Freeman Puts Price Tag on Reorganization

Plan Would Save Million Dollars in 2 Years, Claim

By ADOLPH JOHNSON

ST. PAUL (U)—Gov. Freeman said today that his reorganization plan would save a million dollars during the next two years "at a conservative estimate."

It was the first time an exact price tag had been placed on the far-reaching proposal to consolidate more than 100 state departments, boards and agencies into 10 major departments.

The governor appeared personally before the House Civil Administration Committee. No other Minnesota governor has come before any legislative committee to push his program in many years.

The governor listed four provisions of the bill which he regards as most essential, seven others he said should be retained, and seven he was willing to give up to speed action on the measure.

Listed as top-priority provisions were:

- Strengthening of the department of administration by centralizing within it control over all "house-keeping" functions.
- Transfer of pre-audit duties from the auditor to the state department of administration and transfer of the post-audit responsibility from the public examiner to the state auditor.
- Establishment of a new department of commerce.
- Creation of a new department of labor.
- Centralization of accounting, auditing, management of public records and supervision of personnel in the department of administration "will vastly improve not only our control over expenditures but also the planning and programming of our future needs."

"Under this proposal," he continued, "at a most conservative estimate it will be possible for us to reduce by at least 150 the number of persons now providing administrative services for various departments."

"The work now being performed on a scattered and separate basis by these 150 employees can be, we are certain, performed by not more than 50 employees assigned to the department of administration. This

Saigon Near Normal After Night of Riots

By JOHN BRODERICK

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (U)—National troops were concentrated at vital points throughout Saigon today after beating back an attempt by a private army to oust American-supported Premier Ngo Dinh Diem by force.

At least 16 persons were reported killed in the fighting. None of the nearly 1,000 members of U.S. diplomatic, military and economic missions here were injured.

Except for troop concentrations and a few roadblocks, there was little evidence of the battle which broke out shortly after midnight between the private army of the Binh Xuyen society of former river pirates and national units.

Traffic moved normally over the Boulevard Gallieni, main artery between Saigon and its Chinese section of Cholon. The hottest fighting occurred around this thoroughfare. All major public utilities were functioning as usual—under French and Vietnamese military guard.

President Eisenhower's special ambassador, Gen. J. Lawton Collins, conferred with Gen. Paul Ely, French commissioner general to South Viet Nam, on emergency measures to protect the foreign residents of Saigon in case of further trouble.

The two generals prepared to call on Diem at his Independence Palace to discuss the situation and offer help in stemming the civil strife.

Heavily reinforced army units stood guard around the palace, a massive three-story building.

The government said the green-bellied Binh Xuyen troops began their attack by shelling the palace compound and the botanical gardens, where two battalions of paratroopers were bivouacked. Five mortar shells fell in the palace garden but the building was not hit. Diem, who was inside, was unhurt.

Two other actions were reported: A battle at the prefectural police headquarters and a diversionary Binh Xuyen attack on the national army headquarters. In both, the private soldiers were beaten off and driven back to an area their forces hold between Saigon and Cholon.

Government troops made no attempt to dislodge the Binh Xuyen from the headquarters of the Surete Nationale, the national police which it controls.

The national army took over part of the prefectural police headquarters without opposition but Binh Xuyen troops remained in some of the buildings. These soldiers were driven out in the fighting before dawn.

House Set to OK Bill Banning New Tax Cuts

Measure Continues Special Levies Netting $3 Billion

WASHINGTON (U)—House leaders drove to wrap up congressional action today on a bill to postpone for one more year about three billion dollars in corporation and excise tax cuts.

House passage of the bill, expected late in the day, would send President Eisenhower precisely the tax program he had urged—and little more than a day before the scheduled effective date of the cuts.

Dead for this year was a Democratic proposal to give everybody a $20 annual income tax reduction.

The House tied this income tax cut plan to the administration's bill to continue present corporation and excise tax rates. But the Democratic plan was rejected by the Senate. A Senate-House conference committee accepted the Senate version of the legislation.

But leaders in both parties are talking now of possible moves next year to cut individual income taxes.

Under the tax bill, extension of present corporate and excise rates would run to April 1, 1956. Under the old law, corporation income rates would have dropped Saturday from 52 to 47 per cent, a revenue loss of about two billion dollars a year.

Excise tax rates were to drop by one billion dollars a year. These scheduled reductions, which now would be canceled, include: Liquor, from 10.50 to 9.90 a gallon; automobiles, from 10 per cent to 7 per cent; gasoline, from 2 cents a gallon to 1 1/2 cents; beer, from 9 cents a barrel to 8 cents; wine, from 12 cents to 10 cents a half pint, or $10.50 to $9 a gallon, depending on alcoholic content; trucks, buses and auto parts, 8 per cent to 5 per cent.

Both Democrats and Republicans generally agreed an estimated $2,300,000,000 budget deficit anticipated for the fiscal year starting July 1 would not justify these cuts.

But with administration officials talking of a possible balanced budget the following year, tax-cutting sentiment may be stronger in Congress in 1956.

Matsu Expects Reds to Attack 'At Any Time'

MATSU ISLAND (U)—The commander of the Chinese Nationalist garrison on this far edge of the free world expects the Communists to attack at any time but will not commit himself to a date.

Kol, the told visiting newsmen today "it looks as though they intend to come pretty soon, maybe tomorrow, maybe next week—or it might be next year, you can't tell."

Hua (the censor would not permit use of his full name), a tough 36-year-old Shansi fighter, says Red activity on the coast nine miles away from this bleak crag smells like trouble. The Reds are busier than they have ever been. Hua said he had no idea which of the seven islands under his command the Reds might choose to attack but he said his forces (estimated at 11,000) are ready all along the island chain.

My visit to Matsu, largest island of the seven, left me with two strong opinions:

1. That Matsu itself is strongly defended and would be hard to take but it is vulnerable like the Tachens were vulnerable to flanking action.
2. The Reds may not be able to take Matsu but the lesser islands of Kaoteng or Peikantang seem less strong and their loss would put Matsu under artillery fire, making it hard to hold and even harder to supply.

Prisoners Release Hostages, Give Up

LINCOLN, Neb. (U)—Eight weary Nebraska penitentiary convicts ended a 65-hour rebellion early today and released unharmed three hostages—two guards and another prisoner.

The convicts surrendered after four of them received personal assurances from Gov. Victor E. Anderson on the prison punishment they would receive.

The guards, Eugene Swanson, 34, and Warren Miller, 43, were released first. Thirteen minutes later the eight rebel convicts and the hostage inmate walked unguarded to the main prison buildings where, by agreement with the governor, a warm meal was awaiting them.

Eleven men had been holed up since 10:30 a.m. Sunday in the maximum security building, a three-story brick and concrete structure, separated from the other prison buildings although on the prison grounds.

Their only food had been a loaf of bread and some sugar which the convicts shared with their hostages.

Gov. Anderson, who took command at the prison shortly after the rebellion started, had insisted from the outset that the guards would have to be released before he would deal directly with the convicts.

The two guards said they were threatened with knives when captured, but were well treated after that.

About 11 p.m. last night the prison rebels sent word they wanted an interview. Gov. Anderson altered his previous stand and agreed to talk to one prisoner at a time.

One by one, four of the convicts were brought before the governor, then returned to the security building.

They were told they would be punished for their uprising with 15 days in the "hole"—the bare maximum penalty section of the security building—plus 60 days of solitary confinement.

The convicts argued among themselves whether to accept, the released guards said, but finally agreed.

Freeman Adds 5 Members to Official Family

George A. Selke

ST. PAUL (U)—Gov. Freeman Tuesday named five more members of his official family, two of them for top state jobs.

Dr. George Selke, 66, moves in as state conservation commissioner after the Legislature adjourns and Frank T. Starkey, 63, takes over Friday as commissioner of employment security.

John D. Chisholm, Rochester businessman, was appointed to the State Board of Tax Appeals, succeeding Gunnar Bjornson, who resigned.

Named to vacancies on the Advisory Commission on Business Development were Harry J. Peterson, St. Paul, executive secretary of the Minnesota Assn. of Cooperatives, and Nick Krmpotich, Coleraine, an official of the CIO United Steelworkers.

Selke, presently the governor's executive secretary, is a former president of St. Cloud Teachers College and once was chancellor of the University of Montana. He succeeds Chester S. Wilson, who is resigning after the legislators quit.

Selke said he hoped to design a broad, long-range conservation program that "will command a high level of support from the people of Minnesota." His appointment ended speculation that the conservation post might go to Walter Stickney, Clear Lake, former state production and marketing administration head.

Starkey, a state representative from 1933 to 1943, also served a term in Congress in 1944-45. He currently is business representative of the St. Paul Trades and Labor Assembly. He succeeds F. W. Nichols who resigned to enter private business.

Starkey said he would have no announcements concerning his new job "until I have had a chance to look things over." He said also, "You can be sure that any interpretations I make will be liberal."

Wisconsin Tavern Operator Shot By Holdup Men

FOND DU LAC, Wis. (U)—The operator of a downtown tavern, shot twice by holdup men in a $35 stick-up, remained in fair condition at a hospital here today.

Edward Sabel, 58, owner of the Cozy Tavern, was shot Tuesday night. One bullet struck him in the stomach, the other in the side of the head.

He told police he was alone in the tavern when the two young men, wearing brown jackets, entered shortly after 7 p.m. They demanded money and took the $35 from the cash register. Sabel was quoted by police as saying he started to scuffle with the pair and was struck by shots fired as they fled.

A customer entering the tavern found Sabel on the floor.

Knowland Asks Parley On German Unification

WASHINGTON (U)—Senate Republican Leader Knowland (R-Calif.) today suggested a high-level big power conference this year to deal with European questions, such as unification of Germany.

He said ratification of the German rearmament treaties, now before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, would appear to make a German settlement "a reasonable goal to shoot at for this year."

"The question of Germany would seem to lend itself to settlement more readily than the situation in the Far East," he said in an interview.

Knowland has demanded in the past that the United States avoid any "East-West" conference until the Soviet Union shows by deeds that she wants to end the cold war.

Sen. George (D-Ga.) indicated in a separate interview that major East-West problems in Europe might be ripe for solution in a few months. He said a top-level meeting between Western leaders and the Russians should be held by this autumn. George is chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee.

But Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.) expressed doubt whether any big power conference could deal with just one sector of the global cold war.

The Foreign Relations Committee hoped to wind up brief hearings late today on two related treaties: (1) to restore sovereignty to the West German Republic and allow it to rearm, and (2) to make West Germany the 15th member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Senate approval appeared likely by Friday or Saturday.

Secretary of State Dulles said yesterday new conditions to be brought about by German rearmament and sovereignty would, he hoped, "lead to a solution of other European problems."

Doesn't Serve Cause of Peace, President Says

Denies Knowledge Of Red Plans To Attack Matsu

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON (U)—President Eisenhower spoke out today against too much speculation and talk about war. He said it doesn't serve the cause of peace.

Eisenhower also said at a news conference that he has no information indicating the Chinese Reds plan to launch an attack soon on the Nationalist islands of Quemoy and Matsu.

The President's remarks carried an implied rebuke to Adm. Robert B. Carney, chief of naval operations. Carney has been identified as the source of a prediction, given to newsmen last week, that the Communists would start striking at Quemoy and the Matsus around April 15.

Asked specifically if Carney would be reprimanded, Eisenhower said not by him.

Needs More Information

Eisenhower said he himself was not ruling out the possibility of an attack in mid-April. But, he said, if anyone has information pointing clearly to such an attack, that person must have more information than the President of the United States.

At the outset of the conference, a reporter told Eisenhower that Carney had been quoted as saying the Communists might attack Quemoy and Matsu next month. The newsmen went on to say he understood the President felt otherwise and didn't like Carney's expressing the view which he hid.

Eisenhower replied that no one possesses a crystal ball to determine the chances for war. He said that for anyone to prophesy when war might break out is to assume an accuracy of information which never yet has been attained.

Eisenhower said that if he were going to make any comment on the situation it would be to say he does not believe the peace of the world would be served by talking too much in terms of war.

Under other questioning, Eisenhower again declined to shed any light on whether the United States might go to the defense of the two Nationalist offshore islands if the Reds do attack them.

Official U.S. policy, as expressed in a resolution passed by Congress earlier this year, gives the President authority to take whatever steps are necessary for defense of the main Nationalist bastions of Formosa and the nearby Pescadores.

The news conference also dealt with these other matters:

BIG FOUR CONFERENCE—Eisenhower said he wanted to reiterate that the United States is ready to do anything to ease world tension. He added, however, that so far as any top-level conference of the Western powers with Russia is concerned there would be many dangers involved in holding a conference without a specific list of topics to be covered.

Reminded that Secretary of State Dulles said Tuesday that preparation for a Big Four conference might take months, Eisenhower remarked that was not an easy matter to discuss.

Eisenhower also said there is the question of whether West Germany should be invited to the conference.

How, he asked, could you talk about Germany unless Germany were represented? And if you brought in one country, should you bring in others, and where would you draw the line?

PARIS AGREEMENTS—The President said he wanted to express his delight over ratification of the Paris agreements by both Italy and France. He said he couldn't possibly exaggerate in expressing his satisfaction.

BIPARTISAN TALKS—Noting that he is meeting at the White House today with Democratic and Republican leaders of the House and with Senate leaders of both parties Thursday, the President said the discussions would deal with the world situation generally.

POLITICS—Eisenhower shrugged off with a laugh an attempt to find out whether he may say at the time of the New Hampshire primary next March whether he plans to seek a second term.

With a chuckle, the President said he had never thought of the New Hampshire primary, but the newsmen had jogged his memory. It was in the 1952 New Hampshire primary that Eisenhower got an early big boost toward winning the GOP nomination.

FARM—Eisenhower said he does not believe the administration's

Jury Hearing Final Arguments In Jelke Trial

NEW YORK (AP)—The case society vice trial of Minot F. (Mickey) Jelke reaches its final stages today with the jury hearing closing arguments from defense and prosecution attorneys.

Jelke's lawyer, George Washington Hertz, finished presenting evidence for the defense yesterday. The case goes to the jury tomorrow.

The trial is Jelke's second fight against charges that he induced Pat Ward, 21, into the high-priced call girl business and tried to do the same with hatcheck girl Marguerite Cordova, 26. If convicted on both counts, the 25-year-old heir to oleomargarine millions could be given up to 40 years in prison.

Jelke's first trial in 1953 ended in conviction and he was sentenced to three to six years in prison. This trial was upset on appeal, however, because the press and public had been barred from the courtroom during the state's case. The judge said he closed the doors in the interest of public decency.

Badger Assembly Adds to Penalty For Deer Shining

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—A bill providing for a mandatory jail term in addition to a $100 to $200 fine for shining deer was passed unanimously by the Wisconsin Assembly Tuesday.

The measure, approved by a 95-0 margin, doubles the present $50 to $100 fine provision of the law and requires a jail term of 10 days to six months.

The bill, introduced by Assemblyman Zellinger (R-Phillips), was sent to the Senate for action.

Deer shining is an unlawful method of using artificial light to attract the animals.

The Assembly passed nine other bills, all by voice vote.

The only extensive debate of the day developed over the controversial "barber bill." The bill had been rejected last week.

The Assembly voted 51-43 to reconsider last week's vote and then voted 49-46 to give the bill preliminary approval.

Introduced by Republican Assemblyman Jewett of Janesville, the bill would require barbers to wear masks and caps.

Reverend of Racine, the proposal would ban any employer from belonging to the same union as his employees.

Pellant (D-Milwaukee), assistant Democratic floorleader, argued at length against the bill. He said the only tradesman-employers' group favoring the bill was the Master Barbers Assn., and that the Assembly should go along with the unanimous recommendation of the Industrial Commission's advisory committee on labor and management, which recently declared its opposition.

Pomeroy contended the bill only made clear the position of the tradesman-employer who otherwise would be only a minority member of his employees' union.

The Assembly voted 60-38 to reaffirm action last week when it voted passage for a bill authorizing use of self-propelled railway passenger cars and multiple of such units on branch lines unable to support regular rail passenger service. The bill had been introduced by Belter (R-Wautoma).

Current estimates are that 40 million Americans now living will have a cancer at some time during their lives.

Weather Only Opponent of 'Best' Easter

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—With a week and a half to go, merchants are starting their final drive to make this their best Easter.

The weatherman is about the only one they fear. Storms through much of the nation have cut badly into trade recently. If spring makes a quick visit now, the lost ground can still be regained.

Fear of war in the Far East and of labor strife in the auto and other industries clouds much of industry's long-term planning today.

But the short-term outlook for trade is almost without shadow.

