Nurse Killed in Mankato Crash

Two Dogs Live Through Blast in Concrete Shelter

Prove Man Can Successfully Survive Atomic Attack

By BILL BECKER
SURVIVAL CITY, Nev. (AP)—Man-made steel, concrete and earth shelters may be the only solid defensive answer to man's most terrifying weapons, atomic and thermonuclear bombs.

That appears today to be the foremost tangible result of Operation Cue, the major Civil Defense test, and allied military experiments in Thursday's powerful atomic shot.

Two dogs in a concrete bathroom shelter lived through the blast that leveled the rest of one house "a mile from Ground Zero. Mannequins in shelters in another shredded house were unaffected.

And the commander of Task Force Razor, the tank group which rode out the blast in 35 tanks of 3,100 yards, said they might have been twice as close without danger.

Could Move Closer
"I believe we could move them in to 2,000 yards, and some of our people say 1,500," declared Lt. Col. John G. Wheelock of Saginaw, Mich.

Fifteen hundred yards is closer than the first row of houses in Operation Cue.

Moreover, scores of test dogs, rats, rabbits, guinea pigs and mice survived the blast in shelters, both surface and underground, from 1,050 to 2,750 feet. R. L. Corsbie, director of civil effects tests for the Atomic Energy Commission, said 24 hours later, "I doubt that any were killed."

Civil Defense heads were encouraged by the fact that two concrete block type houses withstood only their windows and doors failed to hold.

Weapons Studied
Some of the weapons the military uses may prove useful in helping civilians survive.

Army tank experts have suggested that tanks and the other big, track-laying vehicles like armored personnel carriers, would be valuable in helping remove civilians from a bombed city.

Very clear was the need for protection in homes from flying glass and other debris. Even in homes that withstood the awful blast, mannequins, draperies and walls were riddled or pitted by shivers of glass, and floors were covered with a carpet of glass pellets.

Shelters, or possibly ducking in to some protected corner, could answer this threat.

St. Paul Market Manager Reports $500 Robbery

ST. PAUL (AP)—A supermarket manager reported Friday night he was forced to return to his store and open the safe by a bandit who hid in the back of his car at closing time. Loot was set at more than $500.

George Christianson said he had closed the National Tea store at 1074 Grand and started for his New Brighton home about 9:30 p. m. when "somebody pressed something hard against my head" as he drove near Lexington and University.

Christianson said he was ordered to return to the store and open the safe. The manager handed the intruder an envelope containing the currency and fled.

Russia Annuls Friendship Treaty

MOSCOW (AP)—The Presidium of the Supreme Soviet today annulled the British Soviet friendship treaty of 1942 and the French Soviet treaty of 1944.

The Presidium acted on the basis of a recommendation from Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov.

It was done because Britain and France ratified the Paris agreement providing for re-armament of Western Germany, which the Soviet Union claims makes the friendship treaties ineffective.

Ex-Minneapolis Ad Man Sentenced

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Edwin R. Dean, 69, former Minneapolis advertising man, was sentenced to three years in prison and fined $2,500 late Friday for federal income tax evasion.

Judge Robert C. Bell granted a 60-day stay of execution so Dean could put business affairs in order. Dean was accused of understating his 1948-50 income by $29,376 with resultant loss to the government of $7,761 in taxes.

Eisenhower Helps Dedicate New Temple

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower helped dedicate a new Hebrew temple last night and spoke from the pulpit of each American's responsibility to protect the spiritual rights of all.

Mounting the pulpit of the Washington Hebrew congregation's new temple, Eisenhower spoke to 2,200 persons about those spiritual rights which he said are enunciated in the Declaration of Independence.

"It is not enough to know that God gave these rights to you and to your neighbor," Eisenhower said. "It is well to remember this also: You may not protect those rights only for yourself. You must protect them for all, or your own will be lost."

The President spoke after the regular sabbath evening service during which he joined in responsive prayer reading and listened with interest to the singing of Hebrew hymns.

Eisenhower, a Presbyterian, called his attendance at the service a natural thing for him to do, even though it involved a faith other than his own.

Iowa Youngsters Get Right to 'Shoot'

DES MOINES (AP)—Gov. Leo Hoegh has signed a bill to make it legal for youngsters to play with toy guns and shoot caps. The bill will take effect July 4.

For more than 40 years, toy pistols and caps have been "against the law" in Iowa.

Surviving Siamese Twin Seriously Ill

CHICAGO (AP)—Rodney Brodie, who made medical history 2 1/2 years ago by becoming the first head-joined Siamese twin to survive separation in grave condition following an unexpected setback.

University of Illinois Research Hospital said the famous 3 1/2-year-old boy has a brain hemorrhage which doctors are unable to check.

Rodney has been in a coma since early yesterday.

Doctors say there is no apparent injury to Rodney's brain, which has been without a hard covering, and that they have been unable to determine the cause of the bleeding.

The youngster, who had been living a normal life at his family's Ferris, Ill., farm home, was returned to the hospital Tuesday after his parents noticed he had become lethargic and did not run and play as usual.

Surgeons discovered the internal bleeding in an exploratory operation Thursday, but the setback was not made public until last night.

Rodney and his twin brother, Roger, were born Sept. 16, 1951. They were parted in a 12-hour, 40-minute operation when they were 14 months old, Dec. 17, 1952. The tots had a common sagittal

Halt to All Polio Vaccinations Asked

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government today urged that all polio vaccination programs be halted until it can report Sunday whether, in its view, present supplies of the Salk vaccine are safe.

Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele made this announcement early today, several hours after a six-man medical panel completed a two-day study of the way in which the serum is manufactured and tested.

Mrs. Hunt, Wife Of Texas Oilman, Dead in Rochester

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP)—Mrs. Lydia Bunker Hunt, 66, wife of Dallas, Tex., oilman H. L. Hunt, reputedly one of the world's richest men, died last night after a short illness.

Mrs. Hunt was brought to St. Mary's Hospital here from Dallas Monday for special treatment after suffering a stroke several days before.

Hunt; two daughters, Mrs. Loyd B. Sands and Mrs. A. G. Hill; and four sons, Hassie, Nelson, William Herbert and Lamar, all accompanied the stricken woman in the chartered DC6 which flew her here.

Mrs. Hunt was born Jan. 26, 1889, in Lake Village, Ark. A graduate of Maddox Preparatory School for girls in Little Rock, Ark., she also attended Potter College at Bowling Green, Ky.

Mrs. Hunt was a member of the board of trustees of the Mary Baldwin College, Staunton, Va.

Scheele gave no hint of what the panel had reported. He indicated, though, that other "information" also would be considered before the Public Health Service gives an official opinion Sunday.

Only yesterday, Scheele had recommended vaccination programs be continued. He said then that vaccine already cleared by the Health Service for public use was safe.

Medical Panel Meets
The medical panel met at the National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Md., after a number of states reported post-inoculation polio cases. One member of the group was Dr. Jonas Salk of Pittsburgh, developer of the vaccine.

The Health Service said in a statement that it would evaluate the panel's recommendations and other information, then announce its finding. It added:

"Pending the Sunday announcement, the surgeon general recommended that states and municipalities postpone their vaccination programs."

Scheele had announced yesterday that the government was holding up clearance of new batches of the vaccine until it could be certain that "every conceivable safeguard" was being used.

He told newsmen the inspection of new vaccine supplies would be resumed right away if present safety measures were judged adequate. He said there would be a few days' delay if more exhaustive test methods were needed.

Scheele stressed there was "no cause for alarm" in the holdup of inspections—a step that prevents new batches from being shipped by manufacturers.

California Hardest Hit
In California, plans were announced before today's Health Service recommendation was made public—for resuming vaccinations halted 10 days ago. California was hardest hit among states reporting some children developed polio or similar symptoms following inoculation.

Early today, however, California announced the program would remain suspended until the Health Service makes its finding.

The Kansas State Board of Health also had decided to go ahead with its vaccination program.

What effect today's announcement would have on the plans of Kansas and other states was not known immediately. It was believed that few states had planned weekend inoculations.

Some health authorities asked federal officials yesterday if the halt in inspections meant disapproval of the vaccination program. At the time, it did not mean cancellation of approval.

Gore Presents Revised U. S. Highway Bill

NEW YORK (AP)—Under the amended Gore bill now before Congress, Minnesotans would pay 69 per cent more for federal aid to road construction in their state, the Highways for Survival Committee said Friday.

The organization, described as a non-political citizens group with the announced purpose of achieving better roads for the nation, said it had compared the two federal aid to highways bills before Congress.

One was the Gore bill, recently voted out of the Senate subcommittee on public roads, and the other was the Buckley-Dondore-Dempsey-George measure now before the House Committee on Public Works.

The committee said it had analyzed material available in the Commerce Department's Bureau of Public Roads.

The report said the increased "cost" of federal aid under the Senate subcommittee bill is accounted for by states having to put up $1 for every $3 contributed by the federal government to build what the committee called the vitally needed interstate highway system.

The committee noted that the other measure calls for the federal government to assume virtually the entire cost of this system, and complete it within 10 years. No time limit for its completion is set under the Gore measure.

A comparison between the five-year Senate subcommittee bill and the 10-year House measure was said to show that, on an average annual basis, the state of Minnesota under the Senate subcommittee proposal will be required to spend $38,100,000 of its own funds to receive $61,580,000 in federal money for all types of road construction under the federal aid system.

3 Pitched Out Of Capsizing Car On Highway

Watson Man Dead In Accident Near Montevideo

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A young nurse whose wedding date had been set was killed early today when her fiancé's car left a highway near Mankato and overturned.

Miss Mary Ann Kaupman, 20, Janesville, Minn., was dead on arrival at St. Joseph Hospital, Mankato, where she had been assigned as a nurse.

Her fiancé, Walter Wolff, 21, Madison Lake, and his sister, Sheila, 17, were bruised. All three were thrown from the car when it left Highway 14, about eight miles east of Mankato at 12:30 a. m. They were bound for Janesville.

Wolff and Miss Kaupman were to have been married in three weeks.

A Watson, Minn., man was killed early today in an accident at Montevideo. The victim was Homer Hauglund, 26. Highway patrolmen said tire tracks indicated Hauglund had fallen asleep about 5:30 a. m. while driving on Highway 7, just inside Montevideo.

Joseph Podgorski, St. Paul, who served as a doorman during the Legislature, died early today from injuries suffered when he was struck by a car April 23.

The deaths raised the Minnesota traffic toll to 162, compared with 208 on this date a year ago.

Burlington, Wis., Man Dead in Crash

RACINE, Wis. (AP)—Stewart Kaiser, 22, of Burlington, was injured fatally today when the car he was driving left Highway 11 in Racine County, struck four utility poles and smashed into a culvert.

Mother of Baby Abandoned on Doorstep Found

APPLETON, Wis. (AP)—Police Chief Herbert Kapp said Friday that a Shioceton woman has admitted she is the mother of a baby girl abandoned on an Appleton doorstep last week.

Kapp identified the woman as Mrs. Veronica Loos, 35, and said she told officers she "had a feeling she'd get caught."

Kapp said Mrs. Loos is married, but her husband is a patient in the Veteran's Administration Hospital at Wood, Wis.

Racine Boy Slips Under Train, Loses Arm, Leg

RACINE, Wis. (AP)—A 7-year-old Racine boy lost an arm and a foot Friday when he slipped beneath the wheels of a moving freight train while playing with two other boys.

Ronald Rich, son of Mr. and Mrs. LuSeth Rich, is in critical condition at St. Luke's Hospital. Authorities said his left foot was severed by the train and his left arm so mauled that it had to be amputated at the shoulder.

Minneapolis Loop Building Destroyed In $1,500,000 Fire

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Fanned by brisk winds, fire late Friday destroyed one industrial building and seriously damaged four others at the northern edge of the Minneapolis Loop, fire chief, said today.

Reynold Malmquist, fire chief, said flames were first discovered at the Ford-McNutt Glass Co. warehouse on North 3rd street shortly before 5 p. m. When first firemen arrived they had spread to the abutting W. S. Nott Co., a six-story structure.

A general alarm was sounded bringing most of the city's fire-fighting equipment to the scene when a blast of undetermined origin shattered the glass firm's building to spread flames rapidly.

The explosion spewed timbers and bricks across 3rd street to shatter windows in the two-story warehouse of the H. D. Mercantile Co., makers of work clothing.

Shifting Winds
Shifting winds carried embers over a wide area and roving squads of firemen were called upon to douse numerous roof blazes, some of them as far as three blocks from the main fire.

Heavily damaged by smoke and water were the Fur-Tex Building, across 2nd avenue north from the Nott structure, and that of the Wholesale Tire & Supply Co., immediately south of it in the same block. The Nott firm, ironically, distributes fire protection equipment as well as industrial belting and power transmission equipment.

More than 200 Civil Defense volunteers were called into service to help police squads handle loop traffic as the fire blocked off arterials leading from the business district.

Six St. Paul fire companies manned outlying stations here with three of them seeing service at a rooming house fire.

More than a score of tenants were routed when fire was discovered in a rooming house at 807 7th St. S. The alarm there was delayed when persons seeking to report that blaze could not reach the fire dispatcher because of calls from the one downtown.

Rescue Squads
A Minneapolis rescue squad passing the 7th street address, halted to help evacuate the tenants, many of them old people, and at the same time radioed the alarm into headquarters.

Malmquist said the loop fire was one of the hardest his men ever were called upon to fight because of the area involved.

At one time, he had firemen sending up veritable walls of water to protect the Fur-Tex building, only about 60 feet from the flaming Nott structure.

