie Schult Co., bank remodeling specialists of St. Paul.

Hinges and Doors Can Tell Secrets

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER
AP Real Estate Editor

The way a house is built—its quality of materials and workmanship—hinges to a surprising extent right on its hinges. The fanciest wallpaper, the snazziest siding and roofing can't substitute for these hard working pieces of hardware.

The type and size of hinges, the way they are installed, the kind of metal they are made of, the number used—all give away a lot of secrets about any house.

When you're inspecting a house, the first thing you may notice is the front door. Does it have three hinges? It should have, because it is a heavy door. Three hinges tend to prevent warping. The latch is midway up the door. So with a hinge midway, you have a strong support.

But is this the last place you find three hinges in the house? Lightweight doors have even more tendency to warp than heavy doors. The cost of a third hinge is a tiny fraction of the cost of a new door, or the cost of having a warped door straightened.

What Kind of Metal? The metal used for hinges and other exposed hardware also can be important depending on local atmospheric conditions. If rust is a problem, and it usually is, non-ferrous metal is preferable. This can be brass, bronze or aluminum. A shiny gilt or chromium finish is no proof. Borrow junior's horseshoe magnet and find out in a jiffy. Nonferrous metal will not magnetize.

Of course, proper and adequate paint will prevent rust and corrosion but you'll want to know what kind of hardware you're buying, whether it's in a house or in a store. Nonferrous hardware costs more.

The way hinges are installed is a dead giveaway as to the skill of workmanship involved. Mortising in woodwork larger than the leaf of a hinge spell sloppy work.

With the modern mortise cutting machines now on the market, it is hard to excuse mistakes at such points. And you can be as critical about offset screwheads in steel doors and steel frames, because template hinges are made to allow all screws to coincide with predrilled holes in such metal work.

A simple test for properly hung hinges is to leave a door unattached to see if it will swing open without a breeze—or leave a door ajar and see if it will swing shut without a breeze.

You might think it's smart to have a bathroom door, for instance, swing shut automatically. The right way to accomplish this is to use a spring hinge—easily adjustable for tension without slamming—but not by placing unnatural strain on the door or the hinge by untrue hanging.

What Size Hinge? The size of a hinge depends primarily on the width and thickness of a door and door jamb. We asked one of the largest hardware makers, the Stanley Works, New Britain, Conn., for its engineering data on this point. Here is how the rule works out for figuring the overall width of a hinge when it is opened flat:

From doors up to 2 1/4" in thickness, double the door thickness plus trim projection, if any, and subtract 3/4".

For doors 2 1/4" to 3" thick, double the door thickness and subtract 3/4".

And here is the Stanley table for figuring the proper length of a hinge:

Door Thickness	Door Width	Hinge Length
1 1/2"	up to 32"	3 1/2"
1 3/4"	32" to 37"	4"
2"	up to 32"	4 1/2"
2 1/4"	32" to 43"	5"

Cabinet doors, 3/4" to 1 1/4" thick up to 24 inches wide call for a hinge length of 2 1/2 inches. Screen and storm doors 3/4" to 1 1/4" thick call for a 3-inch hinge length.

If a hinge of the exact required size is not immediately available, it is always better to use one of the nearest larger size.

Permit Total Here for '55 Hits $251,423

Six building permits were issued by the city engineer's office last week, raising the total estimated cost of construction in Winona this year to $251,423.

The figure is $154,400 higher than the total during the same period a year ago, but this year's total includes a permit for the new $203,000 fire station.

Permits were issued last week to:

Erwin Pappenfuss, 362 Wilson St., $200, to move a partition by Lawrence Koskovich, contractor.

Mrs. Bertie Whitman, 363 Chestnut St., $200, to move a partition by Lawrence Koskovich, contractor.

Frank Budnick, 1012 E. King St., $80, to remove two windows and install a large window.

Irvin Gappa, 613 W. 4th St., $100, to remodel his home.

Anton Kamrowski, 422 E. Mark St., $50, to move a 12 by 14-foot building on the lot and attach it to the house.

Herschel Becker, 74 Fairfax St., $25, to construct a 3 by 8-foot addition to the house. Frank Kulasev is the contractor.

John Dean, 67 Fairfax St., $20, to construct a 7 by 8 by 5-foot hot house.

State Building Shows Increase

Building permit valuation in 41 Minnesota cities this year was $8,683,560 higher than for the first two months of 1954, according to a report today by the Federal Reserve Bank, Minneapolis.

The total for January and February of 1955 is $20,845,440. Winona's 2-month figure, however, is about $9,000 behind last year's total for the same period at $34,480. But the total for 88 cities in the Ninth Federal Reserve District is $25,158,890 or $6,849,930 higher than last year's figure.

In February comparison, Winona had $22,060 last month compared with $23,660 during the same month a year ago. State figures for 1954 and 1955 respectively were $10,994,620 and $8,259,190.

A comparison with other cities totals is as follows:

	Feb. '55	Jan. '55	Feb. '54
Austin	$47,900	$200,700	$661,350
Faribault	13,800	25,800	79,500

DRAIN FOR BATHROOM?

A slight degree of pitch or slope in your bathroom floor, with a drain installed near the bathtub, shower area, sink or toilet, will simplify cleaning and save all worries about the children's splashing water on the floor.

PAINT EXPANDS CONTRACTS

While house paint is used extensively and effectively on metal and masonry surfaces, its primary use is for wood—wood that expands when hard rains beat against it and that contracts when the hot sun dries it out. To allow for this shrinking and swelling, house paint has built-in elasticity that endures for the normal lifetime of the coating—four to six years. House paint, incidentally, will "chalk" or rub off a little on your finger while it is still in excellent condition.

This quality, as a matter of fact, helps keep your house clean. Dust and dirt will adhere to the powdery

Glamor Can Come in a Paint Can

If A Series of doors are a problem, paint the wall opposite a warm, bright color to draw the eye away from doors.

A Too-Square room may appear more rectangular if two walls are painted light tone and two facing in a dark tone.

A Long narrow hall will seem shorter and wider by painting one wall a light color, the opposite wall a dark color.

Make A Long narrow room look wider by painting a long wall white or pastel, three other walls a dark color.

Let's get Growing

By A. F. SHIRA

The Home Vegetable Garden. Though we have been experiencing a period of cold weather, it is now time to be thinking about that vegetable garden you are going to have this season. To some persons a garden may mean just a lot of hard work when they would rather be at other things during some of their leisure hours. Others think they must have a large garden to make it worth while. This, of course, is not the case. If a small garden is properly handled, one can raise choicer varieties of vegetables than some of the commercial sorts sold over the counter, and they can be freshly gathered when at their best.