People with money are spending more and saving less. People without cash are taking on more installment payments.

There is an upturn in on-the-cuff buying of appliances. Auto dealers are moving flocks of new-model cars with the aid of the finance companies.

Home furnishing items are booming this spring. The home-building boom is giving the furniture industry one of its best years.

All this probably indicates a surge of confidence in general, as evident today in the nation's stock market. With more confidence in keeping their jobs and maintaining their incomes, people are loosening their purse strings, drawing some on past savings, taking on more installment debt.

If the war scare in the Formosa Strait gets more ticklish, if the peace talk in Western Europe turns sour, this confidence might be shaken and consumers turn cautious again.

If labor strife gets beyond the let's-talk-tough-at-the-start stage, and such industries as autos and steel have shutdowns—with all that could mean in layoffs for their multitude of suppliers or for those they supply—the little boom in retail trade might vanish.

But as of now all looks bright. If only the weatherman will relent it will be the biggest Easter for retail sales.

Woman Plans To Deliver Baby Herself

TTUSVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Mrs. Elmer W. Carter Sr. expects her eighth baby in April. As usual, she plans to deliver it herself.

The dark-haired, blue-eyed woman, now past 40, has brought five of her children into the world, unattended. Her oldest child is 17. Her youngest is two.

Briefly, Mrs. Carter's system consists of taking "a few whiskey highballs" to relax and have her baby. Then she resumes her house work. Mrs. Carter says she enjoys "the rapture of childbirth as nature intended it." She added:

"There is no agony, no screaming pain. There is about a half a minute of acute discomfort, but not nearly as bad as having a tooth pulled."

Her husband, 71, a retired Army general, is a member of the City Council and president of the Titusville Lions Club. He also heads a realty company.

When Mrs. Carter is aware that the birth of a child is due, she mixes a few whiskey highballs and goes into a bedroom alone, to relax and wait. When the child is born she gets up instantly, ties the cord, bathes the baby, then shows the newcomer to its brothers and sisters and her husband.

After the baby has been properly welcomed by the family, Mrs. Carter gets breakfast or whatever meal is due, and goes about her other daily household chores as usual.

Power production in Sweden has doubled twice since 1934 and now totals 23,700,000 kilowatt hours a year.

Church in Need Of James Type, Lent Crowd Told

"The strength of the church is in the James-type of person," Dr. Ronald Meredith, United Protestant Lenten speaker, summarized Tuesday night before a crowd which overflowed the main auditorium at Central Methodist Church.

Preaching on "James, The Man of Hope," the Lenten speaker stated that the Scriptures say little about James, a brother of the disciple John and son of Zebedee, a rich fisherman. His power was in his silence, Dr. Meredith said. He was the balance wheel of the inner circle of Christ's friends.

For the third straight night the audience numbered around 1,000 and crowds on the average are probably bigger than they were last year, a member of the Winona County Ministerial Association, sponsoring organization, said today.

The final service is at 7:30 p.m. today with a hymn-singing preceding it. Dr. Meredith, pastor of the First Methodist Church, Wichita, Kan., will preach on "John, The Man of Love."

Two Ministers Preside
The Rev. George Goodred, St. Paul's Episcopal Church, and the Rev. Layton N. Jackson, Grace Presbyterian Church, presided at the service last night. The Rev. Clare Karsten, McKinley Methodist, directed the choir and led the hymn-singing.

The Lenten sermons are a trilogy on Peter, James and John, disciples of Christ who formed His closest circle. They enjoyed the highest privileges ever given to man, Dr. Meredith said. The trio were with Christ on the Mount of Transfiguration, in the depths of the Garden of Gethsemane and in the home of Jairus when Jesus raised a girl from the dead.

Why would the Lord want a person of this type near Him, the speaker asked? To discover the answer one has to study Scripture—what James did, said and became, he replied.

The Scriptures show that in his early discipleship, James was wrathful at a Samaritan village for rejecting the Lord and wanted to call forth Divine vengeance upon it. This was not Jesus' will, Dr. Meredith contended, and James learned a lesson. Later, when the Lord had ascended into glory, James was a lay leader of the small band of believers in Israel. He was utterly surrendered to the Lord. The opponents of Christianity knew that to disperse the church they must first destroy its strong leader, so the Scripture says that James was beheaded. He was the first of the disciples to die for his faith.

'He Was Right There'
As for his speech, he didn't say much, but when the time came he was right there, Dr. Meredith said. There is power in silence. When Christ was being readied for the cross—as Roman soldiers spit upon Him, mocked Him and scourged Him—James stood by. James was a poor starter but he finished strong, the Lenten speaker concluded.

Finishing with a story, the Kansan related that when Christ went to Heaven the angels charged that He had failed. "No I haven't," Christ stated, "I have left my disciples."

"But what if they fail?" he was asked.

"If my disciples fail me I have no other plan," the Lord replied.

The Rev. Gordon Wendland and Dr. L. E. Brynstad presided Monday night.

Accident Driver Forfeits Deposit

Ferdinand Buege, 54, Winona Rt. 1, forfeited a $25 deposit when he failed to appear in municipal court this morning to answer a charge of not identifying himself at the scene of an accident.

Buege was arrested by police after his pickup truck was involved in a collision at West 4th and Gould streets at 6:15 a.m. Tuesday.

'End' Groups Discuss What United Winona Can Do for Progress

What can a united Winona do?

That was the paramount question Tuesday night as the two "ends" of the city, for the fourth year in succession, held a joint banquet to demonstrate Winona's unity.

Approximately 100 members of the West End Commercial Club and the Winona Civic Association heard some answers to the question.

Mayor Loyde E. Pfeiffer, praising the spirit of the meeting, declared that united concentrated action can produce things like the best baseball team in the history of the city.

President Ernest Mahlike of the West End Commercial Club said that each of the clubs has its own projects for its own area but in addition there should be city-wide plans.

"What this city needs is an auditorium," said President Mahlike. There are too many events for which there are no adequate facilities, he added.

Mahlike declared that he believes that the auditorium fund can be built up to substantial proportions by donations. People will give for its construction, he said.

Mahlike also had a comment to demonstrate the understanding between the two clubs. Noting that the west business district was the first to acquire mercury vapor lights, he said, "Now we'll help you get lights" in the east.

'Inferiority Complex'
Adolph Bremer, city editor, The Daily News, said that "Winona, might very well make a thorough self-examination to determine what resource, here now, has gone undeveloped and unpromoted."

He said that a city can get an inferiority complex by always looking at other cities and envying what they have instead of developing what it already has available.

He said, "It is, of course, remarkable that a city is not divided, but rather united, but it is so much easier to remain united when there is a common cause."

Agreement on a common cause does not rule out friendly competition between organizations, he added. For example, he suggested that the two clubs might compete to see whether the East or West ends of the city sends the most people to the polls in next Monday's general city election.

Lester Peterson, president of the Chamber of Commerce, said that the chamber is "appreciative of the slogan, 'A United Winona.' That means united purpose, united action."

Robert Prondzinski, president of the Winona Civic Association, the East End group, said that the club during the past year had carried out the theme of "this is our town" by visiting a number of local industries.

Murphy Epstein, exalted ruler of the Elks, said he believed other organizations should be invited to the annual banquet, too.

James Stoltman, master of ceremonies, concluded, "You've heard the good things and bad things about Winona. Now let's all make it a united Winona."

Introductions Made
Introduced by Stoltman were members of the City Council; city officials; candidates for city offices; City Rep. John D. McGill; A. J. Anderson, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce; Henry Muras, president of the Winona Athletic Club, and officers of the two organizations, including Harold Briesath, vice president, and J. C. Fielder, secretary-treasurer of the West End group, and J. W. Gernes, secretary, and Peter Edel, deputy county supervisor of assessments, secretary-treasurer.

Plans were made to hold an assessors' picnic Aug. 7 at Farmers Community Park.

Edward J. Marxhausen, county supervisor of assessments, said today that all county assessors may begin assessing property Friday of this week on 1955 taxes, payable in 1956.

The month of April may be used for preliminary work only, said Marxhausen, with all assessments to become effective as of May 1.

County Assessors Name Aldinger

Arthur Aldinger, Wiscoy Township, was elected president of the Winona County assessors' organization during an annual meeting attended by 27 assessors Tuesday.

He replaces Ralph Slavin, Saratoga Township, in the one-year post.

Other officers were re-elected during the courthouse session: J. Everett Balch, Wilson Township, vice president, and David Sauer, deputy county supervisor of assessments, secretary-treasurer.

Milk Truck Driver Pays Weight Fine

Bernard Boettcher, 31, St. Charles, paid a $40 fine and costs of $3.50 in justice court at Lewiston Tuesday after pleading guilty to a charge of operating a milk truck that was 5,300 pounds over the posted axle weight limit on a county road near Utica.

Sheriff George Ford said that Boettcher was arrested by Deputy John F. Jensen and Helmer Weinmann at 11:55 a.m. Tuesday.

County Farmer Leads Fight On State Board

ST. PAUL, Minn. — A Winona County beef cattleman, Stanley Campbell, Utica, led a fight in a House of Representatives committee hearing Tuesday which reversed its former stand on the controversial Minnesota Livestock and Sanitary Board issue.

In brief, the House committee on dairy products and livestock voted 12 to 7 in favor of the bill which would increase the number of sanitary board members from five to seven. Earlier in the session the same committee voted 16 to 6 against the proposal.

Tuesday's victory by beef cattleman, led by Campbell, a member of the board of the Minnesota Livestock Breeders Association, may signify early action on the floor of the lower chamber.

Issues Statement
Charged by other animal and bird raisers in the state of wanting to weaken the MLSB strictness of disease regulation, Campbell released the following statement this noon:

"I am in favor of extending the Minnesota Livestock Sanitary Board to seven members. This will give representation on the board to more segments of the total livestock industry. The influence of more representation of livestock men should result in a more practical approach to sanitation problems and practical and workable regulations which will result in a better cooperation of all interests in the livestock industry."

"A larger board would be more difficult for selfish minority groups to influence and control. I am not opposed to strict sanitary regulations nor do I propose any relaxation of our present sanitary regulations."

"The livestock industry is the largest industry in the state of Minnesota. It has an abundance of well qualified men to help regulate its affairs in a fair and equitable manner."

McMartin There
Campbell was accompanied by Lewis McMartin Jr., Stockton.

Among those denied by the committee a chance to be heard was William B. Pearson, Ogilvie, master of the Minnesota State Grange.

"I intended to argue that the board has done an excellent job for 52 years protecting Minnesota livestock, dairy and poultry and should be kept as it is," Pearson said. "But I wasn't given a chance."

"I had planned, if I had been given a chance to say a good deal of the same thing," said Floyd Thompson of St. Paul, executive secretary of the Minnesota Creamery Managers and Operators Association.

"So had I," said J. O. Lund, Zumbrota, speaking for the Minnesota Creameries Association.

And before he was silenced by the gavel, A. E. Eisenmenger, executive secretary of the Minnesota Turkey Growers Association, declared: "I will tell you how to protect the livestock and poultry industries of Minnesota. That is not to stack this committee."

Picturing Minnesota dairymen as the main victims of a move to break down the board's safeguards against disease, Rep. John Kincer, Cold Spring, said "The dairy industry just can't let this happen."

Reps. John F. Howard, St. Paul Park and August B. Mueller, Arlington outspokenly deplored the committee's action.

Due to the lateness of the legislative session, foes of the bill have hopes of staving off any action so as to save the livestock sanitary board as it is.

Freight Losses Cut $8 Million, Shippers Told

An $8 million reduction in loss and damage claims paid by American railroads during 1954 as compared with 1953 was cited by a representative of the American Association of Railroads at a meeting of Winona and other north-west shippers here Tuesday night.

R. W. Johnson, a special representative of the freight loss and damage prevention section of the AAR in Chicago, credited the reduction to an increasing campaign by shippers, carriers and receivers against waste resulting from loss and damage to freight.

Johnson was the principal speaker at a meeting sponsored jointly by the Winona Transportation Club and the freight loss and damage prevention committee of the Northwest Shippers Advisory Board.

Held at the American Legion Memorial Club, the meeting was attended by more than 125 shippers. A. F. Bowman, Winona, chairman of the Winona Car Efficiency Committee and Traffic manager at the J. R. Watkins Co., presided.

The theme of Tuesday's discussion was the 19th annual national campaign to "Make Shipments Safe for Transportation and Transportation Safe for Shipments."

Johnson explained that "with the ever-increasing realization that each member of the team has a definite part in the year-round 'Perfect Shipping' program, with the obligation to fulfill that part, shippers, carriers and receivers are stepping up 'Perfect Shipping' activities all along the line."

"Shippers are looking into their packing, marking, handling and loading practices," he said, "and are intensifying the program of requesting reports as to the condition of their shipments at destination with suggestions for improvement."

He said that last year railroads paid $102 million in loss and damage claims.

A color-sound film, "Pay Day," demonstrating what improvements in railroad shipping yards can do to reduce damage to goods was shown through the courtesy of the Santa Fe Railway.

Among those attending the meeting was W. C. Anderson, Minneapolis, secretary of the Northwest Shippers Advisory Board.

Over 1,200 Students At TC Before Noon

More than 1,200 Winona area students and residents had registered to participate in the 15th annual science day at Winona State Teachers College by noon today.

The event is sponsored by the college Science Club and the Mayo Foundation chapter of Sigma Xi.

Terminating this year's exhibit "the largest, most successful since the series began," J. P. Emanuel, committee chairman, stated the college "plans to welcome 800 or 1,000 more visitors before the exhibits close at 5 o'clock tonight."

Guests were welcomed this morning by Dr. Nel's Minne, president of the college, and they also heard lectures by Dr. Hiram E. Essex of the Mayo Foundation and Dr. Louis H. Powell of the St. Paul Science Museum.

Speaking on the topic "Science Today," Dr. Essex described recent technological advances and termed job opportunities the best they have ever been.

Dr. Powell discussed glacial Lake Agassiz and the effects of glaciation on Minnesota. He illustrated his lecture with colored slides.

After the auditorium program, students and guests toured exhibits sponsored by Winona and Rochester industries.

In addition to college and industry-sponsored exhibits, area schools sponsored exhibits for the first time. Winona schools participating include Winona Senior High School, Cotter, Cathedral and St. Stanislaus. Area school exhibits include those of Rochester's junior and senior high schools, Rochester Lourdes, St. Augustine of Austin and Grand Meadow.

Judging of school-sponsored displays began late this afternoon with prizes going to winning schools and individuals. Sigma Xi has donated the awards.

Awards were presented in the auditorium at 3 p.m. by Dr. E. J. Baldes, representative of Sigma Xi. Exhibits will be on display from 7 to 8 p.m.

A continuous program of science films is under way in the college auditorium during exhibit hours.

Best Story On Movie Set Often Hidden

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — Sometimes you never can tell where the best story is lurking on a movie set. For instance, I went a-visiting on the stage where "The Second Greatest Sex" was being made. It's "Lysistrata" brought to frontier Kansas, with the women of a settlement staging a love strike until their men end their long forays against other counties. The set was filled with women of all ages, but the one whose story intrigued me most was a girl named Edna Skinner.

She was tall and good looking, but a Mother Hubbard and an up-swept hairdo gave her a comic look. That might be discouraging to a girl who was once a New York model, but she doesn't mind. She likes to play comedy.

Not only was Edna a model. She has been a Broadway star, night club entertainer, farm hand and operator of a successful ranch in Bitter Root Valley, Mont. But here is her story.

The daughter of a paper manufacturer of upstate New York, she was given up to die at 15.

"I had been an invalid during most of my childhood," she recalled. "I had chronic asthma, and in those days a case as bad as mine was considered fatal. I was sent to a hospital near Lake Placid, and I wasn't expected to come back. But I got under the care of a wonderful doctor, who was trying some new methods. There were five of us children under his care. Three pulled through; two didn't."

During her long illness, Edna nursed the ambition to be an actress. When she got well, she went to New York to attend the Academy of Dramatic Arts.

When she graduated, she auditioned for the role of Ado Annie in "Oklahoma!" She was to replace Shelley Winters in the New York company, but Celeste Holm suddenly got a call for a Hollywood test. Edna took her spot in the New York company.

Later she did well as a night club star, but she didn't feel satisfied. She explained: "I knew I didn't know enough about life. During most of my early life, I was sick in bed. When I was well, I often went with my father on business trips. I never really got to know people, and that's something you need if you want to act."

So she pulled up stakes and headed west. In Montana, she fell in love with a broken-down ranch. She bought the 300 acres and some cattle and started working the place.