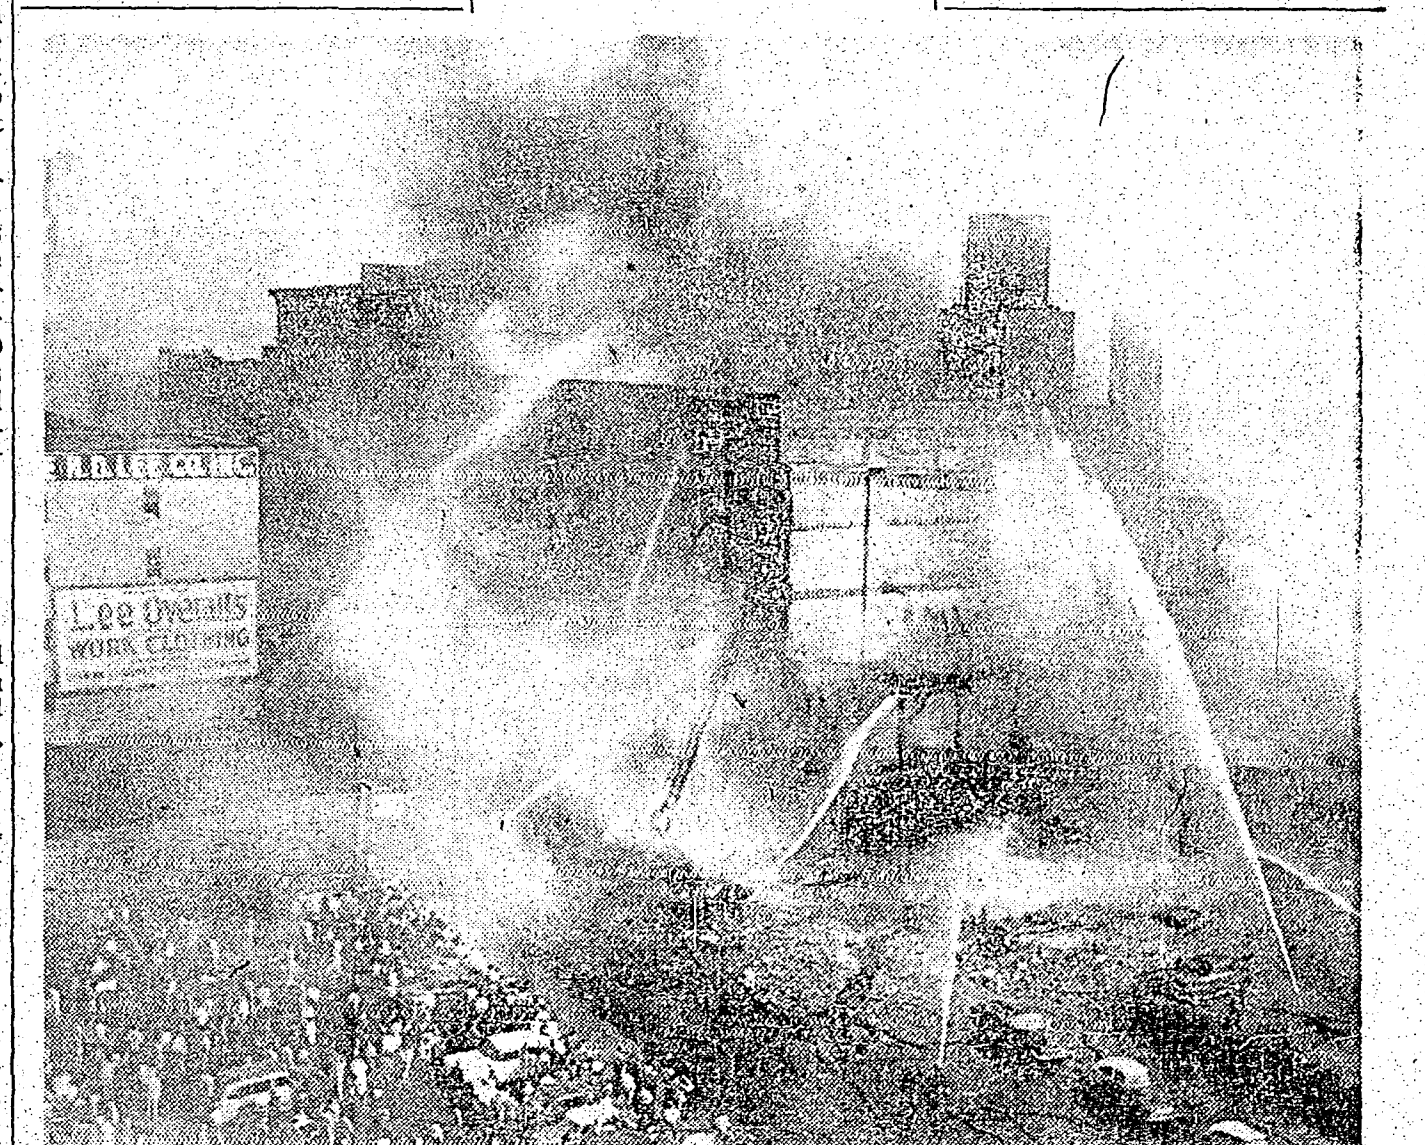

Firemen as well as homegoing motorists were handicapped by reduced visibility as a heavy pall of smoke covered a wide territory in the loop.

The crew of a hook and ladder truck parked in front of the glass firm building was warned by creaking timbers and fled only seconds before tons of brick and glass showered onto it.

Firemen carried 300 tanks of propane from the Philgas plant across the alley from the burning structure, thus averting a major explosion should the fire have spread.

Joe Drey, owner who made the estimate, said cause of the blaze was not determined. Flames were spread by high winds and the roof fell in 90 minutes after the fire was discovered about 2 p. m.

Firemen carried 300 tanks of propane from the Philgas plant across the alley from the burning structure, thus averting a major explosion should the fire have spread.

Firemen Feed Water onto the six-story W. S. Nott Building in Minneapolis after flames Friday had already destroyed the Nott Annex, lower right. The fire apparently started in the annex and then spread to the four other industrial buildings, including the eight-story Fur-Tex Building, across a street to the left of the Nott main building. U.S. Ready to Back Viet Nam Headed by Diem

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has indicated it will support an anti-Communist Viet Nam government backed by the people there, whether or not it includes Chief of State Bao Dai.

The department, seeking to discredit reports it is pushing for a constitutional monarchy there, said in a statement yesterday "it is up to the Vietnamese to decide their form of government by whatever constituent process they freely choose."

That process, the department indicated, might be a development growing out of the present powers of Bao Dai, or it might involve instead the action of a popularly backed constituent assembly.

Gen. J. Lawton Collins, U. S. special ambassador who returned to Saigon after a week of consultations here, was instructed to suggest to Viet Nam officials that changes in the government might be developed from the present legal basis of Bao Dai's position. But officials said also that this country did not want to advocate any particular form of government and that if Premier Ngo Dinh Diem and his followers wanted to oust Bao Dai, that was their business.

Peace Without Surrender Sought

NEW YORK (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon says the essence of the Formosa problem is to "maintain peace without surrendering" our nation's rights.

Nixon, speaking last night before the Society of American Military Engineers, said President Eisenhower should be the one to decide on a course of action in the Formosa situation.

"The best interests of the country will be served by placing confidence in the President, who has all the facts and the background and experience to make a proper decision," Nixon said.

VOICE of the OUTDOORS

Trees for Tomorrow

Expressions on the faces of the Winona grade students pictured above tell vividly that they are getting the message of Arbor Day, as did thousands of other children at Trevelike and other school observations of the day throughout Minnesota Friday. Conservation workers' principal objective is to make the outdoors more productive and attractive during their lifetime. These children will collect the dividends. They are planting trees for tomorrow.

Holding the American elm, one of three planted by Winona schools in Lake Park Friday are Jackie Ciesewski and Roger Glende. The student with the shovel is Bobby Anderson and the girl telling them what to do is Judy Roth. They are all from Central School. Mike Bamberg, park - recreation board director, is there to show them where the tree must go. In the background are grade students from Madison, Lincoln and Central schools. Later in the day, a similar tree-planting project was held by students from Washington - Kosciuszko School in the east end of the park.

These students realize, we are sure, that conservation is an every day project. Not only trees must be planted but birds must be protected, game laws observed, outdoor fires stopped and erosion prevented. They must be alert conservationists 365 days each year.

Mighty Robin

"Yesterday we were going to start our second tractor which we had not used for about ten days but when we got near it a robin started to scold and make dives at me. Wondering why Mrs. Robin didn't want me near the tractor I started to look around and there she had a nest made under the hood on top of the manifold with four eggs in it.

"Now what should we do? Let the tractor stand until the family is hatched or what? If you want a picture come out and take one. We have no good camera," Walter Gady.

Waterfowl Reports

Speaking of nests, Bill Green, biologist for the Wildlife Refuge, has received a report from the ranger at Lansing, Iowa, that the first brood of woodducks was seen there the other day. This is about two to three weeks early for that section of the 500-mile-long refuge. Bill is interested in getting reports on woodduck nesting in any of the artificial nest boxes put out in recent years.

First summary of waterfowl conditions in Canada's duck factory came today from Ducks Unlimited under a dateline of May 3 from Winnipeg. The summary follows:

"The 1955 waterfowl breeding season is away to a promising start. Mallards, pintails and Canada geese are nesting—a good two weeks ahead of the past two years—and more nearly comparable to the banner year 1952.

"The return of ducks and Canada geese is substantial but somewhat spotty. The general impression is that migration is down compared with last spring but it is too early to say definitely as migration is still under way and such species as blue-winged teal and ruddy ducks are only just moving in. In cooperation with the Canadian and U.S. Wildlife Services and the Provincial Game departments, Ducks Unlimited will be conducting ground and aerial surveys in mid-May and will have figures on the breeding pairs per square mile available by the end of the month. Comparison with last year will tell the story.

"Surface water conditions are generally excellent throughout the southern prairies. North of a line through Edmonton, Prince Albert and The Pas, the lakes are still frozen except for a strip around the edges but the smaller sloughs and potholes are open and occupied by ducks.

"All in all, surface water conditions, an apparently satisfactory return of breeding stock, favorable weather to start with and an early nesting start, give an optimistic outlook for the breeding season in Western Canada."

Meetings

The Winona Boat Club will hold a supper meeting on Prairie Island at 8 p. m. Monday. It will be at the park pavilion beyond the lake's cabin. The spot can be reached either by car or boat.

Wives are invited and lunch will be served at the meeting of the Tri-State Hunting Dog Association at 8 p. m. at the Oaks Wednesday. It is the last meeting before the coming trial.

Findings of the state fish biologist on trout plantings in the White-water and the creel census taken during the opening weekend will be features of the May meeting of the Whitewater Valley Sportsmen's Club at Elba Monday evening. There will be lunch and movies.

The annual meeting of the Minnesota City Boat Club will be held at the Oaks at 8 p. m. Wednesday. In addition to election of officers there will be reports on progress of the harbor and the new closed area.

Big Trout

Biggest trout entered so far in the Mauer's Contest at Elba was a brown tipping the scales at five pounds, two ounces. It measured 24½ inches and was caught on the North Branch by Nate Langum, Plainview.

River Fishing

Here is the way Wisconsin wardens in their weekly report released today summarized fishing along the river:

Buffalo County—Warden Stanley Apel: Tons of fish taken from Mississippi River during first weekend of season, mostly northerns but some limit catches of walleyes and black bass. Most northerns taken average from two to 17 pounds. Smallmouth black bass taken weighing five pounds. Walleyes taken up to seven pounds. Fishing from floats below federal dams is ideal. Minnows best bait. Warden Elmer Gotz: Trout fishing generally good in most of the streams. Waters normal and clear. Mississippi River normal and clear with excellent catches of northern pike and walleyes. Panfish biting fair.

Trempealeau County—Warden Fred Gardner: Opening of trout fishing was one of the best in years with most fishermen having good catches. Walleye fishing fair. Northern fishing good on Trempealeau Lake. Panfishing fair with crappies best.

Pepin County—Warden Carl Frick: Walleye fishing poor. Some taken at foot of Lake Pepin, trolling plugs or minnows. Northern fishing in bottoms excellent. Hitting almost anything. Many limits taken. Panfishing fair, sunfish in shallows. Trout fishing has been good with a lot of the stocked fish taken opening weekend. Water lower than it has been for many years.

Crawford County—Warden Bill Hebing: All Mississippi fishing fair with panfish best possible.

La Crosse County—Warden

Picketing Halted At 2 Florida Hotels

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Picketing continued to march at 100 plush oceanfront hotels here today but an oral court order barred them from two others.

Circuit Judge Pat Cannon yesterday granted temporary injunctions halting picketing at the Casa Blanca and Sea Isle Hotels. He said testimony showed that picketing at the two hotels was not peaceful.

Last Saturday three other circuit court judges refused to order picketing halted at seven other luxury hotels. Testimony in all nine cases was remarkably similar, court observers said.

Dave Herman, special union representative, called a strike at the Lombardy Hotel in what he said was "retaliation" for Judge Cannon's ruling.

In addition to the Lombardy, others being picketed are the Dillido, Saxony, Monte Carlo, Algiers, Sorrento, Sherry Frontenac, Roney Plaza, Sans Souci and Empress.

David Hammes: Water conditions ideal. All trout streams producing nice catches of trout. Panfish, pike, and bass being taken. Mississippi fishing pressure very heavy.