Started Plants. You can buy started plants when planting time arrives, or you can start your own plants indoors, in a hot-bed, this month yet and the forepart of April as mentioned in the previous article on "Starting Plants Indoors." The experienced gardener will have his favorite varieties and will grow them from year to year changing but little, instead of trying some of the newer kinds as they are introduced. For the beginner the older standbys are usually the best. The varieties you select for your garden should be based primarily on "table quality" with due consideration given to other points such as earliness, yield and resistance to disease. Plan your garden now.

Some Ornamentals. Some vegetables such as eggplants and peppers are very ornamental and combine nicely with flowers. I have found that staked tomato vines and pole beans in the flower background will give a very pleasing effect. A portion of the flower border planted to early radishes, beans, lettuce and onions can later be planted to flowering annuals. A few hours a week devoted to planting and cultivating is all that is required for a worthwhile garden.

The vegetables should be planted where they will get full sunlight for at least half of the day. Good soil with the aid of some fertilizer is desirable for best results. Generally it requires a rich soil to grow good vegetables than to get satisfactory results with flowers. In the home garden one can raise choicer varieties of vegetables than some of the commercial sorts sold over the counter, and they can be freshly gathered when at their best.

Mrs. Ole Johnson, Hixton, Wis., writes that she was bothered with "white worms" in the soil of her cyclamen plant. To kill them she mixed two teaspoons of "Black Leaf 40" in a pint of water, poured into a basin and set the pot in the mixture for two hours. She said no more worms appeared after doing this. Tobacco dust, or 6% chlordane dust scattered on the soil and lightly stirred in and then watered, will give results. Mrs. Johnson asks what causes many of the buds of her gloxinia plants to drop off before maturing. This might be due to "mites," tiny insects scarcely visible to the naked eye. Before the buds develop dusting with rotenone should prevent this. If mites are not the cause, increasing the humidity in the room may be helpful. Or set the potted plant in a larger pot and pack wet sand or moss between the two pots and give plenty of light.

We can use about your growing problems. Perhaps we can help you.

Sawdust From O'BRIEN'S

REMEMBER last week I told you to watch for the announcement of "Trellis Headquarters for 1955"? This is it. O'Brien's will be the headquarters for the biggest array of garden trellises that you have ever seen. Our initial shipment has just arrived from the Adeline Mills of Holly, Michigan. These people have been manufacturing trellises for years. And they make good ones. These trellises are made out of Redwood and prime coated white, and distinctive in design!

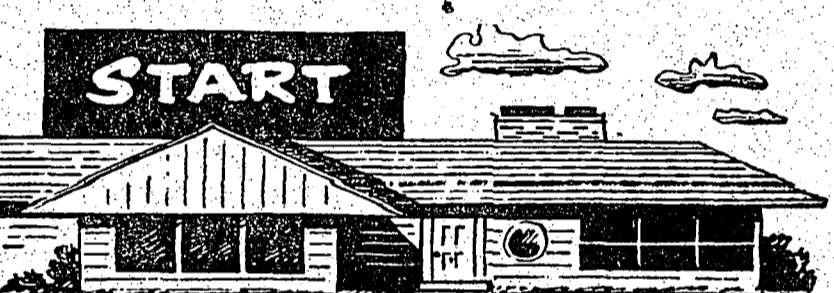

We have stocked 7 different sizes and designs so there should be one in there for you. Along with the regular trellis we have bought some new folding trellises. These are made much like the folding gates you use to keep the heir-to-the-throne from falling off the back porch. They are adjustable to different heights and can be used for vines, shrubs, bushes or for just a decoration if you like. These are all assembled and primed white too.

Then we have brought in some of the smaller border garden corner guards. These seem to be pretty popular and each year we get several calls for just this type of fencing. Something you can put in front of or around newly planted bushes and such. In the trellis stock, we have the popular Fan Trellis, in two sizes; a Rose Trellis, and 4 others, each one different in design. Trellises. These trellises are economical in price too. Each one is set up ready for you to put in your yard.

There you have it. The Trellis Story! We certainly want you to come down and look over our designs. It's not too early. This snow that we had last week will be gone before you know it and it will be time to start planting and getting the yard ready for the summer show off season. So make it just that much prettier with trellises—from O'Brien's!

The other week we got some literature through the mail on some Idea booklets that I thought was pretty good so we sent for them. When the booklets arrived last week we found out something. They were better than we thought. These booklets are put out by Better Homes and Gardens and you know what a good magazine that is. We ordered a quantity of 4 different Idea Books, "Fences," "What You Can Do With Your Attic," "How To Build A Workshop" and "Ideas for Basements." In each instance these books are loaded with information not only what to do, but how to do it. Take the one on workshops. They give you information on how to plan one, big or little, how to build a workbench—and this is a dandy where to put wall cabinets, and how to build them; and little ideas that come in awfully handy in a workshop.

Then the one on fences. Every possible designed fence is in there. Picket, Slat, Louvre, Solid Wall, Board and Board, Wire Screen, Rail Corral and many many others. Not only does it show you how to build them, but it tells you how to treat them with preservatives, how to paint them the easy way, how to get the most privacy. I have never seen a book that could give you so much information on fences. The other two books are just like that. Loaded with ideas and information. The next time you're in the office ask to see these books. If you have planned on doing something to your basement, attic, or building a fence or making a workshop in your basement, these books will be well worth the effort to look through.

Building of Homes Booms in Plainview

By MRS. WILLIAM GOETZ
Daily News Correspondent

PLAINVIEW, Minn. — New homes were constructed here at the rate of almost one for every hundred residents during 1954.

Many of the 14 homes begun during the year now have been occupied while others are nearing completion.

The building "boom" has added a number of varieties of home constructions to the city, but most of them are one-story dwellings.

A cross section of the new homes include these new residences here:

• The rectangular 28- by 80-foot home built by Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Schultz that has a front and west side stone facing. The Schultz' erected the home last year and moved in during December. Other exterior surfaces of the building and the garage door are wood, while inside walls are plastered and the interior woodwork is mahogany. Mrs. Schultz has decorated the home with antique furniture and old glass articles. Contractor for the building was Hi Goeman.

