Flames And Smoke poured from an abandoned factory building in Chicago Friday that was about to be razed to make way for a super-highway. No damage estimate could be set since the building was vacant. Cause of the blaze was undetermined. (UP Telephoto)

4 Chicago Fires Take One Life, 2 Firemen Hurt

CHICAGO (AP) — Four fires early today and Friday night took one life, slightly injured two firemen and caused an estimated $22,300 damage.

The one victim, Michael Elukovich, 66, died of apparent smoke inhalation, police said. He was found in a second floor bedroom of his home, adjacent to a foundry which caught fire early today and ignited the victim's dwelling. The fire's cause was not immediately determined.

Damage to both structures was estimated at $10,000.

The most spectacular blaze occurred Friday night in an abandoned six-story factory building. It raged for six hours. Thousands watched the near Northwest Side blaze that sent flames and billowing smoke hundreds of feet into the air.

Fireman Otto Linderman, 27, was overcome by smoke but was revived and described in good condition. The vacant building was being razed by a wrecking company to make way for a super-highway. Fire department officials described the loss as negligible. Its cause was undetermined.

A third fire burned out a three-story brick building on the Northwest side, causing an estimated $40,000 loss. The structure housed three businesses. Fireman James Faye, 29, suffered a sprained neck when hit by a stream of water.

A fourth fire, in a three-story brick apartment building on the near West Side, early today sent some 40 tenants fleeing to safety in night clothes. Damage was estimated at $2,300.

Government Seizes Pinball Firm Books

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Government investigators today studied business records of the Harmony Music Co., seized in a raid on the pinball and vending machine firm's offices here Friday.

George MacKinnon, federal district attorney, said seizure of the records came after filing of an affidavit that the company maintained two sets of books in an effort to evade taxes. MacKinnon himself accompanied the agents.

The search warrant for the raid was issued on the basis of an affidavit by a former bookkeeper for the firm which was filed with William E. C. Kelly, United States court commissioner, in St. Paul.

The papers listed Martin Kantar and Max M. Berenson as "disclosed partners" in the firm, with Fred Gates, Henry and Morris Sabes carried as "silent partners".

In her affidavit, Miss Mildred Roberts Varnado, 29, Minneapolis, the former bookkeeper, said she had been instructed, among other things:

To keep false and incomplete records, charge off certain loans as bad debts when, in fact, they had been paid and, in some instances, to omit from the records sales of used equipment.

Her sworn statement continued that Berenson and Kantar had told her to keep books in this manner "to avoid payment of federal taxes; that one set of records was to show federal authorities and the more complete records were for their own use."

Hennepin County court records showed that Miss Varnado was taken into custody recently on a grand larceny charge, reportedly for taking money from the Harmony firm.

Philippines Quake Death Toll 327

By HENRY HARTZENBUSCH
DANSALAN, Mindanao, Philippines (AP) — The death toll in the disastrous southern Philippines earthquake mounted to 327 today with reports from outlying areas continuing to give a grim picture of terrifying destruction.

Most of the dead were counted in the Lake Lanao region of northwestern Mindanao where Friday's mighty tremors caused a giant wave which submerged an entire village on the west shore.

In addition to the 327 confirmed dead, provincial officials listed 254 as injured and estimated five million dollars in crop damage. Additional millions in damage were wrought to churches, public buildings and homes which collapsed or slid into the lake.

An estimated 10,000 persons were homeless, mostly in Lanao province.

Officials in the capital of Lanao province expressed fear the toll would climb further.

President Ramon Magsaysay flew to hardest hit cities, Ozamis, Misamis Occidental province, and Dansalan and Iligan in Lanao.

Climbs on Rubble
He climbed on the rubble of the toppled old Spanish church in Ozamis and told the inhabitants: "I am really sorry this had to happen to you. I regret being here to view this terrible destruction."

We landed at Balo airport just south of Iligan and motored to Dansalan—a distance of 12 miles. Along the way we saw fissures and landslides. Huge boulders blocked part of the highway.

Tents provided temporary shelter for the homeless. Gov. St. T. Luch of Lanao said 300 bodies had been buried up to today.

He said the number of missing was still undetermined. Here is the breakdown on the death toll—most of it in villages in the Lake Lanao district: Tugaya 200, Bacolod 27, Madamba 30, Ganasi 30, Madalum 30, Bayang 2, Masio 4, Marantao 2, Wato 1 and Ozamis City 1. The governor said Bacolod village was swept into the lake by the huge wave, killing 30.

"Most casualties were due to drowning when homes built on stilts along the lake shore toppled," Luch said.

A U.S. Air Force medical team arrived today from Clark Air Force Base on Luzon.

Philippine geophysicists headed by Arturo Alcaraz said this quake epicenter was in the area between Lake Lanao and Iligan, north coastal city. "This was the worst earthquake we've had this century," Alcaraz told me. "Fissures indicated terrific force."

Chicago Carpenter Facing Deportation

ST. PAUL (AP) — The U.S. Immigration Service headquarters here Friday affirmed a deportation order for Angelo Cantisani, 43, Chicago carpenter, to be returned to Italy.

Cantisani, who entered this country illegally in 1949, said his life would be endangered from Communists in his homeland because he had been an active fighter against them while there.

Stassen Will Testify on Wednesday

Senate Committee
Staff Reports
Subpoena Served

WASHINGTON (AP) — Foreign Aid Director Harold E. Stassen will appear Wednesday before the Senate Investigations subcommittee. Whether he is going voluntarily or under subpoena was still in dispute today.

The subcommittee staff said a subpoena was legally served on Stassen yesterday. Stassen's office said he refused to accept it since he had already arranged to appear voluntarily.

Stassen himself repeated, in a letter to Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) last night, his "willingness to cooperate with you and your committee and my willingness to meet with you or with the committee at any time."

Stassen has Cabinet rank both in his foreign aid post and in his new position of special assistant to President Eisenhower to study disarmament. It is unusual for congressional groups to go further than "invite" officials of Cabinet rank before them.

The subpoena issued yesterday was not the kind normally used to require a witness to appear, but a document which "commanded" Stassen personally to hand over next Wednesday all his documents and records concerning negotiations for a grain storage plant in Pakistan.

The subcommittee is investigating the negotiations for a still-unsigned contract under which the Foreign Operations Administration (FOA) plans to finance the plant.

Robert F. Kennedy, the subcommittee's chief counsel, said investigator Robert J. McElroy reported he had served the subpoena decum on the protesting Stassen, and had even tried to stuff it into Stassen's pocket.

The FOA chief's office insisted it was not served.

Farmer Pinned In Wrecked Car For Eight Hours

MADEIRA, Minn. (AP) — "Hearing the trucks go by and not being able to signal them was the worst part of it," a young Madeira farmer said today after being pinned for eight hours in his car 160 feet from where he hit a bridge abutment.

Jense Anderson, about 25, suffered a broken right arm, cuts and bruises in the accident. His doctor at Madeira Community Hospital said his condition was not serious.

Anderson told authorities he lost control of his car about midnight while he was on his way home from St. James. After crossing the highway and going out onto some soft earth at the side of the road, the car hit the abutment, flew 100 feet to the far side of the creekbed, then bounced another 60 feet.

The car finally came to rest after striking a tree, ripping bark off the trunk 12 feet above the ground.

The car landed upside down, pinning the farmer's broken arm in the wreckage.

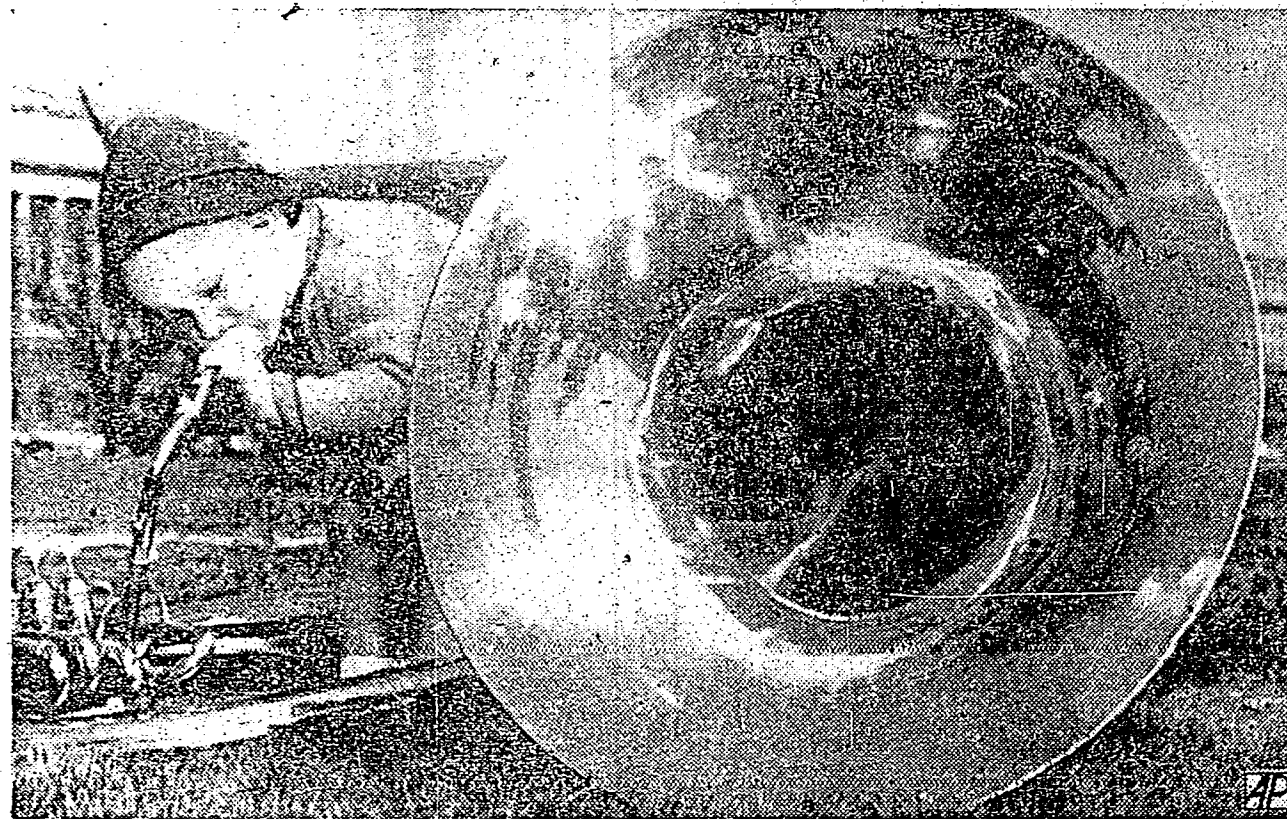

The accident was not discovered until about 7:45 a.m. today.

"The cold bothered me more than the broken arm," Anderson said after he was taken to the hospital. "It was mighty cold with just a jacket for a wrap."

"I tried to use the horn to attract attention, but it wouldn't work."

Dies as Auto Rolls

WAUKESHA, Wis. (AP) — Frank K. Mayer, 38, of Milwaukee, was killed instantly Friday night when his car rolled over several times at the intersection of West Blue Mound Road and Calhoun Road in Waukesha County.

The Glittering Bell of the big tuba was too much of a lure for two-year-old Josef Westerhorstmann when a tired bandsman parked the horn on the Washington Monument grounds during the Cherry Blossom festival music competition. Josef leaned over and gave the mouthpiece his biggest "blow." Then, without making any more noise than he did on the tuba, Josef trudged silently and proudly away. (AP Wirephoto)

Russ May Keep China Reds From Formosa Attack

LONDON (AP) — Diplomatic sources here saw indications today the Russians may succeed in checking the Chinese Communists from launching any military offensive in their campaign for Formosa.

These indications were based somewhat on a marked tapering off in Peiping Radio's sabre-rattling over Formosa during the past 10 days.

Diplomatic informants said Moscow has been working behind the scenes with the British for weeks in an attempt to quiet the explosive situation — apparently fearful as much as anybody else that Formosa might touch off a third world war.

Indiana Man New Izaak Walton Head

CHICAGO (AP) — Lou H. Dunten of Fort Wayne, Ind., Friday was elected national president of the Izaak Walton League of America at its 33rd annual convention.

He succeeded William H. H. Wertz, Wooster, Ohio.

Wisconsin Boy Dies in Fire

ALBION, Wis. (AP) — A five-year-old boy perished today in his family's flaming farm home following an explosion of undetermined cause.

Richard Witt, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ramon Witt, died of suffocation and burns, Dane County Coroner Stanley Larson said.

Witt was hospitalized at Edgerton with serious burns. His wife and their other four children, from 2 to 9 years old, suffered cuts and scratches. Witt was burned while rescuing two of the children.

Hayes, Ex-Legion Commander, Dead

CHICAGO (AP) — Edward A. Hayes, 62, former national commander of the American Legion, died Friday. An attorney formerly of Decatur, Ill., Hayes made an unsuccessful bid for the Republican nomination for United States senator from Illinois last year.

Chinese on Formosa Fear U.S. Will Yield

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — There is a new kind of tension these days in Formosa. Not a war tension, a surrender tension. Formosa is tense with dread that the United States is in the process of deciding — if she hasn't already decided — to write off Matsu and Quemoy.

What is the evidence? American representatives here are making a daily sounding of Formosa morale and reporting to Washington. They report on money exchange rates, prices and other things that reflect fear or discouragement or hope.

"They wouldn't be doing this if they were going to help us fight for Matsu and Quemoy," said one Nationalist officer. "They wouldn't have to worry about morale then."

Some Chinese even profess to see in the imminent departure on home leave of Ambassador Karl Rankin a gloomy omen. Rankin, five years on Formosa and deeply sympathetic with the Nationalist cause, is, they say, being spared the painful task of breaking the bad news.

Everybody agrees that the effect here of another bloodless surrender like Tachens and Nanchishan would be bad. One highly-placed American said "it might even be fatal."

Some even doubt that Chiang Kai-shek's leadership could survive it. Some say the army might rebel. These soldiers, who have put their personal lives in adjournment even to eschewing marriage as their part toward counter-invasion, might blow their tops if they get the notion that the purpose of all this self denial and patient preparation had disappeared.

More surrenders would have a slower but possibly even worse effect on non-Communist Southeast Asia, some Nationalist quarters argue. These people say that the cold war has reached a point in Asia where a reversal in one area affects all other areas.

Charges Ike Is Fumbling And Faltering

Would Give Nehru Nationalist China's Place on Council

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) denounced today a proposal by Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) that the United States support India as a replacement for Nationalist China on the United Nations Security Council.

Noting Prime Minister Nehru's assertion that India would not join in if all the rest of the world were fighting, Knowland said in an interview he doesn't believe India deserves the "support of people trying to build a system of collective security." U. N. members, he said, are pledged to oppose aggression.

Humphrey made his proposal in a Chapel Hill, N. C., speech last night in which he accused the Eisenhower administration of "fumbling and faltering" at a time when "the issue of peace and war is in the balance" in the Far East.

Support of India, he said, would show this country's interest in Asia. He added that "the Nationalist China of today... is weak and not representative of the new Asia."

Series of Attacks
Humphrey's blast capped a series of attacks by Democratic senators and one Republican—Sen. McCarthy of Wisconsin—on President Eisenhower and his policies in the Senate yesterday.

In one of these, Sen. Morse (D-Ore.) offered a resolution to put Congress on record against the use of force to defend the Chinese coastal islands of Quemoy and Matsu. Morse was one of those who voted against the defend-Formosa resolution passed by Congress.

Knowland told the Senate passage of Morse's resolution would "tie the hands" of President Eisenhower. He said if the Communists took its introduction seriously, the proposal "might inadvertently encourage aggression in the Far East."

Humphrey said that the use of atomic weapons to defend the Quemoy and Matsu islands might alienate all Asia, and added:

"It would be nothing short of tragic if a decision to defend the offshore islands should lead to complete break between ourselves and the free Asian nations."

McCarthy told the Senate Eisenhower is adopting a "deadly dangerous" attitude in refusing to announce that the United States intends to defend Quemoy and Matsu.

Appeasement Denied
He labeled as "nonsense" a charge the Tennesseean favors "appeasement" of the Communists was merely a resort to "calling names and making odious comparisons."

"It matters little to me what Sen. McCarthy says about me," Kefauver said.

Sen. Scott (D-N.C.) blamed Eisenhower himself for the "confusion" in foreign affairs he said has caused "a drift that has now carried us dangerously close to the brink of war."

"It is time we stopped criticizing the bat boys and begin to see just what kind of a job the pitcher is doing," Scott told the Senate.

Sen. Symington (D-Mo.) drew a bead on Eisenhower's proposals to reduce military manpower, a program the Missourian said "is leading us to the brink of nuclear war."

"In reducing our ability to fight or the ground; while steadily increasing reliance on nuclear weapons delivered by air, we may well be committing ourselves to a path from which there can be no turning back—world devastation resulting from the use of the hydrogen bomb," he declared.

Chinese Communist Gunboats Damaged

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The Defense Ministry reports Chinese Nationalist warships damaged two Communist gunboats off the mainland coast near Matsu Island late today.

The communists said the Red craft fled northward. Further south, Communist artillery on Tatung Island in Amoy harbor fired 22 shells at Nationalist-held Quemoy but did no damage, the ministry added.

The Bell Tower at the north-end of the Ferry Building in San Francisco begins to topple in the four-alarm fire that swept through the north wing of the historic structure Friday. The spectacular blaze, which occurred at the peak of rush-hour traffic, resulted in the death of one person, injuries to five others and property damage estimated as high as $2,000,000. ## Smog Man-Made, Probers Discover

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A $300,000 investigation into the dark and smelly scourge of smog has disclosed:

1. That smog is man-made;
2. That it can be attributed to industry, autos and incinerators;
3. That it can be capricious—causing eye irritation in one district while at the same time causing plant damage, but not eye irritation, in another area; a few miles away.

Dr. Lauren B. Hitchcock, president of the Air Pollution Foundation, yesterday gave newsmen a briefing on the results of his group's county-sponsored survey of smog last summer in the Los Angeles basin.

Medical science is unable to tell that pollutants in the air killed human beings in Donora, Pa., and London, England, in attacks of smog in recent years, he said. But he ticked off the sources that contribute pollutants to Los Angeles smog, and the percentage of contribution, as follows:

- Industry: 50 per cent
- Motor vehicles: 40 per cent
- Incinerators: 10 per cent

"Smog," defines Hitchcock, "is the eye-smarting, crop-killing compounds in pollutions from these sources."

"We are certain that smog is man-made and not the result of chemical reactions from elements in nature."

"Air pollution isn't smog," he said. "It is the mother of smog."

It strikes differently in different neighborhoods, he said. On bad days the worst visibility was in the Wilshire District, a few miles west of downtown Los Angeles. But the worst eye irritation was in the downtown district.

OK of German Treaty Near Senate Record

WASHINGTON (AP) — The German rearmament treaties moved through the Senate "probably in faster time than any major treaty in recent times," a staff aide said today.

Dr. Francis Wilcox, chief of the foreign relations committee staff, gave that appraisal of the four-day span which saw the committee start hearings Tuesday, complete them Wednesday, and bring them up for a smashing 76-2 approval by the Senate after three hours debate yesterday.

The two pacts give the West German Republic sovereignty the right to rearm and membership in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. They may play a very significant role in the future.

The major reason is the Senate had already recorded itself as overwhelmingly in favor of a rearmament Germany before the new treaties ever came before it.

Westerners Serving Reds Lonely Group

By FRED HAMPSON
HONG KONG (U.P.)—The handful of Western Communists and pro-Communists who serve Peiping are the loneliest people in China. Businessmen and correspondents visiting China recently brought out differing reports about the exiles, but all agree they are a lonesome lot.

Some are worried about passports. None so far has severed all ties with home. The most widely known are two British pro-Communist correspondents, Alan Winington and Wilfred Burchett. They got the spotlight in Korea when they acted as unofficial spokesmen.

It was there too that they put their passports in danger. The British government has condoned pro-Communist, even anti-British work in China proper. But the propaganda these two did for the Reds in Korea—where British troops were fighting—cost Winington his passport and may cost Burchett his.

Burchett's papers expire in May. He has asked for renewal. Winington's request for renewal was refused. He now can get only papers good for return to the United Kingdom; once there he could not leave.

Michael Shapiro, another British correspondent, lost his passport for his efforts in Korea, according to returning visitors.

Winington and Shapiro represent the London Daily Worker and work for the Communist New China News Agency. They live well, like medium-level Communist bureaucrats, with commodious houses, two or more servants, sufficient heat, clothing and good food.

Burchett has never worked officially for the Reds. His overseas correspondence seems to pay him amply. One visitor said he lived better than the others and certainly seemed to have more ready cash.

Israel Epstein, who has lived in China off and on for years and who once resided in the United States, is on the staff of a Red magazine called China Reconstructs. It is an English-language publication devoted to propagandizing Communist industrial efforts.

Nan Green, a British woman, held various jobs in Peiping. Her passport recently expired but was renewed.

A few Americans still work for Peiping.

A Midwesterner named Robert Winter is teaching in Peiping University. Returned visitors say he calls himself an "American liberal." He is reported to be compiling a new English textbook for the Reds. Another American is Dr. George Hatem, long a resident in China who has taken the name of Ma Hat-teh.

A returned British journalist who visited the exiles called them "lost souls." He says they seem to have chosen Communism because it gave them an importance they could not win in a competitive society.

26 Hurt in Stampede At Jap Baseball Game

Spring Weather General in U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pleasant spring weather was the outlook for most sections of the country today, although there were some wet spots in the South and Far West.

The main precipitation area early today extended from the Missouri-Arkansas border southeastward across western Tennessee and included most of Alabama.

Cooler air from the Pacific resulted in scattered showers in the Far West, with light snow inland and in the mountain areas of Idaho and extreme western Montana.

The dust storms which swept the Southern Plains appeared ended but there was some blowing dust in part of Louisiana.

Below freezing weather early today was confined mainly to near the Canadian border. Readings in the 30s and 40s were reported across the northern half of the country. Coldest area was northern New England with readings in the teens in some sections.

Temperatures were in the 60s along the southern border of the country; in the 50s in the southeast while west of the Rockies they ranged from the 30s in the north west to the 50s in southern California.

It's Charm School For City Workers In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (U.P.)—Whether they like it or not, 16,000 municipal employees are going to charm school.

Civil Service commissioners yesterday decided to make attendance compulsory, but since the charm will be dispensed during working hours the City Council must approve the decision.

City employees, their supervisors and general managers and members of the police and fire departments will be the students.

They will be taught public relations, office courtesy among themselves and to visiting taxpayers, how to handle difficult situations with "crackpots," and how to say no politely, yet firmly.

So says Joseph W. Hawthorne, general manager of the Civil Service Department, who suggested the school.

2 Experts Agree Izaak Walton Soil Plan Has Merit

CHICAGO (U.P.)—Two farm experts agreed today the Izaak Walton League's soil plan has merit. The plan is designed to eventually supplant farm price supports. In essence, it would provide for a system under which a farmer would retire certain marginal lands from production and lease them to the government. Some 70 billion acres would be taken from cultivation.

