Salk Takes Hand in Study Of Polio Cases After Shots

Manufacturers
Making Vaccine
Attend Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP)—The developer and chief tester of the Salk polio vaccine worked with other medical experts today on a case-by-case study among the 29 children afflicted after receiving the shots.

Technical representatives of the drug manufacturers making the vaccine were added today to the conference started yesterday by Public Health Service representatives and 11 outside experts on polio and immunology.

These included Dr. Jonas E. Salk of Pittsburgh, who developed the vaccine, and Dr. Thomas Francis of the University of Michigan, who headed the team which evaluated results of widespread tests conducted last year.

The Public Health Service, disclosing last night that it had called the experts for a two-day conference, said:

"The consultants are reviewing the epidemiological and medical histories of polio cases who received the Cutter vaccine."

The reference was to the vaccine supplied by Cutter Laboratories of Berkeley, Calif., which was withdrawn for further tests after a number of children inoculated with it were stricken by polio.

The experts here, like others working in California, were seeking to determine whether some possible imperfection in the vaccine supply, or mere coincidence, was responsible for the new cases.

In Berkeley, Dr. Robert K. Cutter and other officials of the Cutter Laboratories said they feel they are using a basically air tight procedure for testing their vaccine. Present principles will be retained, they said, even though some changes may be made in procedure.

They joined in a news conference with Dr. Karl Habel and Dr. J. T. Tripp, U.S. Public Health Service officials who flew to California Wednesday to study the vaccine and procedures for testing it. The two doctors declined to say how long their tests would take, but said Cutter is cooperating fully.

Twelve new post-inoculation cases were reported yesterday to raise the total to 29. The new ones included seven in Idaho, two each in San Diego, Calif., and Washington state, and one in St. Louis, Mo. The total included California 14, Idaho 9, Washington 2, and one each in Illinois, Colorado, Missouri and Georgia.

That they were still only a small percentage, however, was indicated by reports that the five listed in San Diego were among 26,000 inoculated children, and the nine in Idaho among 33,000 who received the vaccine.

Public Health Service officials have urged that the nationwide inoculation program be continued as planned.

All except the Georgia case involved use of Cutter vaccine although the 4-year-old boy stricken in St. Louis, after taking a shot of the Cutter vaccine, had received a second dose made by another firm the day before he became ill.

As in the other cases, the St. Louis boy's doctor said he may have contracted the disease before receiving the shots. Polio normally requires 10 to 14 days to develop, and most of the children have become ill in less than that time.

State Farmer Fined $20,000 For Tax Evasion

ST. PAUL (AP)—A Ceylon, Minn. farmer today had nine days in which to pay the $20,000 levied against him late Friday for federal income tax evasion.

He is Gilbert E. Kittelson, 70, who also was placed on probation for three years. Court attaches said the fine was one of the largest assessed for such an offense in recent years.

The government charged Kittelson with paying a tax of $983 on an income of $9,876 whereas he actually owed $7,169 on a $31,000 net income. The complaint charged he also owed about $2,000 added tax for 1949.

Judge Dennis F. Donovan imposed a $5,000 fine on Frank G. Wells, 66, head of the Olson Manufacturing Co. in Albert Lea, on similar charges. Wells was accused of evading some $4,000 in taxes for the 1949-49 period.

Both Kittelson and Wells must pay back taxes, penalties and interest in addition to their fines.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Russell of Morton Grove, Ill., left a Chicago hospital Friday with their daughter, Gayle, 6, who recovered from sleeping sickness that kept her in a coma for almost two months. Gayle developed an inflammation of the brain or encephalitis after an emergency appendectomy March 4. She slipped into a prolonged coma which did not lift until April 23. (UP Telephoto)

Dust Over Plains, Rain in Oklahoma

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

More dust clouds darkened the Western Plains today but some of the dry spots in western Texas and Oklahoma got much-needed rain. The blowing dust was reported from eastern Colorado and western Kansas northward into western Nebraska and eastern Wyoming.

The dust storms struck in eastern Colorado and Wyoming yesterday with gusts up to 68 miles an hour at Lander, Wyo.

The U.S. Weather Bureau at Denver said the dust rose as high as 17,500 feet. Visibility was cut to one-fourth mile at Akron, Colo., and Sidney, Neb., and averaged between two and seven miles in other parts of the storm belt.

Thunderstorms were reported in sections of western Texas and Oklahoma, with nearly one inch of rain at Guyton, Okla., and more than one-half inch at Dalhart, Tex.

Other wet spots early today included the Middle Atlantic Coast and parts of California and Oregon. Falls generally were light.

Fair weather prevailed over most of the midcontinent with warming over most areas. Bismarck, N.D., reported 70 degrees, 32 degrees higher than yesterday morning.

Temperatures were mostly in the 40s and 50s in the Northeast third of the country and also in the Far West, excluding the Southwest desert region. Readings were in the 60s in most other parts of the country with some 70s along the southern border.

One of the coolest spots early today was Grand Marais, Mich., with 30 degrees. At the same time it was 76 at Key West, Fla.

Father, Son Accused Of Shooting Airmen

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Otto Henry Ludwig Sr., 64, and his son, Raymond Eugene Ludwig, 39, were freed on $5,000 bond each today after indictment for a lovers' lane shooting.

The indictment accuses the two Austin carpenters of the shotgun shooting March 31 of Henry C. Roach, 21, of Indianapolis, Ind., airmen stationed at Bergstrom Air Force Base near here.

Roach, still hospitalized at Lackland AFB, San Antonio, Tex., was wounded by a shotgun blast as he and a 16-year-old girl sat in a parked car on a dead-end public road. The girl said the shooting followed a few minutes after two men demanded they get off the road.

Texasman Convicted Of Killing Niece

LEBANON, Mo. (AP)—A Texas bookkeeper is headed for a life sentence in prison for murdering an 11-year-old niece for whom he professed love.

Thurman A. Priest, 48, Grand Prairie, Tex., was convicted of killing Jeannette Earnest, kidnapped and found shot to death in a woods east of here last Nov. 17.

Prosecutor Edgar Mayfield told the jury Priest loved the girl so much he didn't want anyone else to have her. Priest claimed he couldn't remember what happened in connection with the girl's death.

Senate Group Junks Part of Ike Road Plan

Some Opposition
To Subcommittee's
Proposal Foreseen

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate subcommittee has junked some key features of President Eisenhower's highway program in approving its own five-year, 22-billion-dollar road modernization plan.

The Senate Public Roads subcommittee approved the bill 6-3 yesterday. Chairman Gore (D-Tenn.) described it as a compromise between legislation he introduced and the administration's recommendation for a 10-year federal-state-local program to cost about 101 billion dollars.

But Sen. Bush (R-Conn.), a subcommittee member, termed the new bill "totally inadequate." He pledged he would try to get the parent Public Works Committee to adopt, instead, Eisenhower's "forward looking highway program."

Gore said the full committee would consider the new highway measure next Thursday. He predicted Senate passage the following week.

The new bill retains the present federal-aid concept, but increases the federal commitment and for interstate highways would boost the degree of federal participation from 60 to 75 per cent of the cost.

Broken down, the federal share would come to $13,655,000,000, the state slice to $8,084,000,000.

Discarded by the subcommittee was the President's proposal to create a new federal agency to issue 30-year bonds for an interstate road network. All federal funds would have to be furnished via appropriations.

The subcommittee also threw out an administration proposal under which the federal government would repay the states for money spent on toll roads that become part of the interstate system.

Two of the subcommittee's recommendations seemed likely to arouse opposition in some quarters.

The senators said the federal gasoline tax, now 2 cents a gallon, ought to be raised to 3 cents. Gore estimated the 1-cent boost would yield another 600 to 750 million dollars a year.

S. Korea Plans Embargo If Japs Trade With Reds

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The South Korean ambassador says his government will place a "rigid embargo" on all trade to and from Japan the instant the Japanese government enters into any relations with Communist North Korea.

Dr. You Chan Yang said last night South Korea would regard any move by the Japanese government to open negotiations with North Korea "as a preliminary to recognition and an open affront to our nation."

Dr. Yang was a guest here for a benefit for Welcome House, a Bucks County orphanage for Asiatic-American children.

3 Jailbreakers Sought in N.Y. Woods, Swamps

NORTH LAWRENCE, N.Y. (AP)—A 200-man posse today stalked 10 square miles of swamp and tangled woods in far northern New York in which three armed jailbreakers were believed hiding.

State police said the fugitives still had 20 rounds of ammunition after a gun battle yesterday in which a trooper was wounded and a fourth jailbreaker was caught.

Sheriff's deputies, police from nearby communities and volunteers augmented a force of 80 troopers.

The manhunt pressed forward in low-lying swamp, briar, thicket and woods in far northern New York about 20 miles south of the main diggings of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

The four men broke out Wednesday from the St. Lawrence County Jail at Canton, about 30 miles to the southwest, taking two pistols with them.

Two troopers, checking abandoned farmhouses, found the fugitives early yesterday afternoon after noticing one with a broken window. On investigating, they heard noises upstairs in the two-story house. Trooper A. J. Golby returned to the patrol car to radio for help while his partner, Austin J. McDonagh, 34, stayed at the foot of the stairs.

McDonagh was wounded in the leg and shoulder while Golby was gone. As Golby ran back he fired at a face in an upstairs window.

Three men fled through a broken window. Leon Caskinette, 24, of Raymondville, was found in the farmhouse.

The others fled into woods about 100 yards away. Golby fired four more rounds after them.

About an hour and a half later a party of eight entered the woods with a bloodhound. But they gave up at nightfall. The dog lost the scent in water, mud and slime.

McDonagh was taken to a Malone Hospital. State police said he was struck by bullets from each of the stolen pistols.

The missing three were identified as Frank Talarico, 44, of Utica; Ralph La Shomb, 29, of Potsdam; and Patrick Brooks, 28, of Gabriels. All had been held in the county jail awaiting action on burglary and assault charges. Talarico has a record of three felony convictions and is reported to have sworn he would not be taken alive again.

Assembly Asks Premier to Set Up Own Cabinet

Torn From Hall;
Trampled Upon

By JOHN RODERICK

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—An especially summoned Provisional Assembly fired Bao Dai today as South Viet Nams' Chief of State.

The Assembly, dubbed "the Revolutionary Democratic Forces of the Nation," also ordered Premier Ngo Dinh Diem's Cabinet dissolved, but called on him to form a new one.

The Assembly, which had Cabinet backing, met in Saigon's City Hall and tore down Bao Dai's photograph from the wall and trampled on it.

This apparently was Diem's answer to the ex-Emperor's attempt to overthrow him. Bao Dai, now on the French Riviera, has not been in Viet Nam for a year.

Tense Situation

Thursday he summoned Premier Diem to the Riviera for consultations but Diem refused to go. His Cabinet felt the trip would mean Diem would be dismissed as Premier.

This development in the tense South Viet Nam situation came as Diem's Nationalist troops claimed a military victory over the rebel Binh Xuyen after two days of bloody civil war in the streets of Saigon and its adjoining suburb, Cho Lon.

Gen. J. Lawton Collins, special representative of President Eisenhower, was on his way back to Viet Nam. The United States has said it still supports the Diem government. France and Britain were reported to have taken the view that Diem should be replaced.

It was not clear what legal authority the Assembly had to dismiss Bao Dai as Chief of State. Bao Dai's authority stems from the agreement signed in Paris in 1949 which gave Viet Nam its independence as a state within the French Union.

Set Up New Government

Eighteen small political parties and groups and persons staged the assembly, which pronounced Bao Dai deposed as of Friday and the Diem government dissolved the same day.

It entrusted Diem with the formation of a new government with a threefold goal:

"1. Repress the rebels and re-establish order and security.
"2. Recover the total independence of the country and call for the withdrawal of the French expeditionary corps from Viet Nam.
"3. Urgently organize an elected National Assembly to turn over power to the people."

"We have the situation completely in hand both militarily and politically," a spokesman for the Premier said. "For the moment the Binh Xuyen threat has been removed. The population is happy to be rid of them."

The bloody struggle—which may prove only the opening round of a finish fight for control of the capital—quieted last night after shattered remnants of the Binh Xuyen forces reeled across the Chinese arroyo, a canal separating Saigon proper from Chinese-populated Cho Lon.

Military sources said more than 500 soldiers and civilians were killed and an estimated 1,500 wounded in the battle with the society's 5,000 green-bellied roops. Listed among the casualties was Everett "Dixie" Reese of Texas, director of U.S. Air Program's Photo Service. He was shot down while flying in a light plane over the Binh Xuyen area, but his exact fate was still not known.

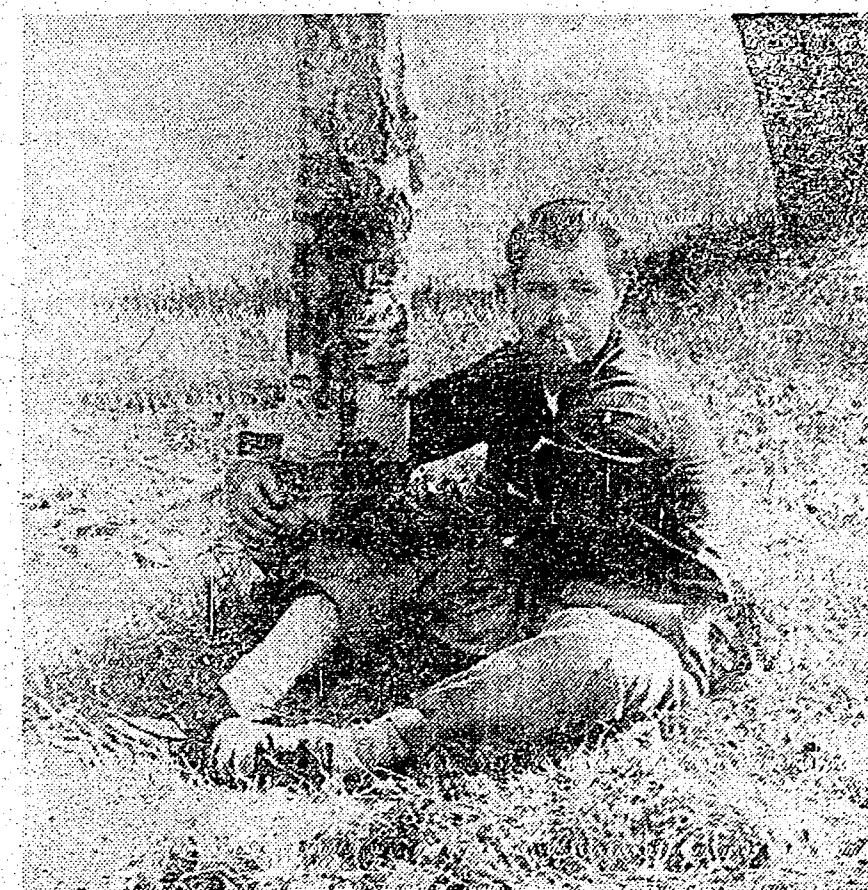

Binh Xuyen commander Gen. Le Van Vien reportedly called on Gen. Bacut of the Hoa Hao religious sect for aid. The Binh Xuyen, a society of ex-river pirates which formerly controlled police, gambling and vice in Saigon, is allied with the Hoa Hao and Cao Dai religious sects in a united front to oust Diem.

It seemed unlikely, however, that Bacut would risk an encounter with the 19 hard-fighting Nationalist battalions now guarding Saigon.

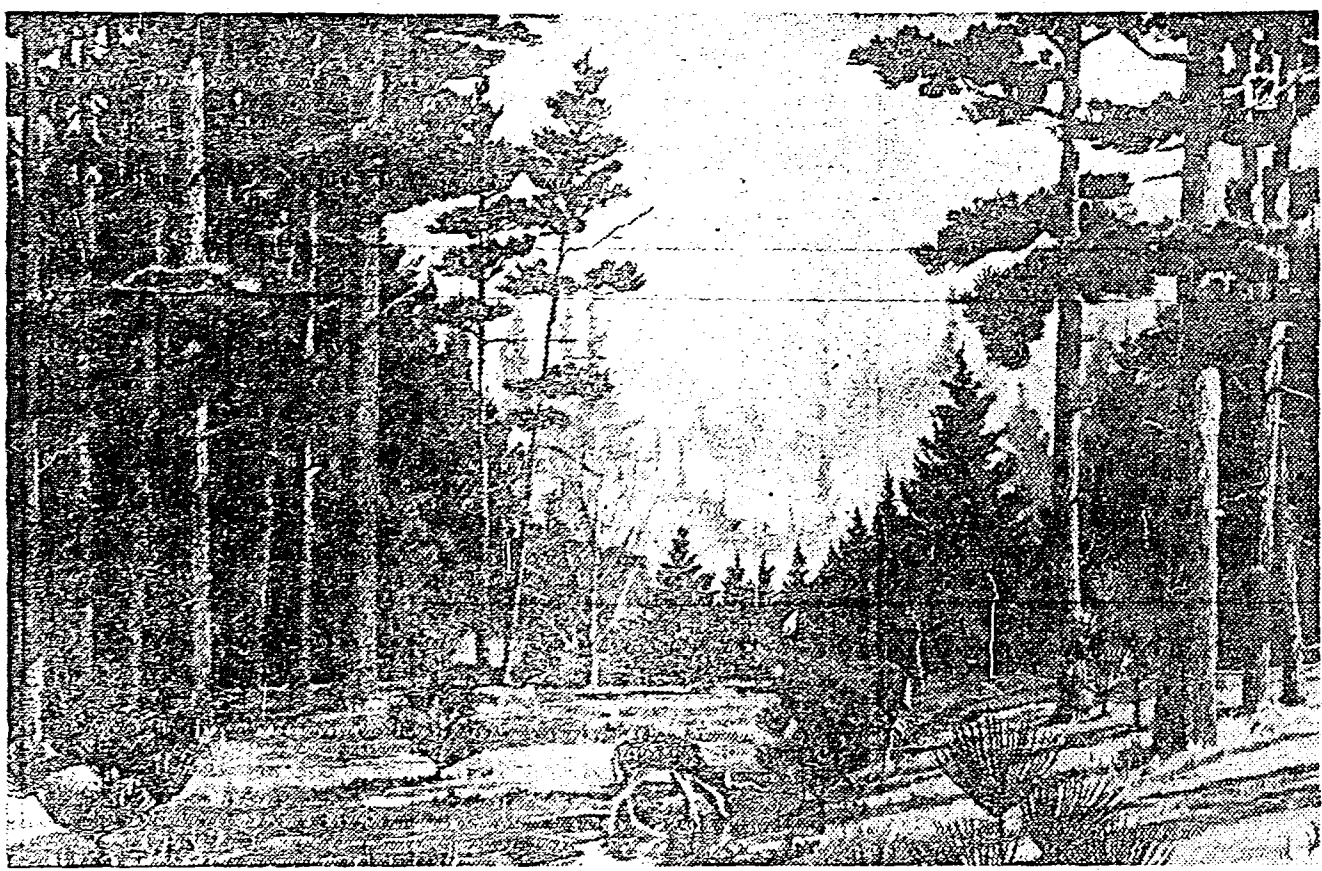

Diem today received a message of support from U.S. Secretary of State Dulles. The doughty little Premier apparently has been written off by French Premier Edgar Faure, who yesterday called the Saigon government unequal to its tasks.