• Three tons of stone from the Biesanz quarry, Winona, were used in the construction of the home Mr. and Mrs. Vincent L. King built and occupied last year. The stone outlines the garage and was also used in the front entrance stoop. The lawn in front of the 29- by 48-foot home is landscaped with a hedge and small pine trees. A "space saving" house, the kitchen features a built-in oven and stove installed in the kitchen counter. George Rother Sr. was the contractor.

• Native walnut, cherry and butternut were used for the interior surfaces of the home being completed by Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Burkhardt. There is no plastering on the interior of the 28- by 52-foot residence that also includes a 12-foot breezeway and 24-foot garage. A basement recreation room is paneled in knotty pine. Contemporary design is featured in the living room with the two bedrooms and bedroom-den in contemporary style. Fireplaces are located in the living room and recreation room. Kasota ledge rock used in their construction will also be used in designing the outside planter boxes. The corridor-type kitchen will have built-in oven and stove or range.

• Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Gray recently occupied an "L" shaped home that includes a breezeway off the kitchen leading to a double garage. The 3-bedroom home measures 28 by 54 feet and has a stone fireplace with walnut paneling on the entire wall. One of the bedrooms, paneled with cedar, is used as a den. The living room and dining room are combined and the kitchen, like several others here, has built-in oven and range. In one corner of the kitchen is a China cupboard with sliding glass doors. Mr. and Mrs. Gray are planning a recreation room in the basement. There is a fireplace in the basement. The building was constructed by Henry Kresofsky Jr.

• The large living room and master bedroom in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Howser feature hardwood oak floors and swirl ceilings. Two smaller bedrooms in the 38- by 50-foot home-and-garage combination have cork floors. Birch woodwork was used in the remainder of the house. The Howsers moved into the home in February. Exterior surfaces are of wood. Henry Kresofsky Jr. erected the building.

• Mr. and Mrs. Leslie F. Boie are now living in a $12,000 home constructed in 1953 by Kresofsky. The 1-story building, measuring 30 by 54 feet, includes a full basement, terrace and a built-up roof. A terrace effect was used on the back yard in the 75- by 200-foot lot. The building includes two bedrooms and a bath, with French doors leading off the large living room to a patio. The dining room and kitchen are combined.

Ike Liberals, Isolationists In Open Break

CHICAGO (U)—A Republican group has touched off a drive it terms "the first major break between Eisenhower liberals and the isolationist wing of the party."

The drive was announced yesterday by the Abraham Lincoln National Republican Club. The club said its aim is "to wrest control of the Republican party from the New Dealers and internationalists."

The club was one of the sponsors of a conservative Republican rally in Chicago Feb. 12. Among the speakers were Sen. McCarthy of Wisconsin, Sen. Malone of Nevada, Gov. J. Bracken Lee of Utah and Kit Clardy, former congressman from Michigan — all Republicans.

Capt. Edgar C. Bundy, of suburban Wheaton, the club president, said those speakers have said "they would make themselves available to speak at seminars in each of the 48 states at any time we wish to call them."

Bundy said the Chicago club is being expanded and will establish "recruiting offices around the country."

He also said he is confident that "by the time we are ready for another meeting we will have many other important American leaders on our team, including Senators John W. Bricker (Ohio), Styles Bridges (N.H.), William F. Knowland (Calif.) and William Jenner (Ind.)."

Confessed Slayer Re-enacts Killing

EL CERRITO, Calif. (U)—A confessed slayer re-enacted the pistol killing of his ex-wife's fiancé, then pleaded "mental black-out."

Vernon L. Wiemeyer, 27, showed Police Lt. Homer Johnson how he shot William T. Richardson, 31, who answered the door Saturday night.

Four shots struck Richardson, a teacher at the Armstrong Business College at Berkeley, who had planned to marry Wiemeyer's wife Barbara Jean, 25, when he divorced her.

The re-enactment last night followed hours of silence and mumblings before the confessed killer could talk coherently, police said.

Wiemeyer told Johnson he attended the races at Golden Gate Fields in the afternoon, but that the next thing he remembers was firing the fatal shots around midnight. He is an employee of the Standard Oil Co.

After the shooting, Mrs. Wiemeyer ran to the door to find her husband standing over Richardson's body with the gun in his hand, police said.

He surrendered the weapon to his father-in-law and then collapsed.

Polish Tanker Brings Fuel to Chinese Reds

HONG KONG (U)—Maritime sources said today that the Polish tanker Karpacz has arrived at the Chinese Communist port of Whampoa with about 10,000 tons of petroleum, including jet fuel.

The report could not be confirmed officially. It has been known here for some time, however, that at least two Polish tankers are running between the Romanian oil port of Constanta, on the Black Sea, and Whampoa, the port for Canton.

The Finnish tanker Aruba sailed from Constanta early this month with 13,000 tons of jet fuel reportedly destined for Whampoa. She was forced to head back to Romania after the Nationalists threatened to intercept her, and her Finnish crew refused to sail into "dangerous waters."

N.D. College Student Wins Music Contest

MINNEAPOLIS (U)—Leon Plantinga, Grand Rapids, Mich., a student at Jamestown, N.D., College, was named winner Saturday in student competition at the district music contest.

The 20-year-old pianist will compete for a $500 award in the National Federation of Music Clubs' national contest, Donna Washburn Pegors, a Minneapolis soprano, won the young artist contest and will compete at the biennial convention of the federation in Miami, Fla., April 20-30.

Crayfish can grow new eyes if their old ones are destroyed.

A Broad low-pitched roof, extending over the car port, gives this house a distinctive appearance as well as adding height to the living room. Vertical siding at the front door offsets any tendency toward a squat look.

Planned without a basement, the house has an abundance of closets and storage spaces, including two in the car port for garden accessories. An extra lavatory opens off the side hall at the rear of the kitchen. Heater and hot water supply are located in an adequate closet, adjoining the fireplace chimney.

This is plan H-384AP by the Homograf Co., 11711 East Eight Mile Rd., East Detroit, Mich. The house covers 1,281 square feet and contains 13,447 cubic feet, convenient figures for estimating local construction costs. A liberal use of brick or stone veneer is suggested.

BEDTIME STORIES

By HOWARD GARIS

Uncle Wiggly, riding in the helicopter of Bosun, the jolly old sea dog, was so surprised that, for a moment, the rabbit gentleman could not say a word.

Bosun was also surprised. But he did not try to say a word, for he was busy steering the helicopter around over and above Frog Pond. At last Uncle Wiggly said:

"Where is my raft, Bosun?"

"Avast and belay, Cap'n Wiggly, sir!" barked the old sea dog, "I don't know!"

"You don't know, Bosun?"