The experts discussed pros and cons of the plan at the league's 33rd annual convention.

Gus F. Geissler of Denver, representing the National Farmers Union, commented that "I like the basic plan and your objectives" but that he differed with the league on the supposition that it would erase price supports.

But he said that he was in sympathy with the soil plan and commented that "we in the National Farmers Union are now supporting legislation with similar objectives."

W. E. Hamilton, research director for the American Farm Bureau federation, said the plan appeared to be "sound, practicable and workable" but there might be some objections to its costs.

Man Hit by Golf Ball Asks $150,000

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (U.P.)—A retired auto manufacturing executive wants $150,000 damages for injuries he said he suffered when a golf ball hit by actor Jack Carson struck him.

Lewis E. Fiske, 74, of Denver, said the ball hit him Feb. 1, 1954, at the Desert Inn Country Club course at Las Vegas, causing permanent impairment of vision, pain and headaches.

He named Carson and the Desert Inn as defendants in his suit, filed yesterday in Federal District Court.

Stevens to Confer With Chiang Kai-shek

TAIPEI, Formosa (U.P.)—U.S. Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens is expected here tomorrow to confer with President Chiang Kai-shek.

Gen. Earle E. Partridge, commander of the Japan-based U.S. Far East Air Force, is expected next week.

CIO Auto Workers Ask Labor, Farm Groups for Backing

CLEVELAND (U.P.)—The CIO United Automobile Workers Union yesterday urged labor and farm groups to mobilize in advance of the 1956 political conventions, "in an all-out effort to fight for liberal principles in the platforms of the political parties."

At the conclusion of the union's convention, the 3,000 delegates approved a resolution calling for a national conference of labor, farm and other "liberal" forces next spring.

One of its last acts, the convention shouted endorsement of a program calling for federal aid to school and hospital construction, a federal public housing program, heavier taxes on excess profits and surplus savings, appropriations for public power, increased unemployment benefits, a $1.25 minimum wage, greater social security coverage, and federal industrial health and safety codes.

A foreign policy resolution hailed the administration's pledge to support Formosa and the Pescadore Islands from Red Chinese invasion.

Another resolution gave notice the union would seek a 30-hour work week with no reduction in pay as its next big goal after it achieves the guaranteed annual wage. The union also demanded broader seniority rights and joint company-union training programs to help workers displaced by machines prepare for other jobs.

subcommittee three years ago that he did not adhere to the Communist line.

Charges of perjury have been pending against him for some time. The main indictment, however, was thrown out by U.S. District Judge Luther W. Youngdahl in Washington.

Wisconsin Communities to Elect County, Local Officials Tuesday

Two Minnesota Cities to Vote On Same Day

2 Changes Proposed In Constitution of State of Wisconsin

A general election will be held in Wisconsin Tuesday for the purpose of voting on two proposed changes in the state constitution, electing a state supreme court justice and naming municipal, county and town officers.

In addition, special referendums will be put before the electorate of several communities and a state senator from the 10th district of Buffalo, Pepin, Pierce, Dunn and St. Croix counties will be elected. Municipal elections will be held too at LAKE CITY and WABASHA, Minn., Tuesday.

One of the Wisconsin REFERENDUMS would authorize school bonding subdivisions to base the value of taxable property as it is equalized for state tax purposes rather than on the local assessed valuation as is now the practice. In effect, this proposal would increase the borrowing power of school districts.

The other referendum would prohibit those over 70 from becoming Supreme Court or circuit judges and would require that all persons serving as judges practice law for at least five years immediately prior to his or her election or appointment.

A former Mendota attorney, Grover L. Broadfoot, is opposed for re-election to the state SUPREME COURT as a justice. This election is nonpartisan.

In the reappointed 10TH DISTRICT, Robert P. Knowles (R), brother of Warren P. Knowles, lieutenant governor, and William W. Ward (D), both of New Richmond, Wis., will vie for the State Senate seat vacated by Warren when he was elected to the lieutenant governorship last fall. Since that time the district has been without representation in the Senate.

COUNTY JUDGES will be elected in all the Western Wisconsin counties. In Trempealeau, incumbent Albert L. Twesme, Galesville, is unopposed. George L. Pattison, Alma, incumbent Buffalo County judge is also unopposed.

In Pepin County Joseph H. Riedner, incumbent, Durand, is opposed by William W. Thurston, a fellow townsman and former city attorney, in Jackson County, Hans Hanson, incumbent, Black River Falls, is unopposed. All are nonpartisan elections.

At GALESVILLE, Wis., a referendum to name the city streets will be a major issue Tuesday. It will read: "Shall the name of the streets be changed and shall street signs be erected, in accordance with the simplified street map printed below?" If accepted by the voters, signs in accordance with the map will be erected in the near future.

Voters of the TOWN OF DURAND, Pepin County, will decide whether to issue $24,000 in bonds for road improvements. In the lone referendum in Jackson County, citizens of the TOWN OF MANCHESTER will weigh the issue of class B beer licenses which would allow on- and off-sale of the beverage.

On the Minnesota side of the river, municipal elections will be held in Lake City, where a three-man race for 2nd Ward alderman is the lone contest, and Wabasha, where there's competition for mayor, assessor and 1st and 2nd ward aldermen.

In LAKE CITY, Elmer Kuntz, James Conway and Ed J. Fetter are in the race for the alderman job vacated by Tilton Hunder. Nat Peterson is the lone candidate for the 1st ward post. Everett Whempner, incumbent, is not seeking re-election. Polls will be open from 7 a. m. to 8 p. m. at the Washington School and city hall.

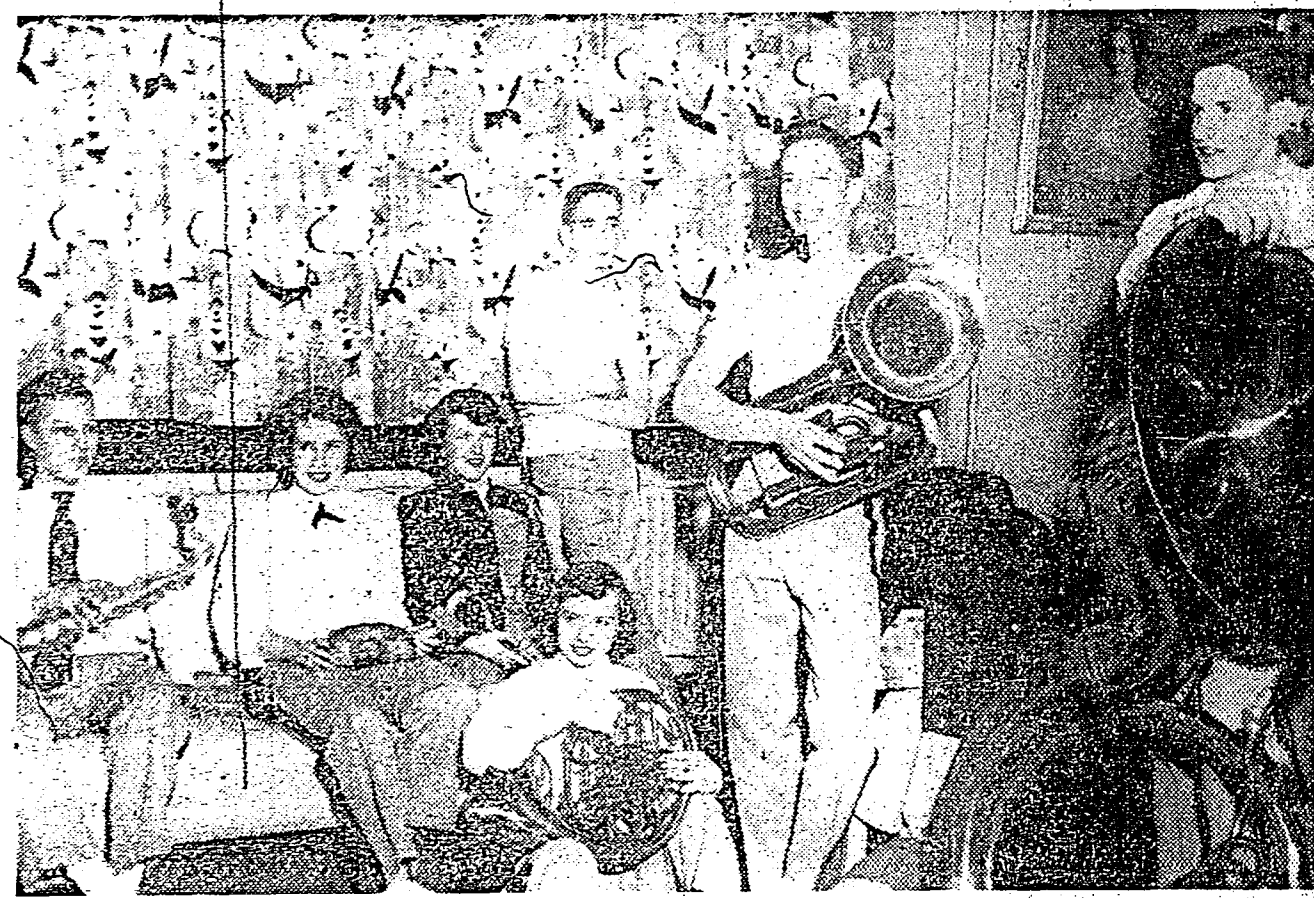

WABASHA'S races shape up this way: For mayor—incumbent Paul Ayotte and A. J. Kirtz; for assessor—R. C. Schurhammer, incumbent, and Charles J. Johnson; for 1st Ward alderman—Mrs. Ann Feddern, incumbent, and Lloyd Maabs; 2nd Ward alderman—Mrs. Katherine Balow, incumbent, Ted Markey and Roy Hopkins.

Unopposed are Treasurer Charles Theismann, Justice of the Peace Henry Kronenbusch and 3rd Ward Ald. William Schurhammer. Polls will be open from 7 a. m. to 8 p. m. at the city hall, courthouse and Ramey's Hall.

At ALMA, Wis., two aldermanic races will be fought. In the 1st Ward, A. H. Gluesing meets Henry George Ulrich and in the 3rd Ward, James K. Breck faces Mrs. Beulah Knutson. Alvin Vollmer is unopposed in the 2nd Ward. There were no filings for assessors in any of the wards. Polls will be open from 9 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. in the municipal building.

A contest for BUFFALO CITY alderman between three men is the lone race there. Wilfred C. Kaufmann, Henry Zeichert, Buffalo County traffic officer, and Ernest W. Weltzien will vie for the job. Unopposed are Gerald Duval, mayor; Duval, supervisor; Carl Herrmann, city marshal, and Dominic Thering, justice of the peace.

At COCHRANE, there are no contests. Earl Blank has been nomi-

Group Music Competition Led by Plainview, Byron

Byron and Plainview high schools, with four "firsts" each, tied in Friday's District III music contest for bands, choruses and glee clubs at Winona State Teachers College.

St. Charles and Elgin high schools each took three "firsts"; Dodge Center high school two, and Kasson-Mantorville, Mazeppa, Pine Island, Stewartville and Wabasha one each.

Student assistants at the college, who registered contestants from 12 area high schools in the day-long competition, said last night that 970 students had participated in the various events.

Judges in the contest were Frederick Schmitt and Bruce Howden, vocal instructor and band director respectively from St. Olaf College, Northfield, and Gale Sperry, marching band director, University of Minnesota.

Winners of the coveted "first" in the mixed chorus event were Byron, Elgin, Plainview, St. Charles and Stewartville; in the junior supervisor, Edwin Erickson, incumbent. Those who are unopposed are Mrs. Ruth Hartung, treasurer; Julius Jahnke, assessor; Robert Brantner, constable, and Percy Miner, justice of the peace.

TREMPEALEAU COUNTY Independence — Justice of the peace, no candidate; 1st Ward alderman, Melvin Samplewski, incumbent; 1st Ward supervisor, Edward J. Kulig, incumbent; 2nd Ward alderman, Roman Slaby, incumbent; 2nd Ward supervisor, Joseph M. Rozkos, incumbent; 3rd Ward alderman, Roy Lyga, incumbent; 3rd Ward supervisor, Myron H. Olson, incumbent; 4th Ward alderman, no candidate to succeed Earl Hutchins who did not file, and 4th Ward supervisor, Lester A. Senty, incumbent.

Mayor Rufus Warner holds over and Clerk Philip Roskos and Treasurer August A. Misch were appointed by the council. An assessor also is appointed each year.

Osseo—Mayor Russell Sayles is a candidate to succeed S. E. Lee, who did not file for election. 1st Ward alderman, S. T. Thompson, incumbent; 1st Ward supervisor, S. E. Lee, incumbent; 2nd Ward alderman, Harry Hagenes, incumbent; 2nd Ward supervisor, M. I. Gilbert, incumbent; 3rd Ward alderman, Norris Paulson, a candidate to succeed Chester Haugen who is not running, and 3rd Ward supervisor, Edwin Erickson, incumbent. Those who are unopposed are Mrs. Ruth Hartung, treasurer; Julius Jahnke, assessor; Robert Brantner, constable, and Percy Miner, justice of the peace.

At ALMA, Wis., two aldermanic races will be fought. In the 1st Ward, A. H. Gluesing meets Henry George Ulrich and in the 3rd Ward, James K. Breck faces Mrs. Beulah Knutson. # Two Fountain City Youths Rescue Elderly Fisherman From Drowning

FOUNTAIN CITY, Wis. — Two Fountain City youths pushed their way through rotting ice in Fountain City bay near Merrick State Park Friday evening to rescue a 68-year-old Winona fisherman who had plunged into the icy waters of the Mississippi River.

Reported to be recovering at the Winona General Hospital today from exposure suffered while he floundered for nearly 20 minutes in the river was Bert Damon, 520 Harriet St.

Unable to speak and apparently in serious condition when he was pulled from the river at about 6:40 p. m. Friday, Damon this morning was said to have improved considerably.

The principals in the rescue were David Skemp, 17, and his brother, Fred (Skipper), 19, the sons of Dr. and Mrs. Fred Skemp, Fountain City.

Buffalo County Deputy Sheriff Orville Abts said that Damon and an unidentified companion went fishing in Fountain City bay earlier in the day and were returning to shore—walking—when Damon began to break through the ice.

The two Skemp boys were playing football in the park area.

Another person at the waterfront had noticed Damon when he began to break through the ice near the middle of the bay and this witness began to shout for help.

"I heard someone yelling and went down to see what was the matter," David said. "When I got to the shore I saw this man—I don't know what his name was—trying to get out on the ice."

There was an area of about 10 feet over open water between the shore and the edge of the ice on the bay and the would-be rescuer was trying to leap across the water to the ice.

"He had a stick with him and he tried several times to get out on the ice but every time he'd break through," David said, adding, "he really tried his best to get out there and help."

briefly to get to the ice but they also broke through and decided rather to find a boat that they might use to go to Damon.

Boats that were tied up nearby were found to leak so the two youths went to a nearby refreshment stand where boats are kept for rent and obtained the use of one of these boats.

Manning this boat, they broke a lane through the crumbling ice and nudged out to where Damon was struggling in the water.

"He had a wood fishing box with him," David said, "and this seemed to help keep him above the water and he also was hanging on the edge of the ice."

"By the time we got to him, though, he seemed to be about ready to go under," he continued. David and Fred — the latter a student at St. Mary's College — said that they experienced some difficulty in getting Damon into the boat.

"It was kind of awkward trying

Inquest Stated Into Fatality Near Rochester

Fountain Driver In Fair Condition; Hastings Man Dead

ROCHESTER, Minn.—An inquest into the death of Robert Hazman, 34, Hastings, will be conducted late next week by Dr. T. O. Wellman, Olmsted County coroner.

Hazman was fatally injured when the car in which he was riding left Highway 52 about eight miles south of here shortly before midnight Thursday. Driver of the car was Swen J. Swenson, Fountain.

A 7-man coroner's jury (including an alternate) was sworn in by the coroner Friday afternoon, but the exact time of the inquest will depend upon return of blood and urine samples from the Minnesota Bureau of Criminal Apprehension laboratories.

Swenson and Mrs. Sebastian Dornier, 40, Hastings, were taken to a Rochester hospital and were reported to be in fair condition Friday. Swenson suffered head lacerations and ankle cuts and Mrs. Dornier sustained head bruises.

Sheriff Gerald Cunningham said Swenson apparently lost control of the southbound car which gouged dirt on the left side of the road as it hit the shoulder. The car rolled over several times, traveling diagonally 251 feet over to the right side of the road. Hazman was found dead on the pavement when Dr. Wellner and County Attorney D. P. Mattson arrived.

Mrs. Dornier and Swenson were dazed and could not remember whether they were thrown from the car.

Sheriff Cunningham found several bottles of beer near the scene and in the car and said that Swenson admitted that he had been drinking beer all day.

The following "firsts" were won in the bands: Byron, Elgin, St. Charles, Dodge Center, Wabasha, Plainview and Kasson-Mantorville.

Byron, Elgin, St. Charles, Dodge Center, Pine Island and Plainview all took "firsts" in the band sight-reading event.

William John is band director at Kasson-Mantorville; Robert Seath at Pine Island; Clarence Lee, Byron; Harry A. Prouty, Mazeppa; Mary Denzine, Elgin; Glen Weber, St. Charles; Gordon Danuser, Dodge Center; Irvin Burkhardt, Wabasha; Walter Gludt, Plainview, and Jay Robinson, Stewartville.

Fred Hoyer of the music faculty of Winona State Teachers College was contest manager, with Gludt from Plainview serving as assistant. The Mason Music Club at the college assisted in registration, ushering and recording.

Schools competed in different classes.

Whitehall—For mayor, Clarence Kaas and Alf Wilberg to succeed Knut Amble who is not a candidate. Treasurer, Alton E. Berg, incumbent; assessor, E. A. # Six Contestants in Winona City Elections Monday

Six contests will be decided when the city of Winona general elections are held Monday for city offices and for the Board of Education.

Five of them are for city positions, one for the Board of Education. Squared off for MUNICIPAL POSTS: Mayor—Loyde E. Pfeiffer, who is completing his first two-year term after serving one year previously to complete an unexpired term, and Emil Prondzinski, former city weed inspector.

Alderman-at-large—Gordon L. Weishorn, completing his first two-year term, and Louis Czarnowski, now a 4th Ward director on the Board of Education and 4th Ward alderman from 1933-34.

1st Ward alderman—Harold W. Briesath and Donald C. Klein-schmidt to succeed R. K. Ellings, not a candidate for re-election.

3rd Ward alderman—Howard A. Baumann, who is completing his second four-year term, and Clarence L. Tribell, who is making his fourth bid for the City Council after serving one term there, from 1941-45. In three previous tries for the office—1945, 1947 and 1951—he has lost by a total of about 126 votes.

4th Ward alderman—Joe "Val" Karsina, completing his first term, and Ray Thilmany.

The only contest for the BOARD OF EDUCATION: Director-at-large — Clarence P. Hartner, completing a two-year term now but served a similar term in 1949-51, and Philip A. Beardsley.

UNOPPOSED for re-election are: Municipal Judge E. D. Libera, for a seventh term. Special Municipal Judge Loren W. Torgerson, for a third term. 2nd Ward Ald. William S. L. Christensen, for a second term. 1st Ward school board director, Carrol Syverson, for a second term.

3rd Ward school board director, William A. Lindquist, who is completing term after appointment to fill a vacancy.

UNOPPOSED for election are: 2nd Ward school director, Ben A. Miller, to succeed George W. Richman. 4th Ward school director, Dr.

One-Man Balloon Lands Near Ettrick

ETTRICK, Wis. (Special) — Balloons — weather and research — are common nowadays in Southeastern Minnesota and Western Wisconsin.

The balloon that landed near here about 11 a. m. was different, however: It had a man in it.

John Warren of Minneapolis told the crowd that quickly gathered around him that he had taken off in the large plastic balloon about 9 o'clock this morning from Minneapolis. His aerial route included Ellsworth and Arcadia.

Following him all the way was an airplane, and shortly after the balloon came down between the Alfred Lien farm and the Lawrence Thompson property, four miles northwest of here, a Navy truck arrived to take him and instruments away.

With Warren in the balloon were oxygen, a two-way radio, instruments and sandbags for ballast.

The balloon was sent aloft by the General Mills government research project.

Blonde Bond From Brooklyn Smash Hit

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Miss Shellah Bond—who takes a bath on stage every night in "Lunatics and Lovers"—will match her bathtub with Shelley Winters' bathtub any time and give her some soap suds to spare.

Stetler's been claiming that when she took a bath recently in "The Women," she didn't have a thing on but soap bubbles.

"Now wait," protested the blonde Bond from Brooklyn, when I mentioned it. "I know she's a character and that she's crazy—but I can't believe with all the stage hands around, she'd get in a tub without anything on."

"I wear a kit," she said. "Sure, I'm supposed to look that way. I'm in a strapless bathing suit. Then we put some plastic all over me and it looks like skin. I have plenty on. One time," she said, "I was in a bathtub scene, and we faked it good. Maybe Shelley did, too."

"How did you fake it?" "Well, they had a board across the tub and on that they put some plastic and it looked like water and suds, but there wasn't really any water in the tub."

"I was sitting there looking like I was in the water, but I had a dress on."

Miss Bond said that sitting there in the bathtub—in a bathing suit—between her bathing appearances in the Sidney Kingsley play, is so boring for her that she decided to do her reading at this time.

"I have a little flashlight and I sit there reading the papers. One night when Mr. Kingsley wandered in, he put his glasses on and said, 'Now I've seen everything!'"

"Well, what am I going to do, sitting here so long?" she asked. For, she says, it isn't comfortable, even if they do have a special seat built in the bathtub for her.

"I forgot to tell you, I put a medical application on me, so I won't get rashes and things. It's a protection."

Buddy Hackett, the young comedian in the show, has gone around telling people he has trouble looking at Shellah in the tub in their bathroom scene, because he's embarrassed at seeing a nude girl.

"That's Buddy's joke," she says. "He tells everybody that, till they believe it. That's the way with this show. It's a fun show, 'Lunatics and Lovers'—it's just funnies."

"We're always trying to break everybody up. You should see Dennis King. He's insane. He's a

Hagerty Backs Yalta Papers Publication

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP)—James C. Hagerty, press secretary to President Eisenhower, says the Yalta agreement should have been made public "long before" it actually was.

But, he told the Pennsylvania Society of Newspaper Editors yesterday at a press seminar at Pennsylvania State University, he felt that "personal comments or casual conversations" should have been included in the state papers.

Hagerty said the President knew generally of the contents of the Yalta papers—but not the precise details of some of the side comments.

break-you-up guy from away back. Out in the audience you can't see it, but he's staring at me winking at me, trying to break me up. But I get even. I tickle his feet in the bathtub."

"You see, at one moment, he gets into the tub, and I'm tickling his feet all the time with my toe, trying to break him up."

"It's just a ball all the time," Shellah said. "Then after I get out of the tub, my maid sponges me down and I come home and take a bath—another bath. I'm the cleanest girl in town."

