Dr. Warner accepts academic position here

Dr. Warner, a native of Minnesota, has been at Central Washington University since 1961, where he is chairman of the division of social science. He received his B.A. from the University of Minnesota in 1934, and his M.A. in 1936. His doctorate in history was conferred by Yale University in 1940.

As in the past, members of the Winona State Board of Control have long been served by the architect and engineer, Bertrand Goldberg, internationally known engineer and architect, who will speak as part of the Inaugural activities.

Dr. Warner is 54.

The architect and engineer, Bertrand Goldberg, will lecture during the inaugural week activities for Dr. Robert A. DuFresne, the 100th president of Winona State College.

The lecture is open to the public with no charge at 8 p.m., January 31 in Somsen Auditorium.

Goldberg was educated at Harvard University, Kansas City in Chicago. Similar projects are to be found in Sequoia, Mass. (U.S. Naval Air Base); Dayton, Ohio, and Boston. Mr. Goldberg developed a master plan for hospital centers. This has been used at Harvard and Stanford Universities. He has also designed buildings for 4 other hospitals.

Added to these works are 2 Chicago, a housing center for the elderly, the Morgan Memorial Church of all Nations in Boston, and many others.

Goldberg has received 7 architectural awards including "Progressive Architecture" (1954), for the best apartment project in the United States; Chicagoan of the Year in the field of architecture and engineering, 1965; Silver Medal Award for Martina City from the Architectural League of New York, 1963 and the Distinguished Building Award from the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry, 1967.

Hodge asks presidents to support blood drive

Club presidents are requested to inform Paul Hodge of the number of organization members willing to support the upcoming blood drive. He may be reached at 8211 or D. O. 88.

Paul, a Red Cross representative, commented, "Fall Quarter only 79 or so students signed up to give blood and only as many were actually able to donate. Don't you think this is a poor showing for a student body of 3600 students? Let me urge your organization to try for 100% participation."

At Central Washington, he is in direct charge of 13 departments and about 130 faculty members. Major programs of 10 departments have been reorganized. An honors program also has been organized, and the doctorate track has been increased.

He has been published extensively, including three books. "The Idea of a Continent," 1966, received the first of the annual awards in American History offered by the Mississippi Valley Historical Association.

Mr. Wallace died in a car accident

A member of the Winona State College English department and a former college student, Mr. Wallace, has had teaching experience ranging from the elementary to the college classroom.

He has served as president of this 3,000 student multi-purpose educational institution, by appointment of the Minnesota State College Board, since January 1, 1967, but formal investiture will be next month by Lt. Governor James A. Goetz in a public ceremony for Dr. Warner.

Mr. Wallace was killed in a minor accident last Wednesday evening.

Irving Wallace and Sharon Fiedler were driving toward Winona when their car misunderstood a curve and stopped in the center of the highway.

Mr. Wallace died on his way to St. Elizabeth Hospital in Winona, after being in a coma since the accident of a skull fracture.

A native of Milwaukee, Mr. Wallace had been a member of the Winona State faculty since 1965. He taught freshman English, advanced composition and an evening class in the American novel at Austin.

He was educated at the Wisconsin Institute of Technology, Western State College in Colorado, and San Francisco State College, from which he received his M.S. degree in 1961.

Prior to teaching at Winona State, Mr. Wallace had taught at Big Bear City High School, California, and La Crose Lincoln Junior High. He had also been involved in sales, a flight instructor and a postal worker.

Graveside services were held Saturday at the Oak Grove cemetery in La Crosse.

For the remainder of the quarter, Mrs. Jacob Riedelberger, Mrs. Marvin Palecek, and Mr. Harold Knoel are teaching Mr. Wallace's classes.

Survivors include: one son, Robb, 7, and one daughter, Lisa, 8, La Crosse; his mother, Mrs. Martha Niebuhr, and one sister, Mrs. Dorothy Hickox, Los Angeles, Calif., and one brother, Elie, of Washington. The staff of the Winonan and the student body of Winona State College wish to extend condolences to surviving friends and relatives.

Students needed to assist with hospitality and ushering

Winona State University students are being asked to assist with ushering and hospitality duties for the three days of the Presidential Inauguration.

Assignments are needed for the Wednesday evening lecture of Bertand Goldberg, the Thursday appearance of Reverend Martin Olsen, and the Friday, January 26, Inaugural Dinner that evening. Participating students will need to report to the assigned event each night. Men are asked to report to one of the events at their own costs; women are to wear dark dresses, hose, and dark heels. Dinner uniforms will need long gowns.