"No, Cap'n Wiggly, I don't know."

"But you came to my hollow stump bungalow a short time ago, and you said we ought to come out here to Frog Pond and take a look at my raft. You said we ought to see about getting it ready for an early summer voyage."

"That's what I said, Cap'n Wiggly, sir! Those were my very words. But I came direct to your bungalow after I got off the ship where I had been cruising all winter down in the warm and sunny South Seas. I didn't come out to Frog Pond then, to look at your raft. I thought it would be here, tied up along the South shore, just as we left it last October."

"I thought the same thing, Bosun. But the raft isn't here. Someone must have taken it during the winter."

"Wait a minute or two, Cap'n Wiggly, sir! I'll just direct the helicopter around a little more. We'll both look down toward Frog Pond. Maybe we can find out about this mystery. Steady as she goes!"

"Steady as she goes, Bosun!" answered Uncle Wiggly, just like an echo. "But are you sure it was on this South Shore of Frog Pond that we tied up my raft last October?"

"Yes, Cap'n Wiggly, I'm sure. I remember that we tied up the raft near those three big pine trees on shore just below us. We are over the place now. The raft should be here."

"But it isn't, Bosun!"

"No, it isn't, Cap'n Wiggly, sir!"

"Someone must have taken my raft, Bosun!"

"No one took her, Cap'n Wiggly!"

"But my raft is gone!"

"Yes, but no one took her. That is no bad chap or anything like that. I know what happened, I think."

"What happened, Bosun?"

"It was the wind and the ice, Cap'n Wiggly, sir. During the winter there was a lot of ice on Frog Pond. Most of it has melted now. But that will soon melt, now that it is spring."

"But in the winter the raft was frozen fast in the ice," barked Bosun. "Then, when the ice thawed, the raft floated in the water. Next a big wind blew the raft away from the mooring ropes that held her fast to the shore. Your raft has drifted away. It has been blown away!"

"Where to, Bosun?"

"I don't know, Cap'n Wiggly. But she can't get far from Frog Pond. That's for sure! So all we have to do is to cruise around in the helicopter until we sight your raft."

raft. Then we'll make a landing on the deck and get her ready to sail back here to her regular place on the South Shore of Frog Pond. Here we go! Keep a sharp lookout below, Cap'n Wiggly!"

"I'll do that, Bosun. Start going!"

Bosun, who had been letting his helicopter hover in the air, now started the airship off across Frog Pond. Bosun and Mr. Longears had not gone far before, suddenly, they saw, along the North Shore of Frog Pond, the lost raft. At the same time they heard the barking of a dog.

"That's Mr. Turfbog barking!" declared Bosun.

"Do you mean the English bulldog who used to sail with us, Bosun?"

"That's just who I mean, Cap'n Wiggly! I think Turfbog is on the raft. Let's make a landing and find out."

Bosun started the helicopter down. What happened next will be told tomorrow if the pre-April shower doesn't wet the umbrella so it has to hold its ribs out in the sun to get dry.

HOME REPAIR DOs and DON'Ts

By Andrew C. Lang

LACQUER . . . in purchasing lacquer, be sure to specify whether you want the brushing or the spraying type. It makes a difference in the result.

DO . . . Buy the same brand thinner as the lacquer. Thinner of another brand may not mix perfectly.

DO . . . remember that lacquer begins to dry almost instantly. You can't go back over the same spot a second time.

DO . . . apply at least 2 and 3 coats of lacquer, adding another 2 or 3 for an especially fine job.

DO . . . cut down the high gloss from the final coat (if high gloss is undesirable) by rubbing it down with fine pumice stone and water or with a soft-backed waterproof silicon carbide paper.

DON'T . . . apply lacquer as it comes from the container. Always cut it

Pitchers Hold Edge in Early Spring Games

But Hitters Now Are Beginning To Find Range

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ
The Associated Press

For the first few weeks of baseball's spring training season, it's the pitchers who hold the upper hand while the hitters gradually adjust their batting eyes. Now, with the major league teams winding up their fourth week of workouts, the hitters have started to find the range.

This was borne out yesterday when such formidable swingers as Larry Doby, Jim Rice, Jackie Robinson, Willie Mays, Dusty Rhodes, Bob Cerv, Yogi Berra, Stan Musial, Frank Thomas, Del Ennis and Smokey Burgess unleashed a barrage of base hits in exhibition games.

Doby smashed three home runs—one with the bases loaded—and drove in seven runs as the Cleveland Indians overwhelmed San Francisco of the Pacific Coast League 14-0.

Two clutch hits by Rivera helped the Chicago White Sox edge the Brooklyn Dodgers 4-3 in 11 innings. The fleet outfielder socked a two-run homer with two out in the ninth inning to tie the score 3-3. Then he stepped up in the 11th frame and delivered a double that sent home Minnie Minoso with the winning run.

Robinson collected four singles, for the Dodgers and scored two runs.

Mays homered in the New York Giants' 8-4 triumph over the Chicago Cubs yesterday. New York has won four in a row and eight of the last nine games. Meanwhile, the amazing Mays has accounted for eight round-trippers.

While Mays was performing with the variety, teammate Dusty Rhodes went on a hitting rampage to lead the Giants' "B" squad to a 13-8 conquest over Cleveland's "B" team. He lashed out four hits—including a double and a triple—as he drove in five runs.

In the first game of a double-header, the New York Yankees downed the St. Louis Cardinals 7-4. The teams fought to a scoreless tie in the seven-inning nightcap. Cerv's bases-loaded home run in the eighth inning gave the Yanks their victory and Berra chipped in with four hits. Musial slammed his first four-bagger of the spring for the Cards.

Thomas, appearing in his first exhibition game since signing with Pittsburgh March 17, walloped a three-run homer and a single in three trips to spark Pittsburgh to a 7-6 squeaker over the Baltimore Orioles.

Ennis and Burgess each had a single, a double and a home run to lead the Philadelphia Phils to a 15-1 rout of the Cincinnati Redlegs.

Jim Piersall batted in three runs as the Boston Red Sox turned back Kansas City 4-1.

The Washington Senators beat the Detroit Tigers 3-2.