Grocery Price War Makes Shopping Joy

CODY, Wyo. (AP)—This town near Yellowstone National Park was a grocery shopper's paradise today. A price war between chain and independent stores knocked the price of milk down to 19 cents a half gallon. Potato bread was 9 cents a loaf. The price fight has been going on the past four weekends.

Depression Day Ghosts Lurking In Labor Offices

By MARTHA COLE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ghosts of the old WPA depression days stand vigil today in the corridors and offices of the Department of Labor.

They are the pictures in oil and water color painted by artists back in the 1930s under one of the many projects operated by the Works Progress Administration to provide work for the needy.

A few of the pictures are in storage, but 150 of them have been in the Labor Department building since it was opened in 1935. At first they all hung in the first floor corridors. Then various executives chose some for their offices, and have been choosing and exchanging ever since.

"They come and go," Miss Frances Jay said of both the pictures and the executives. She has been in the department 22 years, and was executive assistant to Frances Perkins the 12½ years Miss Perkins was secretary of labor.

About a dozen of the pictures have industrial themes—smokestacks, the glare of steel furnaces, blocked out men and a giant symbolic hand rising in the center for the laboring men.

Other are landscapes, still life, a girl reading a book.

Other pictures painted by some of the artists now hang in museums. They are big names in the American art world—Jerome Myers of New York; Julia Eckel and Bernice F. Cross of Washington, D.C.; Charles Rosen and Morris Davidson of Woodstock, N.Y.; Joe Jones of St. Louis, and Morris Graves.

A few got their start under the WPA. Others—"well, they were already well-known artists," Miss Jay said. "But this was back in the time when people worried about just eating, and who had the money to buy art?"

The government helped out with the public works of art project. All the pictures painted under the project are the property of the U.S. government and have never been for sale.

"There would be so much red tape," Miss Jay said. "You know, it's very difficult for the government to get rid of anything."

Italian Premier Contrasts U.S. With Soviet Union

NEW YORK (AP)—Italy's Premier Mario Scelba, quoting communists in his country as saying Italians "are servants of America," says "here's the answer: Everyone wants to come to the United States, nobody wants to go to Russia."

Speaking at a banquet last night in his honor, Scelba said Russian workers find all the employment they want but at the sacrifice of their liberty. By contrast, he added, in America there is a "democracy of labor."

Scelba urged closer unity among free nations to oppose the threat of Communist aggression.

"We know that if part of the body of the alliance is ill, the whole body suffers," he said. "If Italy is ill, the whole alliance is weakened. A strong, healthy Italy is a guarantee for all others in the alliance."

"We want peace but with security, we want liberty but with progress," he continued, "and although this policy is simple it cannot be realized if we are not united."

VOICE of the OUTDOORS

Waking Trees

The golden gleam of spring on the treetops can be seen in this spring park picture with its waiting tables and snow-edged path in the deep background. It is for the purpose of encouraging spring fever and a desire to get outdoors this weekend.

Winter still has its paws on the outdoors: However, it is being badly crowded, as the gleam of the trees show. The robins are hopping about the yards. There is a song in the air, waking trees are filling with sap and the sloughs clearing of ice are filled with colorful waterfowl. It is a glorious time to be alive.

New Conservation Heads

Minnesota and Wisconsin each got new conservation department chiefs during the week. The appointment of George A. Selke to head Minnesota's department by Gov. Freeman came as a big surprise. The Wisconsin commission's selection of Lester Preston Voight as its director by unanimous vote, was no surprise. Voight has been acting director for the last 16 months since Ernest Swift resigned to go with the Wildlife Service. Previous to that Voight was Swift's top assistant.

Selke, as far as conservation is concerned is a complete question mark. His past history throws very little light on his conservation thinking. He has devoted his life—he is nearing 70—to education. A past president of St. Cloud Teachers College, University of Montana, and head of a federal education department, he is definitely a schoolman. We don't know whether he hunts or fishes, which, of course, is not too important.

Most sportsmen will ride along with him in his belief in basic conservation, and conservation education expressed in a statement to the press at the time his appointment was announced.

"Conservation of water—the giver of life to soil, plants, animals, man and industry, will get top priority during my administration," he said. "I believe water is so basic in conservation that it will be one of my major concerns—it must be conserved at its source where raindrops fall. Water helps soil grow the crops and wildlife habitat we need."

"Besides water conservation, conservation education will play an important part in my administration. It must be at all levels through the schools and in all areas of adult life. It is a basic necessity for effective conservation work. Too much emphasis has been placed on game and fish in the past."

The two directors, in one sense, have similar backgrounds. Neither is a professional conservationist. But both have reputations as being organizers and administrators.

Selke was an elementary school teacher and principal, county superintendent of schools, staff member of the University of Minnesota, president of St. Cloud Teachers College, chancellor of University of Montana, division head of high commission of Germany, veteran of two wars, and special emissary on many foreign missions.

Voight, 39 years old, probably the youngest director of conservation in the nation, is a sort of a wonder boy in Wisconsin conservation circles. A native of Eau Claire, he came to the department in 1947 as a personnel expert. After reorganizing the personnel, he moved over to the public service commission where he did a similar job. After serving in the Navy for four years, he came back to the Conservation Department as one of Swift's assistants. He was drafted when Swift quit to straighten out the mess, which he did by firing a few department heads while all the politicians in the state yelled bloody-murder.

With such a setup, conservation in the two states should be pretty much in the limelight for the next couple of years. The hope, of course, rests in their ability to pick the right men for top jobs. The resources of these two states are too valuable and important to be left in the hands of amateurs to play politics with for even two years.

Charges Filed Against Cancer Clinic 'Doctor'

WASHINGTON, Pa. (AP)—Dr. Newton D. Allen, staff member of the Hoxsey Cancer Clinic at Portage, Pa., has been charged with practicing medicine without a Pennsylvania license.

The warrant was served on Allen yesterday as the result of information filed by Dist. Atty. Ray G. Zelt of Washington County. Zelt claims Allen has been representing himself as a medical doctor.

Justice of the Peace Hallett Chet said no date has been set for a hearing. Allen is free on $500 bond. He said the case is being handled by his lawyers, adding:

"I am a licensed physician in the State of Pennsylvania. I am licensed by the State Board of Osteopathy, giving me the same rights as any other physician in Pennsylvania."

Allen added that he "never claimed to have an M.D. (doctor of medicine) degree."

Winona Theater Gets New Screen

A new wide screen is being installed in the Winona Theater, Manager Ben Rahn announced today.

The 20-by-40-foot screen will be introduced to the public at the matinee next Friday afternoon, when the Winona Theater will present "Apache." This United Artists film stars Burt Lancaster and Jean Peters.

Installation of the wide screen, which will make possible the showing of the numerous new filming and projection methods, involves considerable new equipment, both in the projection room and on the stage, Rahn said.

MacArthur Asked Russ Aid Against Japs, Papers Show

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times says the Army has raised the secrecy rating of official documents bearing on Gen. Douglas MacArthur's wartime views on the need for Soviet help in the battle against Japan.

The general has stated that had he been asked at the time of the Yalta conference, he would have advised against bringing the Russians into the Pacific War "at that late date."

The Washington Post and Times-Herald, in an editorial March 25, disputed this statement, saying, "Gen. MacArthur is known to have sent messages to the Joint Chiefs of Staff during World War II pleading for concessions to get Russia into the Japanese war."

MacArthur's chief aide, Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney, ret., denied this again yesterday in a letter to the Washington newspaper.

The New York Times, in a dispatch from Washington signed by Anthony Leviero, said last night it had asked the Army to release wartime documents that would have clarified the question.

The Times said the files it sought had at one time been graded "top secret" but "they had been downgraded to 'restricted' late in 1945 so that the Army historians could write their histories."

The Times said the Army agreed to release pertinent parts of the documents but "a hitch developed" and the classification was changed from "restricted" to "confidential."

"In other words," the Times said, "they have been upgraded to keep the press from having access."

Among the documents it sought, the Times said, were two cited on Page 298 of an Army history volume "Washington Command Post: The Operations Division."

The Times said this book reported a conference Feb. 25, 1945, between Gen. George A. Lincoln, then chief of the strategy section of the war plans division of the War Department general staff, and Gen. MacArthur and his chief of staff.

The book said that MacArthur at that time discussed the planned invasion of Japan and urged that "as many Japanese divisions as possible" should first be pinned down on the mainland, principally by Soviet forces. This discussion was two weeks after the Yalta conference, at which Russia had already agreed to fight against Japan.

In a letter to Managing Editor J. R. Wiggins of the Washington Post and Times Herald, Whitney said the file pertinent to the dispute "should be opened to the public."

"Should it be?" Whitney continued, "it would clearly disclose that if any one is trying to 'rewrite history'... it is not Gen. MacArthur."

The Washington newspaper published Whitney's letter in today's edition. It commented in an editorial that the general's letter agreed with the newspaper in saying that MacArthur's messages to the Joint Chiefs of Staff should be made public. It added, "We hope that Gen. MacArthur and the Defense Department will also concur in the suggestion that the MacArthur dispatches be made available to the public."

Whitney also challenged the authenticity of a portion of the diaries of the late James V. Forrestal which the Washington Post had quoted to back up its argument against MacArthur.

Liver Substance Speeds Growth of Cancer, Study Finds

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A mystery substance made by the liver can make certain cancers grow faster, a scientific team reported today.

They find that liver extracts will speed the growth of some cancers transplanted into animals. The same speed-up chemical comes from rapidly growing liver itself.

The speed-up effect was found by Drs. Karl E. Paschke, Abraham Cantarow and J. Stasney of Jefferson Medical College. They described it to reporters visiting cancer research centers under auspices of the American Cancer Society.

The research team now is trying to learn just what the speed-up material is. It is not vitamin B12, their tests show.

Pinpointing the mystery chemical could open the way to possible methods of putting the brakes upon some cancers, or finding chemicals possessing an opposite, slow-down effect.

Another medical researcher, Dr. A. M. Bongiovanni of Children's Hospital, the University of Pennsylvania, described the cause and solution of one kind of sex mixup which can make girls be mistaken for boys.

In this mixup, girl babies are born with signs of double sex, and may easily be mistaken for boys. They have some external male sex characteristics. But they are actually female, with all internal female organs.

The cause, Dr. Bongiovanni said, is a chemical defect in the way their bodies try to make an adrenal gland hormone, cortisone.

Instead of producing cortisone, their glands produce an abnormal hormone which acts like male sex hormone, with powerful virilizing effects.

The remedy, he continued, is to give these children, or even adults, injections of cortisone. This puts their adrenal glands on vacation, supplying the needed cortisone and halting production of the abnormal virilizing hormone.

2 Milwaukeeans Charged With Plot to Rob Bank

CHIPPewa Falls, Wis. (AP)—Federal warrants charging conspiracy to rob a bank have been issued against two Milwaukee youths held here on counts of carrying concealed weapons.

James B. Poster, special agent in charge of the Milwaukee office of the FBI, announced Friday that conspiracy complaints had been filed with the Federal Court at Madison against Gerold K. Harling, 19, and his cousin, James L. Harling, 20.

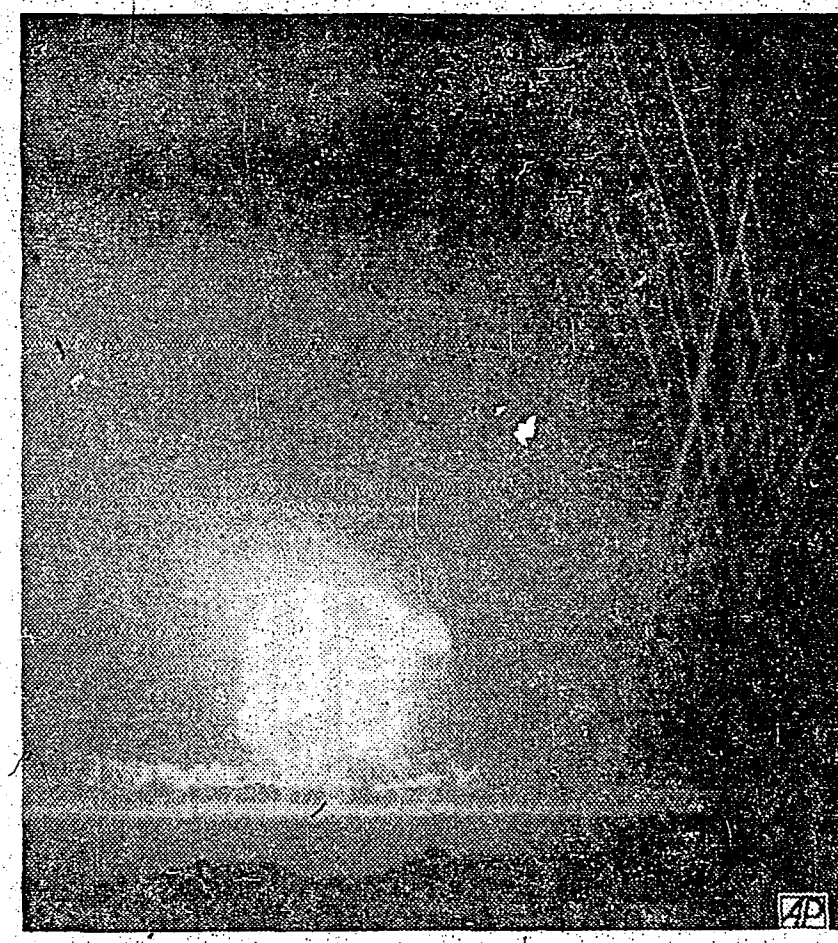

The Harlings, who have denied they had robbery intentions, were stopped Wednesday after their car went through a spotlight near the First National and Northwestern State banks, which are located close to each other.

The FBI complaint did not specify the name of the bank.

Gerold Harling pleaded guilty Friday on the weapons charge in Chippewa County Court. His sentencing has been set for Wednesday.

James Harling, who pleaded innocent, will have a hearing on Wednesday.

The Milwaukee FBI office also obtained a federal warrant charging Gerold with passing a $1,387 dividend check on which the endorsement had been forged. A state warrant had been issued earlier.

Red Propaganda Beats Ours, Says Illinois Senator

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) said today the Communists are doing a better job of winning the friendship "of the black, brown and yellow peoples of the world."

"I think their propaganda, unfortunately, is smarter than ours," the Illinois senator said in an interview.

That is why, Douglas said, he reversed his past role of seeking to reduce general foreign aid funds in favor of a generous appropriation for technical assistance to underdeveloped areas, both direct and through the U.N.

The Senate Appropriations Committee is now considering a request for eight million dollars for the program. The House allowed four millions.

"I am supporting a program which has mistakenly been called a 'give away,'" Douglas told the Senate in a floor speech late yesterday.

He urged Congress to approve larger funds for this aid to underdeveloped countries and areas before the Afro-Asian conference in Bandung, Indonesia, in the next few weeks.

With Red China participating, Douglas said this conference will be used "for a gigantic propaganda onslaught against the West, and a buildup for Communism."

"They will try to make Uncle Sam become Mr. Money Bags, Racist, Imperialist and obsessed with his hydrogen bombs," he predicted.

Despite the importance of multi-billion dollar defense outlays, Douglas said the relatively small investments for "technical assistance" may in the long run prove to be our best asset.

He said small funds for health and sanitation probably had brought the largest returns, and added that a quarter's worth of penicillin can cure a child of yaws.

Yaws is a tropical disease, which Douglas said, often dooms a "child to a life of torment, hideous disfigurement and economic dependence."

"No wonder that such a cure produces more friendship than any other act," he said.

14th Amendment Has Test in Maryland

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—The Fourteenth Amendment, which became part of the U.S. Constitution in 1868, has barely survived a test in a Maryland Senate vote that divided along Civil War lines.

Maryland, Kentucky and California are the only three states which have failed to ratify the amendment, which states that citizenship rights of Americans cannot be abridged by the states. The bill has been one of the legal keystones to the Negro's advance from slavery.

In a preliminary test in the Senate last night, 12 senators, mostly from Baltimore and western Maryland, voted to approve the bill. Eleven senators from southern Maryland and the eastern shore—which were generally strongly pro-Confederacy in the Civil War—disapproved.

Progress Made On Development Of Hypnotic Drugs

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Reporter

CINCINNATI (AP)—Progress towards possible development of a whole new class of "hypnotic" drugs that would be safer to use than strong potentially habit-forming narcotics, yet packing plenty of sleep-inducing power, was reported today to the American Chemical Society's 127th national meeting.

Dr. Seymour L. Shapiro of the U.S. Vitamin Corp., Yonkers, N.Y., said promising new leads have come from further experimental manipulations with a non-narcotic, non-barbiturate substance called "tertiary amyl alcohol."

He said that particular substance—known since 1890—meets some of the requirements for science's long-sought "ideal" hypnotic drug, in that it is nonhabit-forming, and doesn't have some of the disagreeable after-effects often associated with use of narcotics or barbiturates.

But it had the major drawback of requiring "very large doses," he said, and its use has virtually been abandoned.

A few years ago, Shapiro continued, some chemists discovered that by replacing one group of atoms in the tertiary amyl alcohol (TAA) molecule with a different group, a compound was produced which had "considerable hypnotic superiority" over the original and relatively few side-effects. Also, the dose was "considerably" less. The product is now on the market, produced by the Shering Corp.

This led Shapiro and his associates to launch a quest for still further configurations. They found that various groups of atoms could be substituted—and that best results were obtained when two groups were substituted at the same time.

Now, said Shapiro, they have a "versatile" group of compounds, some of which have a wider range

Sweden Planning 'To Empty' Cities In Event of War

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—As a defense against possible hydrogen bomb attacks, Swedish military experts plan to evacuate all but 15,000 persons from most of the nation's cities in the event of war. The population of Stockholm would be cut from 700,000 to 50,000.

Details of the evacuation scheme were announced last night by the Swedish Civil Defense Board and Military Defense Staff. It implied a fundamental revision of the nation's civil defense program, which previously stressed bomb shelters.

The new plan was expected to be presented to parliament shortly. It calls for a 95 per cent evacuation of all cities. This would leave only three centers, including the capital, with more than 15,000 persons.

Referring to "the heaviest of hydrogen bombs," the report said at present "no shelters are regarded as full-proof under all circumstances."

Sweden has built an extensive system of vast rock shelters throughout the country.

of safety from toxicity at effective treatment levels than the original TAA; all produce hypnotic effects at far lower doses and some produce "more prolonged sleep" in the experimental animals.

He added that some are up to three times more powerful than the compound first developed from TAA by the Shering researchers and produce more prolonged sleep.

But he stressed that all of these newer compounds are still in the experimental stage—tried only in animals—and that the work of his group was stimulated by the original finding of the Shering chemists.

A brief mention of interesting items about people, business places and campaigns as compiled by The Winona Daily News ad department.

F. O. Ehle, owner of Ehle's Radio-Television Sales & Service, looks at a few of the more than 1,700 entries in the puzzle contest he ran in The Daily News a few weeks ago. The number of entries is even more significant when one considers that they had to be brought in person either to the store or Ehle's booth at the Winona Sportsman's Show. Also, only persons 18 years of age and over were eligible, and they had only three days to enter. Contestants won radios, gloves and other prizes.

Don't forget, folks, next week is your last chance to take advantage of the great price reduction of Janney Best Paints at Robb Brothers Store in Winona. The sale ends April 3. The paints bear the Good Housekeeping Guaranty Seal and are available for home or farm painting jobs in hundreds of colors.

There's a Sucker Born Every Minute... That was the slogan of the great P. T. Barnum, of circus fame. Maybe the advertising department of the circus could be classified in that department. For many years a great share of the advertising budget for the circus has been put into posters to plaster the town that the show was soon to play. This year John Ringling North wanted to try something new. The poster staff was drastically cut and most of this extra money was put into newspapers. Every newspaper in New York was used for the opening at Madison Square Garden. The results—more than 161,000 tickets were sold as of this week, compared to 69,000 in the same period last year. This was all done with newspapers exclusively. Even Ringling Brothers can learn a few things about modern day promoting, apparently.

Carlus Walter, of Peter Bub Brewery, Inc., proudly looks at the award Bub's received from the Brewer's Association of America for "excellence in the design of the new labels" for their beer. Now you Bub's lovers can easily identify Bub's picnics, pints, Lil' Bub's and cans at your favorite tavern or take-out store. The new design features a stein and golden waving grain with a large "Bub's" overprint.

A Colorful Figure In Journalism Passes

Col. Robert R. McCormick, a colorful, controversial and significant figure in the journalism profession, is dead.

The passing of the editor and publisher of the Chicago Tribune marks the end of an era and friends and enemies alike must in fairness admit that his contribution to all phases of American life have been great and many.

We liked the statement made by John S. Knight, editor and publisher of the Chicago Daily News and other Knight newspapers, who said:

"The colonel will be missed by friend and foe alike. Those who admired him for his sturdy adherence to convictions, and those who saw the colonel as a menace to his country, will agree that no man who could command such extremes of admiration and dislike was ever to be taken lightly.

"Col. McCormick had a full life and I doubt that he would have changed any of it. He loved the call to battle and he fought well.

"No mission too difficult, no sacrifice too great," is a fitting epitaph to his career."

Col. McCormick and his frequently truculent Chicago Tribune made news as well as printed it. They were the center of many controversies. They were damned and praised. Congress sometimes debated them. Their comments aroused sharp reactions in press conferences of two Democratic Presidents.

The Tribune saw nothing to commend in the Democratic party. President Franklin D. Roosevelt, a schoolmate of Col. McCormick at Groton, was a constant target. So was President Harry S. Truman.

To Col. McCormick and the Tribune, of which he was editor and publisher, the functionalities of the early New Deal were like Adolf Hitler's Brown Shirts, and the New Deal smacked of "totalitarianism" or "Communism." He contended its objective was a "dictator" state.

Mr. Roosevelt commented to a Tribune reporter at a press conference that "Bertie" was seeing things under the bed.

Once a Democratic legislature in Rhode Island, acting under a state law permitting the ouster of state supreme court judges "without cause," removed five Republicans from the bench and replaced them with three Democrats and two Republicans.

Col. McCormick assailed this as a court-packing maneuver and decided to read the state out of the Union by ordering its star removed from the flag in the lobby of the Tribune building. It developed, however, that this could not be done legally.

Four times the Tribune campaigned against President Roosevelt, and four times Chicago and Illinois voted for President Roosevelt.

Before the 1936 election, the newspaper sought to arouse the voters against the New Deal with this daily "box" on its front page: "Only — days remain to save your country — what are you going to do about it?" Tribune telephone operators made a similar statement and inquiry in answering incoming calls.

But Col. McCormick's ire extended beyond the Democratic party. Much of it was directed at Great Britain and the British "aristocracy."

Col. McCormick's disagreements were not confined to the Democrats and the British. While the Tribune supported the presidential candidacies of Wendell L. Willkie in 1940 and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey in 1944 and 1948, it did so without enthusiasm.

After the 1944 election, the newspaper suggested that the Republican party seek new leadership. McCormick said that "the West, which created the Republican party, must regain control of it and then it can come back into power."