Building Trades Wage Meetings Start Monday

State Conciliation Office Schedules Courthouse Hearings

State conciliation meetings are scheduled for next week in wage disputes involving two Winona building trades locals.

A plumbers local committee and employers will meet at 1:30 p. m. Monday at the courthouse in the first of two hearings. A plumbing shop owner, speaking for the Master Plumbers Association, said the journeymen, now getting $2.75 an hour, want 25 cents more.

The other conciliation hearing involves the Winona Contracting Construction Employers Association and the painters local. The hearing will be held at 1 p. m. Tuesday at the courthouse.

One-year contracts of all building trades locals expired last Saturday.

Painters, getting $2.17 1/2, want 15 cents more; carpenters, $2.30, 20 cents; laborers, $1.80, 20 cents; sheet metal workers, $2.40, 20 cents; and construction truck drivers, $1.85, 15 cents.

The contractors have countered with offers of two-year contracts, involving 10 cents an hour more for carpenters, plus ten cents additional on May 1, 1936, and 5 cents now and 5 cents in 1936 for the other four crafts in the present negotiations.

A series of meetings have been held. Laborers originally asked an additional 7 1/2 cents an hour for a new welfare fund. The local has filed a notice for conciliation service with the state, as have the carpenters.

'Big Wind' Will Blow In Cold

Although a radio tornado warning proved to be a false alarm in Winona early Friday night, colder temperatures are expected to "blow" into the city tonight.

The weatherman said the mercury may dip to 34 degrees in rural areas with frost possible in the deep valleys. In the city, the temperature will be about 38 with a high of 62 expected Sunday. Friday's high-low temperatures were 81 and 47 degrees.

Winds hit a velocity of more than 30 miles per hour during Friday afternoon's storm. Small hailstones were mixed briefly with the 45 of an inch of rain.

And the winds continued today despite the fair weather. Readings at the Winona Municipal Airport for the past month show that the wind at noon has averaged 15 miles per hour on the 24 days (excluding Sundays and days when the wind was calm). Today, west winds of 25 miles per hour with gusts to 35 were reported.

High during the period was April 21 when winds of 28 miles per hour from the southwest with gusts to 38 were reported. The wind was over the 20-mile-per-hour mark three times and 10 or more readings were recorded on 14 additional days.

Recent high winds have prevented the park-recreation department from seeding the large area between Lake Winona and Sarnia street east of Franklin street and huge clouds of dust have been whipped from the area.

Gasoline Prices Up 1/2, 1 Cent

Large and small oil firms alike have been affected by an increase in refinery prices for both high test and regular gasolines.

To Winona motorists, the increase amounts to an average of a penny per gallon for high test and about half a cent a gallon for regular gasoline, making prices on major distributors' gasoline, 32.3 cents per gallon and 29.8 cents on regular.

Some Winona service stations have already increased prices, while others anticipate an increase in the near future.

Reason for the increase, according to one dealer, is the industry-wide higher octane ratings on both gasolines. A salary increase given about a month ago to oil workers also was mentioned as a partial reason for the price boost.

11 Eyota Explorers To Take Canoe Trip

EYOTA, Minn. — Eleven explorers of Post 47, Boy Scouts, will leave Sunday on a three-day canoe trip on the St. Croix River in Wisconsin.

They will be accompanied by Roy Durksen, explorer adviser; the Rev. Joseph Frisch, member of the scout committee; Elwin Meyers and Joseph McConnell.

The trip will be made in six canoes owned by the Gamehaven Area Council. The boys, all high school students, have studied school assignments in advance.

The party will put the canoes in the river at Solon Springs for the 75-mile paddle to Grantsburg, Wis.

Newsman to Hear 'U' School Head, Journalists Today

Dr. Ralph D. Casey, director of the School of Journalism at the University of Minnesota, headed a group of distinguished newspapermen at the spring meeting of the Minnesota Associated Press got under way here today.

With the Winona Daily News as host, the conference has attracted newsmen from Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, North and South Dakota and representatives of the university's School of Journalism.

Following tours of the new Daily News plant this afternoon, guests will adjourn to the Country Club for a 5 p. m. cocktail hour and a 7 p. m. dinner, where winners in the annual statewide AP photo contest will be cited by L. E. Swanberg, managing editor of the Faribault Daily News and president of the Minnesota Associated Press.

Dr. Casey, who will be one of three speakers at tonight's banquet, was honored at a dinner in Minneapolis last night for his 25 years of achievement as director of the School of Journalism.

Under a quarter-century of his direction, journalism at the university has grown from a department to a full school.

Former students of the University of Minnesota, faculty members, university officials and many who are attending the school's annual News Executives Conference were on hand to congratulate the educator.

Dr. Frank L. Mott, dean emeritus of the University of Missouri's School of Journalism, spoke during the dinner program. Dr. Mott, saluting Dr. Casey as an "educator, scientist and humanist," termed him "the greatest man in the field of journalism education in our day."

Praise Dr. Casey
Harold Schoelkopf, editor of the St. Cloud Daily Times, praised the accomplishments of Dr. Casey "in an era that witnessed unnumbered departures of the 'newspaper game' and the ascendancy of professional journalism — the fruit of your distinguished leadership."

Steve Alnes, president of the Minnesota Journalism Alumni Assn. and a member of the staff of the St. Paul Pioneer Press, spoke for the former students.

Alnes presented Dr. Casey with a book of letters from a student representing each of the past 25 classes at the school, from each member of the faculty and former faculty members.

Dr. Mott, speaking on "The Religion of a Journalist," said "Journalism is essentially christian in that it finds no man, no woman or no child unimportant."

Casey started early in acquiring his own professional experience. He was a correspondent for the Seattle Post-Intelligencer while in high school, a job that continued through summers and his four years at the University of Washington. After graduation he became a full-time reporter.

Back and Forth
His career then followed a saw-saw track between teaching and working on newspapers. Two years of teaching at the Universities of Montana and Washington were followed by a return to newspapering in 1920.

He then went to work on the New York Herald, leaving there to return to the Seattle Post-Intelligencer as a rewrite man.

Casey returned to academic life and was awarded a doctor of philosophy degree at the University of

Minneapolis Man Wins Five Awards In Photo Contest

Photographer Earl Seubert of the Minneapolis Star and Tribune won a record-breaking five awards in the 1935 Minnesota Associated Press Newsphoto contest.

Results were announced today at the annual spring Associated Press membership meeting here.

Seubert won first and third places in the metropolitan feature division, second in the metropolitan sport division, and third in the metropolitan spot. His first-place feature winner, a study of the faces of three Koreans, was also named sweepstakes winner, carrying a special $25 award from the host Winona Daily News.

98 Pictures Entered
In all, thirteen photographers from 10 Associated Press newspapers in Minnesota won awards. A total of 98 pictures were entered. The judges awarded two sweepstakes honorable mentions. These went to Bob Christianson of the New Ulm Journal for his first-place outdoor feature winner, a shot of a little boy trying on a new suit; and to Roy Swan of the Star and Tribune for his first-place metropolitan spot winner, Eclipse Over Minneapolis.

Only other multiple winners besides Seubert were Bob Schroeder of the Fairmont Sentinel, who took a first and a second, and Myron Hall of the St. Cloud Times, who scored a first and a third.

List of Winners
The winners:
Outstate spot: First, Hall, Lone Survivor; second, Schroeder, Grim Reaper; third, Hall, Homecoming Tragedy.

Outstate feature: First, Schroeder, Highland Fling; second, Ken Hanson, Austin Herald, Jump Pass; third, Pete Hohny, Rochester Post-Bulletin, Nice Try.

Outstate sport: First, Christianson, First Suit; second, Jim Geladas, Worthington Globe, Splash; third, Ray N. d. y, Hibbing Tribune, My Aching Feet.

Metropolitan spot: First, Swan, Eclipse Over Minneapolis; second, Chet Kryzak, St. Paul Dispatch and Pioneer Press, Thin Ice; third, Seubert, S-D Day.

Metropolitan feature: First, Seubert, Korean Educators; second, Earl Johnson, Duluth Herald and News-Tribune, Lake Superior Herding Run; third, Seubert, So Cold You Can See It.

Judges were Phil Dittes, St. Paul; George Ryan, Minneapolis; and Fred Kildow, University of Minnesota.

Earl Seubert, Minneapolis Star and Tribune photographer, won the largest number of single awards ever garnered by one lensman in the 1935 Minnesota Associated Press Newsphoto contest. Seubert holds his picture of a group of Korean educators which won first in the metropolitan feature division and also the sweepstakes award as best of the show. Seubert's pictures also won second in metropolitan sport, and third in metropolitan spot and feature for a total of five winners. (AP Wirephoto)

1,500 Watch Tree Planting On Arbor Day

900 Pine Seedlings Set in Hillside At Rushford Farm

By EARL GILBERT
Daily News Area Editor
RUSHFORD, Minn.—Arbor Day — according to Webster a day in late April or early May set aside for planting trees—was observed by hundreds of school children of Houston, Fillmore and Winona counties at the Styrk Isberg farm near here Friday.

While soil conservation, forestry and extension division officials planted about 900 pine tree seedlings by machine and by hand, the students, their teachers and some area farmers who left field work to attend the second annual event, tramped about the big farm west of here and watched.

Isberg, who farms on Highway 30 near the Rushford Cemetery, has a contoured windbreak of several thousand red or Norway pine and some jack pine. Trees planted by machine yesterday in three furrows are adjacent to the southern edge of the windbreak, while the hand planted trees are the first of a new crop along Highway 30 toward Rushford.

Other Instruction
In addition to the tree planting, classes in tree identification and soil covers were conducted. Prior to field tours, Dr. J. O. Christianson, superintendent of the University of Minnesota School of Agriculture, gave an address from the shade near the Isberg farm home.

The need for enlightened citizens in the light of world conditions was emphasized by the educator. Citing the size of Oriental and African population in relation to our own and the advances being made by other peoples, Dr. Christianson said it is important for our future that we maintain the edge in "know how," zeal and organization.

If all the people of the world were represented by the figure 100, he said, the U.S. would be symbolized by just five of the digits. Asia would take 56 of them, he continued, and Russia 6, Africa, Europe and the Pacific islands would take the remaining 38.

Conservation education is part of the overall knowledge we must have, he continued, Dr. Christianson then lauded the bankers and extension division for their part in the life of rural Minnesota.

Attendance prizes donated by the more than 30 banks of the three counties were awarded to fortunate ticket holders. Colored duets were distributed as spectators came on the grounds and four tours were organized on the basis of ticket color.

Officials estimate that 1,500 witnessed the event Friday, about the same number as last year when Treeville was held on a neighboring farm. Mild weather, ideal for field work, kept farmers at home.

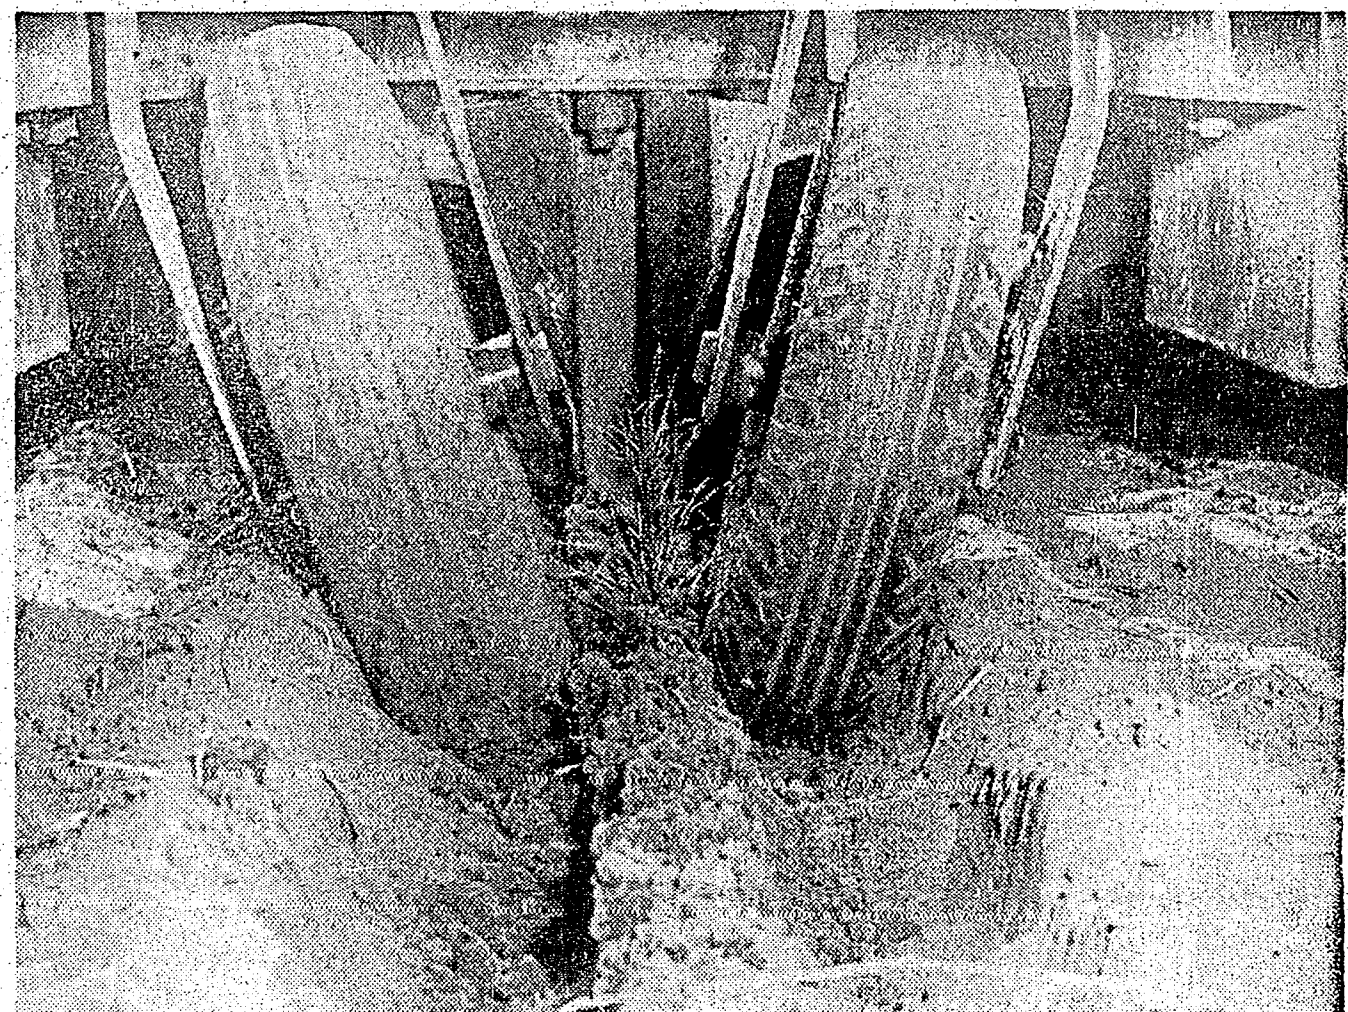

Rushford Band Plays
Ralph Jones, La Crescent State Bank, was master of ceremonies for the platform program; the Rushford High School band played a half-hour concert preceding it.