Saxton Risks Title Friday

By ED CORRIGAN
The Associated Press

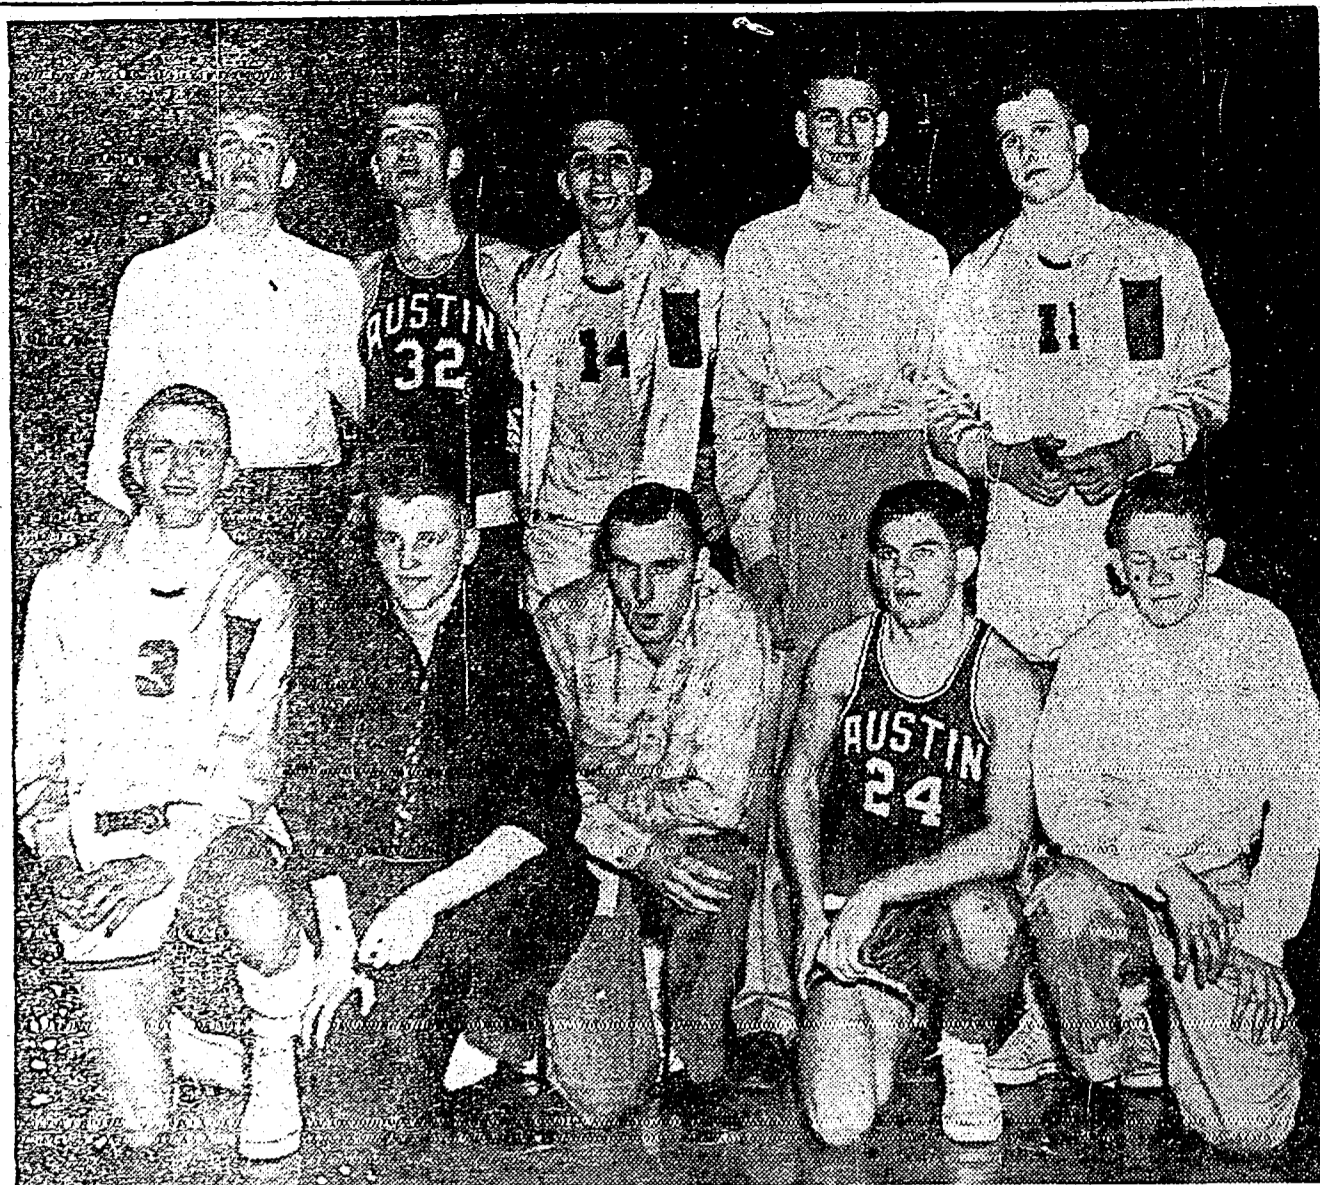

Johnny Saxton puts his welterweight championship on the line for the first time since he won the crown from Kid Gavilan five months ago when he faces local idol Tony DeMarco in Boston Friday night in the top bout of the week.

Saxton won the 147-pound title in Philadelphia and a controversial one it was. It was so close it could have gone either way. The odds around Boston are 6-5 and pick 'em, but most New York oddsmakers have installed Saxton a 3-2 choice. Saxton isn't a pleasing fighter, relying mainly on a combination of clutching and infighting. But it has proved successful for him as witness his record of 45-3-2.

DeMarco shows an impressive 40-4-1 mark, but it has been made almost wholly in Boston. His best effort to date was a 10-round draw with lightweight king Jimmy Carter last month.

There will be no television or radio for the Friday bout. Paddy DeMarco, making his first start in this country since losing his lightweight title to Carter, rates a 3-1 choice to waltz past Libby Manzo, a good local boxer, at New York's St. Nicholas Arena tonight.

After being licked by Carter,

Washburn 5 Molded From Boyhood

Millers Win State Cage Crown By Whipping Austin in Finals

By JIM KLOBUCHAR

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Minneapolis Washburn, a team shaped and synchronized from boyhood, today ruled unchallenged as the Minnesota state high school basketball champion.

The Millers' 67-58 victory over Austin in the state tournament finals at Williams Arena Saturday night brought to final fruition a molding process that began years ago in grade school.

The all-senior starting team that traveled with sureness and a mini-ture of trouble through the state tournament matured together in the same neighborhood. Most of the regulars live within a few blocks of each other, something uncommon among metropolitan high schools.