By the end of 4 1/2 years, the ranch was in fine shape. When an airline heiress offered to buy it, Edna put a price three times what she paid for it. To her amazement, it was accepted.

After a long European vacation, Edna figured she had learned enough about people and returned to her acting career. She played Esther Williams' sidekick in "Easy to Love" and has appeared in 20 "Topper" TV films.

Sammy Davis Jr. at Copa And So Is Everybody Else

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — It was so crowded around that the Copacabana chorus girls were practically in Eddie Fisher's lap—he has a very nice lap.

Sammy Davis Jr., wearing his eyepatch—as his artificial eye isn't in perfect order just yet—sang, danced, drummed and footed a cornet in an opening that was just heaven for us name-droppers.

"I do hope that Eddie Fisher comes in some time to hear this," Sammy screamed after doing an imitation of Eddie—and all the time Eddie—with his glasses on—was sitting ringside with Darlin' Debbie Reynolds, and Debbie was wearing a black hat about as big as a peanut. Also a dress, of course.

I sat there interviewing Anita Ekberg, the tall beautiful Swedish glamour doll, who flew in from Hollywood to be the Symbol of Sin at the Art Students League's Dream Ball Wednesday.

She also had on a hat, a big one for a girl—and also a dress. "Debbie and I must be the only girls here wearing hats," Miss Ekberg said, worriedly. "It didn't matter, for Sammy Jr. was so great that he overshadowed everybody. Sonia Henie sat there with Ed Wynne of the Harvard Club, Mike Todd with Evelyn Keyes, and Jack E. Leonard, the comedian, definitely had his back up—against Marilyn Monroe's chair."

This 28-year-old genius also attracted folks like Sid Caesar, Bobby Sherwood, and Bert Parks—and found time to ask "How do you like my new tuxedo jacket without pockets?"

"Oye Martin made it," he said, and everybody gave Cye a hand except 20 competing tailors who happened to be there. "My dad," Sammy said later, "is still buying retail."

Miss Ekberg—whom I started to interview a few paragraphs back—was an equally outstanding beauty at the big opening of "Cat On a Hot Tin Roof" where I beheld Roz Russell in a pink ostrich feather hat, Truman Capote with Irene Selznick, and Miss Terry Moore sauntering up to an unattached columnist.

The opening was so full of Big Names that when Patrice Munsel came in, a photographer turned his camera toward her and she said, concerning a man in front of her, "Go ahead and take his picture."

"The man in front of her paused and struck a pose. "Would you get out of the way, mister?" asked the photographer. "I want the lady's picture."

Bashfully, the man walked on. He was merely the man who wrote the words the actors were going to say—Tennessee Williams.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL... It's practically set—Betty Clooney will marry Maestro Pupi Camacho in May or as soon as his divorce from Diosa Costello is final.

The Gene Kellys are again denying the splitville rumors.

Don Ameche got a call to jury duty... Ethel Barrymore will get the "Person to Person" treatment next month...

Jerome Robbins was called to polish the staging of "Angles Aveigh"...

Columbia Pictures is betting Lucy Marlow (of "Tight Spot") will be the next hot new star.

CIO Auto Workers Offer Money for Organizing Drive

CLEVELAND — The CIO Auto Workers Union today offered to put up a dollar for each of its 13 million members to finance with other unions a drive to organize millions of nonunion workers.

The proposal was in a resolution the 3,000 UAW delegates are expected to adopt at their annual convention. It said that when the proposed AFL-CIO merger is accomplished every union should put up a dollar for every present member into a pooled fund to organize new members.

AFL President George Meany, warmly received here yesterday in his first address to a CIO union convention, said a revived organizing drive was definitely planned when the AFL-CIO merger is completed in 1956.

Meany has designated to head the combined AFL-CIO organization. Meany had nothing to say about how the new organizing drive is to be financed but he was receptive to another idea advanced by Walter Reuther, president of the CIO and the UAW, for a common strike fund subscribed to by all unions.

The AFL chief said he was "rooting" for Reuther to win his guaranteed annual wage plan in the auto industry this year and was confident that AFL unions would respond if Reuther asked for money aid. However, Reuther has said he will depend on a 25 million dollar strike fund voted by the UAW.

Kentucky Man Alive After 30 Transfusions

CAMPBELLSVILLE, Ky. — A father of five children, losing blood almost as fast as he receives it in transfusions, was given a 50-50 chance of survival today.

Marion Imhoff is convinced he will make it. Anything else would be a disappointment to his 75 coworkers and Sister Angelica, a technician at Rosary Hospital.

When the coworkers offered their blood, Sister Angelica worked 30 consecutive hours taking it from donors and then administering it to Imhoff. He has received 30 pints.

The 44-year-old pipeline superintendent for the Tennessee Gas Transmission Co. here was seized with an attack of stomach cramps Saturday night. Later, he began coughing blood and was hospitalized.

Matsu Islands Ripe for Reds, But Price High

By SPENCER MOOSA

TAIPEI, Formosa — The vulnerable Matsu Islands, lying almost within the shadow of the Red Chinese mainland, could fall to the Communists at any time—if the Reds wanted to pay the price.

That's the estimate of expert observers here, but they say an assault probably would cost the Communists three times the casualties the Chinese Nationalists would suffer.

Qualified quarters here said they could see nothing to indicate a huge attack against the Matsus is near. These sources, who declined to be named, insist the Reds need much more time to build up.

The term "the Matsus" is, for convenience, applied to the seven islands held by the Nationalists off the mainland port of Foochow, capital of Fukien province, and about 100 miles northwest of Formosa.

The islands have a total area of less than 12 square miles. Five lie south of the Huangchi Peninsula in this order: Kootong, Peikantang, Matsu, West White Dog and East White Dog.

Kaoteng is four miles from the Huangchi Peninsula. The two other Nationalist-held islands of the Matsu group are Lang-tao and Yinshan.

If anything holds back the Reds, experts here think, the reasons are political rather than military. They are likely to attack when the political climate is favorable.

The Reds have several courses open to them. They could strike at the heart of the Matsus—the island of Matsu itself, or they could move on stepping-stones—as in the Tachien area. There they took Yikiangshan, where 720 guerrillas reportedly died rather than surrender.

Yikiangshan brought the Reds within eight miles of the Tachien. Then, what Chiang Kai-shek called a painful decision, was made—a pull-out. It was covered by the U.S. 7th Fleet and without interference.

This time, though, Chiang says: No more retreat.

An estimated 11,000 civilians live in the Matsus. Reports that they were being evacuated to Formosa have proved unfounded.

The number of troops garrisoning the islands is estimated at about one division, which would be about 11,000 men.

The position is that anything might happen.

Just a Step From Failure To Success

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK — "Fortunately," said Stanley Kramer, "failure is just as fleeting as success."

Kramer, who once worked for $18 a week as a studio laborer, has produced 18 pictures in eight years. Now only 41 years old, he is one of Hollywood's favorite success stories.

But Stan himself, one of the film figures whose passion for perfection often conflicts with their desire for the dollar, is fascinated by failure. He is perfectly aware of the price you often pay if you aim high—which is, you land a lot harder on your face if you miss and fall.

"That's part of the business," he said. "You have to learn to bounce. But once you have felt the deliciousness of failure—taken the sting, tasted the blood—you know it isn't really as bad as you feared."

Feeling of Solidity

"Failure gives you a feeling of solidity. When you climb back on your feet, you have a confidence that comes from surviving a failure. It's a confidence you can't get in any other way."

Kramer, a stocky man who seems driven by a brooding restlessness, is in a comfortable position at the moment to discuss failure. His "The Caine Mutiny" has been nominated for an Academy award, promises to become one of the top 10 boxoffice draws in cinema history. He expects his latest film, still to be released, "Not as a Stranger," based on the best-selling novel, to be even more profitable.

Behind him also lie such smash hits as "Champion," "Home of the Brave," and "High Noon."

"But at least half of my pictures only barely broke even or failed to do that," he said.

Stan doesn't feel a film necessarily is a failure because it fails to bring in a golden flood at the boxoffice. Timing, he feels, has a lot to do with that. And proper promotion.

Unfortunate Timing

His own favorite, "The Men," dealing with paraplegic war veterans—it gave Marlon Brando his first starring role—came out during the Korean War an unfortunate accident in timing.

"But I think that 10 years from now it will still stand up as an honest picture," said Kramer.

His own idea of a failure is a film he feels he didn't really do as well as he could have. From

French Premier Gets Power to Revamp Taxes

PARIS — The National Assembly gave Premier Edgar Faure special powers today to work out economic and financial reforms, including revamping the tax collection system. The vote was 329-265.

The Premier obtained the powers, which would permit the government to decree laws without Assembly approval, only after important concessions to tax rebel Pierre Poujade.

Poujade's movement of small businessmen and shopkeepers has been among the most insistent in demanding tax reforms.

Finance Minister Pierre Pflimlin told the deputies that only "prudent and progressive" changes would be made in the tax system. But he said they would be sufficient to give relief to small shopkeepers and artisans.

The government hopes at the same time to build up the economically maladjusted areas in the southwestern part of the country, where Poujade has his greatest strength. Business in the largely agricultural area has been crippled by the drift of farm workers to industrial centers.

now on he plans to turn out only about one picture a year.

"It takes a full year if you really hand tool a picture," he remarked.

"I want to narrow down the percentage of disappointment to myself with each succeeding job. There comes a point in every picture where you think it is the best you've ever done, and another point when you're convinced it's absolutely stinks. The truth is somewhere in between."

"The frustration of trying for the best is that you can never hope really to succeed. But it does make you dig deeper."

Converting Atom For Peace Use Proves Difficult

By RELMAN MORIN
WASHINGTON (AP)—Building the atomic bomb was a ferociously complicated process.

But it is beginning to seem like child's play compared with bringing atomic energy to ordinary peaceful uses. Take electric power, for instance.

This may be the first great field where the atom goes to work. America's power consumption tends to double every 10 years. The economy demands more and ever more electricity.

Technically, you could have atom-generated electricity in your home today. Engineers know how to hook a nuclear reactor to a generator and take off electric power. But it is too expensive to be competitive with ordinary power.

Suppose you are the president of a big electric power company. The Board of Directors is in session. One of them asks: "How big is the difference in cost?"

"Pretty big," you answer. "Power rates vary all over the United States. On the average, however, I'd say that with present techniques, atom-electricity would be at least twice as costly. That's only an estimate."

Q. Will new techniques cut costs sharply in the future? A. Let's take just one big phase of the problem. Nobody yet knows how to transmute atomic energy directly into electricity. You still need turbines, generators and all the conventional equipment. The nuclear reactor merely takes the place of one part of the machine. Now suppose a method is found to convert atomic energy into electric power without those intermediate steps? Then, no doubt, atomic electricity would be more than competitive with the processes we are using now."

Q. Apart from that, what will it cost to build a nuclear reactor? How long will it take? A. Between 40 and 50 million dollars, and four to five years. It depends on the size of the reactor.

Q. So if we started today, it would be around 1950 before we had any atom electricity. A. That's right. And you've touched on another part of the problem. We decide to build a reactor and it's about half finished when somebody comes along with a new design, more efficient, lower operating costs, and so on. In a technical field moving ahead as rapidly as atomic energy, that can easily happen. In other words, our reactor could be obsolete before it ever turned out a kilowatt.

Q. You mentioned operating costs. What about them? A. That's an uncharted sea. No private industry has operated a reactor. So we just don't know much about the costs, or amortization factors, output, personnel expenses, safety.

Q. Safety? What's the problem there? A. Well, fortunately, there hasn't been a serious reactor explosion in America. But suppose one did explode near a city. The blast itself could be serious. Now picture, in addition, a radioactive cloud boiling down on a crowded community, poisoning the air, the food, even the water.

Galesville to Vote On Naming Streets

GALESVILLE, Wis. (Special)—With a century of service behind them, Galesville's streets, which scale three town levels, wind around Lake Marinuka and along Beaver Creek, may be officially named and marked this spring.

It depends on a referendum at the municipal election April 5 when the age-old proposition will be settled one way or the other.

Many of the streets were actually named by Judge George Gale about 100 years ago when he platted the village to which he gave his name. Since no signs were ever erected, few persons knew the names of streets unless they consulted a tax title or abstract.

Within the last year, a committee has been at work, and it is the plan of city officials to determine streets and avenues. The east-west streets are to be called "avenues" while others will be streets. A map showing the plan has been circulated and will be the basis of information at the coming referendum.

Taxpayers Association Formed 25 Years Ago

"I would like to see an article published about the Minnesota Taxpayers Association. Who are the members? Do they hold meetings? If so, when and where? How do they determine their policies?"

These questions were asked in a Letter to the Editor published recently on this page.

Headquarters of the taxpayers group is in the Twin Cities and from that source we have had the following reply:

Some 25 years ago — 12 or more legislative sessions ago — a group of broadminded, leading citizens from various parts of the state were deeply concerned because Minnesota lacked tax information for the use of legislators. A pattern had been set by other states. Both legislators and the public lacked a dependable, authoritative source of information pertaining to Minnesota's budget, tax structure and tax authority. The information was so widely scattered that it lacked availability for both old and new legislators when bills proposing tax assessments were presented.

A statewide group of public spirited citizens organized a State Taxpayers Association. This was not with any desire to control tax matters, but only to be helpful to legislators and public officials looking toward the best interests of Minnesota financially.

Headquarters were then established. Upon the death of the original president and manager, J. F. Reed, who had previously been president of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation, the presidency of the association passed to J. P. McDonnell, editor of the Wright County Journal-Press, Buffalo, Minn., who is the very able and active president at this writing. Under both presidents, Norman A. Borgen has served full time as executive secretary.

The association, with state-wide support, has always been a source of authoritative tax information — federal, state and local — which is unbiased, unprejudiced and non-partisan.

The board of directors consists of farmers, business men and others from various sections of the state. The board is made up of delegates drawn from the 84 rural counties of the state. It has been the idea that large centers of population should not predominate in representation or influence over sparsely settled regions, but that widely diversified interests be embraced.

C. D. Tearse of Winona has represented this section of the state on this particular board since 1930.

Through experience it has been found that when a bill pertaining to tax matters is introduced in the Legislature there immediately arises a desire for accurate, unbiased information on the history of the tax angle, as well as research as to the information pertinent to proposed legislation. This is information immediately needed at the time. Responsible legislators, and others, have frequently expressed their gratitude for a reliable source of such information.

When the Minnesota Taxpayers Association puts out a Bulletin concerning any proposed legislation, that information can be entirely depended upon for all basic needs of Minnesota lawmakers. Likewise, the public.

The Taxpayers association is maintained solely through voluntary memberships of civic-minded citizens. Every county in the state has members in the state association.

Try and Stop Me

A dignified lawyer took his wife to Europe to celebrate their fiftieth wedding anniversary. Neither had been abroad before, but a more worldly junior partner volunteered to make their Paris visit a breeze. "I know the manager of the finest hotel there," he assured them. "I'll write that you're coming." He did, too. "This gentleman has done a lot for me," is what he dictated, "so I want to be sure that you give him the best of everything: Corner suite, room service, etc., etc."

The manager himself greeted the lawyer and, though he seemed surprised to meet the wife, shrugged his shoulders, and conducted the couple to their suite. Everything was lovely — including three young ladies, daintily clad, who sat in a row in the sitting room.

"Who are they?" gasped the lawyer. "Ah, monsieur," the manager assured him. "It is as your friend requested: The three eteteras!"

These Days

Effective Congress Committee Active

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

NEW YORK — The National Committee For An Effective Congress has issued a circular letter to a general mailing list, including persons who have always opposed it. It wants more money. The letter is signed by Oscar Hammerstein II who writes successful plays and Sidney H. Scherer, about whom I know nothing.

The circular letter speaks of a "know nothing group in Congress" which is supposed to be a term of opprobrium but is historically a synonym for nationalism. Why Mr. Hammerstein does not call these members of Congress nationalists, I cannot know, except perhaps that to do so would lose him contributors. There is still a strong grassroots nationalistic sentiment in the United States, albeit one must admit that it is not too strong in Washington or New York where internationalism thrives despite all.

SO, MESSRS. HAMMERSTEIN and Scherer hold that these nationalists combined with commentators, newspapers and organizations to grab "for the instruments of power, and set the political climate." These elected representatives of the people apparently did something wrong when they voted their consciences or according to the general attitude of their constituencies.

Then I must quote: "On the other hand, the responsible candidates, when they arrived on Capitol Hill, found that most of the outside organizations to which they looked for support and research were limited in scope to specific legislative goals, mostly economic and usually unattainable in the existing climate. Yet these good legislators were in a fight to defend our way of life, requiring a sense of history reaching beyond the slogans of economic groups."