In 1948, after Dewey's second defeat, McCormick told a gathering of the Tribune's advertising department that the New York governor "was far from the choice of the Republican voters."

He listed Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Gen. Douglas MacArthur as better candidates.

"We were not for Dewey," he told the gathering, explaining that the Tribune urged voters to mark a straight GOP ballot "in the hope of electing the other part of the Republican ticket."

Often labeled an isolationist, Col. McCormick said after his return from the 1948 European trip that "if I have been an intense nationalist in the past, I am twice as much so now."

"I think America is four times as important as I thought before I left," he continued. "It is 10 times as important as the average man thinks, and 100 times as important as the average New Yorker thinks. (He considered the Midwest to be the real United States,

China Seems Set To Challenge U.S.

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

NEW YORK — The various stories that have recently appeared on the subject of our war with Red China have reached their ultimate in setting the date of April 15 as the moment of the strike. Nobody can know for sure when the Red Chinese will try to take Matsuy or Quemoy or, for that matter, Formosa. That they are impelled by their current imperialism to challenge the United States is beyond doubt because they must establish in Asian eyes that they are equal to or greater than the United States or any other western power.

Walter S. Robertson, Assistant Secretary of State for Far Eastern Affairs, once defined the Red Chinese in these terms: " . . . we are confronted in Peiping with an arrogant, contemptuous regime of hard-core international Communists who have played a gangster role in their relations with us and other countries."

UNFORTUNATELY, harsh words do not win wars. And Mr. Robertson's superiors are not altogether sure that they want to win this war or even to engage in it. They are thinking of another conference, another Yalta perhaps, at which some deal can be engineered which will help 1955 pass without a war. They believe that the longer no general war occurs, the less chance there is of such a war ever occurring. They believe that a statistical superiority in arms may save the world.

It is difficult to argue over such questions because no one can know the correct answers. Surely the wars in which the United States has engaged since 1917 have not produced a victory in the sense that what we are told we fought for has been achieved. World War I was to have made the world safe for a concept roughly described as democracy. What really meant was representative government, government by the choice of the people.

World War II was in reality an extension of World War I. It started over Poland. The Hitler-Stalin alliance, with a division of the world between Germany and Russia in accordance with the Ribbentrop-Molotov pact, generated a warlike atmosphere even though the treaties were secret. This was forgotten and for was substituted the Atlantic Charter and the Four Freedoms. They were forgotten when Soviet Russia and the United States became allies. In their place came "The Grand Design," a theory that by compassionate conduct, by generous gifts, by appeasements, by giving to the Russian additional souls, Stalin would cease to be a brutal Marxist and become a good Christian instead. This is the period of Tehran and Yalta; at these conferences the United States made the greatest historic errors in all its history. It became enmeshed in a permanent war.

McCormick's comment on other subjects included:

The Marshall Plan for European Recovery: "To hell with the Marshall Plan. It's really a snob plan."

The United Nations: "Anyone who speaks up for the United Nations is obviously either a Communist or misinformed."

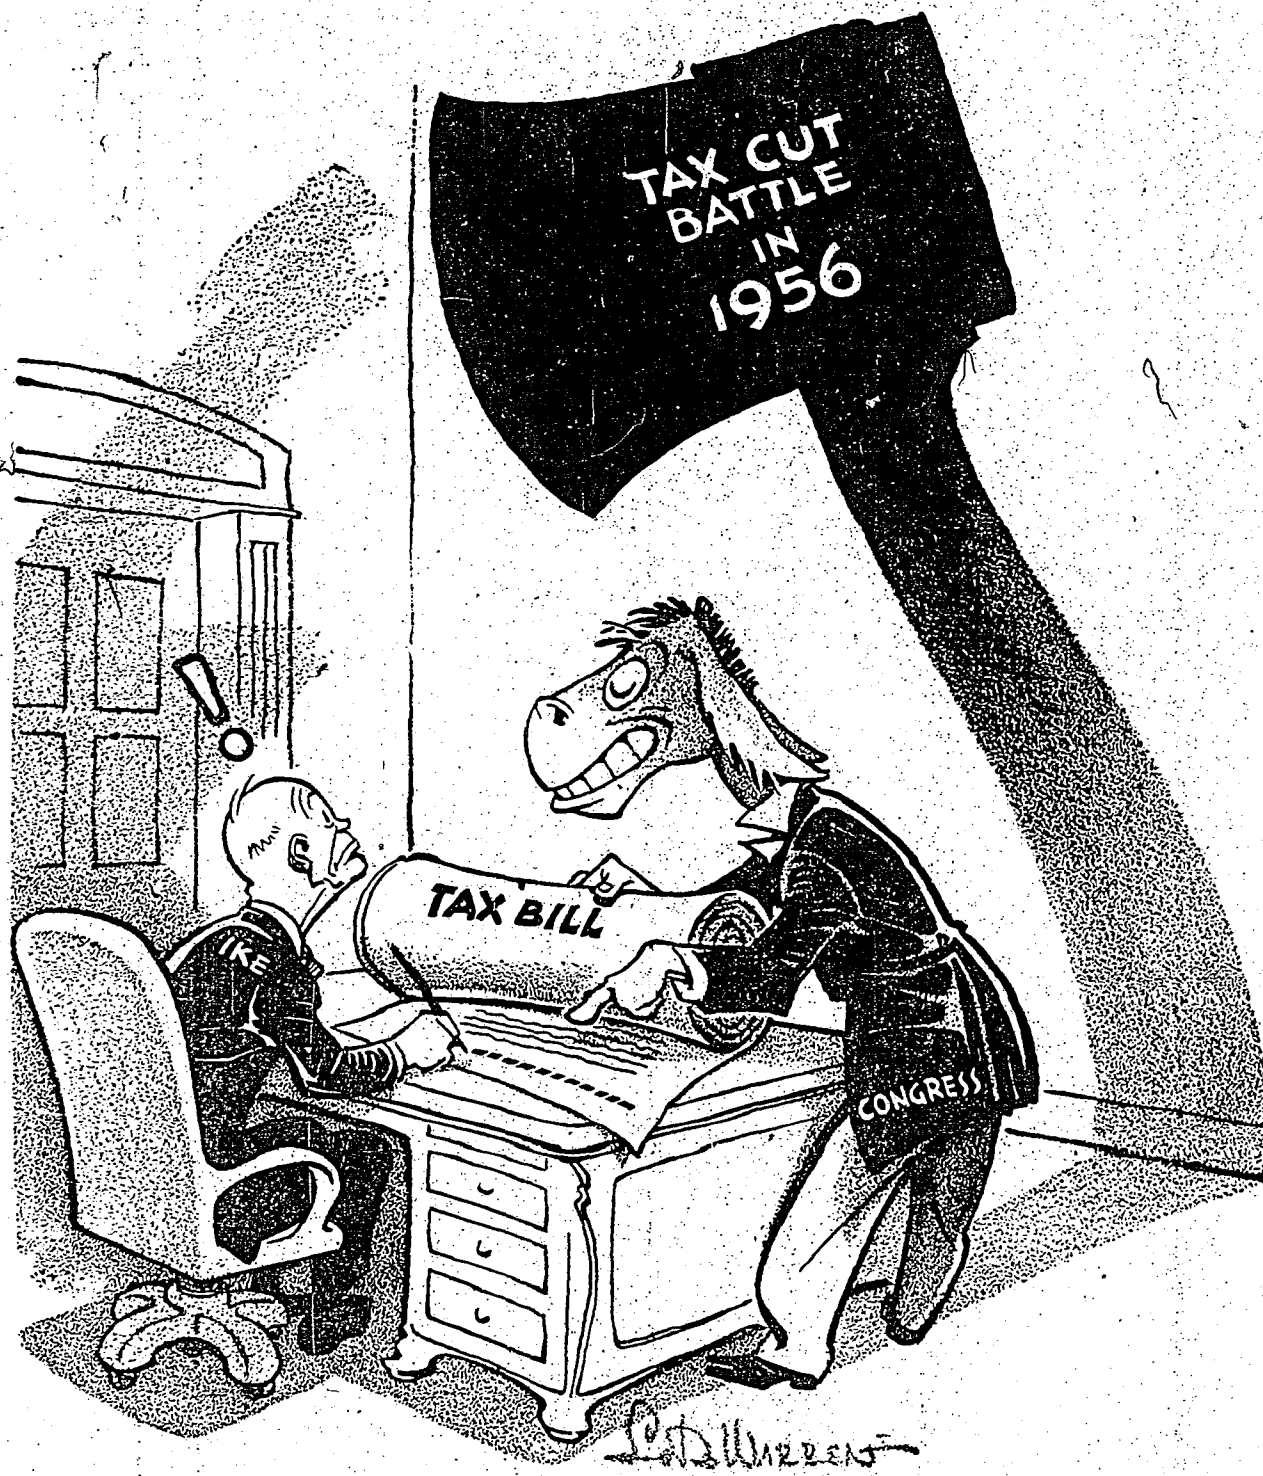

The Tribune fought federal prohibition, medical quacks and racketeers. It campaigned to bring the hush-hush problem of syphilis into the germicidal light of full public attention.

Through the Tribune's columns, Col. McCormick fought against involvement in the affairs of other nations and criticized persistently those domestic government policies which he considered inimical to individual liberty and free enterprise.

McCormick was the dominant figure in a publishing organization that at one time comprised three newspapers with a total circulation of around 3,500,000 daily and 5,750,000 Sunday — the Chicago Tribune, the New York Daily News and the Washington Times-Herald, recently sold to and combined with the Washington Post.

To insure an adequate supply of newsprint, he acquired forests and paper mills in Canada. There was a fleet of ships to handle the product.

Oil Companies Charged With Pressure Tactics

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Cong. Jimmy Roosevelt of California uncovered shocking evidence this week of how gasoline stations are being manipulated by monopoly.

Roosevelt's small business subcommittee probing the oil industry heard witness after witness testify about the ruthless trade practices of the big oil companies in forcing their products on gas stations. Result: One-third of the 200,000 operators who lease stations from the oil companies sell out each year.

Mrs. Ethel B. Powell told how she and her husband lost not only their filling station, leased from Sinclair Oil, but their savings and home in Fitzgerald, Ga. Describing the "pressure" of Sinclair agents, she testified:

"They did not want us to sell candy, cigarettes, or chewing gum. The only drinks we could sell were Coca-Cola. They did not want us to handle oil from any other company, even though there was very little of this, just for special customers who would not use the Sinclair oil but did use Sinclair gas."

The Powells were also pressured to get rid of all tires and tubes which Sinclair did not sponsor. "We were selling more Sinclair gas and oil than had ever been sold at that station before or since," testified Mrs. Powell. "We tripled the stock and equipment of the station and raised the number of employees from one to three."

Nonetheless, Sinclair canceled the Powells' lease last January 31. The Powells had to sell out and leave town.

Standard Oil Crackdown
Another gas dealer, Ed Horton of Manchester, Ga., gave the subcommittee a graphic account of how he was "canceled out" by Standard Oil of Kentucky in January, 1953. Reading from notes, Horton testified that the following conversation had taken place with Paul Ross, a Standard Oil Agent, on Oct. 23, 1952:

Agent Ross: "The last time I was here you promised me you weren't going to buy that Henderson tire changer, and when I come back I find the Henderson changer installed and in use and your display case full of Prestone antifreeze."

Horton: "Well, what's wrong with all that?"

Agent Ross: "It just doesn't go. Howell (another Standard Oil of Kentucky agent) came by here and saw all that Prestone in the window and he politely cursed me out about it. Ed, if you're tired of it and dissatisfied with this station, why don't you just check out and get it over with?"

Horton: "I'm not dissatisfied. I'm just damn tired of somebody telling me what I can buy and what I can't buy and making unjust criticisms."

Ross: "You've got to move that Prestone out of the window."

Horton: "What I buy is my business."

Ross: "Oh, no, it isn't."

Horton: "Do you mean to tell me that I'm paying $175 plus one-eighth of one cent a gallon a month rent, and what I buy isn't my business?"

Ross: "That's right."

No! No! Prestone!

During a later visit, Horton testified that Standard Oil Agent Ross again badgered him about using Prestone. Here is the testimony:

Agent Ross: "I've done all I know to do for you. I've helped you in every way that I possibly can to get you the things that you asked for, and I was about to suggest that your station needed a coat of paint—so, let's get your boy to move that Prestone in the back room."

Horton: "Do you mean to say that I can't sell Prestone or even display it?"

Ross: "No, I can't tell you that you can't sell it; we aren't supposed to tell you what you can or can't sell, but if you don't cooper-

New Medical Advances to Help Many

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Our monthly report on new medical advances brings news of help today for victims of rheumatic fever, leukemia and certain types of non-pulmonary tuberculosis.

The Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation of New York City recently announced that a new form of penicillin has "proved unusually effective in the control and prevention of rheumatic fever."

Effects of New Antibiotic
Effects of the new antibiotic, called benzathine penicillin, were described in a recent issue of the Foundation's Bulletin on Rheumatic Diseases, issued monthly to physicians and scientists throughout the world.

The report states that the antibiotic eradicates the streptococcal infection that may lead to rheumatic fever. One injection will protect a child for an entire month. I'll have more to say about this new discovery in a later column.

A new anti-folic acid drug, Methotrexate, has been announced by the Lederle Laboratories Division of the American Cyanamid Company.

Methotrexate is chemically similar to another anti-leukemia drug, Aminopterin, developed in 1947. When used in combination with ACTH, cortisone and other compounds, Methotrexate is said to help give 70 per cent of children doomed with leukemia, a temporary return to good health.

Animal tests indicate that the new anti-folic acid may work on children who do not respond to compounds now in use.

Enzyme Jelly
Development of an enzyme jelly useful in treatment of certain types of non-pulmonary tuberculosis lesions was reported in a recent issue of the American Review of Tuberculosis.

Dr. George N. Hazellhurst of New York University College of Medicine wrote that the jelly "was found effective in healing a number of suppurative tuberculosis lymph nodes." Each lesion, he said, must be treated on an individual basis.

Areas of the disease not in direct contact with the jelly, he explained, are not affected by the application.

PAUL HARVEY NEWS

A Woman's Town— That's New York

By PAUL HARVEY

NEW YORK — West Texas and Wyoming were put right where they are purposely to please men.

These lands of high altitude and low multitude, respectively, are two havens on earth where canary birds sing bass . . . and a man can discover himself.

In New York, a man loses himself. To a man, the best thing about New York is the first train home. New York was put right where it is especially for women.

This morning I woke up and New York was peeking in at my window.

I never did like people before breakfast. Suddenly there are seven million of them. But I'll manage, because there's a special green space I have staked out amidst the dizzy heights of this tall town where a man can plant his feet on the ground once a day and get his balance back.

There is an island in Manhattan. It's called Central Park. It's 840 acres.

Harvey . . . spared . . . in the heart of this city which so carefully husbands space.

Here, where people squeeze themselves into cubicles to work and eat and sleep . . .

And where they pay fancy prices for a night club table the size of a postage stamp for "recreation."

I say to you it's pretty wonderful for a country boy suddenly to find in the midst of all this jungle . . . some real, live trees.

Through some pre-arrangement with the Creator of things, the place where I work when I'm in New York City is just off that Central Park, on 66th street.

And the place where I live is a hotel just off another edge of that same park.

This morning, after a long night's sleep, I awakened early and walked the mile between.

The trees are just beginning to cloak their nakedness in a soft lace negligee of pastel green.

And Central Park is carpeted, wall to wall, with spring.

This is a lovely place. Ducks ride the unruffled waters of the lagoons.

It's not like home, understand. New York never lets me forget where I am. In the morning, I miss my big washcloth; hotels provide such skimpy things.

In the evening, there is no basement workshop in this otherwise pretentious house.

And in between life seems to be nothing more important than a perpetual screeching of brakes.

So, in the crush of this gigantic city which hardens women and softens men until an outsider can scarcely tell the difference anymore . . .

It's a good thing for the visitor, once a day, to step from his noisy tower into silent forest . . . To find himself . . . in this island in Manhattan.

The United States government once owned nearly two-thirds of the land now in the United States.

Chinese Scholar Resigns in Dispute

SINGAPORE (AP)—A member of Nanyang University's executive council said today the group was trying to iron out differences with Dr. Lin Yutang, who has resigned as chancellor of the newly organized institution.

Council member Lee Cong Seng said "discussions still are going on" with the widely known Chinese scholar-author.

The council announced last night that Lin had resigned in the climax of an eight-week dispute over how the university should be run and over its first budget.

Lin proposed spending about six million Singapore dollars ($1,198,000) this year. Council leaders said this was too much.

Japanese Diplomat Wants to Visit U.S.

TOKYO (AP)—Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu said today he had asked U.S. Ambassador John M. Allison to arrange for him to visit the United States.

Shigemitsu, also deputy prime minister said he wanted to go next week to "further strengthen" U.S.-Japan ties.

The veteran diplomat signed the Japanese surrender and served seven years as a war criminal.

He also wants to reassure America that although Japan wants to promote trade with the Communists, she wants to keep strong U.S. ties.

TODAY

Stevenson Pressed To Decide

By STEWART ALSOP

WASHINGTON — If Adlai Stevenson wants the Democratic nomination, he can have it for the asking. On this point the shrewdest observers in the Democratic party are now agreed. But they also agree that, if he wants to run, Stevenson will have to pass the word soon — probably by September or October.

No one supposes that Stevenson is going up on a roof and shout at the top of his lungs that he wants another try at the White House. There are more delicate ways of making his wishes known. For example, a move is already on foot to revive the Citizens for Stevenson organization, on a skeletal basis. But obviously the organization will not be revived without Stevenson's tacit consent. Or take the case of Pat Brown, attorney general of California. Brown is believed to be the only Democrat with a chance of beating Republican Sen. Thomas Kuchel next year.

Sure Sign

Brown has let it be known that he will run only on condition that Stevenson is the standard-bearer. If he is going to run, Brown must begin organizing fairly soon for the primary contest. Thus, if Brown decides to run, or if the Citizens for Stevenson movement is revived, this will be taken by the initiated as a sure sign Stevenson is going to try again.

There are plenty of other signals — which Stevenson can hang out, and which the initiated can read without a code book. If the signal flags spell "yes" — and if they are hung out fairly soon — that will be that, in the now almost universal opinion among informed Democrats.

This is not because Stevenson is universally loved in his party. He is not. But he is at least reasonably acceptable to most sections of the party — more so than any other candidate presently visible. Thus a fight, inevitable in the case of any other candidate, can be avoided if Stevenson "goes."

See Ike Victory

Another reason why Stevenson can have the nomination for the asking — if he asks soon enough — is that the prize is not thought to be worth a great deal. The great majority of Democrats privately believe that, in a repeat of the 1952 race, Stevenson would be beaten again, perhaps worse than last time. But they think anyone else would be beaten worse than Stevenson.

Suppose the Stevenson signal flags read "no — but I'm for Averell Harriman." They are much more likely to read this way than a simple "no." According to reliable reports, on their recent get-together in Albany, Stevenson and New York's Gov. Harriman reached an unspoken agreement, by a sort of mental telepathy. This telepathic understanding, put into words, might read about as follows:

Harriman: I'm for you, if you run, Adlai, but I'm for myself if you don't.
Stevenson: I'm for you if I don't. Stevenson might well be able to put Harriman across, if he had a mind to. As governor of the biggest state, after all, Harriman has a perfectly legitimate claim. He has a useful habit of success. As with Stevenson out, the North American professionals, like New York's Carmine DeSapio, Pittsburgh's Mayor David Lawrence, Connecticut's John Bailey, and Richard Daley of Chicago (who looks like becoming Stevenson's long-sought James Farley), would be most likely to agree on Harriman, and they might well have the votes to nominate him, over the opposition of the South.

Change in Signals

But suppose that the Stevenson signal flags read, "I haven't made up my mind yet," and continue to read that way month after month. Then the situation is likely to start coming apart at the seams. For Democratic observers agree that there is a point beyond which Stevenson cannot hold back — and that point is not many months away.

If Stevenson delays too long, a process of crystallization around other possible candidates is sure to take place. Harriman, for example, cannot afford to wait indefinitely for Stevenson to make up his mind. Michigan's Gov. G. Mennen Williams is making candidate-like noises already. And if Stevenson delays, a whole series of favorite sons will begin taking themselves seriously as candidates. But the best bet is that Stevenson will discreetly raise the "yes" signal flag fairly soon. Stevenson is far from unambiguous, and he is by now painfully aware that he cannot possibly duck the nomination and hope to survive politically. What is more, Stevenson is now telling all comers that the notion that President Eisenhower is unbeatable is a myth. The clear implication is that he is the man to prove it.

About 30 per cent of college-age people in Utah are in college, but the percentage in Michigan is 17, and in the Carolinas, 10.

Angry Boy, 16, Kills Policeman, Wounds 2 Others

PASCO, Wash. (AP)—Angered by his father's objection to his drinking beer, a 16-year-old youth went on a cold-blooded shooting spree here yesterday which killed a policeman and seriously wounded the boy's father and grandfather.

Hours later, remorseless and apparently unconcerned, 5-foot-11, 200-pound Richard Peterson dictated the story of the 30 minutes of terror which preceded his capture. Police Chief A. L. McKibbin, who would not permit use of direct quotation from the boy's statement reported this was what Richard said happened:

The youth returned from school and his father, P. H. Peterson, 52, began lecturing him because Richard had been drinking beer. The boy said he obtained the beverage from an unidentified Negro. As words grew stronger the father fled from the house to call police. Richard picked up a 30-30 rifle, took careful aim, and fired several shots at the father. One bullet hit Peterson in the stomach, inflicting a critical injury. Chet Young, 63, Richard's maternal grandfather then attempted to flee, only to be brought down by a shot in the leg.

Richard then entered the next door residence, owned by Young, where he was located by Patrolman Alva A. Jackson, 38, a short while later.

Paris Assembly Approves Meager Military Budget

PARIS (AP)—The National Assembly last night approved a hand-to-mouth military budget measure covering expenses of the nation's armed forces for the next three months.

The lawmakers okayed the income side of the national budget March 21 but have not yet acted on the expenditures section.

The chamber approved 397-209 a provisional military budget of 195 billion francs ($365,500,000) for April, May and June. The figure was arrived at by simply taking one-fourth of the 780 billion francs ($228,576,000) estimated earlier as the yearly cost of the armed forces.

The regular military budget has been held up while plans for reorganization of the Defense Ministry were being worked out. The interim measure had to be approved last month, the government anticipated revenue totaling 3,080,500,000,000 (trillion) francs ($8,800,000,000).

Viel Nam Leader Safe After Raid

By JOHN RODERICK

SAIGON (AP)—A jeep-raced past the home of Cao Dai Gen. Nguyen Thanh Phung early today and sprayed it with machine gun bullets. But the religious sect leader who recently switched allegiance to the government, was reported unhurt.

The shots shattered the three-day calm existing in Saigon since government troops clashed with the dissenting Binh Xuyen Religious Society. Wednesday's battle, touched off by a dispute over control of the police force, cost 26 lives.

Reporting on the latest incident, Premier Ngo Dinh Diem's office said a handful of Binh Xuyen soldiers in a green jeep raced past Phung's house in the French residential district and opened fire. Phung was asleep at the time.