Their efficient show against Austin Saturday night carried the mark of slick teamwork and self-assurance which faltered only once this season, against St. Thomas Academy early in December.

The Millers' 23rd straight victory brought the school its first state title in history and Minneapolis its first championship in ten years. The championship didn't necessarily surprise veteran Coach Ray Ross, who even before the tournament didn't try to overlook a possible title.

Washburn had speed, balanced height, poise and strong reserve strength. Austin had height and a willingness to fight it out to the wire.

But it punished itself fatally by failing at the free throw line while Washburn was never easing the pressure. Austin hit only 11 of 30 free shots. Washburn pitched in 23 of 29.

This, too, followed a season-long pattern. Washburn discovered early the vital need to cash in on the bonus foul rule. Its ability there often carried it through when the shots weren't dropping.

A flood of Washburn free throws in the final minutes choked what for a time looked like another Austin comeback.

The Packers trailed by 11 points at one stage, then rallied to close the deficit to five points with three minutes left. Washburn's Lee Chapman and Dave Sweeney blasted the last Austin hopes in the final two minutes.

Sweeney was Washburn's individual spectacle, at 5-9 the only short man on a team of six-footers. The little guard scored 19 points, 10 of them in the first half when Austin was an emphatic threat.

Washburn never came up with the final answer to Austin's 6-6 Jerry Olson, although the big fellow's eight missed free throws damaged his effectiveness more than anything Washburn did.

Olson finished with 27 points and through most of the game was Austin's only important offensive weapon.

He was shooting in tough luck in the first half but tossed in 18 points after intermission to ward off a Washburn runaway.

Sweeney, Dave Michaelson and Gordie Sundin matched Olson, O'Dis Halvorson and Tony Maus through the early minutes and Austin led 19-17 after one quarter.

Washburn's speed and capable shooting sent the Millers into a 34-37 halftime margin which jumped to 51-41 at the three quarter mark.

The Packers stuck it out as long as they could, but were finished when Chapman dropped in four free throws near the end of the game.

Sundin had 13 points and Chapman 12. Maus hit 11 for Austin. The biggest scoring thrill of the tournament, however, was provided by New Prague's 6-6 Ron Johnson who hit 40 points in his team's losing third-place effort to Bemidji.

The crowd of 18,400 roared a minute-long ovation for the winery youngster when he left the game with 23 seconds remaining. Esko defeated Fairmont 66-22 to win the consolation title. Saturday night's attendance raised the three-day total to 85,000, exceeding last year's record by four thousand.

Named to the all-state team were Sundin, Sweeney and Stu Hanson of Washburn, Olson and Terry Meyer of Austin, Roger Smed and Tom Idstrom of Fairmont, Jack Whiting and Darrell Erickson of Bemidji, and Johnson of New Prague.

Strike-Bound McQuay Plant Closed, Sold

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Union-management difficulties have forced closure and sale of the strike-bound plant of McQuay, Inc., a company spokesman announced Saturday. The firm employed some 225 workers represented by the CIO United Auto Workers.

LA SALLE CAGE STAR

Gola May Try Baseball

Compiled From The Associated Press
Tom Gola, a three-time All-American in basketball who never played college baseball, said he was interested in taking a crack at baseball with the Philadelphia Phillies.

"I'm not sure yet," Gola said. "The Phillies just said they'd like to look me over."

The Kansas City A's, Yankees and Redlegs are also interested in Gola as a first base-outfield prospect. He is currently playing with a college all-star team against the Harlem Globetrotters.

13,909 CHEER BRUINS

The largest crowd of the season in the Boston Garden—13,909 fans watched the Boston Bruins take a 4-2 victory over the Montreal Canadiens in the best-of-seven semifinal series of the Stanley Cup hockey playoffs.

Montreal holds a 2-1 lead in the series, while Detroit leads Toronto 3-0 in the other set.

SUGAR RAY SIGNS

Sugar Ray Robinson, former middleweight and welterweight champion who withdrew from a Milwaukee date against Ted Olla due to illness, has been tentatively signed again for April 14 in Milwaukee.

Heavyweight champ Rocky Marciano broke camp at Crossings, N. Y., and headed for California to begin workouts there for his May 16 title defense against Don Cockell in San Francisco.

The University of Wisconsin boxing team slugged its way to a 5-3 upset victory over Michigan State Saturday night at Madison.

FAVORS EARLY DATE

The Milwaukee Braves players have instructed representative Warren Spahn to vote against a March 1 start for spring training. Spahn said the players want more than just nine days to get ready for the schedule of exhibition games.

FORMER STAR DIES

Frank Roth, one-time major league with the Phillies and White Sox and coach with the White Sox, Yankees, Pirates and Indians died Sunday at his Burlington home at the age of 77.

Jim Hearn continues to glitter in spring mound appearances for the New York Giants. In 19 innings he has allowed just five runs.

Gil Hodges, Brooklyn first baseman, played in left field Sunday, made only one putout as the Braves bowed to the White Sox 4-2 but had a perfect day at the plate with three singles and three walks.

CERV SENSATIONAL

Outfielder Bob Cerv belted a 415-foot homer, the grand slam variety, against St. Louis in the first game of a doubleheader and went one-for-one in the nightcap to boost his average to .413. The Pittsburgh Pirates optioned pitcher Bob Garber to Hollywood in the Pacific Coast League. Curt Simmons tossed 15 minutes of batting practice for the Phils Sunday and his arm felt strong enough to indicate perhaps the soreness is leaving it.

CARMICHAEL SIGNS

Al Carmichael, veteran half-back, Saturday signed his 1955 contract with the Green Bay Packers.

A National Football League executive meeting is being held in New York today to discuss the Canadian situation and also hear a schedule complaint from the Chicago Cardinals.

OILERS WIN CROWN

The Phillips 66 Oilers defeated a crew of Colorado University players 66-64 to win the National AAU basketball title.

Ohio State swimmers Ford Konno and Yoshi Oyakawa completed their college careers Saturday night as the Buckeyes captured their ninth NCAA swimming title.

The U. S. wound up with 186 gold medals as the Pan-American games at Mexico City closed Saturday.

Lon Spurrier clipped 1.1 seconds from the world half mile record Saturday, running the distance in 1:47.5 at Berkeley, Calif.

Wes Santee of Kansas came within six-tenths of a world indoor mile record Saturday night in Chicago, running the distance in 4:04.2.