Four stations for instruction were set up on the Isberg place: William Sillman, Winona County farm planner with the Soil Conservation Service, was in charge of the section on soil covers; Harlie Larson, Houston County soils agent, machine planting using three machines donated to the counties by the bankers; Parker Anderson, extension forester, tree identification, and Marvin Smith, extension forester, hand planting. Vocational agriculture instructors and bankers led the tours.

Seubert, S-D Day.
Metropolitan spot: First, Bill Seaman, Minneapolis Star and Tribune, Aw, Your Mother Wears Army Shoes; second, Seubert, Carry Me; third, Bud Martin, St. Paul Dispatch and Pioneer-Press, Headlock.

Metropolitan feature: First, Seubert, Korean Educators; second, Earl Johnson, Duluth Herald and News-Tribune, Lake Superior Herding Run; third, Seubert, So Cold You Can See It.

Judges were Phil Dittes, St. Paul; George Ryan, Minneapolis; and Fred Kildow, University of Minnesota.

Tree Planting Is made Easy today by machines. A young pine is shown between the wheels of a tree planting machine at Tri-County Treeville. The device, pulled by a tractor, has a disc and plow just ahead of the seedling, above. An operator, riding on the planter, places the tree in the open furrow before the pitched wheels pinch earth around it. Several hundred trees can be planted an hour in this fashion. Bankers have made the equipment available to any citizen of the state.

William Sillman, foreground, described soil covers to this group of Houston County school students at Tri-County Treeville. A farm planner with the Soil Conservation Service of Winona County, Sillman explained how trees help replenish the soil and how water is absorbed by different types of soil. His was one of four stations at the Styrk Isberg farm where Arbor Day was observed by school youth and farmers of this area.

Hand Planting Of Trees was explained to the Tri-County Treeville crowd at Rushford Friday by Marvin Smith, far right, extension forester, University of Minnesota.

Houston, Fillmore and Winona counties witnessed the big tree planting demonstration at the Styrk Isberg farm. Smith was in charge of the hand planting station. (Daily News photos)

County Roads Up To Six Tons With Two Exceptions

County Highway Engineer Gordon Fay said today that effective Monday morning the 4-ton per axle load limit on all county roads — with two exceptions — will be raised to 6 tons.

Remaining at the 4-ton limit until May 15 will be: SAR 29, from Altura to the junction with Highway 14 at Utica, and SAR 18 from Clyde to the south county line.

SAR 29 is staying at 4 tons, said Fay, because the road is still under construction contract and the contractor is liable for repair if any damage is done to it.

The general condition of SAR 18 doesn't warrant raising the restrictions at this time, said Fay.

"The roads are looking good," he added. "The frost boils have begun to settle now that the frost is out and conditions are greatly improved over just a week ago," he said.

EAST MARK COLLISION

Harold Friederick, 1127 W. 5th St., reported $100 damage to his parked car after it was struck by another car on East Mark street, near Franklin street, at 9:10 a. m. today. The driver of the other car, Floyd Mercer, 66 W. Mark St., estimated his damage at $40.

Winona Co. Chapter Gives 521 Pints Blood; Buffalo Residents Top It With 592

St. Mary's College students came through with 152 pints of blood Friday, boosting the four-day Winona County chapter total to 521 pints.

That was still nearly 100 pints short of the Red Cross quota of 617, according to James D. Cole, blood chairman.

The record for the four days: Tuesday, 97; Wednesday, 128; Thursday, 144, and Friday, 152. For giving the highest day's total for the week Cole commended the students and faculty of St. Mary's.

Chapter population is 32,000.

2 Teen-agers Admit Causing Backfiring Of Car on 3rd Street

Two teen-agers were arrested here early today on charges of causing their cars to backfire on East 3rd street.

Deputy Sheriff Helmer Weinmann and Special Deputy Lamar Fort arrested the two to 1:45 a. m. and said that the youths — 15 and FOUNTAIN CITY, Wis. — Fountain Citizens gave 146 pints of blood Friday, running the five-day total in Buffalo County to 592, according to William Koehenderfer, county blood chairman.

That was way over the quota of 500, the chairman said, and he expressed his thanks to county residents.

The record for the week: Alma, 121; Mondovi, 220; Waumandee, 47; Cochrane, 58, and Fountain City, 146. The unit was last in the county in June 1934.

County population is 14,719.

Wet and Windy In Some Parts Of U.S. Today -

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was wet and windy in some parts of the midcontinent but generally dry and pleasant spring weather appeared in prospect for most of the country today.

Thunderstorms or showers hit areas early today from the northern Great Lakes region southward across the Middle Mississippi Valley to eastern sections of the Central Plains. Thunderstorms also were reported in Central Texas.

Tornado winds struck areas in Texas and Iowa yesterday killing one woman and causing heavy property damage. Mrs. Mamie Bennett, 35, manager of a shoe plant in Temple, Tex., was killed when the strong winds ripped off the plant's roof and collapsed the walls. The man was seriously injured. Heavy hail and rain fell in central Texas.

Strong winds also swept the area between Harlan, Iowa, and Des Moines, but no injuries were reported.

A little cooler air moved eastward across the Northern Plains and temperatures dropped 5 to 15 degrees. However, there was a general warming trend East of the cool air mass over the Upper Mississippi Valley and Great Lakes region. Temperatures were in the 40s across the Northern Border States with a few spots in the 30s. In contrast, it was 82 in Needles, Calif.

Business College Schedules Session

Arrangements have been completed for a summer session at the Winona Business College, President P. H. Riels announced today. There will be two entrance dates, June 6 and June 14, for periods of eight, 10 and 12 weeks.

The sessions are offered because of the demand for trained office workers in business, government and military office personnel, and to give young people who are just completing high school or college and others who desire to qualify for business careers an opportunity to fit themselves for permanent employment.

During this summer session, training will be offered in major and related business subjects. Courses that will be particularly stressed will be for positions as accountants, bookkeepers, stenographers, secretaries, personal assistants, office machine operators, receptionists, typists and clerical office workers. Training courses recommended for clerical procedures by leading business, government and military officials are included, Riels said.

The specialized courses of training are planned to give young people an opportunity to prepare in brief periods during this summer term, or to combine their training with the regular advanced and extensive programs at the opening of the fall term.

Girls and boys of grade school age may also take typewriting and other office machine training or courses that will be useful later in their public school and college work. Individual instruction will be employed.

Actress Sues Cosmetic Firm for Eye Injury

HONOLULU — Actress Joan Davis filed suit in Circuit Court today for $150,000 damages against the Honolulu branch of Elizabeth Arden Sales Corp.

The complaint charged a hair bleach solution caused injury to Joan's eye last year. It did not specify which eye.

D. Dudley Pratt, lawyer representing the corporation, declined comment.

Navy Discovers Married Men Better Sailors

CORONADO, Calif. — The undersecretary of the U.S. Navy said last night that married men make better sailors.

Thomas S. Gates Jr., told the Navy League of the United States: "The Navy has discovered that a married man is usually more efficient and more responsible than an unmarried one."

His talk at the league's annual convention stressed the influence of wives.

"If the Navy hopes to attract outstanding young men," he said, "it must be increasingly alert to convince the Navy wife that the tasks performed by her husband are important and necessary. It must give her every consideration and support that is possible."

Participating in the Wednesday program were students in the eighth grade who presented a panel discussion on fashion, seventh and eighth grade girls who put on a fashion revue, and ninth grade girls — members of a Spanish class — who presented three short plays.

Panel members who talked on such points as "what is good fashion" and "should fashion be blindfolded" were Joan Brennan, Marlene Bauer, Beverly Egge, Scott Baudhuin and James Stansfield. Panel leader was David Hobbs.

Continuing the fashion theme set by the panel, "A Blueprint of Spring Fashions" was presented. Against a four-panel stage set, designed and made by some of the junior high art students, seventh and eighth grade girls modeled clothes for the junior miss with emphasis on the right costume for the occasion. Fashion commentator was Judy Robinson, accompanist, Diane Schulz, models, Marian Babcock, Marlene Bauer, Joyce Harem, Josephine Reed, Ann Fishbaugh, Judy Smith, Sylvia Wedul, Carol Armitage, Barbara Rogers and Cheri Clawson. The fashion revue was directed by Miss Beverly Corneliuss, art supervisor.

The ability to converse in a foreign language was illustrated by Miss Marion Davis' Spanish class which presented "Lupita's First Class," "A Mexican Market" and "The Serenaders," Mexican songs and a Cuban dance were featured in the presentation. Appearing in the plays were Janice Baures, Helen Knutson, Donna Case, Barbara Knopp, Leah Ohnstad, Sharon Brugger, LaVonne Schmidt, Diane Thern, Marie Harvey and Elsie Naas. The dance was performed by Leah; Robert Goetting, Houston, accompanied her and the singers on a guitar. Goetting and Miss Marcia Vier, Winona, student teachers, assisted Miss Davis in the presentation.

Following the program, guests were invited to a tea in the English room. Pouring were Drucilla Chalmberg, Joyce Harem, Sandra Page and Joan Brennan. Hosts and hostesses for the tea were Marion Babcock, Diane Schultz, David Harem and Gary Chappell. Students working on other committees for the affair included Marlene Bauer, David Beeman, Richard Brady, Stephen Deeren, Beverly Egge, Richard Heller, George Martin, Gerald Nelson, Sandra Prigge, Keith Walters, William Fluhrer and Harley Schweigert.

Both tea and fashion panel were planned by the students in Miss Magda Talle's eighth grade English class and the afternoon's program was the culminating project of work on personality development for the teen-ager. Assisting Miss Talle with the program and tea was Miss Vier, who is doing student teaching in both English and Spanish this quarter.

Fashions, Panel, Plays Presented At Phelps School

A unit on personality, carried on by the eighth grade students of Phelps Laboratory School, Winona State Teachers College, was the inspiration for a program involving students throughout the junior high school department in the junior high assembly, Somsen Hall, of the college.

Participating in the Wednesday program were students in the eighth grade who presented a panel discussion on fashion, seventh and eighth grade girls who put on a fashion revue, and ninth grade girls — members of a Spanish class — who presented three short plays.

Earl Kane Named Standard Oil Agent

Appointment of Earl Kane, 208 Wilson St., Winona agent was announced this week by the Standard Oil Co.

Kane, who has been commission agent in the rural areas for 11 years, succeeds Robert W. Stein. There'll be no change in servicing policy, said Kane, except that beginning July 1 most service stations will be supplied by trucks directly from Spring Valley, Minn.

A native of Edstrom, Kane was employed by the Federal Bakery Co. prior to joining Standard Oil. He is a past exalted ruler of Lodge 327, Benvolent & Protective Order of Elks, and is a director of the Elks Club. He also is a member of the Athletic Club.

He has been living in the city 22 years, is married and has four children.

Producer's Wife Seeks Separation

SANTA MONICA, Calif. — Virginia Lang, 31, wife of Howard Lang, 46, motion picture producer, has filed suit for separate maintenance. They were married Jan. 25, 1951, and separated Thursday. The couple has a son, Michael, 21 months. Mrs. Lang filed her suit yesterday.

Soviets Denounce Divorce Because Of Girl Babies

MOSCOW — Men who divorce their wives for having girl babies are being denounced these days in the Soviet press.

So are men who oblige their wives to sign such rules of behavior as: "Don't insult your husband and, if he insults you, don't answer."

The denunciations show up in such varied publications as Krokodil, a satirical magazine, and the provincial newspaper Pravda of the East, published in the Central Asian republic of Uzbekistan.

This appears to be part of a growing morals drive and at the same time an attack on what are called "feudal customs"—especially the attitude of Soviet Moslems in some of the remotest republics toward their women.

On the morals front, the Soviet press is demanding a tightening of family life; even Communist party leaders are being called publicly to account if they stray.