PLAINVIEW VISITORS

PLAINVIEW, Minn. (Special)—Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Baldwin, Edgerton, Minn., visited at the Lee Baldwin home over the weekend.

gas for your helicopter here aboard Uncle Wiggly's raft—is that what you started to say, Bosun?"

"Yes, it is," grumbled the old sea dog to Mr. Turfboat.

"Tell me," went on Mr. Turfboat, "what makes the Merry-Go-Round run, with all its wheezy animals, Bosun? What makes it go?"

"It has a motor, of course? What makes it a motor, of course?" "It has a motor, of course!" marked Bosun.

"And what makes the motor go?" Mr. Turfboat wanted to know. "Gasoline, of course," answered the old sea dog. "We all know that."

"Well, I think in the tank of the motor of the Merry-Go-Round there's still some gas left from the last summer," marked Mr. Turfboat. "Was the motor of the Merry-Go-Round drained-dry when you laid your raft up for the winter, Mr. Longears?"

"No, I think not," answered the rabbit gentleman. "There must have been some gas left in the Merry-Go-Round motor tank when my raft was tied up for the winter."

"But would not that gasoline be frozen?" asked the French dog.

"It has not been cold enough this winter to freeze gasoline," said Uncle Wiggly. "You may be right, Turfy, old chap. There may be gas enough in the tank of the Merry-Go-Round to make the helicopter go."

"I shall soon find out," barked Bosun. "Bring your flashlight, Mr. Poo Dell, and we shall look. It would not be safe to look into a gas tank with a lighted match. But a flashlight is safe."

"Here you are!" exclaimed the French dog, taking a little electric torch from his pocket. "Allons! Viva le gas! Viva le gas!"

Bosun opened the tank of the Merry-Go-Round motor. He saw several gallons of gas in it.

"I think now I can start my helicopter," he said. "Cap'n Wiggly, sir, you go in Nurse Jane's candy kitchen. Get warm by the fire there and eat some hot popcorn that Mr. Turfboat made. Soon I shall be ready to start my helicopter and ride you back to your bungalow. Turfboat, you are smarter than I thought you were!"

"Thank you!" barked the English bulldog.

The gasoline was soon put into the tank of the helicopter. Uncle Wiggly, after warming himself with hot popcorn, got aboard.

"Here we go!" shouted Bosun. He turned on the motor. The helicopter rose from the deck of the raft and started off into the darkness. Will Uncle Wiggly get safely home? Read Monday's story to find out. And it will be lucky if you see a bunch of keys trying to unlock the doghouse so the pussycat can get out.

Personal... From Howard A. Baumann TO 3rd WARD RESIDENTS

For the past three weeks I have made it a point to call on every home in my ward personally, to leave my cards and remind you of the election. I was pleased to become better acquainted with all of you whom I had a chance to talk with.

As your Third Ward Alderman, I feel that the experience I have had these past 8 years is such that I am in a better position than ever to render a service to our community that will warrant and justify your re-electing me Alderman for the third time.

While I have always been, and still am, vitally interested in the welfare and best interests of our entire city, it has been the voters of the Third Ward who have elected me and to whom this is addressed.

I have never sought, nor have I received, the support of any group, faction or organization. My only obligation is to the people of the City of Winona.

At present I am Chairman of the Finance, Health and Welfare Committees, besides serving on the Street, License, Zoning, Lighting and Band Committees. As Chairman of the Finance Committee for the past 6 years, I have made it my duty to keep our city expenses down, in spite of any political reactions which might follow. As a taxpayer myself, I have been anxious not only to keep your taxes down, but mine as well. This I have accomplished. If re-elected, I promise you my continued efforts to keep our taxes at a minimum.

We are living through some rather critical times at present, and this is not the time to experiment with a change in our present method of handling our city's financial affairs.

Palm Sunday Rites To Start Observance

By EARL GILBERT
Daily News Church Editor

Sacred events connected with the week of Christ's passion more than 1900 years ago will be recreated by churches of Christendom starting Sunday, or Palm Sunday, the anniversary of His sacrificial entry into Jerusalem to celebrate the week of Passover and to be crucified by man.

Winonans will commemorate Holy Week starting with traditional Palm Sunday services followed by observance of the Last Supper and the Garden of Gethsemane experience Thursday; the death at Calvary Friday and the resurrection on Easter Sunday. These days mark the high point of the Christian church year for they are the foundation stones of its eternal hope.

Palm Sunday

Palm Sunday services here will be marked with sermon and song familiar to the day—that of proclaiming Christ as Lord and King as did the residents of Judea's capital city centuries ago. Palm branches symbolic of those strewn in His path will be distributed at many local churches.

Palms will be blessed and distributed at the Cathedral of the Sacred Heart at 6 a.m. and will be distributed at other Sunday services. A confirmation service at 3 p.m. with the Most Rev. Edward A. Fitzgerald, bishop of the Diocese of Winona, officiating, will be a highlight of the day. There will be no evening service.

At St. Mary's Catholic Church, palms will be blessed before the 8:30 a.m. service. Palms will be blessed at the 7 a.m. Mass at St. John's Catholic Church and will be distributed at all services. They will be blessed and distributed at St. Stanislaus and St. Casimir's churches also.

At Faith Lutheran Church there will be a confirmation service at 10:45 a.m. with reception of members. New members will be received, too, at Central Lutheran Church at 10:15 a.m. service. A brass ensemble will accompany hymn singing at this and the 8:30 a.m. worship.

Members of a membership class will be received into church fellowship at McKinley Methodist at 10:45 a.m. There will also be baptism of infants. Youth of Central Methodist Church will hold a Communion and breakfast service at 8 a.m. A confirmation service will be held at St. Matthew's Lutheran and members will be received at Goodview Trinity Lutheran, both at morning services.

At 7:30 p.m., the choir and guest soloists of First Congregational Church will present the cantata "The Seven Last Words of Christ." A male chorus will sing at 10:30 a.m. services at the Evangelical United Brethren Church. Two Communion services will be held at St. Paul's Episcopal Church—at 8 and 10:45 a.m. Communion services will be observed at First Baptist at 11:45 a.m.

A special Palm Sunday sermon will be delivered by the Rev. Layton N. Jackson, Grace Presbyterian Church, Sunday morning, and Communion will be observed at Calvary Bible Church at 10:45 a.m. St. Martin's choir will sing Stainer's famous cantata "The Crucifixion" at 4 p.m. in the church. The public is invited. "The Crucifixion" was written by Sir John Stainer in 1887 while he was organist at St. Paul's Cathedral, London, England. It is a musical presentation of the Savior's suffering and death. Soloists are members of St. Martin's senior choir. Guest organist will be Miss Doris Pankov of the music department of Dr. Martin Luther College, New Ulm, Minn.

Maundy Thursday

Holy or Maundy Thursday—occasion of the first Christian Communion service or the Lord's Last Supper—is traditionally kept with Communion worship. Communion will be observed at the Cathedral at four early morning services. At 10 a.m. the bishop will celebrate Mass and bless oils. The choir from St. Joseph's Scholasticate will sing. Tenebrae, traditional Catholic Holy Thursday services, will be held at 7:30 p.m. at the Cathedral with the bishop presiding and the choir of the Immaculate Heart of Mary Seminary singing.

At St. Stanislaus, a Mass with procession will be held at 7:30 a.m. and societies of the church will adore until 9 p.m. A Mass will be held at 7:30 a.m. at St. John's with education of the Blessed Sacrament continuous until 7 p.m. At St. Mary's, Holy Communion will be observed at 8:30 a.m.; high Mass at 8:15 a.m. and evening devotions at 8:30 o'clock. There will be an 8 a.m. Mass at St. Casimir's.

Holy Communion will be commemorated at the Assemblies of God Thursday evening and also by the Jehovah's Witnesses. Special prayer services will be held Monday through Friday at 7:45 p.m. at the Calvary Bible Church. A meditation on the cross with Holy Communion is scheduled for the Nazarene at 7:45 p.m. Thursday. Kenneth Bittner

Good Friday Program Set

The order of service for the union Good Friday worship at Central Methodist Church was announced today.

Worshippers were asked to enter and leave the sanctuary between each "word." Offerings will go toward Church World Service. Services start at noon and end at 2:45 p.m.

Presiding will be the Rev. Webster H. Clement, Dr. Truman W. Potter and Capt. Charles Hall.

Organists will be Miss Agnes Bard and Mrs. William Silman. The words: First word, "The Word of Intercession," the Rev. S. Frank Moss.

Second word, "The Word of Pardon"; solo meditation, Donald Rand and the Rev. W. W. Shaw; Third word, "The Word of Human Care," Eugene A. Reynolds; Fourth word, "The Word of Loneliness"; solo meditation, Mrs. Paul Proker and the Rev. Gordon Wendland; Fifth word, "The Word of Human Need," the Rev. Layton Jackson. Sixth word, "The Word of Victory," the Rev. Clare Karsten; Seventh word, "The Word of Commitment," the Rev. Harold Rektstad.

LA CRESCENT RITES
LA CRESCENT, Minn. (Special)—A sunrise service for all churches in this area will be held Easter Sunday at 5 a.m. in the quarry on North Ridge Hill.

PLAINVIEW STORES
PLAINVIEW, Minn. (Special)—Stores here will close from 8 to 11 a.m. on Good Friday, the holiday closing committee of the Plainview Commercial Club announced this week.

Some people avoid religion because they are afraid that they will be unpopular with the crowd if they appear too pious. Others go to church for no better reason than that they think it is the thing to do to make them popular.

Palm Sunday is the day when the crowds were all cheering for Jesus as He rode a donkey toward Jerusalem. A few days later the same crowd were shouting "Crucify Him," "Crucify Him."

One thing this proves: It is foolish to live your life according to what you think will make you popular. Do what you believe God wants you to do and you will feel right inside whether the crowd cheers or jeers.

Diocese Building: 11½ Million Dollars in Five Years

New Bishop Began 20-County Program First Day in Office

By TOM BERGHS
Daily News Staff Writer

"It's the greatest demonstration I have seen—of people who have met a challenge."
That's Edward Fitzgerald talking.
An Iowa boy, who rose to become spiritual leader of more than 86,000 Catholics, has released some rather startling information.

The 62-year-old clergyman, bishop of the Diocese of Winona, leaned back in his comfortable chair at the chancery last week and announced that in 1955, his flock will have completed a gigantic 11½ million dollar building program.

And it's all been done in less than six years—since Dec. 27, 1949, when the Most Rev. Edward A. Fitzgerald arrived in Winona to assume his multifarious duties as the fourth bishop of the diocese.

Nearly 3 Million Here
Of that astounding total figure, close to $3 million worth of construction has been completed in the city of Winona.

"I wonder how many persons realize," said Bishop Fitzgerald, "just how much that building program has meant—business wise—to this city?"

He pointed out that every bit of the $3 million program here (exact figure: $2,324,000) has been done by Winona contractors.

The bishop is instantaneous in refusing any personal plaudits for what has been done.

All the credit goes to our magnificent people. It is the rank and file Catholics in all our parishes—not I—who have done such a wonderful job."

He is quick to point out that "I've never seen our Catholic people fail a challenge—when the challenge is given. Some one had to lead them, so I did it; but what I have done, Bishop Binz (co-adjutor of the diocese from 1942 to 1949) had in mind—he did all the original plow work."

Teacher Long Time
A native of Cresco, Iowa, Bishop Fitzgerald was graduated from Loras College, Dubuque, in 1913. Following his 1916 ordination, he was appointed to the Loras faculty, where he served as a member of the history department staff and later as dean of studies.

In 1941 he was named pastor of Sacred Heart Church, Osage, Iowa, and in 1945 was appointed pastor of St. Joseph's Church and dean of the Elkader, Iowa, deanery.

Bishop Fitzgerald was elevated to the bishopric on Sept. 12, 1946, and was vicar general of the Dubuque archdiocese until 1949.

Three days after the resignation of Bishop Francis Kelly on Oct. 17, 1949, he was transferred to the Diocese of Winona and appointed its bishop by Pope Pius XII.

He is the fourth bishop of the diocese, (others: 1890-1910, Joseph Cotter; 1910-1927, Patrick Heffron; and 1927-1949, Francis Kelly).

Bishop Leo Binz was coadjutor from 42-49, while Bishop Kelly was ill and physically unable to carry out his duties.

Wasted No Time
Bishop Fitzgerald started his tenure with an explosion.

It was on the night of Jan. 4, 1949, during a public reception at Winona Senior High School after his official installation earlier in the day, that he stood up and announced that a cathedral—the diocese's first—would be built immediately.

Not since the 20-county diocese was established Nov. 26, 1889, had it ever had a central cathedral it could call its own.

St. Thomas Catholic Church at the corner of Center and Wabasha streets (later razed to make room for Sacred Heart) had served for many years as a sort of makeshift cathedral; but it was old (built in the 1880s) and would never be satisfactory.

Since that startling announcement the night of Jan. 4, Winona improvements have been maintained at a frantic pace, including the completion of:

- A 1¼ million dollar cathedral.
- A $460,000 seminary.
- One-half million dollars in building at St. Stanislaus Catholic Church.

- Building of a central Catholic high school.
- A convent and school, plus rectory and offices at St. Mary's Church on West Broadway.
- A $25,000 convent for Cotter nuns.

- Additions at St. John's Church on East Broadway totaling $9,000.
- And outside the city of Winona, a whopping $8¼ million has been spent.

Membership Up
Membership in the diocese has been on the upswing too. When Bishop Fitzgerald took over in 1950, there were 77,765 Catholics in 123 diocesan parishes served by 151 priests.

Current Catholic population in the diocese is 86,229. There are 95 residential parishes and 33 mission parishes, served by a total of 177 diocesan priests. In 1954, there were 4,128 baptisms—538 of them converts—in the diocese.

Before launching into the back-breaking task of building a cathedral, Bishop Fitzgerald warmed up by getting the $460,000 Immaculate Heart of Mary seminary and its adjoining convent built.

The seminary was first organized at St. Mary's College in 1948—while Bishop Binz was directing operations.

But seminarians had no building of their own. They ate, slept and studied in the midst of liberal arts students—often a distracting factor for a lad preparing for the altar of God.

"I therefore considered the

In the upper right corner is the Cathedral of the Sacred Heart, Main and Wabasha streets, finished in 1952 at a cost of $1,250,000. In the lower left corner is Cotter Senior High School, 354 Lafayette St., completed last year at a cost of $350,000. In the lower right corner is the Immaculate Heart of Mary Seminary on the campus of St. Mary's College, built for $460,000 and completed in 1951. (Daily News photos) seminary of first necessity," said Bishop Fitzgerald.

Contracts for the three-story structure were let in April of 1950, with winter-long construction allowing the seminarians to move into the quiet, modern, house of study and reflection in March of 1951.

The seminary is complete to the most intricate detail "for the purpose of promoting vocations to the priesthood and educating young men for the diocese of Winona," said Bishop Fitzgerald.

Financed by Donations
The building—presently housing 54 students, of which 39 are from the Diocese of Winona—has been financed entirely by donations received from the priests and laity of the diocese.

No assessments were made nor was there any financial campaign. "The Catholic people have responded by voluntary means—I'm no whip over their heads," said the bishop.

The first priest to be ordained from Immaculate Heart of Mary—the Rev. Paul Halloran—is presently assistant pastor at the Cathedral of the Sacred Heart.

Started in 1950, the last payment on the seminary will be made this year.

As soon as plans for the seminary were complete, Bishop Fitzgerald returned to his promise to build the diocese a cathedral.

"Looking back on it now," he said, "I know that if I'd told anyone back in 1950 that we could build a $1¼ million cathedral in this town, they would've said 'you're crazy'."

When plans first got under way, "all I had was a comparatively small amount of money in the bank and a lot of trust in God," he said.

Drive in 1943
Bishop Binz had launched a campaign for cathedral funds—through assessments on the individual diocesan parishes—in 1943. The drive netted $450,000, "which in those days probably would have built us a cathedral," noted Bishop Fitzgerald.

"But they waited," he recalled, "thinking that building prices would go down."

"Unfortunately," he wryly added, "building prices have more than doubled since 1943 and when this thing got started, we found we needed a great deal more money."

Acquisition of property posed the first big problem. The congregation already owned the frontage along Wabasha street, but more land on Main street—was needed. "So we purchased the Fend, McConnon and Tweedy residences."

That move gave them all of the frontage on Wabasha—between Main and Center streets—and 200 feet of property along Main street.

Started in 1950
The John J. Flad Associates of Madison, Wis., were engaged to draw up plans, contracts for building were let to a local firm in the fall of 1950 and away they went.

"We intended to do the job little by little—adding things as the money came in," said Bishop Fitzgerald, "but pretty soon, as our Catholics began to pitch in with all their hearts, I realized that we could complete the cathedral in one fell swoop."

Ground for the massive structure was broken in November of 1950 and two years later—Oct. 25, 1952—the church was opened for a convention of the Diocesan Council of Catholic Women.

The cathedral—made up of a combination of the old St. Joseph (East 5th street) and St. Thomas parishes—has a current membership of 3,800 souls.

First estimated cost of the cathedral, not including the rectory, was about $750,000.

Final cost, including the furnishings, landscaping, improvements and administration building with its offices and rectory, was $1,250,000.

$800,000 Debt
Subtracting the $450,000 the parish had in the coffers to begin with, it proposed for the diocese of Winona an $800,000 debt before a spade was turned.

When the building was completed in 1952, the debt was down—through donations from parishioners—to $560,000. Today, it's even less.

"You know," said Bishop Fitzgerald, "sacrifice is the essence of religion. If our people had been handed that church on a silver platter, it wouldn't have meant as much to them. But they are digging deeply to pay for something that means a lot to them—as a result, it has even greater significance. It's something they've worked for and paid for themselves."

The bishop took less than a year's breather and then jumped feet first into one of the diocese's toughest problems—schools.

Today, less than two years later, the diocese has 14 new schools—mostly elementary. Nine more will be completed during 1955 and an additional four are still on drawing boards, for a grand total of 27 school commitment in less than two years.

Among the three, the city of Winona has three spanking new buildings for the education of Catholic youth.

New Cotter School
During the summer of 1953, the bishop decided that the time had come for Winona to have a single, co-educational, central Catholic high school; so in September contracts were let for the $350,000 Cotter Senior High School.

At the same time, Bishop Fitzgerald organized three junior high schools in the city. The old Cotter building became Cathedral Junior High, Notre Dame Junior High was built by St. Stanislaus parish and St. Mary's Junior High was constructed by St. Mary's parish.

The three junior high schools are financed and maintained by the three parishes involved; but Cotter, said the bishop, is an obligation on all five of Winona's parishes, with a quota allotted to each.

(Others: St. Casimir's on W. Broadway and St. John's on E. Broadway.)

Cotter Senior High was completed in July of 1954 and opened its doors to 330 students for the '54-'55 school year. Bishop Fitzgerald said that about 400 are expected next year.

The problem of education is not one to be taken lightly, said the bishop.

A survey has revealed that by 1960 the Diocese of Winona will have one-half again as many Catholic children of school age as it has right now, "which is why we're putting up our present schools with an eye to the future," he said.

Number Predicted
There are 11,000 school-age children in the diocese now, with the figure expected (on the basis of children born since 1948) to leap to 16,000 by 1960.

At St. Stanislaus Church, a building program begun in 1952 has yielded: Notre Dame Junior High and hall, a remodeled rectory, Pacholski Hall in the church basement, a new boiler room and an addition to the church sacristy.

Total cost—$500,000.
In addition to their share of the cost of Cotter High School, St. Stanislaus parishioners are committed to their own one-half million dollar expansion.

St. Mary's parish on West Broadway has invested $240,000 in an elementary school and junior high, a convent for faculty nuns, church offices and rectory.

An additional building for Cotter convent nuns was purchased several years ago and in 1954, a second addition costing $25,000 was added to it, while St. John's parish put up a $9,000 addition to its school in 1954.

A Closing Project
When Cotter Senior High School began operations for the current school year, it marked the close of a $2,834,000 building program carried out under the bishop's auspices since he arrived in the winter of 1949.

The vast part of the cost of that program has been borne by the 9,200 Catholics affiliated with the five parishes in the city.

"It's even more significant," said Bishop Fitzgerald, "when you realize that the total number of Catholics includes children. There are only 2,500 heads of households in the city—and what a job they've done."

Outside the city of Winona, its been the same story, with an $8¼ million dollar finale.

Already completed, since 1950, and presently in full operation are:

- 15 churches at a cost of $2,000,000.
- 11 schools, $2,100,000, including the $325,000 St. Felix High School and parish hall at WAB-

ASHA; an elementary school costing $150,000 at ST. CHARLES; and a $60,000 school addition at HOKAH.

- 18 parish halls, $700,000 including a $65,000 structure at ROLLINGSTONE.
- 18 convents, $582,000, including a $40,000 building at CALEDONIA.
- 17 parish rectories, $525,000.

Grand total for work already completed out in the diocese is $5,907,000.

But there's more.
Due to be completed and put into operation sometime during 1955 are six more parish halls, three churches, three convents, two rectories and nine schools, including a $50,000 addition at LA CRESCENT. Total estimated '55 cost is $2,697,000.

Other Projects
And still on drawing boards, for construction in the near future, are four more schools, four churches, one parish hall and one convent. No estimated cost has yet been established for those.

All of the above (outside Winona) involves only 62 of the 128 parishes in the diocese.

SELF-DENIAL PROGRAM
WHATAM, Minn. (Special) — A self-denial and charity program will be given Tuesday, April 5, at 2 p. m. when the first Lutheran Church of Highland Ladies Aid meets. Hostesses will be Mmes. Art Rasmussen, Reuben Tweeten, Gordon Jenson, Clarence Helland and Alvin Torgerson.

There are 87,000 4-H clubs in the United States.

Asked if he doesn't at times wake up in the middle of the night and break out in a cold sweat when thinking back on what's been done—the commitment of one's flock to an $11½ million mountain, Bishop Fitzgerald answered:

"It's a lot; but all this has been done through the loyalty and generosity of the people of the Diocese of Winona."

The leader of 86,000-plus Catholics will lean back in his big chancery chair, look you straight in the eye and add quite calmly, "It takes courage and confidence—and is something to be magnificently proud of."

It will remain veiled until Easter as a reminder of the sins of mankind and not to mourn the death of Christ, Dr. Brynstad said.

Women of the congregation are making a transparent black veil which will be pulled over the cross after a Communion service Thursday night.

Following the service the lights will be turned out and five deacons in robes will march to the altar where the Scripture pertaining to Gethsemane and the crucifixion will be read. The choir will sing "Go to Dark Gethsemane" and "Oh Sacred Head Now Wounded." A bugler will play "Taps" at the conclusion of the ceremony.

The results of this survey were published in the article, "Electric Major," published in the March issue of Mademoiselle.

State Department Money Bill Cut $3½ Million

ST. PAUL (AP)—A state department appropriations bill, cut more than 3½ million dollars below the governor's budget recommendations, was introduced in the Minnesota House today.