I cannot tell you who the "responsible candidates" who arrived on Capitol Hill are because they are not listed, although I think the writers meant elected representatives. Have it as you will, what makes one group "responsible" and another group power-grabbers? The answer is that those who agree with the National Committee For An Effective Congress are "responsible" and everybody else is a bum. You can turn that idea vice versa and come up with the same degree of truth.

The next sentence in this quoted paragraph I do not understand at all. Who are "these good legislators"? Is, for instance, Sen. Flanders a good legislator because he read a speech that this committee prepared for him? Is Sen. Dirksen a bad legislator because he did not read such a speech? Look at the record and the goodness or badness of neither is so clearly definable.

AND WHAT IS MEANT BY "a sense of history reaching beyond the slogans of economic groups"? What are these economic groups? Take, for instance, H.R.I., the Tariff Act, which is supported by Henry Ford II and Walter Reuther, one representing ownership and management and the other the labor union — both in the same industry. Although they divide on the question of the annual wage, they unite on H.R.I., on a free trade tariff. Where is the clear-cut economic grouping? And what are their slogans? And wherein do they lack a sense of history? And why are we to believe that Messrs. Hammerstein and Scherer have a more acute sense of history? The letter does not say.

Here is another one of those curious phrases: "Now, after the censure of McCarthy, the momentary decline of the know-nothings leaves a political vacuum."

Firstly, McCarthy was not censured. Secondly, if what these gentlemen call know-nothingism and what actually is nationalism has so declined that it leaves a political vacuum, the National Committee For An Effective Congress has won a great victory. It has done its work. It should now go out of existence having saved the United States from the plague of nationalism. Even a doctor quits when the patient is cured. But no! This committee would fill that vacuum — that is, the vacuum created by the decline of nationalism. There is no vacuum among the internationalists.

Nevertheless, this organization wants more money to provide members of Congress with their services . . . whether it involves a request for a lawyer with the qualifications and time to undertake a particular study, or the provision of a typist who can help prepare necessary documents — requires a constant application of skilled man-hours."

It is an interesting appeal. If they had asked me for a contribution, I would send mine to the Damon Runyon Fund or to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

'BUT WHY ISN'T IT LEANING?'

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Ike Not Eager to Defend Nationalist Islands Alone

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower sits down with congressional leaders today to try to get American foreign policy back on a bipartisan, even keel. As he does so, the legislators, plus the public, have been confused by a rash of completely conflicting headlines.

First headlines proclaimed that the Chinese Reds were expected to attack Quemoy and Matsu on or about April 15 and that this would probably lead to war.

Next day headlines announced that diplomats did not expect the Chinese Reds to attack that soon, or perhaps at all.

About the same time came an announcement from Foreign Minister Lester Pearson of Canada that much as Canada loved the U.S.A. it would not back us up in case of war over Quemoy and Matsu. Naturally the legislators have been confused.

Behind the Headlines

To the best of this writer's ability, here is a report on the background behind the confusion.

Background No. 1.—Adm. Robert Carney, chief of naval operations, a fine sailor but no diplomat, gave a briefing to newsmen that the Chinese Reds were expected to attack on or about April 15. The admiral was quite alarming. Of course admirals shouldn't talk. They're not supposed to execute foreign policy, merely formulate it. However, the admiral mistakenly let himself get carried into this briefing and newsmen were justified in coming out with alarmist headlines.

Background No. 2.—The State Department next day played down Adm. Carney's remarks, said the Reds were most unlikely to go to the Bandung Conference of Asian-African powers with blood on their hands. This was the reason for the second series of headlines.

Background No. 3.—Sec. Dulles, earlier, had gone to Canada and dropped some remarks that scared the Canadian government half out of its wits. This was the reason for Foreign Minister Pearson's statement divorcing Canada from any American war over Quemoy and Matsu.

What Dulles indicated to Canadians at a closed-door session of their Canadian big-wigs was that the United States would definitely defend the small offshore islands so close to the Chinese mainland that a good swimmer can swim to them. Second, he said if the Chinese attacked, the U.S.A. would use atom bombs to make mincemeat of Chinese troops and artillery concentrations on the mainland.

Dulles was brutally frank. According to Canadians, he assumed that war was a foregone conclusion. He didn't even take much trouble to explain that assumption. His Canadian listeners were shocked and dumfounded over his apparent willingness to start a world war over two little Chinese offshore islands.

This was why Foreign Minister Pearson issued his U.S.-Canadian divorce statement, also why he sent a cable to Foreign Minister Anthony Eden that he was convinced the United States would go to war over Quemoy and Matsu. That is the background for last week's scare headlines. Now let's look at some more background.

Background No. 4.—Does Mr. Dulles represent the view of the commander in chief, President Eisenhower? As far as this writer can ascertain—and, I have every reason to believe it's accurate—Dulles does not.

No later than last week, the President complained in a staff conference that he did not want to go to war over two small islands without allies and that he was convinced the United States would have no allies if we tried to defend Quemoy and Matsu. The President indicated that he knew something about the impor-

ance of having allies in wartime. He said he thought we would have allies if we defended Formosa alone, but not if we defended Quemoy and Matsu. Thus the President was in definite disagreement with his Secretary of State (and also his Joint Chiefs of Staff, except for Gen. Ridgway, Army chief of staff).

Background No. 5.—The next puzzling question is why Sec. Dulles, hitherto in disagreement with the Joint Chiefs of Staff regarding the defense of the offshore islands, now agrees with them.

The answer is that when Dulles flew to the Bangkok conference, he also visited Formosa — at the insistent demand of Chiang Kai-shek. There he had various talks with Adm. Carney and other American officers. They argued that the United States had retreated enough, that we could retreat no further.

We had backed down at Dien Bien Phu, they pointed out, and in every other negotiation in the Far East. Dulles had talked about massive retaliation and Vice President Nixon had talked about using land troops. Nevertheless, after waving the big stick, we had ignominiously retreated. So they argued we could not back down again.

Dulles Vs. Ike
Sec. Dulles was convinced. He came back siding with the admirals and opposing the President. This is unusual for the Secretary of State, but he has stuck to his position.

Eisenhower, meanwhile, still has not made up his mind definitely as to what he will do about Quemoy and Matsu—unless he has done so in the last 48 hours. As early as last September, a special meeting of the National Security Council was held in Denver to try to decide whether we should defend these small islands. The Joint Chiefs realized their defense was extremely important and wanted the United States to take a definite position early and make it known to the world.

Eisenhower, however, refused. We'll wait and meet the situation when it arises, was his final word. Seven months have now passed. During those months the Red Chinese have been concentrating long-range artillery opposite the two islands — artillery brought in over the Trans-Siberian railway. While we have hesitated, they are now about ready to attack.

That's the problem the President faces as he sits down with Capitol Hill leaders—legislators confused by statements from almost every military man in a high place except the commander-in-chief himself.

Advice on Health

Something In Your Eye? Don't Rub It

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

One has a natural tendency to rub the eye the moment a speck of dirt or some other foreign material flies into it.

Don't do it. Rubbing will only help the particle get such a firm hold that it can't be removed without a knife or a magnet. This, of course, means a trip to your doctor.

I can't overemphasize the fact that it is important to have a foreign body removed from your eye quickly. If the measures I described yesterday fail to dislodge it, you need the professional attention of your physician or eye specialist. He can anesthetize your eye and probably remove the material with an astringent or boric acid solution, or perhaps he can wipe it off with a piece of cotton.

If these measures fail, he can usually remove it with instruments or a magnet.

An electronic magnet is now being developed for removing bits of non-iron metals not attracted by ordinary magnets, such as aluminum, brass, copper, silver and others.

It should be especially helpful to military doctors. During the Korean War, fragments of non-iron metals were responsible for about one-fourth of Army eye injuries.

If you rub your eye in an effort to dislodge a foreign particle, this substance is likely to break up into several tiny fragments. If they are metallic, they can even rust there in your eye. Then they'll have to be scraped out.

Corneal ulcers sometimes form, and the fragments may go so deep that you'll need surgery.

Usually, though, your physician or eye specialist can remove the particle painlessly.

After he does so, he'll want to check to determine whether an ulcer has formed. He may use a two per cent fluorescein solution on your eye. If an ulcer has formed, the solution will stain green. Then he knows you need additional treatment.

He'll probably put antiseptics in your eye and order you to keep it covered for 24 hours or so. It's an inconvenience. But so is the loss of an eye.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
Mrs. C. E.: I have developed a severe itch on my head at the nape of my neck. There is no rash. What causes this?

Answer: Infections in the teeth, tonsils, or nasal sinuses, or other chronic infection may be a contributing cause for such trouble. Sometimes the skin will itch following bathing. Nervousness is a common cause for this disorder. It may also be due to some allergic disorder.

You should have a careful examination by a physician so that if any infections are present they may be discovered and cleared up.

Formosa Attack Report Puzzling

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (U)—Two of the biggest stories of the past few days—that the Red Chinese would, and wouldn't, attack in the Formosa Strait by mid-April—must have left a lot of newspaper readers bewildered.

The stories of two "close to the throne" spokesmen appeared to contradict each other.

Both, but separately, did their talking at off-the-record dinners with newsmen. Both spoke with the understanding they would not be named in news stories.

This agreement applied only to the newsmen at the dinners. Others not there were free, if they could find out after the first stories appeared, to identify the dinner speakers. That has happened before in Washington. It happened this time.

Adm. Robert Carney, chief of naval operations, spoke at the first dinner Thursday night and stories were printed Saturday.

James C. Hagerty, President Eisenhower's press secretary, has been named by the New York Post and the New York Daily News as the one who did the talking at the second dinner Monday night.

Stories coming out of the Carney dinner said the government believed Red China would begin its campaign to capture the Matsu and Quemoy islands by the middle of April.

Stories from the second dinner, appearing Tuesday, said Eisenhower himself did not believe Red China is prepared to start any major fighting in the Formosan area in the weeks immediately ahead. This threw down the Carney story.

These off-the-record dinners have become a kind of Washington institution among a limited number of newsmen who invite public officials to dine with them and talk without fear of being quoted directly or too closely identified. Such dinners were held in the Truman administration too.

Sometimes the speakers are mentioned behind the mask of an "authoritative source" or a "highly placed government official" or a "high military authority." Sometimes the writer leaves all that out and says what he says on his own.

The dinners are held with the idea that in this way newsmen can get out to the public information which government officials would not provide if the origin of it could be traced directly back to them.

That's the theory. Whether the net effect is good or bad is debatable.

The newsmen attending these dinners are giving an official a blank check to say what he pleases without fear of being held responsible, unless later identified, for what he wants to put across.

And what he wants to put across may sometimes be, without the newsmen realizing it, a personal or special point of view. Or he may want to grind an ax for the administration in office. In short, newsmen can be used to funnel out "planted" stories.

And when flat statements are made by the reporter writing a news story—without identifying the individual who gave the information—the newspaper reader is left in the position of being told something whose worth he can't evaluate.

Bandits Steal Pearls From Jewel Importers

NEW YORK (U)—A bag of cultured pearls worth $50,000 was stolen from a jewelry importing firm last night by three bandits who forced their way into the company's Rockefeller Center office.

The trio, one of whom was armed, tied and gagged the firm's two partners, Boris Goodrich, 58, and his brother Leon, 45, and a clerk, Solomon Rudolf, 62. The pearls and a bag of Indian diamonds worth $500 were taken from an open safe.

The bandits also took $35 and escaped from the 21st floor office in the regular passenger elevator.

Billy Graham Insists He's Animal Lover

LONDON (AP)—American evangelist Billy Graham says he is unhappy that some members of Britain's League of Cruel Sports think he is indifferent to the welfare of animals.

Graham was one of several prominent persons criticized here yesterday at a league meeting. Among the others were horse-owning Queen Elizabeth II and the Queen Mother. There was no comment from the royal family.

The American evangelist, who is now conducting a series of religious meetings in Scotland, told a newsmen in Glasgow he is a "devoted lover of animals."

"I own a horse, a dog, a cat, a canary and a parakeet," he said. The league meeting heard two members, Mrs. Diana Vernon and Mrs. M. Dudley Ward, criticize Graham. Mrs. Vernon said the evangelist began a broadcast this week saying:

"Fishes belong to the sea, animals belong to the jungle and human beings belong to God."

"Shocking," cried some members of the audience. "Disgraceful," said others.

Mrs. Ward told the meeting a small boy she knew went to a Graham meeting and told the evangelist: "My father loves animals and I hope you will pray for them in your services."

She quoted Graham as replying: "Trot home and tell your daddy that my job is saving human souls. I have no time for animals." Cries of "shame" were heard from the audience.

Graham told newsmen that "my concern is with human beings and ministering to souls takes all my strength and time."

Pint-Sized Driver Takes Cops for Ride

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Police of suburban Forward Township chased a car 15 miles at speeds reaching 90 miles an hour last night before being able to halt it.

Taken in custody on multiple charges were James Flemming, identified as the driver by police, and a companion, Victor Rerosana.

"I was in for a surprise," said arresting officer Tony Piscitelli. "Neither one is five feet tall and they both weigh under a hundred. I don't know how the Flemming kid made it. He could hardly see over the wheel."

Flemming, 13, and Rerosana, 12, were turned over to juvenile authorities. The car was returned to Flemming's mother.

Report Notes Aftereffects of Atom Bombing

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Japanese who lived through the hottest part of the atom bombing of Hiroshima have produced children who show no significant signs of hereditary ill effects after 10 years, say medical investigators.

Among offspring of 185 women who were pregnant and were in the area closest to ground zero only eight have shown signs of radiation injury, said Dr. Robert H. Holmes, director of the U.S. Atomic Bomb Casualty Commission.

The affected youngsters have heads slightly smaller than average and are somewhat mentally retarded. But thus far there is no significant evidence that they or any of the youngsters have been damaged genetically, Dr. Holmes reported.

Adult survivors in the hot zone, an area of 2,000 meters radius directly beneath the bomb target center, developed 16 times as much leukemia, a cancerlike condition of the blood, as did un-radiated Japanese, but even these added up to only 44 cases.

Eyes of radiated adults suffered more. Cataractlike spots have been found in 41 per cent of the 6,000 individuals in the bomb commission's study group, as against only 8 per cent in nonexposed Japanese. No case of blindness has been found.

Gamble Robinson Sales Near Peak

SEATTLE, Wash. —The 1954 sales of Pacific Gamble Robinson Co., the nation's largest wholesale distributor of fresh fruits and vegetables, were the second highest in the company's history, according to J. G. Scott, company president.

The annual report shows the dollar volume was $165,087,739, a gain of more than $4,000,000 over 1953 total sales of $161,064,458, and 2 per cent below 1952's record volume of $168,464,279. The latest year's gain was achieved, Scott pointed out, despite lower wholesale prices.

After provision of $1,398,673 for federal, state and Canadian taxes on income, net income for 1954 amounted to $1,222,273, equal to $1.25 per share on 974,840 shares of common stock.

For 1953, after provision of $1,033,476 for all income taxes, net income amounted to $1,311,581, or $1.34 per share on the same number of common shares. The latest year's income, the report notes, includes $4,366 in prior years' tax refunds compared with similar refunds of $122,971 included in the 1953 net. Operating income last year was $2,616,580, a 17 per cent increase over the previous year.

Pacific Gamble Robinson, which operates 111 branches or warehouses in 16 states and Canada, including Winona, spent over 1 1/4 million dollars in 1954 on new plant and equipment.

Another Maule District Hearing Scheduled Monday

INDEPENDENCE, Wis.—A final hearing on disposition of the Maule Coulee School District will be held here Monday afternoon by representatives of Independence and Whitehall districts, the county school committee and the board of the Elk Creek district.

Since the consolidation of Maule and Elk Creek districts this winter the rural school situation in this area has been confused, according to officials. A meeting to elect consolidated district officers was broken up in confusion and since that time a petition for transfer to Independence and Whitehall has come from Maule residents.

A public hearing on the issue was held here Monday afternoon when a protest was entered by the Elk Creek district represented by an Arcadia attorney, Roman Feltes. It was charged, in part, that the hearing was held before officers could be elected in the new district and questioned whether officers of the old district could act officially for the consolidation. About 175 attended the hearing in the city hall here.

Later in the afternoon, after the Elk Creek district withdrew opposition providing the Joe Gierok 120-acre farm in Maule Coulee was left joined to the Elk Creek district, the county school committee tentatively agreed to transfer Maule students to Independence and Whitehall.