The Premier's spokesman quoted a telegram from Dulles, handed to Diem by U.S. Charge D'Affaires Randolph Kider, as saying:

"We assure you that the State Department continues to support your government. This message is sent pending a more precise statement by Ambassador R. Lawton Collins." Collins, President Eisenhower's special envoy to South Viet Nam, is now en route to Saigon after a conference in Washington.

Leon Caskinette, 24, of Potsdam, N. Y., sits on the ground handcuffed to a tree following his capture 20 miles south of Massena, N. Y., Friday. He is one of four who escaped from the St. Lawrence County jail at Canton on Wednesday. (AP Wirephoto)

This Picture, part of a J. R. Watkins Co. advertisement appearing in several nationally circulated magazines this month, has won the praise of Gov. Orville L. Freeman for its promotion of the state of Minnesota.

Governor Cites Watkins Promotion Of State Resource

Gov. Orville L. Freeman has praised the J. R. Watkins Co. for promotion of the state of Minnesota.

The governor, in a letter to President E. L. King Jr., complimented the Winona firm for a full-page color advertisement in the April 9 issue of the Saturday Evening Post.

The ad, captioned "As Fresh and Fragrant as a Minnesota Forest," is "most beautiful," the governor wrote.

In the letter he expresses "deep appreciation for this promotion of our state. While your principal purpose in preparing and running the ad was, quite properly, that of selling your product, I cannot help but feel you were also sensible of its stimulation of interest in and favor for our state of Minnesota."

Minnesota as a land of health and wholesome recreation.

"I am sure the people of Minnesota, as a whole, join me in this expression of appreciation, and the hope that the response to your publicity campaign will warrant continuation on your part and imitation of other advertising agencies."

In a reply President King wrote that the advertisement "is striking a responsive chord."

The ad, which will appear in only nationally circulated periodicals, shows an illustration of a pine forest with a clear running trout stream and deer in the foreground. It was painted by Les Kouba, well-known Minnesota artist, whose illustrations of outdoor scenes appear in many magazines.

The ad offered a pine oil disinfectant.

Nehru Plans to Take Hand in Formosa Crisis

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru said today India proposed to take an active role toward solving the Formosa crisis. As a first step, Nehru told the Indian Parliament, his chief foreign policy adviser, V. K. Krishna Menon planned to make a trip to Peiping.

Menon, who heads India's delegation to the U.N., has often represented Nehru in East-West negotiations. He served as unofficial mediator during U.N. efforts to end the Korean War and represented Nehru last summer at the Geneva conference on Indochina and Korea.

Nehru made the reference to Formosa after reviewing the Asian-African conference which wound up at Bandung, Indonesia, last Sunday.

He noted that Bandung was the scene of Chou's offer of direct talks with the United States on Formosa and said that if the Americans accepted it could lead to a peaceful solution of the dispute.

President Eisenhower said this week the United States would be glad to talk with the Chinese Communists about a Formosa cease-fire.

Nehru said India's government has explored the Formosa situation through its envoys in London, Washington and Ottawa. He added "we increasingly felt efforts were needed to bridge the gulf. We have the privilege and advantage of being friendly with both sides."

Nehru said Menon was going to Peiping at Chou's request "in order to continue the Bandung talks."

J. Wayne Green, eminent Trichologist, demonstrates causes of baldness and how it can be prevented.

How to Have Hair for a Lifetime to Be Demonstrated Here by Famous Trichologist Offers Written Guarantee

An exclusive Interview by Steven Bright

WICHITA (Special)—J. Wayne Green, Director of Rogers, Inc., Hair and Scalp Specialists, exploded the "myth of baldness" today in an exclusive interview. "Baldness is unnecessary, costly, and a plague to mankind," says Green. "No man need be bald. No man need suffer the stigma of premature old age that is forced upon him because he is losing his hair. The Rogers method of hair and scalp treatment can prevent baldness—can turn colorless fuzz into healthy, growing hair—can make you look youthful again."

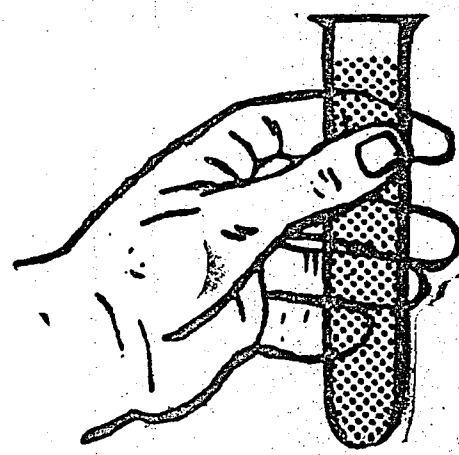

Demonstration to Be Held in Winona, Minnesota This revolutionary method of home treatment for the hair and scalp will be demonstrated in Winona, Minnesota, Tuesday ONLY, May 3, at the Winona Hotel. Trichologist Max DenAdell will conduct the private, individual interviews from 12 noon until 9:30 P. M. on Tuesday ONLY. There is no cost or obligation, and you need no appointment.

Reason For Baldness "There is always a reason for baldness," continued this nationally known authority. "Hair cannot grow through a scalp that is infected with dandruff, excessive oiliness, or extreme dryness. A scalp that has never been exercised cannot be expected to produce healthy hair." Men, and yes, women, too, walk the streets today, completely devoid of nature's greatest ornament—hair. Simply because they were not taught the basic rules of hair and scalp hygiene while they were growing up. "The simple answer," emphasized this expert, "is that children should be taught the same simple basic rules of hair and scalp hygiene that they are taught for the proper care of their teeth. If this were the case, baldness would be a rarity today!"

Hereditary Not Involved Trichologist Green dodged no issues. He quickly took up the most widely spread theory of baldness—heredity. "Mankind's unrealistic belief that baldness is hereditary stems from a misinterpretation of the theory of genetics. Theory does not state that any person must be bald because baldness exists in the family. What it does say, is that in some families, a tendency exists towards an undernourished scalp." The purpose of the Rogers Hair and Scalp Clinic is to teach the methods of strengthening the weak scalp and nourishing it to a healthy, vigorous condition. "A healthy scalp will grow hair if it is not already completely bald," assures Green. Is There Hope For The Completely Bald In his travels throughout the United States and Canada, Green has collected hundreds of testimonials of his ability to develop weak fuzz into healthy, mature hair. All of his clients have started with a private examination, hair and scalp analysis, and a diagnosis of the disorder. Green is quick, however, to tell a hopeless case that he cannot be helped. "We strongly advise," says Green, "that no person who is completely bald hold any hope whatsoever of regrowing hair. If there is any fuzz at all, we can restore a healthy scalp condition and the hair will grow normally again as nature intended."

Offers a Guarantee "Rogers, Inc., America's Foremost Hair and Scalp Specialists, offer a guarantee to any client who enrolls for treatment. If he or she is not completely delighted with results at the end of 30 days, the money invested will be graciously refunded," pledged Green. "We must regrow hair. After all, it is our best advertisement!" Is Your Hair Healthy? If you have a scalp disorder, or if you are worried about your hair, call Trichologist Max DenAdell at the Winona Hotel in Winona, Minnesota, Tuesday ONLY from 12 noon to 9:00 P. M. The public is invited. The examinations are private and open to men and women. You do not need an appointment, and you will not be embarrassed or obligated in any way.

Three Legislators Report On Laws Affecting County

1 City Council,
1 County Board
Bill Defeated

By ROBERT EGGLESON
Daily News Staff Writer

Winona city and county legislation fared well during the 1955 legislative session, according to the county's three legislators who returned this week from St. Paul.

Only one of the measures sent to the statehouse by the City Council failed to win approval and a single request of the Winona County Board of Commissioners also failed.

Sen. J. R. Keller noted that one of the important bills to be enacted during the session was approval of expenditure of some $150,000 by a state water resources board which was given powers over WATERSHEDS and water control projects. Sen. Keller said the legislation will permit the state to put into action the results of long study in watershed developments. It involves the 88,000 acre Rush-Pine Creek project of which 75,000 acres are in Winona County.

Rep. Donald McLeod, the county's rural representative, said that a bill affecting receipts from state-owned land in the WHITE-WATER area has been made law.

In the past, the state returned a percentage of receipts (rentals, etc.) from land it owns as refuge areas. To the county, townships and school districts in which the land is located.

The new bill, Rep. McLeod said, provides that the monies will be divided between the townships and school districts. He said the bill affects only Winona County.

A city-requested bill—asking to increase the number of on-sale LIQUOR LICENSES the City Council could issue from 15 to 30—“died” in a Senate committee. The aldermen had asked the measure as a means of improving enforcement of liquor laws.

Three measures were signed into law by Gov. Freeman affecting Winona's Board of MUNICIPAL WORKS. The legislation permits the board to issue additional bonds to cover construction of a 3-million gallon reservoir and discharge line south of Lake Winona to a total of $700,000 (the board previously had authority for bonds totaling only $200,000); to repay bonded indebtedness at the rate of $50,000 a year instead of $15,000 as was the previous limit and to permit the board to contract for services and materials up to $500 without advertising for bids. Before the governor signed the bill April 1, the board could not contract for services and materials without advertising for bids on projects costing more than $200.

WINONA FIREMEN AND POLICEMEN too, benefited by legislation enacted this spring, as several bills affecting pension plans were signed into law after passage by the Senate and the House, according to Rep. John D. McGill.

Briefly, the firemen received authority for an additional $5 monthly pension for every year over 20 they serve up to 25 years or from the basic $85 to $125 while police pension benefits on a similar plan, would permit a maximum of $139.80 per month as compared to the $112.50 that was the top benefit under previous law.

Firemen now will pay 4 per cent out of their basic salary (an increase of 2 per cent) while the police deduction of 4 per cent will apply only when the pension fund balance falls below $600.

The annual levy for the firemen's relief fund was boosted from 1 to 2 mills to be continued until the fund reaches a balance of $100,000. The policemen effected no change in their relief fund plan, which provides that the city levies a mill a year as long as the fund is under $75,000.

Firemen also benefitted from a statewide bill authored by Sen. Keller that provides that heart diseases, when contacted in the line of duty, shall be considered occupational diseases. He also successfully introduced a bill to increase by 40 (to about 256) the number of state highway patrolmen in the state and also to increase wages of state enforcement officers by $30 a month. Per diem pay will also be increased from $1 to $1.50 per day.

Here is Pat Passel modeling the swim suit she'll wear as Winona's entry in the annual Miss Minnesota contest May 13-14 at Austin. The suit is a portion of a complete wardrobe donated to Miss Passel by a Winona merchant. Assisting Pat in preparation for the contest are Mrs. Beverly Lipinski, who will help her choose her wardrobe and serve as chaperone, and Miss Donna Freeman, a senior at Winona State Teacher College, who is giving Pat drama lessons for her entry in the talent division at the pageant. ed by a common school district in one county asking to be set off into another, are required to hold a hearing only in the county in which it lies. In the past, hearings in all counties involved were required. Districts in two counties, however, will still be required to hold two hearings.

SALARY INCREASES for several COUNTY OFFICIALS were approved by the Legislature. Raises of from $5,330 to $6,000 annually were approved for County Auditor Richard Schoonover and County Treasurer Arthur W. Dorn. Statewide law provides that the county superintendent of schools (in Winona County, Jesse Jestus) will receive the same pay as the treasurer. Also approved was an increase of $300 per year for Clerk of Court Joseph C. Page, who currently receives $3,300. The clerk also receives fees for services which bring his compensation into line with that of other county officials.

ROAD AND BRIDGE monies were affected by a pair of bills adopted upon this session, one of which will come up for referendum vote during the November 1956 election. At that time, voters will be asked to approve a constitutional amendment that would divide the highway user receipts with 62 per cent going to the state, 29 per cent to the counties and cities and villages getting 9 per cent. In the past, the state's 87 counties received varying shares of a third of the total amount of gas tax money while the state kept two thirds. It would mean that gas tax and license fee money would return to the county roughly 38 per cent of the tax money whereas the return amounted to only 33 per cent before. Cities were not previously included in the distribution.

Sen. Keller said that a bill he introduced that was finally passed provides 60 days grace for persons moving into Minnesota from another state in procuring a state DRIVER'S LICENSE. The old law required no such period and Keller said it would be impossible to comply with it. To secure the grace period, however, the new resident must be 21 and have a valid driver's license from another state.

Under legislation aimed at reducing the county's obligation for BRIDGE CONSTRUCTION within the incorporated limits of fourth class villages and cities, the county now must pay only one-half of the total cost of such construction up to half the amount paid into the county road and bridge fund by the village or city. In the past, the county was required to pay the total amount paid into its road and bridge fund.

Killed in committee was a bill which would have permitted any county to appoint an ABSTRACT CLERK.

An agricultural bill of local interest was legislative approval of a bill, providing that beginning July 1, BUTTER sold in Minnesota must be labeled by grade: AA for 93 score; A for 92 score; B for 90 score and undergrade for scores

Body Found At La Crescent Is Identified

LA CRESCENT, Minn.—A man found dead in a ditch near here earlier this week has been identified by Houston County authorities as Robert Gibson, 44, Harnell, N. Y.

Identification was made after checking an address on a telegram carried by Gibson.

The body was found Monday in a ditch beside the Milwaukee Road railroad tracks about one-half mile north of here by a State Highway Department maintenance crew working in the area.

A report of the finding was made to Sheriff Beryl Kerrigan who obtained information regarding the identity of the man.

Coroner Neil T. Norris, Caledonia, could not be reached today for information regarding the cause of Gibson's death but members of the highway crew that found the body said that there were no bruises, marks or other apparent signs of injuries.

The Potter-Haugen Funeral Home at Caledonia this week made arrangements for sending the body to Parnell for burial.

below 90. Advertisers, too, must state grades. This bill is an adaptation from Wisconsin.

At least one of the 888 bills signed into law by Gov. Freeman has made itself known in Winona. That's the law permitting counties to impound the LICENSE PLATES and registration of persons who are found guilty of driving after their driver's license has been suspended or revoked. Municipal Judge E. D. Libera already has applied it twice.

Two new plans of local interest include increase of the salary of Winona's MUNICIPAL JUDGE to $5,000 annually and a bill for SCHOOL BOARD elections, in which no primary filings are received, to permit filing directly or by petition by five persons not more than 30 or less than 12 days prior to the general election, a situation that existed in Winona's 4th Ward this spring.

WINONA STATE TEACHERS College was affected by a number of bills passed and signed into law, the most important perhaps being approval of improvement programs for the Phelps Laboratory School and Somsen Hall totaling $500,000.

Rep. J. McGill added that the Winona school is included in the bill to give the State Teachers Colleges Board the authority to issue bonds up to $3,100,000 for construction of new dormitories and to retain receipts from cafeteria and dormitories. In the past, these funds had been returned to the

Monday Visit Of Blood Unit Off Schedule

Poor Registrations
Cause Cancellation
Of 1 Day Out of 5

Poor registrations this morning caused the Winona County chapter of the Red Cross to cancel the first day of the bloodmobile visit here next week.

James D. Cole, chapter chairman, said that the Monday stand at the Winona Athletic Club has been eliminated. There were only 22 registrations to give a pint of blood.

He added that, at present, there are only 27 registrations for Tuesday at the Athletic Club, but those scheduled for Monday will be asked to come Tuesday.

After that, the unit will be at the Masonic Temple from 2 to 3 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday and at St. Mary's College Friday. Walk-ins will be welcome.

There are only about 240 registrations for the three days, Cole said. That's exclusive of the blood to be given at St. Mary's Friday. Goal for the week is 617.

Workers Announced
Meanwhile, a schedule of assignments for volunteer workers who will assist during next week's Red Cross bloodmobile visit here was announced.

Dr. Philip V.R. Heise, president of the Winona County Medical Society, said that his group will furnish medical services Monday and Tuesday and students and nurses training and home economics at the College of Saint Teresa have volunteered to assist. Students at the Washington-Kosciusko School and the Senior High School are among the volunteer workers.

Mrs. Olive Sorensen has prepared the schedule for registered nurses and Mrs. R. W. Miller is coordinating volunteer activities. Special services chairmen include Mrs. Robert Ambuhl and Mrs. John Dugan, canteen; Mrs. Phillip Hicks, Gray Ladies; Mrs. William Hoge, custodial aides; Mrs. L. R. Woodworth, discharge desk; Mrs. William F. White, motor corps; Mrs. A. O. Stubbard, nurses aides, and Mrs. Carl Breitlow and Mrs. C. E. Williams, staff aides.

A Glorious Fishing Season Opener

Heavily Stocked Duschee Creek immediately below the state trout hatchery at Lanesboro was the scene of shoulder-to-shoulder fishing today. This picture was taken a minute after the season opened. The first fish had been caught. There were 138 cars parked on the hatchery grounds at the opening hour.

Staggered Hours Spread Anglers Over Wide Area

By LEFTY HYMES
Daily News Staff Writer

Although the river pools became rough in mid-morning and the trout streams were clear and low, fishermen had a glorious opening today and most of them will come home this afternoon with some fish.

The 10 o'clock opening of the trout season probably cut down the number of fishermen on Minnesota creeks. In Wisconsin, the early opening, at midnight, on the better creeks produced full creels early in the day. In fact, at Alma several trout fishermen were back with limits in time to take in the opening on the river.

Early-morning fishermen on the river, a check of the dams in the area revealed, were getting wall-eyes. The sections below the 300-foot line were crowded with boats. The floats at ALMA and DRESBACH were doing a rushing business. There were 78 boats in the water in the area directly below the Dresbach Dam at 7 a.m. Nice walleyes were being caught commonly.

Up to noon no fishermen at Maurer's at ELBA had checked in a big trout. Early trout taken from Duschee Creek at LANESBORO ran small—none over two pounds. Again this year there was shoulder to shoulder fishing in the area of the creek directly below the hatchery.