The measure calls for appropriations totaling $46,654,261 appropriated for the current two-year period and $50,474,606 recommended by the governor in his budget.

In submitting the bill, Rep. Leo Mosier, Minneapolis, chairman of the Appropriations Committee, said the committee had followed a general hold-the-line policy. "While there were many areas in state government where the Appropriations Committee would like to make additional progress," he added, "it was felt in view of the extremely critical financial condition of the state that future expansion in existing services and programs would have to await action by subsequent legislatures."

The bill was prepared by a subcommittee headed by Rep. Francis LaBrosse, Duluth.

Freeman Launches Drive for Program

By ADOLPH JOHNSON
ST. PAUL (AP)—The Minnesota Legislature moved into the major legislation area this week as Gov. Freeman launched a strong personal drive for key parts of his program.

During the week the governor called on citizens to contact their senators and representatives.

Appeared personally before the House Civil Administration committee in behalf of his reorganization plan.

Sent a message to Senate and House Education Committee on school aids.

Met with mayors of the Twin Cities and Duluth and a group of key legislators to try to get action on his bill to cut assessment rates on manufacturers' equipment and inventory. He said he was disappointed in legislative reaction to this proposal, designed to encourage business expansion.

The governor said his statement to the education committees was the first of a series designed to correct "misinformation" on his program. He was sharply critical of the "negative" policy of conservatives who he said appear to be opposing bills because he favors them and because enactment might "lend credit to this administration."

Education Statement
In his education statement the governor said basic aids could be paid at $85—an increase of $5—and still leave a 10 million dollar balance in the income tax school fund if iron ore occupation taxes are diverted from permanent trust funds to current use and the withholding system for collecting income taxes is adopted.

His statement—the first indication he was willing to recede from his demand for $92 aids—came after approval of the $85 figure by the House Education Committee.

Highlighting other legislative activity was unanimous approval by the House of a bill to divide highway revenues, motor vehicles and gasoline taxes, among the state, the counties and the municipalities on a 62-29-9 percentage basis as part of a 15-year highway, road and street program.

This put the matter squarely up to the Senate, where the Highway Committee was considering a different approach. This proposed dedicating motor vehicle collections to the state-trunk highway system, as is done now, and splitting the gasoline tax on a 55-45 basis between the state and the counties. The state now gets two-thirds, the counties one-third.

Measure Passed
Passed and sent to the governor during the week were bills to broaden unemployment coverage in conformity with federal law and providing for creation of an interim commission to clarify and codify education laws.

The Senate passed a proposal to strengthen the child labor law and returned it to the House for action on Senate amendments. Also sent to the House after Senate approval were a modified absolute speed limit bill, a series of proposals to strengthen the state's tuberculosis program. Given preliminary approval with final action scheduled next week were the "real estate licensing bill" and a measure liberalizing workmen's compensation payments to workers hurt or killed on the job.

Between debates on the question of granting priority to certain proposals, the House passed a bill to ratify the Great Lakes Basin Compact and killed one to require persons twice convicted of felonies to register with police.

Also passed by the House, largely in a move to test Senate sentiment, was a proposal for a constitutional amendment to use area as a factor in apportioning legislative districts.

The House refused to grant priority for action next Tuesday on the income tax withholding bill, but did set debate for next week on several other measures, including the old age assistance increase from $60 to $65 a month and the Korean bonus.

Late Friday, the House gave the fair employment practices bill just enough votes to win special priority for debate next Wednesday. The vote on the motion to make the bill a special order of business was 88 to 35. Such motions require a two-thirds majority.

Old Age Assistance
The old age assistance increase also was approved by the Senate Welfare Committee, along with one designed to tighten the medical program for old age assistance recipients.

The latter bill would empower the commissioner of welfare to set schedules of maximum payments for nursing home, hospital and medical and provide that no such services, except of an emergency nature, would be paid for unless they had been authorized beforehand by county welfare boards.

The House Appropriations and Senate Finance Committee continued their labors with prospects that several of the major appropriations bills would be ready during the coming week.

During the week 88 more bills were sent to the governor. This brings the total for the session thus far to 355.

Postponements Biggest Badger Legislature News
MADISON (AP)—The biggest news in the legislature this week was a series of postponements.

Parliamentary maneuvering developed friction, if not decision. The Senate had decided to consider all legislation regarding changes in higher education policy Wednesday. This included Gov. Kohler's controversial bill to replace the University of Wisconsin Board of Regents and the Board of Regents of State Colleges with a new, single board.

Also up for consideration were two bills introduced as substitutes to Kohler's bill. They, like Kohler's bill would merge Milwaukee State College with the University's extension center at Milwaukee, but they would leave the regent boards as they are.

By parliamentary action, opponents to Kohler's bill had it held over until Friday. Proponents of the governor's bill did the same thing to the other two bills.

On Friday the three bills came up again, but things were calmer and the senators unanimously agreed to delay action again until next Wednesday.

"We hope to be able to work out a compromise with the people who object to the Kohler measure," said Sen. Rogan of Ladysmith, Senate Republican floor leader.

In most of the voting, proponents of Kohler's bill had a firm 19-12 majority, enough to pass the bill eventually but not enough to suspend rules by which action was delayed.

The Senate sent one legislative proposal to the voters this week. It passed a resolution introduced in the Assembly to permit county sheriffs to run for more than two consecutive terms.

The resolution calls for a constitutional amendment. As required by law, the resolution was approved by both houses in the Legislature in 1953 and was passed again this session.

Now the question goes to the voters in the April election of 1956. The Senate this week killed one joint resolution calling for a constitutional amendment to have all county officials appointed instead of elected. It also killed a similar resolution which would have made only coroners and surveyors appointive.

A bill to permit single-unit self-propelled railway passenger units to be used without full train crews was sent to the governor after the Senate had approved a bill already passed by the Assembly. Such self-propelled units would be used on lines where no other passenger service would otherwise be available.

The Assembly this week voted 95-0 in favor of a bill which would require a mandatory jail term for anyone convicted of trapping deer or using spotlights to hunt the deer.

The Senate rejected a bill offered by Sen. Nelson (D-Milwaukee) to provide that only public officials and the press may look at public assistance rolls. The 1953 Legislature passed a law opening such relief rolls to the public scrutiny.

Confirmation of the appointment of Nicholas Lesselyoung of Fond du Lac to the state Public Service Commission was confirmed by the Senate. Lesselyoung is a Republican assemblyman.

Blind, Deaf Couple Will Keep Baby

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A few weeks ago, living in a dark, silent world, Harold and Georgia Hathaway knew fear and despair.

Mrs. Hathaway had just given birth to a son after two years of marriage. Unlike his deaf and blind parents, little Clarence Hathaway was normal. He would bring life and joy into their existence in their small brown frame cottage.

Then, from a Summit County welfare agency came a notice that the Hathaways might have to give up their child; that a hearing would be held to determine whether they were able to properly care for him.

Harold Hathaway, 52, and his 31-year-old wife, turned to their friends and neighbors for help. Using hand-writing to "talk," they appealed to them to convince authorities that the couple could rear the child.

They knew that their handicaps were big ones. They couldn't hear the child if he cried and they couldn't see him if he fell. They feared the worst.

Juvenile Court Judge Russell Thomas heard welfare authorities explain that in the case of severely handicapped parents it was sometimes wise to put children in the care of foster parents. He heard friends of the Hathaways offer to help in any way they could.

The parents, using their hand-writing, vowed to do everything possible to give their son a normal life.

After hearing all of the discussion and ideas, Judge Thomas ruled the Hathaways could keep their child.

Society's responsibility, he said, did not end with his ruling. The friends and neighbors, Summit County as a whole, shared with welfare authorities the duty of helping the Hathaways bring up the child, the judge said.

Today, seven weeks after Clarence was born, everyone is doing their best.

A nurse from the Summit County Visiting Nurse Assn. spends two hours each morning in the Hathaway home. Mary Knapp, head of the association, reported that Mrs. Hathaway is doing a splendid job of being a mother. The mother's biggest problem is applying the baby powder. Because she can't see and sometimes fails to get enough powder on the child, he once had a slight case of diaper rash.

After the nurse goes each day, a neighbor, Mrs. Kenneth Pipes, begins a series of at least three daily visits to the Hathaways. Mrs. Pipes is paid $10 a week.

When problems arise, Mrs. Hathaway has only to press a button which rings an alarm in the Pipes' house and brings her neighbor on the run.

At night, Mrs. Hathaway sleeps with one hand on the baby's bassinet. The slightest movement awakens her, she says.

People throughout the nation have responded to the story of the Hathaways.

A bank account in the baby's name, has swelled to $750 through donations handled by the Rev. James Shoe, court-appointed financial guardian for the tot. Gifts fill the corners of the three-room house and range from a layette to an old, silver baby spoon mailed from a far city.

A company of soldiers, stationed in Kansas, wrote individual letters of encouragement to the Hathaways and offered to "come East right away" if they need any more help.

A Cleveland woman volunteered to supply the baby's food for a year, and a similar offer was made by an Akron grocer.

A Florida motel operator wrote the Hathaways to move into one of his units and live rent free. From Southern Ohio, a farmer and his wife offered to build a cottage on their farm to house the couple.

The Hathaways, however, plan to live on in their own cottage, up a muddy road on the outskirts of Akron.

Hathaway used to make leather goods. Now, he and his wife occupy themselves solely with the baby's care. Each gets a pension of about $75 a month.

The father began losing his hearing at 11 and was deaf within a few years. In 1947 he lost his sight. The mother was born blind and lost her hearing at 15. Each speaks infrequently, and then in voices not understandable to most persons.

In the handwriting they use to talk to each other and to normal persons, each part of the hand represents a letter and thus words are spelled out.

Mrs. Hathaway is proud that she has learned to bathe the baby and can mix its formula herself. Her husband, equally pleased, says all he wants "is for Clarence to grow up to be a good man."

Mrs. Knapp believes Clarence has a fine chance of "life's getting as good care as two-thirds of the babies in Akron," she said.

Defense Plans New Appeal in Sheppard Case

CLEVELAND, Pa. — In an attempt to upset Dr. Samuel Sheppard's conviction on a charge of second degree murder, defense attorneys will tell Appeals Court today that Mrs. Marilyn Sheppard was hacked to death in a sex attack by a left-handed intruder, whom she probably bit on the hand when he tried to strangle her.

The argument is in a brief prepared by William J. Corrigan, chief counsel for the young osteopath sentenced last December to life in prison for the killing of his wife.

Corrigan released copies of the brief to reporters last night, on the eve of the deadline for filing it in Appeals Court.

Some of the points in the defense case are believed to have been developed by Dr. Paul L. Kirk, University of California criminologist, hired to investigate the case by Corrigan. Kirk is not mentioned in the brief.

The brief claims a "peeper or sex deviate" could have peered at Marilyn from an apple tree near the house, could have entered the house by the unlocked back door, gone to her bedroom and killed her.

Sheppard maintains his wife was killed by a "bushy haired intruder," who twice knocked him unconscious when he went upstairs to investigate his wife's screams. He said he was asleep downstairs when she screamed.

Harvard Economist Defends Testimony On Stock Market

WASHINGTON (AP)—Harvard Economist John K. Galbraith says that on the basis of his own experience, former President Herbert Hoover "today would be sternly advised he was a prophet of gloom and doom."

Galbraith filed with the Senate Banking Committee a statement replying to Republican attacks on his March 7 testimony comparing conditions now with those prior to the 1929 stock market crash.

Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall then accused Galbraith of "spreading gloom and doom by the yard." He was criticized also by Sen. Capehart (R-Ind.).

The economist said Hoover spoke out Jan. 1, 1929 about the dangers of a stock market boom, and said of his own testimony that only time will tell.

Meantime, he said, Congress will hamper its own investigations if cooperative witnesses are to be subjected to "a saliva test for security."

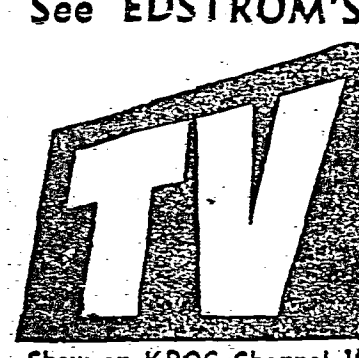

"If nonpolitical testimony is to unleash massive political retaliation," he said, "then they (witnesses) may hesitate. They may even decide for silence."

Galbraith filed his statement in lieu of a second appearance before the committee, which he had requested to answer Capehart's criticism. The main public hearings on the stock market have been completed.

Capehart had referred to some of Galbraith's writings, contending they were sympathetic to Communism. Galbraith said in his statement, as he had earlier in public comment, that Capehart had "lifted two paragraphs from context."

Cotter Instructor Receives Fellowship

Sister M. Bibiana, O.S.F., a member of the faculty of Cotter High School, has been awarded a General Electric fellowship in mathematics for the 1955 summer program at Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind.

The fellowships have been granted by the General Electric Co. especially for secondary school teachers of mathematics.

The program is planned to provide the fellows with an opportunity to increase their knowledge and understanding of mathematics and its application as well as stimulating their teaching.

During the summer, Sister Bibiana will be teaching high school mathematics and increasing their effectiveness as teachers and counselors. The Rev. Harold Gavin, Cotter principal, explained.

Sister Bibiana completed her undergraduate work at the College of Saint Teresa and received her master's degree from the University of Michigan.

This year she is teaching mathematics at Cotter.

2,900 Eau Claire Rubber Workers Strike
EAU CLAIRE, Wis. (AP)—About 2,900 production workers at the U.S. Rubber Co. plant here were idle today after the CIO Rubber Workers' Union ordered a walkout to enforce contract demands.

A company spokesman in New York City said the chief issue in the labor-management dispute is a union demand for a four-week vacation period after 15 years of service.

The present vacation is three weeks annually after 15 years. Wages, not an issue in this dispute, were settled in a contract agreement last August.

The 2,900 workers here joined approximately 32,100 other U.S. Rubber employees in 18 other plants across the nation.

Six 'A' Averages Top Honor Roll at Wykoff
WYKOFF, Minn. (Special)—Six Wykoff High School students maintained an A average during the past six weeks, according to Principal Harry P. Sheff.

The students are: Rose Marie Kohlmeier and David Meisner, seniors; Arlys Bicknese, Myrna Eickhoff and Margie Theiss, juniors and Thelma Meisner, a freshman.

This Week in Winona

Awards Are Presented in the poetry contest conducted by Court Winona 191; CDA, at the far left above. Left to right are Judith Koll, third place winner; Mrs. Helen Foreman, president of the court; Mrs. Jerome Starzecki, chairman of the poetry contest; Lionel Benning, first place winner, and David Hall who received second prize. All winners are students at Cotter High School.

Rabbits, Chickens and Faces are offered in the Easter eggs which have been decorated by members of the gift shop committee of the Winona General Hospital Women's Auxiliary for sale in the shop in the hospital library. China nesting eggs have been transformed with felt ears, bills, eyes and noses or glitter with sequins and metallic bands under the nimble fingers of the workers, three of whom are shown at work above. Left to right, they are Mrs. John David, Mrs. L. C. Landman and Mrs. Joseph Chalus.

Spring Was Ushered In by the Chautauqua Club at a Guest Day tea and musicale at the First Congregational Church this week. Glipped at the left are Mrs. C. Whitney Ozer, Mrs. A. G. Davis, program chairman for the evening; Miss Diane Davis, who joined with Duayne Malewicki in a program of piano solos, duo-piano numbers and vocal solos on the afternoon's program; Mrs. C. R. Kolofski, club president, and Mr. Malewicki. (Daily News photos)

Gordon Slater Bride at Home / At Wyoming

WEAVER, Minn. (Special) —Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Robert Slater Jr., who were married by the Rev. W. E. Mahle at the Methodist Church here at 2:30 p.m. March 5, are at home in Wyoming, Minn. The bride is the former Donna Mae Olson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Dennis, Weaver, Minn., and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon R. Slater Sr., Pequot Lakes, Minn.

Pink and white snapdragons and white candles were decorations at the church where Mrs. Gilmore Olson, aunt of the bride, was vocal soloist and Mrs. W. E. Mahle played the wedding music.

The bride was attended by her sister, Lois, as maid of honor and the bridegroom's sister, Mary, and another sister of the bride, Shirley, as bridesmaids. Sandra Johnson, was flower girl and Lloyd Johnson Jr., ringbearer. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Johnson.

Lawrence Boettcher, Swan River, Minn., was best man and Richard Benedix, Twin Valley, Minn., and James Nickisch, Chicago City, Minn., were groomsmen. Ushers were Gilmore Olson and Dean Winters.

The bride wore a gown of white lace and nylon tulle over satin, with train, and a veil held by a crown of orange blossoms and seed pearls, and carried red and white roses in a colonial bouquet. Her attendants were in lace and nylon tulle gowns, the maid of honor in pink, Miss Slater in yellow and Miss Olson in blue. They wore nylon tulle headbands set with rhinestones, and carried pastel-colored carnations.

A reception was held in the American Legion Memorial Club, Winona, from 3 to 6 p.m. Decorations were pink and white snapdragons and candles.

For their wedding trip to Kansas City for a week, the bride wore a navy linen suit with red and white accessories. She is a graduate of Winona Senior High School, and has been a bookkeeper for Valley Fruit & Produce, Inc., Winona. The bridegroom attended Pequot High School, and is employed in the Carlos Avery Refuge. He served four years in the Air Force.

Miss Maxine Nickelson, Miss Shirley Olson and Miss Lois Olson entertained for the bride-to-be at Weaver and Mrs. Gordon Slater and Miss Mary Slater at Pequot Lakes.

Dr. Flanary Dies At St. Charles; Funeral Monday

Dr. William F. Flanary

ST. CHARLES, Minn. (Special)—Dr. William F. Flanary, 66, a former mayor of St. Charles and a practicing veterinarian here for 45 years, died suddenly Friday afternoon of a heart ailment.

Funeral services will be held Monday at 9:30 a.m. at the St. Charles Catholic Church, the Rev. H. L. McNally officiating. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery. Friends may call at the Scholer Funeral Home after 7 o'clock to night. The Rosary will be said at 3 and 8 p.m. Sunday. Graveside rites will be conducted by the Hugh Watson American Legion post.

Well known in southern Minnesota veterinary circles, Dr. Flanary was president of the Minnesota State Veterinary Medical Society in 1951. A member of the society for 45 years, Dr. Flanary was an honorary member at the time of his death. He also was a member of the American Veterinary Medical Society.

Native of Chaffield

Born at Chaffield April 26, 1888, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Flanary, he attended public schools there and received his doctor of veterinary medicine degree at the Ontario veterinary college, University of Toronto, Canada, in the spring of 1916. Shortly thereafter, he opened an office here.

In April 1913, he married Miss Sadie Mishaw, Toronto. She died in 1922 and the couple's two children, William and Margaret, also are dead. Dr. Flanary married Miss Josephine O'Keefe, St. Paul, in 1924.

She survives as do four sons, Dr. James B. Flanary, who was associated with his father; Dr. John R. Flanary, a Milwaukee physician; Lawrence, also of Milwaukee; and Robert, Chaffield; a daughter, Mrs. Frank L. Aiken Jr., Minneapolis; two sisters, Mrs. William Manahan and Miss Nora Flanary, both of Rochester, and eight grandchildren. A brother, Thomas, died last year.

On School Board Once

Dr. Flanary served as mayor of St. Charles and as commander of the Hugh Watson Post 190 of the American Legion of which he was a charter member. He was a veteran of World War I.

He served on the school board of the St. Charles public schools for a number of years.

Dr. Flanary was a member of the Holy Name Society of the St. Charles Catholic Church.

Six area veterinarians will be honorary pallbearers. They are: Drs. G. S. Failing and N. A. Roettiger, both of Winona; Dr. J. N. Leitz, Eyota; Dr. J. H. Cavanaugh, Plainview; Dr. P. H. Riede, Mabel, and Dr. K. W. Klaus, Lewiston.

Vera K. Harmon Wed in Bremen Church Ceremony

PLAINVIEW, Minn. (Special)—Before an altar on which were baskets of spring flowers, Miss Vera Kathryn Harmon, Plainview, became the bride of Le Roy Maynard Schones, Millville, at Trinity Lutheran Church, Bremen, March 17. The Rev. K. H. Roever read the double-ring service.

Miss Irene Kujath was organist and the Misses Kay Kujath and Janice Munsch, Elgin, sang. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Harmon, Plainview, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Schones, Millville.

The bride wore a gown of white satin and the bridegroom's gift, a rhinestone necklace and earrings. Miss Beatrice Harmon was maid of honor and Mrs. David Wadley and Miss Margie Ann Heun, Millville, were bridesmaids.

They wore gowns of peach, rose and green, and carried white carnations. Susan Plank, Millville, was flower girl in a frock identical to the bride's gown. The bride gave her attendants pearl necklaces.

Francis Schones, Millville, was his brother's best man and Ervin Ellinger, Altura, and Maynard Hein, Millville, were groomsmen. Donald Schleck was ringbearer and ushers were Otto Bueske, Rochester, and Donald Plank, Millville. The reception in the church's social rooms was attended by 80. Spring flowers decorated the rooms. A wedding cake centered the table. Mrs. Lloyd Erickson cut the cake.

Serving were the Misses Geraldine Blattner and Le Ann and Jean Irish and Mrs. James Hagedorn. In charge were the Misses Norman Lorenz, Lloyd Erickson, Fred Schuchard, Hubert Brechtel and Peter Komisar. Mrs. Donald Plank was in charge of the guest book.

The couple left later on a wedding trip to South Dakota and upon their return will make their home in Millville. Mrs. Schones is a graduate of Plainview High School, and has been employed at Timm's Cafe, Plainview. Mr. Schones attended the Plainview schools and was engaged in the trucking business with his father.

The mothers of the couple were spring afternoon frocks and Mrs. Emma Blattner, the bridegroom's grandmother, a navy dress. They wore corsages of carnations.

Hostesses at a parcel shower honoring the couple March 6 at the Millville Legion Hall were the Misses Harry and Francis Schones, Charles Hein, Lloyd Erickson, Norman Lorenz and Hubert Brechtel.

Arcadia OK's Plant Contract

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special)—At a special meeting of the Arcadia City Council, Robert G. Rezin of Tomah, Wis., was awarded the general construction contract for sewage treatment plant improvements here.

Total cost of the contract is $73,487.68. The figure is $795 higher than Rezin's original base bid of $72,692.68 opened by councilmen in February. The increase is the result of changes requested by the city.

Awarding of the contract was made on the supposition that portions of the existing sewage treatment plant can be reused. If, during construction, it is found that major repairs are necessary, the cost of such repairs

Scheid Replies

Winona Chiefs Manager Emil Scheid has a much better opinion of the ball club he's lined up than the sixth-place finish predicted for Winona by Bob Balance, manager of Waseca-Owatonna.

The mailman brought us a letter from Scheid concerning Balance's prognostications. Balance's thoughts on the league in general, and Winona in particular, were included in the guest column Jim Cowan of the Waseca Journal wrote for us about Waseca-Owatonna's team.