These interested are asked to fill out the form below and leave it at the desks of the residence halls as directed by your Office — your Residence Hall Office, or S001 by January 24. Your participation may be obtained from Mrs. Stadler or John Ross, Student Personnel Office.

Assignments will be made by Friday, January 26, and pertinent information sent to those assigned.

Editorial:

Are students denied rights?

Discrimination has been a part of the American culture for as long as it has existed. It exists today, from the most trivial type of discrimination, to page one news items in every major newspaper in this world.

The city of Winona has its own minority group which is consistently subjected to a subtle, but very distinct discrimination: College students.

If the employees of Watkins Products, or any other company in this city, band together to give their employer a gift, the news media report it as if it were the "employees of Watkins Products".

If a student at Winona State College, St. Mary's College or the College of St. Teresa is arrested for a similar crime, his name and address are listed in the local news media, but his affiliation with Watkins Products is not.

If a student at Winona State College, St. Mary's College, or the College of St. Teresa is arrested for a similar crime, his name and address are again given, as is the fact that he is a "student at Winona State College.

This is not to say that this city can be interpreted as nothing other than discrimination.

According to a recent issue of the Masonic Free Press, the U.S. Census Bureau lists college students as residents of the city in which they are enrolled. To any city official, this is a basis by which the city government of Winona ruled that 21st-year college students living in Minneapolis be allowed to vote in municipal elections in that city.

College students may be 21 years old, live in Winona, not only nine months of the year, but 12, have their drivers' license and every other identification that Winona residents as permanent one, possibly have no other home to go to any longer, and still not be permitted to vote in any election in that city simply because they are college students.

This too, can be interpreted as nothing other than discrimination.

Many apartment owners in this city refuse to rent to college students, once more discriminating against the student.

The presence of several thousand college students in this city makes the college a major economic importance to the city of Winona. Were these three colleges to suddenly leave Winona, the city would lose a tremendous source of revenue and many small businesses would fail.

We ask the news media of this city to stop this subtle form of discrimination. We ask the employers and property owners of this city to stop this form of economic discrimination. And we ask the city of Winona to give us our rights as citizens of this city. The forms of discrimination which find their way to the front pages of newspapers across America are certainly not the only ones that exist today.

Socialist F. Halstead calls for 'Fundamental change of society'

"A fundamental change of society," was called for by Mr. Fred Halstead, the Socialist Workers Party candidate for the United States Presidency, at the Newuman Center on Monday.

His tightly constructed platform largely rested upon a demand for fundamental economic changes. According to Mr. Halstead, big business is fuelling the war and is breeding and bolstering the black power struggle.

Concerning the War, the candidate pointed out that the "revolutions" threaten "the right of big business to profit illegally" in that part of the world. Such intervention is vital to American industry, and with its rise-abundance of money, Mr. Halstead stated that there are 6,000 Communists in South Vietnam, each of whom has at least a half million U.S. soldiers, and its "fighting for the war-winning - - because the people are obviously not on our side, but they would advertise immediately that we are going to get cut off." He then wryly added that the Vietnamese would probably be too glad to help us with the traffic problem.

The Presidential candidate also attacked the "un-American" two-party system of the U.S. According to Mr. Halstead and the Republicans are dominated and manipulated by capitalist big business; he claimed that big business is using McCormick to secure the "dove spirit" which would otherwise manifest itself in a mass anti-war movement. Since the Democrats and Republicans are both "under the thumb of big business" Halstead thinks it inappropriate that the anti-war people not join these parties. "They can better help our cause, organized and defeated," Halstead then assured his anti-war movement will be represented on the 1968 ballot by his name.

Next concerning the Negro situation, Halstead called for "a centralization of the black communities." Presently these communities are starved by big business and ghetto grocery store owners, he claimed. The candidate wants to give Negroes the opportunity to deal with others on a power to power basis. He wants them to have their own newspapers and schools, if so they choose.

In another area are the groups that are exposed to the most discrimination. "Feminism is not to be imposed. It is the formula for the people — because the people are to be saved, or we've done it all for nothing." Thus, it is a corollary of his philosophy of mass action for improving the overall state of society.

The most important aim of the candidate is to "organize at the very heart of the two-party system" to prevent the unification of "progressive" forces. He.ToString()

Questions concerning the invitations should be directed to Miss Locks, Miss Day, or Tom Oswald.