Next Monday's hearing will be concerned with Elk Creek district indebtedness sustained when a new two-room school was built last year. The question is whether Maule residents are responsible for part of this debt and whether Independence and Whitehall districts will have to pay part of it if Maule students are accepted.

According to a county committee member, it is hoped that the transfer can be made without debt encumbrances.

Dental Research Funds Meager, Dentists Told

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The federal government is spending only two million dollars a year on dental research against a national dental bill for its citizens of better than a billion dollars.

This was the word from Dr. Daniel Lynch, president of the American Dental Assn., addressing the state dental group Tuesday night. He said the federal grant for dental research amounted to but one per cent of over-all health study expenditures.

President-elect of the state dental association is Dr. Daniel R. Clark, Minneapolis; president, Dr. Henry Colby, Minneapolis; vice president, Dr. Earl McGonagle, Royalton; secretary, Dr. C. E. V. Cassel, St. Paul, and treasurer, Dr. C. D. East, Duluth.

Hammer, Brown Receive Awards

Stanley S. Hammer and Ray H. Brown, manager and assistant manager at the Winona office of the Minnesota State Employment Service, were awarded gold 20-year service pins during the service's golden anniversary ceremonies at the Lowry Hotel, St. Paul, Tuesday.

During a dinner served in the grand ballroom, Gov. Orville Freeman presented diamond pins to two 30-year men and gold pins to 45 others.

In presenting the diamond pins, Gov. Freeman reviewed the importance of the employment security program in the state's economy and said that he was "not happy" at losing the services of Commissioner F. Wilbur Nichols, whom he called one of Minnesota's outstanding public servants.

The department's personnel officially said "goodbye and good luck" to Nichols, who Thursday ends 19 years of public service to accept a top administrative job in private business.

Workshop sessions at the two-day conference were devoted to the agency's placement responsibilities, with emphasis in the recruitment of farm hands.

would mean a net saving of at least 100 employees.

"Our conservative estimates indicate that with this better use of personnel we will save approximately $350,000 a year. Adding to this the savings that will result from improved methods, such as better supervision over use of telephones, state automobiles, stenographic pools, printing of stationery and supplies, to mention only a few—our total savings will approximate $500,000 a year."

The governor said he was willing to withdraw his proposals to abolish the board of health and livestock sanitary board as administrative agencies, transfer health inspectors from the board of health to the department of agriculture, eliminate the poultry improvement board, transfer the soil conservation committee to the department of agriculture, enlarge the investment board and consolidate the Soldiers' Home Board and the department of veterans affairs in the department of welfare.

Among other provisions he said he believed "can be acted upon at this session," he listed transfer of chauffeurs' licensing to the highway department, consolidation of collection of liquor, beer and mortgage registration taxes in the department of revenue (taxation), transfer of livestock weighing and licensing of livestock buyers and dealers to the department of agriculture and consolidation of administrative functions of the Youth Conservation Commission and Board of Parole in the department of welfare.

Replying to those who said his proposal was submitted too late, the governor recalled that the reorganization act adopted in 1939 was not introduced as a bill until March 21, while his proposals were offered on March 7.

The governor ended his prepared statement by saying, "Reorganization is a vital need of this state government."

Vital State Need
"We in the administration need better tools for doing our job. It will mean substantial economy and greatly improved efficiency."

As the Legislature moved into the stage when the number of bills that can be acted upon is limited, a number of legislators served notice Tuesday in the House that they will seek priority for certain measures.

Heading the list is the income tax withholding proposal, which Rep. Fred Cina, Aurora, majority leader, said he would ask be set for consideration next Tuesday. Other bills for which similar special consideration is to be asked include the old age assistance increases from $60 to $85 a month, the reauthorized automobile license plate bill, and the proposal to increase taxes on heavier trucks.

Motions to make bills special orders of business for a specific time can be made only after two days notice and require approval of a two-thirds majority.

Debating the problem for the second day, the House advanced a legislative reapportionment bill for a final vote today, but only for the purpose of getting a record vote.

Rep. Carl Iverson, Ashby, principal backer of the measure, acknowledged that it was "dead but doesn't know it." The measure proposed an amendment to the constitution to take areas as well as population into consideration in forming House districts. The present districting, which dates back to 1913, was based on population for both houses as now required by the constitution.

The House killed a bill to require persons twice convicted of felonies to register with police departments and give preliminary approval to proposals to create a commission to clarify and recodify education laws and guarantee members of the Legislature who take leaves from their jobs to serve during the session that they will be returned to their jobs without loss of rights.

In another important development, the Senate Welfare Committee approved the proposed increase in the old age assistance allowance and a bill aimed at cutting expenditures for nursing home, hospital and medical care for old age assistance recipients.

The latter proposal would empower the commissioner of welfare to set up schedules of maximum payments for various forms of medical care and require authorization by county welfare boards before any but emergency treatment could be provided.

This measure was a substitute for one to put a $25 a month limit on medical allowances for old age assistance recipients.

was not introduced as a bill until March 21, while his proposals were offered on March 7.

The governor ended his prepared statement by saying, "Reorganization is a vital need of this state government."

Vital State Need
"We in the administration need better tools for doing our job. It will mean substantial economy and greatly improved efficiency."

As the Legislature moved into the stage when the number of bills that can be acted upon is limited, a number of legislators served notice Tuesday in the House that they will seek priority for certain measures.

Heading the list is the income tax withholding proposal, which Rep. Fred Cina, Aurora, majority leader, said he would ask be set for consideration next Tuesday. Other bills for which similar special consideration is to be asked include the old age assistance increases from $60 to $85 a month, the reauthorized automobile license plate bill, and the proposal to increase taxes on heavier trucks.

Motions to make bills special orders of business for a specific time can be made only after two days notice and require approval of a two-thirds majority.

Debating the problem for the second day, the House advanced a legislative reapportionment bill for a final vote today, but only for the purpose of getting a record vote.

Rep. Carl Iverson, Ashby, principal backer of the measure, acknowledged that it was "dead but doesn't know it." The measure proposed an amendment to the constitution to take areas as well as population into consideration in forming House districts. The present districting, which dates back to 1913, was based on population for both houses as now required by the constitution.

The House killed a bill to require persons twice convicted of felonies to register with police departments and give preliminary approval to proposals to create a commission to clarify and recodify education laws and guarantee members of the Legislature who take leaves from their jobs to serve during the session that they will be returned to their jobs without loss of rights.

In another important development, the Senate Welfare Committee approved the proposed increase in the old age assistance allowance and a bill aimed at cutting expenditures for nursing home, hospital and medical care for old age assistance recipients.

The latter proposal would empower the commissioner of welfare to set up schedules of maximum payments for various forms of medical care and require authorization by county welfare boards before any but emergency treatment could be provided.

This measure was a substitute

for one to put a $25 a month limit on medical allowances for old age assistance recipients.

U.N. Ponders Ways to Stop Israel Rows

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Having condemned Israel for the Gaza attack last month, the U. N. Security Council turned today to discussion of ways to pacify the explosive Israeli-Egyptian frontier.

Up for debate in today's meeting of the 11-nation council was a Western-sponsored resolution asking both countries to cooperate with Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns of Canada, U. N. truce chief in Palestine, on steps to stop border-crossing.

By unanimous vote, the council adopted another Western-backed resolution last night holding Israel guilty of a prearranged army attack Feb. 28 on Egyptian forces in the Gaza strip Egypt occupies. Thirty-eight Egyptians and eight Israelis were killed in the battle.

The resolution condemned the attack as a violation of the U. N. Charter, the council's 1948 Palestine cease-fire order and the 1949 Egypt-Israeli armistice agreement.

It also called on Israel for "all necessary measures to prevent such actions" and said both sides should observe the armistice pact. The Western proposal, sponsored by United States, Britain and France, was approved at the same meeting at which it was introduced. Russia voted in favor of it.

The resolution up for debate today notes Burns' proposals to cut down across-the-border infiltration by joint Egyptian-Israeli patrols and other measures. It asks him to continue consul-

Streetcars Making Mother Bird Jump

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A mother sandpiper who laid four eggs on the rocky right-of-way between the tracks of the S Street car line undoubtedly regrets the choice of location.

But the selection was made four weeks ago and she's committed to it, even if a car does rumble by every five minutes. Frightened, the bird flies away as the car approaches, returns as soon as it has passed. She manages to get a few hours of rest between the last car of the night and the first of the morning, but she is showing signs of strain.

Bride Slips Off Shoes at Ceremony

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Although she was born without arms, Mary Carolyn Simon, now 20, still learned to cook and sew and play the marimba. And she had a high school romance too—with Jack Brown, of Taft, who is now in the Army.

Yesterday she and Brown, 19, obtained a license to get married. Miss Simon slipped out of her shoes and signed the marriage license—with her toes.

She has appeared with Horace Heidt's orchestra and plays the marimba for the Santa Monica water ballet team. Brown, a private first class, heads for the Far East soon, and Miss Simon hopes to join him, as an Army wife.

Senate Victory Seen for Kohler's Education Merger

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Gov. Kohl's bill to merge the University of Wisconsin and state college regent boards reached the floor of the Senate today, with proponents claiming they had more than enough votes for early passage. "I think we can count on 20 or possibly 21 senators to support the coordination bill," Kohler said late Tuesday in answer to a newsman's query on the bill's chance of passage.

Sen. Paul Rogan, Republican floorleader from Ladysmith, also predicted that "at least 20 men are behind us on this measure."

There are 32 votes when all the senators are present. Kohler met with Rogan, five other senators, Wilbur Renk and former Gov. Oscar Rennebohm of the University board of regents and W. D. McIntyre, head of the state college regent board, late Tuesday to see if an agreement could be reached on the legislation.

Sects in Fight for Indochina

BY JOSEPH ALSOP

SAIGON, Indochina.—From behind the slatted screen that shaded the courtyard pavilion, with the unearthly, silent suddenness of the barefooted, he came among us like an apparition.

Silky black hair falling below his shoulders framed his still youthful, strangely intense face. In his loose white cotton pajamas he seemed improbably slender. He spoke no word, but glided with a cat's grace to a seat at the table; and fixed the party with a burning, deep-eyed gaze.

In this prosaic modern world, such an entrance ought to have been ludicrous. But it was the very opposite of ludicrous, and this fact in itself is a good index of the difficulty of the problem here in Indochina.

For the man who made this entrance was no cheap phony. He was Gen. Ba Cut, veteran of a thousand guerrilla combats, and newly made field commander of the 20,000 or more armed men of the Hoa Hao sect, and the most inveterate and dangerous enemy of the shaky government that America has been desperately propping up here in South Viet Nam.

Plenty of Power

Three days earlier, Ba Cut and the other sect leaders had sent President Ngo Dinh Diem an ultimatum. It read, in effect, "knock under or get out." And it was backed up by the private armies of the sects, which now possess more real military power than the demoralized and disorganized Vietnamese national army.

A small group of newspapermen had therefore made their way southwards, over roads clogged with a seemingly menacing military movements, to the Hoa Hao headquarters at Caivon. The religious chieftain of the Hoa Hao is the "Sainted Father" of this debased form of Buddhism. But the Hoa Hao are also a feudal-military organization, not only having their own armies but also ruling their own provinces. And Caivon is the stronghold of the senior Hoa Hao warlord, mustachioed, pot bellied old Gen. Tran Van Soai.

Here the old man lives in a house of many pavilions, crowded to the doors with spittoons, Mother of Pearl inlaid furniture, life sized tinted photographs and other art objects. Shabby but grim looking Hoa Hao soldiers lounge, gossip, pick their noses and polish their guns in the courtyards, and poultry and livestock wander in the dusty gardens.

Strange Setting
Such was the setting for the rendezvous with Ba Cut, whose wild magnetic power has now forced Tran Van Soai to accept an elder statesman's role.

The problem to be discussed was simple enough. The French had encouraged the sects, and had even helped to pay their private armies, as a useful form of competition for the Communist led Viet Minh. But on March 1, French pay for the Hoa Hao, Cao Dai and other sect troops was stopped. Meanwhile their feudal power was also threatened by the reform program of American-backed President Ngo Dinh Diem. And so the sects united to bring Ngo Dinh Diem to terms.

In these circumstances, with all South Indochina in disorder, with Viet Minh infiltration steadily increasing, with Ho Chi Minh continually building up his military power in the North, Ba Cut and Tran Van Soai solemnly put forward a program that might have made sense in the 13th century.

All Southern Indochina was to be divided up into a system of huge dukedoms, one for the Hoa Hao, one for the Cao Dai and so on. Within their dukedoms, the power of the sects was to be unchallenged. The national army was largely to consist of the sum of the dukedoms. And above the dukedoms there was to be an impotent government and a powerless general staff. Saigon, with Ngo Dinh Diem at the head of the government if he liked to stay on, to keep the always useful American dollars still flowing in.

Ba Cut was fiercely indignant that this singular program did not command American support. The leaders of the sects, were the true anti-Communists, he insisted. Had not they driven the Viet Minh from their provinces? Were not they alone close enough to the simple people in the villages to ward off the real danger—to stop the Communist infiltration at the base which the Ngo Diem government was hopelessly unable to halt?

Not Stupid Men

Ba Cut was not a stupid man. One searched in vain for the reason for the blindness that would meet armed Communism with primitive feudalism, until he related his personal history at the vast dinner that was the climax of the meeting.

He is only 30, the son of a landless peasant, with no more than four years education. At 17, he vowed to fight to the death against French rule, and cut off one joint of his index finger to reinforce the vow.

At 21, when the Viet Minh rising was also beginning, he formed the men of his village into a local Hoa Hao guerrilla group. Since then, through combat, his following has grown continuously. And now he has vowed again, never to cut his hair until he has upset the Geneva treaty, defeated the Viet Minh, and united all of Indochina.

At the climax of the recital, he rose at his place and showed his wounds—the double wound of the bullet through the throat fired by one of his rivals of the sects; the fearsome double wound of a bullet through the lungs from the French; the wounds in head and leg from the Viet Minh. His strange eyes glowed fiercely, and one suddenly grasped the central fact about the man, that egoism, superstition and experience have combined to give him the conviction of immunity to death and certainty of victory.

It was curious to find such an echo from the Asian past as a key figure in a crisis that may well determine the fate of more than one great nation. One thought at once of the "Heavenly King," the leader of the Taiping rebellion, in China, who also thought himself immune to death and called himself "the younger brother of Jesus Christ." But with hardly more than 12 months left to glue something together that can resist the Communist advance in South Viet Nam, and with the job not even well begun, this significant eruption of the irrational was also a little discouraging.

Peter Greens Celebrate 64th Anniversary

BLACK RIVER FALLS, Wis. (Special)—The celebration of their 64th wedding anniversary which was planned as a quiet family dinner, became quite an event to Mr. and Mrs. Peter Green, when a card of congratulations was received by them from President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The card from the president stated "Please accept my sincere congratulations on your 64th wedding anniversary, with best wishes for many more years of happy companionship." It was signed by Eisenhower.

The President wasn't the only one to remember the longest-married couple in Jackson County. Congressman Lester Johnson wrote "It is a genuine pleasure to greet two people who have brought such dignity and respect to their marriage. I hope you both may live to celebrate many more such happy occasions."

The Greens were married in Chicago March 23, 1889, having come there from Denmark. They have made their home at Chicago, Millston, and Black River Falls during their life together. Green, 87, was actively engaged in the roofing business until his retirement about 12 years ago.

Mrs. Green, 85, is probably best known throughout Jackson County for the years of nursing service she rendered to the sick. She also operated the first Jackson County Hospital in her home where the late Dr. Eugene Krohn was the local country doctor.

The couple has two children, Earl, Chicago, and Mrs. Oliver Mack, Black River Falls.

The observance of their anniversary was celebrated with a family dinner given by a niece, Mrs. Fred Jay, Millston, attended by relatives from Tomah, Oakdale and Black River Falls.

ASIDES—By the Society Editor

Recipes to the front of you—recipes in back—recipes at the side and overflowing the storage box—recipes tried and recipes untried (in the majority)—recipes tempting, absolutely, but loaded with calories. That is a problem few men, lucky creatures, confront but many a housewife and some women not in that category, face. It's their own fault. They needn't be such pushovers for everything that starts—"take a cup of." Of course, I shouldn't condemn them, it is my own overflowing supply of recipes that started this tirade off. Promotion persons for food concerns flood my desk with delectable food thoughts. You don't have to be a cook, as I can testify, nor love cooking—you just have to have an imagination and very active taste buds on your tongue and you start clipping and saving.