Official car count at 10 a.m. at the hatchery area showed 138 cars but the number of fishermen on the creek in the opinion of Henry Hanson, superintendent, was less than a year ago.

This scene lacked the color of a dawn opening. Fishermen began to gather about 8 a.m. and after wandering about the hatchery grounds picked spots along the creek and settled down for a chat in the sun. The big influx came about a half hour before the 10 a.m. deadline. The bait dropped into the creek a couple of minutes before 10 o'clock. Anglers simply could not wait any longer.

The first fish in the area directly below the hatchery bridge was pulled out of the water at one second after 10 by Roy Kappin of Owatonna. Many more fish came within the next few minutes.

Favorable weather conditions, a survey of wardens made before noon revealed, had spread the fishermen over most of the creeks in the area.

Creeks that were muddy a year ago, were low and clear today at the opening hour. This was favorable fishing. This generally favorable condition, they said, reduced the number of fishermen at "put and take" spots and on the advertised creeks. In all, the late opening, these early reports indicated, had reduced slightly the number of fishermen out. More fishermen are expected Sunday morning than for the opening today.

Reinhold Mueller, 687 W. Bellevue St., and his fishing partner, Bruce Edwards, 679 W. Bellevue St., were the first fishermen to report to The Daily News with a limit catch. They were back in town at 11:45 a.m. They had fished Fickwick Creek.

In addition to drawing many walleye fishermen to areas directly below the dams, the nice day and favorable water condition of the river attracted groups to all the usual good fishing places. PRAIRIE ISLAND road was lined during the morning hours with Winona fishermen. The shore below the WINONA DAM on the Wisconsin side was crowded. LATSCHE ISLAND and area directly opposite Winona was being fished heavily. First big fish to be entered in any of the local contests was a

Trout Fishing In Western Wisconsin was off to a fast start today as witnessed by this eight-fish catch at 9 a.m. today. They were taken by Jerry Dotterwick, left, 205 E. 4th St., Winona, and Andrew Tylka, Fountain City, right, in the Doelle Valley Creek between Fountain City and Arcadia. These brookies and browns represent half the limit for the pair. They had fished off and on since midnight and were filling out their limits at mid-morning. (Daily News photos)

Walleye Fishermen gathered in large numbers below each of the nine-foot channel dams for the opening of the river fishing season today. The above picture is looking down on the scene just below the Dresbach Dam about 7 a.m. today. The float toward the Wisconsin shore was crowded and there were 78 boats scattered across the channel directly below the 300-foot deadline. (Daily News photos) four-pound eight-ounce northern entered by Frank Fratzke, 117 N. Baker St., in the Sportsman's Tavern contest.

George Fockens at ALMA reported that fishermen were coming in with walleye, northerns and some nice large mouth bass. There were lots of boats below the 300-foot line and the floats were crowded.

Reports from MERRICK and LATSCHE State parks told of family fishing groups. They were catching sunfish at Merrick park.

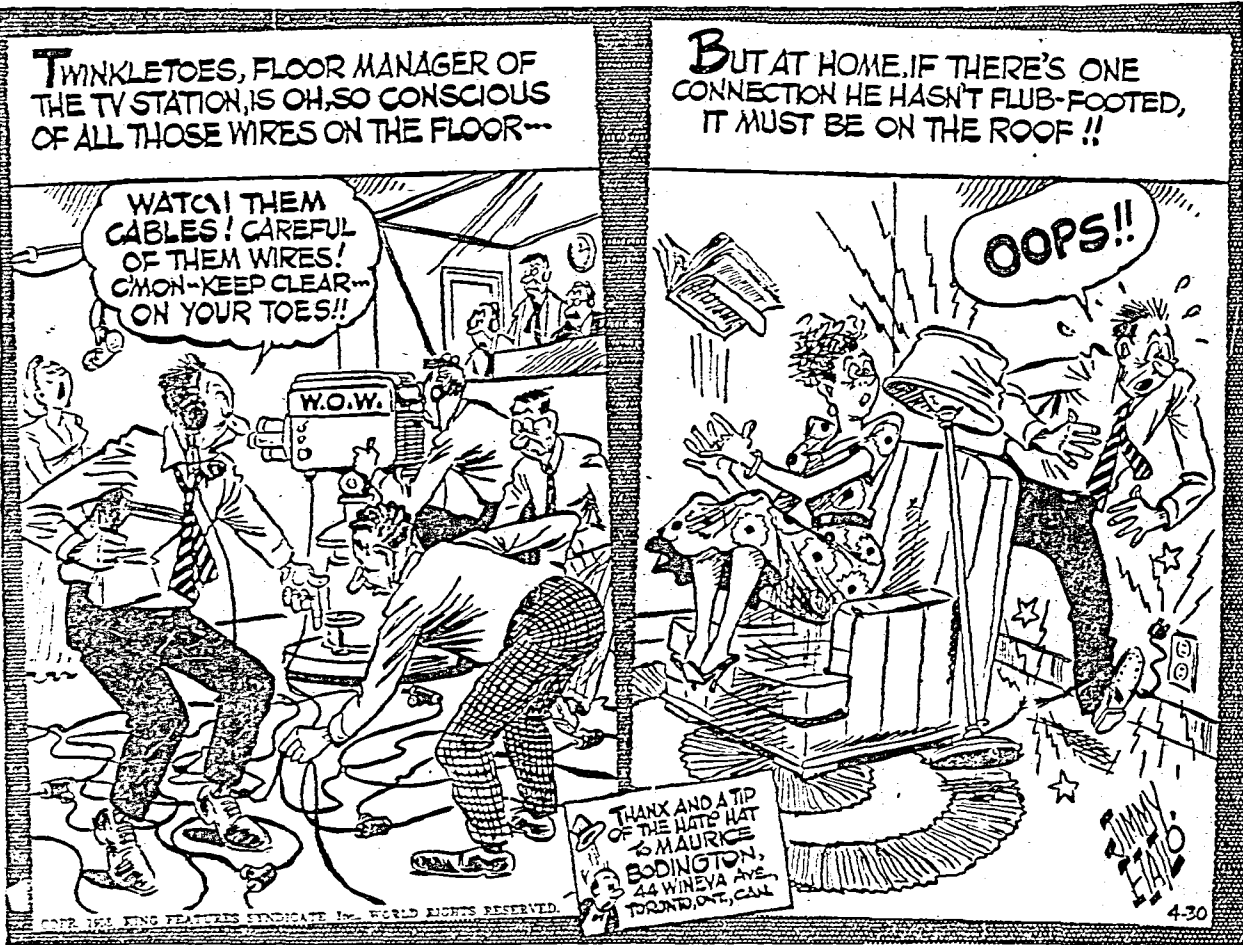

WABASHA reports also were favorable. The estimate there was "more fishermen than usual for the opening." Similar reports came from Reads Landing, LAKE PEPIN was rough and it was hard fishing. Boats were coming in early. Some fishermen did not put their boats into the lake. They considered it too rough and went elsewhere. The flow of water in the river is about four times normal. TREMPALEAU lakes were popular during the afternoon. Wisconsin fishermen, when the river got rough.

Fishing prospects for Sunday for both trout and river fish are excellent. Fair weather, with a high of 78, is forecast.

Roy Kappin, Owatonna, Minn., caught the first trout in the area directly below the bridge over Duschee Creek at Lanesboro. He pulled it out of the water exactly one second after the opening hour.

California Halts Polio Vaccinations

By RENNIE TAYLOR
Associated Press Science Reporter
BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—All polio vaccination halted officially in California today pending a final decision by U.S. Public Health authorities and virus experts as to the safety of the injection materials being used.

The decision was made by a special advisory committee to the State Board of Health last night as specialists in Washington investigated the appearance of infantile paralysis among some vaccinated children.

A halt in the immunization program for at least a week was decided upon. This will prevent several communities from going ahead with plans to inoculate children with vaccine from drug houses other than Cutter Laboratories of Berkeley.

The Cutter vaccine was withdrawn from use Wednesday after several children vaccinated with it came down with infantile paralysis. There was no prohibition, however, against vaccine made by five other pharmaceutical firms. But the special committee's decision halts the use of these other vaccines also in California temporarily at least.

As of 5 p.m., yesterday the State Health Board had records of 13 children in California and one in Chicago who had developed polio after receiving vaccine made by Cutter. It also had reports of six other children who had developed illness after vaccination but polio had not been definitely diagnosed in these. Five cases also were reported in children who received Cutter vaccine in Idaho.

Dr. Robert Dyer, chief of the State Health Department's division of preventive medicine, told the advisory committee that more than 300,000 children had received Cutter shots. This included 175,000 in the California school inoculation program; 50,000 in Arizona; 10,300 in Nevada; 51,500 in New Mexico, and 32,000 in Idaho.

Blossoming Trees

Blossoming trees hail the arrival of Minnesota's Conservation Week which opens with Conservation Sunday tomorrow and terminates in Arbor Day next Friday. Trees will be planted by most of the schools in this area and Tri-County Treeville will be held on the Isberg farm near Rushford.

Governor Freeman has issued the usual proclamation proclaiming the week as Conservation Week and selecting Friday as Arbor and Bird Day. The forestry division announced, at the same time, that six million trees have been shipped from the two state tree nurseries at Badoura and Willow River to 3,500 individuals for planting on private lands, and that the state and federal government would plant between 10 and 15 million on public lands within the state, depending on weather conditions and the available labor.

New thinking is coming to Minnesota conservation with George A. Selke, new commissioner, who took office today. Whether it will be more constructive than that during the long reign of Chester A. Wilson is for the future to decide. Indications are, it will contain a greater public appeal.

"Conservation of our natural resources," Selke says, "must

Report Pictures Stock Market as Much Healthier

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Banking Committee made public today a staff report picturing the stock market as unquestionably "healthier" early this year than it was in the pre-crash months of 1929.

The report says, referring to the possibility of "speculative excesses" this year:

"If there is any lesson to be drawn from the 1927-29 experience it is that it is healthier to spot excesses early and correct them than to ignore their existence until speculative trends develop which are difficult to correct without injury to other segments of the economy."

The report was prepared by Staff Director Robert A. Wallace and other aides.

be so interwoven into our daily life and thinking that it becomes first nature to do these things. Thus we will insure our present good living and protect the future."

'Save the Nest'

In accordance with this thinking, Commissioner Selke has had the governor proclaim the month of June as "Save the Nest Month."

The proclamation says:

"I most earnestly urge all citizens as individuals, particularly farmers and sportsmen; and all the enthusiastic devotees of the out-of-doors, to take an active part in preventing the destruction of nests, whether song bird or game bird, and to do all in their power to insure the continuation and abundance of the many game species invaluable to the welfare of our state and the recreational activities of a busy people."

To make the campaign practicable one of the early projects urged is "stop grass and brush fires." Main effect will be centered, however, on getting farmers to put flushing bars on their mowers and harvesters during June and July. This is why June is "save a nest month" in Minnesota.

Biologists who have made extensive studies of Minnesota's pheasant problem, it is pointed out, have learned that more pheasants are destroyed each season by farmers during the harvesting than are killed in the hunting season in the fall.

In other words, the pheasant population available each fall, for hunting could be doubled if every farmer would put a single flushing bar on the harvesting machinery. In fact, one big farm implement company

Senator Warns Chiang Against Holding Quemoy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) said today any defense of Quemoy and Matsu Islands "may well become the sole responsibility of the Chinese Nationalists."

Mansfield said it was his understanding that Asst. Secretary of State Walter Robertson and Adm. Arthur W. Radford discussed with Chiang Kai-shek the question of the defense of those islands. He did not elaborate.

Robertson and Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, are flying back to Washington after talks with Chiang and his top defense aides on Formosa.

An administration official told newsmen the Formosa situation "was bound to come up" during a White House meeting next Tuesday of President Eisenhower and congressional leaders of both parties.

The announced purpose of the conference is to discuss Eisenhower's $1.4-billion-foreign aid request.

Mansfield, a Senate Foreign Relations committee member, said in an interview that "any real ceasefire" in the Formosa Strait "would have to result in all the off-shore islands going to Red China."

Daughter Helps Frankie Forget Torch He Carried

By EARL WILSON

LAS VEGAS — "Frankie blew out the torch," a man at the ringside said.

Frank Sinatra had just left the crowd at the Sands Hotel Copa Room yelling for more songs, and had rushed off to Luigi's nearby, to have dinner.

"This is a necessity—I've got to get something to eat," he had told the roomful of people who'd paused in their gambling to listen, and were still applauding. "When the wind blows through here, I'm in a lot of trouble."

And so he'd departed—and the man at the ringside and I discussed how Frankie seems to have consigned Ava Gardner to his past, though technically they are still married.

"Just a few months ago when I heard him here," I said, "nearly every song was a torch number." And now he'd even attempted a comedy — type love song titled "There Is a Flaw in My Flue."

"I've tried this a few times," he said from the stage, "and while nobody went out and got drunk about it, it was good for a few yuks."

The theme, if any, was that the young man singing the song could see his sweetheart's face in the fireplace — but "Now my fireplace won't draw, because my flue has a flaw."

Since the romance of Frank and Ava has had almost as much written about it as the little affair between Adam and Eve, it doesn't seem to be bad taste to mention how Frankie extinguished the torch that made the Chicago fire look like a bonfire for a Girl Scouts' marshmallow roast.

"His daughter, Nancy, helped," this gent at the ringside said.

Remember his song, "Nancy with the Smiling Face"? Daughter Nancy, big enough now to have dates, accompanied him to Australia, where he was constantly as attentive as a beau. And with Nancy beside him, he walked ev-everywhere with care and with pride. "Sublimation," it might be called. Professional and business success helped, too.

His "two per cent piece" of the Sands Hotel brings him a cozy income, and he is increasing it to four per cent. It's also made him a businessman of a sort. When Danny Thomas' brother was killed in an auto crash while Danny was performing at the Sands, Frank flew over from Hollywood to substitute for him. Frank, after all, is a partner in the hotel operation.

"I left the set of 'Guys and Dolls' at 6 o'clock to come over here," Frank said. "I hope Sam Goldwyn doesn't hear about it."

Throughout Frank's performance there was a light-hearted air which seemed to prove the weight was off the shoulders. Once in the middle of a song he said:

"I think I gotta sneeze." He rubbed his nose and it went away.

They asked him to sing "Young at Heart."

"Oh, you squares," he told them, and then he said, "I thought you were never going to ask me."

With the torch blown out, people will naturally ask what about a reconciliation of Frank and Nancy. Ask me that again in about three years.

THE WEEK-END WINDUP . . .
"DON'T PRINT THAT!" . . . A B'way star's been threatened with having his role chopped "to one measly line," but he refuses to quit his juicy run-of-the-play contract . . . A top singer got sore and scratched her accompanist "because he hit a wrong note during rehearsals."

Joel Grey, nursing laryngitis, left for a London Palladium engagement . . . A proposed quiz, "The Big Moment," should be a whopper. The winner gets $100 a week for life . . . Walter Slezak's moving his family to New York permanently . . . Perry Como is giving the Four Coins (from his home town) a buildup.

A Third Av. bar is offering a "breakfast special—two Martinis, 35 cents." . . . Roz Russell may be the lead when Jacqueline Cochran's biography is filmed . . . A big-name comic has fired his psychiatrist; he's convinced that "everything's under control now!" . . . A group of Madison Av. ad men who bought a race horse picked the racing colors: Charcoal gray and pink.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: George E. Stone's Latin 1/4 listeners, "Parenthood is hereditary. If your parents didn't have children, chances are you won't have any, either."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "A girl will put on almost anything for dinner except an apron." — Sarah Vaughan.

"It's not those old used cars that worry us pedestrians," admits Chuck Barnett. "It's those old, used drivers." . . . That's earl, brother.

Group Building Cruising Houseboats

Cooperative Plan Used by Seven In New Venture

A new type of river boating is in store for at least seven Winona families during the coming boat season on the river.

Cruising houseboats powered with both inboard and outboard motors, while not new, have many features not found in any other kind of river craft.

Last year after a lot of talk and mulling over of ideas, seven Winonans—Dr. George L. Loomis, Dr. R. B. Tweedy, Dr. D. T. Burt, W. J. Thurov, J. Russell Smith, Ted Maier and Earl Wanek—pooled their ideas and launched a cooperative project to build cruising houseboats practical for this section of the Mississippi River.

40 Feet Long
Sheet steel of 10-gauge quality was ordered through a local hardware dealer and specifications for welding the hulls were given to Dick Whittaker. Numbers were drawn by the seven for the order of production and work began early last fall in a shed and yard at Buffalo City, Wis.

Over-all dimensions of the hulls is 40 by 12 by 3 feet. Complete with engine and cabin, they will draw only 12 inches of water. This draw makes them especially practical for river use where they can nose onto a sandbar for picnics or swimming or move into a slough where cruisers seldom or never go because of their need for deeper anchorage water.

As the first four hulls were completed, they were brought to Winona to have the cabins built during the winter months. The Thurov hull was set in a cradle between buildings of the Thurov Manufacturing Co. Drs. Loomis, Tweedy and Burt installed their hulls in a building leased from the government nursery service on the airport road.

110- to 130-horsepower
The Burt and Thurov houseboats have 130-horsepower engines. Four of the other five houseboats including Tweedy's and Loomis' are using 119-horsepower marine engines. Cabin dimensions for all seven of these houseboats are practically the same, 26 by 11 to 11½ feet. The craft will sleep from six to eight persons and cruise at nine to 17 miles per hour top speed.

The arrangement of living room, bed or bunk room, galley, head and shower has been done to the liking of each owner and differs in each boat. Electric plants of varying voltage are being installed by each owner and outlets are situated to the advantage of his needs.

Cabin construction has been the major sparetime occupation of Drs. Tweedy, Loomis and Burt as well as Bill Thurov throughout the winter. In most cases family help has been called for painting and planning. In the case of Loomis, Tweedy and Burt, molding of the fiber glass and elastic used for roofs has been an "everybody help" project.

Rolls Like Roofing
These materials come in rolls much like regular roofing, but have to be dipped in an acetone solution and then laid over the wood and molded to shape around the overhang. As the material dries, it hardens to form a weather resistant cover. The Thurov boat has the elastic already painted green for a trim appearance.

Inside finishing of the houseboats ranges from striated, softly colored green plywood to Philippine mahogany plywood in mahogany finish. Large aluminum sliding windows give wide vision in the pilothouse area. These same aluminum windows have been installed in the rest of the cabin in the Loomis, Tweedy and Burt boats. Thurov's cabin windows operate with a crank similar to that used for raising and lowering car windows. Compact work and leisure areas planned for the convenience of each owner gives a different appearance to each interior.