Krokodil tells about two scientist brothers named Gaik and Mnatsakan and the physician wife to Gaik, the younger: "The wife gave birth to a girl baby."

Gaik was angry about this and told his brother: "How could she do this to me? After all she herself is a baby doctor and she should have been able to bear a son."

The brothers would not accept the wife's hopeful expression that perhaps her second child would be a boy.

So they wrote out a set of rules for the wife. They included "Obey not only your husband, but also all other members of his family," and "Don't have any more children in the next four years (because of fear that these also would be boys)."

Even though the wife signed, Gaik divorced her.

Pravda of the East denounced a Communist official named Ismailov for writing what it called a feudal code of behavior for his wife to sign. This document included such demands as:

1. Respect the relatives of the husband (that is to be their servant also).
2. Do not dare reproach him because of the size of his income.
3. Do not reveal secrets.
4. Do not complain.
5. Bring up the children yourself.

Ismailov tried to get his first wife to comply to these rules, the newspaper said. Then he left her and tried another. With the two wives, he had three children. Then he abandoned all of them.

"Unfortunately," said Pravda of the East, "the Communist party committee gave Ismailov only a reprimand."

Added Education Called Big Conservation Need

DULUTH, Minn. — Added education is the basic need for success of any conservation program in Minnesota, George A. Selke told the spring meeting of the Minnesota Arrowhead Assn. Friday.

"An aggressive effort must be made for more and better education at every level on the value of the state's resources," said Selke, newly-appointed state conservation commissioner.

He said more research is also needed if his department is to succeed.

Ad Alley Pickups

A brief mention of interesting items about people, business places and campaigns as compiled by The Winona Daily News ad department.

Mrs. F. P. Frederiksen, 151 E. 8th St., was the lucky person to win the $249 Speed Queen automatic washer for only $49.95 at the recent registration at B & B Electric Co. She registered along with many others during the month of April when B & B was selected as the exclusive Speed Queen distributor in Winona. Presenting the new machine to Mrs. Frederiksen is Maurice Berg of B & B.

Lester Klaas, above, is the Sunbeam Corporation salesman replacing Paul Schlimmer, who has been promoted to a territory in Chicago. Klaas and his family will live in Rochester while on his new job.

Winona food dealers are sponsoring a Martha Logan Cooking School Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the Winona Senior High. Martha Logan is the home economist for Swift & Co. Tickets can be obtained free at Winona food stores. Each person attending will receive a Meat Cook Book free and be eligible for numerous attendance prizes.

John Tlougan, owner of Approved Products at 216 W. 10th St., has added a new Rusco Californian to his line of jalousies, awnings, windows and doors. Especially adapted for porch enclosures or breezeways, this floor-to-ceiling combination window has three lights and a full screen, allowing for a full two-thirds ventilation opening and locking positions for various desired openings or when closed completely.

Duane Boyum has been appointed supervisor of routes for Federal Bakery to succeed Stan Boyum (no relation) who was recently promoted to assistant sales manager.

Wilbur Helzer, 618 E. Wabasha St., local representative of the Allstate Insurance Co., announces that the company has reduced auto liability insurance rates for three classes of policyholders in Minnesota. Married couples in the 21-24 year old age group, without children, will receive rate reductions averaging 33 per cent. All classes of drivers having a limited annual mileage will receive reductions of 5½ per cent. Policyholders driving more than ten miles one way to work will receive an 11 per cent reduction. The amount of the reductions will vary with the make and model of car, the amount and kind of use to which it is put, and the area of the rating territory in which it is principally used. Allstate is a subsidiary of Sears, Roebuck and Co.

The greatest praise we've heard for a long time for newspaper advertising came last week from H. V. McNamara, president of National Tea Co. He attributed the huge growth of National Food Stores in the past 10 years directly to newspaper advertising. In 1944, sales were 99 million dollars while last year they were over 500 million dollars. McNamara said his company has used other media for advertising but gives most of the credit for lasting results to newspaper advertising. Last year, 66 per cent of their advertising budget went into newspapers, with the remainder scattered about on point of sale displays and miscellaneous promotion. Sales are still climbing for the company, with some weeks this year being as much as 22 per cent over a year ago.

First To Sell One Million Home Freezers! That's the latest distinction of the Goldspot line of freezers, distributed exclusively by Sears, Roebuck and Co., it was announced today by Mr. Brom, manager of the local Sears store. These one million units were sold since 1939. The 1955 line of Goldspot freezers includes three of the upright-type. Also included is a "food elevator" on the chest-type units. This elevator is a spring-supported basket which pops up as it is unloaded and drops down as it is filled. This eliminates stretching and straining to get at the food. Sears sells all sizes of freezers.

We're Happy to Greet Fellow AP Members

TODAY in Winona, more than 100 newspapermen and women are gathering for the spring meeting of the Minnesota Associated Press.

The Winona Daily News extends a cordial welcome to these fellow members of the AP, and hopes their two-day stay in our beautiful city in the heart of scenic Hiawatha Valley will be most pleasant.

The Daily News is especially glad the Minnesota AP picked the spring of 1955 to meet here. This is the centennial year of this newspaper, and we welcome the opportunity to show our AP friends our new plant, occupied last July, and the progress we've made in the first 100 years.

Part of the scheduled program is a tour of The Daily News plant this afternoon.

The News, which changed its name June 1, 1954, from The Republican-Herald, is the second oldest daily newspaper in the Northwest area north of Dubuque, Iowa, and west of the Mississippi River to the cities of the Pacific Coast. The first issue, then named The Winona Republican, went to press just seven years after the AP was founded in New York City.

Capt. Sam Whiting, the paper's first editor, was a romantic character who divided his time between polar expeditions, poetry, and journalism. He put out the first issue of The Republican Nov. 20, 1855, but without the luxury of anything like AP wire service. The captain had to depend on Mississippi River boats to bring him news from communities in the Minnesota Territory and the rest of the United States.

Frequently Minnesota editors forgot to send him an exchange paper. As reprisal, he threatened—in jest—that he wouldn't let St. Paul and other towns along the Upper Mississippi know when navigation opened in Winona, if he didn't get the news.

The Daily News has come a long way since those days. One of the major forward steps was when the paper joined The Associated Press, now the world's oldest and largest news gathering organization. The Daily News has been an AP member for nearly 50 years.

Minnesota AP members will see for themselves the progress we've made when they tour the plant. We're very proud of it, and feel it's a symbol of Minnesota journalism and of our 100 years of service to Winona and surrounding area.

Villages May Pay Way To School Patrol Camp

Quietly and without fanfare, a bill of vital interest to some 26,000 school safety patrol children and many municipalities in Minnesota was passed by the recent Minnesota Legislature without opposition.

The new law, now Chapter 316 of the Laws of 1955, authorizes any village in Minnesota to use municipal funds when necessary to pay the expense of sending representative school patrol boys and girls to the summer school patrol training camp at Legionville.

Most of the 600 to 700 boys and girls sent to the camps in previous years have had their expenses paid by local Legion posts or various civic groups and other organizations, and it is anticipated this practice will continue in most communities. However, many smaller communities having effective and well organized school safety patrols have been unable to reward any of their boys and girls with a trip to camp, for training and instruction to further improve their work in the future, because no local organization existed which felt that it could finance the cost of camp attendance.

Try and Stop Me

Titian-haired Lucy Monroe has sung "The Star Spangled Banner" so often that several legislators have discussed admitting her as the forty-ninth state. From the Supreme Court to Milwaukee—home of the plea to the land of the Braves—she's warbled our national anthem in fair weather and foul, and become so identified therewith that every time she appears with a new male escort, wits immediately presume his name is Francis Scott Key.

When Lucy gives with the high notes, the lyrics come across as clear as a bell. Obviously there was nobody like her around when columnist Franklin P. Adams was a lad. He confesses that until he reached the age of twelve, he was convinced that the first line of our anthem was, "Osage, Kansas City."

There's a society girl in New York who's so nearsighted she once mistook Herman Hickman for a taxicab. At a swanky dinner party the butler discreetly handed her a note from the hostess, which she turned over to Lord Doodsworth on her left, beseeching,

Efforts to Kill God Unsuccessful

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

NEW YORK — No matter what is being done in some countries to kill God, somehow the memory of His living kindness lingers and the men of power discover themselves to be dwarfed times in His presence. I was reading recently a radio talk made in Albania which contained these paragraphs:

"Education against superstitions is of great importance. But, unfortunately, many parents do little to educate their children in a spirit which will free them of religious superstitions. Why is it so? In reality the parents do their best to teach them how to keep clean and how to respect grown people. They also help them understand the facts of the present (word missing). But they forget to educate their children in a way which will free them of religious superstitions which are very harmful, especially for children.

"TALES ABOUT GOD, such as nothing can escape the so-called God's eye and that the smallest sin is punished, exert a strong effect on children. So do the stories about the horrible tortures in purgatory and those which man's steps are shadowed by a devil."

It is interesting to note that all the efforts of the atheists, backed by all the power of government, cannot penetrate into the family circle. What is here said about Albania can be applied to all the countries behind the Iron Curtain. No matter what they do and what they say, mothers continue to bootleg God into the home, at great risk to themselves, for their own children may be government spies. By a system known as self-criticism, children rise in the classroom and tell what happens in the home. High school students who join the Komsomol must criticize themselves before their colleagues. This is effective espionage in the home.

The speaker on the broadcast, whose name is not given, tells this:

"Here is what a girl of a village school writes about this case. After pointing out that at school she was taught and knew that narrations about God were only fabrications, she adds: 'At home we must listen to our parents. They tell us tales about God. So I again forget the words of my teacher and respect only what my mother says.' Another pupil, the daughter of religious parents, writes: 'When I am at school I hardly believe in God, but when I get home I begin to believe in God.' This disharmony between the family and the school mutilates the child's soul, harms, and makes difficult the development of his will, and teaches the pupil to become a hypocrite."

Parents are called upon to stop teaching doctrines of Christianity in their homes. They are warned that such children are bound to have unhappy lives, by which is meant that they will be precluded from joining the ruling party and therefore their opportunities in life will be limited. Father Georges Bissonnette, the Roman Catholic priest who was expelled from Moscow, explains this attitude:

"Communism, at least the Leninist Communism prevailing in the Soviet Union, is intrinsically atheistic. No matter who holds the Red helm, be it Malenkov, Bulganin or Khrushchev, he must necessarily be dedicated to exterminating what Communism considers as 'religious superstitions.' Nevertheless, the people of these countries do not forget their traditions entirely and when such a festival as Christmas or Easter comes along, there is a nostalgia for the old ways. This cannot be erased even in Soviet Russia where efforts in that direction have been made with vehemence since 1917. Father Bissonnette tells a story which is perhaps symptomatic of the emotional response to the challenge of atheism:

"The fact is that young people were still being married in church, baptized and educated in the faith. They were even becoming adept in answering the ridicule heaped on religion. When one atheistic lecturer ridiculed belief in a God, because, as he put it, the world was functioning so smoothly it did not need a God, he got this reply from his listeners: 'That just shows how stupid you are and how smart God is. God is so intelligent that he can make a world which can run by itself.'"

The battle for God seems to spring eternally among these people. William Randolph Hearst Jr., reported observable evidences of its strength after his recent visit to Soviet Russia.

GOP Governors Rebel At 'Nixon for President'

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Top Republican governors in Washington this week rebelled privately but vigorously against the idea of accepting Vice President Nixon as the GOP candidate if Ike doesn't run.

Informed that the President had been trying to sell "his boy Dick," GOP governors threw up their hands. They remembered the all too recent Gallup poll showing Kefauver running far ahead of Nixon in a test presidential heat. And no matter how much Ike likes Dick, they don't like Dick themselves.

It was to sell Nixon that Ike bowed out of the proposed trip to San Francisco for the 10th anniversary of the United Nations. The excuse Eisenhower gave was that his schedule was too crowded. When San Franciscans checked his schedule, however, they found it was not crowded, but that Ike was just pushing Nixon to the fore instead.

Note—Simultaneous word from the White House continues to be that Ike just doesn't want to run and that it will take more than a team of horses to pull him into the race.

Fulbright of Arkansas will stage a full-dress probe of proxy fights. The Wolfson battle with Montgomery Ward will be a feature . . . Arkansas were amused when Carroll Cone, Washington lobbyist and vice president of Pan American Airways, made a speech in Little Rock urging Sen. McClellan of Arkansas for president. If McClellan hadn't been featured in the McCarthy hearings last spring, he would have been a dead duck politically, even in Arkansas . . . Able Solicitor General Simon Sobeloff, who refused to sign one of Atty. Gen. Brownell's "witch hunting" briefs before the Supreme Court, can have a judgeship opportunity he wants it . . . Thurman Arnold, when assistant attorney general, got a U. S. circuit judgeship when he started to prosecute Pan American Airways during the Roosevelt administration. Harlan F. Stone, attorney general under Coolidge, got a Supreme Court judgeship when he started to prosecute the Aluminum Corporation of America. Justice Department officials who are conscientious but don't conform politically get judgeships handed them on a silver platter no matter what political party is in power . . . Politicos recall that it was after Adlai Stevenson publicly blasted Sen. McCarthy that the White House belatedly lowered the boom on Joe; also, after Stevenson blasted dawdling over Quemoy-Matsu, that Eisenhower got busy on a cease-fire.

Oyster Admirals
It looks as if the chief beneficiaries from the oyster digging by Navy men at government expense near Newport News, Va., were the admirals. An investigation by the Navy at Cheatham Annex, Va., recently reported by this column, shows that for years civilian workers have been employed by the Navy Department at the taxpayers' expense to dig oysters and send them to the high brass in Washington and Norfolk.