Lack of Depth Behind Plate May Hurt Braves

If Crandall Goes The Braves Will Too, Says Reds' Tebbets

By GAYLE TALBOT

TAMPA (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves look so very good, so super-powered in every department this spring, that the question arose whether Charlie Grimm's club has any weakness at all which might keep it from beating out both the Giants and Brooklyn in the approaching National League race. Birdie Tebbets of the Cincinnati Redlegs, who also has a considerable stake in the proceedings, said yes, that Grimm might find himself in serious difficulties before the summer ends because of a weak catching staff. This created some surprise, as the Braves happen to possess one of the best catchers in the game in Del Crandall. "You asked me their weakness, and I told you," said Birdie. "Sure, Crandall is a great catcher,

Freezing Weather Blanks Milwaukee

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—The sun's southland has turned a cold shoulder on the visiting Milwaukee Braves and frozen out three straight exhibition games.

Subfreezing temperatures out of the north routed spring Saturday and the second of the games with the home town Crackers, a Milwaukee farm club, was called.

Conditions were no better Sunday and the game was off again. Manager Charlie Grimm even canceled a light workout scheduled for his Braves. And because today's weather was forecast as no improvement a game with the Crackers at nearby Athens, Ga., was also canceled. Thus the Braves played only one of four games scheduled here. They pounded the Crackers Friday in a home run attack, 13-5.

Tuesday at Jacksonville, Fla., the Braves play, or are at least slated to play, Brooklyn in the first of eight games. The teams will meet in eight different cities as they edge northward and nearer to opening day.

but he's the only one they've got who is even a big leaguer. The moment he goes out for any reason—if he does—they won't be anywhere near the same team. They'll drop right out of it, I say that's a serious weakness.

"If you don't think so, look at what happened to Brooklyn when Roy Campanella's bad hand made him only half a catcher last season. Something I'll never understand is why some ball clubs will spend big money for infield and outfield protection and won't spend $50,000 for a good second catcher. It doesn't make sense to me."

Did he mean, then, that he would have to go along with the Giants again because they are better fortified behind the plate than their chief rivals?

"I would say so," he responded, "as long as there is a possibility of Crandall and Campanella not going at their best all the way. It's mighty easy, you know, for a catcher to take a foul tip on his finger."

"In Wes Westrum the Giants have a really brilliant receiver. One of the best I ever saw. Of course, he won't hit with the other two, but he makes up for a lot with his handling of pitchers. The important thing is, though, that when he goes out they've got a fellow named Ray Katt who can take his place with scarcely any loss. He'll even outthrust Westrum."

Nats, Fort Wayne Gain NBA Finals

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Syracuse Nationals and the Fort Wayne Pistons—the Eastern and Western Division winners—today were planning their strategy for the first game in the National Basketball Assn.'s best-of-seven finals that will begin in Syracuse on Thursday.

Syracuse gained the finals by eliminating the Boston Celtics, 110-90, for the Eastern title, while the Pistons downed the Minneapolis Lakers, 105-96, Sunday.

The victory gave Syracuse the semifinal series three games to one. The Celtics were in the ball game only during the first period, which ended 18-all.

Dolph Schayes, who was high man for Syracuse with 28 points, including 14 of 14 from the foul line, Earl Lloyd and Red Rocha provided a brilliant rebounding and shooting game as the Nats won the Eastern playoff for the second straight year.

Mel Hutchins with 17 points in the first half carried the Pistons to their 3-1 edge. The defeat marked only the second time in the club's seven years in the league that the Lakers failed to win the playoffs. The only previous elimination was in the 1950-51 semifinals, when the Lakers lost to the Rochester Royals.

Clyde Lovellette was high for the Lakers with 25 points, while Hutchins and Dick Rosenthal each scored 21 as the Pistons gained the final round for the first time.

Eric Monti Wins At Miami Beach

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—"I concentrated on my own game. I didn't worry about the guys trying to beat me."

That was Eric Monti's comment after he fired a steady final-round 68 yesterday to beat off the last-minute challenge of several money-hungry pros and win the $12,500 Miami Beach Golf Tournament.

It was his biggest victory. The 36-year-old Los Angeles pro, on a six-week leave from the Hillcrest Club, hasn't followed the tournament trail since 1950, when he was seriously injured in a traffic accident.

His cool, last-round 68 gave him a 72-hole score of 270. He was 18 strokes under par for the Bayshore golf course and two blows in front of Bob Rosburg, of San Francisco, the finisher, Monti's winning purse was $2,200. Rosburg got $1,500.

He started the final 18 holes with a one-stroke lead over Rosburg and Shelley Mayfield, of Westbury, L. I. He went into the final nine still leading the field by the same margin. At the 18th, he dropped in an unnecessary birdie put to increase his margin to two strokes.

Mayfield ended up in a third-place tie with Sam Sneed at 273. Each received $1,075. Fifth place went to young Doug Higgins, of Midland, Tex., who posted 275 and got $840.

LOSS OF SPEED

Arc Overcomes Age—"Since I hit 55 I've noticed a gradual loss of speed on my ball," writes a Fort Wayne, Ind., pinster. "How can I adjust my style to regain and hold a consistent speed?"

I happen to be in the same age bracket and can happily explain a helpful change I've just made. I have straightened up a little more to where I am erect in my starting position, except for a slight forward tilt of the head, as sketch shows. Tilting seems to keep me relaxed. I have also brought the ball up a little, from just below the waist line to above it, so that I am able to move it into a pushaway much easier and with more forward stretch of the arms. Thus I develop a longer swinging arc and create more speed with it without putting a particle of extra physical effort into it. The arc does it—gives me the speed and, with it, control. Since changing over, I've had a half-dozen straight honor marks, and bowling is fun again.

It was getting to be work. I trust a more erect stance will solve the Indianan's problem—and help others, whether over 55 or under, to create more speed without effort.

Grams Bowls 257 Single Saturday

John Grams of Winona National & Savings Bank rolled a 257 single on the first of two shifts of the Knights of Columbus League Saturday night at the Keglers Klub.

Despite his high single game, Grams relinquished honors for top individual series on the first shift to Jim Schneider who bowled 191-185-209—585 errorless. Schneider rolled on the Briggs Transportation team.

Toppers on the second shift were Leo Kemp of Winona Milk Co., and Stan Stoppa, a teammate, with a 592 series.