The Loomis boat has a larger deck to the stern while the other three boats have the larger deck forward. Catwalks are a foot wide and extend beyond the hull on each side to allow for a wider cabin interior.

An eighth boat is being built by Howard W. and Donald B. Clark. They're using the same hull but, unlike the others, will install twin engines. They'll be 110 horsepower each.

Housewife Slain By Husband as She Flees Home

SODUS, N. Y. (Special)—A 27-year-old housewife was slain by a shotgun blast as she ran screaming down a street last night. Her husband, a railroad section hand, was charged today with first-degree murder.

Mrs. Blanche Vanderbrook was killed as three young daughters watched, and a 12-year-old stepdaughter, Mary Seymour, tried to shield her.

Richard Vanderbrook, 32, fled into the woods around this village near Lake Ontario. Two state troopers captured him near his home early today.

Inspector William F. Driscoll said Vanderbrook had signed a statement admitting the killing. Driscoll said the couple had been quarreling about family matters. He said he understood that the couple's 10 years of married life had been stormy.

Adenauer, Pinay Conferring Over Coal-Rich Saar

BONN, Germany (Special)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay buckled down today to the thorny task of settling German-French differences over the coal-rich Saar.

Later Pinay said he was "extraordinarily satisfied with the progress we have made so far." Adenauer expressed a similar view.

But the success of their conference depended in large measure on agreement clearing up their differences on the strategic industrial Saar.

Records Keep Popping Up on Pogo Jumping

ROANOKE, Va. (Special)—There's a new kids' craze these days—the pogo jump.

First came 11-year-old Charles Cook of Columbus, Ohio, who claimed a world's record for non-stop hopping on a pogo stick. Charles jumped 2,153 times.

Then up popped Don Saboe, Jr., 9, of Baltimore, who told of pogo jumping 3,154 times.

Now meet the new champion (for the moment anyway): Buddy Covey of Roanoke. Buddy got out in his backyard before supper and did the pogo jump 5,613 times, with his dad doing the counting.

There, you challengers, take a crack at that one.

Jet Fighter Base On Formosa Meets Cool Reception

TAIPEI, Formosa (Special)—Chinese Nationalist officials reacted coldly today to Washington reports the United States might establish a jet fighter base and a token force of Marines on Formosa.

The cool response apparently was because the projected move was linked with proposals for a cease-fire in the Formosa Strait, which the Nationalists solidly oppose.

A qualified Nationalist official said he preferred not to comment, but confided: "Had the move not been linked with a cease-fire, our reaction would have been one of unqualified endorsement."

Nationalist comment continued to stress the reported Communist buildup near the offshore Matsu Islands.

The Nationalist Navy Thursday shelled the nearby mainland. More than 100 shells were lobbed on to the Huangchi peninsula where two Communist ships had arrived with supplies and two roads rushed to completion by the Reds. Nationalist planes attacked shipping in the same area Wednesday.

Mrs. Gertrude A. Brown, owner of Brown's Grocery at 279 E. 3rd St., and Forest Togerson, Sealtest field representative, seem mighty proud of the new Sealtest display case in Mrs. Brown's store. To celebrate the addition of Sealtest Ice Cream at the store, Sealtest Circus Days are being held this weekend. Tomorrow is the last day to take advantage of the low prices. For more information on the Circus Days, see the large advertisement in last Wednesday's Daily News. Mrs. Brown is another consistent Daily News advertiser . . . watch for her ads . . . they'll save you money.

Edstrom's and Hardt's Music Stores want to get together today in this column to remind you that next week is National Music Week. It's the time when the part music plays in our lives is recognized, honored and encouraged. The theme this year is "Give Music a Place in Your Life." Thoughtful parents might do well to consider offering their children the challenge and pleasure of music . . . to make it possible for them to hear good music and play it. Here are a few facts about music which may interest you:

There are 27,000,000 musical instruments owned in the United States. This is an increase of over 50 per cent since 1936.

Some 7,500,000 children are now playing instruments and receiving instrumental music instruction in schools and with private teachers.

Classical record sales are now about $60 million a year and account for 30 per cent of the record industry's annual dollar volume of about $225,000,000.

We're Always Glad When Daily News Ads get results for merchants, and we expect to get them results. But sometimes even we are surprised at the response as it goes far over our best expectations. This happened again last week when the Sugar Loaf Feed Store advertised their first Baby Chick Day and wanted to give 5,000 chicks away—10 to a customer. The store was virtually mobbed and the chicks went fast. Not only that, but store manager John Bell said actual sales zoomed that day, also. Above, just left of the Larro feed sign, is General Mills representative Leroy Hellickson passing out some of the chicks. Sugar Loaf Feed Store plans to make this an annual event and to have about 3,000 more chicks next year.

Compact work and leisure areas planned for the convenience of each owner gives a different appearance to each interior.

The Loomis boat has a larger deck to the stern while the other three boats have the larger deck forward. Catwalks are a foot wide and extend beyond the hull on each side to allow for a wider cabin interior.

An eighth boat is being built by Howard W. and Donald B. CLARK. They're using the same hull but, unlike the others, will install twin engines. They'll be 110 horsepower each.

Wausau Man Falls 3 Stories After Fatal Heart Attack

WAUSAU, Wis. (M)—Harold Collins, 60-year-old member of a pioneer family, died at St. Mary's Hospital Thursday afternoon after suffering a heart attack and a fall from a three-story window of his home.

However, Coroner John Hildensperger said that an autopsy showed Collins' death was due to the heart attack. The coroner said Collins apparently was stricken and went to a window for air, then tumbled out.

Collins, a son of Cornelius C. Collins who founded the family lumber business at Rhinelander, was a former president of the Wausau Paper Mills at Brokaw and still operated the C. C. Collins Lumber Co. at Madison.

Survivors include one son and four daughters.

Housewife Slain By Husband as She Flees Home

SODUS, N. Y. (M)—A 27-year-old housewife was slain by a shotgun blast as she ran screaming down a street last night. Her husband, a railroad section hand, was charged today with first-degree murder.

Mrs. Blanche Vanderbrook was killed as three young daughters watched, and a 12-year-old step-daughter, Mary Seymour, tried to shield her.

Richard Vanderbrook, 32, fled into the woods around this village near Lake Ontario. Two state troopers captured him near his home early today.

Records Keep Popping Up on Pogo Jumping

ROANOKE, Va. (M)—There's a new kid's craze these days—the pogo jump.

Then up popped Don Saboe, Jr., 9, of Baltimore, who told of pogo jumping 3,154 times.

Now meet the new champion (for the moment anyway): Buddy Covey of Roanoke. Buddy got out in his backyard before supper and did the pogo jump 5,613 times, with his dad doing the counting.

Jet Fighter Base On Formosa Meets Cool Reception

TAIPEI, Formosa (M)—Chinese Nationalist officials reacted coldly today to Washington reports the United States might establish a jet fighter base and a token force of Marines on Formosa.

The cool response apparently was because the projected move was linked with proposals for a cease-fire in the Formosa Strait, which the Nationalists solidly oppose.

A qualified Nationalist official said he preferred not to comment, but confided:

"Had the move not been linked with a cease-fire, our reaction would have been one of unqualified endorsement."

Nationalist comment continued to stress the reported Communist buildup near the offshore Matsu Islands.

The Nationalist Navy Thursday shelled the nearby mainland. More than 100 shells were lobbed on to the Huangchi peninsula where two Communist ships had arrived with supplies and two roads rushed to completion by the Reds. Nationalist planes attacked shipping in the same area Wednesday.

Ad Alley Pickups
Saturday, April 30, 1955
A brief mention of interesting items about people, business places and campaigns as compiled by The Winona Daily News ad department.

Mrs. Gertrude A. Brown, owner of Brown's Grocery at 279 E. 3rd St., and Forest Togerson, Sealtest field representative, seem mighty proud of the new Sealtest display case in Mrs. Brown's store. To celebrate the addition of Sealtest Ice Cream at the store, Sealtest Circus Days are being held this weekend. Tomorrow is the last day to take advantage of the low prices. For more information on the Circus Days, see the large advertisement in last Wednesday's Daily News. Mrs. Brown is another consistent Daily News advertiser . . . watch for her ads . . . they'll save you money.

Edstrom's and Hardt's Music Stores want to get together today in this column to remind you that next week is National Music Week. It's the time when the part music plays in our lives is recognized, honored and encouraged. The theme this year is "Give Music a Place in Your Life." Thoughtful parents might do well to consider offering their children the challenge and pleasure of music . . . to make it possible for them to hear good music and play it. Here are a few facts about music which may interest you:

There are 27,000,000 musical instruments owned in the United States. This is an increase of over 50 per cent since 1936.

Since 1936 the number of people playing a musical instrument has increased more than 7 per cent for a total of 25,750,000.

Over 18,750,000 people play the piano now, compared to 13,300,000 in 1939.

In one recent year 262,322 persons spent $1,984,977 for ukuleles. Approximately 82 per cent of all musical instruments are purchased for educational use in homes and schools.

Some 7,500,000 children are now playing instruments and receiving instrumental music instruction in schools and with private teachers.

Classical record sales are now about $80 million a year and account for 30 per cent of the record industry's annual dollar volume of about $225,000,000.

We're Always Glad When Daily News Ads get results for merchants, and we expect to get them results. But sometimes even we are surprised at the response as it goes far over our best expectations. This happened again last week when the Sugar Loaf Feed Store advertised their first Baby Chick Day and wanted to give 5,000 chicks away—to a customer. Not only that, but store manager John Bell said actual sales zoomed that day, also. Above, just left of the Larro feed sign, is General Mills representative Leroy Hellickson passing out some of the chicks. Sugar Loaf Feed Store plans to make this an annual event and to have about 3,000 more chicks next year.

Group Building Cruising Houseboats

Cooperative Plan Used by Seven in New Venture

A new type of river boating is in store for at least seven Winona families during the coming boat season on the river.

Cruising houseboats powered with both inboard and outboard motors, while not new, have many features not found in any other kind of river craft.

Last year after a lot of talk and mulling over of ideas, seven Winonans—Dr. George L. Loomis, Dr. R. B. Tweedy, Dr. D. T. Burt, W. J. Thurov, J. Russell Smith, Ted Maier and Earl Wanek—pooled their ideas and launched a cooperative project to build cruising houseboats practical for this section of the Mississippi River.

Sheet steel of 10-gauge quality was ordered through a local hardware dealer and specifications for welding the hulls were given to Dick Whittaker. Numbers were drawn by the seven for the order of production and work began early last fall in a shed and yard at Buffalo City, Wis.

Over-all dimensions of the hulls is 50 by 12 by 3 feet. Complete with engine and cabin, they will draw only 12 inches of water. This draw makes them especially practical for river use where they can nose onto a sandbar for picnics or swimming or move into a slough where cruisers seldom or never go because of their need for deeper anchorage water.

As the first four hulls were completed, they were brought to Winona to have the cabins built during the winter months. The Thurov hull was set in a cradle between buildings of the Thurov Manufacturing Co. Drs. Loomis, Tweedy and Burt installed their hulls in a building leased from the government nursery service on the airport road.

110- to 130-horsepower The Burt and Thurov houseboats have 130-horsepower engines. Four of the other five houseboats including Tweedy's and Loomis' are using 110-horsepower marine engines. Cabin dimensions for all seven of these houseboats are practically the same, 26 by 11 to 11½ feet. The craft will sleep from six to eight persons and cruise at nine to 17 miles per hour top speed.

The arrangement of living room, bed or bunk room, galley, head and shower has been done to the liking of each owner and differs in each boat. Electric plants of varying voltage are being installed by each owner and outlets are situated to the advantage of his needs.

Cabin construction has been the major sparetime occupation of Drs. Tweedy, Loomis and Burt as well as Bill Thurov throughout the winter. In most cases family help has been called for painting and planning. In the case of Loomis, Tweedy and Burt, molding of the fiber glass and celastic used for roofs has been an "everybody help" project.

Rolls Like Roofing These materials come in rolls much like regular roofing, but have to be dipped in an acetone solution and then laid over the wood and molded to shape around the overhang. As the material dries, it hardens to form a weather-resistant cover. The Thurov boat has the celastic already painted green for a trim appearance.

Inside finishing of the houseboats ranges from striated, softly colored green plywood to Philippine mahogany plywood in mahogany finish. Large aluminum sliding windows give wide vision in the pilots' area. These same aluminum windows have been installed in the rest of the cabin in the Loomis, Tweedy and Burt boats. Thurov's cabin windows operate with a crank similar to that used for raising and lowering car windows. Compact work and leisure areas planned for the convenience of each owner gives a different appearance to each interior.

The Loomis boat has a larger deck to the stern while the other three boats have the larger deck forward. Catwalks are a foot wide and extend beyond the hull on each side to allow for a wider cabin interior.

An eighth boat is being built by Howard W. and Donald B. CLARK. They're using the same hull but, unlike the others, will install twin engines. They'll be 110 horsepower each.

Ad Alley Pickups

Saturday, April 30, 1955
A brief mention of interesting items about people, business places and campaigns as compiled by The Winona Daily News ad department.

Mrs. Gertrude A. Brown, owner of Brown's Grocery at 279 E. 3rd St., and Forest Togerson, Sealtest field representative, seem mighty proud of the new Sealtest display case in Mrs. Brown's store. To celebrate the addition of Sealtest Ice Cream at the store, Sealtest Circus Days are being held this weekend. Tomorrow is the last day to take advantage of the low prices. For more information on the Circus Days, see the large advertisement in last Wednesday's Daily News. Mrs. Brown is another consistent Daily News advertiser . . . watch for her ads . . . they'll save you money.

Edstrom's and Hardt's Music Stores want to get together today in this column to remind you that next week is National Music Week. It's the time when the part music plays in our lives is recognized, honored and encouraged. The theme this year is "Give Music a Place in Your Life." Thoughtful parents might do well to consider offering their children the challenge and pleasure of music . . . to make it possible for them to hear good music and play it. Here are a few facts about music which may interest you:

There are 27,000,000 musical instruments owned in the United States. This is an increase of over 50 per cent since 1936.

Since 1936 the number of people playing a musical instrument has increased more than 7 per cent for a total of 25,750,000.

Over 18,750,000 people play the piano now, compared to 13,300,000 in 1939.

In one recent year 262,322 persons spent $1,984,977 for ukuleles. Approximately 82 per cent of all musical instruments are purchased for educational use in homes and schools.

Some 7,500,000 children are now playing instruments and receiving instrumental music instruction in schools and with private teachers.

Classical record sales are now about $60 million a year and account for 30 per cent of the record industry's annual dollar volume of about $225,000,000.

We're Always Glad When Daily News Ads get results for merchants, and we expect to get them results. But sometimes even we are surprised at the response as it goes far over our best expectations. This happened again last week when the Sugar Loaf Feed Store advertised their first Baby Chick Day and wanted to give 5,000 chicks away—to a customer. The store was virtually mobbed and the chicks went fast. Not only that, but store manager John Bell said actual sales zoomed that day, also. Above, just left of the Larve feed sign, is General Mills representative Leroy Hollickson, passing out some of the chicks. Sugar Loaf Feed Store plans to make this an annual event and to have about 3,000 more chicks next year.

A New Record of Appropriations, Tax Boosts

The 1955 session of the State Legislature, which set a new record for appropriations and tax boosts, is over.

Much has been written and much more will be written about the accomplishments or lack of accomplishments of the 90-day session but of all the comment we have read, we liked that in the Mankato Free Press best. Editor C. H. Russell does a good job of summing up the matter as follows:

What has come out of the Minnesota Legislature, as a result of five days of stalemate and finally a one-day special session to get bills legally over the hurdle, is certainly a far cry from the reasoned, well-planned, long-range tax reform program that had been promised and anticipated by many at the opening of the session.

The lawmakers have simply added further to the hodge-podge which makes up the state's taxing machinery. They have grabbed desperately for revenue wherever it was available to stave off a continuing deadlock, and still close the session with at least the appearance of a balanced budget.

The state income tax, already one of the highest in the nation both for corporations and for individuals, is to be raised still higher. Property, already bearing a very substantial tax burden, and beyond that of most states of comparable wealth and income, is to be taxed still more. The tax on iron ore is to be upped by 15 per cent and, as this is written, it still is not clear whether any safeguards were provided to encourage continuing investment in plants to expand the refining and use of the state's low grade ore. Various minor taxes, fees and economies enabled the legislators to eke out enough income to presumably meet the substantially increased expenditures which were voted.

Insofar as a permanent, long-range solution of the commonwealth's taxing problems is concerned, we are still marking time about where we were when the session opened.

An interim study was approved of the withholding tax plan for state income taxpayers. Insofar as producing any substantial amount of additional revenue it is already obvious such a change will prove a disappointment. An interim tax study over the past two years emphasized that point. If the Legislature prefers this method of collecting the tax all good and well, but certainly the taxpayer should be allowed some reasonable percentage of "forgiveness" in order to get on a pay-as-we-go basis.

If the Legislature pays no more attention to the recommendation of this interim committee than they did to a similar study group, named two years ago to offer recommendations on tax reform in general, then the money for the interim survey might as well have been saved.

Little attention likewise has ever been paid to the recommendations of the Little Hoover Commission on streamlining and reorganizing the state government, prepared four years ago and shunted aside now by the third legislative session. There seems little purpose in financing and carrying forward these studies and surveys if all lawmakers plan to do with the completed reports is to file them away in forgotten pigeonholes.

From previous remuneration of $3,000 a session legislators raised their pay by $1,800 a session, to $4,800, plus $7 a day for expenses, running over a minimum of a 90-day session.

In other words a member of the lower house of the Minnesota Legislature is now assured $4,800 salary for his term plus expenses of not less than $630 for a session, or $5,430 in all. Senators, elected for a four-year term, or for two sessions, are assured a salary of $9,600 for their terms, plus $1,260 in expenses, or $10,860 in all.

That bears out with added emphasis the point we made, that the taxpayers are now paying legislators enough to warrant a longer session term, to give full and adequate study and consideration to the state's problems.

These Days

Chou Badly Beaten In Bandung Talks

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

NEW YORK — Back in the second century B.C. lived a Chinese emperor, Wen Ti, who achieved that rank despite illegitimacy. During his reign, he had troubles with the Huns, who in time left his country to its devices and marched toward Europe where their conquests were many until they settled down and became civilized.

Treaties had been signed between the sons of Han, whom we call Chinese, and the barbarians of many tribes dividing the world at the long wall, the barbarians agreeing to stay north of the wall, the sons of Han south of it and they would co-exist. Then came wicked men who advised the Huns to violate the treaties, to cross the wall, to invade the rich lands to the south.