We told Emil we'd be glad to give him the opportunity to reply to Balance. Before going into Scheid's letter we'll reprint Balance's thoughts to bring the situation up-to-date for fans who may have missed it.

Bob Balance of Waseca-Owatonna said: "I look for Winona to improve but don't see them finishing much better than sixth place this year. Winona fans have been and still are great and I'd like to see them have a winning ball club—they deserve it. With all due respect to Emil Scheid, however, as of now I STILL can't see them any better off than sixth."

"If the standings at the end of the season were determined by the enthusiasm and effort of Winona fans, ball players, and Scheid, though, Winona would have to be placed in the top spot. "Emil is counting on a bunch of boys who haven't had too much experience in this kind of baseball and some of his men who have been playing in this league are coming to the end of their rope."

Emil Scheid, Winona Chiefs manager, sez: "Dear Ralph: "Your item by Bob Balance was received and Balance evidently Bob is of the opinion that if you don't have five years of pro baseball experience you can't play in this league."

"Bob should think back to the days when Skowron (Yankees) and Elliott (Cardinals) played and last year when Gleason, Morgan and Schoonmaker played at Austin."

"We were six games out of first place when they came and we finished six games out of first place."

"Bob should read the metropolitan papers about Jerry Kindall. I know he will be the best shortstop the league will ever see."

"In spite of everything Bob says, a good ball club is built down the middle and I feel with Gleason catching we will have the best receiver in the league. And with Jim Lawler and DeRose and several others to pitch, Kindall, Smith and also Miller, I should have the best second base combination."

"In centerfield we will have Bert Tracy or Triplett which gives us the two greatest centerfielders in the league."

"Personally, I don't think I am so old that I can't pick good players. I still think I can bring the club in 1st or 2nd place."

"I want to thank Bob for picking me for 6th place as anything I can do better than 6th will be appreciated by the Winona fans."

"Yours very truly, "Emil J. Scheid, Mgr. "Winona Baseball Club."

One thing we like about Emil Scheid—when he calls a spade a spade, he really calls a spade a spade. Well, the time will arrive when the answers will be known. We'll be pulling for Scheid's prediction on the 1-2 finish to ring true, and hope that our pal, Bob Balance, is all wrong about Winona.

Golf Clubs Needed

Also in the mail, addressed to our department, was a post-card from Mike Bambenek of the Park-Recreation Board. Although Mike writes with a twinkle, his message is serious:

"Dear Mr. Golf Ball-Pounder: "Our department can use some old golf clubs and golf bags. They will be used by boys and girls who play free golf at Westfield."

"We had 90 playing in this program last year. We'll be glad to call for the equipment, if you have some available. The biggest obstacle to kid golf is cost of equipment. We now have five sets used last season."

"Give this the old 'home-town plug'."

"Yours, M. J. Bambenek."

The Sidelighter would like to add his two-bits worth to that, too. The program is a fine thing for kids in the summer—a good, well-run recreational activity. The cause is worthy—it deserves support. We're happy to give it the old "home-town plug!"

Galuska Inks Detroit Lions Pro Contract

ARCADIA, Wis. — George Galuska, former Arcadia High School grid star and fullback three years at the University of Wyoming, has signed a contract to play professional football with the Detroit Lions.

Terms of the grid agreement weren't announced, but Galuska's friends said he would go to summer camp with the Lions and receive a stipulated salary if the Lions retain him for the season.

One of Arcadia's all-time greats, he was a member of an undefeated, untied and unscathed football team in his prep days under Coach Bill Cadden.

He played two years of varsity ball at Wyoming and Coach Rowden Wyatt who last season attracted national prominence at Arkansas.

Highlights of Galuska's career include setting an all-time Wyoming record for fullbacks in his junior year, and receiving the Landy Award, conferred annually at Wyoming on the basis of athletic ability, scholarship and leadership. He is a good-looking major.

Veteran outfielder Del Ennis and rookie pitcher John Meyer of the Phillies are the only members of the team born in Philadelphia.

Vejar Easily Whips Fading Billy Graham

Scores Unanimous 10-Round Decision Over Ring Veteran

By OWEN CRUMB SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Now that welterweight Chico Vejar has made it pretty plain he can beat the fading Billy Graham as he pleases, who does he fight next?

Vejar, the 25-year-old from Stamford, Conn., put Graham away with ease in a unanimous 10-round decision last night. He had done it before on a split decision in Madison Square Garden March 4.

The Vejar-Graham scrap wasn't the No. 1 welterweight fight of the night, however. It took second billing to a brawl at Boston, where Tony DeMarco relieved Johnny Saxton of his world championship on a 14th round TKO.

The particulars on Vejar are that his chopping lefts and speed were just too much for Graham, although Chico wasn't quite as speedy as he was in the Garden bout. Vejar was 2½ pounds heavier for this one at 154½ and he said it slowed him down.

Graham, 32, came in at 149½ and said he started too late, thinking he was leading. "I thought it was close, you know."

Judge Ted Shells scored it 8-1-1. Judge Jack Kimball and Referee Ray Miller had it 6-3-1. So did The Associated Press card.

Bob Toski's 63 Perils Maxwell

WILMINGTON, N. C. (AP)—Billy Maxwell held a shaky one-stroke lead as today's third round of the $12,300 Azalea Open tournament began.

The Odessa, Tex., pro, only 25, was 11 under par with 65-68-133 but he faced a field of hot marksmen today and Sunday in his bid for the title.

Bob Toki of Livingston, N. J., almost caught Billy Friday with a superb 32-31-63. That set a new course record and tied Toski with Mike Souchak of Durham, N. C., each had 134, Mike's coming after a rousing 31 finish gave him his second 67.

Locked at 137 were Eric Monti, Los Angeles, and Doug Ford, Klamath Lake, N. Y. Four were tied at 138.

Lions, Steelers Ink Exhibition Contract

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Detroit Lions and Pittsburgh Steelers Friday signed a contract to play a National Football League exhibition game in the Orange Bowl Stadium on Sept. 2.

It will be Miami's first look at professional football since 1946 when the Miami Seahawks of the old All-America Conference played in the Orange Bowl.

The Coral Gables Elks will sponsor the game and it was reported each team was guaranteed $15,000.

Nick Korbaw, who represented the Lions, said the Detroiters also will play an exhibition with Washington in Mobile, Ala., on Aug. 24 and plans another exhibition game in Dallas, Tex., in late summer.

Tony DeMarco Lifts Title From Saxton in 14th Round

By BOB HOOBING

BOSTON (AP)—Tony DeMarco reigns as the new world welterweight king today after turning determination, skill and a devastating punch into a 14th round technical knockout over ex-champion Johnny Saxton.

DeMarco, 23-year-old batter from Boston's North End, knocked Saxton down for a nine count and hammered the helpless New Yorker 10 times more against the ropes before Referee Mel Manning stopped it at 2:50 of the 14th round last night at Boston Garden.

A happy Tony was a bit bewildered in the dressing room afterward but not so much as the betting fraternity which had made him a 3 to 1 shortener.

The scheduled 15-rounder was the first title defense for short-lived welter king Saxton who won it from Kid Gavilan last October. It was the first time Saxton had been stopped in his professional career.

The left hook proved DeMarco's biggest weapon when he moved in to polish off the ex-champion but the 145-pounder showed a lot more than that in gaining the victory.

DeMarco was cut over the left eye in the second round when Saxton, 145½, connected with a right cross.

Obviously the harder hitter of the two, Tony was an easy mark in the first six rounds though never in trouble. Suddenly, he revamped his defenses and Saxton found his own effective left hook and stabbing rights were being blocked.

Forced to carry the fight by the countering punch, DeMarco did so successfully and weakened Johnny with a body attack which outlasted his heralded inside hitting.

Through the first 13 rounds Manning scored the fight 127 points to 122 for DeMarco on the basis of 10 points for the winner of each round and 10 or less for his opponent. Judge Jim Shaughnessy scored it for DeMarco 128 to 121 while Judge Tom McNeely gave the edge to Saxton 125-123.

Afterward, DeMarco admitted he felt he had a chance to knock out Saxton in the 12th round.

"I knew I had him on queer straits when he went down in the 14th round," beamed Tony—nee Leo Liotta. "When he fell back through the ropes, I said to myself 'This is it!'"

Saxton had no alibis. "I saw all those punches coming but I just couldn't get out of the way. He's a real strong boy. I thought the fight was going along very nicely until I ran into that left hook."

The cut over DeMarco's eye is the obstacle that stands between Tony and a definite commitment for his first defense. Saxton's manager, Frank Palermo, said he would waive the 90-day return bout clause in the contract so that DeMarco could meet Carmen Basilio, No. 1 ranked challenger, in Syracuse. The winner of that fight then would fight Saxton.

Dr. Richard Webster, Tony's attending physician, did not slitch the cut but scheduled further examination today. DeMarco also has an injured right hand.

DeMarco had a great respect for Saxton. "He's the best I ever fought. He was tougher than (lightweight champion) Jimmy Carter because, after all, he's heavier. DeMarco drew with Carter in a non-title 10 his last previous appearance.

Commented National Boxing Assn. President Tony Petronella: "It was one of the greatest welterweight fights in a long time. I've been hollering about this kid for over a year. Too bad it wasn't on television."

DeMarco has been unbeaten in the 17 fights since he's become a main event. His over-all record is 39 victories, four losses and the Carter draw. Saxton has a 47-4-1 record.

Pre-fight predictions that 12,000 fans would pay close to $100,000 fell way short as 8,706 customers shelled out a gross of $68,716 and a net of $53,662.

Saxton got a $40,000 guarantee and DeMarco about $10,000.

Stan Hack Picks Giants to Repeat

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Manager Stan Hack of the Chicago Cubs today picked the New York Giants to repeat in the National League and his Cubs to possibly finish fourth.

"Milwaukee will be the club to beat," said Hack, "but the Giants won the pennant last year and they're a solid team."

"I don't like to make predictions about where we'll finish," continued smiling Stan, "but I know we're going to be better and with any kind of luck we could be a fourth-place club."

Tenley Albright Wins in Skating

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—Peerless Tenley Albright, flashing his form that won the 1955 world title, claimed her fourth consecutive senior women's figures title in the National Skating Championships Friday night.

Hayes Alan Jenkins of Colorado Springs, running mate of the 19-year-old Boston miss in world competition, seeks to match her title streak in the senior men's division tonight.

Louise Suggs Leads With 75

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Louise Suggs, two-time National Open champion, stroked a two-under par 75 Friday to take the first round lead in the 54-hole $5,000 Oklahoma City Women's Open tournament.

She overcame strong north winds, dust and a driving rainstorm to post her two-under par score for women and only one over men's par.

Avila's Hitting, Fielding Sparkles in Exhibition Tilts

By ED WILKS The Associated Press

The Cleveland Indians have had a new but familiar entry in the boxscore the past few days—"Avila 2b." And the little guy with the big ideas about his batting ability looks like he really does intend to hit .400 this season.

It was back in early February that Bobby announced "I try for .400 this season." His tongue was not in his cheek. Avila has been talking like a hitter ever since he surprised just about everybody by batting .341 to lead the American League last season.

He never had hit above .305 before.

After making the .400 speech, Avila entered into lingual difficulties with Hank Greenberg, the Tribe's general manager. It was only last week that Avila and Greenberg finally talked the same language about contract terms.

Avila came into camp 21 days late. But after winter baseball, Avila looked like he had been with the Tribe since March 1, when training opened.

In his first full game Wednesday, he had 2-4, hitting a double and a home run for 2 RBIs. Now, after three games, he's 8-14 (that's .571), adding two more extra base blows (both doubles). He's committed two errors in 24 chances in the field.

Avila had a perfect day on 11 chances yesterday, and swatted two doubles and scored twice as Cleveland clobbered the New York Giants 15-3.

The Tribe, now 7-6 against the world champs this spring, continued to fatten up on New York pitching with 14 hits, running their three-day total against the National League to 40 runs and 41 hits. Larry Doby, Al Smith, Al Rosen and Bob Lemon, the winning pitcher, each hit homers yesterday.

Elsewhere, the Chicago White Sox walloped the St. Louis Cardinals and Harvey Haddix 9-0 in a game halted at six innings by rain. First Baseman Walt Dropo, one of the "ifs" in Sox pennant talk, hit his second home run in two days—a grand slam off Haddix in the first—and Chicago promptly optioned a first base candidate, Jim Marshall, to Oakland.

Milwaukee whipped Brooklyn 9-5 to even the spring series between the National League contenders at 3-3. Joe Adcock hit a three-run homer in the first of the first, and the young Brook lefty.

Pittsburgh completed a deal for rookie Gene Freese by sending

TABBING THE MAJORS

Minus Injury Jinx, Braves Rated Well

By JACK HAND BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—This could be the year that baseball-mad Milwaukee goes completely berserk with its first pennant winner. If the Braves can escape the injury jinx that struck down five key men last season, they could go "all the way."

Despite a series of bad accidents that started when Bobby Thomson broke his ankle in spring training, the Braves finished third last year, only eight games behind the New York Giants and three back of Brooklyn.

With the record of the last two years and the tremendous backlog of fan enthusiasm to back him up, it is not necessary for manager Charlie Grimm to pop off.

"We have as good a chance as anybody," says Grimm. "We could have won it last year. We got off to a terrible start and the injuries killed us after we got rolling."

Thomson was given a clean bill of health recently by the St. Petersburg doctor who set his ankle last spring. The Braves count on Bobby to hold down left field and lend his power to the cleanup spot in the order.

Grimm has a set infield of Joe Adcock (.308) on first, Johnny Logan (.275) at short and Eddie Mathews (.290) at third. The outfield will be Thomson (.232); Bill Bruton (.284) and Aaron.

Del Crandall, 25, is about ready to take over as the best catcher in the league, if he can boost his .242 average. Jack Parks (.312) at Atlanta probably will be his understudy.

For utility help, Grimm is expected to keep outfielders Chuck Tanner (.323 at Atlanta) and Jim Ponder (.220), first baseman George Crowe (.334 at Toledo) and Dittmer (.245) at second.

Bonus players Mel Roach, an outfielder, and Joe Jay, a pitcher, must be kept until June or July.

Warren Spahn (21-12), of course, is the big gun of the pitching staff. Gene Conley (14-9) and Lew Burdette (15-14), are certain starters.

Grimm counts on both Bob Buhl (2-7) and Chet Nichols (9-11) to bounce back from so-so seasons. Jim Wilson (8-2) will be used for spot work against certain clubs.

Dave Jolly (11-6) and Ernie Johnson (5-2), both righthanders, will do the relief work.

Colorful Minnesotan Sets World Record

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—No matter what happens today, the final of the three-day national AAU men's indoor swimming championship, the most colorful performer is sure to be Bob Gawboy, 22-year-old University of Minnesota sophomore.

Gawboy, son of an Indian father and a Finnish mother, put on a show after breaking the world's 220-yard breaststroke record Friday night that had everybody who saw it sharing his joy with him.

St. Mary's Record Top Cage News

The stretch drive of the St. Mary's Redmen to a second-place finish in the 1954-55 Minnesota College Conference basketball standings was a feature of the winter sports season in Winona.

The Redmen achieved their 11-5 league record, the best in years, by winning eight of their last nine games. A pair of victories over Gustavus and Hamline were two of the choicest morsels in the victory pie.

The success came to Ken Wiltgen, new basketball coach and athletic director at St. Mary's in his first year out of the Chicago prep coaching ranks.

Replying to a Daily News sports questionaire, Wiltgen's opinions on the recent season are as follows:

"We had a very good year, much better than I ever expected for my first year in college. I had a wonderful group to work with and the boys were willing to cooperate.

"After the first few weeks we

began to jell as a unit. It always takes time for a new coach and his boys to adapt to each other.

"Our spirit and desire was good, especially in our stretch drive to capture second place. It was a team effort all the way. We acquired the feeling that winning was important and when you win, every player is important.

"The things that pleased me most were wins over Gustavus and Hamline. I tried all year to rid the boys of the feeling that they were bound to lose away from home. They finally believed it and proved if you want to win badly enough, it makes no difference where you are playing. A champion must win anywhere.

"Our reasons for success were that the boys believed in what they were doing and had the heart and desire to get the job done. It's amazing what desire can do—the GUSTAVUS win is an example. Naturally, it's easier when you have the horses, and I did."

Absent next year will be Bill Skemp, whose scoring ability made up for weaknesses in other departments; Gene Biewen, a great defensive ball player and rebounder; and Marty (Pepper) Coughlin, the team captain and according to Wiltgen "a good consistent scorer and smart ball player. He was the heart of our ball club — a good team leader."

Wiltgen has his height back in 6-7 John Curran and 6-3 captain-elect Fred Sheridan. "Our team could be one of the best in the league. I believe our success next year hinges on him."

Wiltgen looks for Sheridan to "do his usual good job."

Ken Jensen, the sensational freshman guard, is being counted on along with Dick Kuehl for outcourt duties. Other varsity members back are Mike Surby, Tom Flaherty, Don Weslow and Jack Ward. Freshmen candidates are Dewey Kuehl and Rich Rodney with 6-3 junior Tom Judge also in the running.

Of next year, Wiltgen says, "We have a good nucleus back but it depends on how well the reserves from this year respond to pressure. However, I definitely think we can do as well, if not better, than this year."

I feel pretty certain stating that they won't lack the spirit and desire. Here's hoping we will be contenders next year and every year."

Winhawk Swimmers Show Improvement

"A group of young but eager swimmers led to our fine record last season," voiced Coach Lloyd Luke of the Winona High swimming team. "We started practice in November and worked hard and long for the 5-3 record we accumulated."

Two of the Winhawk losses came at the hands of Rochester's state champions and the other was to Shattuck in the first meet of the season.

Among the wins were two over Austin. The first victory was at Austin, the first time in 18 years the Winhawks were able to turn the trick in the Packer pool.

"Our two top swimmers were Wilton Berger and Jerry Ziebell."

Berger broke the school record in the 100-yard freestyle in a time of 55.4 seconds and the 1200-yard individual medley school and pool record with the time of 1:26.8. He also broke the state record in the 200-yard freestyle with the time of 2:07.6.

"Ziebell was outstanding in the 100-yard breaststroke and broke the school record with a time of 1:10. Roland Kraus and James Hauser in the freestyle sprint, Jerry Miller in the 200 yard freestyle, Michael Hull in the backstroke and Bob Hervey in diving were also outstanding this year."

The Winhawk swimmers placed fifth in the state meet this year.

Berger won the 150-yard individual medley and placed second in Miller, Hull and Hervey all return next year, and some of the other younger boys should help out too. Tom Buck and Scott Streator look the most promising of the younger set if they continue to stick with swimming.

"We need another year to get more boys sold on swimming as a competitive sport."

"Only a few of the many boys who can be outstanding in physical activities show up when a call goes out for talent. If our school athletic teams are going to be great we must get all the boys interested and keep them so."

"We have the coaching staff to provide the leadership. All we need is civic backing and a big turnout of the 'hidden' talent. In other words, I say to the boys, if you want a swimming team it is up to you."

Winona High Ice Prospects Bright

The Winona High hockey team's season record showed an advantage on the debit side of the ledger with five wins and six losses, but Coach Gordy Paschka's prep

matmen had a good season, and with material coming up from a B squad that compiled a 6-1 record, "the best in years," Paschka says, "the future looks bright."

He continues, "We lose John DeLozier, Richard Waite, Roger Williamson and Jim Blake, who carried the load this year. But we have a good nucleus back with Frank Lassen, George Henthorne, Dave Sebo and Bob Kosidowski."

"B squad boys who should help are Richard Landro, John Fend, Ken Nelson, Dell Schmidt and Don Bureman. These, plus the reserves, should give us the best squad in recent years," Paschka concludes.

Individual records of "A" squad members follows: Lassen—50-pound freshman, 6-6; DeLozier—103, senior, 15-1-1, regional champ, second in the state; Richard Waite—112, senior, 13-3-1, second in the region, state.

Williamson—126, 11-3, third in regional; James Williams—127 junior, 1-1-1; Bill Brennan—133, senior, 4-2-2; Henthorne—133, sophomore, 7-3-1, fourth in regional.

Sebo—138, 14-5, junior, 9-2-1, third in regional; Dave Walchak—junior, 145, 2-6; Kosidowski—145, junior, 7-3, second in regional; Blake—heavyweight, senior, 11-2-1, third in regional.

Other boys who wrestled on the squad were Glen Johnson, Bob Heftman, Larry Graves and Dave Bundy.

Paschka labels the Winhawks' two best matches the dual meet victories over Rochester and Faribault. The Hawks had a 9-5 dual meet record.

13, the Hornets gained revenge by ripping the Hawks team 9-3. That game marked the end of the season for the Hornets.

Next year, the Hornets' fortunes look bright. Returning will be Benson, Neitzke and Joe Bambenek, "The Ageless Wonder."

Fred Strommer will also be back in the fold. Strommer joined the club at the end of the season and displayed great potential. Dick Larson will be back to tend the nets, and almost the complete defensive unit will return.

SPORTS

Cotter Compiles 8-11 Cage Mark

"I expected to have a better season," said John Nett, coach of the Cotter Ramblers. "Maybe I expected too much, but I did expect to have a fine ball club by the end of the season."

The Ramblers had an 8-11 season record and were deprived of a state tournament trip the first time since 1945 when scrappy St. Felix eliminated them 56-42 in the finals of the Region Six Catholic Tournament at St. Mary's College.

The Cotter starting lineup for the most part was composed of nearly all juniors. Dave Skemp, Ken Plein, Bob Hognson and Rich Brown were all juniors, and of that group, only Skemp had previous varsity experience.

Looking at the highlights of the past season, Nett listed the one-point loss to La Crosse Logan. "We should have won that ball game, but lost it on a tip-in—missed too many free throws all season long, and that was especially true in this game."

The late season victory over St. Augustus was listed as another highlight.

"They had beaten us rather badly earlier in the year, but this game showed that we had the ability to play good steady ball."

"I do not think that most of the boys played up to their potential; some hit their peaks and will not improve anymore," Nett said.

Cotter loses six men from this year's team, Jim Danielson, Jim Small, Don Dooney, Dale Welch, Ralph Dorsch and Skemp. Skemp is moving to La Crosse, and his loss is going to hurt the Ramblers. He was the playmaker from his guard position, and also the leading scorer on the team.

Danielson was good on the rebounds, ranking third on the team in offensive rebounding and second in defensive.

Small was also a big man on the boards, placing second in offensive rebounding and third in defensive. Dooney, Welch and Dorsch saw a lot of action and the bench strength of the Ramblers will be weakened by the loss of these boys.

Next year, the Ramblers will have lettermen Plein, Brown and Hognson as well as freshman Ben Czaplowski returning to the fold. Also expected to help the Ramblers are Roger Czaplowski, junior, sophomore Joe Snee, Dave Prondzinski and Chuck Kustelski and freshmen Tom Heiting, Mark Shraoke and John Hartert.

Plein was the leading rebounder on the team the past season, and ranked third in scoring. Brown held the second place spot, and Hognson was number five in scoring. Brown had a 9.63 average, Plein an even eight and Hognson almost a five-point average.

