Freshman storm WSC campus; Kennedy, Curran elected royalty

More than 900 new students — freshmen and transfer students — arrived during this past week. The new students were organized into about 25 each with an upperclassman as captain. All of the weekly activities were centered around these teams.

The activities began on Tuesday at 1:00 with the registration with the Orientation Teams. That evening a welcome dance was held in the Snug to the music of the New World Congregation. Wednesday began with class registration followed by paying fees, a general assembly, ID pictures, campus tours, team meetings and Talent Show from Library orientation and auditions for these interested.

Thursday’s activities ranged from yearbook photos to egg toss, other games, watermelon feast at Lake Park and a street dance by the Commons. At 9:15 the dance was moved to the Snug due to rain.

“Shenandoah” was shown presented by Spotlight with music and lyrics by Bricusse and Anthony Newley. It was written by Leslie Bricusse and composed by Anthony Newley. "Shenandoah" was shown April 2. The tickets will be sold at the door.

“The Roar of the Greasepaint — The Smell of the Crowd” will play, initiating the drama series on October 17. The production stars Edward Earle and David C. Jones. It was written by Leslie Bricusse and Anthony Newley and is presented under the auspices of American Theatre Productions, Inc. Performance will be at 8:00 p.m. in the Central Junior High auditorium. The drama series will feature five productions by the National Shakespeare Company of New York. “Volpone” will be presented on April 1 and “Twelfth Night” will be seen April 2. The tickets will be distributed equally to the three colleges.

The concert film series will include five films which have not been chosen yet. They will be shown alternately on the three campuses.

There has been much inter-collegiate cooperation over the years. However this will be the biggest cultural program attempted. It is a part of the efforts of the three colleges to work together to enrich their opportunities.

Tri-college program initiates as Shriver opens lecture series

The tri-college program of films, lectures and drama opens tonight with an address by Sergeant Shriver, director of the Office of Economic Opportunity. The program begins at 8:30 p.m. in Stenson Hall Auditorium. It is sponsored by the College of St. Teresa, St. Mary’s and Winona State University.

According to the three college presidents, the joint lectures will make it possible for the students to have cultural experiences that might not be offered by one college alone. It is hoped that various well-known speakers will be interested in presenting their viewpoints to the three student bodies simultaneously. The Roar of the Greasepaint — The Smell of the Crowd, a play, will initiate the drama series on October 17. The production stars Edward Earle and David C. Jones. New grading system coming

The Pass-Fail grading system, popular in other areas, will become effective on a small scale here Winter Quarter.

Students who have completed successfully 86 quarter hours of credit may elect to take one Pass-Fail course per quarter (not more than 5 credits) for credit on a pass/fail basis, to be graded “S”, satisfactory or “F”, fail. The usual letter grades will not be given. Not more than six separate courses may be taken on this basis.

Credits satisfactorily completed will be counted toward graduation requirements but not computed in the Grade Point Average. “F” will be counted in the G.P.A. Courses taken on the Pass-Fail basis may not include either the specified or the elective courses in a student’s major or minor.

A student must decide whether or not to take a given course for Pass-Fail prior to enrolling, as changes after enrollment will not be made.

Campus needs new clubs

To the Editor:

Consonant with my Student Senate position, I suggested the following organizations, which presently do not exist on campus: Phi Kappa Phi, a national social science honor fraternity for men; Omicron Delta Kappa, a leadership honor society for college men; and the honor society of Phi Beta Kappa to Phi Beta Kappa — for both men and women pursuing the B.A. degree. It is my feeling that these may provide a more rounded extracurricular program at Winona State if instituted. However, although I may have a personal interest in them, it is impossible to proceed without the assistance of a capable student (and faculty members in some instances). I am willing to work with you as much as possible, and I would also appreciate hearing of other groups seeking to form new clubs.

I may be contacted through Someren P.O. 820, phone Ext. 6636, or at any Student Senate meeting.

Winona now has its small bit of the growing peace movements around the nation, there being a peace vigil in front of the post office every Saturday morning from 11 a.m. until noon.

The vigil has been organized by Action For Peace, a local group formed to coordinate activities in the fight to end the war in Vietnam. Dr. Munson, Assistant Professor of College Geography, has organized the students and acts as their spokesman.

"We have many differing ideas within the group, but we all plan and conduct activities on a broad enough plane to include anyone opposed to the war," Miss Orvino stated.

Though AFP is still in the process of forming, they do have plans to put onautonomous questioner materials and activities. Meetings are at the schools, in addition to the vigil which, according to Miss Orvino, will continue until the war is brought to an end.