IT WAS THEN that Wen Ti (179-157 B.C.) wrote a letter to the captain of the barbarian horde expressing his views. He said:

"Breaches of moral obligation and of treaty have occurred. There has been forgetfulness of family ties; and the tranquility of Suzerain and Vassal is at an end. This, however, belongs to the past. Your letter says, 'The two states had become friendly; their rulers friends. The tramp of armies had been stilled for more peaceful occupations, and great joy had come upon successive generations at the new order of things.' We truly rejoice over these words. Let us then treat together this path of wisdom in due compassion for the peoples committed to our charge. Let us make a fresh start. Let us secure quiet to the aged; and to the young, opportunity to grow up, and, without risk of harm, to complete their allotted span."

Now these were nice words, extraordinarily nice words, but fighting continued for many centuries, even until the present. Further Wen Ti wrote:

"Heaven, it is said, covers no one in particular; and Earth is the common resting-place of all men. Let us then dismiss these trifling grievances, and tread the broader path. Let us forget bygone troubles in a sincere desire to cement an enduring friendship, that our peoples may live like the children of a single family, while the blessings of peace and immunity from evil extend even to the fishes of the sea, to the fowls of the air, and to all creeping things. Unresting forever is the course of truth. Therefore let us obliterate the past. We will take no count of deserters or of injuries sustained. Do you take no count of those who have joined our banner."

WHEN CHOU EN-LAI issued his masterly propaganda blast at the United States over the past weekend, he was speaking for effect, much like the Emperor Wen Ti, who did not want peace as much as time, who was caught by the necessities of internal problems and sought to push aside, temporarily, the onrush of dreaded international relations.

Chou En-Lai had looked forward to Bandung as a place to achieve a victory, such as he gained at Geneva, without fighting for it. He moved on Bandung a heroic figure. But he was among Asians who discount the strut of the new great. Nearly all these men are new great, the older ones having been dissipated by war and revolution. Among such men, Chou was but one of many, which must have been unpleasant indeed.

His pal throughout the Bandung Conference was the Hindu, Nehru, who cuts such a wide swath among Europeans and Americans who regard his affection of a Tolstoy-Gandhi pacifism as wonderful. Again, among Asians, what Nehru had to say was old-hat and a bit tiresome because they had heard it often and were not a little bored by its rudeness. He backed the Communists to the hilt, which did not please or serve many of the others, particularly the Arabs who have other ideas and such countries as the Philippines and Pakistan who do not want to be taken over.

So, Nehru and Chou, who had hoped to establish an Asiatic-African leadership, only bumped their heads against a stone wall and came away sulking. It was then that Chou En-Lai offered the United States peace on unacceptable terms—an offer made to hide his chagrin at his failure at Bandung. And for Chou it was a failure, for he barely escaped a censure of the Kremlin, which, had it passed, might have meant his political if not his physical finish.

Political Advisers Win Battle of Quemoy, Matsuo

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — It has all but been announced formally that President Eisenhower would give up disputed Quemoy and Matsuo in exchange for a Formosan settlement. What hasn't been said, however, is that this represents a triumph for his political advisers.

Ike's top political braintrust gathered at the White House recently for what was advertised as a social get-together. Secret purpose of the huddle, however, was to impress upon Ike the political implications of a Far Eastern war.

Showing up for the meeting were New York's ex-governor Tom Dewey, Atty. Gen. Herb Brownell, Ike's Army crony Lucius Clay, Vice President Dick Nixon, chief White House aide Sherman Adams, and Paul Hoffman.

Led by Dewey, the group reminded Ike that he owed his election largely to his promise to end the Korean War, that it would be political suicide to present the voters with another Far Eastern war on the eve of the 1956 election. They assured him that the China lobby, despite all its noise, was in the minority, that the public did not want to fight a war over two remote islands off the Chinese coast.

This political bone session was intended to counteract the overwhelming military advice, pushed on Ike, to draw the line at Quemoy and Matsuo. Even Sec. of State Dulles joined the Joint Chiefs of Staff in urging a firm stand over the offshore islands.

The President has been reluctant to fight for Quemoy and Matsuo, however, unless our allies would stand behind us. He often remarked around the White House that he didn't want to be drawn into a war without allies, that Napoleon was misrepresented as a great military genius because he always fought against coalitions.

With the added support of his political chiefs, Ike finally decided to stick to his original convictions and overrule his military advisers.

Dulles Spanked

Full story hasn't been told of the lacing Sec. of State Dulles received over the Yalta disclosures. And, if he got his way, it never would be.

Dulles just plain won't give his permission to release the secret transcript of what he told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee about Yalta. Ironically, this puts him in a predicament not unlike that of Sir Winston Churchill, who objected to releasing the Yalta papers in the first place.

It's no wonder Dulles wants the Senate transcript kept secret, for he was taken to the woodshed by Democratic senators and given a verbal spanking. As the Yalta papers were leaked, however, so Dulles story-ground about the leak has now been leaked.

Dulles admitted in the transcript, this column can reveal, that the decision to release the Yalta papers was made before the British approval arrived. Minnesota's razor-tongued Sen. Hubert Humphrey drew this confession from Dulles after painstakingly going over the time sequence with him.

"Do you call that the best way to build relations between Britain and the United States?" demanded Humphrey. He suggested that "we need Formosa" even more than we need Formosa.

The fiery Minnesotan then accused the State Department of sending him an "evasive" letter on the Yalta leak, written with "deliberate intention of misleading."

California's beefy Sen. Bill Knowland, the GOP leader, asked sweetly whether the letter contained "anything inaccurate." Humphrey snapped that he wasn't complaining about the inaccuracies but about the omissions — what the let-

Atomic Test Town Losing Its 'Population'

SURVIVAL CITY, Nev. (AP)—The atomic test town remained unblemished today. The question was: Where did all the people go? With the much-postponed operation cue now set for 5:10 a.m. tomorrow, the number of Civil Defense workers and invited observers had dwindled from a peak of 1,500 to about 600 and the military participants from 2,800 down to 1,800.

Even Val Peterson, head of the Federal Civil Defense Administration, said that if the shot didn't come off tomorrow, he would have to leave to attend a governors' convention in New York. Many other high Civil Defense officials, several governors and congressmen also hit the road for home.

The weathermen—and the Atomic Energy Commission claims it has some of the best—were guarded in their hopes. Something less than a 50-50 chance was seen. Dust storms swirled around the test town yesterday.

The main problem continues to be winds that might deposit radiation fall out on communities like Alamo (pop. about 1,000) and Elgin (pop. about 40).

Veterans Given Passports for Moscow Reunion

CHICAGO (AP)—Passports for 12 American veterans of the Elbe River meeting of U.S. and Russian troops have been cleared by the State Department for a reunion in Moscow, a spokesman for the group, said yesterday.

A State Department official in Washington confirmed the announcement made by the spokesman, Joseph Polowsky, 37, of Chicago. He made no further comment.

Polowsky is secretary of the American Veterans of the Elbe River link-up. They held a 10th anniversary reunion in Washington, April 25.

He said the group plans to be in Moscow for the 10th anniversary celebration of the Russian V-Day, May 9. Ten years ago he was Pvt. Polowsky, member of the patrol led by Lt. Albert L. Kotzebue, which crossed the Elbe at Stehla, Germany, to make the first contact of combat men between the two armies.

Polowsky's group will fly to Russia at the invitation of the Soviet Veterans of the Elbe River link-up.

After a three-hour going-over, this may explain why Dulles came out of the closed-door meeting looking like a whipped dog.

Advice on Health

Dietary Rules Important to New Mother

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Many mothers fail to nurse their babies because they believe they don't have enough milk.

In the vast majority of cases, this isn't true. Most of you new mothers can have enough milk to supply that lovable little tyke if you just follow a few simple rules. Most important of all, you must have a desire to nurse your baby.

Your diet, of course, is important, too. It should be appetizing, wholesome and nutritious. It must include milk, butter, eggs, fruits, vegetables, meat and whole-grain cereals.

You can eat any ordinary food that agrees with you and doesn't upset your baby. Now don't over-eat. Practice moderation. Liquids are also necessary. Drink about six glasses a day. Some mothers mistakenly believe that drinking beer will increase the amount of breast milk.

Take It Easy

The birth of your baby probably has left you in a weakened condition. So, take it easy.

If you're nervous, upset, over-tired or overworked, you may quickly lose your breast milk. Don't have too many visitors and don't begin your household chores or other activities until you are strong enough to do so. You'll probably have regained your strength by the time your baby is six weeks old.

You should be relieved of as much work as possible, especially during the first few weeks. Get your mother, mother-in-law, or somebody else you can trust in to help you. Get eight to ten hours sleep each night, a nap each day. You should also have plenty of fresh air and moderate exercise. I suggest you go out for short walks as quickly as your condition permits.

Insuring Adequate Supply

To insure an adequate milk supply, you must empty your breasts at each feeding. During the early days of life many babies are not strong enough to empty them completely. Unless the breasts are emptied, you defeat nature's way of producing milk.

Thus, you may have to empty your breasts by hand. This is usually begun after they are no longer swollen or tense.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

T.R.A.: I am 73 and seem to lose my balance frequently when I stand up after having been seated for a while. Is this a sign of something serious?

Answer: Staggering or loss of balance may be due to a number of conditions such as disturbance in the inner ear, or a nervous system disorder. Sometimes "conditions affecting the blood" may cause staggering. A careful study should be made by your doctor.

Kidnapers Get Life Sentences

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Two men, who kidnaped a California real estate man for $500,000 ransom that was never paid, both will get life sentences by order of the State Supreme Court.

The high court reversed a superior court judge in ordering the penalties for Harold Jackson, who had been sentenced to death, and Joseph Lear, who had been given a life sentence without possibility of parole.

A 4-3 decision by the Supreme Court held there was no evidence of bodily harm to the victim, Leonard Moskowitz, within the meaning of California's little Lindbergh law.

A jury decreed the death penalty for both Jackson and Lear. Superior Judge Twain Michelson later reduced Lear's sentence, but allowed Jackson's death sentence to stand.

100th Conference Of EUB Church To Start Monday

The Rev. Gordon Wendland, pastor, and Clarence Krenz, layman, of the Winona Evangelical United Brethren Church, will attend the 100th annual conference of the EUB at Grace Church, Minneapolis, Monday through Friday.

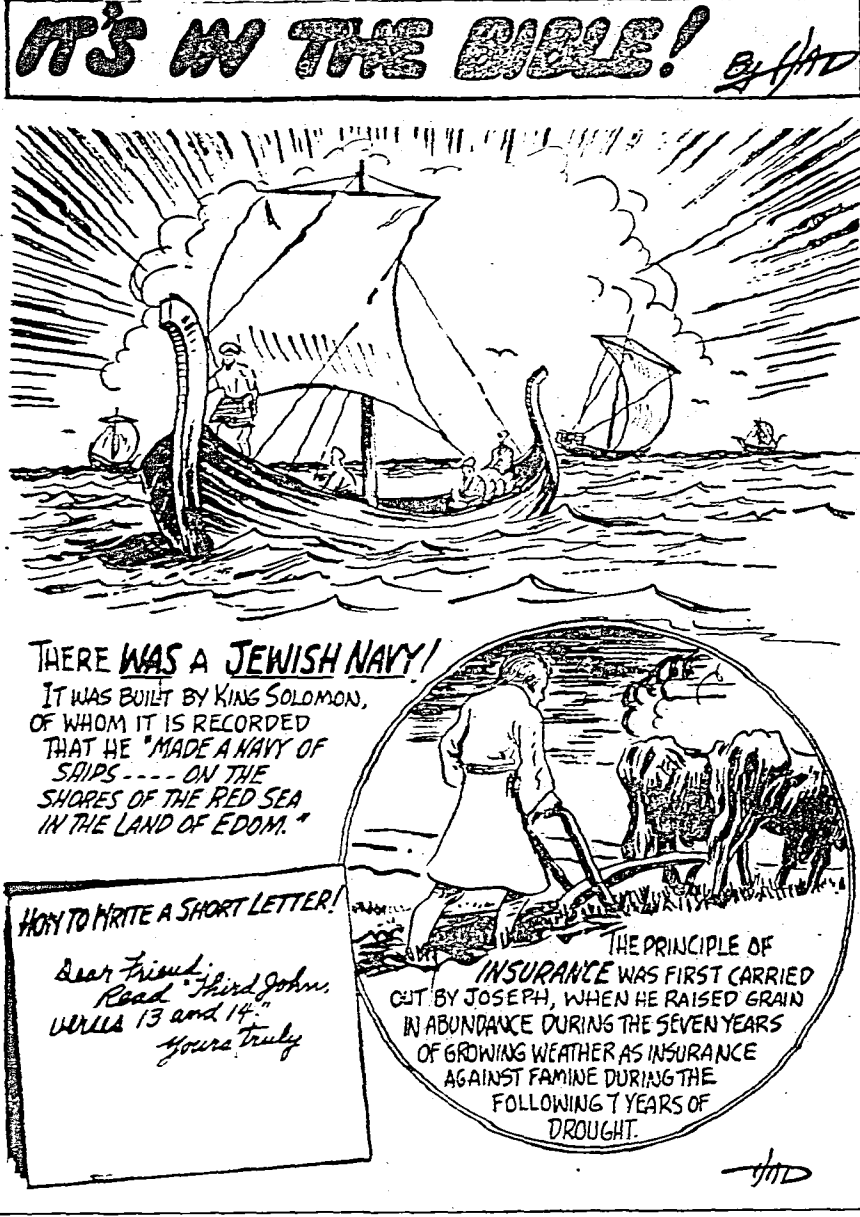

Bishop H. R. Heininger, newly elected head of the Northwestern area, will open the session at 7:45 p.m. Monday as celebrant of Holy Communion. There will be over 200 ministers as lay members of the annual conference at this service.

The centennial program will be emphasized Wednesday. It was 100 years ago that the pioneers of the EUB Church came into the Minnesota territory. During these 100 years the work of this church has been an integral part of the development of the state.

The first sermon by an EUB missionary in Minnesota, Bishop Heininger, was preached in the fall of 1854 by Rev. Edmund Clow at Pine Valley in Winona County. The first church was built at 11th and Pine, St. Paul, and was dedicated Oct. 11, 1857. Gov. Alexander Ramsey was among those who helped subscribe the $1,800 for the church.

The direct descendant of the Pine Street Church is First Evangelical United Brethren Church, located at Earl and Euclid in St. Paul. It has a membership of 500.

First report of the 1858 conference showed 201 members. This last year 1,127 members were received into the churches of the conference. The total membership is now over 15,000. There are 97 churches and 12 parsonages. The total valuation of church property stands at $4,280,837. There are 114 ministers. Of this number 76 are itinerant elders, 18 are superanated ministers. 2 are supernumerary ministers and 18 are probationers. There also are 10 ministerial students.

Rochester First Church was the site of the uniting conference in 1851 when the former Evangelical Conference and United Brethren in Christ Conference merged.

The centennial emphasis is to build for the future. In the next five years it is the action of this conference to raise $100,000 for new mission work in Minnesota.

Site of new mission project has been chosen in conjunction with the Department of Church Planning and Location of the Greater Minneapolis Council of Churches, and is to be in the area immediately adjacent to the Southdale Shopping Center in Richfield. The Dayton and Donaldson firms of Minneapolis will develop this $15,000,000 shopping center during 1955.

Dr. A. H. Doescher, executive secretary-treasurer, of the Board of Pensions of the EUB, will give the centennial address Wednesday evening. The Rev. O. E. Brunelle, chairman of the centennial committee, will preside.

Billy Graham Movie Set Here

The Rev. Billy Graham, nationally known evangelist and producer of the world's first Christian western film, "Mr. Texas," will be seen in another religious film, "Oiltown, U.S.A.," May 8 at Winona Senior High School auditorium.

The Rev. Layton Jackson, Grace Presbyterian Church, in charge of local arrangements for the showing, announced that the picture will begin at 8 p.m. with the doors of the auditorium opened at 7 p.m.

Graham's film features the evangelist as a kid member of a team in their citywide evangelistic crusade in Houston, Tex. Highlighting the film are scenes from the meeting in Rice Stadium where 60,000 gathered to hear Graham for one of the largest evangelistic meetings in American history.

Featured in the film are professional Hollywood players who have become Christians themselves, including Colleen Townsend Evans, Georgia Lee, Paul Power, Robert Clarke and the stars of "Mr. Texas," Red Harper and Cindy Walker. "Oiltown, U.S.A." is in natural color and is approximately 90 minutes in length.

The Rev. Mr. Jackson pointed out that there is no charge for admission, and that the 1,200 seats will be on a "first come" basis.

Young Episcopalians To Hold Conference

NORTHFIELD, Minn. —When the convention of Episcopal young churchmen meets Aug. 24-31 on the campus of Carleton College here, it will be the first time that national recognition will be given to the special needs and responsibilities of young working Episcopalians under 21.

A House of Young Laymen, made up exclusively of young people in this category, will have its own business sessions, running simultaneously with those of the House of High School Students and the House of College Students.

Original plans for such a three-house triennial convention were laid in September 1953, when 40 high school and college students representing the National Youth Commission of the Protestant Episcopal Church and the National Canterbury Association, an organization of Episcopal college students, met in Greenwich, Conn., to consider the future course of Episcopal youth work.

The Northfield conference will stimulate future parish programs for young working people. It also will offer to the youth in all three groups a forum for their ideas on religion, church and community life, love and marriage, vocations, and freedom and authority.

Approximately 600 young people and youth advisers are expected to attend.

Lutheran Pioneers Trains Organized At St. Martin's

St. Martin's Lutheran congregation will organize its boys and girls into Lutheran Pioneer Trains, it was announced today. The Lutheran Pioneer organization is national, with headquarters at Burlington, Wis.

Many Pioneer Trains are already in existence in both Wisconsin and Minnesota. The purpose of these organizations is to provide wholesome recreation, to impart useful knowledge under Christian influence and to assist the Christian home in bringing up children to lead a Christ-centered life. It is also designed to weld the youth of the church into one group.

Lutheran Pioneers are sponsored by the Lutheran Laymen's League of the parish. The boys' council consists of Walter Woeg, Arthur Bess, Kenneth Abraham, John Reinhard and Roy Kasten. The trainmaster is Roy Stuh and his assisting senior leaders are Oliver Oates, William Teegarden, Allyn Abraham, Robert Abraham and Edgar Fittell.

Outdoor hikes and overnight camping trips are planned for the immediate future for this organization.