"The way the bough is bent" is an old saying and modern psychologists confirm this, urging sound basic trends from the cradle up, so possibly my glad eye when I see a new cookbook and my hoarding of shelves full of them, originated in childhood when I pored through the famous White House Cookbook, adoring the pictures, both drawings and photographs, and envying the small girl standing on a bench "cooking dinner for papa" in one of the color pictures. How many remember that early issue of the book. It displayed color pictures of meat cuts and showed a cherub-like white-aproned and white-capped butcher, age about two, at a butcher block.

Our copy of the book is much the worse for wear. Covers are gone, some beginning pages are missing, my pencil or my sister's apparently tried to add art work to some of the pictures (no mustaches on female visages though) and the edges are yellowed and slightly tattered, but I'll have to take the blame for that or push a little my sister's shoulders. At this late date I can't be positive when the destruction started. Just found another color page showing the same to-be-envied children making ice cream (in a hand-cranked freezer and rolling pie crust with a rolling pin on which a flower design is carved, the design transferring to the crust in the rolling). Blanc mange with floral decorations, an elaborate jelly mold with a bunch of grapes in its center, a cornstarch pudding ring heaped in the center with cherries tempted childish fancies on that page.

Still fascinating to me are the special menus listed for Christmas—oysters on half shell, cream chicken soup, boiled whitefish with sauce Maitre d'Hotel, roast goose with apple sauce, boiled potatoes, mashed turnips, sweet potatoes, Christmas plum pudding, lemon ice, squash pie, quince jelly, delicate cake, salted almonds, fruit and coffee. In general, suggested menus were to be served in the following order: First course, halved grape fruit; second course, bouillon; third course, chops with peas; fourth course, salad; fifth course, an ice and bonbons.

Russian, Scotch and other afternoon teas were suggested and for dinner giving, this time-honored cookbook pointed out that "the hostess must be, to a certain extent, acquainted with the peculiarities of each guest, and in placing them, she should carefully avoid seating two persons of opposite natures side by side. She should study her guests, as it were; should allot the charming talker to the equally charming listener, and the opinionated person to the passive and yielding disposition." (I see who my dinner partner should be—a Mr. Milquetoast). And don't think that wonderful old book stopped at telling you how to carve, how to cook and a hostess' duties, it also gave you a remedy for tainted breath, and one to induce sleep, another to remove warts and the recipe for Florida water, cologne and sachet powder.

A famed cookbook in Minnesota in recent years has been North Shore Cookery with its Scandinavian and general recipes, such traditional dishes as "Skansk" potatoes, Kaerne-maelksuppe (buttermilk soup) and Kotbullar, (raisin meat balls).

New Chinese recipes have been compiled by Fred Wing, Chinese gourmet and amateur chef, who with Mabel Stegner, experienced home economics consultant, has prepared a cookbook now available in an inexpensive paper-covered edition. The Cantonese recipes have come down in Mr. Wing's family from generation to generation. He has adapted them, keeping them authentic but providing substitutes easily secured at the neighborhood grocery for exotic ingredients not available here, for such dishes as Jan-Pye-Gult (steamed spareribs with pickled relish), Ball-Law-Opp (pineapple duck) and Lot-Ju, Kair-Gai-Pen (chicken breast, tomato and green peppers) are unique taste treats.

Another booklet cookbook is "Cookery Around the World," a "Cook's Tour" conducted by Gravy Master. "Louisiana Cookery" by Mary Land put out by the Louisiana State University will give you Cajun Dirty Rice, Pepper Peas, Princess Madeline (fruit marinated in an out-of-this-world liquid) and served over custard ice cream, and Judge O'Neill's chicken sauce pi-quant. An enormous paper cookbook issued by a down-South paper for the town's international rice festival, also is loaded with recipes for chicken, game, veal, quail, crawfish, lobster and crab and many a creole sauce.

Every variety of spice, not only spices proper but seeds and herbs to which the name is commonly applied, star in recipes in the "A B C of Spice Cookery." There are the Duncan Hines cookbooks with the American plus international flavor and the new approach to cooking recipe seeking offered in the Betty Crocker "Good and Easy" cookbook which sections recipes according to the meal for which they are planned.

Italian Premier Ends Conferences With U.S. Officials

WASHINGTON (AP)—Italian Premier Mario Scelba winds up conferences with top U.S. officials today apparently convinced the United States will support his plan for a new disarmament conference with Russia.

The administration was expected to make known its attitude toward Scelba's proposals late today in a final communique summing up results of three days of talks.

Advance indications were that President Eisenhower would endorse Scelba's idea for a meeting of nine Western nations in Paris during May to seek to lay the groundwork for a later disarmament conference with Russia.

It was not clear whether Eisenhower would agree that all nine nations should be included at a new arms reduction conference with Russia as Scelba suggests.

In Latin the "calends" was the first day of the month—hence the English word "calendar."

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic women from Michigan, Minnesota, Illinois and Wisconsin will meet in Milwaukee April 27-28 to plan for participation in the 1956 elections.

Mrs. Katie Louchheim, director of women's activities for the Democrats, announced the meeting Tuesday. She said the states will be represented by wives of Democratic senators, congressmen and governors along with party leaders and workers.

Mrs. Louchheim said this will be the first of 9 to 10 regional conferences planned to pool campaign techniques. The location and dates of these conferences will be discussed when the Democratic National Committee meets here April 15.

Blast Rips Manhole, 3 Workers Burned

APPLETON, Wis. (AP)—Three employees of the Wisconsin-Michigan Gas Co. were burned Tuesday when an explosion ripped a manhole in which they were working.

All three were taken to St. Elizabeth's Hospital suffering burns on their hands and heads. The blast apparently was set off when a spark from a drill ignited accumulated gas. The shock was felt a block away.

Injured were Albert Krueger, 55, supervisor of gas production for the firm; Harry Selig, 45, and Lorenz Starfield, 48.

new flexible farm price support program has been responsible for any decline in farm prices. He said the decline in recent years took place under the old rigid price support program. He added that the new flexible plan, which became effective at the start of this year, has not been in operation long enough to reflect any change in farm prices.

MUDSLINGING—Eisenhower declared he is against any mudslinging in public life. He made that remark when told that Sens. Carlson (R-Kan) and Smathers (D-Fla.) had suggested there be an end to any mudslinging. The reporter did not say what prompted the suggestion by the senators.

Carlson and Smathers made the suggestion on a TV show Tuesday night. They did not connect it with any particular incident, but their remarks followed a summary by commentator John Daly of the controversy over criticisms of Eisenhower by Sen. Neely (D-W.Va.).

Neely glibly at the President's golfing and fishing in a speech before the CIO United Auto Workers in Cleveland Monday. He also said Eisenhower tried to "parade his religion," noting that newspapers frequently published pictures of the President attending church.

Several Republican senators hit back at what they called Neely's trying to inject religion into politics.

Eisenhower was not asked at today's conference about his reaction to Neely's remarks.

After decrying mudslinging, Eisenhower went on to praise Sen. George (D-Ga.), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. He cited George as an example of bipartisanship at its best.

APPOINTMENTS—He defended the choice of three men for federal jobs—Edward J. Corsi, to be special assistant to Secretary of State Dulles on immigration problems; Allen Whitefield, to be a member of the Atomic Energy Commission, and Joseph Campbell, the new chief of the General Accounting Office.

Corsi has been accused by Rep. Walter (D-Pa.) of having been a member of Communist front organizations. Corsi has taken issue with Walter on that.

Asked about the charges, the President said Corsi was highly recommended and that Dulles has reported to him that Corsi is doing very valuable work for the State Department.

As to Whitfield, Eisenhower was told that Rep. Price (D-Ill.) had questioned whether Whitfield's appointment to the AEC meant that the AEC had become a dumping ground for job hungry Republicans. The chief executive likened that to the old question, have you stopped beating your wife. He went on to say that he has tried to follow the policy of depending upon people close to him for advice in making appointments.

As for Campbell, the President was told that Campbell has assailed the administration's multi-billion-dollar highway construction program as unsound and perhaps illegal. Eisenhower said he does not agree with Campbell, but that Campbell has every right to express his own view. The President added that the last thing he ever would do would be to try to find out in advance of an appointment what a man's position would be on specific issues.

Closest Finish In Years Seen In Oscar Race

By JAMES BACON
HOLLYWOOD — Hollywood's smart money talked long shot today as even the experts differed violently on who would win tonight's Academy Awards.

Crosby or Brando? Garland or Kelly? "The Country Girl" or "On the Waterfront"? With those favorites, it was even money and take your choice.

Only Edmond O'Brien, up for a supporting role in "The Barefoot Contessa," could make the experts agree.

The closest finish in years raised the perennial possibility that the Oscar favorites might knock each other off.

Humphrey Bogart, Dorothy Dandridge, and the musical "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers" thus rated better than an outside chance.

Hollywood's international element saw a win for Miss Dandridge, first Negro ever nominated for a top Oscar, enhancing United States prestige abroad.

So closely contested was this year's race that even such famous stay-at-homes Marion Brando and Bing Crosby did everything but ring doorbells for votes.

In favor of Brando, nominated for his role in "On the Waterfront," is the fact that the Academy can't go on much longer ignoring the man many regard as the greatest living actor. But then John Barrymore never won an Oscar either.

Crosby, who has made millions playing Crosby on the screen, decided on playing someone else in "The Country Girl." Add such a performance to Crosby's vast personal popularity and he becomes a hard man to beat.

Among the girls it's Judy Garland, born in a vaudeville trunk, versus Grace Kelly, born in a Philadelphia mansion. Miss Garland, a great child star, is Hollywood's heartbreak kid. An Oscar would climax an amazing Hollywood story, the kind of story sentimental Hollywood likes.

British Labor Party Won't Expel Bevan

LONDON — British Labor party chieftains today dropped a move to expel left-winger Aneurin Bevan. They obtained assurances from the fiery Welshman he would toe the official party line in the future.

The national executive — high command of the party — after a three-hour meeting accepted Bevan's promise to behave.

This was the first step by the party to patch up differences in the face of a general election possibly this summer or fall.

Officially Bevan is still on the blacklist of the Parliamentary Labor party, but his reinstatement now appeared only a matter of formality.

The 57-year-old rebel was ousted from Labor ranks in Parliament two weeks ago on charges of disloyalty for openly criticizing party leader Clement Attlee on the floor of the House of Commons.

Coroner's Jury Reports on Death In Miami Fire

KEY LARGO, Fla. — Miss Emma Jo Selby, of Miami, died of burns in a fire of undetermined origin at the Caribbean Club, a coroner's jury reported yesterday.

The six-man jury called by Peace Justice Ralph Cunningham heard testimony from Dr. F. R. Bussey Jr., eye specialist of Bay Shore, N.Y.; H. F. Harkins, lawyer of Asheville, N.C.; attorney William Crone, owner of the club 60 miles south of Miami; Crone's wife; and fire investigators.

Bussey, husband of Ira Petina, opera star, denied registering at the club but admitted paying for drinks and rooms for himself, Miss Selby and Harkins.

Crone testified Bussey and Miss Selby, 31, registered as man and wife and said Harkins was assigned to another room.

Senate Plans to Approve Armed Forces Pay Hike

WASHINGTON — The Senate today was ready to approve a 750-million dollar pay boost for slightly more than half the three million persons in the armed forces.

"I know of no serious opposition," Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) of the Senate Armed Services Committee said.

His committee gave the bill a unanimous favorable recommendation yesterday, clearing the way for Senate consideration.

The House passed 399-1 a nearly identical measure March 10. The increased would take effect April 1 if the Senate passes it quickly.

The House accepts a few changes and President Eisenhower immediately signs it into law. If it takes a week or so, they would become effective in May.

The administration bill asked pay boosts for enlisted personnel and noncommissioned officers and warrant officers with more than two years service and to commissioned officers with more than three years.

Biggest percentage increases would go to younger officers below major and corresponding ranks, and to sergeants and corporals and corresponding ranks among enlisted personnel.

The Senate was told that 1,339,496 enlisted men and 285,142 officers now on active duty would get increases averaging 11 to 12 per cent.

The increase for officers would range from 6 to 25 per cent, and for enlisted personnel from 7 to 17 per cent.

The bill also would boost hazard pay for air and submarine crews, paratroopers, glider crews, demolition experts and other special categories.

Biggest change made by the Senate committee in the House bill was a base pay boost of $100 a month for lieutenant generals and $200 a month for full generals and admirals.

Old Piano Offered For Only $55,000

PONTIAC, Mich. — Mrs. Helen Saint has an old upright piano for sale.

The asking price is $55,000. Sounds like a lot of money. But this piano is something special, with gold hardware, rare woods and porcelain paintings. In fact, Mrs. Saint says experts have told her it is worth "an unbelievable sum."

She has been advised to insure it for "not less than $75,000." The piano is a Steinway concert upright. She inherited it from her grandfather G. Witherspoon Merrill, of Glen Cove, N. Y., an old-time oil operator.

He always wanted a nice piano. So he designed one himself and placed an order with Steinway & Sons to build it. That was in 1855. It took Steinway 17 years to build it.

The King will speak for the TV cameras and microphones of Danish and 21 foreign broadcasting companies. Among those represented will be several American networks.

India Spending $137 Million Yearly For Rehabilitation

NEW DELHI — Eight years after partition of this subcontinent into two nations, India's government is spending at the rate of $137,172,000 a year for refugee rehabilitation.

The Indian Ministry of Rehabilitation cares for about eight million displaced Hindus from East and West Pakistan. It lists total expenditures of $469,728,000 since independence in 1947.

Steps for making these people self-sustaining citizens are entering their final stages, the ministry says.

Care ranges from outright supply of food and shelter through education and vocational training to finding jobs. Unemployment remains a serious factor.

Officials estimate India's refugee problem will remain a major one for at least 10 years.

Giants Aren't Stand-Pat, Says Leo

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press
Early reports to the contrary, the champion New York Giants are not a stand-pat club. It just looks that way, says Manager Leo Durocher, because "nobody wants to trade with us."

About the only deal getting a good rumor rating with the Giants is one sending Frankie Baumholtz, Chicago Cubs outfielder, to the New Yorkers for some second-line pitchers (Al Corwin, Al Worthington and George Spencer).

But what Leo wants is another pitcher and perhaps some infield support to stopgap second baseman Davey Williams' back miseries.

"This is a good club," said Durocher yesterday as the Giants broke camp to start the long trip to the Polo Grounds. "Man for man it's solid. If no one gets hurt, it's great."

"But I'd feel more secure if I could get a real good pitcher. Right now, though, I'm concerned about Williams. I dunno, I hope he's all right."

The pitcher Leo wants would be a fourth starter behind Sal ("He's my No. 1 guy") Maglie, Johnny Antonelli and Ruben Gomez.

It could be Jim Hearn may get a crack at the No. 4 spot after a disturbing 1934 season (8-8) when he was an undependable starter.

While Durocher began the homeward trip in a chipper mood, however, some other managers were having their troubles.

Eddie Stanky pulled Stan Musial out of the St. Louis Cardinals outfield and put him back on first base as the Redbirds halted Eddie Lopat and a New York Yankee

"B" team 6-2. Stanky is looking for more punch at first, where Musial hit .365 in 1946 and .312 in 1947.

Rookie Bill Verdon moved in to fill out the Cards' outfield and flung a home run, along with Wally Moon and rookie Ken Boyer.

Manager Lou Boudreau of Kansas City got a new worry when southpaw Bobby Shantz, the hard luck guy, was felled on the mound by a line drive off the bat of rookie Earl Smith as Pittsburgh beat the Athletics 9-8. X-rays failed to show serious injury.

Three Brooklyn Dodgers—Don Newcombe, Clem Labine and Don Zimmer—also were hit by batted and pitched balls, but they too escaped serious injury. The incidents occurred in pregame drills before the Brooks made four hits good for a 5-4 victory over Milwaukee.

Art Fowler and Jim Pearce allowed just three hits and catcher Ed Bailey hit a home run as the Cincinnati Redlegs beat Washington 5-1.

The Vanks' regulars knocked off Detroit 6-1 with Bob Turley making his first good showing of the spring. He gave up just two hits in five innings, although walking five.

Ernie Banks kept his bat in action, lining a run-scoring single and his third home run in two days, as the Cubs beat Cleveland 9-7.

Baltimore tripped Philadelphia 6-3. Rookie Don Leppert and veteran Gene Woodling drove in two runs each.

The Chicago White Sox had 13 men left on base but still pulled out a 5-3 decision over the Boston Red Sox.