Although junior officers were officially cited in the investigation report, it now develops that among the admirals who got the oysters were Vice Adm. "Oyster Forks Charley" Fox, Rear Adm. John Ends Wood, former commander of the Norfolk supply center, and Adm. T. Earle Hipp, also stationed in Norfolk.

Admiral Wood, now retired and living at Elkins Park, Pa., was quite frank in admitting that he relished oysters.

"Did you know, admiral," he was asked by this column, "that oyster digging was going on at Cheatham Annex?"

Yes," said the admiral, "as a matter of fact I received a quart personally every once in a while. But as far as I knew they were being gathered during off-duty hours."

"Did you assume, admiral, that the employees at Cheatham were volunteering their free time to supply oysters for Navy officers?"

"Well," parried the admiral, "there are all kinds of good things down in that part of the country—fish, oysters, lobster. I just assumed some of the officers went out on weekends and picked up these oysters."

Actually, oyster digging for the benefit of admirals by Navy personnel cost the taxpayer about $2,000 a year.

Consumer Champion
It isn't often that a high-up official who loses his job goes back home to run for humble office. Usually he sets up a plush law firm in Washington, or becomes a lobbyist or just rusticates.

However, Tom Buchanan, hard-hitting former chairman of the Federal Power Commission, has gone back to his home town of Beaver, Pa., to run for judge of the court of common pleas.

Buchanan is the FPC chairman who did almost more than any other one man to protect consumers of natural gas and electricity from the big gas and power companies. As a result, Sen. Bob Kerr of Oklahoma, champion of the big gas companies and an oil-gas millionaire himself, helped knock him off the FPC. However, Buchanan is continuing his battle for the consumer by testifying currently against the new camouflaged Kerr Bill (now called the Harris Bill) even at the risk of having South-west oil and gas money follow him to western Pennsylvania to get revenge.

Advice on Health

Medication Fights Off Poison Ivy

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

With summer just around the corner, you are probably already thinking of picnics and hikes in the woods.

To make these summer sojourns a lot less hazardous, two physicians at the Department of Health and Preventive Medicine at Syracuse University have come up with something that will interest many of you.

New Cure
They've developed a combination of two agents to fight off the itchy rash of poison ivy. They say it works even if it is applied to the skin as late as eight hours after you've been exposed to the noxious weed. The medication, known as Bristamin with zirconium, combines a form of zirconium oxide and the antistaminic drug phenyltoloxamine dihydrogen citrate.

Drs. D. E. Naumann and G. A. Cronk say the lotion should be applied before the rash develops. Even after the rash has developed, they said, the medication will relieve the itching, although it won't clear up the rash.

The lotion did not produce any unpleasant after-effects on those taking part in clinical tests, which were reported in a recent issue of "Antibiotics and Chemotherapy."

How Tests Were Made
In the tests, active extract of the plant Rhus toxicodendron was applied to the skin of the subjects. This plant causes poison ivy among millions of summer fun seekers each year. A section of the skin was then rubbed with the Bristamin lotion. Poison ivy developed on the section of the skin not treated with the lotion, but the treated portion remained unaffected.

Far East Situation Eased by Confab

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) says the Far East situation was eased by the Bandung conference.

Kefauver, en route to San Antonio to speak before a Democratic party "loyalist" faction, said other nations at Bandung showed Chou En-lai, the Red Chinese leader, that the Far East was not behind him.

The senator, who said he was not a candidate for the presidential nomination, accused the Eisenhower administration of bringing the United States to the brink of war with the "political falsehood of unleashing Chiang Kai-shek."

PAUL HARVEY NEWS

Pacific Relations Institute Exposed

By PAUL HARVEY

NEW YORK — Beneath the stench of Matusow's libelous garbage there are some truths which must give us pause. Before this foul perversion of free speech is forgotten and its infectious contamination is spent, we are going to see where the members of at least three unions were required to finance their own destruction.

The Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers . . . the United Electrical Workers . . . the Fur and Leather Workers . . . collected funds which were then used to contribute to a conspiracy which intends ultimately to destroy all unions.

Before we smugly charge stupidity to any innocents who thus financed their enemies, remember the old Texas preacher who said, "When you point a finger at somebody else, you leave three fingers pointing at yourself."

You and I have been took, too. In 1951, the Subcommittee on Internal Security of the Senate Judiciary Committee completed an intensive investigation of the Institute of Pacific Relations known better as the IPR.

The infamous IPR was found to be in the control of officials who were Communist or pro-Communist. The IPR was thoroughly discredited as having been a "vehicle used for Communist purposes."

Specifically, the IPR was deliberately helping Communism to advance across the map of Asia. Sixty officials and writers of the IPR were named, in sworn testimony, as Communists or espionage agents.

The McCarran Committee subpoenaed the files on this outfit which had been hidden in a barn near Lee, Mass., then labeled it, "An umbrella for Communist operations."

"A cover story for Russian military intelligence." It was a poisonous outfit and properly and thoroughly exposed. Now, sit down for this.

The IPR is still in business, operating out of New York City and publishing its Far Eastern Survey through the same old channels. The IPR is operating as a tax exempt non-profit educational organization.

The IPR pays no taxes. And gifts to the IPR are tax exempt. When anybody else skips his taxes, you pay double. You and I have to make up, out of our hard-earned, for the free-riders.

So our taxes, yours and mine, are higher . . . because we have to help support this infamous propaganda outfit in our midst. Ask the Treasury Department how come this gang is allowed to operate as a tax-dodging "educational" organization, and they'll tell you, "We have the matter under advisement."

The Treasury Department has had the matter "under advisement" for more than a year now. And meanwhile, the tax-dodging gang and their propaganda rag are recovering their influence, gaining momentum, and are buying you out with your own money.

Doctor Advises Caution With Ulcer Patients

MONTREAL (AP)—Dr. Seymour Grey of Harvard Medical School advises physicians not to be hasty in turning patients with stomach ulcers over to a psychiatrist. Speaking here at the 17th annual meeting of the Canadian Medical Assn., last night, Grey said his advice applied especially to patients suffering from ulcerative colitis—a common type of ulcer in the lower part of the stomach.

He said he disagreed with those who believed this type of ulcer was largely "emotional" in origin. Grey said he had taken six persons, two with ulcerative colitis, two with peptic ulcers and two normal, and "challenged" psychiatrists to tell which was most likely to have ulcers.

The psychiatrist he said, were unable to distinguish accurately among the six.

GARDENA, Calif. (AP)—At least C. K. Pearson tried. Pearson's motorcycle hit a crash wall 10 feet from the finish line last night. He was catapulted high into the air and across the finish, but his motorcycle came down in a heap 10 feet short.

George Everett of Pasadena won the race. Pearson, a Riverside rider, finished a flying second, but since his motorcycle didn't cross the line he was disqualified and Jack Schlayman of Los Angeles got second money.

Nevada Ash Pit May Tell About Earliest Americans

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Dry bones and an ash pit in southern Nevada may hold the answer to what the earliest American looked like.

Archaeologist Mark R. Harrington leaves today with a scientific expedition for the ash pit "somewhere in Nevada." He isn't telling exactly where.

"We don't want a bunch of tourists to trample things up," he said.

Bones of giant sloths and other extinct animals have been found in the ashes. The condition of the bones indicates the animals were eaten by men.

Harrington explained the Carbon 14 test determines the age of the carbon in the ashes by means of measuring radiation. A super-sensitive Geiger counter is used and the radiation decreases as the age increases. When no radiation can be measured the carbon is assumed to be more than 23,800 years old.

The original discovery of the ash site was made by Folley Hunter, representing the American Museum of Natural History. The Southwest Museum here, where Harrington is curator, has been given the right of investigation by the American Museum.

Harrington said the ash pit is the oldest scientifically dated human camp ground in the Western Hemisphere and he has high hopes of finding some evidence of ancient man there.

What does he think such a man looked like?

It's just about anybody's guess, he said. Perhaps the oldtimer was a real low brow like the ape-like Neanderthal man found in Europe.

Maybe he was closer to the American Indian with long legs and a long skull.

But whatever he looked like Harrington is sure of one thing. The old fellow liked to whoop it up now and then at a giant sloth barbecue.

Mrs. FDR Says She'll Decline Any Pension

HYDE PARK, N. Y. (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt says she will decline any pension voted by Congress for widows of presidents.

The Senate Thursday unanimously approved a bill to give an annual pension of $22,500, an office and clerical help to former presidents—and an annual pension of $10,000 to widows of former chief executives. The House has yet to act on the bill.

Mrs. Roosevelt said pensions were "fine things" for those who really needed them but that she had sufficient income to meet her requirements.

Arendahl Church Holds Service Of Rededication

PETERSON, Minn. (Special)—The Arendahl Lutheran Church, slated to celebrate its centennial in the summer of 1955, rededicated its newly remodeled and redecorated sanctuary at services last Sunday.

Included in the redecorating which was begun Feb. 1, 1954 were modernizing the window trim and refinishing the pews, other woodwork and floors.

The walls are painted a pale green with the ceiling a shade lighter. The chancel walls and ceiling are painted a delicate rose. A new pulpit and lectern were built and a new chancel and aisle carpet was laid, the latter a project of the Ladies Aid and circles. They also purchased 100 new folding chairs for the church parlors. Symbolical new light fixtures have been hung with spotlights installed for chancel lighting. The entire church was rewired for 400-ampere service to adequately take care of all lighting and kitchen service.

Total cost of the project was more than $6,000.

Beautification of the grounds around the church is started with new shrubbery already planted in front. The project was completed in time for the Holy Thursday Communion service April 7.

The Rev. M. A. Braaten, Houston, was the speaker for the rededication service. His message centered on Ezra 7:27 when he said, "The people in Ezra's day built their temple to the glory of God. They used the most precious materials and they were interested in beautifying their house of worship first before they thought of improving their own homes."

Pastor Braaten added, "Like Nehemiah's experience, they built the temple because the people had a mind to work and thus, with a unified spirit, they accomplished the task to the glory of God."

Music was furnished by Mrs. I. Z. Hyland and daughter, Solveig, who sang "There's a Kingdom Fair" and by Granville Kjos who sang "How Lovely Are Thy Dwellings." Miss Charlene Sande was the organist, and Rev. I. Z. Hyland, pastor, was the liturgist and also conducted the rite of rededication.

Volunteers to Be Honored at Tea On Hospital Day

Volunteers who have been giving of their time and service to the Winona General Hospital—in the hospital library, at the receptionist's desk, at the gift shop, in committee work, sewing, knitting, making gift articles and in other ways too numerous to list, will be specially honored during the annual observance of Hospital Day May 15 at the hospital.

National Hospital Day has been planned at the Winona Hospital in observance of National Hospital Week.

Open house is scheduled that day at the hospital and persons interested in viewing the facilities and equipment at the hospital, will be taken on guided tours of the building.

Tea will be served from 2 to 5 p.m. May 15 in the dining room of the hospital.

It is in tribute to all those who have served as volunteers that the tea is planned. Mrs. J. L. Jermiasse, new hospital chairman, and her co-chairman, Mrs. Herbert Johnson, are in charge of arrangements for the tea, and are being assisted by the Mmes. G. E. Fishbaugh, H. S. Dresser, Wayne Kirkham, D. R. Kiral and N. J. Fischer and Miss Mabel Baumann.

Wisconsin Oils, Pastels on Display At Public Library

Fourteen oil paintings and watercolors from the Wisconsin Painters and Sculptors 40th Annual Art Show are on exhibit in the art room of the Winona Free Public Library through May 21.

Using the sea and the weather as subjects, two artists have painted their interpretations of stormy weather. The first of these, done by Morley Hicks, is called "Storm." This oil painting of a ship dashed against the rocks is done in thin layers of transparent oil glaze placed over an unpainted surface of white, giving a luminous quality to the ship's sail and the lower sky area.

In "Approaching Storm" done by Robert von Neumann, both techniques of wet and dry painting were used, developing a richness of tone and a subtle variation of color in particular areas.

"Zinnias," an oil painting, was contributed by Francesco J. Spicuzza. A still life composition, this is an "alla prima" (one application) painting using the impressionistic technique of broken color, intense light and luminous colors.

A combination of watercolor and India ink is used for the intricately designed interpretation of "Cathedral" by Stanley Trembo.

Probably the most abstract painting in the show is H. Schroeder's "Subconscious Wood," done in coral, gold and various shades of blue. "Horlick Dam," also a combination of wet and dry techniques in watercoloring, was painted by Frank Stearn. Using a casein medium, Mel Kishner painted "Fantasy with Pink Rock."

Dorothy Meredith, painter, teacher and craftsman, has employed both the wet and dry techniques of watercolor in her interpretation of "North Woods Splendor." "Autumn Fruit," another oil painting was contributed by John Colt, Janesville, Wis. Choosing a rural theme, Hulda Rotter Fischer painted "Farm Horses" in oil.

A partial abstraction of still life objects with arbitrary color was used to build the composition of Robert Doyle's which he calls "Still Life No. 9." An oil painting, the subtle variations of warm and cool colors with the added fluid line patterns, serve to unify the canvas. Another partial abstraction is Eileen Manion Dudson's contribution in India ink and tempera which is called "Picture Window."

Lucia Stern, painter and craftsman, has done perhaps one of the most varied and interesting pictures in the show. The composition, called "Floating," is constructed of materials such as thread, net and gauze combined with paint. Allusions of depth are developed by overlapping partially transparent materials.