Middle school plan will now be used at Phelps

A second purpose is to bring to new educational concepts, has done it again, switching to a four-year primary and four-year middle school, dropping the ninth grade.

The new middle school will feature some new curricular elements, individual placement, block scheduling and some team teaching. Language arts, arts, math, and social studies will be taught in blocks of two and three quarter hours.

It will be the aim of the teachers in these subject areas that the subjects will lose their separate identity.

It will be an evolving system, he added. Complete implementation of all of these projects will be dependent on further curriculum revision and the commitment of the students to participate in the best possible education for themselves.

The new middle school has been adapted in a number of larger schools. Phelps has chosen to equip the elementary school, namely integration of subject matter, and at the same time make available to fifth and sixth graders some of the advantages that subject matter specialists bring to the teaching of subjects such as mathematics and sciences.

1,000 students receive aid

A total of $580,113 in financial aids was distributed to more than a thousand students last year at Winona State, according to John Kan, financial aid director.

A total of 1,391 students benefited from 11 different programs, but the actual number is less because some students are involved in more than one program.

The most popular program was the National Defense Student Loan; 431 students borrowed $226,966.

Kane noted that the students are paying off the loans at a remarkably high rate. Out of 1,380 students who have borrowed a total of $1,152,149.75 in the seven years that the program has been in existence at Winona State, only 30 are in arrears and only for a total amount of $2,706.65.

Dr. Bayer co-writes booklet

Publication of "Guide to the Caves of Minnesota," fourth booklet in the Minnesota Geological Series, has been announced by Paul K. Sims, Survey director.

The guide was written by Rudolph K. Hogberg, assistant to the director of the Minnesota Geological Survey, and T. N. Bayer, Winona State College associate professor of geology.

The booklet contains 63 pages of text and is illustrated with 26 photographs, maps and drawings. It is written for the non-geologist, to aid him in understanding the natural history of Minnesota’s caves.

Background information is given on speleology (the study of caves), on the formation of caves and on the formation of stalactites and stalagmites.

Descriptions of individual Minnesota caves are grouped under geographic sections - the Southeastern area, the Twin Cities metropolitan area and the Mankato area. Illustrated guides are given for Mystery and Niagara caves (Minnesota’s two major commercial caves) in Fillmore county and a tour guide is provided for Stillwater Caves, which the authors call the most historic in the state.

Several of the caves described in the booklet are toured by the WOC Earth Science classes.

The guide may be purchased from the Minnesota Geological Survey, 230 Pillsbury Hall, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, Minn., 55455, at 50 cents a copy. Checks or money orders should be made payable to the University of Minnesota.

Balanced UNI drops Warrior harriers 22-34

The University of Northern Iowa brought a well balanced team to Winona State and defeated the Warriors 22-34 in the first cross country meet of the year. Tom Denney, an UNI junior, sparked the win with an outstanding effort.

Of WSC's seven runners, only one has had previous experience with the Warriors. Coach Gary Grob's squad included two freshmen, one transfer student, and three first year participants. Three-year veteran Stan Danukes competed as an unattached runner.

Denney sprinted out to an early lead and held on all the way to finish first with a time of 14:33 for the three mile course. Dave Gladd, a freshman from Bloomington, made it a two man race, finishing with a time of 15:19.

UNI captured the next two positions to all but decide the final outcome of the race. Despite only two days of workouts with the team, Tom Ochs who transferred from the University of Minnesota, finished fifth.

The Warriors next meet will be September 30th at Carleton College in Northfield.

Warriors win second straight

The Winona State Warrior football team came through with their second victory of the season by defeating Dubuque University of Iowa 21 to 7.

After struggling to a 6-6 halftime lead the Warrior gridmen showed superb ball control in the second half.

Until the last minutes of play, Dubuque managed to run only 10 plays from scrimmage. One was a 66 yard touchdown run by Dennis Sander from punt formation on a fourth-and-six situation early in the fourth quarter.

The Warriors ran 49 plays and were continually knocking at the door in the second half.

Pat Boland, a 205 pound running back scored all three Warrior touchdowns on runs of one, four, and six yards. The rest of the scores came on a two-point conversion pass from quarterback Don Ratjora to Clem Darrenwald and an extra point kick by freshman Steve Kreb.

Coach Molinari praised the Warrior defense for the fine job they did in containing the Dubuque offense. They held Dubuque to 227 yards and only 10 first downs while the Warriors offense gained 385 yards, 136 of them by Boland, and had 20 first downs.

The Warriors next game will be September 30th when they open their NIC season at Moorhead.