SPORTS Sidelight BY RALPH REEVE

Note: Not too long ago, we prepared a prospectus on the 1955 Winona Chiefs and mailed it to sports editors in the Southern Minn., asking them in return to write us a guest column on the outlooks of their teams. First to report in is Jim Cowan, pipe-smoking, happy-go-lucky sports scribe on the Waseca Herald whose interesting dissertation on the Waseca-Owatonna merger follows:

'Wasetonna' Fans Optimistic

Won't be long before the horsebuses are flying and I agree with Ralph Reeve—now's a good time to take a look at baseball. Very happy to let you Winona fans in on what we have over here in Wasetonna. As you know, the historic merger of Waseca and Owatonna into effect in January.

At first glance, the possibility of a merger didn't sound so hot to any of us.

But it grew on us and now we think it's the best thing that could have happened. There are several reasons for this change of heart. In the first place, we thought it would dampen spirits because of losing the "home team" label.

But the smooth working of the two boards of directors and the interest shown in both towns in the team has not only served to stir up what has been normal interest in past years but 1, as an observer, believe the interest is even higher.

This must be said for the merger—it definitely gives both towns a bragging right. Neither town could have fielded a team individually and expect to hit the playoffs or stay in the black.

Moola Department Better

This way, we have a choice of key players from both clubs, the ability to hire other good players and pay them and it's not so rough in each town's moola department.

Players returning who were with Waseca or Owatonna last year include:

Monte Lopez, one of the top pitchers in the loop in 1954. Dick Olshefski, Jack Haines and Bob Peterson on the hurling roster; Gene Vane, Harold Youngmans and Ronnie Gendreau in the infield and Arnie Giebel and Hockey Mesley behind the plate. In the outfield it will be Andy Baud and Vic Fucci.

New men signed by Manager Bob Balance include:

Don Schmudlach, a Western League and Southern Association veteran; Art Sheridan who played A ball last year, and Walter Bryja who played with the Basin League in the Dakotas last summer. These are right-hand pitchers except Schmudlach. Olshefski is a left-hander.

Dick Newberry is a new infielder. He played with Duluth in the Northern League last year. Olin Martin is well-known in Southern Minnesota from his tenure at Austin.

Babe Jensen, former pilot of the Austin Packers, has also been signed by Wasetonna.

Augie Schlatter and Art Seguso are acquainted around the loop. Schlatter wallowed the ball for Rochester and Seguso for Mankato. Both of these men are signed.

Count to Ten, Emil!

Chatted with Balance about what he thinks of Winona. "I look for Winona to improve but don't see them finishing much better than sixth place this year," our pilot said.

He looks for Austin to drag up the rear, Albert Lea and Faribault to fight it out for fourth and fifth spots with a slight edge in favor of the Lakers, and Rochester, Mankato and Wasetonna to be in the top division.

Balance doesn't believe Fairmont will be strong in the SM League and will wind up in sixth or seventh place.

"Winona fans have been and still are great and I'd like to see them have a winning ball club—they deserve it. With all due respect to Emil Scheid, however, as of now I STILL can't see them any better off than sixth."

"If the standings at the end of the season were determined on the enthusiasm and effort of the Winona fans, ball players and Scheid, though, Winona would have to be placed in the top spot," our manager said.

On what he knows of Winona's ball club, here are some more copious quotes:

"Emil is counting on a bunch of boys who haven't had too much experience in this kind of baseball and some of his men who have been playing in this league are coming to the end of their rope." So much for Manager Balance.

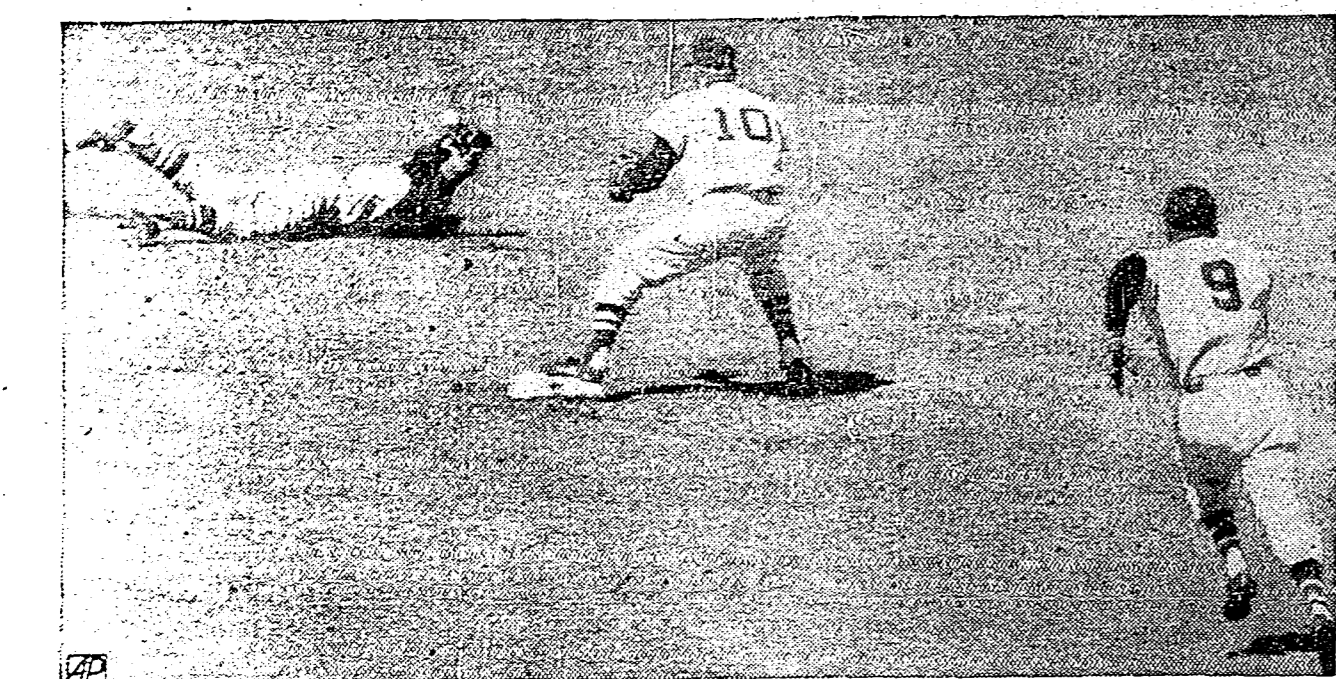

The big question around here is whether or not Vern Edmonds will be back. As yet no definite word has been received from the ace hurler although he was sent a contract.

"We still have hopes of having him here again this year," Balance says so the situation is still in the air.

That's the situation from Wasetonna. Looking forward to seeing you here and there both.

Snider Foils Starting Bid Of Braves Rookie Hurler

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Rookie pitcher Humberto Robinson of the Milwaukee Braves saw his first golden hour as a major league hurler when he tagged Tuesday as the Braves were beaten by Brooklyn, 5-4, in an exhibition at Jacksonville, Fla.

Duke Snider, the Frank Merriwell of the Bums, turned the trick against the Panamanian right-hander when he tagged Robinson for a first inning homer that scored three runs.

The game was the first of a "goat home" series for the two teams that will carry them northward to home.

They were booked up in the second of the eight game series here today with Lew Burdette and Jim Wilson slated for the Milwaukee mound chore.

Asked to Start

The day got off to a bad start quickly for Robinson who had given up only one hit in 12 previous exhibition innings. And he was pitching as a starter after asking Manager Charlie Grimm for the assignment.

Humberto, who had not parted with a walk previously, gave up two straight in the first inning when he sent Junior Gilliam and Pee Wee Reese to first for free.

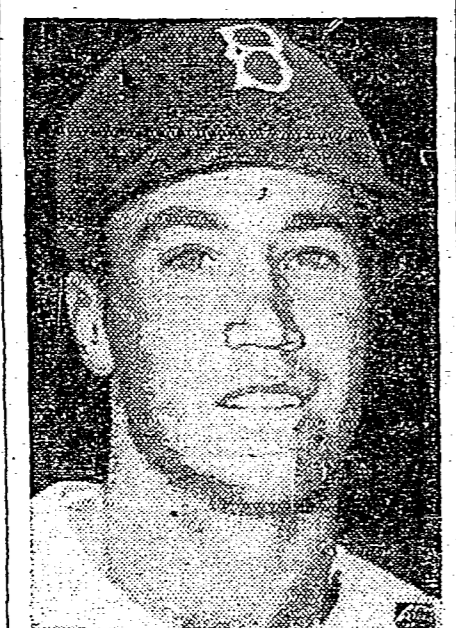

Next in line was the Duke, and it looked like Robinson had sailed a third strike past him when the umpire called it a ball. Snider used up the new line when he hammered the next pitch out of the park. Robinson's records were memories.

Unearned Run

The Dodgers picked up an unearned run off Robinson in the top of the third. Reese drew his second walk, Jackie Robinson sent him along the bases with a single and Pee Wee got to third when Johnny Logan made a beautiful stop on a ground ball threw wild to first. Billy Bruton threw perfectly to home after catching Sandy Amoros' long drive, but Del Crandall dropped the ball after the tag.

In their share of the third the Braves broke into the scoring, and they used the walk to get there. Don Newcombe, Dodge hurler, sent Crandall and Chuck Tanner, batting for Robinson, down to first.

DUKE SNIDER He Hammers Humberto

one after the other. Billy Bruton filled the bases with a single. Crandall scored on a passed ball and Henry Aaron sent Tanner and Bruton in with a single.

Adcock Singles

Joe Adcock scratched an infield single in the fourth and was moved on by Logan's double. Jack Dittmer got home with a sacrifice fly.

Gene Conley took over the mound in the fourth and allowed Brooklyn's last run. Gene walked Bert Hamric and Roy Campanella drove him across with the winning run. Campanella's smash was the only hit Gene gave up in the four innings he pitched.

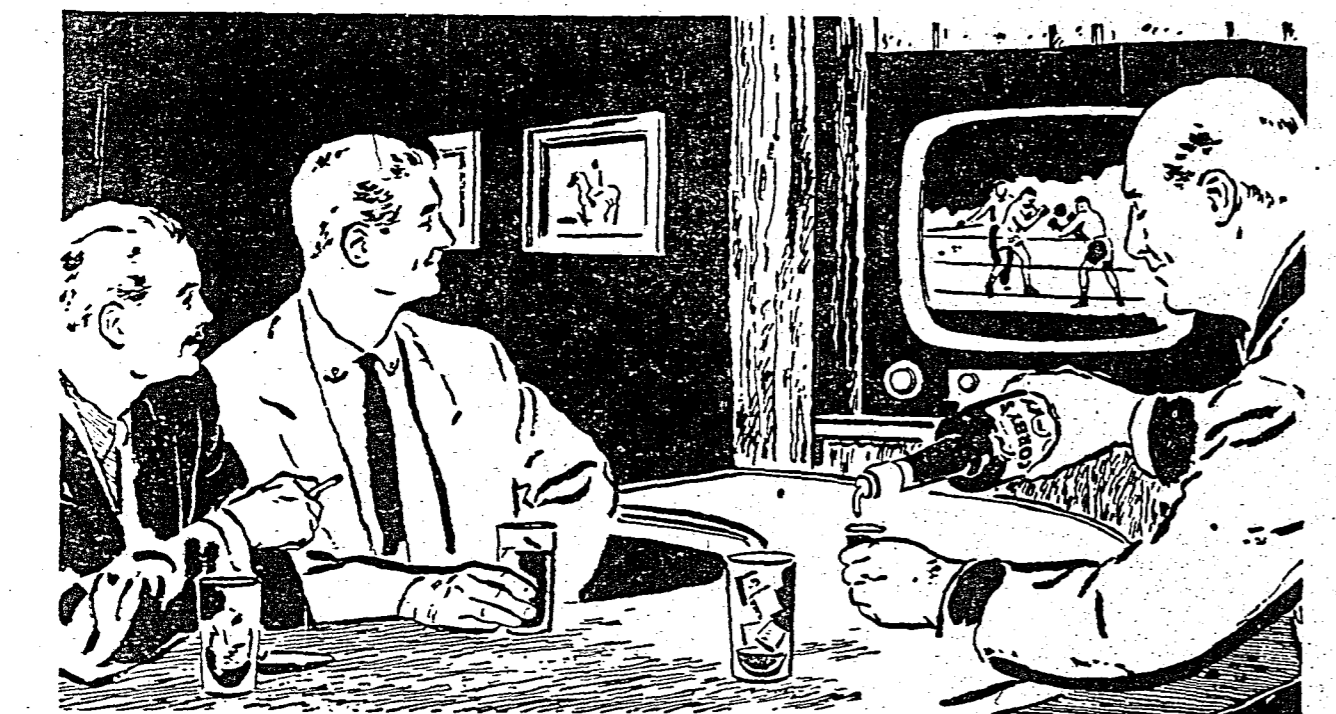

Dave Jolly hurled the last two innings and gave up only one hit. In all the Dodgers got only four hits to seven for the Braves.

O'Connell Doubtful

Grimm still does not know when second baseman Danny O'Connell will be back in action. So Tuesday in the pregame drill, outfielder Henry Aaron was working the infield at second base. There was justification for the positioning, however. Grimm pointed out that Henry was the Sally League's most valuable player in 1953 as a second baseman.

Grimm added, "He didn't win that honor simply by swinging a bat. He had to pick up a ground ball or two as well, but unless the situation gets desperate he remains in the outfield."

Robinson Plans To Continue Ring Comeback

Rallies to Win Split Decision Against Lombardo

CINCINNATI (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, the man who gave up dancing in an attempt to regain the world's middleweight boxing championship, says he is going to keep right on the comeback trail.

That was Robinson's word last night after he had won a split decision over Johnny Lombardo, of Mount Carmel, Pa., in a 10-round bout at the Cincinnati Garden before 5,124 paying customers. The fight was neither broadcast nor televised.

It was the third bout for Robinson since he came out of retirement. He won one and lost one but there had been some doubt as to how serious his comeback attempt was in view of his failure to meet a commitment to battle George Small in Boston three weeks ago. He claimed illness prevented that fight.

"If I have it, I will continue," Robinson said after last night's fight. "If I don't, I'll give up. This was the kind of a fight you have to find out what you can do."

He next meets Ted Olla in Milwaukee April 14.

Through the early rounds last night Robinson did not look good. But he came along late just when most of the ringers thought he would fade. Lombardo, weighing 153 pounds, took a slight lead in the first four rounds because of his aggressiveness. He scored heavily from the inside with his left hook his best punch.

Robinson, nine pounds heavier, seemed to be pacing himself. The 34-year-old ex-champ started to open up in the fifth round. He kept pounding Lombardo with short upper cuts and with an occasional right and his work then reflected something of what Robinson was once noted for: Speed and accurate punching. He began to use his left upper cut to the Pennsylvanian's body and sharp jabs to the chin.

Robinson landed so many blows in the ninth that Lombardo got sick at the end of the round.

TABBING THE MAJORS

Pittsburgh Hopes To Escape Cellar

By JACK HAND
FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP)—Branch Rickey's "five-year plan" for Pittsburgh moves into its fifth year this season with manager Fred Haney still struggling to escape the National League cellar.

"We're going to be quite a bit stronger," Haney insists. "A year ago at this time I was set on only one position—Frank Thomas in center field. Now I'm set at shortstop with Dick Groat back from the Army and I am in good shape for catching with Jack Shepard. I still have Thomas and Sid Gordon."

"With Ronnie Kline back from service and Dick Littlefield available from the start, our pitching should be a lot better. We haven't any remedy for our lack of punch but we won't beat ourselves so often."

The club has finished last three years in a row, losing more than 100 games each season.

Gordon, a handyman who can play third or outfield and hit .360 at the age of 36, is a sure fire starter along with Thomas, Groat and Shepard. The other jobs are still open.

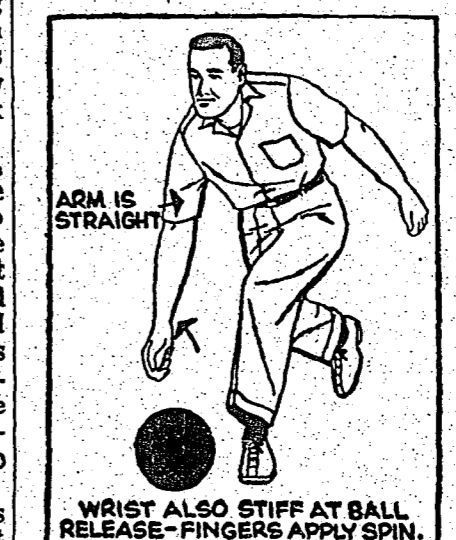

Gene Freese, the 20-year-old rookie from New Orleans, (.332) probably will out slick-fielding Curt Roberts (.232) from his second base job. Shortstop Groat has been in service since his .284 rookie season in '32. George Freese, older brother of Gene, is battling for the third base job with Dick Cole (.270). The older Freese hit .324 at New Orleans last summer.