Spellogists discover new series of caverns

Two months ago spellogists from Minnesota and Wisconsin discovered a new series of caverns interconnected with the Mystery Cave system near Spring Valley. The new discovery will probably yield several more miles of explorable passageways to southeastern Minnesota's limestone cavern system.

During Christmas vacation two Winona State Earth Science students led by Dr. Bayer explored some areas of the discovery. Access to the new area is by means of a tiny canyon. Next is a lake 50 feet long and 4 feet deep which is crammed by a makeshift raft, two inner tubes and a board. Many cave formations are in evidence in this passage. One of the passageways contains hundreds of hibernating bats.

Ron Gainey and Laura Schott- maler accompanied Dr. Bayer on this tour.

SS reports

Traffic safety has been an important part of the discussions at the student senate.

Gary McDowell made recommendations passed by the student senate for the traffic safety committee to work with. These recommendations were concerned with a fifteen mile per hour limit on campus streets, drops signs at intersections, painted crosswalks, speed bumps,紧跟 from 4 to 6 in the cafeteria, Monday through Friday.

All students should note that this is the only time that invitations may be purchased. It is necessary to make payment at the time the order is placed.

Questions concerning the invitations should be directed to Miss Locks, Miss Day, or Tom Oswald.

Warriors revive after Mankato loss; top Bemidji

by Bruce Closway
(reprinted from THE WINONAN SUNDAY supplement)

If ever a team benefited from the use of a methodical, disciplined defense, it was Winona State Friday night.

The Warriors countered Bemidji's tight zone defense with a deliberate, methodical attack that eventually wore the home team down. Winona rolled to a 90-41 victory before a small, but boisterous crowd in Memorial Hall, the triumph is the second in three Northern Intercollegiate Conference games for Winona.

This was not the same Warrior quintet that literally threw the game away when it met Mankato a week earlier. Friday night Winona continually solved the Bemidji's defense by working the ball to the open man and getting good positioning underneath for some crucial second and third shots at the hoop.

When asked what he thought was the major difference in the impressive victory over Bemidji and the loss to theiddess, head coach Bob Ecker replied: "We simply did not turn the ball over like we did against Mankato. The boys did a fine job against their zone. Our defense was not methodical by design, but we had patience and the ability to find the open man."

Winona's rebounding strength kept the tide in favor of the home team for all but four minutes of the action. The Warriors grabbed off a total of 49 rebounds to 60 for Bemidji.

Center Mike Jerezek collected 20 rebounds. Ecker's crew never trailed in the first half and held a 52-57 edge at the intermission. The Warriors rallied from a 17-point deficit to win the game, 115-91.

"We were playing more defense than offense and working the ball to the open man," Ecker said. "This is the way we've faced so far in dual meets."

A total of 11 matches will be wrestled in the meet. Gunner has indicated that Gary Alshull will go at 161, but the 150-pound slot was still up for grabs. In addition, Winona lost 137-pounder Larry Pomeroy with a possible accident in the locker room following the Marquette meet. Gunner, Winona's coach, said, "They're ranked nationally. They're better than anything we've faced so far in dual meets."

Winona State's wrestling team ran its dual record to 3-1 Saturday night, and now the Warriors have a chance for a repeat.

WSC begins billiards league

This year Winona State has added another man's sport, a billiards league. The league meets every Thursday night at 7:00 p.m. President of the league is Larry Kendricks and Secretary is Jim Hakes. The pool game, which is played in called "14. Continuous," the same as the world championship game. Games are set at 35 points and each player plays two games a night and receives a point for each game won.

The league has met for six weeks and has six weeks to go. The three players with the most points will receive trophies. The top players up to date are: Bob Mortara—11 points, Larry Kendricks and Jim Hakes—10 points, and Floyd Gabo and Jim Gorres—8 points. It is hoped to have a team of 5 players from this league will be able to compete against other colleges.

Ski Club plans Feb. 3 trip to Wisconsin

On December 28 the Ski and Outing Club left on their annual skiing trip. This year the Big Powderhorn Mountain just outside of Reusen, Michigan was selected. The trip was made by 11 members.

The Club is making plans for a trip to a free ski slope in Wisconsin on February 3. Anyone is invited to attend club meetings to learn more about the trip. There will be a small transportation fee. For those without equipment it may be obtained at the slope for a very reasonable cost. For the novice and those who have never been on skis there will be free lessons by experienced skiers.

Club meetings are held in conference rooms 1 and 2 in Pryszko Commons on Thursday nights at 7:00.