Musical numbers were given by Mrs. I. R. Gronlid, Mrs. Willard Johnson and John Solberg. Mrs. Milford Tollefson, past president, installed the officers. Thirty-five out of the 36 Ladies Aids in the circuit were represented. The Rev. I. R. Gronlid gave the sermon on the convention theme.

LEAVES AFTER VISIT

PICKWICK, Minn. (Special)—Mrs. Homer Gallien, Portland, Ore., who has made an extended visit with her aunt, Mrs. Maude Harvey and other relatives here, left Tuesday for a visit of a few weeks with her sisters, Mrs. Kearney Kirby and family, New York, and Mrs. George Goodreau and family, Washington, D. C. Mrs. Gallien is the former Miss Earla McNally, daughter of the late Leonard McNally.

Nicholas M. Schneider And His Bride, the former Patricia Ann Olson, have returned from a wedding trip to the Ozarks. Mr. Schneider is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schneider, 373 E. Wabasha St. The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Olson, Minnesota City, Minn. (Edstrom photo)

N. M. Schneider, Bride at Home After Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas M. Schneider who were married by the Rt. Rev. Daniel D. Tierney at St. John's Catholic Church April 23 at 10 a.m. in a double-ring ceremony, are now at home with the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schneider, 373 E. Wabasha St., and plan to move to their home on Garvin Heights in June.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, is the former Patricia Ann Olson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Olson, Minnesota City. Candles and pink and white snapdragons and lilies and carnations decorated the church. Mrs. Francis Stoltman, cousin of the bridegroom, sang "Ave Maria." "On This Day O Beautiful Mother" and "O Cor Amor." Organist was Miss Emma Becker.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of white nylon net over satin with Chantilly lace top, fitted bodice, scalloped sweetheart neckline, and full skirt, and a veil held by a tiara of seed pearls and rhinestones. Her necklace of pearls was the gift of the bridegroom, and she carried white orchids, roses and Stephanotis.

Her maid of honor, Miss Jacqueline Fuller wore a floor-length gown of ice blue lace and nylon net as did the junior bridesmaid, Mary Ann Schneider, sister of the bridegroom. The gowns were made with fitted bodices, full skirts and lace boleros. They carried colonial bouquets of white and pale blue carnations, and wore rhinestone bracelets, gifts of the bride, and headresses of nylon petals and rhinestones.

Dave Schneider, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man and Wilfred Schneider, a brother, and Richard Olson, brother of the bride, ushered. Laurence Olson, brother of the bride, Minnesota City, was junior groomsman. A wedding breakfast for 50 was served at the New Oaks at 12 m. The wedding cake wreathed in ivy, white candles and pink and white snapdragons centered the bridal

AAUW Members To Attend State Session

Final plans are being made for the state convention of the Minnesota Division of the AAUW, to be held May 13 and 14 in Rochester. Delegates will attend from 37 branches throughout the state. Convention headquarters will be at the Kahler Hotel.

Delegates from Winona are Dr. Margaret Boddy, president-elect of the local branch; Mrs. Arnold Donath, vice president-elect, and Mrs. Fred Leighton, recording secretary-elect. Alternates are Miss Patricia Leary, Miss Jean Bambenek and Mrs. C. Stanley McMahon.

Taking an active part in the convention will be local AAUW president, Mrs. W. B. Spetch. Mrs. Spetch is division chairman of the legal status of women section. She will conduct a workshop on her section the first afternoon of the convention and later make a summarizing report to the entire assembly on the work of the 37 branches in connection with her section. She will attend a meeting of the state board Thursday before the convention proper.

Speaking at the luncheon May 13 will be Dr. N. H. Keswani, India, a fellow in the Mayo Foundation, Rochester. Guest speaker at the convention banquet May 13 will be Dr. Blanche Dow, president of Coty College, Nevada, Mo., and first vice president of AAUW.

Workshops, conducted by state chairmen, will be held both days of the convention: May 13 on international relations, status of women, legislative, press and membership and May 14 on fellowship, education, social studies, arts and historical.

A panel discussion on "Women Who Do" will be conducted at the May 14 luncheon meeting.

It is hoped that a number of Winona women will plan to attend the convention in Rochester. Mrs. Spetch said, and suggested that members who need more information about the convention, who need a ride, or can take a car full, get in touch with her.

Winona AAUW groups meeting this week are the music recording group and the evening bridge group. The latter will meet Thursday at 8:15 p.m. at the home of Dr. Boddy, Homer Road. The music group will meet with Miss Margaret Miller, 265 E. Wabasha St., Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. Mrs. Morton Ouren will be co-hostess.

Republicans Hail Gain in Employment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some Republicans said today a new gain in employment—if the trend continues—promises to undermine a potential Democratic issue in the 1936 presidential campaign.

But some Democrats insisted on April figure of 21,585,000 persons working on civilian jobs is "misleading," arguing there is critical unemployment in many areas of the country. A joint report yesterday by the Labor and Commerce Departments also said unemployment dropped by 200,000 to about 2,962,000.

Sen. Ives (R-NY) said the report that employment rose by a record 1,208,000 from early March to early April "entirely justifies the predictions the administration stuck to last year when Democrats were crying depression."

Sen. Kuchel (R-Calif.) said in a separate interview that if the trend continues "it certainly will destroy a Democratic campaign issue for 1936."

On the other hand, Sen. Kilgore (D-WV) contended the government report overlooked what he said was serious unemployment in many regions.

"This unemployment is going to hurt the Republicans next year," Kilgore asserted. "No matter what the statistics say, you can't convince a man he has a job if he doesn't have one."

Sen. Hill (D-Ala.) said the total employment figure is "misleading" because he contended it doesn't take into account an increase in the total labor supply. Hill noted that factory jobs were still well below the postwar record for 1933.

"In spite of the figures, we unfortunately still have a very considerable amount of unemployment in Alabama," he said. "There are far too many people out of jobs and unable to find them. The situation in Alabama is only part of the picture."

R. J. Finnegan, Noted Chicago Newsman, Dead

CHICAGO (AP) — Richard J. Finnegan, 70, who rose from newspaper reporter to editor and publisher and whose Chicago newspaper career started at the turn of the century, died last night.

Finnegan, consulting editor of the Chicago Times before the 1948 merger which created the Sun-Times, then became editor and executive vice president of the Sun-Times. He held that position until 1930, when he became consulting editor.

He was president of the City News Bureau, a cooperative news gathering organization, from 1939 to 1951.

As a young man he had been a reporter and an editor on the Chicago Chronicle, the Chicago Inter Ocean and the Chicago Daily Journal.

He was born in Chicago and obtained a law degree from the Chicago Law School in 1907.

He is survived by the widow; two daughters, Mrs. Lucille Loefer of suburban Deerfield and Mrs. Ruth J. Corcoran of Huntington, N. Y.; a son, Richard A. of Chicago; two brothers, Judge Philip Finnegan of the U. S. Court of Appeals in Chicago and John, passenger agent for the Pennsylvania Railroad in New York City; a sister, Eleanor of Chicago, and 11 grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted Monday in St. Jerome's Roman Catholic church.

Southern Rail Strike Near End

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The end of the 14-state Louisville & Nashville Railroad strike on its 57th day next Monday appeared likely today as the result of all-night efforts to reach an agreement.

Even as negotiators worked in Washington on a basis for arbitrating the dispute, new dynamite blasts caused more damage to railroad property.

Two freight trains were derailed in Kentucky and a mainline bridge was damaged in Alabama.

In the Southern Bell Telephone Co., strike, 55 days old today, another explosion in Chattanooga caused "considerable damage" to local circuits.

An exchange of statements was the only development on the negotiating front in that walkout.

Management and union representatives working with the National Mediation Board were reported to have reached a broad basis for ending the rail strike and sending the issues to arbitration.

Argentine Police Break Up Mass Catholic March

By FRED L. STROZIER

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Sabers swinging mounted police broke up a mass march through Buenos Aires last night as Roman Catholics demonstrated their loyalty to the church in its current difficulties with the Argentine government.

At least 40 marchers were arrested. One policeman was injured in the scuffle with the crowd, which shouted prochurch slogans. One of the arrested men was identified as retired Army Brig. Gen. Carlos Garcia Cuevas.

The march was staged after an evening Mass at Metropolitan Cathedral attended by an overflow crowd that blocked traffic in the square. Worshipers, unable to get into the cathedral, listened to the service through loud speakers.

The huge assembly shouted "Our lives for Jesus" and "Argentina is Catholic." They sang the national anthem and Catholic hymns. After the service, the march began down fashionable Florida street.

A handful of police watched as the demonstrators poured through the city's theater district, and along Corrientes street. After they had gone 12 blocks, a cordon of police attempted to stop the march and fights broke out. The mounted officers then moved in to break it up.

The demonstration came as the Argentine Congress studied measures aimed at separating church and state. Roman Catholicism now is the official state religion.

Feron has been waging a running battle with the church since November when he accused some members of the clergy of attempting to undermine his regime. The church denied the charge. Twenty-eight priests have been arrested since the fight began.

In addition to seeking an end to Catholicism as the state religion, Feron's supporters have introduced a bill in the Senate to outlaw Catholic religious teaching in public schools. This measure is expected to clear both houses quickly and be signed into law by Feron.

The government "temporarily" halted religious education in public and private schools three weeks ago.

Argentine prelates have protested against Feron's efforts to break the ties between church and state. They contend the church does not oppose a division of powers between the two, but strongly opposes their moral separation.

U.S. Aid to Other Nations' Self Defense

WAUSAU, Wis. (AP) — "Unless the United States is willing to help other nations it is not going to keep what it has," Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) declared Friday.

Speaking at the final session of the Wisconsin Public Welfare Association's 1955 convention, Humphrey proposed that the United States turn over its agricultural surpluses to the United Nations for distribution to the world's needy.

Coming out strongly for the U.N., Humphrey claimed, "Any one who wants the country to withdraw from the U.N. doesn't want America saved."

If the U.N. doesn't do anything else, he said, "it is well worth the cost."

Municipal Court

Milton C. Ives, Dakota, forfeited a $5 deposit on a charge of operating a motor vehicle with no muffler. He was arrested by the Minnesota Highway Patrol on Highway 61 at 1:45 p.m. Friday.

Wayne Kulas, 155 E. 3rd St., forfeited a $3 deposit on a charge of failing to stop for a stop light at East 3rd and Lafayette streets. He was arrested by police at 9:50 p.m. Friday.

Merlin Feltes, 371 Liberty St., forfeited a $3 deposit on a charge of failing to stop for a stop sign at West 4th and Main streets. The arrest was made by police at 4:05 p.m. Friday.

Parking deposits of $1 were forfeited by D. H. Northrup, Dr. C. R. Kollofski, Mrs. Pete Newman, D. B. Robinson (on two counts), Allen Hartwick, Robert Waller (on two counts), Robert Nathe and Mrs. V. Glomski, for meter violations; Edward Allen, for overtime parking; and W. F. Wisconsin Cities Get Salk Vaccine

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wisconsin's Salk anti-polio vaccine has been routed to local health officials across the state, although whether it is used next week may depend on further word from the U. S. Surgeon General.

Dr. Leonard Scheele urged the states today to hold up any use of the vaccine until he can complete an evaluation and report on a special study Sunday.

At Madison, Dr. Carl Neupert, state health officer, said none of the vaccine sent to Wisconsin would be used until Monday in any case. He said that because of this, he planned no specific warning message to be sent to district health offices which have the vaccine until the Surgeon General's report is made.

Earlier, Madison, La Crosse, Green Bay, Manitowish and Wausau announced plans to begin their vaccination programs next week. Brown County and the cities of Wausau and Milwaukee faced delays.

Gopher Nine In Title Bid At Michigan

Top Two Teams
Play Twin Bill
At Ann Arbor

CHICAGO (U) — Michigan and Minnesota, tied for first place in the Big Ten baseball race, square off for a doubleheader at Ann Arbor today where a sweep for either team would virtually lead to the title.

Both teams scored their sixth victories against one defeat Friday but neither had an easy time.

Michigan, held hitless for six innings by Iowa's Bill Schoof, rallied for four runs in the seventh and eighth innings and a 4-2 triumph.

Minnesota pitcher Ron Craven hit a home run with two men on to lead the Gophers to a 3-0 triumph over Michigan State.

In other games, Ohio State edged Illinois, 4-3, Northwestern beat Wisconsin, 4-3, in 10 innings and Purdue edged Indiana, 4-3.

Schoof held Michigan to four hits but all them came in two innings and one was a home run by Moby Benedict.

Craven blasted his home run after two teammates had singled for his single-handed victory. He gave up seven hits before being relieved by Jerry Thomas in the eighth.

Reserve infielder Dick Wiley singled with two outs and a man on third in the last of the tenth for Northwestern's victory over Wisconsin Ziggie Niepokoj went the distance and gave the Badgers eight hits.

Ohio State scored four runs in the first inning and held tight for its one-run victory over Illinois. Don Kelley's two-run double was the big blow in the uprising. Illinois scored three runs in the fifth but never could tie the game.

Denny Blind limited Indiana to seven hits while his teammates came up with 12 for Purdue's third conference victory of the year. The Boilermakers scored two runs in the seventh to snap a 2-2 tie.

In doubleheaders besides the Minnesota-Michigan affair today, Iowa is at Michigan State, Illinois at Indiana, Wisconsin at Northwestern and Purdue at Ohio State.

