NEW SCHOLARSHIPS ATTEND CONCERT

Two new scholarships have just been added to the seven which are available at the Winona State Teachers College. The new scholarships were announced by President G. E. Maxwell.

The World-War Memorial Scholarship for Teachers has been added to the seven which already exist. The total amount of these scholarships is expected to exceed five percent from six thousand dollars to be awarded annually to the best students of the college. The award of these scholarships will be made upon the recommendation of the faculty of the college.

The automatic awarding of these scholarships will be made to Dr. Burton, who has been an officer of the Academy for many years.

MUSIC SUPPLEMENT

This orchestra is known as the Barrere Little Symphony Orchestra. It is conducted by George Barrere, who is known as the world's premier virtuoso of the flute. This orchestra was formed in New York in 1914. It consists of the first violin in wind instruments, flute, oboe, clarinet, horn, trumpet and bassoon. The orchestra has 150 members, including a complete orchestra of the string section. It possesses all the qualities of the full orchestra, and has reached a position of importance at the same time a greatness and subtlety which is lost in the larger orchestra.

The French Government recently conferred upon George Barrere the title of Officer of the Legion of Honor. He is the first member to be chosen by the French government to so honor an American.

From the Dormitories

Morny Hall
Margaret Peterson and Betty Lou Scherber from Frontenac visit last week end.

Gladys Mordell had as her house guest Margaret Moran and Marion Dent.

Mrs. Sutherland is planning to go to Minneapolis next week end.

Miss Ellingson is very busy these days with "R" cases.

Shepard Hall
Lila Hall went to her home in Red Wing this week end.

West Lodge
West Lodge had one girl — Merlie Simmons. Her parents have moved to Winona. Home is now "far away".

Hortense Ecklund alias Madame Fox, alias Miss Reuben Finkelson were the hostesses at a dinner consisting of hamburghers, onions, olives, mustard, coffee, Eskimo pies and nuts. A special program of spiritualistic readings and the opera from Rigaletti were enjoyed by all.

Alice Arrandt went to her home in Osceola for a week. When the reporter called at the lodge, the search revealed two pence. Who's?

ALUMNI NEWS

"Don" Karow a graduate last year, who is teaching at Plaam, was a visitor in Winona last week. Many students were glad to see Don's cheery smile again.

Miss Jesse C., former cartoonist and scanner reporter has returned to Winona from New York where he has been studying art.

MOTHER'S CLUB

The meeting of the Kindergarten Mother's Club of the State Teachers College was held on Tuesday, April 24, in the Kindergarten room of the school. The meeting was called to order by Miss Meyer and a talk, "Nature Study" by Miss Eta Christiansen.

Mrs. Schumpert gave short report concerning a meeting of the Kindergarten Union held at Grand Rapids, Mich., which she has recently attended.

Sewing for a hospital baby was provided. The work is asked to be sent to Winona and thime and were privileged to bring a friend.

HISTORY OF EDUCATION CLASS STUDY

KINDERGARTEN

On Monday, April 23, Miss Sutherland and the kindergarten department of the College, talked to Miss Guldener's "History of Education" on the work which is done in the Kindergarten. She showed the students various materials which are used in the work and the different materials which are used now. The child now does his building with play materials and can make some use of the house or store after he has finished with them. The students felt that the work is being done in connection with their class study of Froebel and the growth of the kindergarden movement.
Lucile Mueller, Alma Mater in 1927, died at the Winona General Hospital the morning of April 28. Most of the students who were here last year knew and loved Lucile. Quoting one of the nominations made, "Lucile is not only a thinker but a doer. She was interested, sympathetic, cheerful, and kind, and has given many valuable lessons of life to those about her. She tried to make her life a service to others."

Graduation did not decrease Lucile's zeal and industry. Last fall she was chosen for the rather small club. She has been on the basketball team, has made a hobby of people, and hence has made a multitude of friends because she is interested, sympathetic, cheerful, and kind. She loved and lost than never to have loved at all.

Leslie Johnson—"I'm out of tune.

Mr. Grimm—"What makes you say that you ever were in tune.

"I—"Honestly it is the best policy

Mrs. King—"Gee you have a lot of crust! Where's that pencil I lent you?

Mr. Munson—"What did you see on the slide you just looked at?

Carolyne Dillingham—"I see their pollen of a butterfly's wing.

PSYCHOLOGY

An unseen observer submits this report of what he saw, a short time ago, in Mr. Boots' Psychology class.

After carefully concealing myself behind the flower pot which decorates the window in the back of the room, I waited for something to happen. In due time the tall bell rang and then the professor made a short announcement after which he left the room.

The entire class seemed petrified with fear of what might happen. Finally after several dull moments, two hands went up.

"Ah, ha!" thought I, "the culprit is exposed!" The professor called on the girl (B. C.) to the class.

"I'm not afraid," she replied, "I'm just beginning to see the right side of what I have been doing.

Then began the cross-examination—"As I thought. Every time Mr. Boots asked a word, the girl said a different word. I thought it was an awfully funny cross-examination because the class laughed a very great deal.

"Finally Mr. Boots said the word, 'Kiss', and the girl at once replied 'Thrill'. Then I too laughed (for I am that kind) and realized that the girl was being 'psycho analyzed'. Appearances certainly are deceptive.

After the professor found out by the same means that the guilty one thought I.

"It."