The Lutheran Girl Pioneers are sponsored by the Sewing Circle of the parish. The Pioneer Girls' council consists of Otha Ziebell, Mrs. Elmer Stuh, Mrs. H. Backer, Mrs. Fred Burmeister and Mrs. Francis Ziemann. Leader is Mrs. Marvin Jacobs, with Mrs. William P. Theurer, Mrs. Ray Ames and Mrs. Kenneth McCready assisting her.

The girls are divided into three groups: Travelers, grades 2-4; Trail Blazers, grades 5-7, and Homesteaders, 8th grade and up. Programs have been planned for the first meetings. The boys are to meet Monday from 7 to 8:30 p.m., and the girls Tuesday from 4 to 5:30 p.m., both in the school auditorium.

David Sauer is the pastor's representative for both organizations.

By CATHERINE PLETKE

DARK skies, showers, cold wind and rough water over the weekend took some of the pleasure from "cruising down the river," but had little effect on the activity aboard Ol' Man River.

Though water in the pools created by dams 5 and 5A is at a low level for this time of year and heavy tows found the going slow, the closing of the gates last week and the holding back of water from the upper reaches of the Mississippi will presently make for easier navigation. So far this season towboats are bringing increasing tonnage up and down stream and need the deeper water to handle their loads. Pleasure boats also find the deeper pools easier to navigate and more scenic for their cruises on the river.

Late Saturday afternoon with a good wind blowing from upstream and Joe Hoffman's docks riding sizable waves, the Auxiliary Yawl Darja tied up to take on gasoline and supplies before proceeding on a weekend trip to Stillwater. The Darja, which was berthed in Lansing, Iowa, for the winter, was being brought upstream by her owner-builder, Jack Lown, of the drafting section of the engineering department, University of Minnesota. Skipper Lown took 10 years, from 1941 to 1951, to build and launch his sailing craft which is 45 feet long, berths 11 and carries two masts. The mainmast stands 52 feet off the water. A 125 h.p. motor supplies power for the vessel which thus far is without canvas. Lown plans to take the Darja to Stillwater where he will work with her this summer. Later he will take the craft to the Great Lakes to operate in open water under sail.

On the trip to Lansing, Lown and his nine man crew drove through Winona stopping here for dinner before going on to Iowa Friday evening. With him for the upstream run were Hans Kramers of Holland, Richard Melvin, methods engineer of Waterloo, Iowa; Capt. Bill Atkins, Northwest Airlines pilot, Minneapolis, and Dr. Robert Kurth, radiologist from the University of Minnesota Medical School. Capt. Atkins recently returned from Chicago where he explained the working of a plane crash-preventive light which is being patented by him.

After taking on supplies here the Darja, above, went beyond the highway bridge to one of the sheltered inlets to anchor overnight. Very early Sunday morning she had gone through locks 5A and 5 bound for Lake City where she planned to stop over Sunday night.

'KONTIKI' RETRIEVED

About the time our aforementioned vessel docked a careening dock-raft powered awkwardly by an outboard motor and manned by two high school rivermen, Jim Steiwang and Walt Hase, hove into the picture. "Kontiki," the raft, wove an erratic course upstream with catcalls and cheers from a levee-side crew of enthusiasts. By dark the project of setting the raft in near the foot of Olmstead street was still not completed. The raft had drifted downstream during the winter where it was caught and tied up near Mississippi Valley Public Service Co. power plant until Saturday.

A new visitor to this section of the river to tie up at the dock over the weekend was the powered houseboat, Mary Lee II, soon to be renamed the Pepsi II by owners Norman Gillette of La Crosse. This 55- by 16-foot all-steel houseboat has a spaciousness about it not found in much of modern shore living. The vessel, which sleeps 10 comfortably, has a main deck with lounge, bedroom dining-galley, shower and fore and aft decks. The second deck, a solarium, sleeps four and has a large sun deck to the stern. Aft these two decks is the pilot house complete with wheel, levers, gauges, intercom phone, wide glass expanses in every direction and large roomy davit-bed which will sleep two more aboard the boat. Mahogany paneling, baseboard thermostatically controlled heating and an abundance of closet and cupboard space are features of the interior. Two 90 h.p. Gray marine motors supply the power for the boat.

Radio, TV and plug-ins for shore communication from the deck are additional features. Aboard for this first cruise with the new owner who purchased the vessel in Lansing, Iowa, the latter part of February were Mr. and Mrs. Cy Gillette, two Gillette sons and guests who made the trip upriver to be met by car which carried another guest group who made the downriver trip Sunday afternoon.

Lock 5, Whitman, presented a picture of heavy traffic on the Mississippi Sunday afternoon as three towboats and their barges and a cruiser waited to go through the lock. Mid-afternoon found the J. W. Rose of the Rose Barge Co., Lamont, Ill., with three loads of gasoline and oil and two empty barges first to move through. This was the first St. Paul-bound trip for the Rose.

Waiting for the Rose to proceed upstream and the "Come ahead" signal was the Nita Dean of the Port of New Orleans, bound upriver with three loads of crude oil. Sunday's trip was a "first" for the season of the Nita Dean.

Third in order and waiting to get into the lock was the Mississippi Valley Barge Lines' Ernest T. Weir with 11 barge loads of coal and one of tinplate. Capt. John Van Hoesen, master, and Capt. Robert Richtmann of Fountain City found the traveling slow in the pools with their double lockage tow.

While the towboat lock operation was proceeding the cruiser, Martedo, owned until last week by Ted Maier of Winona, lay anchored near shore waiting her turn in the locks. Charles Clayton of Red Wing is the new owner of the Martedo and was taking her upstream in the heavy weather to her new home port.

'Tunes' Program Booked at Oaks

"Tunes for Treasure" will begin an engagement at the Oaks Monday.

Emcee Don Robey, a former bandleader, has been conducting the show throughout the country for 10 years.

The give-away audience participation show features such prizes as an aluminum boat, outboard motor and home freezer.

Prizes are given during every show to persons who are able to pick key words from song titles. Here's how it works:

The "Note-A-Belles" will play several songs and the audience attempts to select the key words from the titles in identifying a personality, place or event. If "HOT Lips," "It's the Talk of the TOWN," "SPRING Song" and "ARKANSAS Traveler" were played in a series to identify a place, the correct answer would be Hot Springs, Ark.

Robey has 3,750 different combinations that include about 14,000 songs.

The show has appeared on radio and television in addition to recent appearances of 16 weeks at the Shamrock Hotel, Houston; Jung Hotel, New Orleans, and the Last Frontier, Las Vegas.

Cleanup Can Remove Fire Hazards, Chief Witt Says

10 Check Points To Insure Safety Cited

But Improvement Project Dangerous If Done Improperly

The opportunity for Winona residents to clear their homes of fire hazards during the annual observance of Cleanup-Paintup-Fixup Week was cited today by Fire Chief Frank P. Witt.

Chief Witt urged householders during the spring cleanup campaign to be on the alert for the presence of potential fire-producers and to rid their homes and yards of trash piles, stored odds and ends and rubbish from which most home fires start.

Pointing out that four-fifths of all fatal fires start in the home, the fire chief emphasized that good housekeeping is one of the best ways to prevent both the start of the fire and its spread.

Dispose or Burn

"Real cleanup for safety," Chief Witt continued, "boils down to this: Either get rid of those extra articles around the house that burn so easily or keep on taking the long chance of living in the midst of such ideal fuel for fires."

The chief observed that even the cleanup project can be dangerous if not properly done.

He urged care, also, in the disposal of rubbish that has been cleared from the house and reviewed regulations governing the burning of trash in city limits.

Burning of rubbish can be done only between the hours of 5 and 8 p.m. and only in a suitable metal container.

The container, moreover, can be no nearer than 30 feet to any building.

The fire chief cited 10 steps in insuring home fire safety:

- Dispose of trash and rubbish regularly.
- Keep grounds around the house free of dead grass, weeds, trash and dried brush.
- Make sure that all dust mops are safely cared for and oily rags kept in a safe metal container.
- Keep home, tools, machinery, motors and appliances properly serviced and clean.
- Inspect gas boxes regularly and see that they are clean.
- Keep weathered surfaces inside and outside the house painted.
- Remove and replace old, rotted wood, fencing and roofing.
- Cooperate with charity drives for paper and trash, salvage cast-off clothing and furniture.

- Have chimney and heating systems cleaned and inspected at least once a year.
- When necessary invite the fire department to inspect the home and give advice on fire safety.

Proclamation

WHEREAS, the general health and welfare of our citizens depend upon wholesome surroundings arising from good clean living conditions, and

WHEREAS, the lives and property of our people are endangered by fire caused by the cluttered conditions in home, factories, alleys and streets, and

WHEREAS, unity of effort is required for the future development of our community,

THEREFORE, I, LOYDE E. PFEIFFER, MAYOR OF THE CITY OF WINONA, do hereby designate May 1 as official opening day of the CLEANUP-PAINTUP-FIXUP PROGRAM, and call upon all departments of the city, its commercial organizations, civic clubs, schools, churches, boys' and girls' clubs and all other associations and our people in general to take an active part in this constructive program for community improvement to insure success.

This the 29th day of April, 1955.

MAYOR LOYDE E. PFEIFFER,
City of Winona.

Health Aspects Of Drive Cited By City Official

Citywide participation in Cleanup-Paintup-Fixup Week will make Winona a more attractive, safe and healthful community in which to live, Dr. R. H. Wilson, city health officer, emphasized today.

Dr. Wilson pointed out that the removal of trash and rubbish from homes and property is a major factor in the elimination of disease-breeding areas.

"Accumulations of rubbish and waste materials constitute one of the greatest health hazards in any community," the health officer explained, "and everyone in the city should cooperate in improving sanitary conditions in the interest of good health."

The health officer asked that special efforts be made to remove litter that may have accumulated in recent months on empty lots and to burn or remove to the city dump all refuse that is found.

Cleanup-Paintup-Fixup week was designated this year by Mayor Loyde E. Pfeiffer as a part of a nationwide spring housecleaning program.

Divider Provides Book Storage, Reading Privacy

Do you like privacy when you read? Have you often wished for a small library, just large enough for your books, but just can't seem to spare the space?

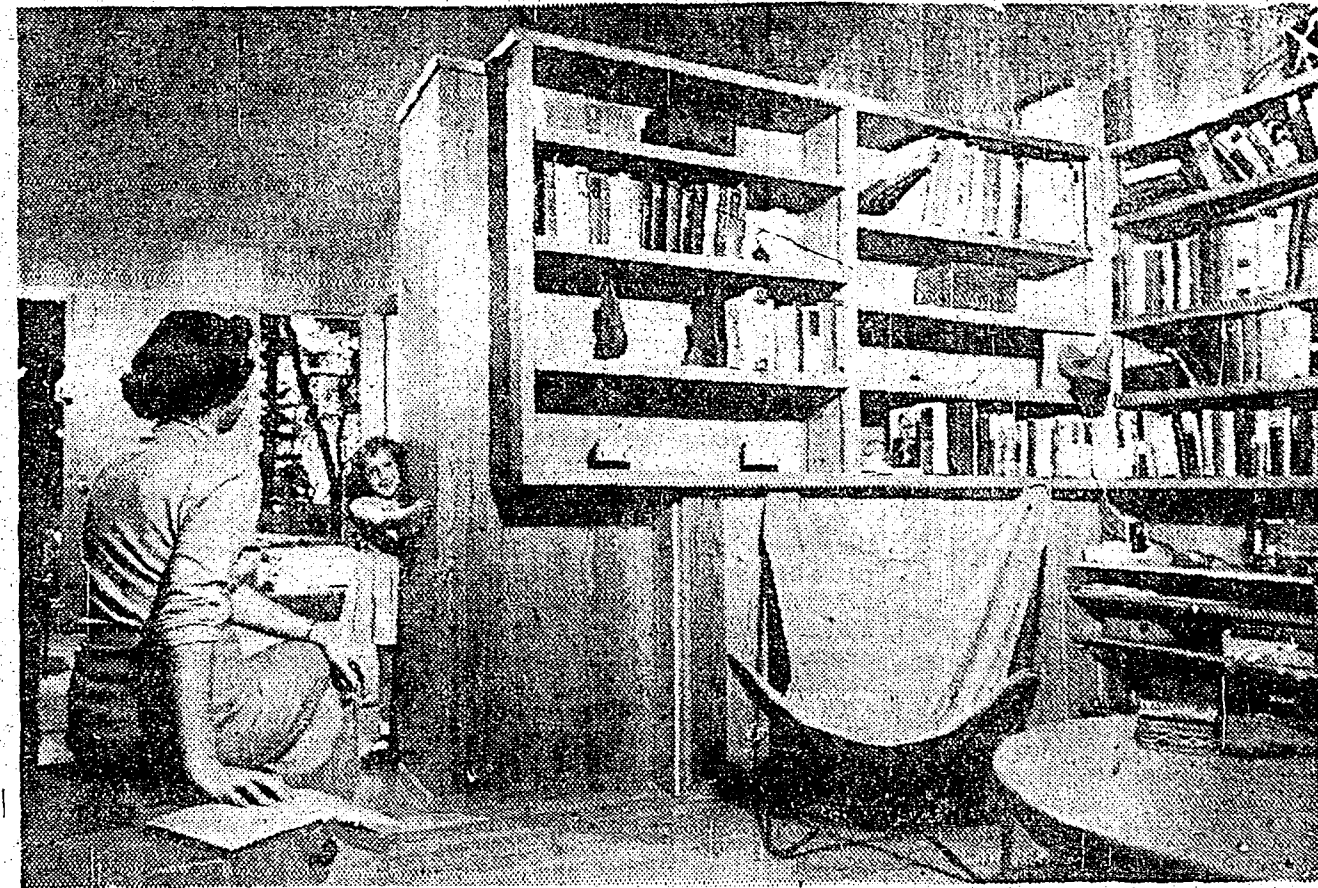

Some householders have solved this problem by building a 6-foot high dividing wall which doubles as a bookcase on one side. It can be located at one end of a large living area in the open-type homes or apartments. Book shelves can be placed on adjoining walls inside the library space created by the dividing wall.

By running this dividing wall up only 6 feet or so you get needed solitude, but you don't get that "closed in" feeling resulting when all four walls of a tiny space run full ceiling height.

This library corner can be a study haven for the children. They can even run a muted radio here without bothering other users of the adjoining family room.

Like many storage walls, this library divider can be a handy hiding place for some of the gadgets of contemporary living. Being tall and narrow, a compartment for storage of card tables, projection equipment and such trivia will fit like a dream.

These divider walls actually need only be deep enough to accommodate bookshelves, but you may care to widen them a bit more to absorb storage compartments on the opposite side from the bookshelves. The shelves may run from floor to top or you can build them down only half way from the top and build closed compartments below. On one wall, some people like a row of wider shelving built into the lower part which will handle typewriter, telephone, even a housekeeper's tiny office.

In Open Area Homes and apartments, books compartments for game tables fit into the dividing screen. Handy book shelves and even narrow

Here's Checklist For Store on 'Back Door' Test

Can your store or shop pass the "back door" test?

Is the rear entrance as neat and attractive as the front which you present to your customers? Or is it flanked by heaps of rubbish and litter?

There's a reason for asking this question, aside from any question of appearance, according to the National Board of Fire Underwriters. Rubbish and litter is a serious fire hazard. By allowing it to pile up, you are endangering your store.

Last year, the board reports, there were over 46,000 fires in mercantile establishments and over 23,000 in manufacturing plants in urban places. This week — Cleanup, Paintup, Fixup Week — is the perfect time to clean out all rubbish, inside and out, and to protect your shop further by observing the following safety precautions:

- Set up definite smoking areas, and strictly enforce "no smoking" wherever combustibles and other conditions make it dangerous.
- Keep aisles, entrances and exits clear at all times.
- Always store oily rags and other waste in approved metal waste cans. Empty them daily.
- Have your heating system checked regularly and cleaned once a year. Keep electric motors clean and well oiled.
- Be sure fuses are the proper size for the circuits they protect, and that all worn or frayed wiring is replaced at once.
- See that proper type fire extinguishers are handy. Have them inspected or recharged every year.
- Where sprinkler systems are installed, they should be kept free and unobstructed, valves open. Stock should be piled to leave 12 to 36 inches of clearance for sprinkler operation.

The Army advises GI's to avoid brain-washing by not getting captured. That's like telling a man to avoid divorce by not getting married.

Heating Equipment Causes 10 Per Cent Of U.S. Fire Loss

Fire records of the National Board of Fire Underwriters indicate that about 10 per cent of the total fire loss of the United States is due to fires caused by heating equipments, and that insufficient clearance to combustible materials is an important factor in a large percentage of these fires.

The need for adequate clearances is emphasized at periods of severe cold weather, when heating equipment is run at full capacity, by a marked increase in the number of such fires.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters warns that every device which gives off heat may be a source of fire hazard if combustible materials are not kept a sufficient distance from the device or are not so protected as to eliminate the possibility of their becoming ignited. The amount of clearance, or the amount of clearance in combination with whatever protection is provided with whatever protection is must be such that the temperature to which the combustible material will be raised will not exceed the safe temperature limit for that material.

$870,984,000—1-Year Fire Loss

Fire damaged or destroyed an estimated $870,984,000 worth of property in the United States last year, the National Board of Fire Underwriters has reported.

This is 3.6 per cent less than that for 1953, when estimated monthly losses totaled $903,400,000, which included one large industrial loss in August (1953).

According to Lewis A. Vincent, NBFU's general manager, estimated losses for December (1954) totaled $83,881,000, an increase of 36 per cent over losses of $61,663,000 reported for November (1954) and an increase also of 0.5 per cent over losses of $83,440,000 reported for December 1953.

These estimated insured losses include an allowance for uninsured and unreported losses.

Britain Still Faces Rail Strike Threat

LONDON (AP)—Britain still faces the threat of a nationwide railway strike at midnight Sunday.

All-day negotiations between the Ministry of Labor and the Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen failed Thursday to produce any agreement to prevent a stoppage of the government-owned railroads.

The engineers and firemen, 65,000 strong, are demanding an across-the-board increase amounting to $1.12 weekly in wages now averaging $27.30. Management has offered 76 cents.

No More Than 342 in State Got Cutter Vaccine

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—No more than 342 persons in Minnesota received Salk polio vaccine inoculations with the product supplied by Cutter Laboratories, Dr. Dean S. Fleming of the state health department said Friday.

Use of the vaccine produced by the California firm was suspended Wednesday after eight children inoculated with it contracted paralytic polio.

The only Cutter material delivered to Minnesota was for use by private doctors.