Behrens Sparks Elgin Victory

Elgin took over undisputed first place in the Little Five conference Friday with an extra-inning 3-2 victory over Kellogg. Mazepa won his first game in league play with five runs in the last of the seventh inning to defeat Peterson 5-1.

Don Behrens struck out 16, walked three and allowed only two hits in going the distance to claim the victory for Elgin. In addition, he rapped out a triple, and then hit a leadoff home run in the last of the eighth to win his own ball game.

Don Peters pitched for Kellogg and struck out 13, walked four and gave up six hits in taking the loss. Kellogg dropped down to a second record in the standings with a 3-1 record after Elgin tied the top of the heap with a 4-0 triumph.

Mazepa and Peterson waited until the last inning to do all the scoring. Peterson came up with one run in the first of the seventh on a walk, an error, a passed ball, and another error, to give it a 1-0 lead in the game.

Mazepa, with Fritz Hoefs leading the way, came up with five runs in the last of the seventh, however, to win the ball game. Hoefs blasted out a double with the bases loaded for the big blow of the inning.

Hoefs also claimed credit for the victory as he struck out 12 and allowed two hits in going all the way. Jim Smith had two for two for Mazepa and Leonard Niffring duplicated the feat.

Experts Have Eye On Nashua Today

By ORLO ROBERTSON
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (U) — This is the day Nashua, the odds-on-favorite, answers the big question in the 81st and richest of all Kentucky derbies.

The opinionated bay colt from William Woodward's Belair stud places his enviable record of 10 victories and two seconds in 12 races on the line against nine other razor-sharp 3-year-old horses at 4:30 p.m. EST.

And at the end of the mile and one-quarter, a colorful $125,000 added test of speed and stamina, some 100,000 spectators and the unseen television and radio audience should know whether Nashua is worthy to have his name written alongside the truly great of the turf.

Many already have attached the label "great" to this royally bred son of Nasrullah.

But there are others who ask that the pride of Belair, conditioned by 80-year-old Sunny Fitzsimmons and ridden by Eddie Arco, prove himself again today in the country's No. 1 glamor horse race. They asked him to do it against such worthy rivals as Summer Tan of Galloway, Ohio.

Swaps and the one-two punch of Racing Fool and Flying Fury.

There's no doubt but what he'll be the choice of the crowd packed into the rambling stands extending for five-sixteenths of a mile and overflowing into the infield. He opened at 4 to 5 in the betting.

Some of the experts even have predicted that Nashua will endanger Whirlaway's derby record if the early pace is fast enough. Whirlaway set up the race standard of two minutes, one and two seconds in 1941.

If all of the 10 overnight entries are in the post parade as the bands strike up "My Old Kentucky Home," the winner will bank a net of $108,500 of the gross purse of $152,500.

To Nashua this would mean a jump in total earnings to $385,840. Nashua rates his lofty position as the horse to beat today chiefly because of his triumphs over Summer Tan, the 2 to 1 second choice.

Swaps, third choice at 5 to 1, gets his big boost from Californians, where he won the Santa Anita Derby.

Racing Fool, working on a string of four straight victories including the recent Blue Grass stakes, is the speed horse of the team. Flying Fury, victor in Tuesday's derby trial, runs best in the late stages of a race.

Harper Worried Over Big Lead

FORT WORTH, Tex. (U) — The only thing Chandler Harper had to worry about in the third round of the $25,000 Colonial Invitation golf tournament today was blowing a seven-stroke lead.

"I've never had a lead this big before," he said Friday after posting a 5 under par 65 to go with a first round 69 for a course record-equaling 134 total.

Hoping to catch up with Harper or at least get within shooting distance of that $5,000 first prize money were three players at 141, Antonio Corda of Buenos Aires, Dow Finsterwald of Athens, Ohio, and Julius Boros of Mid Pines, N. C.

Few Coaches Double Up in Prep Ranks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The business of high school coaching and directing athletic programs becomes a bigger job every year. Most schools are leaning to a division of the duties.

A check of the state high school coaching rosters reveals that at only a few large schools in Minnesota is one man now head coach in both football and basketball.

Among them are Tom Connor at Alexandria, Harold Sullivan at East Grand Forks and Louis Todnem at Mankato. Todnem began his 33rd season as head coach next season.

As if that weren't enough, Todnem also has the responsibility of athletic director for the entire Mankato city school system.

Todnem is one of three full time coaches among athletic directors in the strong Big Nine conference. Others are Pete Petrich, Red Wing basketball coach, and Bob McNish, likewise at Rochester.

Eyes of track fans will be on the St. John's Invitational at collegeville and the Carleton Invitational at Northfield Saturday.

More than 2,000 boys from about 140 prep schools are expected to take part in the huge track and field carnivals. At Carleton they'll be watching Bob Mittelstadt of Blue Earth who last week ran what is believed to be the first state half mile since 1942 clocked in less than two minutes (1:59.8).

Also, Stan Morrow, Garden City's all-around star junior athlete, will be out to top his last week's mark of 12 feet, 2 1/4 inches in the pole vault. The height is the same as the state meet record and has never been surpassed by a Minnesota high school boy in competition.

Tom Robbins, a junior transfer from Shakopee, has been the athletic "find" of the 1954-55 school year at Rochester.

In football he was all Big Nine conference back and the league's third high scorer; in basketball, after a slow start, he became the starting center, and in his first season out for track, Robbins throws the weights, broad jumps and runs on the relay team.

Willmar, Beeson, Litchfield, Clara City, Granite Falls and Olivia have formed a Junior American Legion baseball league to assure plenty of competition before tournament time.

High school baseball firsts for the season: Jim Cashman's no-hitter for St. Cloud Tech over Holdingford and Danube's triple play, with Olivia the victim.

GOPHER GAMBITS — Virg Miller, former Hopkins and Minnesota athlete, has signed to pitch for Fairfax of the Western Minn. League.

One of the best high jump marks in the state this year is 6 ft. by Wayne Berger, Rochester Lourdes junior who won the state Catholic high school title last year. Berger also clears 21 feet in the broad jump in practice.

St. Cloud bowling officials are strongly protesting the awarding of the 1955 state pin tournament to Melody Lanes of Minneapolis for the fourth straight year. They say rules don't permit the affair to be held in one county more than three years in succession. They want the meet in St. Cloud.

Patty Berg, famous golf golfer from Minneapolis, will put on an exhibition at a clinic May 18 at Shoreland Country club in St. Peter.

Instead of calling the new Western Minn. baseball league "modified AA" or "watered down AA" someone has come up with a tongue-in-cheek substitute: How about Class A-1?

Rich Peterson, 6-8 center, and Denny Sigloh, both of Ortonville's state tournament basketball team, have received athletic scholarships at South Dakota State.

Faribault Names Football Coach

FARIBAULT, Minn. (AP) — James Christen, coach at Audubon, Iowa for the last three years, Thursday was named football coach at Faribault High School.

He succeeds Ralph Luchinger, who remains as athletic director. Christen coached at Cleveland, Minn., for two years before going to Audubon.

Bow-Hunters Hold Shoot on Sunday

A qualifying shoot to establish handicaps will be held Sunday at the Gilmore Valley Range, it was announced today. The shoot is sponsored by the Winona Bow-Hunters and starts at 9 a.m.

All interested persons are eligible to participate. The field archery range is in good shape and includes 28 targets.

Plan for Trials

A regular monthly meeting of the Tri-State Hunting Dog Association will be held Wednesday night, 8 p.m., at the Oakes. Plans will be made for the upcoming national retriever trials here in June. Wives are invited and lunch will be served.

Moore Signs To Defend Against Bobo

NEW YORK (AP) — If Archie Moore expects to fight Rocky Marciano for the heavyweight title in September, he's doing it the hard way. After polishing off Nino Valdes, the recognized No. 1 heavy contender, at Las Vegas Monday, Archie signed to defend his light heavy crown against Bobo Olson, the middleweight champ. They will meet Wednesday, June 22, at the Polo Grounds in New York.

Moore weighed 166 1/2 for the Valdes fight. He'll have to pare down to 175, the light heavy class limit, for Olson in something less than seven weeks.

It could be that Moore eventually will get Marciano in September, barring the unlikely possibility that Rocky might lose to Don Cockcroft May 16. However, there are stories that Bob Baker, of Pittsburgh, may get the September shot.

Moore has won his last 20. He'll be making a fourth defense of the championship he lifted from Jimmy Maxin in 1952. Olson has a 21-2 record with one draw.

Despite the weight-making problem, Moore undoubtedly will be the favorite.

Writers Object To Censorship From Formosa

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Ten foreign correspondents yesterday protested that a condition of effective de facto censorship now exists in Formosa. They objected to the attitudes of both Nationalist and U. S. officials toward news.

The correspondents made one complaint in a letter to Wu Nan-jun, director of the Nationalist Government Information Bureau. They said the censorship is not characterized by the deletion or failure to clear news stories but "by the withholding of virtually all information no matter whether it is of a nature which would generate abroad clearer understanding of the government and its cause."

"This condition has grown progressively worse during recent days," the letter said. "The attitude with which we are met is one of polite but nevertheless firm resistance to legitimate requests for news or background information."

"Communication between the government and the foreign press has in practical effect become limited to the issuing of occasional communiques which are both too brief and too vague to be of meaningful service."

The correspondents urged:

1. Interpretation into English of communiques, speeding up of distribution and simultaneous availability to all.

5. That the government reconsider the whole field of information with a view to relaxation of categories of so-called "classified" facts.

Plainview Phones Switching to Dials

PLAINVIEW, Minn. (Special) — The plan to convert the Plainview Telephone Co. exchange to dial operation is proceeding according to schedule and much of the line construction has been accomplished, according to Manager B. H. Wirt.

Crews have constructed new pole lines and laid underground cable.

Planned date for the switchover, including the move to the new exchange building yet to be constructed, is next Dec. 19. Some of the village phones were already replaced with a type that may be converted to the dial system. In the rural area new sets will be installed. These phones may be either the wall-mounted or desk type sets; subscribers will be given a choice.

One of the features of the new system will be elimination of code ringing on all party lines both rural and village. Only the phone of the party being called will ring.

Rural circuits will be basically 10-party lines; in the village, 4-party or 1-party.

Bill Proposes Wisconsin Hike Taxes on Wine

MADISON (AP) — A bill designed to give the state additional revenue of $650,000 per year from wine taxes is the biggest income proposal to be given a Legislature public hearing next week.

The bill, as introduced by the Assembly Rules Committee, would add 15 cents to the present tax of 10 cents per gallon on wine having 14 or less per cent alcohol. It would add five cents to the present 20-cent tax on wine having between 14 and 21 per cent alcohol.

Speaker of the Assembly Catlin (R-Appleton) has proposed an amendment which would raise the 20-cent tax on the more alcoholic wines to 40 cents per gallon instead of the original bill's 25 cents.

The bill will be heard Tuesday by the Joint Finance Committee. Any other money-making proposal, a bill to require fishermen to buy a $1 stamp before angling for trout, will have a public hearing Tuesday before the Assembly Conservation Committee.

Assemblyman Nitschke (R-Beaver Dam), author of the bill, says it's estimated the trout stamp requirement would give the state an extra $110,000 a year.

There were 62,000 visitors in 1954 to Appomattox Courthouse where Grant and Lee ended the Civil War.

Writers Object To Censorship From Formosa

By SPENCER MOOSA

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Ten foreign correspondents yesterday protested that a condition of effective de facto censorship now exists in Formosa. They objected to the attitudes of both Nationalist and U. S. officials toward news.

The correspondents made one complaint in a letter to Wu Nan-jun, director of the Nationalist Government Information Bureau. They said the censorship is not characterized by the deletion or failure to clear news stories but "by the withholding of virtually all information no matter whether it is of a nature which would generate abroad clearer understanding of the government and its cause."

"This condition has grown progressively worse during recent days," the letter said. "The attitude with which we are met is one of polite but nevertheless firm resistance to legitimate requests for news or background information."

"Communication between the government and the foreign press has in practical effect become limited to the issuing of occasional communiques which are both too brief and too vague to be of meaningful service."

The correspondents urged:

1. Interpretation into English of communiques, speeding up of distribution and simultaneous availability to all.
2. That fully informed spokesmen of government regularly or as required be available for briefing of correspondents.

Women—even whole families—are using these noisy, frightening gadgets. This was not so when I visited Italy in 1952. When we remember the effect on American life of Henry Ford's Model T, one wonders whether the scooter may be the 'Great Emancipator of Italian Womanhood.'"

Answer to Question No. 3
3. True, according to Dr. Allan Gregg, president of the Rockefeller Foundation (in "Science News Letter"). He says older folk today can't guide youngsters by their experience because the world has moved too fast for their past experience to be worth much. "Their so-called wisdom has come by slow freight." However, they can do much by quietly listening and upholding high standards of conscience. They serve fine by listening as chairmen of turbulent meetings, says the learned doctor—page 64.

Democrat Attacks 'Paper Curtain'

NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP)—Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler says Secretary of Defense Wilson's recent directive on Defense Department news releases is "partisan mismanagement on an alarming scale."

Butler told the Connecticut State Convention of Young Democrats last night the entire publishing industry is disturbed over what he termed the "paper curtain" censorship rule imposed by Wilson that all press releases must make a "constructive contribution."

"His rule," Butler said, "sets up a paper curtain which may be used by his department to hide anything that does not show him and his department in the most favorable light."

Butler said a censorship system such as set up by Wilson would not be justified even in wartime. He added:

"Mr. Wilson does not understand that his gag rule has no place in the public business."

Butler called the order "partisan mismanagement on an alarming scale—misdirection of government power in the most sensitive