First base is a scramble among Dale Long (.280) at Hollywood, Bob Skinner (.249), last year's regular, and Preston Ward (.269).

Gordon (.306) will play an outfield position or third, depending on the outcome of the infield scrap. Thomas (.298), the club's power with 23 homers and 84 runs batted in, will have a steady job. That leaves the third outfield post for Roberto Clemente (.257) at Montreal if the No. 1 draft pick can prove he's ready.

Shepard is the No. 1 catcher on his .304 average of last season. Littlefield (.10-11), acquired from Baltimore in late May, is the top lefthanded pitcher. Max Surkont (.9-18), Vern Law (.9-13) and Kline, who impressed with his fast ball despite a 0-7 record in '32 before he went into service, are the right-handed starters.

ARM IS STRAIGHT WRIST ALSO STIFF AT BALL RELEASE—FINGERS APPLY SPIN.

STIFF WRIST
Moore Method—The reason for Jimmy (Moore) Miller's jump of 23 points to 226 average this season, highest in Wisconsin, is a slight change he made—which could be just what you need. It is simply that he developed a "dead stiff" wrist in place of the turn action he had used. As sketch shows, there is no break now in his arm or wrist in either the backswing or the downswing. It's a totally stiff operation, giving the arm the appearance of piston-motion. The fingers at all times are under and behind the ball, even to the point of release, where Miller imparts terrific, short hook-spinning action by lifting the arm very high, over his head. In its upward movement, the arm is in approximate line with the right shoulder. Never a pull to the left. That's the answer for Miller's accuracy—why he's a great pocket hitter. As I mentioned, it may be what you need. In fact, anything a bowler with 226 average does should be worth trying.

Kindall Sparkles In Gophers' Win

Jerry Kindall, University of Minnesota shortstop scheduled to play this summer for the Winona Chiefs, played an important part in Minnesota's 4-3 victory over Oklahoma Tuesday afternoon at Norman, Okla.

He got one hit in three tries and scored the winning run by drawing a walk, stealing second and coming home on a teammate's single.

In addition, Kindall handled eight chances flawlessly at shortstop.

Coach Dick Siebert said of him, "Kindall saved the game for us. He's the best defensive shortstop I've ever had."

NINTH TO SEVENTH

Flanagan Rises In Ratings

Compiled From The Associated Press

Twin Cities welterweight Del Flanagan was moved to seventh place in the April boxing ratings put out by Ring magazine today.

Flanagan was in ninth place prior to his victory by technical knockout over former champion Johnny Bratton. Above Flanagan in the standings are champion Johnny Saxton, Carmine Basilio, Vince Martinez, Tony DeMarco, Ramon Fuentes, Maurice Harper and Hector Constance.

Former champion Kid Gavilan is rated eighth. Next fight for Flanagan will be April 14 in St. Paul against Al Andrews, middleweight from Superior, Wis.

HARD-LUCK HURLER

Bobby Shantz, Kansas City Athletics pitcher, was struck on the head by a batted ball in an exhibition game Tuesday against the Pirates but the injury was not believed serious.

Municipal Stadium at Kansas City will be ready for 35,000 customers when the A's make their American League home debut against the Detroit Tigers April 12.

George Freese, Pittsburgh third-sacker, hit a homer and three singles Tuesday when the Pirates beat the A's 9-8.

The Philadelphia Phils, trying for more hitting power in their lineup, used catcher Stan Lopata in the outfield Tuesday but the big boy committed two errors as the Phils lost 6-3 to the Orioles.

Dick Donovan, 27-year-old right-hander who had an 18-8 record with Atlanta last year, is a good bet to be with the White Sox opening day. Some of the Chicago hurlers aren't doing as well as expected, while Donovan climaxed his work this spring with six shutouts Tuesday in Chicago's 5-3 victory over Detroit.

CUBS STARTERS SET

Manager Stan Hack of the Chicago Cubs said he'll rotate Bob Rush, Paul Minner and Sam Jones and use veteran Howie Polk in spots.

The Tigers have collected only nine hits in their last 22 innings and six of the nine have been singles.

JUSTICE QUITS

Charlie (Choo-Choo) Justice, star halfback of the Washington Redskins the last five years, said Tuesday night he is "definitely through with football." He is 31.

The Green Bay Packers have signed back Ernie Wickstrom, a former Chicago Cardinal, to a 1955 contract.

LIKES BIG UMPS

Warren Giles, president of the National League, says of hiring umpires, "Other things being equal, I prefer to hire the big man. I know that some of the greatest umpires we've ever had were little fellows, but I simply think it is more impressive when three or four big men walk out there to take charge of a game."

BADGER BRIEFS

Gordon Lewison resigned as basketball coach at New Holstein, Wis., to become cage coach at Wisconsin Rapids' Assumption High.

The WIAA will replace the 200 yard dash in track this spring with the 220 and plans to allow schools to use the 180-yard hurdle race instead of the 200-yard lows, along with a 39-inch hurdle in the 120-yard high instead of the official 36-inch hurdle.

Some persons say a complication in Bob Anderson's attending Wisconsin would be lack of a complete veterinary course there, the career on which the Monroe prep cage star is sold.

Detroit Gains Hockey Finals

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The streaking Detroit Red Wings, having disposed of the Toronto Maple Leafs in easy fashion, sat for one day and awaited the outcome of the Montreal-Boston series to determine their opponent in the National Hockey League playoff finals.

The Wings blanked Toronto 3-0 Tuesday night to sweep their best-of-seven series, 4 games to none. Detroit, the league champion, has won 13 games in a row—including the last nine games of the regular season.

Montreal edged Boston 4-3 on Tuesday night. The Canadiens lead the best-of-seven set 3 games to 1 and can clinch the series at Montreal Thursday night.

The Wings, aiming for their seventh Stanley Cup, were in command all the way as they outclassed the Leafs.

Marshall, a 23-year-old center, scored Montreal's winning goal when the Canadiens were a man short. Defenseman Butch Bouchard in the penalty box.

Swedish Visitors To Moscow Doubt Malenkov Purge

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—All appeared open and above board concerning Georgi Malenkov when a Swedish power delegation took a plane home from Moscow at the weekend, Bo Rathman said today.

The chief of a Swedish group which made a 17-day visit to the Soviet Union, Rathman, took a swipe at Western rumors that the pudgy ex-Premier who became Soviet minister of power stations Feb. 9, may have been purged.

The Swedes never saw Malenkov, who was technically their host. They were told by Deputy Minister Alexi Pavlenko, who saw them off, that Malenkov regretted an inspection trip out of town prevented him from being on hand.

"Pavlenko shook hands with all of us at the airport, then stepped back and pulled out four handwritten pages of notes and proceeded to bid us goodbye," Rathman said.

Miraculous Margo Of Dallas Waves Wand for Writers

By MARSHALL CORMER

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—It is curtain time at Theater '55. As the house lights dim, a small, slightly plump lady in her early 40s and wearing an evening dress slips around a corner, smiles and nods to friends as she takes her seat.

As she watches the play, an alertness in her manner and a faint smile on her face remind you of a fond mother watching the performance of a gifted child.

The lady is Margo Jones, whom many playwrights look upon as a fairy godmother.

They have good reason. She is the lady who founded the foremost professional theater in America today dedicated to producing new plays.

She is credited with establishing America's first theater-in-the-round, the highly popular modern stucco-and-glass theater on the Texas State Fair grounds here.

She produced her first play in the family barn at the age of 11, and since has produced or directed almost 300 plays, ranging from high school amateur productions to a hand in such Broadway shows as "Tennessee Williams' "Glass Menagerie" and Maxwell Anderson's "Joan of Lorraine."

She is so determined to use only new scripts that she cancelled one play scheduled for this season when she learned that it had been given once before by a summer stock theater.

"You see, I want to live in a golden age of the theater," says Margo, one of those friendly, dynamic persons you call by first name as soon as you are introduced.

Theaters in the past have been great because of the quality of their writing. You can have good writing only if young authors have a chance to get their plays produced.

This is a chance playwrights dream about, and they have been sending Margo new scripts on the average of one or two per day. Margo reads every play sent her and sends her comment to the author.

"It's the only decent thing to do," she says. "He has worked hard in writing his play and he is waiting for an answer."

On tables and a book shelf in Margo's hotel apartment which serves as both office and home are neatly arranged stacks of new plays sent her by playwrights, agents and friends.

"There are more good plays being written today than people realize," says Margo. "They need only to be produced. If they don't get a chance to be seen, a lot of our promising talent will be lost."

"If we just had 20 theaters like ours around the country, young writers could support themselves while developing their talents."

Even during her Broadway successes Margo was working out the plans for her dream theater, which became a reality in the summer of 1947.

Margo originally planned a flexible playhouse. But the city fire department refused to approve the building selected. With no other suitable building available she decided her plans could be carried out just as well by arena staging—the theater-in-the-round.

She opened the theater on June 3, 1947, calling it Theater 47. She changed the name on every Jan. 1.

The tiny theater can accommodate 190 people. Its seats, a gift from Texas theater owner Phil Isley, the father of movie actress Jennifer Jones, are arranged in elevated rows on the four sides.

The playing area, 12 by 18 feet, is in the center. Theatergoers walk across it to get to their seats.

If he wanted to, a person sitting in the front row could reach out and touch the actors.

Her still growing theater has expanded in nine years from a 10-week season of four new plays and one classic to a 45-week season and 12 new plays and 2 classics.

gards and regrets that Malenkov was unable to see us as he was away inspecting a power station.

"It was all very natural. He did not feel it off. He did it exactly as it would have been done here.

For instance, if I had taken a group of foreign guests around Swedish power plants, on their departure I would—in a similar case—convey my own boss' regrets that he could not have seen them.

There was nothing that could support any rumors and we got no impression that Pavlenko was covering up anything."

The fact Malenkov did not meet the Swedes personally had contributed to Western speculation that he was in trouble.

Atomic Stocks Get Emphasis in Market Today

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market dropped back in an irregular manner today with the atomic stocks coming in for the most emphasis.

Stocks with some atomic connection either direct or in prospect made wide moves in both directions.

Losses at times were heavy and some gains were pronounced. Usually, however, the range of change throughout the list was well covered by 2 points.

Trading was in the neighborhood of three million shares. That compared with 2,770,000 shares traded Tuesday when the market went a little higher.

Major sections losing ground included steels, motors, aircrafts, radio-televisions, utilities, and oils.

LAFF-A-DAY

"Anything by Houdini?"

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGUM, D. Sc.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. Possibly. In one small sample—40 men and 36 women—college leaders were compared with non-leaders on dominance, sociability, and self-confidence. Both men and women leaders scored higher than nonleaders on dominance, but no higher on sociability. Men leaders were moderately higher, but women were decidedly higher than nonleaders in self-confidence. We need larger samples, but it's hard to stop a woman who knows where she's going.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. Yes, Man's original "human nature"—his drives, urges, passions—have probably changed little through the ages. Americans, Chinese, Russians, and Hottentots all have about the same original drives as the cave men. But what different worlds and philosophies of life, and what different cultures they now have! Without changing man's original nature, we could develop its better qualities. This would lead to building a better world.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. Yes, because employees then marry secretly. Fear of discovery and fear of pregnancy causes serious emotional disturbances and, consequently, poor work. This opposition to employing married women is unwise, because married women are usually better workers than average. Moreover, marriage should be "known of all men."

FAIRLY SPOKEN

By MARGARET LATROBE

Any gift shop owner will tell you that he would welcome a bull in the china section in preference to a fleet footed child who is intent on seeing if the "unbreakable" labels are for real.

One such merchant pointed to his graying locks, and prematurely shaking hands. "Yipes!" said he. "Women who bring their kids in here are writing my obituary in speed shorthand. The toddlers I figure are better off at home. In here they yell to go to the bathroom, want a lollipop or are forever killing sales," he groaned.

"It's all in teaching them to behave in public," he said, blowing dust off a Limoges pitcher and nervously eyeing a small girl. "Now you take that youngster over there under the counter—" (and shortly I would have to take her since she was my very own doll, aged three)—"she's gonna dive head first into that basket of crystal goblets and her mother (self-conscious cough from customer) will blame me for having the basket there. Well, what can you expect if you keep fragile merchandise around on the floor?" she'll say—and he pitched his voice just high enough not to drown out the sound of crystal goblets being given the acid test.

Before being blessed with my own wee ones, I thought along with my shopkeeper friend that kiddies ought to be elsewhere than testing merchandise for flaws. But sometimes they have to go along on shopping trips—no body to leave them with, and sitters' prices are pretty steep even though they earn every sou.

Certain astute shopkeepers have in many instances found a simple solution. In the store entrance, before any fragile goods can disintegrate under the curious eye and fatal grasp of the small imp, a blizz play pen has been installed.

This lowers blood pressure all the way round, and prevents the young from killing sales.

The varying degrees of anti-social behavior in very young ones is something you must have experienced, to understand. Some little fellows are placid observers of the passing scene—even when shelves are lined with objects not even adults can resist handling—and sometimes breaking. Other children can circle a big store three times in as many minutes and be sprinting down busy streets, having committed petty larceny, speeding and breach of the peace before Mamma can join the chase. The latter group is called "outgoing," though "long gone" might be more accurate. A couple of years will solve this particular problem and add a new one of one kind or other. Meanwhile, pay the man for the glassware.

"Officer—did you see a reddish streak with blonde curls in the vicinity? Three blocks over? Thanks."

Springlike Weather Continues in Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's weather was a little more springlike today, with some warming and clear skies in most areas east of the Rockies.

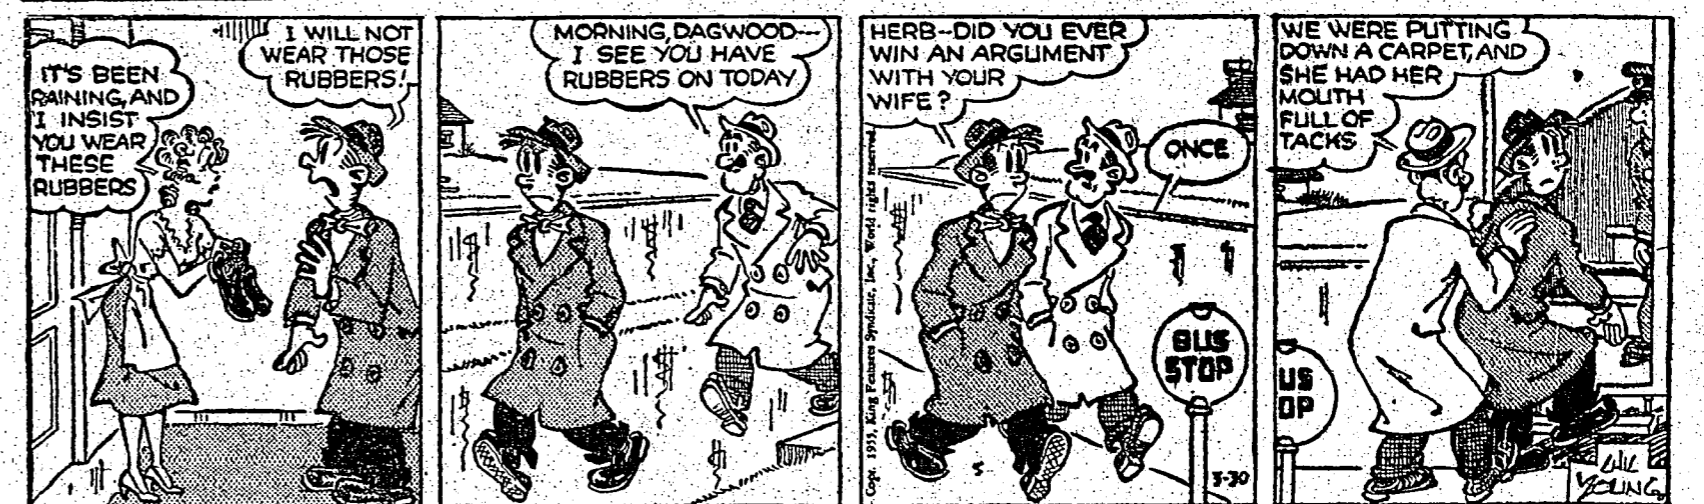

The warming trend continued over the eastern two thirds of the country. Below freezing temperatures early today were confined to the Great Lakes region, upper Ohio Valley and northern New England.

Showers fell along coastal areas of Oregon and Washington while rain or snow was reported in the northern Rockies. There was some local cloudiness along the Gulf and Middle Atlantic Coast but otherwise fair weather prevailed.