"I'm looking forward to next year with an eye on the present sophomores and freshmen. If some of the boys have the desire to be good ball players, we might have a good season. I'm looking for those kids to carry the load," concluded Nett.

WHS Matmen Have Good 54-55 Season

The Winona High wrestlers tied for second in the regional with Albert Lea, 50 points apiece, behind title-winning Owatonna's 70 points and finished seventh in the state tournament with 14 points in a field of 45 schools.

Coach Gordy Paschka's prep matmen had a good season, and with material coming up from a B squad that compiled a 6-1 record, "the best in years," Paschka says, "the future looks bright."

He continues, "We lose John DeLozier, Richard Waite, Roger Williamson and Jim Blake, who carried the load this year. But we have a good nucleus back with Frank Lassen, George Henthorne, Dave Sebo and Bob Kosidowski."

"B squad boys who should help are Richard Landro, John Fend, Ken Nelson, Dell Schmidt and Don Bureman. These, plus the reserves, should give us the best squad in recent years," Paschka concludes.

Individual records of "A" squad members follows: Lassen—50-pound freshman, 6-6; DeLozier—103, senior, 15-1-1, regional champ, second in the state; Richard Waite—112, senior, 13-3-1, second in the region, state.

Williamson—126, 11-3, third in regional; James Williams—127 junior, 1-1-1; Bill Brennan—133, senior, 4-2-2; Henthorne—133, sophomore, 7-3-1, fourth in regional.

Sebo—138, 14-5, junior, 9-2-1, third in regional; Dave Walchak—junior, 145, 2-6; Kosidowski—145, junior, 7-3, second in regional; Blake—heavyweight, senior, 11-2-1, third in regional.

Other boys who wrestled on the squad were Glen Johnson, Bob Heftman, Larry Graves and Dave Bundy.

Tyler concludes his analysis with a look to next year and some thoughts on the past season:

"With some ice and a few breaks here and there, we should have as good or even better record next season."

"I'm looking for some likely talent to graduate to our squad from the Park-Réy Pee Wee League and provide us with more reserve strength."

"When you realize that we were only one game away from participating in the state tournament, the progress made by this year's team becomes apparent."

Coaches Become Sports Writers

Coaches of local and area teams, in many cases, assumed the role of sports writers for The Daily News "Farewell to Winter Sports" edition.

Mentors of championship teams in each of the nine area prep leagues covered by The Daily News sports department were contacted and requested to write roundup stories of their respective leagues.

This final look at the 1954-55 winter sports season was made possible by the spontaneous cooperation received from coaches who were asked to supply stories and information.

To the area basketball coaches and coaches of Winona's winter sports teams who responded to the request, The Daily News sports department offers its imaginary hat.

Peds' Debut In Wrestling Successful

One highlight of the past winter sports season was the appearance of college wrestling on the Winona scene for the first time. The newly-organized Winona State team made the debut a successful one too, as they blanked Stevens Point College 28-0.

The Warrior matmen had only two dual meets during the year, winning the Stevens Point match, and losing 23-13 to the Mankato State B team.

Another meet found the Warriors placing third in a field of 12 schools at the Carleton Invitational at Northfield. They finished behind Mankato and Luther.

Coach Gene Brodhagen said, "The season was a tremendous success, and everyone is certainly looking forward to next season, as we lose only one man."

The one man absent from the Warrior lineup next season will be Merle Peterson in the 137-pound division. Peterson compiled a 1-3 individual record this season.

Leading the Warriors this season was heavyweight Ken Hakeck with a five win, one loss (by default) record. Hakeck was forced to quit in the finals match at the Carleton tourney when he injured his ribs.

Paul Evenson, in the 167-pound class, had a 5-1 record, the only loss also suffered in the Carleton meet.

Kermit Selke, three-time state high school champ, ended the season with a perfect record, but was out of the two dual meets as work activities kept him from the Carleton meet.

Jack Strommer also finished the season with a perfect record, chalking up one victory in the Stevens Point meet before injuring a knee in practice sessions.

Gordon Selke, wrestling one weight above his brother in the 130 class, had a 1-1 record. Earl Christensen in the 177 class had a 3-3 record, and Clyde Pasvogal won two and lost two at the Carleton tourney.

"We are hoping to get more matches next year," says Brodhagen, "and with this entire group returning, should be able to do pretty good."

"In addition, a transfer student from Mankato, Jim Grothe, is now enrolled at school and will be eligible next season."

He is a heavyweight, and last season suffered his only loss to Hakeck. Hakeck will probably drop down to the 177 class, as Christensen is contemplating a transfer to Purdue.

Brodhagen also pointed out that the conference is considering having a wrestling tourney. The teams are not as yet well enough organized to install wrestling as a sport, but a tournament appears to be favorable to the teams in the league.

That would indicate that the Winhawks could have had a better season with a little extra push. In all, the Hawks won 13 games and lost eight, outscoring their opponents by 91 points, and holding a 58-53 edge in the average column.

Of this year's team, the Winhawks will lose their three top scorers, and also the No. 5 man in the scoring.

That includes four of the five starters, Bill Heise, Earl Buswell, Jack Nankivil and Bill Hostetter. The other letterman gone will be Bill Morse, reserve forward, who came along good in the tournaments.

Heise led the team in scoring with a 14.5 average, and was followed by Buswell with an 11 point average, Nankivil with 9.2 and Hostetter with 5.6.

Heise was also the team leader in rebounding, and Nankivil was third in that department. Nevertheless, "Our future looks bright with young ball players with some height and some speed," says

Lack of Height Hurts TC Cagers

Winona State basketball fortunes ebbed after the Warriors opened the season with an impressive 98-78 victory over Stevens Point College. Of the next 11 games, 10 ended in losses for the Warriors before they could counter to split in their last eight games and end the season with a 6-14 record.

The Warriors compiled a 14-10 record a year ago, but lost the services of almost all outside scoring in Dick Kowles and Fred Hoelt, and also good pivot scoring from Ron Richter. Combined with the loss of these key players, the Warriors were at a height disadvantage in every game, and the tallest man being 6-4 center Gil Regnier.

Even then, the Warriors won three and lost five in conference action, and forced champion Mankato into overtime in the last game of the year.

The Warriors also gained some measure of happiness when they split with cross-town rival St. Mary's. The Warriors won the championship in the 1952-53 season with two victories over

Young Rates Whitehall, Mondovi Top

Some outstanding players have been lost to the conference this year, but Mondovi and Whitehall, both with four regulars returning, will be the teams to beat.

Our team loses four regulars, three of whom were on either the first or second all-conference teams. In all-conference Dave Mills we lose the leading scorer in the league last season with 258 points. He was a unanimous choice for all-conference along with John Hagerland of Durand. Another all-conference player, Al Johnson will be gone, and second team all-conference, Fred Hampel will also be missing. The other boy not returning is Dennis Johnson.

The only returning regular will be Ned McDonald. The team could develop after the first of the season to be a contender, but will be lacking necessary height to become a top flight club.

Durand and Arcadia could possibly be the challengers. Osseo and Augusta are questions at this stage. Mills and Hagerland were easily the two outstanding players during the past season. Both, in my opinion, are fine college prospects.

—SAM YOUNG, Black River Falls coach

MOON MULLINS

District One

Until the Towers of Pisa . . .

As the old Roman, Julius Caesar said, "I came, I saw, I conquered." That was Wykoff until the towers of Pisa (Austin) was met. I felt like a sightseer looking at the ruins of Pompey. All I can say is that I think District One was better-balanced this year than in other years. Chaffield had a truly great team and in Bill Harwood had one of the finest athletes ever to appear in District One.

Finstuen and Olness gave Harwood great support. I think Coach Jerry Bernatz did a terrific job at Chaffield. I would say Jerry got the most out of his material.

Spring Valley had a club that when right, was the toughest to play. Coach Charles McDonald had the best rebounding club in the business. Gene Conway was the most underrated player in the league. Gene was a good competitor and what fight!

Sheldon, one of the best physical specimens that I have seen anywhere, was tough under the basket, and along with Darbo, made it tough for any team. Danny Schaefer, the hard luck kid (broke a leg in football) could be the best player in the league next year. This team is really going to be tough next year.

Harmony was big, and with a little luck, could have been the No. 1 team. Coach John Glesne had the best controlled team I saw all year. Sikkink was very outstanding, about the best free throw shooter in the business.

I feel that the above three teams and Wykoff could hold their own against any four schools in the state with the same enrollment.

Now we come to the hard luck guys. Spring Grove, at top strength, would have been on top this year. Coach Ade Christenson is really a tough buy to beat, and along with Spring Valley, this is the team to beat next year.

Horace Olson at Canton did the best coaching job in the league. With only one man over six feet, and despite injuries, he was able to rally his team when the chips were down. Johannsen was one of the top players in the league.

Art Solheim's Lanesboro team came a long way in two years. If the league had not had so many top teams, Lanesboro would have been way up there. Sorum had the most beautiful hook shot in the league.

Mabel, under Coach Palmer, was the most dangerous team. This team was hard to predict. When they were on, no opponent could win without a struggle. I think Palmer did an excellent job in his first year at Mabel. Houston had Carlson and Lonkowski and was a team full of surprises.

Caledonia, coached by genial Jim Richardson, was the crowd-pleasing team. Richardson's teams always hustle. In Lonkeski they had one of the best competitors anywhere.

Along with Nash and Schroeder from Wykoff, this boy is tops. Tom Smith, coach at Peterson, is coming along fast. With the new gym, we will all be looking out for Peterson. Tom is a great guy and with all the odds against him, he never gave up.

Rushford was small, but made up for lack of size in fight. I think the Rushford team, especially Quale, did a tremendous job. The coaches at Rushford really have their boys up.

Coach Renz at Preston, who I rate as the nicest guy in the league, did a great job with the odds against him. In Kneeskern, he has one of the potentially best players in the league. I liked big Mike Gartner, too. I would rate this team as the dark horse next year.

Wykoff had its greatest team. Barry Schroeder and Ken Nash were its top players. Junior Ron Eickhoff could be the top boy in the league next year.

This was the first District One team to go into the regional finals in years. I feel that District One is ready to battle for state tournament representation.

—HARRY SHEFF, Wykoff coach.

Chaffield Loses Heavily

We lose our entire first five this season. Bill Harwood, Dave Finstuen, Ronnie Olness, Joey Holets and Don Herrick are all gone. Also lost are Don Hutton, Dave Tollefson, Turner Lake, Ed Wright and Don Fenske. They were the ten seniors on the squad, and all will be sorely missed.

Those returning will be juniors George Holets, Jim Ryan and Don Shaw. I pick Spring Valley, Spring Grove and Canton along with Preston to be strong next year. Wykoff, Caledonia and Mabel will be average. The rest of us so-so.

There were a number of outstanding players in the district this year. Just to name a few—Ron Eickhoff, Wykoff; Bob Lonkeski, Caledonia; Gordy Johannsen, Canton; Wayne Kneeskern, Preston; Steve and Gary Roverud, Spring Grove; Paul Spande, Mabel, and Harwood and Finstuen from our club.

Barry Schroeder and Ken Nash from Wykoff and Jim Sheldon and Gene Conway from Spring Valley and Dean Brunsvold from Harmony could not be overlooked in listing outstanding players.

These are only a few, many others could be named. Eickhoff, Kneeskern, Steve Roverud and Sheldon all return. District One will be split next year in basketball, east and west, so it will be pretty hard to say anything about a future champion.

BIG NINE BASKETBALL

Berven Sees 'Wide Open' Race for Crown Next Year

Don't write Austin off the books next year. Although Coach Ove Berven says goodbye to the top six players on the 1954-55 edition of the Austin cage Packers, he isn't buying the chant of opponents who say, "Next year's the time to beat Austin."

Austin's basketball tradition is impressive and it's little wonder Big Nine Conference foes are critically examining Austin's chances next year.

The Packers have been undefeated conference champions two years running, have been in the state tournament 19 times the last five years in succession—and finished in the state tourney runner-up spot this year with a 22-1 record.

"We don't exactly figure 'Next year's the time to beat Austin,'" Berven says. "We lose a lot by graduation, but other teams do too."

"I think it will be a wide-open race next season—it looks pretty even to me. A year makes a lot of difference and so many things can happen. We're not conceding a second-division finish."

Without naming favorites for the title, Berven listed the conference teams and pointed out that virtually all of the clubs will have vacancies to fill. Players who graduate off Berven's great 1954-55 team are Jerry Olson and John Lightly, 6-6 members of a double-post offense; guards Terry Meyer and Tony Maus and forward O'Dis Halverson. Also leaving is 6-5 John Root, who played quite a bit early in the season when Halverson was injured.

Olson was the Big Nine scoring champion, set a single-game loop scoring mark with 46 points against Winona and along with Meyer was named All-State at the conclusion of the state tourney.

Berven will have six boys back from his tournament-twee. They are 6-6 Dick Watt, 6-5 Wayne Gaughran, 6-3 Jon Webber, Bill Dunlap, Bob Mathias and Gary Tate.

From that group Berven has plenty of height and in addition will bring up promising members of Austin's B-squad which closed the season with six consecutive victories.

Austin's graduation losses will be felt, but so will those sustained by other teams. If the Big Nine scramble develops into the "wide-open" chase Berven figures it will be, count on his Packers to be right in the thick of the fight for honors.

return next fall to put Jackson in contention. Elva-Strum Central's team, along with Taylor, also is expected to qualify for honors. Central loses its No. 1 scorer and captain, Ron Matheson along with third-high scorer Dick Bergerson and John Nymmo.

Back, however, will be center and No. 2 scorer Darrel Gilbertson, Hal Havenor and Gary Matson. Taylor will miss Elwin Walsted, Ellsworth Storli and Fred Stai, but with 6-2 Bob Thompson, Phil Huseboe and Glen Severson, prospects appear good.

Fairchild, Independence and Alma Center will be building next year—all losing heavily through graduation.

Kentucky Derby favorite Nashua made his first start at Belmont Park on May 5, 1954 and won it by three lengths.

feet. They also possess several good looking prospects from their B team.

Holmen has Hagerman back and he was developing into one of the outstanding scorers of the league as it closed. They also have enough size to make things plenty rough for everyone in the league.

The rest of the teams look as though they will be well balanced, but with not enough outstanding boys to be of championship caliber.

I will have five letter winners returning here, but I don't have anything to replace Pat (Moran). The rest of the graduating seniors we can perhaps replace fairly well but we don't raise very many 6-3 boys of Pat's caliber around here so I know we are going to be in for a little let down.

However, I hope that the other boys will show enough improvement so that we can give most of the teams a ball game. Gene Drecktrah could develop into a good scorer, as could Ken Steiger and John Holt.

Duane Horstman and Bob Shaw are the other two letter winners but they haven't had experience enough to find out if they can really go or not. Horstman might turn out to be a fairly good shot.

Our bench will be plenty short as we had a dismal B team season. The only good thing about the B team was the fact that most of them were freshmen. Thus, some may develop and surprise us. (We can hope anyway).

Onalaska with only one senior on their entire squad could be a real darkhorse in the league next year. In Torgerson, Jones and Schaefer they have three boys who are going to score a lot of points. They are still going to be handicapped a little because of lack of size, but I look for a vast improvement over their record of this past season.

—HORACE MORAN, West Salem coach predict anything in this crazy bounce-ball game. Just off hand I would say that "Old Man Larson" over at Gale-Etrick will be plenty tough, even though he'll come with the story that he is losing his whole ball club.

I have a sneaking suspicion, however, that he will have a better ball club next year than he had this year.

He will have good all-around size and plenty of speed. I don't think his B team was beaten in the league.

Bangor will have a good nucleus back in Sandman and Tom Schroeder, both well over six

Whitewater Conference

Eyota, Stewartville Prospects Impress Eckstein

I look for the Whitewater League to be weaker in the 1955-56 season as every team loses stars by graduation. I don't like to put any coach on the spot for next year, but on paper it looks like a battle between Stewartville and Eyota. Both of those teams will lose two stars from this year's team, but will have the rest of their team back.

Stewartville's chances will depend on how fast their big sophomore center, Byrne, develops. Wabasha and St. Charles had good B teams this past year, but will have to use those boys as regulars next year as they both lost heavily by graduation, especially St. Charles.

St. Charles lost eight of its first nine. However, I look for Wabasha to be the darkhorse. Lewiston will have their top scorer, Erdmann, back, but will need more height.

Plainview will be very weak to begin with, but we hope to improve as the season progresses. There is no height in sight and no outstanding scorers. We lose our first six men and these boys carried the major part of the scoring the past season.

In fact, four of the boys, Richmond, Gengler, Montgomery and Wehrs averaged in the double figures with Richmond the top scorer. He had an average of 15 points a game. Holst and Harlan averaged close to seven points a game. The team had an offensive average of 63 points per game, and a defensive average of 48 points per game.

Every team had some outstanding players this past season. Eyota had Tom Smith and Jerry Stehley. St. Charles had Lyle Smith and Jim Fugleberg. Stewartville had Roger Jahns and Gary Asvegan, and Wabasha had Rich Gossé. Lewiston had Erdmann. Erdmann will be the only one to return next season. St. Charles' Christenson should be an outstanding player next year as should Billings from Stewartville.

Although some of the teams in the league didn't win many games this past year, I thought the league was better balanced than it has been for several years. There were many close games which could have gone either way.

—JERRY ECKSTEIN, Plainview coach

St. Charles Loses Eight Lettermen

Don't know much about the other teams, but as far as we're concerned we are going to lose all but one letterman. We're going to be missing guards John Gordon, LaVerne Rubberg and Dick Collier, forwards Jim Fugleberg, Dale LaFrenz and Roger Cook, and centers Lyle Smith and Stan Bartsch.

Rubberg was a good feeder and a good defensive man. Smith did a lot of the scoring, being a good shot from his pivot spot, and LaFrenz, in addition to being a good rebounder was good on defense.

The loss of Fugleberg will be the hardest felt. He was an excellent shot, good passer and defensive player, and was our big man on the boards. He is going to be plenty hard to replace.

All of these boys saw action this year, and all will be missed. We have one letterman back, Jack Christenson, a six foot forward, and we will have to build around him for next year.

As to who looks tough next year, they all look good to me. Eyota, Plainview, and Wabasha all should be plenty tough, with Lewiston and Stewartville very close. As of now, I think possibly Eyota and Wabasha will be the teams to beat.

—JIM TEWS, St. Charles coach

Lake City Coach Williams Not Only Happy, Also Sad

I will start by moaning about who we will lose this season. Only three of our tournament 12 are seniors, but all three were regulars. Missing will be Phil Schasker, Bill Rill and Don Busch.

Schasker was our 6-3 center and all-conference for two years. Phil led the team in scoring this season with 394 points in 20 games for a 19.7 average.

Rill also stands 6-3 and played a forward position. He was all-conference this season, averaged 12.8 points per game and was a steady type ball player.

Busch stands 5-8 and played a regular guard position the past two seasons. He was a good floor man. Replacing these three will be a big job.

On the brighter side, 6-3 all-conference forward Gene Wiebusch will return next year. He averaged 17 points a game this season and led the team in assists and rebounds. He has been a regular for three years and all-conference for two years. I'm hoping he'll have his best year as a senior.

Sophomore Norm Bussian is the other returning regular. Small, 5-7, he still averaged over eight points per game this season and is a good floor man and defensive player. Gene Sylvester, 6-2, reserve/forward, played some good ball at the end of this season and should move into a regular spot next year.

Center may be a problem. Candidates for the job will include 6-3 Gordy Schacht and 6-1 Vic Bouquet, both of whom will be seniors. Junior Ken Siegenthaler, 6-3, is another likely looking player.

Guard candidates will include Max Heins, 5-8, who saw some action this season, and may be the answer to the open spot in the back court. Also senior Tom Keute, 5-9, and junior Bill Bernas, 5-7, will be high on the list.

Other squad members will include Bill Beck, six foot-205 pound forward, Rod McGrath, 6-1 forward, and some possible help moving up from the B squad. If we can solve the problem at center, we will be a fairly good club next year.

As far as the conference is concerned, I look for Farmington, with 6-4 Gale Sprute leading the way, to be real tough. Cannon Falls will be a serious threat with both height and experience returning. Kenyon and Zumbrota will be the question marks as they both lost many seniors and will be rebuilding.

When a team has a four-year, 48-game conference winning streak going, you don't count it out of future title consideration.

It's been many a moon since Coach Ralph Leahy's Firehouse Five at Cochrane has been beaten in Bi-County Conference play. In fact, Cochrane's consecutive-game conference victory list is the largest in Wisconsin.

LAFF-A-DAY

Listen, Mother, if you don't stop picking on me I'll go home to my husband.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGUM, D. S.

Answer to Question No. 1
1. Yes, on important questions, unless she wears the uh-uh-sym-bol of authority. The average wife is influenced strongly by her husband's occupation and environment. Also, she often fears to express opinions contrary to her husband's, lest it injure his job or business. Most wives feel that "now is the time for all good wives to come to the aid of their husbands."

Answer to Question No. 2
2. No, although the IQ is important. Irene's IQ is 128; Jimmy's, 80. Jimmy helps everyone, gets the props for the class play, is always smiling, and is a fine first baseman. Irene is gloomy, jealous, emotionally disturbed, sleeps poorly. Irene learns her studies faster, but other people slower. The IQ alone wouldn't tell all this. It's the whole child who must be promoted or demoted.

Answer to Question No. 3
3. Depends. Often, in fiction the heroine "smiles sadly" or speaks with a "sad smile," or the villain's lips "curl in a smile of contempt." People even have smiles of disgust and aversion. With some kinds of smiles, you smile alone; and with some sorrows, the world weeps with you—contrary to Ella Wheeler Wilcox's famous poem.

'Novices' Making Debut in Opera

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Philip Bond and ex-Army Sgt. Joshua Hecht have this in common: Both sing bass, both never intended to sing professionally, both married pianists — and both make their operatic debut tomorrow in "Rigoletto."

The two men got together yesterday to talk about their debuts with the New York City Opera Co. Bond, a practicing radiologist, took up singing as a sideline while studying at the University of Heidelberg. He intends to stay in medical work. He isn't the first in his family to sing at the city center theater: his nine-year-old daughter, Victoria, sang there last Saturday in the children's chorus of "Carmen."

Hecht was with the Army Medical Corps, training for psychiatric social work. He sang "Silent Night" in a service club Christmas program and became a soloist with the Army field band.

A recent offer from the Baltimore Civic Opera Co. decided him on a musical career. He got out of the Army last December.

When the curtain goes up tomorrow, Bond will sing the part of "Sparafucile" and Hecht that of "Monterone."

Spectator Killed While Watching Fire

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A spectator was killed while watching a spectacular fire in the historic Ferry Building yesterday. Fire Dept. officials estimated damage at $100,000 to $500,000.

Charles Heller, 52, was killed when struck in the head with the nozzle of a high pressure fire hose that twisted out of firemen's hands. Two onlookers were injured. Flames shot 100 feet high. The fire broke out in a carpenter's shop. It attracted thousands of commuters.

A fire boat, three Coast Guard tugs and 40 pieces of city equipment fought the fire.