LAFF-A-DAY

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGUM, D. Sc.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. Short, broad. Manufacturers pack dry goods, perfumes, catsup, etc., in as long and narrow containers as they can without arousing suspicion. The "optical illusion" fools you into thinking you are getting more for your money. Researches show you are getting less. The wise shopper looks closer, for he knows that the amount contained must be stated on the label.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. Yes—special fears. A woman suffered violent fear and nausea driving through the Holland Tunnel in New York. She drove daily back and forth through the tunnel and soon lost her fear. This is called "negative practice"—practicing your mistakes and fears to excess. Fully explained in our booklet, "The Conquest of Fear." Nonprofit, 15c (coin only) and self-addressed, stamped envelope. Send to Dr. A. E. Wiggum, care of The Winona Daily News.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. Yes. Psychologist Alex Magoun says that most people know they are ignorant of chemistry and physics and wouldn't know an electron from a grain of salt. Yet, parents, teachers, bosses, and citizens generally think they are experts on human behavior—the most difficult and least-known of all the sciences. Ignorance, when it speaks and acts, causes most of the world's troubles.

Truck Carrying 60 Overtakes, 2 Killed

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—A truck carrying 60 servicemen and dependents turned over in southern Formosa yesterday, killing two persons and injuring 48.

Japanese Doubt Legality Of U.S. Atom Stockpile

TOKYO (AP)—Both Japan's prime minister and foreign minister expressed doubt yesterday whether the United States legally could stockpile atomic weapons in Japan. Foreign Minister Shigemitsu, questioned by a Communist member in the Diet (Parliament), said neither the U. S.-Japan security pact nor its accompanying administrative agreement specifically authorized such a step. Prime Minister Hatoyama agreed.

How often do we claim we are so busy that we can't get at those neglected letters, odd jobs or other chores around the house? And, strange as it seems, there's good in this. We should never allow ourselves to be discouraged unless we have time to ponder what to fret about.

FAIRLY SPOKEN

By MARGARET LATROBE

A gentleman at Yale University, Edmund W. Sinnott, is quoted by a national magazine as saying that bridge (that card game, remember?) is not "for the birds." Quite to the contrary, Prof. Sinnott feels that if the energy spent on playing bridge were applied to "amateur scientific pursuits such as bird banding and tree ring analysis or exchanging specimens of coleoptera (who he?) or records of meteorite showers"—that energy would be spent in a more "socially useful" form.

Speaking as one who doesn't know from a chickadee to a robin redbreast, but who deals a—excuse it, "doles" out sunflower seed just the same, I would like to venture a little support for bridge. It was my dubious distinction once and only once to have as partner in a duplicate bridge tournament a young professor of science, and what kept us from being still fast to our seats these 10 years hence was a three-alarm fire.

Literally, a big fire broke out in the very building where this young chap held his classes enthralled with chemical experiments, and he had to leave the game. Slower than Christmas he was—about bidding, about whether to finesse for the king, about the percentages operating for or against his nine spades. He was the kind of bridge player who tries to remember previous hands in a duplicate game, and had little formulae for so doing. While his three fidgety companions waited, he took long periods of meditation during which we were forgetting everything he tried to remember. Who dealt? Where are we, anyway?

Drawing one partner like this is enough to drive the most ardent bridge addict to drink, bird watching or exchanging coleoptera—and I hope this latter is what I think it

THE GRAB BAG

THE ANSWER, QUICK!

1. Where are the Vosges mountains?
2. Where in the Bible would you find the words, "Yet a little sleep, a little slumber, a little folding of the hands to sleep?"
3. Who was called the "gloomy dean" of St. Paul's cathedral?
4. In what part of what continent is open country referred to as the veldt?
5. Can you quote the next line after, "All the world's a stage"?

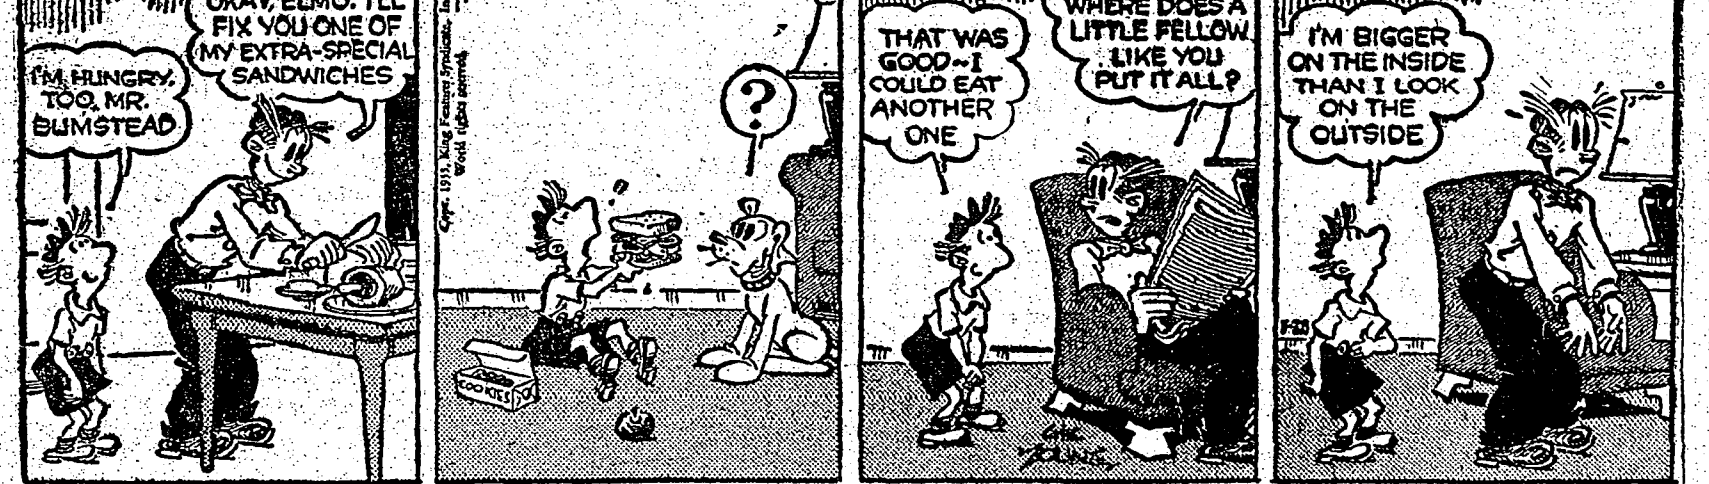

HOW'D YOU MAKE OUT?

1. In Alsace, France.
2. Proverbs 24:33.
3. The Very Rev. William Ralph Inge.
4. South Africa.
5. "And all the men and women merely players," from Shakespeare's "As You Like It."