Dr. Fleming said enough was received in Minnesota for 1,272 individual shots. However, he figured all but enough to vaccinate 342 persons had been returned.

"We don't know whether 342 persons did get it," he said, "but the number is probably pretty close to that figure."

Dr. Fleming said apparently all the Cutter product was used by Twin City doctors, except for one outstate physician.

According to American Cancer Society statistics, of every four persons who get cancer, one will be saved, but three will die. One more could have been saved if the disease had been detected early enough.

What You Should Know About Trees

Practically every tree the urban dweller sees around him has been planted by someone. Valuable for ornamentation, trees also temper summer heat, filter dust and give pleasure to everyone. They serve to control traffic noises in cities and towns, and along highways. Trees surpass all other organic things in height, magnitude and longevity, according to the National Arborist Association. Literally nothing grows so high, wide and handsome. Their life may range from 40 to over 4,000 years. Numerous redwoods of California antedate the Christian era and they are still growing vigorously, according to the National Arborist Association.

To the average home owner, trees may bring beauty in the form of flowers and leaves, changing with the seasons, or they may be evergreen the year around. They also may bring delicious fruits to supplement the table which itself more often than not has been manufactured from a tree. Our houses and beds have been made from trees that once grew majestically in some far-off forest. Trees provide lumber, chemicals and recreation. Without them there would be little, if any wild life, no human life as we know it.

Inexpensive Addition

A tree may cost less than almost any standard piece of furniture — probably not more than two or three dollars for a small tree. If we are willing to wait for it to grow, and from 25 dollars upward for one that will provide immediate shade, depending upon its age and size.

The whole earth has been prospecting for trees that will grow in the United States. Some 850 different kinds now grow within our borders and serve us in many ways. Dwarf trees have been developed in order that we may pick delicious fruits without even using a step ladder, or for landscaping the low, ranch-type home. The Christmas tree, or coniferous evergreen, may be our favorite for all year green, as well as gay decoration in the holiday season. There are all sorts of trees for every purpose.

Consult with your local tree expert, nurseryman or state extension service as to the kind of trees for your particular purpose. Shade, fruit, foliage, evergreen quality, colorful foliage, or berries, either for ornamentation or economic value in producing food.

Here are some rules for tree maintenance:

1. Pruning — Most trees require periodical pruning in order that they will keep their shape. Dead limbs and branches also need to be removed. Small trees that can be reached by standing on the ground, or possibly on a stepladder may be pruned safely by the home owner. Pruning of large trees is dangerous, however, and is not recommended. Call in a local tree expert.

2. Spraying — A regular spraying program is advisable. For practical purposes, insect pests can be divided into two groups, including the chewing insects that eat the foliage or fruits, and the sucking insects which pierce the outer skin of foliage or fruit and suck out the juices. The former are controlled by spraying insect stomach poisons, and the latter by insecticides which kill insects on contact. Plant diseases also may be controlled by spraying. Some

Old age comes to trees like other living things. Their span of life is specific. Gray birch may be old at 40. The sugar maple may live to 500 years. Some oaks live to 1,500 years and some junipers to 2,000 years. Old trees like aged people have

Few Resist Temptation of Paint Brush

Countless householders today are breaking out paint brushes for a summer painting spree or they're engaging professionals.

Indoors and outdoors, young and old, men and women — color-conscious Americans again this year have their own "new look" program under way. Probably eighty per cent of the nation's homes will benefit to some degree from what seems to be an almost universal urge to wield a paint brush.

An annual event, this summer-time job, affair, with paint and paint brushes is big business. Home handymen spent more than half a billion dollars last year for these items, a large part of it during summer months.

To secure satisfactory results in all this painting, experts point out that proper application of any type of paint is absolutely essential. The importance of using the right paint brush for the job to be done is emphasized in "Care and Repair of the House," a National Bureau of Standards manual which may be purchased for 50 cents from the Government Printing Office, Washington, 25, D. C.

A basic set of five brushes is recommended by the bureau for ordinary household paint jobs.

Such a set would include: Sash brushes, probably 1 to 2 inches wide; 1 1/2- or 2-inch varnish brush; 2 1/2- to 3-inch varnish or enamel brush, and two wall brushes, probably 3 to five inches wide.

It is important that these brushes be cared for properly.

Pointing out that a paint brush should be treated with the same consideration as any other good tool, the Paint and Varnish Division of the American Brush Manufacturers Association lists the following tips for home handymen:

• Before using a new brush, tap bristles across edge of a board. Remove all loose bristles that appear at end of brush.

• Never stand brushes, wet or dry, on their bristles. If the bristles "set" in a curve, a brush's efficiency may be impaired.

• Don't permit paint to cover more than half the length of bristles when dipping brush in paint. Deeper dipping wastes paint and permits it to accumulate in heel of brush.

• When charging brush with paint, don't rub bristles over edge of container to remove excess paint. Instead, tap bristles lightly against inside of container.

• "Break in" new brushes on first coats. This will increase pliability and elasticity of bristles, actually improving quality of brush for later finishing coats.

• Always clean brushes after each use. Allowing them to stand loaded with paint or other finish makes eventual cleaning more difficult.

difficulties with respiration. Lack of water or food may cause the premature death of any tree. Fire likewise may destroy it, or some malicious person, deeply removing the bark completely around the trunk. Food is delivered to the tree through what is called the cambium layer, which comprises the inner bark. If anyone ever cuts completely around the trunk and you value your tree, it can only be saved by bridge "grafting" by a trained arborist, tree expert or other qualified person.

Not Given Brando Role, Sinatra Asks $500,000

NEW YORK (AP)—Crooner-actor Frank Sinatra is suing the producers of the prize-winning movie "On The Waterfront" for $500,000, charging they withheld on an oral agreement to give him the starring role.

At the same time, Sinatra is feuding with Ed Sullivan of the TV show "Toast of the Town." Sullivan yesterday denounced what he called Sinatra's "reckless charge" that he does not pay performers on his show.

Sinatra's suit, naming as defendants Samuel Spiegel, also known as S. P. Eagle, Horizon-American Corp., Horizon-American, Inc., and Horizon-American Pictures, Inc., came to light yesterday when the producers announced they would appeal from a court decision refusing to dismiss the complaint.

According to the papers filed in State Supreme Court, Sinatra and the producers entered into an oral agreement Oct. 22, 1953, under which Sinatra would get $55,000 and one per cent of net profits for playing the lead role in "On The Waterfront."

The papers charge the producers repudiated the agreement one day before Sinatra was to start work in the film.

The lead role in "On The Waterfront," went to Marlon Brando. Both the film and Brando won academy awards.

The feud between Sinatra and Sullivan apparently stems from the fact that Sullivan wanted to put on a 30-minute documentary showing production of Sam Goldwyn's picture "Guys and Dolls."

Sinatra offered to pay $32,000 to cover technical costs and invited Brando and Jean Simmons, key figures of the movie, to appear.

Sullivan said both Brando and Miss Simmons "were to be paid by me."

Shortly afterward, Sinatra called upon the Screen Actors Guild to clamp down on free appearances on commercial TV shows.

"I think a stand has to be made on these free appearances,"

Sinatra said. "It is not fair that I do a show for Sullivan with no pay."

In this week's Variety, entertainment trade newspaper, Sullivan took a page ad to hit what he called Sinatra's "reckless charge" that his show doesn't pay its performers.

"To date we have paid out over five million dollars in salaries and, incidentally, rendered substantial benefits to motion pictures, motion picture artists, studios and theater operators," Sullivan's ad said.

FHA 'Lending' Policy for Homes Detailed

Whether you are planning to build, buy, remodel or modernize a home, the question of financing is basic.

On this score, it is well to know the essential facts about the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) and just how it operates to help you achieve your objective.

The FHA does not lend money. It does not plan or build homes. You do not "get a loan from the FHA." What you get is a loan insured by the FHA.

The FHA functions as an insurance company, insuring mortgage and modernizing loans made by banks, savings and loan associations and other approved lending institutions. This protection enables the lending institution to make loans on more liberal terms than you could otherwise obtain.

FHA-insured mortgage loans can be for either new or existing construction. The property must be residential. The property must be in a residential zone and meet FHA requirements. The application for a loan is made through an approved lending institution.

Requirements Liberalized
The Housing Act of 1954 liberalized the down payment requirements. On new construction, for owner occupancy, the FHA can now insure a mortgage amounting to 95 per cent of the first $9,000 of the FHA-appraised valuation plus 75 per cent of the FHA-appraised valuation in excess of $9,000.

The highest mortgage on a one- or two-family house is $20,000. The prevailing interest rate is 4 1/2 per cent. The mortgage insurance premium is based on the rate of 1/2 of 1 per cent and is determined yearly on reduced balances.

On existing construction, the ratio of the loan is 90 per cent of the first $9,000 on the FHA appraised valuation, plus 75 per cent of the FHA appraised valuation in excess of $9,000. Compliance inspections are made by the FHA during the time of construction. Reports on the inspections are sent to the lending institution which advances the building loan accordingly.

The loan is repaid in equal monthly installments, similar to the payment of rent. Each installment includes taxes, interest, insurance and direct reduction of the principal. When the loan matures, the mortgage has been repaid in full and the property is held by the borrower free and clear.

This plan, geared to a small down payment, eliminates the necessity of second mortgages and saves the borrower the periodic need and expense of refinancing.

If you are planning to remodel, modernize, repair, decorate or otherwise enhance the livability of your home, an FHA-insured modernizing loan is available to you through most banks and other lending institutions. Included within the scope of these loans are such projects as finishing out an attic or basement, adding additional rooms, installing a heating or air conditioning system, modernizing a kitchen, putting in a new bath, a new stairway, new windows, porch or partitions or the erection of a garage.

FHA modernizing loans range from $100 to $2,500, and the maximum repayment period is 3 years and 32 days. Repayment is made in monthly installments. The government-fixed interest rate is 5 per cent, uniform throughout the country, deducted at the rate the loan is made. No mortgage is involved. There are no title examinations, extra charges or service fees.

You fill out a simple application form which is processed by the lending institution. Usually you get your check within a few days.

The Housing Act of 1954 provides for FHA-insured open-end mortgages by which the owner of a home with a government-insured mortgage may, wherever state laws permit, increase the unpaid balance of his loan to make needed repairs or improvements.

The payments on the increase are extended over the remaining term of the outstanding mortgage, and thus become much less burdensome to the borrower.

'54 Catastrophe Payments Setting New High Record

As a result of the widespread destruction caused by Hurricanes Carol, Edna and Hazel, insurance payments for catastrophes last year will total the highest ever made — exceeding even those for the San Francisco fire of 1906, when insurance companies paid about $220 million in claims, and the Great Storm of Nov. 25, 1950, resulting in $188 million.

Damage from Carol and Edna, which struck New England Aug. 31 and Sept. 11 respectively, will exceed $138 million and involve an estimated 745,000 claims, exclusive of automobile and marine losses. Damage from Hazel, which swept over 10 states from South Carolina to the Canadian border October 15, is expected to approximate that for Carol and Edna combined.

Immediately after each storm, the business mobilized all available manpower to start the flow of payments to insureds, who had sustained property damage. Adjusters were sent into the stricken areas from places as far distant as the Pacific Coast.

In terms of losses adjusted and property restored the fire insurance companies rendered more service to the public last year than ever before. It was an unprecedented year. With three hurricanes in six weeks putting serious burdens on company staff adjusters, company owned adjusting organizations, independent adjusters and agents, and brokers.

At year's end it was estimated that 80 per cent of all claims had been adjusted.

Singapore Harbor Employees Striking

SINGAPORE (AP) — Some 1,300 clerks and overseers employed by the Singapore Harbor Board went on strike at midnight paralyzing maritime traffic in this great Eastern port.

The strike came as 22 ships jammed the wharves without normal facilities for loading or unloading.

Employees are demanding overtime, fixed working hours, pension and bonus benefits.

Over 300,000 Grass, Brush Fires Yearly

More than one-third of this country's 900,000 fires reported yearly are grass and brush fires, according to the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

Over 320,000 such fires were recorded in urban areas in 1953, the most recent year for which statistics are available. That was a 12 per cent decrease from 1952.

Here are the best ways to cut down the number of grass and brush fires:

1. Never throw a lighted match or cigarette butt from a car window. Use the car ashtray.
2. If you are hunting, hiking, picnicking or otherwise enjoying the outdoors, be very careful when discarding matches and smoking materials. Be sure they are dead out. Do the same with any fire you may light for cooking or warmth.
3. If you must burn rubbish be sure your fire cannot get out of hand. Rake combustible material from a 3-foot strip around the fire. Have a pail of water or garden hose handy. Burn in a covered metal container. Don't burn when the wind is high.
4. If you own a field which you intend to burn over (although this is not recommended because the burning destroys valuable humus on top of the soil), take these precautions: Plow a firebreak at least 6 feet wide around the field to be burned. Avoid burning when there are high winds. Set the fire to burn against, rather than with the wind. Be sure the fire department is alerted before you start to burn.
5. Keep grass cut short near the house and any outbuildings, to minimize the danger of a grass fire if one should occur despite all precautions.

Ford to Spend $625 Millions For Expansion

NEW YORK (AP)—Henry Ford II, announcing a $625-million-dollar, three-year expansion program for the Ford Motor Co., says he favors a new kind of prosperity insurance for workers.

He told the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers Assn. last night that his company's spending plans for new plants and equipment means "we are building for the future every day."

Apparently with the proposed guaranteed annual wage in mind, he said the word "security" does not scare him and added:

"Perhaps what is needed is a new kind of prosperity insurance policy based on a reasonable, businesslike, pay-as-you-go plan, with limited and predictable costs."

In Detroit, Walter P. Reuther, CIO president and auto workers' head, said:

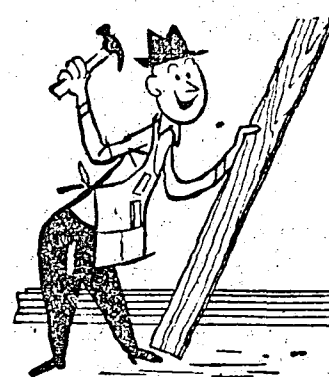

AP Newsfeatures

Spacious, This House is planned for expansive living. All rooms are over size. The study provides for a third bedroom until children grow up, then can revert to a library, music room or hobby room. The garage is readily expandable to a two-car capacity with porch enlarged accordingly. This is plan DA-1 designed by David J. Abrahams for the Architects' Home Plan Bureau, Box 141, Bethlehem, Conn. The house covers 1,945 square feet without garage and porch.

"We are prepared to discuss the soundness, the justice and the merits of our demands across the bargaining table. I hope Mr. Ford will meet his responsibility by participating in these negotiations... I hope Mr. Ford will join us at an early date."

"I, for one," Ford said, "am highly impatient with... some union leaders who stand resolutely against progress, who resist the introduction of new machines and methods, who seek to preserve obsolete trades and skills, who generally are wedded to the mean and miserly concept of a mature economy that's going nowhere—in short, the advocates of guaranteed annual stagnation."

Harriman Reassures Stevenson

By STEWART ALSOP

WASHINGTON — The relationship between Adlai Stevenson and New York's Gov. Averell Harriman is the most interesting personal equation in American politics today. Stevenson and Harriman are at one and the same time close personal friends and potential political rivals.

Harriman made his position entirely clear to Stevenson, before Stevenson left for his carefully timed sojourn in Africa. Harriman told Stevenson, in effect, not to worry about the nomination — if he wanted it, it was in the bag. All he had to do was to pass the word to five or six key men — including Harriman — and they would get behind him and push.

But this time, Harriman said, there could be no indefinite delay. This time, in Harriman's view, the problem is not the nomination but the election.

Start Building

Harriman strongly believes that the notion that Eisenhower is unbeatable is a myth. But he also believes, and has so counseled Stevenson, that in order to beat Eisenhower, Stevenson has got to start building for election day, not just after the convention next year, but almost right away. Harriman has also been completely frank with Stevenson about his own role — he is a Stevenson man all the way if Stevenson wants the nomination, but if Stevenson does not, he will try for it himself.

The implication of all this is plain. At some unspecified point, if Stevenson does not pass the word, Harriman himself will "go."

Point of Decision

Just when the point of decision will come is uncertain. But it could come rather soon. DeSapio reportedly favors starting quietly to build a Harriman organization by early autumn, if Stevenson does not pass the word before then. Meanwhile, DeSapio is keeping open his lines of communication to such key figures in the party as Mayor David Lawrence, of Pittsburgh, and Sen. Earle Clements, of Kentucky, who has the role of honest broker between the northern and southern wings of the party.

Thus — provided Stevenson does not let it be known that he is available fairly soon after he returns — Harriman must be taken seriously as a possible contender. Already, he is certainly being taken a lot more seriously than in 1952, when he first tried for the nomination, and did surprisingly well.

The simple fact of being governor of New York has added a cubit or so to his political stature. So has publication of the Yalta papers, which show him in an admirable light — there is a certain irony in the fact that the only man to benefit politically from the Yalta papers is a New Deal Democrat. Those close to him say that being elected governor of the biggest state has also done something to Harriman. His old defiance is gone, he has discovered in himself a natural bent for politics, and he is immensely enjoying his job.

Usually Succeeds
Harriman is an essentially uncomplicated man. When he wants something he goes to work to get it — and usually succeeds. Thus his advice to Stevenson, to nail down the nomination and start right away working to win the election, is perfectly in character. It is precisely what Harriman would do in Stevenson's position. Indeed, if it were not for Stevenson, his friends believe that Harriman would be out beating the bushes for support right now.

But Stevenson is a much more complex character. Those who know him well believe that he really wanted the nomination very badly last year — or at least that he very badly wanted to be sure that he could have it if he wanted it. Then the election by a smashing majority of his friend and protégé, Paul Butler, as chairman of the Democratic National Committee, proved to Stevenson that he could have the nomination by lifting a finger. At this point — or so friends of his believe — he began asking himself, in his introspective, Wilsonian way, whether he really wanted to run after all.

Harriman May Try
If Stevenson continues to ask himself this question without coming up with a positive answer, the odds are that Harriman, perhaps even with Stevenson's blessing, will make the try. With New York's huge bloc of delegate votes going to Harriman instead of Stevenson, Stevenson might then fail of nomination on the early ballot — and a front runner must win early or not at all.

Yet there are those who believe that a Harriman candidacy is just what Stevenson needs to counter the nomination. According to this reasoning, the southerners and conservatives distrust Harriman's views and would therefore flock to Stevenson. Obviously it is much too early to predict the effect of a Harriman candidacy. But at least it will be interesting to watch the relationship between these two remarkable men, as it develops in the months to come.

HOMEMAKERS CLUB
BLAIR, Wis. (Special)— Mrs. Basil Arneson will be the hostess for the Brookside Homemakers Club meeting Wednesday. The hostess will present the lesson on matting and mounting of pictures. The program for the new year will be planned at this meeting. Following the meeting a potluck lunch will be served.

'Peacemaker' Is Beaten to Death

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—A man who tried to intervene in a fight between two teenagers was beaten to death last night. County patrolmen said they picked up Raymond Lloyd, 17, and Donald Patrick Bolena, 18, for investigation. The dead man was identified as Albert King, 29. The patrolmen said witnesses told them Lloyd and Bolena were fighting over a girl on a street corner. King came along and tried to separate them, and that one of the youths picked up a chair and struck him with it.

FROM FLORIDA
ETTRICK, Wis. (Special)—Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Wiley, Galesville, arrived Tuesday at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Runnestrand, from Florida. The Wileys went to Florida in January where Mr. Wiley had a position teaching in a ranch school near Miami. Starting their return trip March 1, the Wileys toured the state of Florida, and en route home they camped in state parks in Alabama, Tennessee and Kentucky, and visited relatives and friends in Indiana and Illinois.

UAW Will Put Wage Pressure On Ford First

DETROIT (AP)—Ford Motor Co. appeared marked today to be the first of the nation's Big Three auto makers pressed for a guaranteed annual wage by the CIO United Auto Workers.

Evidence that union leaders privately have singled out Ford for a showdown fight on the year-around pay issue mounted when the UAW notified General Motors Corp. yesterday it will end their five-year contract June 7 instead of May 23.

The move leaves the Ford pact first to expire in the automotive industry — June 1. The Chrysler-UAW agreement doesn't end until August.

Also seen as meaningful was the fact that Walter P. Reuther, UAW and CIO president, entered the Ford negotiations with the UAW on annual wage talks yesterday. It was Reuther's first appearance in current negotiations with Ford and GM.

Another important factor is that union dues are deducted by the company from the workers' pay the first week of the month. If the union had no contract with GM the first week in June it might not be able to collect some $2½ million dollars in dues.

Experts have said the cost of a strike on the guaranteed annual wage issue, if it comes, has figured in union policy planning. A Ford strike would involve 140,000 workers. GM has 325,000 hourly rated employees.

Canada Building New Atomic Reactor

CHALK RIVER, Ont. (AP)—A huge brick and steel structure nearing completion on the banks of the Ottawa River will house a new atomic energy reactor.

The 145-foot-high research center will dwarf most of the other 150 buildings on the project operated by Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., a government company. The building and reactor—a 40 million dollar undertaking—are being put together with all the accuracy that goes into construction of a battleship.

Essentially a research tool, the new reactor is called NRU. It will be more powerful and modern than Canada's NRX reactor, which has been in operation here since 1947. When NRU goes to work in June, 1956, Canada's facilities for atomic energy research will be among the finest in the world.

NRU will enable scientists to conduct new research into methods of using atomic energy for peaceful purposes, especially in the field of industrial power.

Modern Boat Planned For Niagara Tourists

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (AP)—One new boat will be bought to replace the two Maid of the Mist steam boats damaged by fire last week.

The Maid Steamboat Co. said it hoped to have a modern, steel vessel on the Niagara River sometime in June, to run tourists to the base of Niagara Falls. If the tourists like it, the company will buy another, it said.

A plan to rebuild the old boats was scrapped. They were in dry dock when fire broke out on one and spread to the other.

S. Korea Paper Criticizes Ike For His 'Naivete'

SEOUL (AP)—The semi-official Korean Republic said today President Eisenhower has shown "surprising naivete" and said he "seems to have gone too far in his quest of peace."

The newspaper, subsidized by the government of President Syngman Rhee, criticized both Eisenhower's willingness for cease-fire talks with Red China and his exchange of letters with Soviet Defense Minister Georgi Zhukov.

"It almost appears as if preoccupation with the avoidance of war had affected his usually good judgment," the newspaper said.

"In the last few days," it said, Eisenhower has "contradicted his own State Department, evoked sharp criticism from congressional circles and displayed surprising naivete about an exchange of letters with Marshal Zhukov."

(The paper's reference to the State Department was to a statement issued by Undersecretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr. on Saturday which ruled out any discussion with the Chinese Reds unless the Chinese Nationalists participated.)

Show-After-Show Put on for Princess Margaret

LONDON (AP)—The cast of the all-Negro musical "Jazz Train," financed by 65 U. S. Air Force officers, gave a show-after-the-show Thursday night for Princess Margaret.

At the regular performance, the princess noticed omission of one scene mentioned by critics after the show's first night.

Director Mervyn Jones explained that the scene — excerpts from "Carmen Jones," "Blackbirds" and "Porgy and Bess" — had been cut because "Jazz Train" was running too long.

"But if you would like to stay, we'll put it on for you," he offered.

Margaret stayed — along with her escort Mark Bonham-Carter, the Hon. Dominic Elliot and Lady Elizabeth Cavendish. All four applauded vigorously.

Still Busy In His Small shoe repair shop at 719 E. Wabasha St., despite his 84 years is Ignatz Rudnik, a native of Poland who has worked continuously since coming to Winona in 1893. Rudnik, who finds that his business is decreasing and that his eyesight is failing a bit, has decided to sell his shoe repair equipment and spend his time fishing. (Daily News photo)

But Quitting Soon

At 84, He's Still Repairing Shoes

Two important decisions Ignatz Rudnik made in 1892 provided the 84-year-old Winonan with a long and happy life here.

He was only 21 when he decided to marry Miss Valentina Korstuck during the time he was serving with the army in his native Poland. Called with other young men for a year's testing period, Rudnik considered himself fortunate in that he was not accepted for additional duty and decided to bring his young wife to the United States.

In Poland he had been employed as a stock man — "taking care of the hogs" as he explained in Polish — but he was anxious to better himself. Arriving in this country the couple settled in St. Paul, where Rudnik went from house to house cutting wood.

Hears of Winona

Still anxious to improve his position, Rudnik decided he would try Winona, where he had heard of the employment opportunities. He liked the city and has remained here ever since, although his occupations have ranged from carrying mud for plastering work to repairing shoes.

Now, just about three months past his 84th birthday, Rudnik has decided that he has worked long enough, and is selling his shoe repair equipment.

He said that slowing of business and failing eyesight prompted his decision — not just the fact that he is over 80.

Born in Kosciierzyna, Poland, Feb. 1, 1871, Rudnik has operated a shoe repair shop in Winona's East End for more than 30 years — at 153 Mankato Ave. and in the small shop he built near his present home at 719 E. Wabasha St. Before that, however, he was employed in Winona's lumber yards, fired boilers and was employed for a number of years in a machine shop.

As He Needs It

He learned the English language as he needed it, in whatever line of work he was employed, but still finds difficulty even in describing the shoe repair equipment he has for sale. Among the pieces of equipment are a sewing machine, a sole stitcher, motor-driven finisher, shoe stretchers, nail trays, leather, nails, heels and soles and in Rudnik's words, "Everything you need for fixing shoes."

His lack of ability in the English language, however, has in no way prevented him from leading a happy life in Winona. His many friends know him as a skilled workman and he raised a family of eight children, six of whom are still living. None of them reside in Winona.

A Polish Neighbor

Another native of Poland, Mrs. Thomas Bronk, 706 E. 5th St., assisted in the interview. She learned that her hometown was only a few miles from Rudnik's birthplace.

Now that Rudnik has decided to retire, he can look back to 1892 to the two decisions that he made in that year with pride. Although he will be "out of work" for the first time since coming to America, he still has his wife, a comfortable home and freedom to do exactly as he likes.

Here's Design For Vegetable, Fruit Container

By AP NEWSFEATURES

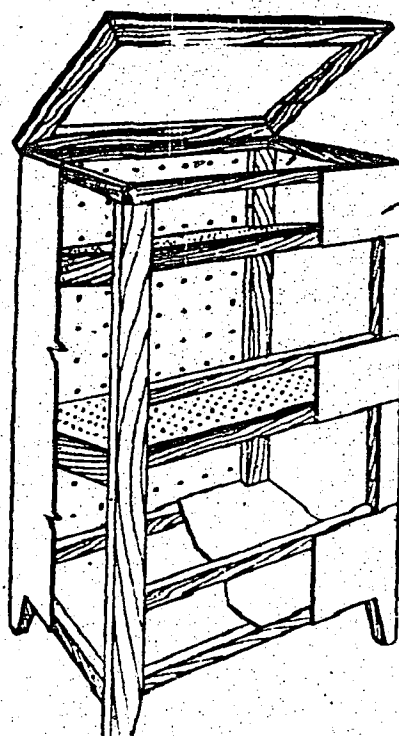

There's no use making a very original remark about bananas in the icebox if you have no other place to put them. Fruit and vegetable storage is a problem in most homes.

Here is a table-height bin for temporary storage on such perishables. You can make it yourself out of 1- by 2-inch lumber strips and sheets of 3/4-inch tempered hardboard. A hinged cover provides extra work surface.

The top and center shelves slant backward to keep potatoes, dried onions, oranges, lemons and bananas from rolling out. The bottom shelf is flat.

Each of the shelves and the back are perforated for ventilation. Lumber dealers have perforated hardboard for this purpose to spare you from boring holes in regular pressed wood panels.

The lumber strips used for the framework serve also, as legs. Casters can be easily attached if you want to move the bin around. The smooth hardboard surface can be attractively painted to match any color.

Ventilated vegetable and fruit bin — a cutaway view showing construction.

Chicago is an Indian word meaning "wild onion place," one of hundreds of Indian names for U. S. cities, says the National Geographic Society.

Commencement exercises will

Peds, Paul Tip Carleton 3-1

By BOB ZIEBELL
Daily News Sports Writer

The Winona State Warriors romped to victory No. 5 against two losses Friday afternoon at Jefferson Field as they defeated a strong and determined Carleton nine 3-2.

Lee Paul gained the victory for the Warriors as he pitched three-hit ball while striking out 15 men in eight and two-thirds innings. Paul gave up his only run in the ninth when a hit batsman and a wild pitch got him in trouble. Jack McGrath pitched to the last man and ended the game with a strikeout.

The Warriors put together three hits and two Carleton errors in the second inning to produce all their runs.

Pete Polus led off with a single and Evan Davies lived on an error to put men on first and second with none out. Jim Miner singled to score Polus and Davies went to second. The Warriors pulled a double steal and catcher Jay Weisman of Carleton threw the ball into center field to allow Davies to score and Miner to advance to third.

After Jim Sendelbach struck out, Frank Jaszewski rapped a single to score Miner, and Paul hit into a double play to end the inning and any further Warrior threat.

Laurie Slocum, who went all the way on the mound for Carleton and struck out 11, while giving up only one walk, allowed only three scattered hits the rest of the way. Miner and Jaszewski each collected one more, and Art Nardello hit a pinch-hit single.

Paul had 11 strike outs after the first five innings of play, and struck out the side in the seventh. He added one more in the ninth for his 15 strikeout out-pitch. He walked only three men in his stint on the mound and gave up three scattered hits.

Brad Steinberg led off with a single for Carleton in the ninth inning. Paul hit the next batter, Pete Duecker, and men were on first and second with none out. Ted Smebakken got on by a fielders' choice when the Warriors forced Duecker at second for the first out, but Paul tossed a wild pitch to the next batter, Bill Kelly, and Steinberg scored from third and Smebakken advanced.

Paul settled down to strike out Kelly, but walked the next man, so Coach Luther McCown elected to let Jack McGrath put out the fire. Carleton used pinch-hitter Bill Sanford, and McGrath struck him out on four pitches to end the game.

Each team pulled off a double play during the encounter. Carleton ended the threat in the second inning with a Slocum to Johnny Johns to Duecker combination, and the Warriors came through in the eighth inning with the play going from Miner to Dick Beberg to Bill Wiczorek.

The Warriors will swing into conference action in a double-header affair next Wednesday afternoon when they meet the Mankato State Indians. The Indians are expected to give the Warriors their chief competition for a title in the Bi-State Conference.

Iowa won its first game of the year and Minnesota lost its initial start as the Hawkeyes rallied late in the contest for a 7-3 triumph.

Shantz Blanks Yankees

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Pull up a chair and get yourself comfortable, pal, what looked like the same old three-team race in the American League may get to be quite a brawl what with Bobby Shantz back at last and the Detroit Tigers on the prowl again for the first time since 1950.

Shantz, the little fella who's had his arm in hock for two years, checked in again last night with the Kansas City Athletics, knocking the New York Yankees for a loop with a dandy three-hitter 6-0.

Cleveland's defending champion Indians discovered it was a brand new season as their pitching again went out the window and Baltimore grabbed its very first victory at Municipal Stadium 5-2.

Chicago was the only touted pennant contender to win yesterday, taking second place as rookie Dick Donovan four-hit Boston 7-0.

In the National only two games were played.

Philadelphia joined Milwaukee in second place 4½ games behind the Braves by clubbing the Braves 13-4. Cincinnati clipped Pittsburgh 5-0.

Shantz stood the Yanks on their ears. The 5-6½ southpaw granted the Bombers just three singles in pitching his first shutout since Sept. 19, 1952 when he blanked the Yankees 2-0.

It was the first complete game since July 26, 1953 for Shantz, who sat out 1954 when his arm went dead in the season opener. He's 1-3 for the season.

Detroit jammed across three runs in the sixth to dump Washington, as rookie Frank Larry spaced eight Senators hits. Ray Boone's leadoff homer, Larry Pope's fly double and Harvey Kuen's single wrapped it up for the Tigers.

Four runs in the ninth won for Baltimore, shelling Mike Garcia out of the game and into his third defeat against one triumph. Gene Woodling's leadoff double and four singles broke it up in the ninth.

The Phils jumped all over Warren Spahn, Ray Crone and Ernie Johnson for six runs in the fifth. Del Ennis got Herm Wehmeier off to a 2-0 lead in the first with a home run and the veteran right-hander took it from there, allowing only four hits. One was a solo homer by Bobby Thomson. Another was a bases-loaded triple by Andy Pafko in the ninth.

three more in the seventh, two of them after two straight wild pitches by Vargas.

Braves Score 3

The Braves finally rose for a moment of glory in the eighth and picked up three runs.

The Winona High cindermen hit the winning trail for the first time this season as they defeated Lake City and Plainview in a triangular meet held at Jefferson Field Friday afternoon.

The Hawks outdistanced their opponents with 94 points to 38 for Lake City and seven for Plainview.

Bob Kosidowski chalked up a triple victory for the Winhawks on firsts in the 100, 200, and broad jump.

Art Sagen won both the shot put and the discus. Kosidowski and Sagen were the only Hawks to garner more than one victory.

In two events, the 880 and the broad jump, the Hawks took all places. Dick Anderson in the 880 cut off a second and a half from the previous meet with a 2:07.5.

Behind Anderson in the 880 were Bill Olson, Ken Braatz and Bill Goodred. Glen Johnson, Dave Hamman and Allyn Burt finished behind Kosidowski in the broad jump.

Johnson took the mile run, Melvin Aves won the 440, Wilton Berg the 160-yard low hurdles, and Don Schwab tied for first place in the high jump. The Winona relay team, composed of Johnson, Sagen, Kosidowski and Gaylord Aldinger romped to a first in that event.

Johnson turned in a time of 5:06.5 in the mile for his best effort of the year.

County Board To Open Bids

A series of bid openings and one school petition hearing are thus far on tap for the Winona County Board of Commissioners, when it convenes in its May session Monday at 1:30 p. m. at the courthouse.

County Auditor Richard Schoonover will receive bids on three federal aid road projects at 2 p. m. Monday. Proposals have been sought for:

● SAR 11 southward from the south limits of Lewiston, requiring 10,534 cubic yards of crushed rock base in place and 52,609 gallons of bituminous material.

● SAR 1 eastward from a point two miles east of Ridgeway, 30,327 cubic yards of excavation, 4,179 cubic yards of shale sub-base and 2,041 cubic yards of crushed rock wearing course in place.

● SAR 18 between a point one-half mile east of the junction with Highway 74 south of St. Charles and the junction with CAR 129, requiring 69,850 cubic yards of excavation and 6,488 cubic yards of crushed rock wearing course in place.

Also slated for 2 p. m. is a hearing on a petition from the school board in Olmsted County Common district 110, asking that the district be dissolved and attached to district 60 at St. Charles.

On Tuesday's agenda are three bid openings — all set for 10 a. m. To be received are proposals on:

● 20,000 cubic yards of crushed rock for maintenance and construction by the county highway department.

● Sale of one 15-by 36-inch Diamond primary rock crusher.

● Sale of one Badger secondary crushing and screening plant with 24-by 16-inch rolls.

Schoonover said today that several firms have indicated an interest in purchasing the two rock processing units.

DENNIS THE MENACE

"I WAS LOOKIN' FOR MY FROG. DO YOU WANT ME TO HELP YOU LOOK FOR THE BURGLAR?"

LAFF-A-DAY

"Good morning, folks! Made up your minds yet?"

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGUM, D. Sc.

1. HAVE "LABOR-SAVING" DEVICES REALLY SAVED HOUSEWIVES AND MOTHERS ANY LABOR? YES ☐ NO ☐ 4-30

Answer to Question No. 1
1. Doubtful. Lester David in "This Week" shows that the average mother with three children is on the job in one way or another 100 hours a week. Two surveys find the average wife actually works 58 to 63 hours weekly, while miners work 34; salesgirls, 35; office workers, 36; factory workers, 40; farmers, 53; domestic servants, 58; mothers, 100. "A day off each week for Mother," says Mr. David.
Answer to Question No. 2
2. What the heck are autistic movements? As explained by psychologist S. Plutchick, they are restless, meaningless, nonconscious gestures—crossing and recrossing your legs, twiddling fingers, rubbing your face, etc. To a psychologist they reveal inner mental and emotional tensions and important traits of personality. The cure is told in our booklet, "How To Relax," the work of Dr. E. Jacobson. Nonprofit, 15c (coin only) and self-addressed, stamped envelope. Send to Dr. A. E. Wiggum, care of The Winona Daily News.

Answer to Question No. 3
3. Psychologist Vita Krall compared the traits, as evidenced in playing with dolls, of 32 accident-repeating children with those of 32 accident-free children, all age five to eight. Accident repeaters were more aggressive, scolded dolls more—but punished less. They tended slightly to give more commands and imposed more prohibitions, but they also showed more affection and desire for affection. A slightly greater number of repeaters were from broken homes and large families.
